HOUSE VOTE ON WARNING TOMORROW

Believed Certain it Will Table McLemore Resolution

BRYAN'S PRESENCE ATTRACTS INTEREST

Says He Will Not Oppose President—Col. House Reports

Special to The Montreal Star by United Press.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Three important developments to day are shaping this Government's future handling of the German submarine issue.

Plans are practically complete in the House for the show-down vote tomorrow desired by President Wilson on Rep. McLemore's warning resolution.

Col. House, the President's confidential envoy, back from his secret mission among the belligerents, is to give the President information of the utmost importance.

Another sub-surface influence in the intricate and delicate situation is the presence of William J. Bryan, former Secretary of State, who returned from a New York lecture and is to lunch with a party of eight representatives. Mr. Bryan's friends vigorously denied he would openly and actively oppose the President in the dispute with Congress. He will not be here when the House vote is taken tomorrow. He leaves this afternoon to make an address at Wilmington, Del., and will then go west on a lecture tour. Mr. Bryan himself insisted that he would not interfere in the Congress dispute.

TABLING LOOKS CERTAIN.

Despite increased clamor in Congress for a direct vote on the merits of a resolution warning Americans off armed ships pending negotiations with the Central Powers, it is becoming more certain that the House will vote to table the McLemore resolution. However, few leaders see how another vote, in both the Senate and House, on a simple warning resolution can be avoided ultimately.

Efforts are being renewed to postpone the House vote until Thursday. This information comes from the anti-Administration faction. It is practically a foregone conclusion that the movement will not succeed and that the House vote will be taken tomorrow.

President Wilson appealed directly to Representatives Bennett and Fenroot, Republican members of the House Rules Committee, today, to consider the armed ship issue without partisan bias, and assist in getting a vote on a resolution warning Americans off armed ships.

For an hour he discussed the foreign situation with the two Republican members and told them of the necessity of demonstrating that reports abroad that the majority of Congress was not with him are erroneous.

After the conference Mr. Lenroot said the Republicans had no intention of bringing party considerations into the issue.

TO FRAME A RULE.

The task before the Rules Committee today is the framing of a rule to bring before the House tomorrow the report of the Foreign Affairs Committee that the McLemore warning resolution be tabled after limited debate. The rule also is to set forth that the President be permitted to handle diplomatic affairs without Congressional interference.

Although Mr. Bryan has declared that he will not actively participate in the armed ships fight, his luncheon engagement at a hotel where Speaker Clark, Representative Shackleford and six other Congressmen make their headquarters, is attracting great interest. Mr. Bryan's views are well known, however, and they are being widely circulated among members of Congress.

There will be further debate on the armed ship question during the week in the Senate. Mr. Stone, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, has prepared a long speech on the whole subject of the position of the United States as related to the European war.

Senator Sutherland, of Utah, a Republican member of the Committee, will reply. Administration leaders, backed by Republicans who support the President in this crisis, plan to force the resolution to the Senate calendar, there to remain for the remainder of the session.

GERMAN APPENDICES ARRIVE.

The appendices to Germany's declaration of the new submarine campaign, upon which Berlin is relying to prove that British merchant ships, armed ostensibly for defensive purposes, have been using their armament offensively on the submersibles, under orders of the British Admiralty, arrived this morning at the State Department.

CHANCE FOR SHIPPING MEN HERE

Scot Thinks We Can Build Now for Less Than British

CANNED GOODS BAN TO CANADA'S PROFIT

Can Ship Them More Easily Than Can Other Dominions

Special Cable to The Montreal Star From Our Own Correspondent. (Copyright.)

THE MONTREAL STAR OFFICE, 17 Cockspur street, London, March 6. "Canada should seriously take up the question of enlarging her shipbuilding facilities," said a prominent Scotch shipbuilding man, in answer to a question whether the Dominion could compete with the Clyde or the Tyne yards.

"Material and labor are at hand in Canada, and the only question hitherto has been that of cost.

"With an ever-growing shortage of tonnage, ships will be more wanted than ever after the war ends, and the present cost of building is not likely to decrease.

"Formerly the cost of building them in the British yards averaged £6 per ton. It is now £15, which is higher than you should be able to construct them for in Canada."

CANADA WILL BENEFIT MOST.

Wholesalers in London and Liverpool predict that Canada will get the full benefit of the new order barring the imports of canned goods to Britain except those from the British Colonies.

Canada has the advantage of being a nearer market. Also it is not necessary to use a refrigerator in the space across the Atlantic.

Canned fruits and vegetables from Australia and South Africa have to come in cold storage across the equator.

ROLAND HILL.

U-BOAT CAMPAIGN LIKELY TO AWAIT U. S. SETTLEMENT

LONDON, March 6.—An Amsterdam despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company says that the German newspapers publish an interview between James W. Gerard, American Ambassador to Germany, and an Austrian journalist. The Ambassador is reported as saying:

"I hope an understanding between Germany and the United States may be reached, but no change is expected in the situation until the German memorandum regarding armed merchantmen reaches Washington.

"It is foolish to give credence to the rumor that President Wilson has sanctioned a secret treaty between the United States and Great Britain. Any President who did such a thing would immediately be thrown out of office."

The Exchange Telegraph Company's correspondent adds that it is believed in German naval circles that the new phase of the submarine warfare will not be started before the end of the crisis with America, although the Government will not make announcement to that effect, fearing a revolt in the pan-German press.

THREE MORE BOATS SUNK BY TEUTONS

LONDON, March 6.—The British steamer Teutonian has been sunk, according to Lloyd's. All the crew were safely landed.

The Teutonian was a steamer of 4,824 tons. She was built at Sunderland in 1914, and belonged to the Petroleum Steamship Company of London.

Seven seamen of the Norwegian steamer Egero are believed to have been drowned when the Egero sank after having been struck by an unknown steamer near here.

The Egero was a vessel of 1,373 tons and was built in 1883.

The British steamer Masunda has been sunk. All aboard her were saved.

The Masunda displaced 4,952 tons. She was built in 1909 and was owned by the Glasgow Shipping Company. She was registered at Glasgow.

Germans Think Senate's Loyalty Clears the Air

Special Star Cable by Carl W. Ackerman of the United Press.

BERLIN, via Amsterdam, March 6—The Senate's vote of confidence in President Wilson last Friday has lessened the possibilities of a German-American break, well-informed Americans, who have canvassed the situation thoroughly, reported today.

Officials and the public are somewhat puzzled at the exact meaning of the Senate vote. But the general opinion is that it strengthens the hands of those who, though desiring a most vigorous submarine war, do not want to take any chance of a break with America.

The newspapers differ widely in their interpretation of the Senate's action. For the most part, they agree that the Senate, seemingly, voted to keep hands off the German-American controversy, excepting in a case likely to result in war.

The Tageblatt, for instance, believes that the Senate registered a clear decision not to interfere with President Wilson in his dealings with foreign powers.

"This was a natural result when President Wilson made the question one of national honor," said the Tageblatt.

"The Senate's action leaves President Wilson and Mr. Lansing a free hand to continue the negotiations with Germany, with the only obligation that they must call Congress together to decide on a question of war or peace."

The Cologne Gazette, differing with the Tageblatt, regards the Senate action as almost meaningless in view of the report that no report that no vote was taken on the proposal to warn Americans off belligerant armed merchantmen. The vote was neither an endorsement nor a rejection of President Wilson's war policies, the Gazette said.

THE SITUATION AT VERDUN

Illustrations show the Germans are endeavoring to work their pincers on both sides of the Verdun salient, with the idea of forcing the evacuation of the fortress, as in the case of Warsaw.

TWELVE DEAD AND 33 HURT BY RAID OF ZEPPS SUNDAY

Eight Counties Visited by Aerial Pirates Whose Wanderings Indicate They Did Not Know Their Whereabouts—Five Children, Four Women and Three Men in Death List

Special Star Cable by United Press.

LONDON, March 6.—Twelve persons were killed and thirty-three injured in Sunday night's Zeppelin raid over the north-east coast of England, it was officially announced today. Three raiding airships dropped bombs on Yorkshire, Lincolnshire, Rutland, Huntingdon, Cambridge, Norfolk, Essex and Kent.

The dirigibles dropped forty bombs, destroying houses on two terraces and damaging several shops, it was stated.

The dead are: Three men, four women and five children.

The statement follows:

"The number of Zeppelins which took part in last night's raid is now believed to have been three.

"After crossing the coast, the air ships took various courses, and from the devious nature of their flight apparently were uncertain as to their bearings.

"The area visited included Yorkshire, Lincolnshire, Rutland, Huntingdon, Cambridgeshire, Norfolk, Essex and Kent.

"As far as is known, about forty bombs were dropped altogether. The casualties so far as ascertained, amount to: Killed three men, four women and five children. Injured: thirty-three. The material damage was two terrace houses practically destroyed, one office, one public-house, a cafe and several shops partly destroyed, and a block of almshouses badly damaged."

In extent of territory visited last night's Zeppelin raid on England was perhaps the greatest of the war. According to the official statement, eight counties, forming the tier extending along the north sea coast east and north-east of London, were visited.

Several large towns manufacturing war munitions lie within the counties mentioned in the London despatches. The cities of Leeds, York, Hull, Lincoln, and Cambridge are among the most important in the area covered by the Germans. Much the same territory was visited by the six Zeppelins that raided England on the night of January 30, when fifty-nine persons were killed and 101 injured.

Last night's raid was the twenty-first attack on England by German aircraft since the beginning of the war. In these raids 242 persons have been killed and 429 injured.

One Zeppelin hurled down bombs upon the area occupied by dwellings of working men. An entire block was demolished. A woman and four of her children, the eldest eight years old, were killed in this district. The husband, injured when the house was demolished, is confined in a hospital, ignorant of the fate of his family.

NONAGENARIAN BURNED TO DEATH.

In one of the houses wrecked by a bomb was an aged woman, an invalid, who had been confined to her bed for seven years. The house came tumbling down about her, but she was dug from the debris, unscratched.

In a nearby house, the bursting of a bomb set fire to a workman's dwelling. A feeble old man, about ninety years of age, was burned to death before rescuers could reach him.

After crossing the east coast, the Zeppelin raiders started eastward, then changed their bearings several times and finally circled about, evidently being uncertain of their bearings. Then they began hurling down both incendiary and explosive bombs.

At several places they were seen very plainly. One of the Zeppelins remained stationary over one town, raining down missiles until after it had exhausted its supply.

POPE HAS ISSUED ANOTHER PROTEST AGAINST THE WAR

ROME, via Paris, March 6.—Pope Benedict has again raised his voice for peace in Lenten season, the Pontiff for the Lenten visit silent, indifferent says he cannot conflict which is to the terrible he recalls all that rending Europe. he has done to induce the contending nations to lay down their arms, virtually throwing himself between the belligerents and injuring them in the name of the Almighty to desist in their plan of mutual destruction.

The Pontiff again sets forth the proposal which he made months ago as follows:

"Each belligerent should clearly state his desire, but should be ready to make necessary sacrifices of rights and particular interests, thus ending the monstrous conflict in accordance with justice and re-establishing a peace advantageous to neither side, but profitable to all, and, therefore, a just and lasting peace.

"This paternal voice," continues the Pope, "was not heard. Thus the war continues with all its horrors. I rejoice that our cry for peace has had a profound echo in the hearts of the belligerent peoples, indeed, the peoples of the whole world, and has aroused a deep desire to see the sanguinary conflict soon cease. I must, therefore, once more raise my voice against this war, which appears as the suicide of civilized Europe."

The second part of the letter deals with prayers, penance and alms in the neutral countries, the alms to be devoted especially to the relief "of the pitiful children of those dead in this horrible war."

DIRECT CAUSE OF WAR.

LONDON, March 6.—Cardinal Francis Bourne, Archbishop of Westminster, in a Lenten pastoral letter, declares:

"The worldwide war is the direct outcome, not of the failure, but of the rejection of Christianity." There is, he says, no nation guiltless in this respect.

"England, indeed," the Cardinal states, "will be preserved from such forgetfulness of the teaching of Christ as to proclaim as part of public policy that moral evil is non-existent where the interests of the State are concerned and that all means, right or wrong, honorable or dishonorable, may be employed when the needs of the country demand them.

NO DOMINION PROHIBITION BILL PROBABLE

Special to The Montreal Star from Our Own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, March 6.—The Parliamentary discussion today of the proposal for Dominion-wide prohibition will bring forth some interesting speeches, but it is not expected to produce any very concrete result.

The Government has no intention, for the present, anyway, of bringing in a measure for Federal prohibition. The provinces are making such rapid strides in that direction that there is a tendency to let them go to their limit.

It will not be a surprise if in today's debate the question may also be raised as to the constituency of a Dominion prohibition law as affecting trade in a recognized commodity of vested interests. It is known that for some weeks the question has been under advisement by the Government, which has view it from the moral, political and constitutional angles.

NO INQUIRY PROBABLE.

One of the big things of the session will be up tomorrow, when a Parliamentary inquiry into the doings of the Shell Committee will be demanded by Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Heretofore charges of profiteering have prevailed. It is believed that the Liberal leader will go further, also extensive political patronage, less endeavor to establish that the committee was directed by the Minister of Militia, thus making the Government responsible.

The decision respecting an investigation will depend somewhat upon what the Liberal leader has to bring forth, but so far all indications have pointed against an inquiry being on the ground that Canadian money is not involved.

FRENCH ARTILLERY IS SUPREME UPON VERDUN FRONT AS ELSEWHERE

Huns Making Fierce Onslaught at Fort Tavannes —Attack at Vaux Failed and Cost Them Dearly — Russians Bombard Trebizond— German Reinforcements Rushed to Ypres

Special Star Cable by United Press.

LONDON, March 6.—Several of the London newspapers doubt the truth of the German report that the Moewe has returned to port, believing the report was sent out to throw British warships off the trail.

Special Star Cable by United Press.

LONDON, March 6.—Forty thousand German cavalry and Landstrum have been sent forward to reinforce the German front near Ypres, according to Central News despatches from The Hague.

By Canadian Press.

PETROGRAD, March 6, via London.—Russian torpedo boat destroyers have bombarded Trebizond, the Turkish seaport of the eastern part of the coast of the Black Sea, 120 miles northwest of Erzerum, and have sunk several vessels. The Turkish batteries, it is announced, replied, but without success.

ARTILLERY DUEL CONTINUES

By Canadian Press.

PARIS, March 6.—The official War Office statement given out here today says that there were no artillery actions last night north of Verdun, but that violent artillery engagements continue along the left bank of the Meuse, and intermittently elsewhere. Calm prevails on the remainder of the front.

The statement follows:

"In the Argonne we have bombarded different sections of the forest of Cheppy and the Malancourt-Avocourt road.

"In the region to the north of Verdun the night passed without any infantry action. The artillery action continued violently on the left bank of the Meuse and intermittently in the sector to the west of Douaumont and in the Woevre.

"Our batteries have actively bombarded the communications of the enemy. The night was calm on the rest of the front."

GERMAN OFFICIAL REPORT

By Canadian Press.

BERLIN, March 6, via London, 3.20 p.m.—Capture of nearly 1,000 French near Verdun on Saturday and Sunday was announced today by the War Office. The number of prisoners who were captured east of the Meuse, is fourteen officers and 934 men.

"Western front:—Lively mining duels occurred northeast of Vermelles. British infantry, which delivered minor attacks on several occasions in this neighborhood, were repulsed by our fire.

"On the eastern bank of the Meuse the day passed more quietly than previous days. Nevertheless, we captured yesterday and the day before, during minor engagements, 14 officers and 834 men.

"Eastern and Balkan fronts—There is nothing to report.

ATTACKS UPON VAUX FAIL

By Canadian Press.

LONDON, March 6.—The Central News correspondent at The Hague says despatches received there from the front show that the Germans are making vigorous efforts to capture Fort Tavannes, four miles northeast of Verdun, but that the French are resisting them resolutely, inflicting heavy losses on the attackers.

Stubborn fighting continues near Verdun, the correspondent continues. The village of Vaux no longer exists.

More than 10,000 Germans carried out an assault upon the French positions at Vaux but were repulsed with large losses, several German lines being swept away by the famous French 75's.

It is also said that twenty-seven trainloads of German wounded have left the Verdun battlefield for Germany.

FRENCH FIRE CURTAIN DROPS

Special Cable by United Press.

LONDON, March 6. The fifteenth day of the great battle of Verdun saw the Crown Prince striving desperately to shatter the French centre in furious fighting on Douaumont plateau.

Violent clashes are occurring in Fresnes woods. But the main struggle according to latest Paris despatches, has narrowed to the two-mile front extending from Haudremont wood to Douaumont.

The French have dropped a deadly curtain of fire, checking all further German advance on this front. At the same time they are counter-attacking viciously in efforts to re-occupy Douaumont village.

In two weeks of the greatest offensive developed by either side since the German defeat at the Marne, combined German and French losses have totalled more than 200,000, the great majority being Germans.

During the first fortnight of the struggle the Germans have pressed forward on a crescent-shaped front, occupying between ninety and one hundred square miles of French positions, according to figures given out in Berlin. They have wrecked Fort Douaumont and captured several villages, but have failed to break the French front at any point.

Throughout Sunday a fierce battle raged along the front from Pepper Heights to Douaumont plateau. The Germans first concentrated the fire of several score of guns against the French positions, bombarding for two hours. Then they charged, throwing three brigades into action on the narrow front.

French artillery replied with an intense fire that riddled the foremost ranks. Other French guns threw a deadly hail behind the oncoming Germans, blocking the arrival of reinforcement. Caught between two sheets of artillery and machine gun fire, the Germans were slaughtered.

The whole front, the latest Paris despatches reported, is now undergoing the heaviest bombardment. The artillery fighting has extended to the Argonne.

The French are pounding away at the German positions on this front and engaging in aerial reconnaissances, mindful of the possibilities of a drive toward the St. Menehould railway, the principal source of supply for the Verdun armies.

Three Forts Wrecked Amsterdam Hears; Berlin is Silent

Special Star Cable by United Press.

LONDON, March 6.—Three of the Verdun forts, defending the city from the east, have been almost totally wrecked by German bombardment, according to Amsterdam despatches today.

The Amsterdam despatch repeated previous reports, unconfirmed from Berlin, that Fort de Vaux, five miles northeast of Verdun, is in ruins.

It added that Forts Maulanville and de Tavannes, next in line south of Vaux, have been badly damaged by German mortars, if they have not been totally destroyed.

The latest Berlin official despatches carry no confirmation of the Amsterdam reports. The Germans have, it is reported, occupied Dieppe, two miles northeast of Fort de Tavannes, from which point they could bring heavy guns to bear on the fort. Hand-to-hand fighting has occurred at the railway station of Eix, midway between Fort de Tavannes and Fort Moulanville, but in each instance, Paris reported, the German attacks were repulsed.

Another Amsterdam report stated 10,000 Germans were repulsed with heavy losses when they attempted to bridge the Meuse with pontoons in the vicinity of Samogneux, five and a half miles north of Verdun.

FIGHTING ON THE TIGRIS.

By Canadian Press.

LONDON, March 6.—An Amsterdam despatch to the Central News says that since February 21 heavy fighting has been in progress between the relief forces of Gen. Aylmer on the Tigris, and the Turkish troops, according to advices from Constantinople.

Especially severe fighting has been taking place near the town of Nasrie. The British have recently moved up a new large force to proceed to the relief of Gen. Townshend at Kut-el-Amara.

PORTUGAL IS WAITING.

Special Star Cable by United Press.

LISBON, March 6. — Portuguese newspapers declared today that an early break with Germany is inevitable. No official statement on the progress of the controversy arising out of the seizure of Austro-German ships has been issued for several days.

Fearing attacks by German raiders of submarines, the Council of Defence has issued strict orders that no ship be allowed to enter the Tagus river except at daylight.

$100 FOR FIREMEN.

A cheque for $100 has been received by the Secretary of the Police and Firemen's Pension Fund of the City of Westmount from Jack Harrison, in appreciation of the splendid work of the firemen at the fire in the bakery last Friday morning.

TWO CANADIAN GENERALS NOW CONVALESCENT

Brig.-Gen. MacDonell and Leckie are in Hospital in France

Special to The Montreal Star from Our Own Correspondent.

NORTHERN FRANCE, March 6. Brig.-Gen. MacDonell, in the 1st Canadian General Hospital, who has been wounded, as already reported, is now convalescent.

Your London correspondent, visiting the war area, met him today walking with an orderly outside the hospital. His arm is still in splints, but serious though his wound was, it is mending well, and the movement of his fingers are unaffected. The second wound in his shoulder is not serious.

An eyewitness tells me how the incident happened, in the early morning a fortnight ago. The General was inspecting in the Canadian lines one of those designs which prove so upsetting to the Huns on the Canadian front. He was walking in a valley, sheltered, as he thought, from the enemy, when a sniper hit him in the left arm.

CONCEALED HIS WOUND.

He determined not to show the enemy he was wounded, so he stopped, leisurely picked up his cane, and walked calmly on, when the sniper hit him again in the top of his shoulder.

"If you must tell anything in Canada," said the General, "tell them I am the same old pessimist."

His hearty laugh left no doubt as to what he meant. His one determination was not to leave France, though wounded, and his one desire was to get quickly back to the front.

Brig.-Gen. Leckie, who was hit later the same day, is doing well and is able to lie out on the verandah of the hospital amid the sand-dunes of Wimereux de Calais. The wound in his leg is healing satisfactorily.

Employes to Query the King's Printer

Special to The Montreal Star From Our Own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, March 6.—The King's Printer of Canada and the employes of the Government printing bureau have become involved in a labor difficulty arising out of a strike in the office of L'Action Catholique, the official organ at Quebec.

A few weeks ago the printers of the paper went on strike because the union wages were proposed to be cut. It is alleged that J De L. Taschereau, King's printer, used his influence to have printers go to Quebec to replace the strikers. At a full meeting of the union on Saturday night there was talked of appealing directly to the Secretary of State, and afterwards it was decided to have a committee interview Mr. Tasche with a view endeavor to ascertain the real facts.

THREE INJURED BY EXPLOSION IN SHELL FACTORY

Nosing Engine at Chatham Burst Into Flames Without Warning

Special to The Montreal Star.

CHATHAM, N.B., March 6. — An explosion which took place in the nosing engine of the shell factory at 10:15 this morning set fire instantly to the interior of this part of the factory and seriously burned the three men working there,—Joseph Lobban, James Moar and William Dickens.

How the explosion occurred no one knows as yet, as the three men were unconscious when dragged from the flames, but Mrs. F. H. McNaught, who from her house could see the structure says she heard an explosion and the next thing she saw was a man blown out the door, his clothes and hair one mass of flames. She seized a rug and rushed out. Some men wrapped him in the folds and extinguished the flames. The other two men were also rescued and were taken to the hospital.

LOBBAN MAY DIE.

Joseph Lobban is the most severely burned and it is doubtful if he will live through his experience. He was in charge of the powerful apparatus that heated the shells as they went to the nosing engine.

The firemen saved the main part of the building from destruction and its machinery is intact. It is not yet known how badly the machinery in the burned portion of the building is affected by the flames, but outside of this the main part of the building can be repaired in a few days and if the machinery is intact work will be delayed only a comparatively short time.

ASSEMBLY SESSION LIKELY TO LAST UNTIL MARCH 17

Will Sit Three Times a Day, Beginning Tomorrow

Special to The Montreal Star From a Staff Correspondent.

QUEBEC, March 6.—Opinion in many quarters that the Opposition's determination to make haste slowly in dealing with the estimates will prolong the session by one week and that prorogation will not come till possibly March 17.

Beginning tomorrow, however, the Legislative Assembly will sit three times daily and Ministerial quarters still profess some doubt as to the session running to this length. But they assert they are ready to allow all debate the Conservatives show inclination to indulge in, and such a course will allow the Opposition to execute their desire to spend a fortnight on the Budget.

Sir Lomer Gouin returned to work today after several days confinement to his room from a severe attack of grippe.

EX-MAYOR OF CLEVELAND NEW WAR SECRETARY

By Canadian Press.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Newton D. Baker, former mayor of Cleveland, has been selected by President Wilson for Secretary of War.

