Break Brompton ice; danger over

Massive ice chunks choke the Saint Francis River at Bromptonville.

Dynamite blasts free the plugged up river.

By PETER VERRAL
(Record Staff Reporter)

BROMPTONVILLE — (Staff) — Bone-weary and stubble-chinned men tucked away an 11 p.m. supper yesterday confident that the town was "secure for the night" and sure that the ice-choked St. Francis River which threatened to flood the town yesterday, would be clear by noon today.

Early this morning, a Bromptonville police official reported the river "was normal" and there was no danger of flooding for now. Ice could jam the river again if there is a heavy rain or snow storm today, according to town officials.

Yesterday afternoon, Mayor Dorilas Gagnon issued an order for approximately 1,000 citizens living in the center of this 3,000 population town to evacuate their homes due to the possible danger of flood waters caused by an ice jam in the river.

By yesterday evening the populace was told the danger was over and they could go home. There were reports that some families had evacuated their homes, but phone calls to Les Freres du Sacre Coeur (secondary school) and the Academie du Sacre Coeur didn't turn up any citizens.

A large dynamite blast about 8 p.m. yesterday was the first clear signal workmen had gained an upper hand on the ice-jammed river.

The blast, set off by a seven-man crew from Brompton-based Kruger Pulp and Paper Ltd., tore away a 1,000 foot chunk of ice near the dam by the pulp and paper plant.

The blast was set off about 3,000 feet east of the Windsor Street bridge where the major ice jam was located. Alex McDonald, assistant director of civil protection said late last night that a 100-foot wide channel of water was flowing swiftly from the bridge over the dam three-quarters of a mile away.

A test blast at 5 p.m. gave the first hint to the weary workers on the ice and in the town hall that they just might lick the ice-choked river.

Mr. McDonald, who was anchor man for the operation indicated at one point last night that if there were heavy rains during the night and today, a flood situation could result that would parallel the March 20, 1948 flood tragedy.

In 1948 flood waters swirled into the downtown section of Bromptonville and rose to the second-storey level of a number of houses. Massive chunks of ice jammed the streets making them impassable. Although no lives were lost in the 1948 flood, many homes were ruined.

Mr. McDonald said the true indication that they had gained the upper hand on a possible flood danger came when water retreated back over the river bank in front of the CNR station on St. Joseph Street.

The river had overflowed its bank here about 1 p.m. yesterday and had inched its way to the far side of the railroad tracks by 5 p.m. The assistant director of civil protection said if the water had come much farther the town hall would have been covered with about 10-feet of water in an hour. The town hall is located in the former river bed and is one of the lowest spots in town.

Mr. McDonald said the flood-veteran citizens didn't heed the warning to evacuate their homes because the streets remained dry throughout the day. He said they probably wouldn't have budged unless the

NDP blocks Parliament adjournment

OTTAWA (CP) — Government hopes for an adjournment of Parliament today apparently have been blocked by a persistent NDP campaign aimed at speeding passage of the government drug bill.

Health Minister MacEachen, government House leader and one of eight cabinet ministers campaigning for the Liberal leadership, said in an interview Thursday night the outlook is "bleak" for a quick adjournment.

The April 4-6 Liberal convention now is less than two weeks off and the cabinet contenders will have little time for campaigning if the House continues to sit next week.

The government has been trying to clean up supplementary estimates but so far the House has adopted those of only five departments: finance, veterans' affairs, external affairs, the secretary of state's office and defence production.

Also required is an interim supply vote, to give the government authority to pay its bills during the recess.

PROLONG DEBATE

The NDP wants the government to call its bill aimed at lowering prescription drug prices before adjournment. But the government has not agreed and the New Democrats have been prolonging debate on supplementary spending in hopes the government will change its mind.

Only NDP members spoke in debate Thursday, apart from Defence Production Minister Drury.

Stanley Knowles, NDP House leader, told the Canadian Press that "any reasonable proposition" from the government could bring Commons business to a quick end. But he saw "no strong prospect" of this.

It was more likely the Commons would have to sit "for at least a day or two" next week.

Aldermen to ask Knowlton mayor to resign

By JOHN McCAGHEY
(Record staff reporter)

KNOWLTON — Aldermen I. Roderick Crandall and Fred Partridge served notice that they would table a motion at the next regular meeting of the Knowlton Town Council calling for the resignation of Mayor Harry Parker, following a stormy special council meeting in the county house, last night.

The special meeting was called to either accept or reject the proposal made to amalgamate the villages of Foster, Knowlton and the Township of Brome into a town in the hopes of thwarting any move by Brompton to annex the three communities.

The proposal was voted by the council members but not carried as Article 56 of the Cities and Towns Act states that there must be a full majority vote of acceptance for amalgamation.

A meeting of the joint committees of villages of Foster, Knowlton and the Township of Brome was held March 14 when it was decided in committee that the name of the new municipality, if granted letters patent, would be the town of Brome Lake.

During the meeting Mayor Parkes repeatedly said that he did not favor the proposed name. Alderman Romeo Brouillette, who was the sole dissenting voice when the issue was put to a vote, expressed his dislike for the suggested name. The other aldermen present were I. Roderick Crandall, Fred Partridge and Dr. Lorne Church. Two other members were absent.

Mayor Parkes repeatedly said that he was not against amalgamation — only the change of name. Several citizens pointed out that the name of Knowlton would be entirely unacceptable to the citizens of Foster and the Township of Brome. They suggested that the amalgamation issue be settled immediately and if the name of the town of Brome Lake proved unsatisfactory that a referendum be held after letters patent had been issued to alter the name.

The citizens committee had placed advertisements in local publications asking for suggested names for the new community. Mayor Parkes alleged that Knowlton had carried the majority as a result of these inquiries and in consequence should be accepted as the name of the new community.

It was pointed out from the floor that the joint committee comprised of three aldermen and the mayors of each community had reviewed the results of the investigation, found them inconclusive and by democratic vote had resolved to propose the name of the town of Brome Lake.

Mayor Parkes said that this was unacceptable and the due process of democracy had not been achieved.

Dr. A. S. Douglass said that the investigations had only brought in 214 replies from the over 5,000 people of the towns.

He said this was hardly representative.

Mayor Parker called Mayor L. L. Mizener of Foster to outline the feelings of his citizens. Mayor Mizener said they were primarily concerned with amalgamation, not the name, and would like to urge that the amalgamation be achieved as quickly as possible.

There were no representatives from the Township of Brome at the meeting.

Foster and the Township of Brome councils are to consider the same proposal by tomorrow.

There's no hope of any further action being taken by Knowlton immediately on the proposed amalgamation as a request to reconsider the proposal will have to be tabled at the next regular council meeting in April regular May sitting.

Mr. Parkes said that he would resign prior to amalgamation.

Mr. Brouillette repeated that he approved the amalgamations but not the name change.

Sherbrooke Trust robbery nets $13,000

By DENNIS FINLAY
(Record Staff Reporter)

JACQUES CUSTEAU: ... attacked by thugs

A daring daylight robbery yesterday morning netted two young thugs more than $13,000, when Sherbrooke Trust branch manager Jacques Custeau was attacked in Place Belvedere Shopping Centre parking lot. He was hit on the head by two young men and robbed of a valise containing the money.

The parking lot at Place Belvedere is vast and usually empty. Mr. Custeau was locking his car when the men attacked him and knocked him down. When he fell, he broke a finger on his left hand.

Sherbrooke Detective Capt. Roland Gaboriault said two women saw part of the actual robbery occur but were frightened and locked the doors of their car.

Suzanne Perusse, the assistant manager and cashier at the Place Belvedere branch of the Sherbrooke Trust Co. said Mr. Custeau picked the money up at the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce at 390 King Street West.

She said he was brought into the office after the attack, his coat covered with blood which came from a large gash on his head. Miss Perusse stated cold compresses were applied to the wound to stop the bleeding.

The bandits apparently made their getaway in a car owned by Philemon Vachon, of 616 Goupil Street, Sherbrooke, who is an employee at the pet shop in the shopping centre.

He did not learn his car was missing until his lunch hour when he left at noon, about 90 minutes after the robbery.

A young man working downstairs in the parking lot in the shipping-car order department saw a car speed out of the parking lot at 10:20, the time of the crime.

The shipping department worker, Serge Therrien, 22, of 476 London Street, Sherbrooke, described the car to police and his description fitted perfectly with Mr. Vachon's car, a 1962 model, dark blue in color.

Mr. Therrien said he was loading a box of groceries into a car when he saw the blue car turn a corner "like a fool was driving." He said it sped out the exit without stopping at the traffic lights and drove down Galt West towards Galt East.

There were two young men in the car, he said, both about 20 years old. He would not have noticed the car, he stated, ed, if it had not been travelling so dangerously fast through the parking lot.

A young unidentified man found Mr. Custeau after the robbery and ran upstairs to the Centre de Coiffure Masculine, a barber shop beside the stairs leading from the parking lot to the plaza.

There, he told of the man being attacked and Gervais Bisson, the proprietor of the barber shop and one of his employees, Jacques Grimard, both of Sherbrooke, ran to help Mr. Custeau.

They found him sprawled over the railing on the stairway, semi-conscious, Mr. Bisson said.

Rejean Roy, another barber in the same shop telephoned the police while Mr. Grimard and Mr. Bisson helped Mr. Custeau to his office.

Paul Fortier, branch manager of the Sherbrooke Trust Co. visited Mr. Custeau who told him the men who attacked him were young.

He verified the sum of approximately $13,000 having been stolen.

Captain Gaboriault said he thought the job was well planned.

THIS IS HOW WE FOUND HIM: Jacques Grimard, left, demonstrates to Marcel Poulin how he and Gervais Bisson found Jacques Custeau, the branch manager of the Sherbrooke Trust Co. at the Place Belvedere Shopping Centre, who was attacked and robbed of $13,000. Mr. Grimard and Mr. Poulin are both barbers at the shopping centre's Centre de Coiffure Masculine, which is owned by Mr. Bisson. (Record photo: Gerry Lemay)

Universalists to hold supper

DERBY LINE — All winter renovations have been going on in the kitchen and hall of the Universalist Church. Work was completed some time ago and then there was a wait for new tables and chairs ordered. These have come and plans are being made to have a church pot-luck supper on March 30. Afterward Mrs. Lillian Patton will speak and show slides of her Unitarian-Universalist Service Committee tour in Europe last year.

Should anyone be wondering what became of the old tables and chairs from the church hall, they were given to the Border Community Centre in Rock Island and are being put into good use as over 600 youngsters make this a second home.

The boards of the Derby Line and North Hatley churches plan to meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Graham at Stansfeld College at 8 p.m. on Mar. 31.

March 24 the minister of the Derby Line church will exchange pulpits with Rev. David Miller of Rutland, Vt. Rev. William Hutchinson, of the Derby Line church will afterward journey downstate to attend a conference before returning home on March 27. Mr. Miller will base his sermon on the controversy in the Rutland Elementary schools over the banning of Christmas observances last December. It should prove a challenging subject.

