Next week's weather

By ERIC NEAL

JUNE 10 TO 17

Cloudless blue sky sunrises are normal to open this holiday week. Humidity high, so afternoon heat thundershowers may be expected, with gusty winds.

Electrical storms, heavy wind damage and flooded underpasses always possible for this moon First Quarter. Funnel clouds for some Ontario and Vermont regions mid-week.

Still showery with some hail, but improving generally for the weekend. Dry and hot next week.

The swimming pool has come alive —

Westmount swimming pool proved a popular spot when the weather turned suddenly warm. Our photographer got this fine shot from the terrace overlooking the pool. Westmount Park, with its shady trees in almost full leaf makes the background.

Former resident named for N.Y. University post

Dr. David Z. Robinson, a native of Westmount, has been named vice-president for academic affairs at New York University.

Dr. Robinson is the son of the Honorable Mr. Justice Benjamin Robinson, of Forden Crescent, and was a 1943 graduate of Westmount High.

He took his B.A. in Chemistry and Physics in 1946, and a Ph.D. in 1959, at Harvard.

After becoming a United States citizen in 1954, his work has included service as a scientific liaison officer in the Office of Naval Research, London branch, in 1959. From 1961 until this recent appointment, he was a member of the White House staff, as a technical assistant to the President's special assistant in the Office of Science and Technology.

He will take over his new post on July 1, when he will help plan and administer instructional, research and public service programs at the University.

Council makes traffic changes

The Administrative Traffic Committee, has recommended that a 'No parking between signs' area be established in front of the entrance to the Alexis Nihon Plaza on St. Catherine street and the city council has ordered the installation of the signs. Based on citizens requests and a study of the traffic conditions at various places in the city, and in co-operation with the Montreal Transportation Commission, it was also recommended that a stop sign be placed on Belfrage Road at the northeast corner of Roslyn Avenue. The stop sign which is presently on Sunnyside Avenue at Upper Bellevue Avenue which was placed there on a temporary trial basis was made a permanent installation;

A 20-mile-per-hour sign will be erected on Lansdowne Avenue for southbound traffic from the Boulevard to Westmount Avenue.

Bike rider injured

R. Remis, 20, a student of 2055 Closse street in Montreal was slightly injured when the Honda motorcycle he was driving was hit by a car at the corner of Greene and St. Catherine last Thursday at 10.05 p.m.

Driven by a resident of 4300 de Maisonneuve boulevard, it was alleged that the car involved had passed through a red light.

Centennial Reference Room construction ready to start

Work is about to start on the Centennial Reference Room and the interior renovations of the Westmount Public Library and this will entail a measure of inconvenience to those using the Library during the summer months. Mid June will be a difficult period but every possible step will be taken to keep the Library open while construction goes on. Students working hard for their school-leaving examinations will be relieved to know that work will not start in the Reference Room till their studies are over.

City quiet police report

Police Chief E. C. Harper suggests to citizens that a good way to be prepared for possible emergency would be to study a new book which will be available soon at the library called 'How to defend yourself and your family at home,' by George Hunter.

While the chief feels that to take the book too literally would be a mistake, it still contains many helpful ideas on how to deal with marauders before his trained staff can arrive on the scene to take over.

At the same time in Westmount for more than a week now no arrests have been made, no stores broken into and no one has been burglarized or molested.

A staff of from 15 to 20 police officers out of a total of 70 are on duty at all times of course, the only people in the station who observe weekends being the clerical staff. The fire department next door has had similar lack of emergency with the same staff in readiness at all times.

The contractor will close off the Reading Room in order to remove the central fireplace and at this time novels and magazines will be temporarily shelved in the hall and Reference Room.

By way of amends to the public for this inconvenience every member may take double the number of books on his card for Summer Loan.

This will include all books except new fiction, new non-fiction and mystery stories. Borrowers are asked to bring their choice of books to the circulation desk stating that they want these books for Summer Loan rather than the regular borrowing period.

The Children's Library will be closed for one month at mid-summer. The date is not yet certain but the children will be told in plenty of time to stock up on summer reading. They will be allowed eight books on each card rather than the usual four. From now on all children's books will not be due back till after Labor Day.

By Labor Day all should be in order and both staff and public will welcome the expanded facilities.

Quebec Legislature reads housing bill for Westmount

Westmount's long awaited private bill was read before the Quebec Legislature Private Bills Committee on Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. in the presence of Mayor Michael L. Tucker and members of the council, Aldermen Gross, Doheny, McEntyre, city attorney A. M. Weldon, Q.C. and city manager Norman T. Dawe.

If it is passed by both houses of the Quebec parliament it will be then possible for the city of Westmount to proceed with its plans to seek National Housing Act support for its public housing program to provide accommodation for the fifty Selby street householders who must be moved by September 30 to make way for the trans Canada Highway.

