THE THAW TRIAL

Will be Resumed on Monday, When Mr. Delmas will Address the Jury.

New York, April 5—The trial of Harry K. Thaw will proceed on Monday morning, when Delphin M. Delmas, leading counsel for the defense, will begin his summing up to the jury. District Attorney Jerome decided late to-day not to appeal to the appellate division of the Court of Appeals for a writ of prohibition or mandamus to halt the trial. He reached this decision after a consultation with eminent counsel. Mr. Jerome may argue briefly on Monday morning against the confirmation of the report of the lunacy commission, which declared Thaw to be sane, but he is aware that Justice Fitzgerald's disposition is to confirm the report which was unanimous. The District Attorney has many witnesses still under subpoena, but it is said he has decided not to call them and that he will press the trial forward to an early verdict, or what is regarded more likely, a disagreement of the jury.

When Justice Fitzgerald declined yesterday to grant to District Attorney Jerome access to the minutes of the lunacy commission, Mr. Jerome threatened to carry the matter to the appellate division on the ground that he was excluded from the final examination of Thaw by the commission. He said that he was willing to waive the right to be present, but that this was with the understanding that he be allowed to have possession of the testimony. He had promised the commission, he said, not to use this testimony against the prisoner in any way at this trial.

Immediately after yesterday's adjournment Mr. Jerome set about seeking precedents upon which to base his application to the higher court. He was at his office again early to-day and then went to the appellate division building. Instead of applying for a stay of trial, however, he sought counsel among his judicial friends, and it is said to have been upon their advice that he reconsidered his determination to press the matter.

Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton was on the stand as a witness for the defense when the trial proper was halted more than two weeks ago. In order that the record may be kept straight, he will probably be recalled Monday morning, although he may not be permitted to testify.

It was stipulated in court some weeks ago that each side should have one day for summing up. It was learned to-night, however, that Mr. Delmas may speak for two entire days. If he wishes this time it undoubtedly will be granted him. District Attorney Jerome has said that his summing up will not require more than three or four hours. He has expressed a desire to be permitted to make his argument without any sort of interruption even for luncheon or for adjournment. He will ask the jury to convict Thaw of murder in the first degree. No reference will be made by or be allowed to either side as to the appointment of the lunacy commission or the nature of its findings. Mr. Jerome will argue that Thaw was sane enough to know the nature and quality of his act when he killed Stanford White and to know that the act was wrong. This is the definition in this state of legal sanity. Regardless of his expressed personal conviction in the matter, Mr. Jerome told the court yesterday, that it would be his duty to press the prosecution of the defendant to the utmost.

On Monday the trial will enter its twelfth, and, it is confidently expressed, its final week. The long delays which have characterized the proceedings from the first have imposed upon the attorneys who are to sum up, the extra task of making a resume of the testimony so as to freshen the memory of the jurors who for two weeks will have been out of touch with the trial. It is thought that a verdict may be reached on Thursday.

FIRE AT McGILL

Macdonald Engineering Building Totally Destroyed, Causing Great Loss.

Montreal, April 5.—McGill University suffered the greatest loss in its history early this morning by the destruction of the MacDonald engineering building a gift of Sir William MacDonald. The building was one of the finest equipped engineering departments on the continent and was erected and equipped at a cost of nearly a million dollars. The fire broke out about 3 o'clock from some unknown cause and before the fire department reached the scene the building was completely enwrapped in flames. It was early seen that nothing could be saved and the firemen directed their attention to keeping the fire away from the other buildings. The building was completely destroyed with all contents. It was opened by Lord Stanley 13 years ago. The insurance on the building amounts to $125,000, but the loss will far exceed this amount. Many famous treasures were lost including famous Renleaux collection of Kinematic models, considered the finest in America. Dean Bovie, of McGill, at noon to-day issued an official statement to the effect that on account of inability to replace certain collections that were kept in the engineering building, the total loss will exceed three quarters of a million.

The latest estimate of the loss by the destruction of the MacDonald engineering building of McGill University, is $600,000. The insurance on the engineering building is distributed as follows:—Aetna, $6,400; Alliance, $4,800; Atlas, $6,400; Caledonian, $22,400; Commercial Union, $9,600; Guardian, $9,600; Hartford, $16,000; Home, $19,200; Liverpool and London Globe, $28,000; London and Lancashire, $6,400; North America, $4,800; North British and Mercantile, $22,400; Northern, $22,400; Norwich Union, $6,000; Phoenix, of Hartford, $6,400; Phoenix of London, $41,600; Queens, $12,800; Royal, $18,000; Sun, $6,000 Union, $9,600; Western, $9,600. Total, $320,000.

TROOPS CALLED OUT

Lorain, O., April 5.—With the members of Company B, Ohio National Guards, under orders and sleeping in the armory close to the seat of trouble, and three companies of Cleveland troops ready to respond to a call here at any moment, quiet prevails to-night at the yards of the American Ship Building Co., the scene of rioting for two days past. The troops are under orders to respond to the call of the mayor who has also sworn in a large force of special deputies who are co-operating with the police and company detectives. Another train load of strike-breakers, numbering about 200, arrived this evening. The men were escorted into the yards under cover of the weapons of detectives and special deputies. The strikers witnessed this without any offer of violence. Hundreds of cots and mattresses were removed from the freight depots into the ship yards late to-day.

STEAMER BURNED

All the Passengers and Crew Saved—Thirteen Horses Lost.

Dobb's Ferry, N.Y., April 5.—The steamer City of Troy, of the Citizens' Line, was burned to the waters edge here to-night. All the passengers, some sixty-five in number, were landed safely. The steamer was destroyed with its cargo of freight and thirteen horses. Edwin Gould's dock, to which the City of Troy tied up when it was found impossible to control the flames, was also destroyed. The City of Troy left New York at 6 o'clock to-night bound up the river for Albany and Troy. The fire was discovered at about 8 o'clock when she was about eight miles below Dobb's Ferry. It broke out in the hold amidships and rapidly gained headway. The crew fought the flames for some time before the boat was turned shoreward, but when it was seen they could not control them the captain turned his boat for Dobb's Ferry. When she tied up at the Gould dock, the fire had gained such headway that little attempt was made to extinguish it, and every effort was bent toward landing the passengers successfully. When it was thought that everyone had been landed safely, it was discovered that a woman passenger was asleep in her berth, and two Dobb's Ferry firemen, Alfred Smith and Robert Wilson, rushed into the burning boat and carried the woman safely ashore. An effort was made to rescue a number of horses on board but the flames had gained such headway that it was found impossible to reach them and they perished. The dock to which the City of Troy tied up caught fire and was destroyed. The passengers from the City of Troy returned to New York on the 11.30 train.