Mr. Baker has accepted the position and is now arranging his affairs in Cleveland preparatory to coming to Washington to take up his duties.

Announcement of the appointment it is said, may be expected from the White House in the next day or two.

The President, it is understood, has been advised by the Attorney-General's Office that Gen. Scott, Chief of Staff, cannot be retained as Acting Secretary of War longer than next Saturday, when his thirty day term expires.

URGES FAITHFUL TO OBSERVE WELL DAYS OF FASTING

His Grace, Archbishop Bruchesi Issues Annual Lenten Letter

"I trust that during the present Lent, above all others, the faithful will abstain more than ever from holding banquets, entertainments and worldly festivities. There are too many of our dear friends and their families in mourning, in suffering, in agony, for us to give ourselves up to worldly pleasures," says His Grace, Archbishop Bruchesi, in the annual Lenten pastoral letter to the clergy read at the services of all Catholic churches yesterday.

"Good Catholics," proceeds His Grace, "should give up going to theatres and moving picture shows during this holy season."

The Lenten regulations this year are the same as in the past, though confessors are urged to be lenient in dispensing their penitents, owing to general illness.

Every day, except Sunday, starting with Wednesday of this week, Ash Wednesday, is a fast day on which the faithful may partake of but one full meal, one-half meal of about eight ounces, and a collation of two ounces, of any kind of food. They may take the full meal at any one of the hours set for regular meals, the usual order is for the collation to be taken in the morning, the full meal at mid-day or thereabouts, and the half meal of eight ounces in the evening.

THE EMBER DAYS.

Moreover, every Wednesday and Friday, as well as Ember Saturday and Easter Saturday, in addition to being days of fasting are also days of abstinence, whereon Catholics may not eat meat. On days on which it is permitted to eat meat, it is not permitted to eat fish or oysters at the same meal.

The Archbishop declares that there are a number of persons who on account of illness are unable to fast. These are in no wise obliged to comply with fasting regulations.

His Grace enacts that special prayers and other religious exercises be held in the churches daily and that, each month, a special mass be said with the intention of obtaining peace as well as that the sufferers from the war be afforded consolation from above. His Grace also urges a more widespread practice of the recitation of the rosary and orders that this devotion be practiced hourly in every religious house in the diocese. He also urges that each Catholic family revert to the time-honored custom, whereby all the members united in the evening to recite the rosary in common.

"My dear collaborators," says His Grace in an exhortation to his clergy, "we must pray with all the fervor of which we are capable, in order to obtain the end of this war, which is desolating the world. It has been suggested that there be a ... crusade of all the Catholic children of the universe. We are aware ... the great graces which were obtained ... down the centuries, through the ... votion. MEMORIAL HELD FOR MEMBERS OF THE LOCAL Y.M.C.A.

Other Church Services of a Military Nature

The service held at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday, in memory of nine members of the Association who have given their lives for the Empire, was largely attended and was most impressive. The Rev. Dr. Bruce Taylor, formerly chaplain at the front to the 42nd Highlanders, in his address, said that when the call of war came men and women proved the present age was not backward. People should thank God they were privileged to share in the great events now going on, and that they lived in a time when there was something great to live and die for. There had been too much the idea that sainthood was reserved for the old, a state to be won by a negation of sinful conditions. It was easy to be good in a negative way, but to give one's life for an ideal was the supreme test of sainthood.

Dr. Taylor said the Allies were beginning to win out, but more men were needed. "We need you, because unless we completely win out the sacrifices of those we honor today will have been in vain. We must regard their deaths as magnets to draw others to the same perilous service. From their shallow graves behind the trenches they are calling, 'Men, come over, and don't let our lives go for nothing.'"

The service was held in the main hall of the Y.M.C.A. building on Drummond street, and a prominent place was occupied by a card bearing the names of the dead heroes—J. E. Lysle Millen, A. Clarson, Robert Key, H. H. Swann, A. McLeod, D. L. Anderson, A. F. Revol, W. J. Willier... and E. Richards. W. H. McGILL SERVICE.

The McGill students, to the number of 400, yesterday attended the American Presbyterian Church for their second annual college service. The Rev. Dr. Johnston was assisted by the Rev. Dr. E. I. Rexford, of the Diocesan Theological College, the Rev. Dr. Warriner, of the Congregational College, the Rev. Dr. Welsh, of the Presbyterian College, and the Rev. Dr. Gifford, of the Wesleyan Theological College. Dr. Johnston, in his address on "The Challenge of the Times," said that there was never a greater call for efficiency for the uplift of humanity and this efficiency could only be found in Jesus Christ. In the material world opportunities were crowding for the efficient men. At the close of the war there would be a general readjustment which would bring people into grips with the social and other evils, and great men were needed for these great matters.

A special service for soldiers going overseas was held last night at Emmanuel Congregational Church, being conducted by the Rev. Dr. Hugh Pedley. Addresses were given by Ptes. Pinder and Clarke, of the 5th Universities Company, both of whom had been theological students at Edmonton before joining for overseas service. Wardell Wilson, the new organist, presided at the organ, and at the close of the service a reception was held and largely attended.

A well attended recruiting meeting was held last evening at Cowansville in support of the 150th Battalion, French-Canadians. The Rev. Mr. Lewis presided and addresses were given by Major Bissonette and Lieut. Leduc and others.

GUILBERT HERE, SANG TO FURTHER RECRUITING ENDS

Famous Diseuse Also Cheered Wounded Soldiers With Her Art

The mission of Mme, Yvette Guilbert, the incomparable diseuse who gives a recital in His Majesty's Theatre tonight, seems to be many-sided. Arriving in Montreal yesterday and taking up temporary residence in the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, Madame told newspapermen about many of the objects upon which she lavishes her time and attention. There is the propogation of the old French chanson, for example: there is the merciful impulse to cheer wounded soldiers by singing to them: and there is the heroic intent to help recruiting for the cause of the Allies.

In fact, singing for and reciting to soldiers in hospital proved eventually too taxing to an artist of Mme. Guilbert's sympathy and imaginative temperament. In one instance she recalled that a great light was placed near the platform.

GREAT WHITE LIGHT.

"I asked them to remove it," said Mme. Guilbert, "as it was too blinding. They asked, however, that I allow it to remain, and that they would explain the reason afterwards. I commenced to sing a little French song. 'The Making of the Wine,' which gains ... much of its effect from the ... tures and action. As I sang ... was surprised to see the tense look upon the faces of the soldiers. When I had finished, the doctors handed each man a paper and pencil, and I was naturally at a loss to understand. After the papers had been written upon, they were handed to me, and I was still further surprised to see that each man had written an accurate description of the theme of the song, but judge of my absolute astonishment when the doctor told me that every man in the ward was deaf and dumb from the effects of gun-fire."

ENTENTE LASTING.

Such scenes were too painful to be long endured and Madame crossed to England, there to sing at recruiting meetings. "And those experiences were among the most inspiring of my life," she said. "The Entente has been cemented in blood, shed on the battlefields of Flanders and France, and nothing will ever separate the two nations. They must remain friends and allies for all time and for the good of humanity. France would have been in dire peril had not the British fleet come to her assistance, keeping the sea route open and protecting her coasts from German incursions."

GABRILOWITSCH

Next Sunday afternoon is the time set for the only recital in Montreal this season of Ossip Gabrilowitsch, the great Russian pianist. This artist presents an electric program of exceptional interest. Tickets are now on sale at His Majesty's.

Cards signed by the president of the league, Mrs. William Rutherford, jr., are carried by the genuine collectors.

The Montreal Culinary Association will hold a smoking concert in its halls on March 8, for the benefit of the French soldiers, members of the association.

THE GOOD ROADS CONGRESS BEGINS THIS AFTERNOON

Large Attendance of Delegates from Canada and United States

FINE PROGRAM IS NOW IN READINESS

Notable Speakers—Exhibits Will Be Instructive and Interesting

The third Canadian and International Good Roads Congress opened this afternoon in Sohmer Park, Notre Dame street east. Forecasts that it will be the largest convention held in the Dominion in years were amply fulfilled by the large attendance of delegates from all over Canada and the United States.

The preparation of the large hall at the park was only commenced after the regular performance there last night, but an army of workmen and officials connected with the congress worked all night, arranging for the exhibition of road material and machinery which fills a portion of the hall. At midnight a group of workmen started to make a solid concrete road on the large stage, and this morning it was practically completed. This will be one of the most interesting exhibits of the congress. On the other side of the hall a creosote block pavement has been laid down by another firm, while all around are exhibits of everything used in connection with the making and maintenance of roads.

ONTARIO ROADS.

The Ontario Government exhibit of model roads, and a splendid series of photographs of highways which have been improved, occupies a prominent place in the exhibition; the actual pieces of road that are shown giving delegates a practical illustration of the best methods of road making.

Sir Lomer Gouin, who was to have attended the opening session this afternoon, is confined to bed with a severe cold. But he hopes to be present at a later session of the congress. W. A. McLean, the Deputy Minister of Highways for the Province of Ontario, is laid up with a similar complaint, and was therefore unable to respond to the speeches of welcome made by ministers, mayors and others this afternoon.

The Hon. P. E. Leblanc, the Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of Quebec, formally opened the congress, which is under the presidency of B. Michaud, Deputy Minister of Roads for Quebec Province. Archbishop Bruchesi and the Bishop of Montreal also spoke, while addresses were given by the Hon. [illegible], Minister of Roads, who spoke of the enormous increase in the number of applications made to the Provincial Government by municipalities for grants under its road policy—an evidence of the great interest being taken throughout the province in the good roads movement. The Hon. J. E. Caron, Minister of Agriculture, emphasized the importance to the industry which he represents of having good highways, so as to facilitate the transportation of produce to the markets.

Mayor Mederic Martin was unable to be present but was represented by Controller Cote who also spoke in welcome, and it was mentioned that the city had included in the exhibition a set of its snow cleaning appliances for the examination of the delegates. U. H. Dandurand, honorary president of the Dominion Good Roads Association, spoke, as well as S. L. Squire, president of the Ontario Good Roads Association.

ANNUAL BANQUET.

This evening the annual banquet of the congress is being held at the Place Viger Hotel. The business sessions, which will be held morning, afternoon and evening, will commence at ten o'clock tomorrow morning, the appointment of committees taking place half an hour earlier. The program for tomorrow is as follows: 9.30 a.m.: Appointment of committees; 10 a.m. Address: U. H. Dandurand, honorary president Dominion Good Roads Association; "Macadam and Maintenance". Paper: W. Huber, Asse, M. Can. Soc. C. E. Engineer, Ontario Highways Department; "Gravel and Stone Roads". Paper: Gabriel Henry, Chief Engineer of Highways, Province of Quebec.

2.30 p.m.: Presiding officer U. H. Dandurand. Address: W. A. McLean, Deputy Minister of Highways, Province of Ontario. "A Tour of European Roads." (Illustrated.) "The Hot Mix Method of Bituminous Construction Using an Asphaltic Binder". Paper: Francis P. Smith, Ph. B., Consulting Engineer, New York City. "The Handling and Care of Road Machinery". Paper: E. Fafard, superintendent, Plants Branch, Highways Department, Province of Quebec. "Materials and Methods for the Maintenance of Macadam Roads." Paper: W. H. Connell, Chief of Bureau of Highways, City of Philadelphia, Pa. "The Cost of Maintaining New York State's Highways." Paper: Fred. W. Sarr, Deputy Highway Commissioner New York State, Albany, N.Y.

UNKNOWN MAN IS HIT BY REVOLVER SHOT IN FLIGHT

Constable Interrupts Evident Theft of Cement Bags Worth $100

An unknown man is thought to have received a bullet wound in his shoulder, following the discharge of a revolver by Constable Witty of the Rosemount Police Station, early yesterday morning.

Shortly after 2:30 o'clock, the constable came across three men in a rig loaded with empty cement bags at the corner of Bellechasse street and Papineau avenue, Rosemount. The constable questioned the men as to the ownership of the bags. The men did not wait for a reply, they whipped up their horse, which galloped off at a great speed in the direction of Cote St. Michel.

Not to be outdone, the constable hired a rig from Mr. Blanchard, of 3448 Chabot street, gave chase, and overtook the men at Sault au Recollet. Seeing the constable fast on their heels, the three men abandoned the sleigh in the roadway and took to the fields by the car tracks. Drawing his revolver, Constable Witty fired in their direction and saw one man go down on his knees. He was up again in a minute, however, with his hand to his shoulder and made off with his two companions.

The horse was put in the [illegible] pound at 2415 Ross [illegible]. Yesterday afternoon, John Clarke, of 2111 Rosemount boulevard, claimed the bags. There were between 1,200 and 1,300, valued at about $100. No arrests have been made. The three men are believed to have been rsponsible for other similar deeds committed in the neighborhood within the last few weeks.

QUEBEC WOMEN ON MUNITIONS WORK

QUEBEC, March 6.—A number of women and girls of Quebec society, imitating the example of their sisters in England and France, have offered their services to the Ross Rifle Company to manufacture rifles for the Canadians at the front. They will work four hours a day and receive a salary of six dollars a week. Some of them have already started work.

HON. ROBT. ROGERS SOUNDS WARNING ON PREPAREDNESS

Canada Must Not Suffer from Lack of Trade Munitions

FIRST DUTY IS TO BE PREPARED

Must Get Ready for a Big Increase in Population After War

Special to The Montreal Star.

TORONTO, March 6.—If any misgivings were felt by the people of Toronto at the apparent delay in sending Canadian soldiers overseas, or at the relations existing between the Canadian military authorities and the Imperial Staff, they were effectually dispelled by the Hon. Robert Rogers, Minister of Public Works, in his speech at the recruiting meeting in Massey Hall last night.

Some people seemed to think, Mr. Rogers said, "that there was too much delay in sending the troops overseas. But," he added, "the Government at Ottawa is thoroughly alive to the necessities of the situation and the people can rest assured that we are in the closest touch with Lord Kitchener and the War Office, and nothing is being done without their approval. That has been our policy in the past, and so it will be in the future.

"The pulse of our young nation is beating faster and faster since the recent announcement of our Prime Minister that this young Dominion is to have a greater part in the struggle for liberty," Mr. Rogers went on.

They were all proud, he said, of the gallant Englishmen, Irishmen and Scotsmen who had come to this country to seek their fortunes and help to build up Canada, and who had so nobly answered the call of duty, but they were still more proud of the tens of thousands of Canadian-born men who had come forward in response to the blast of England's bugles to take their place on the firing line.

PREPAREDNESS ALL-IMPORTANT.

Mr. Rogers assured the gathering that the Government would take care of business of the country during the war and after it. "We're going to win this war so completely," he said, "that it will be the last for generations. But from the war we should derive a great lesson.

"We know now what it is to suffer from unpreparedness, which has cost us the loss of many priceless lives and millions in treasure. After the war we must not suffer from lack of trade munitions, as we suffered from the lack of war munitions at the start of the conflict. We [illegible] some day and will finish fighting finishing German we will do it by an covetousness militarism and Germ[illegible]we will have for our Empire and [illegible] of turning finished forever the ideal[illegible]ny. We Canada into a German colling up will then commence the buil[illegible]aker of our own country."

There were many, the spe[illegible] said, who would never be employ[illegible] directly in the war, but they should help to save Canada from the financial consequences of the war. Canada had a glorious opportunity. Her first great duty was to prepare for a big increase in population. Her duty all along the line was one of preparedness.

Coming to the actualities of the great struggle, Mr. Rogers said:

"The liberties of humanity and the very existence of the great British Empire are at stake. Canada has had her own tribulation in the past, but never before has she been faced by a situation where war was a challenge to our right to live as free men and free citizens.

"At the first shock of battle notice was served by a united Canada that the ties which bound her to a united Empire were stronger than ever before. The Government of the Dominion served notice on the world that Canada would take her place in the field; her sons came forward to show that they too were soldiers of the Empire, and Canada's part in the war will not be done till the last shot is fired.

"Canada did not enter the war because of desire for conquest—she has enough land within her own borders for all her sons—but because the German Kaiser has tried to force upon the world the dictum that might is right, a principle opposed to everything for which Canadians stand.

"The world today is suffering from the wicked plans of a despot, just as it suffered from the wicked plans of another despot, Napoleon, a hundred years ago."

Paying a tribute to Canadian bravery at Ypres, Festubert and St. Julien, he said:

"Canada's soldiers have not only covered themselves with glory, but have immortalized the name of this fair Dominion.

But we must ask ourselves the question, what can we do to assist our gallant soldiers in the struggle? We in Canada owe a special duty to the men at the front. The answer to the question can be given by the men who are physically fit, and I may say that I look for the day when our fighting forces will be far beyond the number of 500,000 men. It can also be answered by another class who are not physically fit, and I believe I voice the sentiments of all Canada when I say to our boys that they will be cared for with abundance of treasure while this terrible conflict rages.

"We all rejoice to welcome back our returned soldiers to Canada, and I say that there is nothing in the gift of the Canadian people too good to give these gallant men in return for the services they have rendered."

In proposing a vote of thanks to Mr. Rogers for coming from Ottawa to help recruiting in Toronto, Mr. A. C. MacDonell, M.P., for South Toronto, described the speaker of the evening as a splendid type of the Canadian of the present Federation.

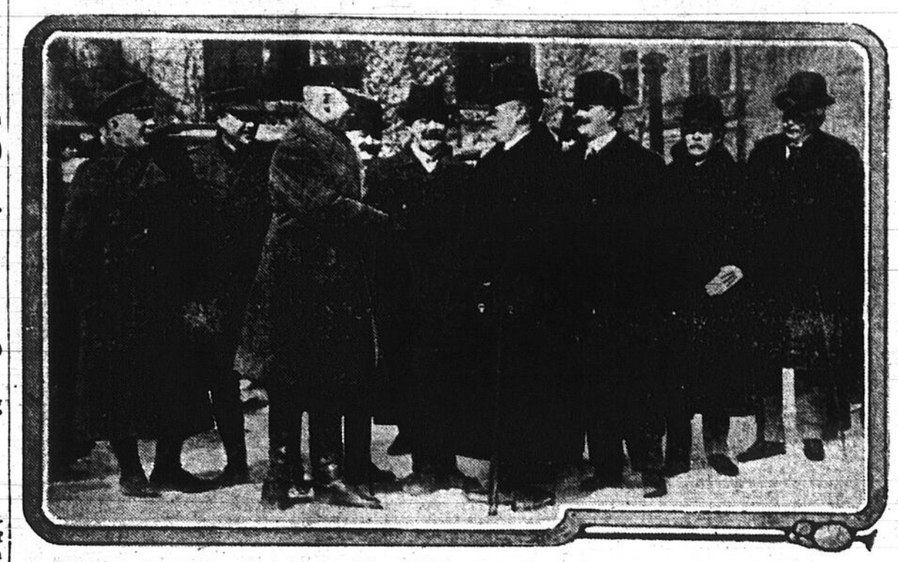

Mr. Rogers, on being introduced by the chairman, Mayor Church, was accorded a very hearty reception, and an address was read to him on behalf of the Recruiting League by its President, Dr. Norman Allen.

No man in the West, Mayor Church said, had done or was doing more for the soldiers than the Minister of Public Works.

BRIG.-GEN. WILSON GREETS GOVERNOR WHITMAN

The Governor of New York State, while lunching at the Mount Royal Club on Saturday, where he was being entertained, heard the approach of the McGill C.O.T.C. as they were marching along Sherbrooke street. He went out to the steps of the club, accompanied by his aide-de-camp, Capt. Spencer, and watched them go by. Lieut.-Col. R. Starke, the officer commanding, gave the order "Eyes left," and the battalion saluted the New York Governor, much to his pleasure. The picture shows Brig.-Gen. E. W. Wilson, G.O.C. of the Fourth Division, shaking hands with Governor Whitman outside the club. Reading from left to right, are: Lieut.-Col. L. Leduc, A.A.G.; Capt. J. Mann, Brig.-Gen. E. W. Wilson, Hon. A. W. Atwater, K.C., Batonnier of the Montreal Bar, Governor Whitman, Capt. Spencer, F. J. Wadham and Sir Charles Peers Davidson. The party afterwards spent some time watching the work of the C.O.T.C. on McGill Campus, and Governor Whitman congratulated Col. Starke on the fine appearance of the battalion, and expressed the hope that similar work would be undertaken by every university.

CANADIAN GUNS LACKED SHELLS AT YPRES FIGHT

Captain Clarence McCuaig, of 13th Montreal Highlanders, Home, Tells of Early Part of Fighting in Which His Regiment Lost Heavily

Capt. Clarence McCuaig, of the 13th Montreal Highlanders, who arrived in Montreal yesterday from off the SS. Rotterdam, from the Flanders front, has a vivid recollection of the early fighting at Ypres, in which his regiment suffered heavy losses.

"What made the German bombardment particularly hard to bear was the silence of the Canadian and British guns," Capt. McCuaig told The Star this morning. "The artillery had no shells. German heavy howitzers had found the exact range of the St. Julien road, and we could not get a shell up to the guns. I passed one place where a German shell had fallen on a loaded artillery limber, and there was a hole in the road half as big as a house, with fragments of the horses in the bottom of it.

MUST MOVE QUICKLY.

"Our guns were moved back, and after the French had got the gas and fell back, we got orders to do so, too. It was necessary to move quickly and to find a new trench location before dawn. We found one and then had only five hours to dig a trench sufficiently deep to afford protection, and to do it with our little entrenching tools, for there wasn't a spade in the battalion. We got it done just as the dawn, but the German aeroplanes spotted us, gave our range—about 10.30 a.m., till 10.30 a.m., when about 4:30 of high explosives, to we evacuate make to reply. Then a steady rain the cover exposed we fell back a[illegible] came to the secground, and finall[illegible]arrtes trenches, ond-line Line head[illegible]easier. It was where things were [illegible]ile it lasted, pretty bad, though, w[illegible]n.

THE NERVOUS STRA[illegible] has two months leave, in order to recuperate from an operation for appendicitis, insists that men who succumb to nervous prostration after a long experience of trench warfare are not much to blame.

"I have seen men who had utterly lost control of themselves," he said. "They are certainly pitiful sights. Don't confuse nervous prostration for that sort with cowardice. It is altogether different and in my judgment a man who suffers from it is not to blame."

Captain McCuaig spoke with a soldier's admiration for German gunnery. The shrapnel lyddite howitzer shell which the Germans have been using lately is, he says, terribly deadly and is usually exploded "beautifully" about eight feet from the ground. The shrapnel shell from a field gun with its high speed and flat tragictory causes little damage to men in the trenches, but the howitzer shrapnel descending almost vertically and exploding above the top of the trench is a terribly formidable weapon.

"We have heard much of the old men and boys who are supposed to compose the German armies, but I didn't see any such," he said. "On the contrary, the German prisoners I saw were just as good men as we were."

Captain McCuaig had nothing but praise for the conduct of the troops under the terrific ordeal of Ypres, when for three days they had neither rations nor water, but he declared that it was a fatal mistake to put very young officers unaccustomed to modern warfare in command of large bodies of men.

"I had a double company and it was all I wanted to handle and I have had ten months of it," he said. Captain McCuaig, by the way, is twenty-three years old.

VIGOROUS RECRUITING METHODS ARE APPROVED OF BY GENERAL WILSON

"I think the plan put into operation by the 148th Battalion—placing men at the street corners to ask the hundreds of young men walking about why they are not in khaki—is an excellent one," said Brig.-Gen. E. W. Wilson, G.O.C., of the Fourth Division, this morning, referring to the recruiting at the street corners which the 148th Battalion started on Saturday evening. Many young men were stopped and asked to enlist. Some were annoyed, and others had excuses to make.

"The ones who get annoyed," said the General, "are the ones who have no excuse to offer for not being in khaki. Let us make them ashamed. These people are going along the [illegible] and nobody is saying a word [illegible]m. The soldiers in uniform [illegible] just as much a right to ask [illegible] questions as these fel[illegible]have [illegible] to sit back and let the [illegible] boys go over to fight [illegible]lows have for them. The reason other brave [illegible]ject to being asked is ither battle[illegible]have no reason to give why they ob[illegible] because they [illegible]to be more of it done, for not joining[illegible]ne to the young men "There ought [illegible]are needed to help so as to bring ho[illegible]ill the gaps made that their services [illegible]brave battalions win the war, and [illegible]the call. in the ranks of the [illegible]e to be done to that have answered [illegible]returns here—

"Something will hav[illegible] it all to the increase the recruiting it is not fair to leave battalions."

