CAMPERS LEARN SKILL AND A SECOND LANGUAGE AT THE SAME TIME AT FOSTER

Camp makes learning fun

By FRED ASTON
FOSTER — Camp Edgell House is still going strong after 18 years of successful operation. It is little wonder that this bilingual camp is one of the finest and most efficiently operated ventures of its kind. Ellen and Axel Carstensen have built Camp Edgell House throughout the years until now it enjoys an international reputation for quality and high standards.

In addition to the usual camp activities which include swimming, riding, campcraft, hiking, social and nature study, tennis and archery, the students have the golden opportunity to learn a second language.

In fact, the main purpose of the camp is to give children exposure to their second language, whether it be French or English. The youngsters are taught conversational English and French through songs, discussions, plays, games and even at their meals. They have regular periods with the French and English instructors five days a week.

SPEAKS SIX LANGUAGES
Mrs. Carstensen, who is fluent in six different languages herself, sees no difference in the children. I see them all when they come here," she said, "and they're all the same. It makes no difference if you're black or white, English or French, Catholic, Protestant or Jewish. They're all children and it makes no difference to them. It's not the child that has the prejudice — it's his parents who teach it to him."

At Camp Edgell House children from all over the world come each year, returning season after season. Youngsters from as far away as California, Mexico and Denmark — to learn French or English. This year 55 youngsters from various provinces, states and countries abroad are attending the six-week camp — and enjoying every minute.

Accredited by the Quebec Camping Association, the camp features boys and girls from 7-16 soaking in the tranquil atmosphere. With government-tested well water, a certified swimming instructor, a resident nurse in attendance, competent senior teachers and carefully selected councillors, the children are well cared for, with little for parents to worry about.

USE LANGUAGE LEARNED
"We have something quite unique at meal time," continued Mrs. Carstensen. "The children line up for their food and each one asks for the vegetables, meat, bread or whatever he wants in his second language. We stress good grammar and don't let them get away with slang terms. If the youngster cannot ask properly he goes to the end of the line and tries again."

Obviously the Carstensen method for teaching a language pays off. The children have a six-week blitz course in language, recreation and companionship. When they leave Camp Edgell House at summer's end to return to school in their home town, the invaluable knowledge they acquired during the summer will not soon be forgotten — nor their hosts the Carstensens.

As Mr. Carstensen put it: "Nothing here is like anything anywhere else." If you've seen Camp Edgell House you might tend to agree.

Loser Muskie's name resurrected

WASHINGTON (CP) — Presidential candidate George McGovern worked quietly and deliberately today in search of a new vice-presidential running mate, with Senator Edmund Muskie of Maine reported to be at the top of the list.

McGovern, determined to avoid any controversy such as that which forced him to drop Senator Thomas Eagleton from the Democratic ticket, was making his deliberations in an atmosphere far different from the feverish excitement of the Democratic national convention in Miami Beach last month.

He was reported to have spoken to a number of possible vice-presidential nominees, but the name of Muskie, vice-presidential candidate in the 1968 election, was said to be foremost.

Muskie is generally acceptable to all elements of the party, and is well known. A Roman Catholic and a New Englander, he would provide balance for McGovern, a Midwestern Methodist.

Senator Frank Church of Idaho, a Protestant, seemed to throw cold water on speculation he might receive the nod. He recommended McGovern find someone who would add more variety to the ticket.

Crop decision soon

QUEBEC (CP) — A decision will be taken within two weeks by the Quebec government on measures to help farmers who have suffered crop failure due to poor weather conditions, Normand Toupin, minister of agriculture said Tuesday.

He told a news conference the aid could come in the form of special loan to the 10,000 hay farmers who suffered serious frost damage this season and were not covered by crop insurance.

Mr. Toupin said only 1,300 of these farmers are eligible to collect the insurance.

Farmers in the Victoriaville area, 60 miles southeast of here asked the provincial government last week to declare the region a disaster area because weather conditions threatened serious losses in hay, apple and strawberry crops.

Besides Muskie and Church, speculation has centred on the former Democratic national committee chairman, Lawrence F. O'Brien; Boston Mayor Kevin White, and R. Sargent Shriver, former ambassador to France and one-time Peace Corps director. And the name of Senator Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts—who says he doesn't want the job—continues to crop up.

McGovern is believed looking for a close friend who is relatively non-controversial.

McGovern was expected to announce his choice within a few days, allowing time for a thorough check into his running mate's background—time that was lacking when Eagleton was picked.

Eagleton turned out to be too controversial following disclosure last week that he had been in hospital for mental depression in 1960, 1964 and 1966.

His withdrawal from the Democratic ticket Monday night following a nearly two-hour meeting with McGovern made him the first major-party candidate for the vice-presidency ever to accept and then give up the nomination.

The Democratic national committee must meet to approve a new nominee but it is expected to go along with McGovern's preference. One McGovern adviser said Tuesday a meeting is being planned for next Monday in Washington. But, he added, it could be set back a day or two.

STE. THERESE, Que. (CP) — Andre Vassard, whose death Friday sparked a weekend of violence, was buried Tuesday and the tough provisions of the Riot Act were lifted hours after the funeral.

The act, which prohibits public assembly of more than three persons, expired Tuesday night.

It was read Sunday night by Mayor Rene Robert and re-read 24 hours later, to remain in force during the funeral of the 16-year-old Vassard, killed by a local policeman. It must be read every 24 hours to remain in effect.

The youth's coffin was escorted by Quebec Provincial Police from the church to the cemetery, as the streets were jammed with cars full of youths and sightseers.

About 200 persons attended the funeral, including Maurice Vassard, father of the dead youth, and two other sons.

THIRTY ARRESTED
Thirty persons were arrested Sunday and three more Monday as police barricaded the area around city hall where the weekend demonstrations took place. None of the arrests were for contravention of the Riot Act.

"The business over the weekend was so entirely unnecessary," said Yvon Joyal, deputy police director.

"Relations between the police and the kids in town have been very good, on the whole, though we do have a very definite drug problem."

Police said they found a substance "that looks like tea leaves" in plastic bags near the youth's body.

"We were planning a youth aid section, to get a better rapport with the kids concerning these things. We were to start this fall. Now this..."

Mr. Joyal said that when a Ste. Therese constable was killed by a holdup man last year "everyone was there at the funeral with kind words."

"Now they seem to see one of our fellows as a murderer. The whole thing has been prejudged."

INQUIRY ASKED
Justice Minister Jerome Choquette

was asked Monday to hold a public inquiry into the youth's death.

Mayor Robert said there will be a coroner's inquest as well as an inquiry by the provincial police homicide squad and added he would welcome a public inquiry.

Vassard, one of the first patients in Quebec to undergo successful open-heart surgery, was shot and killed while being chased by two policemen. Police said he fled when they approached, intending to question him about the sale of drugs.

An official police report said Constable Andre Goulet, suspended from the force pending an inquiry into the death, fired a warning shot then, as he jumped a fence, his knees buckled and his gun fired accidentally.

Farm program pushed

QUEBEC (CP) — Agriculture Minister Normand Toupin said Tuesday that Quebec will proceed with its new agriculture program regardless of the federal government's position on the matter.

Mr. Toupin, citing recent delays in negotiations between the federal and Quebec agriculture departments, said it was urgent for Quebec to assume jurisdiction over what is rightfully hers.

"If we waited for the federal government to take over," he said, "it would be almost impossible to regain control later."

Mr. Toupin said he would be open to all discussions with the federal government, if Ottawa intended to adjust its agriculture policy to that of Quebec's.

"But, rather than trying to negotiate with the federal government, we will henceforth work to develop Quebec agriculture with the means now available," said Mr. Toupin.

Authorities said that because there is no matron at the prison, there is no way guards can search women visitors.

In Stuart, Fla., about 35 miles north of West Palm Beach, four young prisoners at the Martin County Jail died when fire swept a second-floor cellblock. Sheriff Robert L. Crowder said a preliminary investigation indicated three of the victims set mattresses and magazines on fire and were unable to control the flames.

Crowder said smoke prevented a jailer from reaching an electrical switch which would have opened the cell doors. Guards were seized as hostages at two other prisons Monday night.

In Poughkeepsie, N.Y., seven prisoners demanding an extra hour's television time assaulted several guards, held one hostage for an hour and then returned to their cells. Three guards and one prisoner suffered minor injuries during the scuffle.

Reporter watches beating

STE. THERESE, Que. (CP) — A Montreal newspaper says police held and beat a 19-year-old youth Tuesday, 100 feet from the local police station and then took him to the station where the beating continued.

James Duff of The Gazette, in an eyewitness report from this troubled community 15 miles north of Montreal, said a Ste. Therese police cruiser arrived in front of a hotel where the reporter was talking to several youths.

A 16-year-old youth was killed by a policeman's bullet Friday night, sparking weekend violence.

In a front-page story, the reporter said the police officers told the group to move along but the youth did not seem to hear the command.

Five policemen, four from a nearby Quebec Provincial Police car, attacked the youth in front of the reporter, the story says.

"Two took turns beating him in the stomach while the Ste. Therese constable got his head in a hammerlock. They carried him to the cruiser and threw him into the back seat."

Duff said inside the station "a reception committee of two Ste. Therese constables slammed him into the wall and a third constable, approximately six feet two inches and 200 pounds, addressed him with a few kidney punches..."

Mr. Duff is a former student at Bishop's College School in Lennoxville.

