

Police arrest eight in connection with activities of FLQ

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal police, capping weeks of quiet and intense investigations into Le Front de Liberation Quebecois, had eight persons and quantities of dynamite and bomb-timing mechanisms in their custody today.

Police director J. Adrien Robert announced late Sunday night that he could confirm eight arrests, but couldn't say much more until a press conference scheduled for 10 a.m. EDT today.

The FLQ has been blamed for bombings during the last three months that have killed one man badly injured another, and damaged armories, mailboxes, and other federally-owned property.

From sources within the police department, it was learned that among those being questioned were a native of Belgium and a Montreal-born former newspaper man.

Another was a mechanic for an aircraft parts and hydraulics factory.

Police officials could not give the nationalities of the others.

At least 150 sticks of dynamite, some alarm-clock timers, batteries, and rolls of wire were seized. Fifty sticks of dynamite were taken in raids Sunday night reporters saw a box containing about 100 sticks brought to the downtown headquarters of Montreal police. It was covered with dirt, as if it had been buried.

WANTS INDEPENDENCE

The FLQ is an extremist organization which, in stencilled "press releases," announced its intention to use violence to win Quebec's independence from Canada and to effect a social revolution.

The Gazette said it had learned police have "positive proof" the terrorist movement was Communist-led and that the Belgian, said to be 32 or 33 years old, came to Canada from Communist Cuba.

Rewards of $10,000 by the city of Montreal and $50,000 by the province were posted for information leading to the arrest of the terrorists.

MET INFORMER

Attorney-General Georges Lapalme told the legislature last Monday that he had been visited in his Montreal home by an informer, and Le Devoir says it is believed five of the eight were arrested last Wednesday as a result of the information Mr. Lapalme received.

The attorney-general would not comment. He said he did not want to interfere with the work of the police.

Montreal police carried out the raids unassisted, although technically the provincial police under director Josephat Brunet are in charge of co-ordinating the efforts of city, RCMP and provincial officers.

More US support for arms industry than in Canada

A British-trained computer expert for a Canadian aircraft firm Sunday said Canadian defence officials are less generous than United States ones in support for weapons manufacturers.

"I don't say they have a superior spirit of enterprise south of the border," said Neville Shevloff, computer chief with Canadair Limited of Montreal, "but they do seem more enlightened. The United States Air Force, for example, allocates part of its considerable funds to improve the plants of its suppliers."

Explosion sparks fire in Granby

GRANBY — (Special) — A cleaning fluid explosion at the corner of Drummond and Main Streets in Granby early this morning ignited a raging fire which completely destroyed one building and did extensive damage to two others across the street.

The explosion took place, according to Granby Fire Department officials, at 12:52 a.m. in the Granby Dry Cleaners Ltd. establishment and touched off several other blasts in the same building. The intense heat from these explosions and the resulting fire caused the building to collapse just forty minutes after the original blast.

Also housed in this three-story building was a dancing studio.

The fire spread across the street to the Leader Mail building doing damage to the roof and the outside of the building.

Confederation essential to an independent Canada

Mr. Justice Douglas Abbott of the Supreme Court of Canada, chancellor of Bishop's University, received an honorary doctorate of laws from the University of Sherbrooke Saturday, and told 250 graduates of the institution that only confederation can keep Canada "a free and independent nation."

"I am convinced," the former Liberal finance minister told U of S graduates, "that I express the opinion of the great majority of Canadians in all parts of the country when I say that some form of federal union is essential if we are to continue to exist and grow as a free and independent nation."

He saw, however, a need for a revision of the terms of the union. "All the hopes of 100 years ago have not been realized. The conditions we face today are far from the same as those of 1867. . . . So it is not surprising that our constitutional arrangements need to be brought up to date."

To fulfill their role in Canada's future, he urged universities not to become "mere technological institutions to train specialists, however important. The mission of the university must remain the enlargement of its students' horizons."

The University's other honored guest at the Saturday ceremony gave another view of the role present-day universities must fill.

Guy Daufresne de la Chevalerie, Belgian ambassador to Canada, speaking after he had been made an honorary doctor, said hunger on the other side of the world was pressing, and technicians were what was needed to treat it.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John clung stubbornly to life today, defying all medical predictions. But his doctors announced his condition was slowly, steadily worsening.

The 81-year-old pontiff survived another crisis Sunday night and yet another early today. Since Friday his doctors have said each day would probably be his last.

A medical bulletin at noon Rome time said that the Pope no longer felt the agonizing pain which had been racking him and sedatives and pain killers no longer were necessary.

The bulletin said the pontiff's temperature had gone up again, but "the cardio-circulatory condition remains, nevertheless, rather valid."

This was the text of the noon bulletin. "For some hours there has been increasing in the pontiff a state of stupor and therefore it has no longer been necessary to use sedatives and analgesics pain killers."

TEMPERATURE UP

"The temperature has gone up again. "The cardio-circulatory condition remains nevertheless, rather valid."

The Vatican radio said the Pope had been unconscious for several hours and that his temperature was above 104 degrees.

The Vatican radio also reported Benedetto Cardinal Aloisi Masella, the cardinal chamberlain, had gone to the Vatican along with Archbishop Francisco Carpino, secretary of the College of Cardinals, and other prelates.

Cardinal Aloisi Masella has the duty of certifying the death of a pope and becomes a sort of interim administrator during the interregnum between popes.

One Vatican source said terrible convulsions almost shook the Pope off his bed at one point this morning. Doctors were using sedatives to ease his pain, but the source said the pontiff during his periods of consciousness refused them.

At 8:30 a.m., the Vatican said he was fully conscious and able to follow the recitation of prayers by those at his bedside.

Death almost came at sunset Pentecost Sunday when he suffered an alarming crisis. It brought a Vatican radio plea to the world for prayer. Again his heart pulled him through.

Through the early hours of today the Vatican issued a series of statements saying that the agony was continuing slowly, the pope's life was ebbing, there was nothing to do but wait.

The Vatican said that the Pope's resistance to death had defied every medical expectation.

RALLIES AGAIN

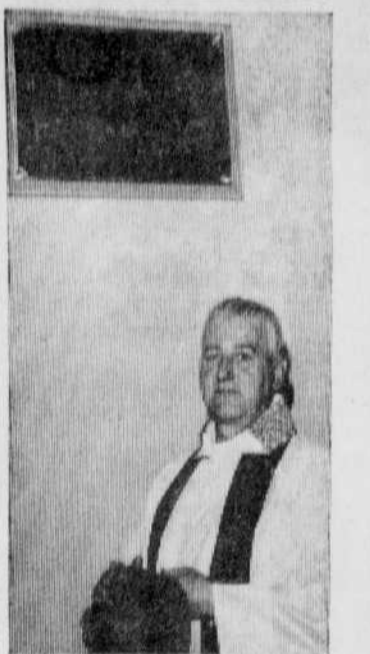

At 6:40 a.m., the Vatican press office announced that he had suffered still another crisis — but again had pulled through. The radio said the crisis seemed for a moment to have ended his life but he rallied once more, and the slow course of his suffering continued.

At 7:07 a.m., the Vatican radio announced that the Pope was suffering "atrocious pain" and had been holding a cross to his chest for more than four hours.

Consciousness came and went as the Pope lived through the night, but most of the time he was in a coma.

Only loss of consciousness eased Pope John's pain, the radio said.

New customs building is opened and Rotary monument unveiled

ROCK ISLAND — The official opening of the new Canadian customs and Immigration office took place on Saturday afternoon at the Border port of Rock Island, along with the unveiling of the local granite Rotary Goodwill monument and opening of a portion of the new Interstate highway 91.

David Sim, Deputy Minister of National Revenue (Customs Division) Ottawa, officiated for the opening of the building. He said the building will help in developing this part of Quebec. He also paid tribute to the Rotary monument.

The Rotary Goodwill monument was unveiled by Harold Bean, a charter member of the Boundary Rotary Club and by Robert Davis, a Past District Governor of this District, from the Newport club.

At the border, a ribbon-cutting ceremony was carried out by Mr. Vaillancourt and by Austin Foster, Derby Town Representative to Montpelier.

E. J. Struthers, as chairman of arrangements acted as Master of Ceremonies.

Yves Forest, M.P., Q.C., Magog, and George Vaillancourt, M.L.A., Coaticook, each spoke and commented on the good relationship along the border. Mr. Vaillancourt also brought greetings from Bernard Pinard, Quebec Minister of Roads, who was unable to attend.

Leo Vachon, Eastern District Superintendent, Department of Citizenship and Immigration, Montreal, brought the best wishes of his department and said the department feels this new building and enlarged port and the new highway will continue to develop this part of the Province.

In Birmingham

Wallace case to be heard today

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (CP)—

The case of the federal government vs. Alabama Governor George C. Wallace comes up today in U.S. District Court.

There were indications that some what may, Wallace will go through with his plan to try to keep Negroes out of the white University of Alabama.

No one expected the segregationist governor to be present for the legal proceedings. He said on a television program in New York Sunday that he would send counsel to present the defence of his stand-in-the-door policy against integration.

The justice department asked U.S. District Judge Seybourn H. Lynne for an injunction barring Wallace from interfering with an earlier court order directing the university system to enrol two Negroes.

Repeating his vow to stand in the university doors to keep Negroes out, Wallace told interviewees on NBC television's Meet the Press that his defiance would "test in the courts the validity of this order involving our school system."

The issue, he said, is whether Alabama may run its schools as it has or must submit to federal government operation of the schools.

He said repeatedly that violence would not be tolerated at the university, but said it remains to be seen whether federal troops will be needed to get two Negroes into the university system next week.

The governor said he has appealed to the citizens of Alabama to stay away from the campus.

"Absolute law will prevail," he said. "We will not tolerate mob action."

While Wallace talked, hundreds of white and Negro pickets marched outside. Many chanted "Wallace must go" and "down with Wallace." The pickets, however, were outnumbered by policemen, who threw up massive security measures.

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Action!" says the director, and the two cowpokes begin a furnture-breaking, knockdown slugfest. "Cut! Print it!" says the director as the movie scene ends. It was just like the filming of a western saloon brawl with one difference: There was no film in the camera.

That will be the picture to-night when Hollywood notables attend the premiere performance of How Movies are Made, which aims to show tourists exactly that.

For several decades tourists have been tramping to Hollywood eager to see the making of a movie with not much success. Now visitors will be able to see (for $1.55-$2.65) an accurate simulation of film techniques. I dropped in for a preview and found a movie crew hard at work with their make-believe make-believe.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

NOT WRONG GUESS, BAD PLAYING One of the great weaknesses of bridge players is their unwillingness to pay attention to and remember the bidding.

North's two club response was Stayman and East's double indicated club strength and asked for a club lead. When South showed four or more spades by two spade bid North jumped right to the spade game.

West opened the nine of clubs. East gathered in the trick with his ace and led another club for his partner to ruff. West shifted to a diamond and declarer drew trumps; cashed all the diamonds, winding up in dummy and led the ten of hearts. East played low and after mature deliberation, South went up with the king and proceeded to lose his contract.

"I never seem to guess them right," complained South. "It wasn't exactly a guess," said North. "If you had just bothered to remember the bidding you would know that East had dealt and passed. Then he had shown up with six clubs to the ace-queen-jack. If he had also held the ace of hearts he would surely have opened the bidding so you made a bad play not a bad guess."

are Made is Lee Sholem, veteran film director (Tarzan and the Slave Girl) who is ideally cast for the role. "I'm as hammy as they come," admitted the director. "I'm having the time of my life."

