

WMA may oppose park plan

Preserve the greenery says former Chief Justice Scott

Tangible evidence of mounting opposition to many facets of the extensive plans for Westmount Park is contained in recent letters to the editor, last week in an open letter to Mayor Drury from Mrs. Helene Holden, this week from former Chief Justice W. B. Scott of Sydenham avenue.

Phone calls to The Examiner office indicate an interest, unparalleled here since the Westmount Centre controversy, in the Fall.

A third writer, whose letter appears on page four, is sad at the prospect of a revamped Westmount Park, "locale of many youthful escapades."

Former Chief Justice Scott's letter follows:

Sir — A few days ago I read the letter sent out by the Westmount City Council regarding the so-called "Rehabilitation of Westmount Park" as recommended by a firm of landscape architects, accompanied by the Master Plan.

Too much concrete

No doubt a redevelopment of the old water courses has become necessary and should be undertaken. It is quite another thing, however, when the

Next week's weather

March 14 to 21 — By ERIC NEAL
Commencing mainly sunny and mild, we will have some wind and a little snow this week. Temperature range: some nights down to 15°F and days up to 45°F.

This is "break-up" time in the south and many rivers will overflow. A week later in the Laurentians, after Easter in northern counties.

Towards the end of the week, gale winds. Mixed rain and snow in the south, blizzard conditions in all the north.

Improving generally to give us a sunny, but cold weekend with snow flurries.

Unity is 'fait-accompli', new projects are sought

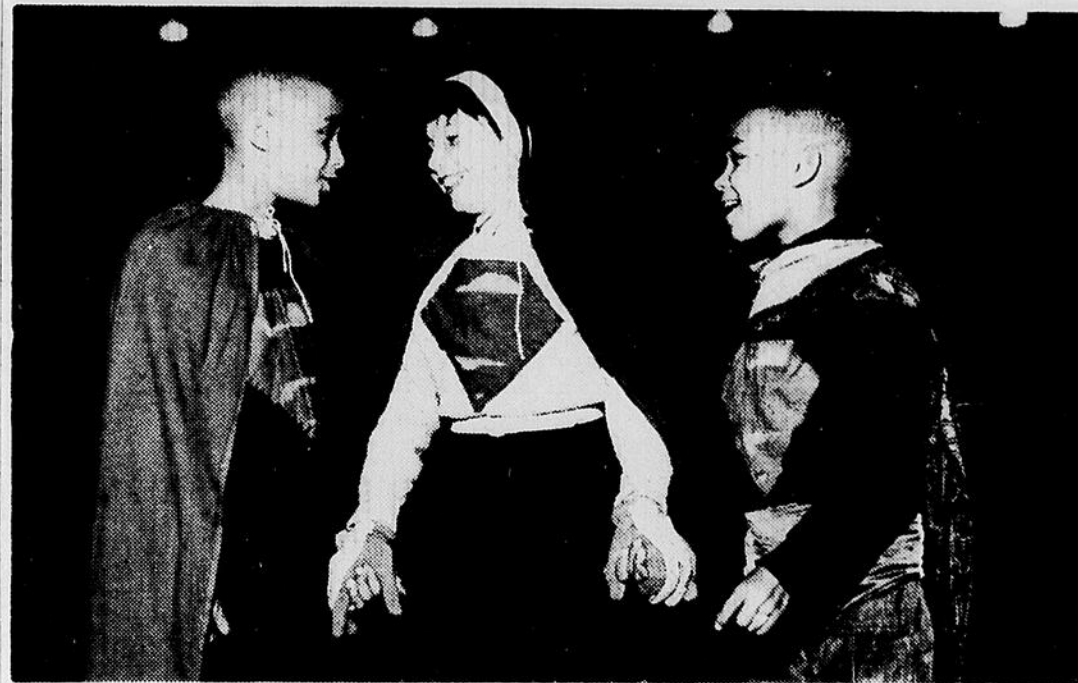

"It was just time to go on to something else," Unity Club president W. Borden Empey declared this week, confirming reports that Westmount Rotary would soon relinquish sponsorship of the Boys' Club after 20 years.

"We will always retain a great interest in the club," Mr. Empey continued, "but it's now a fait-accompli and Rotary should seek new projects."

