Signs On Trees
Will Give Names
For Interested

The City of Westmount has decided to place suitable nameplates on trees in the municipality, so that interested citizens and visitors may know the many varieties in Westmount.

The signs, which will be three and a half inches by five inches, will be placed on trees in Westmount Park, King George Park, Queen Elizabeth Gardens and the Forden avenue island.

The signs will bear the common name as well as the botanical name of 29 varieties of trees to be found here.

'Hasty Heart'
Curtain Rises
On Wednesday

In less than one week the curtain will rise on the climax of a month and a half of feverish activity as Westmount Senior High presents John Patrick's hit Broadway play "The Hasty Heart". For a great many the event will be the beginning of an evening of enjoyable entertainment, but for a few, those who have nursed the show from infancy, the action will mark the end to a great deal of time consuming work.

For more than five weeks the members of the cast have sacrificed hours of time to memorize difficult passages, to master accents, and to struggle with bits of dialogue that must be repeated and repeated and enacted well. Patiently guided by Miss Dorothy King, the play's hard working directress, the school's actors and actresses have worked until after dark each afternoon and on holidays reviewing practicing, perfecting. "Laugh easier, more naturally. Don't speak too fast, pronounce all words carefully. Don't wave your hands so much, you resemble a windmill going four ways at once." Without raising her voice, often laughing with her cast, Miss King demonstrates the directing ability that was exhibited in such fine past performances as "Charley's Aunt" and "Berkeley Square."

"The Hasty Heart," by the same author as "Teahouse of the August Moon," is a comedy-drama set in a British army hospital in Burma, with a cast of characters including an Australian, a New Zealander, an English Cockney, and a Basuto tribesman. Two other patents are a WESTMOUNT Traffic Officials subscribe to the theory of uniform traffic signs as a means of reducing highway accidents, but they haven't as shapely a method of drawing attention to the situation. This is Vicki Deverill who understandably drew attention to the standardized traffic sign situation at a recent Ontario good roads association convention. The signs, of course, use the safety color code, with red denoting stop, yellow as cautionary and green informative or directional.

Jane Anders Cast
In Leading Role
With McGill Group

Jane Anders, 488 Grosvenor Ave., a resident of Westmount, has been cast in the role of a mysterious and beautiful woman involved in an intrigue with Napoleon, in the McGill University English Department's forthcoming production of George Bernard Shaw's "The Man of Destiny". The Irish play-writer's comedy of an incident in the early career of the Corsican general whose ambition and genius set Europe afire will be presented at the University's Moyse Hall on March 7, 8 and 9.

"The Man of Destiny", together with a curtain raiser, "The Dark Lady of the Sonnets", will be directed by the well-known Montreal actor, Griffith Brewer.

Christopher Byrd, fourth year Arts student, will play the part of Napoleon as a young man of twenty-six, already a general in the French army, and engaged in his Italian Campaign. At an inn near Milan, the youthful general encounters a mysterious and unnamed woman who engages him in a battle of wits over an incriminating packet of love letters. Although the pair are adversaries throughout the play, each comes to admire the other's abilities more and more, and the audience is left with more than a suggestion of a romance between them.

"The Man of Destiny" will mark the third time that Miss Anders and Mr. Byrd have been paired in English Department productions. In last December's presentation of Ben Jonson's "Volpone", Mr. Byrd was seen in the title role, and Miss Anders appeared as the lovely Celia, victim of Volpone's affections. Last March, Miss Anders and Mr. Byrd were starred as Beatrice and Benedick in Shake-

Check On The Weather For The Week

Weather forecasts for the next full week appear in today's issue of this newspaper.

This new newspaper feature, in a unique form, is prepared by Capt. Eric S. Neal, long-range forecaster, and will appear regularly in this publication.

The slight and mild-mannered amateur weather forecaster lives at 6696 de Normanville Street and has been forecasting with the expert's (and with the official Dominion Weather Office) prognostications.

"My method is easy when you know it," said Mr. Neal. He evolved the method while working as a cost accountant for the old Canadian Airways.

During the winter of 1939-30 he studied government weather records for the previous 50 years and by spring had come up with the answer.

Since then, he claims he has never erred by more than five per cent.

Readers of all ages will find Mr. Neal's forecasts useful and a subject of great interest by comparing, day by day, week to week, actual weather conditions

This week's meeting of Westmount Rotary Club was highlighted by the showing of a film depicting the famous holiday resorts of Banff National Park, Banff Springs Hotel and Chateau Lake Louise in Alberta.

Chairman at the session was William Moxley, club president, and 10 visiting Rotarians were introduced by Jack Colton. Also introduced were Ronnie Golden and John Wilson, grade 10 students at Westmount High School. In introducing the students, Frank L. Sharpe described public relations as "publicity and promotion of good reputations by using all good techniques of communications."

A vote of thanks was extended the fellowship committee and the Heather Curling Club for last week's club curling matches, won by H. Griffin, skip, Phil Page, W. Moxley and Bud Close.

How To Get Along With Your Husband...

No. 2 There's Nothing Like A Good Blazing Row

By EILEEN ASHCROFT

Most men flourish on married life. They may grumble occasionally and rattle their silken chains, but statistics prove they live longer, have fewer illnesses, and reach higher income groups than their bachelor counterparts.

An even greater compliment to their spouses is the speed with which so many widowers remarry. It shows they enjoy married life.

Husbands who don't enjoy their marriages are usually victims of feminine temper.

Temper And Tongue

The average male can put up with financial worries, a disorganized home, bad housing conditions, even an ailing wife, with devoted fortitude. But the woman who uses temper and tongue as weapons against her husband, can drive him straight into another woman's arms.

Quarrelling successfully, with no lasting rancours, is an art. Any woman interested in keeping her husband happy should study these four rules. They have been drawn up by a well-known British psychiatrist:

- 1.—Say what you have to say, then forget it and do not sulk.
 - 2.—Stick to the point of the argument and never drag in old hurts and grievances.
 - 3.—Always be willing to kiss and make up. You may be in the right this time; next time it may be the other way round.
 - 4.—Quarrels are private things. They should not be conducted in front of a third party, particularly children.
- The best thing that happened to my own marriage was the day I aimed a heavy cut-glass vase at the offender's head. I missed and shattered a glass bookcase instead and the dispute dissolved into laughter.

A Lesson

But from this one silly incident I learned a valuable lesson . . . that to conduct a

Six Ways To Make A Husband Mad

A husband says:
1—This worrying (that all women go in for) over their slightest physical imperfec-marital quarrel successfully you must preserve a sense of humour.

A good blazing row is a safety valve in any marriage. It relieves the nerves and gets all those irritating little resentments safely off your chest. But if a quarrel is going to leave no sting, you must be able to laugh about it afterwards.

The occasional row is a healthy sign of a normal human relationship. It is the petty bickering, the constant attempt to denigrate, or repeated nagging, that are the danger signs of a sick marriage.

There are four types of women who run the most risk of ruining their home life with the wrong kind of quarrel.

THE BAD SPORT

She is good company while things are running smoothly.