A DEADLY TORNADO

Many Persons Killed while the Number of Injured is Large.

New Orleans, April 5—A score of persons were killed to-day by a tornado which swept for 300 miles across portions of Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. Parts of four towns were devastated with damage exceeding $500,000. The wind caused loss of property, crops and telegraph wires. The tornado began at Alexandria, Ala., soon after 1 o'clock this morning killing four persons there, probably fatally injuring three and seriously injuring 13 others. Soon after daylight it neared the Mississippi river, killing 5 persons at Jackson, La. At Bayou Sara, La., at least a half dozen others were killed, it is reported. One person was fatally hurt at Jackson. The tornado next appeared at Carson, Miss., where great damage to property was done, and disappeared about noon near Selma, Ala., where the inhabitants saw whirling clouds rise into the air as they crossed the river. A negro, it is reported, was killed near Selma.

Alexandria, a town of about 16,000 inhabitants, had a fearful experience. When the tornado struck the place the electric lights went out. The cracking of falling buildings could be heard above the noise of the wind, and vivid flashes of lightning showed such sights as an empty iron mountain passenger train rolling over and over. Immediately after the wind spent its violence a heavy hail storm added to the general discomfort. The main portion of Alexandria escaped the worst of the tornado which cut a path through the northern part of the town, a residence quarter. About a score of homes were demolished, fifty were damaged and altogether about 100 buildings were wrecked, including several business houses. The iron mountain railroad lost its round house. The wind drove a small section of a house into an empty passenger coach, wedging the two objects almost inextricably together. In the woods about the town, the tornado cut down trees and small cabins in a narrow line about nine miles long. Several houses were blown down at Pineville, and injuries to persons are reported. The hail did much damage to crops. At daylight Alexandria began clearing debris. The damage is estimated at $200,000.

At Jackson, La., the insane asylum was wrecked with a loss of about $200,000. Three female inmates and many other persons were injured. Mrs. Seach Lea's residence was blown down, and her daughter Mary was seriously injured. Two negroes were killed on a nearby plantation, while reports from the surrounding country indicate that there was probably more loss of life among negroes whose flimsy cabins tumbled on the heads of the occupants.

At Bayou Sara several passengers on the steamer Bettsy Anna had a thrilling escape. The vessel was severely damaged. While timbers from the steamer and from the shore flew through the air the crew got all the passengers safely ashore. The first mate had an arm broken and almost all the rest of the crew suffered painful bruises.

At Carson, Miss., the Mississippi Central Railroad depot was blown down, also a church, a school house, two business buildings and several cabins. Here the tornado's path was only 200 yards wide. From Carson the storm crossed the State line into Alabama where it began to lose much of its destructive power.

Peculiar weather conditions prevailed all day throughout Louisiana and Mississippi. Rains were followed by clear skies and gusts of wind were incessant. Details are arriving slowly as many wires are down.

IN THE PARLIAMENT OF THE DOMINION

Compulsory Withdrawal of Inspector-General of Militia

N. ATLANTIC TRADING CO.

Mr. Monk's Motion That Mr. Beddoe Be Called to the Bar of the Commons Defeated.

Ottawa, Ontario, Thursday, April 4—Col. Sam Hughes—Asked the hon. the Finance Minister, leading the House, is the rumor true that Lord Aylmer, inspector-general of the militia, has been retired to-day, and, if so, for what cause, or upon what grounds? Mr. Fielding replied that his understanding was that Lord Aylmer's term had expired, but he was not in a position to give any definite statement until to-morrow.

The sensation of the day is the announcement of the enforced retirement of Lord Aylmer from the position of inspector-general of militia. Lord Aylmer is still in the prime of life, and his compulsory withdrawal from the position comes as a great surprise. He will receive a pension of something over $4,000, and will be succeeded by Col. Vidal, who is at present on sick leave. Lt.-Col. Lessard will probably be appointed adjutant-general.

Before the orders of the day were called, Mr. F. D. Monk moved the motion of which he gave notice recently, to call Mr. C. H. Beddoe, accountant of the Interior Department, to the Bar of the House, for refusing to answer questions regarding the names of the agents of the North Atlantic Trading Co. and the names of the printers who were the recipients of some $16,000 worth of printing to further the propaganda of the company. Mr. Monk dealt at length with the proceedings before the Committee on Agriculture and Colonization, particularly on those portions of the evidence of Mr. Beddoe, when, after his visit to England and the Continent, he refused to divulge the information required. Mr. Monk argued that in the case of the Grand Trunk Pacific affair of $162,000, investigated in the Public Accounts Committee, the House had by its majority decided that no further investigation could be made, because no statements on the account, of the $162,000 had been made. The case in question was very different, and Mr. Monk contended that Mr. Beddoe should not be allowed to put at nought the will of Parliament.

Mr. Oliver in reply contended that the House had dealt with the North Atlantic Trading Co. matter. It was not a question of Mr. Beddoe's action, but the action of Parliament.

Dr. Sproule waxed eloquent on the subject of shutting off delicate questions by the Liberal majority and the Liberal chairman in the Committees of the House. The Doctor laid special stress on the manner in which Parliament had been paralyzed by the refusal of the Government's majorities in committees to permit certain questions to be asked in the Public Accounts Committee. He thought this was a scandal and disgrace. Parliament was degenerating into a sort of "Star Chamber" with regard to the closing of the doors on the criticism of how the money of the country was being spent. The question of Preston, Smart and Beddoe refusing to answer legitimate questions in Committee was becoming intolerable.

Mr. Miller (South Grey) attempted to defend the action of the Government in the matter of the North Atlantic Trading Co. and Mr. Armand Lavergne signified his intention of voting for Mr. Monk's motion.

He asked what Parliament was coming to when a witness refused to answer legitimate questions.

Mr. Bourassa claimed it was the right, of the whole people of Canada, to know the whole truth and nothing but the truth about the North Atlantic Trading Co., and similar concerns, and therefore he would vote for any motion with that object in view.

Mr. Foster claimed the North Atlantic Trading Co. was a pretty pickle of fish. He reviewed the whole circumstances of that contract between the North Atlantic Trading Co. and the Government. Mr. Foster declared that if the members were spared for another session it would be found that there would have to be a very different system in regard to getting out the facts of public interest in the Public Accounts Committee. Mr. Foster made a plea for more—a better tone of fair play in all respects, and particularly in regard to the Committees of the House.