Al Ellis, Dick Happy, Mrs. D. Graham and Rev. Mr. Hutchinson are a committee on planning for adult program discussion series.

About television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—On The Avengers series a surprise came in the final moments of the weekly adventure of John Steed and Mrs. Emma Peel, where a Canadian actress is the latest entry.

Through all these seasons of summer replacements, it was understood that the swinging Mrs. Peel was a footloose if not exactly fancy free widow.

Wednesday night, her husband turned up. Instead of being dead in a plane crash, he was lost all these years in the jungle. So Mrs. Peel, a little regretfully, went obediently off to the joys of housewifery—and Miss Diana Rigg who played the part, was on her way back to the stage and movies.

The episode was concerned mostly with shooting people with a drug pellet that produced amnesia and with lots of fights, but it did introduce the new girl in Steed's life. She is a very pretty, wide-eyed brunette, Linda Thorsen of Toronto who plays an agent named Tara

King. She demonstrated at the outset that she is almost as good at hand-to-hand fighting as Mrs. Peel.

Fans of the droll series undoubtedly will take the switch-over in stride. The show is remarkable in the way it makes the most vicious evil-doing and prolonged slugfests seem part of a sprightly little comedy.

A large congregation attended services at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Upper Melbourne, on March 10 conducted by Rev. J. VanderWal. The choir rendered the anthem, I Thirst, with Mrs. H. Oakley at the organ. Mr. VanderWal introduced the guest speaker, Rev. David Craig, missionary from Nigeria. Mr. Craig told of his narrow escape from death and said that it was nothing short of a miracle that his life had been spared. After the service coffee was served and a social hour enjoyed in the church hall.

Mrs. Holland Burrill was hostess at a dessert bingo party on Mar. 12 at her home, when around 20 friends enjoyed a pleasant afternoon and desserts prepared by Mrs. Burrill.

Hard at first but immigrants do well

By PETER VERRAL
 (Record Staff Reporter)

Adolphe and Bruno are doing reasonably well now since they went into partnership and started up an automobile general repair business in Sherbrooke called Adolphe and Bruno Enr. But when Adolphe Scherbaum and Bruno Noch first arrived in Quebec in the late 1950's from West Germany, they found that an immigrant's life was one of continual bleak times and penny-pinching.

Mr. Scherbaum bundled his two children and wife aboard an aircraft and arrived in Montreal on April 13, 1957. Mr. Noch arrived in Quebec in the winter of 1956. He later married and now has a nine-month-old son. Both Mr. Scherbaum and Mr. Noch said there wasn't any real anti-German feeling in Quebec, rather it was a general feeling of hostility towards all immigrants.

Mr. Noch served with the German Merchant Marine during World War II, while Mr. Scherbaum was in the maintenance corps of the German Luftwaffe.

The two men have no particular complaints against Canadian immigration, but they believe Immigration officials might have treated them better and paid more attention to them when they first arrived in Canada. Their fares were paid to Canada from West Germany by Canada Immigration, "but we had to pay it back penny by penny. As soon as we got a job an immigration official would be after us the next day for money," Mrs. Scherbaum said. It cost the Scherbaum family $500 to move to Canada and most company personnel officers told us to go home until we learned to speak English or French," Mr. Noch said. The two men both spoke French before they arrived in Quebec but they couldn't speak English. "I know of some immigrants who couldn't speak French or English and were paid 50 to 65 cents a day in some parts of Quebec," Mr.

weren't trained auto mechanics before they arrived in Canada, but once here they continually ran into the problem of lack of Canadian experience.

"Whenever we applied for a job we were first asked what experience we had, followed by what Canadian experience."

Seeking a new life—Part 4

$165 for Mr. Noch. "From the advertisements of Canada carried in the local papers in West Germany you would think that the streets were lined with money," Mr. Scherbaum remarked.

"I didn't fall for this picture but some people did," he added somewhat bitterly. He received his Canadian citizenship in 1960. Mr. Scherbaum and Mr. Noch most company personnel officers told us to go home until we learned to speak English or French," Mr. Noch said.

The two men both spoke French before they arrived in Quebec but they couldn't speak English. "I know of some immigrants who couldn't speak French or English and were paid 50 to 65 cents a day in some parts of Quebec," Mr.

Noch added.

Mr. Noch who came from Baden-Baden said employers were telling 25-year-old men that they must have seven to 10 years experience in Canada before they would be hired.

He pointed out that this was impossible as the men were in other countries seven and 10 years ago. Then too, at that time they were only about 14 or 15 years old.

Mr. Noch, who is now a Canadian citizen, said he must have filled out 50 applications around Montreal shortly after his arrival, and he didn't receive a reply from one.

He remembers one time in Montreal when he went to try the examination for a chauffeur's licence. "There was a woman in front of me who obviously wasn't ready to pass a driving test, but she slipped the examiner a $10 bill and passed."

Mr. Noch commented this incident occurred in 1957. "I failed ed the examination although I had a licence for driving trucks and buses in France and Germany for a number of years."

Two months later Mr. Noch said he passed the same examination in Granby without any problems.

Both Mr. Scherbaum and Mr. Noch held temporary jobs in Montreal and St. Jean after their arrival in Quebec but they soon discovered they were the first ones to be laid off during a slack period.

At one point Mr. Noch remembers being out of job for three months without unemployment insurance, and another time a French-Canadian family advanced him room and board for three months when he didn't have a job.

Mr. Scherbaum said in Sherbrooke he had four different jobs in two years. "I finally got fed up and opened up Record reporter Dennis Finlay's motorcycle broke up last week's city council meeting. Dennis parked his vehicle behind city hall and when he left the meeting, he found his passage blocked by aldermen's cars. Peter Verral, the other reporter, bravely went up to the council chambers, stepped staunchly to the door and knocked without hesitation. he told them of the predicament and five minutes later, every alderman at the meeting came out and moved his car to allow the motorcycle to pass.

The directors of the Granby Zoological Gardens have announced that the birth of a baby hippopotamus arrived last week, the baby and parents are doing well. baby now weighs 300 pounds. this is the third hippo to be born to Sirene, the mother, while in captivity, at the Granby Zoo. Ken Herring of Lennoxville says any group interested in seeing his slides of the Queen Mary's last voyage should contact him either at the Lennoxville Town Hall or at his home. if money is taken for admission it will all be returned to charitable organizations. local service clubs are also welcome to the use of the slides. The Lennoxville Players' production of Iolanthe was not only an artistic success, it was a financial one as well. Some $1200 was netted for Lennoxville Optimist Club work. On March 14 the residents of Scotstown were surprised when entering the local post office to find that workmen during the night had removed the old boxes and replaced them with new aluminum boxes.

To study Viet war

The implications of the war in Vietnam will be the subject of a two-day seminar to be held at the Bishop's University Centennial Theatre this weekend.

The main speaker at the meeting will be John Powell, a former member of the External Affairs Department at Ottawa who is currently a member of the International Control Commission.

He will speak on the American involvement in the war and its effects on the country. His talk will be accompanied ed by a film prepared by the Vietnam National Liberation Front which will be shown in the theatre.

The teach-in was organized by a group of Bishop's students who are opposed to the war.

Langlais in addressing the Court said the accused was given a suspended sentence last November in Sherbrooke Sessions Court when he appeared on similar charges.

The total value of the articles taken was $610.

The case of Jean-Paul Dube, accused of fraud, began yesterday in Sherbrooke Sessions Court and was postponed until April 18.

The accused, vice-president of the Bain Sauna Finlandais Inc along with the company's president, Onil Lambert, are charged with illegally shipping 32 sauna baths to Drummondville without recording the shipment or sale.

The baths are valued at $39 each. Testimony given yesterday was postponed until the court could subpoena an accountant who audited the books shortly after the incident happened on Jan. 25, 1965.

Jocelyn Boucher, 20, and Francis Rouillard, 21, both of Sherbrooke, were arraigned before Judge Benoit Turmel in Court of Sessions yesterday on charges of breaking and entering and theft.

The two accused pleaded guilty and will be sentenced next Thursday. Boucher and Rouillard admitted stealing $150 from a Sherbrooke store, Fernand Valliere Grocery. The incident took place on March 19.

The $150 total was made up of 10 cartons of cigarettes and an additional 133 separate packages of cigarettes.

Valerie Nolet, a 22-year-old Thetford Mines woman was given the benefit of a doubt by Judge Benoit Turmel in Sherbrooke Sessions Court yesterday when the accused was acquitted of a hit and run charge.

On Jan. 21, in Disraeli, Miss Nolet struck a parked car owned by Richard Leblanc of Disraeli, got out of her car, inspected the victim's automobile and not seeing any damage, returned to her car and drove away. Damages to the car cost $108 to repair.

Urges carrying transplant cards

Would you be willing to carry a card stating in case of a serious or fatal accident, your eyes or kidneys or heart may be removed and used for a transplant?

Gerard Lagace, 443 7th Avenue North, the father of Yves Lagace, a young man whose life was saved by a kidney transplant, is trying to sell this project to the government.

He said yesterday people cannot give their eyes or kidneys after an accident because they are usually unconscious and can't sign permission to a legal form which is necessary. This card people will carry would identify the person and have his or her signature on it stating their eyes, etc., may be used. Mr. Lagace will see Raynald

Another minister who has set a definite date for his visit to Sherbrooke is Industry Minister Robert Winters, who will be at the Reform Club Tuesday evening, March 26 at eight o'clock. His visit is subject to cancellation if the House of Commons does not wind up its business by Monday night.

According to Ottawa reports parliament should adjourn late Friday until late in April, at which time the newly-elected Liberal leader may take over his duties as Prime Minister.

AYER'S CLIFF — (Special)— Congratulations are being extended to Mr. and Mrs. A. L. (Bert) Mosher, who are celebrating their 61st wedding anniversary tomorrow.

Frechette and Mayor Armand Nadeau on Monday to ask for their support of the project. Mr. Lagace got the idea from an article he read in a Los Angeles, California, newspaper. People in Los Angeles carry cards stating their hearts may be removed in case of a serious accident.

Mr. Lagace first brought the subject to MP Maurice Allard's attention, as well as Mr. Frechette's, the MLA. But then Mr. Frechette was involved in a car accident and Mr. Allard resigned so he waited.

Now he is ready to move again and he hopes to make this project provincial-wide. Asked about Yves, Mr. Lagace said he is still using the kidney he received and it is being helped by a serum.

He is living in an apartment in Montreal suburb, Ville Laval, and he receives treatment from his physicians at the Royal Victoria Hospital regularly.

Cabinets members plan visits

Three, and possibly four, federal cabinet ministers seeking the national leadership of the Liberal party, are expected to visit the Sherbrooke area during the next week in an effort to round up delegate support at the party's leadership convention which opens in Ottawa April 4.

Opening the parade will be Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp who will meet regional delegates at the Sherbrooke Reform Club on Sunday afternoon at three o'clock.

His visit is expected to be brief unless he wants to hold a joint appearance with Transport Minister Hellyer who has made arrangements to meet the delegates at the same place at five o'clock the same afternoon.

