World News In Brief

Seoul, Jan. 22—(AP)—Outnumbered allied Sabre jet pilots today blasted at least four communist MIGS from North Korean skies in the second straight day of furious air battles, the United States Fifth Air Force reported.

Three MIGS were damaged in the clash between 10 Sabres and 20 Red planes. Additional claims of one MIG destroyed and three damaged are pending confirmation.

The Sabres destroyed seven MIGS and damaged three yesterday without the loss of a plane.

Toronto, Jan. 22—(CP)—Toronto's bid to become the largest city in Canada was rejected today by the Ontario municipal board.

Instead, the board recommended in a 30,000-word report, the tangled public services of this city of some 675,000 persons and its satellite suburbs hemming it in on the north, the east and the west should be administered by a metropolitan council. This was interpreted as meaning a county-council system, made up of representatives of the 13 municipalities.

The report was expected to please neither the proponents of out-and-out amalgamation of all the suburbs with Toronto nor those favoring a less drastic measure of unification of essential services such as police and fire protection, water supply and sewage disposal.

Tokyo, Jan. 22—(AP)—Red China's No. 2 boss charged today that a United States B-29 Superfort violated Manchurian skies Jan. 12 and was shot down by communist night fighters.

U.S. Far East Air Forces confirmed the loss of the bomber, but asserted it was 12 to 15 miles inside North Korea—well below the Yalu river boundary of Manuchian—when crippled.

"The B-29 transmitted a 'mayday' distress signal and it is assumed it was shot down at the point," said an official FEAF announcement.

The Reds alleged the B-29 was shot down nine miles northwest of Antung, big communist air base across the Yalu from northwestern Korea.

Seoul, Jan. 22—(Reuters)—The South Korean transport Minister, Kim Suk Kwan, resigned today after accepting responsibility for the Jan. 9 ferry boat disaster off Pusan in which 249 Koreans were drowned.

The boat, which belonged to the minister's son, capsized in rough seas. Only seven persons, including the captain, were rescued.

Police said the craft was built to carry only 100 passengers and no cargo. She was loaded with 100 bales of rice.

Rome, Jan. 22—(AP)—Another 130 communists were reported today to have left the party and requested to join Premier Alcide De Gasperi's Christian Democrats. The men were from Isola Capo Rizzuto, in Calabria, where land distributions were made last year.

Recently, in a mass demonstration, nearly 400 former communists in southern Italy turned in their party cards.

Seventeen Patients Escape From New York Hospital; 11 Have Been Recaptured

Kings Park, N.Y., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Seventeen male patients early today smashed their way out of Kings Park state hospital, a mental institution, and 11 were reported recaptured within a few hours.

A police alarm described the 17 as "violent." A staff physician at the hospital classed them as "mentally disturbed" but he declined to state in what degree.

The bolting patients wrecked all the furnishings of their second-floor ward, and one of them chased a doctor with a broken piece of a bed. He and the five attendants on duty in the ward escaped unharmed.

The patients, quartered in a room with barred windows, broke down a door leading to a corridor and ran out into a snow and sleet storm pelting the scrub oak and pine country.

None of the fugitives had a weapon, so far as could be learned.

Most of the 17 wore street clothes when they broke out at 1:15 A. M. EST. It could not be learned how they came to be dressed this way at that hour.

The hospital is on Long Island, about 45 miles from New York.

Two of the patients were caught on the hospital grounds, and nine others within a few miles from here— some at Long Island Rail Road stations. All submitted without a struggle.

Search continued over a wide area for the patients still at large.

Straitjackets were used to return some of the men to the hospital. All 17 were around 20 years old.

The hospital, which has several buildings, houses 9,000 patients. There are 2,000 in the building from which the 17 escaped.

The hospital is a short distance inland from the north shore of Long Island, in Smithtown township, Suffolk country.

Bellefonte, Pa., Jan. 22. — (AP) — A stubborn band of 325 convicts, still holding six prison guards as hostages, stood fast in their barricaded cellblock at Rockview state penitentiary today with the next move apparently up to state officials and a force of state troopers encircling the prisoners.

As the fourth day of the outbreak dawned, the troopers and prison guards, armed with submachine-guns, tear gas, small arms and riot sticks were ready to move if state officials decided an all-out assault is the only solution to the stalemate.

State attorney-general Robert E. Woodside has been in charge of the efforts to dislodge the convicts in cell block A, centre of the original outbreak Monday night. He has refused to confirm or deny reports that a showdown may develop today by sending the troopers and guards into the cellblock.

The convicts are in the unique position of controlling the storeroom containing canned foods, thus assuring them and their hostages at least seven days' supply of food.

This situation, plus a "get-tough" order from governor John Fine yesterday gave support to reports that the assault was being considered by state officials as the last available avenue open for ending the riot. Just as Woodside was disclosing the "get-tough" order along came 45 more state troopers to bolster the force of 60 already on hand.

Meanwhile, a guard outside the cellblock offered to take the place of a guard inside. William C. Chandler, 50 offered last night to replace Paul Ishler, 40, as one of the hostages after Ishler's wife appealed for his release because both she and their child are ill. Chandler's wife said she was willing for her husband to "make the sacrifice because we have no children." Chandler said he and Ishler have been friends for years.

Mild Attacks Of Flu Hit Many States

New York, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Flu—or what feels like flu—has spread into more than half the 48 states, but the outbreaks so far generally have been mild.

The U. S. Army, a state university, a steel company and some local officials have taken steps to combat the infections with influenza vaccine.

A country-wide survey by the Associated Press showed the bulk of the cases are in the central part of the United States. Texas, Tennessee and Arkansas have been particularly hard hit.

Texas reported from 200,000 to 250,000 flu cases. Arkansas had the greatest number of upper respiratory infections in its history. The sickness was reaching the epidemic state in Tennessee.

The eastern and western states were comparatively free of outbreaks, although Florida reported some schools closed.

The army is giving flu vaccine to the troops in Korea, Europe and at ports of embarkation for those countries. An outbreak of flu in Bavaria this week resulted in nine deaths at Munich, filled the city's hospitals and closed 27 school rooms.

The Mones and Laughlin Steel Corporation announced it is giving flu shots to its 44,000 employees at various plants through the country. The treatments are voluntary.

In Ohio where the incidence so far is low, Ohio State University is planning a voluntary flu immunization program to run through next week.

Vaccine also was administered at the Syracuse (N.Y.) school for mental defectives and at the Cook County jail at Chicago.

The reports indicate at least one type flu "bug"—a prime—is responsible for some of the outbreaks. Some health authorities believe several types of minor virus infections are involved in school shutdowns or heavy absenteeisms in several parts of the country.

Dr. A. M. Washburn, head of the communicable diseases department of the Arkansas Board of Health, said the outbreak "definitely is an epidemic" in that state. He added it is difficult to determine which cases are true influenza.

George Cox, state health officer in Texas, said the flu outbreak in that state is the worst since the First World War. He added that the disease is about at its peak and should start declining next week.

The Hague, Jan. 22—(AP)—Prince Bernhard has accepted an invitation to the 300th anniversary of the granting of city rights to former New Amsterdam—New York, as it's now called.

Queen Juliana's husband will leave Jan. 30 by air for New York, where he will spend a few days.

Churchill Will Start Home Today

Tower Isle, Jamaica, Jan. 22. — (Reuters)— Prime Minister Churchill packed away his paint brushes and three completed canvases today, ready to leave his millionaire's playground where he has spent 12 days away from the world's troubles.

He will drive from the walled estate of "Prospect House" along the picturesque north coast road to Montego Bay to board a plane at 3 P. M. EST for the 6½-hour flight to New York, where the liner Queen Mary is ready to take him home.

Flags and streamers decorate villages along the 67-mile road from Ochorios to Montego Bay. Jamaicans will turn out to catch what may be their first and last glimpse of the 78-year-old Premier.

Only the weather conspired to spoil Churchill's vacation. Rain fell heavily for the first three days and there have been cloudy skies since—though they never kept Churchill from his daily dip from the palmed beach near the estate.

Special telephone and telegraph communications kept the Prime Minister in touch with his cabinet in London but he kept official work to a minimum.

He spent most of his time on the beach swimming and lazing in the sun or sat on the verandah at Prospect, paint brush in hand, relaxing over his favorite hobby.

Yesterday he drank rum punches with the four newspaper men covering his vacation here but made it clear he is not saying anything about his informal talks with President Eisenhower before he arrived in Jamaica.

The first news of what passed between the two world leaders expected to come from the floor of the House of Commons when Churchill gets back in harness.

The Prime Minister appeared in fine fettle and excellent health as he received the correspondents yesterday. He talked with them for more than 30 minutes.

They found out how he escaped sunburn. He wore a 10-gallon cowboy hat during the long hours he sat at his easel painting.

Italian Tanker Runs British Blockade, Heads For Home With Oil From Iran

Rome, Jan. 22—(AP)—The Italian tanker Mirella headed home through the Persian Gulf today with 5,000 tons of Iranian oil in a new try at running the British blockade on petroleum sales by Iran.

Successful completion of the voyage may bring a head-on collision in Italian courts with Britain's Anglo-Iranian Oil Company in a test case of the company's claim to Iran's petroleum riches.

It was the first challenge to the blockade since the tanker Rosemary was stopped at Aden, a British protectorate at the southern end of the Red sea, with 800 tons—$40,000 worth—of oil purchased from Iran's nationalized oil industry by Italian and Swiss firms.

Britain claims all the oil from the Abadan refinery is the property of AIOC, pending settlement of its deadlocked dispute with Iran's government over nationalization of the refinery and other of the company's vast holdings in Iran. A British court of Aden ruled Jan. 9 that the Rosemary's cargo belonged to AIOC but the ship's captain and the oil companies which chartered her plan an appeal.

Italian oil interests, which hush-hush reports say are backed by the giant Fiat automobile industry, believe they can win a test case in their own courts and then buy and sell all the Iranian oil they can haul.

The 7,000-ton Mirella loaded all the oil she could cary and sailed for home Tuesday night.

Oil shipping sources here scoffed at reports that the 40-year-old tanker might go around the Cape of Good Hope to avoid trouble with the British forces at the Suez canal.

One informant said it was ridiculous to support that British authorities would try to stop her there with an injunction.

"AIOC would stand less of a chance in Egyptian courts than in Italian—and even here we think we will win.

The Canal Zone is in Egyptian territory but Britain, which owns a controlling share of stock in the canal company, has troops stations in the zone.

London, Jan. 22—(Reuters)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden reported to the cabinet today on the latest position in the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute.

He discussed Monday's meeting in Tehran between Premier Mohammed Mossadegh and U.S. ambassador Loy Henderson on the plan for marketing Iranian oil through international oil companies.

The cabinet also studied reports received from Sir Ivone Kirkpatrick, British high commissioner in western Germany, dealing with documents seized last week when seven former Nazi leaders were arrested by the British military authorities.

Two Held For Montreal Man's Death

Montreal, Jan. 22— (CP) —Two men were held by police today for questioning in connection with the death of B. J. McAbbie, 59-year-old restaurant owner who died in hospital yesterday from the effects of a beating.

Three others—two men and a woman—are sought by a 20 man detective squad working round the clock to solve the case.

McAbbie, a big-game hunter and owner of the posh Montreal restaurant, Au Lutin Qui Bouffe, was gun-whipped in the foyer of his establishment in Montreal early today. He was beaten to force him to disclose the combination of the safe. The five escaped with an estimated $3,500 in cash and stripped rings worth several thousand dollars from the victim's fingers.

Wilfrid Bourdon, chief of detectives said:

"We now have two men in cells on suspicion of having taken part directly or not, in the brutal beating of Mr. McAbbie.

"We can reveal little else beyond saying 20 men are working day and night on this job. If things go right, we may get a quick break that will solve many other crimes in addition to this needless assault that took a man's life."

Police are believed to know the identity of the four men and woman who forced their way into McAbbie's restaurant.

McAbbie opened after hours when he received a telephone call which said a purse had been left inside.

A former big-game hunter, McAbbie admitted to police he was suspicious of the group but was confident of his ability to look after himself.

When picked up in the foyer immediately after the beating, he said:

"I was suspicious of these people, but I opened up anyway. I figured I could handle a lion I

Seek Curb On Obscene Literature

Ottawa, Jan. 22—(CP)—Members of all parties in the Commons said yesterday they "deplore" the growing volume of filthy literature circulating in Canada. They disagreed on how the problem should be fought.