He noted that in 1944, alarmed by increasing juvenile delinquency in lower Westmount, Rotary put together the finan-

Scale model planned to show each dwelling

Homeowners in Westmount will, within a month, be able to find their own dwellings in City Hall, greatly reduced in size, but true to form. City Council Monday night voted $17,000 to provide a detailed scale model of the city, showing the shape and relative size of each building and street, the contours of the mountain, and park details.

On a scale of 50 feet to the inch, exterior details of many large buildings — such as City Hall, Victoria Hall, 4300 Apartments, etc — will be easily visible.

Although the model will be available in City Hall for public inspection its prime function is for use in municipal planning by the Council, Architectural Commission and City Administration. It is being built in sections so that new buildings, demolitions and alterations can be shown as they occur without disturbing the entire model which will be about 16 feet long and eight feet wide.

Now under construction by a local advertising firm, the model will show the city as it was on January 1, based on aerial surveys, engineering department blueprints, photographs and land surveys.

It will be housed temporarily in the centre of the Council chamber, necessitating a rearrangement of member seating. A permanent home may be found in the Fall when City Hall alterations begin.

Diefenbaker speaks here

A capacity audience is expected Wednesday evening at Victoria Hall when Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker arrives to discuss Canada's economic problems.

About half the seats will be occupied by members of the Montreal Junior Board of Trade, sponsors of the address. Tickets may be obtained at the door before 8 p.m.

This address is one in a series of five at which representatives of all federal parties explain their group's economic policy. Real Caouette will speak March 25, and Robert Thompson, April 1, both at Exchange Hall in the Board of Trade Building.

State Secretary Maurice Lamontagne spoke February 26 and T. C. Douglas on March 4.

City votes $203,000 for first phase

The Westmount Municipal Association may soon take a strong stand against current plans for the redevelopment of Westmount Park, president J. H. Richer revealed this week, following an executive meeting of the association.

Mr. Richer told the Examiner that association officials have raised "some considerable objection" to the park plans outlined recently in the Westmount Newsletter. "We intend to make our views known very shortly, in a letter to the city," he said.

He would not say which facets of the extensive plans appeared objectionable. "We wouldn't like to divulge our ideas before they are presented to the city," he said.

City Council, meanwhile, voted $203,000 to proceed with the first phase of operations which includes site clearing, redevelopment of the pond system and preliminary grading. Contract for the work was awarded Monday to Charles Duranceau Ltd., the lowest bidder.

Ald. Gross urges action

"This project will be the first for the park in twelve years," Alderman Fred Gross declared, at the council meeting. He said that the park's water courses had dried up and "the bridge is down and everything has deteriorated. Now we must grasp the nettle and do something."

Mayor Drury noted that the approved expenditure was merely the first of three as the work is to be done in separate phases. "It will add up," he said, "to a substantial amount, but the work is long overdue and it will only become more expensive as time goes on."

'Disaster' promised in Glen Saturday

The Westmount Corporation Yard in the Glen is expected to become a "disaster area" Saturday with at least half a dozen men trapped on the roofs of "burning" buildings, stranded in muddy excavations or in certain other "surprise" predicaments thought up by City officials.

The "disaster" is now being carefully planned by officials of Westmount's new Civil Protection Organization to wind up a six weeks course in light rescue work for 20 volunteers. Fireworks begin at 2:00 p.m.

The volunteers will be marked on the basis of their performance Saturday. Successful candidates receive a certificate from Quebec and have their names added to the roster to be on call to assist the regular police and fire departments in the event of a genuine disaster such as a nuclear attack.

Westmount pays about 10% of the cost of the training program and of the special equipment needed. The Federal Government pays 75% and Quebec, the remaining 15% under the Emergency Measures Act.

Campaign rally set at Victoria Hall

A final rally of all chairmen, vice-chairmen, team captains and volunteer canvassers of the Combined Health Appeal and Red Cross Campaign will be held at Victoria Hall, Westmount, at 8:00 p.m. on Monday, March 23. Alvin W. Heron, chairman of the Western Region of the Combined Health Appeal and Red Cross is extending an urgent invitation to all canvassers in Westmount, Hampstead, Côte St-Luc, Montreal-West, Ville St-Pierre, Verdun, Lachine, Notre-Dame de Grâce, the Lakeshore, Pierrefonds, Saraguay, Ste-Genevieve, and Ste-Anne de Bellevue.