Eight dead in break

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Eight persons are dead following an escape attempt at one prison and a fire in a second, but prisoner rebellions at two other institutions have ended.

The latest victim was Katherine Elliott, who died Tuesday after being shot during an abortive escape attempt Monday by her husband, Walter, at the Norfolk Prison in Boston. She apparently had smuggled two pistols to her husband, who later is thought to have killed himself and shot her while they were under siege in a prison dormitory.

Elliott, 30, and two prison employees were killed Monday during the escape attempt, which local authorities say could have been prevented.

"This tragedy could have been averted," George Burke, Norfolk County district attorney said later. "We had the information. We anticipated the guns and we anticipated the escape and we relayed the information" to prison authorities.

Burke said he told prison officials as early as July 12 of the pending escape. He said that on four subsequent occasions, he requested that Elliott and four others be transferred to a maximum security prison.

Prison superintendent George H. Bohlinger said information had been relayed on Friday and he had attempted to have Elliott transferred elsewhere.

WOMEN NOT SEARCHED
Authorities said that because there is no matron at the prison, there is no way guards can search women visitors.

In Stuart, Fla., about 35 miles north of West Palm Beach, four young prisoners at the Martin County Jail died when fire swept a second-floor cellblock. Sheriff Robert L. Secret talks held WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Kissinger is back from Paris after a renewed effort to break the Vietnam peace talks stalemate.

A White House spokesman said President Nixon's assistant for national security affairs returned Tuesday night from the secret talks with Hanoi politico member Le Duc Tho and Xuan Thuy, head of North Vietnam's Paris delegation.

Kissinger, who has made 14 previous trips to the French capital for private talks, will give the president a detailed account today at the White House.

White House officials and North Vietnamese spokesmen in Paris refused to discuss details of the talks.

Kissinger flew to Paris on Monday—four days after Nixon told a news conference "we hope to do everything we can to bring this war to an end" in the three months before the election.

CHANCES BETTER
Nixon also said then: "The chance for a negotiated settlement is better now than it has ever been."

SUNLESS SHERBROOKE — The summer of 1972 may go down in history as the wettest in Sherbrooke's history. Yesterday was no exception as Sherbrooke residents were treated to only a few hours of sunshine before the clouds formed and rain once again began to fall. Cars on King Street had both their windshield wipers working and their lights on hours before the sun actually set. (Record photo: L. Harris) defense to defeat our correspondent one trick at the five-diamond contract and it would have taken even better defense for North and South to defeat four hearts.

The only successful defense must start with the king of clubs, diamond to the ace, second club by North. Or diamond to the ace; club led by North; second club led by whoever wins the first club.

The defense forces dummy immediately. Now if East plays two rounds of trumps, leads the nine of spades and lets it ride North will lead a third round of clubs. This will force West's last trump and East will have no parking place for his last club.

Suppose East doesn't play two rounds of trumps. He can ruff a diamond; ruff a club; ruff the last diamond; ruff the last club; cash West's ace of trumps, play ace and another spade. North will proceed to lead a third spade and South's queen of hearts will score.

Against any other defense East will be able to play two rounds of trumps and set up either the queen or 10 of spades for a discard of the one club he won't be able to ruff.

A reader from Winnipeg asks, "How bad was my five-diamond bid? My partner thinks I should have either passed or doubled four hearts. I was set one because West opened his singleton club and then undered his ace of hearts when I led a spade after playing two rounds of trumps."

Our reply was that we didn't consider it a bad bid because we would have made it ourselves. It took superb

St. James Evening Guild

FOSTER — The Evening Guild of St. James Church met at the home of Mrs. Bernard de Solla for their May meeting with twelve members and three visitors present.

The president, Mrs. Sidney de Solla opened the meeting with prayers, and the secretary, Mrs. Robert Price, called the roll and read the minutes of the April meeting.

The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Adrian Whitehead, assistant treasurer, and the corresponding secretary's report was given by Mrs. R.T. Price due to the absence of Mrs. Arthur Hancock. Mrs. Ethel Bissell gave the work report and Mrs. Elvia Johnson reported on Virginia the forgotten patient at Douglas Hospital. Final plans were made for the card party and the summer rummage sales, which are to be held on the last Saturday of each month in the Foster Town Hall.

The meeting closed with the benediction and the lucky package was won by Mrs. Elvia Johnson.

Following the meeting a Tupperware demonstration was held with Mrs. Violet Webster of Griny as demonstrator.

Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. B. de Solla. The June meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Price.

Fiddling event attracts 5,000 enthusiasts

CRAFTSBURY COMMON, Vt. — There was a lot of toe-tapping on Saturday afternoon and evening at Craftsbury Common, Vt., a few miles south of the Canadian border, when some 5,000 persons gathered for the 10th annual Old-Time Fiddlers Contest.

The master of ceremonies, Ken Dahlberg, said the competition started 10 years ago. There were eight contestants and a handful of spectators. This year there were 81 contestants. The 10th anniversary was observed by medals struck by the Lombardo Mint in Sherbrooke. There were 4,000 medals struck in aluminum, bronze and silver which were given to 4,000 spectators as a souvenir when the entrance fee was paid. Another 1,000 persons were disappointed not to have them.

One side of the coin features Bob Moffat, a life-long resident of Craftsbury and a winner in the 1971 contest in the senior division. On Saturday Mr. Moffat was at the contest and played a few selections. The other side of the medal shows the 150-year-old church which stands in the Common and was open to the public on Saturday.

MEDALS PRESENTED

There were a few silver medals presented to persons active over the past 10 years in the annual contest. One went to Derby Line's popular fiddler, Wilfred Guillette.

It would seem that every state in the union was represented at the event —

Vermont to California and Florida and in between. Canadians came from Quebec, Ontario and other points. Several of the contestants were from the Eastern Townships and the New England states.

The music was wonderful to hear and the crowd, gathered in the Common, was most responsive. It was like one great, happy party with no generation gap between the infant and senior citizens.

Food was prepared but, even so, many did not get any because they were "sold out." The chicken barbeque cooked 1,800 chicken halves and 300 homemade pies. There were hot dogs, hamburgers and so forth. Many brought their own lunches and lawn chairs. Others sat on the ground.

RECEIVES MEDAL

The show was started 10 years ago by Rev. Arnold Brown, also a customs officer at the Derby Line port. He was another recipient of a silver medal.

There was $500 in prizes and trophies that went to winners. The preliminaries were held in the afternoon, finishing after 8 p.m. The finals got underway at about 9 p.m. and continued to the end, somewhere around midnight.

There was also a fiddle auction, a fiddle demonstration and other attractions.

Some of the fiddlers will be playing on Aug. 27 at Ayer's Cliff Fair.

Sports Palace may go private

SHERBROOKE (LH) — Speculation is growing as to how the Sherbrooke Sports Palace will be administered next year. Although offers have not officially been brought before Sherbrooke city council, two business interests recently revealed offers to rent the sports complex from the city.

Just over a week ago, the owner of the Sherbrooke Pirates Eastern League baseball franchise, Ray Blomquist, offered to rent the Sports Palace from the city for the nominal fee of $1 per year.

According to Mr. Blomquist, Emprise Sports, headed by Mr. Blomquist, would assume most of the operating and upkeep costs of the Sports Palace. The city would benefit by not having to meet the deficit the Sports Palace usually runs up each year, Mr. Blomquist said.

On Monday, a second group of businessmen revealed an offer to rent the 5,000-seat building. A group headed by local businessman Guy Bureau would also like to see the Sports Palace turned over to private enterprise, but on a local basis, Mr. Bureau said. A more detailed offer will be made to the city and tabled at a council meeting soon, Mr. Bureau promised.

At Monday's council meeting, Mayor Marc Bureau was asked why reports of the offers were published in local newspapers before being brought to council. "There are two ways of doing things," was Mayor Bureau's considered reply. "You can wait until it appears on the agenda and surprise the public. Or you can give it to the press and the public is warned," the Mayor explained.

But until the question of the Sports Palace appears on an agenda of a Sherbrooke city council meeting, Sherbrooke residents will not know what policy the city intends to pursue on the matter.

Blood clinic set Aug. 7

ROCK ISLAND — The Canadian Red Cross will conduct its annual Blood Donor Clinic on Monday, Aug. 7, at Sunnyside Elementary School in Rock Island. The hours are 2-5 p.m. and 6-9 p.m.

It is hoped for at least 150 donors. The clinic is under the chairmanship of Germain Poulin of Stanstead. There will be several local persons working with the Red Cross personnel from Montreal.

Blood is urgently needed to carry on the work in hospitals. The holiday time is accident time, and blood for transfusions is used to save lives. It is also required in many operations performed at hospitals which have membership in the Red Cross blood service. The blood is given freely, although in some cases there is a slight charge by some hospitals for equipment used.

Walk-ins are always welcome at the clinic.

Truck runs into house

COATICOOK (LH) — Three persons were taken to Ste. Catherine Laboure Hospital in Coaticook last night following an accident along Cutting Street.

According to a spokesman for the local police force in Coaticook, the driver of an oil tanker lost control of his vehicle which left the road and eventually came to rest against a home belong to Albert Deblouis, of 223 Cutting Street. The accident occurred at about 6:45 p.m.

Mrs. Albert Deblouis, in her home at the time of the accident, was taken to hospital with cuts and contusions, a spokesman for the hospital said. She is expected

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Allan of Birchton were supper guests at the same home.