The members voted 96 to 64 against a resolution by E. D. Fulton (PC—Kamloops) urging that a parliamentary committee be established to consider the problem and to recommend legislative or other means to deal with it.

All opposition groups and 11 back bench Liberals supported the resolution. Most Liberals voted against it after Justice Minister Garson said the way to stop the spread of obscene literature is by rigid enforcement of the law and not by further "fussing around".

Debate on Mr. Fulton's resolution occupied practically the whole of the half-day sitting. Today members will resume debate on the Currie report.

Mr. Fulton, a lawyer, sponsored a bill two years ago to ban the sale and distribution of crime comics. The measure was adopted by parliament after Mr. Fulton accepted amendments proposed by the government.

Now action is needed, he said, to weed out pornographic literature and "filthy trash" available on Canadian newsstands.

He emphasized he was not suggesting a form of censorship. If censorship was used it might create an evil worse than that which it sought to eliminate.

The present law, based on interpretation of the word "obscene", left judges in the role of censors, a job they were reluctant to accept.

East German Communists Reorganize

Berlin, Jan. 22—(AP)—The East German Christian Democratic party, fighting desperately for its life, ordered a complete purge of its entire membership today to weed out all but the stauchest pro-communists.

The central committee announced that new party books would be issued in exchange for old, a dodge that probably will cost many members their status.

The Socialist Unity (communist) party kicked 10 per cent of its lukewarm membership out two years ago through the expedient of new party books.

The CDU purge was undertaken to regain some prestige in the eyes of the Russians and the communist regime. The party sank to a low with the arrest of its deputy chairman, foreign minister George Dertinger, now branded as a spy for the west.

A resolution by the CDU leadership, headed by chairman Otto Nuschke, disclosed that the ranks are shot through with members who do not agree with all things communist or Soviet.

One of the tasks ahead is to weed these elements out, the resolution said.

Specific instructions were given the leadership, down into county level, to establish what amounts to a huge corps of spies for the Red regime.

"We must enlighten the membership to the great importance of the state security forces (secret police). The members are ordered to report all enemy activity by officials and members of our party, not only to the leadership but to the police," the resolution said.

As the Christian Democrats bent over backward to please their communist masters, the few remaining Jews in the Soviet zone were reported seeking ways of quitting the now avowedly anti-Semitic state. Twenty-six more Jews fled to west Berlin last night, bringing the total to 78 since Monday, and to 350 in the last several weeks.

Fourteen "people's policemen" also deserted to the west in the last 24 hours.

The inner rumblings of the east zone, have created an atomsphere in which few feel safe. Western observers, informed for some time that prime minister Otto Grotewohl, a renegade socialist, may be on the purge list, had additional reason to wonder about his status today.

Grotewohl was absent from the ceremonies observing the 29th anniversary of the death of Lenin yesterday. He was the only top man of the regime who stayed away.

London, Jan. 22—(AP)—Britons were told last night that white bread is coming back to them next fall for the first time in 14 years.

The food ministry said that after the next harvest the government will end price and rationing controls on grains and animal feed and turn the import of grains back to private traders.

It will retain controls over purchases in the dollar market to safeguard Britain's dollar exchange.

The government estimated it will save £10,000,000 by ending subsidies on flour.

Encroachment On Provincial Rights Scored By Duplessis

Quebec, Jan. 22 —(CP)— Union Nationale and Liberal members of the Leglislative Assembly engaged in a verbal battle over federal-provincial relations yesterday as they considered the proposed establishment of a royal commission into constitutional problems.

Premier Duplessis reiterated the Quebec government's view that the provinces have priority in the field of direct taxation and the charge that the federal government has "encroached" on provincial rights by taxing corporations, income and collecting succession duties.

Liberal house leader George Marler, although supporting the idea, said Mr. Duplessis' attitude in federal-provincial relations was "negative."

He said the government should have submitted its views on the constitution to the courts long ago.

The debate is scheduled to continue today on the principle of the bill which stems from a suggestion contained in a memorandum presented to the government by the Quebec province Chamber of Commerce and the Quebec Union of Municipalities.

The government bill does not say how many commissioners are to be appointed by the provincial cabinet. The commission will have until March next year to report its views after holding public sittings.

Solicitor-general Antoine Rivard and welfare minister Sauve also took part in the debate as did a half-dozen Liberal members.

Mr. Duplessis said the view that the Canadian constitution gave the federal government the right to tax in all fields is erroneous.

"If federal taxation powers are as broad as some would like us to believe it would mean the federal government could tax to the saturation point and ruin the provinces.

"This does not make sense and such views are an insult to the fathers of confederation since it implies they signed the pact in bad faith."

Mr. Duplessis said the province is expanding industrially and needs all the revenues it is entitled to collect under the constitution.

He said the federal authority collected 77 cents of every tax dollar and charged this was unfair to the provinces.

Mr. Duplessis indicated in his hour-long speech that the government would not consent to turn over to the federal authority the right to levy provincial corporation taxes and succession duties in return for a subsidy.

Mr. Marler said Quebec is losing out by not signing an agreement with the federal authority. Citing figures, Mr. Marler said Quebec has lost $58,000,000 so far and this year will lose from $15,000,000 to $25,000,000. In addition, he said, corporations in Quebec are paying heavier taxes than elsewhere in Canada.

Mr. Marler said the government's policy has placed the province in an inferior economic position.

Reds Are Ready If War Begins

Winnipeg, Jan. 22. — (CP) — Alderman H. B. Scott said last night that if war with Russia breaks out there are 10,000 organized communists in Red cells throughout Canada ready at a moment's notice to sabotage defence efforts from coast to coast . . . and Canada is not prepared to cope with them.

He said in an interview on his return from a 10-day civil defence course in Ottawa that this information was given to him by a "high government source."

"Meanwhile, our whole civil set-up is built entirely around the atomic bomb," he said. "We're not doing a thing to guard against sabotage."

His informant, Ald. Scott said, claimed Canada has not the facilities to cope with soboteurs on the scale indicated, and nothing is being done to provide those facilities.

"The RCMP knows most of the communists and their leaders," Ald. Scott said. "But our federal laws are so free and easy, the RCMP can't do a thing."

His informant claimed the RCMP couldn't handle the situation alone if war broke out.

Brig. Allard Will Become 25th Brigade's Next C.O.

Ottawa, Jan. 22.—(CP)—One of the best fighting soldiers Canada has produced was named today to be the third commander of Canada's 25th Brigade in Korea.

The army said Brig. Jean Victor Allard, a 39-year-old native of Nicolet, Que., who won the Distinguished Service Order three times in the Second World War, will take over the command in April "if operational conditions at that time are favorable to a change."

He will succeed Brig. M. P. (Pat) Bogert, DSO, OBE, 44, of Toronto, who succeeded the original commander, Brig. John Rockingham, CB, DSO, 43, of Vancouver, last spring.

The army said it has not yet been decided what post Brig. Bogert will take next. Brig. Allard has been vice-quartermaster-general at army headquarters for the last year. From November, 1945, to February, 1948, he was military attache in Moscow.

He is a stocky, blond soldier with a firm jaw and a reputation for running his battles well up front where the fighting goes on. He was only 30 when he won his first DSO around Ortona, Italy, in the wild fighting of December, 1943. He was a major then and acting commander of his beloved Royal 22nd Regiment, the celebrated Van Doos who now have a battalion in the brigade he will command in Korea.

He was wounded shortly after and on his return to action in January he was promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel and given command. Eight months later he won the first bar to the DSO for gallantry and leadership in the violent battles that followed the initial breakthrough of the Gothic line.

Early in 1945, at the age of 32, he was promoted to the rank of Brigadier and put in command of the 2nd Division's 6th Infantry Brigade. He won the DSO a third time for his direction of the brigade in the battle of Holland, particularly during the breakthrough to Gronigen.

After the war he was made a Commander of the Order of the British Empire for outstanding service, and he also wears the Netherlands 'Bronze Lion and the French Croix de Guerre and Legion d'Honneur.

Brig. Allard attended College St. Laurent in Montreal and later graduated from St. Jerome's College in Kitchener, Ont. In civil life in the 1930s he was secretary-treasurer of an insurance firm in Three Rivers, Que., and later went into the contracting business for himself in Shawinigan Falls.

In 1939, he volunteered for active service and was appointed in the rank of major to the Three Rivers Regiment, his reserve unit. In November, 1945, Brig. Allard was appointed Canadian military attache to Russia and served in Moscow until February, 1948, when he was appointed commander of Eastern Quebec area. He left this appointment in October, 1950, to attend the Imperial Defence College in the United Kingdom in 1951, and on his return was appointed vice-quartermaster-general.

He is married to the former Simone Piche, daughter of Dr. J. C. Piche, a former deputy minister of lands and forests in the Quebec government. They have three children, two daughters and a son.

Truman Ordered Ike's Son Home

San Francisco, Jan. 22 — (AP) — Who ordered Maj. John Eisenhower home from Korea to see his father inaugurated as President?

The Eisenhowers said they didn't know.

Today, the Chronicle's Washington correspondent reports:

Dwight D. Eisenhower learned the answer just before Tuesday's inauguration by asking President Truman:

"Sir, may I ask you a question: who ordered my boy home from Korea? He's been giving me hell about it."

"I did," Truman said. "Just tell him that contrary old man in the White House did it."

The major was given 15 days leave.

Montreal, Jan. 22—(CP)—A criminal court judge today authorized George S. Currie, Montreal accountant, to take out a warrant in connection with the alleged theft of an advance copy of his report to Defence Minister Claxton on army works services.

Eisenhower Is Preparing His Message To Congress

Washington, Jan. 22 — (AP) — President Eisenhower's administration quickened its pace today with eight cabinet members in office and the new chief executive pushing work on his "state-of-the-union" message to Congress.

The President will deliver it in person before the Senate and House of Representatives, possibly next week.

Aides said the address will set forth Eisenhower's legislative program in general terms, on both domestic and foreign issues.

Capping his first work day in the White House, Eisenhower looked on late yesterday as all but one of his nine choices for cabinet positions were sworn into office by Chief Justice Fred Vinson.

The ceremony took place shortly after the Senate confirmed the eight, and also Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, the new federal security administrator.

Defence secretary-designate Charles E. Wilson, Eisenhower's choice for the remaining cabinet post, wasn't on hand because of controversy over legality of his prospective appointment.

Wilson resigned as president of General Motors to take the job, but retained $2,500,000 worth of stock. Because of the stir that touched off in Congress, Eisenhower left Wilson off the list of cabinet nominees he sent to the Senate for confirmation shortly after he took office Tuesday.

James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary, declined to comment on reports that the President has decided to select someone else to head the defence department. Hagerty said earlier, however, that there was no change in Eisenhower's intention to press for approval of Wilson.

Eisenhower was reported eager to get his full cabinet on the job and about ready to disclose just what his course will be regarding the defence post.

Although he got only five hours of sleep before turning up at his desk at 8 A.M. yesterday, Eisenhower remarked near the end of the day that he wasn't tired.

"I feel fine", he told a reporter.

Independence, Mo., Jan. 22—(AP) — Harry S. Truman, welcomed home in roaring receptions that moved him to the verge of tears, began looking for work today lest idleness lead him into "devilment".

After nearly eight turbulent years and unprecedented responsibilities at a time of world crisis, he suddenly found himself with nothing to do but unpack and find a job.

Harry Truman, past President of the United States, is a restless man who has been working 17 hours a day at the White House in Washington, and he's already worrying how long he can "take it easy".

"It's not hard work that gets a man into trouble", he told reporters, "it's the lack of it. When a fellow has nothing to do he gets into devilment".

Offers of high paying jobs continued to pour in from all parts of the country, but he withheld any acceptances until he can find something to his liking and suitable to his talents.

He already has rented a private office in the federal reserve bank building in nearby Kansas city.

The former President and Mrs. Truman stepped from the Presidential private car last night to find a crowd estimated at 10,000 gathered around the little depot to give them an emotional greeting.

Truman choked up as he gazed at the assembled thousands, some Hollywood—Behind the Screen: It may set off more battles with bossman Hal Wallis, but Jerry Lewis is determined to stick to the Chaplinesque character that he tried for the first time in "The Stooge," best of all the Martin and Lewis comedies.