Sholem explained the sequence of the four-times-daily show. Each guest will be greeted by Francis X. Bushman, the senior citizens' pin-up boy. After the audience is seated in the 355-capacity studio, Bushman will introduce Sholem, who will direct the proceedings.

"We'll give them a great show," said the director. "We'll have the barroom brawl, using breakfast bottles and furniture. Then we'll have the actors repeat the action, showing how they swing wide to fake the action."

"We'll have a transparency behind a couple of actors in a car interior, showing how we can simulate a moving car by flashing a highway on the screen behind them."

of the Bishop's business administration department advisory board; Neal Dean of New York, vice-president of the consultants Booz, Allen and Hamilton; J. H. Aitchison of Toronto, manager of systems engineering for IBM (Canada) and one of three computer manufacturers' representatives at the seminar, and Michael D'Angelico of Banker's Trust of New York.

Industry and the electronic computer

'Brains' to predict consequences

"Electronic brains" in industry will help manage business by telling executives the likely consequences of possible decisions, some 60 Quebec businessmen were told Sunday at Bishop's University in Lennoxville.

The prediction came from New York business consultant Neal J. Dean, principal speaker at a weekend seminar organized by the Bishop's business administration department to sketch the role of the computer in modern business to executives whose companies may be considering automating their clerical work.

He said the role of computers in predicting possible consequences of decisions makes them feared in the ranks of "middle management", whose more routine decisions may be taken over by machines. Top management, Mr. Dean said, would always make the "intuitive decisions" of broad company policy.

The technological unemployment which will result would have to be faced, the electrical engineer-turned-businessman declared.

"As citizens you are interested in this, and society will demand that as management you help solve it."

Earlier, during one of the four panel discussions which formed the bulk of seminar sessions, Cecil Law of the CNR said that the publicly-owned corporation was working towards creating a "computer railway," where even the physical functions of train movement would be computerized. Mr. Dean mentioned that an American steel firm was already running some plants with computers.

But Mr. Law disputed the idea that the computer is a machine that is going to put people out of work. "They may be doing other kinds of work," he said. The CNR already has an employee retraining program operating parallel to its computer expansion, he added.

A recent experience in computer installation in the East ern Townships is that of Canadian Celanese at Drummondville, represented at the seminar by Kaz Kuzmicki, head of data processing.

Since the company's computer started operating three months ago, Mr. Kuzmicki said, his staff of 18 has remained the same size, with members learning the new skills involved in using the machine. He felt that if the computer had not gone in, the volume of data the department handles would already have forced him to hire at least one more conventional machine operator.

In Saturday sessions, the seminar was told that partisans of computers often have to struggle to persuade top executives of their companies to take the plunge.

Phrases like "great mystery" and "fear of the unknown" were used by several panelists. Computer men's first duty is to help the company make a profit and they generally have to prove to executives that the machine will do the ordinary accounting operations they are already doing more cheaply, said Richard Laprairie of the Royal Trust.

"Intangible" extras, such as prompter issuing of documents to customers, and entirely new tasks the company may ask of the machine, come only later. Once the machine is installed, however, its custodians must sometimes fight off demands on it from all parts of the company. Lorne Goat, director of data processing for Domtar, said his computer section sells the machine's services to departments of the company at a cost just under outside computer firms' rates.

The barrier to progress in the field is not the cost or rental of the machinery, Mr. Dean told the closing dinner of the seminar Sunday.

"At a time of pressures on business from labor and government, when everything the businessman buys costs more and more, computers are one thing that are getting cheaper and cheaper," he said.

As for entirely new jobs computers can do, Michael D'Angelico of the New York banking house Banker's Trust said they may transform banks into "service" organizations providing customers with vast detailed business information, rather than just holding their money.

Mr. Dean's address foresaw the day of different companies' computers communicating with each other. This sort of transaction-by-tape has already begun, he said.

He did not see the unemployment created by computers being "legislated around."

"I don't think you will see an increase in feather-bedding," he said.

G. E. Brown, said his firm's installation had put office workers on the "graveyard shift" for the first time in company history. As for executives, many had been persuaded to attend computer courses and briefings so as to be able to understand the mathematicians they had hired to run their equipment, Mr. Brown said.

The two-day conference was attended by 66 businessmen, including panelists. All were from Quebec—with the mining, textile and paper industries heavily represented—except for one Toronto and two United States participants. Discussions were in English.

Archie Mitchell greeted arriving participants in his capacity as mayor of Lennoxville, then attended sessions as sales manager of Union Screen Plate in Lennoxville.

Parker Miron Powers

Well-known resident of Magog area dies

MAGOG — (Special) — One of the oldest residents of the Magog-Cherry River area, Parker Miron Powers, died Saturday. He was 92.

He was born New Year's Day, 1871, on a farm near the present Mount Orford Golf Course, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Simeon Luther Powers. He attended a country school and became a lumberman at a young age.

He was considered an authority on the history of the area. The Sherbrooke Daily Record's annual review, published in March, 1955, devoted a long article to Mr. Powers and his observations on changes over the years.

He married the former Miss Elsie Buzzell in 1893. She died in 1935. They had six children, four still living. They are Willie, Maurice, Mrs. Charles Fields and Mrs. Ella Chase, all of Magog.

There are 25 grandchildren and many great-grandchildren. The funeral will be June 4 at 2:30 p.m. in the Cherry River Chapel, Fred Warnholtz officiating. Burial will be in Cherry River Cemetery.

Man crushed as car falls

A 70-year-old Sherbrooke man died enroute to hospital Saturday morning as a result of injuries received when the car in which he was working fell and crushed him.

The freak accident occurred as Camille Beaudoin, of 1420 Denault Street, slipped under his car while he was changing a tire. At the same moment, according to St. Francis District Coroner, Dr. Louis Gagnon, the jack collapsed and the car fell and crushed Beaudoin.

No date has been set for the inquest.

Coaticook lawyer better use English Boston judge warns

BOSTON (AP)—United States Judge Andrew Caffrey made one point clear Friday in federal district court: when lawyer Laurent Dube of Coaticook, Que., shows up in court, he'd better be able to speak English.

Judge Caffrey, summoning up all the French he could remember from his undergraduate years at Holy Cross College, had just finished deciphering a long letter in French, signed by lawyer Dube. From it, Judge Caffrey gleaned that the Eastern Townships lawyer was coming to Boston to represent Manuel Cliche, also a Quebec province resident, in a damage suit brought by Marcel Poitras of Attleboro, Mass.

Poitras alleges he was a passenger in Cliche's car in Seekonk, Mass., in April, 1961, when the car hit a tree. Entering Dube's appearance as counsel for Cliche, Judge Caffrey said the Canadian lawyer had better be prepared to use English when he appears in the U.S. district court.

Atlas blast

ROSWELL, N.M. (AP)—An explosion wrecked one of the $12,000,000 intercontinental Atlas missile silos girding Roswell and nearby Walker Air Force Base Saturday night, but the missile did not explode. No one was hurt. An undetermined piece of equipment inside the 180-foot-deep silo exploded. One Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile or Polaris missile for submarine launch is being added to the U.S. deterrent force every day.

Patrick Asselin honored at dinner Sunday night

BROMPTONVILLE — (Staff) — Patrick Asselin, recently elected as Liberal Member of Parliament for Richmond-Wolfe, was honored by fellow residents of the constituency when more than 300 persons attended a dinner in his honor at the Bromptonville Hotel Sunday night.

Guest speaker at the gathering was Hon. Emile Lafrance, Minister of Social and Family Welfare in the provincial government and MLA for Richmond.

After paying personal tribute to the new MP Mr. Lafrance told of the many responsibilities facing a legislator.

"The role of a public man today," he said, "demands sacrifices never thought of in the past but I still believe that if he remains less of a partisan than a legislator and an educator at the service of those he represents in a legislative assembly or Canadian parliament he will have fulfilled his duty and will be satisfied with having done it, even at a time when the local deputy is always being criticized, whether he talks too much or does not talk enough."

Taking as an example former Finance Minister Donald Fleming, Mr. Lafrance said that Mr. Fleming had found public life a cruel and hard taskmaster and that his public or private life was not his own.

In a brief talk, Mr. Asselin thanked the electors of Richmond-Wolfe for the confidence shown in him.

Other speakers of the evening included Mayor Dorlas Gagnon of Bromptonville, who urged that the new MP work to revive the St. Francois airport, Moise Giroux, chairman of the Bromptonville School Commission, who introduced Mr. Lafrance, and Mrs. Ashton Tobin, who presented Mr. Asselin.

A bouquet of flowers was presented to Mrs. Asselin by Mrs. Maurice Grimard.

Ashton Tobin, QC, acted as master of ceremonies.

Guests at the head table included Edmund Asselin, MP for Notre Dame de Grace and brother of the Richmond-Wolfe MP.

Driver hurt as car hits light standard

A 22-year-old Magog man was seriously injured when the car which he was driving ran into a light standard on Bourque Blvd. early Saturday morning.

According to Sherbrooke police officials Winston Jackson of Pine Street in Magog, apparently was asleep at the wheel when he ran into the pole.

He was taken to Sherbrooke Hospital where his condition is reported as satisfactory.

Jackson was headed towards Magog when the accident occurred.

In the accident Jackson fractured his arm and leg and received cuts and bruises over most of his body.

East Ward School

Parents' proposals are 'progressive'

A brief containing "progressive" proposals for the saving of the East Ward Protestant school was unanimously adopted by 30 Protestant parents of the ward Sunday at a meeting in Church of the Advent hall.

East Ward Protestant Parents' Association chairman George Saunon would not release the content of the brief before its presentation to the Sherbrooke Protestant School Board meeting June 11.

He mentioned, however, that copies would also go to Youth Minister Paul Gerin - Lajoie, Minister without Portfolio Carri Fortin, Sherbrooke's MPP, and Harold Billings, director of Protestant education in Quebec.

The Parents' Association has 36 members.

ROCK ISLAND — (Special)

— Miss Janey Whitehouse, a student of Sunnyside High School graduation class, was elected by her fellow students as queen of the annual graduation dance, held on Friday evening in the school auditorium which was transformed into, Niagara At Night, theme.

The queen's escort was Richard Whitehouse of Dixville. Her attendants were Delia Doucette, her escort, Leiland Bullock, Wendy Elliott, and escort, Richard Richard White, Gail Perkins and escort, Bill Edmunston. Mary Osborne and escort, Richard Reynolds.

After the queen and attendants were seated in special chairs they were presented with roses by two little girls, Wendy Cox and Brenda Warner.

The auditorium was decorated with a ceiling of midnight blue and white and gold stars. In the center of the hall was a large flower garden centered with a pool in which there were gold fish. Also in the center was a fountain with flowing water and at one end was a painting of Niagara Falls with spot lights upon it. In the remainder of the hall were paintings of lighted buildings, and stars against midnight blue, with the name of each graduate written in gold upon a star.

The receiving line included Dr. K. Harper, principal, Mr. and Mrs. Allister Kerr, vice-principal, Mr. and Mrs. U. Terauds, staff, Larry Clowery and Miss Diana Wallace, grade 10, Richard White and Miss Wendy Elliott, grade 11.

John Emslie was emcee and introduced each graduate.

