World News In Brief

Toronto, Sept. 3.—(C.P.)—Press and radio had their day at the Canadian National Exhibition today along with the men's world professional swimming championship for a total of $10,500 in prizes.

For farmers, there was judging of poultry, waterfowl and continued judging in horses, cattle, sheep and swine as well as displays of dairy products and eggs.

Prague, Sept. 3.—(P)—Death crept closer today to former President Eduard Benes.

Unconscious since Tuesday morning, the 65-year-old Czech leader's body was shaken by coughing spasms during the night, a doctor's bulletin from the bedside said. His heart action is growing gradually weaker, and his body is almost completely paralyzed.

London, Sept. 3.—(P)—Sergei G. Lukin, Russia's minister of light industry, died yesterday, Moscow radio announced. It was the second death of a prominent Soviet official this week.

Andrei A. Zhdanov, a member of the Politburo and secretary of the Communist party central committee, was buried in the Kremlin wall yesterday, with Prime Minister Stalin himself as pallbearer. Zhdanov died Tuesday of a heart ailment.

London, Sept. 3.—(Reuters)—Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, lined at a cabinet meeting today the expected scope of his forthcoming talks at Ottawa with Canadian authorities on general economic matters.

The unfreezing of the £62,500,000 ($250,000,000) 1946 Canadian credit to Britain—blocked last April—is expected to be a focal point of the Ottawa talks.

London, Sept. 3.—(Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, wartime commander of the Canadian First Army overseas, said today he is "deeply moved" at the opportunity of participating in the coronation ceremonies of Princess Juliana.

Back on the army's active list to act as a member of the special Canadian commission at the coronation Monday, Gen. Crerar said during a brief pause here between flights from Canada to the Netherlands, that his visit to Holland will be the first since he led Canadian forces in northwest Europe during the war.

Hong Kong, Sept. 3.—(Reuters)—The Canton-Kowloon express, carrying more than 1,000 passengers, was derailed near the Hong Kong border today. There were at least 100 casualties including an unestimated number of dead. The crash occurred a few miles from the border on the Chinese side. The express had 11 coaches.

Grimsby, Lincolnshire, England, Sept. 3.—(P)—Viscount Portman, 73, one of Britain's richest landowners, died today at his country home near Grimsby.

Reports Heard That Reds May End Berlin Blockade

Berlin, Sept. 3.—(P)—German reports today said the Russians are making technical arrangements for lifting the 72-day-old blockade of Berlin.

The British-licensed German press service said the director of German railways in the Soviet zone had been summoned by Russian transport authorities to be given instructions for these arrangements. This report could not be confirmed in any official quarter.

An American transport official said there has been no indication from the Russians as to when they intend to reopen the rail line to Berlin from Helmstedt and the east-west canal system. The trains were stopped by the Russians June 24 because of "technical difficulties." Canal traffic was stopped a short time later.

"It is unlikely," the American official said, "that they will do so (reopen the lines) until they are satisfied with the results of discussions here and in Moscow."

"Nor will they get any coal or iron trains from the Ruhr to feed their zone's industry until they lift the blockade and restore normal communications to our satisfaction."

Marijuana Probe May Go To Jury

County Investigation Sought Into Hollywood Narcotics Case.

Hollywood, Sept. 3.—(P)—The district attorney's office moved today for a county grand jury investigation into the marijuana-smoking case involving Robert Mitchum, handsome film hero, and attractive actress Lila Lee.

District Attorney William E. Simpson announced that the chairman of the jury's criminal complaints committee has promised he will recommend an inquiry by the grand jury Tuesday when the group resumes sessions.

Simpson added that if the jury decides to take up the case, Mitchum, Miss Lee and two others arrested with them early Wednesday will be invited to appear and tell their stories.

The four—Mitchum, 31; Miss Lee, 20; dancer Vickie Evans, 25; and a real estate man, Robin Ford, 31—were arrested when city and federal narcotics officers raided a secluded canyon home occupied by the two girls. All are under $1,000 bond each.

The motion picture industry, through a spokesman, Producer Dove Schary, appealed to the public not to "indict the entire working personnel of 32,000 well-disciplined and clean-living American citizens" in the industry because of the Mitchum case.

Ground-to-Air Hook-Up Between Army and Air Force Will Be Feature of Tonight's Program — Attendance Is 66,753.

The four military governors arranged another session at 11 a.m. EDT on this divided city's problems, as the Communist press of Berlin declared the negotiations, now in the fourth day here, were turning into a Soviet diplomatic triumph.

Authoritative informants said negotiators had hit one tough snag. That, they said, was a Russian demand for a favorable exchange rate for their eastern German mark in trade between eastern and western Germany.

These informants said the Russians insist upon a straight one-for-one exchange of east and west marks, but German financial circles in the western zones contend one western mark should be worth at least four east marks.

Although no official statement has been issued on the Berlin meetings, informants said that even before the conferences began the four powers agreed on leaving the currency field in Berlin to the Soviet-sponsored mark.

They said the talks are aimed at setting up some form of four-power control over the money which would prevent the Russians from complete financial domination of the city.

The big show, the Eastern Townships' Agricultural Association's 63rd Exhibition, comes to an end tonight after a gala week that already has drawn a paid admission of more than 66,000 persons.

Judging in the various divisions ended yesterday but the many exhibits are still on display and a full program of entertainment is planned for today with the Midway operating in full swing and two big revues scheduled for the grandstand.

One of the features of tonight's program will be an air-ground hook-up between the Canadian Army mobile exhibit being shown at the Fair and a Harvard aircraft which will be flown here from S. Hubert, near Montreal.

The plane will fly over the grandstand at 10:30 p.m. at the conclusion of the George Hamid revue and will be picked up by the army's searchlight and radar equipment. Communications between the ground and the plane will be broadcast over the loud speakers at the fair grounds.

Joe LaFlamme's Canadian wild animal zoo pulled up stakes during the night, heading for Quebec where it will be exhibited during the Provincial Exhibition. Presented in the interests of conservation, LaFlamme's show was one of the highlights of the Fair and drew bigger crowds than its most optimistic backers had anticipated.

The biggest racing program of the week got underway at 1:30 p.m. this afternoon. Three races, with three heats in each race, were scheduled.

Yesterday, another huge crowd packed the grounds from noon until midnight. Miss Marguerite St. Pierre, E.T.A.A. secretary-treasurer, announced this morning that paid admission was 12,609, compared with 11,603 on Thursday last year.

Attendance since the Fair began Saturday night now is 66,753. At the corresponding period last summer, the crowd had totalled 62,543 and the increase this year is indicative of the interest that has been shown in fairs all through the Eastern Townships.

Yesterday's full program included judging in the Ayrshire and Canadian cattle classes, and another grand cattle parade. As on Wednesday, the parade was featured by the large number of entries and by the quality of the cattle shown.

Unions Seek To Bar Reds From T.L.C.

Top Officers of 23 Unions Are Pledged to Clear Communists from Congress.

By JOHN LEBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Ottawa, Sept. 3.—(P)—Canadian labor's biggest internal revolt in years today spearheaded a finish fight over Communism in the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

Rebelling at Congress failure to rid itself of Reds, top officers of 23 of the T.L.C.'s most powerful unions were pledged to throw weight into a drive to clean house of T.L.C. Communists.

But Percy Bengough, Congress president, said he didn't take the move "very seriously." He said in an interview he thought its leaders were "mesmerizing" themselves into delusions about their importance.

As the officers organized themselves yesterday into a permanent anti-Communist bloc, these possibilities emerged:

1. Removal from the T.L.C. of the turbulent Canadian Seamen's Union, alleged to be dominated by Reds.
2. The conceivable defeat of Mr. Bengough and those executive members who have been ac-

Reds Seek Information From Canada

Requests for Maps and Information Come from Satellite Countries.

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—(P)—Alive to the latest wrinkle in Communist technique, the Federal Tourist Bureau and at least one of its provincial counterparts are clamping down on replies to requests for maps and information from Russian-dominated Europe.

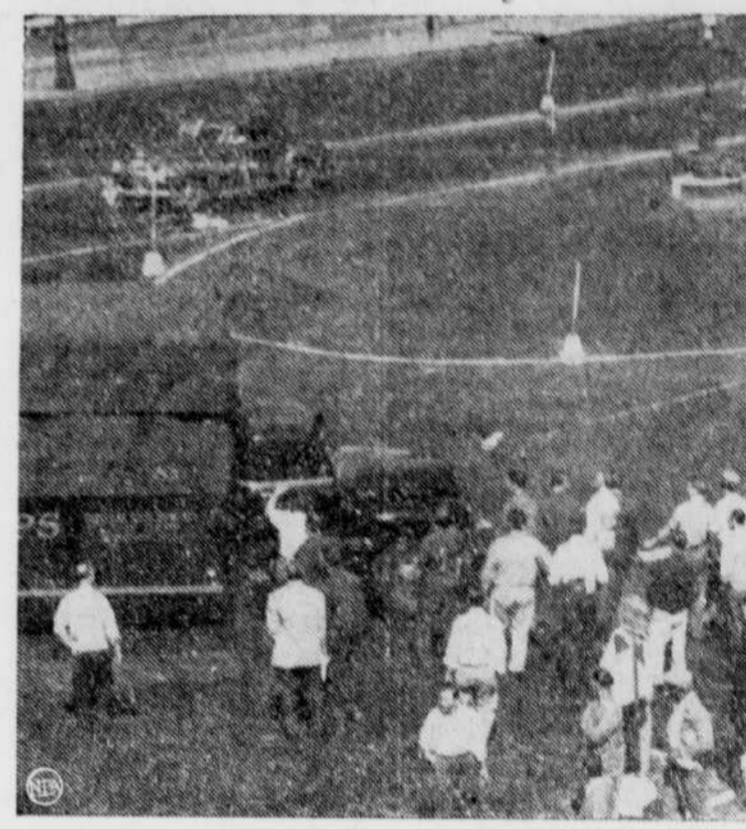

Their actions, disclosed last night, were taken individually but they both sprang from the same source—official apprehension about "pen pal spying" from behind the Iron Curtain. Both fitted in with a warning to all Canadians from an External Affairs Department official who said persons in Soviet sectors have been seeking to obtain strategic information about Canada by mail.