No effort to control waste in government

In his final effort to get his income tax increase proposals through the House of Commons, Finance Minister Sharp made much of the determination of the Government to effect stringent economies in federal operations

But the question that worries the taxpayer is: How serious is the Government in its professions that it wants to cut back spending and save the taxpayer money?

If one is to accept recent statements by Auditor-General Maxwell Henderson the urge for economy does not run very deep.

During his recent appearance before the Commons public accounts committee, Mr. Henderson declared that his department had checked out the recommendations contained in the Glassco royal commission report on government organization in 32 departments and found 450 examples of waste.

Two years later, at least 73 per cent of them still existed.

The auditor-general said his report on wastage had never been studied by the public accounts committee and that the government itself had done nothing about them.

The committee itself has brought in 64 suggestions for reducing government expenditures and improving accounting methods, but only eight have been accepted and acted upon by the administration, while one was withdrawn, leaving 55 not acted upon.

With the apparent disinterest of the cabinet in really eliminating waste it is not surprising that Finance Minister Sharp had so much trouble getting his tax legislation through Parliament.

The best indication that there's intelligent life elsewhere in the universe is that its representatives are bypassing earth exploration in these troublesome times.

Grim outlook on taxes

The conditions surrounding the $40,000,000 loan which Quebec province managed to arrange this week through a consortium of Canadian and European banking houses offers a grim indication of what the taxpayers may expect when Finance Minister Dozois presents his budget in the Legislative Assembly later this month.

Interest charges for the new loan are fixed at somewhat above 7 1/2 per cent, with the provision that the rate may be renegotiated at the end of six months, an obvious indication that the bankers are expecting an even higher money rate in the future, a prospect supported by the condition that the lenders have the right to demand the repayment of 10 per cent of the capital each half year.

In the light of world monetary conditions, the stiff terms enacted for this relatively temporary loan may have no reflection on the financial position of the province—borrowers elsewhere may be subject to equally onerous conditions.

But they do serve as a warning that no government can finance its future current operations by extensive borrowing.

Interest costs and repayment terms on new loans will be too tough on the provincial treasury.

This leaves sharp tax increases as the only way in which the province — or any other government for that matter — can pay its bills and the prospects are that Quebec residents will learn this in the days ahead.

That is, unless the government can find effective means of cutting down its outlays.

Some folk who think of themselves as executive timber are considered dead wood by others.

TODAY in history

By THE CANADIAN PRESS March 22, 1968

Second World War: The cruiser Oreto, first of three commerce raiders built for the Confederate States of America, sailed from Liverpool 104 years ago—in 1862. Despite the United States Navy's success in closing Confederate ports, these three ships effectively ended U.S. merchant trade. The Alabama captured 68 ships during a 22-month cruise without once entering a Confederate port. After the war, U.S. took legal action against Britain and collected $15,500,000 from arbitration.

1933—Germany's Reichstag granted dictatorial powers to Hitler. 1952—Tornadoes killed 208 in Arkansas, Missouri and Tennessee. First World War: Fifty years ago today—in 1918—the Germans pressed the offensive on the Western Front, capturing Tergnier, Le Verquier and Villers Faucon; German transport ship Frankland was destroyed by a mine; British forces in Palestine cross the River Jordan.

The PRAYER FOR TODAY FROM The Upper Room: He said unto Jesus, Lord, remember me when thou comest into thy kingdom. PRAYER: Our Father in heaven, help each of us to accept Thy great forgiveness. Help us not to wait until death approaches to accept Christ into our hearts. May we strive to live our lives in accordance with Thy will and in Christ's spirit. Amen.

"Oh, for heaven's sake — just because you have a mouthful of gold fillings!"

French Canada says:

Quebec reaction is the unknown in Trudeau's bid for PM's job

Montreal Le Devoir—As the trend in the race for Mr. Pearson's successor becomes clearer, one candidate more than all the others continues to hold the attention of observers. He is, you will have guessed, Pierre Elliott Trudeau.

In English Canada, Mr. Trudeau's candidacy continues to receive an extremely favorable reception. It is too soon to predict the number of votes the justice minister will collect among delegates from provinces other than Quebec. Right now it can be foreseen that this support, from the first ballot, will be far from negligible and it could be enlarged rapidly afterwards.

The closer April comes, the greater the unknown aspect of the Trudeau candidacy is thrown into relief. This unknown is the reaction of Quebec toward the candidacy of the justice minister.

For example, there are, in addition to Mr. Trudeau, six French-Canadian Quebec ministers in the Pearson cabinet. Of these six ministers only one, up to now, supports Mr. Trudeau: That is Mr. Marchand. Messrs. Cadieux, Cote and Chretien already have chosen other candidates. Two other ministers, Messrs. Sauve and Pepin, have not yet declared themselves; the simple fact that they have remained cautious reveals that they are not very enthusiastic to the idea of having to support Mr. Trudeau.

Quebec especially wavers over what his candidacy represents... over the possibility of a political situation where Quebec would be called on to negotiate with a Quebecer, who received his main support from the rest of the country, very difficult questions involving the two communities that form Canada.

Mr. Trudeau probably wanted... to solicit the chance to be able to offer directly to the people of Quebec a clear decisive choice in favor of the political concept he advocates.

We personally consider that Mr. Trudeau, in interpreting as he does the reality of Quebec, seriously deceives himself and underestimates the historical importance of certain forces he has a tendency to reject with the back of his hand. —Claude Ryan (March 14)

Montreal La Presse—In giving the new Canadian Film Development Corp. a grant of $10,000,000, the federal government is aiming at stimulating the production of feature-length Canadian films.

While sparing the person of Georges-Emile Lapalme, president of the new body, Daniel Johnson has seen in this federal initiative no less than a further provocation with regard to Quebec. As a popular art, an instrument of culture if not always of education, the premier thinks films should not depend on the unilateral decisions of Ottawa. It is one more example, therefore, of a snag in the written and unwritten formalities which should govern relations between Ottawa and Quebec.

During the period when he acted as Quebec cultural affairs minister, did Mr. Lapalme believe that the cinema belonged in the federal sphere?

Editorial viewpoints from the French-language press, prepared by The Canadian Press.

An interesting question, but one that is really theoretical today, Mr. Lesage understood it properly when he criticized Mr. Johnson for having stayed still instead of hastening to occupy the territory before the federal government spread its tentacles into it. The argument hits home.

In most countries government aid for feature-length films occurred after the cinema industry had organized itself. In Canada, the order of sequence has been reversed: Millions from the government will go to help lift an extremely young cinema which, despite praiseworthy efforts, has not succeeded in asserting itself on theatre-goers in a sustained way.

The public forms a great jury. It votes at the box-offices of theatres by buying a seat. In this way it is an acting critic. And often, not always, a very just critic. —Guy Cormier (March 16)

Ottawa Le Droit—Except for the silly generosity toward racehorse breeders, it is difficult to criticize the budget handed down by Ontario Provincial Treasurer Charles MacNaughton. This budget which raises provincial taxes by $105,000,000 is only the logical ransom for more and more numerous service taxpayers demand from the public authority.

One can only condemn, however, the forecast generosity with regard to racehorse breeders. To accord to them in subsidies $1,800,000 of the $2,500,000 that will be yielded by the increase in the tax on pari-mutuels is an aberration against which all taxpayers ought to protest with stern letters to Mr. MacNaughton, to Premier Robarts and to every member of the legislature. Horse racing is certainly a pleasant diversion and the interest one takes in it is especially worthy since the horses seen are healthy and good thoroughbreds, but they remain a luxury below all the other necessities for the welfare of the population.

Still more, they even ruin certain families. In a puritan province where certain people still find the inoffensive bingo nights immoral, to allocate nearly $2,000,000 of a tax increase to a luxury entertainment is an immeasurable stupidity. —Marcel Gingras (March 14)

Granby La Voix de l'Est—It is in the interest of the provinces to participate in the establishment of an office of costs, prices and wage control to check inflationary pressures. Without their contribution... such an office would not be able to play an effective role.

On the other hand, it is evident that in the present economic context the country will not be able to regain its stability and a steady tempo of expansion if it doesn't restrain rising prices and costs. To get out of this vicious circle, cooperation is therefore necessary at all levels—federal, provincial, employer and union.

Inflation now reaches all strata of society. It is true that Canada isn't the only country at grips with inflation. This situation also exists elsewhere in the world. But that isn't a reason for not acting. The application of a policy of control wherever inflation exerts its havoc can be beneficial to the whole world. —Roland Gagne (March 14)

Quebec Le Soleil—The province of Quebec will have its police commission. It will be a body with extensive powers, according to explanations given by the minister of justice, Hon. Jean Jacques Bertrand.

A quick reading of the bill presented to the legislative assembly shows that the government finally is acting on a great number of demands in recent years for such a measure and for a reform of our whole police system. (March 16)

Bygone days

10 YEARS AGO

The Red Cross Campaign in Lennoxville has reached 60 per cent of its $2,500 objective.

Canvassers who have not as yet turned their cards into campaign headquarters, located in the Montgomery Block, are urged to complete their canvassing and turn in their cards and file their receipts as soon as possible.

Some people in outlying districts will not be called on and Campaign chairman J. S. Hamilton has asked those wishing to make a donation to do so by forwarding their donations to the Chairman, Lennoxville Red Cross Campaign, P.O. Box 218, Lennoxville.

The co-operation of all concerned is required to ensure success of the campaign.

A receipt will be mailed for income tax purposes.

Chairman Hamilton reports that so far, the campaign has been a success and he said he hopes to see it as a 100 per cent success.

15 YEARS AGO

An executive meeting of the Sherbrooke Home and School Association was held recently in Mitchell School with the president, G. Banks, in the chair.

H. McRae reported on the recent regional council meeting, held in Lennoxville at which E. G. Pride was the guest speaker.

It was decided to form a regional council and notice of a further meeting will be given shortly.

Mrs. George Smith and Fred Simpson were appointed delegates to the annual Quebec Federation convention in Montreal and a sum of money was voted to defray expenses.

The question of awarding prizes to pupils of Mitchell and East Ward Schools was discussed and it was decided that for this year a prize would be awarded in each class for general proficiency, the cost to be defrayed by the receipts from the dance to be held April 18 in the High School.

20 YEARS AGO

Trudeau puts his odds on progress

By CARMAN CUMMING

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's last bachelor prime minister had a taste for bric-a-brac and fake ruins.

Pierre Elliott Trudeau, who could be the next bachelor prime minister, has a taste for sports cars, beautiful women and casual clothes.

The contrasts, only two decades after Mackenzie King, could be almost too much for staid old Ottawa.

But the Trudeau flashness is only one side of the man.

Like King, the 46-year-old justice minister is not an easy man to define, although the superficial facts are well enough known after his phenomenal burst into prominence this year.

Mr. Trudeau, in a typically casual way, declines to hang labels on himself, leaving that to others.

He is wealthy, but dismisses questions on the subject with the question: "How rich is rich?"

