Desperate Fight With Pirates On British Steamer

Twelve of Invading Force Were Killed, One Drowned and Nine Captured—British Steamer Sunning Reached Hong Kong Today Badly Gunned by Fire and Bearing Gruesome Marks of Encounter—Forty Pirates Swarmed Over Rails as Watch Was Being Changed, Overpowering Nearby Officers at Point of Revolvers and Taking Control of Ship by Putting Two of Their Number on Bridge.

(Associated Press Despatch)

HONG KONG, November 17.—Twelve pirates were killed, one was drowned and nine captured in a desperate battle on the decks of the British steamer Sunning and a subsequent pursuit of the fleeing buccaneers, eighty miles off Hong Kong, it was learned here today when the ship, badly gutted by fire and bearing gruesome marks of the encounter, was towed into port under guard.

As the captured pirates were rushed to jail, officers of the ship told the story of the fight.

When the watch was being changed late Monday afternoon, forty pirates rushed the rails, overpowering nearby officers at the point of revolvers and taking control of the ship by putting two of their number on the bridge.

DECIDED TO ATTEMPT TO REGAIN CONTROL

Chief Officer T. P. Beatty and Second Officer J. W. Hurst, who had been held at bay by the pirates, finally located two revolvers and one hundred and fifty rounds of ammunition, and at midnight decided to attempt to regain control of the ship.

Brandishing their guns, they rushed the bridge. The two pirates on the bridge were moved down by the officers and left apparently lifeless. This put the officers in control of the ship's workings. Shortly afterward one of the "lifeless" buccaneers revived and fired point blank at them but missed. The butt of a carbine snatched from the deck by one of the defenders laid him out again. Then another pirate rushed the bridge. A revolver duel ensued at close range and he fell dead.

ELEVEN WERE SLAIN IN FINAL ATTACK

The remaining buccaneers, seeing their plans going down to defeat because of the pluck of the British seamen, then seized G. Cormack, chief engineer of the Sunning, and using him for a shield, rushed to the steps of the bridge in a body. Here the two defenders turned loose their deadliest fire and eleven pirates were slain. Cormack was wounded in the chest and leg.

BRITISH CRUISER CAME TO RESCUE OF CREW

Realizing their efforts to re-take possession of the ship were futile, the boarders then fired the first class accommodations of the ship, hoping to make the bridge too hot for the officers, but the wind carried the flames aft and away from the control, incinerating the dead pirates and making it impossible to resume their attack on Beatty and Hurst.

The flames then attracted the British cruiser Bluebell and other vessels. Meanwhile, the attackers launched two life boats and disappeared in the darkness, taking with them H. W. Lapsley, an employee of the Eastern Extension Service. A heavy sea was running. A woman passenger whose name was not given was put off in a lifeboat by the third officer who feared for her safety. This boat later was picked up by the Norwegian steamer Revengjell.

The Bluebell arrived alongside and put a naval guard aboard, setting out then in pursuit of the two boat loads of pirates. One boat, containing ten of them, was sighted. On being overtaken one of them jumped overboard and was drowned and the others were captured.

The British steamer Suinyang, learning of the Sunning's distress, altered her course and came to the rescue. By that time the fire had been subdued and after two attempts the Suinyang succeeded in getting a tow rope aboard the Sunning, but it broke. Last night, however, a tug from Hong Kong arrived and took her in tow.

The Sunning, a ship of about 2,500 tons, was on its way here from Amoy.

JUDGMENT IN LABRADOR CASE IS RESERVED

Argument Before Judicial Committee of Privy Council Was Brought to Close Yesterday.

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, Nov. 17.—Argument by counsel before the judicial committee of the Privy Council in the appeals in the Labrador boundary case in which Canada and Newfoundland both seek to prove ownership of a certain portion of the region of Labrador known under the name "coast", which began five weeks ago, closed yesterday and judgment was reserved.

Rt. Hon. H. P. MacMillan, counsel for Canada, concluding his argument yesterday, endorsed an allusion made by Sir John Simon, counsel for Newfoundland, as to the friendliness and neighborliness between Canada and Newfoundland. The decision of Their Lordships of the judicial committee on the appeal, Mr. MacMillan said, would be memorable in the annals of the Empire. It was a consolation, he continued, to reflect that neither his opponent in the appeal (Sir John Simon) nor himself could incur the curse upon him "who removeth his neighbor's landmark", for nobody could be guilty of removing a boundary which Their Lordships had yet to ascertain. Throughout the argument, he added, his opponent and himself had tried "to do as adversaries do in law; strive mightily but eat and drink as friends."

THE WEATHER

CONSIDERABLY COLDER

The disturbance which was near the middle Atlantic coast yesterday moved quickly northward and has disappeared. Another disturbance now in the lower Mississippi Valley is likely to move to the Great Lakes. The western cold wave has spread eastward to the upper lakes.

Forecast: Mostly cloudy and mild. Thursday: Rain or snow, followed by a change to considerably colder weather.

Lady Astor Was Again Centre Of Series Of Verbal Exchanges In British House

George Lansbury and Glasgow Radical in Lively Tilts With Plymouth Member—Former Informed Her She Would Be Very Much More Respected if She Would Hold Her Tongue.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Viscountess Astor was again the centre of a series of sharp verbal exchanges in the House of Commons last night, coming into altercation with Miss Ellen C. Wilkinson, Geo. Lansbury, Geo. Buchanan and other Laborites.

The House was discussing relief for the unemployed, when Lady Astor challenged some remark by Miss Wilkinson, who tartly accused Lady Astor of putting words in her mouth she had no intention of using.

The breeze had hardly died down when the Viscountess interrupted Mr. Lansbury, who replied caustically: "The noble lady would be very much more respected if she would learn to hold her tongue."

Amid laughter the chairman reproved Mr. Lansbury for making an improper remark and the member retorted by asking the chairman to invite the noble lady to hold her tongue. For this he received further reproof from the chairman.

Fate Of Six Entombed Miners Remains A Mystery--Over A Hundred Workers Heard Roar Of Water And Scrambled To Safety

Shortly After Daybreak Rescuers, Numbering About One Thousand Men, Had Succeeded in Stopping Flow of Water Where It Entered Mine—Next Thing Will Be to Pump Water Out of Mine, and Every Pump that Can Be Worked Will Be Put to Use.

(Associated Press Despatch)
AZELTON, PA., Nov. 17.—The fate of six miners entombed behind a tremendous rush of water 1200 feet under ground in the Tomhickon Colliery of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company near here remained a mystery here today. The men were trapped yesterday afternoon when a nearby creek broke through its banks, as a result of heavy rains, and flooded the mine. More than one hundred other miners in the shaft heard the roar of the waters and scrambled to the surface in time to escape imprisonment.

Shortly after daybreak rescuers, numbering about one thousand men who had been recruited from nearby collieries, had succeeded in stopping the flow of water where it entered the mine. Tons of dirt, ashes and other material were used in this work.

The next thing will be to pump the water out of the mine and every pump that can be worked will be put to use.

Relatives and friends of the entombed miners were informed that everything possible was being done for the men, but that it would be several days perhaps before the men could be reached.

PREMIER BRUCE MAKES A REPLY TO CRITICISMS

Declares that Only One-Third of Australia's Debt Represents Dead Weight of Her War Debt.

(Canadian Press Despatch)
LONDON, Nov. 17.—Premier S. M. Bruce, of Australia, at a dinner here last night took occasion to reply to recent criticisms of the Australian commonwealth and Australian states for frequent borrowings in London.

Only one-third of Australia's debt, Premier Bruce said, represented the dead weight of her war debt. The remainder represented valuable assets, whereas Great Britain's debt practically was altogether a deadweight, except the money owed by the allies and of this full recovery was extremely doubtful.

Of the total debt of the Australian commonwealth and states, 978,000,000 pounds, Premier Bruce continued, 498,000,000 pounds had been loaned by Australian citizens and 480,000,000 pounds by people overseas. Of the war debt totalling 305,000,000 pounds, Australians had loaned 211,000,000 pounds.

Premier Bruce said that in 1901 only 14 per cent of the public debt was owed to Australians whereas now the percentage was 51. This, he added, left no doubt of Australia's growing financial independence and it indicated that the time was arriving when the commonwealth could finance herself.

Premier Bruce mentioned that Australia had funded her debt to Great Britain for war transport, munitions, etc., before any other nation had recognized its responsibility to the allies. She dealt with it before Great Britain had reached a funding arrangement with the United States, he said, and on far more onerous terms than Britain settled with the latter country. Australia recognizes that borrowing should be on a strictly sound basis, Premier Bruce continued, had brought the various states of

HEROISM OF COASTGUARDS- MEN

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Nov. 17.—Fourteen members of the crew of the tug Thomas Tracy, out of New York, were rescued from their battered craft by three coastguard cutters three miles off here yesterday.

For almost two hours the frail coastguard craft stood by the tug and an oil barge it was towing, in momentary danger of being pounded to pieces by the high seas sweeping over the reef upon which the Tracy had grounded.

Not until the last of the crew had been painfully dragged to comparative safety aboard the cutters did the coastguardsmen abandon the wreck. Then they headed for Atlantic City, where the drenched crew were given medical attention.

Boatswain Wm. C. Hart, of Philadelphia, 28-year-old commander of the cutter C-G-213, was the individual hero of what officers of the Atlantic City coastguard base term one of the pluckiest episodes of lifesaving on the Atlantic coast.

Lieut. Commander H. G. Hemmingsway, in command of the base said that he would recommend Hart for the Congressional Medal and ask that the members of the C-G-213 crew be cited for conspicuous bravery.

The Tracy, a 110-foot ocean-going tug, left New York Sunday night towing the Gulf Refining Company barge Seneca, loaded with 11,000 barrels of oil. She was headed for Philadelphia. Fourteen miles off Atlantic City Monday night, the tug developed engine trouble and Captain Charles Miessler decided to make for shore.

A strong southeast wind buffeted the disabled vessel, and she sprang a leak. The captain anchored the barge and attempted to make shore without her, the tug gradually filling. At three o'clock yesterday morning she struck a reef just outside the harbor bar and listed to port. The heavy seas poured over her decks, almost carrying away the crew when they attempted to hoist distress signals.

The Tracy's plight was seen from shore, and despite the high seas, three coastguard cutters put out to her assistance. The C-G-213, first to arrive, tried to get a line aboard the tug and in doing so fouled it around her own propeller. Helpless, she drifted against the tug, Hart, realizing the imminent danger of crushing his own frail craft between her sister ship and the stranded Tracy, nevertheless ran her between them.

As the waves rocked the two disabled ships crazily, man after man leaped from the deck of the Tracy to the C-G-213, while Hart held her as steadily as possible close beside the larger boat.

All of the tug's crew made the jump safely except John Spear, a deck hand. He slipped and fell into the narrow strip of water between the two vessels. Hart turned his wheel over to one of his crew and sprang into the water after Spear.

Motor Machinists' Mate Henry Fisher, of the C-G-213 was washed overboard from the deck of that craft, as she floundered helplessly during the rescue operations. He was pulled to safety by a rope, which other members of the crew threw him.

Captain Tiesner was the last man to leave the tug. Meanwhile the coastguard cutter C-G-103 had come up and took the rescued men aboard. She and the C-G-213 headed for Atlantic City at top speed, arriving at 11 o'clock. The C-G-102 stood by the grounded tug to repair damages. Then she followed her sister ships to port.

