JAPANESE SHELL CHINESE BARRACKS

Punitive Action By Japan Leaves Post A Blazing Inferno

Bombardment of Peiping Suburb Reported to Have Started Two and a Half Hours After Time Limit in Ultimatum Expired—Open Warfare Between Two Countries Expected by Tonight As Chinese Reject Japanese Demands.

Shanghai, July 20.—The Chinese arsenal and barracks at Wangpingsien burst into flames, the Domei (Japanese) News Agency reported tonight, under punitive shelling by Japanese artillery.

Fighting broke out at Wangpingsien and other positions just to the west of Peiping at 2:30 p.m., two and one-half hours after an ultimatum demanding Chinese evacuation of the area had expired.

Fire still raged in the Chinese barracks at 6 p.m. tonight (6 a.m., E. D. T.).

A thousand Japanese troops participated in the attack against Wangpingsien, and the city was shelled for more than two hours.

Peiping despatches said the town was badly damaged, and that Marco Polo bridge, one hundred yards to the west, was subjected to shelling.

A Japanese plane circled over Peiping at 6 p.m., and Chinese there were fearful of drastic action by Japanese. "Fighting at Peiping tonight," many predicted.

FAMILIES OF JAPANESE DIPLOMATS EVACUATED

Shanghai, July 20.—Families of the Japanese diplomatic staff at Nanking have been ordered to evacuate to Japan, Domei (Japanese news agency) announced today.

Shirokuro Hidaka, the Japanese Charge d'Affaires at Nanking, called on Foreign Minister Wang Chung-hui and protested against the speech of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek at Kuling in which the Chinese leader declared that further encroachments on Chinese territory would be resisted.

When pressed for a specific reply to Japan's note of last Saturday, Foreign Minister Wang reiterated the terms of the memorandum handed to Hidaka at the Nanking Foreign Office yesterday, stating, according to Domei, that it constituted China's reply.

JAPANESE ARTILLERY DAMAGED WALLED TOWN

Tokyo, July 20.—Japanese artillery was reported today to have wrecked the towers of the walled town of Peiping.

Anthony Eden Renews Bid For Anglo-Italian Rapprochement

In Defending Rights in Mediterranean, Britain Has No Intention of Challenging Those of Others, House of Commons Told—British Government Facilities Offered for Arbitration of Far Eastern Difficulties.

London, July 20.—A plea for peace went out to the nations of the world today after a nine-hour debate in the House of Commons in which Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, reviewing foreign affairs, particularly urged Anglo-Italian friendship.

All angles of foreign policy were discussed—from the Far Eastern crisis to the Spanish civil war—before the Government was sustained late last night on the technical motion that set off the debate, a major proposal to reduce the Foreign Office appropriation. The vote was 265 to 123.

THE WEATHER

FAIR AND WARM.

Pressure is high from the Great Lakes eastward to the Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland, also on the Pacific coast, while a disturbance of moderate intensity is moving eastward across northern Manitoba and a shallow low area covers the southeast states with quite low pressure over Hudson Straits. Very light widely scattered showers have occurred in the Western Provinces, the Rainy River district and northern Ontario while in other parts of the Dominion the weather has been fair. With the exception of Manitoba and Saskatchewan the weather has been quite warm. Temperatures have been moderate throughout Canada.

Forecast: Moderate variable winds; fair and warm today and Wednesday.

Northern New England: Generally fair tonight and Wednesday except possibly rain on the coast Wednesday; not much change in temperature.

UNDERWORLD CLAIMS ANOTHER VICTIM

Body of Young Woman Found Beside New York Highway With Three Bullet Holes Near Heart.

New York, July 20.—The body of an attractive young woman, shot three times near the heart, was found today sprawled alongside a highway here, apparently the victim of an underworld ride.

Her clothes were rumpled and dust-covered and from their appearance the police concluded she probably had been tossed from a car as it raced along the road.

She was about thirty years old, dark of skin and apparently of Spanish or Italian origin.

DOG FOUND WALLET

Victoria, B.C., July 20.—Arthur H. Bird lost a wallet containing important documents and some money in the street, and nine days later reported to police it had been found by a dog. The dog walked into its master's home with the wallet in its mouth.

Opposing Armies Continuing Bitter Struggle For Possession Of Madrid

Both Government and Insurgent Commanders Convinced that Result of Battle for Ancient Spanish Capital Will Largely Determine Outcome of Civil War.

Madrid, July 20.—Rival armies, each believed to have 100,000 men in action, fought the destiny of Spain today in the sixth day of the greatest encounter of the old civil war—"The Battle of Madrid."

Confronted by seasoned reinforcements drawn by Generalissimo Francisco Franco from less active fronts, the Government command appeared back of the insurgent lines west of Madrid with aerial operations calculated to demoralize the fresh troops and shatter their lines of supply.

Government bombers dumped heavy cargoes of explosives on Navagamella by four raids in yesterday's operations alone. Thousands of insurgent troops were being sent to the Valdemorillo and Goufajona sections in an effort to pinch off 100-square-mile pocket which Government troops had carved out of insurgent territory in a two-week offensive.

Navagamella, the strategic point from which insurgent infantry attacks were being launched against the western flank of Gen. Jose Mija's salient, is a small town of a few adobe houses. About thirty miles from Madrid.

The insurgent hope of seizing Madrid after more than eight months of siege and the Government's hope of hammering back the siege lines rested in the co-ordinated operations of infantry divisions, artillery and airplanes.

As Madrid goes, so the war is likely to go.

TOTAL OF EXECUTIONS IN RUSSIA MOUNTS TO 322

Moscow, July 20.—Execution of twenty-four more alleged "Trotskyist and Japanese terrorist spies and wreckers" was reported from the Soviet far east today.

The Khabarovsk, Siberia, court which sentenced them to death accused them of sabotage along the Trans-Siberian Railroad.

The executions raised the total of persons reported executed in Soviet Russia's spy hunt in recent months to 322, most of them in the Far East.

Pravda, Communist party newspaper, charged delay in harvesting the Soviet's bumper wheat crop. The charge was linked with new shakeups in high offices.

LYNCH FLORIDA PAIR CHARGED WITH STABBING

Bodies of Two Young Negroes Accused of Knifing Tallahassee Policeman Found in Ditch Near State Capital.

Tallahassee, Fla., July 20.—Assistant Chief of Police W. L. Prater said two young negroes charged with the stabbing of a Tallahassee policeman were lynched by unidentified persons early today.

The two negroes were arrested Sunday on a charge of stabbing Policeman V. F. Kelly when he attempted to question them about breaking into a restaurant. Kelly, stabbed seven times, is in a serious condition.

The bodies were found in a ditch about three and a half miles from the state capital.

This was the first lynching in Florida this year and the first double lynching in several years.

Eugene Ward, a city policeman, said he heard the negroes were shot to death. He did not know any particulars about how the two were taken from the city-county jail.

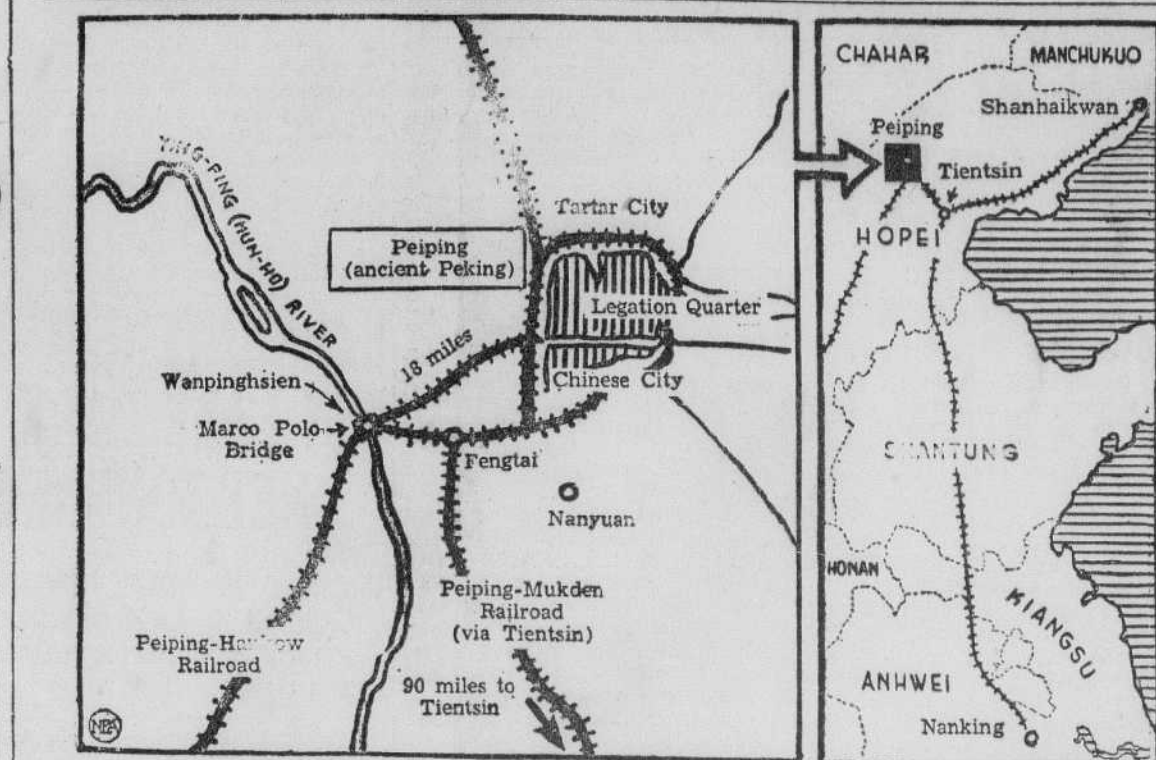

The victims were listed at police headquarters as Richard Gaskins and Ernest Ponder, each about eighteen years old.

Warrants charging them with attempt to murder Policeman Kelly were issued after the police said they confessed stabbing the officer.

EGGS FRIED ON PAVEMENT

Winona, Ont., July 20.—When eggs were spilled on the highway near here on a recent scorching day, motorists were treated to an unusual sight. The eggs—fifteen dozen—proceeded to fry on the pavement.

Historic Peiping Is Centre Of Area Where Japanese And Chinese Face War

In the area surrounding Peiping, ancient city of Kublai Khan and for years political and intellectual capital of China, Japanese troops of the Kwantung army, and Chinese troops from various sources are facing each other in desperate danger of general conflict as local skirmishes disturb the precarious balance.

At the Marco Polo bridge, and at Nanyuan heavy skirmishing took place. Sidings on the railroad south to Hankow were reported full of troop trains and munitions being rushed northward to the Peiping area from all provinces south of Hopei.

Meanwhile Japanese troops were advancing on Peiping by truck and on foot from Tientsin, the main railroad connection with Manchukuo, whose tracks connect with the Hankow railroad at Fengtai. Here also spirited fighting was reported.

The key Japanese railroad route, the Peiping-Mukden railway, leaves Peiping southeasterly to Tientsin, but then curves northward along the Yellow Sea to Shanhaikwan, where the Great Wall meets the sea, and where Japanese troops have already occupied the railroad yards to insure their connections with Manchukuo.

Japanese strategy is believed aimed at cutting off another slice of Hopei south of Peiping, along a line below the Marco Polo bridge, Fengtai, Nanyuan and eastward, isolating northern Hopei province from the Chinese troops gathering in the south, united under Nanking leadership as never before in the face of a national emergency.

ITALY'S DEMAND FOR BELLIGERENCY RIGHTS BLOCKS BRITISH PLAN

London, July 20.—Italian Ambassador Dino Grandi today demanded recognition of the belligerency of both sides in the Spanish civil war before withdrawal of foreign volunteers from Spain.

His demand was voiced at today's session of the Non-Intervention Sub-Committee which met to consider amendments to the British proposal for ending the "Hands-Off-Spain" deadlock between the Anglo-French and Italo-German positions.

The Italian move was in direct opposition to the Anglo-French stand that withdrawal of foreign volunteers must be underway before belligerency rights are accorded.

Foreign Secretary Eden warned in the House of Commons yesterday that the plan "stands or falls as a whole" and that "any attempt to modify it except in points of detail will upset its balance and destroy its usefulness."

WILL ALLOW NO NEW NEWSPRINT MILLS TO OPEN

Export of Wood Cut on Crown Land Also Being Prohibited So that Natural Resources May Be Developed to Give Quebec's Own People Main Benefit.

Montreal, July 20.—To maintain Quebec's newsprint industry on a stable and secure basis, the Union Nationale Government will not permit opening of new newsprint mills in the province.

Premier Duplessis made that government policy clear in an interview here yesterday and also announced a ban on exportation of wood cut on Crown land in Quebec.

Both are "safeguard" measures, the Premier said. Construction of new mills "might stimulate prosperity in the industry for a year or two but then would come another crash in the economic foundation which would blast a chasm difficult to fill."

"The newsprint industry, pulp manufacturing and other allied industries, should be on a basis of security and stability," continued the Premier, "and businessmen should realize that it is to protect them against themselves by preventing repetition of the error of the past that we take this stand."