He is a non-conformist and a "man of the left," although not a doctrinaire leftist. "I'd rather like to take a chance with progress than to take a chance with conservatism."

ONCE BLACKLISTED

His intellectual qualifications are considerable. He was known as an outstanding professor of constitutional law and as a writer of social and political matters before he entered politics less than three years ago.

He studied abroad, at Harvard, the University of Paris, and the London School of Economics, and has travelled widely, usually to places where things were happening.

He was in China during the 1949 revolution, visited Russia during the Stalinist years, and was once arrested by the Arabs as an Israeli spy.

For a time in the 1950s his travels earned him a blacklisting from the American state department. He says he had himself quickly and easily removed from the list.

He likes skiing and canoeing and has a judo brown belt. He has dabbled in yoga.

His face—the lean features, coolly detached eyes and Mark Antony haircut—has become in a few weeks one of the best known in Canada.

His style of speaking is definitive: soft-spoken and engagingly frank, with a dislike for cant and pomposity and a quick rejection of the banal.

ATTIRE OFFENDS SOME

When he announced his candidacy for the Liberal leadership Feb. 16, he said he had made up his mind only the night before.

And he suggested that the whole Trudeau boom had started in the subconscious mind of the press, as a "huge practical joke on the Liberal party."

His style of living is even better known — the powder-blue Mercedes, Laurentian ski trips, the sandals and silk ascots and the long-haired and mini-skirted companions.

His dress has caused some official Ottawa snuffing. Former prime minister John Diefenbaker once lectured him in the Commons for improper attire.

When he was sworn in as a cabinet minister last April, Prime Minister Pearson raised a chuckle by calling attention to the fact that he was wearing a tie. "And shoes," a reporter added.

His political ideas are equally well known. The bibliography of his articles, essays and books covers four pages.

Yet he remains something of an enigma to official Ottawa, and even more of an enigma to the more than 2,500 Liberal delegates who will pick their new leader, and the next prime minister, April 8.

PIERRE E. TRUDEAU

Mr. Trudeau says his philosophy has been one of rowing against the current.

Canada must "throw out the thousand prejudices with which the past burdens the present," he has said. It must cast down the totems and break the taboos.

Before entering politics he had a reputation as a defender of the underdog, both in court and in his little, idiosyncratic magazine, Cite Libre, which opposed the Duplessis regime.

His one-year career as justice minister has been linked with social reform—not all of his own making—liberalizing laws on divorce, birth control, abortion and homosexuality. "The state has no place in the bedrooms of the nation," became one of his most widely-quoted comments.

But while tearing down totems, his ideas have not all been negative. At times, particularly on Canadian federalism, he has sounded almost visionary.

"Canadian federalism is an experiment of major proportions; it could become a brilliant prototype for the moulding of tomorrow's civilization."

CLASH OVER QUEBEC

His role as a spokesman for federalism at the February constitutional conference brought him into head-on conflict with Quebec separatists and its Union Nationale government.

It's a church service with a modern tone

MANSONVILLE — (Special) — The youth of the United Church at Mansonville led the congregation in worship March 17 at 11 a.m.

The young people did their singing and reading from the choir loft with the assist of amplifiers and loud speakers.

The service began in the traditional manner with a call to worship, processional hymn and prayer of Invocation led by Rev. Edwin J. McDonald. Lawlor, on hum-a-tunes; Janet and Brenda Jewett and Nancy Knowlton, on maracas; and hum-a-tunes; Rev. McDonald played the electric guitar;

The overhead projector and the slide projector were used throughout the service along with the organ, two electric guitars, a melodia, two sets of maracas, claves, bongos and a full set of drums together with the singing and Biblical readings by the young people. This produced a service of worship that was modern yet vividly portrayed a message of Jesus Christ.

Pink and blue shower is held at Mansonville

The service of the young people is becoming a tradition at Christmas time and occasionally throughout the year. With the completion of the renovations in the church basement, new family programs will be announced soon.

The New Testament lesson was part of the resurrection good news from the Gospel according to St. Luke. After the reading, the youth sang the Hymn of Resurrection. An anthem based on Psalm 8 to the tune of Streets of Laredo was well received.

Card party is held

MANSONVILLE — Mrs. Wilson Cote entertained 20 friends and relatives on Mar. 6 at a pink and blue shower for her sister-in-law, Mrs. Arthur Guibault.

With announcements, the receiving of the offering and dedication, the hymn sung at this time was As Comes the Breath of Spring, the congregation was prepared for the sermon.

The sermon was a portrayal of Christian rebirth, and the need to come into the church institution. The overhead slide projectors demonstrated the sermon.

A successful card party was held in the United Church Hall on March 13 when bridge was played at two tables and 500 at 16 tables.

The guest of honor was lured to the home under the pretext of baby sitting for Mrs. Cote to go to the doctor.

Much to Mrs. Guibault's surprise, she was greeted by assembled friends as well as a number of relatives.

After the numerous gifts were opened Mrs. Cote served buffet refreshments. The table, covered with a pink cloth, was centered with the shower cake, decorated in pink and blue.

Prize winners included Mrs. Irene Jackson, first in bridge and four 500 winners, Mrs. Greg Lambourne, Mrs. Gordon Westover, Mrs. Edward Salls, and Raymond Streeter. About fifteen other persons won door prizes.

Montreal policewomen squad take on tough assignment

MONTREAL (CP) — A squad of 11 Montreal policewomen has what many of their male colleagues on the force consider the toughest police assignment — investigating families afflicted with poverty, violence and abject hopelessness.

Each member of the juvenile aid bureau averages 10 emergency calls a day to families in need, many involving battered children, missing persons and teen-age sexual offenders.

Often they have to separate deprived children from their families and place them in foster homes—a duty the whole squad agrees is the worst part of their job.

Policewoman Juliette Ruest kept the first time she made an arrest 20 years ago. She had to separate from his mother a little boy the same age as her own.

Now, hundreds of arrests later, Ruest doesn't cry any more. But she says "I guess we all cried once."

"It's hard to take a child away from his parents even if we know those parents are bad for him," Policewoman Jacqueline Pigeon says.

"We think of him as our kid. And we know that later in life he will be a marked child because he was placed in a foster home."

CHILD SUFFERS ABUSE

Sgt. Claire Chabot, also on the squad, talks of a recent and fairly routine case—a pre-school child whose mother refused to feed her, locked her in closets and drawers, burned her with cigarettes and made her eat soap.

The mother was declared mentally ill and the father was sent to jail. Many cases are as extreme, or worse.

"We can never get used to it," says Policewoman Ruest. "We can get used to prostitution and other things—but not that."

The policewomen work in pairs, visiting families in unmarked police cars and patiently explaining to mothers that they must take care of their children.

In addition to routine calls, they check on pornographic literature circulated in Montreal, investigate student absences from the Catholic school board, and keep their eyes peeled in the city's impoverished "troubled spots" for juvenile offenders.

The Montreal police force includes 17 women, all of them hired 20 years ago to work in the juvenile aid bureau.

Six have moved to other departments, including pretty brunette Regina Cloutier, the lone female member of the morality squad.

ACT AS DECOY

The widow of Sgt. Jean Robitoux, who also worked with the morality squad, Policewoman Cloutier sometimes poses as a decoy prostitute.

She has had some close calls on these assignments. Once she was faced with jealous prostitutes who wanted to beat her up because they thought she was stealing their business.

Gambiers behave like gentlemen and prostitutes swear from habit, says the quiet-spoken mother of a six-year-old girl.

Humpty-Dumpty's the hero

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Humpty Dumpty is helping take the fear out of hospitals for children going into the War Memorial Children's Hospital.

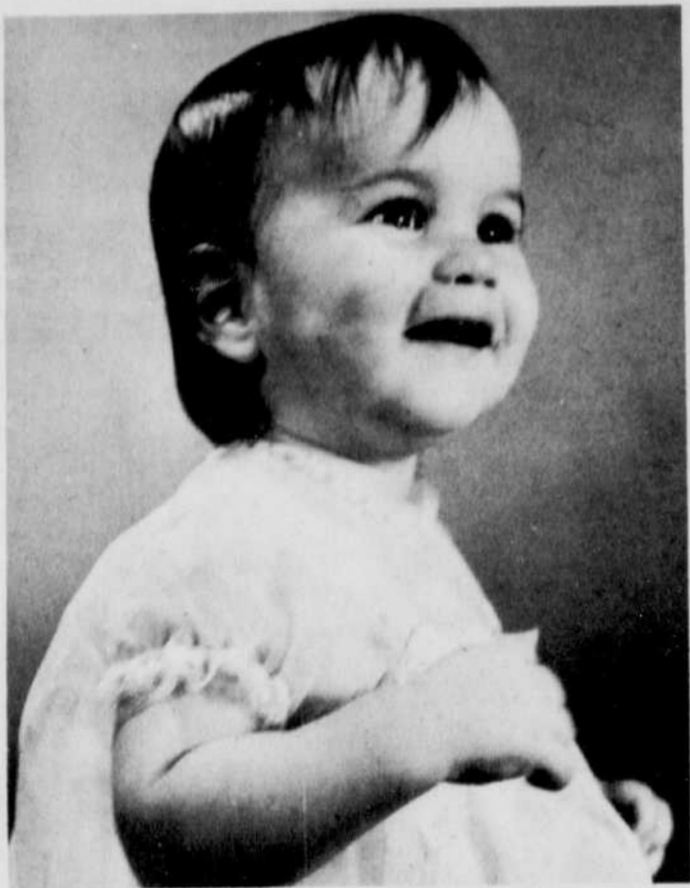

He's the hero of a coloring book given to children before their stay. The cheerful pictures and rhymed couplets explain the hospital from admission to go-home day.

"The bell on the bed is for you to ring, to tell the nurse what you want her to bring."

It explains weighing, temperature taking, mealtime, x-rays, family visits.

An article in the March issue of The Canadian Nurse says the book began as a research project for 14 students at the School of Nursing, Victoria Hospital, in London. After the students had some experience with children in hospital, they were told to design a coloring book that would help overcome a child's anxieties, and perhaps help his parents prepare him for his experience.

The students worked for four weeks and produced a book tailored for the War Memorial hospital that impressed the hospital's advisory council so much they had 8,000 copies printed.

Fashion Tips

For Pure Amusement

Jewelry for pure amusement, inspired by the tattoo look, can be found in a Garden of Eden serpent to twist around the legs and arms. Knuckle-duster rings that can be worn as singles or together as the total finger ring; Camulet necklaces of chain mail mesh, giant pendants and epaulettes will be the adornment.

Jabot Gives Soft Touch

After several seasons of strictly tailored togs, fashion pacesetters are turning toward a softer, more feminine look. One of the popular soft touches is the jabot, which you'll be seeing on blouses, daytime dresses and evening wear. In case you've forgotten, the jabot is a falling ruffle, cascade, or other arrangement of lace or embroidery, worn at the front of the waist or the neck.

Moth Control

In the battle against moths, it is vital to clean and disinfect clothes closets thoroughly. When dry, fill in cracks and apply thin coats of fresh, white shellac to seal the closet's surface.