But wait till something goes wrong and watch her sulk.

This is the kind of woman that husbands leave flat for plainer, less talented females who know how to make the best of a disappointment.

THE TOO-HOUSEPROUD

If dirty footmarks spoil her polished floor, she regards it as a major crime.

The tragedy is that it all springs from her housewifely instincts to keep everything neat and clean. She has let it run riot and forgotten that the home is primarily for the mutual relaxation and enjoyment of both husband and wife.

If a man doesn't appear to appreciate his wife's home-making efforts it is probably point out that it is part of his stock in trade.

Don't you realize, Madam, that this carping rebounds on your own head, not your husband's? People will think none the less of your husband, whatever you say, but they will condemn your lack of manners.

THE MOANER

She never really lets her hair down and have a good verbal battle. Constant moaning is her weapon. She is mighty sorry for herself and she wants the world to know about it, particularly the man on whom she blames it all.

There is only one cure for this type of woman. And it can only come from within herself. Sit down with a pencil and paper and list the solid advantages that come from your marriage. Then write on the debit side the things you would lose without it. You will soon decide where the balance lies and start being more grateful.

MARRIAGE SCORE

If you want to discover some of the sterling assets of your own marriage, answer YES or NO to these six questions:

- Has my marriage
Made life more interesting . . .
Improved my looks
Given me better health
Brought me happiness
Given me more purpose
Made me a nicer person

Scoring key: Yes six times reveals real success. Five is above average, four good and three fair. But if your rating is under three, here is proof you are not getting out of your marriage all you owe to your husband or to yourself.

because she has never told him anything about it. Men like to hear about household problems and shopping difficulties — at the right time and as long as the anecdotes are interesting.

And with wives who complain that they are starved of affection I have no patience at all. The way to attract affection is to give it without thought of return. Every scruffy stray dog knows this.

I asked Victor Mature, with two wrecked marriages to his credit, what he thought was the chief factor that led to serious marital quarrels. He sums it up in one word — JEALOUSY.

In well-adjusted households there should be a certain sentiment about important quarrels, for these are the mile stones toward closer understanding.

THE DENIGRATOR

She may love her husband madly, but she just can't bear to hear him praised. If he tells an amusing story at a dinner party, she feels impelled to

Next Week:

The Other Woman

tions which, having seen some years ago and having lived with for some years since, husbands accept as distinguishing qualities of their wives. So the eyes are a little too close—the mouth is a little too wide, the hair is neither one thing nor the other, and the bust-line doesn't quite follow the current fashion. So what?

2—This business of exhausting themselves running around for a week hunting for a new dress (and there are millions of new dresses everywhere all the time, yet still it's a hunt) finally buying with flushed enthusiasm something for a little more than was expected ("It costs just under $50" means "It costs $49.95"). Then as soon as the dress is tried on at home all kinds of faults are revealed. Isn't that enough to make even a husband as good as me a little mad? Personally, I NEVER have a thing to wear.

3—Since I hate being late, all this last-minute renovating of the mouth, subtletising of the eyes and fiddling with the hair, maddens me.

4—Also why do wives always become exhausted at about three in the morning, just when the controversy is becoming interesting?

5—If your wife has the car most of the time and then complains that she doesn't get enough walking exercise, yet she can't get everything done if she doesn't have the car, and yet she really needs the exercise — what do you say to that?

6—Assumption at week-ends that a small amount of housework and endless disorganized games are relaxing for a husband. (Though, personally, my family is now so well trained they get worried if I don't go to sleep.)

St. George's School Faces The Future

A quarter century after the noble experiment that is now St. George's School began, its proponents stand today with $100,000 raised toward a building that is already started and slated to cost $325,000, and quietly take stock of their assets.

From many standpoints these are considerable.

Looking at the impressive wash-drawing of the projected new building reproduced here, one might feel the accent was a happy balance between modern design and practical usage. In the building it will be.

And perhaps in the human product of the school as well. Let's check up.

Progressive education as taught at St. George's is not different — but it is fuller. It is designed to educate the whole child, and not only his academic traits.

The curriculum conforms to standards of the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal.

A FOURTH 'R'

