UKRAINIAN ARMY CLOSING IN ON KEY RAILWAY HUB

Korosten Is Within Gun Range

Third Army Also Springs New Attack, Killing 1,500 Nazis in Effort to Trap Germans in Gomel—Enemy Relying Upon Flank Counter-Attacks.

By JUDSON O'QUINN,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

London, Nov. 17.—(AP) — Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's Ukrainian Army closed in toward the key railway junction of Korosten, now within Soviet artillery range from three directions, and one column surged up from the South to within fourteen miles of the city, Moscow announced today.

The column moving up from captured Zhitomir reached Turchenka while another force coming in from the Southeast captured Chepovichi fifteen miles away. A third group reached to Obikhodi, where it was fifteen miles from Korosten and but thirteen miles from the North-South Odessa-Leningrad railway which at Korosten crosses the East-West Kiev-Warsaw Line.

Both railroads were major German supply routes now virtually useless to the Germans East and North of their junction.

Sixty towns and hamlets were taken in the Korosten area, said the Moscow communique, recorded by the Soviet Monitor from a broadcast, and more than 1,000 Germans were killed in the fighting.

The 3rd Army also sprang a new attack killing 1,500 Nazis as they sought to trap the Germans in Gomel to the North. To the South the Germans hinted at the beginning of a flight from the Dnieper Bend.

In the Korosten area the Germans lost considerable war material. In one sector, the communique said, German tank men, attacked with hand grenades, tried to save themselves by running away but were wiped out by automatic rifle fire.

The Germans appeared to be relying upon flank counter-attacks for the major defence in the Korosten-Zhitomir region and they hammered at the Fastov area and Southeast of Zhitomir. The Russian midnight communique said thirty-five German tanks were knocked out and 600 Germans killed in the Fastov area. Soviet planes were active here, pounding troops concentrations and destroying twenty tanks and ninety trucks.

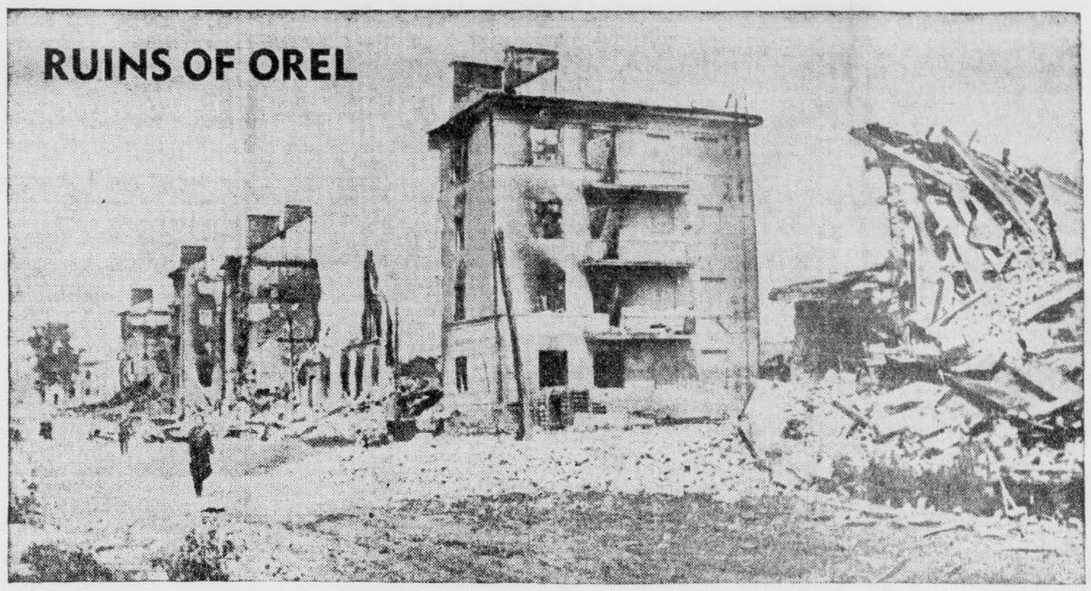

The Korosten drive was linked with the fighting in the Rechitsa region where the Russians were aiming at Kainkovichi, the next important railway junction North of Korosten.

The Moscow communique, recorded by the Soviet monitor from a broadcast, said the Red Army, which yesterday cut the railway leading from

RUINS OF OREL

NORWAY TARGET IN GREAT U.S. BOMBER ATTACK

Strike Big Blow at Molybdenum Mine at Knaben and at Power Station, 80 Miles West of Oslo.

By GLADWIN HILL,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

London, Nov. 17.—(AP) — Large formations of United States heavy bombers fought their way 700 miles across the North Sea through heavy snow storms to strike at Germany's essential metal supply, bombing a molyodenum mine at Knaben, on the West coast of Norway and a power station at Rjukan, approximately 80 miles West of Oslo.

The attack on the Northern side of Germany's European fortress followed up an American raid yesterday on two Nazi air bases near Athens, on the Southern flank of Europe.

The Britain-based heavy bombers were unescorted and encountered only slight resistance. They shot down six Nazi planes with a loss of only two bombers.

The German-controlled Oslo radio was recorded by the Ministry of Information as saying that several places in Southern Norway were attacked at noon "by strong American formations." The broadcast acknowledged, however, only "damage to some buildings."

The aerial campaign against German war facilities across the English Channel was continued during the day, meanwhile, by swift R.A.F.

SAYS DOMINION HAS HIGH PLACE IN U.S. OPINION

U.S. Minister Reports Raising of Status of Canadian and American Legations Well Received.

Ottawa, Nov. 17.—(CP)—Ray Atherton, United States Minister to Canada and Ambassador Designate, said at a press conference yesterday the raising of the status of the Canadian Legation at Washington and the United States Legation here to the status of embassies was greeted with enthusiastic satisfaction in Washington.

Just back from a tour of duty at the State Department, Mr. Atherton attributed this reaction to the "high place" Canada holds in the opinion of the American people.

Mr. Atherton, one of the senior officials of the State Department before his appointment here, was called to Washington, as he put it, to "fill in" while a considerable number of officials accompanied State Secretary Cordell Hull to the Moscow Conference.

He expressed pleasure at being back at his post in Ottawa and said he hoped he would not have to leave again for some time, except to carry out some speaking engagements which may take him on a trip across Canada.

While President Roosevelt has nominated him for the post of Ambassador to Canada in line with the arrangement to raise the status of the two missions to embassies, the nomination is subject to confirmation by the Senate.

Canadian affairs are fully reported in the United States press, Mr. Atherton said, describing this as just one more indication of the interest that Americans take in Canada.

"I could follow things in Washington just as well as I could in Ottawa," he said. "Speeches of Canadians such as the message of Prime Minister Mackenzie King to the Foreign Trade Association in New York are reported and analyzed and we get your point of view."

Predict Immediate French Action To Ease Tension In Middle East

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

London, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Immediate French action to ease tension in the Middle East over the Lebanon tempest was predicted in London today after Gen. Georges Catroux, Commissioner of State for the De Gaulle Committee, reached Beirut with powers to settle the disturbances.

Catroux took charge of the situation following upon representations by Britain and the United States over the arrest of the Lebanese

LEBANON INCIDENT BEING SETTLED

Algiers, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle told a specially-convoked session of the French Consultative Assembly that the Lebanon incident is "on the way to being settled" in a manner preserving France's relations with the Arab world and her fighting Allies.

President, Prime Minister and legislators who demanded immediate independence.

In Algiers Gen. Charles de Gaulle told the French Consultative Assembly that events in the Syria erea were "only a passing incident" which should not be allowed to disturb friendly relations with the Arab world or disrupt French unity with the Allies, especially Britain.

French quarters in London expected that remedial measures, urgently advised by Britain, would be taken within 24 hours, starting probably with the release of arrested officials.

The recall of Jean Helleu, French High Commissioner, was anticipated, particularly in view of his reported statement that the French Committee ordered the action he took.

The formation of a provisional Lebanese government under Emilie Edden likewise was expected to be repudiated by Gen. Catroux since the De Gaullists disclaimed any official French endorsement.

Cairo dispatches said Lebanon was quiet but tense. A French communique said the situation was "returning to normal" with "no troubles in Lebanon."

Catroux arrived in Beirut by French plane from Cairo where Richard G. Casey, Minister of State for the Middle East, expressed the British "hope and expectation" that Catroux would take measure without delay.

Greater excitement was reported outside Lebanon in neighboring Arab countries.

The German radio at Paris claimed the Allied High Command had urgently summoned the French Commander in Chief, Gen. Henri Giraud, to discuss the Lebanon events but had not approached Gen. de Gaulle. The report was utterly without confirmation.

Suggest Plan For Study At Power Parley

London, Nov. 17.—(AP) — An appeal by the leaders of the tripower alliance to the German people to scrap the Nazi regime and conclude the war honorably without further bloodshed and ruin was suggested unofficially today for consideration at any possible meeting of Prime Minister Churchill, President Roosevelt and Premier Stalin.

Such an appeal would be fully in accord with the announced Soviet policy of making a distinction between the German masses and their leaders, and also with the strategy employed by the Allies to ease Italy out of the war.

A series of appeals from Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill, reinforced by threats of utter destruction, preceded Italy's hasty capitulation to the first Allied forces which invaded her mainland.

Whereas there previously had been reported some divergences between British, American and Russian views of the post-war settlement in Germany, Cordell Hull, United States Secretary of State, plainly implied yesterday that such issues in the future would be decided on the basis of a common policy adopted at the recent Moscow Conference between Hull, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Soviet Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov.

R.A.F. MEN MAY VOTE IN ALTA. ELECTION

Edmonton, Nov. 17.—(CP) — The Edmonton Journal said in a news-page story today that it was learned members of the R.A.F. stationed at No. 36 service flying training school, Penhold, may participate in the December 16 provincial bye-election at Red Deer.

PARTISANS IN RETREAT UNDER HEAVY ASSAULT

Allies Reported, However, to Have Strengthened Toe-Hold on Aegean Island of Leros.

London, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Gen. Josip Broz' (tito's) Partisans were falling back slowly in Yugoslavia today before the weight of heavy German assults, but to the East, in the battle for the Balkans, the Allies strengthened their toe-hold Island of Leros.

Allied air squadrons, based in the Middle East, were striking hard in support of the ground forces in a campaign which is increasing in fury as winter sets in along Hitler's Balkan flank.

Aside from heavy attacks on German positions on Leros—where Allied forces also are under violent Nazi air assault—Allied airmen ranged the Aegean against enemy shipping. R. A. F. Spitfires and Hurricanes raked the Islands of Rhodes and Crete while American bombers smashed at two airdromes near Athens and disabled a German destroyer.

Tito, whose Yugoslav Army of Liberation for weeks has been confronting Hitler with an ever-sharpening menace, acknowledged in a communique today that his Partisan forces had to withdraw from positions on the Peljesac Penninsula on the Lower Dalmatian Coast and in Dalmatia his forces generally were fighting a defensive struggle.

The Germans, in an effort to secure their Balkan battle lines for the winter, were reported to have hurled thousands of first-rate troops into the struggle with Yugoslav Partisan forces and were said to be paying heavily in men and material for their gains.

A Middle East communique from Cairo said that British troops in fierce hand-to-hand fighting with the Germans "continue to hold" on the Island of Leros despite "heavy and incessant bombing attacks" by Nazi planes.

The communique said that the British forces had broken the German line across the narrow neck of the island and re-established North-South communication.

Says Arms Shipments Are Small

MacArthur Spokesman Claims Southwest Pacific Getting Under 10 Per Cent of What U.S. Sending Overseas.

Allied Headquarters, Southwest Pacific, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's spokesman said today "the Southwest Pacific has something less than five per cent of American military resources and it is now receiving something under ten per cent of what America is shipping Overseas."

He added that, during current war operations in the area, everything possible is being done with what equipment is available.

The Southwest Pacific Air Force has sunk an 8,000-ton Japanese cargo ship and forced a 9,000-tonner to be beached and damaged a third large vessel.

In the latest strikes, reported in today's communique, the credit was shared by a United States Navy flying boat and Australian-flown Beaufort bombers.

During the early morning hours Monday, the flying boat sighted the 9,000-ton ship, escorted by two corvettes, at the North end of of St. George Channel which separates New Ireland and New Britain. A direct hit on the big ship forced her to be beached on the coast of New Ireland.

The Beauforts, just before midnight Sunday, swept down to mast-height on enemy shipping at Rabaul, sinking the 8,000-ton vessel and damaging another. The Beauforts encountered heavy anti-aircraft fire but only one raider reported any enemy interception.

On Northeastern New Guinea, Japanese planes raided Allied airfields in the Ramu Valley and 20 were shot down.

Allied headquarters said torpedo planes had attacked Japanese positions in support of the Americans

American Troops Knocked Back From Heights In Venafro Area

Word from Cold, Rainy, Italian Front Indicates Bitter Fighting Awaits Allies on Road to Rome.

By NOLAND NORGAARD,
Associated Press War Correspondent

Algiers, Nov. 17.—(AP) — German troops, counter-attacking from their powerful rock-hewn winter line, have knocked American forces back from hard-won heights North of Venafro, the Allied Command announced today, and direct word from the cold rainy Italian front made plain that bitter fighting awaits the Allies on the road to Rome.

"Neither Tunisia nor Sicily presented the difficulties which the Allied troops must overcome before they drive the enemy into Northern Italy, and it is becoming obvious that neither of those campaigns cost the blood this drive will cost," wrote Don Whitehead of the Associated Press from the 5th Army Front.

For the time being, both the Allies and Germans were digging into the mud for shelter from the inclement weather and from shellfire, and comparatively small forces were battling for a few yards of rocky hilltops, valuable only because they overlook a further goal.

The Nazis counter-attacked twice with strong, fresh troops to shove Lt.-Gen. Mark W. Clark's American infantry off positions they had won on a mountain North of Venafro. This key peak dominates the entrance to a plain Northwest of Mignano, which in turn gives access to the strategic city of Cassino on the main inland highway to Rome.

The British 8th Army, defying the weather and consequent absence of air support, won some new high ground North of Atessa, fourteen miles in from the Adriatic, and its patrols ranged across the Sangro River to feel out the enemy's strength. German resistance was stiff along the length of the front.

Philanthropist Distributes More $100 Bills Among Disabled "Vets"

Toronto, Nov. 17.—(CP)—It happened again today. The big, cigar-smoking philanthropist returned, as announced, to Toronto's Christie Street Military Hospital and handed out $100 and $200 bills.

How much this man—Harry F. McLean—gave to disabled veterans is unknown, but it probably amounted to more than $5,000.

His visit, the second within a month, left an "air of cheerfulness throughout the whole hospital," said Rev. Sidney E. Lambert, hospital chaplain for more than 25 years, and a close friend of McLean's.

Entering the hospital with two friends, the money-giving man asked for the location of the amputations wards. Told by an employee, he went directly to the wards on the third floor and passed out $100 and $200 notes to the 40-odd patients. He then went down to the second floor and gave away more bills.

As he was leaving he met Col. Lambert in the hallway but made no mention of what he had done.

"It's not the first time he's been here," said the Padre, adding that "every time he comes, the men are so cheerful." He's been visiting the hospital on various occasions for more than 10 years.

Just before leaving, McLean spoke with some war veterans in the lobby and took out a handful of change from his pocket, tossing it in the air. "Well, that's all boys,

GROUNDED STEAMER SET AFLOAT AGAIN

Vancouver, Nov. 17.—(CP)—The Canadian coastal steamer Princess Elaine, which ran aground just inside Vancouver's harbor mouth in a dense fog Monday, was refloated today as fog continued to blanket the city but not so thickly as in the previous twenty-four hours. The 200 passengers the Elaine had been carrying to Nanaimo were taken ashore when the boat grounded. They sailed for Nanaimo last night.

PART OF UNIVERSITY TO BECOME HOSPITAL

Ottawa, Nov. 17.—(CP)—A Defence Department spokesman said today that the taking over of part of the University of Montreal as a military hospital is under consideration, but that plans have not reached the stage where a formal announcement can be made.

New York, Nov. 17.—(AP)—The bandage shortage is so acute the Nazis are forced to wash and sterilize used bandages for re-use, Private Herbert L. Ehrich, Brooklyn, first repatriated German war prisoner to return to the New York area, said today.