Spurred by his advice, Nova Scotia's department of information took steps to stop a parcel of provincial tourist literature headed for Germany in answer to a postcard from a German professor. He asked for a wide variety of materials, ranging from guide books and maps to periodicals.

The Ottawa official, informed of that development, said he had no heard of any requests so extensive. He earlier recalled that requests had come to Canadians for road maps and tourist information while a telephone company was asked for Germany for telephone books.

Trucks Detoured By Strikers

Striking AFL teamsters rush up to flag down a truck at Varick and Light Sts. after it emerged from the Holland tunnel in New York. Result of strikers' action in most cases was that deliveries were not made.

Truckers' Walkout Disrupts Economic Life Of New York

New York, Sept. 3.—(P)—The metropolitan truckers' wage walkout, which threatens serious disruption of New York city's economic life, is spreading.

Prospects appeared dim today for an early settlement.

About 10,000 drivers and helpers—half the city's truckers—were idle, and other workers were reported joining in the stoppage, now in its third day.

Many retail outlets remained cut off from regular supply channels, and food-store representatives said soaring prices were likely to result.

It appeared almost certain that the tie-up would continue at least until next Tuesday. Parties to the dispute do not plan to meet until then.

The date for the meeting was fixed yesterday after a new set of demands was drawn up by the teamsters union (A.F.L.) local 807, which launched the shutdown Wednesday.

The demands include a proposal for a 25-cent hourly wage increase and will be formally presented to employer groups about noon today. The teamsters originally asked a 50-cent increase.

The new wage proposal, higher than the 15-cent-an-hour increase rejected by local 807 on the eve of the walkout, was accompanied by a demand for an employer-financed welfare plan and other benefits.

The new demands, were described by union leaders as their "rock-bottom" terms. They were adopted at a noisy, four-hour mass membership meeting yesterday.

Speakers sharply criticized the city's two other large teamsters' locals—282 and 816—for not joining in the walkout. Officials of the two locals earlier accepted the 15-cent wage offer.

However, some of the members of the two groups have left their jobs anyway.

There were reports that the two non-striking New York locals, as well as nine locals in New Jersey and Westchester County, N.Y., would join local 807 in pressing for the new contract demands.

All 12 of the teamsters groups are members of an area-wide negotiating committee. Contracts between employers and the locals expired last Tuesday midnight.

Pay scales under the old agreements provided straight-time rates of $53.90 for truck helpers and platform workers, $62.90 for five-ton truck drivers, and $71.40 for trailer-truck drivers. The work week was 40 hours, with overtime rates for all hours worked over that.

San Francisco, Sept. 3.—(P)—A contract strike paralyzing United States Pacific coast ports today was accepted by the shipping industry and Harry Bridges' C.I.O. longshoremen as a battle for survival.

The walkout, stretching from the Mexican to the Canadian borders, held some 120 ships in port, made idle about 12,000 dock workers and kept 16,000 seafarers shorebound.

Bridges warned his union members to prepare to pound the waterfront pavements in picket lines for four to six months.

In Washington, President Truman said the government was powerless to act further except through negotiation. A Federal court injunction banning the strike for an 80-day cooling-off period expired yesterday as the strike began.

Across the country effects of the tie-up were felt as railroads halted shipment of most export goods.

Meeting Of Lawyers Will End Today

Retiring President John T. Hackett Honored by McGill.

By DON HUNT
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Montreal, Sept. 3.—(P)—Convention-wary delegates today will wind up business of the Canadian Bar Association and prepare to set out for their homes across Canada.

The 30th annual convention officially closes late this afternoon with a meeting of the 1948-49 council.

For five days, delegates have argued finer points of law, suggested improvements and heard the opinion of prominent barristers from four countries.

They heard Prime Minister John Costello of Eire; Chief Justice Arthur Vandebrilt of New Jersey; Maurice Ribet, Batonnier of the Bar in Paris, and G. Russel Vick, chairman of the General Councils of Bar in England and Wales.

Yesterday delegates listened as Chief Justice Vandebrilt sounded the warning that "the legal profession is in grave danger." Last night, Mr. Vick told them that justice should be within the reach of all persons however small their purse may be.

Prime Minister Costello and Mr. Ribet spoke at earlier functions of the association.

The Chief Justice and President John T. Hackett of the C.B.A., were honored by McGill University with degrees of doctor of civil law at a special convocation.

Addressing the crowd assembled on McGill campus, the American jurist said "the legal profession is in grave danger—and that means society is in grave danger—at the hands of the doctrine of the division of labor."

Earlier at a sectional meeting on civil liberties, Chief Justice Vandebrilt warned that improvement is needed in our law schools if we want to "perform the great task of shaping our laws to the needs of a rapidly changing era."

Mr. Vick, addressing the annual dinner of the Association under the patronage of the Governor General, outlined the purpose of the legal aid bill, scheduled to come before the British Parliament at their next session.

The bill, he said, will "enable anyone with an income of less than $200 ($1,600) to obtain services of a barrister free of charge if he has a good case and cannot afford to pay for legal services."

Mr. Vick made a special plea for Canadians to send food parcels to Britain where rationing still is in effect. He was made an honorary member of the Canadian Bar Association.

Junior Bar members elected Jacques Viau of Montreal chairman.

The section on comparative law, dealing with inter-provincial legal questions, heard a plea from Prof. F.C. Auld of the University of Toronto for introduction of a comparative law course in all Canadian universities.

The civil liberties committee referred the bill of rights question to provincial sub-committees for further discussion.

Schuman Fails In Attempt To Form French Government

Paris, Sept. 3.—(P)—Premier designate Robert Schuman today abandoned his attempts to form a new French government.

The leader of the middle-of-the-road Movement Republicain Populaire had labored since Monday night in an effort to lure reluctant politicians into a government for which many foresaw nothing but a short, troubled life.

Schuman announced his decision to President Vincent Auriol after futile negotiations with other party leaders on construction of a workable coalition.

Despite his endorsement by the National Assembly Tuesday—by the margin of 11 votes—Schuman was unable to draw enough Parliamentary support to build a Cabinet.

Yesterday the Socialist, a strong factor in the previous moderate governments, refused to enter a Schuman Cabinet because they disagreed with his economic policies, particularly with regard to keeping wages down in a war on rising prices.

Schuman's action threatened the country with deeper political tumult. France has had no government since the Radical Socialist (Conservative) Premier, Andre Marie, resigned early last Saturday. Marie himself had succeeded Schuman, who had quit as Premier when the Socialists refused to support him on a military budget item.

Serious doubts were expressed that anyone would be able to form a government at the present time. This presented France with the problem of how to proceed with its present legislature.

ROBERT SCHUMAN

Schuman blamed "selfish political bickering" for his failure. "I attempted to ignore the old political formulas, but I did not find the necessary co-operation," he said.

The Interior Ministry post was believed a key to the failure. Other parties were reported to have rejected the post because the ministry controls police and would be re-

Full Entertainment Program Prepared For Bedford Fair

Bedford, Sept. 3.—Cloudy skies early this morning gave way to a bit of sunshine by mid-day, to draw a record attendance to the 19th annual exhibition, for the second day of the big Bedford Fair of 1948, with the greatest entertainment program Bedford Fair has ever seen getting under way shortly after noon today.

Yesterday, with the perfect weather which has blessed all the fairs so far this year, Bedford Fair drew one of the largest first-day crowds in its long and colorful history. Many enjoyed the rides and shows of the splendid midway of the Model Shows of Canada, one of the largest ever to appear at Bedford Fair. The exhibits in all departments and especially in the Floral Hall were the object of much admiration. Livestock entries are unusually large in number and exceptionally good in quality, with the horticultural department one of the finest yet seen at Bedford Fair.

Many new and interesting commercial and industrial displays are found in the main building, with the Southern Canada Power Co. Ltd. as usual having the largest exhibit, while many of the local and county firms also have set up attractive displays. The ladies of the Bedford I. O. O. E. again have a beautiful completely-equipped Hope Chest on display, on which tickets are being sold, with the drawing to take place tomorrow afternoon. Every visitor to the Floral Hall is anxious to win this lovely chest, and tickets are selling in surprisingly large numbers.

Today, first of the cattle and horse parades will take place, at 1:30 p.m. in front of the grandstand, and there will be special horse show classes judged at every performance. Harness racing will get under way this afternoon at 2 o'clock, with the first card on a three-day program being run off today, drawing some of the fastest horses in a district. Another good harness card will be held tomorrow afternoon, and on Sunday afternoon, a special harness racing matinee will bring the Bedford Fair to a close.

A number of special prizes have been offered for the horse and cattle parades this year, and a premium of 50 cents is being offered as well to every animal shown in the parades each day, which ought to bring forth a record number of entries. A special judging competition will take place Saturday afternoon, under the supervision of Mr. Rousseau, District Agronomer, with all boys and girls under 15 entitled to compete, and a special $25 prize being offered by J. B. Pangman, of Cowansville. A Junior Breeders competition will also take place with a large number of prizes offered.

On the big grandstand stage to-

Tito's Plans For Future Closely Linked With Russia

The following analysis of the differences between Russia and Yugoslavia is the result of an on-the-spot investigation by the Associated Press staff correspondent who covered the recent Danubian conference in Belgrade.

By ALEX SINGLETON
London, Sept. 3.—(P)—Deep in the Cominform's dog-house, Marshal Tito and his Yugoslav government still plan on a future tightly linked with Russia in world affairs.

But, just as firmly, they have adopted a no-compromise policy of independence on domestic decisions and, short of occupation by Russia, they seem determined to stick to it. These conclusions are based on first-hand information, the sources of which cannot be identified. They are backed up by developments since the attacks by the Cominform, Russian-dominated Communist information bureau, on the Tito government.

If the Yugoslavs get away with their double-edged objective, it will mark a historic departure from the Marxist concept of unwavering and unquestioning disciplined docility.

Yugoslav authorities in a position to know say this brought about the Cominform's denunciation in the fear "this single step" toward domestic independence would lead to others on a world-wide basis.

As the reasoning goes in Belgrade, Russia initiated the attempted purge of Yugoslavia's leaders in the frank fear they would move further away from Kremlin control to the point of seeking neutrality in the struggle between east and west.

The Yugoslavs say they had no such thought, that their loyalty to the Communist cause has been proven.

They say they recognize the need of a supreme command in a common battle against what they term the "imperialist" world.