The Government had been requested to permit the export of pulpwood, Premier Duplessis said. But export of wood cut on Crown land was being prohibited in order that natural resources might be developed to give Quebec's own people the main benefit.

He explained the new policy as aimed also against over-production. "The newsprint industry," said the Government head, "suffered severely from the crisis of over-production, because, first, there had been over-capitalization, and second, there had been over-construction."

The ban on new newsprint mills did not extend to mills already built but now idle. Actually the Government was working to bring idle plants into operation once more.

Outlying Government steps to rehabilitate the Gaspé Peninsula, including progressive colonization and forestry measures, Premier Duplessis noted the scheduled re-opening tomorrow of Gaspé's Chandler mill, he will attend himself.

OPPOSITION TO COURT REFORM MEASURE GROWS

Governor Lehman, Former Roosevelt Right-Hand Man, Urges New York Senator to Vote Against Measure.

New York, July 20.—The White House greeted with silence today Governor Lehman's criticism of President Roosevelt's bill to revamp the United States Supreme Court even as administration leaders passed the word around they would make no attempt to delay a "showdown" this week on the controversial bill.

From Little Rock, Ark., where they attended the funeral of the late Senator Joseph Robinson, majority leader and one of Roosevelt's right-hand men, sixty-two Congressmen reached Washington apparently still deadlocked on the two issues which have threatened to rip the Democratic party apart—the Court bill and the choice of Robinson's successor.

Foes and supporters of the bill agreed to suspend their struggle on the Court bill until after the caucus Wednesday when the new Democratic upper-chamber leader will be chosen. Senators Barkley, of Kentucky, and Harrison, of Mississippi, both claimed a majority of Democratic votes, but their friends conceded the fight would be close.

As the last hours of the Court bill "Armistice," occasioned by Robinson's death, drew away, two of the President's most ardent supporters drew away from him—Governor Lehman, of New York, and New York's Democratic Senator Robert Wagner. Lehman wrote Wagner asking he vote against the court legislation.

Some in the administration camp were said to look on Governor Lehman as a potential ally.

FRENCH BANK'S NEW GOVERNOR IS APPOINTED

Decree Enforcing Finance Minister George Bonnet's Programme of Governmental Economy Approved Today at Ministerial Council.

Paris, July 20.—Decrees enforcing Finance Minister George Bonnet's programme of governmental economy and appointing a new governor of the Bank of France were approved today at a ministerial council under President Albert Lebrun.

Pierre Fournier, first vice-governor of the Bank of France, succeeded Emile Labeyrie as governor. The latter was named to the post of honorary governor-general.

Bonnet explained the Government's financial position to the council and received its approval of a decree reducing treasury expenses by economies and severe control of government expenditure.

Fournier's post of first vice-governor will be filled by Second Vice-Governor Guiraud, who will be replaced by Yves de Boisanger, director-general of the Finance Ministry.

The council thanked Labeyrie for his re-organization measures carried out during his term as governor. He was named head of the bank shortly after formation of the Blum Government last year.

World Deprived Of Great Scientist Today Through Sudden Death Of Marconi

Heart Seizure Proved Fatal to Father of Wireless and Confidante of Mussolini—Great Inventor Had Planned Three-Sided Development of Discovery Which He Gave to World—Conferred with Vatican Officials Only Yesterday.

Rome, July 20.—The Marquis Guglielmo Marconi, who invented wireless telegraphy when he was only twenty-one years old, died suddenly at 3:45 a.m. today (10:45 p.m. Monday, E.D.T.) at the ancient palace in downtown Rome where he lived and worked.

As the early Roman dawn came across the Alban hills, the sixty-three-year-old conqueror of the ether died quietly of heart paralysis. His widow, the Countess Cirina Bezziscale, was at his bedside. She had been called back from the seaside resort of Viareggio where he began to feel ill yesterday afternoon.

Their daughter, Elettra Elena, whose god-mother is Queen Elena of Italy, remained at the resort and will not return to Rome until time for the state funeral. Today is her eighth birthday.

Premier Mussolini, whose ardent supporter Marconi had been, was notified of the death immediately. He despatched a telegram of condolence and later went to Marconi's home in the Via Condotti and paid his respects beside the body.

The Premier approached the bed, which was lighted at the four corners by tall candles. He paused, then bent and kissed the dead man on the forehead.

REPAIRING FLOOD DAMAGE IN BEAUCE WILL BE STARTED AT ONCE

Quebec, July 20.—The Provincial Government will lose no time in repairing damage caused in half a dozen Beauce County towns and villages by rain-swollen rivers last week.

Minister of Public Works H. L. Auger told a delegation yesterday that engineers are investigating the damage and repair work will be started at once. The delegation was headed by J. E. Perron, M.L.A., for Beauce.

After violent electric storms last week several rivers and streams overflowed their banks and inundated roads and low-lying farm lands. More than twenty wooden bridges on Riviere des Permes and Riviere du Bras around St. Victor, St. Joseph, St. Ephrem and other villages were torn away by the rampaging waters.

Several small saw mills located along brooks and creeks also were damaged.

NEW BANK OF FRANCE GOVERNOR NAMED

Paris, July 20.—Pierre Fournier, vice-governor of the Bank of France, today was named to succeed Emile Labeyrie as governor.

The retiring governor, who was appointed to his post June 8, 1936, shortly after formation of the Blum Government, was given the title of honorary governor-general.

Elderly Orthodox Bishop Hurt When Religious Rioting Sweeps Belgrade

Bicycle Riding Gendarmes Patrol Yugoslavian Capital Today Following Demonstration Against Recently-Concluded Concordat with the Vatican.

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, July 20.—Bicycle-riding gendarmes patrolled Belgrade today in fear of further flare-ups in the tense situation marking the Serbian Orthodox Church's opposition to a concordat between the Government and the Roman Catholic Church.

The elderly Orthodox Bishop Simeon of Sabatz and Woja Janich, former Government leader in Parliament who was expelled from the party because of his opposition to the concordat, were knocked down yesterday near Belgrade Cathedral.

The police had banned the parade on the grounds it was a demonstration against the pact with the Vatican, which was signed in 1935 but still awaits parliamentary approval. The churchmen asserted the demonstration was merely a gesture of hope for mercy of the Orthodox Patriarch who has been ill.

Bishop Simeon was reported in serious condition. He had been clubbed on the head and struck on the chest with a rifle butt. The latter was said to have caused a heart attack.

The Orthodox hierarchy has said it will punish any Orthodox members of Parliament voting for the concordat. The Church asserted that the pact gives "unequally high power" to the Catholic Church in the field of education and politics.

Pope Pius, with whom the inventor had had a long audience Saturday concerning the new radio station he was building for the Vatican, was notified by telephone at his summer residence at Castel Gandolfo. He sent a special blessing to the inventor.

Marconi had been closely associated with the Pontiff. The first radio station at the Vatican was installed by him, and when it was inaugurated in 1931 it was Marconi who introduced Pope Pius, the first Pope ever to speak over the radio.

Was Very Hopeful Of Success Of Microwave.

The Marquis Luigi Solari, head of the Italian Marconi Company, the inventor's biographer and life-long friend, said that even yesterday Marconi came into his office "to talk about his microwave experiments."

The Marconi Company offices are in the inventor's home and today the employees learned of his death as they arrived for work. They stood together in little groups in the corridors whispering gravely among themselves. Many of them were weeping openly.

"Marconi told me he planned to spend the whole summer aboard his

Mackenzie King Declares Recent Visit to Europe Convinced Him that Despite Grave Situation Existing, Co-operation Between Nations Is Stronger than Ever and Directed Toward Maintenance of Peace.

Ottawa, July 20.—Prime Minister Mackenzie King is confident public men of today can and will maintain unity within the Dominion and overcome "the many strains and cleavages which are imperiling unity," even as they conquered in the days of MacDonald, Laurier and Borden.

In an address last night the Prime Minister declared that not to have a realization of these threats "is to shut one's eyes to the problem of government in Canada today."

It was not possible for Canada to escape the unrest of the times, the Prime Minister said. "Nor, where unrest is occasioned by the need for more in the way of opportunity and security for individual human lives is it well we should escape it," he added. "It can be directed, however, into constructive and away from destructive channels. That, as I see it, is likely to be the business of statesmanship in our country for some time."

Mr. Mackenzie King discussed the Coronation, described its significance and expressed warm admiration for and confidence in the new King and Queen. He reviewed efforts of the Imperial Conference which, he said, left Canada free to decide her own course in matters of foreign policy, defence and trade.

His visits to France, Germany and Belgium had brought him conferences with the ruling heads of those countries and fresh views on the grave situation in Europe, but a new confidence that co-operation among the nations was stronger than ever and directed toward the maintenance of peace.

E. T. DISTRICTS PLANNING BIG JUBILEE ROLES

Enthusiastic Meeting of Cowansville, Sherbrooke, East Farnham and Dunham Municipalities Held Last Evening to Organize Delegation to Sherbrooke's Centenary.

Cowansville was the scene of an enthusiastic gathering last evening as that municipality, Sherbrooke, East Farnham and Dunham held a joint meeting to organize their representations to Sherbrooke Centenary celebration on the occasion of "The Tribute to Sherbrooke's Sister Towns," which will take place on August 14.

The meeting, attended by Leon Trepanier, Centenary organizer, was called by Hon. L. A. Groux, K.C., M.L.C., president of Sherbrooke Board of Trade. It was decided that over fifty young ladies, attired in picturesque costumes made from material furnished gratuitously by the Bruck Silk Mills, would attend the Sherbrooke festivities.

Mr. Groux declared that it was important that these municipalities be well represented in Sherbrooke, and Rev. Boyd urged the English-speaking citizens to give their cooperation and support to the scheme.

Councillor Roger Audet, of Waterloo, announced that that municipality was also preparing to send a strong delegation to Sherbrooke, while Edouard Hains, of L'Eté de L'Est, of Granby, said that his city would also arrange for a good representation.

A committee of young ladies, under the chairmanship of Mrs. F. X. Groux, was immediately formed, and the Board of Trade voted a sum to help defray the expenses of the delegation on its trip to Sherbrooke.

Many Eastern Townships municipalities will attend the fête, Mr. Trepanier said this morning, which will be one of the highlights of the five-week celebration that will mark Sherbrooke's hundredth birthday.

Lines on the western fringe of the capital, meanwhile, continued their part of the pinching operation on the eastern side of Madrid's salient in a steady pressure from Villanueva del Castillo toward Villanueva del Pardillo.

An insurgent patrol of pursuit planes flew into the Navalagrande sector after the first two of the Government's four air raids there yesterday. A brief air battle ensued but the Government planes were able to escape after bombing twenty truck loads of reinforcements.

ANCIENT TREATY UNDER CLOSE EXAMINATION

London, July 20.—From the dim days of two centuries ago the dusty treaties of Utrecht have suddenly been called to play their part in the Spanish civil war.

To Canada they are known mainly as the treaties under which France ceded Newfoundland, Nova Scotia and the Hudson's Bay Territory to England. But it was under one of the treaties of Utrecht, signed July 13, 1713, that Spain ceded Gibraltar.

Anthony Eden Renews Bid For Anglo-Italian Rapprochement

David Lloyd George, entered the debate with criticism of the Government's Spanish policy and an attack on Italy and Germany for their intervention in the war.

The question of insurgent gun emplacements facing Gibraltar was raised by Winston Churchill, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, whose speech set the tone for the remainder of the debate. Viscount Cranborne, Undersecretary for Foreign Affairs, said Gibraltar's guns were superior to any the insurgents have mounted near by and the Strait therefore was not menaced as yet.

He admitted insurgent guns could fire across the Strait.

From Sir Archibald Sinclair, Liberal leader, the Government received support for the Spanish policy.

Eden offered the Government's facilities for arbitration in the North China crisis if they were desired. Government supporters urged a hands-off policy in the Far East while Labor members were critical.

The Foreign Secretary warned the House to let there be no mistake that "while we are determined to defend our rights we have no intention of challenging the rights of others."

"If the Mediterranean is for us a main arterial road, and it is, there is plenty of room for all on such a road," he said. "If we intend to maintain our place on it, and we do, we have no intention of seeking to turn anyone off it."

"Least of all do we wish to interfere with those who geographically dwell upon it. There is room for all. Free traffic through and out of the Mediterranean is the common interest of Britain and all the Mediterranean powers."

"This country has no intention of pursuing towards any other country a policy either of aggression or revenge," Eden added. "Such a policy never occurs to the British people—we wish to live in peace with our neighbors in the Mediterranean and elsewhere, for while we will defend our own, we covet naught of others."

Lloyd George, speaking of German and Italian intervention in Spain, said: "Mussolini and Hitler are sending all these forces to Spain for an obvious reason. Spain's position for us is the most strategic of almost any country in Europe."

He recommended strict neutrality, not non-intervention—as a policy, thereby allowing both sides to buy munitions and fight out the war.

"Does Eden really believe that if Mussolini and Hitler, if convinced a little more support will enable Franco to win and capture Spain for France and Spanish ports to train guns on us in any conflict that in God's will may come—does Eden really believe they will keep faith?" he asked. "They won't."

FIRM STAND APPROVED BY THE LONDON PRESS

London, July 20.—Great Britain's determination to defend her interests abroad was emphasized today in newspaper comment on Foreign Secretary Eden's foreign policy statement in the House of Commons.