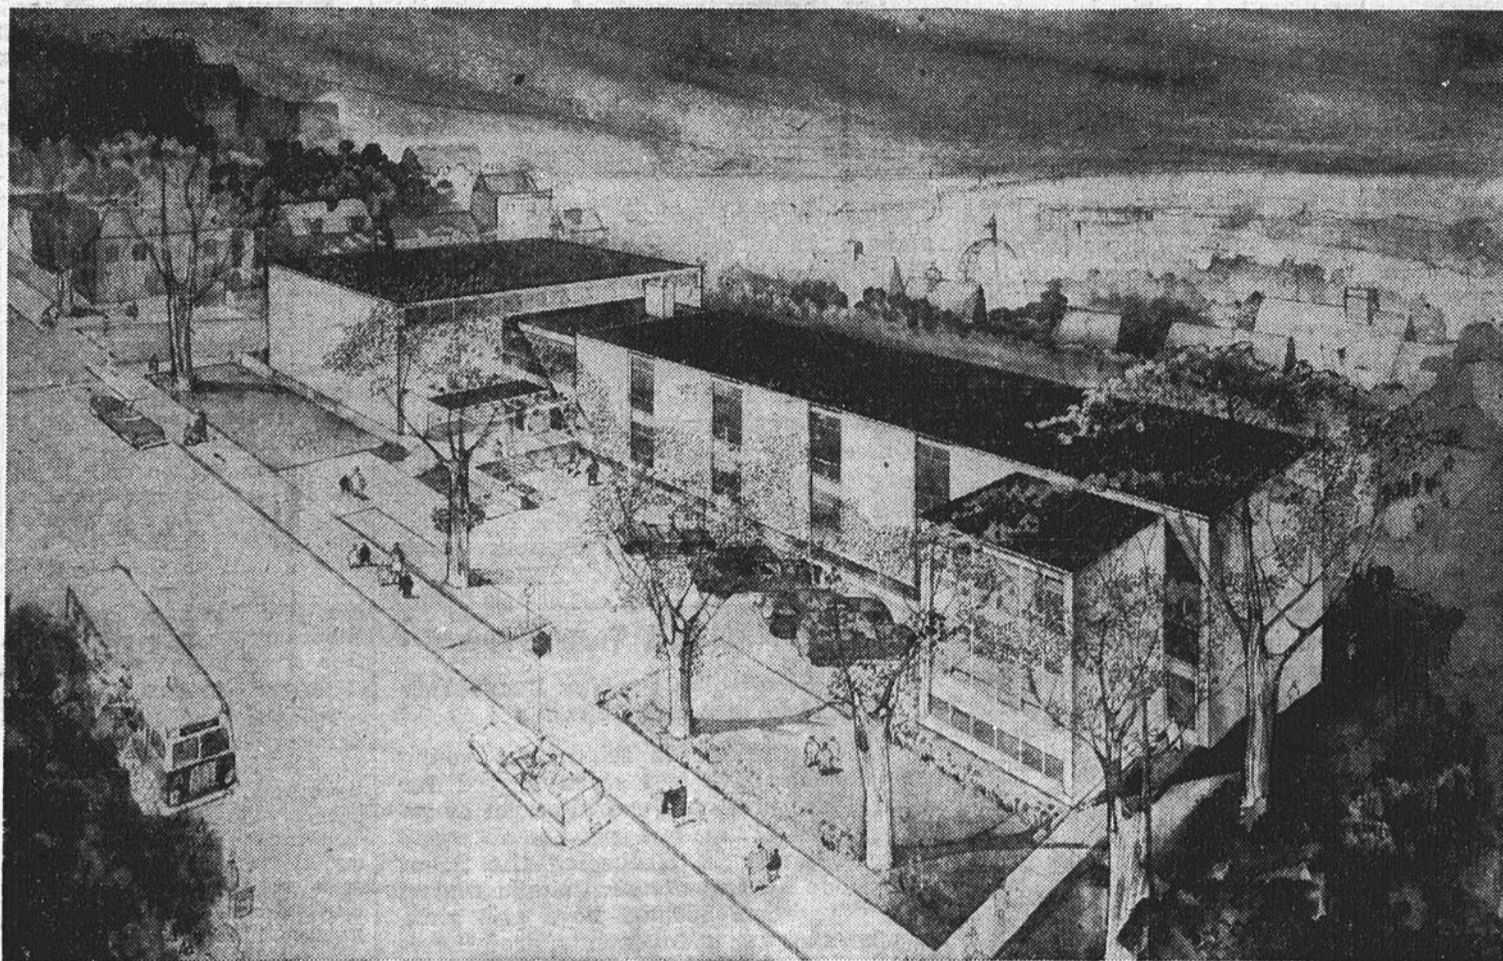

The teaching of the three R's is as complete as anywhere else — but there is added a fourth — an R for responsibility.

This fourth R is nurtured in the pupils from the time they first enter the portals of St. George's as mere toddlers. It helps them to organize their own learning and school work. The pupils not only make better progress but the like the work.

And the pupils have an amazing amount to say about the way the school is organized and operated.

An interesting feature of the academic system is what St. George's calls 'the project method'. The children are taught by giving them problems to solve. The answers may be long, and complicated. The method trains the child to obtain knowledge for himself. It throws responsibility

Teaching Of Dancing, Music Evans Sisters Happy Career

By EVELYN ROSS

Can you imagine a class of energetic, rarin'-to-go boys concentrating for two hours, and at the end of that time ask for more?

It sounds like a teacher's dream of heaven, but it's no dream when the Evans Sisters are in charge.

This is just one of the anecdotes from Miss Verna Evans vast store of memories, culled during almost a quarter century's work in her large, sunny studio, high over Westmount's busiest intersection at Victoria and Sherbrooke.

The Evans Sisters gave up a very successful career in the States, where their remarkable talents would have kept them in 'show business' for many years, to return to their home here.

And the theatres' loss has been Westmount's gain, as any of the pupils who have attended the Evans Sisters' School of Dance and Music can testify.

There can be no question that to love one's work is half the battle for success; and to listen to Miss Verna Evans talk of her students leaves no doubt that she and her sister love the work indeed, and find great happiness in the achievements of the young people about them.

Her classes have ranged from the littlest children who learn to love rhythm, movement and poise before they embark on the more serious business of ballet, to adults who find that not only is it fun to express oneself in dance and music, but that it adds just that extra spice to living.

Many of the Evans' pupils work solely for the pleasure and satisfaction their lessons give them; but others have become so enthusiastic that they choose teaching as a career, and Miss Evans speaks with happy pride of students of hers who now carry on the good work she and her sister began.

They are to be found in towns right across the North American continent, and this continuity, this passing on of the knowledge the Evans Sisters took such joy in imparting, is one of their greatest and enduring rewards.

The Evans Sisters have seen great changes in Westmount since they first opened their Studio. Large buildings now stand where once small houses occuried the block; trams no longer rumble and grumble their way past. But inside their sunny studios, the enthusiasm and energy other day to tell her happily — is the same. And those who have once worked there never enough to start with you!"

Goodwill or Blackmail

Some Groups Regard Merchants As Milch Cows for Donations

Local business men — store owners, restaurant operators, service station licensees, theatre managers and all the rest — have a mounting problem of which they aren't, individually, speak.

We'll say it for them.

It is the myriad of otherwise well-meaning and worthy organizations throughout the district who prey upon them for contributions, donations, prizes, and other support.

No merchant, or trade or professional man is blind to his obligations to the community he serves and which in turn supports him. By and large, our business people are generous in their support of all sorts of causes, even where they have no direct interest or, at best, a tenuous one.

But an end-of-year tally of such assistance freely given, in many business houses is a staggering figure chalked up to an account labelled "goodwill"; an account seldom balanced by returns. In most cases, no return is either looked for or sought.

Yet, oft-times an expression of thanks would be appreciated — an expression all-too-rarely received. The lack of any officially voiced appreciation from the collection group or society only heightens the feelings of the business man, who is human, too, that he is regarded by "benevolent" organizations as a milch cow to be drawn upon at will.

Some organizations are worse offenders than others. Letters sometimes are sent — unknown to unknown — with an "or else" approach, vaguely hinting that unless a contribution is made there may be some direct drop in business for that particular establishment. However, soft and syrupy the language used, the approach is but a subtle form of blackmail.

What happens when for some reason or another — maybe business is bad, the merchant is broke or faced with heavy immediate expenses — he declines? Most groups take it in good part. Others don't.

In one recent instance, a restaurant proprietor took the trouble to reply to an organization canvassing for the first time, that he was sorry but his budget for contributions of this sort was used up for this season.

Organizations using their heads and thinking of future soliciting, would have acknowledged such a letter, thanking the man for his consideration of their request. Not in this case. The letter was read out at a meeting, passed around, and ridiculed. Thoughtless, but nonetheless a damaging type of blackballing of that particular restaurant.

The only answer to groups using such techniques is a firm and general "No" from the business community. There are many worthy causes more deserving of support and where goodwill is mutual.

Children in the Streets

Modern Traffic Exacting Appalling Toll of Our Youngsters

Hardly a day passes but some child is killed or injured by traffic in the greater Montreal area. Most of these accidents occur in heavily populated areas, but the City of Westmount and vicinity contributes enough to these depressing statistics to make parents worry every time their children go out to play or to school.

One of the most important forms of progress made in the past century has been in saving the lives of children. Several things have contributed to this progress. Popular education in hygiene and better understanding of diet have replaced superstitions and old wives' tales.

But the development of the automobile and truck, and the vast increase in numbers of these vehicles which now fill our streets, has brought a new threat to the lives of children which so far we have been unable to meet with any significant success.

Parents need not sit back, however, and see the automobile as the only factor. They themselves have in their hands the immediate responsibility for drilling safety consciousness into their youngsters.

We have heard mothers say, "It is no use telling Johnny." What folly this is! If a child's mother or father is not going to tell Johnny or Jill what dangers beset him or her, who is?