At midnight the Grand march took place headed by the queen, Miss Whitehouse and her attendants and escorts.

Pranks exaggerate strength of FLQ

Police and judicial action in Sherbrooke and Montreal against those who baffle public order with false FLQ bomb scares is to be commended. While details of the police operation against terrorism in the province have for obvious reasons been kept secret, it is beginning to bear results. In Montreal last week, a man was arrested, tried and found guilty of telephoning an anonymous and false FLQ bomb scare. He was sentenced to two years in jail. In Sherbrooke, municipal police a week ago arrested three youths who admitted flying an FLQ banner from the top of a downtown Sherbrooke business block. They were each fined $100. Later in the week, police here took into custody a 15-year-old boy on charges of public mischief connected with the finding of two fake FLQ "bombs" on city streets. Severe penalties so far provided for may seem harsh, but the situation is a serious one. Every false alarm helps the terrorists in their work of disturbing peace of mind. Every prank in the name of the FLQ arouses those very tensions the real terrorists were attempting to create. The crimes committed by jokers are no less serious than those committed by people in earnest. If police action can eliminate the cranks and misguided humorists from the terrorist situation, then a great step forward will have been taken. Just as a general who puts soldiers uniforms on animals gives the enemy an exaggerated idea of his strength, so pranksters magnify the import of FLQ activity, if there is any more of it.

Maybe if the young and the old just changed places everybody would be happy.

Haydn S. Pearson's COUNTRY FLAVOR

Dusk's colors paint poignant canvas

Where a man's roots are established determines the blossoms of the heart. Ocean-edge dwellers respond to the awesome majesty of the sea; the prairie man feels kinship with the vast stretches that reach to the horizon. And the man who has looked to the hills since boyhood, lifts his eyes to the heights and finds assurance. When day is done and the purple-gray shadows slide down to the valleys, the dusk colors on the mountains paint a poignant canvas for a fleeting interlude before Night's curtain falls. When the gold-red sun drops behind the dark rim, the glowing halo in the sky is a picture of blues and purples, greens and dark grays. For a few minutes, the dark hues dominate. Then strangely, there comes a brief interlude when the colors lighten; for a few minutes one sees a canvas of light blues and thin purples; there are shadowy shades of gold and saffron, and sometimes if atmospheric conditions are favorable, there is a beautiful tinge of soft pink and light rose. In a few minutes one can see another picture as the canvas changes. The light colors fade and a gray darkness covers the hills and deepens the gathering shadows in the valley. Minute by minute the grayness thickens and then dusk changes to darkness. From the pasture across the road, a whippoorwill throws his clear call to the on-coming night; chimney swallows' twittering in the house chimney dies down; there is the last sleepy call of a robin from the old orchard behind the barn. Suddenly one realizes the mountains have disappeared; another time of darkness has come to our portion of Earth and the stars break through the black velvet curtain. Sometimes one feels there are few certainties along the trail, but a man knows the mountains are always there, steadfast and serene.

Other papers say:

African thinking shows improvement

To the people of this country, it still comes as a surprise to realize that Africa, a once predominantly colonial continent, is now, for the most part, a land of distinct and independent states which have developed almost overnight, from philosophies of self-determination and national isolationism to the desire for national independence within a framework of African co-operation. Primitivism has begun to give way to industrialization in little more than a decade. Education has made a tremendous impact and modern technocracy has worked an almost unbelievable transformation. One illustration of what has happened is provided by the contemporary attitude towards Africa's wildlife heritage. Only a generation ago,

(Halifax Chronicle-Herald) the continent's animals were not considered much of an asset. A few big game hunters brought in a few dollars, but most entries were on the debit side of the ledger. The unique fauna was, not very long ago, a problem. Wild animals usurped the grazing grounds of domesticated herds. Predators plagued pastured flocks. The gigantic creatures, some of them resembling prehistoric mammoths, plundered villages and spread disease. Some, of course, were sources of meat. Even so, the sum total of it all was that average African opinion looked upon the only good beast as a dead one. The change of view has been most readily apparent since September, 1961, when President Nyerere of Tanganyika and two of his ministers signed the Arusha manifesto declaring wildlife to be "an integral part of our natural resources and of our future livelihood and well-being." It would not be realistic to suggest that African wildlife is now enjoying a full measure of protection. But no less than two significant changes are discernible. One is that many African leaders are seeing the wild creatures as assets rather than liabilities. An observer has suggested that animals are being looked upon as a cultural and tourist attraction, "an African equivalent of Europe's cathedrals, paintings and Roman remains." The other important change is that more and more people are talking in terms of preservation but of development—a lesson to which we in Nova Scotia, should always pay heed.

Tremendous feeling for humanity

Collects unusual German etchings

MONTREAL (CP) — "It was a tremendous feeling for humanity that impressed me." That, says Montreal printer Henry Ernest, is why he embarked seven years ago on the unusual hobby of collecting the works of the late German artist Kaethe Kollwitz, recognized as one of the foremost graphic artists of modern times. By correspondence with dealers and collectors in Germany and the United States, he has amassed 75 Kollwitz originals—proofs taken directly from the stones on which she drew her lithographs or the copper plates on which she made her etchings. The number of Kollwitz graphics has been catalogued at 267 but Mr. Ernest is not aiming for a reasonably complete or even representative collection. "I am just trying to get the things I admire," he said. Some of the plates still exist in Germany, others have been worn out or lost. In a number of cases only a few proofs from a plate are known to exist, in others the number taken ranges between 50 and 100. LOANED TO GALLERY About half of Mr. Ernest's collection forms a major part of a travelling Kollwitz exhibition arranged by the National Gallery that has been touring Canada during the last several months. He wrote the introduction for the exhibition catalogue. A 49-year-old bachelor who has been working in the composing room of the Montreal Star for more than 30 years, he has built up his collection by "a great deal of correspondence and keeping an eye open for favorable opportunities." He said the price of a particular work depends on the interest in it and the number of proofs known to exist. Some are in the $30 - $50 range, others aren't available at any price. "I've been offered prices for some of my collection that I couldn't have afforded to pay to get them." The largest Kollwitz collections are in Berlin and Dresden museums. There are also some large private collections in Germany and the U.S., Mr. Ernest said. KAISER DISAPPROVED Frau Kollwitz died at 78 in a town near Dresden April 22, 1945, a fortnight before Germany's capitulation in the Second World War. "She was an extremely fine artist," said the Montreal collector, "perhaps the greatest woman artist who ever lived." However, the stark realism of her work "is a little too grim for some people."

WASHINGTON (TNS) — Did you know that 16,000 African troops—pagan, brutal cannibals with rings through their noses are poised in Georgia, ready to occupy the United States? Or that yellow hordes of Red Chinese troops are on the Mexican border about to pounce and that President Kennedy is about to hand over control of the American armed forces to the Soviet general who is secretary of the United Nations? None of it is true, of course, but day after day, through rain, hail, snow, smog and whatnot, the gallant U.S. mail services carry thousands of letters filled with this terrifying nonsense across a jittery nation. Great piles of them arrive daily on the desk of each member of Congress. And Congress is getting fed up. Both Houses have now heard speeches damning the "Fright Peddlers" of the lunatic far right, linking them with the dotty but dangerous John Birch Society and through that with the supposedly respectable right-wing front group, Americans for Constitutional Action. Senator Tom Kuchel (Republican, California) began by reading some of his mail. There was a letter, beautifully typed on embossed paper which charged him with treason and ended "respectfully yours." AN 'ARMY' There were endless references to "Operation Water Moccasin," a U.S. Army manoeuvre held in Georgia in March and watched by 124 foreign officers, including Africans, Vietnamese, British and Canadian. These 124 have been magnified into a cannibal army, 16,000 strong, marching through Georgia, ready to consume Christians in the name of the United Nations. THE STORY ABOUT THE Russian general comes from a 10-year-old stage play by anti-semitic writer Myron C. Fagan. One of the characters "reveals" that Molotov and Hiss, setting up the U.N., agree the military chief should always be Russian.

"I Do Believe He's Trying to Tell Us Something!"

The readers say:

All teenagers basically the same

Dear Sir: In spite of its heading, which makes English look like a language not worth learning (Bridging Teenager Bicultural Gap), your leading editorial in the Record of May 30th, in which you approved of the Roman Catholic School Commission Chairman's suggestion of "get-acquainted clubs for French and English speaking students, a suggestion which you termed "one of the most constructive on the bi-cultural issue we have heard in some time," was impressive. Most teachers who have taught and observed students in different countries, or in different parts of a country, all agree that "teenagers" whether in a parochial school in the more remote parts of this province, a secondary school in a London suburb, a collegiate in Toronto, a French secondary school in Sherbrooke or an English High School in Lennoxville, are fundamentally the same in their virtues and their faults, their enthusiasms and their problems. They learn the same things, they react in the same way, they raise the same hell. Fundamentally, they are already together. Any "bridging," such as might be done if the Chairman's proposal were put into effect, would really be remedial work, rectifying the division caused by adults' inability to cooperate. On that same editorial page of your paper was an article by Captain B. C. Howard of Waterloo, in which, concluding his account of the events leading up to the Battle of Chateaugay in the War of 1812, he says that "the native spontaneity and 'bon esprit' which is a noted E.T. characteristic supply the obvious answer" to the cooperative success of the French and English forces which then outwitted the invaders and "bore mute witness that the hearts of French and English Canada beat as one in the hours of crisis." Captain Howard is not the first or only writer to note even if rather poetically, that in the Eastern Townships' Canadians, French and English, by and large see eye to eye. Should the Chairman's suggestion be implemented, and, above all, should those in this part of the country who are no longer "teenagers" support his project by their own example, the Eastern Townships might well give a lead to the rest of the country at a moment in its history when leadership in this respect has become vital. Lewis Evans, Bishop's College School.

Congressmen deluged

Right wing lunatic fringe in US spreading hate and fear by mail

WASHINGTON (TNS) — The letter-writers—who are by no means poor or illiterate—want the U.S. to get out of the U-N and NATO and repeal income tax while, of course, stepping up the battle against Communism. LUNATICS Said Sen. Kuchel: "How hysterical and idiotic can one get? I am afraid to answer until I have seen tomorrow's mail. Lunatic columnists, apostles of hate and fear on radio and television and even loony letters to the editor provoke their share of fright mail." Congressman Cameron (Dem., Calif.), another with experience of the Fright Peddlers, says much of the fright mail is inspired by an outfit he calls the Network of Patriotic Letter Writers. He says Gerald L. K. Smith, America's leading Jew-hater, has urged his followers to go to Birch Society meetings. "THUS WE HAVE evidence," he says, "that the parasites of religious and racial prejudice are crawling into bed with the John Birch Society. I shudder to think of the hideous offspring of such a mating." The Birchers' leader, candy-maker Robert Welch, has branded President Eisenhower a Communist stooge and John Foster Dulles a Communist agent. Now he is after the Girl Scouts of America—they support the U.N., he says, so cannot be a real American organization. Cameron's main point is that the Americans for Constitutional Action are really doing "the Devil's work" in America. He says half the ACA leaders are Birch leaders and about one-fifth of ACA's money (about $500,000 in four years) has come from Birch members. ACA is a much smoother group than the hairy hell-raisers of the deserts and far west. IT LISTS ex-President Herbert Hoover and Eisenhower's brother Edgar among its trustees. "This," a spokesman assured me, "means we cannot be affiliated with the John Birch Society." Last week the ACA honored 154 Congressmen and Senators selected on the basis of their voting record as proponents of "constitutional Conservatism." One Senator and six congressmen refused the honor and only a handful of the 147 turned up for the ceremony at the Statler-Hilton Hotel. THE ENEMY I went along. I found 40 beautiful girl hostesses, a string quartet, martinis and little else. Admiral Ben Moreell (USN Ret.), the chairman of ACA, refused to commit himself to the Birchers. He is a big, florid man who sports like a Senator about Americans' God-given rights, the danger of big government and "the enemy." "THE ENEMY" is not only Communists and avowed Socialists but "the welfare state and its protagonists." He believes American institutions are already largely in the hands of "the enemy." Congressman Cameron charges that the ACA is a mask for the Birchers and the rest of the lunatic right. They certainly need one. There have been three bombings of UN supporters' homes and an office in California. An extremist group in Florida threatens to shoot UN officials on sight. In Washington, officials estimate that five per cent of the population — about nine million people — are far right in their thinking. So the spinners of wild yarns and writers of hate letters have a fertile field to seed. There is a type of mentality which will believe almost anything provided it is NOT printed in the newspapers. AS CONGRESSMAN Cameron said: "Under normal circumstances the appeals of demagogues have attraction only to the lunatic fringe. Men with extremist panaceas become a real threat to democracy."