"Mr. Eden's survey of world affairs yesterday contained a firm and salutary assertion of the determination of the British Government to look after British interests abroad," the Times said.

"This passage of his speech was timely, not because the paramount British interest is now and always maintenance of peace, but because it often has been stated that love of it has sometimes in recent years been misconstrued in foreign countries."

"Perhaps the most hopefully constructive part of the Foreign Secretary's speech was the passage toward the end in which he emphatically declared that both we and the French Government are sincerely anxious to bring about real improvement in our relations with Germany."

Lord Rothermere's Daily Mail said "the first aim of the Foreign Office today should be friendship with our neighbors across the North Sea."

Referring to the Sino-Japanese crisis in North China, the Daily Telegraph, Conservative, said "there is everywhere else the major British interest is peace."

"The fact that neither Nanking nor Tokyo desires a serious war should enable eastern diplomacy to find a way out that will be honorable to both sides," the Telegraph added.

The Morning Post, Conservative, said in connection with the Far Eastern crisis that "Japan might defeat China but it could not conquer it."

"China might resist Japan but she would be terribly weakened by the effort," the Post added. "So much the Japanese and Chinese statesmen themselves seem to realize."

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK MARKET

Montreal, July 20.—Receipts on the Montreal livestock markets today were: Cattle, 87; calves, 518; hogs, 922; sheep and lambs, 264.

The cattle market was just steady. Good butcher cows sold up to $2.25 with medium kinds from $2.50 to $4.25 and common $2.75 to $3.25. Canners and cutters were $1.50 to $2.50. Bulls were slow at $2.50 to $3.75 for common bulls to $4 and up to $4.75 for butcher bulls.

Calves were unchanged quality considered. Good quality veals made $2.25 to $3 and medium to medium good kinds around $6.50. Common to plain veals made $5, drinkers ranged from $4.25 to $4.75 and grassers were mostly $3.25 to $3.75.

Good quality lambs brought $9.50, with culls picked out at $7.50. Mixed lots were $9 to $9.25. Sheep were from $2.50 to $3.50, according to quality.

Bacon hogs were $10.25, fed and watered, and up to $10.35 off trucks. Selects drew one dollar per hog premium. Butchers and heavies were cut fifty cents to one dollar per cwt. and extra heavies one dollar per cwt. Light hogs were cut fifty cents to one dollar per cwt. Sows were from $6.50 to $7.50, with the bulk between $7 and $7.25.

Premier Urges United Action To Overcome Threat To Unity

Mr. Mackenzie King said, were known to the over-populated countries and under-nourished peoples of other continents. "Never imagine," he added, "that in some hothouse our country would escape the terror by night nor the arrow that flies by day."

His visits to other countries, the Prime Minister said, had "immeasurably deepened, as a consequence of all I have seen and heard," two convictions he had long held. These were "How terrible a thing is hate and how necessary to the cure of all our ills in an attitude of good will."

The Prime Minister voiced a plea for tolerance and understanding, not only among the nations but among the people, and among the provinces and the Dominion in Canada. He made no direct reference to any particular circumstances in the Dominion tending toward political cleavage or disunity of Confederation.

The Prime Minister had a word to say against hasty utterances by those in authority. "Words too hastily and too loudly expressed, he said, 'may lead to precipitate or unpremeditated action the consequences of which none can foresee.'"

His visit to the three continental capitals, the Prime Minister said, was prompted by a desire to obtain "very full information" concerning conditions in Europe. "I felt," he said, "it would be helpful in meeting responsibilities of government in Canada were I, before returning, pay a brief visit to the continent to supplement the knowledge gained at the Conference and Correlation by observation and personal interviews with those in authority."

Of the Conference the Prime Minister, after summarizing the official reports already published, declared the conclusions there reached would be "of the greatest value in the more effectively furtherance of arms and ideals shared in common."

"Above everything else the Conference revealed how sure are the foundations upon which is built the free association of British peoples, and how strong and abiding are the bonds which united them one to another."

pressed the opinion that "the French Government was likely to be very firm" in its stand on the non-intervention question.

"Eden himself, has made it clear that belligerent rights would only be granted in return for the withdrawal of volunteers," the News Chronicle added.

The Daily Herald, Labor, emphasized the "Italian menace" on the Egyptian frontier and declared:

"Barbed wire is strung along the whole Libya frontier. There are great trenches and fortification from the coast to Barka. After a short gap another series of trenches runs down the frontier to a point near Siwa. A fresh batch of Italian troops has arrived at Barka. There is a big concentration of planes and a big force men at Tobruk and motorized forces have been gathered near the Sudan frontier."

"That Mussolini seriously thinks of such a suicidal venture is hardly credible. Nor can either Great Britain or Egypt allow Egyptian peace and security to be dependent on the continued sanity of a dictator."

yacht, Elettra, conducting experiments," Solari said. "His idea was to adapt the microwave to long range transmission."

"Marconi was very hopeful of the success of these experiments and they are in such shape and have reached such a point we can go ahead," he said.

Marconi's body will be removed this afternoon to historic Farnesina Palace, headquarters of the Italian Royal Academy, of which he was president, on the banks of the Tiber, to lie in state in the blue robes of an Academician.

Following a preliminary funeral service in Rome, the body will be taken for burial to Bologna, where he conducted his first experiments in a barn on his father's country estate.

Passing Is A Loss For All Humanity.

Morning newspapers published special editions which were sold out immediately to the crowds that swarmed around news stands. If Messerment was considered representative:

"This is not only a loss to Italy but all the world, a loss for science and for all humanity. With him disappears one of the sovereign geniuses who, because of the glory of his art, are sufficient unto themselves."

During the early morning his family called the celebrated physicians, Professor Cesare Frugoni and Dr. Attilio Pozzi, to the inventor's bedside. After a brief examination they pronounced Marconi dead of paralysis of the heart.

Marconi had been taking great interest in the completion of the new building for the National Research Institute of which he was president. Only last Saturday he drove to Castel Gondolfo and had a long audience with Pope Pius XI. He seemed in excellent spirits after the audience and commented on the vigor and understanding the Pontiff had displayed.

The doctors immediately issued the following communique: "In his habitation in the Via Condotti, His Excellency Guglielmo Marconi, president of the Royal Academy of Italy, died of a heart stroke at 3:45 o'clock this morning (10:45 p.m. E.D.T. Monday) attended by the members of his family."

His death occurred in his downtown residence in the heart of Rome. Part of the beautiful and ancient palace was occupied as offices by the Italian Marconi Company.

Marconi was only twenty-one years old when in the spring of 1895 he first tapped out the three dots of the letter "S" in the Morse code on a wireless transmitter in his laboratory in a barn.

Laconically, he announced his invention: "I have discovered how to telegraph without wires."

Italy was skeptical, however, of the usefulness of the young inventor's discovery and his Irish-born mother took him to England. There, with the aid of his relatives, he was granted the first patent for a practical system of wireless telegraphy in 1896.

Mussolini Heaped Honors On His Friend

The honors which have been heaped on Marconi by his native land in recent years are a far cry from the early skepticism.

Premier Mussolini was notified immediately of the death of Press Minister Dino Alfieri and sent a warm telegram of sympathy to the widow.

Marconi was the leader of the intellectual section supporting Il Duce's regime and Mussolini had loaded him with honors such as the presidency of the Academy of Italy and the presidency of the National Council of Research.

At the time of his death Marconi was working on three different developments of the principle he discovered—Television, especially with the use of ultra short waves; further developments of the microwave and a new type radio transmitter for airplanes.

Much of Marconi's work had been devoted to military purposes in the last few years and he had been repeatedly reported at work on a "death ray." This, however, was denied as frequently as it was reported.

Two events of the last year were believed to have accentuated Marconi's heart condition and hastened his death. One was the sudden death of his brother, Alfonso, in London 36 minutes before he was to have left for Rome to visit the inventor.

The other was the fire aboard his yacht Elettra in the harbor of Civita Vecchia. Much of his experimental work was done in a laboratory on board and when Marconi was aroused by the fire he rushed to the scene and helped fight the blaze for more than an hour.

ST. JOHN'S REMEMBERS STUDIOUS SCIENTIST

St. John's, Nfld., July 20.—Guglielmo Marconi, Italian wireless telegraphy inventor who died suddenly in Rome last night, bridged the Atlantic ocean for the first time in 1901—when he received the letter "S" as a signal at St. John's from Poldhu, in Cornwall.

When the studios scientist emerged from his laboratory in the morning he announced his discovery. Marconi had great difficulty in convincing learned men and eminent scientists of the day of the success of his experiment.

The Italian scientist was not ostentatious, and his work in Newfoundland was carried on with the greatest secrecy. His actual work was not known until it was completed, the general opinion being held he was attempting to contact a vessel that was to pass Newfoundland.

Beginning his wireless experiments in his teens, Marconi sent his father his first wireless signals in 1895 and during the intervening six

NEW MAYOR IS ELECTED FOR ST. ELIE POST

Alphonse Bell Defeated Alexander Boisvert, Retiring Chief Magistrate, by Majority of Six Votes—Ferdinand Hamel, Joseph Laliberte and Benjamin Billing Councillors.

St. Elie d'Orford, July 20.—Alphonse Bell was elected mayor of this municipality by a majority of six votes over the retiring Chief Magistrate, Alexander Boisvert, in a keenly-contested election yesterday. Bell polled a total of 130 votes against 124 by Boisvert.

Ferdinand Hamel succeeded Alphonse Gosselin, retiring Councillor for Seat No. 1, who did not run for re-election. Hamel garnered 132 votes to win the seat by a majority of nine ballots from Raoul Croteau.

Retiring Councillor Joseph Gendron, Seat No. 6, surrendered his seat to Joseph Laliberte. Gendron had 94 votes and Laliberte 157.

Benjamin Billing was re-elected to Seat No. 4 by acclamation.

KEEN INTEREST IN LAKE PARK NET TOURNAMENT

Victories in Men's Singles Chalked Up Last Night by Johnny Hibbard, Leon Cote and Gaetan Cote.

Johnny Hibbard, Leon Cote and Gaetan Cote chalked up victories in the opening round of the men's singles in the Lake Park Tennis Tournament last evening.

Keen interest is being manifested in this net tourney, which has become an important Eastern Townships championship event.

The tourney is open to Eastern Townships players and is being staged at Little Lake Magog.

Johnny Hibbard registered an easy 6-2, 6-2 victory over Gerard Cote, Leon Cote wielded a steady racket to secure the first upset of the tournament by defeating Ashley Hibbard by a similar score of 6-2, 6-2, and Gaetan Cote chalked up a 6-4, 6-3 victory over Nel Velcourt.

Games scheduled for today are as follows: 5 o'clock, Gaston Audet vs. Yvan Boisvert; 6 o'clock, Connie Gregoire vs. Willis Kirby, and 7 o'clock Paul Biron vs. Rene Robert.

Claude Bertrand and Majella Charest will this afternoon complete their match which was interrupted by rain.

MANY DEATHS WERE REPORTED IN NEWS

Noted Archaeologist, Founder of Grain and Stock Brokerage Firm and Bridge Expert Among Those Who Have Concluded Earthly Careers.

The following deaths were reported in today's Canadian Press despatches to the Record:

Oxford, England—Dr. Percy Gardner, noted archaeologist and professor emeritus of classical archaeology of Oxford University.

Guildford, Hants, England—Major-General Sir William George Bertram Boyce, 69, director of transport during the war years.

Chicago—Frank Granger, 86, founder of the grain and stock brokerage firm of Logan and Bryan.

New York—Commander Walter Liggett, Jr., 56, retired from the United States Navy to become a luminary in the world of bridge.

Chicago—George S. Parker, 73, chairman of the board of directors of the Parker Pen Company.

Millman, 64, veteran motion picture character actor.

years he pursued, single-handed and without the aid of his colleagues, signals could be sent through space without the intervention of a conduction medium.

While eminent men of science confidently declared it could not be done over long distances as the wireless waves could not follow the curvature of the earth, the Italian continued his experiments and in 1901 he was perched on the summit of Signal Hill in St. John's.

This historic point which rises 600 feet from the Atlantic is the nearest geographical point on the North American continent to the British Isles.

With frail balloon aërial swaying in the December breeze, telephones tapped by our Kite aerial which laid Poldhu and traversed the Atlantic, serenely ignoring the earth's curve which so many doubters had considered a fatal obstacle.

"On the following day the signals were again heard."

"The great experiment was a success."

AUSTRALIANS AGAIN WON IN BISLEY SHOOT

Although Losing Ground Slightly on 800 Yard Range, Australians Registered Advantage on 900 and 1,000-Yard Marks to Win Empire Match.

Bisley Camp, England, July 20.—Australia scored her fifth victory since 1907 in the empire match for military marksmen today over teams from Canada, Great Britain and India.

The Australians went into the final stage at 800, 900 and 1,000 yards with an overnight lead of ten points over Britain and fifteen over Canada, with India trailing. At the first of today's three distances however Canada registered two more points than the Australians, and Britain one more.

The weather was glorious with strong sunlight and mild breezes, making conditions almost perfect at the long ranges of the final.