Motor Vehicles Sales January-March sales of new motor vehicle sales slumped 10.5% to 191,644 in 1967 from 213,160 last year, with the retail value dropping 8.4% to $665,383,000 from $726,482,000 in 1966. Sales of passenger units showed the greater decline, with an 11.3% drop to 158,457 from 178,715 last year against a 6.4% drop in commercial sales to 33,187 units in 1967 from 35,455. Corresponding retail values show passenger unit sales decreasing 10.7% to $523,162,000 this year from $585,693,000, while commercial unit values rose 1.0% to $142,221,000 from $140,789,000.

Fluid Milk Sales: Commercial sales of fluid milk, including standard, special and 2% milk, but excluding skim milk, buttermilk and chocolate drink in March, amounted to 134,231,000 quarts, 1% below the corresponding 1966 total. During the three-month period, sales at 387,959,000 quarts were 1% higher than in 1966.

Retail Sales: Retail sales during February 1967 were $1,555,919,000, an increase of 3.3% over the same month the previous year. Fuel dealers registered the largest increase (14.9%), followed by hardware stores (10.6%) and variety stores (10.2%). Four trades had decreased sales during February 1967: motor vehicle dealers (8.4%), family clothing stores (0.8%), women's clothing stores (0.3%) and furniture, T.V., radio and appliance stores (0.2%). All province with the exception of Prince Edward Island registered increased sales; the largest increases were in Manitoba (11.8%), Saskatchewan (7.8%), and Alberta (6.5%).

Tobacco Consumption: Cigarettes entered for consumption, as indicated by the sale of excise revenue stamps, numbered 3,796,880,845 in April, an increase of 1.4% over last year's April total of 3,745,005,680. The number of cigars entered for consumption dropped to 32,320,845 from 34,418,365. Cut tobacco entered for consumption rose during the month to 1,516,295 pounds from 1,461,718, while plug tobacco decreased to 67,185 pounds from 67,790, and snuff to 37,246 pounds from 71,923. Cigarettes released for export during the month totalled 30,646,600, and for ship's stores, 17,543,200.

Births, Deaths and Marriages: Canada's birth rate during the January-April period sank 5.9% to 123,551 from 131,259 in the corresponding 1966 period. All provinces, with the exception of New Brunswick which reported an 0.8% increase, showed declines in the number of birth registered. These ranged from 0.4% in British Columbia and Alberta to 12.7% in Quebec. During April birth registrations filed in provincial offices totalled 31,217, up 172 were new active (213 in the 1966 month) and 20 reactivated (32). During the cumulative period new reported cases totalled 436 against 582 in 1966, of which 393 were new active (501) and 43 reactivated (81).

Education Finance: Statistical data of income and expenditures of public school boards for the calendar year 1963, federal and provincial expenditures on education of the fiscal year 1963-64, and revenue and expenditures of independent teaching institutions such as universities, private academic schools and business colleges for their respective school years, closest to the 1963 calendar year are presented in the Dominion Bureau of Statistics publication, "Survey of Education Finance, 1963."

Both formal education, (consisting of elementary and secondary education, teacher training and higher education), and vocational training, expenditures on various cultural activities are included in the report. After several years of rapidly growing expenditures on education, augmented by constantly increasing levels of capital expenditures, the 1963 total of $2,485,194,000 shows only a moderate increase of 6.9% over the previous year — the lowest year-to-year increase in nine years. This is due to a marked decline in capital expenditures. Provincial grants for school construction, and particularly for vocational high schools, decreased by $95,274,000 in certain key provinces, while provincial expenditures on other facilities for vocational training declined by almost $29,000,000, causing federal grants for these purposes to decline by $77,589,000.

About 1,210 Canadians are expected to lose their lives by drowning in 1967. Be water wise and prevent this from happening.

Westmount YPC hosts Senator McCutcheon

Senator M. W. McCutcheon, P.C., C.B.E., Q.C., will be the speaker at a meeting sponsored by the Westmount Young Progressive Conservative Association to be held at the Berkley Hotel on Thursday, June 8, 1967 at 8:30 p.m. Senator McCutcheon has declared himself as a candidate for the leadership of the Conservative party.

A lawyer and an actuary, Senator McCutcheon left his position as Assistant General Manager of the National Life Assurance Company of Canada in 1941 to serve on the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, becoming Deputy Chairman in 1944. After the war, he and three others, including Mr. E. D. Taylor, founded Argus Corporation Limited, a holding company which by 1962 held management control of several large companies including Canadian Breweries, Massey Ferguson, Domtar, Dominion Stores, B. C. Forest Products, Hollinger Gold Mines and Standard Radio. During this period Senator McCutcheon was the Managing Director of Argus and served on the board of directors of all the Argus affiliates as well as many other Canadian and U.S. companies.

Although he was best known as one of Canada's leading businessmen, Senator McCutcheon was very active in charitable, educational and welfare organizations during this period. He is a Governor of the University of Toronto, a Member of the Board of St. Francis Xavier University and served on the Blayden Commission on University Financing. He was President of the Canadian Welfare Council, served two terms as chairman of the Metropolitan Toronto United Appeal and is connected with several hospital and volunteer nursing organizations. In a recent article The Financial Times said: "During his hard working years as head of the Canadian Welfare Council he (Senator McCutcheon) probably learned more about real welfare needs than any MP clamouring for indiscriminate government handouts."

