EXAMINER CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Col. F. Chappell Spoke To Westm't Rotary Members

'Colour in Industry' Topic of Manager of Public Relations Department of General Motors—Yellow Cars Don't Sell in China, While Red Ones Are 'Taboo' In India — Speaker Thanked by Wilf. Buckley —

Col. Frank Chappell, manager of the Public Relations Department of General Motors Products of Canada, Ltd., addressed the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Westmount Rotary Club Wednesday in Victoria Hall, taking as his subject: "Colour in Industry."

Opening his address with a timely reference to the brightly coloured dinner jackets and evening dress wear for men which are rapidly becoming the style in the more fashionable circles, "colour is male," stated the speaker, "in all nature except among human beings. The men shortly will appear in formal dress like peacocks, and not like penguins."

Referring to coal, tar, aniline and nitro-cellulose lacquers in comparison to the first two old time types, the speaker pointed out that it now took but hours for cars to dry as compared to twenty-eight days ten years ago.

In all there are some twelve thousand colours which when properly grouped and classified reduce to probably three hundred, and of these only sixty are in popular demand. Colours are graded by experts according to three dimensions, hue, value and coma. Sales managers handling the retail end of the automobile business must pay particular attention to colour. No yellow cars can be sold in China as yellow is the colour for mourning there. No native of India will buy a car if even the hub caps are red, for in that country red is the sign of officialdom, and no private citizen wants his neighbours to think him connected with anything official.

At the close of the speaker's remarks, J. Aird Nesbitt, in a few well chosen words, reminded the Rotarians that the sombre trend in men's clothing was occasioned by a book written in 1828 by Bulwar Lytton, entitled: "Pelham", in which the hero appeared dressed all in black. Lytton was such a popular novelist of the day that the effect on male dress has lasted over a hundred years.

The speaker was thanked by Wilfred Buckley. Pres. Henry F. King, was in the chair.

DELEGATION OF CITIZENS HERE PROTESTING TAX

Hon. Gordon W. Scott, Headed Group Who Waited on Executive

A delegation from Westmount churches of all denominations, headed by Hon. Gordon W. Scott waited on the Executive Committee of the City of Montreal on Monday, requesting drastic reductions on water taxes.

Protesting that their combined annual water taxes have been increased from $450.00 to $6,000.00 a year, the delegation contested Montreal's interpretation of the water tax law.

Under the City of Westmount contract with the City of Montreal as successor to the old Montreal Water and Power Company, up to last year, Westmount Churches paid for their water on meter and were thus charged for what they actually used.

The system of basing the water tax was changed however, last year, when Montreal abrogated the old contract with all municipalities formerly served by the Montreal Water and Power Company. As a result Westmount churches were placed on the same basis as those of Montreal: 4 per cent of assessed, or actual value was struck and 7 1/2 per cent of that assessment formed the water tax bill.

L. F. Phillie, director of finance, has agreed to study the entire matter and the City of Montreal is to communicate later with Mr. Scott.

PARENT TEACHER GROUP DISCUSSED FRENCH TEACHING

Economy Measure at Expense of Quality Regretted in Unanimous Resolution.

The February meeting of the Roslyn Avenue School Parent Teacher Association held Monday night at the school was featured by a resolution deploring the lowering of the quality of French teaching in the local Protestant schools for the reasons of economy.

It was moved by William C. Nicholson, and seconded by Norris Owens, "that this association regrets the decision of the Central Board to make economies by cutting down the quality of the French teaching in its schools and that this association is of the opinion that the standards of the French teaching should be maintained in our schools and particularly that the language should be taught by competent persons specially trained to do so, and that copies of this resolution be forwarded to the School Commissioners of Westmount and Outremont, as well as to the Montreal Protestant Central School Board."

The resolution, which was passed unanimously, followed a lengthy discussion, led by R. E. Ragun, French Master at Baron Byng High School, who addressed the group on "Teaching of French." Mr. Ragun outlined several ways whereby the teaching of French might be improved, after delving into the inability of English students to speak French after years of training in the Protestant Schools.

In his opening remarks, A. Sidney Bruneau, K. C., who presided, cited statistics to show how important it was that English-speaking Canadians become much better acquainted with the language, literature and traditions of the French race.

MRS. L. C. MONK NAMED PRESIDENT

Elected to Head St. Matthias Social Service Club at Sixteenth Annual Meeting.