Red Cross honors F. Common

The Canadian Red Cross this week presented an honorary membership, the highest award the society can bestow on anyone, to Westmounter Frank B. Common Jr., QC, 157 Edgell.

Gerald Brontman of 475 Roslyn avenue was elected president at the annual meeting to replace Lt. Col. J. W. Knox, 351 Redfern.

A second honorary membership went to Aristide Cousineau of Outremont.

Jean P. W. Ostiguy, General Campaign Chairman of Combined Health Appeal, Col. the Honorable Pierre Sevigny CP, Chairman of the Residential Division, Mrs. François Bisailon Co-Chairman of the Residential Division will be addressing the meeting.

No part of Alaska is directly north of the U.S.; Alaska's easternmost point is about 800 miles west of San Francisco.

MARCH 8

Commonplace in Westmount is the suburban ritual of the backyard barbecue, a challenging warm weather sport. In these latitudes, however, few can attempt it in early March. But the balmy weather last Sunday heightened the call of the outdoors for Lieut. Det. A. E. Jones of the Westmount Police Department and his wife Celia, seen above. They wonder if it isn't some kind of record, for Westmount, at least. Sharing in the feast was daughter Beverly, and Suzie, a Siamese cat.

Preserve the greenery...

Council announces all the sub-sequence changes such as 10 ft. wide walks of concrete and brick. These would destroy the natural beauties and attractions of the park for old and young. We do not want these wide pavements built across the beautiful natural park. Nor do we want a reflection pool in a formal garden (apparently largely concrete) placed on the present natural grassy area fronting on Sherbrooke street. This formal plantation seems planned in part to catch the eye (as the Council letter says) of motorists driving along Sherbrooke street.

It would be another thing if these planners were considering a park of the size of Mount Royal, Hyde Park in London or Central Park in New York. But they are not.

Other parks mutilated

Your readers may recall how many parks of the size of Westmount Park, in and around Montreal, have been mutilated by similar planning. For over 60 years this park has been a place of refreshment where one could rest one's eyes, weary of the site of uninspired rectangular buildings, and one's feet, tired of tramping the city streets. No doubt the many people who use Victoria Hall need additional parking space. It can be found behind the Floral Clock.

Finally, may I add that I agree with the excellent letter of protest which appeared last week in the "Examiner", signed Helene P. Holden.

Branches and traffic lights go, no serious damage reported

The spectacular wind-storm that howled across Montreal March 5 with winds up to 110-miles-per-hour caused only minor damage in Westmount.

Almost the only victims of the sudden storm were overhead traffic lights at Victoria and Sherbrooke, Claremont and Sherbrooke and Park Place and St. Catherine. All of the same design, they caught the wind and rocked violently to wrench themselves partially off their supports and disconnect electrical wiring.

The wind snapped several lead-in power lines and telephone cables from homes still supplied by overhead wires from the back but no section of the city lost its power supply.

Hundreds of small to medium size branches fell and a few minor dents to parked cars were reported. Parks Department crews toured all streets Friday morning to pick up the debris.

Crews were ready for the five inch snowstorm, largest for 1964, that hit Monday but the city's newly fabricated "snow plow gate" was caught in the repair shop. Much to the disappointment of weary snow-bank shovelling motorists, the recently invented device which holds snow on the plow while passing drive-ways was undergoing alterations. It has yet to receive a serious trial.

Police on alert for vandals

Westmount Police are on the alert this week for any further acts by the vandals who splashed grey paint across the base of the City War Memorial at Cote St. Antoine and Sherbrooke early Saturday morning. A patrol car constable noticed the paint at about 7 a.m.

A public works crewman had the paint off within an hour.

Monday morning vandals smeared paint over English words on 33 stop signs, mail boxes and fire alarm boxes in the Cote St. Paul and Ville Emard area.

WINTER RETURNS

Winter may begin in March this year and from the look of the four foot snowbanks seen Tuesday on Summit Circle, it has a good start. Two days previously there had been only small piles of dirty snow along the slopes. It is here that many of the trucks that follow snowblowers come to dump their loads and the snow pile often lasts until late June.