FASHIONS IN COATS — New style coats in British wools by Aquascutum of London have the model on left wearing an easy fitting and finely tailored garment with seaming detail. Double breasted, with half belt, it is shown here in a wool mixture coating available in a range of colors. Next is a tent coat, ideal for cold days, in a wool mixture tweed. It buttons to the neck and has four pocket flaps. The boldly checked coat, available in both a wool mixture and all-wool fabrics, can be worn with equal confidence in town or country. It has a full swirling back and stand-up collar.

For and about Women

Says P. M.

More women on new CBC, CRTC boards

OTTAWA (CP) — Women will be well represented on the new CBC and Canadian Radio-Television Commission boards soon to be announced, Prime Minister Pearson promised Tuesday.

Flanked by several of his cabinet ministers, Mr. Pearson discussed a potpourri of resolutions presented to the government by the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs. "When the new CBC and CRTC boards come out in a day or two, you'll find a higher percentage of women than ever before," the prime minister said.

All the credit for more women on the boards went to State Secretary Judy LaMarsh.

DREW CHUCKLE

He got a chuckle from the women delegates and Miss

LaMarsh, seated beside him, when he said: "The state secretary makes herself so obnoxious at cabinet about that, we do it just to get rid of her."

The federation in its brief had complained that few women were appointed deputy ministers and assistant deputy ministers in the federal civil service.

Miss LaMarsh said women have not joined the public service in numbers except in a clerical capacity. Women who had prepared themselves as specialists had stayed in private work.

Mr. Pearson said a far-reaching examination of the whole tax structure has been going on for some time and changes will be made.

The federation had asked for an increase in the basic federal income tax exemptions for single persons maintaining a dwelling.

Mr. Pearson said the $500 exemption would cost the federal and provincial governments $400,000,000 a year. "At this point $400,000,000 seems an awful lot of money," he said ruefully.

The prime minister said care had to be taken to avoid duplication of work in studies of women in the labor force.

The federation urged in its brief that the Economic Council of Canada make a study of the social, business and industrial attitudes affecting women's motivation in education and employment.

It also asked the government to devise a correctional plan for women in federal prisons based on a study of their needs.

The study and plan should precede decisions about the site, design, program and staff for any new federal institution for women.

Solicitor-General Pennell said such a study is being done. He hoped a plan for a new institution would be presented this week.

The government had just got property in Saskatchewan for a medical and psychiatric centre.

Ham and pineapple hors d'oeuvres

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food Editor

Hors d'oeuvres, appetizers, tidbits — call them what you will — are very pleasant before dinner. They can be as simple as raw vegetables in a bowl of ice. Celery, radishes, cucumber sticks, and finely sliced raw turnip are some. Olives, of course.

Canned chickpeas make delicious and somewhat unusual hors d'oeuvres. Make a marinade of oil and lemon juice, garlic, salt and pepper. Worcester sauce and a drop of cayenne pepper. Marinate for several hours before eating.

Small canned mushrooms, marinated in oil and vinegar and spiced, and served with food picks are always welcome.

Combine chopped cooked ham and crushed pineapple in pastry shells for a de luxe appetizer.

HAM AND PINEAPPLE SAVORIES

Pastry (basis 1 cup flour)
1 (8½-oz.) can crushed pineapple

Serve ham and pineapple savories.

2 tablespoons butter
½ teaspoon curry powder
2 tablespoons finely chopped green onion
¼ cup finely chopped celery
1 cup finely chopped cooked ham
½ teaspoon dry mustard
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
Roll pastry ⅛-inch thick; fit into 24 (2-inch) tart pans.

Drain pineapple. Heat butter with curry powder until bubbly. Add onion, celery and ham, cooking a few minutes until vegetables soften. Remove from heat and stir in mustard, mayonnaise and pineapple. Spoon into pastry-lined shells. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees) 10 to 15 minutes until crisp. Two dozen. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Traditional Italian meat dish compares with Canada's barbecue

TORONTO (CP) — A Sardinian cook would apparently feel at home in Canada's bush or at a backyard barbecue.

On that island off Italy's west coast, one typical, traditional dish is meat roasted in an outdoor brick oven or at an open fire.

When shepherds prepare a roast to be cooked before an open fire, they smear it with salt which dries and falls off during the cooking. They baste it with melted lard while it roasts, but use no seasoning.

Clemente Pasqualini says roasts are never highly seasoned. As is done in outdoor cooking in Canada, they are sometimes roasted on a bed or a spit of aromatic wood that lends some flavor to the meat. Canadians might use maple or hickory or fruitwoods.

Pasqualini is a chef in a hotel in Cagliari on the southern tip of Sardinia. He was in Canada for the Sardinian tourist bureau, to prepare the food for publicity parties in Montreal and Toronto.

Another meat dish that can be simply prepared calls for cubed lamb and onions browned in olive oil. You add one beaten egg per person, and when the eggs are cooked, serve with lemon juice.

SHAPE DOUGHS

Mr. Pasqualini says tradition also has a hand in the way baking is done. Several kinds of dough are given shapes and patterns of animals, faces, monsters. He says he thinks the custom dates back centuries to the times of the ancient gods.

One type of bread is traditionally baked in such shapes. All the breads on the island are made with hard wheat, and there is another type, a flat, beige cracker-like variety that is called music paper because that's what it looked like to someone.

Some pasta is given a pattern in much the way that butter balls are. Balls of the dough are rolled on carved wood, then cooked briefly in boiling water like any other pasta.

One sauce for it calls for chopped onion cooked yellow in olive oil, tomatoes and salt added, then sausages, cut in small pieces. Serve it on the pasta with parmesan cheese.

FILL WITH CHEESE

An almond paste dessert called pichittus is made of sweet almonds boiled and peeled then mashed with sugar—40 per cent sugar to 60 per cent almonds. The paste is sculpted into whatever shape amuses the cook, then baked golden.

Homes to be easy to buy

The Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce, continuing their efforts in the field of urban renewal, have studied and adopted a supplementary section to a brief handed City Council Sept. 11, 1967.

This brief dealt specifically with urban renewal and public housing.

The public housing section is part of a plan to facilitate the acquiring of homes for families of low income and to help defray the costs of these houses by partial subsidization.

Marc Gagnon, a Sherbrooke engineer and director of the Chamber, has been named to participate with a Drummondville Chamber committee on the problem of pollution of the St. Francis River.

The Drummondville Chamber has asked all member chambers of cities and towns along the river to join in the study.

Studying the project of a proposed ultra-modern tourist centre in the heart of Mount Orford Provincial Park, known as Club Mediterranean, the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce has decided to continue forcing the issue by addressing their ideas directly to the provincial Minister of Tourism.

The Chamber, at its meeting Monday, adopted a resolution to write to Gabriel Loubier, provincial Minister of Tourism, telling him about the advantages of such a project for the entire region and to ask him to try and make this project a reality.

MONTREAL (CP) — Agriculture department quotations:

Skim milk powder: Spray process No. 1 in bags 18-22; roller process No. 1 in bags 18½-19½; feed 14-14½; butter milk powder 14-14½; whey powder 6¼-6½ cents.

breaking up again as early as 1 a.m. Mr. McDonald warned if there was rain or snow today it could bring more ice from East Angus, which he considered to be the most dangerous area, and also from the Salmon and Magog Rivers which flow into the St. Francis.

He added that rain in Sherbrooke would also raise the St. Francis. It was raining hard in Bromptonville from 6 to 11 p.m. last night, but then dropped off to a drizzle.

The water that crept up to the edge of the CNR railroad tracks yesterday afternoon was about five inches deep. Both a freight and a passenger train pulled into the station yesterday evening without a hitch.

Station agent J. L. Bessett had stressed during the afternoon that if flood waters hit the town all trains would be halted before they reached Bromptonville. CNR work crews kept a watchful eye on the tracks throughout the night.

During the afternoon little knots of people grouped together on the Windsor Street bridge gazing down at the massive chunks of ice, sometimes eight feet high, that had jack-knifed together.

Looking eastward up the river the Kruger company dynamite crew could be seen as little black dots on the ice about 3,000 feet away.

The crew began dynamiting the ice in an effort to break it up about 11 a.m. yesterday. The ice varied from about 18 to 30 inches thick.

By mid-afternoon Pierre Larivee, an explosives expert with Canadian Industries Limited, explained the men were having difficulty blasting because little ice crystals had formed from the bottom layer of ice to the river bed.

The men were floating the sticks of dynamite under the ice. But by 4 p.m., it appeared that it would be a long and wearisome job.

Then at five p.m., on the suggestion of Mr. Larivee, the dynamite charges were jammed into the ice with sticks, and the charges were distributed closer together.

This blast encouraged the dynamite team and a later blast at 8 p.m. tore away a 1,000 foot chunk of ice near the dam by Kruger Pulp and Paper Limited.

Mr. McDonald said the dynamite crew was equipped with walkie-talkies in case a blast started to break up the ice. At times watching the crew at work yesterday afternoon, it appeared that they were only 15 to 20 feet away from the open, black, and fast-flowing water that roared over the dam about 400 yards from where they were dynamiting.

QUEBEC SCENE:

Council studies abolition

QUEBEC — (CP) — The legislative council, only remaining provincial upper house in Canada, rocked with debate Thursday over its possible abolition.

George Marler, Liberal opposition leader in the council, said it would be "a grave error" if the government abolished the existing council and replaced it with a corporatist body.

And Edouard Asselin, Union Nationale government leader in the upper house, said: "I would not be prepared to cooperate in a measure aimed at abolishing the legislative council, but I would be ready to consider a law reforming its structure and jurisdiction."

Premier Daniel Johnson's government pledged to reform Quebec's parliamentary institutions in the throne speech opening the legislature session in February.

New minister

QUEBEC — (CP) — Premier Daniel Johnson Thursday announced that Jean-Marie Morin, 39-year-old MLA, has been named minister without portfolio charged with administering the France-Quebec youth office in the province.

Mr. Morin's appointment brings to 25 the number of ministers in Mr. Johnson's cabinet. This is nearly half the Union Nationale deputation in the legislative assembly to which 56 UN MLAs were elected in the June, 1966, general election.

Budget March 27

QUEBEC — (CP) — Premier Daniel Johnson said Thursday night the legislature will probably adjourn April 5 - 23 for Eastern vacation.

He told reporters that the Union Nationale government's second budget since coming to power in 1966 may be presented next Wednesday.

The premier said the government will try to introduce spending estimates for the 1968 - 69 fiscal year March 27 and, if possible, will present the budget at the same time.

Flays Trudeau

MONTREAL — (CP) — Rene Lagarde, former secretary of the Quebec wing of the federal Liberal party, accuses Manpower Minister Marchand and Justice Minister Trudeau — he calls them "newly converted Liberals — of using the party as a "stepping stone for their unbounded ambitions."

He makes his accusation in a 95-page booklet entitled "On a fourre la vieille garde" — The Old Guard Was Conned.