Boatswain Hart is a graduate of St. Martin's College of Philadelphia. He served with the destroyer flotilla in European waters during the war. The Tracy is owned by the Tracy Towing Line of New York City. Coastguardsmen report that she is a total loss. The tug was valued at $83,000.

the commonwealth into a loan council. Premier Bruce's speech throughout was closely reasoned and temperate.

BRITISH WAR OFFICE PLANNING AGAINST AIR RAIDS

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, Nov. 17.—The British War Office, the Westminster Gazette understands, is already laying plans against air raids in the next war.

Cellars, tubes and tunnels are being tabulated for hiding capacity, and yesterday 100 picked men of the Guards Regiment spent several hours in the tube belonging to the Post Office which conveys the mails from central London to Paddington railway station. These men were testing their staying capacity in a minimum of fresh air, and were watched by scientists. It is understood that similar tests will be made weekly.

CANADIAN COAL FOR ENGLAND THIS WINTER

Nova Scotia Mines Have Been Unable to Fill Orders Filed by Industrial Firms and Montreal and Other Manufacturing Centres of Canada.

(Associated Press Despatch)
MONTREAL, Nov. 17.—"With the closing of navigation on the St. Lawrence, a large proportion of the coal that has been coming to the river will be diverted to the Atlantic route to Great Britain. Large contracts have been made between the British Empire Steel Corporation and English interests, whereby coal will be shipped overseas during the winter months. Three steamers, at least, were chartered recently to carry coal from either Sydney or Louisbourg to the United Kingdom at twenty-five shillings a ton for December loading. These steamers have been ordered to load all the orders on tons deadweight capacity. Seven other steamers of between 6,000 and 8,000 tons deadweight capacity were also chartered recently to carry coal from the Cape Breton mines to the United Kingdom at 22 shillings 6 pence for January 1-15 loading or at 21s 3d for January 15-31 loading.

Due to the large demand for bunkers made during the summer by trans-Atlantic coal burning vessels coming to St. Lawrence ports, the Nova Scotia mines have been unable to supply all the orders filed by industrial firms in Montreal and other manufacturing centres in central Canada and the Province of Quebec. With the close of navigation on the St. Lawrence it is expected that upwards of two hundred thousand tons of fuel will be shipped from Sydney to Portland and brought thence by rail to Montreal. It was principally this extra expense in coal haulage, predicted by the British Empire Steel Corporation for some time past, that necessitated an increase in bunkering rates from $6.50 a gross ton at the beginning of the season to $12.50 a gross ton at the end of last week. It was realized that contracts in middle eastern Canada could not be filled before the close of navigation due to the drain on supplies made by ships desiring bunker fuel for the round trip to the United Kingdom ports, and the rates were raised to enable the company to complete these contracts without extra cost to itself.

Had it not been for the heavy demand for Besco coal created during the summer by firms in this part of Canada, the South American market would have been entered by this company and shipments forwarded thither in the same way as shipments were made from the West Virginia and Pennsylvania coal fields."

REDDY FINDS SOME FEATHERS

Tricky folk expect of you The tricks that they themselves would do.

—Old Mother Nature.

Reddy Fox was impatient to get over to the Green Forest. He was impatient to get over to the place where Mrs. Grouse had been shot. In his own mind, he wasn't at all sure that Mrs. Grouse had been killed. He wanted to find out for himself all he could about what had happened there. There is nothing in the world that Reddy would rather have for dinner than a plump Grouse. He had tried many times to catch Mrs. Grouse, but she had always been too smart for him. That was because she had wings. At least, that's what Reddy said. She was smart, but if she hadn't had wings he was sure he would have caught her long ago.

Reddy hurried along the old cow-paths through the Old Pasture over to the edge of the Green Forest. When he reached the Green Forest he moved with the greatest care. That hunter with the terrible gun might be there still. Reddy didn't want that terrible gun pointed at him. Presently, Reddy met Prickly Porky the Porcupine. "Have you seen that hunter with the terrible gun around here?" inquired Reddy in his politest manner.

Prickly Porky wasn't polite at all. He merely grunted and shuffled along to the tree he meant to climb. He didn't like Reddy Fox, and he showed it very plainly. Reddy merely grinned and kept on.

Presently, Reddy met Bobby Coon. "Hello, Bobby," said Reddy.

"What's this I hear about Mrs. Grouse being shot over here in the Green Forest?"

"The same thing I hear, I guess," replied Bobby. "I guess it is true enough. I heard the bang, bang of the terrible gun. I haven't seen Mrs. Grouse since. Isn't it dreadful?"

"Yes," said Reddy, "it is dreadful." And to hear him you would have thought that he was filled with sadness. As a matter of fact, he wasn't. He was filled with impatience at the minute, but he didn't want Bobby Coon to know it. As soon as he could, Reddy said goodbye and went on, so that presently he came to the place in the Green Forest where Mrs. Grouse had been shot.

For several minutes Reddy stood looking and listening, his black ears cocked forward, his bright eyes searching among the trees for the dered to repair the upstairs floors of the Rectory. It was decided also to do some papering. Arrangements were made for the annual Christmas sale and tea to be held in the I.O.O.F. Hall on December 8th. Tea was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. S. J. Prangley. The next meeting to be held on November 24th, in the Post Office Block with Mrs. W. J. Morrow and Mrs. Hugh Morrow as joint hostesses.

The two minutes silence were observed in Bury on Thursday morning last in loyal respect to the memories of the supreme sacrifice made by the Canadian Soldiers overseas. The church bells were rung just before eleven o'clock, reminding the inhabitants of Bury of the world wide silence being observed at that hour.

The monthly meeting of the St. Thomas' Junior Guild was held at the home of Mrs. Curtis Bennett. There was an attendance of ten members. The afternoon was spent in sewing and fancy work. Miss Blanche Dawson presided. Tea was served by the hostess. The next meeting will be held on December 4th at the home of Mrs. Stanley Herring.

The annual meeting of the St. Paul's Junior W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. A. B. Bishop, superintendent of the branch. Money was voted to the Diocesan pledge fund. The election of officers took place by ballot, Miss Grace Anderson being elected secretary and Miss Ruth Barter, treasurer. Two new members joined. The attendance was much larger than usual.

A PLAY UPON PLAYS

With apologies to our dramatic department we print the following from Punch:

"The Whole Town's Talking" because "The Farmer's Wife" met "The Padre" in "Berkley Square" "After Dark" when "None But the Brave" see "Life" and "Escape" for "Love's a Terrible Thing." "Just For a Kiss" sometimes "The Best People" take "The Ghost Train" and "Spend a Month in the Country" So "Lady, Be Good."

"first thing in the morning"

It is a most refreshing and healthful practice to drink, first thing in the morning, a glass of water sparkling with a 'dash' of Eno's "Fruit Salt". There is no safer and surer way than this to clear the system of impurities and keep you fit and eager for the work and play which fill each day.

But it must be ENO! Eno—never varying in quality and purity. Eno—containing nothing that may possibly do you harm. Eno—with its fifty years' reputation. Eno—approved and used by doctors and nurses. So, for your health's sake, be sure you get

Your Daughter's Health

MANY GIRLS are obliged to be absent from school for a few days each month because of illness. In many cases this is unnecessary because young girls—as well as older women—can be strengthened by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

At no age does your daughter need greater care than from the time she reaches the age of twelve years until womanhood is established. If she complains of headaches, pains in the lower limbs, or if she is nervous and irritable make life easier for her. Many a woman has suffered years of misery because as a girl she has been allowed to sit around with wet feet, lift heavy articles, do hard work and over-study.

In all such cases Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be given, as it is specially adapted to such conditions. It can be taken in safety by any woman, young or old.

Nervous and Weak

Charleston, Illinois.—"I gave my fifteen-year-old girl Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it did her a wonderful lot of good. Her periods were delayed and she was nervous, weak and dizzy. At last she was so bad off that she was out of school for four months. I read the advertisements about the Vegetable Compound, and since she has taken it she has improved in every way and has gone back to school again. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to other mothers with girls who are not as strong as they should be."—Mrs. ALICE LOUTHAN, Route 2, Charleston, Illinois.

Terrible Cramps

Los Angeles, California.—"My daughter had terrible cramps which caused her to go to bed on every first day. The sharp pains seemed to take the life right from her. She was out of school two terms. I have known about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound all my life and finally decided she should try it. Three bottles cured her of the cramps and other pains and helped her in various ways for the next couple of years. I recommend the Vegetable Compound highly to every girl and woman."—Mrs. W. E. GILLETTE, 956 East 62nd Place, Los Angeles, California.

"JERRY TARBOT" FINDS HIMSELF

"The unknown soldier," who assumed the name of "Jerry Tarbot" and who has been "positively" identified both as "George Beaupre" and "Bruce Harpin," greeting Benjamin J. Spang, Sesquicentennial policeman, at the American Legion convention in Philadelphia. When Tarbot appeared on the convention platform Spang recognized him as a member of the Fifth Marines. Another of "Tarbot's" erstwhile buddies later declared him to be "Beaupre," while a third was equally certain he was "Harpin."

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant.

Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients.

It is known as Wyeth's Sage & Sulphur Compound and can be obtained at all drug stores for only 75 cents a bottle.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

Edison Bradshaw, a successful Toronto contractor, 413 Wellesley Street, says: "I hope my story will be the means of helping others who suffered as I did. I feel like a new man, thanks to Tanlac."

"Before taking Tanlac, I doctor'd for nervous prostration but seemed to be getting worse. I had no appetite and when I forced myself to eat the pains from indigestion were torture. My heart bothered me after the slightest exertion. I was nervous and irritable and could scarcely sleep. At times I would doze off, then suddenly my muscles would twitch and I would awake with a start. I was almost in despair."

"Nothing seemed to help me, until I started to take Tanlac. The first two bottles made me feel so much better that I kept on taking it. Now my appetite is very good, stomach normal, nerves in good shape. I can sleep well at night, in fact have entirely recovered."

"I heartily recommend Tanlac because I feel sure it will do for others what it has done for me in restoring my health."

Tanlac has helped thousands of men and women. It is nature's own remedy made from roots and herbs according to the famous Tanlac formula. The first bottle, as a rule, brings wonderful relief. Keep up the treatment and see how quickly you will grow stronger and healthier.

FOR Sour Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Hereafter instead of soda take a little "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

BETTER THAN SODA

For fifty years genuine "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

FELL FROM AUTO IN FRONT OF STREET CAR

Good luck certainly favored one individual yesterday when he accidentally fell from his automobile directly in front of an oncoming street car.

The affair occurred on Wellington Street yesterday afternoon. According to the circumstances, as given by an eye-witness, the man, whose name is not known, was driving along Wellington Street and was driving his car on the street car track and a short distance in front of a street car. Arriving at a certain store he turned his car into the curb. In doing this he was successful and as the car stopped he either leaned against the auto door or the door suddenly opened. At all events the driver of the car fell out of his machine and directly in front of the street car track.

The street car in the meantime was coming along, the motorman thinking that the auto would clear the track in time.

When the motorman saw the man fall he immediately applied his brakes and put the car into the reverse. Due to the prompt action of the motorman, who managed the situation very well, serious, if not fatal results, were avoided.

ROTARY CLUB MEMBERS GIVEN A FINE TALK

Mr. A. A. Bowman, M.E., of Montreal, Told of Power Development in Quebec Province.