The Australian team of eight scored 382 points out of a possible 400 at the 800 yard range for an aggregate at that stage of 1,513 points. Britain had 383 for 1,504 and Canada 384 for 1,500. India had 379 for 1,470. The Australians' lead was cut to only nine points over Britain and thirteen over Canada and there was doubt at one time that they could maintain it at the longer ranges.

Australia and Britain are the only winners of the Challenge Trophy since it was first shot in 1907, each having won four times before today. The Empire match was not an annual affair and the last match was fired in 1923, Great Britain winning.

The Australians scored 361 at 900 yards for a total of 1,874 points with only one range to go. Canada drew level with Britain in second place scoring 358 for 1,858, when Britain had 351 for 1,838. India, with best score of any at 900 yards, 364, drew up to 1,834 points.

Johnson had best Canadian score, 48 out of 50, at 900 yards, Macgett and Emslie scored 47, Hunt and Kennedy 45, and Molecey, Kier and Jensen 42.

Opposition To Court Reform Measure Grows

Lehman's letter as a "stab in the back for the administration" from the man President Roosevelt, when Governor of New York State himself, regarded as his "right-hand man."

Senator J. Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois, Democratic party whip, said, however, that the "court fight will be settled this week in a manner that will leave no rifts in the party. I will not reveal what is afoot but it is not my proposition solely."

In his letter to Wagner Governor Lehman said he believed passage of the Roosevelt court bill would create a "dangerous precedent."

Punitive Action By Japan Leaves Post A Blazing Inferno

town of Wanpinghsien, western suburb of Peiping on the Yungting river, shortly after an ultimatum demanding evacuation of the twenty-ninth Chinese army had expired.

Domestic Japanese News Agency reported from Fengtai, Japanese field headquarters in North China, that shells started bursting in the heart of the positions held by the thirty-seventh Chinese division at 2:30 p.m. The zero hour had been set at noon.

Four ranking members of the Japanese cabinet were in session to consider action to settle the crisis in Sino-Japanese relations.

The News Agency declared Japanese troops were continuing to advance. Wanpinghsien is located just north of the Marco Polo bridge of marble where the first clash occurred July 7th.

Before the artillery bombardment began, Dowry reported, Japanese planes flew low over the district, dropping leaflets warning the populace to evacuate.

The Chinese Government's rejection of a "virtual ultimatum" to withdraw troops from the area around Tientsin where they have been fighting with Japanese since July 7 through the Ministers of War, Navy, Foreign Affairs and Finance to an emergency session.

All other members of the Japanese cabinet were standing by ready for a call to approve whatever decision the policy makers might reach. So serious was the situation considered that Premier Fumimaro Koyama insisted on leaving his sick bed to preside at the cabinet meeting. Foreign diplomats returned to their posts from the country to inform their home governments of developments.

As the group of four ministers went to the fateful conference word was received here from the seat of the Chinese Government at Nanking that China had given Japan her final answer.

Chinese Premier Wang Chung-Hui was said to have told the Japanese charge d'affaires, Chinoekuro Hataka, that yesterday's note contained the only reply China could make to the Japanese demands that Chinese troops be withdrawn from the Peiping area.

China had replied with a counter proposal that Japan order a cessation of hostilities and a simultaneous withdrawal of her troops back to the lines they occupied prior to the clash at Marco Polo bridge two weeks ago.

Foreign Minister Koki Hirota was understood to have informed the Chinese ambassador, Hsu Shih-Yung, a new—and so far secret—agreement had been reached locally yesterday between Japanese officers at Tientsin and Gen. Sung Chih-Huan, Chinese Government was actually enforcing the secret agreement.

Newspapers, convinced that China was preparing for actual war against Japan, almost unanimously demanded that the Government take a stand since the long-mouldering clash of interests broke into open firing in the rich northern region measure of self-defence.

FLANDERS

The people of this community experienced a rather unusual experience on Monday night when a heavy rain and hail storm struck this neighborhood. Hardly believable is the fact that at noon, Tuesday, enough hailstones remained so that C. J. Nourse was able to gather a sufficient quantity of ice to use in his business.

Although damage was not extensive, flower and vegetable gardens as well as turnips, buckwheat and potatoes suffered much from the hail.

The friends of Mr. John Festeau will be glad to hear that he is gaining nicely.

Mrs. Evelyn Flaws, of Montreal, spent a recent week-end at the home of her brother, Mr. C. P. Flaws.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Loveland, of Roncoke, Vt., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Loveland, of Maple Leaf, were visitors at the Nourse home.

BURY LEGION HELD SMOKER IN TOWN HALL

Col. McA'Nulty, Sherbrooke, Gave Interesting Description of His Recent Trip to the Coronation—Retiring President Given Badge.

Bury, Que., July 20.—The Bury branch of the Canadian Legion held a smoker in the Town Hall on Saturday evening, July 10, which was largely attended by local veterans and visitors from Stanstead and Sherbrooke.

During the evening Mr. Struthers of the Provincial Command Executive gave a very interesting talk on Legion matters which was greatly enjoyed.

Col. W. M. McA'Nulty, of Sherbrooke, gave a talk on his trip to the Coronation in London followed by his trip to Berlin, Germany, as one of a delegation of good will visit to the German Veterans Organization, which was both entertaining and instructive.

Several of the local members made some remarks followed by the presentation of a Past President's badge to the retiring President of the local branch, Mr. Hubert Lawrence. The presentation was made by Mr. Struthers of the Provincial Command Executive.

A very enjoyable evening was spent and the veterans returned to their homes greatly benefitting by the get-together.

General Notes

Mr. A. Whitehead is making elaborate preparations for the annual reunion of the 117th Eastern Townships Overseas Battalion Association to be held this year in Bury on the Anniversary of the sailing of the Unit twenty-one years ago on August 14.

Mr. Charles Goodenough, who was in charge of the laying of pipes and hydrants for the new Bury Fire Protection system, has completed this portion of the work and the town is now equipped with hydrants and has a good pressure of water.

Mrs. Jackson and granddaughter, Miss Elmer Dunsmore, of Philadelphia, Pa., and Mrs. W. Dunsmore and Mrs. Alden Saunders, of Newport, Vt., were calling on Mrs. Alex Doughterty on Thursday. Mrs. Dunsmore and her sister, Mrs. Jackson, have not met for many years when Mrs. Dunsmore, who was then a young girl, left her home in Scotland to come to Canada.

Mrs. Albert Labonne and little daughters, Therese and Madeline, of Stanstead, and Mr. Albert Paquette and son, of Connecticut, called on Mrs. Alex Doughterty on Friday.

Mrs. O. T. Webster spent a few days in Sherbrooke, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Stevens.

Mrs. Mary Sargent, of Sherbrooke, was in town on Thursday and called on Miss B. Semple at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. O. Quinn.

MILAN

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Peter K. Macdonald and Miss Margaret Beaton included Mrs. Donald K. Macdonald, of Montreal, Mrs. William MacKinnon and three sons, of Thetford, Vt., Mr. and Mrs. Day, and two children, of Hanover, N.H., Mr. John Buchanan, of Gould, and Mr. George A. Smith, of Evesham, Sask.

Mr. Murdoch MacArthur spent a week-end in Danham.

Misses Mary Macdonald and Marjorie Macdonald were recent guests of Miss Letitia Halley in Mansonville. Miss Halley accompanied them back to spend a week with Mr. and Mrs. MacLeod.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Young and daughter, Alice, of Stanstead, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. D. MacIver and Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Campbell. Mr. Campbell accompanied the Youngs to their home on July 11th, where he will seek medical aid. It is hoped Mr. Campbell will benefit greatly from his trip and soon be restored to good health again.

Mr. Mac MacRae, of Montreal, was a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Graham.

Miss Catherine Nicholson, of Drummondville, was a recent visitor at her home here.

Mr. Parker Quint, a former resident of Macleod's Crossing, together with his daughter, Mildred, and her husband, all of Detroit, Mich., were recent guests of friends in Victoria and Dell districts.

Miss Katherine MacLean, of Marsboro, was a recent guest of Miss Isabelle MacArthur.

Mr. and Mrs. Huntington, of Newport, Vt., were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Neil MacIver.

Mrs. Jardine and Masters Paul and Bobby were in Megantic one day recently.

Messrs. Donald Gillies and John Miller, of Sherbrooke, were guests of the former's parents, Rev. and Mrs. Gillies, on July 11th.

Mr. Angus MacAulay has sold his farm, the old Malcolm MacKay farm, in the Middle District, to Mr. Payson Sherman, of Scottstown. Mr. MacAulay and his sister, Miss Christina MacAulay, are moving to Scottstown.

Miss Inez Nicholson, of Coaticook, spent a week-end at her home here. Miss Nicholson, who has been employed as a stenographer by the Mason and Parker Company in Coaticook since 1932, has received a promotion. Miss Mary Morrison, of Milan, who has substituted for Miss Nicholson on several occasions, has received a permanent position as stenographer in Miss Nicholson's place.

Mr. Malcolm Gillies, Jr., of Drummondville, is spending his vacation at his home here.

Mr. Murdoch Macdonald, of Scottstown, is spending a few days here visiting his grandfather, Mr. Murdoch J. N. Murray.

Rev. Mr. Malcolm Gillies left on Thursday for Saint John, N.B., from whence he will sail for a two months' visit to his old home in Scotland. Mr. Gillies has taken no holidays since coming to Marsboro and Hampden in May, 1935. His parishioners all wish him "bon voyage," a pleasant holiday and a safe return.

MOE'S RIVER

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. England and Miss Esther England, of Waterville, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parsons to Danham recently.

Miss Hazel Martin has returned to her home at Beebe. Her sister, Miss Carol Martin, is with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Tyler, for an indefinite time.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parsons were Mrs. Ralph Todd and daughter, Shirley, of Bulwer, Mr. and Mrs. Parsons, of Waterville, and Mrs. S. Shaw and Miss Evelyn Shaw, of Coaticook.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Bernard and family, of Waterville, Mr. and Mrs. C. Martin and family, of Beebe, Mrs. C. Richardson, of Bulwer, and Mr. Keith Richardson, of Perry, N. Y., were recent callers on Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Tyler.

Capital Investment In Canada.

A survey of a decade in Canada's manufactures reveals significant changes in the distribution of capital invested. Two industrial groups—central electric stations and the non-ferrous metal industries—have notably increased their share of the capitals employed. In all other groups with a single exception, notes Agricultural and Industrial Progress in Canada, the actual capitals have increased, though their proportions of the whole have declined. The total capital employed has increased substantially. Interesting changes have also taken place in the provincial distribution of the investment. The share of the total reported from Ontario and Quebec has decreased, and that in the Prairie Provinces and British Columbia has advanced.

The total capital employed in Canadian manufactures has risen from $3,338,813,000, in 1924, to $4,703,917,000, in 1934, or by nearly thirty-three per cent. Within that period the investment in central electric stations has advanced from $628,363,000 to $1,430,832,000, having more than doubled. In 1924 the percentage of all manufacturing capital represented by the investment in central electric stations was 17.8; while by 1934 it had risen to 30.4 per cent. The investment in the non-ferrous metal industries has increased in the same period from $114,334,000 to $263,488,000, the increase again being more than one hundred per cent. The proportion of the total manufacturing capitals for this group, which includes smelting and refining but not mining, advanced from 3.2 per cent. in 1924 to 5.6 per cent. in 1934.

The alterations in the distribution of capital among the industrial groups are due, it is clear, to the exceptional growth of the two branches already mentioned and not to decline in actual investment. The outstanding declines in proportionate rank are found in two large groups—wood and paper and iron and steel—in both of which the capitals have increased. The percentage changes in the other manufacturing groups are relatively small.

Britain Retains Shipping Leadership.

Much has been heard of late regarding the capture by foreign maritime nations of shipping business formerly enjoyed by British ships, and particularly of the keenness of competition through subsidization by foreign governments of shipping services.

In spite of all this talk, Britain still remains far in the lead, not only over the next largest shipping nation but over the next three or four of them. According to a table published by the Maritime Commission of the United States in connection with its proposals for expansion of American shipping the relative positions of the six leading nations of the world in ocean-going shipping is as follows:

|               | Ships | Gross tons |
|---------------|-------|------------|
| Great Britain | 2,129 | 13,209,000 |
| Japan         | 602   | 3,025,000  |
| United States | 442   | 2,790,000  |
| Germany       | 403   | 2,747,000  |
| Italy         | 370   | 2,291,000  |
| France        | 374   | 2,184,000  |

By a little addition it will be found that the aggregate number of ships for these five other nations is 2,251—just 122 more than for Great Britain—but their aggregate gross tonnage is only 13,037,000 as compared with the British total of 13,209,000. Britain has three and a half times more ships than Japan, the next largest shipping nation, and about as many times the amount of tonnage. She has nearly five times as many ships as the United States and well over four times the amount of tonnage.

Britain may not be so overwhelmingly dominant as the carrying-nation of the world as she once was but she still holds that position by an indisputable margin.

Rains Welcomed In The West.

Just when the crop outlook in the Western provinces was most discouraging and the farmer felt that all hope had failed, there have come generous rains to brighten the prospect materially.