Mr. Lagarde describes the booklet, written in French, as "an indictment of these power-hungry playboys who have used the Liberal party stepping-stone."

Mediator named

QUEBEC — (CP) — A mediator has been named in the contract dispute between the Quebec government and 30,000 provincial civil servants, Marcel Masse, minister without portfolio who handles civil service matters, said Thursday.

The minister, speaking in the legislative assembly, did not disclose the name of the mediator.

Demands ouster

QUEBEC — (CP) — Jean-Paul Lefebvre L. - Ahuntsic said Thursday that Rene Levesque and Francois Aquin should not continue to represent their ridings in the legislature because they have both quit the Quebec Liberal party.

Speaking in the legislative assembly during debate on the speech from the throne, Mr. Lefebvre said the two members' change of affiliation has not been approved by their respective ridings.

Financial report from Greenshields Ltd.

Provided that there is no spread of hostilities in the East, no new barriers to free trade or deterioration in general world economic conditions, it is expected that 1968 may be somewhat better than 1967, noted A. L. Penhale, Chairman, and W. W. Oughtred, President, in the 1967 pamphlet annual report of Asbestos Corp. Ltd. The longer term outlook remains good. As reported earlier, net income of $4,120,159 ($1.50 per common share) for 1967 was down from $5,135,055 ($1.93 a share) for 1966.

The company, Zeller's Limited, announced that it plans a four for one stock split and has voted to raise the dividend rate on the present common shares to $0.22 quarterly from 0.17½. The increased dividend is payable able May 1 on record April 1 and it was stated by the company that the new dividend will amount to 5½c.

Net earnings for the year ended Jan. 27-68 of Oshawa Wholesale were 86c per share versus 61c. Sales were $237,440,807 against $180,312,823. Shares earnings are based on 5,503,539 common and Class A shares outstanding versus 4,961,624 a year ago.

Fraser Companies Limited, 1967 net was 32c per share versus $1.51. Sales were $70,681,000 against $72,411,920. The share earnings decline was attributed to continued start-up difficulties at the Newcastle, N.B. kraft pulp mill and to adverse price and market conditions for pulp paper and paper-board.

Country notebook

By WALKER RILEY
Macdonald College

Paying adult farmers to go back to school sounds, at first thought like a bit of a joke. But it is proving to be a highly successful venture.

For the past month, at Bury, in Compton County, 60 men have been attending classes faithfully for five hours a day, five days a week. Financed by the Department of Manpower, it is a co-operative arrangement between that department, the Quebec department of Agriculture, and the regional school board. The regional Director for Adult Education, Stan Rowe, is the man who, in this instance, put the pieces together.

To my knowledge, this is the only English-language group organized so far. But there were several in French during the past winter. There is little doubt, based on this year's success, there will be more in the months ahead. A petition to the local regional Director of Adult Education starts the ball rolling.

It is a no-nonsense group, at Bury. They may be receiving a bit of financial assistance, but it is their time which is being invested, time which could be well spent doing one hundred and one other things, and they are out to wring from the day's instructor every bit of information they can.

When you come to think of it, is there any difference between a farmer being paid while he up-dates the knowledge he needs to keep ahead of the agricultural revolution, to a post-graduate student receiving an assistantship? In the long run, both will repay any debt many times over in their greater contribution to the community. It is an investment in the future.

These classes do have their amusing side. It is nothing short of comical to see how quickly the conditioned responses formed in early school days come back. When the first bell goes, everyone is in place in two minutes. Hands go up to ask questions. When recess is over, instead of gum under the window-sill, cigarettes go into the ash-can.

Why some parts of the country can not grow alfalfa is a perennial mystery. The Eastern Townships is such an area. Many men have the idea that alfalfa won't grow there, no matter what you do. Yet in every county there are a few who do not know that, and are growing beautiful crops of it.

Actually, there are only about six things that could be wrong. But any one of them could be the cause of alfalfa failure.

Soil acidity no doubt is responsible for many failures. Seedlings would be lucky to reach two inches in height if the pH is too low. Alfalfa demands a soil that is 6.0 pH or higher. Agricultural limestone applied according to soil test six months before seeding alfalfa is the answer to that problem.

Failure to inoculate the seed with nitrogen — fixing bacteria is another frequent cause of disappointment when growing alfalfa for the first time. And just any old legume inoculant won't do. It must be specific for alfalfa, and is should say so on the packet the stuff comes in.

A surprisingly common cause of failure is red clover in the mixture. Red clover is a "dog in the manger". In the first year it dies out, but it's too late for the alfalfa. Nine people out of ten, growing alfalfa for the first time, insist on including one or two pounds red clover "for insurance", in case the alfalfa fails. And the failure is thus guaranteed.

A heavy "nurse" crop will do the same kind of damage. All legumes love the sun. Too long under the shade of a good crop of oats weakens the new stand and it dies out over winter. The answer is to pasture the oats, or do without a nurse crop entirely.

Poor drainage will not prevent alfalfa getting a start the first summer. But its chance of surviving the first winter are slim. Land that is naturally well drained or tile-drained is essential for year-after-year survival.

Alfalfa will survive many years if it is given a chance. And there are two prime factors. First, alfalfa must have plenty of potash. One ton of alfalfa hay removes something like forty-five pounds potash. (One hundred pounds of 10-10-10 supplies ten pounds potash).

The other factor is cutting management. Alfalfa should never be cut or grazed, before it has reached the bud stage, just before blooming. Nor should it be cut while putting in its winter supplies of starch during September.

More than any other crop we can grow in Quebec, alfalfa has the potential to reduce feed costs.

Garden Headquarters

Petunias provide biggest color show

By JOHN BRADSHAW

Beauty in the garden comes from many sources, but there are some flowers which are much more valuable and useful for this purpose than the majority. In this week's column I'm recommending some of those that I feel are above the average in this regard.

Every gardener, amateur or professional, will agree that dollar for dollar and square foot for square foot, petunias provide the biggest show of color each garden season. This has been particularly true since the Fl Hybrid Satin series was introduced. The varieties belonging to this series are in the multiflora or many-flowered class, and are characterized by masses of brilliantly colored flowers carried on vigorous and compact stems. The blooms are medium sized, stiff-petalled and stand up better than almost any other flower under adverse weather conditions. Summer storms and rains have little effect on this most free flowering of all bedding petunias. The satin series comes in coral, scarlet, red, pink, white and purple colors.

Many a garden is spoiled each year by the lavish use of white flowers. Basically, the effect of white is to deaden color. On the other hand, yellow is an exciting color which should be used a great deal more than it has been up to now. There are several excellent yellow petunias on the market, including Yellow Gleam, Brass Band and Sunburst. I don't think there's much to choose between them in quality, but one thing is certain; their soft lemon yellow color will add untold beauty and charm to any garden.

Most commercial growers will have already sown quite a bit of their petunia seed. If you want yellow petunias for your garden this year, I'd strongly recommend that you get in touch with your plant grower, nursery or garden center and tell them your requirements.

Card party held at Rock Island

ROCK ISLAND — Another successful card party of flower garden whist was held in the IOOF Hall March 11 with 12 tables playing this exciting game. Collecting the most flowers and butterflies and claiming first prizes were Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Sloggett and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Colt, Ayer's Cliff. The consolation prizes went to Mrs. Joyce Demers, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Webb and Miss Sandra Webb, Stanstead.

Mrs. Geneva Lyons, Noble Grand of Crystal Rebeccah Lodge, and her committee served refreshments. Mrs. Lyons invited the players to return the evening of March 25 and bring their friends for another happy evening.

century. I'm referring to the single and double Gloriosa Daisies, direct descendants of the familiar Black Eyed Susans which grow in our pastures and roadsides. Here's a plant with a double function that can be treated either as an annual or a perennial. Sow the seed now and by July you'll have large flowering plants just the same as any annual.

From then on they can be treated just like any other perennial and will last from year to year. Gloriosa Double Daisies are spectacular in the garden and excellent for cutting.

The big globular golden yellow, double flowers somewhat resemble chrysanthemums. Occasionally some of them are semi-double with dark centres resembling the Black-Eyed Susans from which they were developed. Vigorous three-foot plants are covered with long lasting blooms borne on long, strong stems. Gloriosa Daisies are prized for their rugged beauty, are easy to grow and tolerate both extreme heat and cold.

One of my favorite perennials is the Linum or Perennial Flax. Day after day from late May until some time in August beautiful sky-blue flowers appear. They measure 1 1/2 to 2 inches in diameter. Everyday new buds burst into bloom and fade by evening. The plants have handsome feathery foliage reaching 18 inches in height. I don't know of a single insect pest or disease that attacks this fine perennial. It grows well under ordinary soil conditions and needs a sunny location in the garden.

Flowers, foliage and fragrance can be yours by growing some of the hardy perennials (Dianthus) in your garden. It's unfortunate that these favorites of Grandmother's garden are almost unknown to the thousands of young couples who started the garden since the end of World War II.

The brilliantly colored flowers are wonderful for planting in beds, borders or rock gardens and in the cutting garden. The plants are quite low-growing and range in height from 10 to 18 inches. Many different forms and sizes of blooms are produced.

One of the very best varieties to grow is the Grass Pink (Dianthus plumarius). This is the old-fashioned, English hardy pink that is used by the hundreds of thousands in the rock gardens and borders of Great Britain and Europe. The smooth, whitish foliage is formed in quite thick mats. Two or three, double or semi-double highly fragrant flowers are carried on each 18-inch stem. There's a wide range of colors including rose, pink, purple, lavender, white and many in-between shades. You'll like the way each petal is delightfully fringed. Flowering time is from early June until mid-summer.

Grass Pinks are easily grown from seed which germinates in less than a week. Seeds sown now will provide flowering plants this summer. They prefer a rich, well-drained soil but will thrive in any sunny location where the soil is well-drained.

Extend farewell to residents of Stanbridge East

STANBRIDGE EAST — At the conclusion of the regular service in the United Church on Sunday afternoon, March 10, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Aylesworth were extended a farewell by their many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Aylesworth, with the latter's mother, Mrs. Craig, are leaving shortly for Stratford, Ont., where they will make their home and carry on their business.

The ladies of the U.C.W. group, served refreshments, giving everyone a chance to chat with the guests of honor and wish them success and happiness in their new home and ventures.

Mrs. Aylesworth and Mrs. Craig were each presented with a corsage, after which Bruce Kidd presented the couple, on behalf of the congregation and friends, with an electric coffee percolator. Mr. Aylesworth thanked the gathering on behalf of his wife, for their good wishes and kindness.

Mr. and Mrs. Aylesworth will be greatly missed in the community and especially in the United Church where they have been very active. Mrs. Aylesworth has been a member of the U.C.W. and has been secretary for several years.

Mr. Aylesworth is a member of the session of the Church and a member of the committee of stewards and was the church treasurer for several years; both were members of the choir. Mr. Aylesworth was also a member of the local Masonic Lodge.