$90,000,000 UNRRA QUOTA FOR DOMINION

Atlantic City, N.J., Nov. 17.—(AP)—The United States will be requested to contribute $1,500,000,000 as its share of the $2,500,000,000 United Nations relief and rehabilitation programme, a UNRRA spokesman said today.

The first breakdown of the probable costs to UNRRA members showed further, he said, that other member countries would be asked for the following amounts.

United Kingdom, $320,000,000; Canada, $90,000,000; Australia, $40,000,000; New Zealand, $8,000,000; South Africa, $12,000,000; India, $35,000,000, and the Latin American countries and Egypt, a total of $495,000,000.

The figures were reached, he said, on the basis of preliminary work by committees.

The trend of the UNRRA conference indicated that wartime controls on food, raw materials and transport may remain in effect for the 18 months to two years the UNRRA is expected to be actively engaged in rehabilitating the occupied zones freed from enemy domination.

A high authority at the conference said both the British and American delegations are pressing to preserve their combined wartime agencies which now apportion supplies in hopes of avoiding inflation on the part of nations with gold reserves, including Britain, the United States, Norway, the Netherlands and France.

SUBJECT PEGU RAIL JUNCTION TO HEAVY RAID

New Delhi, Nov. 17—(CP)—R. A. F. heavy and medium bombers teamed up for a strong smash at the Japanese railway junction of Pegu, 46 miles Northeast of Rangoon, in Burma Monday night, a communique said today, while more sharp patrol actions were reported on land in the Chin Hills area.

(A Reuters News Agency dispatch from Calcutta said an official announcement termed the blow on Pegu "the heaviest and most concentrated on Burma since the war in the East began.")

An India joint war communique said bombs burst on the railway yards and started fires. Fighter planes raided oil field installations at Nyaunghala on the Irrawaddy River Monday and shot up 26 river craft, while fighter-bombers hit enemy positions in the Kalemyo area. No planes were lost.

Aground, the bulletin said sharp patrol clashes occurred along the Burma front, especially in the Chin Hills sector, and that the Japanese suffered "substantial casualties" in one area. There also was activity West and North of Falam.

Successes in China were announced by the Chinese High Command, which declared Chinese troops had broken through Japanese lines at many points South of the Yangtze River, and to the North had cut to the outskirts of Ichang and Tangyang, some 30 miles Northeast of Ichang. Severe fighting continues near both towns, the war bulletin said.

Hokow was retaken by the Chinese after fierce fighting, it continued, but Japanese force broke into the town of Shihmen.

holding Empress Augusta Bay on Bougainville.

(From the South Pacific headquarters of Admiral William F. Halsey came advices that the Americans scoreo brief advances Saturday but ran into opposition and called on the air support which was given with success the following day.)

In the Madang sector of New Guinea, heavy bombers have attacked Alexishafen with 76 tons of bombs. That is in the same sector which recently was hit by more than 200 tons of explosives. The area is one from which the Japanese air force attempts to harass Australians moving up the Ramu Valley against Madang.

Washington, Nov. 17.—(AP)—The Japanese have suffered such blows in and about Rabaul that they may be compelled to abandon that key base in the South Pacific, a United States naval spokesman indicated today.

He said the enemy had suffered such damage to important fleet units as to give him cause for seriously considering giving up the New Britain stronghold as "too hot to handle."

He also said 102 enemy planes have been shot down in that area in the last six days, as against 15 United States planes lost—a seven-to-one ratio.

American Forces

With the usual swarms of Allied fighters and fighter-bombers grounded by rain, fog and low-hanging clouds, heavy bombers of the 15th U. S. Air Force were joined by the reorganized Yugoslav Air force in a smash at Elevsis airdrome at Athens, while two-engined bombers pounded another Nazi field in the Athens area.

The weather, Whitehead pointed out, is of distinct advantage to the Nazis in that it frees them from the constant blasting from the Allied air force that cost them so heavily in the summer and autumn.

An indication of the effects of these attacks was given in a summary by the Allied Tactical Air Force, showing that its planes in the first two months of the Italian campaign put out of action 448 locomotives and railway cars, destroyed 1,277 enemy vehicles and damaged an additional 900 vehicles.

Philanthropist

I've only got 11 cents left," he said, and departed.

The last time he was at hospital—Saturday, Oct. 31—he distributed a number of $100 bills to patients on the third and fourth floors and finished off by tossing a couple of $1,000 bills in a hallway.

Unidentified at that time, he left and was next heard from when he walked into a Halifax military hospital and distributed the money in much the same manner. He made his rounds in a taxicab and when he ran out of money, the cab driver loaned him two five-dollar bills.

For this, McLean wrote him out a cheque for $2,000 in the name of the cab driver's baby son.

He gave money to hotel employees and left the city without any fanfare.

McLean, whose home is in Merrickville, Ont., is head of the Dominion Construction Corporation Ltd., of Toronto. He reportedly is worth several million dollars, and his hobby is giving it away.

MEETING HELD BY TEACHERS AT AYER'S CLIFF

Inspector R. O. Bartlett Speaks to Teacher Association on Benefits of Larger School Units.

Ayer's Cliff, Nov. 17.—The Stanstead County Teachers' Association together with the members of the Voluntary Committee for larger units of administration met in Confederation Hall on Friday evening, November 12.

At 6 p.m. a bountiful supper was efficiently served by the ladies of St. George's Guild. The tables were most attractive, being tastefully decorated with flags and sprays of barberry. Forty-six representatives of education composed of the teachers of the County's schools duly enjoyed the social hour.

rs. Annie E. R. Bulman, of Stanstead, presided over the evening's session and she urged the teachers to help the Association by expressing their wishes; to fit themselves for their work by taking advantage of all courses possible, and to support the Voluntary Committee in every way.

An interesting account of the Montreal Convention of the P.A.P.T. was given by the Rev. E. Amaron, of Stanstead. This was followed by an account of the business sessions of the same convention presented by the official delegate, Miss Hutley, also of the Stanstead College Staff.

The main speaker for the evening, R. O. Bartlett, was then introduced and by the use of a map, he showed Stanstead County to be shaped like a ski-boot with the American border running twenty-eight miles along the South. Mr. Bartlett said that at present there were in this county, five High Schools, six Intermediate and nine Elementary Schools. In 1867 he stated that there were seventy-three District Schools. He said that there were fifteen School Boards in the county and that some of these no longer operated schools but contracted with other boards for the education of isolated pupils.

Mr. Bartlett, traced the growth of district schools from the time of the Protestant Reformation in Europe, to the Puritan settlements on the New England Coast. The idea was brought to Canada by the Loyalists, he said. This system became inadequate when the industrial revolution led to larger centres of population. Cost deterred larger schools at first, but as the need was realized, this was met and secondary schools were opened.

He referred to the fact that the old division of districts had not changed much and at present they find that in the county there are more commissioners than teachers.

The speaker pointed out that each district was too small to provide any specialized educational facilities, and the cost, he said, of ordinary education in these district schools was very high per pupil; in some cases he gave the figures as two hundred dollars per pupil per year. Some sections, he continued, were much better off than others. Therefore advantages differ. This should not be so, Mr. Bartlett admitted, as each pupil had a right to the same privileges of education, and that is why today so much is being done toward spreading "educational opportunity" more evenly. Here he pointed out the steps taken through the Province towards larger units in the last ten years. He stated that Megantic County, where a Voluntary Committee had been working for two years, was an example of what could be done.

In conclusion, the speaker urged the teachers to co-operate with the Voluntary Committee—saying that by helping this committee they were helping themselves. He also urged the teachers to help to inform the people of their communities, so that they might all work willingly for equal educational advantages for all children in the county.

Following a cordial vote of thanks, expressed to Mr. Bartlett by the President, Mrs. Bulman, the discussion of the "Larger Unit of Education" continued, when the Rev. C. M. Stewart, of Stanstead, Chairman of the Voluntary Committee, spoke of the hope of that body, and for the present, he said, "Let us take as our motto, 'Let's Discuss'." He stressed the fact that the committee had no control of finances but acted solely in an advisory capacity.

Other speakers during the evening were Dr. C. S. Harris, of Magog, the Rev. A. D. Lovelace, of Beebe; Dr. C. L. Brown, of Ayer's Cliff, and many of the teachers. These speakers foresaw difficulties but pledged their whole-hearted support for the betterment of the schools.

The meeting adjourned after many expressions that the evening had been enlightening and profitable.

There were also indications that the Allied attacks were continuing. The Vichy radio's five-station network went off the air early last evening for a long period. This is the usual sign that Allied night bombers were out on their missions.

After the distribution of prizes, the principal, Miss G. Frasier, made a few brief remarks in which she thanked the staff and also the school Board for their co-operation in the past. Miss Frasier also requested full support and co-operation from the parents, in all matters pertaining to the school.

A collection was taken for the Red Cross, after which movies were shown, "The Black Bear Twins," "Color in Clay" and "The Lion Has Wings." The latter was of especial interest as it showed the development of British air power.

Gomel West to Kalinkovichi, captured ten more German strongpoints and the enemy "sustained tremendous losses in manpower and equipment."

Mentioning the sector North of Gomel for the first time, the bulletin said the army had captured a number of Nazi strongholds and considerably improved its position as it engaged the Germans to extend Soviet bridgeheads on the West bank of the Sozh river. The river, in this area, comes down to an Eastward bulge before flowing to the Eastern edge of Gomel.

Although the major Russian gains of the day were made in the Korosten area, there was no Soviet mention of Russians pushing West from nearby Zhitomir toward the Polish border. The extent of Russian penetration West of Zhitomir remained in doubt.

Chairman Extends A Cordial Welcome To Visitors To The Twelfth Annual Rotary Fair

G. M. Wiggett, General Chairman of the Sherbrooke Rotary Fair, in the following message extends a cordial welcome to all citizens to this annual attraction which opens at the Belvidere Street Armory tomorrow and concerning which the Record today devotes a special section.

One of the bleakest and coldest months of the year, November seems to radiate an indefinable amount of cheer and happiness that belies the weather, as the citizens of Sherbrooke, and the nearby towns share in the work of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club to provide for the welfare and happiness of underprivileged children, and local charitable works.

Through the means of the Rotary Fair, an opportunity is provided for all-out enjoyment of those who have a few dollars to spend on the thrills and attractions in the Armory, knowing that every cent that they spend will go to help some less fortunate person in gaining a bit extra out of life. It is this feeling of sharing in the lives of others that really makes the success of the Rotary Fair. The slogan, "Taking pleasure in making pleasure to give pleasure to others" is indeed an apt one for the Fair, and indicates the aim and object of this huge annual enterprise.

Every Rotarian puts heart and soul into the burdensome job of arranging for the Fair, and one of the finest points about the whole thing is that they take real enjoyment in doing so, even taking time off from their own work, often more pressing in nature, to do their bit to keep the wheels of the Fair running smoothly and prepare every minute detail necessary to the holding of such an event.

As a preview message on the eve of the opening of this 12th annual Fair, may I express, on behalf of the Rotary Club of Sherbrooke, our deep appreciation to the military authorities for their wholehearted co-operation in arranging the use of the Armory for the three nights of the Fair. To them, and to the Sherbrooke Police Force, who have always provided several members of the Force to safeguard the public during the Fair, we again say, "Many thanks." We are extremely grateful to all who have in any way assisted, or will assist us in the staging of this year's bigger and better Rotary Fair.

As arrangements are now in the last minute stage of completing the final details before the doors of the Armory swing open tomorrow night, I wish to welcome every person who can possibly attend the Fair, and assure them that every possible arrangement has been made to provide the best in entertainment, despite the seriously curtailed market which necessitated our Prize Committee seeking other fields for the provision of our usual grand array of Rotary Fair prizes. Rest assured, however, that the prizes at this year's Fair will be just as many and just as costly, if not more so, than in the past years.

Plans are also completed by Rotarian Mathias for the special Children's Afternoon, to be held on Saturday, when we earnestly hope that every boy and girl in the city of Sherbrooke will come to the Rotary Fair to enjoy the fun that we will provide for their own particular amusement and entertainment.

As you wander at will among the many attractions at the Fair, pause a moment and think of those who are far from home, on the field of battle, and need the help that only the folks back home can provide. Remember this, and register, if you have not already done so, at the Blood Donor Booth, and be sure to buy a few extra War Savings Stamps, too.

In conclusion, may I again extend the welcome of the Rotarians of Sherbrooke to all who attend the Rotary Fair of 1943 — with your help it can be the success it deserves.

Gerald M. Wiggett,
General Chairman.

URGE FARMERS TO RESPOND TO WORK APPEAL

The Manager of the local Office of National Selective Service, Emery H. Fortier, today stated that many more men from the farms who can be spared for the winter months, are needed for jobs in other essential industries. A minimum of 150,000 men are needed, and while the response has been encouraging, requirements have not by any means been met. Instructions have now been received here, having been issued by Arthur MacNamara, Director of National Selective Service at Ottawa, that each Local Office is to intensify its efforts to induce more men to accept work off the farms for the winter.

The Director's instructions emphasized the following points:

1. While men from the farms are urgently needed elsewhere, no man should leave agriculture, if he is needed as a farm worker for the winter.

2. Men will, of course, return to the farm once again, when their services are required there.

3. Men will be paid the regular wages for whatever job they accept, and transportation will be provided free if a distance has to be travelled.

4. Workers from the farm, already given postponement under the Military Call-up by reason of being farmers, will continue on postponement if they leave the farm to take other approved essential employment for the winter.

In communicating with Selective Service Offices, Mr. MacNamara said: "This appeal to workers not needed on farms for the winter, is both patriotic and practical. If jobs in the woods, to cut fuel, logs, mine and railway timbers and pulpwood, are not filled, the war effort, and as well our national welfare, will suffer seriously. The same may be said of employment vacancies in packing plants, at railway maintenance, in base metal mines, and in coal mines in some areas. Men not needed on the farms for the winter are the only sizable supply of workers we have left to call on in Canada, to get these jobs done this winter. Certainly, it is a patriotic duty for farmers who can do so, to respond. Then, of course, the wages earned will add to the year's earnings for men who take these jobs. The extra money will help at home." Mr. MacNamara points out that young farm workers on military postponement, where they can take winter jobs off the farm, will really be carrying out the intention with which postponement was granted—so that they may engage at essential work for as much of the year as possible.

Mr. Fortier, the Selective Service Manager, said that where men could not be placed in this locality, they will be given work in another district. In any event, there is no shortage of openings.

As the Provincial Governments are co-operating with Selective Service to secure men from the farms, any man interested may consult his Local Farm Production Committee for details, as well, of course, as any Selective Service Office.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

"GREAT WALL" OF CHINA HAS RIVAL

Built to protect the Chinese from barbarian hordes, the "Great Wall' of China stretches for 1400 miles over mountain, valley and river. Reading about this marvel of the ages, which has withstood the ravages of time for 2100 years, your J-M Reporter was reminded of a modern type of wall which guards thousands of homes from fire, weather and wear. It's a Johns-Manville product — Cedargrain Asbestos Siding Shingles—and today it answers a real wartime need. You see, many people are faced with the problem of fixing up the exterior walls of their homes. At little cost, J-M Cedargrains can be applied right over the old walls and effect a magical transformation. Because they are made of asbestos they are fire-proof, and give lasting protection. EARLY MAILING IS URGED FOR HOLIDAY GIFTS

The Overseas "Early Mailing" campaign—November 1st "deadline"—was undoubtedly a success, judging from the tremendous flood of mail which poured into the Base Post Office in October, particularly during the latter weeks. Last October (1942) a new record high volume was made, but the figure was exceeded this October (1943) by well over a million pounds. Splendid co-operation was in evidence on the part of the Press(business men, Radio and the public generally throughout Canada.

A specila effort should be made to attain similar success in our domestic campaign. All preparations and organization should be completed well in advance to facilitate the handling of mails during the Christmas season. We are all familiar with the pressure on the Postal Service as a result of the endeavor to maintain normal service and to cope with the augmented wartime volume. Heavy Christmas postings will add to the problems.

It should be obvious to all Postal patrons that "Early Mailing" for Christmas this year is absolutely imperative. Experienced postal staffs have been further reduced because of enlistments—inexperienced help is constantly being taken on—dependence to a greater degree is being placed on women and again this Christmas on High School students—the situation is further aggravated because of the burden on all transportation facilities.