But, strongly nationalist by tradition, the Yugoslav leaders insist they can prove their Communist solidarity while demonstrating their domestic independence.

What, then, are the prospects of Soviet action in the immediate future?

The first—and the one upon which the Yugoslavs believe the Russians will concentrate—is propaganda warfare and moral persuasion.

The second is economic warfare. The third: Occupation by the Red Army along with a revolt by anti-Tito factions.

The first move faces difficulties, partly because of the nationalist background of Yugoslavia, chiefly because the Yugoslavs themselves have a monopoly upon the instruments for making propaganda within their own border.

Economic sanctions might be easier. Yugoslavia is dependent upon imported oil for its ambitious about, and the stilted jabberwocky in the printed libretto only confuses him further.

He has no more interest in the staging or scenery than he would have in an old moustache cup, because the staging and scenery are those of the European theatre rather than his own. And after listening to three hours of vocalizing by people in funny suits, he's ready to scream—and who can blame him?

If we want to interest Joe in good music, it's up to us to present the fundamentally fine plots of grand opera so that he may listen with his mind as well as his ears.

Obviously, step No. 1 is to junk the gingerbread monstrosity on 39th Street and build a modern opera house, equipped with the latest word in mechanical, electrical and acoustical stage devices. Joe is entitled to see everything that's going on, and at the Met he can pay $4 for a dress circle seat on the side, and wind up with only a side view of the conductor's head.

Step No. 2 is to tie a can to the so-called traditional methods of producing grand opera and to stage it in terms of the present-day American theatre, with no thought of pleasing any but an American audience. Grand opera could only be grander if as much attention were paid to the dramatic elements as to the musical ones.

From "Tosca" to "Tannhauser," every opera would have to be studied as if it were a brand new work. If the traditional way of producing it seemed right, it should be put on that way. If not, it should be junked without worrying about the sensibilities of those who howl to tradition. Every new production would have to answer "Yes!" to this question: "Will it interest a man in the first mezzanine who saw 'High Button Shoes' last night and is going to see 'Mr. Roberts' tomorrow night?"

If it seemed like better show business to project the Ride of the Valkyries by means of a motion picture machine than to do it with four girls on hobby horses, a motion picture machine should be used. If it seemed more realistic for Mimi to die in a studio that looked like a studio, rather than the waiting room of Grand Central Station, she should die there. It's my belief that we haven't even begun to tap the means at hand for the dramatic presentation of the classic operas.

Step No. 3 in our campaign to enlist the support of Joe and his missus is to adapt and translate the librettos into the language Joe speaks—English. And why not? In France, the Puccini operas are sung in French; in Italy, the Wagnerian works in Italian; in Sweden, the words to Bizet in Swedish. It is only in American and England that operas are performed in alien tongues, and a peek at the record shows that in both these countries opera has always been an insolvent sham.

These new librettos, of course, should only be entrusted to our top talents—craftsmen like Oscar Hammerstein II, Maxwell Anderson and Edna St. Vincent Millay. And these writers should be allowed to use their talents. If a boring passage of recitative doesn't advance the plot, it should be given the heave-ho. If a piece of stage business seems silly by today's standards it should be brought up to date or dropped. Due recognition should be given to the fact that many librettos were written by in-laws or $10-a-week hacks, and that they rate that much respect and no more.

How much would it cost to build a modern opera house and restage the entire repertory? My guess is $20,000,000. Could it be raised? Well, when you ask that question, Mister, remember you're asking it in America where we've always been able to raise whatever was needed—if enough people thought it ought to be raised. Twenty million is a lot of dough until you remember that it's less than one-tenth of the $250,000,000 that United Jewish Appeal will get this year from less than 5 per cent of our population.

The final step in our job for Joe and his missus would be to offer the plans for the new opera house to other cities interested in good music. The seating capacities of this chain of opera houses would depend on the population of the towns in which they were located, but there's no reason why the stage dimensions and backstage equipment couldn't be identical. This, of course, would make it possible for productions to tour at a minimum of cost and confusion.

Looking through the wrong end of my old opera glasses, I see no reason why grand opera in America can't some day be what it originally was, and still is in some parts of Europe—the big event on everybody's entertainment calendar.

And now, as they say in the Fitzpatrick travelogues, we bid a fond adieu to the fair land of Culture and Confusion. In my next column, I'll be back at the old stand, again peddling my cotton candy and doing my old soft-shoe dance. (Copyright, 1948, by Billy Rose)

IN HOLLYWOOD

by Erskine Johnson

NEA Staff Correspondent

FANS DEMAND YOUNGER THINGS, SO MOVIE YOUTH HAS ITS FLING

Hollywood—Ten years ago the independent theater owners' list of 10 stars who were "poison at the boxoffice" gave Hollywood the jitters. Now it's film exhibitors screaming about giving screen love back to youth—and Hollywood has the jitters again.

Every studio is being deluged with letters from theater owners and fans about elderly glamour dolls "no longer convincing" in celluloid romance. "Give us youthful leading ladies—give romance back to youth," say the letters.

Believe me, it's a hot issue behind Hollywood's walnut topped desks. One independent outfit, about to cast three feminine leads for the film version of Ring Lardner, Senior's, "Champion," has listened to the exhibitors' wails and is convinced. Prexy Stanley Kramer told me: "We're going to hire three youthful leading ladies, whether they have boxoffice names or not. Youth, not big names, will be the boxoffice of tomorrow."

Paul Whitman's 16-year-old daughter, Margaret, is on the verge of signing an acting contract with 20th Century-Fox. She made her debut recently on the New York stage.

Weddings On And Off

Wedding bells will ring next month for Frances Rafferty and former Army colonel Tom Baker. He's now an executive in Jackie Coogan's airplane company. . . . No truth to those Ava Gardner-Howard Huff elopement rumors. As one Hollywoodman put it, "Ava's next will have to own 68 oil wells. . . . Title of Bob Hope's next picture, "Easy Does It," is a direct contradiction of the way Bob lives his own life. He's the nearest thing I've ever seen to perpetual motion. . . . Olivia de Havilland is talking about doing Juliet opposite somebody's Romeo on the Broadway stage after she completes "The Heiress" at Paramount. . . .

George Raft, who gets around, has gotten around to Marie Windsor. They were at a table at the Sportsmen's Lodge. . . . Rise Stevens is being paged for the role of Regina in the Broadway version of "The Little Foxes". . . .

Eddie Bracken is talking about doing a play, "The Natural Thing," in Hollywood. Although the hero is a soldier who lost a leg in the war, it turns out to be a romantic comedy. . . .

John Wayne has made so many boss operas over at Republic, he can't get used to anything else. In "Wake of the Red Witch," Wayne had some scenes in the engine room of a ship. Director Edward Ludwig asked him if he knew anything about a Diesel.

"Put a saddle on it," Wayne grinned, "and I'll ride it."

H. H. Flies Again

Howard Hughes is about to crack the headlines again—with the second flight of his big seaplane. . . . Dwight Long, the Navy man who received billing as "co-ordinator of photography" on "The Fighting Lady" (the war's greatest film) is down in the South Seas putting together a film for commercial release. Hollywood money is behind the venture. . . .

Hollywood economy note: Tex Williams' new contract at U-I provides that he'll supply himself, his songs, his costumes, his horse and two pistols. What! No audience, too? . . .

Photographers from Uncle Sam's State Department, as well as a Hollywood camera crew, caught that soap box derby in Akron. The State Department will send the film overseas to show kids of other nations how U.S. kids have fun.

SHELVING THE FREIGHT RATES PROBE

The demand of the Premiers of all Provinces except Ontario and Quebec that a Royal Commission be named to probe the entire freight rate structure of the Dominion was obviously made with the hope that the application of proposed rate increases would be delayed indefinitely rather than any definite reform of the rates system would be achieved. The necessity of higher rates for the Canadian railways has long been obvious in view of the steadily rising cost of operations. The Dominion Government from the first strongly opposed the Royal Commission and its stand is supported by the decision of the Justice Department that such a probe is illegal, the opinion being based on the claim that the entire control over freight rates—except the Crow's Nest Pass agreement rates on grain and the statutory reductions for the Maritimes—rests with the Board of Transport Commissioners.

Thus the Government is justified on the dual grounds of illegality and lack of necessity in refusing to yield to the demands of seven of the nine provincial governments that such a commission be created. From the beginning, it was difficult to see just what a Royal Commission could accomplish. For more than nine months the Board of Transport Commissioners delved into the entire financial structure of the Canadian railways and found that a general increase of twenty-one per cent was justified in view of rising costs. Now the railways, faced with higher wage bills, are asking an immediate increase of fifteen per cent and a permanent increase of twenty per cent.

It is doubtful if the proposed Royal Commission would learn anything that the Board of Transport Commissioners did not uncover and the only result of the second inquiry would be to delay any permanent decision on the matter of railway rates, subjecting the country to continued uncertainty.

The seven Premiers also propose that the Royal Commission make an inquiry into the basic freight rates structure of the Dominion in a move designed to bring about the removal of alleged injustices and inequalities. Here, again, is needless duplication. The Transport Board, with its staff of technicians and engineers has already launched such a study and it is probable that it will have some definite policy announced long before a Royal Commission, moving with its customary delay and evasiveness even gets organized for its first sessions.

Canada has been plagued in recent years with a plethora of Royal Commissions, most of which are designed to relieve the government of the day from taking any definite action on some question believed to be politically dangerous. The issues are referred to these investigating bodies in the hope that before the inquiry is completed and the report submitted, the reason for the trouble may have disappeared.

MORE NEWSPRINT FOR BRITAIN

The reported decision of the British Government to increase the imports of newsprint from Canada and Newfoundland during 1949 will be welcomed by all who regard the freedom of the press as one of the bases of British liberties. From a direct financial point of view, increased British purchases will mean little to the Canadian producers, who are finding a market in the United States for every ton they can turn out.

However, the maintenance of shipments to Britain is of supreme importance. A free press is the essential of a democracy and the only really free press is one which is enabled to meet its operating costs and pay reasonable profits from its normal operations—selling copies and publishing advertisements. When a journal is unable to finance its operations in this manner, it is forced to take one of two alternatives—it must suspend operations or it must look around for some individual or group who are willing to underwrite any losses incurred to achieve some personal objective. Then freedom is completely lost, as he who pays the piper is entitled to call the tune.