Castonguay on mission Studies Australia redistribution

CANBERRA (CP) — Canada's chief electoral officer, Nelson Castonguay, in Australia for a study of the electoral system, will pay particular attention to the system for redistributing electoral boundaries to conform with population shifts and growths. Australian electoral boundaries for the House of Representatives are distributed approximately every nine years. Redistribution is usually undertaken after a national census, which gives details of the areas in which people are living, and the changes of address they have made since the previous census. In each of the six Australian states, the federal government appoints three electoral commissioners to investigate these population changes. The commissioners are public servants, and usually comprise the chief electoral officer of the state concerned, the head of the land survey section in the state concerned, and a third person with similar qualifications. The commissioners are required to divide the 5,000,000 Australian voters into 122 electorates, which average between 40,000 and 50,000 voters each, and base their decisions on community of interest, transport facilities, and natural boundaries, such as rivers and mountain ranges.

The Australian federal electoral system is based on one vote-one value, which means that all electorates contain approximately the same number of voters. This is not arbitrary, and some elasticity is allowed, particularly in isolated country electorates, where it is difficult sometimes to find 40,000 voters in an area of several thousand square miles. The Northern Territory, for instance, which is represented by only one member has an area of 523,620 square miles, but contains fewer than 10,000 voters. Because of the small population, the Northern Territory's member is allowed to vote in the Parliament only on matters affecting his own electorate. It would be virtually impossible to achieve a faithful cross-section of party voters in all electorates. Where Liberals overwhelmingly predominate, they are known as "blue ribbon" seats. Where Labor is unbeatable, such seats are "strongholds." They seem to balance out. Electorates with a goodly number of voters who are not diehard party followers provide the spice of uncertainty in the over-all outcome of a general election. Swinging voters in marginal seats help to keep governments on the straight and narrow.

The preferential system of voting used in Australia adds to the anxieties of parties and candidates where three or more candidates nominate and the main issue in an election is not involved with party lines and loyalties. When the commissioners conduct their review of electorates, anyone who wishes may make representations to them about the area concerned. Thus, a sitting member can present a plausible case for excluding or including a particular area, which may be of particular or incidental to his own interests, exercises considerable influence on the commissioners' findings. This has led to allegations that the commissioners are tools of the government of the day, and that their findings frequently favor sitting members. The commissioners' completed reports must be presented to Parliament for adoption before they become law. Presentation of the reports is not mandatory, but they usually do come from the Parliament, which can adopt, reject or amend them. In the most recent study by commissioners, resulting from a population census in 1961, the reports have been presented to Parliament, but no further action is likely. This is because the commissioners have recommended the elimination of certain seats, now held by the country party, and the creation or redistribution of other seats, which would benefit the Liberal party. Although the Liberal party and the Country party form the present coalition government in Australia, there is intense rivalry, amounting to jealousy, between them. The Country party is not prepared to support legislation that would weaken its own position and strengthen the Liberal party's. Accordingly, the government may abandon the redistribution proposals now before the Parliament rather than persevere with them at the risk of being defeated in the House by the Country party voting with the opposition. It is not mandatory on any government to pass legislation based on the commissioners' findings. The government may reject the commissioners' reports and instruct them to conduct new inquiries. Australia is one of the few countries in the world where voting at parliamentary elections is compulsory. Everyone is required to register with the electoral authorities at the age of 21, and to advise the authorities of any subsequent change of address. There are penalties for failing to register, failing to advise change of address, and failing to vote. Voter obligations apply also to elections for the 60-member Senate, each of the six Australian states being represented by 10 senators chosen for six years. At each election voters are called on to fill 30 seats, the vacancies being the half of the senate strength which retires each three years to coincide with lower house general elections.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By The Canadian Press June 3, 1963... The Duke of Windsor and Mrs. Wallis Simpson were married at Mons, France, 26 years ago today—in 1937—some six months after he abdicated as the uncrowned King Edward VIII. After only 11 months he gave up his throne in December, 1936 for "the woman I love." His was the first voluntary abdication in more than 1,000 years of British monarchy and his decision divided the nation and created a world-wide sensation. His romance with Mrs. Simpson, a divorcee, had brought him into conflict with Prime Minister Baldwin and the foremost ecclesiastical circles. 1621—The Dutch West Indies Company was founded. 1909—Mackenzie King was sworn in as minister of labor.

Cowansville students' talents are displayed during variety program

COWANSVILLE—(Special)—A variety show was held in the Cowansville High School Gymnasium on Thursday, May 30, at 8 p.m. Girls from grades six to eleven inclusive modelled clothing they had made in home economic classes under the direction of Miss Norma Knowles, B.Sc. (H.Ec., Miss Lyla Primmerman directed a one-act comedy staged by the students of grades eight and nine.

The scene of the play was Ancient China. The cast included the following characters—Ching Tai, Ian Sorbie; Madam Chung, Lynne McCrum; Silver Lotus, Jocelyn Giguere; Sun Chu, David Cutts; a worker, Mary Legat; a property man, Bill Cady; and an attendant, Marvin Scott.

Of particular interest in the fashion show was a cocktail dress of blue nylon over taffeta made by Pauline Gingras of grade eleven. Marilyn Miner modelled a white linen coat with a rayon lining. The front of the coat was similar to a duster, but the back had fullness gathered into a deep yoke and was most attractive. Several cotton sundresses with matching jackets were shown as well as skirts, blouses, dresses, dusters, aprons and wool suits.

The commentators were Louise Scott and Sandra Castle. W. Calocci played the piano for the fashion parade. A display of industrial art projects showed a wide variety of talent. There was a boat construction made by Bobby Stowe, bunk bed frames made by Don Moreton, a wooden shotgun carved by Walter Alconvy, oxen yoke made by Wesley Wentworth, plus many types of tables, bird cages, lamp bases and a model airplane.

An art exhibit included drawings of the entrance to Trinity Church, night and the sea, fruit in a bowl and meakin china.

The entertainment proved to be a great success. Proceeds of the event were given to the Students' Council.

Waterloo graduates told

Today's youth has more to live for

WATERLOO — (Special) — The graduating class of Waterloo High School was told Friday that they had more to test their strength in the world of today, more to live for, and more to die for than those of yesterday.

This was said by Rev. Dr. Norman Rawson of St. James United Church, Montreal, speaking at Friday's graduation ceremonies.

He advised the Grads to choose something that will be a challenge to them, something that will satisfy them, take all their strength and power.

Principal Sam Wayne made special mention of the Waterloo Home & School cafeteria which is so ably operated under the direction of Mrs. O. P. Quilliams and Mrs. George Tetreault. Mr. Wale also mentioned with regret the teachers who are leaving next year but, in most cases, they are going on to further their education which is most commendable.

His closing remarks were a quotation from President Kennedy, "When you go out into the world, don't ask what the country can do for you but what you can do for your country."

Hobo party held at Knowlton

Gather ye strawberries in the month of June

"Gather ye rosebuds", says the poem... but we say, "gather ye strawberries", because in the fast moving food world, where most fresh produce is available the year round, there's one food that still truly belongs to June, and that's strawberries! Oh yes, we know you can find them in metropolitan markets from Christmas time on... but not at a price you can look right in the eye! And, where other fruits, in frozen form, are pretty good facsimiles of the fresh product, they still can't seem to freeze a strawberry commercially so that it really tastes like a fresh strawberry.

Which is why our dessert thoughts for June center round this lovely red ripe fruit, and why we say, enjoy strawberries often, while they're here. June of course is Dairy Month in Canada, but there's no need to remind you of how good strawberries are with pouring cream, whipped cream, ice cream, dairy sour cream, or with buttery biscuit short-cakes, and in salads with cottage cheese or yogurt. Perhaps we should just suggest that you use all these possibilities for gorgeous June eating... and here are three new recipes to start you off — a Frosty Strawberry Cream desert, Frozen Berry Ring (which will also be good with other fruits) and Fresh Strawberry Coffee Cake, a really scrummy idea for weekend brunch, for afternoon "tea", and to serve with milk, near midnight. Sometime too, try serving it English Devon style, with whipped cream.

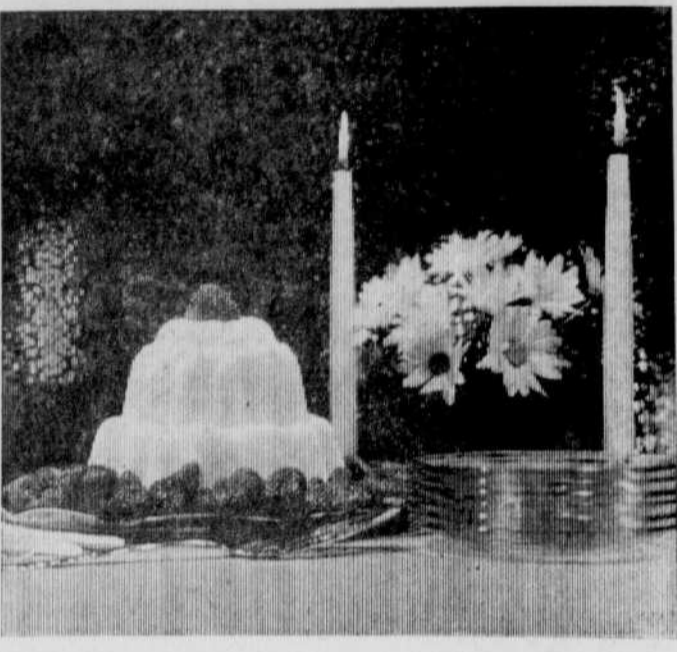

FROSTY STRAWBERRY CREAM
(Makes 6 Servings)
I envelope unflavored gelatine, ¼ cup cold water, ½ pint (1¼ cups) 18% cream, ¾ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon almond flavoring, 1½ cups dairy sour cream, 1 pint fresh strawberries, 2 to 3 tablespoons fine granulated or fruit sugar.