"Early Mailing" is in the interests of the public—not simply the Post Office. Each family, each business firm which uses the mails is concerned with the question of "delivery on time." Postmasters and all postal employees are, therefore, performing a public service when they remind their customers that they should post well in advance of Christmas. As has been the custom, large advertisers should be requested to withhold heavy mailings of calendars, catalogues, etc., during December. Christmas advertising material should be mailed now so that it will be in the hands of customers in time for them to make selections during the "Early Shopping" campaign advocated by merchants this year.

Last year in many cities and towns there was an improvement in dates of mailing, as indicated by the fact that the peak load date was earlier than in former years. At other places, however, a huge quantity of greeting cards was left for posting the last few days before Christmas, adding to the congestion, and it was physically impossible for all the late mail to be delivered by Christmas Day.

"Early Mailing" appeals should be brought to the attention of the press, radio, schools, etc. Local efforts will be supplemented by Departmental publicity—display posters; householder leaflets to the larger Post Offices; an "Early Mailing" motion picture film incorporated in News Reel for display in all theatres in the first weeks of December; newspaper message in larger centres where greater congestion occurs; radio messages, etc.

Christmas mailings must be spread over a longer period this year and postal personnel should start now to stress this at all times upon their patrons. Employees should also familiarize themselves with rates of postage, regulations, etc., with special application to Christmas mails, so that enquiries can be promptly and accurately answered.

NAME OFFICERS AT MEETING OF SAT AFT CLUB

At a well attended meeting of the Sat Aft Club held in the Y.M.C.A., Crossley Lougheed was elected Secretary-Treasurer of the club and Gordon Budning was elected Vice-President. Both are old club members and pledged their complete support to make this year's club the best yet.

After the reading of the minutes an interesting business meeting was held when the members discussed programmes for the weekly meetings up to and including January 8th. They will consist of the usual business meeting and Bible study and each week a different type of social programme will be carried out. These will include educational tours, swimming meets, quizz contests, initiation and small games programmes.

The President, David Turnbull, announced that he would like to give a prize to the boy winning the highest number of points during the season. These points will be secured through attendance and through the winning of the various contests held. The club members thanked David for his splendid offer. Later on in the afternoon the boys spent an interesting Bible study period which was followed by an hour's bowling on the Y alleys. Ross Connor started off by chalking up 143, Ted Robinson was second with a score of 97 and John Turnbull third with 95.

New members will be accepted into the club at any meeting but will be put on a three-week probation period being accepted as members.

Among those present at the meeting were David Turnbull, Gordon Budning, Crossley Lougheed, Warren Forbes, David Haffenden, Austin Cook, Ronald Crease, Brendon Larabee, Bill Norris, Ted Robinson, John Turnbull, John Haffenden, Ross Connor and Ronald Butler.

Two Local Firms Given Flags In Special Loan Ceremonies

D. J. Salls and Louis J. Codere, Joint Chairman of the Sherbrooke County National War Finance Committee, yesterday afternoon presented Fifth Victory Loan flags to the Carnation Milk Company and the Canadian Fairbanks Morse Company. The former plant was awarded the three-star "V" pennant and the latter firm received the Victory flag.

Employees of the Carnation Company were the first to raise and over-subscribe their objective under the payroll plan on the opening day of the drive. They pledge $18,150 on an objective of $8,800, representing an over-subscription of forty-nine per cent, with 115 employees purchasing bonds.

At a special ceremony held at the plant the three-star pennant was accepted by Lewis Allen and Herve Lahaye on behalf of the employees and at the request of Manager Keith Reynolds, as each one of these men had a son working in the plant before they enlisted in the R.C.A.F. In fact, Mr. Allen has three sons in the air force, one of whom, Daniel, was a former worker, while Mr. Lahaye's son, Maurice, also in the same service, had been employed by this concern.

E. E. Wilson, Superintendent of Production for Canada, awarded S. Halle a fifty-dollar Victory Bond, raffled by the company, after congratulating the employees for having surpassed their quota.

J. F. Coyle, Assistant Superintendent, who assisted Mr. Reynolds, announced that there are forty-five employees—one a female—on active service. The young lady is serving in the Women's Division of the R.C.N.

Mr. Salls in a short talk said that he hoped to see the workers of this firm in the front line in the next campaign, while Mr. Codere made similar remarks in French.

Frank Thompson, Manager of the Fairbanks Company, was presented with the Victory Flag, which he said he was glad to receive for the employees. Workers of this concern subscribed $11,600 on a goal of $9,750, or 119 per cent.

In a short talk Mr. Salls warned the employees to "hold on" to their Bonds and not to dispose of them only in case of a real emergency. "These Bonds will come in very handy during the readjustment period," he added. Mr. Codere remarked that the employees should feel proud to have done their share in winning the flag.

AWARD D.F.C. TO FIFTH AIR FORCE FLYER

Gould, Nov. 17.—Mrs. L. McKinnon, of East Thetford, Vermont, has received word from the Fifth Air Force Headquarters informing her that her son, Lieut. Edwin McKinnon had received the Distinguished Flying Cross. Mrs. McKinnon was the former Lily Buchanan, of Gould, and she is the sister of J. R. Buchanan, of North Hill. Since receiving the word of her son's award, Mrs. McKinnon has also heard that he has been promoted from a Lieutenant to the rank of Captain and that he had left his post in New Guinea for a furlough home.

The complete text of the letter received by Mrs. McKinnon is as follows. The letter was written by the Commander of the unit in which Captain McKinnon was serving.

Headquarters
Fifth Air Force
APO 925
Sept. 18, 1943.

Dear Mrs. McKinnon:—

Recently your son, Lieutenant Edwin L. McKinnon, was decorated with the Distinguished Flying Cross. It was an award made in recognition of courageous service to his combat organization, his fellow American airmen, his country, his home and to you.

He was cited for extraordinary achievement while participating in aerial flights in the Southwest Pacific area from November 15, 1942, to July 31, 1943.

He took part in more than two hundred hours of long-range bombing missions during which hostile contact was probable and expected. These operations included attacks against enemy installations, shipping and supply bases, and aided considerably in the recent successes in this theatre.

Almost every hour of every day your son, and the sons of other American mothers, are doing just such things as that here in the Southwest Pacific. Theirs is a very real and very tangible contribution to victory and peace.

I would like to tell you how genuinely proud I am to have men such as your son in my command, and how gratified I am to know that young Americans with such courage and resourcefulness are fighting our country's battle against the aggressor nations. You, Mrs. McKinnon, have every reason to share that pride and gratification.

Very sincerely,
George G. Kenney, Lieut. General, Commanding.

WARNS AGAINST BRIGHT LIGHTS ON MOTOR CARS

Director of Police Percy Donahue of the Municipal Police Department stated this morning that the police have been instructed to check very closely on cars being driven with glaring headlights.

He explained that the department has received complaints about motorists driving their cars in the early morning hours with exceptionally bright lights. Many accidents, he said, had been no doubt caused by improper use of headlights.

"All traffic officers have been instructed to check up on motorists who persist in driving to and from their work in the mornings with improper lights burning," said Director Donahue.

SPEAKER HOLDS BAD PLUMBING IS UNHEALTHY

Speaking on the importance of plumbing, G. L. Bourbanier, Secretary Manager of the National Association of Plumbers and Heaters, told the members of the Lions Club Monday night that next to the doctor he considered the plumber to be most important man in the health set-up of a community. Mr. Bourbanier who is in this part of the Province lecturing to service clubs and other organizations in the interest of better plumbing spoke on its relationship to public health. He told the members of the club that there was little known about the plumbing conditions in the country and that if most people did know how inefficient some of the systems really were and how much public health was impaired by them there would be a panic. In this day and age everyone is trying to adopt more sanitary methods for everything except plumbing which in the end is the most important. He said that it was the duty of the association to which he belonged to place the true facts before the people and to encourage them to see that only qualified and experienced men do the work.

In the absence of the President, Cecil Dunn, the Vice-President, Donald Elliot, was in the chair and during the course of the meeting a report on the midnight show was given.

EX-SERVICEMEN DINNER TO BE HELD DEC. 1ST

At the regular meeting of the local Branch of the Canadian Legion, it was unanimously decided to again hold the annual Ex-servicemen's Dinner, which, for many years was a regular feature of the Legion programme. In the past this dinner was held on Remembrance Day, but due to the fact that the members of the Local Branch are at that time preoccupied in the assembly and distribution of Poppy Wreaths, for the entire Eastern Townships area, it has been decided to hold the event this year on December 1st. Arrangements have been completed for the dinner to take place at the Chateau Frontenac at 7 p.m. and tickets will be available from any members of the Committee during the coming week.

Oscar Stenson has been appointed General Chairman of the Committee in charge of arrangements for this event. William E. Spackman and J. A. Bourgeois will act as joint Vice-Chairmen and N. T. Hunter is in charge of publicity. John A. Fitzsimons and George F. Chapman, Branch President and Secretary-Treasurer respectively, are members ex-officio and Lt. Sydney Spanswick, one of the Legion's younger members, has been appointed to this Committee to represent the ex-servicemen of the present war, the majority of whom have already joined the Legion or are applying for membership.

In the person of Lt. Spanswick, the Legion has acquired the co-operation of one of the many respected Sherbrooke boys, who gained considerable military experience, during the present war. Winning his commission Overseas, in the 35th Field Battery, R.C.A., he was on active service until injured in an accident, while on night convoy duty. Invalided back to Canada he was a patient for some time at Ste. Anne de Bellevue Military Hospital, and was offered the post of an Instructional Officer in this district, which he was obliged to decline, having previously become connected with a wartime industry.

It is pointed out by Mr. Stenson that all ex-servicemen, from either the last war or the present war, whether members of the Legion or not, are invited to attend this dinner, and should obtain their tickets, as soon as possible from any member of the local Legion Branch, as it will be necessary to know, in advance, the approximate number for whom dinner is to be provided.

This event will be entirely informal, and the programme being arranged by the officials is intended to promote goodfellowship between the ex-servicemen of the older and younger generations, and to insure a realization of the responsible position which the Canadian Legion is preparing to assume in the forefront of the welfare programme in this Dominion in the future.

Col. G. Best Shows Films To Rotary Club, Depicting Great War Work Of Salvation Army

A technicolor motion picture under the title of "Behind the Red Shield" was screened at the regular meeting of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club in the New Sherbrooke House last night by Col. Gilbert Best, Divisional Commander of the Salvation Army for Eastern Ontario and Quebec.

Dealing with the story of the work done by the Salvation Army for soldiers and members of other services in Canada and abroad, the film showed the training of Canadian Commandos, the pastime of soldiers in Red Shields, soldiers in S.A. chapels praying, and mobile canteens, with each one being equipped to serve several hundred.

The picture also disclosed a steady stream of hospital supplies, knitted goods, children's goods and the comforts of life for servicemen streaming into Toronto headquarters and then re-packed and re-shipped overseas. In the Ontario headquarters there is a tireless, cheerful group of women meeting four days of each week to sort, sew and pack garments of all kinds for overseas.

There was an inspiring sight during the screening which showed stacks of woollen comforts, the neat packages of clothing for bombed victims and sparkling white bundles containing dainty and practical layettes for British babies.

Other scenes revealed one of the services rendered by the volunteer women, that of sewing in the mending room which have been established at most military camps in the Dominion and abroad. A R.S.W.A. member stitches on the stripes of a soldier, or mends his uniform, or sews a button on his shirt cuff, while the boys chat about the family and friends back home, or while playing a game of chess.

The film was produced by the Salvation Army and the running commentary carried the voice of Col. Best. He was accompanied by Major Fred Merrett, of Montreal, Division Young People's Secretary, and Major E. E. Grant, in charge of the Sherbrooke Corps.

D. J. Salls introduced Col. Best and he was thanked by Abe Echenberg. The guesthas been a Salvationist for thirty years.

R. T. Edney, Hubert Armstrong and Norrey Price, three new members, were introduced to the Rotarians. They were seated at the head table.

There were only two guests present. R. B. Cairne, of Montreal, and Lieut. R. Gauthier, of the Lord Sherbrooke Training Centre.

JEAN VALENTI UNDERWRITERS' GUEST SPEAKER

Guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the Life Underwriters' Association of Sherbrooke which was held yesterday at the Chateau Frontenac, was Jean Valenti, Commandant of the Sherbrooke branch of the Quebec Mobile Force.

Mr. Valenti chose as the subject of his address "Life Insurance" and gave a comprehensive report on the difference between industrial and ordinary policies. In speaking of the advantages of industrial policies, Mr. Valenti said that there was a much larger number of persons who had policies on which they paid weekly or monthly premiums than any other kind of policy. Using statistics to prove his point, he said that the number of industrial policies was about five million, while those holding the ordinary policies amounted to about half that number. Mr. Valenti went on to say that the weekly premium policies were the only kind which families with restricted revenues could afford to pay and still obtain adequate protection. He continued by citing the case of a typical wage-earner of Canada and the kind of insurance which would give him the best guarantee of proper security.

Mr. Valenti said that the industrial policies were the only ones which low-revenue families could afford. Another advantage of the industrial or weekly-premium policy was that it required no rigid medical examinations such as are required by persons who drew out the ordinary policy.

Greatest advantage of the weekly-premium policy was the fact that a man who is unable to save enough money weekly to pay for the premiums on an ordinary policy, could, nevertheless, assure himself of some kind of security by investing in a small industrial, whereas if he had to depend on the ordinary policies, he would be unable to have any protection whatsoever.

Mr. Valenti ended his address by supplying other strong arguments to support his convictions that industrial policies were more beneficial to the small wage-earner.

The speaker was introduced by H. Boire and thanked by S. H. Gallinger. The meeting was under the chairmanship of the Association President, J. E. Caron.

One new member, J. C. Poulin, was welcomed to the organization and a greeting was also extended to Maurice Gingues, M.P., who was a guest at the meeting.

At next month's meeting, the annual election of the association officers will be elected.

JAPANESE INDUSTRY AND BOMBARDMENT

Japan, apparently anticipating widespread Allied assaults from all directions when the war in Europe is finished, is digging in solidly to guard her industrial and raw material centres, according to North Americans repatriated after several months internment in Nippon. To Japan, the loss of the Netherlands East Indies and Malaya would be a disastrous blow, and, in time, fatal if combined with an extensive disruption of production. As a result the Japanese have concentrated some of their best troops there.

However a Southern campaign would spell tremendous losses for both sides, and so the Japanese apparently are expecting the Allies to by-pass this route by attempting to cut off materials through a bombing blockade and by striking more directly at Japan's industrial heart through China.

Tremendous air power, plus bases from which to launch crippling raids on Japan's raw material and industrial centres are essential if the Allied attack is to be placed on the fastest, surest schedule. The Allies apparently are manoeuvring towards a position from which they can lash out at vital points of the Japanese armor. The bitterness of resistance in what amounted to sizeable Japanese outposts in the Solomons illustrates the importance to Japan of keeping the Allies from bases from which they could relentlessly pound the oil fields, mines and forests of the Netherlands East Indies and disrupt production which has been practically undisturbed since the Japanese occupancy.

Asia expects a second Allied thrust through Burma with an apparent two-fold purpose; to provide bases for attacking Malaya and to restore Chungking communications. The success of both would be a preliminary to a series of smashing attacks which will be an essential prelude to the delivery of the final blow against Japan. Still untouched would be the great industrial centres of Mukden and other parts of Manchuria, Kyushu, Yokohama and elsewhere in Japan proper. There is evidence that the Japanese are widely using Manchuria's industrial areas—the Government applied extensive pressure for the removal of many basic factories there in 1939 and 1940. In Mukden for instance closely-spaced factories extend for perhaps twenty miles across the prairie. Inside Asia there is evidence that the Allied blockade is drawing tighter and raising more havoc with Japanese shipping. How extensive the blockade is remains uncertain but it is known that the Japanese are utilizing to the fullest overland routes in transporting supplies and sending men and equipment into Burma.

DE GAULLE IN TROUBLE AGAIN

The loyalty and sincerity of General Charles de Gaulle and his fellow members of the French Committee for National Liberation to the cause they support cannot be doubted. Their ability as soldiers is generally accepted as being of the highest. But as political leaders of a reviving country they are unusually inept, as has been evidenced in the Lebanese situation, which is verging on open warfare as the result of the action of the French High Commissioner in arresting the President, the Prime Minister, the members of the Cabinet and shutting down the Parliament because he was dissatisfied with the changes made in the Constitution of the Republic.