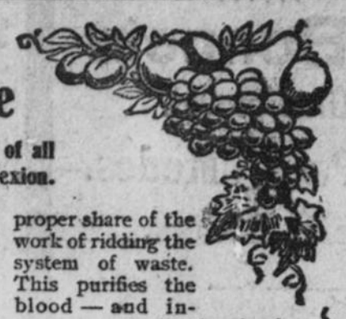

Mr. Carvell (Carleton, N.B.), spoke against Mr. Monk's motion.

Mr. Bennett (East Simcoe) called attention to the significant silence of members of the Government side of the House on this subject. He alluded to the expenditure of the Government upon immigration, and said it was for political purposes that the Northwest had been flooded with foreigners. The Government had sacrificed quality for quantity. The public were interested in this matter, and would want to know where and to whom this money went. He supported the motion.

Mr. Geoffrion (chairman of the Public Accounts Committee), who was not present when Dr. Sproule made the statements concerning him this morning, took up the charges made against him shortly after the House resumed after dinner. He had, he said, been accused of gross partisanship in connection with his duties as chairman of the Public accounts Committee, but he denied altogether any such suggestion. He understood the

THE LAURENTIDES NATIONAL PARK.

The answers to the questions put by Mr. Girard, M.P.P., in the last session of the Provincial Parliament prove beyond doubt that the Park which was originally established to aid in the protection and propagation of fish and game is nothing else than a sporting preserve for men who can afford to pay for the privileges of fishing and hunting within its limits; according to these answers 89 caribou were killed in the Park in 1905, and 95 in 1906, that is to say 184 caribou were killed in two seasons in the territory which was supposed to have been established for the protection of these abimals, instead of for their destruction. Besides the numbers reported as killed how many wounded have wandered away and died from their wounds? Probably as many more. In fact more caribou have been killed on this Government preserve than on all the fish and game clubs on the Lake St. John Railway during the past four seasons; it is moreover evident that this slaughter is to be increased as it is proposed to improve the park and provide further accommodation for sportsmen.

Now with respect to the beaver, why should they be molested if it is not for the benefit of sportsmen? This is admitted by the official report where it states :—"That owing to the damage done to hunting and fishing by reason of the beaver being so plentiful, and flooding the lakes with their dams, &c., &c." But the damage on the whole does not appear to have been great — in one area alone of the Park, the new, and as it is termed "The Barrens," 631 1-3 square miles, the hunting and fishing is very good—and again we find in the same report : "That the excellence of the hunting in the Great Barrens has attracted the attention of the Governor-General, and His Excellency purposes making a trip there next fall." Then what damage has the beaver done to the hunting—evidently not much in the "Great Barrens," wherever they may be.

It is now quite evident that the Park is not a game reserve where large and small game may multiply without molestation from either the licensed or unlicensed hunter as in the case of the Algonquin Park of Ontario, where hunting of all kinds is strictly prohibited, but lumbering is permitted, and the Toronto Globe, in an article published last week on that very question, advised the prohibiting of lumbering in what it terms "Ontario's Great National Reserve," on account "Of the injury in many ways of the game and fish; the providing of venison for their camps, and the injurious effects of the lumber mens' dams by the frequent drowning of young beaver in their houses."

The Park therefore is not a game reserve, but a hunting resort and far less game would be killed, and game better protected, if, as we have already stated in a former article, the Park was done away with, one part of the territory being leased to clubs, and the other reserved for the use of the public. There is no place to-day between Three Rivers and the Saguenay where a man can go off on his own account for a day or two fishing or shooting unless it belongs to a club, or obtains a license for which he must pay to go on the Park ground. In leasing a portion of the Park the Province will gain in revenue and be under no expense. By opening the other part during the open season to the public the people would simply be getting what they are entitled to. In New Brunswick the system of leasing to clubs does not exist to any extent, it at all, but the public have the right to go upon any forest lands, kill and take away game in open season. It is claimed that big game is part of the public domain, having been preserved by the large expenditure of public money — but we only ask that a small section of that domain be opened to the public.

THE FRUIT OF KNOWLEDGE.

When the question of the best means of settling the constant disputes between labor and capital was brought up in the House of Commons early in this session Mr. R. L. Borden moved for the appointment of a special committee to investigate the matter thoroughly, and report the result to Parliament. The motion was a reasonable one, involved no attack on the Government, and there could be but one cause assigned for its rejection, that of its needlessness. This was accordingly urged by the Minister of Labor, Hon. R. Lemieux, who stated in so many words that nobody could tell the Department what it did not know already, and that it was in need of neither information nor advice. Mr. Lemieux was listened to, and he brought in a bill which, on the theory of the departmental omniscience should have been faultless, and which was passed by Parliament and received the assent of the Governor-General. Then a strange and incredible thing happened. Scarcely had Mr. Lemieux' bill become law, when we heard of labor disputes springing up everywhere, in the far West, on the Great Lakes, in Toronto, in the Maritime Provinces, and with the accession of the Bell Telephone girls in Toronto, nobody seems to have taken the slightest notice of the Minister of Labor's bill, or evinced the slightest disposition to avail themselves of its provisions or to dread the penalties. A despatch from Halifax dated April 2 stated that the workmen at the Springhill coal mines, 1700 in number, would strike the next day to compel the non-union men who remain out to join the P.W.A. Lodges. During the past few weeks more than three hundred men had joined the union, but one hundred men refused to enroll, and it was to compel these to come in that a strike was resolved on at a meeting in which the vote stood three to one in favor of it. On the 4th April the Ottawa Free Press stated :

"The strike in the Nova Scotia coal mines seems to be going on in defiance of the Lemieux bill. The Minister of Labor telegraphed this morning pointing out that if an investigation was not asked for before a strike then the parties would be subject to the penalties of the bill."

This seems a little like locking the stable door after the horse is stolen. It certainly is a very original idea to notify striking miners that if they should strike without having previously complied with the conditions of Mr. Lemieux' bill they would be subject to its penalties. They have struck, and if Mr. Lemieux had the courage of his bill he would enforce it without any temporizing, and without making a not too plausible excuse that possibly the offenders did not know that it had become law. Whether they knew or not, it was their business to know, and such an excuse would not be accepted in any court of justice. But even if the strikers had invoked the intervention provided for, of what use would it have been? What could Mr. Lemieux' tribunal have suggested? For the question in dispute, (and the public which is the ultimate sufferer by these quarrels would do well to mark it,) was not a question of wages or of hours of work, but whether the union men should be permitted to tyrannize over the non-union men and deprive them of their freedom of action, whether after arguments had failed resort might be had to force. There could be no compromise about this; the Government tribunal must have decided in favor of one of the two parties; if against the union men they were at liberty to disregard its decision and to strike, if in favor of them an official definite pronouncement against the open shop would have been secured. Is it any wonder that the miners should ignore a law so fatuously ineffective.