Spinkle gelatine over cold water; let stand 5 minutes to soften. Scald cream over low heat. Add sugar and gelatine; stir over low heat until dissolved. Chill until mixture is softly set. Stir almond flavoring into sour cream. Beat gelatine mixture until foamy; fold in sour cream. Pour into a 1-quart mold, which has been rinsed with cold water. Chill until firm. Meanwhile, wash, hull and slice strawberries; add fruit sugar. Let stand several hours. To serve unmold cream on serving plate and spoon strawberries over top.

FROZEN BERRY RING
(Makes 6 Servings)
½ cup sugar, 3 tablespoons boiling water, 2 egg whites, ½ pint (1¼ cups) whipping cream, ½ teaspoon rum flavoring, ¼ cup toasted slyspoon salt, 1½ teaspoons grated lemon rind. Scald milk. Beat egg yolks and egg unill light. Beat in sugar and salt. Slowly stir hot milk into egg mixture. Return to double boiler and cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until sauce is slightly thickened and will coat a metal spoon. Cool. Stir in grated lemon rind. Chill thoroughly. Serve with Frozen Berry Ring.

FROSTY STRAWBERRY CREAM — A new dessert designed to feature June's fresh strawberries and one of the Dairy Month foods - dairy sour cream. Creamy smooth in texture, with a slight tang to its flavor, you'll find the pretty mold complements the strawberries that ring it.

FRESH STRAWBERRY COFFEE-CAKE
(Makes 1 9-inch Square Coffee-Cake)
Topping:
½ cup flour, ½ cup sugar, ¼ cup chilled butter, ¼ cup flaked or shredded coconut.

Coffee-Cake:
1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup sugar, 2 eggs, ½ cup milk, ¼ cup butter, melted, 1½ cups sliced fresh strawberries.
For the Topping:
Combine flour and sugar. Cut in the chilled butter. Add coconut.
For the Coffee-Cake:
Butter a 9-inch square cake pan. Preheat oven to 375 degrees F. Sift together into a bowl the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Beat eggs well; stir in milk and melted butter. Make a well in dry ingredients and add liquid all at once. Mix lightly until just combined... do not overmix. Turn into prepared pan; spread evenly. Top with sliced berries. Sprinkle with topping. Bake in preheated oven 30 to 35 minutes. Cut into 9 squares and serve warm with butter.

Polly's pointers
by Polly Cramer
DEAR POLLY — I used to have a lot of trouble with limp and wrinkled waistbands in skirts and dresses. Now I use iron-on tape on the inside of the entire waistband. It keeps the band smooth and wrinkle-free. MRS. A. R. DEAR POLLY — My husband and I are both in our 60s. So whenever we go on vacation, I take a plug-in night light. It helps one of us find medicine and our way around a strange room without disturbing the other one. This would be helpful for people traveling with small children.—A. U.

GIRLS — This would be good travel advice for those 6, 16, or 60. POLLY DEAR POLLY — Little girls become so attached to favorite dresses that it is hard to detach them from a worn-out garment. I solved this by making a pillowcase for my daughter's bed from the skirt of a beloved dress. There is usually enough good fabric in the skirt so the little one can still have her "favorite" and mother has an addition to the linen closet.—MRS. D. K.

GIRLS — We have a family rule that no one is to wear a store-bought garment until I have first reinforced the buttons, hooks, snaps and ornaments. It takes only a few moments and saves time and money later on. If the hem is to be changed in a ready-made dress, I unravel the thread used to put it in and wind this thread on a small white card. This is the correct shade for the dress, so it is used for re-sewing. Usually there will be some left over after the hem is set in by hand. This extra service for the reinforcing of buttons, etc. Any that remains is left on the card and marked for identification.

If extra buttons come with a dress, they, too, are fastened to the card with the thread. If I make a garment at home, any leftover buttons and a few yards of the thread also are wound on a card. This saves searching through my button and sewing boxes when a quick repair job is needed.—Ruth.

DEAR POLLY — I have five preschool children. When I went back to my doctor for a checkup after the last baby's arrival, he said I should do

The clothes poll

by Helen Hennessy

At-home wear has become a big part of the fashion business. It all started when young homemakers donned blue jeans or perky dusters as "work clothes" and the house-dress and Hoover apron faded from the home scene, hand-in-hand into the sunset.

In that era known as "the good, old days" (always, it seems, the ones just preceding the present), mom removed her house-dress when work was done and changed into street clothes whether she was going out or not.

Today everything's specialized. If you're entertaining on the patio in the afternoon, there's a short, spaghettistrap dress designed for the purpose—the patio dress. For evening, chic barbecue hostesses wear ankle-length skirts with co-ordinated tops. Another version of this costume is for poolside entertaining, enterprisingly called the "poolside skirt."

If you don't have a patio or pool, designers have created handsome clothes to wear at home with guests, the family or alone.

Recently at a fashion show I saw a handsome, though moderately priced, at-home dress in ankle-length white mohair—not quite the thing for my at-home kind of evenings. These generally include fixing dinner, washing lingerie and planning what to wear to the office in the morning.

But, as I said earlier, today we "specialize" and, for people like me, and for mothers who must leave the guest to burp the baby, there are beautiful at-home clothes in drip-dry, easy-care fabrics.

If you feel that the evening hour or two left after chores isn't enough leisure time to warrant the expense of a leisure wardrobe, don't forego the beautiful fashions—increase your leisure time. We've all read reams of advice on how the housewife and career girl can have her evenings to herself if she just organizes her time properly. I've never believed it, but now I plan to ORGANIZE.

To spend an entire evening in the living room reading or chatting would be such a luxury that I agree with the designers who feel there should be a costume for the occasion.

Chic Chat
"This month I expect to take a bus tour to the Southwest and will visit relatives in southern California for two weeks. There will be camping trips to some of the national parks and I will need city and casual clothes I am 57 and will weight 125 pounds by June (I hope). Can you help with my clothes problem?"

DEAR MRS. E. F. H.: Take at least two pairs of walking shoes for daytime and casual shoes for beach wear. You'll need more than one swimsuit and a cover-up for the beach. For camping, warm cardigans, socks and sturdy shoes will be needed. It gets cold at night. With your new figure slacks should look fine, but if you prefer not to wear them high socks and culottes should do the camping trick.

Bright and light colors in cotton and linen are popular in southern California for daytime wear. Hats are unnecessary.

For evenings, two or three cocktail dresses should be plenty, and have a small summer fur or fabric stole for cool evenings. Try to choose your cocktail dresses so that you can wear the same dress shoes and bag with each to save on luggage.

DOUBLE DUTY
If you alternate your handbags with your different ensembles, you will not only be well-dressed, but will prolong the life of each bag as well.

Marriages

BEATTIE — FABRICIUS

SWEETSBURG — The marriage of Carole Elaine, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold O. Fabricius of Cowansville to Mr. Cyril George Beattie, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Beattie, of Sweetburg, took place in Christ Church, Sweetburg, on May 11, 1963, at 11 o'clock a.m. The pastor, Rev. John Peacock officiated. The organist was Miss Elizabeth Watson of Dunham. White mums and pink carnations were used to decorate the church.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore an Italian white lace gown over peau de soie, fashioned with a short bell-shaped skirt, the bodice having long sleeves. Her shoulder-length three-tier veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a tiara of pearls and rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of orange blossoms, pink roses and baby's breath.

Miss Claudia Jane Gunson of Shefford, as maid of honor, wore a pink lace and taffeta gown. Her short veil was held in place by a crown of pink roses. She wore matching accessories and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Mr. Rupert Dobbin of Sweetburg acted as best man.

The bride's mother wore a powder blue lace dress, over blue silk organza with matching hat and shoes. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Mrs. Beattie, mother of the groom, chose a navy blue lace dress, with white hat and accessories. Her corsage was of white poms.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at L'Auberge de Sutton, the bride's table being centered with a three-tier wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom. Pink and white floral arrangements completed the decor.

Later the couple left for a trip to the United States, the bride wearing for travelling an aqua suit with white accessories. Her corsage was of gardenias.

Upon their return the couple will reside at 326 Church Avenue, Sweetburg.

Age 32 shuts the door on girlhood

When does a girl arrive at that irrevocable point in time when she steps from girlhood?

According to one of the major airlines, the fateful day—or, to put it in the language of the airways—the point of no return is her 32nd birthday.

The airline was tactful enough not to say that when she reaches 32, a young woman can by no stretch of the imagination be considered a girl.

Nope, it merely said that by age 32 its stewardesses should find work on the ground. But it all amounts to the same thing.

Stewardesses are chosen not only for beauty of face and figure and for their radiant smiles—they are especially chosen for their ability, in a ladylike way, of course, to make young men feel older and older men, younger.

Saying that a girl belongs on the ground instead of in the air by age 32 is just the same as saying that by the ripe old age of 32 that unique ability starts to dwindle.

How long a girl is a girl is a subject that is hard to find agreement on. But the airline that has decreed that 32 is the absolute limit has pretty well settled the question.

So watch it, girls. Perhaps you had better face up to the fact that the 32nd birthday is the really crucial one. It's the time to put girlhood behind. No matter how kind the mirror is, to say to yourself, "Look, honey, girlhood is behind me. I'm a woman now."

"The sooner I stop trying to talk like a girl, act like a girl, dress like a girl, think like a girl, and move on into the full and honorable estate of womanhood, the better."

Belit Bonus
Belts can be an important costume accessory. The fashion-conscious woman should not overlook their possibilities.

Send that child to camp in proper shoes

Will the youngster who scampers off to camp come limping home on frazzled feet? The vigorous outdoor life makes great demands on growing feet, so be sure to pay special attention to the shoes he or she takes along. Camp directors know that footwear is a youngster's most important item of wearing apparel. The reason? Shoes are the only camp clothing that can be harmful if they are not chosen carefully.

Here are some suggestions to help make your young camper's experience the healthful and happy holiday it should be. Proper fitting is most important. Check the size of the shoe the child is now wearing. Since this is the time boys and girls sprout like sunflowers, there should be room for growth during the summer. If there is not, consult with the shoe salesman about the correct size to buy. See that the youngster takes along two pairs of basic all-leather oxfords. The leather uppers combine support with flexibility, while leather soles provide vital protection against underbrush, sharp stones and other hazards of hiking, climbing and running. Because leather is a natural product it "breathes," keeping active feet well ventilated... one of the best ways to avoid athlete's foot.

If sneakers are taken to camp, make sure you give instructions that they not be worn more than a few hours a day. Most canvas uppers and rubber soles do not give the needed support and protection.

Indian leather moccasins, on the other hand, not only have the camp "look," but their pliable leather uppers and sturdy leather soles offer safeguards against injury from sharp objects. As light as a sneaker and much cooler, the Indian moc is a "fun" shoe that does not penalize young feet. Chukka boots reaching to the ankle are excellent for hiking because they provide extra support and also keep out brambles and pebbles. In lightweight smooth, waxed or brushed leather, chukkas are available in attractive young colors.

Magog textile plant

Modernization of mill completed

MAGOG — Completion of a $3,000,000 modernization program at the Magog Cotton Mill of Dominion Textile Company Limited will be marked next week by special Open House visits to the plant, it was announced today. The cotton mill, now ranked as one of the country's most efficient, will throw its doors open to the public June 11 and 12, with guided tours between 1:00—2:30 p.m., and 7:00—9:30 p.m., on each of these days. On view will be the latest textile machinery, and all will be in full operation during the Open House. Visitors will be able to see the most modern lap doffers, fully automatic, with special conveyor. Also modified carding machines and a battery of the most up-to-date roving machines, and a battery of the dian textile industry. At a special "re-opening" ceremony to be staged at the cotton mill, Monday, June 10, Gerald Filion, general manager of the General Investment Corporation of Quebec, will be guest speaker.