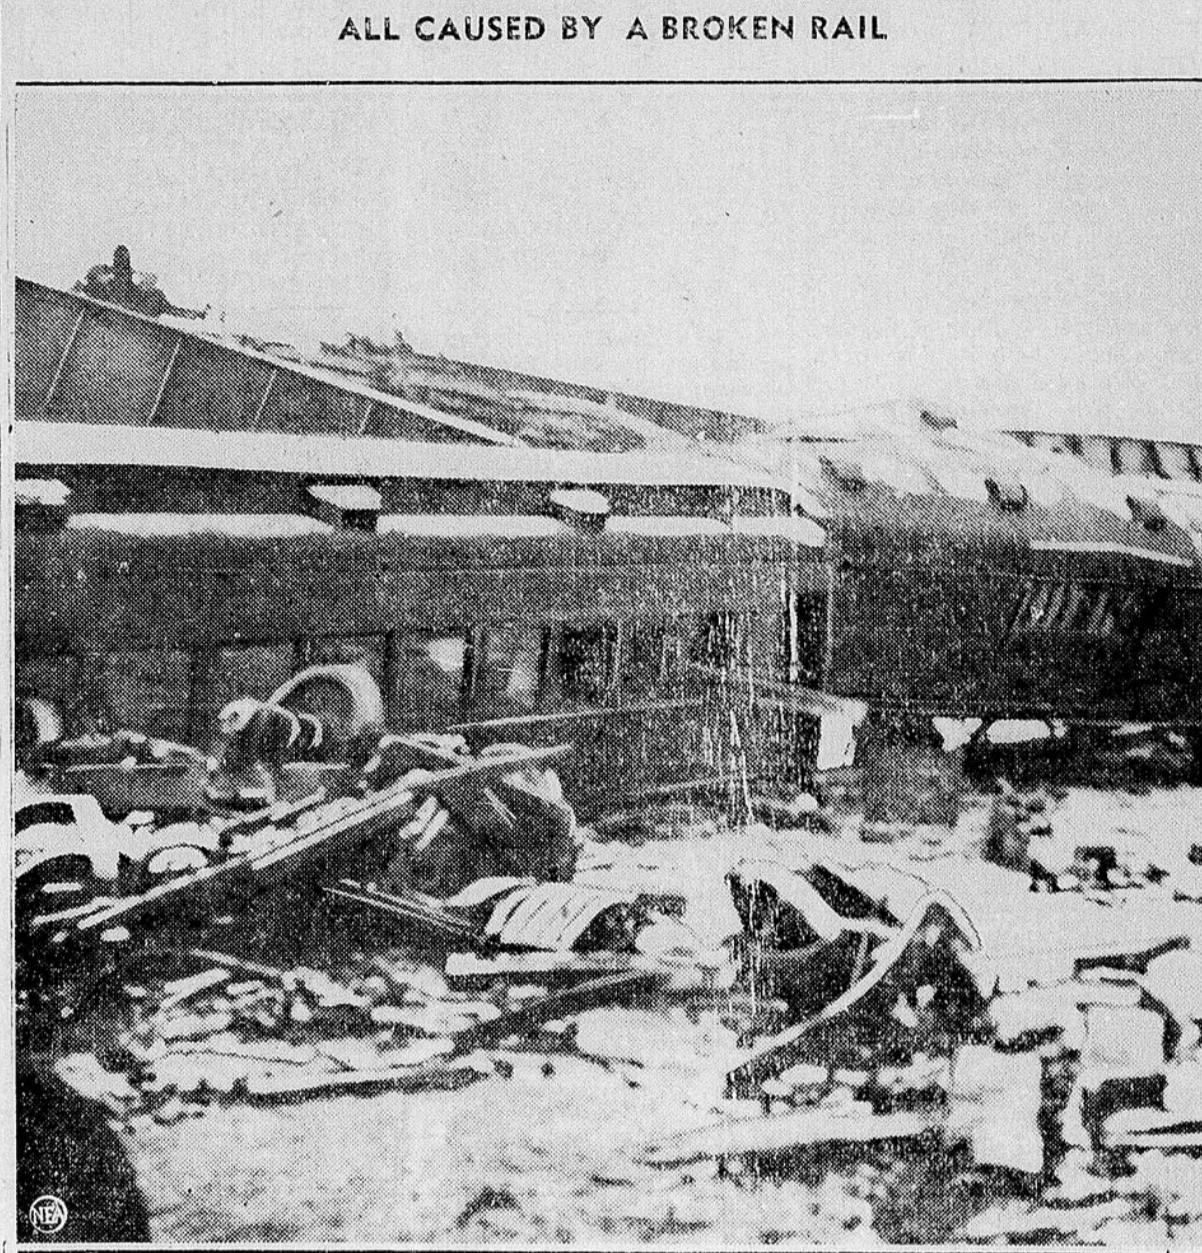

The following officers were elected at the sixteenth annual meeting of St. Matthias' Social Service Club, the Rev. Gilbert Oliver presiding:—

Honorary president, Mrs. J. C. Newman; president, Mrs. L. C. Monk; 1st vice-president, Mrs. W. U. Hughes; 2nd vice president, Miss Helen Rugh; secretary, Miss Elizabeth Currie; assistant secretary, Mrs. George Mortimer; treasurer, Mrs. G. H. Boright; assistant treasurer, Mrs. F. Mueller; visiting committee, Mrs. W. N. Petch, Mrs. W. W. Eakin and Mrs. C. S. Thompson; work convener, Mrs. G. Carter; assistant convener, Miss Winona Thompson; telephone convener, Miss D. Jenkins; buyer, Mrs. A. E. M. Warner.

A bank balance of $303.00 with total receipts of $936.00 was reported by the treasurer.

Reports showed that many families were aided during the year. Twenty-five layettes and nineteen heavy sweaters were made by members, while ten Christmas baskets were distributed and five families supplied with toys and clothing for the children. Clothing, coal, groceries, milk and medical attention were also provided for various families.

Ladies Night. Ladies Night will be featured at the Montreal Chapter of the Unitarian Laymen's League, whose fourth supper meeting of the series "What Unitarians Stand For" will be held in Channing Hall Monday night at 6.30 o'clock. "Flourace Nightingale" will be the subject of Mrs. Allan L. Smith, the speaker of the evening.

"It seemed that people were screaming and crying everywhere about us," one of the men who helped pull the three dead and thirty-two injured from the Sunbury, Pa., train wreck, said. The debris in the foreground, the toppled baggage and passenger car, the twisted steel siding of the bridge in the background testify to the body shattering jolt to which passengers were subjected when the speeding cars crashed through a broken rail as it approached the bridge over the Susquehanna river.

PICKWICK PAPERS ANNIVERSARY WAS TOPIC OF LECTURE

Professor Nevil N. Evans Addressed Montreal Branch of Dickens Fellowship Society.

The Pickwick Papers, immortal work of Charles Dickens, are classed as the author's greatest work by many and the Hundredth Anniversary of the publication of them could not pass without proper recognition by the Montreal Branch of the Dickens Fellowship. On Tuesday night the occasion was honoured with an entertaining lecture and with the addition of pictures thrown on the screen, made the story live again. The Centenary was commemorated in Victoria Hall and the lecture presented by Prof. Nevil N. Evans, past president of the local branch.

The failure of many people to appreciate Pickwick Papers was recognized in the paper but caustic comments were made on such a class of persons. Their inability to see anything funny in this work of the novelist at least makes one analyse it to discover its faults. The writer of the essay on Pickwick was ready to allow that he did not desire to meet some of the characters, but Pickwick, Wardle, Sam and Tony Weller, Jingle, Mary and the Fat Boy are certainly not of that number, he said.

Exaggeration may have been freely used in Dickens but what of it? Sam Weller is a great symbol in English literature of the popular language of England. Even Pickwick "seven seas over" does not ever appear offensive, said the author of the paper as he went from character to character getting another laugh out of each one. As to the sale value of Dickens' works, if he could return and realize on all his original manuscripts, first editions and signed copies given to friends he would accumulate 15 million dollars, it has been estimated.

Even though written with humorous intent it was not possible for Dickens to refrain from an attack on evils of his day and hence the visit to the debtors' prison, his satire on a judge, and other exposures made by the novelist. Mrs. Brodie and Peter Miller gave vocal selections. R. H. Mainster, president, was in the chair.

Have You A Little Canary In Your Home?

If you haven't a canary in your home, you stand a good chance of winning one if you can send in appropriate last lines to the limbericks in this week's contest. The Examiner today, to celebrate its First Birthday, has completed arrangements for a series of Limberick Contests with genuine singing canaries to be offered as prizes. Contest will be found on Page 5.

This type of contest has proved itself popular in the past in many of the leading newspapers of the country, and the Examiner Contest Editor and his staff, are already at work on suitable limbericks for next week's contest. Just send in your last lines and you may win a canary.