To expect a newspaper to provide proper services to its readers and to receive sufficient advertising revenue to assure its financial success over an extended period of time when its size is limited to four pages is manifestly absurd. The size is insufficient to permit the carrying out of either an adequate distribution of the news or to meet even the limited demands of the advertisers. Certainly there is no possibility of accomplishing both.

Additional imports are undoubtedly necessary if British papers are to return to anything like normal size, but the British Government itself might do something to ease the situation. At the very time it cut down the allocation of newsprint available to legitimate publishers, it sharply increased the quotas of those firms who were engaged in pouring out propaganda pamphlets for the various Socialist Government agencies. Perhaps if these were restored to something reasonable, the British reading public might be able to receive occasionally a six or even eight-page paper.

WANT TO SEE A POLITICO SQUIRM? FIRE THESE QUESTIONS AT HIM

Two years ago Editor William E. Heath of the Haverhill, Mass., Gazette inaugurated a quiz for his state's congressional candidates. His idea was to pop 10 of the toughest questions he could think of on national and international issues. Then he let the politicians squirm out of them as best they could.

So much good came out of the inquisition that Editor Heath wants to repeat it this year. He has asked for suggestions from which to pick his leading questions. For whatever they may be worth in putting other candidates on the spot, here are 12 questions.

Most important domestic issues of the campaign should be high prices and housing. A candidate can be heckled by merely asking him how he stands on these issues and what he proposes to do about them. A better plan is to ask specific questions to nail him down.

1. Do you favor restoration of price controls and rationing on scarce items like meat and automobiles, with the allocation of iron and steel to essential users until supplies increase and prices come down?

Some people believe that a fundamental reason for high prices of food is the government's farm price support program. The Aiken farm bill passed by the last Congress continues present price support until Jan. 1, 1950, then puts in a revised, lower formula. To smoke out where a candidate stands on this, ask him:

2. Do you favor amending the Aiken bill so as to lower farm price supports both before and after January, 1950?

LOW-RENTAL HOUSING ISSUE

Principal issue on housing is the matter of government aid for low-rental public housing projects. Most other key points of the Taft-Elliender-Wagner housing bill were passed by the last Congress. Ask your man:

2. Do you favor passage by the next Congress of the low-cost public housing sections of the Taft-Elliender-Wagner housing bill?

A more basic approach to the housing question comes through rent controls which under present law are due to expire March 31, 1949. Ask Mr. Candidate:

4. Will you vote for continuing rent control beyond next March 31?

Big issue in the South and in many of the larger cities is the Civil Rights program proposed by President Truman. The key question:

5. Do you favor passage of a federal anti-lynching bill, anti-poll tax bill, and the bill to create a permanent Fair Employment Practices Commission?

Perhaps more important than the Civil Rights question is the need for adequate education to make underprivileged groups into better citizens. One approach is through laws providing for grants of federal funds to the states to improve their school systems. So ask:

6. Do you favor federal grants in aid to the states for education?

Democrats are apparently trying to make a campaign issue out of repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law, now one year old. This question should get a "Yes" or "No" answer, though some candidates may have a few ideas for amendments.

7. Do you favor repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law?

WHAT SHOULD BE DONE ABOUT COMMUNISM?

Republicans are trying to make an issue out of the spy investigations. It boils down to what should be done about communism in America. A key question to this issue would be:

8. Do you favor passage of the Mundt-Nixon bill requiring Communists to register, or any bill to "outlaw" the Communist Party?

Two great bottlenecks in Congress are Senate filibusters and the House Rules Committee which has dictatorial powers over proposed legislation before it reaches the House floor. Ask candidates:

9. Do you favor further reorganization of Congress to eliminate Senate filibusters and curb the power of the House Rules Committee?

Henry Wallace is trying to make an issue out of the peacetime draft law and the present U.S. defense program. Question:

10. Do you favor repeal of the draft law and a reduction of government spending for U.S. rearmament?

Foreign policy questions can be made numberless, with one question for every country. But a quiz on two points will get the measure of your man:

1. Will you vote in Congress for full appropriations to carry out the four-year Marshall Plan for aid to co-operating foreign countries?

12. What policy do you have for dealing with the Russian question?

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

The things that my soul refused to touch are as my sorrowful meat.—Job 6:7.

The soul is a temple; and God is silently building it by night and by day. Precious thoughts are building it; disinterested love is building it; all-penetrating faith is building it.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Press Comment

PRECEDENT - MAKING DECISION

Toronto Globe-Mail

Permission to institute court proceedings against the united Auto Workers Union has been granted by the Ontario Labor Relations Board.

The decision has set a precedent, and if the courts entertain the suit, which will allege violation of the Ontario Labor Relations Act, a new phase in labor history will undoubtedly have started. The company's claim is that the work stoppage, now six weeks old, contravenes a no-strike clause in the collective agreement now in effect between the company and the union, and which does not expire till November, 1948. The union claims the strike is not illegal, as it arises from a dispute over the revision of a separate wage agreement, also expiring in November. It is held that employees retain the right to strike over disputes not covered by collective agreements.

It is apparent that some fine technicalities will have to be ironed out before the case can be settled. Since it has become a fairly common practice to sign wage contracts separate from agreements on other phases of labor-management relations, it will have to be determined whether no-strike clauses in the latter are binding on all parallel contracts between the same parties. If they are not held to be binding, then the way is opened for considerable potential trouble. It may be assumed that an employer would regard an agreement on wages and hours as basic to any collective agreement, and an agreement apart from wages and hours would be meaningless unless the employees continued working.

Since unions are not incorporated, it has been generally assumed that their conduct is not actionable, and that responsibility cannot be fixed, except on each individual member. In this instance, therefore, we have the unusual spectacle of a company suing its own employees. The grounds on which application was made to the Ontario Labor Relations Board were based on two clauses of the Labor Relations Act. One (Section 34) states that every trade union or other employers' organization which authorizes a strike contrary to the regulations of the act "is guilty of an offense and liable on summary conviction to a fine of not more than $200 for each day or part of a day which the strike continues." The regulation referred to states that "no employee who is a party to a collective agreement shall declare or cause a lockout, and no employee found thereby shall go on strike during the term of a collective agreement."

THE INTELLECTUALS AT WORK

Montreal Star

Having designated themselves, with considerable self-esteem, as the subject of a brief and abortive excursion into the courts on the part of the Canadian Seaman's Union. If and when the McKinnon case reaches the litigation stage, its details will be watched with intense interest on the part of both labor and management.

Unwisely, the Congress manipulates thought to use him in spite of himself, and is used what purported to be a message from him. The faked statement, little more than one hundred words long, bears no resemblance to the fifteen-hundred word communication he sent acknowledging the invitation, in which he struck out at the modern state's attempts to regiment thought and jealous defence of national sovereignty, in the face of danger through scientific advance which calls for unprecedented measures of international co-operation for adequate control. Neither of these lines of thought are to the liking of groups stage-managing such shows as the meeting of hand-picked "intellectuals."

broad discussion," which the sponsors felt, "would undoubtedly lead to a fostering of relations indispensable to the realization of the correct endeavors of the people loving peace."

The world of the Intellectual is a small one, it appears. Reports vary as to the conference's representative nature. It includes delegates from either fourteen or thirty-three nations. Even the larger figure would hardly be thought to exhaust all those boasting men of the proper mental endowment and the required honest attachment to peace, and there is a mere handful of delegates whose names are really well-known. Russia's Prof. Tarle, historian, and Ehrenburg, propagandist, Britain's Julian Huxley, France's Mme. Joliot-Curie.

The approach to the problem indicates that while there were in fact men of different points of view present, that circumstance was an oversight on the part of the sponsors. The conference's exchanges Huxley characterized as "destructive," "nothing but delivering manifestoes to each other," and its purpose was the official manifesto railroaded through in which it was stated that only a handful of "self interested people in America and Europe who have inherited Fascist ideas," are standing in the way of peace. These intellectuals who took issue with this familiar Leftist implication of the problem were "imbeciles" and "idiots," according to Mrs. Ehrenburg.

Only a few whose right to world standing as intellectuals would be conceded without question, lent their prestige to the show. How many others may have been approached it is impossible to say. One whose name was badly wanted was Prof. Einstein. It would have been a significant propaganda success if he had attended, or even been successfully represented as in sympathy with the Congress' pro-Soviet leaning.

CANADIANS ALL. The Ottawa Journal
Mr. Ivan Sabourin, president of Quebec Progressive Conservatives, says that Quebec's delegates to the Progressive Conservative national convention will not be there as a Quebec "bloc," but as Canadians, prepared to co-operate with fellow delegates from all parts of the Dominion for Canada's common good.
A fine, hopeful statement this. For too long in this country have we had the condition under which Quebec, politically, was regarded as a "bloc," with interests and aspirations differing from those of the rest of us. The idea was as false as it was dangerous, running counter to the ideals of great Quebec leaders from Cartier to Laurier, men who knew that Quebec's destiny, and her good, must be found within Confederation, as a full partner and part of it.
Quebec, in her recent provincial election, voted for provincial autonomy. That did not mean, certainly did not need to mean, that Quebec must vote and act as a "bloc" in the field of Federal politics, nor that her people are not prepared to co-operate with the other provinces. It meant only, we

Letters To The Editor

CORRECTION OF RECORD EDITORIAL

Dear Sir: Will you kindly allow me to correct your editorial regarding the late R. G. Davidson. You state that he served as Member of Parliament for Stanstead for two years. R. G. Davidson was first elected to the House of Commons in 1885 defeating John T. Hackett at that time. The next general election was held in 1890 and Bob, as we all knew him, was again elected, defeating Alphonse Girard of Magog. He held his seat until June 30, 1942, making a total of seven years that he represented Stanstead.

I believe I can speak with knowledge on this matter, as Bob Davidson was a very close friend of mine, and a man whom the county had badly missed, and I thought you might want to correct your statements in this connection.

Your truly,
F. C. PATCH.

whether the rain would come in time to make the crop good. Ted Grendyck, of Medicine Lodge, Kan., prepared 400 acres for seeding last Fall. It was so dusty he didn't plant. In the Spring the rains came, and volunteer wheat sprang up. The crop he didn't plant brought $14,000.