If France alone were concerned it would not matter much, for the manner in which the French have carried out their mandate over Syria since the last war has been a source of friction in that country. But the unfortunate part is that any action against Arabs creates repercussions wherever there are Arab tribes, and they are scattered over a vast area of the Middle East. This is a time, as never before in history, when the Christian races, especially Great Britain, must be on guard against offending a Moslem sector, because although Moslems often fight each other, they are ready to gang up together in what they would call "a holy war" against those they think are trying to deprive them of their native rights. The British have intervened in this matter and hope to compel the French to straighten out a dangerous incident, the effects of which will not soon be forgotten by Moslems.

Whether the French Commissioner acted on his own initiative, or after consultation with the Committee as a whole, the French authorities were greatly to blame for not taking counsel with the British political representatives in the Middle East and with General Eisenhower who is in charge of political as well as military affairs in that area. If General de Gaulle was party to the action taken by the French Commissioner in Lebanon, which may be doubtful, he has displayed a dangerous trend and must be impressed with the fact that he must show greater caution in handling problems which are likely to create extensive animosity toward the cause of the United Nations.

ANOTHER STEP FORWARD

The decision of the Sherbrooke Aldermen to hold an early session to prepare definite proposals on a filtration scheme to be submitted to the ratepayers is another step toward the goal sought by the great majority of Sherbrooke citizens—the improvement of the water supply which at present is far from satisfactory.

One thing is clear, and it is something which the majority of the Aldermen appear to appreciate—any scheme submitted to the ratepayers must have the unanimous support of all Council members, as the citizens can only be expected to endorse the expenditure of a large sum of money, generally estimated in the vicinity of $275,000, if the Councillors are able to present their project as the best obtainable, or at least that the best value is to be obtained from the money expended.

In the case of a filtration plant, it seems desirable to the outsider that the project be a tested and generally-accepted system, something that will bring to the citizens the value of experience gained in other places. The prime object of any such scheme is the preservation of the health of the people and easing the problems of the industrialists. And no needless risks need be taken in this respect. There are several well-tested types of plant on the market and plans for these have been prepared for the City by competent engineers. To adopt one of them would be to the general advantage of all concerned.

Some suggestions have been advanced that the city change its water supply, but this would involve a cost far in excess of that planned for a filtration plant. And the results would be far from satisfactory. The experience of other cities has shown that while changing the source of the water supply might improve the quality of the water, natural conditions ultimately force the filtration system.

Then changing the source of supply would involve extensive delays and the use of many critical materials, the supply of which is not assured. The citizens are seeking quick action on this matter. They would, we believe, prefer that the filtration plant be installed without delay and that if later on it is felt desirable to get a better source of supply, the scheme could be undertaken when financial and material conditions are easier.

CANADIAN MEAT CONSUMPTION GROWS

Figures recently released by Canadian Government authorities indicate the somewhat paradoxical condition of meat consumption in the country rising—legally—despite the introduction of meat rationing in Canada. And this expansion in demand follows reports that Canadians, in 1942, were eating more meat per capita than in the previous year and a great deal more than in 1935.

The obvious explanation is that last year most Canadians able to work were employed and many of them were engaged in muscle demanding and sweat provoking occupations. As most people know, strenuous labor cannot be carried on from day to day unless the worker has a fairly adequate supply of meat. Under the rationing system a working population may consume meat to the extent of the available coupons and considerable unrationed meats as well. In times when many people are not working at all there would be no public appetite for that much meat.

The consumption of beef, pork and edible parts such as heart, liver and tongue has been rising steadily in Canada since the beginning of the war. An official estimate places the 1942 consumption of all meats in the Dominion at 135.2 pounds per head of population, compared with 133.1 pounds in 1941, 126.3 pounds in 1940, 122.2 in 1939 and 116.6 in 1938. Beef led the list with a total consumption of 734,823,000 pounds. Other meats consumed were 371,992,000 pounds of pork, 127,041,000 pounds of veal, 60,691,000 pounds of mutton and lamb.

PRESS COMMENTS

INDIAN FAMINE AND HOARDING

Toronto Telegram.

There is famine in India—a condition well-known to Asiatic peoples. Usually it is attributable to drought or some other natural calamity, but the present trouble in India seems traceable to other causes. The British Information Service reports the ironical circumstance that the prosperity which has come to India because of the war has also contributed to the food shortage.

Three hundred million Indians depend in large measure for their food supplies on fifty-five million peasants. These peasants are not driven by what might be described as the profit motive. They are primarily concerned with raising sufficient grain to feed their families and to bring in enough money to meet their other needs. In war-time, with food prices high, they have only to sell small quantities of their surplus to pay for goods they desire. Almost by instinct they hoard the remainder against the possibility of some future pestilence or disaster. There are also many merchant hoarders who hold grain off the market. The British Information Service explains these were important factors in the present shortage of foodstuffs Japanese invasion of southeast Asia interrupted the shipments of rice from Burma. The system of transportation in India was also dislocated by the needs of the war machine.

Foreseeing the possibility of shortages the Central government early in 1942 inaugurated a "grow more food" campaign and succeeded in gringing 8,000,000 additional acres under cultivation. A year ago it asked the provincial government to state their probable deficits or surpluses of food. These governments which are under Indian premiers and cabinets made estimates that proved to be wide of the mark. During April, May and June of this year the Central government expected to get 1,500,000 million tons of food from the "surplus" provinces but actually received only 570,000 tons for distribution to areas which were short of supplies.

There is a political aspect to the situation, too. It is the policy of the British officials in India to interfere as little as possible with the local governments in the management of their affairs and as a consequence the Central administration did not intervene until it became necessary to cope with the increasing famine danger. Now it has gone to work. Four thousand food kitchens have been opened in Bengal and 1,340,000 people are fed daily in these kitchens. Special food trains are being operated to carry grain from the Indian Northwest to Calcutta.

It has been announced at Bombay that the Canadian Government has offered a contribution of 100,000 tons of wheat, subject to shipping space being available. This gift will be tangible evidence of Canada's sympathy with the suffering millions of India.

UTOPIA WITH WHIPPED CREAM

The Printed Word.

The other day a man who for long years has viewed political questions with amused tolerance was asked why he became so violent in opposition to the C.C.F. Here are some of his reasons.

1.—The C.C.F. programme for spending to make prosperity would make it impossible to reduce taxes.

2.—The C.C.F. programme makes inevitable the continuance of wartime controls of business.

3.—Gradual taking over of our large enterprises by the State would mean, eventually, that our most enterprising young people—the kind who don't wish to become civil servants—would leave Canada for the United States.

4.—Socialism reduces steadily the number of people giving orders and increases the number to take orders.

5.—Continuance of controls in time of peace would mean that, as at present, no one could start a new business without governmental permission. Those already in a given line of business would always have sufficient political power to convince the authorities that that line of industry already was well served.

6.—The government enterprise inevitably would try to control the competing private enterprise. The general manager of the government-owned Canadian Broadcasting Corporation is the real boss of the privately owned radio stations.

7.—Heads or employees of boards and commissions already enjoying a certain measure of independence of Parliament (sometimes called "freedom from political interference") have at times endeavoured to stifle criticism, or even discussion of their work. This tendency would grow as government enterprises became more all-inclusive.

8.—The necessity for uniformity—or alleged necessity therefore—would lead to more and more centralization. At present, he argues, a complaint about garbage collection is effective when he gets an alderman on the telephone.

Our friend, who has been in various occupations, including selling cigars, says he might think up some more reasons. But these eight suffice, he says, to qualify him as a voter for some other party which doesn't promise Utopia with whipped cream on it.

BRITAIN'S ULTIMATE REPRISAL

Buffalo Courier-Express.

Ironically enough, there was one point (in their respective speeches) on which Hitler and Churchill seemed almost to agree. Hitler ranted:

"Whether you believe it or not, retribution will come. Thank God that, although we cannot reach America today, I have one opponent within reach and will exact retribution from him."

And Churchill gravely warned:

"We cannot exclude the possibility of new forms of attack upon this island. Whatever happens, they will not be of a nature to affect the final course of the war, but should they come they will certainly call for the utmost efficiency and devotion."

Neither said what was in the back of his mind. But, if Hitler was threatening a final mad-dog gesture such as use of poison gas against Britain's civilian population—well, as Churchill put it, that "would not affect the final course of the war." May we add that it might affect the locale of some of these post-war trials of Nazi criminals? Would Hitler, Himmler, Goering and Co., rather die on an English gallows than before French, Czech or Polish firing squads? That will be Britain's ultimate reprisal if the Nazis resort to gas bombings. Churchill didn't say it, but you can bet that he was thinking it.

WHERE THE GAS GOES

St. Thomas Times-Journal.

The season of pleasure driving is at an end, and many drivers find their gas coupons running low, if not exhausted altogether. They would like to have some more to keep them going until April. They can't have their cake and eat it.

We trust every motorist noticed the news dispatch from Birmingham, England, on Tuesday, in which an official of the British Government stated that in two raids last Wednesday, one by the United States' airmen on Wilhelmshaven, and the other by British and Canadian airmen on Duesseldorf, 5,000,000 gal. of gasoline were used. In addition to that, millions, more may have been used on the Italian front, by the home patrol service, by the planes scouring the seas looking for U-boats and protecting convoys, to say nothing of the Burma and Southwest Pacific areas, and by the vast number of mechanized vehicles in all theatres of war. Then there is a tremendous consumption of gasoline used in the air training schools of Canada and the United States. On top of all that there are the army trucks operating in all lands, plus commercial vehicles—and pleasure vehicles.

There were probably 1,000 planes in each of these two raids. The public hopes to see 1,000-plane raids every day, to obliterate Germany's war industries. There can be no prospect of doing this if the gasoline restrictions are not strictly maintained, or even intensified if the authorities feel it necessary to do so. Nobody's pleasure driving matters a jot if it hampers the air effort of the Allies.

Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Harris has said that he wants to be able to put 10,000 planes in the air at one time against Germany. Great Britain and the United States should be in a position to do so next year—the victory year. On the basis of the Wilhelmshaven and Duesseldorf raids that means 22,500,000 gallons of gas. The figures are startling, but the prospect of what a 10,000-plane raid could do to Berlin, or to the German army and defences facing the second front invaders, makes any sacrifice—if it be a sacrifice—worth while.

"WHAT TIME IS IT, ADOLF?"

BRITISH COLUMBIA SOCKEYE-RUN A FAILURE

Vancouver Province.

Last year, there was an exceptionally large run of Sockeye in the Fraser River, due to unusually favorable spawning conditions four years earlier. That run gave rise to exaggerated ideas in the minds of the public as to the earnings of fishermen and the profits of the industry. This year, there is a different story. And in order that the public may see the picture in true perspective, they should be made aware of the facts.

As at October 2 the Sockeye caught in the Fraser this year amounted to 72,090 cases. This is about one-sixth of the total at the same date last year when the pack was 434,701 cases. The average pack from 1938 to 1942 inclusive was 201,000 cases. This year's pack therefore is only about one-third of the five-year average.

These cold facts mean many heartbreaks to fishermen and their families. They represent homes in which there will be actual shortage of the good things of life which are available to nearly all other classes of workers. They also represent serious losses to many small investors who have risked their money in providing the companies with the means of processing the fish caught. A bad season requires about the same number of boats, the same amount of fishing gear and the same advance preparations as a good year.

In fairness to one of British Columbia's leading industries, the public should better understand that fishing is much of a gamble. A necessary gamble but a gamble for all that.

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

St. Catharines Standard.

As the Brantford Expositor well remarks, it is no part of sound journalism for newspapers to be incessantly blowing their own horns, but understanding between readers and publishers is at times quite important. There is submitted an appraisal of the home newspaper service as distinguished from that newspaper in the category of national, from Dr. Albert Sutton, member of the staff of Medill School of Journalism, Northwestern University. The Doctor writes a list of things the home newspaper endeavors to carry out. It follows:

1.—It keeps him informed on all international, national and provincial events of importance.

2.—It gives him the latest news of his own community, together with all the various activities.

3.—It provides him with the most recent ration information, and advises him about the weather and crop prospects.

4.—It helps to recruit workers for the farm and war industries.

5.—It gives him the latest news about his son, or his neighbour's son, in some theatre of war around the globe.

6.—It aids his thinking on various questions by well-written editorials, with which he may agree or disagree.

7.—It prints comic strips and cartoons that provide humorous diversion.

8.—Through its advertising columns it assists the whole family in making their purchases.

9.—It promotes and stimulates the carrying on of war activities.

10.—It keeps him reminded that a free press are an unbeatable team for victory.

Our Brantford contemporary is also right in stating that the home newspaper has a sense of responsibility in the community, acts as a clearing house for ideas of municipal importance and tries to effect unity of purpose. There is one other attribute which not all home newspapers achieve but which is worthy, a sense of independence, which means only that no motive other than community interest influences the newspaper policy.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

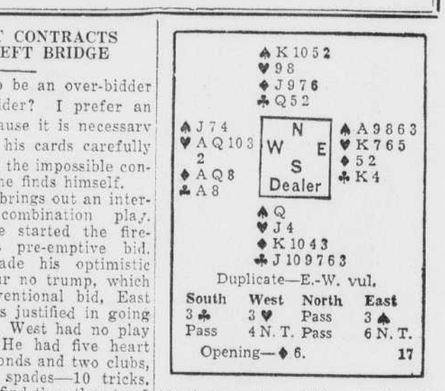

By Wm. E. McKenney, America's Card Authority.

DIFFICULT CONTRACTS TEACH DEFT BRIDGE

Is it better to be an over-bidder or an under-bidder? I prefer an over-bidder, because it is necessary for him to play his cards carefully to learn to make the impossible contracts in which he finds himself.

Today's hand brings out an interesting honor combination play. South of course started the fireworks with his pre-emptive bid. When West made his optimistic jump bid of four no trump, which was not a conventional bid, East was more or less justified in going to six no trump. West had no play for the hand. He had five heart tricks, two diamonds and two clubs, and the ace of spades—10 tricks. Where could he find the other two?

After winning the first trick with the queen of diamonds, West did some counting and decided that if South held a singleton king or queen of spades, or even the king-ten or queen-ten, West could make the hand provided he could induce North to make a little mistake. He therefore led the jack of spades and North covered with the king. Of course West played dummy's ace and the singleton queen dropped. Now West gave North the ten of spades and the balance of the tricks were his.

Favorite Spread of the Family

The children certainly go for Schwartz Peanut Butter in a big way. They KNOW it beats everything else for sandwiches. Sis says it makes adorable fudge. Mother praises it for cookies. And Dad votes it best as a bedtime snack, spread on bread, with a glass of milk.

Now its popularity is enhanced by the scarcity of other spreads. So, it too becomes scarce. Keep asking, however, and your turn will come . . . Say Schwartz and be sure!

ONE-ACT PLAYS STAGED BY W.A. AT COOKSHIRE

St. Mary's Guild, East Angus, Presents Play in Victoria Hall, Cookshire, Before Enthusiastic Audience.

Cookshire, Nov. 16. — Those people who braved the wintry conditions to see the performance of three one-act plays by St. Mary's Guild, East Angus, under the auspices of St. Peter's Church Girls' W.A., at Victoria Hall, were well repaid for their effort.

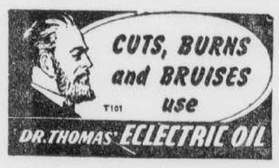

After opening the programme with "O Canada," the play, "Uncle Bob's Bride," began the performance. The play held the interest of all throughout. The comments by deaf Aunt Eldora were received with laughter, as she made mistake after mistake in answers to her queries. Uncle Bob's sober remarks about the interior decorator, whom the rest of the family thought was his wife, brought down the house. Finally the bride was accepted by the family with open arms. The cast was as follows: Uncle Bob, Rev. W. W. Smith; Stella, Uncle Bob's bride, Mrs. A. Rowland; Miss Arnold, interior decorator, Miss M. Gorham; Betty, Miss G. Rowland; Sara, Miss Joan Rowland; Frances, Miss L. Hayes (three nieces); Aunt Eldora, aunt of Uncle Bob, Mrs. G. Rowley; Annie, the maid, Mrs. A. Hall, and G. Rowley, prompter.