Milby Guild to hold ham supper

MILBY — The May meeting of St. Barnabas Guild was held at the home of Mrs. Len Bowers on May 23. Final plans were made for the ham and salad supper to be held on June 8, at the church hall. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

ASBESTOS —

Miss Rita Robinson, Noel Street spent a long weekend in Springfield, Mass., visiting friends. Mr. and Mrs. Merrick Morrill, who have returned from their honeymoon, have taken up residence on Du Roi Street. Mrs. B. Cassin, Poirier Street, has returned from Montreal where she visited Mr. Cassin, who had undergone surgery in the Royal Victoria Hospital.

Justin Curtis, President of the Newport Rotary Club, noted the close relationship between the Boundary and Newport clubs and said that the Newport Club is the parent body of the Boundary Club which they helped to establish in 1935-36.

Mr. Bean, after the unveiling said the monument was erected as a gesture of goodwill by the first International Rotary Club with the motto in mind, Service Above Self.

Following the ribbon-cutting ceremony, all assembled at the new building for brief speeches which were made by Gordon Howell, Assistant Deputy Minister of national revenue, A. D. Bishop, Chief engineer of Vermont Roads department, Albert Purchase, in charge of Roads for Federal District, R. Nichol, Department of Roads, Montreal, F. Round, Newport District Engineer, Angelo Fabi, contractor for the interstate highway, Rene Letourneau, former M.P., Denis Gerin, former M.L.A.

Mr. Beverley Haselton, from whose granite company came the Rotary monument, Leo Bagley, Vermont, Warren E. Millett, Head of Derby Line Immigration. Telegrams were also received and read from Vermont Governor Philip Hoff, Senator W. Prouty, officials of the Roads Department, Quebec and others.

Customs and Excise officers re-elect same executive

ROCK ISLAND — (Special) — The annual meeting and election of officers of the Eastern Townships Branch of the Customs and Excise Officers Association took place in Rock Island on Saturday afternoon. The meeting was held in the Rock Island town hall, followed by a banquet and dance at the Del Monty hotel.

John Silvester presided for the meeting and extended a welcome to the membership attending. Routine business such as the financial statement and so forth were heard. Victor Morin, secretary-treasurer, spoke on the aims and the responsibilities of the association, urging all members to participate to the fullest and to work not only for the Customs and Excise but for the civil service in general.

Douglas Patterson, national secretary-treasurer, C. and E. Ottawa, gave informative information to the men on such matters as uniforms, salaries, unity, insurance and he paid high tribute to Mr. Silvester and Mr. Morin for the excellent work in the Eastern Townships branch as they carry on its traditions.

The banquet took place in the dining room attended by about 100 members and their ladies. Seated at the head table were Mr. and Mrs. Silvester, Mr. and Mrs. Perrault, Mr. and Mrs. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. LeFebvre, Henry Routhier, collector of Customs, Rock Island Port, E. J. Struthers, a former collector, Robert Alger, president of the host Zone 4, and Mrs. Alger, B. Lavadure, president of Zone 2, and Mrs. Lavadure, Mr. Passonault, president of Zone 3, Mr. Flaradia, Zone 5, president.

Grace was laid by Mr. Silvester who later proposed a Toast to the Queen and he introduced the head table guests. Remarks were spoken by Mr. Routhier, Mr. McCullough, Mr. Struthers, Alton Grady, Rock Island Immigration, Mr. Seguin, Montreal, and Mr. Alger.

Mr. Routhier said he was pleased to see so many officers interested in the association and as a former president of the branch, spoke of the growth of the Association through the years. Rene Letourneau, former M.P. and Denis Gerin, former M.L.A. also spoke words of congratulations to the association and the work they are doing. Mr. Danneau, Zone 1 president, noted a meeting on June 11th taking place in Sherbrooke about which all will be notified and he urged all members to try to attend. Mr. Struthers, had this message to the officers, if you don't speak French, study and it will pay off, he too spoke of the past years of the Customs service here. Mr. McCullough had a message about Eastern Township Association meetings and group insurance.

The remainder of the evening was spent dancing, music was played by the Langevin Band and during intermission, Mr. Silvester led for group singing, being assisted by Charles Bockus of Sherbrooke. In the afternoon the ladies of the party attended the opening ceremonies at the new Customs and Immigration building and a tour of the building.

Sherbrooke's Schubert Music Club held its 401st meeting Monday at Sangster Memorial Church on Denault Street May 27 and heard works by Bach, Haydn, Chopin, Shakespeare, and anonymous Welsh and American Negro song-makers. The program opened with the Magog and St. Francis Rivers, what has become the city of Sherbrooke. "I have always been very interested in the career of Sir Alexander Galt... Galt lived in Sherbrooke some 30 years and was a remarkable man who contributed much to the progress and development of our country. "As minister of finance of the former Province of Canada, he introduced for the first time in 1859 a duty on merchandise imported from Great Britain. His reply to British protests constitutes a turning point in our constitutional relations... Canada's right to control her fiscal policy was never again challenged. "A hundred years ago, the majority of the inhabitants of the Eastern Townships were English-speaking. This was still true, but less so, when I was a boy. Yet with the years this changed, and now the majority of the population is French-speaking. "The Eastern Townships serve as an example to the rest of Canada of how the two great races which founded the country can live side by side in mutual respect and comprehension... Confederation was criticized in its time, but significantly the critics had no other solution to offer for Canadian problems." The Belgian ambassador took graduates to Mongolia and the Congo, where he has travelled and worked, and described people so poor they will sell milk supplied for their babies on the black market to feed their children with more chance of reaching adulthood.

Lorette Codere Brunelle and Irene Leveque playing Sicilienne and Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring by Bach on the organ and piano. Then the instrumental trio of Louise Parenteau, Lois Blanchette and Irene Leveque played Haydn's Trio in C Major No. 3. Tenor J. F. Clifton sang three traditional Welsh songs, and the vocal trio of Mrs. Ethel Currie, Mrs. Irene Sjodin and Mrs. Sally Dickson did Lift Thine Eyes by Mendelssohn, Swing Low Sweet Chariot, and Ye Banks and Braes. The instrumental trio returned with Chopin's Valse Brillante Opus 34 No. 2 and Delon's Forest Flowers, and Mr. Clifton sang Come Away Death, T. A. Arne's setting of a poem by Shakespeare, and Passing By, by E. C. Purcell. The evening closed with the organ and piano duet turning to Chopin's Nocturne and Brahms waltzes, No. 3 and 4. The artists were thanked by Fred Sangster.

Visitors of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Martin, May 26, were Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Mosher, of Lennoxville. Mrs. B. Beaufort, of East Angus, Mr. Harvey Downes, of Bishopston, and Miss Patricia Marshall, of Granby, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Marshall. Mr. and Mrs. H. Westgate, of Sawyerville, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Burwash and children of Compton, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Burwash. Mr. Burwash has returned home after a week's visit with her daughter, Miss Heather Burwash, of Montreal. Mr. and Mrs. J. Elsinga and children of Adamsville, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. Heegsma. Mr. Glen Lister of Cowansville, was a weekend guest of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Coates and his mother, Mrs. Whister.

Boundary Unit holds season's final meeting

ROCK ISLAND — The Standard South Church Aid Unit held the last meeting of the season on May 29, in the church hall. Miss Pearl Dorman gave an excellent report on the recently held Sherbrooke-Quebec Presbyterial meeting in Sherbrooke. All were pleased to learn Mrs. Howard Walsh, Derby Line, Mrs. Hattie Eryou and Mrs. Merton Davis, both of Rock Island, are improving from illness and surgery. Cards were signed to be sent shut ins. Miss Agnes Greenwood reported on her birthday bank project and Mrs. Smith on her dish cloth and cutter project. Mrs. Smith turning over proceeds of $10 to the Memorial Fund.

A sum of $75 was voted to the U.C.W. treasurer on the yearly allotment. The next meeting will be held in September. At five o'clock, a hot dish supper was served to friends and members of the U.C.W. who held a meeting later in the evening.

June bride-elect feasted at shower held in Hatley

HATLEY — Over 50 relatives and friends of Miss Marsha Bowen, a June bride-to-be gathered in the Guild Hall on May 27 to tender her a miscellaneous shower. The hall has been decorated with spring flowers. The guest of honor was escorted to a special seat, decorated in pink and white, under an arch, by her sister, Miss Murina Bowen, and Miss Beverly Cutler. The wedding March was played by Mrs. Clifford Curtis. Several contests were played after which Mrs. Harold McClary read a poem she has composed for the occasion. Ellen Bowen and Wendy Hartwell then carried in the gifts in a decorated basket, which was filled many times. Refreshments were served by members of the Ladies' Guild.

Five die

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—A single-engine plane, out on an afternoon cruise, crashed near here Sunday. Five persons were killed, including four members of one family. The plane came down in a wooded area, and apparently flipped over after landing. Cause of the crash was not known.

Carry cross for 400 miles

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Six factory workers left Milan two weeks ago carrying a rough-hewn cross on a 400-mile pilgrimage of prayer for the health of Pope John. They arrived today to find the Pope in his death agony. The six carried the seven-foot cross through the crowds in St. Peter's Square. Francesco Ichetti, one of the six, said they took turns carrying the cross along the way. As they came down the Via Della Concizione, leading to St. Peter's Square, people began to fall in behind them until the number reached several hundred at the steps of St. Peter's Basilica. The Milanese carried the cross inside the basilica to pray.

GEORGE, Benjamin Franklin — Suddenly at his home, Inverness, Que., on Sunday, June 2nd, 1963, Benjamin Franklin George, father of Fred, Annie, and Walter, in his 86th year. Sher-Lenn Little League officially opened Saturday

NHL rules committee meets today, protected lists must be presented tomorrow as annual meeting opens

MONTREAL (CP)—The rules committee starts off the National Hockey League's annual meeting today, with expectation that changes will be minor. Later, during the three-day meetings, the club owners are expected to stipulate that Stanley Cup playoffs will start the Thursday following the usual Sunday windup of the regular season late in March, instead of starting the post-season series on Tuesday.

Traveling problems and other considerations have entered into the situation. The NHL rules makers also meet today with the minor leagues and the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association in an effort to standardize any changes made.

An important meeting of the American Hockey Association is scheduled for tonight, when the AHL is expected to give favorable consideration to restoring its draft agreement with the NHL.

Regardless of any player deals that may be brought about, the first draft session is scheduled for Tuesday. Then the NHL clubs will draft from clubs in the Western Hockey League and the Eastern Professional Hockey League and also—if the AHL ratification goes through—from the American Hockey League.

Filing of protected lists, which permit each NHL club to protect 18 players plus two goalies from the league's internal draft, must be carried out before 3 p.m. Tuesday.

Atlanta sweeps another double, Syracuse pressing Buffalo for Northern lead, Leafs lose two Atlanta Crackers are sweeping every doubleheader in sight and making the International League southern division race a joke, but Syracuse Chiefs are pressing Buffalo Bisons for the top spot in the northern division.

Atlanta whipped Toronto Maple Leafs 4-1 and 3-1 Sunday for its fifth straight doubleheader sweep and lengthened its southern division lead to six games over Indianapolis Indians, who split with Buffalo.