On the other hand, Frank, Mike and Bill Polyan, of Russell, Kan., sowed 600 acres last Fall. Early in the Spring they decided it was hopelessly dry and plowed up the acres. The rains came; the neighbors prospered. The brothers figured their hasty plowing had cost them $30,000 worth of wheat.

WEST SQUEEZED, TO SQUEEZE OUT SLAM

Maxwell L. Johnston of Mill Valley, Calif., sent me today's hand after he had read a recent column I had written on the Vienna Coup. He wrote that he thought this hand was a tough one because of the choices it offered, either of two finesses or a squeeze with a Vienna Coup.

Mr. Johnston commented that the bidding had a wild tinge, and we must agree that it did. The opening lead of the king of spades knocked out dummy's ace. The king of hearts was led, East won and led back the ten of spades. Had he led a diamond at this stage, Mr. Johnston said his hair would have turned white, wondering what to do.

He trumped the ten of spades, picked up the last heart, and then asked, "What would you do now?" After all, a finesse needs only one card to be right, while a squeeze needs at least two." At this point also he made an complimentary remark about East's double and his failure to shift to a club or a diamond when he was in with the ace of hearts.

Here is the line of play that Mr. Johnston selected. He led the jack of diamonds, and when nothing happened, he went up with the ace, returned to the ace of clubs and started on the hearts. The result is obvious. As long as East had the spades and West the king

Position In Japan Is Encouraging

By DEWITT MACKENZIE Associated Press News Analyst

That was a vastly encouraging statement which Gen. MacArthur issued in Tokyo on the third anniversary of Japan's surrender.

He declared that Japan is equipped with the moral weapons to repel the totalitarian advance. And he went on to link Nippon with the new South Korean republic and with the republic of the Philippines in "a triangular buttress" for democracy in Asia.

Freely interpreted this strikes me as meaning there is unity of purpose between the Oriental trio and the United States. And to these three I think we must add China, whose spirit is willing though her flesh be weak.

of Japan", it is of course one of the world's highly strategic positions. So long as it remains under American military occupation it is a bastion in democracy's defence.

Still, while the loss of Korea would be serious, the combination of Japan and the Philippines would provide a mighty defence, as our experience in the last war fully demonstrated.

Why all this talk about another war? There's no special significance in it. Everyone knows by this time that there is danger of war. Still there is no present indication of any major explosion in the near future.

PATON OFFICE WILL RE-OPEN FOR PAY DAY

Paton management officials and representatives of the striking workers are meeting this morning to arrange for the opening of the office to staff workers, according to an agreement reached yesterday morning.

Company men are seeking assurance that office staff will be allowed to remain on the job after the payroll for the remainder of the plant has been completed. It was believed this morning that this assurance would be forthcoming from the strikers.

The office workers were not expected to be back on the job until Tuesday in any event, and company men were rounding them up this morning.

Pickets are still surrounding all entrances of the plant, which was closed Wednesday morning following general strike action as a result of a workers' meeting Tuesday night at the Syndicate Hall on Gordon Street.

For two weeks Labor Department conciliators attempted to reconcile the strikers with the demands of the company, who have termed the strike illegal on the grounds that the new bonus plan was specifically mentioned in a collective agreement signed last August.

The strikers rejected Labor Minister Barrette's suggestion that they return to work for a trial period, after which they could refer the matter to a three-man arbitration board.

The threatened shut-down stems from a dispute over a newly-negotiated bonus plan in various departments of the plant, and on August 16 some 42 weavers walked out in protest when the plan was put in effect in their department.

actively supporting his backing of the C.S.U. in the lake shipping strike.

Replacement of the C.S.U. by the Seafarers' International Union (A.F.I.) in the Congress of the S.I.U. this week absorbed the Canadian Lake Seamen's Union, arch-enemy of the C.S.U. on the Great Lakes.

These developments could come about at the October meeting of the Congress in Victoria if the high officers who banded themselves together yesterday received the backing of the general membership of their unions, which are for the most part actively anti-Communist.

Mr. Bengough said, however, he felt there were "too many good trade unionists" in the T.L.C. to allow it to desert an affiliate such as the C.S.U. during a strike. He still considered members of the C.L.S.U. company unionists even though they had been absorbed by the S.I.U.

Formation of the bloc was the second half of a one-two blow delivered to the C.S.U. this week.

A day before, there had been the merger of the C.L.S.U. and the S.I.U. designed to manoeuvre the C.S.U. out of the Congress.

That was brought about through the intervention of Frank Hall, Red-hating vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks who also brought his fellow officers together in yesterday's gathering.

Hall said that if his organizations felt President Bengough "was not carrying out traditional policies of the Trades and Labor Congress, we could not support him."

Rumored himself as a possible candidate for President Bengough's job, Hall declined to deny or confirm that he would be in the running.

CITY MEN GO TO MEETING AT MURRAY BAY

Sherbrooke will be represented by six delegates headed by Mayor Trudeau at the annual convention of the Municipalities Union of the Province of Quebec, held at the Manoir Richelieu at Murray Bay during September 15 to 20.

Other members of the delegation will be Armand Rousseau, K.C., City Treasurer H. M. Cormier, Aldermen A. Charpentier, N. Bergeron and S. Rousseau. They will carry nearly 100 other delegates from the province, proceeding by Canada Steamships vessel to Murray Bay for the 5-day session.

Business meetings, formation of committees, reading of reports and the delivery of addresses on social service, housing and municipal councils will take up most of the proceedings. Special guest at the closing banquet will be Francisque Gay, French ambassador to Canada.

Other speakers during the convention will be Mayor Lucien Borne of Quebec, talking on "Collective Agreements," and J. O. Asselin, chairman of Montreal's Executive Committee, whose topic will be the problem of housing which faces most municipalities today.

On Sunday, September 19, the delegates will attend a special mass at the parish church, and after the service they will split into two return parties for the journey home. Both will travel again by C.S.L. vessels, one party down the St. Lawrence to Montreal and the other up the Saguenay to St. Simeon de Bagotville.

George Hamid's spectacular grandstand revue drew a good attendance in the afternoon and the grandstand was sold out last night for the colorful performance by featured artists and the Roxettes.

The midway was a sounding board for a cacophony of barker's cries, music and the roar of the crowds as they squeezed their way into advantageous positions in the bleachers at the entrance to the rides or before the booths where for a nickel, a dime or a quarter they could test their skill in any of a score of "chance" contests.

The scream of an ambulance siren was heard during the evening when one of the performers in the Swimcade show fainted and in falling into the pool landed against the side. The performer, Mrs. Will Tanchuk, 21, suffered cuts and bruises and was taken to hospital but was expected to be released today.

Additional prize lists were released by fair authorities. Some of these appear in the Record today and the list will be completed as quickly as possible.

mand, summed up the "war." "The purpose of the exercise is to find out what we can do to defend Britain with our present equipment and organization. Even during the war a great deal of development took place in air defence which we never had a chance of testing against an enemy. Still further development has taken place since the war. Entirely new and secret methods of aerial attack and defence will be tried out. Some air crews have had no actual fighting experience. Since the war, speed and operation height of aircraft have increased enormously. All these factors will, we hope, help the exercise to yield valuable lessons to everyone concerned."

Special band music will be provided throughout the Fair, and plans are being made to offer a number of added attractions at every performance today and tomorrow.

Tomorrow night, as a special added feature of Bedford Fair, the great thrill show of the Congress of Hollywood Daredevils with Frankie Matthews and his Automaniacs, America's greatest Thrill Show, will present another of their sensational performances in front of the grandstand. Roll-overs, ramp and precision driving, fireball and ski-wail crashes, jet-propelled motorcycles, clown numbers, trampoline acts and acrobatics, plus the great spine-tingling high act of Curlew and Grogan on the 135' high pole, will be included on the great 25-act show. The climax comes with Frankie Matthews leaping his speeding car over a huge transcontinental bus and smashing it into a line of old cars, the Atomic Bus Crash sending chills down the spine of every onlooker.

The Midway Model Shows of Canada, has even thrilling rides and four big shows, including the Rocket, Caterpillar, Rideo, Tilt-a-whirl, Merry-go-round, Ferris Wheel and Kiddies Ride, with the circus 10-in-1 sideshow, Montana Street and his trained horse "Flicker" with lovely Kay Patu in the big western show, and the Penny Arcade as well as a Crawling Death show of wild animals. The waterfront employers association and Pacific American shipowners association declared a survival of the industry was at stake.

They announced they no longer would deal with any union whose officers refused to file non-Communist affidavits with the National Labor Relations Board. Such affidavits now are required to qualify unions for N.L.R.B. services. Bridges has refused to make such an affidavit but said he was willing to refer the question to the union membership.

40 concessions make up the "Fun Zone" at the Fair.

Special classes will be presented each day for horses, including carriage classes, pony races, saddle horses, ladies' and gentlemen's turnouts, buggy races, and various children's events as well as the showing of heavy draft teams, etc., today and Saturday.

Under the direction of Reg Hibbard, hard-working president, Bedford Fair this year sets a high, not only in exhibits, but in prize money being offered. Thanks to the support of many friends who have donated cash or merchandise to the big special prize list, plus the $1,500 grant from the Provincial Government, Bedford Fair this year offers over $5,000 in prizes, the largest prize list in the 119 years of the Society.

Judging began yesterday and will continue today, with many classes completed by noon, in time for the cattle parade.

The Doctor Says

PAIN AND WATERING IN THE EYE MAY BE SYMPTOMS OF IRITIS

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

The round-shaped iris is a membrane in the eye which contains coloring matter. This coloring matter is what decides whether a person has "brown" or "blue" eyes. When the iris becomes inflamed, the condition is spoken of as iritis. Iritis can be acute or chronic.

Jordan

The principal symptoms of iritis are pain in the eye, sensitivity to bright light, watering of the eye and interference with vision. The pain can be severe and is likely to be worse at night. The eyeball may be tender to touch or pressure.

In acute iritis, the symptoms tend to be worse than in the chronic variety, but recovery usually comes more rapidly—perhaps in a few weeks. When proper treatment is begun early, the iritis can clear up completely, but complications and the possibility of chronic inflammation are unfortunate possibilities.

Cause Is Obscure
Iritis is sometimes associated with rheumatism, diabetes, tuberculosis, syphilis, or injury. Often, disappointingly, no cause whatever can be found. The search for infection elsewhere in the body must be carried out painstakingly and thoroughly.