Ayrshire conference opens today

MONTREAL — Thirty-one Canadians departed from Montreal Monday for the second Ayrshire World Conference at Lahti, Finland, Aug. 2-9. The group will also spend a week in Great Britain, touring Ayrshire herds.

Ayrshire enthusiasts from British Columbia, Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick are attending the conference. The tour is sponsored by the Ayrshire Breeders' Association of Canada and the secretary-manager, J. Douglas MacKechnie, will be tour leader.

A number of Canadians are participating in the conference program. John D. McCaig of Ormstown, Que., a Canadian type classification inspector, will be giving a paper on the Canadian type classification program. Short papers will also be given by Hugh Neilson of Fredericton, N.B., A.M. Wallace of Smiths Falls, Ont., Arnold R. Stansell of Aylmer, Ont., and Mr. MacKechnie of Ottawa. Association president Malcolm MacGillivray of St. Lambert, Que., will be participating in a panel discussion.

Papers will also be presented at the conference by leading authorities from Finland, Great Britain, the United States, Sweden, Czechoslovakia and the Soviet Union.

Dairying is an important industry in Finland and they have the highest per capita consumption of milk and dairy products of any country in the world. Finland has over 560,000 Ayrshire cows, 67 per cent of the entire cattle population.

During the tours of Finnish and British farms, the Canadians will have an opportunity of seeing some Canadian Ayrshire bulls that have recently been exported to Britain and the progeny of Canadian bulls in both Finland and Britain.

The first Ayrshire World Conference was held in Toronto in November, 1969. The president of the World Federation of Ayrshire Societies, Arnold Stansell of Selwood Farms in Aylmer, Ont., will deliver the opening address. The Canadian group will return to Canada Aug. 16th.

Vale Perkins

Allen of Westfield, Mass., was also a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wallis.

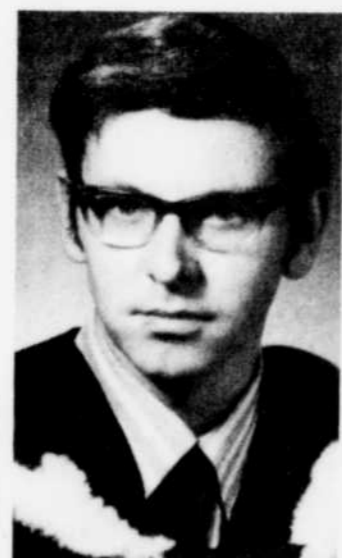

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sanborn, Eric and Fiona were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Jewett and family. Miss Penny Dustin and Brady Dustin of West Brome, who are holidaying at Fitch Bay were also guests at the same home.

Bury social notes

Friends and relatives here were grieved to learn of the death of Mrs. Minnie Hooker, which occurred at the Sherbrooke Hospital on Monday July 24. Funeral services were held in Lennoxville, the interment taking place in Bury. Deepest sympathy is extended to her five daughters, son, brothers and sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Tarrant spent a day recently at Bowker Lake, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Tarrant of Granby.

Mr. Paul Sherman and son Frankie of Lebanon, N.H. were recent guests of their uncle and cousin Mr. Clarence Goodwin and Miss Anne. Frankie had just returned from Vietnam two weeks ago, another son, Lyford returned at the same time owing to having been wounded by shrapnel.

Bail bid blocked

GRANBY (JD) — Mr. Justice Thomas Toth yesterday rejected a bid for bail by Leo Gariepy, 21, the rookie Town of Brome Lake policeman charged with non-capital murder in the shooting death of Thomas Taylor in Foster April 25.

Judge Toth forbade reporting his motives for rejecting the bail application.

Gariepy's trial will be heard at the next term of the District of Bedford assizes in Swetsburg court this fall.

The first straw

Twenty years ago W.A.C. Bennett, then an obscure and disenchanted Conservative, became the first Social Credit premier of British Columbia. On Aug. 30 his government, the oldest in Canada, will seek an eighth term of office and seems sure to win it, mainly because two decades of feverish politics have produced no credible alternative.

The official New Democratic opposition carries the albatross of its allegiance with the labor unions at a time of wholesale inflationary wage increases, industrial strife and frequent strikes. The Liberal party splinter, with only five seats in the last legislature, is struggling desperately to hold them as a beachhead for the future. An even smaller Conservative group of two members, both Social Credit rebels, hopes to revive a party long dormant and powerless. Against such challengers Mr. Bennett's overwhelming majority, won three years ago, may be reduced, but is unlikely to be lost.

It will decide the immediate political prospects of the third largest province and one of the richest communities in the world. Since Mr. Bennett is nearly 72 years old, it will test the popular theory that only young men, like the premiers of all the other provinces, can succeed in politics nowadays. Since his is a life-long conservative in his thinking and is pursuing a bitter feud with Prime Minister Trudeau, the election will also offer some indication of British Columbia's vote in the next federal election. And finally, the provincial voters will have the chance to register their opinion of Mr. Bennett's latest extraordinary demerch in proposing that Quebec decide by plebiscite, right away, whether it should leave Confederation which, he thinks, would thrive without it.

All his earlier attempts to carry Social Credit into federal politics failed so lamentably that he has abandoned them. All his wars against four successive federal governments had little effect on them. All his struggles for the rights of his province were based on the preposterous argument that it was the Cinderella of Confederation or, as he always describes it, a "goblet to be drained" by a rapacious federal treasury in Ottawa for the benefit of the other provinces.

Certainly he has done much to make that life good. His roads, ferry services, railway and vast hydroelectric projects are the works of a bold imaginative leader beside whom all rivals look pathetically small. Even more remarkable, he has financed his public services without a budgetary deficit, piled up regular surpluses year by year, paid off the entire direct provincial debt and left all borrowings to his various Crown agencies that live on their own revenues. As a thrifty administrator and housekeeper he has no equal in other provinces or in Ottawa, where his talents would have been useful in these long years of financial irresponsibility.

Mr. Bennett is also an amateur of economics who never believed in Social Credit but, using it as a handy vehicle of politics, invented his own monetary doctrines. While they have worked well in British Columbia, his assumption that regions with far less natural wealth could easily imitate them, and enjoy the Good Life if they wanted to, is a genial absurdity which Mr. Bennett is too wise to believe.

Yet his current view of the national economy is more realistic than that of the federal government. He holds, in a province of almost unbelievable recent wage increases, that cost-push inflation is the primary threat to Canada's prosperity and he has repeatedly urged a nation-wide system of economic controls while holding the annual salary increase of his civil service to a guideline of six per cent.

If he argues these issues in his present campaign, and does not disfigure it by his personal anti-French vendetta with Mr. Trudeau, the British Columbia election could have a broad national significance. At any rate, the federal government will watch it with anxiety as the first straw in the political wind of autumn.

Moon trip a humbling experience

By Paul Recer

HOUSTON (AP) — They went to the moon, explored its desolation and the mystery of the heavens beyond. They returned home as changed men.

Somehow in that timeless, lifeless land they found a new understanding of themselves, their earth and of mankind.

Ten men have made that trip and, in one way or another, all have felt it change their lives.

For James B. Irwin of the Apollo 15 spacecraft it was a trip that lent "a new appreciation of everything we have on earth."

"My whole view of myself, my role in life, my philosophy about myself and mankind has changed immensely," says Edgar D. Mitchell of Apollo 14.

After being to the moon and back, Alan B. Shepard, commander of Apollo 14 and a man who has accumulated considerable wealth on earth, says: "It's awfully hard to ignore the fact that the earth is really a pretty small place after all."

And the first man who stepped on the moon? Neil Armstrong of Apollo 11 returned an international hero, feted around the world, turned almost as an artifact to a desk job. Even outside his little hometown in Ohio were signs saying "Wapakoneta, home of Neil Armstrong, first man on the moon." He quietly left the astronaut corps and now teaches engineering at the University of Cincinnati.

Some were less affected, or chose to be. Apollo 12's Charles Conrad turned his attention back to earth, his home, and to future space missions. He is concentrating on the space shuttle which may not fly until the 1980s and is slated to command the first flight of Skylab, the orbiting scientific laboratory due for space next spring.

The trip to the moon seems to alter visions of grandeur, ambition, profit.

Irwin, and his fellow Apollo 15 astronauts David Scott and Alfred Worden, carried 400 unauthorized stamp covers to the moon, the space agency alleges, for a dealer. They were to profit $21,000 from the lunar smuggling, but when they returned from the flight they had a change of heart. They admitted their misdeed and were reprimanded.

Their quarter of a million-mile journey through space carried them so far from home that the earth appeared, as John Young of Apollo 16 observed, "small enough to cover up with your thumb."

Irwin retires from the space corps and the air force in August and plans to start a ministry, or as he calls it "a witness", of his faith in God that was freshened and made more real by his trip to the moon.

"It's made me a warmer, more human person," said Irwin.

"I used to be strictly a nuts and bolts type of guy with not a great deal of thought about individuals. Now I've become more of a humanitarian in my outlook."

Irwin is forming a foundation to organize and finance his ministry. He said a group of Baptist ministers, including Dr. Billy Graham, have agreed to advise him.

STUDIES PSYCHIC

Mitchell also has resigned from the astronaut corps and plans to retire this fall. He also will create an organization, but it will concentrate on the study of psychic phenomena. The astronaut conducted a test of extra-sensory perception during his moon voyage and called it a conditional success.