Do-it-yourself

Those little cracks grow into big ones

By MR. FIX

Nothing makes a place look as though it is going to seed as quickly as a crack in the wall. Even the smallest crack will spoil the appearance of an interior wall and a crack in the foundation will give the impression that the house may be about to tumble.

Tiny cracks are seldom due to structural defects. Normal settling plus the bumps and bruises of daily living can cause them. They are unsightly, however, and if you plan to sell your house they will turn away many a prospect.

But aside from appearances, there is another good reason for tending to cracks quickly. Though not serious now, they can become serious through neglect. It doesn't take long to turn little ones into big ones.

Plaster is bound to develop a few hairline cracks in a new home as it settles. Older homes will develop cracks due to stresses. Fine cracks can be filled with spackling compound, a material that comes ready to use.

First in the class was Suzanne Kennedy, with Linda Morgan coming second and Christine Keane, third.

In the intermission Dale Walker read a poem entitled, Voyage to Davy Jones Locker. The Hard Way, written by Grade eight.

For the Intermediate class, speakers and their topics were: David Walker, A Baby sitting Experience; Charlene Smith, Fads; Betty Ann Leith, Hippies and Larry Drew, Prime Ministers Since Confederation.

In this group Charlene Smith came first, Betty Ann Leith, second and David Walker, third.

Senior class: Nancy Taylor, The Two Opposing Cultures; Cheryl Davidson, The Unforgettables; Sharon Pedersen, Who Are We? Esther Saanum, What Would We Do If? In this class Esther Saanum was first; Sharon Pedersen, second and Cheryl Davidson third.

The judges were H. Brown, Mrs. M. Fleming and Mrs. C. Mayhew. Mr. Brown, a teacher at the high school, presented the cups to first place winners and complimented the contestants for all giving excellent speeches. The judges were thanked by Miss Brenda Coates.

At the close of the program the four senior contestants gave impromptu talks on subjects given them. THE WORLD OF SPORTS

in the Townships

By Charles Catchpaugh

NEAR THE END

Wednesday several of the Townships' smaller ski centres closed their hills because of the tremendous snow. Higher, more sheltered stations kept operating, and at this point, skiing depends on the weatherman. With lower temperatures, and maybe a snowfall, we'll get another two weeks on the slopes. Regardless of rising temperature, there's sure to be a few hardy skiers who'll climb on foot as long as there are still patches of that white gold left to slide on.

EXODUS BEGINS

Now that our regional season has come to its last phase, top racers like the Espolres, instructors and others who can afford to take off, are planning ski jaunts to Western Canada, Chile, and even the Alps and Australia.

Regarded as a rarity a decade ago, today it's common practice to move where there's snow and skiing once our season is over, and anyone has to admit, it's a great sport that can command that type of enthusiasm. Ski and the skiers' way of life has what it takes to create such zeal for a game. In fact, this devotion is even more evident in the mass number of ski publications sold throughout the year.

SPRING SKI NEEDS

If you're going to get the most out of spring skiing, try concentrating on toting along the right equipment, starting with lighter clothes. And with this recommendation, I'll warn you to only don shorts if you're either a good or particularly careful skier.

Each spring the ski patrols handle cuts and scrapes received by people with shorts, bare arms and hands, and this is understandable, as ice-snow can cut seriously. However, if you stay on your feet, there is a chance to get a wonderful tan, maybe rheumatism too, but it's all fun while the party lasts.

Take along sun tan lotion if you want to help the sun, and by all means sunglasses and a suitable wet snow wax. Spring parking lots are usually muddy this time of year, so you should also consider rubber boots if you have fancy apres-ski boots.

GOOD FRIEND DIES

Skiers throughout the region who knew Jean Claude Provencher of Waterloo will be sorry to hear of this ardent skier's death. A noted skier and supporter of the Canadian Amateur Ski Association, Mr. Provencher was one of the important CASA figures in the Eastern Townships. While he stayed in the background, he was always listed among the most reliable and enthusiastic workers of the organization. His death occurred March 5.

CSPS - AGM

The Canadian Ski Patrol System's annual general meeting will take place at Mt. Gabriel Lodge in the Laurentians May 31, June 1 and 2.

LOOKING TO ORFORD

Yesterday, a noted Toronto advertising agency was calling the Eastern Townships to find good snow conditions in order to stage a special photography session for an advertiser. Our district measured up best among those contacted, and it looks as if they'll settle for Mt. Orford, where we are told, there'll still be skiing for two weeks.

Bruins drub Hawks 8-0 to move into stalemate for second with Rangers

Boston Bruins, building up a head of steam for the National Hockey League playoffs, drubbed Chicago Black Hawks 8-0 Thursday night in Boston.

Following a late-season slump after losing sensational sophomore defenceman Bobby Orr, the Bruins have rebounded to win nine of their last 12 games.

Thursday's win moved the Bruins into a second place tie with New York Rangers in the NHL's Eastern Division, eight points behind Montreal Canadiens.

In the only scheduled game Thursday, Toronto Maple Leafs slammed Detroit Red Wings 5-2 at the Olympia in a game involving Eastern Division also-rans. Both had previously been eliminated from the playoff picture.

The Bruins are in the playoffs this year for the first time in nine years. And the man many experts said would be responsible for their elevation has been sitting on the sidelines for several weeks following surgery on his knee.

BRUINS ON PROWL

Twenty-year-old Orr, expected back for the playoffs, was a first-half all star when the injury forced him to the sidelines. The Bruins had a temporary let-down, but they've recovered the form that had them in first place early in the season.

The only game tonight has St. Louis Blues in Los Angeles against the Kings in a Western Division match.

The Kings trail Philadelphia Flyers, Western leaders, by four points, each with five games remaining in the 74-game schedule.

Eddie Shack scored twice for Boston with Phil Esposito getting a goal and two assists and Ed Westfall, Fred Stanfield, Ken Hodge, Tom Williams and John McKenzie one goal each.

Esposito's three points gave him 79 for the season, three behind Stan Mikita of Chicago. Mike Walton scored twice to pace the Leafs, out of the post-season playoffs for the first time in 10 years. Other Toronto goals went to Norm Ullman, Brian Conacher and Paul Henderson while Detroit scorers were Gary Unger and Kent Douglas.

FIRST SINCE SWITCH

It was the first game between the teams in Detroit since the Leafs picked up Ullman, Henderson and winger Floyd Smith for Unger, Frank Mahovlich, Peter Stelmowski and professional rights to former Toronto defenceman Carl Brewer.

There were 14,757 fans on hand for a first-hand look at how the trade turned out for the two clubs. The Bruins, in their recent surge have lost only two to Toronto and one to Detroit in the last 12 games.

One of the major reasons for the Boston surge has been the sparkling play of Esposito, centring a line for Hodge and Williams.

TOLD TO PASS

Pivot last year on a Chicago line with Bobby Hull at right wing, Esposito was under orders to feed the high-scoring Black Hawks ace as often as possible.

But when he, Hodge and Stanfield were traded to Boston at the end of the season, the 26-year-old native of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., had a new set of orders cut for him: Score when you can and pass when you can't.

He now has hit a personal NHL high with 33 goals and 46 assists.

In the last 10 games he has been among the hottest players in the league with 14 points on three goals and 11 assists. Only Ullman has more points—17 on seven goals and 10 assists.

By comparison, Mikita has four goals and six assists in the same period while Gordie Howe of Detroit has six goals and seven assists. Howe is tied for third in league scoring with Jean Ratelle of New York, who has picked up six goals and four assists in the 10-game period.

FOILED — Jolot Dion of Waterville is seen making a save from Brouillard players in last night's game at the Sports Palace in the play-downs of the Independent Hockey League. The Firemen chalked up their second straight win with a 7-3 decision. In the photo is Pouliot, (9), of Waterville giving Dion a helping hand while C. Dion, (4), Robichaud, (7), and L'Heureux, (5), of the Brouillard club are trying to get at the loose puck. Referee Louis Primeau of Montreal is watching the action.

Chuck Hay's Scottish rink posts win over Northcott

MONTREAL (CP) — Chuck Hay of Scotland watched Ernie Richardson of Regina win the international curling championship in 1962 and decided he would learn to play the way Canadians do.

"I knew that any European rink that won the title would have to curl like that to win," Hay said Thursday night after he stretched his undefeated string to five in this year's tournament.

Richardson is the only skip to win the title more than once and his Regina foursome did it in 1959, 1960, 1962 and 1963.

Hay, the defending champion who is making his fifth appearance in the championships, said he took his rink out and practised the long slide as opposed to the European style of delivering on one knee.

He also switched his strategy from a draw game to a combination of takeout and draw.

CANADIANS LOSE Scotland's strategy and style were particularly impressive during the fifth round of the eight-rink round-robin tournament Thursday night as they outguessed and outmanoeuvred a Canadian rink, skipped by 1966 champion Ron Northcott of Calgary, 10-5.

The victory left the Scots in command and assured them of a berth in the playoffs which get under way tonight with the second- and third-place finishers meeting in a semi-final.

The first-final winner meets the first-place finisher for the title at 2 p.m. EST Saturday.

The loss dropped the Canadians into second place with a 4-1 record but Northcott can do no worse than tie for third place if he loses the tie two games of the round-robin today.

The United States, skipped by 1965 champion Bud Somerville, was in third place but Thursday's action with a 3-2 record.

Roy Bergloff's Swedish rink was tied with Pierre Boan of France, Thor Andersen of Norway and Franz Marti of Switzerland for fourth place with 2-3 records.

Werner Fischer-Weppler and his West German rink were already eliminated from playoff contention after going winless in all five games.

Scotland met Switzerland in the sixth round at 9:30 a.m.

today. Norway played Sweden, the U.S. faced France and Canada met West Germany.

Scotland, which defeated France 14-4 and the U.S. 16-6 in earlier rounds Thursday, employed the Canadian strategy of starting fast to grab a 5-1 lead after four ends against Northcott.

GOT THE JUMP

"That was the secret of it all," said Hay. "We curled magnificently in the first five ends and got the big lead."

Canada began the day by walloping Norway 13-8 but managed only a 7-5 victory over Sweden in the second game.

The Swedes, picked as a threat before the start of the tournament by Hay, were tied 3-3 with Canada after six of the regulation 12 ends before Northcott rallied his forces to go ahead 6-3 in the next two ends.

"The ice was good and we were curling quite well," said Northcott. "I guess it just means that the European countries are getting better and the gap is narrowing."

The U.S. defeated Sweden 8-4 and Switzerland 17-6 before suffering defeat at the hands of the Scots.

Norway also defeated France 12-1. Switzerland crushed West Germany 16-6, Sweden walloped West Germany 22-5, Scotland downed France 14-4 and Norway defeated West Germany 13-8.

The last round of the tournament was set for 2:30 p.m. today with Canada playing France, the U.S. meeting Germany, Norway taking on Scotland and Switzerland playing Sweden.

The semi-final is scheduled for 8 p.m. tonight.

If expansion clubs had support they would have shown profit

MONTREAL (CP) — If fan support throughout the National Hockey League's expansion division had been uniform this season, all six teams would have shown a profit for their initial year of operation, Clarence Campbell said Thursday.