Overhead traffic lights to become standard here

Two upper Westmount intersections with bad accident records are to have overhead traffic lights installed. At its Monday meeting Council voted $8,000 for new fixtures on The Boulevard at Victoria and Grosvenor avenues.

Alderman Donald Byers noted that the new lights were "in keeping with the city's policy of using an overhead type for all new installations and replacements. It is the opinion of the City's Administrative Traffic Committee that the accident record at these intersections warrants the installation of overhead lights for greater visibility."

Council also agreed to allow the Royal Canadian Mounted Police the use of Summit Park for a radio service building and mast for two additional years. This is an extension of a contract in existence for 13 years.

In other business Council was obliged to write off a total of $3,126.87 in uncollectable debts. Bills collectors have been at work on this particular series since 1961.

Council approved a commitment of $14,375 for the purchase of distribution transformers required for new buildings under construction.

WE SAY

A Monument to Rotary ideals

IT is good to hear that the Westmount Rotary Club while giving up formal sponsorship of the Unity Boys' Club after 20 years, still firmly intends to maintain an interest in the project.

The inspiration for the club was their's and through their support the youth of Westmount and St. Henri and the entire community have benefitted greatly. They have always worked closely with the Montreal Boys' Association, sponsors-to-be, and Club Director Maurice Mariasine, an experienced leader with the interests of youth so much at heart.

Investment in the club has paid high dividends. One way to measure the success is to evaluate a report of the Westmount Police Department which stated: "All is quiet on the Greene avenue front." Apart from an occasional false alarm and minor incidents of window breaking the area which Unity serves is literally free from juvenile delinquency.

Another means to read the story of Unity's activities which appears elsewhere in the paper. The article describes some of the 25 "group clubs" which meet weekly and cover everything from dramatics to journalism. The overall theme might be "fun with a purpose" implying a program approach which actually influences the behaviours and attitudes of each boy and girl in a positive and healthful manner.

Rotary will go on to new projects but the Unity Boys' Club will always remain a monument, a practical working one, to the high ideals of its members.

YOU SAY

Faulty conclusions are drawn

Sir, In the last generation there has come a belief in market surveys. These may not always be justified because, along with some of the office machinery, the right answer cannot come out if the wrong facts are put in.

Probably the greatest error ever achieved through market surveys was one that resulted in several North American manufacturers of motor-cars building cars that were too large for private garages. There was no provision for the bargain-basement vehicle and no consideration of the fact that the man who said he would like a big car might not be able to afford to have it and knew that he could not have it.

There were cars of every color in the spectrum. The consumer had the widest possible choice, except that he did not have the choice of a car that could be stored in a garage big enough for a 1937 Cadillac but not big enough for a 1958 Chev. As well expect a shoe manufacturer not to provide for the small feet.

Perhaps the error in this marketing survey was that many people placed their wishes ahead of their needs. Most people, it would seem, would like a big car. A big car is a status symbol, but there are many people who cannot afford, or do not wish to pay for, a mere indication of a yearning for a higher status, economic and social.

Outside this field of automobiles and other outward evidence of position, it could have been that the respondent, if questioned secretly and privately, would have said that he would like a different kind of wife. It is certain that most wives are dissatisfied in some degree with husbands. It is certain that most women would like to have a mink coat. But circumstances impel them to buy something less costly, and the furrier so far has not been so insensible to the market that he stocks in his emporium nothing but mink.

Among the younger families, it is probable that husband and wife would agree that a much larger home would be nice. But the husband may think of the cost and the wife may think of the work, so that

Can't camera catch park for posterity?

Sir, — Progress, I suppose, is progress — and while the intrusion of a subway into the sacred precincts of Westmount and the refurbishing of Elm avenue south of Western may be put up with — I am indeed sad at the prospect of a revamped Westmount Park.

True, the park may well be improved, by certain standards, but gone for a great many will be the site of some incident on the road of happiness, or the actual locale of some youthful escapade.

This, I suppose, is life; but it certainly has its wrenches, and if we can escape some of them, I say, all the better.

If it isn't possible for the parks department to refinish and polish up Westmount Park and put it back together again in its original splendour — perhaps they could take pictures of some of the corners and offer them for sale — post-card size.