Shepard, the first American in space and the commander of Apollo 14, found his moon mission expanded his awareness. He said it tended to lift his sights beyond the confines of day-to-day life.

"It's awfully easy for everybody to become parochial," he said. "You get to thinking that the country is the centre of the universe."

But on a moon mission, "you get the chance to back away and look at the whole thing."

Shepard was the first American in space. He has walked the moon. He achieved wealth through investments. And now Shepard, who fought in the Second World War aboard a ship, has become an admiral in the navy.

Such contentment was denied Aldrin, the second man on the moon. He was a single-minded engineer, a master pilot.

Shortly after his Apollo 11 flight, Aldrin felt himself sinking into despondency. He told a reporter he felt for the first time a great indecision. He dreaded public appearances and felt listless. The air force passed him over for star rank.

Aldrin quit the astronaut corps and assumed command of Edwards Air Force Base. But his problem continued and he sought psychiatric help. He has since retired from the air force.

Now he talks frankly of his illness and is writing his autobiography, to be entitled Return to Earth.

For Conrad, his Apollo 12 mission to the moon is a thing of the past, a grand memory, but tomorrow is where the excitement lies.

The balding, fast-talking astronaut displays only a few mementoes from the flight at his home, although "there are piles of stuff in the attic."

Conrad views his experience and his generation of space pilots as only stepping stones for the next generation.

"There's some kid out there who's six years old today who's gonna look at me like I looked at aviators like Lindbergh," he said. "He's gonna look at us like I look at the old guys with the silk scarves and goggles whom I still admire."

Matter of fact

with Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON — Privately, both President Nixon and Dr. Henry A. Kissinger have warned congressional leaders that they still expect the Soviets to make a "maximum" effort of strategic weapons development, within the limits of the SALT agreement.

"They'll go all out," is the quoted assessment on this highest of all levels.

If this is the message that Moses Nixon has brought down from the mountaintop in Moscow, a serious question arises. The question is why it is sensible to sign a SALT agreement aimed to halt the arms race which will admittedly do no such thing. The answer comes in three parts.

First, the SALT agreement writes into a treaty and the accompanying executive agreement what seem like great advantages for the Soviets, yet the Joint Chiefs of Staff were strongly favorable. The JCS are favorable, in turn, because they believe that in the existing situation the United States will be worse off without the SALT agreement's extremely modest limits on Soviet weapons deployment.

In other words, the Joint Chiefs judged that if we start from scratch, where we are now, and the Soviets go on at their present tempo, the Soviets will be even further ahead five years from now without the SALT agreement. This is the bitter result of the follies committed since 1966, when the United States began to neglect the nuclear-strategic balance.

Second, no sort of change in the basic pattern of Soviet behavior is promised by the Nixon-Kissinger warning. "They will go all out." But there is a real chance of this kind of change if the United States also does what needs to be done about the nuclear-strategic balance in the vital interval just ahead.

We got a SALT agreement, suc., as it is, because we rejected the advice of the wise fools who favored unilateral disarmament. Conceivably, at this strange stage in history, we may get something like enduring stability for this weary world if we just do a bit more to keep our guard up in the years immediately ahead.

Third, however, that last "if" is certain to be decisive. There is zero room for maneuver if the U.S. government's optimists — who include the people in the White House, for once — prove to be wrong as usual.

One thinks of 1949, when the great Dr. Vannevar Bush had to tear a whole chapter from his forthcoming book because the Soviets had just tested their first nuclear weapon. In the chapter he had said this could not happen for 15 years!

One thinks of 1949, in turn, because the White House has also bought the view of the Bush-like people in the U.S. intelligence community. These people hold the Soviets are "more than five years behind the United States" in multiple warhead technology.

There is no doubt that the Soviets are somewhat behind on MIRV technology because they took the wrong road to begin with. But in numbers of missiles, in warhead weight and in all other respects one can think of, the Soviets now have every advantage that a MIRV technologist could ask for. They also have excellent scientists.

If the Soviets are going to go "all out," therefore, they should soon be MIRVing their SS-9 missiles and also the still bigger missiles they will soon be deploying. They may even multiply greatly their MIRVing capability by adapting the "cold launch" technique of our Polaris-Poseidons to their SS-9 missiles.

The calculated risk in SALT, in short, is an immensely big risk. If we do not want the most disagreeable kind of surprise, we have to do three things, regardless of cost.

We have to go ahead, full speed, with the ULMS or Trident program. We have to go ahead with the B-52 replacement, the B-1 bomber. Above all, we have to go ahead with maximum improvement of the Minuteman system — which can more or less true up the nuclear-strategic balance in a fairly short time.

This will cost a lot of money. The arms race will not end, as the White House warned the congressional leaders. That leads to the real criticisms of the President. First, he did not directly ask the country three years ago for the kind of maximum effort that might have prevented the present imbalance.

The President did not do this because he thought he could not defeat the Democratic opposition in Congress. Against the background of the SALT agreement, however, the President will again have great difficulty with Congress in doing what needs to be done now. One has to conclude that he is gambling, probably quite shrewdly, on a much more pliant Congress after Election Day next November.

Pollution

Dear Sir,
I read the letter in The Sherbrooke Record one of our councillors wrote. I cannot see any sense in putting money into cleaning up pollution if some are making it faster than it can be cleaned up.

I am sure the councillor from West Bolton is right, as I live in the township. They sure do not do much for our township, that's for sure. I am sure they never thought a contractor would do a trick like that. It is style for the people to come up here and dump their garbage on the roadside.

One of our councillors was up here throwing the largest stones out of the road in the grass. He thought I did not know him but I did and can name him. Don't think we up here know our roadsides but would if it was not for stones, so the bushes grow.

Thanking you if you have room to print this letter.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Lillian G. Martin,
Knowlton

Strong medicine

By Cy Fox

The drive by the British army through the Roman Catholic barriers in Northern Ireland is portrayed by Ulster administrator William Whitelaw as a necessary prelude to measures aimed at a political solution and a better economic deal for the embattled Six Counties.

Government officials were obviously pleased about the way troops completed their takeover of "no-go" strongholds like the Bogside in Londonderry without much resistance from the underground Irish Republican Army.

But three bombs in a village near Derry killed at least six persons and indicated—in the eyes of Protestant spokesmen—that the guerrillas plan to remain active in Ulster with deadly hit-and-run tactics.

On all sides, news of the big British military initiative was greeted with the question, "What next?"

In the Commons at London, spokesmen for the opposition

Labor party argued that thoughts now should be concentrated on organizing a new way of policing the former no-go neighborhoods.

NEED POLICE FORCE

The prime requirement in this respect is a police force which would win the kind of Catholic trust denied to the present Royal Ulster Constabulary.

Among the Unionists, who governed Ulster before direct rule from London was imposed last March, the army's descent on the no-go areas has been generally welcomed, but with the stern qualification that this step should have been taken long ago.

Ex-prime minister Brian Faulkner argued, for instance, that the latest army action should be followed with a drive to round up the gunmen and bombers of the IRA.

On the other hand, the suggestion is being made in Dublin that the British—who gave Prime Minister Jack Lynch warning of their now-completed action—should prove their impartiality by cracking down on Protestant extremists to the same extent as has marked their drive into Catholic areas.

SOME HOSTILITY

Predictably, the re-appearance of troops and even police in the Bogside and other former strongholds of the IRA—after many months of anti-government defiance—has met with much shouted hostility from some elements of the population.

Left-wing MP Bernadette Devlin explained the relative lack of IRA resistance as reflecting the British army's overwhelming show of strength.

But she insisted on terming the army's action a form of occupation and complained that the troops were forcibly requisitioning houses in the Bogside to assist their anti-IRA campaign.

The clear implication was that tactics of this kind were bound to generate new Catholic resentment.

Yet the passionate reactions of some vocal Bogside residents to the arrival of the British was counter-balanced by expressions of a "wait-and-see" attitude on the part of others.

Fears of an inevitable IRA backlash coincided with what London saw as a moderate Dublin reaction from Prime Minister Lynch, as well as signs that the opposition Social and Democratic Labor party in the north would not abandon the idea of talking with Whitelaw about Ulster's political future.

Poisons in Your Home

There are more than a half million different kinds of dangerous medicines, cleaning aids, cosmetic aids, pesticides and other household products and substances that save your child's life!

Aspirin, especially children's aspirin, is the most common cause of accidental poisoning of children. A bottle of 50 children's aspirin tablets can kill a child.

Keep aspirin and all other chemicals and medications out of a child's reach, even if the bottles have "safety caps." These caps are more difficult for a child to remove than normal caps, but it is not impossible for a child to remove them.

Here are a few suggestions for keeping your home safe from poisonings:

• Keep all chemicals in their original containers. If you put chemicals in milk or soft drink bottles or cans your child may mistake these deadly poisons for the good and healthful products usually found in these containers.

• Keep all medicines, cleaning agents, pesticides and other chemicals out of a child's reach. Lock those cabinets.

• When you take out a bottle of medicine, be sure to put it away.

Like most accidents, poisoning is best cured by prevention. If you suspect your child has swallowed a poisonous substance, here are words of advice from the American Association of Poison Control Centers:

"In all cases it is important to remember to get the

Some what shocking statistics reveal that fully 95 per cent of the reported cases of accidental poisonings have occurred when the children were supposedly under the supervision of parents or other adults. Moreover, 90 per cent of all reported cases of poisoning involve children 5 years old and younger.

number of white blood cells and separating them into the various types of white blood cells plus looking at their characteristics on a slide. In most laboratories it also includes measuring the hemoglobin for iron in the blood to be certain that there is no anemia.