"As it is, support has been truly remarkable," the NHL president said at a Montreal Canadiens' press luncheon.

He said the new division started this season where the old established six-team group was in 1960 in terms of public support and gate receipts.

"If there had been uniform support throughout the new division all teams would have ended in the black," he said.

Minnesota North Stars had a solid first year at the gate, Los Angeles Kings are also showing a profit for owner Jack Kent Cooke and St. Louis Blues will show a profit for their first season's work.

FLYERS 'MESS' UP

The NHL president said Philadelphia Flyers have become "messed up" by a situation forcing them out of their home—the Spectrum—late in an otherwise successful season.

The Spectrum was closed March 1 because of wind damage to the rink's roof and a civic hassle has developed over permission to re-open the building.

"Philadelphia has had to play its home games on the road and have been hard hit financially because of refunds to season ticket holders and probable loss of playoff revenue," Campbell said.

Unless the Flyers can get their building back by April 4, they will likely settle in Detroit or Toronto for their last two home games and the playoffs.

Detroit Red Wings and Toronto Maple Leafs have been eliminated from the East Division playoffs. The Flyers currently lead the West Division with 71 points.

WANTS FAN SUPPORT

Campbell said he urged the team to select a temporary site now so it can plan ahead and build some fan support before the playoffs start.

He said the operation of Pittsburgh Penguins and Oakland Seals, the only two clubs in the new division which do not own or control their own rinks, will both be loss factors.

Total gate receipts in the East Division have doubled since 1960 because of enlarged premises and increased ticket prices.

The fate of Oakland Seals remains in the hands of the current owners, Campbell said, adding that he had still not received formal application from Oakland governor Barend Van Gerbig for sale of the franchise to any bidder.

Several bids for the Oakland team have been made, including one from Labatt of Canada Ltd., with the company ready to move the ailing Seals to Vancouver.

NEED APPROVAL

After NHL approval of an ownership change, the league governors would then have to approve the movement of the franchise to a new location.

Campbell said in his personal opinion there will be no further league expansion on the scale of this season for another five years.

"There was a backlog of talent available then, but this backlog will not be repeated for five or six years or a hockey generation."

He said there "could be a pair" of teams added in "some lesser period of time," but surveys have shown that no other city in Canada, other than Toronto and Montreal, currently can support the $1,250,000 "luxury spending" necessary to support a team. The surveys show Vancouver will not reach this stage of economic growth for several years, Campbell added.

"If hockey takes $1,250,000 annual luxury spending from the community other enterprises would suffer," he said.

At the luncheon, centre Jean Beliveau was presented with the keys to a car in recognition of his scoring his 1,000th NHL point in Detroit March 3.

Clement Tremblay paces Tigers to 7-2 win over Drummondville

VICTORVILLE — The Tigers clawed the Drummondville Eagles here last evening at the Jean Beliveau Centre to chalk up an impressive 7-2 win in the first tilt of the finals of the Quebec Provincial Senior Hockey League.

Clement Tremblay paced the attack with a hat-trick while Guy Black, Pierre Potvin Jacques Michel and Larry Drouin completed the assault. Rollie Leclerc and Bob Eastman potted the tallies for the losers.

The Tigers dominated the game in all departments and it was only the good work of Claude Cyr that prevented the home club from running the score into double figures. The Tigers jumped into a 2-1 lead after the first frame and in the middle they added four and finished with a lone marker in the third period. The Eagles got one in the first and the other in the final stanza.

The trio of Clement Tremblay, Jacques Michel and Normand Pepin just ran away from the Drummondville club. They had little trouble in rounding the defense and Cyr had his hands full in holding them at bay. They were buzzing all around and kept the Eagles bottled up in their own end.

Guy Black opened the scoring in the first period just seven minutes after the opening. J. Hardy helped to set him and the veteran winger made no mistake in batting the puck by Cyr.

This gave the Tigers a lift and they kept applying the pressure. A few minutes later P. Potvin made it 2-0 before Rollie Leclerc potted the Eagles' initial tally. During the first period the Tigers drove a total of 20 shots at Cyr while Hardy had thirteen fired at him.

It was in the middle session that the Tigers took command. Bob Chevalier and Ronnie Roberts tangled after tossing their elbows around but finally they were separated. Roberts drew a major while the veteran rearguard got tagged with a double minor.

After things had cooled off the Tigers took command with each side a man short. Tremblay potted his first goal and the Tigers moved ahead 3-1. A couple of minutes later Jacques Michel teamed up with Tremblay, when the teams were still short-handed, and the home club was away and flying.

Two more quick goals within four minutes sealed up the decision as the Tigers were driving at this stage. Clement Tremblay got his second marker and Larry Drouin added the other as the period ended with the Tigers holding a comfortable 6-1 lead.

In the final frame the Eagles finally added their second tally when Bob Eastman finished off a play with Andre Lagueux. Just after this the Eagles' spurt was spiked when Garneau and Drouin tangled leaving the teams short-handed. Each drew majors for their act.

The Eagles had their best period in the third as they bounced back and Hardy has some anxious moments. They got in around Hardy but when they had him beat their shots were nicking the posts or going wide. They were off target some although they were trying and fighting but it was a loss cause.

The next tilt is slated for Drummondville Sunday after noon and things could be different in the Civic Centre.

France and Austria are favored in Sun Valley International Ski meet

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (CP-AP) — The American International ski team meet at Mount Baldy today shapes up as a battle between defending champion France and Austria with Canada's Nancy Greene expected to steal some of the spotlight.

Miss Greene, the Rosland, B.C., flash who won silver and gold medals at the Winter Olympics in Grenoble, France, and France's Jean-Claude Killy, a triple gold medal winner at the Olympics, had the fastest practice times of the women and men Thursday. Official times were not kept.

Miss Greene, who swept all three events at Aspen, Colo., last weekend is out to duplicate the feat here this weekend in the team competition that gets under way today with the downhill races for men and women.

Killy will attempt to make up for a dismal three days last weekend when he finished among the top three in only one race, the downhill.

However, neither Greene nor Killy will be able to add to their World Cup skiing leads here. The meet does not count toward the World Cup, awarded on points accumulated at the International Ski Federation sanctioned meets.

Guest of Melbourne WA, WMS gives talk on mission work in Nigeria

MELBOURNE — The monthly meetings of the W.A. and W.M.S. of l'Eglise des Cantons de l'Est was held at the home of Mrs. Phillip Perron, Aberdeen Street, Richmond with two visitors and a special guest, Mrs. David Craig, recently arrived from Nigeria, who spoke of her experiences there.

Mrs. Lucille Vidal presided at the W.A. meeting. Members brought in monthly gifts for the sales tables. The date of the rummage sale was set for Saturday, April 20 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., in the church hall. The spring tea is to be held on May 8 at 3:30 p.m., with sales tables open at 3 p.m. also in the church hall.

WMS MEETS
The W.M.S. meeting followed with the vice-president, Mrs. Real Laroche in charge until the arrival of the president, Mrs. Gerald Doran and the special speaker, Mrs. David Craig, at 8 p.m.

Correspondence consisted of a letter from the Presbyterian Correspondence secretary, Mrs. Malcolm McLeod advising the spring rally would be held on June 1 in Asbestos, beginning at 10 a.m. A letter from the supply secretary was read, also a thank-you note from Mrs. Eugene Malboeuf and family.

The sick and shut-ins were remembered; 19 visits were made and 18 cards sent. A donation from Mrs. Florian Menard, marking her birthday in March was added to the expense fund. The eleventh birthday of the W.M.S. group was recalled and members added to the fund, a penny for each year of membership.

GUEST SPEAKER
When Mrs. Doran and Mrs. Craig arrived, Mrs. Doran opened the devotional part of the meeting with a hymn and prayer. Mrs. Lucien Perron read a portion from the Bible.

Mrs. Doran, introduced the speaker, Mrs. Craig, who described her work and adventures in Calabar, Nigeria. She brought with her beautiful wood and bone carvings done by the Nigerians. She also displayed a two-piece dress of vivid printed cotton worn by Nigerian women, which consists of a wrap-around skirt and blouse. Many beautiful photos of Nigerian architecture and its people were shown.

She spoke of her husband's work at the Hope Waddell Training School at Calabar for boys from the ages of 13-21. He was chaplain of the school and minister of 15 churches, gave classes to prepare elders and evangelists for service and many other services too numerous to mention. Mrs. Craig taught French at this school to some 230 boys and her first days there were quite challenging. She was also patroness of the Scripture Union and taught boys of 15-18 years. Another of her tasks was to find and prepare some 80 to 90 volunteer Sunday School teachers for the 15 churches.

The Craigs held three services a Sunday, lasting between 2 to 3 hours each. The people speak the Esic language. Mrs. Craig went on to say that theirs was the house of the open door.

From early morning until night anyone who desired came in and out freely to hear their radio and read their books. To close their door would have been an insult to the Nigerians. Many questions were asked following her address, after which Mrs. Laroche thanked Mrs. Craig and presented her with a small token on behalf of the group.

A social hour followed when refreshments were served by the group.

Miss Gail Nicholson and Mr. Dale Farrell, Sherbrooke, spent the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Nicholson.

SPECTATORS WELCOMED!

BUMPER-POOL is an interesting, fast moving game that provides thrills for spectators, who are welcomed at any of the mentioned clubs, and at the final tournament.

RULES OF THE GAME ARE AS FOLLOW:

- 1 — BUMPER Pool is played by two players or by four as partners.
- 2 — Each side has five red balls or five white balls, one of each being a marked ball.
- 3 — To set up BUMPER Pool, place two red balls on each side of white cup on markers, placing marked red balls directly in front of white cup. Place white balls in same position around the red cup.
- 4 — Players decide which player shall shoot first. Losing player always has choice. Player not shooting first, picks up his spot ball. The other player shoots his center marked ball, hitting first the side cushion, banking the ball into or near his color cup.
- 5 — After each player has shot his center marked ball, the player nearest his color cup then shoots first.
- 6 — The first player to get marked ball into his color cup may play any one of his four remaining balls. Players may use their ball to block or knock away opponents' balls.
- 7 — Each time a player sinks his ball into his own color cup, he shoots again immediately. (Exception: First shot—See Rule 4).
- 8 — In case the ball leaves the table it should be placed in the center of the bumpers.
- 9 — If the player sinks one of his opponents' balls, there is no penalty, but if he sinks one of his own balls into his opponent's cup, his opponent may then take off two of his own balls by dropping them into cup.
- 10 — The first player or team to sink all five of their balls is the winner.
- 11 — If either player sinks his last ball into opponent's cup, he automatically loses the game.
- 12 — A player may move his ball from any position on the table to an opposite corresponding position as determined by the lines on the table. Only the player about to shoot may move his ball.
 - A. Ball may be moved to opposite corresponding position only if that space is unoccupied.
 - B. Once player lifts ball to move it, the move must be completed and ball must be shot from new position.
 - C. Any ball lying wholly or partially within the circle cannot be moved.