They would sell well, I warrant, and wind up in many a snapshot-album.

ROVING REPORTER

By Oliver Towne

It's learned from reliable sources that a second party may be taking out an injunction against the city in regard to the handling of the Westmount Centre By-law in addition to the one filed in December by Mrs. Diana Martin which is still pending. Apparently a third party was also interested in taking similar action but bowed out when he heard of the latest developments.

Hearing on the petition were originally scheduled to open late February in Magistrate's Court but Westmount lawyers gained two delays to bring the date forward to April 28.

Tenants in the development area are still in occupancy on a month-to-month basis, according to Westmount Centre officials. No construction has begun, of course, but builders this week started making test borings along Wood avenue.

Even the most blasé driver turns a little green at the thought of skidding into a police car, of all the vehicles on the road. It's not often the tables are reversed. This week, following the advice of the city attorney who believed that the city was responsible for damages, Council awarded payment of $193.00 to Mrs. Lazarus Phillips for an accident which occurred when the Public Safety vehicle, descending Belvedere road, skidded on the ice and slipped into her car. They also awarded $250 to D. A. Rochette for damages by a police patrol car in September. Considering the mileage the Police Drivers add up in a year, accidents are few and the record is good. When something like this does happen, however, what do you do: call a cop? Can you follow the traditional pattern as an indignant driver with the well-patterned vocal exercises?

Mrs. C. Small

A funeral service was held Thursday for Mrs. Catherine Small, Metcalfe avenue, who died Monday after a long illness.

Born in Albany, New York, she was the eldest child of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. McKeown.

In 1930 she married Gordon Stewart Small of Montreal, in Utica, N.Y. Upon coming to this city Mrs. Small took a keen interest in, and worked for such charitable organizations as Child Welfare, St. Andrew's Youth Centre and Tyndale House.

She was largely instrumental in establishing and maintaining the garden at Queen Mary Veteran's Hospital. Until last Christmas, together with a few close friends, she regularly decorated the hospital at Christmas and Easter time.

For several years, Mrs. Small was president of the Diggers and Weeders Garden Club of Montreal, and of the Montreal Branch of the National Ballet Guild of Canada.

She is survived by her husband; a son, James Kay Small; a daughter, Mrs. Glen S. Tornay; and by two sisters, Ruth King and Helen McKee, both of Utica, N.Y.

Material sense vs spiritual sermon theme

The eternal nature of spiritual reality will be contrasted with the illusions of a material sense of things this Sunday in the Christian Science churches, when the topic of the weekly Bible Lesson will be "Substance". Paul's comment to the Corinthians will be featured: "We look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen; for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal." Related selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include: "As God is substance and man is the divine image and likeness, man should wish for, and in reality has, only the substance of good, the substance of Spirit, not matter."

Faulty conclusions...

when it comes to buying a house they settle for less than a market survey would indicate they wished.

The problem of the smaller car, which in width and fore-and-aft measure, seems to have been quite satisfactorily solved, but there is still a problem of getting in and out of a vehicle where the roof seemingly is lower than the floor.
Almost any day now there may be an irresistible protest from women. Consider the case of the wedding guest. She spent most of an afternoon at a hair-dresser's. The next day she spent fifteen minutes getting the new hat at the right angle.
Then she paraded to the limousine. In entering it she knocked the hat skewgee and most of the effort of getting ready for the wedding was wasted.

In England some of these things are done better. A man wearing a silk topper can sit in a London taxicab.

People who are getting on in years and those who perhaps have not succeeded in their reducing exercises need more than a little help in getting out of the cars with the low roofs.

'Group Club' program is popular at Unity

The "Group Club" program at the Unity Boys' Club of Westmount has expanded with great rapidity this year under the leadership and guidance of Tom Stephens. There are now 25 group clubs in operation at the Club and these meet on the basis of one session per week.

The groups meeting regularly are: The Larks, Angels, Panthers, Thunderhawks, Keystones, Aloettes, Vikings, Jokers, Jets, Junior Rebels, Mortibus Amici, Sprites, Beatles, Study Group, Talent Club, Newspaper Group, Choral Club, St. John Ambulance Brigade, Radio Club, Coin Club, Stamp Club, Neverlanders Drama Club, Harterre House, St. Thomas and the Judo Jacks.