The precipitation is reported as fairly general throughout Alberta, setting a record at Edmonton. Southern Alberta has had three days of rain that has cheered the farmers greatly and raised their hopes for wheat yields more than double those of last year. The rainfall extended also over a great part of the drought-stricken southwestern areas of Saskatchewan.

While the rains have come too late to save crops in the drought area, they have put an end to drought fears in other areas and will add greatly to the previous estimates of crop yields.

As a result of these rains, the farmers with crops may now look forward to much bigger incomes. With the heightened prices for grain, they will fare much better in this respect than was the case in 1936.

EDITOR'S NOTE-BOOK

The United States Consul at Toronto made a notable speech in which he stressed the friendship of the two countries. He was quite right in saying that people from the United States will continue to like Canadians so long as this country preserves its own entity.

Ontario highway officials believe the slow driver is the cause of more accidents than the driver who moves along between forty and fifty miles an hour and traffic police are being instructed to pay more attention to him.

It is always darkest just before the dawn. We hope this applies to the Provincial Road Department. Sherbrooke's centenary celebration dawns next month. The Sherbrooke-Lennoxville road is in its "darkest" stage at present.

The police officer at the public parking grounds is carried away by the exuberance of his own verbosity. He certainly "likes to direct traffic" and to make it difficult for those who attempt to park.

The Japanese Government has warned its people that it fears an outbreak of hostilities is impending. It might "fear" an outbreak but it is not doing much to avert it.

Russia, no doubt, would give a great deal to have some of Canada's Bisley men on her firing squad.

If it's worth while you can afford to work your fingernails off for it. If it isn't, forget it.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

From the Files of the Sherbrooke Record.
July 20th, 1907.
Quantity of merchandise taken from grocery store of H. Cook and Sons at Farnham by thieves who forced their way into the store.

Friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Gilbert, of Bishop's Crossing, honored them upon their thirtieth wedding anniversary.

Births reported: At Farnham, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ashfield; at Cowansville, a son to Mr. and Mrs. George Anthony.

Lamp explosion in home of Mrs. Whitefield threatened serious fire at Cowansville.

Mr. L. A. Belanger, of the "Progres de l'Est" accompanied by Mrs. Belanger and Miss Maud Griffith, left for Montreal, whence they will sail to Toronto and visit Niagara Falls and other points of interest before returning home.

At the closing meeting of the Agricultural Missionaries, Rev. F. V. Charest, of Sherbrooke, was unanimously re-elected secretary, and was also appointed to the Committee of Rules and Regulations and that of Management.

The final documents in connection with the agreement between the City of Sherbrooke and the Pearl Jewellery Company were signed by Mayor Farwell and F. J. Griffith, secretary-treasurer of the city.

Score of boys returned from the summer camp conducted by the Boys' Department of the Young Men's Christian Association, which was under the direction of W. S. Hopkins and Rev. C. W. Nicol.

Deaths reported: Mrs. Harry Bailey, an aged resident of Compton; Mr. Jacob Samuel, of Montreal, formerly of Sherbrooke.

THE STORM.

(Symbol of God's powers)—
The lightning's vivid flash,
With drenching heavy showers
And thunder's deafening crash.

Dealing ruin, death and wrath
Wherever God commands,
To anything within its path
From His Almighty hands.

Mountains, hills and valleys
All flung back the sound,
Like so many allies
On destruction bound.

Wild life madly racing
To their sheltered haunts;
Domestic quickly pacing—
Though not their courage daunts.

Feathered songsters seek their nest
And hush their joyous song,
As from the water's troubled breast
The storm re-echoes strong.

Sea-gulls wing their halting way
Across the darkening sky,
As though to keep the storm at bay
And powers to defy.

Mortals truly must confess
God in heaven reigns,
When with speed and dire distress
Lightning sweeps the plains.

But when the storm at last is o'er
The sun bedecks the sky;
Then humans all on sea and shore
Give thanks to God on high.

THE GENTLE ART OF IDLING.

The French Government, representative of one of the hardest working people in the world, is endeavoring to teach the inhabitants of France the art of idling. They have a Minister for Leisure, they have instituted a forty-hour week, and they will, no doubt, do all they can to further the cause they have at heart. The young alone, Monsieur Paul Morand says, "are happy on the enforced whole holiday of Saturday, the grown men are depressed, while the old are completely nonplussed (démontés). They stay at street corners, wearied by the unending empty day, and finally they retreat to their vineyards and kitchen gardens away from this baleful rest." There are people, says M. Morand, "marvellously gifted in the art of lounging. Negroes, for instance, are true idlers." Not everyone has their gifts!—Monsieur Paul Morand in Figaro, Paris.

25-MILE LAKE DRIES UP.

Dramatic evidence of the transition of a section of Western Canada to an area of severe drought is contained in news despatches that Lake Johnston, famed for years as a nesting place for millions of waterfowl, and the largest body of water south of the main line of the C.P.R. in Saskatchewan, is now a mere puddle of water and will probably be entirely dry by the end of July.

Once a lake twenty-five miles long and eleven miles wide, covering about 275 sections in area, Lake Johnston is already so low that cars can be driven right through the lake from north to south.

With the disappearance of the big lake and its conversion into an alkali plain, farmers of the area south of Moose Jaw are facing an added handicap in the white alkali powder that is now being scattered through the countryside with every windstorm.

Every lake in Alberta is shrinking annually, and some in the Southern and Eastern portions of the province are in danger of disappearing like Lake Johnston, but none have yet shrunk to the same alarming extent.

The fate of the largest lake in Southern Saskatchewan emphasizes the need for rehabilitation and conservation of available water supplies in the drought area. Conservation of the annual run-off of water from the Southern Prairies is becoming absolutely essential if the district is to preserve ability to support any population, and work of providing dams and reservoirs to hold the natural water should proceed as rapidly as possible.—Calgary Albertan.

THE ENGLISH ON THE ENGLISH.

The other day, one of Mussolini's newspapers called the English "alcoholic hyenas." The Hamilton Spectator, discussing international speculation, recalls some gibes hurled at the English by Napoleon ("a nation of shopkeepers") and "the English soldiers are the greatest in the world, led by the greatest asses") and concludes that the one just mentioned is "the flattest gibe on record."

Plat and merely a pointless epithet the Italian gibe surely is, and it will have little or no effect upon the English. They are insured to taunts from foreigners, and jeers and ridicule roll off them like the well-known water off a duck's back. But if that were all, they would perhaps deserve condemnation for a studied indifference to critical barbs is a sign of obstinate complacency.

Among the severest critics of the English are the English themselves. It was not an embittered foreigner who said after voting that he would not even fight in England, but Byron. Daniel Defoe spoke of "that vain, ill-natured thing, an Englishman," while Hazlitt is on record as saying, "the English are a foul-mouthed nation."

Kipling has sneered at as well as praised the English, his famous allusion to "muddled oafs and flannelled fools" proves. But Carlyle was responsible for the "mostly foolish" dictum when he wrote of "twenty-seven" millions of English, mostly foolish." G. K. Chesterton probably said similar things, but for one of his celebrated verdicts was that England is divided into three classes, "knaves, fools and revolutionists."

Bernard Shaw, though he boasts of being Irish, has had his say about the people he has lived with most of his life. "No Englishman," he has observed, "has any common sense, or ever had, or ever will have." But what he has said in caustic criticism of the English would fill a tidy volume.

Horace Walpole said he would like his country well enough, "if it were not for my countrymen." Cecil Rhodes spoke of the uncouthness of my countrymen, and Samuel Pepys long ago was moved to remark, "But Lord! to see the absurd nature of Englishmen; they cannot forbear laughing and jeering at everything that looks strange." It was Swift, however, who launched the bitterest gibe against the English when he said, "the bulk of your natives are the most pernicious race of little odious vermin that nature ever suffered to crawl upon the surface of the earth." And it was H. G. Wells who summed the whole matter up: "The favorite topic of all intelligent Englishmen is the adverse criticism of things British."

No other nation could bear having said of it the things which have been said of England. That is one of the things that make the English great, and it is lack of self-criticism and a hypersensitiveness to the mildest reflection from an outsider that betrays immaturity in other nations. Ottawa Citizen.

WAR DEBTS SEEN AS TOTAL LOSS

The governments of six States which fought in the Great War and borrowed billions from the United States recently warned Washington of their present incapacity to pay the sum which they undertook to remit semi-annually.

That is not anything new. Up to date these nations have total arrears of $1,620 millions toward the United States. The Government of the United Kingdom itself is in arrears. It should have remitted more than $5 and a half millions on the 15th of June to the American treasury; it is content to assure the American Government through the British Ambassador at Washington of its profound desire to resume with the Government of the United States dealings on the subject of this formidable war debt.

Thus Great Britain owes Washington for its own part $872 millions due and remaining unpaid. All this will probably wind up by cancellation, well and truly agreed upon. That would be nothing but a routine operation, for from this time on it is generally admitted that Washington will never get a cent out of its heavy credits.—Le Canada, Montreal.

INVENTORY OF NATURAL RESOURCES

Hon. Onesime Gagnon, Minister of Mines, Game and Fisheries, promised, soon after he assumed office, that he would undertake a complete inventory of the natural resources of the province, as soon as was practically possible. And he has lost no time in keeping his word.

Main result of the inventory now under way is that our Provincial Authorities will have all the documentation necessary, carefully and completely compiled, about the natural resources of Quebec, so that they can be put to the best use possible, in the best, quickest and most convenient manner.

Particularly beneficial, we believe, will be the geological survey now being undertaken by eleven Government groups of experts. The province has considerable interest in knowing both the quantity and quality of its mineral wealth.

One suggestion we would like to make, while we are about it, is that the next step is aiding the development of Quebec's important mining industry would be for Hon. Mr. Gagnon, and Minister of Roads F. J. Ledue, to get together, to give our mining region all necessary media of communication.—La Presse, Montreal.

COMMUNISTS TO AID CATHOLIC YOUTH GROUPS

French Communist Youth Federation Offers Support to Catholic Body in Drive for Peace and Betterment of Conditions.

Paris, July 20.—The French Communist Youth Federation yesterday pledged itself to work in friendly co-operation with the Catholic Christian Youth Workers' League for peace and other common aims.

The pledge was contained in a letter from R. Guyot, president of the Federation, published in the Communist organ L'Humanité, to the president of the League, and coincided with the Catholic organization's annual congress. The letter read as follows:

"In the name of 100,000 young men and girls enrolled in the Communist Youth Federation, we extended fraternal greetings to the Christian Youth Workers.

"We hope that in the wake of our Congress—held at a few days interval—the Communist and the Christian Youth Workers will maintain friendly relations throughout the country.

"We believe, in fact, that although we are separated by doctrinal divergencies, nothing should prevent our community of action in coming to the aid of unhappy youth, ameliorating the condition of the young worker, defending liberty of conscience, and striving for peace. This opinion found sincere and enthusiastic expression in the course of our ninth National Congress at Paris, from July 10 to 14."

A stirring address was delivered by Jean Cardinal Verrier, Archbishop of Paris, to the 60,000 youngsters who jammed the Parc des Princes Stadium yesterday for the closing Congress ceremonies of the "Jocistes"—Christian Youth Workers League.

"My dear Jocistes, today you give immense hope to the church, France and the entire world," the Cardinal declared.

"Sixty thousand youths, coming from all points in France to assemble in the capital of their country, proclaim before the whole world their intention to bring Christ everywhere. Never since the time of the Crusades has a similar Christian impulse stirred so many hearts or provoked so much enthusiasm."

PASTOR TRACED CHURCH'S LIFE AT MASSAWIPPI

Rev. Parry, of Hatley, Based Sermon on Life and Mission Work of Rev. Charles Stewart, First Church of England Missionary to Stanstead County.

Massawippi, July 19.—The church service on Sunday, July 11th, was held by Rev. Parry, of Hatley, whose discourse was based on the life and mission work of Rev. Charles Stewart, D.D., the first missionary of the Church of England to Stanstead County from England, and who became the second Bishop of Quebec.

Those from out-of-town attending the service were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hurd, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Worthen and Mr. John Worthen, of Ayer's Cliff, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taylor and daughter, of Newport, Vt., Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hurd, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hurd, of Concord, and Mrs. George Fish, of Toronto. These were interested in visiting the old church edifice as they are descendants of former families living here, the Hurd and LeBarons, who were connected with the erection of the church in 1861-1862.

In the early days of its existence Rev. Chester Hurd held the pastorate for the Free Will Baptists. Other denominations including Methodists, Universalists and Adventists occupied the church, each having a certain portion of the time, hence the name, Union Church.

The Bible used from the beginning was donated by Stephen Foster, of Rock Island and Derby, Vt., and his name is still in the cover in gilt letters. But with the passing of years, many changes have taken place, and there is not one of the original ones left who once owned and occupied the thirty-eight pews bought by auction. From time to time the heirs and others, by subscription, have made repairs and changes. Of late for several years the church has been closed, but a Board of Trustees has been maintained.

CENTENNIAL EDITION WILL FIND ITS WAY TO EVERY PROVINCE IN DOMINION

The Mail-Away list for the Centennial edition of the Sherbrooke Record which will be published July 31 is rapidly lengthening.