The SMA is a term for an automated method of measuring the different chemical elements in the blood, like the blood sugar. With one small sample of the patient's blood, the analyzer accomplishes many tests which used to be done laboriously by hand by laboratory technicians. It essentially provides information concerning chemical balance and chemical content of the body.

An EKG refers to an electrocardiogram, and is properly called an ECG. The older term EKG arises from the fact that much of the early electrocardiographic study was done by German speaking people and the word for heart in German is Kardio, as opposed to the English cardio. It is of course a measurement of the electrical activity of the heart to detect heart disease.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB Fertility Questions After Menopause

Dear Dr. Lamb—I would greatly appreciate it if you would answer my questions. I stopped menstruating abruptly when I was 42 years old and I am now 47. My husband and I would like to know if it would be safe for us to stop using contraceptives. Do you think there would be any chance of my getting pregnant again? That's the last thing we would want because our family is grown up and married.

Dear Reader—Every woman, particularly in your age group, should have a regular examination by her doctor. One reason is for the early detection of cancer of the cervix, which can be cured if found soon enough. Another is for examination of her breasts. During such an examination, a doctor can do a test which tells him what the nature of the cells are that line the vagina. This helps in identifying whether the woman has sufficient female hormone or not and therefore is an index of the function of her ovaries.

I don't like to tell any woman that she can't get pregnant unless she has had an examination and a series of studies. It's always possible. However, I must add that it is most unlikely that a woman who has gone through the change of life and has not menstruated for two years would get pregnant. Some women who are not menstruating have not actually gone through the change of life. This is one reason an examination by the doctor is indicated.

Dear Dr. Lamb—My mother is 50 years old and she is going to the hospital for some tests. A CBC, SMA, and EKG. Please tell me what these are.

Dear Reader—A CBC means a complete blood count, which includes counting the number of red blood cells and looking at their characteristics, counting the number of white blood cells and separating them into the various types of white blood cells plus looking at their characteristics on a slide. In most laboratories it also includes measuring the hemoglobin for iron in the blood to be certain that there is no anemia.

What you must do is poison-proof your home—and do it today. Don't postpone this simple but vital task. For further insurance you must learn some of the basic first aid measures to treat poisoning.

Remember, young children will eat and drink almost anything. Youngsters have been known to drink full containers of kerosene and not be bothered at all by the taste. When a child finds something new, one of the first things he does is put it in his mouth. You must teach him as early as possible not to put things into his mouth and not to eat or drink things you have not given him specifically as food or medicine.

Medicine is not candy; never call it that to entice a child to take it. Remember that cough syrups look like soft drinks and many coated medicine tablets look like candy-coated chocolates.

poison out or dilute the poison. Remember—if anyone swallows poison it is an emergency. (Any nonfood substance is a potential poison.) Always call for help promptly.

You "get the poison out" by causing the child to vomit. You must not cause vomiting if:

- The child is unconscious or having fits.
- The child has swallowed a strong corrosive such as ammonia, bleach, lye products, sulfuric, nitric or hydrochloric acids.
- The swallowed poison contains kerosene, gasoline or other petroleum products.

If the child has eaten any of the above, do not make him vomit. Instead, if he is conscious, give him a glass of milk and get him to the nearest hospital.

If vomiting is indicated you may induce it by giving the child a dose of Syrup of Ipecac or by tickling the back of his throat with your finger.

Do not waste time waiting for the child to vomit if he does not do so right away. Take him immediately to the doctor or emergency room. Bring the container or package from which the poison came and leave any remaining sample of the poison intact for identification purposes.

In the case of any suspected poisoning it is important for you to immediately contact either your doctor, hospital or nearest poison control center.

ASTRO-GUIDE By Ceean

Thursday, August 3
The Day Under Your Sign

ARIES (Born March 21 to April 19): You may be asked to take temporary custody of a child but feel inadequate to assume the responsibility.
TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): You feel like taking a solitary walk to think things through. You should reach a conclusion today.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Sift through all the unasked-for advice offered you, even though you've already made up your mind.
CANCER (June 22 to July 21): Be certain you can afford it before you make a major purchase. A day for practicality.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Chaos all around you, but you remain calm. Try to get others to cool it, too.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Be fastidious as you may meet someone you want to impress. It will give you self-confidence.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Don't leave your good clothes hanging in the closet until they go out of style. Get them out and wear them.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Content yourself with the status quo instead of aspiring for the impossible at this particular time.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): You may become interested in a new sport or hobby that you previously scorned. Relax and enjoy it.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You tend to take yourself too seriously at times and this is one of those times. Accent optimism.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Person who seems hostile can be brought around to your side if you are persuasive enough.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): If old friend seems cool toward you, be direct. Ask what the reason is and work things out.

Friends bored to death by mother

Dear Ann Landers: Regarding the letter from the student who wrote to ask about the possibility of a father nursing his children in case of emergency or extreme crisis, your authority, Dr. Rodney Jamieson, a Chicago physician, said, "No way — unless the father held the bottle."

I am enclosing an article from the Bulletin of the New York Academy of Medicine that refutes your consultant's statement. It reads, in part: "It is not a very uncommon circumstance to find both among human-kind and animals, males whose breasts contain milk. Among the lower orders of people in Russia, milk in the breasts of men is much more frequent than among the more southern nations; and the Russians have never been deemed weak or effeminate." — Mrs. J.S. (Medical Librarian, Evansville, Indiana).

Dear Mrs. S.: Thank you for sending on the material from the New York Academy of Medicine. I am now in receipt of two dozen reprints I checked with my medical consultants in Boston, New York and Washington and they all support Dr. Jamieson of Chicago who made the initial statement. I am told that the literature you sent is not scientific documentation. A true male does not have the ability to breast-feed a child. In the rare instances where male lactation was reported, the male was probably a hermaphrodite — which means a person with both male and female physical characteristics. Dear Ann Landers: Whenever I bring a friend to the house, my mother or my sister immediately monopolizes the conversation, rattling on and on about the family history, our distinguished ancestors, bright things the grandchildren say, etc. I could just die! My friends are bored to death but they wish to be polite so they feign interest. Changing the subject does not help. Mom and Sis are incredibly skillful at getting back to the tiresome old topics. Suggest something, please. — Lincoln Embarrassment

Dear Lin: You do not say how old you are or why your mother and sister are provided with an opportunity to bore your guests for what sounds like long periods of time. Of course you must introduce your visitors to your family, but surely you are smart enough not to set yourself up for an entire evening of punishment. If you are entertaining at home, ask your mother and sister in advance if they would please give you and your visitor some privacy after ten minutes. If they are unwilling, take your guest to a coffee shop or for a long walk.

CAREX — A large family of sedges, widely distributed across the continent. In Canada over most of the southern portion to the edge of the Northwest Territories. Found abundantly in shallow areas and borders of marshes. The grass-like plants form dense beds and provide quantities of seeds which are of fair value as duck food. They also provide cover for broods. The above species (carex rostrata) is the most common in Canada.

Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Plowright of Santa Rosa, Calif., accompanied by their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Thomas Plowright, Jr., and little grandson, Tommy, of Leonia, N.J., were guests of Dr. Plowright's mother, Mrs. J.A.H. Plowright, and other relatives at Berry Brow Farm for a few days, having driven from California via New York. Mr. and Mrs. Justin Morrow of Detroit, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. Fenneth Morrow of Island Brook called on Mrs. Plowright at the same home.

Mr. and Mrs. James Fulmer and family, Montreal, were at their home here for two weeks before leaving on a trip to Niagara Falls and other points in Ontario. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McNicoll and family of Montreal were their guests for a weekend.

Mrs. A.E. McNicoll, Montreal, is at her cottage here for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Veary are staying at their camp on Lake Megantic. Miss Fonda Hodgdon of Goffstown, N.H., is their guest at present. Robert Veary is spending a holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hodgdon and family in Goffstown.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Potet were called back to Montreal due to the death of Mrs. Potet's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. D.A. Lavalliere, Sherbrooke, are spending some time at their camp on Spider Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fletcher of Lachine are on vacation here at the Pursell home.

Miss Mabel Slater of Montreal was the guest of her sister, Miss Violet Slater, for a week. She accompanied her mother, Mrs. S.P. Rider, home from Montreal where she had undergone eye surgery, which will necessitate several trips back to Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Andrew, London, Ont., are spending some time with the latter's mother, Mrs. S.P. Rider, and at their cottage on Spider Lake after having seen their son, Mr. Robert Larson, Montreal, off from Dorval Airport on a two-month trip to India.

On Friday evening, July 21, Miss Beverly Davis of Way's Mills, an August bride-to-be, was invited out by Mrs. William Standish who, supposedly, had to stop en route at the home of Mrs. Carl Mayhew. Several cars parked in the Mayhew yard showed that a party was in progress.

Betty soon learned that she was the guest-of-honor. She was presented with a corsage of roses by Mrs. Cass, seated in a gold-colored Victorian chair behind a table covered with gifts and surrounded by her friends and neighbors, both young and old.

She was assisted in opening the parcels by her mother and Mrs. W.N. Horn. A hat was made of the ribbons by Mrs. Michael Hibbard and pictures were taken.