Senator McCutcheon joined the Conservative government in 1962 as Minister without portfolio and was charged with the implementation of the Glasco Commission report on government organization. After the resignation of Mr. Hees, he served as Minister of Trade and Commerce until the defeat of the government.

Since April 1963, Senator McCutcheon has been one of the most active Conservative speakers across Canada.

Library displays Expo information

The Westmount Public Library is showing an Expo 67 display! The exhibit, located along the corridor leading to the book stacks, consists of posters, magazine and newspaper clippings, pamphlets, maps, menus, transportation schedules, and various other bits of useful information, designed to help one enjoy Expo to the fullest.

Materials are grouped under the headings of how to get there; parking facilities; admission; where to stay and how to reserve accommodations; transport on the Expo site; what to see; entertainment; where to eat and prices; child care facilities; and information services.

On the display shelves opposite the circulation desk we have an illustrated volume of the Chicago World's Fair of 1892-3, presented to the Westmount Library by Miss Edith B. Lewis of Hudson Heights, Qué. in memory of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Lewis. The public is certain to find this account of the Chicago Fair fascinating in itself and most interesting in comparison with Expo 67.

Whither 'Protestant' religious education?

HIGH school students of the Protestant persuasion in Westmount, as throughout the province, in another year or so may be following a course of religious instruction a far cry from the existing scripture study for many years sandwiched in as part of the English curriculum.

The Protestant Committee of the Superior Council of Education of Quebec, of which Westmounter Wesley H. Bradley, QC, is chairman have been consulting with representatives of regional school boards throughout the province. They have found some agreement on the need for change, and have authorized a five-member team of theologically-oriented pedagogues to develop a new course to be tried out first, as a pilot project, in the two new regional high schools embracing grades 7 to 11 in the Chateauguay valley, southwest of Montreal at Chateauguay and Ormstown.

At the same time, Protestant clergy are being encouraged, apparently by Mr. Bradley's committee, to name chaplains to schools.

IT is interesting the Chateauguay valley region was chosen for this experimentation and not, say, Westmount. For the new $3.5-million edifice at Ormstown is to have another innovation: it is designed to accommodate 1,000 Protestant and 300 English-speaking Roman Catholic students of the area, a sensible model of practical ecumenical co-operation. The latter will, of course, have their own chaplain and their own traditional religious instruction. The Protestants apparently are to be "up sides" from the outset.

It is a brave, bold step, perhaps long overdue, but fraught with some concerns in the locality where it is first to be applied. First glimmers of the plan broke in April at a congregational meeting of one of the Ormstown churches, with unanswered questions from parents and teachers as to the content of the new course, how it would reconcile viewpoints of various denominations, who and with what qualifications would teach the subjects.

Last week a local teacher, who is on the committee devising the new course, lifted the veil through a local church newsletter. The matter of selection of a chaplain was in the hands of the area's ministerial association; the course of study was to include "man's developing religious concepts, the family and the community, and the development of moral and social ethics."

INTER-CHURCH goodwill in the Chateauguay valley makes it a good place to experiment. The above outline should tread on a minimum of religious toes.

But we cannot help but wonder what may happen when the pilot project comes to be applied in, say, the more diverse urban areas. "Protestant" education in Quebec may be more properly described as "non-Roman Catholic" — in other words; all the others, who are widely diverse.

This so-far quiet attempt by the Protestant Committee to introduce a slightly-less watered down course of "religion" won't easily satisfy every-

You Say

Sirs:

This letter has been prompted by a concern for the welfare of Westmount residents and especially children. In recent years, Clarke Avenue below Sherbrooke Street has more and more taken on the aspect of a major thoroughfare. In the morning, east-bound drivers use it to get from Sherbrooke Street to Ste. Catherine or Dorchester Boulevard; and, in the evening, the same hordes, on their way home from downtown, literally race from Avenue de Maisonneuve, Ste. Catherine, and Dorchester north along Clarke to Sherbrooke and Cote St. Antoine, in the hope of crossing Clarke and Sherbrooke on a green light. The flow of traffic at non-rush hours continues only slightly abated.

All this rapid movement in two directions by all types of vehicles at all hours on quite a narrow street would be jangling enough on the nerves of any group of householders in a similar position. But more than just nerves are endangered by this traffic. For, in the short distance along Clarke from Ste. Catherine to Sherbrooke Street, are located three churches (The Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, St. Leon, and the Ascension of Our Lord) and one school (St. Leo's Academy). Clarke is crowded as well with other children going to and from Westmount High School on Ste. Catherine, and St. Paul's Academy and Selwyn House on Cote St. Antoine. Clarke Avenue is, therefore, not merely a near-racetrack for hurrying motorists; but it is also a pedestrian thoroughfare for children attending four schools in the immediate vicinity and for children and adults attending weekday and weekend services at three churches.