The eye itself requires highly skilled treatment, including the use of drugs, heat applied locally, rest and protection from light. Sometimes a method called foreign protein therapy has been found helpful. This consists of injections of some protein substance, such as boiled milk, which produces reaction of the body, usually with fever. This seems to stimulate resistance, and often has a favorable effect on the iritis.

When anything goes wrong with the eyes, diagnosis and treatment should not be delayed, as the risk of permanent damage is grave.

Rev. C. R. Stetson Gives Community School Talk At Boundary Rotary

Derby Line, Sept. 2.—"One of the ideas behind the International Community School is that education can be fun," said Rev. Clifford R. Stetson, president of the school, in the course of a talk about the plans for the fall sessions of the organization, at the regular Monday evening meeting of the Rotary Club of the Boundary, held at the Del Monty Hotel.

"The man who stops learning or stops studying, when he leaves school, and the man who believes that he knows all that is needed, is simply fooling himself and cannot keep going ahead. Not only in his business or profession does he need to be constantly learning, but to keep himself well rounded and abreast of the times he needs to be constantly acquiring knowledge. The basic principle of the International Community School is that we all need more education and that education can be fun. Not that acquiring knowledge means merely sitting and listening; not that it means simply having a good time; but rather that learning together in groups of like-minded persons can be an enjoyable and worthwhile experience.

"This is the 8th year of your local community school, and while some of us feel that we haven't reached as many people as should take advantage of the opportunities that it offers, we are surprised to learn how many other communities envy us the success we have had. Many communities much larger than ours do not offer any such thing as a regular place to meet and to study such as we have locally.

"We are trying once again this year to bring to the people of these Boundary communities the opportunity of getting together to learn things of interest, to enjoy healthful recreation, and to hear some outstanding speakers.

"The school opens on September 15, with a pre-session supper at the Centenary United Church with the famous Canadian author, Hugh MacLennan, for the speaker. We believe that the combination of good food and an outstanding speaker is a fine way to start our fall sessions.

"The following Wednesday evening, September 22, the school itself starts its eight weeks of regular meetings, and the speaker the opening night will be Stanley

Ross, one of the few Americans, who really knows Latin American thoroughly. We are very fortunate in being able to offer this speaker to you, and it is only because of some other nearby engagements that we could bring him here.

Other speakers and subjects will be: Miss Mary Adams and Miss Carolyn Wright, who will speak on various aspects of mental problems, both rural and urban, and from the Quebec and Vermont point of view. We will have a speaker from Dartmouth College who will tell us about producing plays in a small community, and a speaker from Canadian Industries, Ltd., who will tell us of some of the recent developments in plastic and chemistry.

"The Interest Groups this year, we feel, are especially interesting. French Conversation is an old favorite at the Boundary and will be included again this fall. Our discussion group will be headed by Rev. A. McKinley Rose, and its subject will be "Education for Democracy"; surely an important and worthwhile topic. A series on popular health, directed by Mrs. Carroll Aldrich, and featuring a number of special speakers, should prove popular. A new course which we believe will prove interesting is titled "Minding Your Own Business," and will deal with legal and budgetary problems for the individual and family; this course will be directed by Rev. F. Armand Fortin, and L. G. McGilten, and will enlist the services of a number of people from both sides of the Border. Our final course will be one on "Music For Everyone," and will be based on the idea that we can all get more out of the fine music that is available on the radio and through concerts if we know more about it.

"A new departure for the school this year will be the starting of some classes in Hobbies and Handicrafts on a different night from the regular school sessions. Hobbies and handicrafts need a full evening to accomplish what is necessary, and we believe this will prove especially appealing to people, who might not plan to attend the school itself. So far plans have been completed for groups in wood-working and fly-fishing, and we hope to offer others later. All members of the school are entitled to try these courses, and all members of these groups are invited to attend the regular sessions of the school.

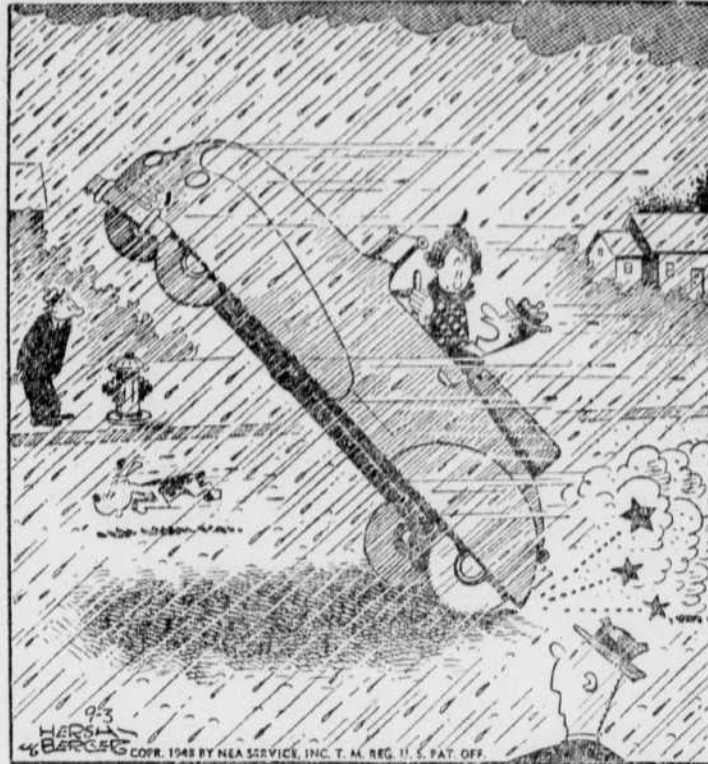

"I believe that we are really offering something worthwhile, and I ask you gentlemen not merely to join the school but to help us publicize it, and try in that way to increase our enrollment. The school is self-supporting and the more members we have the more we can accomplish."

Rev. Mr. Stetson was introduced by Ernest Hills, and thanked for his talk by Gordon Hartson. Frank Jenne of Newport was present; and Dr. Abe Newfelt, of Montreal, was present as a guest of Ernest Hills.

The school will be in session on Sept. 6, as that is Labor Day, the next meeting accordingly will be Monday evening, Sept. 13, when Claude Willard, chairman of the Rotary Fair, will be the speaker. The meeting will be held as usual at the Del Monty Hotel.

DOROTHY DIX

Cagey Widower

Tells Fiancee Dreams Of First Wife Seem To Warn Against Marriage

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am engaged to a widower whom I love very much and who loves me. But he has had several dreams about his former wife and he feels as though it were some sort of warning and as if she would always come between us. What do you think about it?

DOROTHY DIX

Answer: I should think that your widower is trying to break off the engagement on a very flimsy pretext, and that his dreams are far more likely to be inspired by what he ate for dinner than by any interference from the spirit world.

There is nothing more ridiculous than the idea that we carry the little personal jealousies of this life beyond the grave. Certainly it could add nothing to the bliss of an angel in Heaven to keep the husband that she had left on earth lonely and unloved for, loveless and homeless.

But if your sweetheart is one of the blundering idiots who never understands that a second wife is always more or less jealous of her predecessor, then of course Wife Number 1 can be a menace to your happiness as she will come between you and him.

POOR PROSPECT

So my advice to you is that unless your fiance can regard his first marriage as a closed incident, you had better have a few dreams yourself and be warned not to marry a widower.

Dear Miss Dix: I am a girl of 18 and I know a great deal about life. Your articles shock me with some of your old-fashioned ideas. Why should not a woman do as she pleases? Tell me where there is a man with so spotless a past that he can question any manner of life his wife or sweetheart may have lived?

Certainly the day is past when a girl's only thought is of marrying. Why, then, must she consider her every move in fear that no man will marry her? I believe that a girl has a right to her own mind and actions.

A MODERN GIRL

Answer: I am sorry you consider my ideas so old-fashioned, but the Ten Commandments also are old-fashioned. So is Nature. So are the rules of conduct that civilization has built up through thousands of years of experimenting in the relationship of men and women.

Of course, a man may have no more right to demand a woman with a spotless past than she has to demand a Joseph as a husband. But the trouble is he does. Mighty few men are broad and liberal in their views when it comes to their own wives.

Girls don't have to consider whether a man will marry them or not, only it just happens that practically every girl in the world wants to get married, and that is the one subject that she does spend her time considering.

The Record will be pleased to receive any letters to this Dorothy Dix column. These will be forwarded to Miss Dix who will answer them as quickly as possible.

MODERN MARRIAGE

WILD OATS A POOR CROP

By Dr. Paul Popenoe

Wild oats are the subject of today's lesson. Not the Avena fatua of the botanist, but—well, the other kind—you know.

Beverly brings the subject up: "I have heard people say that if a man hasn't sowed his wild oats before marriage, he will owe them after marriage," she states. "Just what does that mean, if anything; and is it true, Dr. Popenoe?"

It is one of those half-truths, or maybe 10 per cent truths, that can be misinterpreted and misapplied disastrously. Beverly, if a woman assumes that it is an advantage to marry a man who has been licentious and promiscuous, if she assumes that he is more likely to be honorable, loyal, and well-behaved after marriage, she is likely to get an unpleasant surprise.

Scientific studies confirm everyday observation—the man who has adhered to high standards of personal conduct before marriage is the man who is more likely to adhere to high standards of personal conduct after marriage.

Of course, the same is true of women. Who started the idea that you mention, about wild oats? I suspect it may have begun with cases like that of Alexander, whom I knew long ago. He was tied to his mother's apron strings, had never gone out with girls at all. Finally he married—on the rebound, you might say. He found the shock of his mother's death. He found himself quite unprepared to accept the responsibilities of adult life. Attempting to reassure himself, attempting (in vain) to prove to himself that he was "a real man," he sought feminine companionship of lowest moral standards and founded many mistaken ideas.

Struck by the contrast between his timidity before marriage and his later callous disregard for his wife, people said, "She should have married a man who had sowed his wild oats before she met him." What she really should have done was to marry a man who had grown up before he married—and grown up decently.

Wild oats are never a profitable crop. Ask any farmer.

Questions and Answers

Q—Girls seem to prefer to work, rather than to marry.