The second play, entitled, "Hanging Uncle Henry," was just as blood-thirsty as the title suggests. Hobart and Emily Wendall, in the honeymoon stage of married life, have an argument about where to hang the portrait of Uncle Henry. Blows are nearly exchanged, and would have been but for the timely cal lof George Samson, a relative of Hobart's, who promptly sides with Emily. Clara Sims, whom George accuses of following him everywhere, calls a little later and gives a vivid picture, and not very complimentary, of Emily's background. The intruders leave and the couple make up again only to begin the quarrel from the other end of the stick. Cast: Hobart and Emily Wendall, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Goodfellow; George Sampson, E. J. Warcup; Slara Sims, Mrs. L. M. Morgan, and Mrs. E. J. Warcup, prompter.

The last play of the evening, "The Family Album," consisted of a series of photographs taking one back into the days of the Victoria era. The reader, Mrs. Grant Robb, gave a brief account of each photograph to her assistant, Miss Joan Rowland, before the album was opened. As the album was opened, Mrs. E. J. Warcup played suitable accompaniments that created just the right atmosphere for the audience to appreciate the photograph. The poses, costumes and make-up made perfect pictures. Mrs. Robb is to be congratulated on the way she introduced each photograph, while those posing are to be congratulated for the way they kept still, so still that they appeared to be life-size photographs. Those taking the parts of the photograps were as follows: Mrs. A. Rowland, Mr. E. J. Warcup, Miss Shirley Ann Robb, Rev. W. W. Smith, Miss Gladys Rowland, Mr. J. K. Goodfellow, Mrs. J. K. Goodfellow, Mrs. L. M. Morgan, Mrs. A. Hall and Mr. George Rowley.

All those taking part in the plays acted in a superb manner. Directors and players alike deserve every credit for three splendid plays.

The evening closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Splendid Cough Relief, Mixed in Your Kitchen

No Trouble. No Cooking. Saves Big Dollars.

Yes ma'am, right in your own kitchen, you can easily mix a cough syrup that can be depended upon for quick results, and gives you about 4 times as much for your money. And no trouble—it's so easily prepared. You'll need a syrup. Make it by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Now get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, and pour it into a 16 oz. bottle. Then add your syrup. There you have 16 ounces of really splendid medicine for coughs due to colds. It lasts a family a long time, and tastes fine—children love it.

And does it do the work! You'll say it's your favorite cough treatment. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Eases the soreness, and lets you rest at night.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for prompt action on throat and bronchial membranes. Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

Orthopaedic

humanly possible for him to receive.

Braces are applied for four main purposes: 1—Fixation; 2—Protection; 3—Prevention or correction of deformity, and 4—Traction. An explanation of these various forms is necessary, and briefly they are as follows: Fixation: Used in tuberculosis, arthritis and fracture. Examples of this are 1—Thomas Hip Brace, 2—Thomas Knee Brace, 3—Taylor Spinal Brace, 4—Leather Fixation Splint, 5—Bradford Frame.

Protection: Used particularly in poliomyelitis. Examples: 1—Foot Cock-Up Splint, 2—Cock-Up Brace for Wrist Drop, 3—Calliper Grace for weakness of quadriceps, 4—Abduction Splint for weakness of deltoid, and 5—Scoliosis Brace.

"Prevention or correction of deformity: Indicated in bow legs, knock-knees, scoliosis, round shoulders, hollow back, club foot and in spinal caries.

"Traction: Used in hip and upper dorsal and cervical tuberculosis.

"The advantages of braces over such immoveable splints as Plaster of Paris casts, etc., are that they are easily removeable, afford better personal hygiene and greater healing comforts through the application of Physio-Thrapy may be applied.

"The orthopaedic appliance may well be called Medical Therapy. The important role of appliances could not be better illustrated than it is by the President of the United States, as President Roosevelt could not walk at all without the help of his appliance.

"It is noted that although infantile paralysis picks up the majority of its victims among children, it continues its nefarious effects through the lives of these human beings, who after struggling to go to school, have to fight the real battle of life and even earn the living for a good family. Here again the orthopoedic technician has a modest but important role that is to provide some means of earning a living to those children who have become adults and have responsibilities in life. In fact, after 30 years, I can trace among patients who are today gentlemen in all callings, professionals, tradesmen, etc., who now get along in life and appreciate at its real value the appliance that enables them to attend to their daily business routine.

"The reliable limb-maker must be qualified in the preparation of the stump, the supplying of the artificial leg, and the follow-up service. The fitting of the artificial limb is now based on well-established scientific theories. It has ceased to be empirical and has become a branch of scientific activity.

"The surgeon amputates and is interested in having his patient properly fitted with a practical prosthesis, the limb-maker constructs and fits the appliance—so it is only reasonable to ask that these two men should work in complete agreement and assist each other for the benefit of the patient.

"Let us make a comparison between the modern prosthesis with all improvements and which weight about 5 or 6 pounds, and an old-style limb which weighed seven or 8 pounds or more. A difference of but two pounds, but if we take for granted that the average person walks about 6,000 steps or more, approximately three miles per day, it means that generaly the limb-wearer will pick up his artificial leg about 3,000 times. If you multiply this by two, you will realize that he has lifted 6,000 pounds of excessive weight each day, and by the weakest part of his body at that—his stump. This wasted energy is equivalent to about three tons. No wonder the limb-wearer is tired at night, wearing the old type of artificial limb. This is where the good work of the National Selective Service comes in, placing these amputees at work suited to their disability."

Remarking that for every 30 Canadians thehe is one Government employee, Mr. Duckett insists that the Federal and Provincial Governments should employ at least 10 per cent of their employees from the handicapped people of Canada. "Office work is more suitable," he says, "for these handicapped folks, who have the lower extremities paralyzed, than factory work would be where they have to walk and lift weights all day long. In fact, if Mr. Roosevelt with his two legs paralyzed is able to be President of the United States, I don't see why a handicapped person cannot be employed by our Government.

"The present method of supplying limbs is not in keeping with scientific progress. Surgery has made wonderful steps forward during the last fifty years, and the making of orthopaedic and prosthetic apparatus has also greatly improved, but the fitting of these is not modernized. It is important that the person needing an artificial limb buy from a recognized manufacturer, not from a fly-by-night peddler, who cannot guarantee nor service his appliance. Whatever the type of limb, wherever it comes from, it is worthless if the wearer cannot have it properly fitted and refitted when necessary. This is the service included in the care of all artificial limbs.

Discussing the proper fitting of an appliance, Mr. Duckett told of the urgency of having a proper limb-maker to do the fitting. "An intelligent procedure is absolutely necessary," he said, "as it assures the future comfort of the appliance. The stump must be reduced and toughened in preparation, and it is the duty of the limb-maker to supply a shrinking appliance and a follow-up service of reducing the fatty tissues. Then, and then, only, the stump may be measured for the making of the limb. After the limb has been fitted and finished, the duty of the limb-maker continues in teaching the patient to walk and get thoroughly acquainted with the mechanical parts.

Concluding, Mr. Duckett said, "Imagine what a pleasure it is, after 35 years of experience, to be able to make such a light and comfortable prosthesis for those unfortunate people who had the misfortune of losing a limb. There is no more guess-work in the making of orthopaedic and prosthetic apparatus—such appliances are scientifically constructed, are more pleasant to wear, and are made to correspond to the strength of the patient, with his growth and age being provided for. The modern orthopaedic appliance does even more than correct deformity—it prevents it."

Note: Office hours at the J. A. Duckett Office in Montreal (2014 Bleury St.) at: Every day except Saturday from 2 to 5, and for Mr. Duckett personally, by appointment only.

VOLUNTEERS IN MARITIMES ARP ALL PREPARED

Nearly Fifty Thousand Trained Men and Women Included in Civilian Defence Organizations of Maritimes.

Halifax, Nov. 17.— (CP) —War's full disaster may never strike the Maritimes, but if it does, nearly 50,000 trained men and women in well-developed Air Raid Precautions organizations throughout the smallest provinces will be ready to spring into the gap.

They have proved that by their response to the demands already made upon them, like their swift aid to the dazed and wearied survivors brought into Liverpool, N.S., last year after a torpedoing. It was the ARP that quickly set up an emergency hospital, nursed the men and provided clothing and comforts.

Volunteers equipped with stirrup pumps on occasion have battled fires like veterans in small communities where regular equipment was lacking or woefully scanty. But it's all just part of the job to them.

Four years of war haven't dulled their enthusiasm despite the lack of any real test, but the more favorable war news of recent months has tended to cause a slight slackening of interest, since many feel that "nothing is likely to happen now."

That feeling is not shared by officials. Recently, Brig.-Gen. Alex Ross, ARP director for Canada, warned that an attack might yet materialize and that precautions must not be slackened. In Halifax not long ago, Navy Minister MacDonald stressed the importance of a well-equipped civilian defence group ready "to cope with any disaster or emergency," not necessarily an air raid.

Mindful of the Halifax explosion of 1917, ARP leaders are urging this kind of preparation.

ARP organizations in the three provinces go by different names, but they are essentially the same. In Nova Scotia there is the Provincial Emergency Committee, about 22,000 strong. New Brunswick's Civilian Volunteer Corps has about the same membership, while there are more than 2,000 in Prince Edward Island's Defence Committee.

All are headed by representatives of the government, and include fire marshals, health officers, St. John's Ambulance Brigade, Red Cross and R.C.M.P. officials, as well as thousands of "Joe Citizens."

Strongest organized are the larger cities like Halifax, Sydney, St. John and Moncton where important targets cluster and where attack is most possible. Every town and village has its ARP, usually an important part of community life.

ARP halls have been built and these often became the centre of community life. Many villages now have efficient fire brigades, all volunteers, where before they had none.

In St. John complete plans have been made to evacuate the city in an emergency, while in other centres auxiliary police, fire and first aid groups are drilling in every conceivable type of precautionary measure.

Behind it all are the officials who, while praising the work done so far, know that the danger is perhaps not yet past and are continually urging the volunteers to increased efforts, "just in case."

HISTORIC "FIRSTS" IN RUBBER

First to use Carbon-black in Tire Treads

The B. F. Goodrich discovery that Tripled tire mileage overnight

In the early years of the automobile, a motor trip into the country was a big event. Preparations for it were made days in advance . . . and they usually included the packing of four or five spare tires and tubes, as well as an abundance of tire patches and repair material.

In those days, tire treads were made of a white rubber compound. Its resistance to abrasion was comparatively poor . . . 4 to 5 thousand miles being considered exceptionally good.

Then suddenly . . . almost overnight . . . B. F. Goodrich tripled tire mileages. What was the secret? B. F. Goodrich Research Scientists discovered that "Carbon-black", in high percentages of 25% or more, added to the rubber in tire treads made them wear three to four times as long. This was the greatest tire mileage increase that has ever been produced by a single discovery.

Today the B. F. Goodrich Research Laboratories—established way back in 1896—are engaged in solving many of the United Nations' wartime problems. At the same time they are accumulating a wealth of new scientific information which, in our peace-time world, will provide many new and improved rubber products.

When you may again purchase new tires, you can confidently rely on B. F. Goodrich Silvertowns. Whether they are made from a base of crude rubber, petroleum, or grain . . . the world's foremost Rubber Research Laboratory assures you that they will be the best money can buy.

SAFETY FIRSTS . . . that make your tires last longer

- Drive below 40 M.P.H
- Check tire inflation weekly
- Have tires inspected regularly

These are firsts in safety for your present tires . . . which very likely must last you for the duration. There is still no prospect of sufficient rubber for ordinary civilian needs. So don't take chances with your present tires.

When he overheard one of his youngest parishioners, aged ten, using bad language, the parson reproved him gently.

"I'm sure your father doesn't swear, does he?" he finished.

"Oh, no, sir," replied the boy.

"Well, suppose he were working in the garden and stepped back on to a rake, which sprang up and hit him from behind—what would he say?"

The lad hung his head shyly.

"He'd say, 'You're back early, dear'."

Scenes from "Bombardier," which opens today at the Granada Theatre, co-starring Pat O'Brien and Randolph Scott.

At The Granada

Bringing to the screen for the first time the "inside story" of America's great secret weapon, the Norden bombsight, and how this nation came to adopt it, RKO Radio's "Bombardier" stars Pat O'Brien and Randolph Scott at the head of a brilliant cast and in one of the most thrilling pictures to come out of the war. The picture opens today at the Granada.

A friendly professional rivalry between the two stars and a four-cornered romance are additional features of the story, which opens in Washington and ends in Tokyo.

O'Brien plays the part of Major Davis, a strong advocate of high-level bombing with the newly-developed bomb sight, while Scott is cast as Captain Oliver, whose observations of Stukas in Europe have convinced him that dive-bombing is the only thing. A contest between the two types convinces high Army officers and a Congressional committee that high-altitude bombing is more accurate, and results in Davis being authorized to train Bombardiers to use the secret sight at a special school.

Oliver goes to the school as head of the pilot group flying the bombing planes, largely because he is in love with Davis' pretty secretary. Fighting obstacles of all sorts, Davis sees his dreams of a host of trained Bombardiers coming true—and then comes Pearl Harbor, and the chance of proving the predictions he has been making.

Promoted to Colonel and sent to the South Pacific in command of a bombing squadron, Davis again puts in for Oliver to accompany him. On a big night raid over Tokyo, Oliver goes ahead to drop incendiaries and light up the targets for Davis' big Flying Fortresses, but his plane is hit and its crew captured. How Oliver daringly carries out his mission under the threat of Jap bayonets and Jap torture forms the gripping climax of the film.

Made with the full co-operation of the U.S. Army Air Force, much of the picture was photographed at the big Bombardier training school at Kirtland Field near Albuquerque, and the education of the hand-picked youngsters who are taught the carefully guarded secrets of the Norden sight is shown in detail as a singularly realistic background to the romance and rivalry of the plot.

LET'S ALL DO MORE TO WIN THE WAR

BEFORE THE WAR: Christmas was the time for buying gifts for the family and friends. Dad almost went broke paying for them.

TODAY: Christmas parcels for the boys overseas and in camp come first. Expensive gifts for the family and friends are out for the duration.

You may not have any immediate relative in the armed forces, but you certainly must know of some friend or acquaintance who is in uniform, either here or overseas. Send him a parcel—write him a letter. Yours may be the only one he will get this Christmas. Think what it will mean to him. Let's forget ourselves and think of those gallant lads who sacrificed all their Christmas comforts so that we can be free to enjoy ours. It's the least we can do!

SCOTSTOWN

In commemoration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of Armistice and in tribute to the fallen heroes of the Great War and the present conflict, a Remembrance Day service, under the auspices of the Bury Branch of the Canadian Legion, was held on Thursday, November 11, at the Scotstown Memorial on the grounds of the High School, and was attended by a repersentative gathering of citizens, including the pupils from the Protestant and Catholic schools. Under the command of Sgt.-Major Philip Boy, "C" Company of the 16th Reserve Regiment, local ex-servicemen and members of the Bury Legion, marched from the Town Hall to the school grounds, where they formed two lines in front of the Cenotaph, and members of "C" Company, led by Sgt. Murdo MacAulay, comprised a guard-of-honor, with W. A. Ladd as standard-bearer. The chairman, Rev. O. Berry, gave the "Call to Remembrance," followed by prayer offered by Rev. Graham Barr. Following the singing of "O God Our Help in Ages Past," appropriate addresses were given by Mayor Alex M. MacDonald and Rev. Father A. Bachand, P.P. After the hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee" was sung, the names of those who gave their lives in defence of their country, in both wars, were read by the chairman. Among the wreaths placed at the base of the memorial were those from the Town, by Mayor MacDonald, the Scotstown High School, Uland Simpson; the Women's Institute, Mrs. W. A. Ladd; Guelph Cask, Veneer and Plywood Company, Rodney MacDonald, and the Bury Legion. The chairman quoted Kipling's "They Shall Not Grow Old, We Shall Remember Them," F. J. Buck sounded the "Last Post" and two minutes' silence was observed followed by "Reveille," and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. J. W. Smith.