But this is not all. On the same day that the Halifax despatch appeared in the Toronto Mail and Empire, there appeared in the columns of the same paper a despatch from Calgary, Alta., to the effect that the employes of the Canada West Coal & Coke Company had been locked out, and that a general strike of the Western miners was altogether probable. The Canada West Coal & Coke Company appears to have taken the initiative in a dispute between the Western miners and the Western Coal Operators' Association in which the grounds of the miners for complaint are thus stated :

"The miners, in an official statement, say the joint conference adjourned because the miners' delegates unanimously refused to instruct their officers to accept the final offer of the Western Coal Operators' Association on the grounds that the proposed contract sought to bind them to certain conditions harsher in their nature than any agreements now in existence. They say the increase of wages offered only applied to the drivers and others engaged in the transportation of coal underground in this province. They were refused an eight-hour day, as in British Columbia, and were offered no increase in wages for contract miners and day men underground." And the Coal & Coke Company has not waited to see if the dispute could be settled.

Thus we have a lock-out in the Western, and a strike in the Eastern coal mines occurring simultaneously, and without any regard to Mr. Lemieux' labor bill. Comment is needless.

PRESS OPINIONS.

CALMLY INDIFFERENT.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the Bryce dinner took occasion again to emphasize the fact that there is no disposition on the part of the Federal Administration to look to Washington for trade advantages. A study of the political forces in the United States at the present moment indicates that it would be futile to expect to break down the adamantine wall of protection that the dominant party has reared and which their opponents challenge but feebly. The energy of our administrators is sufficiently engrossed by the numerous problems which a rapidly-growing country presents without frittering it away on projects that appear so fruitless as the improvement of our trade relations with the United States.

Whatever interest is manifested among our neighbors in the subject is quite evidently excited by the prospect of fresh markets which the development of the West is opening up. The Eastern States found the exploitation of their own West a vastly profitable business, and would like to aid us in supplying the needs of ours. It may be said at once that we feel quite equal to the task ourselves. The advantages and possibilities of it are already recognized, and we can assure our American neighbors that we do not propose to admit them to a share of them on easy terms. The terms must be favorable to us in no small degree, and as we have never found our neighbors willing to make anything resembling an equal bargain it would be loss of time to even begin negotiating.

The Premier thoroughly interprets the attitude of the public mind. We are doing very well without the American markets, and while that is the case our feeling about reciprocity is one of calm indifference.—Toronto Globe.

SAVED MANY VICTIMS FROM WHITE PLAGUE

Stricken with Tuberculosis, This Physician

FIRST HEALED HIMSELF,

Then He Did Likewise to Others—Dr. Edward Trudeau's Experience and Work.

Dr. Edward Livingston Trudeau scarsely had entered upon the practice of his profession when he fell a victim of tuberculosis of the lungs. The disease progressed rapidly, and it seemed certain that he would soon succumb. Despite this, he has not only lived, but he has shown thousands of others how they can also live when stricken in the same way.

He was born in New York in 1848. His father, James Trudeau, has won fame as a physician and investigator, and the son became familiar with the study of medicine while he was still a boy. He was educated at the Lycee Bonaparte, in Paris, and at Columbia College, New York; in 1871 he was graduated from the New York College of Physicians and Surgeons.

A few days after his graduation he was married and almost immediately he settled down in New York as a physician. His ability was already known, and his outlook was especially bright. But his sign had been out only a few months when tuberculosis made its appearance in such an alarming form that there seemed to be no hope for him.

His medical friends shook their heads. None of them had known a case in which such advanced symptoms led to anything else than speedy death. Dr. Trudeau himself believed there was little hope, and as he was determined to die as cheerfully as possible, he went to the Adirondacks to spend a little time hunting before he was wholly incapacitated.

Saranac Lake, where he had decided to spend his last outing, was then deep in the wilderness, being more than forty miles from a railroad. Trudeau did not spend much time in hunting or fishing. From morning till night he wandered through the great pine forest, and as the days went by he found that the disease was making no progress.

When autumn came, he was even a little stronger, and he came to the conclusion that an autumn, or even a winter, in the woods could not harm him more than a return to the city. His friends were shocked on hearing of his determination. They wrote him urgent letters telling him that the rigors of an Adirondack winter meant certain death. Two of them even went to Saranac Lake to bring him back, for they had decided that as he was to die he should die surrounded by all the cumbersome machinery of civilized comfort.

Their arguments did not move him in the least. He had left the city depressed and disconsolate. In the open he could at least be happy, and there had gradually grown in him the belief that the dry autumn cold, the fresh, pure air of the mountains, had not only checked his disease, but that he was making progress against it.

Spring found him even further recovered, and his muscles had become hardened and his cheeks tanned by life in the open.

Other men had been benefited or cured before Trudeau by living out of doors. But he was the first to reduce it to a system and demonstrate its advantages. To the average physician there was only one end to consumption, and the best, the most highly skilled doctor could do was to put off the end for a few weeks. The disease had been on the increase, and hope of ever successfully treating it practically had vanished.

It took Trudeau several years to get back to the point where he could work. When he reached it he was without money, and there was none to whom he could appeal for aid. He was determined to put the out-of-door treatment to a through test, and for this purpose he decided that a sanitarium should be built at Saranac Lake. One was finally constructed. It was a roughly built, one-room, wooden cottage, and it cost three hundred and fifty dollars. When it went up the value of land in the vicinity was so low that acres of it could be bought for a few hundred dollars.

Two persons rather reluctantly came as the first patients of the new sanitarium. They lived for several months in the little windowless building, and they were cured. Another cottage was erected and made ready for further patients. The earlier ones came slowly, for physicians, with almost general unanimity, looked upon the place as little better than a suicide-camp. However, when the start was made things became easier, and the camp for the curing of incipient tuberculosis began slowly to flourish.

Dr. Trudeau, at the beginning, was the only physician, for there were no funds for the employment of others. To-day there is an efficient staff, and patients are housed in twenty-five cottages. Besides these cottages, there are several well-equipped buildings, including an assembly-room and a library. Dr. Trudeau in the last twenty-five years has handled more than one million dollars in his work. He has been forced each year to meet and wipe out a heavy deficit, as the majority of the patients are poor and pay only about one-half the cost of their maintenance.

The institution at Saranac Lake is not the only one of the sort in the country, but it is the pioneer of them all. States and municipalities have taken up the idea, and there are now scores of such places throughout the United States. Every year hundreds of people so afflicted that their cases would have been deemed utterly hopeless a quarter of a century ago go into the woods and there regain vitality and health. No other system of treating consumption has been found so effective, and every new sanitarium established is along the lines marked out by the experiments and work of Dr. Trudeau.