Although one might argue that the schoolchildren are in classes during peak rush hours, observation proves otherwise. They go to school during the morning rush hour; they go home for lunch and often engage in play on the edge of the road during the noon-hour, when motorists are hurrying back and forth; and after school, they are still in the process of walking home and horse-playing during the "five o'clock rush".

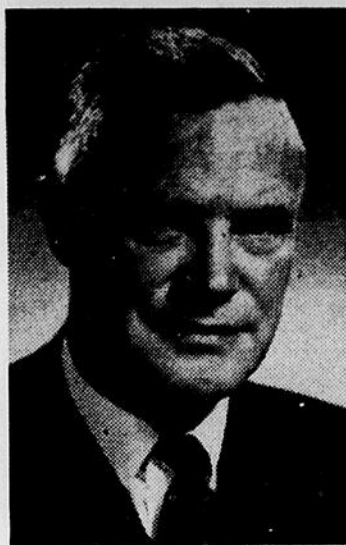

In view of these circumstances, I would like to inquire of the Westmount City Council, on behalf of the residents and children, what steps are necessary to have Clarke Avenue made into a one-way street (either north or south), at least between Avenue de Maisonneuve and Sherbrooke Street. This question should be answered soon, in the interest of all concerned. A position may be prepared if required.

Yours respectfully
Elizabeth E. Wilkins
(Mrs. Robert C.)

Editor's Note: This is a copy of a letter addressed to the Mayor and City Council of Westmount.

one, least of all the increasingly vocal group calling for non-confessional education. What of the Jews? What of non-believers?

Mr. Bradley and the Protestant Committee would do well to make a more forthright exposition of their intentions, so that it may be studied and discussed, rather than let a matter so close to the sensibilities simply leak out, incomplete, from the suburbs and exurbs.

YOUR MP REPORTS FROM OTTAWA

"The medium is the message."

This slogan of Marshall McLuhan, the Toronto professor of communications, is probably the most quoted Canadian saying of the sixties. It sums up McLuhan's belief that the medium through which we receive information affects our understanding of the information and our reaction to it. For example, since most people are conscious of the war in Viet Nam because of television programs, the public response is different than it would be if our principal source of information was radio or the newspapers.

As television has become a predominant source of public information, Parliament must adapt itself to the demands of the electronic eye. How will this new medium affect the "message" of Parliament? What are the principal functions of the Parliament in 1967?

The original and most obvious function of Parliament is the enactment of legislation. This essential activity is usually not very interesting to watch and would probably not receive much attention from a television producer.

In the House of Commons, the passage of legislation takes the form of a consultation of the members. In fact virtually all legislation is drafted by civil servants in consultation with a Cabinet minister, introduced by the minister, and, after a series of critical speeches by opposition members and supporting speeches by government members, passed by a vote which conforms to party lines, i.e., all government members and perhaps all members of one or more opposition parties vote in favour of all members of other opposition parties vote against.

Under modern conditions, a government has available to it more information and expertise than private members of the House. Most of the initiative and responsibility for legislation must rest with the government. On the other hand, no government is infallible and opportunities must be provided for criticism and improvement of legislation by elected representatives. A properly functioning parliament will strike a balance between allowing a few members to stall the legislative process and reducing the legislature to a rubber stamp for government decisions.

At the risk of exposing its fallibility (an exposure which can have disastrous effects at election time) I think a government should be prepared to accept constructive suggestions for changes during debate. If there is no possibility of affecting the legislation, the debate becomes sterile and the individual members impotent and frustrated. The present government showed its willingness to accept helpful amendments during recent debates on immigration and transportation bills.

It seems to me that televising Parliament would have less effect on its legislative function than on its other functions. I assume that a television producer would concentrate on the more spectacular aspects of Parliament about which I will write next week.

They Say

Hidden living costs

For publicity-seeking pundits today, a most popular crusade is the criticism and exposure of items in the rising cost of living. It is an important facet of economic life, and one which touches every person in the land.

In a brief to the touring Senate-Commons committee on consumer prices, the Winnipeg Chamber of Commerce recommended that Canadians should be told how much they are paying in direct and indirect taxes. It also recommended that there should be a study in depth determining how much is syphoned off by tax gatherers from producer to consumer.

"For each dollar that a company pays out to its shareholders or retains for future development," the brief stated, "it pays out $1.04 to the government in corporation tax. This happens at each step along the way from producer to consumer of which the consumer is only vaguely aware, if, indeed, he is aware at all."

One recent speaker has said: "Reading the committee's interim report makes it clear that what may have appeared to be a beautifully simple solution (blaming rising food prices on advertising and packaging costs) did not stand up to scrutiny. Even before the latest increase in federal sales tax the Economic Council of Canada stated that indirect taxes 'may have conceivably accounted for somewhere in the vicinity of a quarter of the overall increase in prices in Canada over the past few years.'"