It will be a lovable, wistful Jerry, with a minimum of pratfalls, mugging and seltzer water from now on out, and he's saying:

"I can't argue with the public or Mr. Wallis that with a pie in the face you get laughs. But I say that you get as much laughter with pathos and heart. A dramatic actor can be so-so for 30 years. A comedian can't be so-so for 30 days.

"I'm thinking about the future. The public may take the pie in the face for two years. But they'll take a beloved schnook character for 30 years. True humor comes out of real situations. You can't force comedy."

Zany Jerry admits, "Maybe it's a losing battle I'm fighting. But I'm going to fight. It's just as funny to be the little schnook that everybody loves as a guy with water squirting out of his arms."

Being Star Is Easy

Marilyn Monroe started it and now Suzan Ball's caught the fever.

I mean the yen of Hollywood's super-sexy dolls to wax intellectual, buy Reinhardt notebooks at auctions, carry high-toned poetry under their arms and behave as though they had never heard of a girl named Lana Turner.

Suzan, who's being given the works by U-I as the brunette answer to Marilyn, confessed:

"I don't want to be sold as Miss Sex Appeal of 1953. I want to de velop something else. I want to last. I want to be a good actress. That requires at least 10 years of hard work and study.

"They can cut my gowns as low as they like, but I refuse to just be another movie star. It's easy to be a movie star. You just sit around with your chest out and smile."

Look who's hankering for fame in the saddle—gritty-voiced Aldo Ray, the former constable of Crockett, Calif., who hit pay dirt with Judy Holliday in "The Marrying Kind."

Aldo has his eye on Columbia's "Jubal Troop" and adds:

"I'm not what you call a rider's rider. But I used to ride the hoofs off the farmers' horses up at Crockett. I've been in sophisticated pictures up to now. There's a whole audience I haven't tapped."

Aldo's a gold prospector with lots of nuggets in "Let's Do It Again" with Jane Wyman and Ray Milland, and he's knocking on wood about his luck in not being pushed into romantic roles.

"This way you last a lot longer," he says. "The studio could so easily have schmoed things up by making me a lover."

Can't Stop Dancing

Colette Marchand, the French ooh-la-look who leaped from the Ballet de Paris into a dramatic role in "Moulin Rouge," will not be going on with her career as a dramatic dazzler.

She's been turning down studio offers with the explanation:

"I don' theenk I'll be able to geeve up dahncing, even eff I wan' to, I'm all tied up now becuzz I'm not dahncing. I can't stop eet—dahncing, I mean. My work ees ballet. People say now you be great ahctress. But, no. Maybe one more peecture with John 'Uston, who onderstan' me, maybe one peecture in wheech I can ahct and dahnce. My beeg love ees ballet."

Gorgeous Colette earned the nickname "Legs" when she tiured the U.S. with the Ballet de Paris but she protests:

"Eet moch embarass me— I 'ave two legs like every ozzer woman."

Dewey Martin, who hit stardom in "The Big Sky," has persuaded his boss, Howard Hawks, to let him shed the mystery cloak.

The 29-year-old newcomer played it the Marlon Brando-Montgomery Clift way for a time on the advice of Hawks, then decided that being a male Garbo wasn't getting him anywhere.

"I got letters after 'The Big Sky,' asking why all the mystery about me," Dewey explained. "Now I'm being permitted to have interviews and cooperate with the fan magazines. All I ask is that they don't photograph me in the kitchen with an apron tied around me. I'm not a domesticated person."

Dewey's next film: The Hemingway story, "The Sun Also Rises," to be shot in Spain.

Directors And Stars Of "The Mikado" Are Guests At Meeting Of Kiwanians

"Mikado Night" was observed last evening at the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Club, held in the New Sherbrooke Hotel.

"On stage" were the following members of the Sher-Lenn Operatic and Choral Society which, under Kiwanis sponsorship, is presenting that Gilbert and Sullivan operetta at the Lennoxville High School, February 11, 12 and 13.

Royce Gale, stage director, Ray Sissons, technnical director, Malcolm Brown, musical director, Miss Francoise Caron, who plays the part of Yum-Yum, and George Morgan, who will appear as Nanki-Poo, two of the lead roles.

They were seated at the head table with President Gilbert Rheaume and Past President Les Memory, chairman of the Kiwanis "Mikado" project.

The guests were introduced by Harry Blain.

Mr. Brown and Mr. Gale spoke briefly. Mr. Brown thanked the Kiwanians for sponsoring the Sher-Lenn Society in a Gilbert and Sullivan offering for a second year and he hoped that "The Mikado" would evoke from the cast "the finest performances of which we are capable." Last year the Kiwanians sponsored the Sher-Lenn choir in the highly successfull "Pirates of Penzance."

Mr. Gale praised the ability of the musical director, Mr. Brown, and said that in Mr. Sissons the Society had found the best stage man in Sherbrooke. He gave a few details about Sir Arthur Sullivan, composer, and William S. Gilbert, librettist.

Norm Farrell distributed tickets for the operetta to members who had not already received same for sale and Mr. Memory's request for members to act as coolies and in other "extra" parts was quickly filled.

Last night's attendance was an unusually large one, due, no doubt, to advance publicity informing that several of the singers would be present at the meeting. The directors and artists, unfortunately, had to leave early as Wednesday night is rehearsal night for them, as it has been for some fifty others of "The Mikado" cast for several months now, so there were no songs.

Owen McGlynn, traffic manager of the Bell Telephone in Sherbrooke, was inducted as a new member by Bill Charlebois. He was introduced by Mr. Farrell.

Dr. Cecil Delaney introduced one visitor, Harry Woolmer, of Montreal, who was the guest of George Loveland.

President Rheume read an inspiring message from International Kiwanis President W. J. L. Ray, in conjunction with the 38th birthday anniversary year of Kiwanis International.

Kiwanis now embraces 212,000 members in more than 3,000 clubs in Canada and the United States, all dedicated to service of their communities. A film, "Mr. Bell," of the telephone company, concluded the meeting.

W. S. RICHARDSON, general manager of Crown Laundry of Sherbrooke, Ltd., who was appointed a director of the Canadian Research Institute of Launderers and Dry Cleaners at a meeting held recently in Ottawa. Mr. Richardson will be going to Cleveland next month to address the American Institute of Laundering.

Encouraging Reports Are Given At Sangster Memorial Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of Sangster Memorial United Church was held Monday evening, with the minister, Rev. Roy P. Stafford, presiding. It was a well-attended meeting and reports showed that the state of the church is encouraging.

Rev. C. J. Gustafson of Magog was present as a visitor, representing the Presbytery's Home Mission committee.

The church treasurer, Douglas Galbraith, reported receipts by weekly envelopes for local church expenses were $2,084, and for the Missionary and Maintenance fund $152. Other receipts for local expenses were $1,183, making a total for local of $3,287.

After all expenses were met, a balance of $10 remains on hand.

The envelope steward, Leslie Pettigrue, reported that as a result of the every-family canvass 75 sets of duplex envelopes have been accepted for 1953.

The treasurer of the Trustee Board, W. N. Sjolander, reported receipts of $740; that annual interest totalling $470 on two mortgages was paid in full, as well as annual interest amounting to $158.

The treasurer of the Woman's Association, Mrs. Viola MacCoubrey, reported a membership of 39 and a total of $1,681 raised during the year. Among the disbursements was $475 to the Trustee Board, of which $275 was towards interest on mortgages and $200 was towards a payment on mortgage principle which the Trustees hope to make in December, 1953.

The W. A. financed the cost of beige drapes at the 14 windows of the Church hall, and also the cost of the paint for redecorating the hall last September.

The W. A. also made small contributions to the Red Cross, the Community Chest and the United Church National Training School campaign.

An encouraging report of the Young People's Choir was given by the director, E. Howland, who announced the preparation of a cantata for Easter.

Mrs. W. Mutchler, Jr., reported for the Church Union Group and stated that the constitution of this group had been amended to include Sangster Memorial Church.

The minister reported that the active, resident membership of the church stands now at 116, and the number of families at 90.

Elected as Stewards for three years were: F. Gelinas, R. Fraser, W. Mutchler, Jr., and W. Henderson.

Elected to the Session for one year was N. Cairns, and for three years were H. Martin, A. MacDonald and A. B. Shaughnessy.

Refreshments were served by the W. A.

Parsons Give Snowshoers Fine Evening

Last night was Parsons' Night at the Sherbrooke Snow Shoe Club when the local Protestant clergy entertained under the title of "Arthur's Artists."

The meeting was well attended and following supper and the business meeting President George Chapman called on the Rev. Arthur Ottiwell, president of the Sherbrooke Ministerial Association, to carry on.

Just at the outset of Mr. Ottiwell's remarks there was a loud bang and the lights went out. Suddenly a flashlight from the Red Party table lighted up the Red Party standard and then it flashed to the right of the speaker where Les Humphries dressed up as the devil appeared and for the remainder of the evening gave an excellent display with a prodding stick to the various artists.

Mr. Ottiwell then introduced the master of ceremonies for the evening in the person of the Rev. Roy Stafford, who produced and directed the entire show.

Marcel Marcotte, on the clarinet, and Jack Lenaghan at the piano, (two imports for the evening) were the first number on the program and were the only professional entertainers. They rendered two numbers and as an encore gave out with Jingle Bells.

The parsons then took over and rendered an entirely new song which was written and composed for the group by Mr. Stafford. The title of the ballad was "Throw Them Out the Window."

The Club was quite surprised with the next number as the Rev. T. D. F. Everett gave some inside information about the parsons.

An Oyster song by Canon Russel Brown scored a direct hit with the group following which the Rev. F. C. Amery rendered two solos which were enthusiastically received. Mr. Ottiwell added to the music by playing two numbers on the piano. Rev. Bob Tait, pinchhitting for Ed Shortt, ended the enjoyable program with a story.

President Chapman called on second vice-president, Jim Wark, to thank the Parsons for the very enjoyable program.

During the business meeting the Red Party gave a gift to past president J. R. Sangster which was carried over from Red Party Night. The president also announced that Bert Noble, Bert Woolgar and Les Humphries had arrived at the clubhouse in full costume and on snowshoes.

Guests of the club were Randolph Goyette, Bill Hall, Gordie Harman, Don Perry, John Martin, Bill Hume, Marcel Marcotte and Jack Lenaghan.

Those seated at the head table were president, Chapman, vice-president, Bert Noble, 2nd vice-president, Jim Wark, treasurer, Bud Mutchler, Rev. R. Tait, Canon Brown, Rev. T. D. F. Everett, Rev. A. Ottiwell, Marcel Marcotte, choirster Irvin Richards and the Rev. Roy Stafford.

Rev. E. C. Chartier, Vicar In Army And Parish Founder, Dies

Rev. E. C. Chartier, a life-long resident of Sherbrooke and a former Vicar General of the Army for the Province of Quebec, died suddenly yesterday at noon. He was in his 74th year.

At the time of his death he was retired and living at the Sacred Heart College here.

Funeral services will be held on Saturday morning at St. Therese D'Avila Church at 10 a.m. Father Chartier was the founder of the St. Therese D'Avila parish and a former pastor at the St. Therese D'Avila Church on King Street.

He was a former professor at St. Charles Seminary here, and a chaplain in the first world war.

At 65 he was retired from the Army and for the past few years had been retired from the ministry. He took a stroke at the Sacred Heart College yesterday morning and died about an hour after. The Sacred Heart College is the old Sherbrooke Hospital.

He is survived by one brother, Mgr. Emile Chartier, retired, and a former rector at the University of Montreal. He is now living in Sherbrooke.

The deceased was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Etienne Chartier, who predeceased him several years ago. Etienne Chartier worked at the local customs office and the local court house and had a lawyer's degree although he did not practice.

Some twenty-five years ago he founded the St. Therese D'Avila Parish. A new church was completed just recently for the parishioners and Father Chartier's funeral service will be held from there.

The remains are resting at Brien's Funeral Parlors. Father Chartier will be buried in the Cathedral Crypt.

It is expected that the local branch of the Canadian Legion will turn out en masse for the service.

While Vicar General for the Army, Province of Quebec, District 4, during the second world war, Father Chartier made a host of friends.

Specially Arranged Music For Our Lady's Tumbler

Eric Erwin, student organist at Bishop's University, has specially arranged several organ pieces and choral parts for background effects in Our Lady's Tumbler, the third of the three one act plays which are running tomorrow, Friday and Saturday at 8:15 p.m. in the Memorial Auditorium.