If you already have a canary and you are adjudged winner of the contest you may have the choice of a goldfinch or a pair of love-birds. If you have a canary, a goldfinch, or a pair of love-birds, arrangements might possibly be made to procure a dodo bird for you.

Another Local Playground

At Tuesday evening's meeting of the City Council, it was decided that Westmount will provide another playground for children after the old French Methodist Institute at Greene Avenue and Stuyvesant Street is demolished and the property is purchased by the municipality at a cost of $23,000. In addition to the $29,000.00 voted some time ago, the Council voted $6,436 to be spent on the Westmount Public Library.

Alderman Currie was elected pro-mayor for the next three months. Mayor John Jenkins was in the chair. Young Men's Can. Club To Hear R. L. Calder, K.C. In view of the proposals to amend the Act on which Confederation is founded, R. L. Calder, K.C., will deal with these problems at the dinner meeting to be held by the Young Men's Canadian Club in Queen's Hotel on Monday evening. The address should be provocative of discussion, and large attendance is anticipated. C. H. Chesley, president, will be in charge of the meeting.

INJURY SUIT IS TAKEN BEFORE THE COURT OF APPEAL

City of Westmount Seeks Reversal of Superior Court Judgment in $10,600 Damage Award.

The Court of King's Bench in Appeal Monday took under advisement a Superior Court Judgment carried before it by the City of Westmount who sought reversal of the Superior Court's order to pay $10,600.00 to Agnes Cornish for injuries suffered in a fall on a slippery sidewalk.

After argument by Henry Eckenberg and C. G. Ogden, K.C., for the woman, and J. W. Weldon, K.C., for Westmount, the court took the appeal under advisement. The Superior Court judgment was rendered by Chief Justice Greenshields on a jury verdict finding the municipality guilty of negligence and fixing the sum to be paid in indemnity. The mishap occurred on April 9, 1934, when Dame Cornish was walking from her place of residence at 4250 Sherbrooke street west. She suffered a fracture of the hip and injuries to leg and knee.

In objecting to the judgment awarding damages, it was contended by the city of Westmount that the directions of the trial judge to the jury were misleading and seriously affected the jury's report. It was submitted that there was error in the judgment in finding that the verdict of the jury was supported by the evidence, and that the verdict was in accordance with the provisions of the law.

The high court was told there was no evidence in the trial that the woman fell by reason of the slipperiness of the sidewalk.

Counsel for the woman submitted on the other hand that the verdict was in accordance with uncontradicted evidence showing the sidewalk to have been in a slippery and dangerous condition, with lack of supervision by the city's street department in failing to sand the sidewalk.

The annual meeting of the Jacques Cartier Chapter I. O. D. E. will be held at the home of the Regent, Mrs. M. S. Temple-Hill, 466 Claremont Ave., on Tuesday at 8.15 p.m., elections and reports.

Westmount's Own Newspaper Is Now In Its 2nd Year

First Milestone Passed and File Forms Chapter in City's History — Citizens of Canada's Wealthiest Buying Centre Welcomed Journal — News and Views Of Municipality Brought to Every Home in a Concise And Readable Form.

Just one short year ago this week, The Westmount Examiner greeted the residents of Canada's Wealthiest Buying Centre, a full-sized newspaper, bringing the news and views of the municipality to each and every home in a concise and readable form.

Long a city of importance in Canada, it was the opinion of the right-thinking majority of the residents that the city needed a newspaper of its own, a journal in which Westmount news and comment would receive primary consideration, a medium in which the merchants who were interested in the trade-value of the municipality could present their wares in an attractive, conservative fashion and without fear of glaring competition from inferior competitors.

The first milestone is passed and it has been a year of events. The columns of the publication have been replete with social, sport, club, church political, and incidental news of the city, which in the past had been forced into the position of many another residential district, finding that its more important news was of the little value to the bigger newspapers and its lesser news of no value at all.

The first issue carrying news of the Westmount Rotary Club, data of current services of the various churches, timely editorials and many interesting features including an up-to-date sports section attracted wide attention. Throughout the weeks, news of the Westmount City Council, Westmount Stamp Club, various dramatic groups of the city, Westmount's School Board, the Westmount Y. M. C. A., Argyle and Westmount Municipal association and the notes and news of the various clubs and associations, church groups and societies.

Complete details of the Mammoth Ice Carnival, was staged annually by the Westmount Rotary Club in aid of the Montreal Children's Hospital received extensive publicity, and many other causes as were likewise assisted through the columns of the paper.

In early summer, when the closing of schools approached, the various summer camps for boys and girls chose the Examiner as the ideal medium for recruiting members. An early April issue contained details for the King's Jubilee celebrations, while throughout the twelve months the doings of the police and fire departments, the Wolf Cubs, Boy Scouts, and Sea Scouts as well as various armory associations were included. Interesting accounts of the annual display of the police and firemen were contained in the columns in the latter part of April and the beginning of May, while timely pictures tended to brighten the pages from time to time. The final May issue was the start of political news as the approach of the Federal Election brought the political pot to a boil, and news of R. S. White's nomination by the Conservatives was read with interest.

As the August days brought the election date ever nearer, R. S. White spiked all rumours that he would retire from the field, and in a statement to the Examiner following a political rally at Victoria Hall on the fifteenth, said "I am in this fight to the finish, and I will still be in it when the last vote is counted." He was.

The completion of the paving project on upper level streets was of interest to many readers, and its progress was followed closely in the Examiner. The arrest of a twenty three year old housebreaker by the Westmount Police cleaned up forty robberies.

An interesting and comprehensive article on the Westmount School system, dating back sixty two years and prompted by the completion of the new Argyle School, was the feature of a Sept. ember issue. The candidature of Shirley G. Dixon as Liberal candidate was announced. Details for the Westmount Parks and Playgrounds annual field day were also of interest. Both Conservatives and Liberals increased activities, making a final spurt at the announcement of the entrance into the field of A. A. Chesterfield, standard bearer of the Reconstruction party. These events were climaxed when R. S. White

The First Milestone

This week, the Westmount Examiner is one year old. In the past fifty two issues, it has brought news and views of the city to each and every home in a concise and readable form.

The Jewish Exodus

Definite plans will be drawn up within a few days toward the gradual emigration of at least 100,000 of the estimated 430,000 Jews in Germany, it is announced by Sir Herbert Samuel, former British High Commissioner to Palestine.

Sensible Protection

As a means of ensuring more complete identification of crime suspects, and protecting witnesses from being recognized at the same time, the Vancouver Police Commission has decided to have a specially-constructed room where the witnesses may view suspects without being seen themselves. This is a move in the right direction, since many persons hesitate to identify prisoners for fear revenge will be sought later.