Members of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club, at their regular meeting at the New Sherbrooke House last night, listened to one of the most practical, educational and interesting talks that has been heard for some time past. The speaker was Mr. A. A. Bowman, M.E., of Montreal, and the subject of his address was "The Arvida Development."

Before taking his audience to the great Duke-Price undertaking on the Saguenay River, Mr. Bowman took advantage of the opportunity to pay a glowing tribute to the work and labors of the French-Canadian pioneer in the province of Quebec.

Mr. Bowman's talk was purely that of an engineer, and he made use of a large number of figures and data with which he impressed his message upon his hearers.

While describing the huge development of the Price concern, Mr. Bowman made special mention of the Price family and remarked that they had added a tremendous amount to the development of the province of Quebec.

In concluding his remarks Mr. Bowman made his talk of special interest locally, by explaining the effects which the great Arvida development would have upon Sherbrooke. In speaking of power, Mr. Bowman remarked that Sherbrooke was rather isolated regarding its power situation, as a result of municipal ownership. The Southern Canada Power Company and other power companies, he said, were working very hard to secure new industries along their power line and the power companies were keen competitors of Sherbrooke.

Realizing the situation, it was, therefore, the duty of all citizens, the speaker said, to support the city's industrial commissioner in every manner possible and to co-operate with him in everything which tended to the betterment of the city.

Following Mr. Bowman's interesting address, a hearty vote of thanks was proposed by Rotarian D. J. Salls and conveyed to the speaker by President Henry Welsh.

ENTERTAINMENT GIVEN IN S. A. CITADEL

A most interesting event took place last evening in the Salvation Army Citadel, when a Musical Festival was given, and two musical instruments were presented to the band and were also dedicated to the service of the Army by Captain Bell, who took charge of the programme.

The opening number was the march, "Lead," by the band, which also played several selections during the evening, among them being, "Great Masters," "Redemption" and "Good News," the latter being played directly after the presentation of the band instruments. One instrument, a tenor horn costing $110, was donated by Sarj. Major Maskell, of the S. A. Corp, while Brother L. Brown gave a trombone. These two silver instruments will be a most acceptable additions to the band, which is in excellent form under the capable direction of Captain Bell.

Other numbers on the programme included a recitation, "The Old Man Goes to Town," by Ensign Bridge; a band quartette, "Village Chimes"; a Bible reading by Sargent Taylor; vocal duet, "Long O'er the Mountain," by Ensign Bridge and Lieut. Turner; piano solo, "Sherbrooke March," composed and played by Capt. Bell; several numbers by the choir, and a hymn tune by the band as a closing number. The evening's programme closed with the benediction.

The attendance was exceptionally good and the programme one of the best given for some time.

PRINCIPAL AT LENNOXVILLE MAKES REPORT

Great Problem in High School Is to Keep Pupils in School for Complete Course of Eleven or Twelve Years.

A very interesting report for the session 1925-26 was presented by Principal Hunting at the annual rally and prize giving of the Lennoxville High School. The report reads as follows:

School opened September 8th, 1925 and was in operation 189 days. Enrollment for the year reached 258 pupils (135 boys, 123 girls). Our average daily attendance of 207 was somewhat lower than usual, as contagious diseases toward the end of the session required the non-attendance of some pupils, and prevented some of our best students from writing the June examinations.

In the High School grades VIII to XI 64 were enrolled; 29 pupils were drawn from outside the municipality, also 6 Roman Catholic and 1 French speaking were in attendance. 38 candidates of grades IX, X, XI were presented for the departmental and matriculation examinations; of these 26 passed. Of the graduating class one is registered as a Science student in McGill University and four are registered for the Arts course at the local university.

In general percentage the school ranked 8th in the whole province, and obtained a government grant of $950 out of a possible $1,000. In reviewing the examination returns from Quebec I have counted six cases where 100 p.c. was obtained in individual cases, two of 99 p.c., and many ranging from 90 to 98 p.c. In total aggregate per cents one grade X student reached the high level of 90 1-2 p.c., and two others well over 85 p.c. In general our pupils worked conscientiously and well, though a few of our young people showed a lack of proper seriousness, and speaking for the staff and myself, we feel that this lack is traceable to a failure in some homes to supervise home study and otherwise to give the teacher the necessary support for best results. In reference to this matter I wish to remind parents that we as teachers wish to encourage consultation with parents, and wish parents to feel free to confer at any reasonable time during the day with us. In short, mutual understanding and co-operation would be beneficial to all concerned.

I feel that our staff of teachers deserve mention for the efficient and serious way in which they performed their duties, and I wish to thank them for their co-operation. Miss McCaskill, of Gould, Que., severed her connection with the school after two years with us. She was a very conscientious and successful teacher, and our best wishes go to her in the new sphere in which she is now found as Mrs. M. M. McKay.

In a growing community and in ever changing conditions, and in a school fast becoming over-crowded our increasing needs are many. In this connection I wish to put on record the splendid way in which our Board of School Commissioners meets our demands in so far as it is in their power to do so, and as a staff of teachers take this opportunity of expressing our thanks to them.

"Before resuming my seat, I would like to mention a few of our needs, and with your permission make a suggestion which seems pertinent on this occasion.

In the first place we need a proper and convenient assembly hall, where we can comfortably gather the whole school together, at least once per week, for such exercises as concern us as a whole such as singing, physical drill, addresses by local and visiting persons who have lectures to give us. None but the staff fully realized the difficulty we have to encounter when we attempt to prepare for this our annual gathering, and it entails the loss of at least 1-2 days of school work and then only 1-2 of our pupils can be admitted to this assemblage.

Music and art work are scarcely touched as we are non-circumstanced. A specialist in drawing and other forms of art work is much needed, just as we need specialists in French.

We need further equipment for the better instruction in the branches of natural science. We need a microscope, and many minor helps to further better instruction. More books and up-to-date encyclopaedias should be added to our library. I will not worry you with further items of this nature, but wish to bring the other subject before you for consideration.

One of the greatest problems in High School work is to keep pupils in school for the full course of eleven or twelve years, that is to say if 20 children enter the primary in one year, how can we keep these 20 pupils until graduation? As a matter of fact not 25 p.c. of the pupils in our Provincial High School ever reach graduation, much less enter the universities. In this school, however, we are doing better than in most other schools. This year we have enrolled 20 beginners and our graduation class numbers 11, and this has been about the average for several years. This good feature doubtless is mainly due to two facts, first to having an university at our doors (in which we are exceptionally fortunate) and secondly it is due to the fact that Mr. Wilder has for years encouraged our students to remain in school by offering his splendid money prizes to the higher grades.

Now, the proposal which I wish to bring before you is this: Can we not go further in financial encouragement, can we not offer a first year scholarship to Bishop's University of $100 per annum? My suggestion would be that for a student to be eligible for this scholarship he or she must be enrolled with us for two years, that is take grades X and XI, show excellence not only in scholastic attainments but also in athletics and in deportment, in other words be an all-round student and athlete, and the choice of such a candidate for this scholarship to depend upon the mutual agreement of School Board Principal and teaching staff.

I feel that such a scholarship would tend to keep our two highest grades full, meanwhile the cost of operation to the school would not be increased, rather the additional fees that should by this encouragement accrue to the Board almost pay one half of the amount required. Might not the school commissioners be justified in assuming half of this $100, and are there no other sources from which the balance might be forthcoming? Have we public spirited citizens among us sufficiently interested in higher education who might offer to help in the matter, or are there not some other means by which this scheme might be made possible? This is only a proposal on my part as one familiar with local conditions. I would like to hear the matter discussed tonight, for this is the only occasion during the year in which we all come together in the interests of the school. Fearing that I have already taken too much of your time, I will thank you for your attention and resume my seat.

LENNOXVILLE

SUCCESSFUL MUSICAL HELD

Mrs. G. A. Hadlock was hostess for the monthly meeting of the W. C.T.U. at her home yesterday afternoon, and arranged an interesting programme of music. Piano solos were played by Mrs. F. S. Browne and Miss Irene McFadden, and Mrs. MacKay, of Sherbrooke, generously contributed two delightful vocal solos. Mrs. J. G. Tremholme and Miss Nish also sang, completing the musical numbers.

Mrs. J. A. Seale gave a fine paper on the subject of "music in the home". Music, she said, was the universal language of all mankind and could be understood where spoken language could not. She characterized it as a medium of expression for the soul of man, and pointed out that it had been used in all the greatest events of the world's history from the time of the creation when "The morning stars sang together", to the birth of Christ heralded by the song of the angels. In the home, good music was shown to have a refining influence, and the need of cultivating a taste for the best class of music was emphasized.

Hearty thanks were given all who had contributed to the programme. Mrs. A. F. Brown presided, and Mrs. H. Bassett had charge of the devotional part of the meeting. Mrs. Hadlock served afternoon tea at the close to the members and a large number of visitors.

SANTA CLAUS

Writes the Fathers and Mothers of Sherbrooke and Eastern Townships

Nov. 16, 1926.

Dear Mr. Munro—

I am getting nearer to the railroad every day, and as there is no snow, my reindeer are very tired.

Please tell all the mothers and fathers in Sherbrooke and Eastern Townships that I am hoping they will come with the children to meet me next Saturday. As I told you in my last letter, I will arrive at the Canadian National Station twenty minutes after three next Saturday afternoon, and am looking forward to the big reception which you have planned for me.

So you are having the Harmony Band to lead the parade. I have read of this band in the "North Pole Tribune." They have won several competitions.

And you have received nearly three thousand letters from the children. That will give me a lot of work when I arrive, won't it, as I am going to answer every one of them. I hope by this time all the toys I shipped you have arrived and that Toyland is all ready. Good-bye until Saturday.

Your old friend,
SANTA CLAUS.

Social and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Mitchell, Moore Street, who have been abroad for some time, have returned home.

Mrs. C. G. Thompson, Wolfe Street, who left last week for Florida, has arrived at her destination after a most enjoyable trip.

The friends of Miss Audrey Logie, Victoria Street, will be pleased to learn that she is progressing favorably after her operation for appendicitis which she underwent on Monday morning at the Sherbrooke Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gorham, who have recently returned from the Scott Club, Rimouski, are the guests of Mr. J. H. Bryant and family, Bowen Avenue, for a few weeks before they leave for Miami, Fla., where they will spend the winter months.

Mr. A. E. Norcross, formerly of Lennoxville, who has been for the past seven years with the Canadian Bank of Commerce in Jamaica, British West Indies, has been appointed accountant of the main branch of the bank in Halifax, N. S. Mr. Norcross spent Sunday in town with his mother and left Sunday night for Halifax.

The Young Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Church met last evening in the church hall with a good attendance of members and several items of business to receive attention. Plans were completed for the Christmas sale and work well outlined. At the conclusion of business dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses, the Misses Andrea and Beryl Irwin.

Mrs. Bartley Holtham, Howard Park, entertained at three tables of bridge yesterday afternoon. The prizes were won by Mrs. T. Walsh and Mrs. D. Panneton. At the tea hour Mrs. C. B. Howard presided at the table and poured coffee, and Mrs. Charles Mignault cut the ices. Mrs. D. C. McKee assisted in serving. The table was decorated with yellow mums and lighted with yellow candles.

The card party given last evening in the lodge rooms, under the auspices of Princess Rebekah Lodge, was enjoyed by all present. "600" was played at several tables and the prizes were awarded to the Misses Jessie Dunsmore and Eva Pearce, first and second ladies, and Miss W. Reed, consolation; Messrs. S. Edgecombe and S. Hazel, first and second gentlemen, Mr. F. Bean, consolation. At the conclusion of cards refreshments were served and a pleasant social hour was spent.