148TH OFFICERS FIND RECRUITING ABOUT CITY SLOW

Nevertheless Many Encouraging Incidents are Reported

Recruiting for the 148th Battalion last week was considered disappointing, in view of the great efforts made on behalf of the unit.

The week started off with a big patriotic service in St. James' Methodist Church, and this was followed up by speeches made at every performance of "The Story of the Rosary" at His Majesty's Theatre. As a climax to this concentrated effort, squads were sent out on Saturday with the object of trying to bring home more personally to individuals the necessity and urgency of responding to the present call.

Notwithstanding this effort, the number enrolled last week was below that of any previous week since recruiting commenced, and it is a matter of keen disappointment to Lieut.-Col. A. A. Magee and his officers that their efforts should have received so little support or success.

This present almost comatose condition in recruiting is quite unaccountable, they say, and if the voluntary system does not receive better support, there is every possibility that some other efforts will have to be made to bring about the desired result.

For all there is this present weak response, still most encouraging incidents are happening daily in recruiting offices throughout the city. Men, who have been to the front and returned, temporarily physically unfit, and who, after a rest have fully recuperated, are coming forward and again offering their services. The officers say that type of man is a splendid example to others, who are slow in realizing their responsibilities; as in these cases, the returned soldiers are surely justified in taking the stand that they have "done their bit," and are not called upon to make any further sacrifices.

CAPTAIN WILSON HAS AN OPERATION.

Capt. E. W. Wilson, son of Brig.-Gen. E. W. Wilson, G. O. C. of the 4th Division, underwent an operation on Saturday morning, and a cable to the general from Col. C. A. Lawrence, commanding the 10th Brigade, on whose staff Capt. Wilson is, states that he is making excellent progress. The operation was performed in Colchester Hospital, London, and it was suffered while Capt. Wilson was on active service in France.

GRAND TRUNK IS LOSING NO TIME ON OLD STATION

Reports Being Rushed—Didn't Wait for the City Building Inspection Department to Act—New Girders Put in Place—Clearing Out Debris

Without having consulted the Building Inspection Department at the City Hall half a hundred men are busily engaged today rebuilding the Bonaventure station.

"They have not consulted me, nor has any permit been issued," said Building Inspector Chausse when his attention was called to the fact that new steel girders were being placed on walls still partly covered with ice and surrounded with debris.

"I will send one of the inspectors over right away," Mr. Chausse added.

Two hours later The Star enquired from Mr. Chausse if the inspector had reported. "Not yet," said Mr. Chausse," I don't expect he will be back with his report until tomorrow."

In the interval the work is progressing, half a dozen new girders having been put in place by noon hour.

ROOFING OVER SHELL.

Vice-president D. E. Galloway gave out a statement today on behalf of President Chamberlin of the Grand Trunk Railway regarding the plans for the immediate accommodation of the public. The statement follows:

"Plans are now being put into execution for the roofing over of the shell of the building. Our engineers have tested and are satisfied with the walls which the fire left standing. They are quite sound and will be roofed over from the height of the second storey or higher, as the engineers see fit. Work is being rushed forward today in the removal of the debris inside the walls, and it will then be possible to determine the condition of the floor of the old station. The safety of the floor has not yet been reported on."

Queried regarding the plans for the permanent building, Mr. Galloway said that these are still indefinite and that it is a matter which must be reported on to the board before plans are formulated.

LOSING NO TIME.

The work of reconstruction was so far advanced by noon hour that one of the officials in charge said he expected to have the entire inner enclosure stretching from St. James street to the lane abutting the old baggage room roofed over by tomorrow night.

By noon eight steel girders had been put in position from wall to wall at the height of the second storey and on these a wooden roofing, serving as a flooring for the storey above, had been placed.

This roofing covers nearly half of the enclosure starting from the rear end. Ten other girders are on the ground for the remaining portion, which fronts St. James street and the former main entrance.

The portion of the building which housed the waiting rooms, Pullman and passenger ticket offices, and offices above, is still chocked with debris, smoking at some points, and in frozen lumps at others.

The windows in the roofed-over portion are being boarded up at the side facing the train sheds, while at the other side gangs are busy shoveling the office debris out through the windows.

When Vice-President Galloway was questioned about going on with the work without waiting for the city, he said: "The engineering department in charge of the work states that at present they are busy removing the debris from the waiting rooms and all the front portion of the building will continue this until finished, before completing the rest of the work.

"As to the necessary permit, the engineers do not think the work far enough advanced at this stage to require a permit, if indeed any permit is necessary. The work is merely repairs to an old building. In any case, we are concerned mainly with the removal of the debris at present."

WOMEN EXPRESS SYMPATHY WITH ONTARIO FRENCH

The French-Canadian women of Montreal held a mass meeting in the Sulpicians' public library, St. Denis street on Saturday afternoon, to discuss the bi-lingual school difficulty in Ontario. Madame Gerin-Lajoie was president and convenor of the gathering, and the principal speaker was Madame Landry, wife of Senator Landry.

Madame Landry had just returned from an extensive tour of the French-Canadian portions of Ontario, and told of the fight her compatriots there were putting up to have their own language taught their children in the schools.

The other speakers included Madame Huguenin, Madame F. L. Beique, Madame Girard, widow of the late Senator Girard and Miss Marie Claire Daveluy. Miss St. Jean recited.

The following resolution was adopted and will be forwarded to the French-Canadian associations in Ontario:

"That the French-Canadian ladies of Montreal desire to express to the women of their race, living in Ontario, and in every province where the rights of the French language are ignored and persecuted, their ardent sympathy in the magnificent combat they are now carrying on around the schools frequented by their children, descendants of the first settlers of Canada, to whom they desire to keep intact a superior civilization;

"That the French-Canadian ladies of Montreal express, therefore, their entire and profound admiration for all of these valiant women who are perpetuating the tradition and courage of the first heroines of New France and they highly approve of their proud and noble vindication of the rights of the French tongue."

GERMANS STOPPED BY FIRE

French Artillery Arrests Terrific Onslaught by Hun Legions

PETAIN'S TROOPS HOLD THEIR GROUND

Repeated Waves of Teuton Troops Dash in Vain Against Them

By Canadian Press.

PARIS, March 6.—Yesterday was a good day for the French at Verdun, according to information received this morning, and public confidence is greatly strengthened by the news of the continued repulses of the German attacks.

In military and political circles lively satisfaction is expressed regarding the situation, and the opinion now begins to prevail that the great efforts of the Germans will be more easily disposed of than was at first expected.

Having failed to make any impression on the Douaumont position and on Vaux to its right, the German General Staff determined to smash the French left on the Vacherauville wood—Cote du Pouvre position.

Without regard to cost, the best troops were hurled forward, but with no more success than elsewhere. Pomeranians and what was left of the Brandenburgers dashed themselves vainly against the French, who stood as immovable as a rock wall.

As at Vaux, the Germans finally fell back, leaving heaps of dead on the ground. The French infantry, supported by their formidable artillery, which will never henceforth lack ammunition, showed themselves able to resist every onslaught.

On the left bank of the Meuse artillery on both sides thundered all day long. The French infantry in that section had little to do, though the military experts believe it is extremely doubtful that the Germans will attempt to storm the Mort Homme key position, for to do so they must deploy over a plain a mile wide under cross-fire from the heights around.

It is chiefly the French artillery which is involved in the Woevre fighting. The French hold the outskirts of the village of Manheulles firmly and have stopped all attempts of the Germans to debouch in that direction.

An idea of the relatively small percentage of French casualties in the Verdun battle is considered as deducible from a statement made by a lieutenant who has arrived here of the added.

the greater losses," he said, "are comparatively slight. My regiment, for instance, had only forty-seven killed and thirty-five wounded. This is small for a unit which has been acting as support and which was engaged in the most violent of the fighting."

HALF MILLION HUNS ATTACK.

Reinforcements brought up by the Germans since the inauguration of the second phase of the battle on Wednesday are estimated here at 250,000 men, raising the total forces utilized by the assailants to more than half a million.

Estimates of losses show wide variance. Details of local actions and the size of the reserve forces brought up, cause French observers to make the deduction that the Germans have paid a very heavy price for the six square miles of ground they have gained.

In front of the village of Vaux alone 4,000 German corpses were counted after the eighth unsuccessful attack. This part of the battle, though overshadowed by the fight for Douaumont, is regarded in Paris as a serious check for the attackers.

The Germans carried on the assault with great courage until the dead lay thick on the field. Then the officers, it is said, were compelled to urge on the troops as they clambered over the corpses of their fallen comrades for the last assault.

The attack on Vaux began on the evening of March 2, after a furious shelling, and continued until the following night. Columns of Germans, advancing simultaneously from the north and northwest, tried to envelop the village. French artillery immediately opened a heavy fire, which separated the first wave of Germans from their reinforcements. Nevertheless, the fresh troops came on, and observers saw plainly the tragic spectacle of lines of men plunging into that storm of steel and emerging thinned to half their strength. Some contingents lost six out of every ten men before ever having fired a shot.

GERMAN ATTACK FAILS.

The survivors undaunted, resolutely stormed the French trenches and fought hand to hand in fierce melees at the outskirts of the village. The bitterest fighting was for possession of the road leading to Douaumont, the advantage of which was obvious. The Germans charged eight times there.

The supreme effort was carried out by six regiments, advancing in close formation. French machine-guns did gruesome execution in the mass, and French infantry, held carefully under cover until the advancing forces approached the trenches, leaped out to meet the onrush with cold steel.

The fighting was finished in a few short minutes. The Germans retired, leaving hundreds torn and tangled in the barbed-wire defenses and thousands laid low by machine gunshots and bayonets.

As the battle proceeds the strategy of General Petain, French commander at Verdun, is being compared more and more carefully with that of General Castelanu in the Battle of Nancy. General Petain's withdrawal to the Douaumont Plateau was like General Castelanu's withdrawal to the plateau of Amance, away from the heaviest blows of the adversary, to a dominating position, all efforts to dislodge him from which failed. French officers predict General Petain's strategy will have the same result, so that the Germans will be compelled to seek a decision elsewhere on the front.

DOUAUMONT APPROACHES HELD.

The official statement issued by the War Office last night reads:

"North of Soissons our batteries have carried out a destructive fire on the enemy works.

"In the Argonne our artillery has bombarded the German organizations near the road to Benarville, to the north of Haranzee, and La Haute Chavauchee.

"North of Verdun there was a very violent bombardment, particularly between the Haudemont Wood and Fort Douaumont. The enemy, however, was not able to renew his attacks in that region.

"There has been no change as regards the Village of Douaumont, the immediate approaches to which we hold.

"In the wood to the east of Vacherauville an attack directed by the Germans against our advanced position was completely repulsed.

"In the Woevre a powerful bombardment occurred in the region of Fresnes and east of Haudemont. Our artillery was very active on the whole of the enemy front, and cannonaded moving troops to the north of Vacherauville, near the Bois des Fosses and in the neighborhood of Louvemont.

"One of our aeroplanes last night dropped several bombs on the railway station at Conflans, where great activity was in evidence.

"The Belgian official communication reads:

"Intermittent cannonading has occurred along the Belgian front."

ANOTHER ATTACK REPULSED.

The official announcement issued yesterday afternoon reads as follows:

"In Belgium, to the south of Lombaertzyde, trenches of the enemy were demolished by our artillery.

"In the Argonne our batteries fired a great number of shots against the enemy's trenches and communicating lines in the region of La Haute Chevauchee and at Bourguilles, where a fire was started.

"In the region of Verdun the fighting was confined principally to the Village of Douaumont, continuing into the night. At six o'clock the enemy, after a violent bombardment, launched a heavy attack against our lines from the Haudemont Wood to the Fort of Douaumont. This attack was repulsed by our curtain of fire and by the firing of our infantry.

"During the night the bombardment was continued with a fair degree of intensity over our whole front to the east of the Meuse, and, to the west, at Le Mort Homme and Cote de l'Oie."

FRENCH FIRE EFFECTIVE.

Saturday night's official communication reads as follows:

"In Artois an attack by the enemy with the object of driving us from the crater which we occupy near the road from Neuville to La Folie was repulsed.

"In the Argonne we cannonaded in the region to the southeast of Vauquois the German organizations and demolished several shelters.

"In the region of Verdun a very violent bombardment was in progress all day on the left bank of the Meuse, at Hill 304 and Cote de l'Oie. On the right bank the enemy, after an intense bombardment directed on the Haudemont Wood, east of Cote du Poivre, launched against our positions an attack which was stopped by our machine-gun and infantry fire.

"In the morning the Germans had succeeded in again gaining a foothold in the Village of Douaumont, from which we had driven him last evening by a counter-attack.

"The struggle continues desperately, with alternative advance and recoil, for the possession of the village. In the Woevre there has been less activity on the part of the artillery.

"In the Lorraine in the region of the ponds of Thiaville, after artillery preparation, we carried several sections of an enemy trench. About sixty prisoners were taken, including one officer. Two machine-guns and one bomb-thrower also remain in our hands.

"The Belgian official communication says there is nothing particular to report on the Belgian front."

GERMAN OFFICIAL REPORT.

BERLIN, March 6, via London.—The War Office statement of yesterday says the French artillery is keeping up very heavy fire between the Meuse and Moselle especially in the region of Douaumont, near Verdun, but that there has been no further infantry fighting of great importance.

The Germans have consolidated the trenches captured from the French near the Forest of Thiaville, in Lorraine. The statement follows:

"Western front—Towards evening lively artillery fire of the enemy developed at several points on the front. Between the Meuse and the Moselle, French artillery continues very active, especially in the region of Douaumont, which at times was bombarded with great violence. There was no lively infantry fighting.

"To avoid unnecessary losses we evacuated yesterday the trenches we captured from the French on February 28, near the Forest of Thiaville, northeast of Badonviller (Lorraine), before the concentrated fire of the enemy against these positions.

"Eastern front — In the neighborhood of Illoukst an attack planned by the Russians, following some mining operations, against our positions, could not be carried out. Advances by reconnoitring parties of the enemy at other points were repulsed.

"Balkan front—There is nothing to report."

SATURDAY'S OFFICIAL REPORT.

The German official statement issued on Saturday follows:

"Western theatre—The fighting to the southeast of Ypres has for the time being come to a standstill. The position held by us prior to February 14 is firmly in our hands, and the Bastion is in the hands of the enemy. Lively artillery engagements in the Champagne continued throughout yesterday. In the Argonne an enemy attack failed.

"On both sides of the Meuse the French increased the activity of their artillery, and after a great increase in the volume of their fire they attacked the village of Douaumont and our lines adjoining it. They were repulsed partially in close range fighting and sustained heavy loss. We took more than 1,000 unwounded prisoners.

"After the work of clearing the battlefield it has been ascertained that the booty taken since February 22 has been increased from 37 guns and 75 machine guns to 115 guns and 101 machine guns.

"Near Obersept, northwest of Pfist, the enemy attempted in vain to recapture the position taken by us on February 13. His first attack succeeded partly in reaching our trenches, from which, however, he immediately was ejected by a counter-attack.

"Our curtain of fire prevented a repetition of the attack from developing except in some places.

"The enemy, after suffering losses, consisting of a great number of killed or wounded, and eighty prisoners, was compelled to retreat to his former position.

"Eastern theatre—In a small engagement near Alsewitachi eight miles northeast of Baranovichi, the Russians were driven out of their positions.

BITLIS TAKEN BY BAYONET ASSAULT; NOT A SHOT FIRED

Russians Destroy Entire Third Army of Turks in Revenge

PETROGRAD, March 6.—The following official communication regarding the capture of Bitlis has been issued by the War Office:

"Details of the capture of Bitlis show that our troops attacked the position without firing a shot. The attack was made at night during a snowstorm. About 3 o'clock in the morning a bayonet charge was ordered and the Turks, after a desperate resistance, were dislodged.

"The Turkish artillery position was stormed after hand-to-hand fighting, as the result of which the defenders, who fought with the greatest desperation, were all killed.

"On the position and in pursuit of the enemy we captured twenty guns of the latest Krupp type, all of which were in good condition. We also captured on the positions a huge quantity of gun and rifle cartridges, and in Bitlis itself a large depot of artillery munitions. During the pursuit numerous Turks were sabred. The number of prisoners has increased and includes forty officers."

RUSSIANS' TERRIBLE REVENGE.

LONDON, March 6.—The Russian soldiers at Bitlis, according to a Petrograd despatch to the Morning Post, took a terrible revenge on the Turkish troops for the cruelty which the Turks were alleged to have practiced toward the Armenians in that district. The correspondent says:

"A terrible slaughter followed the capture of the Turkish positions at Bitlis. The Russian troops had witnessed at Van, Mush and many other places an appalling sight, the massacre, namely, by Turkish fanatics of tens of thousands of Armenian Christian men, women and children. It was unlikely after such deeds that any quarter should be given. The colossal killing completed the destruction of the Turkish third army."

RUSSIAN OFFICIAL REPULSE.

PETROGRAD, via London, March 6.—General Headquarters issued the following official statement on the progress of the campaign:

"Western (Russian) front—We fired fourteen mines yesterday near Illoukst. A terrific struggle for possession of the craters ensued. We solidly occupied six of them. In one crater the Germans, who suffered severe losses, are surrounded in half a demolished blockhouse.

"About 3 o'clock yesterday morning the Germans, after artiller" preparation of an hour and a half attacked the village of Alssevitch, south of the small market town of Kroschino, and ten versts (six and one-half miles, east of the Baronovichi Railway Station. We repulsed this attack with our fire.

"On the front on which General Ivanoff's troops are operating our scouts occupied an enemy advanced trench near the bridgehead in the Mikhaltche region, northwest of Uscieczko. We repulsed three counter-attacks of the enemy, who attempted to regain the trench.

"On the Dniester, near Zamuschine, we fired a mine, demolishing a portion of the enemy's barricades. The crater and a number of the enemy's isolated advance trenches were occupied by our troops.

"Caucasus front—Our pursuit of the Turks continues."

BRITISH IN GRENADE FIGHTIN[G]

LONDON, March 6. — The offici[al] statement from British Headqu[ar]ters, issued Saturday night, reads:

"During last night and early [this] morning there was sharp gre[nade] fighting in some mine craters [near] Vermelles. The enemy bomba[rded] our trenches while trying to ca[pture] the craters. All the craters re[main] in our hands.

"The situation everywhere is [nor]mal."

A British official communi[cation] issued last night says:

"Grenade fighting continued [last] night in the craters northea[st of] Vermelles. Today the enemy [artil]lery has been active about Loo[s and] northeast of Ypres.

"The situation on the Ypres-Comines Canal is quiet, and our troops retain the ground gained there March 2."

HOT GERMAN ASSAULT.

A special despatch from Philip Gibbs to the London Daily Chronicle reads as follows:

"With the British Army in the Field, March 5.—The Germans are heavily bombarding today the position known as the 'Bluff,' and the trenches we took from them in the early morning assault on March 2. Our guns are retaliating with great intensity on the enemy's front line.

"The whole struggle for the Bluff, which began with the German surprise attack on February 14, after a series of mine explosions, has revealed the distinctive power of the artillery on both sides and the extreme difficulty of maintaining a position on which a large number of guns is concentrated.

"The enemy's artillery has lost some of its old power and the number of batteries they can mass on any given point is formidable. They must have been firing with at least 200 guns of all calibres in the neighborhood of the Bluff and since February 14 this artillery duel has only slackened for brief intervals.

WITHSTAND STORM OF SHELLS.

"In the afternoon of March 1 our men could hardly be restrained from leaving cover and rushing the enemy's position. The Germans prepared to receive the assault, but it did not take place then, and, instead, our guns began to bombard their front line and communication trenches, so they must have suffered heavy losses.

"Then, suddenly, the infantry launched their assault a few minutes later. Our artillery made an intense barrage on the enemy's support trenches while our men were fighting their way forward. Our losses seem to have been comparatively slight.

"The Germans in the front lines had gone to cover in deep dugouts. At first only a few men, not more than 100 or so, were discovered alive. The dead lay thick in the maze of trenches, and our men stumbled across them. The living were in a worse state than the dead. They were dazed by the continuous shell fire and cold with terror when our men sprang upon them in the darkness. Small parties were collected and passed back as prisoners.

"Others in hiding were still dangerous because they had their bombs and rifles. An ultimatum was shouted down to them: 'If you don't come out you will be blown in.' so [many] Boches surrendered.

"The great ordeal came after[wards] when the enemy began a[fter]wards, bombardment with every [kind] of counter-gun. Under that great [storm] of successive attempts of [the] enemy were repulsed." [The] German in-

ROME, March 6—An official statement from General Headquarters reads:

The official communication issued yesterday says:

There have been only artillery duels and patrol activities along the entire front.

SS. METAGAMA DOCKS WITH 137 MEN FROM FRONT

Major Read of 28th in Charge—Capt. Draper Back

ESCAPE OF MAJOR DUBUC IS RELATED

Buried in Dugout and Rescued With Difficulty

ST. JOHN, N.B., March 6.—Covered with ice, the big C.P.R. liner Metagama made port last night. Officers of the ship reported a very rough voyage. The Metagama left Liverpool on Saturday, February 26, and the roughest part of the passage was when she ran into a hurricane on approaching the Nova Scotia coast.

The vessel brought 585 passengers, 137 of them returning officers and men, 753 packages of parcel post and 2,807 bags of mail. One carload of mail is destined for Russia. Although the ship docked at 7:30 o'clock, no passengers were debarked. All will be taken off this morning.

The military party was in charge of Major R. H. Read, of the 28th Battalion. Capt. L. G. Hodder was the medical officer in charge of the party. Eighteen of the men in the party were for the Maritime Provinces, and the remainder for central and western Canada.

CAPT. DRAPER BACK.

Lieut.-Col. J. B. McPhee, of Barrie, Ont., late paymaster of the 20th Battalion, was in the party. He will take command of the second of two new Simcoe County battalions, Major G. Moberly, of the 7th British Columbia Battalion, on leave. Other officers were Capt. R. H. Jamieson, 5th Montreal Highlanders; Capt. K. McPherson, 2nd Divisional Engineers, and Capt. W. H. Draper, of Montreal, 14th Montreal Royals. The latter will assist in munitions work.

The only officer to leave the ship last night was Capt. Fred. F. May, of the 26th Battalion of New Brunswick. Capt. May was buried in a dugout in which was Major Dubuc of Montreal. Major Dubuc was with the 22nd. He was completely buried, and was rescued after great difficulty by a rescuing party. Capt. May was buried all but one arm and soon extricated, although he was suffering from shock. Major Dubuc was wounded earlier in the campaign, and had recovered when he had his experience with a shell.

FIERCE STORM LASHES COAST OF NOVA SCOTIA

HALIFAX, N.S., March 6.—Halifax and the coast were swept by one of the worst blizzards in years on Saturday and considerable damage was done on the water front. The wind attained a high velocity, and was accompanied by snow.

The schooner Reform went ashore inside the reef at Mauger's Beach in this harbor and is a total wreck. Her crew was saved.

The lightship Halifax broke from her moorings outside the harbor at two o'clock Saturday afternoon, and was picked up by Government boats yesterday afternoon, after being twenty-four hours' adrift and blowing out to sea. There were other minor accidents about the water front.

The Eagle Oil Company's steamer San Onofre, of London, which was last reported to be proceeding to St. John's in tow of the Ashtabula, has not been heard from since Saturday night, and there are grave fears for her safety. The last message from Cape Race received by C. H. Harvey, agent for the Marine and Fisheries Department, was as follows:

"No communication with the San Onofre since last night. Now drifting out of the daylight range. Last report Ashtabula still standing by. Mountainous seas. Got one tow rope aboard, but it was carried away in southerly gales."

It would appear from this that the Ashtabula is having a hard time with the San Onofre, and it is possible that she will have to return to port without her. The San Onofre is out of coal, and has burned all available woodwork in her interior construction.