"This remarkable conclusion has been received in silence. If it has been received at all." — Delhi (Ont.) News Record.

Is this justice?

How often a driver involved in an accident attempts to hide his impairment from recent drinking! But you know if a driver in Canada kills a person and is convicted of impaired driving, the longest prison term he can be given on a first offense is three months. But a driver guilty of exactly the same thing but found guilty of criminal negligence is liable to life imprisonment. A driver guilty of dangerous driving faces a maximum of two years' imprisonment, which is the same sentence that hangs over the head of a man who steals a loaf of bread. Is this Justice? — Milton (Ont.) Canadian Champion.

The Red Cross must collect 4,250 pints of blood each week to supply the hospitals affiliated to its free Blood Transfusion Service in Western Quebec. Donors have a choice of two permanent centres to make their blood donation. The one in the East End is located at 3131 Sherbrooke street east, and the one in the West End is at 2180 Dorchester boulevard west. Both centres are open from 9:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m., Monday to Friday.

Volunteer ladies and students who are now on their holidays are needed to help at mobile and permanent clinics. Also needed are volunteer telephonists to contact blood donors for emergency and special heart operations.

On Thursday, June 15 a Red Cross blood donors clinic will be held at the Queen Elizabeth Hospital, Griffiths Memorial Hall, Clinic Entrance on Northcliffe St., from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon and 1:30 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.

On Friday, June 16, the clinic will be at the Veteran's Association Branch No. 14 and Westmount Fire Department, The Royal Montreal Regiment, 4625 Ste. Catherine St., West, from 2:00 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Apologies are due to Anne Nor-kus, whose Centennial Essay on 'My Responsibilities as a Canadian' won honorable mention and was published last week in The Examiner, without her name. We are very sorry Anne, we hope you will forgive us. Your name, which was set in type, somehow got separated from the story and no one 'caught' it.

Centennial Essay . . . honorable mention

My Responsibility as a Canadian

by David Astrof

According to Webster's Dictionary, responsibility is the "state of being responsible, that for which anyone is responsible; a duty; a charge, an obligation placed on a person who holds a position of trust as an agent for another." Responsibility is something all true Canadians take seriously. Growing up is the first and most important responsibility; not just growing up, but growing up in the right way, in mind, in body, and most important in God. As a Canadian, I sincerely hope I have been led in the right way and that my thoughts on my responsibility are in every possible way the true thoughts of a Canadian.

I am just starting my responsibility as a Canadian. My first responsibility in growing up is my education. We are very lucky in Canada with our education, for we have topnotch teachers plus a top-notch school system. Since we are lucky and education is easy to acquire, we should make the best of it and not be lax. This surely is a responsibility and to be a good Canadian one must have a good education. In the school system there is much we learn, but there are three aspects more important and stressed more whether we know it or not. We are taught about the Bible and also about God who should always be in the heart of the Canadian. For years Canadians have been taught about God and the Bible, so now I feel it is something I must do to learn about the Maker. The school system also keeps our bodies healthy and it is our duty to participate in all school athletics keeping our body strong. The school keeps us healthy in spirit and body and it keeps us healthy in one other thing too — mind. We learn to use our minds and this, even if we are not clever, is very important for us.

Even Sir Winston Churchill was not exceptionally brilliant as a child, but he could use his mind and he later helped his country immensely. In completing my education I will have completed one credit to my country as a true Canadian.

I feel that today too many young people like myself have no loyalty to our country. This does not mean we would commit treason against it, or that we would not defend it in time of war, or even that we would not stand up for it in conversation, but too many Canadians do not take an active part. We should be proud of our country. We owe it pride, pride in the people who have made it great, pride in its freedom and pride in its brilliant history. This pride is also a service that should be on our minds — pride of which to boast of our grand country. Only this year are we getting this feeling of pride from advertisements from television, radio and newspapers all stressing what has been done in the last one hundred years. This helps us realize for ourselves what it means to be a Canadian. I feel now that Expo 67 is here we have an immediate service, — each to act as an ambassador to every guest who turns to us. In this way we can start off the next one hundred years being responsible individuals in a responsible and mature nation.

THE CANADIAN RED ENSIGN IS THE HISTORY OF CANADA

In 1497, John Cabot planted the Flag of St. George on what is now Canadian Soil. For the next 250 years the development of Canada followed the pattern of the struggle for power between Britain and France. The most significant date in early Canadian History took place on the Plains of Abraham when General Wolfe planted the Union Jack firmly on Canadian Soil. Following a few years of military rule, the governor, Sir Guy Carleton, recommended the passing of the Quebec Act of 1774, which guaranteed freedom of religion to French Canadians and made French Civil Law valid. Canada was defended under the Union Jack during the American Revolutionary war and again in the war of 1812. The Red Ensign flew throughout Rupert's Land, the area developed by the Hudson's Bay Company. The west coast of Canada was claimed under the Union Jack by Captain James Cook in 1778. When the "Fathers of Confederation" met in London to frame the British North America Act, they did so under the Union Jack and the Red Ensign. When returning from the Boer War, Canadian Volunteer troops fashioned an old "Red Duster" on the return to Canada, and marched off the troopship with the Red Ensign with Provincial Symbols sewn on the fly. This was truly the "Canadian Red Ensign" fashioned by Canadians who had served Canada abroad. In the same way in the Great War of 1914 to 1918, Canadians rallied under the Red Ensign, in the great sacrifice.