Syracuse cut Buffalo's lead to 1½ games by sweeping Arkansas Travelers 7-3 and 10-5. Two homers by veteran Joe Christopher gave Buffalo a 2-1 verdict over Indianapolis in the nightcap after Indians had won the opener 6-2.

Right-handers Bob Sadowski (8-1) and Harry Fanok (1-0) pitched complete games for the Atlanta sweep. Toronto would have suffered a 16-inning drought except for a home run in the opener by Frank Leja and one in the second game by Neil Chrissy.

WEEK-END FIGHTS

Las Vegas, Nev.—Willie Pastorano, 174, Miami, Fla. outpointed Harold Johnson, 173½ Philadelphia, 15, for world light-heavyweight title.
Manila—Flash Elorde, 134½, Philippines, knocked out Tsunetomi Miyamoto, 134, Japan, 9. Elorde retained Orient light-weight title.
Mexico City—Mario Diaz, 125, Mexico, stopped Marino Celis, 126½, Mexico, 10.

Chuck Daigh of Long Beach, Cal., repairs his Lotus 19 while race on, wins Mosport 200-mile event

By PAUL RIMSTEAD
ORONO, Ont. (CP)—Do-it-yourself mechanics save money, but how many have earned $3,300 with a few twists of a screwdriver?

Chuck Daigh of Long Beach, Calif., did it Saturday while spinning around nearby Mosport track at speeds of more than 100 miles an hour. Steering with one hand, he had to repair his Lotus 19 while on the fly.

The screwdriver did the job. He earned $3,300 and the Player's Trophy for topping a 33-car field to win the International 200-mile sports car race in record time.

Daigh's time over the distance—run in two, 40-lap, 100-mile heats—was a record two hours, nine minutes and 38.6 seconds, an average of 91.05 miles an hour. Masten Gregory, last year's winner, held the old mark of 2:10:36, an average of 90:42 miles an hour.

But Daigh needed more than a screwdriver. Lloyd Ruby of Wichita Falls, Tex., seemed a sure winner with only 12 laps to go on the 2.45-mile asphalt course. Ruby had nipped Daigh to take the first heat and was pulling away from Daigh in the second when transmission trouble forced his Lotus 19 out of the race.

The two drivers had been battling alone before more than 36,000 spectators and Daigh breezed home when Ruby dropped out.

Jim Hall of Midland, Tex., finished second over-all in his Chaparral, a car he helped design, in 2:10:35.3.

Jim Gurney of Costa Mesa, Calif., who drove Daigh's Lotus to a lap-record in last year's event, was third in a Cooper-Monaco in 2:10:36.8. Gurney's car was driven to second place last year by Roger Penske of Gladwyne, Pa., who finished fourth this year in his controversial Zex Special. His time was 2:10:46.7.

FINISHES FIFTH

Top Canadian driver was Toronto's Ludwig Heimrath who bounced back after a nasty spill three weeks ago to finish fifth over-all in a Class 2 Porsche RS 61. Heimrath won his class with a superb effort by nipping Bob Holbert of Warrington, Pa., driving a Porsche RS 60, by only 2.3 seconds.

Another Torontonian, Eppie Wietzes topped the grand touring car entries in an AC Ford Cobra by finishing ninth over-all. Both Heimrath and Wietzes earned $500 for topping their classes.

Daigh's troubles arose during the first heat. "My gear selector wasn't working properly and I made a patch job trying to repair it. I was afraid something might happen to it and the only thing I could do was take off what I had put on. So I carried the screwdriver."

Did he feel he could have caught Ruby had Ruby stayed in the race?

"I don't think so. I was having troubles of my own. It was getting oily out there and quite slippery."

An awaited rematch between Parnelli Jones, winner of the Indianapolis 500 Thursday, and Scotland's Jim Clark, second at Indianapolis by only 34 seconds, didn't come off.

Jones, much to the chagrin of the promoters, cancelled off Friday night in favor of a television appearance and Clark, in an underpowered Lotus 23, finished a disappointing eighth.

Fourteen cars were forced out of the race but there were no serious accidents. Nearest catastrophe was averted by a protective ditch in a bank at the start-finish line.

Wayne Kelly of Trenton, Ont., driving his homemade Kelly Special, hit the bank and skidded for 100 yards but was stopped by the ditch only 15 yards from spectators. The car was damaged extensively but Kelly was unhurt.

Daigh's winnings included $2,000 for finishing first over-all, $500 for winning Class 1, $500 for winning the second heat and $300 for finishing second in the first heat.

The event started on a tragic note when Alistair Cameron-Smith, 34, of Aldershot, Ont., received fatal injuries Friday in a practice run.

Boomer won't be traded, says Plante

NEW GLASGOW (CP)—Goal-tender Jacques Plante of Montreal Canadiens said here Saturday he doesn't expect to see the National Hockey League team make any major changes for the 1963-64 season.

Plante, on a half-day visit to Pictou County, said in an interview reports that Bernie Geoffrion will be traded by the Canadiens are wrong. "Bernie definitely will be back with us next season," said Plante.

However, he expects left-winger Dickie Moore to stick to his retirement announcement. And centre Phil Goyette and defenceman Tom Johnson received letters last week that they would not be on the Canadiens' protected list for the NHL draft this week, Plante said.

About Geoffrion, Plante said "there isn't a team in the league that would give in return what Bernie is worth to us." Montreal was seeking a left-winger and a defenceman. He said Sydney native John Hanna will be given a chance to fill the injured Lou Fontina's spot on the Montreal defence.

Jim Ferrier fires 61 in Speedway Open

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Jim Ferrier, 48-year-old former PGA champion, shot a tournament record 61 while Julius Boros and Dow Finsterwald captured the 54-hole lead with 13-under-par 200s Sunday in the $55,000 Speedway Festival Golf Open.

Ferrier went one over par once had 11 birdies, and the par-smashing frolic on the 6,467-yard par 3536-71 Speedway course.

It was the lowest tournament round of the 1963 PGA tour and only one stroke of the PGA record of 60 which is held by seven players.

The 61 left the one-time Australian amateur champion with a 201 to be among the main contenders in the finale of the chase Monday for the $10,000 first prize.

Boros, rolled to the front with a 30-35-65 for his 200.

Spicy Living wins $91,725 Mother Goose Stakes at Aqueduct after stretch battle with Smart Deb

NEW YORK (CP)—Spicy Living nosed out Smart Deb in the $91,725 Mother Goose Stakes Saturday at Aqueduct after a stretch duel and gained a second leg on the triple crown for three-year-old fillies.

It was the third straight stakes score for Spicy Living and jockey Jimmy Combs, and the toughest yet for the fleet bay daughter of Gallant Fox. First money was $59,621.

Bratlio Bacca on Smart Deb claimed interference in the stretch run. Movies of the race, however, showed there was no contact at any time and the stewards quickly dismissed the claim.

Smart Deb, owned by Mrs. Russell Reineman and a leader in the two-year-old set last fall, fought it out right down to the wire and got second money by

Parade gets season underway with Twins and Senators winning games, two tilts on agenda for tonight

A monster parade preceded the official opening of the Sherbrooke Lennoxville Little League Saturday afternoon led by the Les-Cocardieses-de-Sherbrooke Majorettes the parade started off from the Public Market at 1:15 p.m. A fire truck and twenty convertibles containing players, league officials and guests were included in the parade.

Senators and Twins were the teams meeting on number one diamond with Indians and White Sox battling it out on number two diamond during the afternoon. Senators took their game with the Twins by a 15-8 count while the Indians ran roughshod over the White Sox by a easy 23-2 count.

Attending the official opening and taking part in the proceedings were Alderman Tony Pinard, representing Mayor A. Nadeau, Alderman Charles Lewis, representing Mayor A. Mitchell of Lennoxville, Gaston Lebrun, Parks Superintendent, C. A. Connors, Everett Nichol, chairman Sherbrooke Fire Department, Miss N. Senators in their game with the Twins got away to a big nine run lead in the top of the first inning, walks mostly were responsible for the tallies. Twins in their half of the inning went scoreless.

Senators made it thirteen in the second getting four more tallies. Twins had at this stage of the game changed their starting pitcher Dumas, replacing him with Boucher. Boucher could not do much better on the mound being replaced by Kirk after two runs had crossed the plate. Twins got into the scoring column in their half of the second getting four runs on three hits.

Senators in their game with the White Sox scored almost at will. They piled up runs in every inning getting six in the first, seven in the second, and finishing up with ten more runs in the remaining innings.

White Sox could do nothing right in this game. They managed one run in third and fifth. Doyon and Aubert starred for the Indians each with two hits.

There were few stars on the White Sox squad. Umpires were N. Desisle, C. Clark and D. Beausse and R. Lattler.

Joe 'King' Krol's record still intact although several have come close, Gerry James is closest

By JACK SULLIVAN
Eleven years ago, Canada's Mr. Football sat on the Toronto Argonaut bench, a lonely, forgotten man.

Joe (King) Krol had lots of time to recall his glory days when he was the passing, running, placement - kicking and punting wizard of the team. He was the man who triggered Argonauts to three straight Grey Cup titles over Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the immediate post-war years.

But on Nov. 29, 1952, Joe got off the bench only to kick on third down. It was to be his last appearance in a Canadian final and he went out a winner as Argonauts defeated Edmonton Eskimos 21-11.

He didn't score a point that afternoon, the only time he had been kept off the scoreboard in seven finals dating back to 1943. Krol was a victim of the frenzied search for American imports by the pro clubs in Canada. With American players came American coaches and many of the ball-carrying home-brews soon were switched to defensive duties.

HOLDS CUP RECORD

But Krol made his exit as the all-time-high scorer in Cup history with 30 points. He piled them up before the Canadian Rugby Union, then governing body of the sport in Canada, increased the value of the touchdown to six points from five in 1956.

Americans have taken a big run at Krol's record since he departed from the scene, but they just haven't been able to make it. Now, among active players, another Canadian, Regina-born Gerry James of the Blue Bombers, is closest to Krol's mark.

The 28-year-old son of one of the game's greats, the late Eddie (Dynamite) James of Regina Roughriders and the Blue Bombers in the 1920s and 1930s, James piled up his points in six finals dating from 1953. Krol quit in 1953 at the age of 34 after a dazzling 14-year career in senior company dating back to 1939 when he played for the University of Western Ontario in the intercollegiate union.

He played with Hamilton Flying Wildcats of the old Ontario Rugby Football Union in 1943 and 1944 when they won the Cup, switched to Argonauts the following year and was on winners in 1945-46-47 and 1950, all against Winnipeg.

He scored two touchdowns, kicked one field goal, 10 converts and seven singles. He had many fine hours but probably his greatest was in the 1947 final. The Bombers led 9-7 with five minutes to play but Argonauts drove down the frozen field three times into range for singles by Krol.

Earlier, he had tossed a 35-yard touchdown pass to Golden Boy Royal Copeland and Argonauts won 10-9.

Cleveland—Irving Thatch, 155, Denver, outpointed Sonny Hill, 160, Cleveland, 10.

Alouettes take over top spot, belt Royals twice

Post 7-3 and 11-6 win over Royals, lose 7-6 to Pirates Saturday in St. Johns, three games tomorrow

Strong defensive work and timely relief hurling enabled the Sherbrooke Alouettes to sweep their Sunday twinbill with Drummondville Royals and take over top spot in the Eastern Provincial Baseball League. The Als copped the opener in Drummondville Sunday afternoon 7-3 and last evening posted a 11-6 win.