A Royal Tour

The London Daily Herald has the interesting suggestion that King Edward may make a tour of all the dominions comprising the British Commonwealth of Nations, next year, and even suggests the possibility of an actual coronation ceremony in each dominion capital.

Just A Little Red Joke

They are enjoying a good joke on the Communists in Rio de Janeiro. Captain Agildo Barata, the Red who led the November rebellion, is cutting some didoes in prison.

A Dog's Instinct

Only a mongrel dog, yet he is credited with saving the life of a 17-year-old girl who lay exhausted on the snow in zero weather just outside of Fort Erie.

NOTE: The opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily those of The Examiner and this newspaper does not accept responsibility for them. They are published for their general interest, variety and originality of treatment.

California statistics show that this state with a little over five per cent of the country's population, uses thirteen per cent of the tax-paid distilled spirits distributed, despite the constant propaganda of the wine-growers.

Dr. Alfred C. Reed, University of California professor of tropical diseases and examining physician for some of the foreign missionary boards, surprised the Commonwealth Club and his radio hearers recently by saying: "California today is one of the world's three great foci of plague; we are sitting on a powder mine — we do not know when it will explode or what the results will be."

Secrecy Will Surround The "Queen Mary"

Only Commander Will Know When Trials Of New Superliner Are Started or Finished.

Preparations are being completed for the important engine tests to which the new Cunard White Star superliner "Queen Mary" will be subjected before she leaves the basin of John Brown's shipyard, Clydebank, Scotland.

The rigid task of inspection, under the joint supervision of company and shipyard experts, is expected to occupy several weeks, although preliminary surveys have already been carried out.

The speed trials of the "Queen Mary" will be conducted with the utmost secrecy. Not a single soul of the 560 carried aboard, except Sir Edgar Britten, the Commander, will know just when the tests have actually begun or ended.

During the speed trials messages will be exchanged between the commander and the engine room in code instead of by telephone, giving details of the vessel's speed and behavior. These messages will be recorded in cipher on perforated tape, similar to quotations on a stock ticker.

For fear that the superliner may swamp yachts and houses on the shore during these special manoeuvres, the speed trials of the "Queen Mary" will be carried out beyond the Heads of Arren in the Firth of the Clyde instead of over the usual measured mile at Skelmorlie, of the Ayrshire coast, or in Wemyss Bay. The "Queen Mary" will speed over her trial course 25 times, anchoring at night off the Toil of the Bank.

Later, on leaving the Clyde, three further tests will be carried out. Stern tests to ascertain the ship's speed while going hard astern will be made off Land's End when sailing to Southampton. Manoeuvring trials will then be carried out to find the area required and the time the liner will take to turn completely around. Later there will be consumption trials in the Atlantic to discover the oil fuel consumption per 24 hour period.

FINAL TRIBUTE IS PAID TO LATE J. O. RICHARDSON

Friends and Business Associates Honoured Life-long Member of Calvary Church.

A host of fellow workers of the Calvary United Church, in which congregation he had been active for 58 years, joined many fellow members of the Sun Life Assurance Company in paying final tribute to James O. Richardson, 3856 Oxford Avenue, at funeral service held Monday afternoon in the chapel of Jos. C. Wray and Bro. Mountain Street, Rev. T. W. Jones, pastor of Calvary Church, led the service, and the Rev. B. B. Brown of Wesley United Church, assisted. Interment was in Mount Royal Cemetery.

Mr. Richardson, who was a life-long resident of Montreal, passed away Friday at the age of 78 years. He had been ill for some time and was living in retirement. For many years he was an employee of the Sun Life Assurance Company.

Surviving relatives are his wife, formerly Alberta L. Rowell; two daughters, Mrs. Nelson Saunders, of Biggar, Sask., and Miss Edith Richardson, of Montreal; and a son, J. P. Richardson, of St. Catharines, Ont.

Summing up the qualities of character possessed by the late Mr. Richardson in the eulogy at the service Rev. T. W. Jones said: "He was a good man" and added "Those who knew James O. Richardson will agree that these words will apply to him for they set forth in definite yet simple terms the secret of his influence among his fellowmen. His goodness was of the kind that holds with tenacious loyalty to honest and worthy convictions. No one would ever question of the sincerity of his motives or the sheer honesty of his purposes. Although unbending in his plans once they were settled in his mind, there could never be a shadow of a doubt concerning his sincerity or the rugged honesty of his motives."

The fine qualities of Mr. Richardson's character were shown in "service and activity" rather than in "meditation and seclusion" continued the minister of Calvary church, and he referred to the "hearty response given by him to any worthy appeal for personal service, which was true in his business career and in his church life." His loyalty in attendance at meetings of the congregation, his faithfulness in any office committed to his care, his support generously given to varied enterprises and his unflinching interest in the training of younger men for positions of responsibility will long be remembered," declared Mr. Jones.

Among the many mourners were a large number of the chief executives and other officers of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, which Mr. Richardson joined in July 1880, and served continuously until his retirement in Mar. 1931.

Representing the company were: T. B. Macaulay, chairman of the Board; Arthur B. Wood, president and managing director; E. A. Macnutt, vice-president; G. W. Bourke, actuary; H. W. K. Hale, secretary; J. J. Cooper, comptroller.

COLD WEATHER DRIVING TIP

A cold weather driving tip is given by Mr. T. C. Kirby, General Manager of the Montreal Motorists' League, as follows: Instead of stopping your motor by turning off key, pull choke fully out, which will stall motor, then turn key off as usual leaving choke fully out. When you are ready to start turn ignition key a step on starter. You will find car will start 100 per cent quicker. Try it out and see for yourself. This will avoid the driver being sadly inconvenienced at times by finding himself unable to start the motor in very cold weather.

A. H. VINCENT WAS SPEAKER FRIDAY AT STAMP CLUB

Ian Warren in Chair as Romance of Stamp Collecting Told at Weekly Meeting in Victoria Hall.

Members of the Westmount Stamp Club were addressed by A. H. Vincent, at their regular weekly meeting in Victoria Hall, Friday. Ian Warren, president, was in the chair.

That there is romance in stamp collecting is evidenced in the fact that stamps are a message from the country where they are issued, the speaker pointed out, adding that there is a story in every stamp. The various collections displayed by him were an illustration of what he said.

Referring to Egyptian history, and displaying a number of Egyptian stamps to show the way in which great epochs and personalities were brought to notice of the stamp buying public through the Government making the stamp issues, Mr. Vincent remarked that if one liked strange countries and stories, stamp collecting would help the imagination.