For the past six weeks the editorial room and mechanical department of the Record have been hard at work getting the material assembled, and soon printing will be commenced.

The history of Sherbrooke will be reviewed from the early days of settlement, replete with photographic reproductions and columns of reading matter, contributed by local authorities or gathered by the news staff of the Sherbrooke Record.

You as a regular reader will naturally receive a complete Centennial copy, but you will want to send some to your friends who are far away. Send in your order now for extra copies. We are confident that you will want to put your own copy away for future reference.

Wrapping and mailing such a bulky paper will be a task. Postage will cost five cents. Why not let us do you the service. Fill the names in on the blank forms which have appeared in the Record. Please enclose 10 cents for each copy required and we will relieve you of the trouble of mailing.

South has opened the bidding with one club. West has overcalled with one diamond. In modern bidding practice, should North now bid one spade, one heart, or pass?

In the standardized code, there are only three conventional calls, the double for a takeout, the overcall in opponent's suit and the 4-5 no trump convention. Bridge authorities believe that complicated artificial conventions are unnecessary even in expert competition. They prefer rather the free flow of natural inferences.

Today's hand shows the approved method of overcalling in opponent's suit, and natural inferential bidding as the road to a slam.

West's opening bid is strong, and North's overcall certainly is sound. East's freak distribution justifies the free bid of two hearts, and West, with this knowledge, now overcalls in opponent's bid suit to show no losers.

This by inference shows support for hearts. East by his heart rebid shows length in that suit, and when West bid five hearts it is a demand to bid six if he held the ace of hearts. The hand, of course, is a laydown.

TWO PROTESTS ON VALUATION TURNED DOWN

Leon Darche Appointed Director of New Tourist Bureau and Comfort Station—Alderman Vincent Opposed to Renovations to Silver Spring Premises.

Homologation of the special valuation roll for tenant and business taxes after two protests had been rejected; acceptance of J. R. Royer's tender of $22,700 for repairs and renovations to the old Silver Spring premises for establishment of a silk hosiery mill, this contract being subject to the signing of a lease between the city and officials of the newly organized company; appointment of Leon Darche, who has been a member of the valuers' staff at the City Hall for several years, as director of the new tourist bureau and comfort station now under construction, and tabling of committee reports were the principal items on the agenda before the City Fathers at yesterday afternoon's special summer meeting of the Municipal Council.

The Council studied two protests—one from J. M. Nault, Ltd., and the other from the Federal Clothing Company—in connection with the valuation of roll. In the first instance the complaint was made that the taxes had been based on the yearly lease of $5,500, whereas it was pointed out this figure included heating and the claim made that taxes should be levied upon only $4,500. W. L. McSwiggan explained to the aldermen that the customary system had been followed, and that the tax in Nault's case was fixed according to the annual lease, which was for $5,500. The heating, when included in a lease, was not regarded as a separate item. As no increase over last year had been made in the tax, the Council turned down the protest.

The Federal Clothing Company pointed out that their annual rental amounted to $240, but that taxes had been applied on $1,200.

In this case it was explained that the valuers, through a special clause in the lease, had done the right when they considered a rental figure too low, to base the tax upon what they regarded as a reasonable and just figure.

Mayor Emile Rioux and the aldermen were unanimous in the opinion that the right thing had been done by the valuers, and the clothing firm's complaint was also rejected.

Alderman Vincent went on record as opposed to the repairs and renovations to the Silver Spring premises. Nevertheless, J. R. Royer's contract was accepted, subject to the following conditions: First, that the said company sign the form of tender submitted by the Stewart Construction, Ltd., and, secondly, that before the contract with Royer is signed a lease be made and executed between the Silver Spring Mills, Ltd., and the City for the occupation of the building.

The Sheer Silk Hosiery Company, of which J. W. Terry is president and general manager, plans to install $50,000 worth of machinery and begin operation, employing fifty hands, by October 1st.

Alderman Vincent explained that he believed it would be preferable to purchase the St. Pierre premises in East Sherbrooke for the silk mill purpose. Such a venture, he believed, would cost the city less than $10,000, while the repairs and alterations to the old Silver Spring premises will amount to close to $25,000.

The Council also decided that temporary taxi licenses be issued during the centenary for the sum of $5. These licenses, which expire on September 5th, will be issued only upon the recommendation of Chief of Police Camirand.

Extension of the gas main on Arthur Lane; reinforcement of the railings and repairs to the sidewalks on the Wolfe street bridge; and decoration of the Lanesboro market for the Centenary celebration were also decided upon.

Traffic signals will be installed at the corner of Bowen and King street east, at an approximate cost of $447, and the recommendation contained in the report submitted by Captain T. O. Leggett, of the Montreal Police Traffic Division, will be carried out.

The Council studied a complaint from employees of local bakeries regarding employment on Sunday, and agreed that the matter came under federal jurisdiction.

TEXTILE FIRM GIVES A THREE PER CENT. BONUS

Members of Sherbrooke Catholic Syndicate Will Cast Strike Vote Today on Issue of Provincial Collective Labor Agreement.

Textile workers belonging to the National Catholic Syndicate prepared to take a secret strike vote today on the issue of a provincial collective labor agreement, almost simultaneously with announcement by the Dominion Textile Company of a three per cent. bonus on the wages earned during April, May and June.

Eugene Caron, general organizer of the Catholic Syndicate, stated this morning that night workers would mark their ballots between four and six o'clock this afternoon, and day employees between eight and twelve o'clock tonight.

The result of the strike ballot for all textile mills in the Province of Quebec is expected to be made known within a week or so, Mr. Caron added.

Two local unions, one belonging to the Dominion Textile Company and the other to the Paton Manufacturing Company, have notified Montreal Textile Company officials that they will have no part in the projected provincial agreement and will not take part in any strike that may be declared over the issue. Eugene St. Pierre, the unions' legal adviser, claims that textile workers belonging to the National Catholic Syndicate, a local of the National Catholic Federation of Textile Workers, are greatly in the minority as far as Sherbrooke is concerned. Syndicate officials maintain that the Federation embraces between sixty and seventy per cent. of all textile employees in the Province.

In Montreal yesterday afternoon, Premier Maurice Duplessis declared that there would be no closed shop in the Province of Quebec. Workers have the right to organize, he said, but neither the international unions nor the Catholic unions will be permitted to establish a closed shop in this province. "The closed shop," he said, "is the cause of trouble and is an attack upon the rights which our workmen have to work freely."

Representatives of the Dominion Textile and Paton Mill unions are demanding a local collective agreement.

Announcement of the three per cent. bonus was made by R. F. Daniels, manager of grey mill operations, in a statement clarifying the company's reaction to the request of the Catholic Federation for a collective labor agreement. He pointed out that the company's basic scale of wages was now at the 1929 peak level and that its policy of sharing any benefit of improved business conditions had enabled a second bonus to its employees this year, bringing total remuneration above the 1929 mark.

Mr. Daniels' statement follows: "On Friday, July 30, the 7,000 pay envelopes of the Dominion Textile Company, Limited, employees will contain, in addition to their regular fortnightly wages, which average over $30 per employee, a three per cent. bonus payment figured on the total wages earned by each employee who worked steadily on the 12-week period from April 6 to June 24, 1937."

"This is in addition to the bonus paid April 23 on wages earned during the first three months of this year. This is in keeping with the company's time-honored policy of sharing with its employees any benefit of improved business conditions."

The textile company's attitude towards demands of the National Catholic Federation of Textile Workers, affiliated to the National Catholic Syndicate, follows:

"In view of the present day agitation which is being carried on by the Federation Catholique Nationale dans le textile in the mills of this company, and the necessity to give our employees and the public a complete picture of the situation up to date."

"From remarks coming from the Federation it would appear as if the Dominion Textile Company had refused to interview or to discuss the situation with any of the officers of this union. Such is not the case, as Blair Gordon, managing director has had several meetings with Alfred Charpentier, general president of the National Catholic Syndicate to which the Federation is affiliated. Correspondence has also been carried on between Mr. Gordon and other officers of the organization."

"The union is claiming the right to represent the employees of the Dominion Textile Company and yet would appear that only a very small minority of our employees might be said to belong to the union. At the Hochelaga rally held Friday night approximately 250 to 300 employees attended out of an approximate payroll of 1,000 workers. At a further meeting held Saturday night for Saint Henry and Cote St. Paul employees the proportion of attendance was even smaller."

"The demands of the union as presented to the company show a complete lack of knowledge of textile business conditions in this province at the present time. The wage increases demanded range from a minimum of 14.58 per cent. to a high of 120 per cent. As near as can be judged, over all it would mean a 40 to 45 per cent. increase and this based on a $5,000,000 annual payroll would be from $2,000,000 to $2,500,000. This figure represents approximately the total net profit from operations earned by the company for last year."

"Unreasonable demands of this kind only serve to further demonstrate that the relationship between the company and its employees is

ALDRICH TO BE SENTENCED IN GUELPH TODAY

Expect St. Elie d'Orford Man Will Be Brought to Sherbrooke on Charges of Robbing Numerous Eastern Townships Summer Homes.

David Arthur Aldrich, of St. Elie d'Orford, long-sought fugitive wanted by Provincial Police authorities for robbing numerous summer homes in various parts of the Eastern Townships, will be sentenced in Guelph, Ont., today on charges of fraud, including several laid in Toronto.

Aldrich, who was arrested in Toronto, disappeared from this district in 1932 when the police investigation led to a series of wholesale robberies led to his home in St. Elie d'Orford. He escaped by representing himself as a narcotic sound detective and fish and game warden. It is expected that efforts will be made by the Attorney General's Department to bring Aldrich to Sherbrooke to answer to the charges preferred against him.

much better served by direct negotiations rather than through an outside intermediary.

"The company are anxious to retain the happy relationship with its employees which they have always held in the past and are now more convinced than ever that this can be best achieved by the direct contact which has existed since the company's inception."

"In December, 1936, wages of this company were returned to their level of 1929. In April of this year an additional bonus was paid on aggregate earnings of all employees who had worked steadily for the three months ending April 3. Pursuing this policy of sharing with their employees any benefit of improved business conditions the company has just announced a further bonus payment of 3 per cent. on aggregate earnings for the 12-week period ending June 23."

In addition, the Dominion Textile Company has posted notices in its eight mills throughout the province, which state, in part: "This company has never been unionized, but no company has consistently paid better wages, provided better working conditions, or has done more for the welfare of its workers. It was not a union that caused the company to pursue the policies it has pursued for many years, and intends to pursue in the future, unless the whole status of our employee relationship is changed."

"This company has never believed that membership in a union is helpful to its workers or is helpful to the company. It will not interfere in any way with your right to join a union but no union has ever had, or ever will have, as much interest in you and your welfare as the management of this company."

"We are not seeking to impugn the good faith of an organization soliciting your membership and with whose representatives we have had friendly meetings and discussions. Our only desire is that our employees should realize that they are perfectly free to govern themselves as they please, and if they wish to continue to place their trust in this company in their welfare, we can assure them it will be honored in the future as in the past."

MEMORIAL FUND WILL BE USED FOR BUILDING

Contributions by Industries and Private Individuals Being Set Aside for Construction of Public Auditorium, Mayor Rioux Explained Today.

Money being subscribed to the Centenary Memorial Fund by industries and private individuals is being set aside for the construction of a municipal building and will not be used for any other purpose, Mayor Emile Rioux declared this morning in an interview with the Record.

Many Sherbrooke citizens are of the opinion that subscriptions are being used for the Centenary Celebration, but this is not the case, Mayor Rioux stated.

To date close to $15,000 has been subscribed by private individuals and concerns, and these were advised for what purpose their contributions would be used. "Personal" His Worship declared, "and if that money is ever put to use for anything other than that of erecting a community hall I will sue the City to get it back. Contributors have been acquainted with the purpose of the Memorial Fund, and no money has been obtained under false pretences."

The construction of a spacious municipal building, housing public libraries, the Mayor reiterated this morning, is badly needed in this city, and the Memorial Fund is designed to provide the groundwork for such a building.

Sherbrooke possesses no adequate hall for the holding of conventions, the staging of plays and concerts, and Mayor Rioux believes that no time should be lost in providing this city with just such a building.

MARRIAGES

PHILLIPS-VIOTTI
A quiet but pretty wedding took place on Saturday afternoon, July 17th, when Doris Evelyn, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Viotti, and Mr. Frederick Walter Phillips, son of Mrs. Phillips and the late Mr. Phillips, were given in marriage. Rev. D. W. S. Lennon, pastor of Trinity Church, officiated at the ceremony which was solemnized at "The Parsonage," Court street. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a becoming navy blue triple-sheer ensemble, a corsage of pink roses and white accessories. Mrs. Albert Hatch, the bride's only attendant, was gowned in navy and white crepe with corsage of carnations. Mr. Albert Hatch acted as best man.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Esplanade avenue. Later Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Phillips left for their honeymoon trip. They will take up residence in Sherbrooke.

ADVERTISING TO TELL ABOUT CHAIN STORES

Newspaper Space to Be Used in Showing Benefits to Public of Modern Methods.

Believing that the public has not fully understood the purposes, aims and benefits of the operation of all types of chain stores, an advertising campaign has been prepared which will begin immediately to appear in this paper and continue through to the end of the year.