Conducted by the President, Mrs. J. D. Cox, the November meeting of St. Andrew's Women's Association was held in the Church Hall, with a good attendance. The programme opened with a poem read by the President, followed by the worship service, directed by Mrs. A. A. Mackenzie, the theme song, "Let the Beauty of Jesus," was sung, and the topic, "Resignation," to pray, work, give and wait the time when the Princes of God shall cover the earth," was dealt with in Psalm XXIX, and I Peter II, and "Thoughts" on the lesson from the topic card. The service closed with the hymn, "O For a Heart to Praise My God," and prayer. The Treasurer, Mrs. John Macdonald, submitted the financial statement report, showing a balance of $233.36 on hand. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Scott entertained the November meeting of St. Andrew's Sunday School Workers' Conference, directed by the Superintendent, Mrs. J. D. Cox, and with the usual members present. In opening the meeting, Mrs. Cox spoke of Winston Churchill's broadcast and of the harm done by the criticism which had resulted from the U.S. Senators visits to Britain, also the regret of the parties concerned and enjoined her hearers to be careful of snap judgments which fail to take into consideration motives or circumstances and of the critical words which we may utter which, once spoken cannot be recalled. In this connection Mrs. Cox read Corinthians XIII, commencing, "Love is patient." Prayer by Rev. Graham Barr and Mrs. Cox followed. It was reported that the Hallowe'en party had proved a great success, ninety-three children in costume being present, as well as a large number of adults. Hallowe'en decorations were much in evidence, accentuated by caps and aprons worn by the waitresses. Very attractive invitations, prepared by Mrs. Barr, in the form of pumpkins and cats, cleverly worded and appropriate, were sent to the children, to be presented for admission. Seasonal wrapped prizes were given for games and costumes, and it was agreed that more prizes will be awarded at a future occasion. It was announced that the women's class might be merged into the Home Department. It was proposed that inexpensive gifts might be purchased as Christmas gifts for the Sunday School children, to replace the unavailable supply of candy and oranges, and it was decided that the other Sunday Schools were to be consulted. Plans for the Christmas programme were discussed and it was decided that the same be held on December 19, and to ask Mrs. A. A. MacAulay, who had prepared such excellent programmes in the past, to take charge. Mrs. Cox chose as a theme for the meeting, "Holding Our Own Under the Difficulties of Today," and read some helpful thoughts in this connection and as an outcome a discussion followed as to how St. Andrew's could be made a growing Sunday School, spiritually as well as numerically. The teachers were asked for suggestions for recognizing attendance by seals or otherwise. The booklet, "What It Takes," was suggested as a suitable gift for our boys in the Armed Forces at some future date. Following the report of the Treasurer, outstanding bills were ordered paid.

The Reasons for Substitutions

In normal times, the Quebec Liquor Commission carried a very wide variety of distilled liquors, wines and liqueurs. Some of these were of domestic origin and others were imported from countries in all parts of the world. In almost every instance these beverages represent important commercial commodities of the countries from which they come and are manufactured by numerous business houses in those countries.

It would, of course, be impossible under any circumstances to keep in stock goods produced by all these producers, but it was the policy of the Quebec Liquor Commission to have on hand for their patrons the wares of the better known houses and also of other houses which while not so popularly known had a clientele in this Province.

In order that the best products should be available to our people, purchasing offices were maintained by the Commission in London, England, and Paris, France, while to the offices of the Commission in Montreal and Quebec City came regularly representatives of producers from all parts.

Not only did the Commission carry this large assortment of alcoholic beverages, but it carried them in a variety of sizes ranging from ten ounce bottles of certain distilled spirits to gallon jars of domestic and certain imported wines.

The reason for this is obvious. It enabled the Commission's patrons to have a choice in respect to the kind of beverage desired, in respect to the producer of that beverage, and, within the limits imposed by the law, to the quantity. The smaller sizes were intended to avoid the necessity of a patron having to buy more than he wished or to spend more than he could afford.

It sometimes happened, however, that even when shipping and other facilities were functioning normally and there was no shortage of wares generally, the products of a particular manufacturer would be temporarily out of stock. When this occurred most patrons were content to take another brand of the article desired, and in the case of mail orders the Commission, unless otherwise instructed, substituted another brand of the same grade, a procedure which was invariably approved by the purchaser.

Such substitutions in those days were not of common occurrence and, being then only temporary, caused little inconvenience.

Since those pre-war days, however, great changes have taken place. It is absolutely impossible to get certain types of wines and cordials, while in regard to all other alcoholic beverages, uncertainties of transportation and restrictions on the quantities which the Commission may sell have created a difficult and serious situation.

Undoubtedly, under prevailing conditions, there is inconvenience and disappointment to many purchasers. It is no longer possible for a patron to be sure that he will obtain the article he has chosen from the Commission price-list. Obviously, however, this arises from causes beyond the control of the Commission.

The best that can be done is being done. With limited supplies, many of the more popular brands are quickly sold out, and often this happens to whole lines of a particular beverage. Every effort is made to ensure that patrons have available something from which to choose and whenever possible small sizes are stocked so that minimum purchases may be made.

It is desired, however, to emphasize that the Commission has no interest whatsoever in pushing or restricting the sale of any particular beverage or brand. The Commission's function is to serve its patrons with what they desire when this is possible. When that cannot be done the alternative articles which may still be in the stores are there as a service to the public, which is again urged to keep in mind prevailing conditions and limit its purchases accordingly.

MIDGET AND BANTAM LEAGUES ORGANIZED

Interscholastic Three-Team Loop Also Formed Last Night

The Midget, Bantam and Senior Interscholastic leagues were formed last night at a meeting held at the New Sherbrooke Hotel. The Midget and Bantam loops are members of the Q.A.H.A. but the senior league will have no connection whatever with the association.

Although there has been nothing definitely decided yet, indications are that there will be a six-team Midget league, six Bantam squads and a three-team Senior Interscholastic loop. The schools which here signified their intentions of entering teams are: Midgets — Sherbrooke High School, St. Patrick's Academy, Lennoxville High School, Sacred Heart School, B.C.S. and the Air Cadets.

Bantams :St. Patrick's Academy (two teams), Lennoxville High School, B.C.S., B.C.S. Prep and a possible entry from Mitchell School.

The three squads in the independent Senior league will be B.C.S., St. Patrick's Academy and the Sherbrooke High School.

The election of officers of the league was also held last night. Forrest Keene, well - known Sherbrooke sportsman, was elected President. J. E. Perry, of the Lennoxville High School, was elected to the post of Vice-President. Secretary-Treasurer of the loop is G. Largy.

The purpose of the formation of the Senior Intermediate league is to give those players in the schools who are over the Juvenile age limit a chance to play some hockey this year. None of the schools, with the exception of B. C. S. have enough players to ice juvenile teams in the Q.A.H.A. In the interscholastic loop, there is no age limit but all players on the teams must belong to the school for which they are playing. This means that the senior squad will be able to draw on anyone in the school to play for them even though he is registered in the Q.A.H.A.

A meeting will be held on December 14, at 8.15 p.m., and all persons who are interested in entering teams in either of the three leagues are asked to be present at the meeting. All representatives of the teams will have by December 15 definite answers to give regarding the teams they wish to enter. The league schedules will also be drawn up at the next meeting. The question of referees for the season was discussed but no decision was reached and the matter will be discussed more fully at the next meeting. The player limit for the Q.A.H.A. Midget and Bantam League teams was reported as bein - fifteen. It was also decided to play as many as possible of the games in the afternoon.

Those present at the meeting were Forrest Keene, President, J. E. Perry, Vice-President, W. W. Gibson, of the Air Cadets, E. Porter and H. Pye, of the Sherbrooke High School, G. Patriquin, of B.C.S. and R. Levesque and John Martial of St. Patrick's Academy.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By CHARLES EDWARDS, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

New Orleans, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Toronto, Nov. 17.—(CP)—Big surprise of the Ontario Rugby Football Union final was the fact the Hamilton Wildcats wingline outplayed Balmy Beaches forward wall. It was conceded Hamilton had some outstanding ends and a sound backfield built around the sensational Joe Krol. But Beaches had the line! Oh yes! Beaches had the line—with holes in it that fellows like Bill O'Breza, Eddie Remegis and Abe Zvonkin enlarged almost at will. Observers underrated the Hamilton line almost all season but discovered the truth in Wildcat's 7-2 win last Saturday.

Army Hockey:

Collapse of army teams in eastern senior hockey leagues is almost complete now except at Kingston where the training centre is drawing sufficient good talent to keep Frontenacs in action . . . So far the West has not suffered except at Regina. But army teams in Nanaimo, B.C., and Winnipeg are reported worried for fear regulations will lead to removal of key players. Alberta army teams at Calgary and Red Deer expect they will not be affected for some months.

Stray Stuff:

Frank Demarco, Balmy Beach football end, is a cousin, not a brother, of Ab Demarco, the Boston hockey player. Frank works at Copper Cliff, Ont, during the summer vacation from his teaching job at St. Michael's College. He pitched last summer for Copper Cliff Redmen senior baseball team . . . Canada's top diplomat, Hon. Leighton McCarthy, said in his speech at Montreal yesterday that he played lacrosse against Montreal's famous old Shamrocks in 1893. McCarthy was a member of the Toronto lacrosse team which opposed Shamrocks at the Chicago World's Fair that year.

The Board of Directors for the Y.M.C.A. insured their hold on third place in the Five Pin Bowling loop last night when they defeated St. Pat's in two straight strings. St. Pat's are still in eighth position with seven wins and eleven losses. The Maple Leafs still hold the undisputed leadership with eighteen wins and no losses while the cellar position is supported by the Lord Sherbrooke W.O.'s with nine losses out of nine games played.

In the B.O.D.'s-St. Pat's game, Walter Mutchler took the high single with 308 while the high three string went to H. Reese with 700. Both these men were bowling for the B.O.D.'s, while R. Olivier took the high single for the Irishmen with 242 and R. Bouchard took the high three string with 613.

Bruins Come From Behind To Gain 2-2 Draw With Canucks

Boston, Nov. 17.—(CP)—Montreal's undefeated Canadiens were overtaken by Bruins here last night in the second 2-2 tie between the two clubs in a National Hockey League fixture played for the benefit of the United States War Funds before a crowd of 13,852.

The veteran Busher Jackson figured in both of the Boston goals and his sizzling 30-foot scoring shot, which came with less than four minutes to play, enabled the Bruins to hold their own with the speedy Canadiens, on the same terms as in their season's opener at Montreal late last month.

The crowd, which contributed a total of $21,852.31 to the War Fund drive was about ready to accept a Boston defeat until Jackson came up with the equalizer.

Although the Bruins gained first blood, at 12.05 in the opening period, when Busher fed a scoring passout of a corner to Bep Guidolin, they were out-played all the way by a decisive margin.

Canadiens pulled into a 1-1 tie early in the second period, after Gerry Heffernan broke up a four-man rush by stealing the puck from Defenceman Jack Crawford on the Montreal goal line and racing down to register a close-range goal. Less than five minutes later, Canadiens moved ahead when Toe Blake polished off a combination play with Rookie Bobby Filion and the well seasoned Elmer Lach.

Just when Boston's chances were dropping out of sight, the Bruins forced a quarter-ice face-off in the Montreal zone. Bill Cowley lined up against Murph Chamberlain, who performed for the Bruins last season, and beat him to the puck. When Cowley batted it Jackson raced over fast and rifled from the red line.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Swift, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hall and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Williams were evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Rumsby.

SPORT NOTES

Eddie Wares, who played with the Stanley Cup winning Detroit Red Wings last year, has indicated that he will join the Navy at the H.M.C.S. Tecumseh at Calgary. If Wares passes his medical, he will probably line up with Sweeney Schriner on Marty Burke's navy club in the Alberta Service Senior Hockey League. Wares started his hockey career in Calgary, turned pro with the Philadelphia Ramblers in 1935-36 and went to the Detroit team in 1937-38.

When asked whether he would keep the "Kid Line" for the remainder of the season, "Pop" Leroux, coach of the Rand team, replied "You bet your life." The "Kid Line" showed what they could do last Sunday when they played against the R.C.A.F. team. Gauthier and Dussault each scored a goal and Sirois, the other third of the line, is working well with his line-mates.

Robert Bergeron, Rand stalwart defenceman, played a great game last Sunday. He repeatedly broke up the Air Force attacks and several times set up the play for some of the Rand's goals. Bergeron is an all-round player, having starred in the nets when he was playing junior hockey and also did well on the forward lines. He has a lot of speed and is able to carry the puck well. Teaming up with "Pop" Leroux, who has had plenty of experience and knows all the tricks of the trade, Bergeron ought to turn out to be a defence man that any team will find hard to beat this year.

The game Sunday was surprisingly clean, not one penalty being handed out the whole match. There was a little high-sticking in the first period but not serious enough to warrant a penalty being dished out. Billy Gordon and Robert Bergeron were throwing fierce looks at each other at the half-way mark in the second stanza but nothing came of it.

* * *

The three former Sherbrooke Indian players who are now with Montreal teams in the J.A.H.A. are doing al right for -themselves. Gerard Plamondon picked up a goal in the game between Canadiens and Verdun which the Canucks won 6-5. Ross Planche added an assist in the Royals-Concordia match and Roger Bedard got two assists in the same game. The game resulted in a five-all tie.

* * *

Johnny Mowers, winner of the Vezina trophy last year and which he garnered by a large margin, seems to have lost some of his former brilliance in the nets. Whereas he turned in a great job last year in the Detroit nets, he has slipped up somewhat in the Toronto R.C.A.F. goal this season. To date, he has had seventeen shots rifled past him in two games.

* * *

Hec Highton, Chicago Black Hawks' brilliant goaler, had had no previous experience in organized hockey circles until Paul Thompson, manager of the Hawks, picked him up this fall. Thompson was badly in need of a netminder and negotiations had failed in his attempt to get Mike Karahas for the Hawks. One day, while Thompson was out in British Columbia, he saw a youngster playing on an open air rink and the kid looked pretty good kicking the pucks out. So Thompson asked him to try out and Highton proved so good that he is now the regular Chicago goaler.

Southwestern, Georgia Tech May Line Up In Sugar Bowl

By MAX PATRICK,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

New Orleans, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Sugar Bowl officials remain tight-lipped, but the man on the street says it very likely will be the Ramblin' Wreck of Georgia Tech and Southwestern Louisiana Institute's Bulldogs in the tenth annual fotoball classic here on New Year's Day.

Coach Bill Alexander's Wreckers have steadily increased in potency since the opening of the campaign and in their last two outings smothered Louisiana State 42-7 and Tulane 33-0. Tech was swamped by Notre Dame 13-55, early in the season and has been whipped by Navy and Duke, but the tricky Alexandermen have been impressive in winning five of their eight games.

Georgia Tech has top-notch attractions in Eddie Prokop, passer extraordinary, and a great line headed by guard John Steber.

Southwestern Louisiana—the little school with the big football team—is ready, willing and anxious for a crack at "just anybody" in a bowl game.

Coach Louis Whitman and Athletic Director Robert L. Browne say the Bulldogs are "good enough to play in any bowl." The Bulldogs are rich with Navy V-12 talent from Texas colleges—principally Rice Institute—and Louisiana State.

Whitman said today he believed that Alvin Dark, Louisiana State tailback last season, is the best triple threater in the game today and that his line stacks up with the best. Barring scholastic difficulties, the Bulldogs will have their entire personnel on Jan. 1.

Southwestern has three wins and a tie in as many games this season and a "pocket full" of refusals from practically all of the major teams in the south and southwest to vouch for their readiness to play "all comers."

The Bulldogs have defeated the 176th Infantry of Fort Benning, Ga., 20-6, Southwestern of Texas 27-6, and the Lake Charles Army Air Base 75-0, and played a 20-20 tie with the Bollweevils of Arkansas A. and M. They have another game scheduled with the Randolph Field fliers in San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 27.

Both Tech and Southwestern have naval V-12 trainees. Southwestern is located at Lafayette, La., just a few hours drive from New Orleans.

Among other outstanding teams believed to be under consideration for Sugar Bowl bids are Tulsa, a participant last season, Duke and the winner of the Texas-Texas A. and M. game.

President Joseph B. David of the Sugar Bowl says that Georgia Tech and Southwestern are being considered "along with several other teams."

Pariseau continued their undefeated march in the Sherbrooke Table Tennis League when they swamped the Bishop's entry 5-1 in the last scheduled game.