The effect is that of monastic chants to lend atmosphere to the specially constructed cathedral setting. The story is that of several monks, dressed authentically in robes lent by the Franciscan Novitiate, and their presents to Our Lady on occasion of her birthday. The tumbler, played by IVDL award winner Daid Concliffe, gives many contributions but fails because his life gives out.

Mr. Erwin started music when he was fourteen studying under an organist in St. Catherines, Ont., where he got most of his schooling. He came to Bishop's University in the Fall of 1950. He became assistant organist under Gordon Black. This year he is in charge of the music duties in the chapel.

Erwin's task needs timing and considerable forethought as the mood is set by the tone of the music which gives considerable impact to the climax of the play.

He directs a choir of thirteen men—six of whom are from the B.C. School, across the St. Francis River from the University. For them, he has composed four numbers and three solos. The single parts are being sung by Tim Morgan.

Mr. Morgan has sung a number of times in Sherbrooke. Last year he was a member of the chorus in the Sher-Lenn Choir's Pirates of Penzance. This year he has a role in the Mikado. He has made music his hobby for a number of years.

The special music is in the traditional strain and suggestive of monastic life. With the lighting, costumes and the music, the play will be a memorable one for audiences who have learnt to expect great things of the Dramatic Society.

The Salisbury Committee of the Festival of Britain conceived the idea of commissioning Ronald Duncan to write a verse play for the Festival. It was performed in Salisbury Cathedral on June 5, 1951. The result is a work written with wit and intense feeling.

Tickets are on sale at the door both for general admission and reserved seat sections. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. and latecomers will not be seated until after the first play is over. To get to the Auditorium on time, people are requested to take the 7.30 p.m. Lennoxville-King Laramee City Transit bus at King and Wellington. Arrangements are being made to have the bus go right up to the Auditorium.

The two other plays are of equal interest. The Dear Departed is comedy and The Cloak is a short, interesting modern mystery play with three characters, The Angel, Unborn Spirit and One Newly Dead, all women. They are played by Ann Dodds, Helen Fairburn and Lee Scowen.

The Dear Departed is an all Frosh play. Mrs. Slater, one of the wives, is played by Elizabeth Home. She portrays a vulgar, vigorous, plump woman who is prepared to do any amount of talking and nagging to get her way.

Ben can be described as a jolly little man, accustomed to be humorous, with a bright, chirpy voice. He is played by Jim Tribble. The little ten year old girl, Victoria Slater, is played by Pat Tector.

The play's action takes place in a small town on a Saturday afternoon. The situation presented is that of an old man supposed dead by those who know him. An atmosphere of elegant tawdriness has been achieved in the setting by flowery wallpaper and a fireplace that just does not suit the room. The furniture gives the same impression.

Pussy Willows, Crow Come With Mild Weather

Continuation of the mild spell that has lasted more than a week was the prediction from the weather bureau today and if this unseasonable weather continues, spring flowers may soon be peeping through the snow.

Already several reports of spring-like events have reached the Record.

Charles A. Peterson, who lives at 48 Church Street in Lennoxville, reported seeing a crow on Saturday.

Yesterday, Mrs. Maurice Roy of Rock Forest telephoned to say she had seen pussy willows outside her kitchen window.

HOW CUSTOMS CHANGE

How much Canadians have changed their ways in the recent past is revealed in detail by the new consumer price index, subject of the Bank of Montreal's latest Business Review. Departing from its usual analysis of the Canadian economic scene, the Bank report is devoted this month to an explanation of how the index was devised and what it does. The Bank emphasizes the importance of the index as a "trigger figure" which affects incomes and costs all over Canada, but states reassuringly that "it appears to be about the most painstaking and comprehensive indicator that could be devised."

The Bank comments that the cost of living index has been among the most frequent topics of conversation in recent years. Nor is this interest casual, since a sample of collective bargaining agreements signed in the first eight months of 1951 showed that something like 40 per cent of union workers were protected by "escalator" clauses which made mandatory a change in wages with each specified change in the index. Moreover, many employers are greatly influenced by the movement of the index in considering general revisions of pay rates. Despite the familiarity and importance of the cost of living index, it was among the "least understood and most misunderstood" of the figures produced by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, the Review maintains. The appearance in the last four months of the new consumer price index has provoked added interest, and the discontinuance of the old index in the near future is necessitating the renegotiation of many labour contracts.

As its new name implies, the index is intended to reflect "only the influence of price changes upon the cost of the typical purchases of a representative cross-section of Canadian consumers," the review states. During four years of preparatory work in the "most thorough-going" revision of an index of Canadian retail prices over undertaken, the Bureau consulted business, union, welfare and consumer groups, and made a detailed study of the year-round purchases of 3,600 Canadian households. Next, a "target group" of 1,517 families was selected, ranging in size from two adults to two adults with four children, with annual incomes ranging from $1,650 to $4,050 in the year ended August 1948, and living in 27 Canadian cities of over 30,000 population. The detailed expenditures over a year of this "target group" were then analysed to determine what items should be included in the new index. While most of the commodities and services bought in 1948 were found to be the same as in 1938, the previous survey year, over 30 items included in the old cost of living index had receded to negligible importance and were dropped, while nearly 100 new items were added.

"These deletions and additions provide . . . an interesting commentary on the changes that have taken place in the Canadian way of life in the short space of a decade," the Bank states. "The modern family eats proportionately more pork and less beef, and more fresh fruits, vegetables and fruit juices than ten years earlier." Nylons have replaced rayon or woollen stockings, and pyjamas have supplanted the cotton nightgown. And, in the home, fuel oil has gone a long way toward replacing coal and coke for heating. The costs of soft drinks, beer, liquor and of home ownership, as distinct from renting, have been included for the first time.

After examining the enormous task of keeping the new index up to date, the "weighting" of different purchases, and the reasons for the choice of 1949 as the new base year, the B of M review concludes by emphasizing the importance of "bearing in mind what it is and what it is not." It is not intended to apply to farm households, for which a separate index is compiled, nor to single persons or families larger than six, nor to families in the very low or very high income brackets. But it does apply, and apparently with a high degree of validity, "to the average sized, city-dwelling family of moderate means to which so many Canadians belong. . . ."

HOLD YOUR HAT, SIR

The year 1953 can already be put down safely as a milestone in history books. It is the year in which the two-platoon system was abolished in football and the top hat vanished from the U.S. presidential inaugural scene.

We shall have to leave to the social historians of this age the matter of whether these two developments represent progress or backsliding.

Big-time football coaches say the two-platoon plan was good, that it gave more boys a chance to play, assured viewers a more skillful exhibition by specialists, and reduced the prospect of injuries.

Opponents say the system cost too much and hence was driving football out of many small colleges. They argue, too, that it was turning the game into an endless on-and-off procession of faceless men, robbing it of all individuality. Well, take your pick.

As for this top hat business, President Eisenhower is the man who shattered tradition. He figured he'd done a lot of things he had no special liking for since he became a candidate for President, and he had a right to draw the line somewhere. He drew it at the top hat, which he seemed to feel was completely out of character for him.

Presumably this switch ot a black Homburg, a sort of dropping down from upper to lower case in hats, can be justified by Ike not only on personal counts but on grounds of promoting greater simplicity and less stiff-backed formality in American public ceremony.

But, if this is not to seem like backsliding, one word of warning to the President: Your hats have a tendency, sir, to develop a floppy look, as if they had just been pulled from beneath a pile of 30 or 40 at a men's club. Should the Homburgs begin to show the same failing, we could have a popular revulsion and a return to the topper. Mr. Truman's caps represent just about all the casualness we can take in one political generation.

TRUMAN BOWED OUT CONFIDENT THAT HIS RECORD WAS GOOD

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — The little man from Missouri bowed out with a smile on his face, his chin up and his chest out.

No matter what others may have thought, the white-haired little man in the glasses himself thought he had done good.

The manner in which he bowed out — at his final press conference, in his fireside chat — was far different from the exits of other Presidents.

Perhaps only Calvin Coolidge quit the White House with a feeling of greater self-satisfaction.

This is the end of an era. It will talk years to get the proper perspective on whether it was good, bad or indifferent. The odor of mink coats, home freezers, Korean battlefields and unbalanced budgets is still too strong to make possible the detection of any garlands of laurels on the departing President's brow.

A White House staff report on Harry Truman's record is worth reviewing now for two reasons. It shows the Republicans what they are going to have to repeal if they carry out Sen. Robert A. Taft's promise to put the country back on the road it abandoned 20 years ago. And it shows the things Harry Truman tried to do and failed to do. His record will be judged as much by failures as success.

Congress Rejected Five Points

In September, 1945, Mr. Truman announced his 21-point program. It was a strange mixture of big and little things. The final score was 16 recommendations approved by Congress, in whole or in part, and five rejected.

Among the major successes were: Increasing the minimum wage, passage of a full-employment law, reorganization of government, extension of federal aid to farmers, strengthening of veterans' benefits, raising of government pay.

Federal housing, the stockpiling program, aid to small business, and increased public works were approved, but on a more limited scale than Mr. Truman recommended.

He was defeated completely on his efforts to revise the unemployment insurance laws, enact a permanent FEPC, continue federal employment service and raise taxes. The Taft-Hartley labor law was passed over his veto.

A box score on Mr. Truman's second term shows 99 of his major recommendations to Congress were approved, while 44 were not.

The foreign-policy measures loom large on this list: North Atlantic Treaty, Marshall Plan, Point Four aid to Korea, Yugoslavia, Palestine, the Truman Doctrine for aid to Greece and Turkey, peace with Japan, end of the state of war with Germany. The recommendations on liberalizing immigration laws, trade policies and customs regulations were rejected.

Much Has Been Left Unfinished

Highlights of the Truman military program included unification of the armed services, extension of Selective Service, raising of military pay.

The military establishment was first cut down, then expanded tremendously. Mr. Truman's effort to get universal military training failed.

In the business field, the Truman record shows an amazing potpourri of credits and debits. The defense production program was begun, but the question of economic controls was given a kicking around. Postal rates were increased but not enough to meet postal expenses. Airline subsidies were not separated from airmail pay.

In agriculture, the flexible price support program of the 80th Congress was suspended and 90 per cent of parity established as the support level for two years more. The so-called Brannan Plan to provide supports for perishables never got out of the ground.

Social Security benefits were increased, though not as much as Mr. Truman wanted. His health plan and federal-aid-to-education plan were rejected.

Federal aid to highways and public works in general were eagerly approved by Congress. But the St. Lawrence Seaway, the Missouri and Columbia River valley plans died a-borning.

Mr. Truman made one of his greatest political pitches as a champion of civil rights. But there the record of his administration is perhaps weakest of all. He can boast of a new constitution for Puerto Rico and an organizing act for Guam. That is all.

On reorganization of government, 30 of his plans were approved and 11 rejected. That leaves much to be done here.

And so goodby.

Letters To The Editor

BOOST FOR FARMERS

The Editor,
Sherbrooke Record,
Sherbrooke, Que.

Dear Sir: I would like to congratulate you on the few lines you published Saturday regarding the work the farmers accomplished in the past few years. I am very glad you have made distinctions between a farmer and grain grower. In all too many articles on farming, particularly those dealing with profit, it is not stated that the profit is made from grain. To me it is more a class of mining, more or less a 6 or 8 months business, though this is not accomplished either on an 8 hour day or 40 hour week.

As an example of what farmers in this area are up against I produced 12 per cent more milk in 1952 than 1951, about 13,000 pounds more, and as a result of the falling market I received $100 more; this was gross income and you cannot do that every year.

New equipment and new methods have reduced the labor required to operate a farm but the rising prices for things you must buy have not been offset by a rise in farm products.

A great many people are at odds with Mr. Duplessis and his stand on milk substitutes. I believe if margarine were allowed to displace butter fat there would be a great deal of hardship in this province. There are still a great many out-lying communities where small farmers can only sell their milk to a butter factory. This in turn gives them a small return and enables them to raise a few pigs. Were it not for the butter factory they would have no pigs and no meat. You just cannot raise cows to keep a few pigs going.

I would also like to point out that Mr. Duplessis is not alone in his stand. One other province which is largely a rural population like our own still finds it a good policy to stick to butter. In spite of an advance in price I do not believe that butter, eggs and other farm products have advanced as much as clothing and other household articles, let alone the price of a car, tractor or other farm implements which have more than doubled in price.

The annual merry-go-round in the labor field has got to come to a stop before long or everything will stop. You just cannot stop the cost of living from rising by increasing wages. It is interesting to note that some contracts tied to the cost of living are being questioned already.