Motorist, be careful. Parent, teach children care.

Do Your 'Good Turn' Now!

"Support Scouting" Campaign Needs Your Help to Reach Objective

"The world needs self-reliant young people who have a sincere regard for others, irrespective of racial origin or religious belief," said a prominent world figure recently in discussing the Scout and Guide Movements. In Canada during this year some 350,000 boys and girls, members of those Movements, are observing the 50th anniversary of Scouting and 100th anniversary of the birthday of the founder of both Movements, Lord Baden Powell of Gilwell.

To do a good turn to someone every day is one of the training requirements of every boy whose good fortune it is to belong to the Scout Movement as Wolf Cub, Boy Scout or Rover Scout. Many great men have said a lot of fine things about Scouting, among them Sir Winston Churchill. On one occasion he said: "Many venerable and famous institutions and systems long honoured by men have perished in the storm of war, but the Boy Scout Movement survived. It survived not only the war but the numbing reactions of the aftermath; while so many elements in the life and spirit of the victorious nations seemed to be lost in stupor, it flourished and grew increasingly."

Part of the answer may be in some words of Lord Baden-Powell of Gilwell, founder of the Scout Movement. He said, "Scouting is a brotherhood — a scheme which in practice disregards differences of class, creed, country and colour, through the undefinable spirit that pervades it — the spirit of God's gentlemen."

The Boy Scouts Association in Montreal is now appealing for $150,000 to help it carry on with its training of young Canada. In a sense this training is on a par with preventive medicine and is all constructive, complementing the work of the home, the church and the school. As such then, it is worthy of our fullest support and here is the citizen's opportunity to do his good turn.

Soviet Espionage System, according to news despatches from three countries, seems to be slipping. In Sweden, Turkish engineer was arrested recently on spy charges involving "Red Agents." In Denmark Soviet military attache was declared "persona non grata" because of being engaged in espionage. In US, Soviet embassy clerk, Vassil Moley, left country in a hurry.

Letters To The Editor

Municipalities Suffer Under Tax Structure

Sir: A few years ago I had occasion in your columns, to refer to the necessity for a radical and long overdue change in our tax structure. With the Ottawa government absorbing the largest proportion of the tax dollar, the provinces and municipalities are deprived of that share of revenue to which, under a democratic and equitable system of fiscal levies, they are entitled.

Enormous amounts are now being collected by the national government through the levying of taxes on personal and corporate incomes, succession duties, excise and customs imposts. The anomaly is: that as the Federal government becomes more tax-prosperous, the provinces become poorer and poorer.

Premier Duplessis has on numerous occasions emphasized the injustice of this inequality and the prejudice suffered by the province which has to limit its expenditures to its revenues and thus cannot maintain or enlarge services that are urgently required.

Health education and human welfare call for ever increasing expenditures for which no funds are available. If the more than 70 per cent of the tax dollar which the Ottawa government now gets was more evenly distributed, the provinces would be in a stronger financial position.

SOURCES EXHAUSTED

The plight of the municipalities and school commissions became so alarming that the province had to assume obligations due to the inability of these corporations to meet them. The majority of municipalities have exhausted their sources from which funds could be obtained. Municipal taxpayers bitterly complain of the high taxes on property levied by local governments. The latter point out that increases in salaries and the cost of materials leaves them no alternative but to get every cent they can from whatever can be taxed.

Wealth, is created solely by the provinces and the municipalities within their borders and jurisdiction. Industry and commerce exploiting material resources make possible the payment of taxes to the Ottawa government over which the provinces have no control. The Federal gesture of grants to universities does not in any way lessen the burden which the provinces have to carry, in the exercise of those powers and responsibilities set out in Section 92 of the British North America Act. This document was drafted at a time when not even the most optimistic of the Confederation Fathers could visualize the unbelievable progress we have made since their day.

SUCCESSION DUTIES

The collection of succession duties should revert to the provinces to which it logically and constitutionally belongs, in view of the fact, that the estates are situated in the provinces. In fairness to the taxpayer there should be one income tax which should be divided in fair proportion between the national and provincial governments. The provinces could then make grants to municipalities on the basis of their contribution to the Federal exchequer. Cities like Montreal, Verdun and Westmount would then get a tidy slice of the national tax income, and thus, no longer be obliged to seek new sources of revenue. Other cities and towns within the province could also be helped.

It is about time that the harassed civic taxpayer began making his voice heard.

The provinces which make up the fabric of what we call Canada because of their importance in our economy should have the right to express their views as to how Federal monies should be divided.

bility for the solutions on the child and not on the teacher.

The project could be anything from a study on Shakespearean drama to the best methods of pulling down the old school and building the new one. One class recently launched on a sports project. They decided to do a history of sport. Since the average age of the child on the project was nine years old a difficulty presented itself. Few reference sources were available that a nine-year old could understand. The teacher helped out by translating the encyclopedias down to the children's level.

Logically, greater stress is laid on the creative arts. The scope of the curriculum is wider. Creative subjects are favored. There is a steady battle to develop the greatest potential of the brighter pupils.

And the financial side.

The fees are held to a moderate figure of $300 to $450 annually.

Entry is selective, and as a result there is a large number of superior children and some of exceptional mental ability.

The average I.Q. is 120. Few are below 110. Several top 150. Mean for population at large is 100.

And what is the result?

Pupils are received at other schools at the expected level or higher; the academic transition to a new school is easy; little or no difficulty is experienced in social adjustment.

Moving to another school St. George's pupils miss most: individual attention and understanding, the friendly teacher-pupil relationship; the general assumption school work is interesting and worth while in itself; and the freedom of discussion and opinion.

Asked what aspects of life at St. George's fitted them for the world, former students in a questionnaire replied: learning to define and solve problems, individual effort and responsibility rather than spoon-feeding, learning to be part of a group but a leader when necessary, and the realization that there should be more learning out of school, and that any subject, textbook, etc., is not the whole truth, but a tool.

Today, a quarter century after, St. George's looks ahead, and will soon be in a new building, ready for a further march into the future.

"Let me know how this stuff works—I'm having the same trouble myself."

Westmount Students Play Prominent Part In McGill Carnival

Preparations are completed for McGill University's tenth annual Winter Carnival, according to Paul Lowenstein, 631 Victoria Avenue, publicity chairman.

Snow sculptures are to be seen in front of fraternity houses and residences, and the huge ice palace, usually exiled in lonely glory to the top of Mount Royal, is this year on the McGill campus at McTavish and Sherbrooke streets.

The programme for the Carnival is full and varied, with emphasis being placed on participation of all Montrealeers young in heart. The Carnival opened last evening, with the traditional torch-light parade up Mount Royal to Beaver Lake, where civic and university dignitaries opened the proceedings. Skating magnificent fireworks display, a dance in the chalet rounded out the evening.

The annual ski meet is being held today at St. Sauveur and Mont Gabriel, and this evening everyone returns to be on hand for the exciting Forum Night.