Paul Gagnon was the only University winner when he downed G. Coupal to save the College from a white-washing.

The Pariseau winners were as follows: A. Renaud beat J. Hodder 23-21, 10-21 and 21-16; Bill Veilleux beat Keith Farquharson 12-21, 21-16 and 21-16; J. Fortier beat John Scarth 21-10 and 21-12; Y. Thibault defeated Paul Beaudry 21-17 and 21-19; Paul Gagnon, of Bishop's, defeated G. Coupal 21-14 and 21-19. In the doubles, the Pariseau team of Renaud and Veilleux defeated the Bishop's team of Hodder and Farquharson 21-10 and 21-13.

Coaticook, Nov. 17. — National Education Week was observed in Coaticook with a varied programme of activities on the part of the pupils and staff of the High School. A General Assembly, sponsored by the Students' Council, was held in the Guild Hall on Friday evening, November 12, when the pupils of Grades VI-XI acted as hosts to parents and guardians. Again a very interesting programme was presented by pupils of the various classes, with A. Kirmayer acting as master of ceremonies. The Treasurer, Mrs. Reiley, reported that the treasury contained over $100, with all bills paid. Another donation of apples had been received from a kind friend in Abbotsford. These were distributed among needy children. A brief article on "ditty bags" was read telling of one corvette which missed the Christmas mail last year and all the boys got was a ditty bag each, and how much fun and joy they derived from them. Mrs. Thomas Scott read an interesting and amusing letter from Rev. Charles Huxtable, now residing in Chartierville. Miss Black opened the programme by reading an article on "Flags, Their Use and Abuse," taken from the "Canadian Churchman," which showed that the flags in the United Church at present are hanging at the correct angle. A new American flag has been received by an old Granby boy, Bert Morrison, and will be placed in the church in the near future. Mrs. D. Martin sang, "We'll Never Let the Old Flag Fall," all joining in the chorus. After this a number of letters were read from the boys Overseas. Thomas Scott gave an inspiring sermon from the text, "I stir up your pure minds in remembrance." The choir rendered Maunder's anthem, "Conquering Kings," Mr. Dickenson taking the solo and the ladies the chorus." The hymn "O Jesu Hear Us," is also deserving of mention. Mr. Dickenson also sang "The Lord Is My Light and My Salvation." The congregational hymns were all appropriate. The selections by the organist, Mr. Sadler, were also in keeping with the day, "The Scottish Lament" for the offertory and for a postlude one of Gounod's majestic marches. A memorial basket of beautiful bronze 'mums rested on the Communion table, a silent tribute to the brave men who have paid the supreme price.

Where
ARE NEILSON'S CHOCOLATE BARS GOING THESE DAYS?

● We are not surprised that people ask that question when they go into a store and find no "Neilson's" chocolate bars . . . and here is the reason:—There are so many more people buying chocolate bars today than ever before, that no sooner are the popular Neilson's high-quality favourites placed on sale than they are sold. So, in spite of the fact that Neilson's Chocolate Bars are being produced in the maximum quantity, in accordance with wartime restrictions on the use of raw materials, they are naturally in short supply. We feel sure you will understand this.

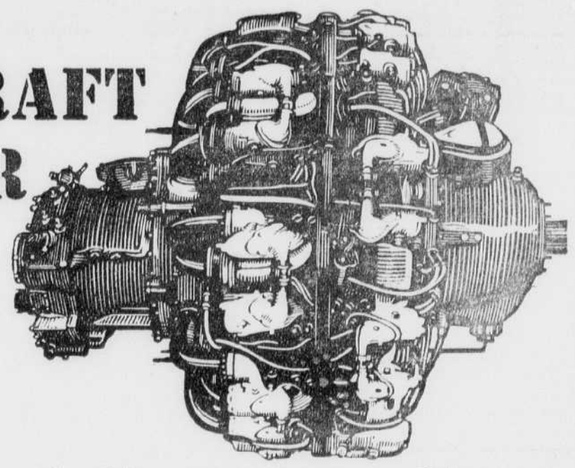

Neilson's Quality remains as always —the highest!

CHEMISTRY HELPS TO WIN THE WAR

ONE AIRCRAFT MOTOR

delivered without any rust on it!

● From the time they leave the production line, the tools of war—guns, tanks, planes—are threatened by a devastating enemy: corrosion, commonly called rust. Silica Gel protects vital war equipment by removing moisture from the air before corrosion can begin its deadly work.

Formerly, equipment bound for overseas was heavily coated with grease and waxes to protect metal surfaces. Such treatment was slow and messy, and delayed final assembly overseas. Some things, like radio equipment, could not be treated with grease—and had to risk overseas shipment unprotected.

Now, Silica Gel provides positive protection from rust and corrosion for all types of equipment. For instance, an aircraft engine is packaged for overseas by sealing it in a moisture-proof envelope.

Small cotton bags filled with Silica Gel are tied to the engine. The Silica Gel in the bags removes the moisture sealed into the envelope and maintains relative humidity at a low level where corrosion will not occur. In each spark plug port on the cylinders, and in other similar openings, plastic plugs, filled with Silica Gel, are installed. These plugs protect the combustion chambers and other internal engine surfaces.

Silica Gel is a harmless, chemically inert material that can absorb up to half its weight in moisture. It is made available to manufacturers through the General Chemicals Division of Canadian Industries Limited.

Silica Gel to protect overseas shipments is another example of how Industrial Chemistry helps Canada's war effort.

G. M. WIGGETT and ERNEST GILBEY, General Chairman and Vice-Chairman, respectively, of the annual Rotary Fair which opens here tomorrow.

Eagerly Awaited Event To Be Held In Belvidere St. Armory For Three Fun-Packed Nights

One of the most eagerly awaited events of the whole year will open in Sherbrooke tomorrow night when the 12th annual Rotary Fair will be inaugurated under the sponsorship of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club. This annual undertaking will be more novel, more entertaining and more exciting than ever before, as no stone has been left unturned to make the 12th annual Fair a real Victory event, outstanding in every department, and destined to bring freedom to those unfortunates who are facing life handicapped by some physical disability which the proceeds of the Rotary Fair will assist them in overcoming.

Held in the Belvidere Street Armory, the Fair will continue throughout three fun-packed nights, tomorrow, Friday and Saturday, as only at midnight on Saturday will the final wheel stop turning, the last spin of the "Superfine" hold eager ticket holders spellbound, and the final curtain be rung down on one of the most spectacular events in Sherbrooke.

Operated by the Rotary Club of Sherbrooke as an annual feature to bring entertainment and relaxation to the citizens while at the same time raise funds for the alleviation of unfortunate families and assist crippled children to overcome their handicaps, the Rotary Fair is essentially a benevolent enterprise. The thousands of dollars taken in during the three nights of the Fair, and raised through the means of raffle tickets on innumerable attractive and costly prizes, go solely to the assistance of crippled children and to other charities in which the Rotary Club takes an active interest.

Anticipated by young and old alike, the Fair is a blaze of color and amusement which attracts thrill-seekers from all over the Eastern Townships. Prospects for this year's Fair are most encouraging, and despite the rationing of many important items which complete the lengthy and irresistible list of prizes, the Rotarians have announced that the 1943 Fair will eclipse any previous event, and one and all are assured of a gala time, with something doing every minute.

Organization of this great event requires months of tiresome and vigilant preparation, in which all members of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club take an active part. The mere fact that a cross-section of all the well-known business men of Sherbrooke are behind the Rotary Fair, and have assisted in its preparation, assures the success of this big show, and is evidence of how each year new records are made and an achievement of no mean effort is accomplished.

Held every year since 1931, the Rotary Fair has continued to grow in size and favor with the public, and this 1943 event is to be the biggest and most attractive of them all. Something to please everyone, with more novel and costly prizes than ever before, is the guarantee of the Rotarians for those who will wend their way to the Belvidere Street Armory during the next three nights.

Erection of booths which will house the various games of skill has been at last completed, and the interior of the Armory presents a riot of color in which the patriotic theme of red, white and blue is predominant. Many new features will attract the elusive dollar and the ever-ready quarters and dimes of a spend-free throng who will vie for the opportunity and thrill of carrying home a chicken, a blanket, a box of candy, or one of the many beautiful pieces of furniture from the magnificent Superfine Booth which is the highlight of every Fair.

Fair-goers this year will be treated to a special added attraction, when the famous "Mystery Man" will again make his appearance after a lapse of several years. This enticing and elusive "Target for Tonight" will be sponsored by the Sherbrooke Daily Record as an added inducement for folks to visit the Armory. Capture of this Mystery Man, who will be a nightly feature, will reward the sharp-eyed fair-goer with a substantial cash prize. The only requisite is that those who seek to approach the Mystery Man must have a copy of the current issue of the Sherbrooke Daily Record in their possession, otherwise their capture will not be taken any notice of.

Members of the Rotary Club undertake this annual Rotary Fair with a glad heart and an eager spirit, as they realize the tremendous import of their venture to those who receive benefits from the proceeds. The Rotarians are essentially a service club, and their main objective is to help others, and it is through the Fair that they are able to accomplish such outstanding work among the handicapped and underprivileged folk of Sherbrooke and the surrounding districts. The public has realized this and supported the Fair in overwhelming measure, the enthusiasm with which they greet the annual Fair being responsible for the raising of some $5,000 annually.

Considered one of Canada's greatest indoor attractions, the Rotary Fair held in Sherbrooke has gained Dominion-wide fame and provides all the thrills and amusements of a real country Fair, without the exhibits and animals, of course. Proceeds are distributed among such well-known organizations as the Child Welfare Clinic, Bien-Etre de L'Enfance, Junior Welfare League, Jeunes Ouvriers Canadiens, Sherbrooke Hospital, Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire, Boy Scouts' Toy Shop, Les Scouts Catholiques, Toc H, Canadian Legion, Girls' Cottage Industrial School, Sherbrooke Public Library, l'Assistance Maternelle, Salvation Army, Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children, St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, Y.M.C.A., Y.W.C.A., Summer Camps for Boys and Girls, the Victorian Order of Nurses, and countless other societies which cater to the underprivileged and charitable cases in the Sherbrooke area.

General Chairman of this year's Fair is G. M. Wiggett, who has many able and energetic committees at his disposal to make sure of a smoothly operating venture.

Phil Mathias is making preparations for the gala "Kiddies' Day" ceremony, the annual Saturday afternoon feature of the Fair, when the children of the city are the guests of Rotary at an entertainment that will long be remembered by them. Special attention is being given this project to insure a happy matinee for the kiddies.

Among the many games and various types of entertainment that will be enjoyed by the customers are the two blanket booths, fruit booth, Superfine, Bingo, Contact (a new and interesting game), grocery booth, the ever-popular Hoop-la, chicken booth, cigarette booth, two Jubilee booths, candy booth, the fascinating new auto game, and several new games which doubtlessly will prove very popular.

Raffle tickets are to be sold in the armory during the Fair and drawing for prizes will take place each evening, with the drawing for the grand prize coming as a climax to proceedings on Saturday night.

In recognition of the beneficial results to be derived from this event the manufacturers, industrial establishments, business firms and private individuals of Sherbrooke and district have lent their enthusiastic support to help the organizers of the Fair. One of the main features of the event is, of course, the fact that no admission is being charged to enter the armory.

Mystery Man Will Defy Capture At The Rotary Fair—Lucky Captor Will Be Rewarded With Ten Dollars

Defying one and all to capture him, the elusive personage known as the "Sherbrooke Record Mystery Man" will definitely be at the 12th Annual Rotary Fair tomorrow night, and also on Friday and Saturday nights, wandering at will among the crowds and rewarding his captor with a crisp ten-dollar bill.

This sensational added feature at the annual Fair provides much amusement and anticipation, with every fair-goer seeking to be the lucky person to successfully challenge the Mystery Man.

After a lapse of a couple of years, the Sherbrooke Record decided to once again present their famous Mystery Man at the 1943 Fair, acceding to repeated requests from the thousands of fair patrons who enjoy the game of detective in trying to determine who the unknown personage might be.

This added attraction will be presented every night between the hours of eight and eleven o'clock, and the contest is open to everyone who visits the Rotary Fair, except the employees of the Sherbrooke Record Co. Ltd. and their immediate families. The Mystery Man will be at large in the huge armory, during the three-hour period on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, and one may rub shoulders with him, or even be speaking to him, without realizing the fact that a brand new ten-dollar bill is staring them in the face.

It is important that the correct method of approach be used to challenge the man who is suspected of being the Mystery Man, as the prize-money depends solely on the following out of the exact rules necessary for his capture.

The rules are simple, but must be strictly adhered to. The procedure is this: Have a copy of that day's issue of the Sherbrooke Record prominently displayed in your hand; challenge the person suspected of being the "Mystery Man" with this term: "You are the Sherbrooke Record 'Mystery Man'." Say nothing further. Do not ask if he is the "Mystery Man," but make the definite challenge using the exact words "You are the Sherbrooke Record Mystery Man." If the proper person has been challenged he will immediately admit that he is the "Mystery Man" and will take his captor to the Fair Treasurer who will hand out the ten-dollar prize. In the event of the "Mystery Man" eluding capture the ten dollars will be given to the Fair.

The "Mystery Man" can be any age over eighteen and the contest is open to all Fair visitors with the exception of employees of the Sherbrooke Record or members of their immediate families.

Be sure to try your luck at guessing the identity of this mysterious personage, and win for yourself a lucky tenspot. Half the fun of guessing the Mystery Man's identity lies in the chance to mingle with thousands of fellow-citizens from Sherbrooke and all parts of the Eastern Townships, not knowing which one of them may be the man whom everyone is seeking to tag with the required challenge.

The Mystery Man will definitely appear each night, but will not be present on Saturday afternoon, when a special Children's Programme will be run off under the direction of genial Phil Mathias. This is strictly a Children's afternoon, and the element of mystery which surrounds the Mystery Man's appearance will be reserved for the evening hours of the Fair only.

Come to the Fair and find the Sherbrooke Record Mystery Man. He may be your next-door neighbor. Or he may be someone you have never seen. Can you guess who he is?

Challenge him with a copy of that day's Record, using the correct words, and win ten whole dollars for yourself! The Mystery Man will be waiting for you tomorrow night!

Blood Donor And War Saving Stamp Booths At Rotary Fair

Through the courtesy of the Rotary Fair, and the gracious gesture of General Chairman G. M. Wiggett, the Blood Donor Booth and the War Savings Stamps booth will occupy places of prominence at this year's Rotary Fair.

The Sherbrooke Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic has made every arrangement to erect a booth where all queries and enrolments can be made. In a tastefully decorated booth literature about the clinic will be distributed, and a staff of both French and English volunteer workers will be on hand to answer any question about giving blood.

Those who wish to enroll as a donor may do so at this special booth, as enrolment cards will be available and assistance given in filling out the cards if required.

It is stressed that the urgent need for more and more blood is coming from the battle fronts, and it is the duty of every Canadian citizen to help bolster the blood bank requirements.

Every person, male or female, between the age of 16 and 60, is able to give blood, and should consider it a privilege and an honor to be able to help the front line fighters of our country. It is a distinct home front service to be a Red Cross

Officials of the Rotary Fair have announced that another new booth will be added to their Fair this year. This booth will be in charge of the National War Finance Committee and will be operated like all other lotteries with four-dollar War Savings Certificates to be given as prizes. This is the first time that such a booth has been operated at the Fair since in other years it was open only for the sale of War Savings Stamps and Certificates and no prizes were given away.

In arranging to operate the booth in this new manner the officials thought that it would be more interesting to the public and they believe that it will prove to be very popular. A. L. Kidd, of the National War Finance Committee, who will be in charge of the booth, announced that stamps will be on sale at the counter and that after sixteen have been purchased the wheel will be spun and the lucky number will receive the certificate. No play can be resumed until the sixteen stamps have been sold and anyone may buy as many stamps as they want. No profits can be realized at this booth since it will take all the sixteen stamps sold to make up the certificate and the proceeds will go to the Government just as they do when a

It's safe to say that everybody who hasn't a kneehole desk wants one. So, as a gift, it's 100% acceptable.

But kneehole desks are not all alike. Some are not worth carting home; some are just medium; and some are a thrill and a joy in the household—for years and years. That's the kind we are offering. Come and see them. Shop early, for selections are not as extensive as formerly.