I firmly believe as you have suggested, that the whole question must be based on production and an honest day's work. If a man can produce the same goods in 40 hours as in 48 at the same wages, all well and good, if not the cost of goods must go up which may quite well make the difference in not selling the product. This in turn will soon back up on labor and there will just be NO WORK.

Yours truly,
K. B. Jenckes,
Johnville.

50 Years A Cartoonist, Winnipeg's Archie Dale Plies Keen, Facile Pen

Winnipeg.— (CP)—Cartoonist Archibald Dale is known around the Winnipeg Free Press as "the indestructible man," a title gained by outlasting almost all the characters which have sprung from his acrid pen and drawing board.

Now 70, he gives no indication of ever quitting the Canadian political scene from which most of his themes are taken. For more than 50 years, government officials, their foibles and policies have been the subjects of his lampooning. He signs Arch and is called Archie.

Some older Canadians will remember his work from their childhood, especially Doc Sawbones, Old Man Grouch and other immortals of the Doo Dads who first appeared in the old Grain Growers' Guide.

Most of his cartoons, conceived in an atmosphere of cigaret smoke and sharp Scottish wit, have centred on western Canada.

A short thick man with spectacles and green eyeshade, he started his cartooning at 17 on the Courier of Dundee, his birthplace in Scotland. In 1908, after a spell on a Glasgow paper, he left for Canada and a homestead in the Touchwood Hills of Saskatchewan.

Hands blistered by the plow handle changed his mind about homesteading. He came to Winnipeg and worked two years on the Grain Growers' Guide, then moved to the Free Press.

A windfall from the real estate boom of 1910 provided a trip home where he worked for the Manchester Guardian. At the end of the first world war he left for the United States and put his Doo Dads into a syndicated strip. After five years he returned to Winnipeg and moved his drawing board into the Free Press. He has been there ever since.

Of all the political figures to appear in Archie's cartoons, he liked best to draw the late R. B. Bennett. Another favorite was Mackenzie King.

Agriculture Minister James Gardiner still is one of the most caricatured figures in the Free Press editorial page. But Archie has never forgiven the person who "did him in" on one Gardiner cartoon.

Archie showed Mr. Gardiner in the cartoon standing on his head when all around him was right side up. Through some quirk, the cartoon got in the paper upside down, indicating that Mr. Gardiner was right, and everyone else wrong.

Despite an occasional ferocity in his cartoons, Archie is a peaceful man. It always surprises him when someone reacts violently and starts calling him names over the telephone. So far he hasn't been harmed physically but he's had some close calls.

Long experience has given him an effective technique for dealing with callers. As soon as the caller—who usually refuses to leave a name—stops for breath, Archie reminds him at least he had the courage to put his name on his cartoon.

Then he hangs up, rolls a cigaret and goes back to the drawing board.

Jacoby On Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY

SPEED IS NEEDED AT BRIDGE TOURNEY

My friend, Sam Stayman, is coming all the way from New York to play with me this week-end in a tournament in Dallas. I prefer to believe that it is a sheer coincidence that he has some important business to transact in Dallas this week-end.

Most bridge players make some plays, quickly and other plays slowly, depending on how long it takes them to think and plan the move. Stayman makes every play with exactly the same speed so that it is very difficult to guess his reason for a move.

In the hand shown today, Stayman found himself in a reasonable enough contract of six hearts. The contract depended, at worst, on a successful finesse for the king of diamonds. Many players would think of no other chance for the slam, but Sam never neglects a resource, no matter how unlikely it may seem.

After winning the first trick with the king of clubs, Stayman drew two rounds of trumps and then led the ten of spades from his hand. West had to decide in a split second whether or not to play his ace.

If West had been able to take his time over this problem, he might have seen that the correct play is to put up the ace of spades at once. But a defender must make this kind of decision without seeming to think about it. The slighest thought automatically shows the location of the ace.

As it happened, West made the wrong decision, playing a low spade. This was the chance that Stayman had been hoping for. He put up dummy's king of spades, winning the trick. Now, with no losing trick in spades, declarer could afford to lose the diamond finesse and still make his slam contract.

It's Your Deal...

VARY YOUR STYLE IN GIN RUMMY

By Oswald Jacoby and Alfred Sheinwold

A good gin player must vary his style from hand to hand during a single game against the very same opponent. If you have 10 particular cards at the beginning of a game, you may play them one way; but if you get those same 10 cards later in the game, you may handle them quite differently.

For example, at the beginning of a game, you must adopt a temperate course when you are dealt groups of high cards. You can afford to hold them for a few plays on the chance that they will develop into melds. If no improvement can be seen after a few plays, you must begin to discard the high cards in the safest possible order.

The situation is quite different if you lead by a very substantial score. For example, suppose you have 90 points to your opponent's 25 points. You can afford to lose a small hand, but you don't want to lose a big hand and then find that your opponent has pulled up on even terms with you.

In such a situation, you break up high card combinations at the earliest possible moment. You don't hold them for improvement; you just hold them until it seems reasonably safe to throw them. The next hand you pick up may be better and safer.

The opposite is true when you are trailing. For example, suppose you are behind with a score of 25 points to your opponent's 90 points. You can't afford to lose any hand at all, large or small.

Hence you are just as well off with high cards as with low cards—except for the natural fact that you'd hate to get stuck with several high cards if your opponent happened to go down at a very early stage of the play.

In fact, you are slightly better off with high cards in this situation because your opponent will tend to throw his high cards early. You may be able to get fast melds with the help of his discards.

This sort of tightrope-walking can be carried too far, of course. You may win one or two small scores and then get caught with a real packet. Avoid excesses, but tend to try for low cards when you are ahead substantially on the score and for high cards when you are substantially behind.

SHORT STORY

Cause For Murder

By Richard H. Wilkinson

3-Minute Fiction

Andrew Randall's death was, obviously, suicide. Capt. Van Ness of the homicide squad went down to investigate, though he admitted the investigation was merely in the line of routine duty. I went with him.

"You can't make a murder out of this one," I grumbled. "Come on home. We're wasting each other's time."

"Keep your shirt on, scribe. Let's look around the joint. I've always wanted to see what a millionaire's home looked like."

"You're still wasting time. Randall was just $999,999 short of being a millionaire."

This was true. Once a prominent member of the upper brackets, Andrew Randall's fortune had depleted steadily for the past dozen years. Even the house was mortgaged.

I stared blankly. "That wasn't a murder. It was a suicide. What do you mean you've got the killer?

"Who's going to inherit this bunch of debts?" I asked Van.

"As far as I can figure there's only one living relative. A youngster named Barry Roister. A nephew by marriage. He lives in Michigan.

"Ah!" I cried brightly. "A murder prospect! Now what could the motive be?"

Van grinned again.

The drawing room of the old house contained three fairly good oil paintings. There were some silver and a few antique pieces and a car in the garage. Otherwise, young Mr. Barry Roister of Michigan was going to find it hardly worth his while to make the trip to New York to collect his inheritance.

Outside, Van sighed deeply. "What a pity! There was a chance for a swell murder case and it turns out to be nothing but an ordinary suicide."

Lord, it's getting so a man can't honestly kill himself these days without some inquisitive copper trying to dramatize it."

I was sent up to Provincetown and then down to Miami to cover the air races. So it was more than two weeks before I returned to New York. The day after my arrival I dropped in on Van.

He looked brighter and satisfied.

"About the Randall murder," he said. "We've got the killer!"

I stared blankly. Then suddenly I remembered. "That wasn't a murder. It was a suicide. What do you mean you've got the killer?"

"Barry Roister from Michigan. Remember? The nephew by marriage. He did it."

"Now look, Van," I said. "Stop talking in bunches. Why would Barry Roister want to kill penniless old Andy Randall?

"Because of the paintings. You remember those three paintings we saw in the drawing room?"

"I remember that they weren't anything to kill an old man over."

"Ha!" said Van. "You newspaper men! Never get behind the news. Too superficial. I suppose you never heard of Caleb Trask?"

"No, I never heard of Caleb Trask."

"Well, he's an artist. Pretty good too. He painted those oils. They sold for about $50 each. Then Caleb died. So what always happens when a fairly good artist dies? The price of his paintings hits the sky. So Caleb Trask lived in Michigan and Roister, being an art connoisseur and knowing that his distant uncle owned the paintings, began to think.

"Ah!"

"Ah! is right. To Roister it looked like a set-up. Uncle Andy had every reason to committ suicide, and who would ever suspct a distant nephew living in Michigan who would only inherit a bunch of debts?

"So Roister made a quick and murderous trip to Uncle Andy's and then returned to Michigan. And when he was advised he had inherited a lot of debts he came back and gave his uncle a decent burial and took the paintings and left everything else for the debts. And a week and a half later I read in the papers where the Trask oils had sold for $50,000 each." Van sighed and grinned. "What a pity you newspaper men don't try to get behind the news."

"What a pity," I snapped, "that you had to read in the newspapers about the paintings being sold."

THE FAIR IN OLDEN TIMES

"Hi-ho, come to the Fair" had a very special lure for lawbreakers in the early days. While the rules at the fair were very strict, it was tradition that no one could be arrested for a crime he had committel elsewhere. The Irish carried this idea one step further.

During the great Carman fair held every third August, all personal possessions held for debt had to be returned to the owners, and between the clans of Ireland and Scotland temporarily were forgotten.

"I appreciate this reception", he told them. "It's magnificent. There's not any more I can say except that we are back home for good".

Another throng of 1,500 waited in the street when the Trumans drove up to their big, white frame home and there were more cheers.

Thre had been receptions all along the route of the train trip from Washington where he saw Dwight D. Eisenhower inaugurated at noon Tuesday and all of them had their effect on the 68-year-old Missourian.

Mr. Fulton said penalties for corrupting morals through obscene literature should be heavier than the present two-year maximum and should be most severe against those printing and publishing such literature.

Mr. Garson said the enforcement authorities have not seen fit to use the law to its full extent.

Enforcement of the law and not censorship was the way to cure the problem.

"The thing that we should do now is to bring the pressure of public opinion to bear in favor of its being enforced".

Dr. Pierre Gauthier (L—Portneuf) said he would favor a board of "conscientious" censors to help combat the spread of immoral literature.

Conviction Is Appealed

Montreal, Jan. 22.—(CP)—A 38-year-old mother from Sherbrooke, Que., appealed conviction and a two-year penitentiary sentence on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of her two children.

Mrs. Irenee Rousseau said she was forced to appear in court and plead to the charge just two days after she had undergone a serious operation and was still under the influence of drugs.

She pleaded guilty to the charge in Sherbrooke December last and was sentenced by Judge J. C. Samson to two years in penitentiary and a fine of $500 or two additional years. The woman said she is without funds and will have to serve the four years.

Counsel for Mrs. Rousseau said she had been originally brought before the Social Welfare Court on the charge and sentence had been suspended providing she fulfill certain obligations.

He said the woman was assaulted by her husband Dec 12 and suffered a broken nose and other injuries which required hospital treatment. Five days later she underwent an operation and two days later was arrested and brought before the Social Welfare Court for violating provisions of her parole, and was subsequently convicted and sentenced.

OBITUARIES

MR. WALTER NUGENT, OF MAPLE GROVE

Maple Grove, Jan. 22. — The community was shocked and saddened when it was known that Mr. Walter Nugent had passed away very suddenly at his home during the night of December 21.

Mr. Nugent was born in Maple Grove, Megantic County on August 1, 1889, the eldest son of Richard Nugent and his wife, Elizabeth Gill. He had lived all his life on his father's farm here, with the exception of six years spent in Black Lake and Groveton, N. H. His mother resided with him until the time of her death five years ago.

He is survived by his two sisters and three brothers, Martha, Mrs. Swift, of Groveton, N.H.; Effie, Mrs. Harold Symonds, of Brunswick, Me.; John, of Detroit, Mich.; Elmer, of Groveton, N.H.; and Reuben, of Toronto, Ont. Also surviving him are one brother-in-law, Harold Symonds, and three sisters-in-law, Mrs. John Nugent, Mrs. Elmer Nugent and Mrs. Reuben Nugent, and many nieces, nephews, cousins and a large circle of friends.

Prayers were held at Lavalliere's Funeral Home in Thetford Mines, conducted by the Rev. M. H. W. Seeley prior to services held in Holy Trinity Church, Maple Grove, conducted by the Rev. A. V. McLaren, who spoke comforting words to the sorrowing sisters and brothers of the deceased.