This year's chairman of the programme, Don Ferrier, 630 Carleton Avenue, Westmount, announces that a hockey game between McGill and the University of Montreal will be featured, along with skating acts and of course the crowning of the Carnival Queen. She is chosen by a campus-wide vote from five candidates, two of whom are from Westmount: Carlotta Garcia, 602 Grosvenor Avenue, and Stephanie Stern, 3238 Westmount Boulevard. The other three girls are Carol Buckingham of Montreal, Norma Dibbern of Illinois, and Janet Turnbull of Beauharnois.

Saturday afternoon the finals of the debating tournament, one of the largest of its kind in Canada, will be held. Students from many parts of the United States and Canada will attend.

The Carnival Musical Revue will be presented in Moyse Hall, with two shows tomorrow afternoon. American and Canadian universities will send talent, and excerpts from McGill's phenomenally successful Red and White Revue will also be performed.

The gala weekend will be climaxed tomorrow night by the Grand Carnival Ball in the Sir Arthur Currie Gymnasium. Buddy Morrow and his fifteen-piece orchestra will furnish the music, as well as Eddy Alexander and his band.

Roy Heenan of 439 Victoria Avenue, assistant chairman of the Carnival, and everyone else involved all hope that the 1957 McGill Winter Carnival will be a success for students and Montreal citizens alike.

Hungarian Student Finds Friends In Westmount

By FRANCINE FORGET

"As a student I can state from experience, teaching in Hungarian Universities is shaped by Russian political interest."

"This tendency is evident everywhere", says student Arthur Fone, the name by which he would like to be called; he escaped from Budapest to Austria four days after Christmas.

Arthur has been living in Westmount for the past three weeks.

A young man of 22, he was a student of law at the University of Budapest and hopes to be able to get a scholarship to resume his studies here.

Today he is job hunting, as there is no possibility he will be admitted to University before fall.

"After 14 days in Vienna", he says, "I left with a hundred students, and flew directly to Montreal."

Why did he leave his country? Because for one to whom the Communist way of thinking and acting is unacceptable, conditions became more and more intolerable even at the University, he could not see any immediate change.

To Arthur, his escape, his new life in Canada, is still a new and unknown experience.

It is not an easy change. But he is most grateful for the generous help which has been given to him.

"The people here are so friendly, so kind," he says. "I was invited by a family for a weekend. I met a lady in the street here in Westmount, and after telling her that I was a Hungarian student she told me that her husband was a lawyer and invited me for dinner at her home. The Westmount YMCA has given me a free membership and I have joined the fencing class, my favorite sport. I wish to express my most sincere thanks for this help."

Arthur Fone is one of the hundreds of Hungarians seeking a place in the western world where the spirit of human rights is paramount, where life without fear is a reality and where everyone has a chance to begin a new existence.

the touchingly poignant and scenes to suit everyone's taste. Don't miss "The Hasty Heart" at Westmount Senior High School on February 27, 28, and March 1, phone WE. 5405 for tickets.

Unity Boys'

Expect to hear from the Ottawa Boys' Club any day now in reference to the annual inter-city, inter-club friendship visit.

A recent letter from Russ Skinner of the Boys' Club of East Aurora, N.Y. confirms earlier plans for an exhibition basketball game between our Club and New York boys. The game was postponed because of inclement weather and hazardous driving conditions—the latest news is that the game may take place some time in March.

Ron Havard is busily engaged planning a series of special events in commemoration of National Boys' Club Week slated for the first week in April.

Robert Robinson, the newly appointed baseball coach, mentioned earlier in this column, is a big brother to Club members Frankie and Winston Robinson. Frankie is a triple threat sports enthusiast with baseball, hockey and basketball high on the list at which he excels while Winston has a keen eye out for a N.H.L. berth in the future. A real sporting family.

Visitors at Friday's Unity-U of M semi-final cage game were former Club members of the Queen School era. They were: Buddy Selby, Pat Lomnasey, Stewart McGowan and John Garland of the W.A.G.

Joseph Notkin, 93, Buried On Monday

Funeral was held Monday for Joseph Notkin, co-founder of the Progress Mattress and Spring Bed Company, who died last Saturday after a lengthy illness. He was 93 years of age.

Mr. Notkin immigrated to Canada from Russia in 1904 and established his business here the following year. He retired in 1940. His wife, the former Anuta Spiegel predeceased him last year. They had celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary in 1955.

Surviving are five sons, Jack Notkin, Dr. Louis J. Notkin, Dr. Myron Notkin, Maxwell Notkin, David M. Notkin; a daughter, Mrs. Gregory Pincus; 13 grandchildren, five great-grandchildren.

Shiva services were held at 4752 Upper Roslyn Ave. Interment was in the family plot at Shaar Hashomayim Cemetery.

The Judgment and The Goodness

By
Ven. Arch. R. K. Naylor
Rector, Trinity Memorial Church

There is a phrase in the Collect for last Sunday which I found very revealing. It is this: "that we who are justly punished for our offences may be mercifully delivered by thy goodness." Then two passages of Scripture were read: first the passage where St. Paul says: "Know ye not that they which run in a race run all, but one receiveth the prize?" That is justice — a prize only to the one who comes first. But St. Paul then goes on: "So run that we may obtain;" that is, the goodness and generosity of God. Every one gains the prize who starts and continues in the race. It is not so absurd as it sounds for the prize is one which no one can win for himself — no matter how hard he strives the reward is still a gift, nothing less than God's free gift of salvation. The same idea is carried forward in our Lord's parable of the householder who went out to hire laborers for his vineyard. He hired the first laborers at daybreak and sent them into the vineyard with the promise of the standard rate of pay — a penny a day. Four times more during the day he went out and gathered in more workers, promising to give them what was light he brought men in on right. Even at the end of the day with only an hour of day's same terms. Then came the reckoning and the householder commanded the steward to give the men their wages, beginning with the last, and to give each man his penny. It is no wonder that the first men complained. Then comes the crux of the matter. The householder retorts: "Is thine eye evil because I am good?"

It is when we interpret the earthly story in its heavenly terms that we begin to see the goodness of God as something infinitely beyond and more precious than His justice. For the penny a day is simply salvation and even the full day's work does not earn salvation. For salvation is an infinite thing and one does not earn infinity by even a lifetime. The man who came last came as near to earning infinity as the man who came first. Further, you cannot either double or split salvation. It is absurd to think of earning two salvations, or being put off with half a salvation.

And when the weary laborer complains and asks: "What is the advantage of trying to serve God for a lifetime when I might have enjoyed myself like that wretched eleventh hour sinner?" the answer is something like this: You have always had the advantage over the man who stayed out in the market-place, because you had the privilege of serving God — whose service is perfect freedom. You were in the vineyard, a fellow-laborer with God, while he was outside only serving his own selfishness. And still further, not all those who stay out of the vineyard find their way in even at the eleventh hour. The vineyard represents not only labour, but also that state of salvation to which it has pleased God to call me.

It would be hard even on the full-day laborers if they had to depend on the justice of God; even they, and still more the short-service men, must need fall back on the merciful goodness of God.