BIRDMEN DROP IN ON CENTRAL PARK

NEW YORK, March 6.—Alexander E. Thaw, an aviator, and John A. Kane, his passenger, dropped in on Central Park with quite a thud today when Thaw's machine ran out of gasoline on a flight from Garden City, L.I. to Governor's Island.

Neither man was hurt, though both catapulted from their seats and both planes crumpled. Thaw was guiding the craft several hundred feet up when the engine began to cough. The sound was ominous and to prevent landing on an apartment house roof he had to steer an abrupt course downward.

ERROR WAS MADE OVER IMPORTS AT MORRISBURG, ONT.

Commissioner Says He Ordered Machine Guns Only Passed Duty Free

Special to The Star by Our Own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, March 6.—Col. J. Wesley Allison's importations of large quantities of wnat was supposed to be war equipment were further investigated before the Public Accounts Committee today.

At Friday's sitting, Mr. A. G. F. Drew, collector of customs at Morrisburg, swore that he had received instructions from the Department at Ottawa to admit free and without entry supplies and materials brought from the United States to Morrisburg and consigned to Col. Allison and his associates. Acording to Drew, the stuff came in by scow loads.

This morning, John McDougald, Commissioner of Customs, was heard. He expressed surprise that anything had been allowed to come in except the Sifton Battery machine guns, for which an arrangement had been made with Capt. Sifton.

"It looks as though the Department has been grossly misled," commented F. B. Carvell, "and it emphasizes anew the necessity of having Mr. Allison here in order to clear up the situation."

Commissioner McDougald declared that in September, 1914, Capt. Sifton came to him and spoke of having the machine guns and motor cars brought into Canada through Morrisburg, en route to the front. He had sent an inspector to the Collector of Customs at Morrisburg with a letter of introduction.

MACHINE GUNS ONLY MENTIONED.

"Was there any understanding as to what goods should be allowed in?" queried Mr. Carvell.

"Yes, it was to be the machine guns."

"Did anyone discuss with you bringing in other goods?"

"No."

"Were you advised that these other things were being imported."

"No, I knew nothing about it."

"Is the officer wrong in saying you gave him a letter of instruction?"

"Yes. It was just a letter of introduction."

R. B. MacDougald, an inspector of Customs, told of his having taken a letter to the Collector at Morrisburg, and having told him to let through any imports for the Sifton Battery. He had not described them, except to say they were to come in cases.

"The Collector says he was told to admit what was imported by Col. Allison and his associates."

"The only one I mentioned was Jack Sifton."

"Where is the letter you took to the Collector?"

"I think it has been destroyed.

"Commissioner McDougald reiterated that the only application made to the Department related to the Sifton machine guns and nothing else, and denied he had given any instruction about Col. Allison.

The Hon. Dr. Reid then made an explanation. "An application," he said, "was made to the Department to bring in the Sifton Battery, but I never heard of any other goods coming in, or of any application that they should be allowed. If the Collector permitted it, he acted on his own initiative or else misunderstood instructions."

To Mr. Carvell, Dr. Reid stated that the Commissioner of Customs had spoken to him before he sent the letter to the Morrisburg Collector.

"Did you leave the Collector at the mercy of verbal instructions"? queried Mr. Chisholm, of R. B. McDougald.

"That is what he got."

Further examination elicited no new point. Inspector McDougald could throw no light on an item of $105 for a special freight train to convey goods broght in by Col. Allison.

ATTEMPT TO KILL WOMAN IS CHARGE WHICH MAN FACES

The case of Adolphe Charbonneau, charged with the attempted murder of Angelina Pelletier in October last, was the first heard in the Court of King's Bench this morning. The case was not finished when the court adjourned for lunch.

Mrs. Eva Murray, keeper of the boarding house at 109 Dorchester street east, where the two lived as man and wife, testified that about six o'clock in the afternoon she went into their room, to find the woman lying on the bed, bathed in blood. She had told Mrs. Murray that she had "hit her head against the spittoon."

Angelina Pelletier herself testified that she did not know whether Charbonneau had shot her or not. She remembers having been struck in the face, and then she lost consciousness.

Mrs. Murray, recalled, said she had heard what must have been two shots at two o'clock that afternoon. At the time she had paid no attention to the noise, as she thought it was someone slamming a door.

Constable Loiselle was the officer called late in the afternoon. He testified that the woman had told him the same story as she told Mrs. Murray. He had said, "Nonsense, you have been shot, you had better come along to the hospital." He had held Charbonneau. (who said that the woman had shot herself) as a material witness. The revolver, with two exploded shells in it, he had found in the corner of the room.

Dr. Bourne, medical superintendent of the General Hospital, testified that a revolver bullet had been extracted from the woman's cheek. It had entered the ear, and passed across the face to the cheek, on the opposite side.

KELLY APPEAL HAS BEEN DISMISSED

WINNIPEG, March 6.—The appeal of Thomas Kelly & Sons in the civil suit brought against them by the province of Manitoba in connection with the Parliament buildings, against the order for fuller and better production of documents was dismissed by Court of Appeals this morning.

In view of the possibility that the defence will carry the point to the Privy Council, a stay of proceedings until Thursday was granted.

Appeal was made on ground that a further production of documents might tend to incriminate the defendants.

COAL SCANDAL IN VICTORIA BRINGS OUT DENUNCIATION

Special to The Montreal Star From Our Own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, March 6.—A Pacific Coast scandal connected with the supply of coal to Government dredges at Victoria was taken up in the Public Accounts Committee today.

H. P. Hill, K. C., of Ottawa, who was an investigating commissioner for the Public Works Department, was examined on his report.

The facts as brought out were that tenders were called for and Joshua Kingham was the lowest bid. In due time he got the contract at $5.25. John L. Nelson, Superintendent of Dredging for British Columbia, in place of ordering coal from Kingham, bought it from a firm named Kirk and Company at $7 per ton. W. H. Price, Secretary of the Victoria Conservative Association got a rake-off of 50 cents a ton. In all, 2500 tons were supplied.

The report says:

"While perhaps some allowance can be made for Nelson's entering into the agreement, no allowance can be made for Price's conduct."

His case is described as one of "unscrupulous cupidity and lack of honor."

The Commissioner found that for the amounts improperly paid "Nelson is primarily to blame and has to accept the odium. I find that he did not profit in any way, and am of opinion that Price is the greater sinner of the two. If he had not interfered, the irregularities would probably not have occurred."

GERMAN LOSSES AT VERDUN 100,000, SAYS NORTHCLIFFE

PARIS, March 6.—The first eye-witness account of the Verdun battle has reached Paris in the form of a cablegram to the London Times from Lord Northcliffe, who has been at Verdun since Friday morning. He says:

"It is known that the Germans intended to attack later, but the premature spring seemed to dry the ground sufficiently and accelerated their plans by six weeks. Deserters give more than usually valuable information. The French were fully prepared. So far the Germans have been effectively checked, with losses hard to exaggerate, while the French losses are really trifling.

"I have interrogated scores of prisoners, belonging to every corps engaged. Their accounts agree — everywhere the losses are beyond anything known before. Thus the German Third and Eighteenth Corps were 'entirely used up,' the Seventh Reserve lost half, and the Fifteenth three-quarters of their strength.

The 113th Division and Fifth Reserve Corps and the Bavarian Erstz Division were all 'used up,' while later came reinforcements, which suffered equally.

The most conservative total estimate surpasses one-third of the forces engaged, or over 100,000 of Germany's picked troops.

WOUNDED SUFFERED HORRIBLY.

"A sudden change in the weather damaged the German plans. Never did wounded suffer so terribly. Imagine the horror of the French when their lookouts, trying to save the living among the German masses covering the plateau and slopes, found all had been frozen stiff by the icy wind.

"As I approached the battle two things struck me: First, the huge quantity of all kinds of supply wagons; second, the terrific thunder of the cannonade, far surpassing anything I have heard in other battles.

"I looked across the city, of which the enemy is making a second Ypres, toward Douaumont, that gunless fort so magnified by the Germans, whose capture French Headquarters regard as a 'simple episode of give and take in war.'

"The day was fine, and, despite the horrible carnage, the character of the ground forces me to describe this as a beautiful battle. Despite the cannonade, birds were singing and Red Cross ambulances and motor convoys wound through picturesque roads. We counted twenty convoys of a hundred wagons each on one road alone. It is not only the Germans who know how to utilize auto transport.

VERDUN'S VALUE MORAL.

"I lunched at the simple headquarters of General Petain, who drank tea with his brief meal. He discussed the battle as though only an interested spectator. He looks like Lord Roberts, though larger built. He spoke with great interest of the Australian and Canadian armies, and the growth of the British army. Both he and his staff are remarkable by a complete lack of excitement.

"At another gathering of officers the talk touched on the question whether the British should attack now to relieve the Verdun pressure. Opinion was mostly adverse, but the French evidently feel that our army has reached the point of being able to bear England's full share in future operations.

"The French officers agree that Verdun's value is chiefly moral. They are confident the line would hold if the fortress fell. But if neutrals could see the poor quality of the Teuton soldiers they would be more impressed than by the fall of Verdun.

HUN PRISONERS DAZED.

"'What a pity your Highlanders can't meet them in fair fight. It would end the war in a month,' said a French captain as we passed a group of wretched prisoners.

"Germany must be near the end of her tether when 5-foot 4-inch narrow-chested youths are members of elite corps like the Third or Fifth Berlin Army Corps. The young prisoners had only ten weeks' training before going to the front. Some who came from Flanders after a short rest were told 'We send you against the kindly French instead of the frightful English.'

"All were dazed and just able to rejoice that they had escaped alive. All agree that there is no enthusiasm left in the German army, and that home letters are invariably gloomy. Their boots were the only good thing about them, and show the need of our furtner tightening the blockade. The real lesson of the Verdun battle is that the French, with comparatively small losses of men and ground, have repulsed forces originally three to one stronger.

"Here is the disposition of the German armies on February 21, when the battle began, running east from a point north of Varennes; On the extreme right were the 7th Reserve Corps, consisting of the 2nd Landwehr and 11th and 12th Reserve Divisions, in the order named. During the battle the 11th was relieved by the 22nd Reserve. Next, facing the French, northeast of Verdun, came the 14th Reserve Division, with the 7th Reserve Corps and 11th Bavarian Reserve Division as supports. These troops formed the right of the enemy's central force. Next came the 18th Corps and 3rd and 15th Corps and Bavarian Erstz Division, in the order named. South of Etain, in the Woevre, were the 5th Landwehr Division and 5th Army Corps, and, lastly, the 3rd Bavarian corps opposite Fresnes. By March 3 the Germans had brought the 113th Reserve Division to replace the used up 3rd Army Corps and other corps were relieved by units not yet known.

VERDUN UNLIKELY TO FALL.

"The French are now confident that they have made concentrations of men and material sufficient to repel the strongest attack. Bombardment by unlimited heavy guns may lead them to abandon outlying thinly-held positions, but the defence of the central plateau will be unflinching.

"Though the French withdrawal may have induced the Germans to think they were demoralized, they have now realized their mistake. Verdun is not likely to fall, and nothing leads one to suppose that the spirit and stamina of the enemy are equal to dislodging the French from their present formidable positions.

GERMANS MADE ERRORS.

"What are the secret motives underlying the German attempt to break the French line at Verdun, in which the Crown Prince's army is incurring such appalling losses? Is it financial, in view of the coming war? Is it dynastic, or is it intended to influence doubting neutrals?

"The Germans made a good many of the faults the British made at Gallipoli. They announced that something large was pending by closing the Swiss frontier. The French were fully warned by their own astute Intelligence Department.

"Their aeroplanes were not idle, and if confirmation were needed it was given by deserters, who, surmising the horrors to come, crept out of the trenches at night and lay down by the edge of the Meuse until morning, and gave themselves up, together with information that has since proved accurate.

"Things went wrong with the Germans in other ways. A Zeppelin that was to have blown up important railway junctions on the French line of communication was brought down at Revigny. Then the gigantic effort of February 21 was frustrated by the coolness and tenacity of the French soldiers and the deadly curtain of fire of their gunners."

SITUATION UNIQUE IN HISTORY.

"It cannot be pretended that the German attack has in it anything of a military necessity. It was urged forward at a time of the year when weather conditions might prove a serious handicap in moving big guns and in the observation by aeroplanes.

"Changes in temperature are somewhat more frequent here than elsewhere, and so sudden are these changes that not long ago there occurred the following incident—one of nature's romantic reminders of her power:

"The opposing French and German trenches, their parapets hard frozen, were so close that they were actually within hearing of each other. Toward dawn a rapid thaw set in, and the parapets melted and subsided and two long lines of men stood up, naked as it were, before each other, face to face, with only two possibilities — wholesale murder or a temporary unofficial peace for the making of fresh parapets. The situation was astounding—unique in the history of trench warfare.

"The French and German officers, without conferring, turned their backs so that they might not see officially so unwarlike a scene. And the men on each side rebuilt the parapets without the firing of a single shot. This serves to illustrate the precarious weather in which the Germans have undertaken an adventure in which the elements play such a part.

"The present attack on Verdun is by far the most violent incident of the whole western war. The bombardment is continuing and the massed guns of the Germans, of greater calibre than ever, have been used in such numbers. Yet the superb calm of the French people, the efficiency of their organization, and the equipment of their cheery soldiers convince one that the men in the German machine would never be able to compare with them, even if France had not the help of the Allies.

"There is no means of estimating how long the battle of Verdun may still rage. The French are confident that they have the measure of the enemy, both in men and material, and that unless the bombardment is followed by infantry attacks of far greater vigor and persistence than any yet executed by the enemy, the defending force will have time to make its positions practically impregnable."

Italy exports from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 worth of human hair annually.

CLERGYMAN SEIZED BY SOLDIER THRONG WILL ASK DAMAGES

Special to The Montreal Star.

BERLIN, Ont., March 6.—A mob of fifty soldiers called Saturday night at the parsonage of St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, at 43 Alma street, and demanded that the Rev. Rhinehardt Tappert accompany them down the street.

It was 10:45 p.m. when they called at the parsonage. The Tapperts were about to retire. Mr. Tappert being already upstairs. One of the daughters answered the door bell, but on seeing the mob quickly closed the door and locked it. The intruders broke in the door and took possession of the house.

Mr. Tappert appeared, and they told him to put his hat and overcoat on as they wanted him to accompany them. He refused and they hustled him down stairs and outside. In going down the front steps he fell into a snowbank, receiving a bad face wound. He was picked up and carried a few yards, then was put on his feet and told to walk. With a soldier on either side of him and twenty others in the company and five hundred citizens following, he was marched bareheaded through the streets to the barracks.

WILL DEMAND DAMAGES.

There he was released and taken back to the parsonage in company of two Lieutenants. The soldiers were sent to barracks and a guard with fixed bayonets kept the crowd from getting too near the building.

Yesterday morning Mr. Tappert occupied his pulpit as usual. About fifty soldiers attended the service, but there was no demonstration. Last evening the Rev. Mr. Zarnke, of the Lutheran Book Room, occupied the pulpit.

Mr. Tappert and his family will leave Canada next Thursday for America. He is an American citizen, having been naturalized a few years ago at Meriden, Conn. It is said that when he arrives in the States he will demand damages for the insult through the State Department at Washington.

Mayor Hett wired the authorities at Ottawa last night, requesting an investigation.

Tarvia

Preserves Roads Prevents Dust

Tarvia at the Good Roads Convention---

Every taxpayer should be vitally interested in good roads. Our Tarvia exhibit at the Good Roads Convention from March 6th to 10th offers everyone interested in the good roads question an excellent opportunity to learn in detail the savings and advantages resulting from the use of Tarvia.

Good roads in the community mean reduced taxes, increased property values, reduced transportation costs. They are a great factor in the promotion of general prosperity.

From the standpoint of service and low cost the most satisfactory road today is a tarvia-macadam.

Tarvia is a coal tar material of great binding power and is made in several grades to meet varying road conditions.

Under heavy loads a tarviated road is somewhat elastic—not brittle—and traffic wears it smoother.

Such a road is dustless, mudless and automobile proof.

The Tarvia also has the effect of making the road surface waterproof and preventing ravelling by rain torrents.

Of importance to taxpayers, its cost is more than repaid by the saving in maintenance expenses.

Thousands of miles of tarvia-roads are giving satisfactory service today and hundreds of towns are using Tarvia regularly. In fact many up-to-date towns build every new road with Tarvia and find that they save money.

If you want better roads and lower taxes, our Special Service Department can greatly assist you. Write to nearest office regarding road conditions or problems in your vicinity and the matter will have the prompt attention of experienced engineers. This service is free.

WAS WANDERERS' FUNERAL LAST SATURDAY NIGHT

Could Not Keep Up the Pace They Set Canadiens and are Out of the N. H. A. Championship Running Being Beaten Badly

CANADIENS	15
WANDERERS	5

Canadiens scored and scored, and that is the story of Saturday's Wanderer-Canadien hockey match.

Umpire Lowe, who occupied the cage at the entrance end of the Arena, said after the second period, that his arms were sore from throwing them up to show that Canadiens had notched another goal.

Everyone elses' throat was sore from shouting, for everyone loves a winner, and the roar that began shortly after the start of the match never left off till the finish, for, one-sided though the struggle was, the people stayed right to the end; and at that they made up the largest crowd that has visited the Arena this season.

Wanderers were absolutely off-color, Canadiens were the very opposite.

Stimulated by "a hunch" that they were going to win, their lead at the end of the first period drove them on in what, at a camp or revival meeting would be called a religious frenzy, and nothing could stop them in the second period, to the sheer disgust of the Wanderer goal-keeper, Lindsay, who, during that twenty minutes at least was very badly protected, and little to blame for the tremendous total that was piled up against him. Hague, who replaced him, did not do much better.

As the game moved on, Canadiens kept sending in reinforcements and making changes, Wanderers on their side calling upon their last line of reserves, such as O'Grady and Jack Marshall, who had been ticketing nervously on the players' bench, using incendiary language; but it did not change matters in the least, and the best Wanderers could do was to prevent their opponents from quadrupling the score.

In the final period, Jimmy Gardner, who was placed in the north end umpire's box, had a little work to do, but in that period Canadiens took it easier than at any time during the match, and if the truth must be told, they took it rather easy on the whole.

So convinced did they seem from the start that they were going to win that they only rushed when the Wanderers led the way, which was nearly all the time when there was any rushing done.

LESS LAVIOLETTE.

Besides that they were without the services of Laviolette and for quite a part of the time without those of Lalonde, who had been hoisted clean into the air by the peevish work of the Wanderer goal-keeper, when the referees were not looking, and had bruised himself when falling back on the ice.

Outside of that the match was clean though in the last period the checking became rather dangerous. Evidently the fear of arrest had something to do with that.

To the constant follower of hockey who has no leaning either way, the match particularly during the last half of the second period became rather tedious, but Saturday night's crowd was essentially a Canadian crowd and it enjoyed every bit of it and would joyously have stood for more and faster scoring on the part of the Red, White and Blue favorites.

Exhilarated by the sweet wine of victory it by itself made a spectacle that was as well worth the watching as the struggle on the ice.

It contained a large proportion of ladies and the amusing and at times most remarkable manifestations of excitement and joy which they exhibited provided an entire show by themselves.

How some of them live through a match of this sort without collapsing is an ever enduring matter of wonder.

WARNED BY POLICE.

Some of the men were no less excited and once or twice Chief Moffat of the Westmount Police was compelled to send one of his men to warn them to curb their transports of joy or anger.

To single out any particular man on the Canadien team for praise would be as unjust as to single out any particular man on the Wanderer team for blame, although condolences are due to Jack Laviolette for having been left out of so fine a victory. "Skeeu" Ronan, however, should be mentioned as a feature for he never did better work on Montreal ice. The evening's performance showed conclusively that no rough work is necessary to make a hockey match enjoyable, and will make people look forward with greater eagerness to next Saturday night when Ottawa and Canadiens meet.

OPTIME, THE DAM, OF SYSONBY, DEAD.

Lexington, Ky., March 6.—Optime, a bay mare foaled in 1896, and imported from England in 1901, the dam of the great Sysonby, died here today. She was imported by Marcus Daly, and was at the time the property of James R. Keene.

Sysonby won fourteen races out of fifteen starts and purses aggregating $184,483. He was the second largest winning thoroughbred in America at the time of his death.

MORAN CENTRE OF ATTRACTION IN NEW YORK NOW

Special to The Montreal Star.

NEW YORK, March 6.—The centre of attraction shifted from Jess Willard's Broadway training quarters to Frank Moran's camp in West Chester, when Moran began his boxing program today. The Pittsburgher rested all day Sunday, except for a three-round session with the food counter, and was to begin boxing today. Perhaps the main reason why interest in Moran perked up so suddenly is that Ike Dorgun lets 'em in free to see the giant's muscles. On the other hand Thomas Jones may be found at the gate of Willard's biffing boudoir, palm extended for the slight —er, ahem—fee of two bits to pay expenses.

Moran is about three pounds overweight, he said. He expects to go into the ring weighing 200. Willard still has a pink billow nestling against his slats which must be worked off before he may consider himself in good shape.

Ladies' Hockey League Notes

Telegraph were without their famous player, Miss Genios, Saturday. Her place was taken by Miss McGillivary, who played a splendid game. Miss Leger, who played spare, is the making of a speedy forward. Miss Bernier, of Western, starred for her team and plays the combination game which was the result of the victory for the Western. Miss Gallagher, who has now fully recovered from her accident a couple of weeks ago, and is playing the game of her life. Miss Boyle and Pierre, of Telegraph, played a great combination game and came nearly scoring on Miss Mathews. Miss Vautier Oran Barnes, who never fails to put in appearance and is noted more by their numbers than their name. The Western will now rest for the Ottawa ladies, which they meet on Tuesday night at the Jubilee rink.

Hochelaga ladies defeated the Hochelaga boys at the Dixon rink Saturday night by 3 to 1.

Wednesday night they play the Mintos at half past eight.

In Saturday's match at the Dixon rink the boys wore skirts and had one of their hands tied behind them.

The match was fairly rough, and one of the boys received such a severe blow on the wrist that he was obliged to retire.

Minneapolis-St. Paul Hockey Team After Art Ross Trophy

The St. Paul-Minneapolis Hockey team, which claims the undisputed Amateur Championship of the United States and hold the $2,000 Macnaughton trophy, have wired to Cecil Hart for an exhibition game in Montreal with the Stars, as they intend to take an Eastern trip.

It is understood that Art. Ross has, at the same time, received a challenge from the above team for the Art Ross Trophy.

Western Ladies Were Winners at Grand Mere

Great excitement was caused in Grand Mere when Western and Telegraph played an exhibition game which was one of the closest ever played between these two teams. The hockey fans came from all the out-lying towns and were surprised to see the ladies play so fast a game.

One of the features was the facing of the puck by the little mascots, Miss Doran and Miss Guerin. Westerns started to bombard the Telegraph goals and shots were rained in on Miss Hardmann, but the Misses Boyle and Pirrie soon got their team out of danger and started a rush for the Western goal which was well watched by Miss Matthews and the stonewall defence, the Misses Arnold and Gallagher who were playing a great game. Miss Vautrie took the puck from centre and made a long shot at the Telegraph goal, but Miss Hardmann stopped it with her hand and the crowd went wild when the first period ended with no score.

Second Period.

In this period both teams were trying hard to score. Miss Bernier once took the puck clean up the ice and shot, but again Miss Hardmann prevented her from scoring and a few minutes after the Misses Gallagher and Bernier came into a collision and Miss Gallagher had to retire for a few minutes. The second period also ended with no score.

The third period had started only ten minutes when through an accident Miss Oram received a blow on the head and had to be carried off but came back again five minutes later. There were three more minutes to play when Miss Bernier made a rush up the ice and made a nice pass to Miss Oram whose shot beat Miss Hardmann, and Westerns went off the ice with another victory. Mrs. R. Porteous and Mrs. Germain were chaperons to the party.

CORNWALL LADIES GO RARNSTORMING

Special to The Montreal Star.

CORNWALL, Ont., March 6. — The two Canadian all-star ladies' hockey teams will play in Dey's Arena, Ottawa, on Friday, March 10. E. N. Runions, of Cornwall, will manage one of the teams, which will be composed of Montreal and Cornwall players. On March 15, 17 and 18 the teams will play in Cleveland, and on March 20 they will give an exhibition in the Arena, Toronto.