The hymns sung were both favorites of the deceased, "Rock of Ages" and "Safe In The Arms of Jesus."

The pall-bearers, all cousins of the deceased, were: Messrs. Geo. and Grant Nugent, of Sawyerville, Mr. Norman Gill, of Birchton, Messrs. Jasper Dinning, Albert Nugent and Faulconer Gill, of Maple Grove. Interment took place in the family lot beside his mother and father in Maple Grove Cemetery.

Among those present from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Nugent and two children, Rodney and Helen, of Toronto, Ont.; Mrs. Martha Swift, Mrs. Janie Rowden, and Mr. Elmer Nugent, of Groveton, N.H.; Messrs. George and Grant Nugent, of Sawyerville; Mr. Norman Gill, of Birchton, and Mr. Curtis Bennett, of Lower Ireland.

AUSTIN TENNYSON WILKIE OF MELBOURNE, FORMERLY OF ST. CYR

Melbourne, Jan. 22. — There passed away suddenly on Sunday morning, December 7, 1952, Austin T. Wilkie, in his 69th year. Mr. Wilkie had suffered from a heart ailment for several years, but his death came as a surprise to all.

Born at the Pinnacle, in Danville, on April 23, 1884, he was the youngest son of the late Chester M. Wilkie and Eliza E. Taylor and spent his early life there.

In 1913 he bought a farm at St. Cyr, and on July 1, 1914, he was united in marriage to Isobel Clark Lockwood, of Danville, and they resided at St. Cyr some twenty-four years until ill health forced him to give up general farming and he bought a small farm in Kirkdale, near Melbourne, where he resided at the time of his death.

The funeral was held at Chalmer's United Church, in Richmond, on Tuesday afternoon, December 9, where his pastor, Rev. J. Leslie Dean, spoke comforting words from the Gospel of St. John, Chapter V: 24, and the choir sang two favourite hymns, "What A Friend We Have In Jesus" and "Nearer My God to Thee".

The bearers were old friends and neighbours, Messrs. John E. Smith, of Richmond; George Fredricks, of Asbestos; William H. Gee and Frank Smith, of Melbourne; and Gordon and Carl Findley, of St. Felix-de-Kingsey, nephews.

Following the funeral service the cortege proceeded to Danville, where interment was in the family lot.

Mrs. Lewis Allen Heads Lennoxville Wing, S. H. L. A.

Mrs. Lewis Allen was elected president of the Lennoxville Wing, Sherbrooke Hospital Ladies Auxiliary, at the annual meeting held at the home of Mrs. E. N. Fidler, Wilson Street, Lennoxville, on Wednesday, January 14, at 8 p.m. The good attendance was increased by several new members, who were welcomed by the president, Mrs. A. Farnham.

The president opened the meeting by leading in the Lord's Prayer, recited in unison, following which reports of last year's work were submitted.

The annual report of the secretary covered the many activities of the Wing, among which were a very successful bridge in the early spring; a garden party during the summer months and food sales last autumn.

The treasurer's report showed a substantial amount of money raised during the year. The main items of expenditures were a cheque to the Sherbrooke Hospital Ladies Auxiliary; a three-year bursary to assist a graduate of the Lennoxville High School who desired to become a nurse-in-training at the Sherbrooke Hospital; and the purchase of an electric bone sawing machine for use in the operating room. The annual reports of the chairmen of committees were heard with interest.

The president thanked her executive and members for their co-operation given her during her term of office and asked for continued support for the new president. Mrs. Farnham then called on Mrs. R. S. Pearson, chairman of the nominating committee for her report. Mrs. Pearson placed the following slate of officers before the meeting: president, Mrs. Lewis Allen; first vice-president, Mrs. Ronald Mooney; second vice-president, Mrs. G. D. McManamy; recording secretary, Mrs. Eric Lennon; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. Doak; treasurer, Mrs. C. L. Norwood.

The slate was adopted and the new president, Mrs. Allen, took the chair and thanked the ladies for their confidence placed in her. At the short business meeting which followed it was decided that a bridge should be held on February 3, at 8 p.m. in St. George's Church Hall.

The hostess for February will be Mrs. J. R. Mooney, 62 Warren Street.

At the close of the meeting, tea was served by the hostess, Mrs. E. N. Fidler.

Coaticook Court Number 15, Canadian Order Of Foresters, Installs Officers

Coaticook, Jan. 22. — The Coaticook Court No. 15, of the Canadian Order of Foresters, met at their assembly room in the Legion Home building on Monday evening and installed the officers-elect for the ensuing year.

Mr. Arthur Chamberlain was the installing officer. A good attendance of members was recorded.

The various officers are as follows: Chief Ranger, Angus Patterson; vice-chief Ranger, Louis Houle; financial secretary, William Wallace; recording secretary, Len Perkins; treasurer, Joseph Cloutier; chaplain, Sydney White; Senior Beetle, Aldeï Ouellette; Junior Beetle, Gordon Patterson.

The Junior Past Chief Ranger, James Smith, before handing over the gavel to the Chief Ranger-elect, thanked his fellow officers for their support during his term of office and expressed the wish for a very successful year for the new leaders.

He stated that the organization is steadily growing in membership and now has over sixty on the roll, with further applications expected shortly. The group had been handicapped for a time by the lack of a suitable meeting hall, but since acquiring comfortable quarters in the rooms over the Legion Home they are now in a position to accept more members and carry on their ritual work in privacy.

The lodge recently had a very enjoyable social evening as they gathered at the home of Homer Wright with members of the Dixville Court No. 1702 and the Ladies' Court, and held a Christmas party. There were about sixty-five present. They first enjoyed a tasty oyster and chicken pie supper and later joined in a social hour and each received gifts which had been placed on the prettily decorated tree.

The children of the members were not forgotten either and each one present was given a well filled Christmas stocking containing candy and surprises.

LIONS CLUB

The members of the Coaticook Lions Club met on Monday evening at the Coaticook House for their regular business meeting.

President Alex Gill was in charge and several important items of business were transacted. All those who enjoyed the recent social evening put on by the club, as well as those who may have been unable to attend last time, will be pleased to learn that another similar event is being planned for the very near future. Watch for posters giving the time, date and place. The men are also planning a gala Valentine dance which promises to be a memorable occasion.

At the forthcoming supper meeting the annual campaign sponsored by the club in aid of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind will be officially opened and Neil Tracey, of Sherbrooke, will be present to represent the Institute and L. McClintock, district representative, will be guest speaker. Leslie Baskerville and Roger Bouchard are in charge of the details of the Coaticook campaign.

Barbara Brent's BUYS AND WHYS
A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, January 22nd — I'm on intimate terms with a very famous family . . . in fact, we spend a lot of time together in my kitchen. That's Heinz' family of Tomato Products — Cream of Tomato Soup; Tomato Juice; Tomato Ketchup and HEINZ CHILI SAUCE. Ever tasted Heinz Chili Sauce? Just try it some time soon with steaks, chops, stews or leftovers and see how good everything tastes. And no wonder! For Heinz Chili Sauce is made of rosy-red "Aristocrat" tomatoes—spiced and seasoned to perfection by Heinz' experienced chefs. Ask your grocer for Heinz Chili Sauce tomorrow . . . your family will love the spicy, old-fashioned flavour of this thick, full-bodied sauce.

Bringing Up Baby is one of the most fascinating jobs in the world . . . and certainly one of the most important. It's a real thrill to watch baby grow healthy and strong—and he does it with enthusiasm when you make 5 Minute "CREAM OF WHEAT" an important part of his diet. Um-hmm—babies love it—and it loves babies! You see, it's brimful of lots of good things babies need to keep going—and growing! It provides Iron for good red blood, and Calcium and Phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements. And, mothers!—5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" is so quick and simple to prepare. Just five minutes of boiling and it's cooked to baby-ready digestibility . . . sm-o-o-th and tempting!

Their Good Taste speaks for itself. It tells you—deliciously — that Heinz Condensed Soups are the pick of the lot. And hundreds of people, in dozens of recent taste tests, have tasted and agreed. Yes, the whole family of Heinz Soups rated top marks with dieticians; young folks; men factory workers and housewives. And I'm willing to bet my new Spring bonnet that a taste-test in your own home will result in a similar verdict. Simply heat a tin of, say HEINZ CONDENSED VEGETABLE SOUP (a delicious choice!)—and a tin of any other brand. Serve half-helpings of each. Then take a vote. Bet it will be Heinz, 2 to 1!

Now I'm Happy! Dishes done in a jiffy with those grand new chemical soaps . . . and hands soft and smooth, too. JERGENS LOTION does the trick. It smooths and soothes hands roughened and dried by these new soaps. Because it's liquid, it quickly penetrates to supply the softening moisture that dry, thirsty skin needs. Keep a bottle of Jergens Lotion handy in both kitchen and bathroom. Make a hand-care habit of it—to keep your hands always soft, smooth and lovely, with that cared-for look that only Jergens can give them. Remember Jergens Lotion . . . because you care for your hands. It's not expensive—just 15c, 37c, 65c and $1.35.

Is This Your Experience, Too? I find that putting money away, hard as it is, is not the most difficult thing about saving. The tough part is leaving it alone afterwards! It's so easy to dip into your savings when you want that new dress very badly. And then where are you? You're faced with the problem of replacing those savings! And, if you're like me, you'll find that hard to do. But Personal Planning (that's the Bank of Montreal's system of family-financing) has shown me not only how to build up my savings but how to keep them intact once I have them. You see, Personal Planning convinced me that it's very often better money-management to borrow against my savings than to spend them! Then, when I've paid off my B of M Personal Loan, I'll still have my savings nest-egg. Why not look into the question of a low-cost B of M Loan next time you feel like digging down elbow-deep into your savings? Three Families Left Homeless When Fire Destroyed Drummondville House

Drummondville, Jan. 22. — The three-story dwelling situated at St. Pierre, the property of Mr. Arthur Champagne, of 510, Chasse Street, Drummondville, was completely destroyed by a spectacular fire last Saturday evening, leaving five families homeless.

The Drummondville fire brigade under the direction of Chief Maurice Vincent was quickly on the scene, making a gallant attempt in sub-zero weather to salvage some of the furnishings. Their heroic efforts were all in vain, with ground ladders, hoses and fire fighting equipment becoming enveloped by a coating of ice, thus reducing water pressure to a minimum.

Fireman Philippe Robillard was slightly injured by the fall of burning debris, but all families were evacuated to safety and taken in by adjoining neighbours until suitable arrangements could be made to house the homeless. Cause of the fire has not yet been determined, but estimates of damage are very high.

The five families left homeless by the blaze are: Messrs. Bernard Heroux, Anthime Paquette, Romeo Morissette, Ernest Guay and J. Guy Girardin.

TWO PERSONS SUFFER MINOR BURNS

Two persons suffered minor burns around 11.45 a.m. last Friday at St. Joseph, when their automobile suddenly caught fire. The owner Mr. Maurice Boisvert, of St. Lucien, along with his wife and four children, after spending the night with some relatives, got into the car to prepare for the run back home. Stepping on the starter an explosion occured, causing fire to spread in the interior of the vehicle.

The three children in the rear seat managed to get out unharmed but the mother, sitting alongside her husband with her small baby in her arms, suffered burns to the face, and slight burns to her baby's hand. The husband escaped uninjured.

The St. Joseph fire brigade were called out to extinguish the blaze, which left the automobile a total loss.

Canadiens Score Third Win Of Season Over Leafs As Geoffrion Tallies Lone Goal In First Period

Tough, but oh so gentle, is Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion.

The burly forward for Montreal Canadiens sewed up Toronto Maple Leafs last night as with a neat little flick of his stick he scored the only goal in a 1-0 Montreal win at Toronto. It was the only National Hockey League action of the night.

It was a pretty scoring play, labelled all the way. Doug Harvey shot the puck to Bert Olmstead in a scramble near the crease with his back to the net. Olmstead steered the puck through his legs to Geoffrion.

The win settled Canadiens firmly in second place, three points behind Detroit and four up on Chicago. Toronto is fourth. Geoffrion won the rookie award last year as he rapped in 30 goals. His production this season is 18.

New York Rangers play in Detroit tonight. Veteran goalie Chuck Rayner, still on the limp with the knee injury he aggravated New Year's week-end, is taking treatment from a Hamilton specialist while working out with Guelph Biltmores. Gump Worsley from Saskatoon Quakers s filling Rayner's skating boots in the meantime.