The Lord's Day Act of Canada forbids unnecessary work and business on Sundays. Outside of this provision it makes it possible for the individual to decide for himself what he shall do on that day.

Refurbish Oratory:

Anticipated Beatification Proves Spur To Work

Rev. Roland Gauthier, superior of St. Joseph's Oratory, Thursday told a press conference that Brother Andre, founder of the famed mountain-side shrine, may be beatified within three years, or five at the most.

Work will begin this year on the interior decoration of the basilica in order to have it completed before the beatification, said Father Gauthier. "A long-range program has been set up to carry out this work. Step by step, the basilica will acquire a splendor worthy of the most beautiful temples of Christianity."

Rev. E. M. Brassard, artistic director of construction work, noted that "an impressive amount of work will start without delay." This year, a red marble facing will be placed on the rear of the apse, the faceted dome will be gilded, while the supporting columns will be covered with antique green mosaic and their capitals with gold mosaic.

The Oratory's architect, Gilbert Moreau, said the choir would be the first part of the sanctuary to be decorated. "As soon as the choir is decorated,"

he added, "the faithful will be able to have an idea of the future beauty of the basilica and services will take on a more imposing and impressive character."

In a statement from Montreal's mayor, Jean Drapeau said: "I hope that Rome will soon announce the beatification of Brother Andre. This will be an historic event which should not be celebrated in an unfinished sanctuary, but, as is fitting, in a magnificently decorated basilica, worthy of St. Joseph and his servant. While awaiting this memorable day, our role is plainly obvious. We must unite all our efforts this year in order that Brother Andre's basilica may be assured of having the most sumptuous ornamentation."

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Willis Mark Sixty-First Wedding Anniversary

By MILLICENT HICKMORE

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Willis celebrated two very special events at their home on Dorchester street, Westmount, over the weekend, the first was their 61st wedding anniversary on Friday and Mrs. Willis' 79th birthday on Saturday.

Seated in their spacious living room, their appearance belying their age, Mrs. Willis wearing a pretty collar and cuffs set, said, "This is a Valentine gift from my daughter, Madeline." The couple are very proud of their two children, Alfred Ronald, whose photo hangs over the piano taken in the artillery uniform of the first World War, lives in Ottawa and comes to visit them quite often. Madeline, Mrs. H. Forman, operates two Dance Studios, in St. Louis, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis were born in London, England and came to Canada in 1900. Mr. Willis who will be 84 years of age on March 30, also enlisted in World War

I and on returning to Canada rejoined the firm now known as Canadian International Paper from which he retired in 1952. He is a member of the Masonic Lodge No. 81 of Arundel, Que., and recalls having the distinction of "Conducting a Masonic Service on Board Ship" while on active service.

Mrs. Willis, whose eyesight is failing but nevertheless very alert and cheery, said, "God gave me a great sense of humor" and she continued "When my friends telephone they say they are glad to hear me laugh." She was active in the Eastern Star Lodge for many years and also a member of True Kindred.

This anniversary of their wedding was spent very quietly, last year they enjoyed a big celebration, receiving many gifts from friends and relatives and messages from far and wide, including a cable from the Queen, wire from Hon. Louis St. Laurent and many others.

The couple have lived in Westmount for over thirty years and are now enjoying the twilight of life in their home on Dorchester street.

Service Clubs Hear Dr. H. S. Mitchell Talk About Cosmetics and Allergies

Cosmetics, nail polish and lipstick were discussed last evening by Dr. H. S. Mitchell, head of the Department of Allergy at the Montreal General Hospital before a joint meeting of the five Women's Service Clubs of the district at the Laurentien Hotel. The Quota Club, with Mrs. A. S. Knott, president, was the host club to the members of the Altrusa, Zonta and the Soroptimist Clubs of Montreal and Verdun, at a buffet supper, and it was after their business meeting that Dr. Mitchell talked to the members about allergies.

"We have less trouble from lipstick than any line of cosmetics," Dr. Mitchell said. "Whenorris root was used as the base for cosmetics it was a source of allergy, but today calc is used as the base, and does not create allergies. Nail polish gives some trouble if the acetone compound in it touches the skin of the face, causing swelling or inflammation around the eyes."

Dr. Mitchell said there were many substances which affect the skin and hair in one way or another — and the effects of which some people find desirable — but they are too poisonous to use. "Some cause the hair to fall out, some affect the kidneys, some cause severe skin inflammation or have other harmful effects," he said.

The Food and Drug Division of the Department of National Health and Welfare closely supervises the manufacture and distribution of cosmetics. The use of certain substances known to be harmful is not permitted.

articles intended for general distribution and use must be carefully screened and tested before release. It can be said that, in general, allergic effects resulting from the use of these materials depends as much upon some inherent allergic predisposition of the individual, as upon allergy-producing tendencies of the drug or compound used. Most cosmetics generally available through recognized channels are safe to use. Substances known to carry a high incidence of allergic reaction are always excluded from the preparations purveyed by reputable distributors.

Mrs. Kenneth Patterson Heads Julius Richardson Auxiliary

The fourth annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Julius Richardson Convalescent Hospital was held Tuesday with the president, Mrs. Dent Harrison in the Chair.

Mrs. Harrison reported that because of the smaller number of patients admitted to the Hospital during 1956 there were fewer demands for Auxiliary assistance. Notwithstanding this, the Auxiliary had a busy year with the membership at 85 and forty members in the three working units.

During the year the Auxiliary purchased materials and rented films for the Recreational Therapy Department. Exercise weights were given to the Physiotherapy department and a new mobile steam table and $500 to purchase furniture were donated to the Hospital.

Playground equipment consisting of swings, wading pools and wagons were provided and greatly enjoyed by the children. The Auxiliary sponsored a successful Christmas sale of gifts and home cooking.

The President expressed the thanks of the Auxiliary to the Junior Red Cross and the Cerebral Palsy Association for many useful articles and pieces of equipment donated by them. These proved invaluable to the Therapy Department.

Mrs. Leslie Forster, the treasurer, submitted the accounts for the year as audited.

The President of the Elizabeth Fry Unit, Mrs. Colin Sewell, reported that the sewing needs of the hospital continued to be the main interest of the unit. Pyjamas and dresses were completed for the children and fifty ditty bags made for the adult patients. Bridges, the sale of

Mrs. W. Greene Newly Elected President Of Red Feather's Girls' Cottage School

The Girls' Cottage School is becoming an integral part of the community of St. Bruno and the girls at the School are moving more surely out of the isolation of the protected school environment, Emily Hickey, executive director, reported recently at the annual meeting of the Red Feather service, which took place in the Red Feather Building, 1040 Atwater avenue.

Girls are accepted on referral to get to know their young neighbours. from the courts, parents or social agencies and the School exists as a re-training centre for troubled youngsters.

The year was marked by several ventures into the world beyond the campus, Miss Hickey reported. Five of the girls went to a regular girls' summer camp during the school holidays and several others now commute daily to jobs in Montreal. Much of their new confidence is due to the warm acceptance shown them by St. Bruno, Miss Hickey observed, and community groups take advantage of opportunities to get to know their young neighbours.