The second team will be the Alerts, of Ottawa, managed by Ernie Butterworth, the well-known Capital athlete. This will be the first time that two Canadian ladies' teams ever invaded the United States, and Mr. Runions has the distinction of being the first Canadian to open negotiations for such an exhibition.

Reports from Harry Shannon, of Cleveland, in whose rink the three matches will be played, states that great interest is being taken in the coming contests. When asked who would figure on the Cornwall team, Mr. Runions was non-commital, but said the players would be the best procurable.

The death has occurred in Aberdeen of Major Robert George Barnard, a veteran of the American Civil War. He came to Britain 33 years ago, and established a racing stud, running the horses under the name of George Fields. He was 74 years of age.

PROPOSES HOCKEY MATCH FOR $10,000.

HOUGHTON, Mich., March 6.—A. L. Ferguson, owner of the Soo hockey team, heard a New York man comparing Eastern hockey with Western to the disparagement of the latter. He then announced that he will wager $5,000 that any team in the Western League of the American Hockey Association can beat any Eastern team, the St. Nicholas team of New York, claimant of the 1915 amateur championship, preferred.

Ferguson makes only one condition, that the game be played under Quebec rules and not Ontario rules, which are in use in the East.

TORONTOS WON FROM QUEBEC IN CLEVER MATCH

Toronto	7
Quebec	5

Special to The Montreal Star.

TORONTO, March 6.—Quebec was eliminated from the N.H.A. race here Saturday, when they were beaten 7 to 5 by Toronto.

Quebec started out Ritchie and Crawford on the defence, thus giving them plenty of speed, and for the first ten minutes they had a shade on the locals. However, the Blue Shirts settled down and at the end of the first period were leading by 3 to 1, while they had it 5 to 3 at the end of the second session.

It was a cleverly-played contest, with each team showing a motive in every attack, and some very neat combination was pulled off, with both teams also showing rare speed. The goal-keeping, though, was not up to the mark, and four of the goals were secured by the snipers from long range. Moran was given a very busy night, and four times during the evening dropped his stick in order to protect his face from the puck. He was a regular "Jumping Jack" in the net, especially on Cameron's shots. The latter was right on edge, and secured three of the seven goals. Keats also played a great game, his stick-handling and rushing being one of the features. He also played his position well and twice rushed in and batted in rebounds.

U. S. TRIPS OF HOCKEY LADIES CAUSE BIG TALK

Manager Macdonald of Cornwall, Says Victorias Won't Go—Ernest Runions Explains Trip Conducted by Him and "Shag" Will Be Safe

The proposed trips of Lady Hockey teams to the United States and the Montreal Star's article which appeared Saturday advising extreme caution in the matter, have created considerable agitation. The following telegram was received today:—

Cornwall, Ont., March 6.

Kindly insert following notice in your paper: "Neither the Victoria Ladies' Hockey team of Cornwall, nor any member thereof intends playing any games in the United States. All such reports are incorrect and misleading.

G. McDONALD
Mgr. Victoria Ladies' Hockey Club, Cornwall.

As luck would have it, Ernest N. Runions, of Cornwall, who for years has been well-known in Hockey and various other branches of sport, was in town today, and spoken to about the intended trip to Cleveland, of two young ladies' hockey teams, one from Ottawa and one from Cornwall, with some ladies from Montreal put in to fill up gaps.

Mr. Runions said:

"The trip was arranged originally at the request of Mr. Shannon, of the Cleveland Rink, who is a personal friend of mine, and well and favorably known both in Montreal and Ottawa."

"Frank Shaughnessy, the well-known football, hockey and baseball coach, is interested with men in the undertaking, which is not so much for the purpose of making money, as it is just an likely that we will not make any, though all the necessary expenses are being fully provided for, as to create an interest in ladies' hockey in the United States.

"The mere fact that Messrs. Shannon, Shaughnessy and myself are in charge of the arrangements ought to satisfy anyone that the trip will be conducted on a safe and sane basis.

"The young ladies will have the best of accommodation throughout and ample protection of every sort, and they will have a positive guarantee that under our management none of them will be left behind.

"We will see that a sufficient number of older ladies will be taken along to chaperone the younger ones, and the whole thing will be a well-deserved pleasure trip after what they have done to make ladies' Hockey popular."

Mr. Runions wants it understood that the team that will go from Cornwall is not the Victoria team and it has never been claimed that it was, but a picked team, made up of members from various clubs.

As to the proposed trip of two Montreal ladies' teams to California and back no further definite news has been received, but it is understood there will be a conference today.

CHAMPION WESTERN VS. OTTAWA LADIES

The Western are taking a rest for their hard game Wednesday night at the Jubilee, because they are up against one of the fastest teams in Ottawa, including fast skaters and stickhandlers, Miss Anderson and Miss Turner, who are equal to Miss Lapensee, and will be worth seeing. Newsy Lalonde and Leo O. Grady will handle the game and will have their hands full. It is causing great excitement in Ottawa, and the Alerts are coming down with eleven players.

The annual meeting of the Dorval Jockey Club will be held at the club's offices, 90 St. James street, on Friday, March 10.

There are likely to be several changes made in the directorate this spring. Fred Richards will be one of the new directors, while Sam N. Holman will, no doubt be re-elected as manager.

NEW YORK, March 6.—The International Skating Union of America, at its annual meeting Saturday decided it had no jurisdiction over hockey. THISTLE CURLING TOURNAMENT DREW MANY PLAYERS OUT

R. J. E. Chapple Was Winner — Two Challenge Trophies Captured by J. Macdougall and R. F. Dettmers—Local Curlers at Ottawa

A progressive curling tournament at Thistle along the usual leather medal lines brought out the playing strength of the Thistle Club Saturday night, and was also witnessed by a good representation of the non-playing members and ladies. The tournament prize was a pair of steamer rugs donated by J. E. Turton. Six rinks entered the competition, which was won, after a hard fight by the rink of R. J. E. Chapple, with Hugh Mackay at third.

Facing Chapple in the final was E. A. Bernard, with F. M. Slade at third. The first two rounds of play worked havoc with some of the promising starters.

Walter Scott and Scott Ives, J. Duncan and J. W. Burrell fell in the first round to W. George Kent, who had Archibald McAllister at third. The score was 6—1.

W. D. Aird also entered the second round, having eliminated J. W. Anderson in the first, but both Kent and Aird were bumped in the second round, while Bernard, who lost the first game to Chapple by 1 point, survived the second round and became a finalist. In the final he was again beaten by R. J. E. Chapple, who was undefeated in the series.

Interest was intense from first to last and unexpected happened with the usual regularity. Kent was leading nicely in the second, but dropped a 4 end at the finish, which lost him the game by 1 point, and passed the strong Bernard rink into the final.

W. D. Aird, after a clean cut win in the first, lost by the odd point to the trophy winners during the second stanza.

Although there was a margin in the score at the finish of 4 points, the Chapple-Bernard game was closely contested and provided one of the best struggles in the six games played. Mrs. F. M. Slade presented the prize to the winning skip, R. J. E. Chapple.

Two challenge trophies changed hands on Saturday's play. J. Macdougall with Futvoye third, winning the Galbraith Cup from Walter M. Kearns, who had Laz Rubenstein at third. Laz was not in the dazzling form of recent matches, which accounted for the doubled score.

R. F. Dettmers was the other winner at Outremont and is now custodian of the Norton Shield.

Heather and Montread rinks featured at Ottawa in annual friendlies, which favored the home rinks by fair margins.

LAWN BOWLERS CONTRIBUTE.

A meeting of the Province of Quebec Lawn Bowling Association was held at the M. A. A. A. club-house on Saturday night, when reports were received from the various clubs regarding their donations to the Bowlers' Patriotic Fund. The amount realized has not reached what was looked for by the committee, but there are still two clubs to hear from. The St. George's Club have closed their subscription list and realized $161; Montreal West realized $100, while Outremont turned over to the committee $390, with more to come.

M.A.A.A. Revolver Club Matches; Toronto and Montreal

An interesting match was shot Saturday evening between Toronto and Montreal, the results being exchanged by telegrams. Both teams have absent members who, had they been present, would doubtlessly have increased the totals, but since they are elsewhere where their shooting may do more good, there were no regrets. A. Rutherford of the Toronto team, shot, as usual, in championship form. A 50 cent piece would have received nearly all of his twenty shots had it formed the bullseye.

Eight men aside, six to count, standard decimal targets with 1 1-8 inch bullseye, distance 20 yards, in artificial light, Montreal won by 13 points, the individual scores being:

Toronto
A. Rutherford	88	83—178
T. G. Margetts	83	83—166
D. S. Williams	77	80—157
R. Clarke	70	77—147
J. P. White	77	69—146

F. Dumfries	81	88—169
R. A. Holland	80	85—165
K. D. Young	85	79—164
G. M. Le Hain	74	78—152
J. M. G. Lockerby	74	76—150
E. G. Brewer	71	78—149
Total		949

Montreal has suffered too many beatings at he hands of the Toronto chacks not to be glad to have scored this time.

The M.A.A.A. match for the Desbarat's trophy was also shot off. This prize has to be won three times before it becomes the property of any one member.

G. M. LeHain, shooting on form, was the fortunate competitor.

R. A. Holland	155	27—182
J. M. G. Lockerby	154	26—180
E. G. Brewer	155	23—178

Both matches were under similar conditions, and the added strain of shooting against Toronto evidently told, as evidenced by the lower scoring.

Further fortnightly matches will be shot with the Queen City for the rest of the season.

HOCKEY NOTES

The M.A.A.A. junior team defeated the Shamrocks in the Junior Hockey Association Saturday afternoon by a score of 3 to 1.

The teams lined up as follows:

M.A.A.A. (3)	Shamrocks (1)
Allan	Conroy
Carter	McCann
Murray	Hyland
Lyall	Green
Potter	McFetrick
Clements	McKeenan

Spares—M.A.A.A., Pierce and Foster. Referee—H. Hooper, Victorias.

Two evenly matched teams put up a fair argument at the Jubilee Rink on Saturday, when the Sherbroke (St. Pats) and the Montreal Catholic High Schol played a 2 to 2 tie game, with no overtime. The play all through was devoid of any rough tactics and showed the lads were good sports, the penalties, few as they were, being minor ones.

The teams were as follows:

Catholic High	St. Pats
Carroll	W. Stenson
P. Kelly	A. Hawkins
I. Lyons	C. Stenson
H. O'Shaughnessy	C. Hawkins

SPALDING SENIOR LEAGUE.

Silver Stars, 3; City Hall, 2.

The first scheduled game of the double header of the Spalding Senior Hockey League played at the Dixon rink, Vianville, the Hochelagas succeeded, after a hard contested game, to outscore the Braves. The Hochelagas were minus their star player, Samson.

The game was rough in spots, May and Filteau paying special attention to each other all evening.

The teams and playing statistics are as follows:

Brave A.A.A. (3)	Hochelaga (4)
York	Jasvos
Dowling	Cote
May	Matte
Jennens	Pigeon
Ritchie	Menard

Second Game.

The second contest, which started at 9.30, produced a fine game between Silver Stars and City Halls, which resulted in a hard earned victory for the Silver Stars by a final score of 3 to 2.

In this match the City Halls, who have been getting better each game, put up a grand struggle, and had it not been for the wonderful stonewall work of O'Sullivan, the college boy wonder, in the Silver Star's goals, the Halls might have pulled off a victory, but O'Sullivan, with the aid of Heaney and little Foster, were too much for them. This game, while very fast, was not rough, and was greatly enjoyed by the spectators, who cheered both teams impartially.

The teams lined up as follows:

Silver Stars (2)	City Hall (2)
O'Sullivan	Roy
Lefebvre	Simonds
Heaney	Chisholm
Foster	Bergeron
Laing	Lepine
Doherty	Case

Referee—J. Heaney.
Timekeeper—R. Dowling.

IT MUST BE DONE

Yes, something must be done with that attic, as your wife says. It is simply full of trash and the dust and dirt are terrible, for it takes a whole day to clean it properly, so full is it.

Well, the thing that ought to be done with it, is to get rid of all of the old, discarded furniture and household fixings and what not that have cluttered it up for so long.

The only sensible way to do this is to list all the usable things and then offer them for sale in a little Montreal Daily Star Want Ad. You will get rid of all the clutter and at the same time make a neat little pile of money. Try a Montreal Daily Star Want Ad now.

LITTLE STORIES for Bedtime

PETER GAINS KNOWLEDGE.

(Copyright, 1916, by T. W. Burgess.)

A little knowledge does go a long way.
To wisdom surely it leads, they say.

"It is wonderful," he repeated.

Peter Rabbit probably never will be accused of knowledge enough to fill him a little more than the day before because every day he learns something, in spite of Peter's curiosity. If Peter weren't curious about things he wouldn't learn. If there was one thing he didn't know he'd find it if he could, just remember it in case he might some day become wise. The trouble is he forgets.

When he found those queer brown hoods in the warm swampy place deep in the Green Forest and was led by the smell like the perfume of Jimmy Skunk to pop into one of them and there found tiny flowers in bloom Peter knew that he had learned something. He had learned that the first flowers of all the year bloom before gentle Sister South Wind has melted away the snow and ice. The Green Meadows were still covered with snow, and the Smiling Pool was still bound with ice, but here were flowers, real flowers, even if they were so tiny that it was hard work to believe that they were real. He had to believe his own eyes and his own nose. If they were hard to see they were not at all hard to smell. It wasn't a pleasant smell, not to Peter anyway, but it was too real to be doubted.

Peter made a face. "If I didn't know better I should say that Jimmy Skunk has been here," said Peter. "I wonder what these things are, anyway."

"Skunk cabbage or swamp cabbage, whichever you please to call them," said one of the Merry Little Breezes.

Peter remembered the big, broad, green leaves he had so often seen growing here and in other swampy places in the summer. He looked for some now, but he didn't see even one. He wrinkled his brows in a puzzled way. "I though the skunk cabbage was a big green plant," said he.

"So it is," laughed one of the Merry Little Breezes. "These are its flowers. They bloom before the leaves show at all. Funny, isn't it?"

"I should say so," replied Peter. "I didn't know it had any flowers. I've seen these things early in the spring lots of times, but I didn't know what they were. I never thought anything about them."

"That comes of not using your eyes, Peter," cried a Merry Little Breeze. "There are lots of wonderful things all about you every day that you never see at all."

"What is there wonderful about these?" demanded Peter a little gruffly, for he felt a little put out that any one should think that he didn't see all that was to be seen.

"Isn't it wonderful that those little flowers can come up and are brave enough to bloom when Jack Frost is still making everybody shiver?" asked the Merry Little Breeze.

Peter nodded his head. "That's so," he said slowly. "I didn't think of that. It is wonderful. I don't see how they do it." He looked at the tiny flowers with new interest. He saw how thick was the little brown hood inside of which they were blooming, and how warm and cosy it was in there with only a little narrow opening for the light and air to enter, and he began to understand how Old Mother Nature was protecting them. "It is wonderful," he repeated. "I certainly have learned something today. I've always watched for the coming of Winsome Bluebird as the first sure sign of the coming of sweet Mistress Spring and never once thought that there might be other signs. Yes, sir, I certainly have learned something. Do you know I rather like that smell now. It is—why, it is a sort of promise that winter will soon be over. Now I must hurry to tell Mrs. Peter the news."

WHAT GIRLS MAY DO
BY JESSIE ROBERTS

PLENTY OF CHANCES IN THE MOVIES.

"Dear Miss Roberts: Do you think it a wise thing for a girl with some talent for writing to centre her plans on becoming a writer for the motion pictures? I am most ambitious to do this, and would be glad if you could give me any suggestions toward the plan. I do not need to make money right away, but can train myself for the work I hope to do. I have sold a few short stories to various magazines, so I know it is not only my ambition to be a writer on which I can base my hopes. Sincerely yours,

"HELEN W."

There is plenty of chance to make good money writing for the motion picture companies. There is a really big demand for stories that are not the common run of maudlin stuff too often seen in the films. The managers are realizing that people want good things, and they are trying to get them. But the demand greatly exceeds the supply so far, and is likely to continue to do so.

You say you have sold stories, so you must have the technical equipment for writing. If I were you I would get a few good books on the business of writing for the pictures. Study the special requirements and work out scenarios carefully until you are at home in the particular demands made by film work.

Then set to work on your plots. Remember that it is the human, everyday emotions, touched perhaps with a certain picturesque element, that are most favored. Don't try to get away from real life, but don't forget that you must have the sense of plot, of suspense, if you are to hold an audience. This you cannot create by study. It must be in you, and if it is train it and ripen it to its fullest extent. But if it is not in you, do not waste time trying to become a writer for the movies, because you will only fall in the end, even if you have one or two success at first.

TO-DAY'S HOUSEHOLD AFFAIRS.
By Mary Lee.

BUYING FURS.

This winter every woman who has had an extra dollar to spend has bought fur. We have been fur-mad, with the result that many an unreliable dealer has made a fortune and many an unsuspecting buyer has been sorely "stung."

I visited a dealer whom I have known for many years the other day, and during the course of our talk on this subject he showed me an advertisement which had been sent out by a big mail order house which set forth the marvels of a "scarf of blue wolf, with muff to match, lined with heavy satin, in vogue designs, for $4.75."

"Now, of course any one in the trade knows instantly that it is impossible to get a set of blue wolf for less than $18 or $20 even in the late winter," he said. "Even blue or gray goat is worth $6 to $7 a set. What these people are palming off on the public is nothing but common ordinary rabbit, and will show wear in a few weeks."

Another warning he gave was on the case with which cheap furs such as dyed racoon and opossum may be passed off for skunk, and black wolf masquerade as fox. The unscrupulous dealer will match a scarf of real fox with a muff of wolf. Many is the time that the real "Persian Lamb" is young lamb of the ordinary domestic variety.

I asked with some concern what the helpless purchaser was to do in the face of such a widespread conspiracy to defraud.

"Deal with a reliable house and do not buy bargain furs," he replied. "Any one can learn to distinguish between the real and the pretended. For instance, real skunk is distinguished by long and rather shaggy top hair, and an undergrowth of fine hair; there is a silkiness and lustre which the dyed raccoon and opossum never show, and a few white hairs are scattered through the fur; then the skunk pelt is a deeper, blacker brown than either of the cheaper furs.

"If expense must be considered and furs must be bought, the wearing qualities of the dyed racoon and opossum outrank all others, they will fade and become dingy but they do wear, while other cheap pelts, such as the Belgian hare, assume the general appearance of the alley cat in a few weeks.

"Unless one has a very generous income fox furs are a questionable investment. No matter how high the price paid the soft, silky hairs soon wear off, and the pointed fox fa skin in which the white hairs are sewed in among the black) often loose all their points in a single season."

"Well, this certainly has been a busy day!" sighed Mrs. Happy Homemaker as she sank down in her favorite arm chair.

"This morning I was sitting here sewing when I heard the most awful scream, and looking across the street I saw the maid of the new family which has just moved in there jumping up and down and waving frantically. I rushed over and found the mother holding the two-year-old baby in her arms, and to my horror I saw that the child's clothing was in cinders.

"The little thing was crying, but in a lusty, frightened way, not as if there were any serious injury, and as soon as I took the baby I saw that the burns were simply superficial. As soon as I had taken the baby the mother fainted. I sent the maid for restoratives, and she came back to say she could not find anything. Then I made her hold the baby while I telephoned for the doctor, tried to bring the mother to with cold water, and hunted myself for ammonia or camphor.

"Do you know that there was not a useful emergency remedy in the medicine closet?

"I tried to find a bottle of aromatic spirits of ammonia, a tube of carbolated vaseline to put on the baby's burns, cotton, talcum—nothing was available.

"I finally went down stairs, poured olive oil over the baby, and wrapped her in a linen sheet, and then in a warm comfort, made the mother as comfortable as I could, and waited for the doctor.

"Everything came out comfortably. The baby had been sitting near the grate fire and a spark had popped out, and in a moment the little dress was ignited.

"Precaution No. 1. Always have a fire screen.

"The mother had presence of mind enough to smother the flames with a heavy couch cover and scream for help, but the fifty-seven varities of precautions which every mother could have at hand in the way of first aids in case of accident were lacking.

"In every medicine chest, whether there are children or not, there should be peroxide for the cut, scratch, or prick, where the skin is broken; witch-hazel or arnica for the bruise; carbolated vaseline and talcum powder to make into a paste and cover the burn until the doctor can get there.

"There should be a small vial of cloves for the sudden severe toothache; aromatic spirits of ammonia (fifteen drops in a glass of water to stimulate the heart after a fainting spell is invaluable). Camphor and the smelling salts bottle should also be on the shelf.

"An eye cup with some simple eye wash such as camphor, and borax solution should be there, because deluging the eyeball will frequently carry out the cinder or other foreign substance in the eye and save a visit to the oculist.

"Be sure that packages of sterilized cotton and gauze also hold a convenient corner, and thus equipped we can at least hold the fort until the doctor comes."

Requested by "Ginger":—

Spiced Cake—Half cup butter or lard, 1 1-2 cups sugar, 1 cup buttermilk, 2 1-2 cups flour, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon soda, 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-2 nutmeg grated, 1-4 teaspoon cloves, 1 cup raisins. Mix all together, bake in loaf shape.

White Cake—One cupful granulated sugar, 1-3 cup butter, 1-2 cup milk. Add beaten whites of two eggs, 1-2 cup cornstarch, one cup flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder.

Lightning Cake—Melt 1-4 cup butter, break two eggs into the butter and fill up the cup with milk. Add to 1 cup sugar, 1 1-2 cups flour, 1 1-2 teaspoons baking powder. Stir all together and bake. One-quarter cake of melted chocolate added to this make a good "devil's cake," or you may add chopped nuts or chopped raisins, at your pleasure.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENCE

All correspondents for this department should be addressed to Margaret Currie. All communications must have name and address signed. Please address legal and military questions to Editor Notes and Queries.

A QUESTIONER.
Please send name and address.

H. M. D. (PARK AVENUE).
Your questions are legal and will be answered in Notes and Queries.

THANKS FOR VERSES.
Many thanks to Mrs. W. Farrell; C. M. J.; W. V. H.; N. S.

G. H. (SHERBROOKE EAST).
I would advise you to consult a specialist in skin diseases about the spots on your face.

"YOURS IN DISGUST."
Your letter would have considerably more value if you had sufficient courage to sign your name and address to it.

NON-KISSABLE TWAIN.
I quite agree with you in your theory that kissing games are vulgar.
Advertise in The New York Herald for your missing relative, last heard of in the United States.

LILIAN.
I do not think it is very wise to write to a married man, even if it is your purpose to thank him for his kindness. Would it not be possible for you to see him and to thank him in person. Surely you may write again.

WHITE LIPS.
1.—Would you be kind enough to let me know if it is proper for a young girl of eighteen to go for a sleigh ride and how should she dress?
2.—Would you let me know why my lips are always white, and could I use anything to give them color.

"DIMPLES."

Ans.—1.—If she is properly chaperoned, it would be correct for her to go. She should wear warm, sensible clothes, a heavy top-coat and a small, warm hat.
2.—You may have anaemia. Better consult a doctor and get a good iron tonic.

ENGAGED GIRL.
1.—Should a girl whose engagement is announced be expected to give up her social gatherings, including a small private skating rink, where she invited all her chums to spend the evening, her Sunday concert, etc., and settle to a modest life right away.
2.—Do you think a person who studies the moon and stars changes with the moon? A great many people say they do.
3.—At a very quiet wedding, where only the nearest friends of bride and bridegroom are invited to the reception held at an hotel, does the bridegroom cover expenses or is it proper for the bride's friends to do so.

BRITANNIA.

Ans.—1.—No, I do not think she should.
2.—I really don't know.
3.—The bride's parents pay the expenses of the wedding reception.

HER FIANCE.
(1) Please let me know how to introduce the gentleman one is engaged to, to other friends, i.e., whether to say meet my friend—fiance—Mr. or my future husband.
(2) Also what is a very nice present for that particular party.

LOLA.