Pleasure as well as profit could be extracted from the activity of collecting stamps, the speaker indicated, as he mentioned the large variety of the classifications that might be made. Stamps of Great Britain offer a large field of study, he went on to say, and one particular stamp, of a penny denomination, issued in 1864 had 150 plate numbers and each stamp of each plate had a different letter of the alphabet. The stamp alone would make an endless collection, Mr. Vincent told the club.

SIX-DAY MIRACLE BUILDS NEW HOME

Rocanville, Sask. — After the farm-home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Kelly was recently razed by fire, the family was taken in by neighbors, who immediately started a "helping hand" drive. Within three days enough money had been obtained to pay for sufficient lumber, glass and hardware, to build a new home.

The building work was done voluntarily, and within another three days the Kelly family was again under a roof of its own, with plenty of furnishings and clothing, warm bedding and even a large pile of wood in the yard.

Denying he sought any office himself, Alfred E. Smith, Democratic presidential nominee in 1928, in a speech before the American Liberty League at Washington urged liberal Democrats to bolt the party rather than support President Roosevelt and the New Deal in the coming elections. CHARITY DRIVE WORKERS HELD RECENT DINNER

Personnel and Plans For St. Mary's Hospital Drive Outlined To Guests By Board of Directors.

The personnel of the committee and plans of St. Mary's Hospital appeal for $250,000 to help carry on the charitable work which the new hospital has been called upon to make, were outlined at a recent dinner in the institution when 50 business and professional men were guests of the board of directors. The campaign opens March 21st and closes on March 31st.

Major D. J. O'Donohoe, chairman of the campaign executive committee, who gave the reason for the campaign being launched, announced the officers of the general campaign committee to conduct the appeal, and before the meeting ended, most of those present signed volunteer workers' cards offering their services in support of the hospital's work.

Included in those who volunteered their services were W. J. Hushion, M.P., and Aldermen Leo J. McKenna and David Rochon. The chief speaker of the evening, Major O'Donohoe, explained that 70 per cent of all patients admitted to St. Mary's during 1935 had been charitable cases, and that the hospital faced a deficit for the 12 months of approximately $50,000 as a result of this service.

"The directors of St. Mary's felt that they had no alternative but to launch this appeal. We must go on to our ultimate goal of augmenting hospitalization in Montreal," he stated. "It is bad enough to be poor, but it is still worse to be poor and sick, too."

Others who spoke briefly on the campaign included T. Taggart Smyth, president of the Board and newly-elected general campaign committee chairman; Canon Thomas F. Heffernan, chairman of the clergy advisory committee of the campaign; Rev. M. T. J. O'Brien, secretary of that committee; Mrs. S. C. Marson, honorary chairman of the Women's Division of the campaign; Rev. Martin P. Reid, and Dr. D. A. Hingston, honorary chairman of the general campaign committee.

The members of the general campaign committee, announced last night, are: Dr. D. A. Hingston, P.R. C.S., honorary chairman; T. Taggart Smyth, chairman; Leo H. Timmons and Major D. J. O'Donohoe, vice-chairmen; J. J. Gallagher, honorary secretary-treasurer; J. A. Kennedy, Ed. Quinn, C. S. Griffith, Alfred McKinley, Dr. F. E. Devlin, Canon T. F. Heffernan, P.P.; Rev. M. T. J. O'Brien, P.P.; E. J. Turcotte, John D. Kearney, K.C.; Charles A. Shannon, T. P. Slattery, J. Austin Murphy, W. F. Tigh jr.; Walter E. Elliott, L. P. B. McMahon, William McTeague, Mrs. S. C. Chopin, secretary.

The tenth instalment Pickwick Papers was received with considerable popular enthusiasm and many people even were tempted to complete his story, all of which was reprinted by Dickens, according to the author of the paper.

Motor League Head Advances A Novel Plan

A novel plan, designed to weed out reckless drivers and to provide an incentive for careful driving, has been advanced by Mr. T. C. Kirby, General Manager of the Montreal Motorists' League. The scheme suggested is as follows: Let every Province issue a license book of, say a dozen small pages to replace the present license card. And let every traffic officer enter in that book, with date and place, every traffic offence of the holder. That's all.

Instead of the fruitless bawling out, instead of the small fine, instead of the summons that take a cop's time for a day in court, let the officer get out his indelible ink and make a notation or in plain language, stricter enforcement of our laws.

The book would have to be handed in at the end of the year. If it were loaded with entries there would be positive ground for denying a new license. The holder, with a string of "speeding" or "cutting in" or "passing the light" notations, would be convicted of temperamental unfitness to drive, beyond the possibility of argument.

Mr. Kirby states that the desire to keep the book clean would be a positive incentive to safe driving. The man whose book was unaccountably crowded would quiver at the thought of showing such a record to a traffic cop, and would stay on the right side of the road. In a doubtful case, a clean book would be a presumption of innocence, a dirty one would be a vote the other way.

Make it uniform throughout the Provinces and any offense anywhere in the country would have weight back home. The moving finger would write, and having writ, weed out the amateur Barney Oldfields, the drunks, the road boys, the "swallow my dust" idiots. Let every law abiding motorist get the protection he is entitled to in every case.

'Berkeley Square' By Trinity Groun

"Berkeley Square", being presented on February 13, 14 and 15, is the story of an American who inherited a two-hundred-year old house and by much study and concentration managed to change places with an ancestor whom he closely resembled.

Most of the action of the play takes place in 1784 and calls for the picturesque costuming of the eighteenth century.

The author is John Balderston and the leading role — originally played by Leslie Howard — is taken by Frank Starr, with the leading feminine part in the capable hands of Eileen Gifford.

Others in the cast are Adria Barclay, Mrs. Basil Donn, Mrs. R. Ford, Dreda Sayers, Dorothy Ward Pratt, Marjorie Blackmore, Rosemary Morris, Robert Young, Percy Roberts, James Hartney, Gerald Christmas and John W. Sharp.

The production is under the direction of Basil Donn, and a special set has been prepared by the stage manager, Creighton Patton.

There Is A Tide In Actor's Affairs Which Taken At The Flood, Leads On

There is a tide in the affairs of actors, too, which, taken at the flood, leads on to stardom.

Few successful actors will deny that luck played a part in their careers, particularly at the beginning. Good use of early opportunities made many of them what they are today.

Dick Powell, for example, lost no time in making friends in the film colony and in giving encouragement to his letter-writing fans during the filming of his first picture, "Blessed Event," in which he played the role of a rather obnoxious orchestra leader.