The Ladies' Circle of Trinity United Church met last evening with Mrs. George Parsons, Portland Avenue, with the president, Mrs. C. E. Soles, in the chair for the business routine. Plans for the Christmas sale were well outlined and it was decided to hold a tea on Saturday afternoon of this week. The annual Christmas supper for the children was also discussed during the business hour. Rev. Dr. W. S. Lennon came in and gave a short talk to the Circle, after which refreshments were served, the hostess being assisted in her duties by Mrs. George Hall and Mrs. Miller Hall.

A most successful and enjoyable sale and tea was given yesterday afternoon in the Church of the Advent Hall, under the auspices of the Women's Guild of the church. The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. George Wiggett, Mrs. Norrey Price, Miss A. McIver and Mrs. Sargent, with Mrs. J. H. Gorham presiding at the tea table. The table of home-made food was in charge of Mrs. F. Saunders and Mrs. H. C. Wilcox, and assisting during the tea hour were Mrs. George Hutchinson, Mrs. David Murray and Miss Florence Bryant. Chrysanthemums were used effectively in the table decorations. The attendance was exceptionally good and the proceeds gratifying.

The regular meeting of the Junior Branch of the W.A., of St. Peter's Church was held yesterday afternoon in the parish hall. Many gifts for the Christmas sale, others for the Dynevor Hospital and five Sunday Schools on the Reserve were brought in. These were most acceptable, but still more are required for the box of supplies. They may be sent to the hall any day up to Saturday, as it was decided to ship the box on that day. Arrangements were made to have an afternoon tea and pantry sale on Tuesday, November 23rd, to provide funds for the Junior pledges, which are now due. Several new members were enrolled, and it is the intention of the Diocesan secretary, treasurer to re-organize after the holiday season, and possibly change the day of meeting to a more suitable one for the children.

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Salls and Miss Edna Salls are leaving this afternoon for New York, from where they will sail on Saturday for Naples. They expect to remain in Europe six months.

Miss Dora Wilson entertained yesterday at the tea hour at her home on Queen Street. She was assisted in receiving by her sister, Mrs. W. H. Moorhead, of Grand Mere. Tea was served in the dining room, where the decorations were carried out in mauve and yellow. Mrs. F. B. Wilson poured tea, coffee was poured by Mrs. S. A. Banfill, of East Angus, and Mrs. Meredith Wilson served the ices. Those assisting in the dining room were Mrs. George Mulvagh, Mrs. Lennox Wilson, Mrs. Charles Wadsworth, Miss Eleanor Aitkin and Miss Alice Wilson. Little Miss Lois Wiggett opened the door.

On Saturday evening a miscellaneous shower was given in honor of Miss Elsie Elliott, whose marriage takes place shortly, at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Jas. Jardine, of Suffield. An enjoyable time was spent playing games. Refreshments were served to about seventy-five guests. The gifts, which were in a gaily decorated basket, were drawn in a cart to Miss Elliott by her two little cousins, Mary and Jean Jardine, and little Reta Lord. Miss Elliott thanked all her friends for the beautiful gifts and the very pleasant evening. The evening closed by singing, "For They are Jolly Good Fellows".

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid of Trinity United Church was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. R. Hall, 144 Bowen Avenue, with a very large number present. Rev. Dr. Lennon, who was present, conducted the devotional exercises. The president, Mrs. A. H. Foss, took charge of the business routine and a large number of items were attended to. The reports of the Thanksgiving supper were very satisfactory indeed, and progress was made in the arrangements for the Christmas sale on December 7. The social hour was much enjoyed. Mrs. W. S. Lennon poured tea, the hostess was assisted in serving dainty refreshments by Mrs. Reginald Hall, Mrs. Farr, Miss Evelyn Bradley, Miss Muriel Hall and Miss Olivia Davis.

Rev. Dr. W. S. Lennon, pastor of Trinity United Church, conducted the short prayer service last evening in connection with the week of prayer at the Y.W.C.A. In his address on the topic, "To the Glory of God," which was based upon Hebrew XII, verses 1 and 2, Rev. Dr. Lennon drew the attention of his hearers to the fact that different things had been selected as the master force, or master incentive of life. Some were disposed to find it selfishness, others in unselfishness. The speaker pointed out that while the ordinary view of human nature saw selfishness everywhere, there was really much more unselfishness in the world, and that all men were conscious that appeals played successfully upon the selfish and the unselfish aspects of their nature. The glory of the "cloud of witnesses" to whom Paul referred in his great text was that they had responded to the appeal of other people's needs and had done generous deeds of service. Speaking further, Dr. Lennon declared himself disposed to think that the motive, "To the glory of God" was hardly a safe one unless one remembers that according to Jesus the glory of God is best enhanced by the service of man.

OFFICER MAKES LARGE SEIZURE AT DISRAELI

Forty-five Gallons of High Grade Alcohol Found in Loft of Hotel—Appeared in Magistrate's Court on Charge of Having Sold Liquor Without License—Case Postponed Until December 1.

Acting on information received, High Constable Lanctot and Assistant Constable Genest motored to Disraeli yesterday morning and seized forty-five gallons of liquor from the hotel of J. G. Breton and arrested the proprietor on a charge of selling liquor without a license.

It appears that on reaching the hotel the two officers began a search for the liquor. After hunting throughout the whole place Mr. Genest noticed a tower above the second storey and demanded a ladder so that he could search there also. The accused declared that nothing was in the loft because he had not been up there for years. The assistant constable stated that he would get a ladder from a neighbor if necessary, for he was determined to complete the search. On seeing that it was impossible to prevent the officers from searching the loft, the accused procured a ladder and found a large number of gallon tins, which, on examination, proved to be full of high grade alcohol. Breton, who was fined $1,000 on October 15 last for selling liquor, was brought to this city and was lodged in the local jail. The accused appeared before Judge Lemay this morning, but his case was adjourned until December 1st.

It is understood that the liquor will be confiscated and shipped to Montreal.

A. DUPERRON APPEARED IN COURT TODAY

Accused Charged With Having Threatened to Murder Wife—Declared Wife Wanted to Be Boss—Case Postponed Until Friday.

The Magistrate's Court was crowded this morning to hear the case of Alfred Duperron, of Sherbrooke, who pleaded not guilty to the charge of threatening to murder his wife.

Mrs. Duperron, who made the charge, was first called to give her evidence and from the glances she threw towards the accused from time to time appeared to be very frightened. According to her statement, the accused had not worked for over two years and she was forced to support the family by washing. She stated that during the past few months her husband had become impossible to live with, for he was threatening her life continually. The affair had reached a crisis on Saturday morning last. Mrs. Duperron was working at a Mr. Panneton's at the time, and her husband and young daughter were alone in the house. She said the accused became very angry over some trifling thing and made the statement that he would kill his wife when she returned. The young girl immediately left the house and warned her mother, who at once brought her complaint before the local police.

The youngest daughter of the accused was then called to the witness box and bore out the evidence of her statement the young girl broke down and for the rest of the hearing quietly sobbed to herself. The married daughter of the accused was next called and she stated that she had heard her father threaten her mother.

At the conclusion of the evidence against Duperron, the accused was called upon to answer to the charge. Duperron began his statement by declaring that if he had his two hands on the Bible he could not tell any more than he was doing at present. On being questioned whether he was working or not, he declared that he had had an attack of influenza two years ago which left him incapable of working, but as he had supported his wife for twenty-five years, she ought to be able to support him for two. Becoming quite excited, Duperron stated that the trouble had started because he wished to be boss of his own home and that he would not have his wife interfering with him. If she wished to be boss, she would not live with him. He had not, he declared, threatened the life of his wife, but told her that if she could not obey him she could go elsewhere.

After hearing the evidence, Judge Lemay declared the case adjourned until next Friday.

THIS NOVEMBER WARMEST FOR TWELVE YEARS

Weather Records Show that This Month Is Having Highest Temperature for Several Years.

The balmy atmosphere of the past three days, grass a little greener; complaints of "that tired feeling", etc., etc., gave evidence that the Weather Man has not been playing "according to Hoyle", and that Spring and Autumn have apparently become a bit mixed in their programme.

"It's lovely weather, but some way, I don't feel like working", has been an oft-repeated phrase in the business section, while many outdoor people have hid themselves to favorite haunts at every opportunity.

Upon asking for information from the weather books at the Experimental Farm office, Lennoxville, it was learned this morning that this November is proving a rather remarkable month—so far as it has gone.

The maximum temperature has been seventy and the minimum thirty-seven, which is the highest minimum for the past twelve years. On November 7th, 1924, the minimum was also thirty-seven. The records also show that in the twelve past years the highest minimum, at an time, was thirteen, and it has gone as low as sixteen below zero in former Novembers. Of course the month is not over, but the record will doubtless be a remarkable one.

Residents who spent part of Saturday last putting on double doors and windows have almost wished they had waited, but may be consoled by the thought that the task is done, and without cold fingers. A rest from stoking the furnace has been enjoyed by many, but the youthful element, who were very happy over the fall of snow, have dragged their sleds back into the sheds to await further developments of the weather man. Yesterday's downpour of rain reminded those who were out in it of a July shower, but this morning Old Sol smiled down on the brown earth and every one was happy.

Then, the dandelions are out again, their little frowny heads giving a decided spring-like tone to the brown fields and rusty roadsides. Mrs. Winstanley, Armstrong Avenue, found the little yellow flowers in her garden plot yesterday, and others have reported seeing them here and there. But they'll get nipped if they don't watch out.

After hearing the evidence, Judge Lemay declared the case adjourned until next Friday.

130,000,000 ACRES FOREST IN PROVINCE

Crown Still Owns 191,772 Sq. Miles, Estimated Value Being at Least $600,000,000.

A picture of the great forests and hydro powers of the province of Quebec is unrolled by a perusal of a publication just issued by Hon. Honore Mercier, Minister of Lands and Forests. The booklet is profusely and ably illustrated, and in a relatively short space the reader can learn much about the natural resources of Quebec. The work is divided into two sections, the first dealing with the forests and the second with the waterpowers.

The forestry resources of the province occupy more than 130 million acres, the booklet shows, and in many of the regions constitute the only possible crop, the land not being suited to agriculture. It is noted that in another way the forests mean a great deal, and that is by holding water and thereby regulating streams. It is estimated that 22,000 square miles of forest lands will in time become available for agriculture, and the extent of this is realized by pointing out that the present agricultural territory of the province is 18,000 square miles. Of the forests of the province the Crown is still the heavy owner. Individuals own 4,795 square miles, colonists have 2,023 on location tickets and the Crown has 191,772 square miles. The greater part of the privately-owned forests come from grants made in the days of the French regime, or have been conceded by the Crown to encourage colonization. The value of such privately-owned forests is around $40,000,000, and the annual production from them runs to about $10,000,000. The value of Crown forests as they stand is estimated very conservatively to be $600,000,000, and this takes in only forests which can be reached and, therefore, are commercial. Information is given as to the forestry service, the fire prevention system, and stress is laid on the requirement that all must have permits to move through the forests.

Turning to waterpowers, it is noted that while much has been done in the way of development, still much more remains to be done, for of the 15,000,000 horse power available the development has been up to 1,800,000 only, and it is estimated that this development represents a saving of 4,000,000 tons of coal, of $144,000,000.