"By necessity we have had to develop new ways of dealing with the girls who come to us," the director said. "Some are seriously sick emotionally. Some can accept what we have to offer — some have to run away once, twice or several times before they are ready to come to grips with what is troubling them." Noting that almost all of the girls arrive with a heavy burden of stored-up hatred, Miss Hickey said that the School is equipped to offer an excellent psychiatric service, provided by Dr. Taylor Statten and Dr. Douglas Levin, and exists as a therapeutic environment with an open setting and a minimum of physical controls. Control rests on the skill and understanding of the staff, Miss Hickey observed, and the success or failure of the program is largely dependent on the quality of the personnel.

For academic purposes, the girls are divided into four groups, some pursuing regular school work, others in commercial or special training courses. Business girls and honor students have recently been established in a cottage of their own with greater privileges befitting their greater responsibilities and accomplishments.

Miss Hickey reported an exchange of views with the Department of Youth and Social Welfare, the result of the School's concern for the establishment of an institution for girls who for one reason or another cannot benefit from the kind of program involved at the Girl's Cottage School. A complete evaluation of the School was done at that time and the report is serving as the basis for a study of services to juvenile delinquents. A committee has been named to pursue the investigation, chaired by Miss Marie-Andrée Bertrand, guest speaker at the annual meeting.

Reporting on behalf of the Board of Directors, Mrs. John Low-Beer acknowledged the help of a number of groups, public and private, in furthering the work of the School during the year. Physical improvements made by the Provincial Government included a number of additions to outdoor recreation facilities, and several service clubs had made important contributions toward landscaping, recreation and special events.

Mrs. Low-Beer also mentioned the redecoration of Grey Cottage done by a group of board members. This cottage is now the special preserve of the honor students and working girls who have shown themselves deserving of extra privileges. The cottage, renamed Honor Cottage, has become the show place of the School, Mrs. Low-Beer said.

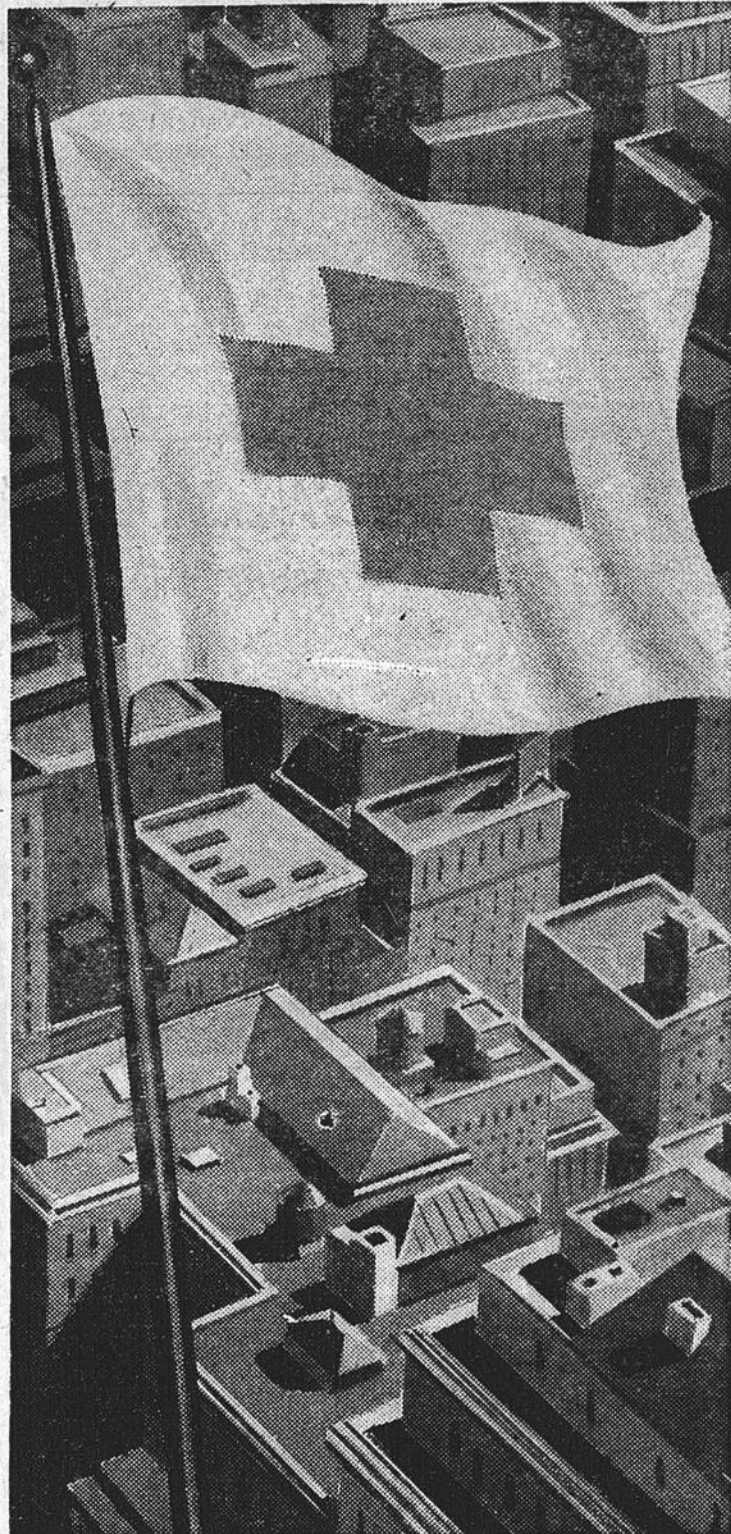

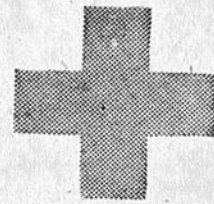

Special grants insured the continuance of psychiatric services of a highly individual nature, and board meetings were held regularly through the school year.

Officers elected to serve for 1957 are: Mrs. W. J. Greene, 5662 Queen Mary Road, president; Mrs. Peter McEntyre, Vice-President; Mrs. W. G. H. Doyle, Vice-President; Mrs. R. W. Henwood, vice-president; Mrs. A. Gordon, Hon. Treasurer; Mrs. G. Jamieson, Asst. Hon. Treasurer; Mrs. Eric Wain, Hon. Secretary; Mrs. Drummond Birks, Hon. Corr. Secretary.

Joy Through Tears

The earth, but shines the brighter,
When the dreary rain is done,
And the clouds, that veil the sunshine,
Cannot put out the sun.

We must live through the frozen winter,
If we would see the Spring,
And the woods, must be cold and silent,
Before the robins sing.

We learn, as the years roll onward,
And we leave the past behind,
That much we have counted sorrow,
Only proves, that God is kind.

Royal, MacRae Post St. Laurent Puck Wins

By CLIFF FARNWORTH
Royal Pharmacy and MacRae Electric posted victories in last Saturday's doubleheader of the St. Laurent Intermediate Hockey League at the St. Laurent Arena, with the results leaving the standings unchanged.