Dick guessed rightly that it would do no harm for the production executives at the Warner Bros. studios to know how many friends he had in the cities where he had worked as a master of ceremonies. He wanted to get into the movies and stay there, and he worked hard for the benefit of the public and the producers. He recognized "Blessed Event" as the "good tide in his affairs—and made the most of it.

If he had neglected this opportunity he might still be singing through a megaphone — in Pittsburgh.

Joe E. Brown

When Joe E. Brown first came to Hollywood he was a successful stage comedian and had appeared in several popular Broadway reviews. When offers did not tumble in one after another the second day in the film capital, Joe took steps. He had agreed to make one picture for the old F.B.O. studios, but it was evident that he would have to sit in his hotel for weeks or months before he would ever get before a camera.

So he made the officials of F.B.O. a proposition.

"Let me play a part in some other picture," he suggested, "any part in any picture."

"Well," said the official, "the only picture starting now is 'Crooks Can't Win' and there's no place for a comedian in that."

"But there must be," said Joe. "Couldn't you write in a part for a newspaper reporter — a comedy reporter?"

The studio official shook his head. "Too much money," he said. "It isn't important enough to be worth what you will cost us."

"But I won't cost you much," said Joe, hearing Old Man Opportunity knocking. "I'll play the part — the whole part, however long it takes, for — for five hundred dollars."

So it was agreed, and Joe got the experience before the camera he felt he needed before attempting a more important role. He worked four weeks for $500—and started a financial snowball which has made him now one of the highest paid actors in the world.

Olivia de Havilland

The chance to be understood by an understudy to an actress who was almost certain to play the role of Hermia in Max Reinhardt's Hollywood Bowl presentation of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," didn't seem to be a very promising way to get into the "movies." Yet little Olivia de Havilland came to Hollywood from her small home town, just in hope that she might find such a job.

But the first choice actress and the first understudy left the company for what appeared to be greener fields, and Olivia moved into their places in proper order and so into pictures and the leading roles in three of the most important productions of the year, "A Midsummer Night's Dream," "Captain Blood," and "Anthony and Cleopatra."

The ingratitude of democracy and the ingratitude of kings are as nothing to the ingratitude of newspaper readers.—Lord Hewart.

DIAL DELIRIUM
A new high in microphone kidding is scheduled for next Wednesday evening at 9 when Jack Benny appears at Town Hall as guest of Fred Allen. "But don't be alarmed," Fred announces in his usual diplomatic style. "Benny is not to be considered one of the regular amateurs! . . . If you noticed any unnecessary static on the Wednesday eve airing of Charlie Chan's diabolic doings, it was only this reporter substituting for Walter Downs in the announcer's role . . . It took two amateurs to put Joe Cook's new show on the black side of the ledger. Vic Mizzy and Irving Taylor graduates of Fred Allen's Amateur University, not only wrote the lyrics for the production, but are themselves members of the cast . . .

TUBE TALK

Billy Bissett arrived at his new Monte Carlo Casino two days late. The Canadian maestro had booked passage for the band and himself on an Italian-controlled steamer which was at the last moment rerouted for activity in the Italo-Ethiopian scrap. As a result William and the lads transferred their luggage to the Conte de Savoia, and docked at Monte Carlo last Monday, to replace Bert Ambrose at the fashionable gambling spot . . .

A new series of rhythm in waltz time is set to take the CFCF waves once weekly, commencing in about two weeks time . . . "Radio's blind listeners are the keenest ones," declared Miss Kate Foley, blind teacher of the blind, in an NBC interview early this week. A BIT OF TEMPERAMENT

June Knight and Robert Taylor in "Broadway Melody of 1936" June Knight's temper reaches the boiling point when she tells Robert Taylor that Jack Benny, the columnist, has been writing catty remarks about her. Charlie de Harwood's work on the Saturday night hockey broadcasts has improved greatly over his showing of last year, with the result that Charlie's running descriptions of NHL games are going coast-to-coast every second Saturday evening . . . Fred Keating completed his Maritime tour last week, and is currently tickling the ivories at the Fairmont Country Club near Hull. His hand takes the air several times weekly through CKCO . . . Leslie Howard will broadcast a radio adaption of his own play "Murray Hill", this Sunday at 2 through a WABC-CBS hookup. CRAC won't carry the drama . . .

Learned Tap Dancing To Cure Her Bashfulness

"I learned to dance as a means of forgetting my bashfulness," says Eleanor Powell, dancing star of M-G-M's dazzling musical, "Broadway Melody of 1936," at the Westmount until Saturday night, and opening at the Seville on Sunday for the first three days. "I had no intention of taking dancing as a serious career, when I took my first lesson; my mother sent me, when I was six, because all other methods of making me lose my timidity had failed."

Taught To Be Graceful
"Now that I'm in Hollywood, I find that screen directors are using my mother's method to keep their junior players from being self-conscious. Everyone of them is required to learn either tap or ballet dancing for a dual reason—for future use in a musical production and for gracefulness in walking."

"It is a well-known fact that Europeans possess more poise than Americans. Why? Because they learn their national folk dance as soon as they are able to walk," says the dancing star of "Broadway Melody of 1936," who took her first ballet lesson when she was six, but didn't learn tap dancing until 1929. A year later the M-G-M actress was awarded the official title of "World's Greatest Feminine Tap Dancer."

"For several years I have been studying the different types of dancing, from ballroom to tap, in hopes of being able to pick the most expressive from all phases and from that form a national dance for the Americans that is similar to Scotland's highland fling or Russia's mazurka.

"Perhaps our forthcoming national dance will be a modification of the ancient American Indian tribal dance mixed with some of our modern fox trots and waltzes. Only time and the public's fancy can tell," concludes the dancing darling of the stage and screen.

Does Several Dances
Miss Powell's dancing is seen to advantage in the John W. Considine, Jr., production in several elaborate ensembles to the tempo of songs composed by Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed, who were responsible for the song hits in the first "Melody."

Headed by Jack Benny, the musical includes Una Merkel, Robert Taylor, June Knight, Sid Silvers, Harry Stockwell, Frances Langford, Buddy and Vilma Ebsen, Nick Long, Jr., Robert Wildhack and other favorites of the stage, screen and radio world.

SPEND MILLIONS ON CANAL

London.—Improvements and developments to the Grand Union Canal, which have cost $5,000,000, and given employment to hundreds of men, are nearing completion. The improvements have included the widening of parts of the 250 odd miles of waterway between London and the Midlands to accommodate larger and mechanical-propelled barges.