"In what position would we be without this power?" is a question put before the reader, and the article goes on to speak of the fact that it was due to waterpower de-

STATUS OF AUSTRALIA'S HIGH COMMISSIONER TO U.S. IS TO BE CHANGED

Sir Hugh Dennison Will Be Named Minister at Washington Within Three Months' Time.

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 17.—A special Washington despatch in the Toronto Globe this morning says: "The status of Sir Hugh Dennison, Australia's high commissioner to the United States, is to be changed to that of minister within three months time, according to information gained last night in an authoritative quarter."

Premier Bruce of Australia, may possibly proceed homeward from the British Imperial Conference at London via the United States, and it is probable the contemplated change in Australia's representation in this country may be made at that time.

Development that such places as Kenogami, Arvida, Grand Mere, Shawinigan, La Tuque and Clark City had come into being. The progress of the province is intimately and proportionately allied with the development of the water powers, it is stressed.

Some valuable information as to the great dams which have been constructed by the Government is given, such as the Gouin dam at La Loutre on the St. Maurice, the Alard dam on the St. Francois, that at Kenogami. The Gouin dam is greater even than the famous Assouan dam in Egypt. By regulating the flow of the waters of the St. Maurice it has been possible to produce electricity which in great measure supplies Montreal. Reference is made to the great works going on at the Grand Discharge, the contract there calling for a minimum of 230,000 horse power at a cost of at least $12,000,000.

ROTAREX
ELECTRIC CLOTHES WASHER

WASHES CLOTHES CLEAN WITHOUT WEAR

Radically different from all other washers are the improved washing methods of the NEW ROTAREX ELECTRIC CLOTHES WASHERS. Unlike all other rotary washers, there are no holes in the cylinder walls to cause friction that wears the clothes as their wet weight is dragged over the revolving perforated surface.

In the ROTAREX WASHER the cylinder is formed of one continuous sheet of smooth, silvery metal. The cast aluminum ends are perforated, producing an action of the suds and agitation of the clothes that combines every advantage of the rotary, oscillating or vacuum type washers. A steady revolving motion lifts, turns and dips the clothes—the same as in hand washing.

WATER POWERS OF THE DOMINION

The waterfalls of Canadian rivers is one of this Dominion's greatest assets. Much of the present industrial activity of Canada results from this and the future of the country, to a very considerable extent depends upon the development of water powers.

"The annual report just issued by the Dominion Water Power and Reclamation Service of the Department of the Interior," says the Toronto Globe, "presents an interesting resume of the work being done to harness the waterpower resources of the Dominion and of research work into the question of irrigation. The capital investment in Canadian water-power development now amounts approximately to $767,000,000. Some idea of the potential power available is gleaned from the fact that the present recorded water-power resources of the Dominion will permit a turbine installation of 41,700,000 horsepower, though as a matter of fact the present installation amounts to only 3,569,275 horsepower. The utilization of the tremendous water-power resources of the Dominion has already contributed in large measure to Canadian development, and is destined to play a far greater part even in the future. The rapid adaptation of electricity to the varied needs of the community and the people, and the strategic situation of most of the large towns and cities of the Dominion to water-power reserves, make development in this department of natural resources a thing that is beyond question."

EX-KAISER'S PLANS.

The ex-Kaiser of Germany has somewhat dropped out of the lime light, but from time to time he comes upon the scene, either through an interview given to the press or in agitation for his return to Germany.

The former Emperor, no doubt, expects to re-establish his residence, if not his throne, in Germany.

The following is taken from the Minneapolis Journal:

The pious Kaiser says he leaves to Providence his return to Germany. He needs must leave it to the Allies.

When little Holland dared assert her historic right of offering asylum to political refugees, the Allies did not demand the body of the fallen war lord, maybe because its possession would have embarrassed them. "Hang the Kaiser" was the slogan of Lloyd George's first post-war election. Not having him to hang made the slogan easier. But stout Holland, at the time of her refusal, furnished the Powers an undertaking to keep the Kaiser confined within limits and to prevent him from recrossing the border.

Some six months hence the law forbidding William to return to Germany is said to expire, and no doubt there is a considerable fraction of the German people that would welcome or tolerate his return. Advisers are said to have told him to make a dash for it, to put himself back into Germany, thus presenting Europe with an accomplished fact. He might get into Germany, but would he stay there?

The German ambassador at Paris is said to have given assurance that the German Government will not permit his return, and the French premier, M. Poincaré, is said to threaten to demand the person of William to stand trial, in case Germany receives him.

William lives at Doorn the life of a country gentleman. He entertains many visitors. He has all the comforts and luxuries. His exile is no St. Helena. He hasn't any hardships, inconveniences, even insults or slights to bear. He ought to thank his stars his lot isn't worse. It might be much worse. And he may succeed in making it worse, if he continues his intrigues.

The German people have not forgotten, can never forget, that their great war lord deserted them in the hour of their defeat, scuttled to safety across the Dutch border, left them without the defense of the courage, wisdom and might that he had egotistically woven into a tradition for himself throughout his reign.

The courage of the Kaiser was a poor thing. He posed as a mighty hunter who broke all records in the slaughter of game. But he had the deer rounded up for him in an enclosure and had them driven where he could shoot seventeen hundred of them down in a day, with lackeys handing him fresh guns as fast as the one he used grew too hot. Only a butchering brute could do a thing like that.

His crowning act of cowardice made it impossible that the German people should ever welcome his return, and his chance of again playing melodramatic heroics in the Fatherland is not large.

PRESS COMMENT

FORGET POLITICS.

(Farmer's Advocate)

Canadians would do well to forget politics for a while and settle down to industry and progress. The crying need now is honest, steady administration of the country's affairs, a stronger morale and confidence in the future. Production in Canada is abundantly sufficient to warrant better times for all. Politics should not be allowed to suppress prosperity.

PIANO EXERCISE.

(Musical Courier)

A Chinese servant employed in a family which lived next door to a famous woman pianist left suddenly after only a few days' service. The letter which he left behind him notifying the family of his departure was written in Chinese; with the aid of an interpreter the gist of the communication was made out. "I do not mind your heathen parrot," said the letter; "I do not mind your barbarous customs of dressing and eating; but the lady next door who sits on the musical instrument every day is too much."

THE MUNICIPAL INCOME TAX.

(The Square Deal)

The revolt against municipalities collecting an income tax is growing—first it was Ford, now it is Toronto Township which has refused to collect one. There are many other rural districts where the law is ignored, but they have succeeded in avoiding publicity. Local option in liquor selling was considered a wise move; then why the purely local matter of municipal taxation should be hampered by the cast-iron regulations of the Assessment Act does not appear. It is frankly admitted that our present system is unsatisfactory, and a little consideration will show that it is impossible to collect an income tax with even an approach to equity. It is a notorious fact that it is mainly paid by the salaried classes, while the larger incomes of the wealthy and business owners are assessed at only a fraction of the real amount. This is nothing new; the income tax has been an obvious injustice where ever levied, and the reason is not far to seek. It is essentially unjust, and no unjust law can be administered with equity.

GREAT RESPONSIBILITIES.

(Toronto Financial Post)

The new Montreal Curb Exchange has before it great opportunities and great responsibilities. One of its greatest of these lies in cultivating the mining field. There are many in the province of Quebec who have funds available for speculation in Canadian mining ventures. In the past they have in a measure been precluded from participating in such speculations on a reasonably sound trading basis. They will watch closely the operations of the new Montreal Curb in order to assure themselves that the board of management deals rigorously with all attempts at market rigging and other such efforts which would result in mining the public rather than properties.

Among the objects of the new exchange, as set forth in its constitution, is included the following: "To maintain the highest standards of commercial honor and integrity amongst its members and to promote and inculcate just and equitable principles of trade and business." If the Montreal Curb lives up to the high standard which it has set up, the results so achieved will benefit not only the public and the members, but the Canadian mining industry as a whole.

ARE WORLD'S FAIRS OBSOLETE?

(Christian Science Monitor)

The admitted financial collapse of Philadelphia's Sesqui-centennial Exposition is, after all, important only as it indicates its failure in the larger implications of its purpose. Enterprises of this nature are seldom financial successes, and, indeed, the element of profit seeking should not enter into them. The British Empire Exhibition at Wembley lost money, but made a different yet important profit. It may, indeed, be questioned whether rather more financial liberality at the outset might not have made the Philadelphia fair a success in all respects.

And yet it encountered hostile currents at every stage. At the outset it was fatuous to fancy that a true world's fair could be organized so shortly after the World War, with the nations of Europe burdened by debt and racked by political unrest. Furthermore, the United States had remained coldly aloof from the exposition of arts and decoration held in Paris in the summer of 1925. This was not merely a business blunder but was taken by the French as a sort of official affront which made French representation at Philadelphia out of the question. European resentment over the American position on international debts had not, at the inception of the Sesqui-centennial, assumed so serious a phase as to affect that enterprise, but it is obvious that so long as it shall endure any very representative gathering of foreign governments in an American fair is improbable. Chicago, which is talking of repeating seven years hence her great triumph of 1893, may well consider this point.

Perhaps the day for these great world fairs is passed. Chicago, St. Louis and San Francisco, in turn, have amazed and delighted the world by the artistry of the settings they provided for the exposition of the progress of the world in industry and arts. Only a cocksure critic would venture to say which of the three was the more beautiful. Each had its unique qualities and each contributed notably to the advance of the American people in their appreciation of beauty, and their desire to introduce it into daily life.

Mr. Jacques Guilmette, Of Stoke, Now In 102 Year, Said To Be Oldest Resident Of The Eastern Townships

(Third Article of Record's Sketches of Eastern Townships Old People)

To have reached the century mark in one's age is to attain much; to have reached it and still be able to take part in the life going on around him is to attain more. When we meet a man who has passed the century milestone on the pathway of life and still can talk on various topics, old and new, we realize more fully the meaning of the words: "Man—God gave him power to rule; He gave him power to rule himself." These words apply most fitly to a pioneer who is probably the only centenarian in this province, namely, Mr. Jacques Guilmette, of Stoke, County of Richmond, Que.

Though there is a little uncertainty about the day of his birth, owing to absence of family records, the year of Mr. Guilmette's birth was 1825. Thus he is now in his one-hundred-and-second year.

Members of the Daily Record staff who called upon Mr. Guilmette a few weeks ago found him at home and most cordial in his greeting, though he welcomed them as strangers.

"Come in, come in," was his cheery greeting, and his visitors entered, then sitting down they talked with the aged man, finding that his memory was good, his mind active, and that he could converse in both French and English. "I learned when I was about fourteen years old," he explained, "I got my English from the Scotch, the Irish, and all of 'em. He talked with little hesitancy in his English words."

It was a nice autumn day, though rather cold, but Mr. Guilmette had just come in from the garden where he had been cutting turnip tops. "You know what kind of work that is, don't you?" he asked one of his visitors.

"I certainly do," was the ready reply. When asked if he had followed farming all his life he said: "Yes, farming and lumbering. I'm an old bush-whacker," the last with a hearty laugh.

Mr. Guilmette is a living example of the hardy, fearless, untiring type of French Canadian, such as had an important part in the clearing and tilling of the lands of Quebec Province. He was born in Bellechasse County, Que., in 1825, son of French parents also born in the same place, of parents who came from France to Canada in the 18th century.

"Did you come here from Bellechasse?" he was asked. "Here! No, no, there was no 'here' to come to; it was only woods, nothing but woods and water. I came out this way one day to fish."