Note.—The elevation and site selected for the Lake Edward Sanitarium are in every respect equal to Saranac. It is also proved by persons who have benefited and also by others who were perfectly cured, that the air and surroundings conduce to make it an ideal resort.

Deschambault, Que., April 5 — Ice still solid.

CRYING BABIES.

Babies don't cry for the fun of it, nor is it always because they are hungry as so many young mothers think. Nine times out of ten baby's cry indicates that his little stomach is out of order. Mothers will find instant relief for their suffering little ones in Baby's Own Tablets. A few doses will cure the most obstinate cases of constipation, indigestion or vomiting and a Tablet given now and then to the well child will keep it well. Mrs Mary Tolbek, Gawas Ont., says: "Baby's Own Tablets have been a great benefit to my baby. They have made him happy, peaceful and contented, when before he used to cry all the time. I have more comfort with him since giving him the Tablets than I ever had before. He now sits and plays and laughs while I do my work. What greater praise can I give Baby's Own Tablets." For sale at druggists or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

AN EXCURSION.

A great number of enquiries are being received at the C.P.R. offices, in town, from people in the Province of Quebec and some places in the United States, as to the advantages offered to those desiring to establish in the North-West. Every train brings a large contingent of settlers going to visit that interesting country. They are all astonished at the wonderful resources of that future granary of the world.

The Canadian Pacific Railway intends organizing an excursion, which will take place in a few weeks and which will be advertised in due time, so as to induce more people to avail themselves of such an interesting

Our Great Prosperity Sale

SATURDAY, APRIL 6th, 1907

ON the crest of the mighty wave of prosperity that is now sweeping over the land, this store is riding onward to the achievement of new successes. Never before in our history has the volume of business been so enormous. The spring Opening Exhibition of last week was the most successful we have ever known. The month of April has brought with it an immense increase in business. Every department is sharing in this unprecedented prosperity—and, just as a mark of appreciation we have decided to hold a Great Prosperity Sale on Saturday, April 6th, for the benefit of those who are responsible for this store's remarkable success. And, of course, that means YOU—for haven't you, by your patronage, your good will and your kind words, advertised this store to your friends and neighbors? Of course you have! And such advertising is worth much more than printers' ink in the long run. Every time you told a friend about some specially worthy bargain you secured here—every time you put in a good word for our values or our merchandise, you were helping to pile up the immense volume of business, of which this sale is the indirect result. And so we invite you, your friends and your neighbors, to share in these great money-saving opportunities which we have prepared for Saturday.

IN AND ABOUT TOWN

A QUEER MIX-UP

The Bride of a Few Hours Locked Up as a Vagrant.

Hamilton, Ontario, Friday, April 5—To be a bride of a few hours only and then to be placed in the police cells on a charge of vagrancy is the unique and altogether unpleasant experience of Margaret Lightheart, nee Hawkins, formerly residing with her mother at 530 James street, North. Margaret, the bride, is 19 years of age, and naturally feels her position keenly. It was her mother who caused her arrest. She put in an appearance at the police office yesterday morning and told a story to the affect that a certain man had run away with her daughter. She wanted Margaret arrested and waited on the magistrate who issued a warrent for her arrest. The paper was quickly executed, but, at the cells, Margaret surprised the police officers by claiming she was married to George Lightheart last night by Rev. R. J. Treleaven. She produced the marriage certificate.

When spoken to by the Spectator today, Rev. Mr. Treleaven said that Lightheart and Margaret went to his parsonage yesterday about 9 o'clock and he performed the ceremony which united them in marriage.

The police are doubtful as to what to do, and this afternoon they informed Mrs. Hawkins of her daughter's marriage. It is likely that the magistrate will be appealed to to allow the girl out without having to appear in the police court.

Remember the special car leaves at 2 p.m. All up Q. S. S. C. All up.

QUEBEC BIBLE SOCIETY.

The regular monthly meeting of the Committee of the Quebec Auxiliary Bible Society was held in the rooms of the Y.M.C.A., on Thursday, the 4th inst., and was very largely attended, the President in the chair. In the course of the proceedings the Revd. Wylie C. Clark, B.D., as Quebec's representative on the Board of the Canadian Bible Society, gave a most satisfactory report of the Ottawa meeting of the Board on the 13th of March. The Committee of the Quebec Bible Society ratified the action of the Canadian Bible Society, in the appointment of the Rev. Thomas Bennett, Montreal west, as field Secretary for District No. 11, which covers the whole of Quebec Province and a large portion of Eastern Ontario. Attention was called to the prospective removal of Mr. H. H. Distin, Y.M.C.A. Secretary, when it was feelingly moved, seconded and carried unanimously:—"Whereas, Mr. H. H. Distin, Secretary of the Quebec Y.M.C.A., who has been for the past thirteen years a very useful and valued member of this Committee, has severed his connection with the Quebec Y.M.C.A. Association, and will shortly leave our city to fill another position: We, the members of the Committee of the Quebec Auxiliary Bible Society, would place on record our sense of the high esteem in which he is held by us as a committee, and our appreciation of the services he has rendered the Bible Society for so many years, and would assure him of our Christian confidence in him, as a man, and as a conscientious Christian worker, and that we will follow him with our prayers, that he may be abundantly successful in his chosen vocation in the interests of young men." The annual report of the Bible Society has been issued and is a very readable and instructive document. Each congregation has been allotted its portion for distribution by the collectors to be appointed in the Society's interests.

SERIOUS QUARREL

Between Medical Superintendents of Beauport Asylum—Investigation Ordered.

As a result of a quarrel between Dr. Brochu, superintendent, and Dr. Marois, assistant medical superintendent of the Beauport Asylum, the Provincial Government has intervened and ordered an investigation to learn the cause and at the same time use its prerogative to put an end to the unpleasant situation. Both physicians concerned are professors connected with the Laval University and at the same time prominent practioners. Dr. D. Brochu is professor of mental and nervous diseases at Laval, and Dr. Marois physician and surgeon, is a professor of diseases and toxicology at the Laval University. Besides, he is visiting physician to the Hotel Dieu Hospital and medical attendant of the various religious institutions located in Quebec. Dr. Brochu, on the death of the former medical superintendent of Beauport Asylum was appointed to fill the vacancy by the Perent administration, and his assistant Dr. Marois who has been connected with the institution for nearly twenty years. It appears that Dr. Brochu recently complained that his assistant was not performing his duty by a regular attendance when Dr. Marois retaliated that his chief had no complaint to make on that score that he was also delinquent, which led to an open breach between the two physicians and finally the matter reached the ears of the Provincial Government whom immediately took official cognizance of the lamentable dispute and in the interest of the public service and the unfortunate inmates of the asylum, immediately decided to institute an investigation and appointed a commission to carry on the inquiry, composed of Dr. Villeneuve of Montreal, Dr. Woods of Three Rivers, and Mr. C. E. Dorion of this city.