A—Depends on whom they would have to marry! U.S. Dept. of Labor reports that only 8 out of every 100 women in the labor force are working "solely because they like to work."

Q—There is a big demand for school teachers, and I'd go into that profession if I thought it would give me a fair chance of finding a husband.

A—If you will go into home economics, and teach in a small community, not a large city. Rural schools offer good opportunities for matrimony.

Q—You know perfectly well that no woman really enjoys home-making.

A—The women themselves don't know it. Only 8 per cent of women told the Canadian Institute of Public Opinion that they found home-making uninteresting. That doesn't mean that they don't want to do some other things, too.

THE BIG 92nd ANNUAL BROME FAIR WILL OPEN ON MONDAY

Great Labor Day Opening Is Set For The Big Brome County Fair

Once again, the greatest Labor Day attraction in the Eastern Townships, drawing thousands of people from all parts of the Province and from across the nearby international border, the Great Brome Fair will open its gates next Monday, Labor Day, for a full three day and night program said to eclipse any previous exhibition in the 92 years of the Brome County Agricultural Society.

Livestock exhibits are far better than usual, with accommodation taxed to the limit. An exceptionally fine horticultural display has been arranged for the 1948 exhibition, and in the Ladies' Department upstairs in the Main Building, entries are especially heavy, according to Secretary, George A. McClay.

Main Building exhibits will be well-worth visiting this year, many industrial firms, county services and commercial houses having planned to erect exhibits which will be of an exceptionally interesting nature. Among those who are planning to exhibit at Brome Fair this year are Southern Canada Power Co. Ltd., and the big Westinghouse mobile electrical appliance van; the Hon. Jonathan Robinson's Provincial Department of Mines exhibit, showing Quebec's famed mineral map display; Yama-ska chinchilla ranch from Cowansville will show the famous fur-bearing animals.

The Sherbrooke Daily Record will have their special booth with a "timely" subscription offer available during the Fair. Other exhibitors will include Cowansville Building Supplies, Dr. Cadieux Retail Drug Store from Cowansville; Small Bros., Grim Manufacturing Company and Lussier and Sons, sugar making equipment; a special weaving exhibit; the Bible Society; and other concession stands, etc., while the Bonville Ladies Guild will conduct a rummage sale in the Main Building during the entire Fair.

In the new Farm Machinery and commercial display annex built this year underneath the grandstand, will be the Williams Hardware Store from Foster; Herman Spencer, Foster; Robb's Reg'd. of Cowansville; H. Codere, Knowlton and the Cowansville Refrigeration Reg'd.

As a special added attraction daily, afternoon and evening, George Messier of L'Ange Gardien will present his trained horse act in front of the grandstand. The splendid Farnham Band will again provide the music for concerts and stage acts.

BIG RACE CARDS

Harness races feature the program, with some of the fastest horses in the Eastern Townships competing for their share of the $1,800 in purses. The Brome Fair race track has been newly surfaced and graded and is in tip-top condition, which should guarantee some exceptionally fast time this year. Six races are on the program, each of which will be run for a $300 purse, a total top money of all county fair race cards. The events include a 2:28 trot and pace; 2:15 trot and pace; 2:24 trot and pace; 2:18 trot and pace; 2:21 trot and pace and the main event, the Free-For-All.

Canadian Trotting Association rules will govern the racing events, with every heat considered a race. Several special prizes have been offered to spur further interest in the harness cards.

An all-new midway, billed as "the Modern Cavalcade of Mirth," will be presented at Brome Fair by the Model Shows of Canada, bringing one of the largest and most entertaining midways to the fair that has ever been presented in the Eastern Townships. Seven rides and four shows, with over 40 concessions on this huge midway.

Cattle and Horse Parades will be a chief attraction at the Big Brome Fair, with these popular grandstand features scheduled for

Acrobatic Novelty At Brome Fair

Featured on the great stage show at Brome Fair this year, presented by the famous Garden Bros. Attractions of Toronto, is BOB WALLACE, shown above, known as "The Slender Bender," one of Canada's ace contortionists.

Above, Bob Wallace demonstrates his Airplane Roll, in which he balances himself on a roller and manipulates a cup of water without spilling a drop while rolling along on the heavy drum and doing some very amazing contortions.

part of the afternoon show, with many special awards awaiting the many exhibitors who show Brome County's far-famed livestock at this annual exhibition.

Special Events.

Many special prizes and feature events are on the three-day program, with Horse Show attractions, and other special events as follows:

Monday afternoon—Pony Race, Potato Race and 1-mile foot race, with a Farmer's Horse Race, over 1-2 mile track, hitched to buggy only, and several pony races, saddle and carriage events. Monday evening—A special performance, with a prize for the best horse shown in Western style, quality of horse and handling each to count 50 per cent, also High-Stepping Ponies.

On Tuesday afternoon a children's horse race for crinants under 12 years, will take place on the track, and there will be a quick-hitch buggy race, one around the track with Pony Races, ladies' and gentlemen's driving classes, etc., while a Pulling Contest will take place on Wednesday morning at 10.30 a. m.

Wednesday afternoon there will be special prizes for ponies, various agricultural and light horse classes, and boy drivers, harness team and matched roadster, etc.

Specials on carriage and saddle horses are open to the District of Bedford and the County of Stanstead, except where specified in the prize list.

A splendid Horticultural Building is well worth a visit, and is a "must" on the list for every one who wants to see the greatest collection of fruits, vegetables, home-cooking, dairy and maple products ever assembled under one roof.

BROME

Brome Branch Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L. held its second "Quiz and Draw" in the "Dug Out" with the president, Max Hilary, master of ceremonies. Mrs. Hilary was also present and presided at the piano for the singing of "God Save The King" as well as for numerous musical questions asked. The door prize, an electric stove, donated by Hon. Jonathan Robinson, was won by Mr. W. P. McLennan. This ticket was drawn by Col. W. Leggat. The grand door prize was won by William Prouty, of Bonville, and the pool prize went to Mr. George Rogerson. The hall was crowded on this occasion and Mr. Hilary announced that a similar "Quiz" would be held in the near future.

Mrs. William Barnes was called to Montreal by the death of her friend, Mrs. E. Fleming, who passed away after a lengthy illness. Mrs. Fleming was the former Miss Gertrude Date, and had many friends in Brome.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Clark have completed their cottage which is now ready for occupation, and have already had the use of the electricity.

Friends will be sorry to hear that Mrs. C. M. Elridge is in poor health. A physician is in attendance.

Mayor William Blake boasts of a large crop of potatoes grown on a piece of land containing nine and one half square rods, which has produced twenty-seven bushels of potatoes, which is at the rate of over four hundred and fifty bushels per acre. These potatoes were of the Irish Cobbler variety; raised from certified seed and were sprayed six different times to control insects, and were sprayed with hooles in the leaves of many garden vegetables as well as in the Brome to reside was a well known farm crops.

BROME FAIR OPENS LABOR DAY

Officials Of Brome Fair Have Planned Outstanding Exhibition

Eagerly anticipating the opening of their big 1948 Exhibition, for which they have worked long and tirelessly, and made many changes and improvements, the directors and officials of the Big Brome Fair today feel confident that on Monday, Labor Day, when their fair opens its gates, the crowd will enjoy one of the finest exhibitions in the 92-year-old history of the Brome County Agricultural Society.

All stock barns, poultry houses, and even the hay barns have been freshened up, and the principal buildings of the fair have been all decked out in a new coat of glistening white paint, with the Main Building, Office, Horticultural Hall, Dining Hall and the huge modern grandstand receiving special attention, ready for the big Labor Day crowds.

Much work has been done on the grandstand, which is considered to be one of the most modern structures of its kind in the province. The huge stand affords a full view of the entire track, and from its elevated position provides patrons with the finest seating arrangement on the county fairs circuit for enjoyment of the track and stage performances. Newly painted, reconditioned throughout and with new foundations, the stand has wide stairways built from the seating space down into the paddock. Brome Fair officials may well be proud of their splendid grandstand, with its most up-to-date accommodation, and the fair crowds appreciate the full worth of this important structure when they find they can see the entire grandstand performance and the races without any difficulty whatsoever.

The fair grounds dining hall has been greatly improved and will offer the best in food and service to hungry fairgoers, operated under supervision of the Fair Board.

Confident of presenting the greatest entertainment program that Brome Fair has ever offered, the officials and directors of Brome County Agricultural and Horticultural Societies are as follows:

FARM and MARKET NEWS

Mares And Colts At Midway Farm

Frank Conklin who is visiting Sherbrooke this week with the Conklin Shows is a showman by vocation and a breeder of Thoroughbred race horses by avocation. His picturesque Midway Farm on the outskirts of Brantford, Ont., is the home of some 20 aristocrats of the Thoroughbred world who roam the spacious paddocks of the 80 acre tract along with their blue-blooded offspring destined eventually for the yearling markets. Conklin is essentially a market breeder and does not race his own horses.

This year when the Canadian Thoroughbred Horse Society stages its annual yearling sale at Woodbine Park in Toronto on September 10, Conklin will offer seven yearlings produced at Midway Farm.

It will be the third crop that he has consigned to the sales since the establishment of his Thoroughbred nursery, and he believes it to excel those of the past in the quality of the individuals. A noted American expert on yearlings to visit Midway Farm recently, estimated that a bay colt by Boswell-Aloof would command upwards from $15,000 at any U. S. market, but hesitated to suggest what the more conservative Canadian buyers might bid on him at the auctions.

PRICES REMAIN STEADY AT LOCAL MARKET

Prices remained steady at Lansdowne Market this morning with a good supply of meat, vegetables, fruit and dairy products on sale.

Local pink tomatoes were selling at 25 cents a pound, imported tomatoes were selling at 10c a pound while local tomatoes were selling at 50 cents a 15-pound basket.

Approximately 30 carloads of livestock consisting mostly of cattle with a few calves and lambs were bought and shipped to the United States.

Greco-Cisneros Fight Ends As "No Contest" After Fourth Round When Referee O'Connell Stops It

Montreal, Sept. 3.—A non-title welterweight bout last night that ended in the fourth round for the two contestants, Canadian Champion Johnny Greco and Larry Cisneros of Los Angeles, Calif., when it was termed "no contest" by Referee Maurice O'Connell, has every indication today that the battle will rage on outside the four-cornered ring.