ORTHOPAEDIC WORK REVIEWED BY J. A. DUCKETT

Speaking in Toronto recently, under the auspices of the Employment Service and Unemployment Insurance Branch, Department of Labour, J. A. Duckett, of Montreal, one of Canada's foremost workers in the orthopaedic field, reviewed his art under the title of "Rehabilitation of the Physically Handicapped."

For many years Mr. Duckett has been experimenting in the field of human activity, striving all the time to improve his orthopaedic apparatus in order to procure the greatest relief to those who have to use such appliances. In many instances, the brace has brought not only relief but also prevented aggravation of the ailment. Since such instruments are intended to offset physical deficiencies they intimately help rehabilitation.

"Rehabilitation," said Mr. Duckett," could be defined as the reintegration in its normal functions, inasmuch as is humanly possible, of a limb or any part of the body previously injured. "Doctors, surgeons and later the orthopaedists have given their time and talents to the worthy lot of improving the cripple's lot. For many years, much importance has been conceded to the therapeutic value of messages, electrical and mechanical treatment as a means of rehabilitation."

"More recently," Mr. Duckett stated, "the therapeutic occupation has gained popularity and is now of precious help. It consists in prescribing a kind of work which, while occupying the mind of the patient, will make the injured part of the body execute certain motions. In many cases the therapeutic occupation will have in view a change of trade or profession when the injury prevents the patient from going back to his original work."

In opening his address, Mr. Duckett said, "While deeply appreciating the privilege of addressing this important conference on the rehabilitation of the physically handicapped, I feel that the best way of contributing my humble share is to give you practical notion resulting from 35 years' experience in designing, making and fitting artificial limbs and orthopaedic appliances, with the full collaboration of the Medical Profession."

"Modern orthopaedic appliances and artificial limbs play an important part in the rehabilitation of the handicapped, in preventing deformity in cases of paralysis due to accidents, diseases, etc., and they also give protection for fractures of the spine, legs and arms. Appliances are used in this case to support the limbs to give them rest, to keep them from being painful, and from getting deformed and useless. Even if the arms and legs are paralyzed, they can be improved and made more or less useful."

"Orthopaedic appliances are made of different metals, such as monel, stainless steel, spring brass, cast steel, machinery steel, and various kinds of leather which are also used, as well as felt for padding. The steel uprights are forged to the form of the limbs. Joints are milled with precision to give the proper mechanical action, and then shaped to the different designs by means of a plaster model of the patient."

"The scientific technician constructs his appliance from an accurate estimate of the character and arrangement of the force needed, and of the strength of the material required to meet the case he has in view. He thus combines durability with the greatest attainable lightness and efficiency. An important fact to be stressed is that a limb held in a proper anatomical position will recover its muscular power more quickly than a limb that is neglected and allowed to get deformed."

Deformity appliances should not be sold by mail, as an appliance cannot be properly adjusted unless the patient is under the observation of an orthopaedist with the cooperation of a qualified appliance fitter. Appliances are too often sold like an ordinary article, the seller assuming no responsibility as to whether the appliance he sells is suitable or not to the case in hand.

Those who have bought braces in such conditions from unqualified fitters do realize the value of this statement, because they know the miseries, irritations and torture of an ill-fitting limb, or appliance. Glasses and false teeth are not sold by mail—they are scientifically set by opticians and dentists. The same guarantee should be given to the purchaser of an orthopaedic appliance, artificial limb, or a truss.

There is no benefit in making low-grade apparatus. The best is none too good, because they contribute to the improvement of the patient's health, and give him more chance of recovering and at the same time secure for him the greatest possible comfort until the treatment is over. The apparatus that does this is not a luxury, but a necessity. Every appliance is the object of a special study for each individual case, in order that the wearer may enjoy all the relief and comfort that it is

These are: R. E. Richardson, Dave Diplock, R. G. Davidson and Karl Barrett. An Editorial

ROTARY'S TWENTY-FOUR YEARS OF SERVICE

Ever since the Rotary Club of Sherbrooke was founded on May 22nd, 1919, its members have extended a helping hand to the underprivileged youth of the community, both directly and in co-operation with existing welfare organizations.

This work has been made possible by the active interest and support accorded by Sherbrooke and Lennoxville citizens, as well as by other sympathetic friends throughout the Eastern Townships.

While this work on behalf of the oncoming generations is normally Rotary's first responsibility, the war has brought special opportunities to serve the men and women in uniform. There are eleven members of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club in His Majesty's Active Service or engaged in war work. The Club is also sponsoring Number 67 Squadron (Rotary) Air Cadets of Canada. Apart from this Rotarians contribute weekly to the Club's Overseas Cigarette Fund, which was started on August 12th, 1941. Since that date a total of $960.00 has been collected and 293,000 cigarettes sent Overseas. Another feature of the Club's war work is the fact that this year the Club is donating a ninety pound Christmas cake to be placed aboard the Corvette "Sherbrooke." The Club members have also shown keen interest in the collection of magazines for Overseas shipment, with the result that several tons of reading material have been collected.

Today the Rotary Club of Sherbrooke numbers 104 members, which includes 91 active members, 2 honorary members, and 11 on active service. Included in this membership are Protestants, Catholics and Jews, French and English, all united in the common ideal of service.

Tomorrow night marks the formal opening of the 1943 Rotary Fair, the twelfth Fair to be sponsored by the Sherbrooke Club. The entire proceeds of this Fair are devoted to crippled children's work, welfare organizations and to the Club's war work. No discrimination is shown, and race or creed are not considered.

The usual generous support which the public has shown to the Fair is again looked for this year. The Rotarians, prepared to do their part, are confident of the public's support and encouragement, for one and all are working in the knowledge that "inasmuch as ye have given unto the least of these, My children, ye have given unto Me."

Henry W. Welsh, 1926-27

Message From First President Of Sherbrooke Rotary Club

Rev. Dr. G. ELLERY READ

It is now nearly twenty-five years since the Rotary Club of Sherbrooke was organized. During this period the Club has made notable progress and given proof of the faith of the charter members who, in 1919, dedicated themselves to the ideals and the principles on which International Rotary is based. Not many of the charter members are left. The passing of the years has brought about the inevitable changes, but the organization has grown—it is about five times as large as it was at its beginning—and its activities have enlarged correspondingly. In fact, they have outgrown the expectations of the original membership.

The reasons for this expansion of membership and activities may be stated in a few words. First, and foremost, there has been an earnest intention and endeavour to translate creed into deed. The motto of Rotary is "Service Above Self." In these three words is contained a summary of the ethical and sacrificial teaching of Him who said to His disciples, "I am among you as He that serveth." The motto is a challenge to every member to examine his life and to discover how closely his conduct in business, in society, in the home conforms to this demand. The challenge can never leave one complacent or self-satisfied with what he is. The ideal always summons him to nobler endeavour.

In the second place the service given by Rotary is broad-based on the needs of those whom it serves irrespective of race or creed. The paramount consideration is not what language does the needy one speak, or what blood runs in his veins, or what does he profess, but what is his need. Some strange misunderstandings have arisen concerning Rotary, such as that Rotary is an attempt to become a substitute for the Church, or to compete with the Church. Such are altogether foreign to the purpose of Rotary. Rotary should help its members to be loyal to their church affiliations. While at its weekly luncheons it does not discuss religious subjects in their denominational relations it does emphasize the necessity of putting into practice the spirit of the Good Samaritan. This practice is manifested in many ways too numerous to mention. Many are the children who have been helped to renewed health and normal physical activity. Many are the generous benefactions that have been bestowed on worthy individuals and institutions without narrow discrimination.

Rotary Clubs in the Province of Quebec have a distinctive opportunity to promote interracial good-will because of the two dominant races that make up, largely, the population. In Sherbrooke the presence of the English and French working harmoniously together in various organizations is an eloquent demonstration of the possibilities of friendly co-operation, and in no organization is this more in evidence than in the Rotary Club. To me it has been a joy to witness the increase in the number of French-

FOREARM AMPUTATION

CONSULT THE SURGEON WHO SAVED YOUR LIFE — HE WILL RECOMMEND YOU TO A REPUTABLE FIRM.

J. A. DUCKETT

Has the largest and most modern establishment of its kind in Canada. All vital work is done under Mr. Duckett's personal supervision.

WARNING TO THE AMPUTEE

The present method of supplying limbs is not in keeping with scientific progress. Surgery had made giant steps forward during the last fifty years and the making of Orthopaedic and prophetic apparatus has also greatly improved, but the fitting of same is not modernized. Peddlers are still providing amputees with prostheses more or less adjusted. Even if the surgeon gives a good advice to his patient, the latter, having gone back home, is now subject to the influence of salesmen who may or may not wear an artificial limb and care more for their commission than the comfort of the limb-wearer. This system is detrimental to the amputee. And all this is the result of the absence of a law (similar to that regarding the setting of false teeth or glasses) prohibiting the fitting of a prothesis by an unqualified fitter.

SERVICE

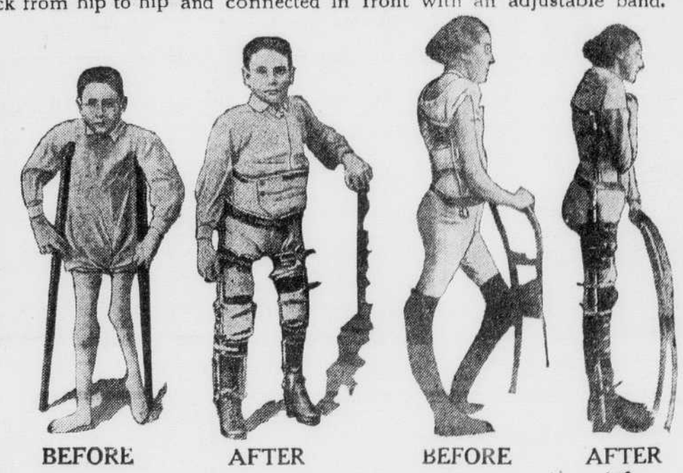

Whatever is the type of limb, wherever it comes from, it is worthless if the wearer cannot have it properly fitted and refitted at times when needed. This is service that only an experienced orthopaedic mechanician can successfully give you. SERVICE TO THE AMPUTEE is the spirit of J. A. DUCKETT.

DUCKETT'S IMPROVED APPARATUS
FOR PARALYSIS OF THE LOWER EXTREMITIES

Illustrates our latest apparatus for partial paralysis affecting the limbs, to the hip joint. Its construction is radically different from those usually made and offers several important points of merit. As shown in the cut, the joints at knee and hip are placed at points of advantage. That at the knee is set back to prevent the limb at this point from too-ready flexion and that at the hip to counteract the possibility of the body from shifting forward, which is materally assisted by an additional light steel band encircling the waist around the back from hip to hip and connected in front with an adjustable band.

FLAT FOOT

In severe cases of flat foot we recommend Whitman plates. But, in milder cases, your patient will find great relief from Duckett's special muscle building Arch Supports, made light and flexible.

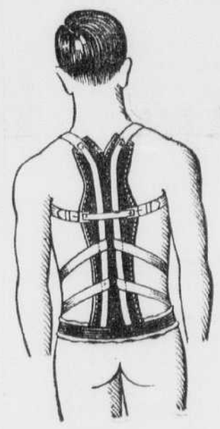

There are numerous Arch Supports put on the market to correct flat foot that are made over a form, and in some cases answer the purpose. We have always maintained that there is no ready made Arch Support manufactured in this way that will give the desired results in more than ten per cent of the cases. The reason is that there are different ligaments in the foot that may be affected, that cause pain in the various joints viz: Astragalo-Scaphoid Junction, Calcaneo Cuboid Junction, External Malleolus, Oscalis and Metatarsal Joints, also Rigid Flat Foot caused by inflammatory conditions or rheumatism. All conditions can not be corrected by ready-made Arch Supports but can be improved by our Arch Supports made according to the conditions of the case.

We advise all patients who require one of our appliances to have their case diagnosed by their doctor to be sure that they will have the suitable appliance made for their case.

MECHANICAL TREATMENT OF ABDOMINAL HERNIA

Definition — Hernia is the protrusion from a cavity, of any of its natural contents. Abdominal hernia is, therefore, the protrusion through the retaining wall of any of the enclosed viscera. This generally occurs at some point in the muscular wall that is weakened by the transmission of nerves and blood vessels, at points congenitally defective, or through muscular parts that have been previously lacerated or incised.

Hernia results, in almost every instance, from the gradual stretching of tissue and escape of the abdominal contents, either into a preformed (congenital) sac, or by the formation of a sac (acquired) from the peritoneal lining of the abdomen. Abdominal hernial derive their names from the part of the abdominal wall through which they pass. The terms inguinal, femoral, or umbilical, denote at once their place of escape, the exception to this being ventral hernia, which may occur at any point in the anterior abdominal wall other than in the regions named. As ventral hernia occurs at points in the muscular wall so strong as ordinarily to resist hernial protrusion, it follows that when it does occur, it is either due to some congenital defect or is the result of some injury, such as a stab wound or a cutting operation. Extreme distention of the abdomen may also result in such separation of its aponeurotic fibres as the allow of protrusion.

Rupture is a serious matter. Consult your doctor. If you do not wish to have an operation, have a truss made to order and scientifically fitted. Beware of so called expert fitters.

All our trusses are made to order and fitted to each individual case. Patient is shown how to fit his truss which is very important for his comfort.

Programme Of Fun And Frolic Has Been Prepared For Kiddies

Kiddies of Sherbrooke are all eyes and ears this week as they anticipate their big "fun frolic" of the whole year—their own afternoon at the 12th annual Rotary Fair, a regular Saturday afternoon feature of the Big Fair which opens tomorrow night at the Belvidere Street Armory.

According to Rotarian Phil Mathias, that genial master of ceremonies who has complete charge of the children's programme, this year's event will be really outstanding. Every possible arrangement has been made to amuse and thrill the kiddies, and as a special added inducement to join in the fun of the grownups, all games at the Fair will be thrown open on Saturday afternoon, except the magnificent Superfine booth, at a special price of five cents, instead of the usual ten cent charge.

The Rotary Club of Sherbrooke plan on giving the children an afternoon that they will long remember, and every kiddie in the city is cordially invited to take part in this gala time, at which the programme will be exclusively devoted to just the things that the kiddies like the best.

Once again the Rotary Club will present that eagerly anticipated attraction, their own sponsored squadron of the Air Cadet League of Canada, with a parade to the Armory at 1.30 p.m. on Saturday afternoon, and music during the afternoon provided by the rousing band of the Air Cadets themselves. This in itself will be something very special, and the kiddies can be assured of some band music that will keep their feet dancing all through the afternoon hours.

Starting at two p.m. when the doors of the huge armory will be opened, the programme will get under way as soon as the eager rush of youngsters enter the armory. Rotarian Mathias and his able crew of assistants have everything in readiness, and promise that there will not be a single dull moment.

Included on the list of the special attractions, in addition to the Air Cadet Band, will be the thrilling music of a piano accordionist, plus the amusing antics of clowns and funmakers of all kinds and plenty of games to satisfy everyone. Special surprises will be in store, and then it will be a real fun frolic indeed.

Ten door prizes will be offered for the kiddies, as the Rotary Club will give away ten one dollar bills to the holders of the lucky tickets in attendance during the afternoon. Each boy and girl will be given a ticket on entering the armory, and must hang on to the stub of their ticket until the drawing takes place. No prize can be claimed without the corresponding stub of the ticket each boy and girl will receive.

Other prizes and favors will be distributed and Mr. Mathias hopes to be able to give every child a bag of candy, if at all possible, and arrange for them to take home some little memento of their afternoon's pleasure.

Many games and contests will be held during the two-hour programme, and the winner will be suitably rewarded, while the entire Fair will be in full swing to lure the young ones to the resplendent booths in an attempt to capture one or more of the many beautiful prizes which are being given out at this year's Rotary Fair.

Message From

Canadian members in the Club, I believe this to be a decided influence towards promoting the spirit of unity that should exist between us. Of course, we have our different points of view, but by our contacts we learn, as someone has said "to disagree without being disagreeable."

As the first President of the Rotary Club of Sherbrooke and now an honorary member, I wish all the members continued success in their work for those whom they serve.