Chains are all, or nearly all, large buyers of newspaper space for the purpose of selling to the public the goods which they buy from primary producers and manufacturers everywhere (largely in Quebec for Quebec stores), but this advertising campaign is different in that it will tell the public about the chain stores themselves, how they buy goods in Quebec, and how they aim to serve the great body of consumers with the newest, freshest and best quality goods.

The campaign, reads the announcement from the Canadian Chain Stores Association, University Tower Building, Montreal, is intended to create an appreciation of the value of chain stores to any community in which they are located. The announcement adds that it is hoped that the campaign will remove misunderstandings which may exist.

Styles in Stoves Show as Much Advance as Styles in Dresses

In the days of fairs, bustles and hoop-skirts our grandmothers had to content with dirty, messy cook-stoves and slow, old-fashioned cooking methods. Talk as you will about those "good old days," the fact remains that housewives today have a much easier time than their grandmothers did. Dress designers came to their rescue with a succession of style changes that resulted in the smart clothes of today that combine comfort and beauty so artistically. Changes in cooking, while more gradual, were even more pronounced because of the introduction of electricity.

The modern electric range has freed women from kitchen slavery and made cooking a pleasure instead of a chore. Foods cooked with electricity taste better, retain more juices and shrink less than when cooked by any other method.

Mr. Kenneth Johnson has left for White Deer, in the Laurentians, where he will remain for the remainder of the summer.

Mr. E. Dossett conducted the services one Sunday recently at St. Luke's Church, Waterville, in the absence of the rector, Rev. Norman Egerton, who was in New York.

Mrs. Samuel Stone, of West Shefford, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. F. C. Buck, and Mr. Buck.

Miss Ellen McKenna is a guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. P. Kendall.

Miss Isabel Buck spent a few days

April last, while attempting to control a grass fire.

Mr. Ellison has been a resident during the past twelve years, of Stanbridge Station, where he went to live following his retirement as a railroad engineer after forty years of service, a portion of which time was spent with the old South Eastern, living for many years in Richmond, Vt.

Mr. Ellison would have celebrated his seventy-eighth birthday in September next, having been born at Cowansville.

The deceased was for many years a member of the Bedford Lodge, A.F. and A.M. No. 60 and of the United Church of this town.

In addition to his widow, Mr. Ellison is survived by two children, a son and a daughter.

The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon at two-thirty o'clock at his late residence in Stanbridge Station, the pastor of the Bedford United Church, the Rev. J. W. Conrad, officiating, with interment in the Union Cemetery, Bedford.

MRS. HENRY ASTBURY, NORTH HATLEY.

There entered into rest at the Sherbrooke Hospital on June 14th, Mary Martin, dearly beloved wife of Henry Astbury, daughter of the late Captain Henry Eade and his wife, Nancy Thomas Eade and granddaughter of the late William Thomas and Opie Eade.

Mrs. Astbury was born May 10, 1851, at Newlyn East, Cornwall, England. She went to New York at the age of twenty, where she married William Martin, later coming to Canada. Of this union there were four children, W. T. Martin, of Stanbridge Station, and Lilian, Mrs. B. Hibbard, of Boyton, Que., and two who died in infancy. Following Mr. Martin's death, she married Henry Astbury and made her home on a farm in North Hatley, where she resided more than fifty years. Of this union there were four children, W. T. ## THE STORY THUS FAR

Carol Clayton postpones her marriage to wealthy Hartley Madison in order to play the races so that she may pay to Duke Bradley, handsome book-maker, the $76,000 racing debt incurred by her dead father. Her luck is phenomenal, and Duke, through whom she places her bets is all but wiped out. Duke is eager to recoup his losses through Hartley, but Carol prevents this. She realizes she has fallen in love with Duke and after winning enough to pay her debt to him in full, confesses her love to him. She wants to break her engagement to Hartley. Duke is furious at this because if she antagonizes Hartley he loses his only chance to recoup and he'll be ruined. Her love turns to hate. She coldly promises Duke she will persuade Hartley to bet in the Hopeful at Saratoga. She and Hartley are betting on Moon Ray. Duke is betting on Lightning. Carol makes secret plans with Dixie Gordon, ace jockey, who is supposed to ride Lightning, to ride Moon Ray instead. Hartley then phones Duke to come to the house and take over a staggering bet. Meanwhile Fritzie O'Malley, owner of Lightning, discovers the switch in jockeys and frantically tries to reach Duke in order to warn him against taking Hartley and Carol up on their bet.

"If you really will forgive me — and marry me, I promise I'll never be jealous again as long as I live."

Fritzie squeezed his hand. "You can order the Lohengrin, march any time, honey. It will be O. K. with me. It's a queer thing — you're jealous, you hate horses, even if you do buy 'em for me, you can't stand being around races and that's where I come alive, and you've just pulled a class A boner! But nevertheless and notwithstanding, I love you."

"And I love you."

"And Duke loves Carol."

Kiffie stiffened. Fritzie saw it. "There you go again," she sighed. "I can't even mention the guy's name without your being jealous. Can't I even feel sorry for him — after all you've let him in for?"

"Yes, yes, of course. I won't be jealous any more — honestly I won't."

Fritzie glanced at the clock anxiously. Kiffie did not need to be told what she was thinking.

"Yes, he should be there by now," he said. "You'd better call him again, dear."

Rosetta had not failed. Fritzie. She opened the door before Duke had rung the bell.

"You're to call Miss O'Malley right quick, Mr. Duke. She just phoned and said it was something powerful important."

"All right, Rosetta — I'll phone just as soon as I've spoken to Mr. Madison. He's waiting for me and that's powerful important, too."

"But she seemed all excited," protested Rosetta. "She said you was to phone right away quick. And I promised —"

"O.K., Rosetta. If you say I'm to phone her first, who am I to do any-

"That's what I say. And I'm willing to prove I mean it," said Madison. "What odds can you give me?"

"Ten to seven?"

"That's all right with me."

"How much do you want?"

Duke held his breath. This was the big moment. He took his cigar from his mouth and put it down on an ash-tray. It was placed in exactly the same position as the one had been in Carol's bedroom in the Los Angeles hotel, Hartley saw it. His suspicion was confirmed. There was violence in his voice when he answered Duke's question.

"Fifty thousand."

"O. K.," said Duke and in his excitement he did not wonder why Carol, who had appeared sullen, now looked grimly triumphant. "You can make it more, if you want to."

"What's the most you could cover?"

Duke didn't answer for a moment. He strolled over to the window and looked out across the garden to the white stables, gleaming in the moonlight. When he spoke, there was a new note in his voice.

"A great spot here, Madison. A few thousand would make it just about the loveliest place in the world — with some new barns stocked with thoroughbreds."

"I asked you what's the most you could cover," said Madison sharply. "So you did. Would you want to make that bet?" — he paused — "a hundred thousand?"

"O. K.," Madison agreed.

They shook hands on it, Madison was jubilant. But Duke was on the mountain tops. There was a knock on the door and Rosetta stuck her head in.

"Excuse me everybody," she said. "But Miss O'Malley is on the wire

For a moment Madison was stunned.

"Why—why, certainly not," he said.

"Then, it is still on."

Duke started for the door. He stopped short before a shelf full of silver cups that the long line of Brookdale horses had won. For a moment he studied them. He picked up the smallest one. It was shaped like a mug.

"Mind if I take this along?" he asked with a wry smile.

They looked at him, unable to answer. He tucked it under his arm.

"Thank you for the silent consent," he said. "It won't be missed here. And I may need it after the Hopeful tomorrow, you know."

Carol and Madison still could not speak. Duke said no more. He walked quickly to the door. Then he was gone.

Have Hartley and Duke shown Carol of what they are made in this crisis? Does she now think that revenge is not so sweet? She learns more about her two men in tomorrow's installment. Don't miss it! (To be continued.)

GARDEN PARTY WAS A SUCCESS AT SWEETSBURG

People from Surrounding Districts Flocked to Christ Church Garden Party—Net Receipts of $144.09 Realized.

Sweetsburg, July 20.—The annual garden party in aid of Christ Church proved a success both socially and financially.

The tables of various articles were well patronized by a large number of people from the surrounding towns and rural communities.

The Covansville Band furnished music which was augmented by several splendid cornet solos by Mr. Arthur LeBreault, of Springfield, Mass., who was heartily cheered many times.

The total receipts of the evening were $210.20 with expenses amounting to $66.11, leaving a balance in the treasury of $144.09.

Thanks are owed to Mr. Vincent Leonard, local jailer, and Sheriff W. F. Kay for the use of Sweetsburg Park and help in various ways, and to Mr. A. G. Jameson, people's warden, for making necessary arrangements for the event.

General Notes.

Miss Elvia Lucas, of Dunkin, underwent a tonsil operation at the Sweetsburg Hospital recently, performed by Dr. E. W. S. Brown, of Granby.

Mr. Clark Beard, of Iron Hill, is progressing nicely at the local hospital where he underwent an operation for appendicitis, performed by Dr. G. F. L. Fuller, of Covansville.

Master Norman Guillotte, of Knowlton, is progressing nicely at the local hospital following an operation for appendicitis.

Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, Rhode Island, and South Carolina require two years' residence in the state as a qualification for voters.

"I don't want to believe it!" he said.

"But you do—do you?" she asked, looking him squarely in the eye. She had convinced him, for the moment at least. He took her hand.

"Darling," he cried.

It was then that Duke came back into the room. He had his hat. He knew the truth—one look at his face and Carol and Madison knew that in some way, Fritzie had discovered what had happened and had told him.

"Goodnight, folks," said Duke. "Going, Duke?" asked Madison.

"Yes," he answered. "I've got to help Fritzie dig up another jockey to ride Lightning."

Madison saw the look on Carol's face. It told him plainly that against heavy odds, she had taken the bet. But there was a chance he could show him up. It was worth talking. There was a challenging note in his voice when he spoke.

"I suppose, Duke," he said, "that now you'll want to watch on that bet?"

"Would you?" Duke shot at him.

CUBS HOLD GAME MARGIN ON NEW YORK GIANTS

Chicago Chalked Up Another Victory at Expense of Dodgers While Cards Were Trimming Giants—Yanks Continued Their Winning Ways.

It must be cheering news to manager Frankie Frisch that Jerome Dean is hastening to Boston to rejoin his fellow-St. Louis Cardinals and help put them back on the right, or pennant-winning, track.

For the Dizzy one, if he sticks to his principles and precedents of being the expected unexpected, wouldn't surprise anyone by using his sore big toe as the spring-board to a new winning streak.

Dean hasn't pitched a National League game since July 4 and hasn't pitched at all since the all-star game in Washington. That was where he stuck his foot in the way of a line drive and limped to the sidelines.

Pilot Frisch has missed the Dean right arm no end. But, if he hasn't missed it even more, it's due to a recent discovery.

The discovery goes by the name of Silas Kenneth Johnson. On the Cards' current road trip, that discovery won four games, his latest a three to two defeat of the Giants yesterday, while the Red Birds have lost three.

Johnson, who up to then had appeared in sixteen games, had a record of one win and three lost.

Yesterday he saved the Cards from a shut-out in the four-game series and dropped the Terrymen to a full game behind the Cubs, who blanked the Brooklyn Dodgers by nine to nothing.

Tex Carleton turned in a six-hit effort against the Dodgers to keep the Cubs out front, and the Pirates nosed out the Phillies by six to five.

The Yanks carried on their American League slaughter. Freshman Tom Henrich hit a homer, a double and a single and furnished four runs in the eight to five triumph over the Indians.

The White Sox edged out the Red Sox by six to four, and the Tigers mauled the Senators for an eight to four triumph.

ROYALS TIGHTENED THEIR GRIP ON SECOND PLACE

The Rochester Red Wings are so far behind the Newark Bears it appears they are in another circuit, but the manner in which the Wings have been winning lately would credit even to the International League leaders.

Although it would take little short of a miracle to carry them to the top—they trail by twenty-five games—the Wings are in striking distance of the play-off positions, being only two and a half games back of the fourth place Toronto Leafs.

The sport largely responsible for their threatening position started on July 9. Since then they have played fourteen games, ten in the victory column. The tenth came last night, when they turned back the Baltimore Orioles by two to one.

The Toronto Maple Leafs whipped the Bears by six to three. The Leafs jumped with a five-run lead in the first three innings and then coasted to victory.

A three-run cluster in the third gave the Jersey City Giants a three to two triumph over the Buffalo Bisons.

Montreal Royals tightened their grip on second place with a double triumph over the third place Syracuse Chiefs. After coming from behind to win by six to four in the seven inning twilight affair, they took a five to four triumph in the second.

CITY TRANSIT KEPT LEAD IN SOFTBALL LOOP

Place-Setters in City Softball League Downed Rubin to Maintain Four-Point Margin—Kaysor and Paton Chalked Up Victories Over Hotelmen and Beavers.

City Transit maintained their place at the top of the City Softball League standing by pounding out a sixteen to six victory over Rubin on the Parade Grounds last evening while Kayser, with a six to four decision over New Wellington, maintained their position as runners-up four points behind the leaders.

Paton downed the Beavers by twelve to eight in the third tilt.