In 1921 the Canadian Government requested His Majesty King George V to order a new Coat of Arms for Canada. And in response to this request, His Majesty instructed the Royal College of Heralds to design a suitable Coat of Arms.

The design of the Shield was then displayed on the Red Ensign, thus making it the CANADIAN Red Ensign, a DISTINCTIVE Canadian flag.

The Canadian Red Ensign symbolizes the main streams of history, with their common heritage, which combined to produce the Canadian nation. And even the colours of the Canadian Red Ensign — Red, White and Blue — have a rich meaning: RED symbolizes the Blood of Christ shed for the remission of sins; WHITE the righteousness of the saints; and BLUE loyalty and dedication to service.

In 1924 the Canadian Parliament enacted legislation providing for the use of the Canadian Red Ensign on any Canadian building abroad. Canadian troops fought proudly under the Canadian Red Ensign in World War II. The Canadian Red Ensign was carried by Canadians in Korea, and by them in Cyprus.

The establishment of the Canadian Red Ensign through history, tradition and custom, was formalized on September 5, 1945, when our Governor-General signed an Order-in-Council which stated that:

The Red Ensign with the Shield of the Coat of Arms of Canada in the fly (hereinafter referred to as "The Canadian Red Ensign") may be flown from buildings owned or occupied by the Federal Government within or without Canada . . . and that it shall be appropriate to fly the Canadian Red Ensign within or without Canada wherever place or occasion may make it desirable to fly a DISTINCTIVE CANADIAN FLAG.

Copy of Minute approved Feb. 12, 1965. (extract from) . . . It is deemed appropriate to recommend that in addition to the Flag of Arms of the Province of British Columbia, the displaying of which was approved by Order-in-Council No. 1438, dated June 22, 1960, the Union Flag (or Union Jack), and the Red Ensign with the shield of the Coat of Arms of Canada (hereinafter referred to as "The Canadian Red Ensign") should also be appropriately displayed on all suitable occasions.

Approved this 12th day of Feb. AD 1965 (signed by . . . W. A. C. Bennett) Presiding Member of the Executive Council, Government of British Columbia).

Join the Red Ensign Club Today!

The Red Ensign Club of Canada is a membership organization of $1.00 per year ($0.50 for under 18 years). It is a non-profit, non-partisan, patriotic association, inviting support of any Canadian regardless of race, colour, or creed. Our membership is growing in every Province and we will assist in forming Branch and Provincial Clubs wherever there are sufficient members.

The Red Ensign Club is committed to restoring the dignity of the White Ensign, the Blue Ensign and the Red Ensign equally; the Red Ensign Club is committed to and loyal to our most Gracious Sovereign, Queen Elizabeth the Second, Queen of Canada; and we are committed to the Constitution of Canada — the B.N.A. Act — undiluted . . . which preserves the English language as the language of Canada, and at the same time guarantees the French language in the province of Quebec, the House of Commons, and in the Supreme Court of Canada.

We believe that the Flag, the Crown, and the Constitution have preserved the northern part of the continent as British America.

I.O.D.E. project helps Mackay Center children

The Centennial project of the Municipal Chapter I.O.D.E. was officially presented recently by Mrs. Lindsay H. Place. The project was to give the Mackay Center for Deaf and Crippled Children a Philips Stereo record player and F. M. RADIO.

The stereo, which is fitted with an induction loop, has been installed in the music room to teach music appreciation to the crippled children and rhythm work to those who are deaf. The induction loop allows partially deaf children, with hearing aids, to enjoy good music.

A brass plaque accompanying the stereo has been inscribed with "Presented by the I.O.D.E. Chapters of Montreal."

At the same time, the I.O.D.E. presented the Center with a cheque for the purchase of library books.

Social Agencies' meeting includes lively panel discussion

The 47th Annual Meeting of the Montreal Council of Social Agencies was held on Wednesday, May 24th, at 12.00 noon in the Mordant Room of the Sheraton-Mount Royal Hotel.

Following the report from the Council's executive on the year's activities, in place of the usual speaker the Council this year held a panel discussion. The topic of this panel was the future role of the Council in regard to the problems of urban poverty, its relationship to the French-speaking community and its situation given the increasing role of government in the provision and planning of services.