When all had seen the gifts, Beverly thanked everyone sincerely and invited them to visit her in Waterloo.

Games, under the direction of Mrs. W.B. Holmes, were much enjoyed especially the musical ones.

are taking a far greater interest in learning about different types rather than relying on old standbys," he said in an interview.

Cheddar is still "the Canadian cheese," but in major centres such as Montreal more than 135 varieties of cheese are stocked to meet demands of increasingly sophisticated palates.

Mr. Ditkofsky said that while relatively mild Dutch Gouda is the best-selling import, shoppers are tending to reach for stronger Camembert and exotic goat cheeses.

His company supplies the country with about 15 million pounds of cheese a year, both natural and processed types produced in the Montreal plant, and imports from Denmark, Switzerland and the Netherlands.

STARTS AS MILK
What makes a Cheddar and what makes a Tilsit depends on a series of carefully controlled factors from the fat content of the milk used and the type of timing of bacterial cultures added, to the temperatures reached in "cooking" and the length of aging.

Basically, natural Cheddar begins as milk which is pasteurized in the cheese plant then pumped into a vat where cultures and rennet, an enzyme to coagulate the mixture, are added.

The mixture is heated while whey is drawn off and acid levels checked, until it is thickened to a curd-like consistency. After salting, the curds are put into moulds and pressed into 40-pound blocks.

If a block is to be sold as mild cheese, it is kept for two weeks at a 50-degree temperature, then graded, cut and packaged.

Natural hard cheeses such as Cheddar, Gouda and Samsoe should be served at room temperature, Mr. Ditkofsky said.

If a sharper flavor is desired, the milk used is not pasteurized as this destroys too many of the bacteria needed for developing flavor during the aging process.

The milk for stronger cheese is heated to a lower temperature sufficient to eliminate only some of the bacteria and the end product is aged for at least 90 days. During aging, the cheese is continually checked, turned and tasted to ensure it is not being spoiled by too much bacterial action.

COLOR VARIETIES
"Natural cheese is white ranging from a pretty anemic color in the winter when the cows are eating fodder to yellow shades in the summer when they're getting lots of grass and buttercups with pigments that show up in milk products," Mr. Ditkofsky said.

Orange vegetable dyes have traditionally been added to Cheddar perhaps to provide more uniformity of color, he said.

Getting the best from natural cheese requires proper handling, said Mr. Ditkofsky. "Perishable cheeses like cream varieties, Camembert and Brie, should be eaten within a short time. They don't last long."

Imported cheeses of the Camembert type are canned or wrapped in special packaging at a prime flavor point in aging. The packaging retards further bacterial action so the cheese is still at peak flavor when it reaches the Canadian market.

Natural hard cheeses such as Cheddar, Gouda and Samsoe should be served at room temperature, Mr. Ditkofsky said.

Cemeteries Association meet

MILAN — A meeting of the Lewis Cemeteries Association was held Friday evening, July 21, in the Presbyterian church, Scotstown, with the President, Earl A. MacLeod in the chair. Much discussion revolved around the Whittton-Sand Hill cemetery, especially the small plot known as the "McAulay" cemetery.

It was decided that the executive proceed at once in contacting Mr. Lapierre regarding the area reserved for this plot, as well as what procedure to follow regarding the monuments which lie amongst the trees.

Another discussion pertained to the MacIver-Beaton cemetery which is to be found to the rear of the Moulard property.

A committee was appointed, with Mrs. John Matheson as Secretary-Treasurer, and Duncan McLeod as Chairman, to administer the affairs of this long-neglected resting place of the first pioneers of the Milan area.

The two trust funds were reported on by the secretary. The John W. French fund, and the Savings & Investment fund received favourable comment as there will be over $2,000.00 available for distribution to cemeteries in the area.

For the present time, the following sums were voted: Dell Cemetery, $400.00; Stornoway Cemetery, $300.00; Marsboro Mills Cemetery, $300.00; and MacIver-Beaton cemetery, $100.00.

Financial statements for 1972 had been received from the following cemeteries: Echo Vale, Marsboro Mills, Stornoway, Dell, Tolsta and Lingwick. No reports from Gislav nor Riverview.

The officers of the Association were re-elected for another term.

C.S. Bogie
826-2730

Friends here were sorry to learn of the deaths of Mrs. Inez Fallona and Mr. Clarence Lariviere of Richmond and extend sympathy to the bereaved relatives.

Weekend guests at the Bogie home include Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bogie and son Darrell of Ottawa and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Armstrong of Montreal.

Mrs. Vanette Desrosiers has returned from the Ste. Croix Hospital where she spent several days, having been hit by a motorist while riding her bicycle on the highway near the Village Private. Kenneth Graham of Quebec City spent a few days with his mother Mrs. R. Graham and Mr. Franklin Graham.

Canadian art an inspiration

THIS VIBRANT LAND—Cool visual delight for a hot summer day...Mount Robson, by the great Canadian artist Lawrence Harris, one of the famous Group of Seven whose works comprise an unusual and glowing half-hour color film special.

This Vibrant Land, for telecast on CBC-TV, tonight at 8 p.m. The paintings, gathered from collections across the country, are blended with Canadian scenery, from which the Group of Seven derived their inspirations.

Finding role for Quebec art

QUEBEC (CP) — With a budget of $20 million to subsidize all arts in the province, Cultural Affairs Minister Claire Kirkland-Casgrain must have some clear-cut ideas on the role of art in Quebec.

She does, and in her first four months in the post she has made clear her position on English theatre in Quebec, French influence on the arts here, big and small theatre companies and the French language.

"A practising lawyer for nine years, Mrs. Casgrain was the first woman elected to Quebec's national assembly. She admits that being a woman in such a post brings its own difficulties, "not among ministers and members in general who are unable to accept my role. I have one strike against me as a woman. It's a terrible fight."

ROLE FOR ENGLISH

Turning to some of the battles that are embroiling her ministry, she said in an interview:

"Of course there is a role for the English here, now and in the future. They continue to make great contributions in all the arts and they are the chief supporters of so many artistic activities."

She added, however, "English artists should perform in an anglophone area since it wouldn't do them any good to operate in a predominantly French-speaking region. They should be conscious of their position as a minority and be willing to function in the context of this understanding."

As for setting up artistic guidelines for her department:

"I think we have to stop looking to France. We have a great deal to learn from the United States, for instance, though we must be careful to adapt what is useful to our own conditions."

"We also have much to gain by closer relations with Mexico. The Mexicans are doing very good work in archeology and have a marvellous national museum. They are interested in our Eskimo art and handicrafts and so, perhaps, we can arrange for some exciting exchanges."

GETS SUBSIDIES

Preservation of the French language is high on the department's priority list. Francophones outside Quebec are receiving subsidies and there is technical aid to French-speaking groups as far away as Louisiana.

That brings up the contentious issue of joul—a slang French often heard in Quebec. Mrs. Casgrain explained her department's recent refusal to finance a showing in Paris of Michel Tremblay's play, Les Belles-Soeurs, done in the joul.

"First, we weren't budgeted for such an unforeseen expense. Second, I have advocated for a long time that our writers should get away from the use of joul. It's all right to use this inside our borders but we cannot employ this language in other countries where it will not be intelligible."

She praises the theatre companies which try to attract a wide cross-section of the population.

"She is less tolerant of some large companies which seem to choose plays based more on management's personal political views than on the prime consideration of satisfying the community's needs for which they are subsidized."

GATHER DEFICITS

She has little sympathy either for "some large companies which are doing the kind of experimental plays that small companies should do, and as a result accumulating large deficits."

If a theatre wants to be totally committed to one political viewpoint, it should not expect government financing, she said.

She is concerned at the centralization of cultural activities in the large cities and among certain classes. An example of her approach to the problem is the Ladies Morning Music Club in Quebec, a closed social group with a $2,500 deficit owed to Le Grand Theatre.

"I told them they could have the money if they opened their subscription to the widest possible public; if seats were empty they should sell them to students for $1 or give them away to the poor! That's a condition of the grant and unless they agree they won't get any money from us."

Mrs. Cyril E. Rolfe, 884-5458
Mrs. William Matthews of Coaticook was a recent special guest of Mr. Lyford George and Mr. and Mrs. Knight George and called on other friends in town.

Lefebvre-Weare wed

A pretty summer wedding took place Saturday, July 8 at 4 p.m. in Holy Trinity Anglican Church, Kirkdale, when Jocelyn Eva Hazel, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Weare, Ulverton, became the bride of Mr. Henry Claude Lefebvre, son of Mr. Donat Lefebvre and the late Mrs. Lefebvre of Roxton, formerly of Ulverton.

The altar was adorned with vases of yellow chrysanthemums, two large baskets of white and yellow chrysanthemums and white daisies were on the chancel steps. White satin ribbon bows with yellow chrysanthemums marked the guest pews.

Canon Harold Church officiated at the double ring ceremony. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of fine white tulle crepe. The high-waisted bodice, leg-of-mutton sleeves and cathedral train were lace covered. The high neckline was accented with white and blue lace with the same on cuffs and down the both sides of front panel to the hem.

The bride chose a waist length veil of tulle illusion which fell from a headpiece made of white roses, lilies of the valley and nylon leaves. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and white miniature mums with white satin ribbon streamers.