A big third inning in which the City Transit lads scored seven times put their game with Rubin in jeopardy, although the losers called for three runs in the sixth.

P. Gingsor and Goyette each tallied three times for Transit, R. Dion and J. Hibbard each twice, while W. Kirby, G. Roy and M. Dunsmore each came in with single markers. Scores for Rubin were Minard, with two, and Lachance, Bouchard, Roy and Murray, each with one. Bouchard socked a three-bagger for Rubin in the sixth.

Held scoreless for four innings while New Wellington were collecting two runs, one each in the second and third frames, Kayser combined two walks and two errors with singles by Drapeau and Courchesne for five runs in the fifth frame and added another tally on two errors in the following stanza to chalk up a six to four victory. Audet crossed the plate twice for the Silkmen and Drapeau, Dion, Charlier and Crompton each once.

The Hotelmen made a sixth-inning effort to pull the game out of the fire, Dugre and Brooks circling the bases on Trotter's hit, A. Roy and J. Vallierand were the other scorers for New Wellington.

Heavy hitting featured Paton's twelve to eight win over Beavers, with honors going to Millman Kouri who collected a homer and a double out of three times up. Fortier also slammed a circuit-clout, while Metivier had a three-bagger and R. Lessard a double.

For the Beavers, K. Bryce laced a four-base blow with one man on and W. Mutchler a triple. A five-run attack in the fourth frame scored the tilt for Paton. Kouri scored three times for the Millmen, Yergeau and R. Lessard each twice, and Laverdiere, Bibeau, P. Lessard, Metivier and Fortier each once, while C. Terrey and Bryce each tallied twice for the Beavers, whose other scorers were H. Terrey, D. Reid, Mutchler and D. Wooten.

ing into as many box scores as he used to. But when he does, as happened yesterday, fans and players alike realize the great job he is doing in keeping his club well up in the first division.

Handicapped by a sore leg all year, the scrappy Sox leader never so often comes up with a performance that stamps him as one of the greatest competitive ball players in the game's history. His team was tied with Boston yesterday at four-all on the eighth, with two on base.

Dykes, with his bad leg so sore he could not place all his weight on it, went in to pinch hit and lashed a double to right-centre which won the ball game.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Outstanding players in yesterday's major league games were:

Tom Henrich, Yankees: His homer, double and single drove in four runs and paced thirteen-hit attack that whipped the Indians by eight to five.

Tex Carleton, Cubs: Blanked the Dodgers by nine to nothing on six hits and blasted a triple that drove in two runs.

St. Johnson and Johnny Mize, Cardinals: Former tamed the Giants by three to two; latter bagged two doubles and scored as many runs.

Jimmy Dykes, White Sox: His pinch hit double in the eighth drove in the winning runs in six to four defeat of Red Sox.

Hank Greenberg, Tigers: Drove in four runs with a homer and two doubles as Detroit whipped the Senators by eight to four.

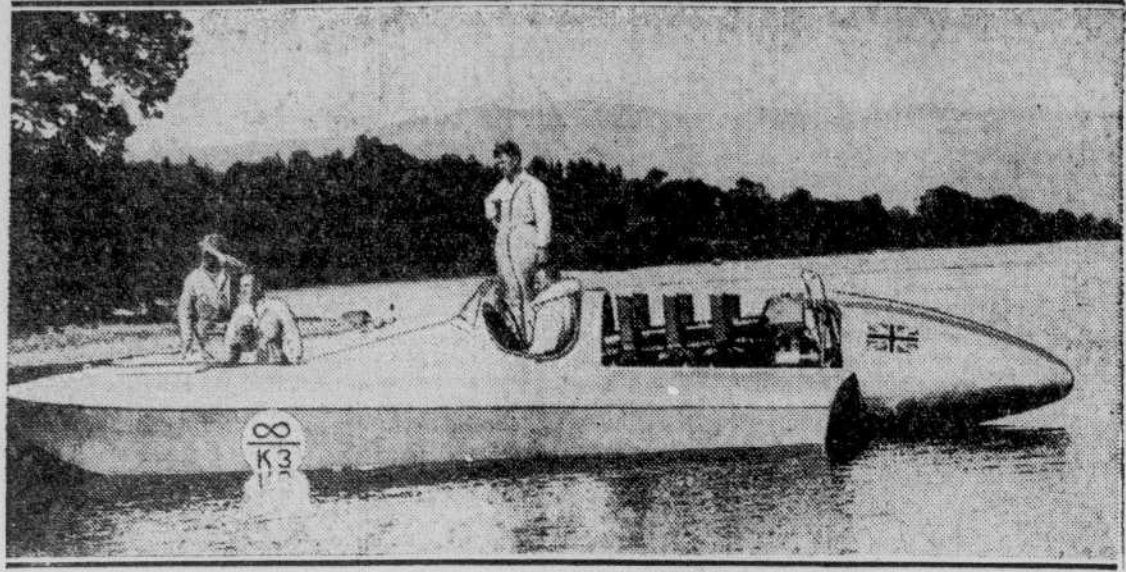

Paul Waner and Gus Suhr, Pirates: Their double and single in the ninth topped Phils by six to five.

FINAL SINGLES TO DECIDE U.S.- GERMANY MATCH

Heinrich Henkel, Stolid Teuton Ace, Defeated "Bitty" Grant to Boost Germany into a Tie with U.S. in Davis Cup Contest.

Wimbledon, England, July 20.—Heinrich Henkel, stolid Teuton ace, defeated the "Atlanta Atom," Bryan A. "Bitty" Grant, today 7-5, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4 and boosted Germany into a tie with the United States in the Davis Cup inter-zone tennis finals with only one singles match, between Don Budge, of Oakland, Calif., and Baron Gottfried von Cramm, yet to be played.

Aside from a temporary letdown in the second set, Henkel kept the tiny Grant well under control to bring the series count to two victories each.

It was Grant's second successive defeat of the series. He bowed to von Cramm, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2, in the opening match Saturday. Henkel split even in his two singles engagements, bowing to Budge, 6-2, 6-1, 6-3, on Saturday. The Americans' second point came yesterday when Budge and Gene Mako beat von Cramm and Henkel in the doubles, 4-6, 7-5, 8-6, 6-4.

BAD BREAK GAVE U.S. THE EDGE ON GERMAN PAIR

Wimbledon, England, July 20.—Heinrich Henkel's dark brown head, though no fault of its own, played a leading tragic role in Germany's defeat in the doubles of the inter-zone Davis Cup competition with the United States.

Had it chanced to be three inches to the left or right at the crucial moment yesterday, Germany quite possibly might be taking the Davis Cup home in eight days. It was one of those might-have-beens that perhaps are pointless but lend extra color to great sports competition.

The setting was this: Germany's von Cramm and Henkel were leading America's Don Budge and Gene Mako by one set and five to four in the second. With Mako serving the score went to deuce. Mako served to von Cramm and lobbed the return just over Henkel to the baseline.

Von Cramm faded back and across and struck a beautiful backhand angled drive that would have dropped between the Americans' double lines for an almost certain placement. But Henkel was a bit slow in his crossing at the net. Von Cramm's drive caught him full in the back of the head with a resounding thump.

There it was. Instead of having set point the Germans trailed, lost their touch momentarily and then set. After that, Budge and Mako could be stopped.

BOB MURRAY CAPTURED ANOTHER TITLE

Montreal, July 20.—Bearing on sturdy shoulders Eastern Canada's principal honors of amateur tennis competition, Bob Murray, of Montreal, has made his bid for the title of No. 1 player in the Dominion.

He holds both the Ontario and Quebec senior crowns and with Laird Watt, also a Montreal return, the senior doubles championships of two provinces.

Murray won his Quebec championships yesterday. At the peak of his form, he trounced hard-hitting Ross Wilson, of Toronto, in straight sets in the singles final of the Provincial Tennis Association's open meet. The scores were 6-3, 6-1, 6-1.

With the lanky Watt, the steady, young player defeated Wilson and Grant McLean, another Torontonian, 7-5, 6-2, 3-6, 4-6, 6-1 in the doubles final.

In his singles victory, Murray was way above the form he has shown in the United States tennis championships at Forest Hills, N.Y., or even at Wimbledon, where he has represented Canada.

There was no weak spot in the game he showed Wilson as the Toronto finalist found emphasized in the last set which required only twenty minutes.

The match was close in the first set. But even then Murray was in no danger of losing. Definitely on the upper hand when the second opened, it was apparent the Montrealer would carry off the title Roland Longtin, of Montreal, won last year. Murray did not compete in the tournament in 1936. This year Longtin fell before Murray's steady strokes in the quarter-finals.

In a third final yesterday, Simone Bernadet, of Montreal, won the women's singles title with a three-set defeat of Claire Walsh, of Toronto. Scores in the near-marathon match were 5-7, 6-4, 8-6.

SPORT FLASHES

New York, July 20.—Van Lingle Mungo, fireball ace of Brooklyn Dodgers, fears his pitching days are over. His mighty right arm is almost numb from elbow to shoulder. The best doctors in New York are X-raying and diagnosing.

From London comes word Don Budge will jump to the pros the minute the United States wins the Davis Cup.

No. 1 Giant rooster is Jack White, owner of "Club 18," a night spot. Jack has a big score board hanging on the wall of his joint. When the Jits win you can find the result in box car figures. When they lose, the sign reads: "No game today."

Add rags to riches: Harold Littman, who used to hustle peanuts at Ebbets Field, has just signed a contract for his Parkway football team of the American Association to use the Dodger field this season when the Brooklyn football Dodgers are playing abroad.

Tommy Farr, Marcel Thill, at arrival on the Berengaria today. Tommy is quoted as being "convinced" he will whip Jou Louis.

The Yankees (who should know) rate Bob Feller no better than sixth as a speed merchant. They place Van Mungo, Tommy Bridges, the Tigers, and others above Feller.

FIGURES ON SPRINGING SURPRISE ON EXPERTS

New York, July 20.—Henry Thomas is willing to let the boys think that the August 11 general of the Hamiltonian at Goshen, N.Y., will be strictly a two-horse race between W. N. Reynolds' Sennaps and Bill Strang's Twilight Song.

But while followers of the trotters are arguing over which is the better of the two, Thomas is quietly preparing a pair of fillies from Lawrence E. Heppard's Hanover, Pa., farms. Ace of the pair is Shirley Hanover. The other is Delphia Hanover.

Neither has started this year, but both are slated to make their three-year-old debuts in the National Stakes at Old Orchard Beach, Me., tomorrow.

Shirley earned her reputation as a two year old, finishing second to Twilight Song in the Lexington Junior Futurity. Previously, over the same track, she made her mark of 2:0 1-4.

Delphia's best time as a juvenile was 2:05 1-2. Like her stablemate, however, she was indicated in trials that it'll take several seconds faster to beat her when the ranking three year old trotters start racing for the big money at Goshen.

The match was close in the first set. But even then Murray was in no danger of losing. Definitely on the upper hand when the second opened, it was apparent the Montrealer would carry off the title Roland Longtin, of Montreal, won last year. Murray did not compete in the tournament in 1936. This year Longtin fell before Murray's steady strokes in the quarter-finals.

HORSE RACING FEATURED DAY AT COATICOOK

Free-for-All, Classified Race and Local Event Included in Programme—Ball Games and Bicycle Races Other Highlights of Programme.

Coaticook, July 20.—Featured by horse races, ball games and bicycle races, one of the finest programmes of its kind ever attempted in Coaticook was staged at the Amusement Grounds, formerly known as Meadow Park, on Sunday afternoon. Approximately three thousand people took advantage of the ideal weather to attend the entertainment, at which the Coaticook Band provided the music.

The horse races included a free-for-all and a classified race, together with the local class event, each of three heats. Shell Direct, owned by A. Fortin, of Montreal, captured the free-for-all, with Forest C., the property of A. Calo, of North Hatley, second and Royal Girl, owned by Eugene Trudeau, of Coaticook, third. Times of the heats were 2:14 1-2, 2:15 1-2, and 2:17 3-4.

Hussar, one of C. Taylor's Cookshire stable, romped home first in the classified event, followed by Eva Worthy, owned by Dr. Veilleux, of East Angus, and Tramp Napoleon, the property of A. Lamontagne, also of East Angus, in third position. Calumet Denmark, of R. Demers' Sherbrooke stable, placed fourth. The heats were run off in 2:21, 2:23 and 2:21.

In the local class, Silver Scott, owned by A. Chapdelaine, took first place, Dellia D., owned by Harvey Gendron, was second, Peter, with A. Poulin, as owner, third, and O. Dupuis' Blackjack fourth. The times were 2:35, 2:37 and 2:34.

The East Angus squad carried off the honors in the baseball game, defeating Barnston by fourteen to six, and the Knights of Columbus trimmed St. Jean Baptiste by nine to three in the softball contest.

Windsor Mills' riders took the first three places in the grueling five mile bicycle race, Tom Sundburg flashing across the finish line in first place, closely followed by Ted Sundburg, second, and M. Dubuc third. The winner's time was fifteen minutes and twenty seconds. The three mile grind was captured by Leon Vaillancourt in eight minutes and ten seconds, with C. Pelletier second and R. Pelletier third.