"Good fishing then, wasn't it?" interrupted his visitor.

"Gosh, yes. The fish were born and stayed right here; no one to take 'em away." He sighed, apparently at the thought of the many who now came after the fish that are born there.

"I cut the first tree in this place," he said, and then explained that he had bought about one hundred acres of land in 1865 from a company in Germany who owned some eighteen lots (200 acres to a lot) and for which Messrs. Brooks and Camirand, of Sherbrooke, were agents. "We paid three dollars an acre, and I guess the Germans got about twenty cents an acre. They believed that it was poor, wild land, but it wasn't. The land around here was well timbered with spruce, birch, maple, hemlock, etc., and it is fertile—good farming land."

Mr. Guilmette left Bellechasse County when about twenty years old, going to Lingwick, later to Ascot, then to Stoke where he has lived ever since. When about twenty-four he was married to Amelie Bourque, of Ascot, the wedding taking place in Sherbrooke, and the nuptial knot was tied by the late Rev. Father Dufresne. Of this marriage there were eleven children, six sons and five daughters, nearly all of whom are living. By his second wife, who was Elmire Lemay, of Tingwick, he has four children; fifteen in all. His second wife was a widow (Mrs. Benoit) when he married her, and she brought up her two little girls, along with his own family. The children are now living at Stoke Centre, one son in Sherbrooke, others in Ontario, and one daughter in Manchester, N. H. Last summer the five daughters were together at Stoke Centre and they had a group photograph taken; Mr. Guilmette showed it with pride to his visitors.

Another interesting photograph is the one that accompanies this sketch. The "snap" was taken in the summer of 1926, and shows him and his baby grandson, between whom there are just one hundred years. Mr. Guilmette is one hundred and one years, and baby Lionel, son of Mr. and Mrs. (Alice Guilmette) Laventure, of Manchester, N.H., is one year old. This is undoubtedly a rare occurrence, as it is a unique picture.

Mr. Guilmette and his second wife, who is sixty-five years of age, have lived together thirty-seven years. The wide difference in their ages is not so noticeable as one would imagine; he is so active, talks so brightly, and seems so interested in the life on which his eyes have looked for over a century. One can only guess dimly of such aged people's thoughts regarding the changes that have taken place; they take these changes, the wireless, the radio, auto, etc., with the untroubled calm of a child-mind. At one time Mr. Guilmette owned the land on which stood the saw mill of the late Mr. R. D. Morill, one of Sherbrooke's prominent merchants, and at present a son lives on the same farm and in the first house built by Mr. Guilmette.

MR. JACQUES GUILMETTE, OF STOKES, NOW IN 102 YEAR.

who now lives with his wife in a small cottage near the village, and on the main road. He often goes down to the store and post office and fully enjoys the privilege of outdoor life.

During the conversation between him, his wife and the visitors, Mr. Guilmette went into another room and brought out a handsome walking stick. It is a highly prized gift. "From my good friend, Mr. Tobin," he explained. The cane is of ebony with chased gold handle, and is suitable inscribed as a gift to the centenarian on his hundredth birthday anniversary from E. W. Tobin, M.P., for Richmond and Wolfe. The cane, it is stated, was brought from Ireland by Mr. Tobin's father, about seventy-five years ago. The inscription reads: "1825—Centenary 1925, Jacques Guilmette. Souvenir de moi."

"Mr. Tobin is your friend?" the visitor asked.

"Ah yes, he is my very good friend for twenty-five years past," was the quick reply.

Pointing to a picture on the wall the visitor said:

"I see you have Sir Wilfrid's picture."

"Yes, he was my friend, too; the best friend I ever had. He was a good man. Did you ever hear anything mean about him? No one can truly say bad of him."

Thus did Mr. Guilmette voice the loyalty of the French Canadians for their beloved Chieftain, Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

"Do you smoke?" he was asked, and Mr. Guilmette quickly answered, "Ah yes, he smoke too much for his good," but Mr. Guilmette just smiled, and his visitors decided that smoking could not be so terribly bad as it is sometimes claimed, else how could this man have reached his "honorable age?"

When leaving, his visitor said he would send him some cigars, and when at the door the kindly, courteous man said: "If you do send me what you said you would be sure to put your name in the parcel!" Now, doesn't that prove that Mr. Guilmette is just as modern as any of us?

THANKSGIVING SERVICES HELD AT E. CLIFTON

Rev. Alfred Bright, of Sherbrooke, Special Preacher—Armistice Service at Memorial—Young People Give Supper and Entertainment in Aid of Church—Personals and Newsy Notes.

EAST CLIFTON, Que., November 17.—Thanksgiving service was held in the United Church on Sunday afternoon, November 7th, at one o'clock, the service being in charge of Rev. Alfred Bright, of Sherbrooke, who had changed places for that Sunday with Rev. Thomas Knowles, the regular pastor.

The church was prettily decorated with potted plants, evergreen, vegetables, fruits, flags, etc., giving it a very artistic appearance of the day it was to represent.

The pastor delivered a very inspiring message, basing his sermon from 21st, and 22nd, Chapters of Revelation. The pastor pointed out how dear and beautiful were the faces of our parents, brothers and sisters, but not any of these could be compared with our Father on High whose face we were all eager to see at the "Last Day."

The choir rendered the following hymns with Mrs. Jas. Towers presiding at the organ: "Sing to the Lord of Harvest", "Come Ye Thankful People, Come", "Praise Ye the Lord! 'Tis Good to Raise", anthem, "What will Your Harvest Be?"

At the close of the service an Armistice service was performed by Rev. Alfred Bright. The flag was carried by Mr. Kenneth Waldron, followed by the Young Men, Men, and the Junior Red Cross Girls, led by Miss Hilda Bell carrying the Union Jack.

Wreaths were deposited at the foot of the Monument by Master Desmond and Crescent Bain. One minute silence was observed. L. Corp. J. F. Barber was present dressed in full uniform. A few words of comfort to the bereaved ones and a prayer followed. At the closing the choir sang beside the Monument, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past."

Young People Give Supper.
The young people of this place gave a supper and entertainment on Tuesday evening, November 9, in order to raise money to pay off the remaining debt on the barn at the United Church Parsonage, Sawyerville.

About one hundred and sixty were present, several coming from Sawyerville to attend the supper, and to help the good cause.

The supper was held at the home of Messrs. Hollis and Ralph Cairns and consisted of baked beans, salads, cold meat, jellies, and sweets of all descriptions.

After all had been served to supper, those present adjourned to the United Church, where the entertainment took place and was as follows: chorus choir, "Hear the Joy Bells Ring"; recitation, Desmond and Crescent Bain; song, "Little Brown Church"; dialogue, Miss Verda and Master Curtis; recitation, Walter Waldron; song, Rev. Mr. Knowles; recitation, Alton Waldron; chorus choir, "Onward and Upward"; recitation, Ruth Stoddard; chorus Young Men, "Carry Me Back". At the intermission the Pastor, Rev. Mr. Knowles, expressed his great pleasure at seeing such a good number out that evening and thanked one and all for the generous help given in every way and especially Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Cairns and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cairns for opening their house for the supper; Mrs. Ray Waldron for taking charge of the splendid entertainment and everybody in general for making it such a success. Pageant, chorus choir, "We Plough the Fields", followed by God Save the King.

The total proceeds amounted to $62.75. Much credit is due the Young People for their efforts in making it such a success.

E. T. BOY MAKES NAME FOR SELF IN VANCOUVER

Robert J. Crombie, a Former Scotstown Boy, One of Vancouver's Most Prominent Men—Believes in Keeping Trade Within British Empire.

Local readers will be interested in the following item which was copied from a Western paper.

"Bob" Crombie was born in Scots-town, spending his boyhood years here. One of the local residents who has recently returned from a trip to Vancouver and other Western points, was privileged to visit Mr. Crombie in his home.

At one time he was an ardent news boy of the Sherbrooke Daily Record.

On the North Pacific coast they are developing some worthwhile men as well as a great province. Vancouver is just new enough not to be hobbled by the "native son" bogey. If you have vision, if you are going somewhere, if you speak the language of success—these are the only hall marks of genius Vancouver recognizes.

And here is where Robert J. Crombie shines. He would rather be called "Bob", and when we fellows came out of Toronto to a quarter of a century ago and ran into this tall, athletic youngster in the Red River valley trying to make money as a railroad contractor in a small way, he was just that—"Bob".

Then Crombie saw the possibilities of the Pacific coast province, and with such other Canadian products as Stewart Cameron, Hector Stewart and Walter Nichol, plunged into the maelstrom that was and is, Vancouver. These men have the money-sense, all of them, but are not "money grubbers".

For instance, Crombie is a human dynamo but he will neglect a deal involving millions any time to listen to a new theory of "food chemistry". When Luther Burbank began to develop into the plant life wizard of the world, Bob Crombie found time to go down and spend a week knocking around with him. He wanted to know the secret of plant life, for, as he says, it is closely akin to higher animal life.

That his success in big business has not caused Crombie to lose the common touch was illustrated recently when at his own expense he employed a world-famous expert on "Health and balanced rations", had him come to Vancouver and deliver free lectures for a week. And he follows his hobby in a very practical way. About an hour before lunch in his newspaper office and other industries he controls, a man passes among the desks with baskets of raisins, apples, oranges, or other fresh fruit. Every one is at liberty to take some of it, the more the better Crombie likes it. They don't eat so much when they do get out to lunch, and Crombie says they think faster as a result. That's where he cashes in on the investment, in addition to the joy of seeing athletic bodies developed among the people with whom he is associated.

Just not to merely show what he is an athlete but because he loves it, Bob Crombie jumps into the ocean at Jericho Club any time the ice is not in the way and swims out across the bay. And occasionally he goes without food for a week or two. He says he not only feels better for this strenuous stuff, but can actually do more work and think faster when he fasts for fifteen or twenty days.

It was this extraordinary man's idea of binding with bonds of trade, Toronto and Vancouver that resulted in the scheme being tried of ships operating direct from the two ports. He says he can't see why British Columbia ports should not support traffic with Toronto and Montreal by rail and sea, as well as the business the Americans are building up between the east and west coasts.

That's Crombie, always alert, always with the vision of tomorrow. His newspapers are always sounding this optimistic note. He heard one day of American steel magnates from Pittsburgh nosing around Calgary and Edmonton for contracts for the Spillers and other big industrial projects. It was out of his line, but it gave him an idea. The net result of the propaganda that he spread was that Scotch machinery and steel fabrications from the United Kingdom were loaded into ships and brought to Vancouver, shipped back over the mountains and laid down at Calgary and Edmonton for a dollar a ton cheaper than could be accomplished by the energetic American captains of industry.

That's Crombie's way. "Keep it in the Empire. Keep it in Canada if possible, but anyway, keep it in that part of the map that shows all red." Though still around the forty mark, Bob Crombie is old enough to have witnessed the enormous development of the Oriental ocean traffic with Vancouver port. He saw Robert Dollar start his round the world ships and has seen the shipping genius open a new world for the export of Canada, the fabricated factory products as well as fruit from Ontario and southern British Columbia.

"I can't see one part of the Dominion prospering without I appreciate the value to all the rest of the country in that fact", he says. "What benefits one part of Canada indirectly benefits the whole. We are developing the north Pacific coast with money and brains from Toronto and Montreal, and thus is completed the endless chain when we buy cargoes from eastern Canada, and in turn send them our minerals and lumber. That's what makes a nation, the big family unit stuff."