The Chronicle telephoned Mr. Dorion last night to know when the investigation would commence when he said he thought next week.

ELECTRIC SIGNS

British American Sign Co. Secures Large Contracts in Town.

The only electric signs, which are now beautifying cities throughout the United States and Canada, are being introduced into this city. The British American Sign Company, whose representative, Mr. Charles E. Smith, is now at the St. Louis Hotel, aims at allowing merchants to have a sign, at very small cost, by which they can instil into the mind of the public their place of business and line of work in a forcible manner by day or night. The company has already secured in number of large contracts in this city, and the result of its work will be a very great addition to the beauty of the city. One very striking sample of the company's work is the sign which has just been erected on the roof of the Holt, Renfrew & Company's building. This sign, which is 25 feet above the roof top, is manufactured entirely out of galvanized sheet rolled steel, and the wiring is concealed entirely from the public view, making it not only attractive in day time, but a perfectly readable sign at night. These signs are manufactured and shipped direct from their factory in Toronto, where they employ a large staff of sign artists, tinsmiths and electricians, with all the latest improved machinery for the manufacturing of signs in every detail. The company are the largest manufacturers of signs in Canada. All signs of this company are original in design and no two are alike. The main object of the company is to light the signs and not the air. The company, owing to its first-class equipment, is able to give a superior article at a much lower price than any of its competitors. A post card addressed to Mr. Smith at the St. Louis Hotel will secure his attendance at your place of business to give you full explanations as to the company's proposals, or a personal call will have his immediate consideration. An advertisement in another column is directed to your attention.

Y.M.C.A. NOTES.

Young Men's Bible Class Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. All young men invited.

BUILDING OPERATIONS.

A building permit was issued at the City Hall during the past week to J. B. Falardeau for the construction of a building on Queen street to cost $1,000.

QUEBEC FRATERNAL CLUB.

The members of the Quebec Fraternal Club held a ladies' night at their rooms in the Masonic Hall last night which was a most pleasing social function. There were about 40 couples present, who enjoyed the evening's entertainment, which consisted of a euchre that was keenly contested and resulted in the following ladies and gentlemen capturing the prizes:

Ladies—1st prize, Miss B. Jacques; 2nd, Mrs. L. Burran; consolation, Mrs. S. Gillespie.

Gentlemen—1st prize, Mr. L. Burran; 2nd, Mrs. Wm. Treggett; congolation, Mr. Alf. Jacques.

After supper dancing followed and kept up amidst much enjoyment until after 1 a.m.

THOUSANDS OF FAIR WOMEN HERALD PRAISES OF PE-RU-NA.

Catarrh and Catarrhal Diseases Make Invalids of More Women Than All Other Ailments Combined.

Considers Pe-ru-na the Best Medicine In the World.

Mrs. W. J. Bryanton, 210 Sherman street, Dennison, Ohio, writes:

"I followed the directions you kindly gave me and now I find myself entirely cured. I think your Peruna is the best medicine in the world."

Heartfelt Thanks For Relief Found in Pe-ru-na.

Miss Jessie S. Dword, 37 South street, Passaic, N. J., writes:

"I took Peruna as you directed. I had a dry cough and after using two bottles of Peruna, I found relief. You have my heartfelt thanks."

A cough is caused by a catarrhal condition of the throat and bronchial tubes. Remove the catarrh and the cough disappears. Peruna is the remedy for all catarrhal conditions.

Permanent Benefit Followed Use of Pe-ru-na.

Miss May Cray, 147 11th street, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"For more than five years I suffered from rheumatic pains in my joints, and in damp or stormy weather I was obliged to stay in doors.

"Medicine seemed to be of no use until I started using Peruna.

"I took twelve bottles in all, although it is six months ago since I stopped.

"I have had no return of my old complaint, in spite of the fact that I have been out in all sorts of weather during the severe winter."

No better remedy was ever devised by the medical profession for the mitigation of all climatic ailments than Peruna.

Pe-ru-na Used For Throat Trouble. Keeps the Remedy at Hand.

Mrs. J. A. Baker, 880 Locust avenue, Amsterdam, N. Y., writes:

"I feel it my duty to write and tell you what Peruna has done for me, so that all those who are troubled as I was may find the same speedy cure.

"Four years ago I lost my voice, so that I was unable to speak above a whisper for seven weeks. Our family doctor could do nothing for me.

"After seven weeks suffering, I read some circulars in regard to Peruna.

"I bought a bottle at once and took it in teaspoonful doses every hour, and in two days I could talk. I will never be without it."

VESTRY MEETING

Annual Gathering of the Congregation of St. Matthew's Church.

The adjourned Easter Vestry meeting of the congregation of St. Matthew's Church was held last evening at the parish hall, there being a fair attendance present. The meeting was presided over by the Rector, Rev. F. G. Scott, and Dr. E. J. C. Chambers acted as secretary.

The reports of the Wardens for the past year were read by Mr. Root. Campbell and adopted. They showed the affairs of the congregation to be in a very satisfactory condition.

The Rector re-appointed Mr. C. J. Pigot as his warden, and Mr. Robt. Campbell was re-elected People's Warden.

The following committee was appointed to assist the Church Wardens: Messrs. W. H. Carter, E. Pope, J. Hamilton, J. Winfield, E. A. Hoare, J. R. Thomson, W. C. Weary, J. Laird, S. T. Brown, G. B. Hall, F. J. Cockburn, F. O. Judge, W. F. V. Atkinson, W. H. Dunsford, Dr. Chambers, Dr. Laurie.

Vote of thanks to the Church Wardens, the choirs, bell-ringers' guild and ladies of the various parish organizations were unanimously adopted.

A number of matters of interest to the congregation were debated at length and satisfactorily adjusted and the meeting closed with the singing of the Doxology.

"It is splendid"! exclaims every lady who has ever used Campbell's Varnish Stain. These stains are easy to apply and they are very useful for staining and varnishing furniture, floors and interior woodwork. Made in ten colors imitating natural woods. Your Paint Dealer sells it.

FIGHT AGAINST APPENDICITIS.