Manager Jack Adams of Detroit Red Wings continues to smoulder over the feud stirred up recently when Coach Dick Irvin of Canadiens charged Adams violated league rules by entering the officials' dressing room during a game.

Adams bounced back with the charge that Maurice (Rocket) Richard deliberately injured Red Wings players during the teams' two-game series last week-end. Richard denied the charge but said, "I hate the Detroit club. I just got mad and took a run at everybody."

Adams replied that Richard had better "be ready to defend himself" if his stick gets where it doesn't belong. It should be far from a quiet Sunday evening this week-end when Montreal visits Detroit for the first time since the feud started.

The New York-Detroit game tonight will see another graduate of Guelph Biltmores, last year's Memorial Cup champs, up with the parent club. Aldo Guidolin has performed well enough to please Manager Frank Boucher.

Guidolin is the fourth Biltmore to join the parent club. Dean Prentice, injured Sunday night in Chicago and still in hospital under observation, Andy Bathgate and Harry Howell were brought up to stem an injury jinx earlier in the season. Bathgate has since joined Vancouver Canucks but is expected back with the NHL team before long.

Toronto travels to Montreal tonight in an attempt to regain their lost laurels while Chicago Black Hawks take on the fifth-place Boston Bruins in Beantown.

New High School Gym At Lennoxville Is Site Of Girls' Contest Tonight

Basketball fans of this district will see their first game in the new gymnasium of Lennoxville High School tonight.

The game, which begins at eight o'clock, is between the Lennoxville girls' team and the Bishop's University squad of the Eastern Townships' Ladies' Basketball League.

These two teams are currently tied for second place in the E.T.A B.A., with two victories each.

Lennoxville and Bishop's have played each other twice this season with Lennoxville taking both decisions, by two points and seven points.

Bishop's seems to have better luck with the League-leading Windsor Rockettes whom they have beaten twice so far this season, the co-eds' latest victory coming at home Tuesday evening by a 36-34 verdict. Lennoxville has yet to beat Windsor although the games have been close.

Without a home gymnasium, due to the building at the High School, Lennoxville has played its home games to date either at Bishop's or the Y.M.C.A. in Sherbrooke.

Garth Smith, Lennoxville coach, has been fortunate in banding together most of last year's Radar girls' team— such as Pat Morrison, Ruth Hamilton and Enid Smith—but the team to date has been hampered by lack of a practice floor.

Bishop's coach Rock MacFarlane has been fortunate in having most of the girls who have played together as a team for the University in the past few seasons, players like Brenda Styan, Pam Garland and Betsy McKindsey.

With playoffs rapidly approaching, both teams will be out to give a good account of themselves and throw fear into the hearts of Windsor Rockettes who are trying for their fourth E. T. championship in a row.

The place, then, is the new gymnasium of Lennoxville High School, tonight at eight o'clock.

Tod Campeau Still Leads In Voting For "Player Of Distinction" Award

Wth the QSHL campaign well into its final half, Sherbrooke's "Player of Distinction" voting for the Lord Calvert Trophy again featured today a closely-contested ballot battle as local fans have spread their votes among many Saints' favorites.

While still holding first place in the public's balloting, Tod Campeau has been getting serious threats from other players with only a few votes separating the contenders for the Lord Calvert Trophy awarded each season to the player picked by the fans as the most valuable performer

Accorded a total of 1,607 points throughout the season, Campeau continues to enjoy widespread popularity with the voters. His total count represents a margin of 168 points over his nearest rival, Jacques Locas. These two have been waging a hot struggle for the top perch in the "Player of Distinction" poll.

Also considered as heavy threats are Nils Tremblay and Pete Wright who occupy third and fourth positions respectively. With a total of 1,663 points, Tremblay holds a slim lead of 37 over Wright who also has been given tremendous recognition from Sherbrooke fandom.

Gilles Dube, winner of the Lord Calvert Trophy last season, remains in fifth spot with 1,476. Guy Labrie trails by 33 points. Rene Pepin, who also has been given a big boost at the ballot polls, takes over seventh with 1,378.

Dewar Thompson has moved up to eighth with 1,292 while Irenee St. Hilaire and Ronnie Matthews complete the first ten "Player of Distinction" standings, being in ninth and tenth positions respectively.

With the crucial half of the 1952-53 schedule already tackled by QSHL teams, the remaining period represents the most decisive stretch for the "Player of Distinction" voting. In past years the lead has switched many times in the final few weeks. Whether Campeau can hold on to his lead remains the $64 question. He has been giving every indication that his stellar playing might keep him there although many games are left before the winner is decided.

Royal And Ancient Club Defines Caddy Ruling

St. Andrews, Scotland, Jan. 22—(AP)—The ancient golf question—"Is a caddy a professional"—has received another dusting off.

The Royal and Ancient Golf Club, ruling body of golf in Britain, has clarified the situation by ruling:

"Under the existing rule those who have carried clubs regularly for hire after reaching the age of 21 shall not be eligible to play in any amateur championship.

"The word 'regularly' has been the cause of some uncertainty, and to clear up any misunderstanding the following definition was decided upon:

"The word 'regularly' denotes one who carries golf clubs as his main or substantial sources of income."

Len O'Donnell's SPORT SHOTS and POT SHOTS

WHO WILL BE SHERBROOKE'S NEXT GOALIE

That is the $64 question in the local sporting circles just at present and for the time being nobody can give a definite answer just who will fill the spot which will be left vacant when Bob "Miche" Perreault returns to Providence in the very near future.

Al Millar, the net custodian with the Charlottetown Islanders and former member of the Quebec Aces, was picked up by the local club via the waiver list but since then complications have set in. Millar was loaned to the Islanders on a 24-hour recall plan by the Aces but before doing so the league rules call that all players must be put on the waiver list, which was not done.

At the last meeting of the Senior Group in Montreal on Jan. 12 the Aces were brought to task for letting him out without following the regular procedure and were ordered to recall him immediately and turn him over to Sherbrooke. The Quebec executive sent Millar a wire ordering him back to the Saints but in the meantime the One-man organization of the C.A.H.A., George Dudley, stepped in the picture.

Dudley, who seems to run things to suit himself with the exception of the Province of Quebec, for which we understand he has no use, has ordered Millar to stay in Charlottetown and if he leaves he will suspend him. Millar contacted Forest Keene on the telephone, after receiving his wire from Quebec, and stated that he wanted to come back but Mr. Keene told him to stay for the time being until the matter is straightened out.

It seems that the rules of the Senior Group were accepted by the C.A.H.A. and that the waiver list was part of them. It calls that all transfers must be made before January 15, and the locals were two days ahead of the deadline, but Mr. Dudley claims that is not correct but President George Slater is taking the matter up with him.

It looks as though he is looking for some way to squeeze out of it and make Millar stay down East if he can do so. From listening to the inside story of the whole affair it seems that once again the local club has followed the rules but for our part we wouldn't be surprised if they lost out just the same.

If Millar is not awarded to Sherbrooke then the search will commence all over once again and where it will finish, well your guess is as good as Forest Keene's and our own. It seems that the Royals have so many goalkeepers that they just can't make up their minds who they want to toil with them. It appears that Frank Carlin, general manager of the team, is not satisfied with the work of Red McAtee and he has to decide between Hal Murphy and Jean-Paul Renaud.

It seems very funny that Millar, who wants to come to Sherbrooke, must stay down East just because MR. GEORGE DUDLEY wants it that way. Everything was done according to the rule book and for once our Ontario friend, Dudley, will have to dig a little deeper to over-rule it, but we would not be surprised if he came up with some foolish little point that was over looked just so that he can say, "Nothing doing to the Senior Group."

We are told that a definite answer will be rendered today or tomorrow in the case to Forest Keene. If Millar is given to Sherbrooke he will take the first train from the East and report in, as it seems that he wants to come back in the worst way.

Murph Chamberlain, who coaches the Islanders, was told the day following the meeting that Millar was ordered back and he knows about it but no doubt he would like to hold onto him as long as he can, seeing the way he is playing for his club. Millar is the mainstay of the team and is one of the best netminders in the Maritime circuit just at present.

If Millar comes to Sherbrooke we consider that the Saints will be very fortunate and the loss of Perreault won't be too bad. Both boys are good and from looking over Millar's past record it speaks for itself. We understand that the main reason Quebec let him go is that they had Johnny Marois and Jack Gelineau, two very good net minders, and Coach Imlash figured they were better than Millar hence the reason why he was sent to the Islanders on 24-hour recall.

That fans is the present situation in Sherbrooke regarding the problem which has given the local executive plenty of headaches and has cost them a lot of money trying to get a replacement. "Miche" Pereault has five more games with the Saints before he leaves town, and it is a shame that he must leave as he certainly has made quite a niche for himself with the local fans and regardless who comes it will be hard to forget the Little Youngster with the Wonderful pair of hands and a wonderful team spirit.

We certainly hope that the Saints do land a good replacement for him, but if not the fans shouldn't be too hard on them as they have certainly done their best under the circumstances and deserve all praise for the extra work they did.

We were told late this morning that a definite answer would be received before Saturday in regards to the situation. Let's hope it turns out the right way for everybody concerned.

Quebec And Royals Play To 3-3 Stalemate; Litzenberger Tallies Two; Aces One Point Behind Saints

Quebec, Jan. 22. — (CP) — Two third-period goals by Jean Beliveau and Herbie Carnegie last night gave Quebec Aces a 3-3 tie with Montreal Royals in a thrill-packed Quebec Senior Hockey League game before 9,000 fans.

Yogi Kraiger was the other Quebec marksman while Ed. Litzenberger led the Montreal attack with two goals and Les Douglas scored the third.

Last night's tie game moved Montreal into a first-place tie with Chicoutimi in the league standing. Both teams have 55 points. Quebec is in fifth place behind Sherbrooke with 41 points.

Veteran Les Douglas opened the scoring for Royals, potting the puck on a play with Litzenberger and Gerry Plamondon at 3:27 of the first period.

Litzenberger made it 2-0 five minutes later when he sent one past Aces' netminder Johnny Marois.

Kraiger supplied Quebec's first goal halfway through the second period on a play with Ludger Tremblay.

Carnegie tied it up at 3:51 of the third frame, taking a pass from Frank Mario. Beliveau let go with a slapshot near the 17-minute mark to make it 3-2 but Litzenberger came back a minute later to tie it up and force the game into overtime.

Ned Garver Will Have Chance To Earn $25,000

Detroit, Jan. 22 —(AP)— Ned Garver, if his arm is good, will get a chance to earn the same estimated $25,000 he was paid last year.

Detroit Tigers announced yesterday that Garver had signed a 1953 contract. But general manager Charlie Gehringer disclosed it was a provisional contract.

"If he can prove to us by the end of spring training that he can pitch, we will tear up this contract and give him a new one calling for the same pay he received last season".

Garver, who won 20 games for the last-place St. Louis Browns in 1951, was reported getting $25,000 in 1952 when he was traded to Detroit. The Tigers continued his same pay.

But after pitching and winning one game soon after the swap, Garver sat out the rest of the season with a sore arm.

Garver wrote Gehringer that his arm "feels okay" this year.

Phantoms Visit Pirates And Aces Travel To Victoriaville In E. T. Loop Tonight; Second Spot At Stake

Second position in the Eastern Townships will be at stake tonight as two games are slated in the circuit with Richmond moving over to Drummondville and Magog travelling to Victoriaville.

Magog and Drummondville are stalemated for third position in the standing, one point behind Waterloo, present holders of the favored spot, and no doubt both clubs will be out to try and improve their positions.

The Tigers hold a three point advantage over the Magog crew but each trip the Aces have made to Victoriaville the outcome was only decided in the final minutes of the game. The Goupille squad will be gunning for victory in order to close the gap between themselves and the leaders.

The Jimmy Planche team tangles with the Pirates in what should be a close battle. The Pirates dropped a close one to the Maroons Tuesday evening and will be out to pick up lost ground over the idle Waterloo club and a victory is what is required in order to do so. The Pirates have, so far, proven themselves tough on their home ice and the Planche team will have their work cut out for them this evening when they move into Drummondville.

Tomorrow the two teams will meet once again in the Railroad Town and the Phantoms must come through, with a couple of wins if they wish to get back in the race.