Ans.—(1) It is only necessary to present him as "Mr." If you wish to explain his relationship to you, you may make a reference to it in some other way.
(2) It depends on his tastes. If he smokes, a sterling silver cigarette case would be a good present, or a meerschaum pipe. If he doesn't smoke, sterling silver military brushes, or gold cuff links or a good framed picture for his room.

B. E.
Write to a newspaper in the American town about which you wish information, or to the Secretary Board of Trade in that town.

ANXIOUS LYDIA.
Write Medical Service Branch, Department Militia, Ottawa, for information about nursing at the front.

MRS. E.
Try salts of lemon or oxalic acid on the ink stain.

MOST CORRECT ENGLISH.
Kindly advise me in what district or territory in the United Kingdom is the most correct English spoken.

C. E. McD.

Ans.—Very fine English is spoken in Inverness, Scotland, and Dublin, Ireland but authorities differ as to where "the best" is spoken.

WOODEN SHOES.
Under the heading "Dutch Costume," "Lashes" asks where she could obtain a pair of wooden sabots. I bought a pair last year at Bonsecour's market for 75 cents.

AGNES A. H.

Ed. Note.—Many thanks.

NELLIE L.
I'm sorry. I have not heard of such a thing being given away free and consider the report very doubtful.

SCOTCH POEM WANTED.
I have tried to get the words of the following poem, but have failed. I now appeal to you or your readers, and would feel obliged for same. I do not know who the author is. I heard it recited only once, when I was a young school girl.

HOPEFUL.

First Verse.
Preserve me, Lizzie Allan,
How ye no yer breakfast ta'en?
Sic a face yo hae wi' greetin.
What's the maitter wi' the wean?
A flea run ower yer parritch,
Jimmy snooked at yer bread;
My certie, Lizzie Allan,
Yer a dainty dame, indeed.
Ed. Note.—Referred to readers.

GOVERNMENT PAY.
(1) Would you kindly let me know through your column in The Star where there is any schools where I can learn manicuring and massaging, and what their fees are for the course, or any persons you know who teach manicuring and massaging and give me their addresses.
(2) To settle an argument, would you kindly let me know if Government or military pay can be seized?

Ans.—(1) Send stamped, addressed envelope, repeating question.
(2) No, it cannot be seized.

REMOVING VARNISH.
I wonder if you or one of your male readers could tell me the quickest way to remove old varnish from a large piece of furniture that has received so many coats they are chipping off, making it look very shabby, yet it is too useful to part with. I have been told some such preparation can be bought at the hardware store, but haven't discovered it yet.

HARRY.

Ans.—Why "male" readers? The best thing to use is sandpaper. You may also use a knife or a piece of broken glass to scrape the varnish, and go over it with sandpaper as well. This is a long and slow process, but the burning process involves the use of such powerful acids that it hurts the hands and is difficult to perform, except by an expert.

FRESHENING COAT.
(1) I have a curl cloth coat and the back of it has got flattened down and I want to go for a small trip and would like to know if there is a way to make the curl stand up again.
(2) How to clean the velvet collar; it is not worn, but it is, or has a white mark on it around the neck.
(3) How to freshen a velvet skirt when it has rubbed.

VIOLET.

Ans.—(1) The only thing I can suggest is that you steam it and then brush against the nap.
(2 and 3) Steam both collar and skirt, and brush against the nap. For a big thing, like skirt or coat, it is a good idea to fill a tub with boiling water and to hold the article over the tub until it is thoroughly steamed. For a small thing, like the collar, put a wet cloth over an inverted hot iron and hold the collar close to the resulting steam.

"BRINGING UP FATHER."
I would like to know if the Montreal Star has published a book of the cartoons "Bringing up Father."

INTERESTED READER.

Ans.—The Star has not published such a book.

"A RUMMY."
(1) The bridesmaid precedes bride into the church and if there is no maid of honor, she stands next to the bride, takes off her glove and holds her bouquet for her during the ring part of the ceremony, and at the house, she stands in the receiving line and does her best to make things go well.
(2) The rashes on your face may come from stomach trouble. Consult a doctor.

A woman's answer to the Vampire, after painting by G. W. Harting; verses by Felicia Blake. (With apologies to Kipling.)

A fool there was, and she lowered her pride (Even as you and I)
To a bunch of conceit in a masculine hide—
We saw the faults that could not be denied,
But the fool saw only his manly side, (Even as you and I).

Oh, the love she laid on her own heart's grave
With the care of her head and hand
Belongs to the man who did not know
(And now she knows that he never could know)
And did not understand.

A fool there was, and her best she gave (Even as you and I).
Of noble thoughts, of gay and grave
(And all were accepted as due to the knave)
But the fool would never her folly save (Even as you and I).

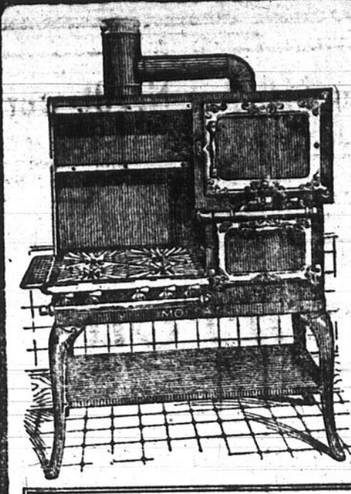

Oh, the stabs she hid, which the Lord forbid
Had ever been really planned.
She took from the man who didn't know why
(And now she knows he never knew why)
And did not understand.

The fool was loved while the game was new (Even as you and I).
And when it was played, she took her cue
(Plodding along as most of us do)
Trying to keep his faults from view (Even as you and I.)

And it isn't the ache of the heart, or its break
That stings like a white-hot brand—
It's the learning to know that she raised a god
And bent her head to kiss the rod
For the one who could not understand.

More Men Are Drinking Milk

The manager of one of our popular restaurants remarked the other day that the number of business men who order milk at lunch times has increased enormously. Many of the devotees of coffee and tea are turning to milk regularly, and when you think of it, it's the most natural thing in the world. Nature made milk, a delight both in taste and aroma; and more than this, it is the most nearly perfect food that nature has given us. But it must be good milk.

BORDEN'S MILK
is good milk, clean milk, safe milk.

Any Borden wagon will serve you. When buying milk or milk products be sure they are Borden's.

1916 SPRING STYLES AT FAIRWEATHERS

Spring styles in Suits and Dresses have never been more beautiful than those of 1916. Bouffant hip draperies, cascades rippling from waist to skirt hem, flaring peplums, distended skirts and the full trimmed sleeve, all determine the loveliness of the 1916 silhouette.

FAIRWEATHERS advance style information comes direct from the great style centres of the world, and so they are already showing very complete assortments of Spring Suits, gowns, separate skirts, coats and blouses which conform perfectly to the lines of the accepted 1916 silhouette.

Even if you are not ready to do your Spring shopping come in and see them. You will be delighted with the exqu site youthfulness of Jenny's models; Georgette's sleeves are fascinating; and no couturier surpasses Lanvin in creating a bodice.

FAIRWEATHERS Spring attire for women and misses is based on the models of these celebrated couturiers. All are supremely interesting from a style standpoint.

And don't forget that with the tighter bodices and wider skirts must come changes in lingerie and corsets. FAIRWEATHERS have anticipated your needs in these matters and can show you everything in dainty lingerie in staple and novelty fabrics, and just the right model corset that your Spring shopping should include.

If you were shopping in Paris your couturier would match your suit or gown with a Hat. FAIRWEATHERS can do the same for you.

VERDUN AND NEUTRAL OPINION —BITLIS AND EGYPT.

FRENCH opinion is fairly unanimous in the belief that the Germans have not yet decided to abandon their mad effort to capture Verdun. French expert observers expect a continuation of the attacks. Some of them think, however, that the serious attacks for the future will be delivered at new points of approach—or, possibly, elsewhere along the line.

The German correspondents, on their side, seem to be preparing their own people for an abandonment of the grand onslaught. They no longer are cock-sure of capturing of Verdun, but talk of consolidating the positions they have secured and boastingly compare the area of their present gains with the square mileage won by the French in Champagne. This is an attitude of mind natural to men who know that their bolt is shot, and who realize that they must now put the best possible face on their failure. They would not bother boasting of square mileage today if they expected to be able to boast of the occupation of a great fortress tomorrow.

* * * * *

The French have been constantly and commendably modest in expressing their calm confidence ever since the first. Now they only go so far as to say that they are certain that they can hold their positions if the Huns do not spring some new deviliry, such as poisonous gases. This implies that they discount the terrible "forty-two's." They know perfectly well that the Germans will bring up and mount these guns in their new positions, if they are permitted to retain them; but they apparently do not fear that this will endanger the other Verdun forts.

There has long been a theory that the immunity of Verdun was due to the fact that the outer entrenchments of the French defence were so far from the forts that the Germans could not establish their heavy guns within effective range of the latter. But at Douaumont—if they stay there—they certainly can. Hence if the French do not fear these guns planted at Douaumont, we may safely infer that they know their new fortifications will stand out against them.

* * * * *

Neutral opinion is naturally watching this struggle with the keenest interest; but we should never forget that the neutral opinion which counts in such cases, is skilled and experienced military opinion, and that it will know very well, indeed, how to weigh the costs and the consequences. If the French defence had collapsed under the first staggering attack, neutral opinion might have deduced the inference that the French "morale" had been broken down and that succeeding German hammer-blows would shatter the whole line. But the French defence —so far from collapsing—rallied at once and has offered one of the most brilliant resistances to overwhelming assault which this war has furnished. French "morale" was never better; and it has been, all through this gigantic wrestle of fabulous forces, a "morale" that has excited the admiration of friend and foe alike. The lesson of the Verdun battle so far is that the French lines are impregnable.

Neutral opinion will know further that the mere occupation of the Verdun salient by the German troops—should it come now at the cost of paying ten prices for it and after French courage and steadiness have been proven to the hilt—will be of little military value to the Teutons. It will be worth nothing at all comparable to its frightful cost in irreplaceable men. It would simply straighten the line, but leave the French with serried rows of previously prepared entrenchments behind it in which to hold back any dangerous advance. This same neutral military opinion will also know that if the French succeed in foiling the German attempt to get Verdun, in spite of their obvious readiness to pay any price at all for it, they will have given the most convincing proof that the Western "front" of the Allies is now definitely established, and that any mobility must be toward the Rhine.. The neutrals cannot watch this great duel too closely for our advantage.

* * * * *

The Russian capture of Bitlis consolidates their Lake Van positions, and makes them masters of this whole district, even casting a menacing shadow over the Baghdad Railway. They will soon straddle Turkish Armenia from the Black Sea to the upper waters of the Tigris, and in conjunction with their occupation of Kermanshah—will thoroughly command the position in Persia.

The Grand Duke Nicholas is making good use of his opportunities; fairly purchased by his smashing victory at Erzerum; and we may regard rumors of ambitious Turkish adventures elsewhere as merely moonshine while this black cloud hangs over their marches to the east. It is not likely that the Grand Duke has any very large forces at his command. With the spring campaign about to open, the Russian Government will desire to fatten their lines from Riga to Bukowina as effectively as possible. But he has accomplished marvels with the numbers likely to be spared him in this distant arena.

* * * * *

If the "Moewe" is really back in Wilhelmshaven, she has to her credit a notable feat. But the fact that she has found it necessary to take refuge from the coursing hounds of the British Navy, and has not dared to keep the seas where alone she could be of any value, is a proof of the prestige enjoyed by our sea-dogs in German navy circles. We would probably as soon have her penned up with all the other helpless German ships, as see her interned at Newport News. In any case, she is out of action. And she is out of action—not because she wants to be—but because we have made even the boundless sea too hot for her.

* * * * *

The fact that the Senussi have been holding a town in Egypt for a considerable time, and were only dislodged by a British expedition at the end of the week, gives some hint of the distractions and difficulties which confuse the British command—and which they do not always advertise, even when home critics are clamoring for explanations. Think what a lot of pessimism we might have enjoyed if we had only known that the enemy, commanded by European officers, held a town in Egypt! And all to no advantage. For now they are cleared out, and no harm done. This is really a certificate of character for the loyalty of our Egyptian friends. Here was a hostile rallying point right on Egyptian territory; and yet the Egyptians did not rally to it. No better comment could be had on the German fables of risings and suppressed rebellions in Egypt.

There will be a lot of the history of this war that will be written only after peace is signed. An important feature of war strategy is to keep the enemy in ignorance of facts which would encourage or enlighten him or reveal opportunities. We may be impatient at times that the British War Office is penurious in publishing full reports of the results of Zeppelin raids, for instance, insisting that the facts will all come out in time. "In time!" That is precisely the point. They will not come out until long after they could be of benefit to the foe.

German tobacco costing 55 marks per hundred weight abroad will have to pay a duty of 166 marks to get into the country. The war's end should see the great bulk of Germany's male population left alive strictly non-smokers.

The times would certainly seem to be out of joint in Turkey when women become a factor in the political and military situation. Hitherto Turkish women have played a role of consistent obscurity.

THE LAD OUT THERE.

Oh, powers of Love, if still you lean
Above a world so black with hate,
Where yet—as it has even been—
The loving heart is desolate,
Look down upon the lad I love,
(My brave lad, tramping through the mire)
I cannot light his welcoming fire,
Light thou the stars for him above,
Now nights are dark and mornings dim,
Let him in his long watching know
That I, too, count the minutes slow,
And light the lamp of love for him.
The sight of death, the sleep forlorn,
The old homesickness vast and dumb—
Amid these things, so bravely borne
Let my long thoughts about him come.
I see him in the weary file;
So young he is, so dear to me,
With ever-ready sympathy
And wistful eyes and cheerful smile.
However far he travels on Thought follows, like the willow-wren
That flies the stormy seas again
To lands where her delight is gone,
Whatever he may be or do
While absent far beyond my call
Bring him, the long day's march being through,
Safe home to me some evenfall!

ON READING RUPERT BROOKES' "FIVE SONNETS."

Yes, yes, your pen and pencil, lay them down
These—these but speak of bitter things that be!
The light heart's merriment, fair Wisdom's frown
All now resolve into life's ecstacy!

For life, what is it? What has life e'er been,
But a long seeking of the soul to rest
Within that chamber whence all things are seen—
Where, in sure feeling, all things are possessed?

Here is that place! Renounced sweet joy's return!
Here is that spring—whence Fate and Fortune rise!
Here is the wanderer's long-looked-for bourne!
Here, the heart lives in its first glad surprise!
Leave, for your country, all of wont and use,
And feel the shackles at your heart unloose!

THE WORLD'S PRESS

A Thousand Times Better

London Spectator:—If it should be that we should have to drag along with a broken wing for two or three generations, crushed with debt, distracted by the social and political difficulties which follow in the tracks of commercial depression, the war will still have been worth while. It is a thousand times better to be free and in rags, to live at liberty in ruins, than to endure the chain of oppression sleek and well fed in the Prussian sty.

No Dealings With Bulgaria

London Times:—We can have no dealings with Bulgaria or with her Tsar traitor, even should he, as is highly improbable, seriously wish to have dealings with us. The restoration of Serbia to her rightful territory and her union with her Southern Slav kindred must, indeed, be essential objects of the Allies. These objects preclude any truck with Ferdinand of Coburg, or with his people unless they dissociate themselves from him. Even William of Hohenzollern, with all his crimes, is a more reputable Sovereign.

"Have We An American People?"

New York World:—The Times in its leading editorial yesterday asked, "Have We an American Congress?" The question is broader than that. Have we an American people—an American people that respects the honor, the ideals, the traditions, the good faith and the self-respect of the nation? If we have the voice of public opinion in support of the President will speak in tones that no member of Congress can misunderstand. If we have not, the God help the Republic in its impending crisis!

The Highland Regiments

Scottish Review:—They have upheld the finest traditions of Scottish arms on the bloodiest battlefields of history. Never men fought more bravely than the Highlanders who led in the great attack at Loos, or the Scoto-Australians who stormed the hell-swept beaches at Gallipoli. Probably no other troops in the world would have carried so successfully that hazardous landing. But that feeling of pride in our Scottish soldiers is tempered by sorrow, for there is scarcely a strath or glen, scarcely a village or hamlet in the whole of broad Scotland on which the shadow of the war has not fallen.

What Has Mr. Ford Learned?

Philadelphia Public Ledger:—Mr. Ford ought to know by this time that he is a babe in the wood of the world. He ought to have had it rubbed into him that, although, as he said of his expedition, "every great movement in the history of the world has been met with ridicule," nevertheless every movement which is met with ridicule is not great. If he has learned that the road to uselessness is paved with good intentions minus knowledge, he is likely to become a great factor in American life. If he has learned nothing—he will live his life out in the never-never-land of Bryan and the other Chautauquese.

Uncle Sam's Stand

New York Times:—In the submarine controversy this country has taken its position. Mr. Wilson's letter to Senator Stone is the text irrevocable. We will not submit to the destruction without notice of merchant vessels, armed or unarmed, on which American citizens are passengers. A merchant vessel has a right to go armed for the purpose of defense. What we insist upon, what we undertake at any cost to defend, is the right of American citizens to sail in safety on ships that are merchant ships, according to international law, as it was before and now is and will continue to be until changed by the free consent of nations.

Cannot Trust Them

New York Globe:—The British Admiralty has issued a list of forty British and fourteen neutral vessels, all unarmed, which have been torpedoed without warning. On the list are our own Gulflight and Nebraskan, neither of which certainly made an attempt to attack. The record does not suggest that Germany has made much practical difference in the treatment of merchantmen. Armed or unarmed, they have gone down without warning. The general probabilities are, of course, that a merchantman does not look for trouble. Also, in view of what German submarines have done, the master of a merchantman cannot be blamed should he assume that he cannot rely on German assurances.

Advice To German Navy

The Tageblatt (Berlin):—Let us not lull ourselves into a state of false security. The British fleet is as formidable a menace today as it has ever been. Its readiness for attack or defence is perfect and its power is imposing. The vital thing for us to know is whether this fleet will seek to attain its object—that is, to take the offensive, or if it will leave it to time to do its work. The veil which masks its designs the future alone can lift. Unless Britain's naval power be overwhelmingly exaggerated, however, our own sea dogs cannot afford to amuse themselves much longer by merely showing their teeth. To remain any longer in the seclusion of the Kiel Canal is to be ridiculous today, and tomorrow to invite defeat and humilitation.

Burning a Bonfire

London Daily News:—There is in no quarter evidence of a real appreciation of the gravity of the position. It is doubtful whether in any previous period there has been a more lavish expenditure on the part of all sections of the community. We are consuming our accumulated resources at the rate of five millions a day, and by the light of this splendid bonfire are indulging in extravagances as though we imagine that the bonfire is as enduring as the sun. Nor is this all. The public are even told that they must choose between "trade and victory." They are invited to believe that the maintenance of our trade is the alternative to winning the war—that we can have one, but cannot have both. Yet there is nothing more certain than that if we lose our trade we shall lose the one instrument by which we can win the war.

ON GOING INTO ACTION.

Now the weak impulse and the blind desire
Give way at last to the all-conquering will.
Love now must pause, and fancy cease, until
The soul has won that freedom born of fire,
Sing, then, no songs upon the sweet-voiced lyre;
But choose some nobler instrument, whose shrill
Nerve-bracing notes my doubting heart shall fill
With a new courage, that will never tire,
Sing me the dead men's glorious deeds again!
Tell how they suffered, died, but would not fail!
Stir me to action! Let me feel their pain,
Their strength, their mystery:—that at the tale
Arise with such clear purpose in my brain
That even Hell's own gates should not prevail.

—H. R. Preston (killed in action in France on Jan. 24), in London Times.

I WALK MY WAYS.

I walk my ways with poetry in my heart,
Nor heed the fevered hurry of the throng.
In life's activities I find no part,
But tread the highways with a silent song.
I have no traffic in the worldly mart,
I know no certainties of right and wrong,
But shape my fleeting dreams to forms of art,
Knowing that life is short and art is long.
And who shall say I do not play my role
Because I do not clamor in the street,
Nor raise my hand to swell the frenzied strife,
But rather chose with song to worship life,
And feed the flickering flame within my soul,
And silent stand because the stars are sweet?

A crowd of dirty-faced urchins were playing dangerously near the edge of a Providence pier. Suddenly an old salt, who had been a fidgety onlooker from the cabin of his boat, emerged from his favorite post and proceeded to soundly thrash one of the lads in question.

Some passerby, surprised by his actions, stopped to question the old tar thereon.

"Wal, I'll tell yar," said the old fellow, as he regretfully ceased his hold on the lad's collar, "'Tain't as I care a hang whether they fall in or whether they don't, but it's the danged uncertainty about it that I can't stand."—Judge.

JOKE ON HER.

"Did you attend?"

"Yes. I played a practical joke on her. I got in line when she was receiving and before she knew it she was smiling and saying she was glad to see me," — Missouri Mule.

An embarrassing experience common to many of us is illustrated by the following anecdote. The orchestra in a Boston photoplay house was delivering a selection in which a loud crash precedes a sudden stop. The pause came quickly, immediately followed by a high pitched feminine voice:

"Oh, it is all right," replied the burly yokel, "I can hear every word you say from here."

The late Dean Bovey, was Dean of the Faculty of Applied Science in McGill University for over a quarter of a century, rendering a splendid service to his generation. He was born in Devonshire, England, in 1852. Adopting the profession of a civil engineer, he became a member of the staff of the Mersey Docks and Harbor Works, in which capacity he had charge of some of the most important structures then in progress.

In 1877 he came to Canada on his appointment as professor of civil engineering in McGill University. At that time McGill's engineering courses were managed as a branch of the Faculty of Arts, and were without buildings or equipment. In 1879, however, the Faculty of Applied Science was constituted with Professor Bovey as Dean, and under his able management the Science Department of McGill became a great feature of the University. Professor Bovey retired to become rector of the Imperial College of Science and Technology in London. He was one of the founders of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers.

LAWYERS GIVEN FINE ADDRESS ON THEIR LIFE WORK

Profound Questions Asked by Governor Whitman of New York

NOTABLE GUESTS AT THIS BANQUET

Annual Gathering of Montreal Bar—Ladies Present in Gallery

There was much food for reflection in the address delivered Saturday evening by His Excellency Charles S. Whitman, Governor of the State of New York, to the members of the Montreal Bar, at whose annual banquet, held at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, he was the guest of honor. The speaker propounded a number of questions, which he left with his hearers for answer.

Other guests of honor were Col. the Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice; the Hon. T. Chase Casgrain, Postmaster-General; Chief Justice Sir Horace Archambault, Acting Chief Justice Archibald, former Chief Justices Sir Melbourne Tait, Sir Charles Peers Davidson, Senators Beique and Mitchell, Ald. Leslie H. Boyd, representing the Mayor; Sheriff Lemieux, the Hon. Philemon Cousineau, J. A. Ritchie, representing the Ontario Bar, and many others.

The galleries were filled with ladies, among them being the wife of the guest of honor. The speakers of the evening were introduced by the Hon. A. W. Atwater, batonnier of the Montreal Bar.

GOVERNOR'S SPEECH.

Speaking as a member of the Bar to his confreres, Governor Whitman said: "Ours has been the task to make and administer laws, ours the high privilege of giving voice to the cry for justice that is as fresh as today and as inevitable as tomorrow, ours the duty to make straight the path of human relations. In an hour when law trembles to its very foundations, it were wise to repair to ancient standards for high purposes of inquiry and comparison.

"How have we discharged our trust? May we say that equally with the allied callings of religion and medicine, we have held to high standards of altruism, putting the public good above private good, the public service above selfish service? Can we boast that our contact with laws has worked no forgetfulness of the law itself? Have we refused to let mean and petty habit keep our eyes from the stars that witnessed our calling to a ministration of sacred meaning and tremendous import? Is there no ground for the hostile criticism that we have contributed to confusion rather than to simplicity, that our emphasis has been upon evasion rather than performance, that we have put technicalities above truth, and that we have not sought to remedy complexity because in complexity was our advantage?

FIGHT OF PROGRESS.