Moderator of the panel was Mrs. Zoe Bieler, Women's Editor of the Montreal Star, and the panelists were Mrs. Peter F. Kerrigan, of 17 Anworth Road, Vice-President of the Council, and President of the Family Service Association; Rev. John Burke, Curate at St. John the Evangelist Anglican Church and member of the Council's Committee on Urban Renewal and Low Rental Housing; Mr. Gower Markle, Education Director of the United Steel Workers of America (Canada) and President of the Council's Section on Community Funds and Councils of Canada.

The Meeting was well attended and the panel discussion provoked lively interest among the members.

Miss Sherrill Ann Dectar and Mr. John H. Berrys (Berlinsky) whose engagement is announced. The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Abe Dectar, of Clarke avenue. Mr. Berrys is the son of Mrs. James Berlinsky and of the late Mr. Berlinsky. A Fall wedding is planned.

Gerard Pelletier speaks at St. George's graduation

The tenth Graduation exercises of St. George's School took place in the school auditorium on Friday, 2nd June, at 4.00 p.m.

Among the students who graduated were Suzanne Cloutier, of Argyle avenue; Barbara Hood, of Kensington avenue; Howard Ransom, of Somerville avenue; Harriet Sachs, of Cote St. Antoine road; and James Shavick, of Montrose avenue.

Following a speech by Mr. John Low-Beer, President and Chairman of the Board of Directors, Mr. Lloyd McClintock introduced the Guest Speaker, the Honourable Gerard Pelletier, M. P., Parliamentary Secretary to the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

For the graduation address, Mr. Pelletier took as his theme the need to combat the inequalities that exist in Canada and throughout the World, pointing out that such inequality is present in Montreal where a French-speaking Canadian is likely to earn considerably less than an English-speaking Canadian. He stressed that this must be overcome and that fighting inequality is a frame of mind, a philosophy, and must be done in whatever profession the graduate chooses.

After the thanks to the guest speaker were delivered by Dr. Richard Goldbloom, the Agnes Matthews Trophy was presented, by Mr. Robert T. Leicester, Principal of St. George's, to Barbara Goldbloom, from the High School and a graduate this year, and to Paula Rohrlach, from the elementary school — grade six.

The school orchestra then played a Concertino by Hadyn, followed by a speech by Carol Bieler, President of the Student Council for 1966-67, and presentation of Diplomas by the Principal and Vice-Principal, Mrs. Carey Foster.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held for the graduates and their parents, and the invited guests.

Also announced are the Student Council representatives for 1967-68. They are President, Michael Gertler, and Vice-President, Linda Courcy.

Gabor Bartha Studio presents seventh concert

Music is child's play at the Gabor Bartha Studio — but you wouldn't know when you hear it. Montrealeers will have the opportunity to hear for themselves the music of the (very) young when the Studio presents its seventh annual concert at the Claude Champagne Hall of the Vincent d'Indy School of Music on Saturday, June 10th at 10:15 a.m.

Entitled "Ensemble Work by Young Children", the concert will feature groups from five to 16 years of age, demonstrating their skills on instruments ranging from glockenspiel to viola de gamba — performing compositions by Telemann, Orff, Kodaly, etc.

Mr. Bartha's studio is a pioneering enterprise with a cause; its objective is to develop musical sense and a feeling for instruments at a very early age. A Bartha pupil's life in music begins at three with playful excursions into the world of rhythm and sound. Carl Orff studies and the learning of classical instruments in intermediate classes eventually lead to group and solo playing of classical chamber music. In all, Mr. Bartha's "Music for the Young" program provides a comprehensive — and happy — initiation into the pleasures of music without the strains and pains of formal lessons.

Mr. Bartha is a graduate of the Franz Liszt Academy of Music of Budapest — and a pupil of Zoltan Kodaly, the great Hungarian composer and educator. A composer and accompanist of note, Mr. Bartha now devotes most of his time to group work with children.

Saturday's concert at the Claude Champagne Hall is of special interest to parents, music teachers and to children five years or older.

Tea to be held for Weston graduates

A tea for the graduates of Weston School will be held on Saturday, June 10th, from 2:30 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. and will take place at the junior school, 18, Severn Avenue.

Bulletins from Birdland

The Acrobatic Sandpiper

Canada is a land of lakes, with many sandy shores, and consequently abounding in shore birds. The Sandpiper family is large, and the various species may be found on both our western and eastern salt water shores, and on the sandy beaches of both our large and our small lakes which lie scattered across the country.

Our most familiar Sandpiper and a fairly small one is the Spotted, found on nearly every body of water in Canada including rivers, streams, and ponds. Actually, it breeds from Vancouver Island to Newfoundland, from Point Pelee, which reaches deep into the United States, north to almost the most northerly corner of the Yukon which touches on the Arctic Ocean. It winters in British Columbia, but east of the Rockies these birds migrate in cold weather to the Gulf States, northern Chile, or Brazil.

Although sandy shores are preferred, it lives on muddy or rocky shores too, and usually nests in a hollow in the ground not far from water. Occasionally, however, the home is under a log, a rock, a bank, or even a bush. The nest is lined according to necessity. In regions where no very cold weather is anticipated a few pieces of grass suffice. In northern Canada a deeper hole is needed because a lining of thick moss is added, with grasses and seaweed when available. The young are precocial, that is, they are able to move about almost immediately after birth.