The fight is an aftermath of an "outside the ring" quarrel between Promoter Raoul Godbout and the Montreal Athletic Commission, with Chairman Dave Rochon doing all the talking.

Rochon declared last week that the Commission would not sanction the bout because it deemed Cisneros an outfit opponent for Greco.

Godbout, however, secured a superior court injunction allowing the fight to go on as scheduled. He also took out a $5,000 damage suit against the Commission.

He said that O'Connell had been ordered by the Commission to stop the fight "because of the dispute between myself and the Commission."

Godbout said that he will appeal the decision. The two pugilists held onto a slow tempo for the first three rounds with very few punches being thrown. O'Connell says he told the fighters to "mix it up more" several times but the lagging continued until the fourth round when Cisneros dropped to the canvas.

Ringsiders claimed that the American fighter was not hit when he fell. O'Connell immediately called the fight off without bothering to count. The bout was scheduled for ten rounds.

Later, in his dressing room, O'Connell stated "I warned both fighters three times for not trying and when Cisneros went down from a punch that was definitely not a hard blow, I stopped the fight."

After the fight, Cisneros said "I could have got up at eight. I was waiting for the count when I found the referee had left the ring." If the decision of the referee holds, it is likely that the purses of both fighters will be held and they will undergo suspension.

Greco weighed in at 150 and Cisneros at 143 1/2. In the semi-finals, Gus (Pell) Mell, 148, knocked out Tommy Spencer, 142 1/2, of New Waterford, N.S., in the ninth round. The bout was fairly even until Mell brought a left uppercut from the floor, apparently aimed for Spencer's chin, but which caught him in the stomach instead. Spencer fell, rolled over, and had to be carried from the ring.

Iron - Master Willie Turnesa Guns For Second National Amateur Title

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 3.—(AP)—Iron-master Willie Turnesa of Elmford, N. Y., today carries his campaign for a second victory in the National Amateur Golf Tournament into the semi-final round against long-driving Eugene Dahlbender of Atlanta, Ga.

Paired in the other 38-hole semi-final are Ray Billows of Iron-master Willie Turnesa of Elmford, N. Y., today carries his campaign for a second victory in the National Amateur Golf Tournament into the semi-final round against long-driving Eugene Dahlbender of Atlanta, Ga.

Turnesa, who won the National in 1938 and the British amateur last year whacked his way out of the troublesome rough for a 3-and-1 victory over Marvin (Bud) Ward, two-time champion from Spokane, Wash., in yesterday's morning round. Then he turned back Bruce McCormick of Hollywood, Calif., 2 and 1 in the quarter-finals.

Dahlbender outdistanced Louis Cass of Hollywood, Calif., 6 and 4, and Louisiana champion Jimmy McGonigall of Shreveport, 1 up in 19 holes.

Billows made his third trip into the semi-finals with a steady game that dropped William Barrett of Memphis 5 and 4, and then completely demoralized Stranahan.

Stranahan had played three strokes under par in beating Charles Keeney of Royal Oak, Mich., in the morning, but his game fell apart against Billows. The Toledo strong boy went out in 37, two strokes over par, and was over regulation figures on four of the five incoming holes.

Billows went out in a one-under-par 34. He was two-under for the 13 holes against Stranahan, the present British and Canadian champion.

Coe, Lenky, 21-year-old Oklahoman, was three strokes under par in beating Julius Boros of Bridgeport, Conn., and Arthur Armstrong on Honolulu, Hawaii, both by 4-and-3 counts.

All Big Four Clubs To Play This Week-End

The Dominion Champion Toronto Argonauts start after their fourth straight Grey Cup this week-end. The results of the Scullers two week-end games may go a long way to showing just how the champions will rate for their title defence.

For their first opponents, the Argos draw Montreal Alouettes in Toronto Saturday. Then they swing over the Hamilton to meet the League's newcomers, the Wildcats, in a Labor Day game.

These two contests will mean that all four of the Interprovincial Union's teams will have seen action by Monday nightfall. Ottawa Rough Riders already demonstrated their strengthened status when they opened with an smashing, 36-18, victory over the Alouettes at Montreal Tuesday night.

Hayman figures that the Alouettes will take Tedder Morris' champs. He said in Montreal last night that his team will be stronger than the lineup that Ottawa swamped.

Major executives Joe Krol to be back in the Argo lineup after an ankle injury suffered last Saturday when the Argos defeated Toronto Beavers, 13-8, in an exhibition game.

The Est's other cup-challenging league doesn't start play until Sept. 11 when the Beavers Indians open the Ontario Union at Sarnia while Windsor Rockets play Hamilton Tigers at Hamilton.

The O.R.U. presents a streamlined front this season, out to four clubs when Ottawa Trojans withdrew and the Indians combined with the Beavers. Another change puts the Tigers in the League in place of the Wildcats, taking Tigers place in the Big Four.

The Western League opened way back on Aug. 21 and Calgary Stampeders are already threatening to run away with it, on the strength of their two straight victories.

Only a week ago, the Braves, still riding high, arrived at Chicago with an idea of increasing their league lead. Instead, the Cubs whipped them three out of four to set the stage for Brooklyn's wresting of the league lead from Boston the next day.

The Dodgers came to town last Tuesday expecting to fatten up on the cellar-dwellers. The Cubs set them back on their heels by sweeping both ends of a doubleheader. The Braves bounced back the next day to shut out the Cubs.

The defeat cut Brooklyn's first-place margin over the runner-up Braves to two percentage points. The Cards, in third place, are only

Montreal Royals Once Again Champs In International Baseball League

Montreal Royals, after a year's absence, once again reign as champions of the International League. Manager Clay Hopper's ball team mathematically clinched the circuit's 1948 pennant last night by defeating the third-place Toronto Maple Leafs 8-7, while the runner-up Newark Bears divided a doubleheader with the last-place Baltimore Orioles.

The Royals, who paced the circuit most of the way, are 13 games ahead of the Bears and have 13 games to play while the Bears have only 11.

For the Royals, it is their third pennant in the last four years. They missed winning last year's flag on the final day of the season when Jersey City nosed them out by a single game.

A three-run ninth inning homer by Toronto's Len Keneck knocked the Royals out of the race last year and last night a ninth-inning four-bagger won the flag for Montreal.

Oscar Grimes, who played for Toronto in 1947, belted Montreal's pennant-winning homer. The blow came, with the bases empty, off relief pitcher Al Porto.

Jack Banta, who started the game in which Montreal lost the flag in 1947, opened for the Royals last night and had a 7-1 lead going into the eighth inning when he was knocked from the hill during a six-run blast that enabled the Leafs to tie the score. Big blow of the Toronto rally was a three-run homer by Van Harrington.

The first five Leafs to face Banta in the eighth reached base safely. Frank Laza came in but couldn't stem the rally and he was replaced by Al Zachary who finally got the Leafs out.

Zachary, who only joined the club in August, retired the Leafs in order in the last of the ninth and received credit for his third victory.

The Orioles downed the Bears 8-7 in the first game, pounding out 11 hits, including Howie Moss' 3rd homer. The bears took the nightcap 8-4, scoring six runs in the eighth inning to win.

In the battle for fourth place, Rochester Red Wings remained half a game ahead of Syracuse Chiefs by beating Buffalo Bisons 7-6, while the Chiefs turned back Jersey City Giants 4-3.

Ted Schroeder And U.S. Davis Cup Committee On Spot Against Aussies

New York, Sept. 3.—Ted Schroeder and the United States Davis Cup Selection Committee will be squarely on the spot in the Challenge Round against Australia starting tomorrow at Forest Hills.

In choosing Schroeder to share the singles burden with Frankie Parker, the Selection Committee simply "played the percentage." It picked a player who in the last two years has won three Challenge Round singles matches against the Aussies while losing none.

But at the same time, it also picked a player who has had almost no top competitive tennis for the last year and who plainly is far below his best form.

Governors Of N.H.L. Approve Pension Fund

Montreal, Sept. 3.—Governors of the National Hockey League yesterday launched player pension and insurance plans and approved a possible 70-game schedule for each club in 1949-50.

Comy Smythe, General Manager of Toronto Maple Leafs, proposed at the governors' semi-annual meeting here that the present schedule be lengthened from 60 to 70 games.

No change was made in the already prepared 1948-49 schedule and the proposal was held over to the Governors' next meeting in the spring. At that time, League President Clarence Campbell will present a draft 1949-50 schedule giving each of the six clubs a minimum of 35 home games, compared with the present 30.

The hockey moguls gave formal approval to the long-heralded pension plan, retroactive to the 1947-48 season. It is a contributory scheme, with the amount of the benefits depending on the players' length of service.

Contracts were awarded for the group insurance scheme, which amounts to a $10,000 straight life policy on each player.

An increase in playing dates would make the old-time schedule look like rears. Back in 1924-25, the five clubs then forming the League—Toronto, Ottawa, Boston, Montreal-Canadiens and Montreal Maroons—each played 30 games.

Chicago Cubs, Not Going Anywhere Themselves, Have A Lot To Say About Who Leads National League

They aren't going any place themselves, but the Chicago Cubs are having plenty to say in deciding the National League pennant winner.

First they threw a monkey wrench into the pennant plans of the New York Giants, then the St. Louis Cardinals, then the Boston Braves and now the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Giants were the first to feel the sting of the Bruins Back on June 9 they were sitting in the driver's seat, enjoying a two-game lead on the Cardinals. The Cubs succeeded to knock the Polo Grounders right out of first place by taking three out of four.

Three weeks later, on June 23, the Cardinals were waging a neck-and-neck struggle with the Braves for the top rung. Boston had a one-game lead. The high-flying Redbirds came roaring into Chicago bent on taking over first place at the expense of the Bruins.

The Cubs sent them out of town with their tails between their legs after knocking them off three straight.

Only a week ago, the Braves, still riding high, arrived at Chicago with an idea of increasing their league lead. Instead, the Cubs whipped them three out of four to set the stage for Brooklyn's wresting of the league lead from Boston the next day.

The Dodgers came to town last Tuesday expecting to fatten up on the cellar-dwellers. The Cubs set them back on their heels by sweeping both ends of a doubleheader. The Braves bounced back the next day to shut out the Cubs.

The defeat cut Brooklyn's first-place margin over the runner-up Braves to two percentage points. The Cards, in third place, are only