Appendicitis, that terrible disease of the bowels, often proving fatal to the victim afflicted with it, has been proven by medical science that the surest and a medicine within the reach of all, to prevent the disease attacking you, is to drink the celebrated St. Leon Mineral Water, the ingredients of which are to strengthen the nervous system, and to arm you against contracting that particular disease, appendicitis, which is ravaging this country of ours at present. Mind yourself and drink glassfuls, either hot, cold or aerated the celebrated St. Leon Mineral Hater.

Changing Customs

215,000 new residents were welcomed into Canada in 1906. ¶ Steel buildings have come within the last decade. ¶ Just as wonderful has been the change in the making and selling of shoes—the coming of the Goodyear system of stitching, and the price-stamped SLATER SHOES. ¶ Skilled mechanics appreciate the difference between Slater Shoes and the others. They know the value of the proud "Seal of Certainty" on a pair of $5.00 Slater Shoes. It's the difference between skilled and unskilled labor.

CAPS' BRITISH TRIP

Interesting Gossip from Other Side in Connection with Canadians' Visit.

The Canadian Gazette, of London, England, published the following interesting gossip about the visit of the Capital lacrosse team, of Ottawa, to the Old Country:—

The All-Blacks footballers of New Zealand came to Great Britain and carried all before them, gallant Little Wales alone withstanding their terrific onset. The Springboks of South Africa followed with results hardly less expressive of colonial vigor. And now it is the Canadian turn—shall we say the turn of the Canucks? We understand that a team representing the Capital Lacrosse Club, of Ottawa, who are the lacrosse champions of Canada, and therefore of the world, is to arrive in Liverpool on April 12, under the presidency of Emanuel Tasse, of Ottawa. They will come straight through to London, in order to see something of English lacrosse play at the annual match on Saturday, April 13, between the North and South for the championship of England. They start play on the 18th, and matches have been arranged in London, Bristol, Oxford and Manchester.

Manchester is the centre of the best lacrosse that England can show, and six matches have been arranged in the Manchester district in the early part of May. It is at present planned that the team shall leave Liverpool for Quebec on May 11, but other matches have been asked for, and it may be found possible to keep the team in this country for another week. The English lacrosse men are giving a banquet in honor of the visitors at the Hotel Cecil on April 27, and it is much regretted that the Duke of Argyll, who is president of the South of England Lacrosse Association, finds it impossible to preside. The visitors are also to be entertained by Canadian M.P.'s at the House of Commons, and it may be confidently predicted that a hearty welcome awaits them from all friends of lacrosse and friends of Canada.

The Prince of Wales is happily to be counted both a friend of Canada and a friend of lacrosse. He was present with the Princess at the contest at Ottawa in 1901, when the Capitals won the Minto Cup, and he has said that both he and the Princess are looking forward to the pleasure of seeing the team play one of its contests in London.

It is a pleasing reflection for Canadians that the only visit made by King Edward VII. to Lords was on the occasion of the Canadian lacrosse match there. That was in 1901, during the tour of the Toronto team, who, it will be remembered, carried all before them in their British matches. Happily English lacrosse has made great strides in the intervening five years. In 1901 the English players were using sticks of the kind in vogue twenty years ago, and they could not stand up against the Torontos with their light new sticks and quick passing. The Englishmen have, however, proved apt learners, and Mr. Allingham, the official representative of the team in this country, tells us that he finds the interest of the English public in lacrosse has also greatly developed in the last five years. The crowd of onlookers at Lords on Saturday last, when the Surbiton and Catford teams fought for the Senior Flags, was as keen as a Canadian crowd itself.

RACES AT THE ROLLAWAY.

The races at the Rollaway last night drew a large and enthusiastic audience and the delightful events were run off very smoothly and quickly. The first race, 1 mile, had four starters Denny Kerwin, Patrick Lawlor, Lewis Marcotte and Napoleon Rinfret. The boys got away well together at the crack of the pistol. Rinfret took the lead and held it until the 9th lap, when he was forced to retire, by the fast skating of Lawlor and Marcotte, who then forged ahead, closely followed by Kerwin. At the 12th lap the pace set by Lawlor and Marcotte was too fast for Kerwin and he retired, leaving the race to be fought out to a finish between the two former. From then on it was a very pretty race, first Lawlor would lead and then Marcotte would forge to the front. On the last quarter of the last lap Lawlor leaped ahead of his opponent, winning the race in the fast time of 4.01.

The second event was a handicap race between D. Parr and Mike Kerwin, of the St. Louis Hotel. Kerwin gave a handicap of 3-4 of a lap. This was a very interesting race, but Parr had the misfortune to fall. Kerwin won by a lap. Time, 4.55.

The third race was 1-2 mile backward between Henry Gosselin, John Gosselin and Alex. Dumpiere. This was won by Henry Gosselin, Alex. Dumpiere getting second place. Time, 3.15.

SPRING BASEBALL GAMES.

Philadelphia, April 5.—The Philadelphia Nationals to-day won their third straight game from the local Americans in the annual spring series. The Nationals pounded Vickers hard and won easily.

St. Louis, April 5.—The St. Louis National League team defeated the American team to-day 5 to 4, in the fifth of the seven game series to decide the city championship. The games now stand three to two in favor of the Nationals.

At Atlanta:—Atlanta, 4; New York American, 4. (Called fifth inning, rain.)

FOR CLEAN SPORT

Association Started in Cornwall to Improve General Status.

Cornwall, April 5.—One of the direct results of the recent hockey fatality is a very determined movement to improve the general status of athletics in this section. The movement has been under way for some time, and is now developing into the organization of an athletic and literary association, something on the lines of the M.A.A.A. and the Y.M.C.A., or rather an amalgamation of the two.

Several meetings have been held and a tentative constitution has been adopted. A special committee was appointed at a meeting held on Tuesday night to confer with the new grounds committee of the Cornwall Lacrosse Club, with the idea of the two organizations joining together in a joint stock company for the purpose of buying and equipping up-to-date grounds with a fine track and a comfortable clubhouse.

An association of this kind has long been needed in Cornwall, and it is believed that if the scheme is undertaken the citizens will promptly subscribe the necessary capital. Cornwall as a lack of first-class athletic material, but somehow or other lacrosse and hockey are the only games that seem to thrive in the Factory Town. Under the proposed association, Rugby and Association football, cricket, running, jumping, weight-putting and other manly sport would be quickly developed, and the general tone of athletics would be greatly improved.

LEWIS AND GANS.

Detroit, Mich., April 5.—Harry Lewis, the Philadelphia boy, who recently acquired notoriety through his fatal battle with Mike Ward, of Sarnia, has signed articles with Joe Gans for a finish fight at 133 pounds stripped at ringside. The two will meet before any club offering a $20,000 purse and each has put up a forfeit of $5,000. this lets Nelson out for the time at least, and gives Lewis a chance to prove that he is real championship material.