CHILDREN'S THEATRE PLAY SATURDAY WAS BRILLIANT SUCCESS

The Children's Theatre production of "The Little Princess", the charming children's play by Frances Hodgson Burnett, and under the direction of Miss Dorothy Davis and Miss Violet Walters, was an outstanding success at Victoria Hall on Saturday afternoon. The major production of the season, the play commanded a full house, and prolonged and thunderous applause was a most decided indication of the hearty welcome it received.

Lillian Wilkinson, who took the "star" role, lived well up to the reputation she has earned for herself in previous performances, and Marcia Getz was outstanding in her role of a hard hearted school mistress. Laura Mitchell, Thelma Vautour and Lois Astorf played their parts with professional ease, and Natalie Sommer, Janice Fischel, Lillian Lozoff, Dorothy Aronoff, Lillian Simon and Bernard Berlin gave fine support and contributed in no small way to the success of the play.

The singing and duets were received with especial enthusiasm, and the specialty numbers proved to be very popular with the crowded house, bringing down rounds and rounds of applause.

Many were unable to secure seats, as the attendance exceeded all expectations. A repeat performance will therefore be given, and on Saturday, Feb. 15th, all those who were unable to secure seats or entrance last week will be given an opportunity not to be disappointed a second time. Tickets may be obtained from the Sunbeam Flower Shoppes, 4865 and 5702 Sherbrooke Street West, or at Willis & Co., Ltd., corner Drummond and St. Catherine streets. Anyone desirous of further information may call DEXter 6233 or DEXter 6620.

For "Children Only" Is Saturday Feature At Lorraine Grill

"For Children Only", the programme of entertainment presented for and by children of Montreal, and announced as a new Saturday afternoon feature at Krausmann's Lorraine Grill, was an outstanding success last Saturday and will be repeated again this Saturday.

The Lorraine Grill invites all boys and girls to participate in an amateur hour of songs and dances. Talented youngsters will be given an opportunity of appearing in public, while others interested to learn to dance or sing will be given instruction and advice by principals of the Lorraine Review.

The children's party commences at 3.30, will be preceded by the regular review, and at 4.30 the floor will be turned over to the children with George Sims acting as Master of Ceremonies. The presentation will continue until 5.30.

Children are requested to be accompanied by adults and the management announces a delightful afternoon tea to be served from 3 o'clock at a nominal charge. All participants will receive prizes.

A special invitation is extended to pupils of dancing and singing schools.

By F. G. H.

We read that Commonsense, Budgeting, and Honesty are three important factors in getting along financially; and this is applicable to the Government as well as to the home. I'm afraid that our homes would be broken up, furniture would be under the auctioneer's hammer to bring enough cash to pay the butcher and the baker, if we used the same methods as the Government uses. When the budget doesn't balance, instead of finding the leak, taxes are imposed. The "Powers" get together and, with the feel of gold in their hands, they laugh and joke while people are starving. We hear talk, promises, theory—but nothing practical is done.

We are beginning to hear a little whisper here and there, a soft whisper like a spring zephyr—"immigration"—but don't let it fool you—the "soft whisper" will turn into the hiss of a serpent and be as deadly.

With unemployment costing every Canadian $9.13 annually (whether you know it or not, it is true straight from the Financial Post), why bring in foreigners to increase that relief burden? If there is not work enough for Canadians, where can the foreigner turn for work? To the farms? If Canada needs farmers, why not put the unemployed on farms!

There is only one solution to the unemployment problem—an organized back to the land movement—and when I say organized I mean organized and not merely giving a family a few hundred dollars and a piece of uncleared land and let them live or starve. Cleared land is plentiful and with a small government station conveniently located for the farmers in a stipulated section, where information and advice can be had, there is no reason why a farmer, whether he be a city fellow or a country boy, cannot make a living for his family, provided he has ambition and good health. And the country is the best place on earth to promote good health. Free from worry, plenty of good food, fresh air and sunshine and refreshing rain—who wouldn't be happier than standing in line waiting for relief vouchers! And they say (and it's authentic too) that Quebec does not begin to supply the food markets at its disposal.

WHITE IS FASHION'S EDICT AT BRILLIANT HOLLYWOOD BALL

Dame Fashion was gowned in her finest and daintiest programs like "Who's Who in Hollywood" at the movie colony's brilliant Mayfair ball the other night. Film beauties and the wives of the male stars all wore white, but with no loss of distinction, as these three photos show. At left, Dolores Costello is lovely in her drop-shoulder gown of satin and lace. Center, Lyle Talbot and Lina Basquette take a turn around the floor. Right, the dark beauty of Dolores Del Rio is accentuated by her white fringed gown of daring shoulder treatment.

But one thing a farmer cannot do is to sit on a fence and talk half the day away and expect to succeed. Business principles must be applied to farming as well as any other business and sometimes I think the city fellow with a business training would make the best farmer after all.

Farm life can be most attractive if people have the ambition to make it so. There can always be a Community Hall where neighbors can have a get together at convenient intervals and with so many ways of acquiring an education, people in the country have no excuse to lose out among the intelligentsia. Newspapers carry the current events of the world and so many magazines of culture are accessible to the farmer that he need not have a one track mind

Delphic Study Club Held Fine Musicales

The Delphic Study Club Musicales held Tuesday in the Windsor Hotel was greatly enjoyed by the members and guests. Among those present were two past presidents, Mrs. Howard Christmas, and Mrs. Lawrence, now of Quebec.

The programme, arranged by Mrs. H. F. Briegel, the accompanist, was varied, consisting of humorous recitations by Miss E. Foley, piano solos by Miss Doreen Callan and Master Donald Peacock; songs by Mr. W. Hill, bass baritone and Mr. Wallace O'Hara, tenor.

The president, Mrs. Maude Ellis-Starr, presided.

anyone than city folk. And the radio is within easy reach of all.

This job of farming has dignity if the farmer will have it so. The late George F. Chipman, well-known Canadian of Winnipeg, was a farmer of dignity, intelligence, ambition. He was a politician who crossed swords with Canada's ablest men, sat in council with her educationists, and conducted a successful business enterprise through the fortunes and misfortunes that have come to this country in his time.

The farmer has the whole nation in his hand because the farmers' prosperity means industrial prosperity. Why not begin at the foundation of things and put the farmer back in his place and industry will take care of itself! Instead, everywhere the aim seems to be mushroom growth by stimulating business with a shot up the arm appropriating money for public works which is only leading to disaster. When the foundation of a building is bad we don't try to remedy it by repairing the roof!

MUSIC

By D.