The name "Spotted Sandpiper" is suitable, because in spring and early summer the bird's underside is covered with black spots, although later on these are lost. The very distinct white stripes along the edge of the wing show only in flight.

Have you ever played a game with this Sandpiper? It has the habit of constantly moving its tail up and down — it is never really still. Logs and rocks are splendid places on which to teeter. Try to approach it as it teeters on one of these and it will fly off over the water; follow it in your canoe or row boat and it will circle around and land behind you — once more standing teetering on the same rock.

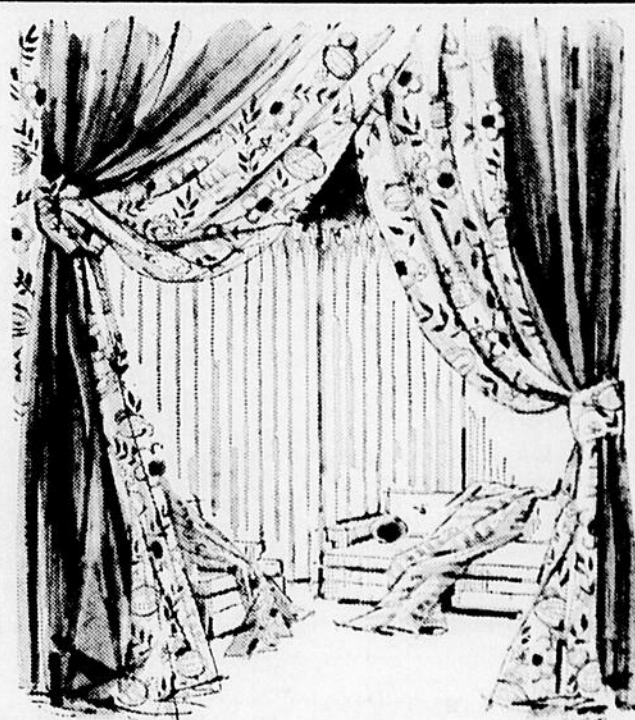

Sandpipers are not noted for their swimming ability, but Spotty is an exception. On the approach of danger it sometimes lands on the water and swims; it can even swim under water, and has been known to walk on the bottom, under water.

Are Loons noisy?

SUN-SAFE SANDWICH

Teen-agers who are beach bound need sun-safe sandwiches. Swiss cheese-hard salami sandwiches can take just about as much of the sun as the crowd totting the lunch.

Spread a mixture of ¼ cup soft butter and a tablespoon prepared horseradish over ½ slices of fresh enriched bread. Place two slices hard salami and a slice of Swiss cheese in each sandwich. Wrap individually in moisture-vapor proof paper. Chill thoroughly. Pack a well chilled lunch, replete with hard-cooked eggs and cucumber wedges. Welcome dessert: pelly roll slices. The favored beverage can travel in the family's vacuum jug or bottle along with paper cups.

Look-alikes in fun-sleepwear

Mother - and - daughter fashions in sleep and loungewear have a new indoor-outdoor look. While gowns, pajamas and dusters are primarily designed for the house these spring styles have a multiple purpose in that they are designed for at-home wear or patio play.

Designer Evelyn Lind takes full advantage of a little girl's desire to dress-up like mommy and she has created many groups of coordinated styles.

Fabrics such as terry, checked gingham, and batiste highlight the collection. Lavish Schiffl embroidery adds a feminine touch to yokes, sleeves and pockets of an Empire-line silhouette group made in easy-care, permanent-press batiste. The pastel color range is from pink to mint. Made in gossamer voile for ladies and in cotton for children, halter necklines grace short and long tent shaped gowns. Delicate trim in these sleepwear groups is Val lace, tatted lace edgings at yokes and hem and deep flirty flounces of eyelet lace.

Reid Sherriffs is Tennis Champion

Reid Sherriffs successfully defended his school senior tennis crown, with a hard earned win over Neil Fernandes in the final match played at City of Westmount courts.

Neil threw a scare into Reid by taking the first set 6 to 1 in the best two out of three sets for the Spring title. Sherriffs came back strong in the second set to win 6 to 0 but the third and deciding set was a well played one with little to choose most of the way but the champion was steadier and sharper particularly on the long drives and outlasted Fernandes in his fine challenge for the title.

Last Friday afternoon at Westmount Park, two soccer teams organized in the school played an exhibition game and the match was well contested. With the team piloted by Mike Radoma eling out a 3 to 2 victory over a club masterminded by Gerry Fortin.

Sports has now come to an end for the season, with the more serious business at hand of final examinations and one can only wish all the athletes in the school the best of luck in their efforts to gain respectable notes.

Nearly 275 persons lost their lives by drowning last year while they were swimming or wading. Be water wise and prevent drownings!

Baseball Instruction