The matron-of-honor, Mrs. Milton Weare, sister-in-law of the bride, wore a gown of daffodil yellow made of polyester crepe with a lilac mauve ribbon tied in a bow around her waist with curled ribbons to match in her hair. She carried a colonial bouquet of mauve and white mums with yellow satin ribbon streamers. Mrs. Jean Louis Parenteau, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid.

She wore a gown of lilac mauve polyester crepe, same style as maid-of-honor. Her colonial bouquet was made of yellow and white mums with mauve satin ribbon streamers. Both wore white accessories.

The flower girl, little Miss Shirley Weare, sister of the bride, wore a white gown identical to the bride's. She carried a white basket, gold trimmed, filled with miniature mums of white, pink and blue with ribbons to match. She wore curled white ribbons in her hair and white accessories.

Mr. Rolland Lefebvre, of Richmond, was groomsmen, brother of the groom.

Ushers were Mr. Milton Weare, L'Avenir, brother of the bride, and Mr. Gerard Lefebvre, Richmond, brother of the groom.

The groom and other gentlemen of the wedding party wore white carnation boutonnieres.

Mrs. Weare, mother of the bride, wore a floor length gown of princess blue cotton lace over polyester with white accessories and a corsage of pink miniature chrysanthemums.

The groom's step-mother wore a floor length gown of pink crimpolene with white accessories and a corsage of blue miniature chrysanthemums.

Following the wedding ceremony a dinner reception, where 80 guests were present, was held at Legion Hall, Richmond catered to by ladies of Holy Trinity ACW.

The bride's table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake which was decorated by the bride's mother. Yellow mums with white satin bows and white candles were used for table decorations. The attendant's bouquets completed the decor.

The blessing was asked in Latin by Canon Church.

Later dancing was enjoyed to the music of Jackie and her Westerners.

A buffet lunch was served later in the evening, the bride and groom passed the fruited wedding cake made by the bride's mother.

The bride threw the wedding bouquet which was caught by Miss Dyna Hayes, young aunt of the bride. The groom then removed the wedding parter from the bride's leg and threw it, which was caught by Mr. Leo Nolet, Montreal, who then placed it on Miss Hayes' leg.

The bride chose a white tulle pant suit, white and red blouse and a corsage of red carnations with white accessories for travelling. The couple will reside in Ulverton.

Divisional Guide Camp

Margaret E. Frost, 839-2185
DANVILLE — A very successful Divisional Guide Camp was held recently at Brompton Lake under the leadership of Mrs. Kenneth Frost — Divisional Camp Adviser for Richmond Division. Some thirty-two Guides from Asbestos, Danville, Drummondville and Richmond attended with their Guiders or other adults from that area.

One of the main projects of this camp was to pass many of the badges which can not be done at the ordinary meetings, and a large number were successfully completed by the Guides at this time.

During the week the camp was visited by Mrs. W. Rick, Divisional Commissioner and by Miss Simone Bailey, Area Camp Adviser.

In spite of rather inclement weather all agreed that it had been a very good camp, and a valuable experience for the Guides, as well as an opportunity for the inexperienced Guiders to acquire a first hand knowledge of the rudiments of Guiding in the open.

As one reads the many rules that govern camping in the Guide books — there seems to be a formidable number of "do" and "don't" — but, after a few weeks of being under canvas with a large number of Guides, one quickly realizes that whoever is responsible for all these rules had certainly known of the many pitfalls of life "in the wide open spaces."

Pirate move rumor nixed

SHERBROOKE (LH) — Sherbrooke Pirates owner Ray Blomquist yesterday denied rumors that the Sherbrooke Eastern League baseball franchise will be moved to Chicoutimi next year.

Speaking to media representatives and Sherbrooke city officials at a news conference, Blomquist said that although attendance for Pirates games has been disappointing, there are no plans at present to move the franchise.

"I haven't even talked to people in Chicoutimi. They don't even have a stadium as far as I know," Blomquist said in reply to a question which alluded to the "rumor."

"I did meet some people from Thetford Mines at the all-star game in Three Rivers a few weeks ago," the Pirates owner continued. "I know they're interested in having a franchise."

FOURTH TEAM POSSIBLE
Blomquist said that there had been some talk in league circles of adding a fourth Quebec team to the league. Coupled with a situation in Elmira, N.Y., which he called "nearly a disaster area," Blomquist said there was a strong possibility the Elmira franchise will be moved to a city in Quebec.

Although the Elmira team has been able to return to its stadium, which was engulfed by water for a month following torrential rains which accompanied hurricane Agnes, many flooded businesses in Elmira will probably not reopen.

"They'll have a tough time selling tickets there next year," Blomquist predicted.

The weather is largely responsible for the disappointing attendance at Pirates games, Blomquist said. The Pirates have been rained out 11 times at home and on 10 occasions on the road, he added.

To date the Pirates have attracted 42,000 fans. Although the original mark of 100,000 now seems beyond reach, Blomquist said he now hoped a total of approximately 75,000 would attend Pirates games. He said the Pirates had had only three "ideal playing dates" for baseball games thus far. On other occasions, the weather has been "threatening or too cold."

Ideal day for 50th year event

DUFFERIN — The annual Dufferin Heights Inter-Club Field Day was held on Sunday, July 30, when 45 women from the Orleans Country Club, Newport Country Club and St. Johnsbury, Vt., Club were entertained at Dufferin.

This, the 50th anniversary year, featured a change — a beautiful sunny day, ideal for golfing. It usually has rained in recent years when the Inter-Club Day took place.

Tea-off time was between noon and 1 p.m. A buffet dinner was served by Mrs. Joyce Jarvis at 5:30 p.m. The Women's Club president, Arlene Probyn, welcomed the guests.

She then called on Mrs. Rachel Pellerin of the match committee to present the prizes to the winners, as follows:

- Class A, low gross — Charity Greenwood, Dufferin Heights;
- Class A, 2nd low gross — Mildred Carruthers, Dufferin Heights;
- Class A, low net — Ruby Banks, Dufferin Heights;
- Class A, 2nd net — Verna Bontemps, Orleans;
- Class B, low gross — Pat Norrie, Dufferin Heights;
- Class B, 2nd low gross — Flo Griffin, Orleans;
- Class B, low net — Fran Denney, Dufferin Heights;
- Class B, 2nd net — Barbara Henderson, Dufferin Heights;
- Class C, low gross — Helen Desroches, St. Johnsbury;
- Class C, 2nd low gross — Louise Shaw, Dufferin Heights;
- Class C, low net — M. Rodloff, Orleans;
- Class C, 2nd net — Barbara Wintle, Dufferin Heights;
- Most honest golfer — Nellie Coburn, Newport.

Eskies manage victory

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos stumbled on a new way to win a football game Tuesday night, but it's doubtful they'll put it in their Western Conference playbook.

The idea is to ruin the opposition's game plan with your own fumbles, something the Eskimos did seven times as they opened the regular WFC season with a 34-22 victory over British Columbia Lions.

"Hell, how can you stick to a game plan when you're faced with nine fumbles," coach Eagle Keys said after his Lions blew a half-dozen chances to overcome a 20-point lead the Eskimos had piled up in the first half by taking advantage of a couple of B.C. bobble.

"It was a game of fumbles," Keys said, the difference being that the Eskimos made the most of the ones they recovered while the Lions missed the boat too often.

"We moved the ball well in the second half but couldn't do anything with all those fumbles," Keys said.

Bailey takes title

BURY (LH) — Ian Bailey of Sawyerville recently won the Class A division of the first golf tournament for members of the Pen Y Byrn Golf Club held in Bury.

Bailey defeated Jean Guy Lizotte of Scotstown after six playoff holes. Bailey and Lizotte were tied after the first 18 holes with scores of 79.

Dale Quinn of Bury copped third place and he was followed by Jean Paul Lachance of Sawyerville and Roland Warburton of Island Brook.

Class B winner was A. Lizotte of Scotstown, followed by Remi Cadrin of Sawyerville and Eric Bailey, also of Sawyerville, in second and third spots.

Pirates win big, have nothing left

PAWTUCKET, R.I. (LH) — Sherbrooke Pirates split the honors with Pawtucket Red Sox last night, winning the first game of an Eastern League baseball doubleheader 9-0 before dropping the nightcap 2-1.

In the first game, the three-hit pitching of Brad Meyring and three home runs by the Pirates led the way to victory. The Pirates rocked three Pawtucket pitchers for eight hits in the opener.

Right fielder Dave Arrington hit his 17th home run of the year. Mel Civil blasted his sixth and Woody Huyke collected his first.

The Pirates picked up a run in the first inning when Dave Augustine led off with a single, stole second, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on a sacrifice fly by Fernando Gonzales. They added two in the second inning when Huyke reached on an error. Brian Murphy tripled and Augustine singled.

A walk to Jim Campanis in the third inning and Arrington's homer produced two more runs. The Pirates continued the home run spree in fifth inning, with two more circuit blasts.

OFFENCE PRODUCES

First newcomer Steve McFarland singled and Civil followed with his sixth homer, then Arrington walked and Huyke followed with his first homer of the year.

Meyring picked up his eighth victory of the year against seven losses. Loser Phil Cordry, who worked the first 4-2-3 innings, now owns a 6-3 record.

But what the Pirates did in the first game, they couldn't do in the second. Despite out-hitting the Red Sox 4-3, they dropped a narrow 2-1 decision.