"These questions are being asked. They must be answered, and the answers must be given in the light of twenty centuries of progress. You know, I know, and the whole world knows that we have been drafted into action by the exigencies of modern life. Aldermanic bodies, legislatures, senates, cabinets and administrative positions compete with the law courts for our time, and as the service develops larger needs for specific training, cities, states and nations wait upon our word. Finance, industry and world trade defer to our guidance, and it is increasingly the case that we of the law hold the keyes to the gates of progress.

"In the United States, at least, there are facts and figures that give just cause for the sneers of a growing antagonism. In exactly five years, for instance, the total number of acts passed by American Legislatures was 49,552. Not onlyh as there been a result in duplication and confusion, but in many instances such utter ambiguity as to require judicial interpretation before the meaning of the laws could be ascertained. Yet the great bulk of this unnecessary, unintelligible and often pernicious legislation was drafted by lawyers, and even when this was not the case, the legislative bodies that enacted the laws were dominated by lawyers who should have been able, by virtue of their trained intelligence, to guard against the evils worked by ignorance and unscrupulous cunning.

"I can not say authoritatively whether such conditions prevail in your country, but I do know that Mr. H. G. Wells has written harshly indeed concerning the situation in England.

THIS GREAT WAR.

"The Twentieth Century quivers under the shock of a conflict that only spares sanity by reason of human inability to grasp its full horror. The age of light is darkened—the very keystone of civilization crumbles. The earth is wet with blood and tears, and above all other sounds there is the long sustained wailing of women and little children.

"Had we who were called upon to serve the law—that one firm base of civilization—remained true to the deep significance of our appointment, ever insistent upon an universality as tremendous and compelling as the universality of truth and justice, might it not have been that this tragedy of disappointment could have been kept from the stage of modern life? Had we stood steadfast through the centuries, fighting for the simplicities and the humanities in big, broad understandable terms, might it not have been that the world could have been saved to peace and order?

"When the horror shall have passed, when grief-stricken nations turn again to the pursuits of peace, opportunity will knock no less loudly at our doors than at the doors of the master builders. In that great day of reconstruction, when everything must be finer and better than it was before, are we to labor in the old ant-hill fashion, or shall we give our faces to the winds of the world and turn our eyes to the stars

"I point to a day, gentlemen, when law will rule the world, speaking to the peoples of earth, whatever their tongue, through a great and shining code that will have universal application, unprejudiced and unhampered by the ambiguities, nonconformities and inequalities that now distress and divide. Even were this a dream, it would be worth while, for in such a dream there is an exaltation which lifts the dreamer above life's sloughs of despond.

"Though divided by hates, misunderstandings, differing ideals and varying standards, the peoples of earth are still sons and daughters of a common Father, and it is the business of the law and the servants of the law to lay those firm foundations upon which a temple of brotherhood may be builded that storm shall not shake and against which no evil shall prevail."

The Hon. Frank Plumley, representing the Bar of the State of Vermont, in a brief speech assured the present that he did not believe there was one heart in his state that could not beat as one with the British Empire in her fight for liberty and the overthrowing of tyranny.

Other speakers were: The Minister of Justice, the Postmaster-General, Chief Justices Sir Horace Archambault and Archibald, the Hon. F. E. Wadhams, secretary of the American Bar Association, Dean Lee, of the McGill Faculty of Law, R. C. Smith, K. C., and P. B. Mignealt, K. C.

Efficiency built the Panama Canal, after inefficiency failed. The efficiency of the Panama Canal doubled the effectiveness of the U. S. Navy without adding a ship to it. It took over 8,000 miles out of the trip from New York to San Francisco and changed the highway between London and Australia from Suez to Panama.

Efficiency insures against lost motion—it produces the utmost service out of equipment and yields the finest product, at the least cost.

Certain-teed

Roofing

is an efficiency product

Every advantage that men, money and machinery can offer is used to increase the production, maintain the quality and lower the cost. Each of the General's enormous mills is advantageously located to serve the ends of efficient manufacture and quick distribution. Each is equipped with the most up-to-date machinery. Raw materials are purchased in enormous quantities and far ahead of the needs of manufacturing, thus guarding against increased cost due to idle machinery. This also insures favorable buying, and the pick of the market.

Expert chemists at each mill are employed to select and blend the asphalts, and every roll of CERTAIN-TEED is made under their watchful care.

CERTAIN-TEED resists the drying-out process so destructive to ordinary roofing, because the felt is thoroughly saturated with a blend of soft asphalts, prepared under the formula of the General's board of expert chemists. It is then coated with a blend of harder asphalts, which keeps the inner saturation soft. This makes a roofing more pliable, and more impervious to the elements than the harder, drier kind.

CERTAIN-TEED is made in rolls; also in slate-surfaced shingles. There is a type of CERTAIN-TEED for every kind of building, with flat or pitched roofs, from the largest sky-scraper to the smallest residence or out-building.

CERTAIN-TEED is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to ply (1, 2 or 3). Experience proves that it lasts longer.

MINISTER'S DEFEAT DOOM OF MACHINE ASSERTS BREWSTER

Liberal Candidate in B. C. Gets Big Majority In Contest

VICTORIA, B.C., March 6.—By a majority of 2,397 votes, H. C. Brewster, Liberal candidate in Saturday's by-election for the Provincial Legislature, was elected over Hon. A. C. Flumerfelt, Conservative. Considering the number of voters absent from the city, the total poll was large. The final returns show:

Brewster	4,824
Flumerfelt	2,427
Majority for Brewster	2,397

The successful candidate was given a hearty reception, being carried shoulder high by enthusiastic friends along Broad street.

In an address listened to by 8,000 persons, he said the result spelled victory at the coming general elections and the doom of the "machine." M. A. MacDonald, M.L.A., also spoke. The member-elect will be introduced to the Legislature today.

Commenting on the result, the Hon. W. J. Bowser said: "It is the fortune of war. It will make no difference whatever with the carrying out of the program laid down in the Speech from the Throne. The measures necessary for that purpose will be introduced as soon as possible and passed into law if the House agrees to them, as I have no doubt it will. The people seem to think they need an Opposition in the House, and now that they have one I can assure them that I will place no obstacle in the way, but, on the contrary, will grant every facility for such investigations as Mr. Brewster and his friends may desire to make."

FLUMERFELT RESIGNS TODAY

The Hon. A. C. Flumerfelt will resign today as Minister of Finance. The portfolio will be taken by another Minister until the general election. The Hon. W. C. Ross probably will act as Finance Minister.

Unlike the Vancouver campaign of a week ago, when the Hon. C. E. Tisdall was defeated, personalities figured in lurid language in Victoria. A feature of the last day of the campaign was the publication in the Times Saturday evening of a message from Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper. His language was even more striking than that contained in his Vancouver speech. He wrote:

"I ask Conservatives to drive from power this Government, which has disgraced and which has been the servile tool of adventurers. I ask Conservatives to defeat every Minister of Mr. Bowser who shows his head. The relative state of party representation in the Legislature in this Province is nothing short of disgraceful.

"An opposition—His Majesty's loyal opposition—is essential where British parliamentary government prevails."

"There are mile posts on the trail of this corrupt combination. An opposition, had it existed on the floor of the House, would long ago have exposed their iniquities.

"What about Sir Richard McBride and the Judas Iscariot who sold him?"

"Who is his little Kaiser who attempts to read out of the party Conservatives who dared to have opinions of their own?"

DEFEATED IN VICTORIA

Hon. A. C. Flumerfelt, Conservative candidate and former Minister of Finance.

Swiss May Have to Charter Food Ships

GENEVA, via Paris, March 6.—Switzerland will be compelled to charter trans-Atlantic steamships to bring her own food across the sea under protection of her own flag if the war continues much longer, in the opinion of many persons here.

The view is expressed that Germany's program at sea may mean the starvation of Switzerland unless some such action is taken.

TO MAKE PLACE FOR VETERANS

TORONTO, March 6.—Dr. Noble announces that he will move, at the next meeting of the Board of Education, that the unmarried men of military age in the employ of the board be notified that their places will be filled by returned soldiers as soon as possible, or by those who are unfit for military service. The doctor thought the City Hall and the Ontario Government should take the same step.

ENGLAND CITADEL OF TYRANNY CRY IRISH-AMERICANS

NEW YORK, March 6.—Hailing Ireland as the "cradle of Americanism," and denouncing England as "Citadel of tyranny," more than 800 delegates, who say they represent "more than nine-tenths of 20,000,000 of the Irish race in America," met yesterday in the George M. Cohan Theatre in Times Square. It was the final session of the two day convention of the newly-found friends of Irish freedom.

A "declaration of freedom," pledge of devotion to American ideals, a warning to the country to beware of "Perfidious Albion, armed and prepared for aggression against us at three of the four corners of our country"—and a plea for restoration to Ireland, "unconquered and unconquerable," of "her place among the nations of the world," were all unanimously adopted.

OFFICERS DISMISSED.

LONDON, March 6.—The Official Gazette announces that Capt. W. D. Perry, of the 18th Battalion, and Lt. O. E. Jones, of the 25th Battalion, have been dismissed from the service by the sentence of a general court martial.

ALMY'S IS READY TO HELP YOU CLEAN HOUSE

MONTREAL'S LARGEST LIMITED STORE

Spring is near at hand, and housecleaning will soon be the order of the day. This, with its many activities, will bring to light new needs for room furnishings and home fittings. That is why we are sure the items below will prove of absorbing interest to you.

Just Arrived

I think it would be timely and interesting if I tell you today, just at the beginning of the Wash Goods season, about some of the very latest novelties in this line. Every day sees the arrival of a new shipment of New York's most favored fabrics and prominent among them may be mentioned the floral and scroll voiles. The voiles come in big checks, large stripes, and with a tinted background, the noticeable feature being the very large patterns.

Tissue Crepes in pastel colorings are also very much in evidence, while there is a big range of sheer fabrics, both plain and fancy. Large designs on tinted grounds are the rage for silk voiles. Indications point to a very decided white goods season. There are many reasons why this should be so, among them being the shortage of dyes, about which you have all heard. However, the range of our wash goods is so varied and so enticing that I do not think we'll have much difficulty in selection.

I'd very much like to hear what your opinion is!

The Scribe

Note.—The Scribe will be pleased to advise you, or shop for you personally if you will write her care of Almy's Limited.

PENMANS MAKES RECORD REPORT--MARKETS ALL STRONGER

GOOD RALLY, STEEL LIST MOST ACTIVE

The improved tone which developed in the local market in the final two days' trading of last week made further headway today, the steel group being the chief centre of interest.

The most notable advances, however, were in less active but high-priced stocks such as Bridge and Power. The former rose three points to 210 from Saturday's price, while Power added another point to its rally at 221.

By far the largest amount of trading was done in Steel of Canada. After touching 42 1-2 on Saturday it closed easier at 41 3-4, and resumed at the same level today. There was good buying and the price again rose to 42 1-8 in the first hour and thereafter during the forenoon session held steady at 42.

Iron made a fair spurt to keep its lead over Steel, going to 45 5-8 after opening at 44 1-2, compared with 44 3-8 at the close on Saturday. Scotia showed no change at 96.

Lyall, which developed quite an active market at the week end, touching a new high level at 40, continued in evidence and had a fractional gain to 40 1-2.

Penmans was another strong feature on the strength of the excellent showing in the annual report presented today. At the time the 1 per cent bonus was announced, a little over a month ago, the stock rose to 63, but later reacted to 61 1-2, and became dull. Today it was in demand at 62 1-2 to 62 3-4.

Detroit gained a fraction at 86 3-4. C.P.R. was dull in New York at 165 to 166, and here at 166, compared with 166 1-2 to 165 1-2 on Saturday.

Opinions from Wall Street

E. & C. Randolph.—The market is likely to maintain more or less of a waiting attitude until the action of the House in connection with the armed merchantmen question is taken.

Shearson, Hammill & Co.—Commission house activity is almost entirely on the selling side. The market continues to be of a very professional character. On all strong spots liquidation appears.

Laidlaw & Co. — The one adverse aspect of the business situation is the growing scarcity of raw materials and the consequent advance in prices. This tendency, sooner or later, will operate to check consumption.

Jenks, Gwynne & Co.—News over the week end contains nothing upon which to warrant a change of market policy. We therefore look for the stock market to continue along its narrow irregular lines pending definite developments in the political and international situation.

Meredith Rountree is leaving today for Prince Rupert, B.C.

T. A. Gale, for three years manager of the Dominion Bank at Walkerville, has joined Felton & Company, brokers, of Detroit.

Major W. P. O'Brien, of the firm of O'Brien & Williams, who has enlisted with the Irish Rangers, will report for duty during the next few days. During the past couple of weeks Major O'Brien has been trying to wind up his business in the firm of O'Brien & Williams, in order to give his entire time to the organization of the same battalion.

An Ottawa wire says: C. B. Gordin, the president of the Dominion Textile Company, who undertook an important office in the Munitions Commission, has been giving his entire time to the work here. Sunday being the only day which he manages to be able to spend in Montreal. A very large amount of work has been done in his department, and it has been a matter of considerable surprise to departments here that a man in Mr. Gordon's position has been able to give so much time to the work which he has undertaken on behalf of the Government.

ALL PENMANS RECORDS ARE NOW BEATEN

DEALINGS ON METAL MART ARE RESUMED

LONDON, March 6.—The metal exchange opened for dealings today under the conditions authorized by the Ministry of Munitions. A fair business was transacted during the forenoon.

The Glasgow iron market decided not to hold a session today, as there are certain details which must be cleared up with the munitions ministry before trading is resumed.

The stock market was generally cheerful today on the week end war news, but business was at low ebb and confined principally to South African issues. Rubber stocks and a few gilt-edged securities. South American rails were weak on crop news. American securities had a good tone but the trading was meagre. A few bonds changed hands in the open market.

Money was in fair demand and discount rates were quiet. Treasury bonds sold well.

Topics of the Street

Pro-German banking interests have been at work again trying to hammer the New York market, according to the gossip from there.

They are said to have been heavy sellers of the entire list, and, no doubt, by doing so they hoped to impress the Washington authorities.

They employed the same tactics when the sterling situation was susceptible of influence in the same way, but in the long run it did not do them much good.

The Penman's statement shows what home industries can do when they have the opportunity.

Wall Street is in despair over the failure of the market to take any notice of record breaking earnings and increasing dividends, but believe that any improvement in the political outlook would very quickly change the situation.

The threat to dismantle the Halifax mill of the Dominion Textile Company as the result of the raising of the civic assessment from $75,000 to $160,000, or an increase of about $500 in taxes, has led some of that city's controllers to express doubts whether the company would carry out its threat over such a trivial matter, and did not believe the company would continue to do business there if it did not pay. However, the matter has been delayed and the city will have some sort of a conference before coming to a decision.

The new general manager of the Dominion Steel Corporation, D. H. McDougall, has achieved his present position by dint of unremitting labor, by tactfulness and courtesy under the most trying circumstances, and by a very characteristic modesty, says the Sydney Record.

It is a source of peculiar gratification to Cape Breton, that paper adds, that the direction of what is probably the largest single industrial enterprise in Canada, excepting the Canadian Pacific Railway, should have been placed in the hands of a local man, still young in years, deservedly popular with his subordinates, and with a past record that warrants expectations of a successful future both for Mr. McDougall and the enterprise that he now directs in its entirety.

New York agents of Canadian banks deny the report that arrangements had been made for the transfer of $10,000,000 gold from Canada to New York.

They stated, however, that a movement of gold from that quarter was probable in the near future. Montreal exchange on New York sold at ¼ per cent premium, and has rufed above par for some three.

When a similar rate of exchange prevailed last August, the Dominion Government floated a $45,000,000 loan in New York.

Although Canadian banks have large sums on deposit in New York, much of this is a part of their reserve, and is not available for release to meet an adverse balance on exchange. If large payments have to be made by Canada in the near future, the easiest way to provide for them, in the judgment of New York bankers, is to send gold. In their opinion, it is not likely that the Dominion Government will endeavor to arrange another loan here at this time.

R. A. McCURDY DEAD

MORRISTOWN, N. J., March 6.—Richard Aldrich McCurdy, capitalist, president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company from 1885 to 1906, died at his home here today, aged eighty-one years. He retired from the presidency of the company soon after the investigation conducted into life insurance companies in New York.

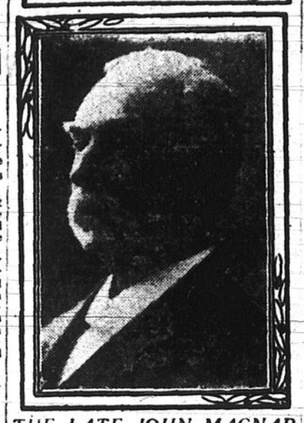

TECH-HUGHES BONDS

The Tech-Hughes Gold Mines Limited is creating a $500,000 five-year 7 per cent first mortgage bond issue, of which $100,000 par value is now offered to the shareholders at $2 and accrued interest. The proceeds will be utilized to erect a milling plant and develop the property, which is located in the Kirkland Lake district.

HEWSON WOOL OPTION

An option on the Hewson Fine Wool plant at Amherst for $105,000, of which $10,000 was paid down, has been given to A. J. Campbell, a Truro lawyer. Several other options fell through, but this is the first one with a cash consideration, which represents 15 per cent of the bond holdings.

Financial Obituary

THE LATE JOHN MACNAB
Aged Halifax Capitalist whose death is Announced.

FIRM START IN WALL ST., OIL LEADER

Special to The Montreal Star.

NEW YORK, March 6. — The stock market opened firm today, with some issues showing slight advances. All were not retained, however, on second sales. Mexican Petroleum was up 1½ at the opening, but dropped back in a few minutes from 102 to 101. United States Steel was up ¼ at 81¾. Crucible opened at 74, up ⅛.

The week on the Stock Exchange opened with more confidence, this being denoted by the generally higher level of prices. Material gains were again confined to specialties, however, such as Mexican Petroleum, Butte and Superior and Anaconda Coppers, American Zinc and a few of the better known war issues, particularly Crucible Steel, Pressed Steel Car, Baldwin Locomotive and Westinghouse.

Rails were steady, and U. S. Steel responded to a better demand. Dealings continued moderate, with speculative interest converging around conditions at Washington.

Prices made further upward progress during the morning with manipulation active in Sugars, Oils, Crucible Steel and Tobacco Products, pfd. Cuban-American Sugar rose 12½ and South Porto Rico 7.

Mexican Petroleum extended its rise over 5 points. The movement was shared in variable degrees by Marines, United Fruits, the Metal group and Fertilizers, while various unclassified stocks rose 1 to 2 points.

U. S. Steel and Reading were the only former favorites to show pronounced activity and strength. St. Paul and Pacific Mail inclined to heaviness. Quotations eased nominally in some instances before midday. Bonds were steady.

Old Time Halifax Merchant is Dead

Special to The Montreal Star.

HALIFAX, March 6. — One of the oldest of the old time merchants in Halifax passed away yesterday when death claimed John Macnab, at the age of 83. He made the foundation for his fortune many years ago in the wholesale provision trade, from which he retired a number of years ago.

He was associated with numerous business and financial corporations, and at the time of his death was a director of the Eastern Trust Company and of the Halifax Fire Insurance Company.

He was for many years a director of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company, but retired a few years ago on account of advancing years. He was also one of the directors of the Halifax Banking Company up to the time of its absorption by the Canadian Bank of Commerce, and remained a member of the advisory board for Nova Scotia of the latter bank.

The late Mr. Macnab, who was accounted one of the wealthiest business men of Halifax, never married. Out of a large family he is survived by one brother, William Macnab.

OPENING PRICES LOWER ON BEAR PRESSURE

From the Winnipeg Office of James Carruthers & Co.

WINNIPEG, March 6. — Opening prices on wheat this morning showed a decline of 1c per bushel in Chicago, with Winnipeg down 1 1-2c. This was caused principally by weakness in public cables and an absence of bids in exporters' hands. By noon Chicago took on a strong tone and firmed up 3-4c over Saturday's close, with Winnipeg following.

Considering the amount of pressure from bear interests today, the market showed a strong undertone. Reports from winter wheat States now coming in show considerable winter killing. There is practically no snow protection and with cold weather predicted in the Northwest, further damage is expected. The March report from Ohio gives the condition as .71 as against .85 in January and .97 last year.

The premiums on Manitoba wheat for nearby shipment remain unchanged.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK EXCHANGE FORMED

In pursuance of the proposal put forward recently that a live stock exchange be formed for the city of Montreal, a large and representative gathering of the local live stock trade met at the Windsor Hotel on Saturday night for the purpose of discussing the practical side of the question and forming a tangible basis upon which to work. As a result, it was decided to create "The Montreal Live Stock Exchange," the opinion being unanimous that it was eminently desirable such a corporate body should exist in the interests of trade.

The advantages to be derived from such an association were explained by several speakers, who pointed out the benefits enjoyed by other cities by the existence of live stock exchanges.

Those who contributed to the furtherance of the project included W. J. Neely, president of the Toronto Live Stock Exchange, who presided at the meeting as chairman, and for his valuable assistance and advice, a vote of thanks was tendered to him.

The following were elected as officers of the Montreal Live Stock Exchange: President, George D. Beall; first vice-president, Z. Sancal; 2nd vice-president, Alfred Leduc; secretary, D. J. Tansey; board of directors: C. F. Mitchell, C. A. Dohan, E. Chapleau, I. Levinoff, F. Montreuil, U. Lauzon, Arthur Leduc, and John Taylor.

Every branch of the industry was represented at the meeting, among those present being: G. L. Franklin, Campbell Laing, D. Brogan and H. M. Levinoff, of the Montreal Abattoirs, Limited; Albert Matthews, S. G. Matthews, Geo. Silcock and W. H. Burton, of Matthews-Blackwell Limited; F. H. Carlin, of the Montreal Stock Yards Co.; H. S. Thompson and Henry Morgan, of the Wm. Davies Co.; J. C. Marz, Geo. King, Jas. Tweedie, Peter Gog, of the C.P.R. Stock Yards; Roch. Bissonette, W. Knuckle, E. Archambault, J. H. Pinard, J. A. Besner, John Brown, Romeo Senecal, O. Patenaude, L. Cailloux, Albert Bessner, P. Wilkinson, W. H. Maher, A. J. Pinard, M. Balinsky, M. Pessner and many others.

LICENSES CANCELLED

OTTAWA, March 6.—Because their financial condition was not such as to justify the acceptance of risks the superintendent of insurance has cancelled the license to do business of the Montreal-Canada and the Anglo-American Fire Insurance Companies, both of Montreal. Since this action was taken the companies have gone into voluntary liquidation. Their risks have been reinsured in the Western Assurance Co. of Toronto.

BEAR NEWS SENT WHEAT PRICES DOWN

CHICAGO, March 6.—Bearish estimates of farm reserves in the United States tended today to depress the wheat market. Besides, Liverpool quotations were lower, and it was said tonnage for Argentine and Australian shipments was becoming liberal. The bulls were discouraged also by the absence of any signs of important new export transactions.

Opening prices, which ranged 1-2 to 1 1-8 to 1 1-4 lower, with May at 112 1-8 to 112 3-4, and July at 109 1-2 to 110, were followed by a rally, but then a fresh decline.

Wheat cables show no snap; world's shipments large. Statistics on this side likely to be bearish. Outside trade greatly reduced, with immediate market fluctuations in the hands of professional trade. On sharp depressions, purchases of July wheat in order. Coarse grains dependent on wheat. Government reserve figures due Wednesday.

Ohio State report March condition 71, against January 85, last year 97, July 102. Winter killing chief cause of the trouble, almost no snow protection and forecast for colder weather in Southwest on top of soft weather today and yesterday.

POWER AT PORCUPINE

In spite of the wet fall there is some danger that some mining companies in the Porcupine camp will be obliged to use steam before the spring comes to relieve the ice blockade on the Mattagami River, says the Northern Miner.

CATTLE AND HOGS UP; SHEEP ARE SCARCE

In the local live stock market today prices show marked increases in some lines. Owing to the small run of cattle on the market, butchers' steers were 25c cwt. dearer than last week, and choice quality stock was in very good demand by packers this morning, the trading as a result being very brisk and all offerings were quickly bought up. As high as $8.10 a hundred pounds was paid for the best stock, but in the main body of cases sales were around the $8 level for best quality.