GROUP CLUB LEADER

Group club leadership offers an opportunity to serve boys and girls by helping them to develop the ability to get along with one another, teaching them specific skills and good work habits, teaching them respect for law and order, respect for property, honesty, loyalty, and providing experiences in program participation and planning which produces the ability to think for themselves.

A boy or girl joins a group club because that particular group may interest them or simply to find out what that group has to offer. The leader who capitalizes on the first contact with them by awakening an interest for their particular activity will have them back again at the following meeting. If he fails to create this interest, the youngster may not come back. The successful club leader must make his activity a thrilling experience to which the boy or the girl will look forward to.

The group club leader plays an important role in the function of the group club. He is in a position to aid in the formation of good habits in the individuals in his group. He is in a position to instill in them a love for the finer and nobler things in life, as well as provide them with opportunities for fun. His character and ideals will reflect themselves in his relationship to the club. Individually and collectively the members will strive to realize the ideals for which he stands.

Organ grinder swings new ditty

Residents and shopkeepers of the Greene avenue area were both pleased and startled this week when Pete the organ grinder — who has been a fixture in that vicinity since the days when Dr. Rondeau's dog wore false teeth — played a new tune on his hurdy-gurdy.

For a long time people in that area were obliged to listen to the same tunes that emanated from Pete's music box. Whether they were bored or not seems a little obscure but when Pete turned his handle Friday and a new tune came out they were more than delighted.

monthly get-together of both Clubs.

Ten boys from the Junior Judo Class will be going to LeClerc Institution.

GYMNASTICS

Now that the basketball season is almost over, girls and boys gymnastics is in full swing. Gymnastic classes are being held every day.

ACTIVITIES

As reported by Patricia Cooney, Guide of the 53rd Montreal Company, the Girl Guides, Brownies, Cubs and Boy Scouts of the Ascension of Our Lord Parish held a Parent's Day on February 29, 1964. Honored guests from the district were in attendance: Mr. T. Lerner, Division Commissioner, Mr. H. Wilson-Smith, District Commissioner, Mr. F. Foster, District Commissioner and Reverend N. Williard, Chaplin.

The day commenced with the performance of the Brownies illustrating to their parents the four signposts of the Brownie Programme, "Intelligence, Handicraft, Health and Service." The Cubs presented a typical meeting and each sixer talked about an important part in the Cub programme. The guides presented a humorous skit of a "Typical Day At Camp Hiawatha Was-a-tusee," the scenes were early morning, inspection, patrol duties and campfire. The Scouts showed how camp gadgets were made, how to improvise a stretcher together with a few amusing skits.

A combined Campfire and the singing of "Taps" brought the day to a close.

WHAT TO DO

With the growing number of accidents, indoors and out, there is a very great need for a knowledge of what constitutes proper first aid. By doing the wrong thing in case of injury, a wound or fracture could be made more serious. A course in first aid is simple and not too long but it gives knowledge and qualifications that are recognized a world over. Information on first aid classes may be obtained from local branches of St. John Ambulance or from local civil defence organizations.

Atwater Library circulation up

Mr. Norman English, Executive Vice-President of Vapor Heating Limited, was re-elected President of the Mechanics' Institute of Montreal at the 124th Annual Meeting held in the Atwater Library last Monday.

In his report to the Members of the Mechanics' Institute, Mr. English said that the use of the name Atwater Library, adopted a year ago, had proved popular, and had attracted new members who had not known that the Mechanics' Institute had a general library. The old name, originally used in 1828 is still maintained for legal and financial purposes but the Library is now known as Atwater Library.

Norman English . . . re-elected president

Mr. English spoke of the continued interest in the weekly lectures, film showings and music appreciation concerts held during the winter months. The hall was filled to capacity nearly every week.

Provincial grant

Grateful acknowledgment was made for a Provincial grant of $5,000 in 1963, a substantial increase over the previous year. The Library had also received several cash donations from its members and a special collection of books, to be known as the Roger William Vary Collection, had been established as a memorial to Mr. Vary who had been a member of the Library. Such gifts are gratefully received as, with the ever increasing cost of books, it is difficult to supply the demand.