It is this note of national optimism that Bob Crombie never tires of sounding, in his papers, or in a personal way.

THE INDISPENSABLE HUSBAND

(By MILDRED BARBOUR)

"I'm frightfully in awe of Dr. Gilbert," she confessed

SYNOPSIS

Aileen Greer, determined to live her life in her own way, maintains, despite the disapproval of her grandfather, a luxurious studio in Greenwich Village, New York, where she is hostess to a bohemian circle which makes her home a rendezvous.

In the midst of a tea, she is called to her grandfather's sick bed.

He tells her that he will find a way to compel her to live more conservatively. A month later he dies. His will decrees that she is not to receive any income from his estate unless she marries and has a child.

Aileen decides to marry one of the three men who frequent her studio: Dave Carter, a reporter; or Champan, an American masquerading as a Venetian musician; or Robert Dunstan, a man-about-town.

Aileen leads Dunstan to a proposal and then tells him the terms of her grandfather's will. He expresses sympathy and leaves. Champan tells her that marriage is not for him. Carter still remains a prospect.

—but he refuses to be a party to a "marriage of convenience," although he tells her he loves her.

Forced to economize, Aileen soon finds herself deserted by her bohemian circle.

She determines to go abroad. On board ship, her attention is drawn to a mother and her baby in the steerage.

Finding that the mother is widowed and penniless, Aileen offers to adopt the child.

The woman consents and Aileen feels she has gained ground in her plan to obtain her inheritance despite the actual conditions of the will.

Several embarrassing experiences arising from the possession of the child while she continues to be known as Miss Greer, stimulate Aileen's determination to find a husband.

Failing to find a man who will lend himself to her plans, Aileen decides to invent a husband.

In a list of military dead, she finds the name of Major Maurice Dubois, unmarried, and decides that she will be known as Madame Dubois.

To perfect the details of the story of her "marriage," which she is to tell the executor of her grandfather's estate, Aileen visits the village near the late home of the deceased Major.

There she meets another Maurice Dubois, the nephew of the late major. His manner indicates that he knew of an acquaintanceship between herself and the major. Aileen realizes that he has taken her for another, but is too puzzled and afraid to confess her subterfuge.

Young Dubois asks Aileen to marry him, saying that she will understand the reason for the proposal, and adding while she must live at Beau Reve, she will see little of him since he will continue to live in his bachelor quarters in the tower. Aileen realizes that here is the marriage of convenience for which she has hoped, and consents.

They are married and Aileen takes up her residence in stately, beautiful Beau Reve.

Aileen's first callers are Dr. Gilbert and his American wife, whose home adjoins Beau Reve.

She is puzzled by their manner toward her, and feels a dislike for the doctor.

On a visit to the stables, Aileen sees Tempeste, the late Major Dubois' horse, and is told that the animal caused the death of his master by throwing him. The fall resulted in the opening of a wound sustained in the war.

The Gilberts ask Aileen and Dubois to dine with them.

Aileen learns that her husband's mother was an American.

Pierre, a groom, tells Aileen that he suspects foul play in the accident which caused the death of Major Dubois. He says that a cruel bit such as the Major would never have used, was found on Tempeste's bridle, and that he is convinced, although no one agrees with him, that some one changed bits to make the horse unmanageable in hope of causing an accident. Aileen's suspicions are fixed on young Dubois since she believes he would be the only person to profit by his uncle's death.

Aileen suddenly realizes that Baby Maurice bears a startling resemblance to young Dubois. Her conclusion is that he is the child's father and that he married her to gain possession of the child.

In a remote part of the woods about Beau Reve, Aileen finds a rough log cottage, vacant and unlocked, and luxuriously furnished.

She is convinced that the cottage is used by her husband and wonders who meets him there. Her suspicions fix upon Madeline Gilbert, whose restrained manner, Aileen feels, means dislike for her.

She is still more puzzled when she finds a picture of Violet Strange Benoit, the girl who called herself Baby Maurice's mother, in a book in the Dubois library. She shows the photograph to her husband, who gives no sign of recognition.

CHAPTER XXXVII.

Fresh Food for Suspicion.

"Could you manage to lunch at the Gilberts tomorrow and spend the afternoon with Madeline?" Dubois asked Aileen one evening while they dined together. "She's not very well and it must be quite lonely for her. There are no neighbors except us, you see."

Aileen agreed promptly. "I had no idea she was ill, though I haven't seen her for several days. Why didn't she send me word?"

He hesitated and Aileen, lifting her gaze, said calmly: "She doesn't really like me, does she?"

"On the contrary," he replied quietly, "she told me that she was becoming very fond of you."

Aileen shrugged her slim, white shoulders. She knew quite well that something like an invisible veil hung between herself and Madeline Gilbert. Until it was thrust away—if it ever should be—there was no real confidence, no bond of friendship.

On the following day after Dubois drove her to the Gilberts. She found Madeline, looking very lovely but rather wan, on a couch before the fire.

"How sweet of you to come," she drew Aileen down to her and, for the first time, brushed her lips against Aileen's cheek. Her greeting was warmly cordial, but Aileen was startled at the chill of her lips.

She looked at Mrs. Gilbert anxiously. "Why didn't you send for me? I'd no idea you were ill."

"It's nothing!" Mrs. Gilbert declared with a smile and a shrug. "Probably only nerves, though Louis says," she added slowly, "that I really should have an operation."

"Oh my dear, I'm so sorry," Aileen exclaimed.

To her surprise, Madeline laughed a little harshly and then, quickly extended her hand toward Aileen.

"Forgive me. I wasn't so rude as to laugh at your sympathy. I was laughing at something quite different, something I was reminded of about Louis. Now, would you mind very much passing me my workbasket and I'll manage a bit of embroidery while we gossip."

Aileen brought the frivolous, little satin-covered receptacle and seated herself on a low stool beside Madeline's couch.

"I'm frightfully in awe of Dr. Gilbert," she confessed, not entirely truthfully. "He looks very stern and professional, when he's not smiling."

"He's a very unusual man," his wife murmured with a slight smile. "I lost my head completely the first time I ever laid eyes on him."

She bent over her embroidery frame and though Aileen waited for a further confidence, none was forthcoming.

"You have a very remarkable husband yourself," Mrs. Gilbert said at last, lifting a calm gaze to her guest.

"Yes," Aileen murmured assent, looking into the fire, with averted

Mr. Kenneth MacAulay, of Duds-well, was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Angus MacLennan.

Miss Aileen Nicholson, of Sherbrooke, spent the week-end and eyes.

"His uncle was tremendously fond of him," Madeline continued, "and very proud of him, too. Young Maurice distinguished himself in the war. He was an ace, you know. Has he never shown you his decorations from four governments?"

Aileen shook her head. "That's like him," Mrs. Gilbert sighed. "Maurice is a perpetual puzzle. One never knows what he has done, nor exactly what he thinks. Perhaps that is what makes him so attractive."

Aileen agreed silently. "He means to go to Morocco soon," she said abruptly.

Curious enough, Mrs. Gilbert expressed no surprise at this flagrant desertion of a bride.

"He had intended to go after leaving Germany, but Major Dubois' death kept him here. There was so much to put in order," She sighed, looking at Aileen for a moment, and added slowly, "and as you know, it's only tentatively settled yet."

"Really?" Aileen lifted puzzled brows.

"Oh!" said Madeline, and added quickly: "It's all very puzzling to me these matters of wills. But it seems that Major Dubois, in his original will, divided his estate between Maurice and my husband, who has been almost his lifelong friend. But later, he revoked that will, saying that a new one had been drawn up, with a letter of explanation for certain radical changes, and that both the will and the letter would be produced at his death by a trustworthy person, in accordance with orders he would give on his death-bed. Wasn't that curious? Apparently he never entertained the idea that he might die suddenly. He attempted to tell Maurice something, but it was too late."

"Then the new will was never found?" Aileen asked.

"Never! The search proved fruitless. Neither the will, nor the letter, was found. So Maurice and my husband divided the estate tentatively with the agreement that if the latter will were ever found, there would be a redivision. Louis claimed this house, among other properties. He knew that Major Dubois had always wanted him to have it."

Aileen was thoughtful. She had had some personal experience with strange wills. She was thinking to what lengths the dead go to tangle up the future of the living.

But gradually the significance of what Madeline Gilbert had revealed gripped her.

She saw suddenly two motives for someone wishing Major Dubois out of the way. But she uttered that "someone's" name only to herself.

"When Winter Comes,"

In winter, Lifebuoy, the all-year-round soap for hands and face, bath and shampoo, is especially good because:

It does not remove those natural oils which are necessary to skin health.

Its mild, creamy, antiseptic lather goes deep into the pores, cleansing and purifying.

It rids the hands and face of cold germs which, getting into the nose and mouth, would cause colds—real protection against winter's worst ills.

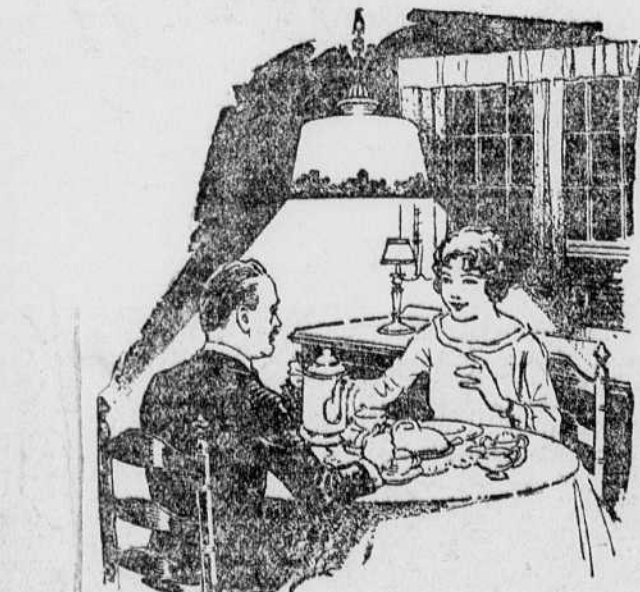

Lifebuoy, the ultra-refined, world's most widely used soap, is an inexpensive protective necessity.

GENERAL CROP CONDITIONS FOR OCTOBER GOOD

Vegetables, Root Crops and Potatoes Excellent in Lower St. Lawrence District—Quebec District Crops Better Than 1925—Crops in Montreal District Suffer—General Yield Good and Superior to That of Last Year in Eastern Townships—Northern District of Province Suffers from Cold.

QUEBEC, November 17.—Here-with is given a final statement respecting the crops, according to reports furnished to the Bureau of Statistics by the official agronomists.

Lower St. Lawrence.—In spite of the late seeding due to the cold and almost continuous rain of the spring, the crops in general have been more satisfactory than had been expected. The yield of hay is equal to that of last year in quantity but superior in quality. Of the cereals, oats suffered damage from rust and delayed ripening causing the yield to be from 10 to 15 per cent lower than that of 1925. Vegetables, root plants and especially potatoes, yielded a larger crop than last year. The total yield of the crops in general, in 1926, is 90 per cent of that of 1925.

Quebec District.—The delayed seeding, cold, rain and the shortness of the period of vegetation as well as the difficult harvesting due to heavy rains, were the principal causes that contributed to making the general yield for 1926 inferior to that of 1925 by 10 to 15 per cent. Reports from the counties of Champlain and Richmond however, show a slight increase over 1925. Hay, as plentiful as last year, is of superior quality. Vegetables, root plants and potatoes yielded a good crop in spite of damage of frost from 10 to 40 per cent due to rotting of the latter. Cereals seem to have been considerably harmed by rust and insufficient ripening. Rain and intermittent frost spoilt the pastures to some extent in certain places.