MacRae Electric continue to lead the pack going into the final stretch, but they had to match Royal Pharmacy's win in last week's opening game.

Brian McCann with two goals, along with Mel Read, Ray Marshall and Bill Ranson, each with single efforts, sparked Pat Patterson's Royal Pharmacy crew to a 5-0 blanking of the Wheelers.

Held scoreless were the league's leading scorers, Charlie Garneau and Jimmy Campbell, as they failed to dent the drug-gists' defence.

MacRae Electric had to turn on the heat in the second period and the first half of the final frame to down Michaud Freres 5-3 in the second game.

Jack MacDonald with two goals highlighted the Electricians' attack, with Turner, Dunbar and Brown notching singletons.

Vince Ramsay, Roy Cherrier and Mike Saucier scored for the losers.

This Saturday Michaud Freres meet the Wheelers at 2:00 p.m., while MacRae Electric and Royal Pharmacy tangle in the second game.

Unity Senior Hoopla Move Up In Playdowns

Unity Boys' Club Senior "B" basketball team, last year's holders of the City and Provincial Senior "B" crown, are one step closer to the 1956-57 City Championship after eliminating the University of Montreal in a two-game total point semi-final series 59-56 and 101-68, winning the round 160-124.

In the second game played last Friday at U.B.C. the Collegians managed to hold the defending champions to a close 41-38 score at the half-way mark.

From the start of the second half the U.B.C. quintet unleashed a devastating attack that bewildered the College boys and left them stranded on the short end of a 101-68 score. Unity scored 60 points in the half to win the series easily.

Unity was again paced by fancy dribbler Ulric Brown who potted 25 points.

Every member of the Unity team got in to the scoring column with nearly everyone starting at his individual position. Ian McIntosh, John Reddon and Harry Haukkala were tremendous on the defensive line, while Grant Peterson, Ron Hodgman, Dickie McGrail and Dave Barnard were a tower of strength on the offensive.

Ted Rice and Mike Barnard did a fine replacement job for the fast moving cagers.

Unity Boys' Club (101): Peterson 11, McIntosh 14, McGrail 10, Hodgman 11, D. Barnard 8, Brown 25, Reddon 14, Haukkala 2, M. Barnard 4.

University Of Montreal (68): Lusier 20, Blond 14, Guilbault 14, Poirier 4, Senecal 2, Lamoureux 6, Henard 5, Laruse 6, Fucione, Brizard.

Leisure is the time for doing something useful.—N. Howe.

UBC Holds 22 Point Lead Over Knights

MAURICE Mariasine's Unity Boys took a major step in their defense of the Quebec Provincial "B" crown when they whipped Golden Knights 77-55.

The game is the first of a home-and-home, total-points final and means the UBC boys will have a 22-point edge when they start the second game tonight at Unity.

Ulrich Brown, the wiry, veteran performer came through with another smashing game as he scored 26 points to lead the UBC.

UBC led only 34-32 at the half and actually were all tied up in the game with six minutes remaining. Then they broke loose.

Ron Hodgman scored 17 for the winners and Ian McIntosh 12. Johnny Wolfe counted 16 for Golden Knights while Roy Fleischman added a dozen.

Midget 'B' Hockey

Purple Hurricanes and St. Leo's will meet on Saturday evening at L.C.C., at 9 p.m. to decide the Westmount Midget "B" championship in a sudden death encounter.

Westmount, Verdun Win YMCA Floor Hockey Tilts

An Inter-Y Floor hockey league, recently formed, held the opening session at Southwestern Branch Y.M.C.A.

Two games took place Friday afternoon involving teams from Notre Dame de Grace, Westmount, Southwestern, Cote St. Paul Extension and Southwestern Crawford Park Extension.

Westmount met Cote St. Paul Team in the opener. At first it was a one sided battle with the Westmount boys swarming over the Cote St. Paul squad during the first two periods when Evan Black was foremost in the Westmount surge which left the score at 3-2 for Westmount.

During the last period the boys from along the Aqueduct mustered all their strength to stave off a final thrust by Westmount and Grant Lesniak went out in front to score two goals for Cote

St. Paul to win a shaky 4-3 victory.

Two evenly matched well conditioned teams from N.D.G. and Crawford Park put on a tremendous performance during the final tilt of the day.

During the see-saw battle which Crawford Park finally won, both teams displayed brilliant passing patterns and close hard blocking.

Both goalkeepers Mike Macy of N.D.G. and John Jalbert of Crawford Park rose to the occasion time and again to hold off repeated scoring chances.

Crawford Park finally came from behind to tie the score 3-3. Gordon Wells and Brent Messenger of Crawford Park wrapped up the game with two goals apiece, Davie McKee scored the three goals for N.D.G.

The Sports Whirl

By George E. Jones

IT WOULD SEEM by the weekly reports that hail from the Recreation department, Westmount has experienced a very successful hockey season. Credit goes to everyone, all the way up the line from the mascots to the coaches, the latter who give many hours of their time, which could otherwise be spent at home. But for the six or seven weeks that they are working with their teams, a good time is had by all.

ANOTHER THING that has made hockey so successful all over the island of Montreal has been the weather which has been one of the best. Very few games had to be postponed by any mild spell. In the minor circles Westmount's name has been brought up regarding why they don't have some of their leagues under the QAHA banner. It would be nice to have the teams in action with other island clubs. But, the boys in Westmount have their reasons, perhaps very good ones. The main thing is that they do operate hockey and by doing this they help to make better citizens.

In basketball, Westmount YMCA and Unity Boys club are doing alright. The big surprise was that Westmount beat the Meteors this week and carry a three point lead into the second game. The Unity senior club have a good lead on the Knights for their second game and they are expected to pull through. In the last few years Unity has climbed up the cage ladder. Their name is well respected amongst the other teams. Westmount, despite their small floor have proven themselves a strong entry.

WESTMOUNT YMCA held a gym display and a girl beat out the boys to capture top honors. . . . The Y held a swim meet last week and Southwestern girls came out on top, beating out NDG their closest rivals. . . . A boy's meet is being planned. . . . Our good friend Cecil Tilley, who may be known to old time Westmount sportsmen, has left Verdun for Winnipeg. He has resided in Verdun for the past 52 years and has served on almost every Verdun sport bodies. . . . He has done much for ladies ball.

Tight Scores In Pee Wee

Wings edged St. Leo's 3-1 in the first game of the Westmount Pee Wee two game total goals playoff.

David Tydsley put Wings ahead in the first period on a play set up by Morgan Howard and Tom Christie.

Howard scored on a pass from Chris Robb to give Wings a short-lived 2-0 lead as Jimmy Dunlap tallied for St. Leo's assisted by Contant Nucci and Allen Keith.

Howard fired the insurance marker late in the second frame. Wings had to battle hard to stave off a determined St. Leo's team and only outstanding saves by Barry Stevens kept them from scoring.

This win assures the Black Hawks of a play-off spot against the powerful Rams.

Farrell and King each scored for the winners. Tim Rothwell with three goals and Ian Kennedy