Paul Leclerc Chalks Up Sixth Shutout As Braves Blank Cats 4-0; Bessette Handles 41 Shots

Valleyfield, Que., Jan. 22—(CP)—Goalie Paul Leclerc last night scored his sixth shutout of the season, tops in the Quebec Senior Hockey League, as Valleyfield Braves routed the last-place Shawinigan Falls Cataracts 4-0.

More than 1,500 fans saw Andre Corriveau score two goals. Larry Kwong and J. Lacroix got the others.

Valleyfield's defence was hard to penetrate and Leclerc was tested only 17 times. The Cataracts net-minder, Roger Bessette, turned away 41 shots.

The victory also gave the Braves sole possession of fourth spot, two points more than the idle Sherbrooke Saints.

Referee Ken Mullins handed out only seven minor penalties, four of them to Shawinigan Falls.

The game was delayed 20 minutes early in the second period when Nellie Podolsky's hard drive struck Leclerc on the forehead and knocked him out. The goalie was taken to the dressing room and required six stitches before returning to the game.

After a scoreless first period, late in the second when he flip-Corriveau put Valleyfield ahead ped the puck over Bessette. Georges Bougie and Kitoute Joannette assisted.

Corriveau scored his second marker early in the final, backhanding Jack Irvine's relay.

Kwong and Lacroix completed the scoring with about three minutes remaining in the game. Gordie Haworth assisted on Kwong's goal and Jackie Schmidt and Kwong set up the Lacroix marker.

Dizzy Dean And Al Simmons Added To Baseball's Hall Of Fame As Writers Turn Back Terry Again

New York, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Jerome Herman (Dizzy) Dean, older of the St. Louis Cardinals' famous pitching brothers, and Al Simmons, who distinguished himself as a hard-hitting outfielder for the Philadelphia Athletics, were added today to baseball's Hall of Fame.

This pair of diamond greats became the 63rd and 64th to be added to the shrine at Cooperstown, N.Y.

For the second straight year, Bill Trery, former first baseman and manager of the New York Giants, barely missed the honor. He fell seven votes short of nomination and was third in the balloting of baseball writers.

Terry was also third a year ago when Harry Heilmann and Paul Waner were named to baseball immortality.

A surprising turn in the election was the failure of Joe DiMaggio, the Yankee Clipper, to win a berth in his first year of eligibility. It had been freely predicted that DiMaggio, who retired in 1951 after a brilliant career with New York Yankees, was the most likely to be honored

But DiMaggio finished eighth with 117 votes, 81 short of the number needed for success.

A total of 264 writers with 10 years' membership in the Baseball Writers Association of America participated in the votes. It took 75 per cent of the votes—or 198—to elect.

Dean, whose right arm appeared to be indestructible until 1937 when it began to fail him, received 209 votes. Simmons collected 199.

Terry received 191 while 179 votes went to Bill Dickey, the Yankees' great catcher who now is serving as coach of the Bronx Bombers.

Dizzy Dean and his brother, Paul, formed a combination which pitched the St. Louis Cardinals into the World Series in 1934.

It was that year that Dizzy compiled a 30-7 record, the last 30-game winner of the major leagues.

After a toe accident in an All-Star game, Dizzy's powerful arm lost its effectiveness and, after he was sold for $185,000 to the Chicago Cubs in 1938, he never regained his oldtime form.

Dean's big league record showed 150 victories and 83 defeats. He set a modern National League record by striking out 17 Cubs on July 30, 1933.

Simmons compiled a lifetime batting average of .334 in a 20-year career which stretched from 1924 to 1944.

Most of his career was spent under Connie Mack with the Athletics, but he also played with Chicago, Detroit, Washington and Boston in the American League and Boston and Cincinnati in the National.

Simmons won the American League batting championship with the Athletics in 1930 and again in 1931. He hit .381 and .390 in those years, respectively.

LAST NIGHT'S STAR

Goalie Gerry McNeil, who chalked up his seventh shutout of the National Hockey League season Wednesday night as Montreal Canadiens blanked Toronto Maple Leafs 1-0.

Four Players On Indians' Roster To Report For Pre-Season Training At Indianville For February 14

Four members of the Sherbrooke Indians Baseball Club will report to Indianville, Daytona Beach, Fla., for pre-spring training next month, stated Lewis Matlin, business manager of the local club, yesterday afternoon.

The four players were members of the Bakersfield club last season and are rated with great possibilities for the coming season. One is a catcher, an outfielder and two pitchers and they will report to camp February 14 for the extra work.

Wendell Hall is the backstop and stands six feet and tips the scales at 195 lbs and is 19 years old. He bats and throws right handed and hails from Greenwood, S.C. The outfielder is Frank Tanana from Detroit and he played last season with Green Bay and is six feet two inches and weighs 180 lbs. and is 19 years of age.

The two pitchers are both left handed. Walter Seward hails from Everett, Mass., and attends Boston College. He is 20 years old, tips the scales at 178 lbs. and stands six feet two inches. The other boy comes from Bucyrus, Ohio, and is Wilber Striker and stands six feet three inches and weighs in at 209 lbs. and throws and bats left handed.

Seward last season had a record of 15 wins against 10 losses and struck out 205 during the year. Striker holds a 14-10 record and last year betwen June and September accounted for 243 via the strikeout method. He is at present attending Heidelberg College in Ohio.

Annual College Draft And Status Of Baltimore Franchise Hottest Subjects As N. F. L. Meeting Opens

Philadelphia, Jan. 22—(AP)—The National Football League club owners, accustomed to operating their business like a gigantic cut-throat poker game, were ready to wrangle over two subjects today despite Commissioner Bert Bell's warnings that they'd better settle down and act like business men.

The annual draft of college players and the status of the Baltimore franchise were the two hottest subjects of discussion at the league's annual meeting. The club owners, elated with the news that they'd just finished a record-breaking season in attendance and gate receipts, gave litle indication that they would heed Bell's warnings.

At last night's meeting of the league's rules committee, a locker full of code changes were tossed out of the window—leaving the NFL mode of play intact for the coming season.

Rejected by the committee were such proposals as: A "Sudden death' playoff for any league game ending in a tie, a seven-point count for touchdowns with the point after touchdown eliminated, and short-time penalties for players charged with unnecessary roughness.

The Baltimore question won't come up until tomorrow, but hotel lobby discussions indicated there may be a lively debate before it is decided whether the New Colts belong with the Western or Eastern Clubs.

The total attendance passed the 2,000,000 mark for the first time as 72 regular season games drew 2,052,126 customers and the National Conference and league championship playoffs attracted 97,507 more. That was an 8.6-percent jump over the 1951 total.

Cary Middlecoff, with a 67, was next at 204, and Doug Ford, with a 68, finished at 205. Byron Nelson had a 70 and finished at 206 tied with four others.

Demaret, with previous rounds of 69-65, won $1,500.

Kramer Edges Sedgman After Hard Battle

Cincinnati, Jan. 22 —(AP)— Jack Kramer utilized two timely service breaks last night to edge Frank Sedgman 7-5, 6-4 in the feature match of his professional tennis tour's appearance at Cincinnati Garden.

Sedgman now has won six matches to five for Kramer.

Pancho Segura from Ecuador who currently holds the professional championship, blasted the other Aussie star. Ken McGregor, 6-1, 6-3, for his 12th straight triumph.

The Americans completed the evening's sweep in the final match when Kramer and Segura downed Sedgman and McGregor, 6-4, 6-8, 6-4, to square the doubles series at six victories for each team.

Bobsledding Once Was Fat Man's Sport, Now The Beef Trust Is Sipping Fruit Juice To Hit Limit

Garmisch - Partenkirchen, Germany, Jan. 22. — (AP) — Bobsledding used to be a fat man's sport. In a crowd of athletes you always could recognize the bobsledders. They were those broad-beamed behemoths at the tables eating their heads off.

The more they weighed, the faster their sleds would go. So they ate heartily.

But this year's championships, which start here Saturday, have opened a new era, and it's easy to see the change.

Now, instead of the bobsledder being the man who is eating the most, he's the big fellow unhappily sipping fruit juice or nibbling at a lettuce salad.

The reason is that there's a new rule that a four-man bobsled team can't weight more than 880 pounds. A two-man team is limited to 440 pounds. That's an average of 220 pounds a man.

As a result of the new regulation, many a bobsledder has had to give up the sport.

Stan Benham of Lake Placid, N. Y., veteran driver who won two world championships and two Olympic second places for the United States, showed up here this year 10 pounds lighter than he was in the Oslo Olympics. Felix Endrich, Switzerland's former world champion, also has slimmed down. So have the German stars who won two Gold Medals at Oslo.

Many bobsledders admit it has been a fine thing for them personally. They look years younger. Most agree that the new rule also is a good thing for bobsledding.

It puts the emphasis on skill instead of weight," said Donna Foxx of New York, dean of American bobsledders and a member of the Federation of International Bobsledding and Tobagganing.

Fox predicted that some countries which have remained also rans because they didn't grow big enough men might now rise to the top ranks of bobsledding.

John Landy Of Australia Out To Beat Gunder Haegg's Mile Record; Will Try Over Grass Track At Perth

Perth, Australia, Jan. 22. —(AP) — John Landy, Australia's "wonder miler" who will try to beat Gunder Heagg's mile world record of 4:01.4 in the Australian Track Championships here Saturday, arrived today and said he will be able to run at top speed on the Leederville circular grass course.

Although Landy, 22-year-old student at Melbourne University, ran over a cinder track when he did his 4:02.1 mile last month, he said the change from Melbourne's cinders to Perth's grass will not affect him.

Landy arrived weighing 150 pounds which he said is his "top form running weight." He did express concern, however, over Perth's summer heat.

Yesterday the temperature here was 103 degrees and he says it will have to be way below that to give him a chance for a world record.

The forecast for Saturday is for a maximum of 85 degrees about two hours or so before the mile is scheduled to be run at 4:25 P. M. (3:25 A. M. EST).

"I know if the weather is too hot it will be out of the question for me to run a fast time," Landy said. "If the temperature is below 90 I shall be out to do my best."

The prospect of Landy running the legendary four-minutes mile or break the world record has fired the imagination of Western Australia. Thousands are expected to see him run.

Only 2 Horses Remain Undefeated In 1952

Columbus, O., Jan. 22—(AP)—The United States Trotting Association yesterday said only two horses went undefeated after engaging in 10 or more races in 1952.

Nancy Song is a four-year-old mare. Eastern Shore is a two-year-old son of Volomite. He trotted the mile in 2.06 last October.

High Forest F. F. Met At Home Of Mrs. H. Graham

High Forest, Jan. 22.—The Farm Forum met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Graham on January 12, with upwards of 30 present.

During the discussion on "Leadership," most members thought we had not done much to develop leadership, but we did send a young person to take the short course at Macdonald College. What else could be done? The answer was try to have younger members lead in F. F. discussion. More education and practice are essential for leadership. What reasons may keep young people from holding office or taking positions in farm organizations? Too much criticism by the elders, and lack of self-confidence.

Several letters were read by the secretary, after which cards were enjoyed and refreshments were served.

New Year's guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Lowry were Mrs. Margaret Bailey, of Sawyerville, and Mr. and Mrs. Justin Lowry and son, Rodney.

Universalist Church At Derby Line Holds Annual Meeting And Supper

Rock Island, Jan. 22.—The first Universalist Church of Derby Line held its annual meeting on Tuesday evening, January 13th. The meeting which was combined with a pot-luck supper, was held in the vestry of the church.

The highlight of the meeting was the election of new officers. Mr. Frank Grout was elected treasurer to succeed Mrs. Ruth Young. Mrs. Young has served as treasurer of the Universalist Church for thirty-four years and her service was ended only because of new by-laws adopted last year which limited the length of office of all officers. A rising vote of thanks was given her in appreciation of her long and loyal service. Mr. Fred Batchelor and Mrs. Roberta Marchand were elected trustees to succeed Mr. Edwin Earle, who was chairman of the board, and Mrs. Gertrude Walker. Mrs. Alma Sails was re-elected clerk.

The only other business of note was the approval of the proposal to federate the Universalist Church of America and the American Unitarian Association. If seventy-five percent of the churches of the two denominations approve this proposal, the departments of the two denominations will be federated and a new liberal religious organization will appear on the American scene.

WORSHIP SERVICE

Special music featured the worship service of the Universalist church, Derby Line, on Sunday morning. A soprano solo, "The Lord's Prayer", was sung by Miss Marjorie Nichols, of Newport, Vt.