The Montreal Catholic Women's Club held a musical in the York Room of the Windsor Hotel on Tuesday afternoon. Marguerite Peladeau, soprano, pupil of the well known Westmount singing teacher, Salvator Issaurel gave a programme of well chosen songs, among which were songs composed by: Dubois, Greig, DeBussey, Rogers and Schubert. The other artist on the programme was Arthur Davison, violinist, who included among his selections a Handel Sonata, Reverie by Vioux-camps and a Minuet by Tartini-Chrysler.

The Dubois String Quartet are holding another recital in St. Stulphice Hall, St. Denis Street on February 12th.

Bessie Anderson, soprano, Leslie Raper, baritone and Arthur Davison, violinist, were the artists who took part on the programme of A Night with Burns at McVicar Memorial Church, St. Viateur and Hutchison Streets, last Wednesday evening, Feb. 5th.

Mrs. Colin Forrest, the well-known pianist and organist, has arranged the musical program for the annual concert of the Westmount Women's Club, which is being held in Victoria Hall on February 14th, at 3 P.M.

The following artists are contributing to the program:—Margaret Messenger, soprano; Norma McLean, violinist, and Alfred O'Shea, tenor. Mrs. Percy E. Clarkson will be the pianist for the occasion.

Mrs. Harold Mills, contralto, sang recently at St. Johnsbury, Vermont, before the Scotia Club, and also in two of the local churches.

Edith Eager-Ross, the brilliant Montreal pianist, is holding her recital at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel on Wednesday evening, February 12th.

Way To Heart Of Baby Film Star

The way to a man's heart may be through his stomach but the way to a little girl's heart is by bringing her presents.

Not that Director Michael Curtiz needed to wait that long to win the heart of Sybil Jason, star of the new Warner Bros. picture, "Little Big Shot", now showing at the Westmount Theatre, for on the second day of the production he was adopted by the child and since has been called, "Uncle Mike".

Nevertheless almost every morning during the production of the picture, "Uncle Mike" brought his little star a gift. One morning it was a fairy tale, the next a doll and other things that little girls like.

This practice did not spoil the child in the least and she appeared to be more enthusiastic about each little present than she was about the last.

"Little Big Shot" is a gripping comedy drama of the Great White Way and its habitués who live on the edge of the law. It is packed with powerful dramatic situations, touching pathos, hilarious comedy and delightful romance.

In the cast, besides Sybil are Glenda Farrell, Robert Armstrong, Edward Everett Horton, Jack LaRue, Arthur Vinton and J. Carroll Naish.

The screen play is by Jerry Wald, Julius J. Epstein and Robert Andrews, based on the story by Harrison Jacobs. Dixon and Wrubel wrote the lyrics and music.

This feature opens a three day engagement at the Seville on Sunday.

Westmount 'Y' Cagers Travel To Northend Of City Tomorrow Night

Maroon Team in Quest of Eighth Win at Expense of North Branch 'Y' — Locals Expect Hard Battle From Len Hutton's Boys Who Will be Out to Avenge Last Defeat — Win Tomorrow May be First Run of No-defeat Ladder

The Westmount Y.M.C.A. cagers will travel to the north-end of the city tomorrow night when they will meet the North Branch 'Y' quintette in the Park Avenue gymnasium.

Naturally, Allan Mills' charges are aiming to keep their winning streak intact by taking their eighth, but the Northenders are of a different mind. Both teams were tied for league leadership when they met early last month. Since their defeat at the hands of the locals, Len Hutton's boys have fallen into evil ways, dropping another game to Nationales with whom they at present share second place in the league standing. Ascribing their second place position to that first defeat, the N.B. aggregation will be out in full force to humble the Westmounters and thus make a strong bid for first place honours in the league.

Despite the fact that Allan and Len are team mates on the Notre Dame de Grace Community Senior entry in the City League, their team work will come to an end when they five face one another. When they last met in the Sherbrooke Street gym, the locals came out on top by a 28-20 score, but not until after an exciting contest in which there was little to choose between both teams. It was not until the last few minutes of play that the maroons put on a spurt that drew them away from the Northenders to gain a lead which they never relinquished.

Another angle to tomorrow's affair is that if the Westmounters win, they should have no difficulty in stretching their winning streak to ten and finish the schedule undefeated, as the remaining games are with M.A.A.A. and Dominion-Douglas. These teams fell prey to the locals' speedy team work in their last encounters, and "repeat performances" are expected, barring unforeseen developments.

Following is the Intermediate "B" City Basketball League standing, to date:

Westm't Juniors Tied Montreal W.

The Westmount High School juniors tried hard on Tuesday but could not break a 2-2 deadlock with the Montreal West six at Tivola Stadium in a fight for leadership of the Junior Western Division of the Interscholastic Hockey League. As a result both teams are tied at the top of the schedule with seven points each.

Fisher was the hero of the contest, scoring both goals for Westmount, while O. Clarkson and Peto figured in the two Montreal West markers, each getting a goal and an assist.

A feature of the game was that no penalties were handed out to either team.

PROF. CARRUTHERS SPOKE TO CURLERS

Prof. of Philology at McGill Addressed Heather At Luncheon Saturday.

Members of the Heather Curling Club were addressed by Prof. C. H. Carruthers, Ph.D., professor of philology at McGill University at the regular luncheon meeting held Saturday. The speaker was introduced by the chairman, Prof. C. M. McKergow, and thanked by C. W. Taylor.

Speaking on the topic: "The Language of Tomorrow" Prof. Carruthers stressed the need for some international language to expedite exchanges between nations of the world. This was a widely-felt need, he added, and as a result there had been a number of attempts to discover some universal medium of expression. To this end, the most durable of the attempts made to date was Esperanto, invented by a Jewish doctor, and based on Latin roots.

Although it had achieved some success, it was the speaker's opinion that attempts linked to the English language seemed the most likely to succeed. Prof. Carruthers foresaw the possibility of simplified, regularized English becoming the language of tomorrow.

Westmount High Won Ski Shield

Westmount High School won the Converse Shield team skiing trophy for schoolboys for the third successive year Sunday at Shawbridge in a record-breaking contest which drew 106 entries for the races, cross-country, downhill and slalom.

Scoring individual victories in the cross-country and downhill events, Fred Moore was the purple and white "strong man" with a total of 384.6 points to lead in the individual combined standing for the four events. C. Mamen of Lachine ranked second with 356.1, while F. McKenna of St. Leo's scored 354.4 to place third. Percy "Punch" Bott, Montreal High School ski star performer, came fourth with a total of 353.7.

Westmount withstood the threat of Montreal High to retain its title, totalling 388.4 points for the four events of the competition which opened Friday afternoon with jumping in Montreal. Montreal High scored 378.8 points, while Lachine High took third and St. Leo's Academy fourth, with 353.0 and 346.8 points respectively.