The Librarian, Miss Sybil Grimson, said there are now 55,785 books in the Library and circulation had increased by over 10,000. The Reference and Reading Rooms are free to the public and many people who are not members of the Circulating Library use these facilities regularly.

In addition to the President, officers elected were E. S. Booth, vice-president; W. A. Eversfield, treasurer; R. T. James, secretary. Elected to the General Committee of Management for a two-year term were C. S. Allin, J. H. McCulloch, K. E. McNamara, R. S. Robson and W. J. Sheridan. Also serving on this Committee are G. S. Brooks, J. McN. Charlebois, Mrs. Edgar Davidson, J. W. Duffie, Norman Gregory and the past president, E. A. Thorne.

Municipal Chapter IODE Regent

To equate our efforts with the times, to practise tolerance, to support education in all its phases, to assist the young and old, to succour and love those in need have the basic aims of Municipal Chapter of Montreal IODE throughout this past year," said Mrs. E. M. Gibaut, retiring regent at the fifty-fourth annual meeting held today in the Windsor Hotel. "Increased efforts in a more versatile role has enabled the members of the thirty-two primary and two junior chapters under Municipal Chapter jurisdiction to increase their contributions of service and devotion."

The Educational Department reported two Municipal bursaries were awarded to high school graduates entering the faculty of Education at Macdonald College. One scholarship, twenty-five bursaries, twelve grants and forty-five prize books were also given in the field of education. Students at the Universities of McGill, Sir George Williams and Dalhousie, and Montreal General School of Nursing were given assistance.

To keep up with education on the move, forty-seven schools were assisted and eight schools were adopted in this province, two in Labrador, one in Aklavik, two in Newfoundland and two in the British West Indies. Libraries were provided and Encyclopedias were presented to many of these.

Who Owns Canada? asks TV's Herbert Steinhouse

Herbert Steinhouse of 10 Springfield avenue, Westmount, well known writer and TV producer, is examining the question of foreign investment and foreign ownership in a 4-part series entitled "Who Owns Canada?" It begins Monday, March 16 at 10:30 p.m. on CBC-TV's Explorations series. Also on the team which travelled widely throughout Canada to obtain material is cameraman Hans Michel of 5 Park Place.

Herbert Steinhouse

"When I was travelling in Europe and Africa," said Mr. Steinhouse, "I noticed that people were getting excited because foreign investment was reaching four to six per cent of their economy."

"And yet, here in Canada, foreign investment and control reaches over 60 per cent in manufacturing, and in some other industries up to 99 per cent."

By the time Parliament was debating last year's budget, and foreign investment was singled out as a priority problem, the decision was made to go ahead with the Explorations series "Who Owns Canada?"

Several researchers were soon hard at work, including Dr. Kari Levitt of McGill University and Robert Gibbens, financial writer.

The researchers were hampered by the lack of documented details and implications of foreign ownership. Writing a special series in the Toronto Daily Star last January, Martin Goodman said of his two months' research: "Perhaps the most significant feature of my interviews... was the pitiful lack of hard information about the effects of foreign investment."

Steinhouse said: "We filmed on locations ranging from paper factories and canneries to natural gas refineries, potash and asbestos mines and the Ford assembly lines; from posh executive suites in Montreal, Toronto, and New York to spartan union offices and university lecture rooms."

The next problem was to edit the mass of material without being superficial.

"How to simplify without oversimplifying?" Steinhouse's solution was to write the scripts in the form of dramatic narratives.

Canadian-born actor Michael Kane, now living in England, was asked to play the role of "the narrators." With a minimum of props and costumes, Kane took on a variety of identities against various backgrounds. Each of his characters — be it a scientist, Montreal financier, Canadian intellectual, or well-meaning American tourist — was intended to represent a composite of the commonly held opinions.

Describing the final result, Steinhouse said, "it is about the viewer himself, his present and future; his stake in Canada and the steak on his table."

Part One of Who Owns Canada? is sub-titled How Much and Why? A week later, the program asks the question, Curse or Blessing?

Part Three looks at the provincial and federal government attitudes to foreign investment and ownership, and is sub-titled What Are We Doing? The fourth and final program will tie in with the forthcoming federal budget and the anticipated debate.