In the other tilts on the agenda all the other teams split their fixtures. Coaticook blanked Acton Vale 11-0 while losing 4-0. The Pirates edged the Granby Knights 11-10 but dropped the second game 3-2.

Tomorrow evening the Als travel to Drummondville for a single battle while Granby visits Coaticook and St. Johns moves over to Acton Vale to tangle with the Beavers.

Andre Bessette picked up the win in the afternoon but he required help from Bill Conroy while in the evening Conroy needed help from Gilles Bernier to register his victory. Bessette gave up one hit for the first five innings a single to Michel Sawyer.

He ran into trouble when he doled out two walks and a hit. Conroy came in and managed to put out the rally team mate Bessette. McIntyre started for the Royals but he was lifted for Tressidor and Pleau finished the game.

Chet Wodjic banged out two singles while Monette, Poole, St. Vincent and Bessette accounted for the others. For the Royals Sawyer, Despres, Drouin, Ayoub and Este did the hitting.

In the evening, at Sherbrooke, the Als got off to a slow start when the Royals tallied four runs in the second when Maraco banged out a homer. The Als had picked up a single in the first.

In the third Conroy gave up a single but a neat double play got him out of trouble. The Als came back with two runs to knot the count when two hits, an error and a double steal evened the count.

In the fourth the Als banged out five hits to tally four runs for a 8-6 count. The Royals got two runs in their half of the frame. In the sixth Conroy gave up a single but they failed to score. Sherbrooke tallied two runs when the Royal's infield blew a grand chance. The second baseman made two errors and the Als scored.

Bernier came in at the start of the seventh and finished the game giving up only three singles and no runs. Blouin, the Royals' third hurler, was touched for one run as the game finished 11-6 for the Als.

Harold Johnson's manager wants rematch with Willie Pastrano as he claims he was 'robbed' Saturday

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Hollering he was "robbed," Pat Olivieri, manager of Harold Johnson, demanded today a rematch with Willie Pastrano for his dethroned light heavyweight champion.

Pastrano, a 140-5 underdog, won the championship Saturday night in the boxing upset of the year with a split 15-round decision over Johnson.

"I'm not saying that the underworld dictated the decision," said the silver-haired Olivieri. "But the betting was 5-1 and 6-1 for my boy and the underdog won. What do you think?"

There was no verbal or written rematch agreement, Pastrano's manager, Angelo Dundee, said. Olivieri said he would ask Emile Bruneau, chairman of the World Boxing Association champion's ship committee, to give Johnson a rematch within 90 days.

"If they don't do it," said Olivieri, "I'm going to the Kefauver committee. I'll have those two judges and the ref pulled in to see where their minds were during the fight."

The Kefauver committee, a Senate judiciary subcommittee, has investigated the racketeering aspects of prize fighting among other things.

TWO FOR PASTRANO
Referee Jimmy Olivas scored the fight 69-68 and judge Harry Krause 69-67, both for Pastrano. Judge John Romero had it 69-68 for Johnson. The Associated Press had it 70-69 for Pastrano.

In Philadelphia, Al Klein, a member of the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission who saw the fight, said he will endorse Olivieri's request for a rematch because "it was such a disputed decision. . . I'm not in the habit of quarreling with officials. . . but there was a feeling among people that Johnson won."

F. Desrochers and Kate Peters win main event

Fern Desrochers teamed Marc Noisieux's Kate Peters home to win the main event at the Sherbrooke Race Track Sunday afternoon. Virus still is forcing plenty of scratches but it is reported that it is being kept under control as no new cases have been discovered.

The best time of the day was registered in the eighth race when Success Tess crossed under the wire in 2:10, to walk off with the honors. The double of Buster Huckins with Valleyfield Boy in the first and W. Hebert teaming Isabel Truebrooke formed the double and the sum of $38.00 was shelled out.

In the first quinella in the Fourth the combination of Sonny Boy B and Chief Abbe U paid their backers $11.60 while in the Sixth bress Parade and Princess Belle L paid the sum of $21.40 for their win. The Exacta in the Tenth with Kate Peters and Flying Easy the bettors collected $45.50 for the wager.

In the Seventh race all the drivers were fined for driving a slow half mile and failing to show any progress. All drivers were warned about failing to get into positions at the gate.

Willie Mays bursts open, clouts three homers

Who said the Giants were carrying Willie Mays as a "glove man?" Wonderful Willie made a liar of his .254 batting average Sunday when he hit three home runs in San Francisco's 6-4 victory over the menacing St. Louis Cardinals.

Not since 1952, when he was playing out the string before leaving for the army, has Mays struggled through such a slump at this stage of the season. After 50 games in 1958, his first year in San Francisco, Willie was hitting .424. In succeeding years the 50-game mark has found him at .335, .305, .305 and .309. Mays gave signs of awakening from his spring snooze when he broke out of a home run slump with three that accounted for four runs. He hadn't hit one since May 17 until he blasted a two-run homer off loser Ernie Broglio in the first inning. He followed with No. 9 and No. 10 in the eighth and ninth.

Giants' victory snapped a five-game Cardinal winning streak and dropped Cards two full games off the San Francisco pace. Cincinnati Reds dropped Los Angeles Dodgers 3 1/2 games back of Giants by scoring five unearned runs with the help of two Dodger errors in a 5-2 decision. It was Dodgers' fourth consecutive loss.

Houston Colts put together four successive singles in the 17th inning to win the longest game of the year, a four-hour 46-minute struggle with Milwaukee Braves, 3-1. Carl Warwick, Rusty Staub, Jim Campbell and Al Spangler contributed the singles that gave Hal Woodeshick the win over Ron Piche, a right-hander from Lachine, Que. Philadelphia Phillies divided a pair with Chicago Cubs. Cal McLish won his fifth straight for Philis in the opener, 5-2, with the aid of veteran Jim Lemon's first National League homer. Cubs won the second 3-2 with the help of a two-run triples by Billy Williams.

METS WIN TWO
The lowly New York Mets grabbed two wins from Pittsburgh Pirates, each in 10 innings, 2-1 and 4-3. Jim Hickman's homer won the second, a game in which Tracy Stallard was knocked out in the seventh after six no-hit innings. They took the first when Jerry Lynch collided with Bill Virdon on Ron Hunt's fly ball and jarred the ball loose, letting Ron Kanehl score the winning run.

Saturday, St. Louis defeated San Francisco 7-4. Cincinnati nipped Los Angeles 1-0, Chicago shut out Philadelphia 10, Milwaukee defeated Houston 4-1 and Pittsburgh defeated New York 10-1.

Juan Marichal won his eighth for Giants Sunday with the help of Mays' bombing and Orlando Cepeda's 10th homer although Bob Bolin had to finish up in the three-run ninth. Dick Groat's triple, Stan Musial's single and doubles by George Altman and Julian Javier gave Cards three in the ninth before Bolin came in to get the last two hitters.

Jim O'Toole became the first major leaguer to win nine games when he beat Dodgers. He, too, needed help in the ninth. With two out and two on, Bill Henry struck out Ron Fairly to end it. Errors by Dick Tracewski and Don Zimmer contributed to a five-run second inning.

Carl Warwick's homer in the second had been Houston's only run until they broke through in the 17th. The Milwaukee pitchers chalked up a total of 17 strikeouts. Denny Lemaster, starter for Braves, had fanned

The grip most widely used, especially by playing professionals, is the overlapping.

The overlapping is supposed to create complete coordination between the hands. It is best suited to players with good-sized hands and fairly long fingers.

Indians wallop Yanks 5-0, 7-2 as Angels sweep series from Orioles, White Sox blanks Red Sox 10-0

Baseball's mighty mite, two left-handers with losing records, a rangy better for a last-place team and a slumping slugger played leading roles Sunday as American League also-rans toppled the big boys.

Albie Pearson, the five-foot five-inch, 140-pound dynamo, whacked a homer and two singles for Los Angeles Angels, who made it a three-game sweep over Baltimore Orioles and dealt Orioles their fifth straight loss, 8-2.

Southpaws Jack Fralick and Sam McDowell pitched Cleveland Indians to twin victories over New York Yankees, 5-0 and 7-2. Chuck Hinton's two-run homer in the 10th inning powered Washington's last-place Senators over Kansas City Athletics 6-4. And 230-hitter Rocky Colavito singled home a ninth-inning run for Detroit Tigers that cooled off Minnesota Twins 7-6.

In other action, Chicago White Sox rapped Boston Red Sox 10-0 behind Juan Pizarro's four-hit pitching after Red Sox had taken the opener, 11-9 on a homer by Carl Yastrzemski.

YANKEES STILL LEAD
The results left Yankees holding a lead of five percentage points over Baltimore, with Chicago another eight points back in third and Kansas City three games out in fourth.

New York defeated Cleveland 5-2 Saturday. In other games Saturday, Chicago nipped Boston 3-1, Minnesota trounced Detroit 7-1, Washington defeated Kansas City 9-1 and Los Angeles defeated Baltimore 7-1.

Pearson batted in three runs and scored two for Angels as they winged Orioles. Felix Torres also weighed in with three Los Angeles hits while Lee Thomas had two, including his first homer since April 16. Dean Chance was the winning pitcher, with last-out relief from Julio Navarro.

Robin Roberts, trying for his fifth straight victory, was the loser.

Kralick pitched a two-hit gem in the Cleveland opener, facing only 30 Yanks and not allowing any one as far as second base.

ADCOCK HOMERS
Joe Adcock settled matters for Indians with a three-run homer in the sixth off loser Bill Stafford. Joe Azcue also homered.

McDowell spaced nine hits in the second game and was supported chiefly by Fred Whitfield, who homered, doubled and singled. McDowell now is 3-4 and Kralick 4-5.

Prior to the sweep, Indians had lost four straight and nine of their last 10 and Yanks had won 14 of their last 17.

COWANSVILLE — (Special) — The highlight of the annual bowling banquet by the employees of Realmont Limited, was the presentation of the Webster Trophy and the Coca-Cola Trophy to the Blue Birds.

James Paul, is the captain of the team, known throughout the year as the Blue Birds. Barbara Johnson, Jacqueline Cocolas, Cecile Dubreuil and Norman Skillen were the other members of this team.

Norman Browning presented the Webster Trophy, on behalf of Mrs. Alan Webster, and congratulated the team for their fine skill and commented on the enthusiasm they had aroused within the club during the season as they climbed to the top of the league.

The Coca-Cola Trophy was presented to the Play-Off

Champions by Marshall Gregory, president of the club, who had further praise for the Blue Birds and their captain James Paul. In his remarks, Mr. Gregory explained that a "400 Club" had been introduced this season. Seven men and five ladies bowled triples amounting to a total greater than 400. They were given bowling crests.

Norman Skillen presented the individual trophies. The highest averages for the year were maintained by Jacqueline Cocolas and Marshall Gregory. The best single games were bowled by Lucie Boutin and Henri Jacques were given to Marie Brodeur and Carl Birch. Simone Veronneau and Larry Clark.

Marshall Gregory received a gift from the members as a token of their esteem for a fine club president. Dancing followed the banquet held at Salon Galaxie. Winners of the door prizes were Lize Manseau, Gisèle Levert, S. Cantin and Tom Birch.