A like increase was noted in the price of hogs; the demand being good and quality fair, prices paid were 25c cwt. over last week's figures. Sales of choice quality hogs were made at $10.85 per hundred pounds, and considerable activity was manifested in this line.

An interesting feature of the market was the small run of lambs this morning, only fifty sheep and lambs being offered. The trade in this branch was very light in consequence of the small receipts, and prices held firm at last week's range. A consignment of choice lambs, similar to those received last week from the Experimental Farm at Lennoxville, arrived today from the Government farm at Ottawa, and were bought by George Beall for the William Davies Company at record prices, as high as 12½c lb having been paid, as compared with the record of the previous week's sale, 12c lb. The prices for sheep continue firm, with offerings very scarce.

The market for calves still maintains a firm feeling, but with larger receipts the trade was fairly good, without any unusual changes in prices noted.

Sales of round lots of live stock were made at the following prices:

Butcher steers, best, $7.75 to $8; good, $7.40 to $7.65; fair, $7 to $7.25; medium, $6.50 to $6.90, and rough $6 to $6.25. Butcher bulls, best, $6.75 to $7.50; medium, $5.75 to $6.50; canning bulls, $4.15 to $4.80 cwt.

Butcher cows, best, $7; good, $6.25; common, $5.25 to $6; canners, $3.60 to $4.60 cwt.

Sheep, 6½c to 7¾c lb., and lambs 10¼c to 11c lb.

MANY DECISIONS GIVEN TODAY IN COURT OF APPEAL

The Court of Appeals, Chief Justice Sir Horace Archambeault and Justices Lavergne, Cross, Carroll and Pelletier, this morning decided that an Austrian interned in a Canadian Concentration Camp for the sole reason that he was without means of sustenance was not by that fact, deprived of his right to sue; they dismissed an action for $1,400 entered against the City by John Quinlan, over the building of the Mountain lookout; threw out the $10,000 suit of a mother whose little daughter broke her back while running to kiss her. Other cases will come up this afternoon.

In the case of Pietro Harasymczuk vs the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Co., the Superior Court stayed proceedings because he was an enemy alien, a prisoner at Spirit Lake having been interned as he was without funds. He sued for $1,000 damages for the death of his minor son. Mr. Justice Carroll drew distinctions between different classes of interned aliens, and, speaking for the full Bench, declared that the internment in this case did not deprive the Appellant of his civil rights. Hence it was ordered that the case be sent back to the Superior Court and proceeded with.

MOTHER LOSES CASE.

The case of Dame Alphonsine Brown vs. Jos. Art. Lamarre, was an action of a mother who sued for $10,000. Her daughter was running to meet her one night when she tripped on a loose board in the yard of her home, fell, and caused injuries which it was alleged, made her a hunchback and cripple for life. The mother first sued for $500 and won; the youngster getting much worse she sued for $10,000. She again won in the Superior Court which granted $1,100, but lost in Review, whereupon she went to appeal. Lamarre was the landlord. Justice Pelletier reviewing the proof showed that there was considerable doubt on the point whether the injury was a result of the fall.

Justice Lavergne also dissented.

MOUNTAIN LOOK OUT.

In the case of John Quinlan vs. the City, the appeal was over the building of the Mountain Look Out. Quinlan sued on the ground that the city's plans were faulty with the result that he had to do extra excavation work. He demanded $13,600 and lost in the Superior Court because Judge Lane held that by the contract itself Quinlan undertook to submit to changes without further cost. Court of King's Bench confirmed the judgment, with the exception of a sum of $82.25, as this amount of extra work had been specifically authorized by the city.

In Banque Nationale vs. Lemaire & Co., the suit was over a promissory note for $10,000, dated January, 1910. La Compagnie Industrielle do Bonaventure was in difficulties and made an arrangement whereby the directors would raise money and the shareholders assumed liability pro rata. The note sued on bore the legend "en garantie" and the Superior Court dismissed the suit on the ground that the note was not negotiable. Review reversed the judgment; Kings Bench confirmed this finding.

In the King vs. McDonald, appeal was entered asking for new trial, but was dismissed.

In J. Couture and Gauthier, et al, it was a question of liquidation and the Chief Justice Archambeault pointed out that it was necessary to obtain permission to appeal. No proof that the lower court had given such permission was shown so the motion to appeal was dismissed.

In the case of the King and A. Verronneau, Mr. Justice Carroll and Mr. Justice Pelletier dissented from the majority of the Court. It was a case wherein D. S. Bachaud, who had been arrested on instigation of A. Verronneau, and who later, in turn brought about the arrest of Verronneau, later formed part of the Grand Jury of Coaticook before whom Verronneau appeared. Both Judges opined that it was contrary to the spirit of justice that Bachaud should have been present at the Grand Jury.

Recent Deaths.

MRS. GEO. RUTHVEN AGED NINETY-SIX HAS PASSED AWAY

At the age of ninety-six years, Mrs. Ruthven, widow of the late George Ruthven, well known in Montreal banking circles died yesterday at the home of her son-in-law, Hamilton S. Hall, 323 Victoria avenue, Westmount. Mrs. Ruthven was one of the oldest residents of Montreal, having lived here when Cadieux street was a centre of fashion and social life. Her husband, who died about forty years ago, was an official of the old City Bank, an institution which has long since passed out of existence.

Mrs. Ruthven, whose maiden name was Ann Barclay Shaw, was a native of Kingston, Ont., where she passed the early part of her life. She was full of reminiscences of the old military days in Kingston, and also had many stories to tell of Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir Oliver Mowat, both of whom she knew well as young men. Sir John Macdonald, in fact, taught her how to dance.

Mrs. Ruthven retained all her faculties to the last, and her memory was remarkably strong for events of over half a century ago. She is survived by one son, Frederick F. Ruthven, of Toronto, and three daughters, Mrs. Hall and Mrs. E. C. Wimans, of Westmount, and Mrs. E. Havelock Walsh, of Toronto. There are five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. The funeral will be private.

Mr. McGauran was a writer of verses, and in religion was an Adventist. In 1871 he was married to Miss Ellen Morgan, who survives him, with one son, John Couse McGauran, and a sister, Mrs. James Strachan. The funeral was held privately this afternoon to the Mount Royal Cemetery.

The funeral was held this morning from his sister's residence, 11 Laval avenue, to the Church of the Good Shepherd. Father Charette was born in Montreal in 1863, and after ordination in 1886, served in several local parishes, being later transferred to Lachute as parish priest.

GERMAN RAIDER REACHES A HOME PORT, IS REPORT

BERLIN, March 6, via London.—Official announcement was made here yesterday that the German cruiser Moewe had arrived in a German port. She had on board a large number of British prisoners, it was declared, and 1,000,000 marks in gold bars.

The announcement asserts that fifteen vessels were sunk by the Moewe, which also laid mines at several points. One of these mines, it was alleged, sank the British battleship King Edward VII. The statement follows:

"The Naval General Staff states that H.M.S. Moewe, under Captain Burgrave Count Dohna-Schlodien, after a successful cruise lasting several months, arrived today at a home port with four British officers, twenty-nine British marines and sailors, 166 men of crews of enemy steamers, among them 103 Indians as prisoners, and 1,000,000 marks in gold bars.

"The vessel brought up the following enemy steamers, the greater part of which were sunk, and a small part of which were sent as prizes to neutral ports:

"The British steamers Corbridge, 3,687 tons; Author, 3,496 tons; Trader, 3,608 tons; Ariadne, 3,035 tons; Dromonby, 3,627 tons; Farringford, 3,146 tons; Clan Mactavish, 5,816 tons; Appam, 7,781 tons; Westburne, 3,300 tons; Herar, 3,335 tons; Flamenco, 4,629 tons; Saxon Prince, 3,471 tons; the British sailing vessel Edinburgh, 1,473 tons; the French steamer Maroni, 3,109 tons; the Belgian steamer, Luxembourg, 4,322 tons.

"At several points on the enemy coast the Moewe also laid out mines, to which, among others, the battleship King Edward VII fell a victim."

REACHED WILHELMSHAVEN.

LONDON, March 6.—An Exchange Telegraph despatch from Amsterdam says the Moewe reached Wilhelmshaven yesterday.

Count von Dohna, the Moewe's commander, has been awarded the Iron Cross of the first class, and the members of the crew have received the Iron Cross of the second class. Count von Dohna has been ordered to meet Emperor William at headquarters.

The Moewe's capture of two of the fifteen vessels listed by the German Admiralty has not been reported previously. They are the Saxon Prince and the Maroni, both of which were engaged in the trans-Atlantic.

The Saxon Prince, 3,471 tons gross, 352 feet long, and owned by the Prince Line of Newcastle, England, was built in Sunderland in 1899. She was last reported on sailing from Norfolk, February 12, for Manchester.

The Maroni sailed on February 19 from Bordeaux for New York. She was built at Port Debouc in 1909, owned by the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique of Havre, and was 312 feet long, of 3,109 tons gross.

Part of the gold captured by the Moewe, at least, was taken from the Appam, which put in at Newport News several weeks ago under command of Lieutenant Berg, with a German prize crew. It was announced in London, however, that the value of the gold on the Appam was less than $200,000.

LONDON TIMES' COMMENT.

By Canadian Press.

LONDON, March 6.—Most of the London newspapers this morning give the news of the escape of the German raider Moewe without comment. The naval correspondent of the Times in the course of an article, says:

"Having managed to elude the British cruisers in making her escape from a German port, it is not a matter of surprise if the Moewe should be able to repeat the exploit and to return. The possibility of an enterprising captain's breaking the blockade inwards as well as outwards, has been frequently demonstrated. It has been done before, and doubtless will be done again, although, if many raiders were to meet with the good fortune of the Moewe, it would become very disagreeable and disquieting. It is fortunate that only under extremely favorable conditions can an adventure like that of the Moewe be attempted with any prospect of success.

"Apparently the raider started home before the steamship Westburn was sent into port, and thus endeavored to mislead ships in chase of her into the belief she was still engaged in operating in the Atlantic.

"The boast that one of the mines which the Moewe laid out destroyed the King Edward VII. may be taken with a grain of salt.

"It is extremely unlikely to say the least, but apart from this the captain of the Moewe certainly carried out a desperate adventure with skill and courage."

GERMAN PRESS COMMENT.

Amsterdam, March 6, via London. —The Berlin newspapers declare the Moewe's adventure to have been one of the great events of the war, and urge the government to permit other ships to go out on similar missions from Kiel. The Lokal Anzeiger says:

"We are deeply proud of the Moewe. Her daring has written her glorious name in every German heart."

The Berliner Tageblatt says:

"The Moewe's return shows that the Emden spirit ever lives in the German navy. Her commander and crew are sure of the eternal gratitude of Germany."

Special Star Cable by United Press.

BERLIN, March 6.—Under the same officers and crew who already have played thrilling roles in the Moewe's remarkable exploits, the German commerce raider will again put to sea within a few weeks, it was stated here today.

The Moewe will first be drydocked. Her hull will be scraped and she will be thoroughly overhauled. She is said to be in remarkably

NOTES AND QUERIES

LILITH, "ADAM'S FIRST WIFE."

Q.—In the American Century Book of Facts it is stated that Adam's first wife was Lilith, the mother of demons. Now the Bible states that Eve was the first woman. If Eve was the first woman, where did the other come from? I do not believe there was such a woman, but I shall be greatly obliged if you can enlighten me an this subject in your valuable paper.—J. R. B., Montreal.

A.—In the ancient Jewish folklore, derived in this case from the Assyrians, Lilith was a nocturnal spectre, or demon, who assumed the form of a beautiful woman in order to beguile and destroy. According to the story, she was the first wife of Adam, who was compelled to repudiate her when Eve was created for him. She was the mother of aerial, aquatic and terrestrial devils, and, according to the tale, this night monster still wanders about the world, bewitching men and slaying little children not protected by amulets against her. In the demonology of the Middle Ages, Lilith was a celebrated witch, and she is introduced as such in the Walpurgis Night scene in Goethe's "Faust." She is introduced by D. G. Rossetti in his poem "Eden Bower," thus:

"It was Lilith, the wife of Adam . . . .
Not a drop of her blood was human,
But she was made like a soft, sweet woman."

Seriously, you do not mean to say that you, in this twentieth century, are disturbed by hearing this ancient fable?

GRAY'S "ELEGY" — SMITH'S "MUMMY."

Q.—Might I ask you to kindly give me in full the poem containing the following beautiful lines:

"The curfew tolls the knell of parting day;
The lowing herd winds slowly o'er the lea;
The plowman homeward plods his weary way,
And leaves the world to darkness and to me."

It is from "Gray's Elegy," and I only remember the opening lines. Also, if it would not be too much of an imposition the "Address to a Mummy." I have forgotten the author's name. —G. J., Dorchester street west, Montreal.

A.—"Gray's Elegy," written in a country churchyard, is, we regret to say, too long for republication in this department. There are thirty-two verses. The "Address to an Egyptian Mummy" is, also, too long for quotation in full here. Both poems are to be found in "Bell's Elocutionist," which may be obtained from any good bookseller. It contains hundreds of other poems, and is quite inexpensive.

OPERATION OF SUBMARINES.

Q.—Kindly let me know how a submarine is operated under water. How is the power generated to move the boat? What is the mode of shooting the explosive? How do the men get air?—G. A. T., Lachine, Que.

A.—There are now many kinds of submarine boats; so the Holland is taken as a model. These boats are propelled on the surface by gasoline-engines and, while submerged, by an electric motor. The current is generated by storage-batteries which are charged by the main engine. The air-supply is procured on the surface, and is stored away under a pressure of 2,000 pounds by a pump geared off the main engine. Compressed air is used to start the torpedo on its way from a torpedo-tube, but the torpedo carries an automatic engine which propels it through the water to a distance of 7,000 yards or over, where it explodes when the war-head, which is attached just previous to firing, strikes the object aimed at. Air for breathing during submersion is supplied from the compressed air tanks.

The arrest of Jack Lindsay, one of the many prominent Liberal workers in the west, charged with theft in connection with the road work contract scandals, who died on Sunday.

OFFICIAL FORCED OUT.

Retirement from the public service of A. J. MacPherson, chairman of the Local Government Board, the highest paid position in the Government's gift, who was forced to admit that he had let a big contract to a company in which he had a third interest.

Discovery already of thefts of over $150,000 from the Treasury by means of faked road work contracts.

Appointment of a Royal Commission to investigate the charge of bribery.

CHARGE EXCESS PROFITS.

In addition, further serious charges of wholesale manipulating of contracts in connection with the construction of the Battleford Asylum and the Regina Jail buildings, in order to extract excess profits from the Treasury, have been laid, with the charge that the Minister of Public Works, the Hon. A. P. McNab, knew of and permitted these irregularities.

Another charge is that the Minister of Telephones, the Hon. George Bell, was interested in a company which drew excess profits from the Treasury on telephone supply orders.

The Government today will give its answer to the demand for a Royal Commission to investigate these charges.

Various other investigations, which have not yet resulted in charges in the House, have been conducted in the Public Accounts Committee.

Jack Lindsay, under arrest on charge of theft in connection with the road work contract scandals the Opposition as charged in the Legislature, died suddenly at Swift Current. The Provincial Police authorities received word from the Coroner, who said he believed the cause to be heart failure, but that he was investigating further.

Socialists Here Ask for Freedom of Prisoner Reid

An appeal to endorse a resolution, calling upon the Minister of Justice to liberate Jack Reid, a member of the Socialist Party of Canada, who was convicted of sedition by a jury sitting at Red Deer, Alberta, and sentenced by Judge Simmons to a term of fifteen months in Lethbridge prison, was made to a large audience in St. Joseph's Hall last night, by Comrades Barton, Cassidy, Gribble, (the latter recently released from the jail at St. John, N. B., for seditious utterances) Orford and Simard.

The resolution which calls the charge of sedition "archaic" and was unanimously accepted, asks the Minister of Justice "to liberate Reid and any other victims of the same law as soon as the Minister finds out from the evidence that the trial has been in the nature of a return to primitive conditions of society, and as such is incompatible with the degree of civilization to which our race has attained."

The speakers claimed that no organizer of the Socialist Party in Canada had ever incited or attempted to incite an audience to riot.

GERMANY WILL NOT BACK DOWN AVERS OFFICIAL

Special Cable by Karl H. von Wiegand, Staff Correspondent of The World. (Copyright, 1916, by the Press Publishing Company, the New York World.)

BERLIN, via Amsterdam, March 6.—"Whatever action Congress or President Wilson may take cannot change the determination of the German Government to stand firm on its memorandum in regard to the manner in which armed belligerent merchantships will be considered and treated as auxiliary warships, nor alter the military necessity of compelling Germany to adopt this course against England as a result of her illegal arming of such ships for offensive purposes."

Thus declared a high Government official to me in discussing the situation in Washington. Continuing, he said:

"I am not saying this as defying Washington, with which we have no quarrel and want none. If, as some of the despatches indicate, some of the American people consider the mere question of enforcing the right to travel on belligerent armed ships as affecting America's honor, which we cannot admit or see, I will say that for Germany the question of conducting submarine warfare within th clines of the memorandum, made necessary by England's attitude and action, is even more than a question of national honor. It is a question of life or death to our nation. It certainly cannot be claimed that the question in any way affects vital principles or the interests of the United States."

UP TO WASHINGTON.

Asked if a break in relations might mean war between Germany and the United States, this official said:

"The question of breaking off relations, or what that might lead to, is in Washington's hands, not in ours. Our submarne war is against England, not against America. We maintain we are within our rights when we consider belligerent armed merchant ships as auxiliary warships, in view of their attacks upon our submarines and the secret orders of the British Admiralty, which the British now admit but call it 'attack in defence.'"

The German Government, I was told, could not admit the legality of "attack in self-defence." The contention being that the British had coined this phrase upon realising that the American people might take the German view.

40,000 KIDDIES WERE MADE HAPPY

The ladies of the Parks and Playgrounds Association operate three playgrounds to which last season over 40,000 visits were paid by children of the city. All the play is supervised.

The performance of "Mam'zelle" on Friday evening is in aid of this good work. While all the boxes and loges have been taken, there are good seats at very moderate prices still to be had.

Miss Winifred Tait as danseuse, and Mr. Rice as vocalist, are to assist Mr. Driscoll's players.

NAMES ARE SIMILAR.

It was David Strathberg, not D. Schatsberg, who appeared in court on Friday for having frequented an alleged gambling house.

Thinks All Churches Will Be Represented Through Monarchs

By Canadian Press.

ROME, via Paris, March 6.—Monsignor Benigni, who was Under-Secretary of State in the Vatican Administration during part of the pontificate of Pope Pius X., has written an article for the Nuova Antologia Review on the question of the participation of the Holy See in the peace conference which is expected to be held at the conclusion of the war.

Replying to one of the objections raised by the Italian press against the intervention of papal delegates, that the heads of all other churches would claim a similar right of representation, Monsignor Benigni says that all heads of religions should, and a great majority of them will, inevitably be represented at the conference, as not the Archbishop of Canterbury but the King of England is the head of the established church of that country; the Emperor of Russia is head of the orthodox Greek church of Russia; the King of Prussia is head of the evangelical church of Prussia, and the Sultan of Turkey and the Emperor of Japan are heads of the dominant religions of their Empires.

TWO CLERGYMEN ENLIST.

HALIFAX, N.S., March 6. The Rev. A. J. Macdonald, paster of St. Andrews Church, Lunenburg, and the Rev. A. K. Herman, of Dartmouth, have enlisted in the Highland Brigade.

300 Afternoon and Evening Dresses at $14.98

Tomorrow at 8.30 a. m. sharp, we shall place on sale at $14.98 each, all the afternoon and evening dresses we have left in styles prior to 1916.

This sale is the result of a policy we are determined to pursue, of not allowing any style merchandise to remain in stock any longer than the season.

In this sale are about three hundred dresses. In only one instance are there two alike.

Style values are very difficult to standardise, therefore we have removed all tickets that would identify the original prices, simply marking them at $14.98 each, irrespective of whether they formerly belonged to the $35 class, or the $100 class or even the $150 class.

The sizes are from 16 Misses, to 44 bust measurements.

AUSTRIA AT WAR WITH SAN MARINO, LATEST REPORT

By Canadian Press.

ROME, March 5, via Paris, March 6.—Austria considers herself at war with the Republic of San Marino, is the message conveyed by Frederick C. Penfield, American Ambassador to Austria-Hungary, to the regents of the smallest State in the world, who had applied through him to have their citizens interned in Austria released. Austria justified her refusal with the statement that San Marino has committed a serious breach of neutrality.

The Republic of San Marino, in Northern Italy, fourteen miles south-west of Rimini, is twenty-two square miles in area, and has a population of 9,500. The supreme power of the Republic resides in the General Assembly, and it is governed by two Regents, selected twice a year from the sixty life members of the Great Council.

The available armed forces of the Republic form a total of about 1,200 men, all citizens able to bear arms, being technically obliged to do so from the age of sixteen to sixty years.

This little State has had an existence of about 1,000 years.

The nature of the serious breach of neutrality which Austria alleges that San Marino has committed is not recorded. Soon after the declaration of war by Italy on Austria it was rumored that San Marino had made a similar declaration, but this was never confirmed

GEN. VON MENGES DEAD.

LONDON, March 6.—A Reuter despatch from Amsterdam says the death is announced at Breslau of Gen. von Menges. The General, who was seventy years old, distinguished himself as commander of a reserve division.

BRITISH AGENTS WATCH TRAVELLERS ON ROTTERDAM

NEW YORK, March 6. — Complaints made by two passengers aboard the Holland-American liner Rotterdam, which arrived here yesterday from Rotterdam and Falmouth, resulted in the disclosure that four British secret agents were aboard the ship, and that British agents had travelled as ordinary passengers aboard her on every voyage she had made across the Atlantic since the beginning of the war.

The two passengers told Capt. Baron, of the Rotterdam, that they had lost documents, and that these undoubtedly had been stolen at sea.

No evidence was offered to prove that the missing papers had been taken by the British agents, but from statements made subsequently by officials of the steamship line, it was adduced that on not only the Rotterdam but other steamships travellers were under close espionage.

DINNER COAT RIFLED.

F. F. Foote, of Chicago, representative of Carson, Pirie, Scott & Company, a Chicago department store, said that one evening after the steamer left Falmouth, he hung his dinner jacket, containing his passport, some letters and photographs, on the door of his stateroom, put on a sack coat and went on deck. A few minutes later, when he returned to his cabin, the pockets of his dinner coat were empty.

The other passenger, who complained of robbery, was Miss Caroline Wilson, a representative of the Chicago Tribune, who accompanied the Ford ark to Europe. She spent some time in Germany, and carried out with her an official statement in German on the question of food supplies in that country. From this and other information she had written several articles. Suddenly the official statement and the other articles, she said, disappeared from the stateroom.

The British authorities at Falmouth took off 1,435 bags of German, Swiss, Dutch, Austro-Hungarian and Turkish mail from the Rotterdam at Falmouth on the voyage just ended. The liner lost five hours on Saturday when she anchored off Nantucket because of the gale accompanied by blinding snow.

TENNYSON SMITH WILL SPEAK HERE FOR TEMPERANCE

The forthcoming visit of Tennyson Smith in connection with the annual convention of the Dominion Alliance is awaited with interest in temperance circles and many requests have been made to the secretary for meetings to be addressed by Mr. Smith in other parts of the city and province.

The campaign conducted by the noted English lecturer at St. John, N.B., finished on Wednesday night last, large audiences being attracted nightly.

A great mass meeting of Men's brotherhoods in Calvary Church at 3 o'clock on Sunday, March 19, will be the occasion for the firing of the first gun in the campaign here. The Montreal Brotherhood Federation and the Calvary Men's Brotherhood are co-operating with the Dominion Alliance in this gathering. On the evening of that day a mass meeting will be held in Calvary Church, followed by meetings in the same place Monday and Tuesday, March 20 and 21.

The business meetings and conferences of the alliance will be held on the two latter days, when two features will predominate, viz: "The Making of the Province of Quebec Dry," and the question of law enforcement. It is expected that plans will be so far advanced by that time that a definite announcement will be made as to the taking of a vote on prohibition in Montreal.