The Pirates got their only run on Arrington's bases-empty blast in the sixth inning. It was Arrington's ninth of the year. A home run won it for the Red Sox. Curt Suchan led off the Pawtucket fifth with a walk and scored on Dale Maggard's 11th

GRATZ TAGGED

Brad Gratz, who allowed only three hits in the five innings he worked, was the hard luck loser. His record now stands at 6-7. The win went to Wayne Milam, who pitched all seven innings and brought his record to 7-10. Milam struck out four Pirates and walked only one.

The Pirates wrap up their one-week road trip with a single game against the Red Sox tonight.

The Pirates are due to return to Sherbrooke tomorrow night to open a home stand with a series against Reading Phillies.

MID-SEASON SUMMARY — Sherbrooke Pirates held a news conference yesterday at which time Pirates owner Ray Blomquist answered questions from the media and summarized the progress of the Sherbrooke baseball franchise. Left to right are Pirates publicity and promotions manager

Tiger tactics not enough

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Detroit Tigers finally got to come in out of the rain Tuesday night after umpire Frank Umont put a damper on their stalling tactics.

After a 51-minute rain delay in the middle of the third inning with Milwaukee Brewers leading 2-0, the teams resumed play. The rain resumed, too, in the fourth inning as the Tigers fell farther behind en route to a six-inning 9-0 set-back.

The rain started in the top of the fifth with Mike Ferraro on first base and one out and the contest five outs away from becoming official. Relief pitcher John Hiller threw to first several times with Ferraro standing on the bag.

Manager Del Crandall yelled to Ferraro to take a big lead and the Tigers promptly picked him off as he made no attempt to avoid the tag.

Detroit manager Billy Martin then pulled his anything-you-can-do-I-can-do-better trick and brought Fred Sherman into pitch.

Ellie Rodriguez lifted a pop fly into short right field and it dropped untouched as second baseman Dick McAuliffe and right fielder Jim Northrup stood and looked at each other.

Rodriguez ambled casually toward second, just as he was tagged out, as the ball was relayed to shortstop Eddie Brinkman, who held the ball for a while and Rodriguez had no recourse but to step on second base with a gift double.

All that exertion on the mound filled Scherman's pikes with mud and he slowly started to clean them. That's when Umont went into action.

With raindrops still falling on everyone's heads, he called Martin and Crandall out and told them he'd recommend a $1,000 fine to American League President Joe Cronin if any more foolishness took place.

Skip Lockwood then fled out to end the inning and the Tigers were retired in order in their half, making it an official game. One inning later, the game was called.

MANAGE ONE HIT

The Tigers managed only one hit off Lockwood. Mickey Stanley's leadoff double in the sixth, Milwaukee drove rookie Bill Slayback from the mound in the first inning, scoring two runs on four hits. The Brewers scored four times in the fourth on Joe Lahud's two-run homer and a two-run single by Dave May.

Despite the defeat, the Tigers remained 2½ games ahead of Baltimore in the American League East when Cleveland's Gaylord Perry blanked the Orioles 2-0 on two singles. Elsewhere, New York Yankees battered Boston Red Sox 10-4, Oakland Athletics shut out Kansas City Royals 4-0 and Minnesota Twins blanked Texas Rangers 3-0. California and Chicago were rained out.

Cleveland's Perry tied Detroit's Mickey Lolich as the only pitchers in the majors with 18 victories and got all the offence he needed when Buddy Bell smacked a two-run homer off Baltimore's Dave McNally in the second inning.

New York's Mel Stottlemyre and Boston's Sonny Siebert battled through five scoreless innings.

Gillis duo tops

DRUMMONDVILLE — The Eastern Townships Mixed Championship was held at Drummondville Golf and Country Club in ideal weather with an excellent field participating.

The following are the results:

- 1st gross — J. Gillis and Mrs. R. Gillis, Summerlee, 78;
- 2nd gross — G. Trachy and Miss L. Chaine, Three Rivers, 79;
- 3rd gross — Dr. and Mrs. C. Lemaire, Drummondville, 84;
- 1st net — S. Belanger and Miss J. Letarte, Drummondville, 69;
- 2nd net — Mr. and Mrs. L. Paquette, Drummondville, 70½;
- 3rd net — Mr. and Mrs. B. Chevrette, Drummondville, 72½.

Jarry outing set

SHERBROOKE (LH) — The planning continues for Sherbrooke Day at Jarry Park, the organizer of the event, Roger Perreault, revealed at a news conference yesterday.

Thousands of leaflets publicizing the event have been printed and will be distributed in the city soon, he added.

Sherbrooke Day at Jarry Park will take place on Saturday, Sept. 9, when Pittsburgh Pirates take on Montreal Expos in a National League baseball game. A large contingent of Sherbrooke residents is expected to fill as many buses as are needed. Baseball fans may also arrive in their own cars, Mr. Perreault said.

Arrangements are being made to organize special buses for the aged and physically handicapped so that all Sherbrooke residents can enjoy the day-long outing in Montreal.

The price of the return trip to Montreal and a baseball ticket will be $8 for adults and $2.50 for students. The adult price breaks down into $3.50 for the reserved seat ticket and $4.50 for the bus fare. Those wishing to purchase only tickets and travel to

ROGER PERREAULT

Montreal by car may do so, Mr. Perreault said. The children's ticket entitles the holder to a seat in the left field bleacher section at Jarry Park, he added.

Tickets will soon be available at Miracle Mart stores, Mr. Perreault concluded.

Ball field pushed

STANSTEAD — A meeting was held on Monday evening at the Stanstead council room of the Registry Building in Stanstead which was attended by representatives of the Rock Island and Stanstead councils on the Three Villages Sports Recreation Association.

There were also others on the association and from the school boards. Plans are shaping to have a double baseball field at the east end of Park Street through the cooperation of the Stanstead municipal council and the Ursuline convent.

The association has tried for 10 years to have such a place. In the past, all games have been played on land of the Sacred Heart Church in Stanstead and Sunnyside Elementary School this past season.

The council property is a section of an old race track which adjoins the convent property. An agreement is being drawn up by the Convent religious community and the Association.

If negotiations prove favorable, work will start on the property immediately. The agreement with the convent will be for the school to use the land in the school season with the association using it the remainder of the year so that the fields will be in use 12 months.

The convent is also contributing a sum of money towards the costs. A great deal of credit goes to the committees of the association in their endeavors and work for the youth program. Presumably it will be used for skating in the winter months and other recreation, including baseball, softball and so forth during the warm months.

Softball playoffs get going

BOUNDARY — Softball games are continuing to be played by young people of the Border Villages who make up the teams.

The standings have the Tigers in first place with 19 points, closely followed by the Cubs with 18 points and the Pirates with 16. Other teams' points are: Expos, 15; Red Sox, 9; Castors, 8; Dodgers, 6; and Mets, 3.

The playoffs, best two-out-of-three games, started July 31 with the Castors facing the Tigers and the Dodgers facing the Expos.

The committee would like to see more persons out to watch those exciting games.

Water courses offered

BOUNDARY — Senior Life Saving will be taught the week of Aug. 14 by the Frontier Swim Project, it has been announced by the committee. Any area residents wishing to take the course may do so by contacting the head supervisor, Peter Channell, or assistant heads Nicole Beaulac of Stanstead or Bruce Muir of Derby Line, Vt.

With other events for youth in the communities this summer, Project attendance has been down a little from this past few years. However, there have been many children and young persons taught water safety and swimming at Salem Beach in Derby.

American Red Cross exams are being given and the Canadian Red Cross examiners will be at the beach one day next week. The costs to operate the project are close to $3,000.

Colbert runs wild at plate

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nate Colbert performed a magic act in Atlanta Stadium but when it was all over, not even he believed it.

Colbert blasted his way into the record books Tuesday night with a slingshot baseball bat that hurled five home runs into the stands and drove in a record 13 runs during San Diego Padres' sweep of a doubleheader against the Braves.

The five homers in the 9-0 and 11-7 Padres victories tied the mark of Stan Musial of St. Louis in 1954. The 13 RBI eclipsed the major-league record of 11 shared by Cleveland's Earl Averill in 1930, Boston's Jim Tabor in 1939 and Baltimore's Boog Powell in 1966, and the National League standard of 10 by Enos Slaughter of St. Louis in 1947.

He also broke the NL record of 12 RBI in two straight games by Jim Bottomley of St. Louis in 1924, and Musial's mark of 21 total bases in a doubleheader.

SAWMUSIAL, DO IT

"You know, I was there when Stan hit five in old Busch Stadium," said Colbert, who was born in St. Louis. "Hitting five in one day is unreal. I don't remember the exact date, but I know it was a Sunday."

The 26-year-old first baseman said: "I'm still so excited, I can't believe what happened. Five home runs and 13 runs batted in—that's something I didn't think could be done in the major leagues. When I hit the fourth one, I said 'this is something wild!'"

Colbert, who now leads the major leagues with 30 homers and 82 RBI. Hit a three-run homer and a solo shot in the first game as well as driving in a run with one of his two singles. Clay Kirby scattered seven hits in coasting to his shutout victory.

In the second game, Colbert pounded a grand slam in the second, a two-run circuit in the seventh and his record-tying and breaking two-run homer in the ninth. The fifth homer came on a high inside fast ball from Cecil Upshaw, who Colbert said always got him out.

"I was shocked when I hit the fifth one," said Colbert. "I told the umpire at second (Bruce Froemming) 'I don't believe this.' He said 'I don't either.'"