Montreal District.—As elsewhere in the Province, seeding was delayed by rain, cold and a late spring. Oats and wheat suffered from 15 to 40 per cent damage due to rust and smut. Buckwheat and Indian corn suffered damage of 10 to 20 per cent, owing to heavy rain and lack of sunshine. Potatoes, in land rich in clay, suffered from decay causing the yield to be diminished by 10 to 20 per cent. Rain, cold and frost were also the cause of the reduction of the vegetable crop. The hay harvest was carried out under excellent conditions and the quantity yielded is normal. The general crop yielded by land under cultivation shows a decrease varying from 5 to 20 per cent, compared to last year.

Eastern Townships.—The general yield is good and slightly superior to that of last year, especially is this true of root plants and potatoes. However, in a few localities, a reduction of 10 to 30 per cent in the potato crop is apparent due to rotting and white worms. The cereal harvest was not damaged and is superior to that of 1925. Hay was harvested under good conditions.

Northern District of the Province.—This part of the Province suffered the most damage to the crops, especially in the northeastern section. All cereals were damaged; oats from 20 to 60 per cent by rust, rain

NEGOTIATIONS RE TANGIER TO OPEN NEXT YEAR

Effort to Be Made to Satisfy Italy and Spain—Larger Share in Tangier Regime Likely to Be Accorded Latin Countries.

(Associated Press Despatch) PARIS, November 17.—Negotiations on Spain's demands concerning Tangier will begin early next year, it was revealed in diplomatic quarters today, the method of procedure having been agreed upon by all the parties interested. The Italians have finally accepted the method proposed by Great Britain and France.

There will be no conference, but all negotiations will be conducted through regular diplomatic channels. This, it is understood in French circles, is to limit the concessions that can be made to Spain.

Both Spain and Italy will probably be given a little more prominent share in the international administration of Tangier.

Spain, on August 26th, formally demanded the inclusion of Tangier in the Spanish zone of Morocco. Both France and Great Britain let it be known that no such concession was possible, and the demand was withdrawn early in September. In her second note, Spain proposed conversations to discuss the admission of Italy by revision of the statutes, laid down in the pact of Algiers, under which Tangier is internationally governed.

RUMORED COL. BIGGAR WILL RESIGN OFFICE

Reported that Chief Electoral Officer Plans to Resume Legal Practice in Near Future.

(Canadian Press Despatch) OTTAWA, Nov. 17.—There is a report here that Col. O. M. Biggar, chief electoral officer for Canada, had submitted his resignation from that position to the Government, and official announcement to that effect will be made soon after Premier King returns from the Imperial Conference. The report is that Col. Biggar is to accept a position with a big financial firm. The salary of chief electoral officer is $12,000 a year, and Col. Biggar was appointed to that position in 1920.

When asked about the rumor yesterday afternoon Col. Biggar made it clear that he had not resigned. "I have been considering the possibility of returning to general practice at the Bar," he said, "but the matter is in the hands of Parliament. No decision can be reached until Parliament meets."

Col. Biggar, as chief electoral officer, was appointed by statute and is responsible to Parliament and not to the Government. The statute specifically states that during his term as electoral officer he must confine himself to "the public services." Between election periods Col. Biggar has been working on Government legal work.

STEAMER WAS BEACHED NEAR QUEBEC TODAY

Dominion Coal Company Steamer Hochelaga Met Difficulty About Forty-Eight Miles Below Quebec—Collision Between Two Other Vessels Was Cause.

(Canadian Press Despatch) QUEBEC, Nov. 17.—The Dominion Coal Company steamer, Hochelaga, plying between Montreal and Sydney, N.S., is beached at Chaudière, about forty-eight miles below Quebec, as the result of a collision between the colliery and the French-owned freighter, Leopold L. D. about four o'clock this morning. The Leopold L. D. is proceeding to this port under her own steam. So far no casualties have been reported.

Advices from the scene of the collision are meagre, but it is reported that the Hochelaga has sustained considerable damage. First reports were that the colliery was sinking by the bow and that the Leopold L. D. with her own hull badly smashed, was standing by.

The Canadian Government steamers, Druid and Lord Strathcona, were rushed to the assistance of the Hochelaga this morning.

The crash occurred in heavy weather, the whole gulf being swept by a gale last night and this morning.

The Milling Industry in Canada

The Milling Industry is one of the basic industries upon which the prosperity of Canada depends.

The flour milling industry has always occupied a foremost position in Canada. In the matter of the value of annual production it has ranked at the very top of the list of the leading industries, except in occasional years.

From the very modest early beginnings, when the miller aimed to supply local needs exclusively, the industry has now grown to enormous proportions, involving not only a large domestic trade, but supporting, in addition, a huge export trade.

Canadian mills made new records of production during the war. These records have been considerably surpassed. The export trade in 1925 was ten times the volume in 1901, less than twenty-five years previously. Today, Canada stands pre-eminent in the world in per capita exports of flour. In 1925, she stood second only to the United States in the number of barrels exported.

HOCKEY SEASON
GOT UNDER WAY
LAST EVENING

New York Rangers, Boston and New York Americans Chalked Up Victories.

(Canadian Press Despatch)
MONTREAL, Nov. 17.—Canadian hockey teams fared not well in the opening games of the National Hockey League last night. The world champion Montreal Maroons lost to the New York Rangers by a lone goal scored in the second period; Canadiens went under to a rugged Boston offensive by 4 to 1, while in the all-United States game at Pittsburgh the Pirates lost to the New York Americans by a single counter. The hockey form generally was decidedly early season and play was rough. Numerous penalties were handed out, and in New York Bill Phillips, of the Maroons, and Frank Boucher, of the Rangers, drew major penalties and fines of fifteen dollars each for fistfuffs in the last frame. Boucher was cut about the head, Nels Stewart, of the Maroons, himself drew four minors.

The western make-up of the Rangers made a good impression and their victory was conceded to be well-earned. Maroons were below their last year form and Benedict was forced to play sensationally. The one counter was made by Bill Cook on a pass from his brother, Bunny. Benedict was injured but continued after repairs. Johnson, of the Ranger defence, had to have four stitches over his left eye to close a cut received in the first stanza.

Canadiens and Bruins fought under summer conditions, sweltering in the mild weather. The reconstructed Habitants did not show the form of the dangerous Bostonians. Howie Morenz played his usual star game for the Montrealers, scoring their only goal on a brilliant end to end rush in which he fooled the Boston defence. He did not have the best of support. The warm weather told on the visitors. Mantha got four minors. Carson Cooper scored twice for Boston and Percy Galbraith the other.

Bouchard, Americans' substitute, clinched the game for his team against Pittsburgh, scoring in the first period.

TORONTO PLAY CHICAGO TONIGHT
(Associated Press Despatch)
NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The two New York sextettes and the Boston Bruins celebrated the inaugural games of the 1926-27 professional hockey season in the United States by scoring victories in last night's National Hockey League games. The New Yorkers each shut out their opponents by a score of 1 to 0, the Rangers defeating the world's champion Montreal Maroons and the Americans downing the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Boston Bruins outscored Montreal Canadiens by 4 to 1. They were inter-sectional contests.

The Toronto St. Pats will make their season's debut at Chicago tonight when they will tackle the Chicago Blackbirds in another inter-sectional game. The New York Montreal affair was one of the roughest ever staged on New York ice, eighteen penalties being handed out, including two majors. The Maroons were the worst offenders, their players being chained up eleven times. Phillips, Maroon sub, and Frank Boucher, Rangers' centre player, put on a hickory duel in the final period and drew a major each. In addition, fifteen dollars will be deducted from their next salary cheque as a fine. Boucher left the ice with a gash in his neck.

Bill Cook registered the Rangers' lone goal on a pass from his brother Bunny after nearly nineteen minutes in the second period. The Maroon defence had been tricked out into the open and there was no one between Cook and the goalie. Benedict, in flopping down to block Cook's contemplated shot, hit his head against the iron upright of the net, and he immediately left the ice to have a gash in his scalp attended to.

The Maroons showed none of the form that carried them to the championship last season and at times the speedy Rangers were skating rings around them. The scoring would have been much heavier but for the excellent work of Benedict and Winkler in the nets.

The Americans scored their goal against Pittsburgh just before the first period ended when New York after many futile attempts finally penetrated the Pirate defence.

A scrimmage in front of the net ensued that caught Goaltender Worsters unawares and the puck went through his legs propelled by Bouchard. The score came on a rebound from Billy Burch after eighteen minutes and forty-five seconds.

In the contest marred somewhat by playing conditions which included unavoidably soft ice and a sticky atmosphere, the Bruins swept through their opponents for two goals each in the second and third periods, while the Canadiens were able only to get over a lone tally in the second.

Eight thousand fans were treated to plenty of action, however, and what the teams lacked in smooth combination play was amply made up by individual exertion. The Boston team showed greater defensive ability than a year ago, while the Canadiens did not look as formidable as they have. Aurel Joliat seemed to lack speed but Morenz was as colorful as ever.

"Howie" was responsible for the only score made by his team while Carson Cooper scored three of Boston's points and Galbraith, a newcomer, from the west, the fourth. Rough tactics drew twelve penalties during the game with Mantha, of Canadiens, topping the infraction list with four. Three of Boston's goals were scored while he was off the ice.

HOCKEY MEETING AT Y.M.C.A. TONIGHT
A meeting of all those interested in the formation of a juvenile, bantam and midget hockey league in the city will be held this evening in the Y.M.C.A. at eight o'clock.

2ND TROOP BOY SCOUTS WIN FROM PIRATES

The 2nd Troop Boy Scouts won their second basketball game of the season at the 33rd Armory last evening, when they defeated the strong Pirate quintette by a score of 13 to 4.

The game was very fast throughout and was noted for the splendid combination plays of both teams. The Scouts were handicapped by having only five men, who were forced to play the entire game without a rest.

Stocks and Jones were the stars on the Pirates' line-up, the former scoring the total points secured by his team. Every man on the Scouts' team showed up well.

The game was very efficiently handled by C. Stocks and J. Blue. Scorekeeper, N. Welsh; timekeeper, C. Blake and H. Bench.

The line up of the teams were as follows:
Scouts: Brownlow right forward, Mariasine left forward, Price centre, Gardiner right defense, Sjolander left defense, Jones sub, sub A. Armitage.

WAMBAGANSS RELEASED BY PHILADELPHIA

(Associated Press Despatch)
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 17.—William Wambagans, veteran infielder, has been given his unconditional release by Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics. Wambagans came to the Athletics after the close of the 1925 season from the Boston Americans. He has the unique distinction of being the only player to make an unassisted triple in a world's series, accomplishing the feat as a member of the Cleveland team against the Brooklyn Nationals in 1920.

SPORTING NOTES

REJECTED PROPOSALS FOR INVASION OF FOREIGN ATHLETES

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 17.—The Amateur Athletic Union at its annual convention here yesterday, rejected all proposals for the invasion of this country by foreign athletes, as well as trips abroad by United States stars during the coming year. This bars a prospective return visit by Paavo Nurmi, the Finnish runner.

"It says in this article that before beheading a man the Chinese make him drunk."
"That's a good idea. A man can get intoxicated without having a head on him the next morning."