NEW YORK NATIONALS HOME.

New York, April 5.—Brown as orries and looking in the best of condition Jno. McGraw and his ball tossers, the New York Nationals, arrived here this afternoon and went directly to the Polo Grounds for an hour of practice. The team has come from Los Angeles, Cal., where it got into shape for the coming season. The trip benefited the players, Manager McGraw said, and he added: "All my men are in fine condition and I am sure we will make a grand showing this year." Following to-day's practice, the manager expressed confidence that they would go into the first regular game of the season next Thursday in championship form. The opening game will be with the Philadelphia Club at the Polo Grounds. The team will practice for two hours to-morrow morning and in the afternoon it will play against Yale.

RUGBY POLO LEAGUE.

A meeting of the members of the different Rugby polo teams was held at the Rollaway last evening and a league of six teams was formed, and the following officers were elected:—

Mr. Jas. McKinney, jr., hon. president.

M. L. Langlois, of the Laval team, president.

M. Gastonguay, secretary-treasurer.

A schedule of dates were drawn up and other routine business was taken up. Another meeting of the league is called for Monday night at 7.30 o'clock at the Rollaway.

The first game of Rugby polo will be played at the Rollaway this evening, and the match is arousing a lot of excitement among the local sports. As a great many of the Thistle team are from the ranks of the Shrsfield A. A. A. a great interest is being taken in this game by the latter association. The friends of the Rollaway team are betting heavily on them to win and they look for some good combination playing from Philips and Marcotte.

CANADIAN RUNNERS ABROAD.

Hamilton, April 5.—Dennis Bennett the local distance runner who captured the Chicago Marathon race last year and lowered the race record by over half an hour, has quietly gone after more laurels. Bennett is now in St. Louis training for the big St. Louis Marathon, which will be run on Saturday, May 4. This is the race in which Irving Elliott was in the lead for eighteen miles last year, and had to drop out on account of an injured foot. The distance of the race is 27 miles, and if Bennett is in anything like his Chicago form he will have no trouble in winning. He covered the 25 miles in Chicago in 2.14.33, and dropped out of training, the result being that he failed to make much of a showing in the Herald race last year.

Bennett is staying about twelve miles outside of St. Louis, with his brother, who is training him. He is reported to be in splendid condition, and is confident of victory. With Bennett in St. Louis and Le Barre at Boston, Hamilton will be well represented in the American distance events. Le Barre saves the latter part of the week for the city of beans, and Tom Longboat will likely leave on Sunday. The Boston race starts at noon on Friday, April 19, and is run over a 25 mile course on which there are few hills.

BOXING IN BRITAIN

Record Entry for Amateur Tournament---Entries from Colonies.

London, April 6.—A record entry has been received for the amateur boxing championships of Britain, which is satisfactory and indicates that the present generation takes kindly to the noble art. Perhaps the greatest ground for pleasure, is the international character of the entries. Unfortunately illness will prevent Baker of Australia, competing, but Blewden of New Zealand is sufficiently recovered from his accident to do so. In addition the lists include G. Weaver of Johannesburg, H. Jordan of Paris, and V. Holberg, Dansk Athletic Union, so that the meeting of the visitors with the home cracks will add to the interest. Weaver has been absent from his home for nearly seven years—he went to South Africa with the Westmoreland Imperial Yeomanry—so that sportsmen in the Newcastle and Middlesborough district will be glad to renew acquaintances with him.

Turning to professional boxers, A. Delmont and S. Langford had hardly arrived in London from the United States, when customers were found for them. Delmont, who is an Italian, will try conclusions with Owen Moran for the bantam light championship, while "Tiger" Smith will face Langford in a 20-round contest at the middleweight limit. The latter is a colored man Halifax, and if he proves to be relatively as good as George Dixon, who also hailed from Nova Scotia, he will do all right. He certainly looks a likely man, so that an interesting contest may be anticipated.

A BASEBALL STORY.

Mike Cantiloon tells a funny story about Claud Rossman, says Mike:—"It was when Claud was batting around .400 for the Des Moines Club. Herman Long gave him the signal to sacrifice, and Claud nodded his head. He hit the first ball pitched with a mighty swat for a home run, clearing the bases and winning the game. When he came in with the crowd cheering, he was all smiles until he met Long. Herman was swearing mad, yelling half in English and half in German.

"'Didn't I tell you to sacrifice?' he said. 'Why don't you follow instructions? I've a good mind to bench you to bench you for a while. I didn't tell you to hit a home run.'"

GREAT JUMPER COMING.

Peter O'Connor Intends to Visit America.

New York, April 5.—Peter O'Connor, the world's champion broad jumper, is expected to visit New York during the coming summer. O'Connor was not satisfied with the result of the Olympic broad jump championship, in which he was beaten by Prinstein last year. He claims he did not get a square deal in the competition.

O'Connor is a great athlete, for his aggregate jumps beat those of any other. He is now in his 34th year, but his ability is unimpaired. His 24 feet 11 1-2 inches is the world's record.

FORTY COLLEGES IN RACE.

New York, April 5.—The management of the University of Pennsylvania relay carnival has received entries from over forty colleges for the annual meet, which will be held at Franklin field, April 27. From present indications the coming meet will be the greatest ever held. Classes which have not filled for years will be in line, and by the time the entries close it is expected that athletes from sixty colleges will be represented at the meet. Yale, Princeton, Columbia, Cornel, Harvard, Chicago, Michigan and other universities will meet the Pennsylvania teams in the one, two and four mile relay championships. The entry of Amherst assures the New England College championship. Brown, Wesleyan, Massachusetts institute of technology, Amherst and Dartmouth compose a group that should furnish one of the best races of the day.

Special classes have been set apart for high schools and axademies, and a number of schoolboy teams from New York, are expected to compete with the big school relays of Philadelphia and the vicinity.

THE TEAM IS WORRIED.

We're gettin' up our baseball team,
Say, it will be a peach;
To some of these here would-be clubs
The game we're go'n' to teach.
Bill Taylor's booked to ketch for us,
An' Scrawney's go'n to pitch
I'll either hold down second base,
Er first, I don't know which.

We're mighty tickled 'bout our team,
But there's jist one thing wrong,
We've got no place for Danny Brown
You see, the kid ain't strong.
They's somethin' wrong with Danny's
spine,
But he thinks he could play,
An' we keep stallin' him along
With promises each day.

To-day he hobbled up as' says;
"Jim, in a week er so
I'm go'n' to throw this crutch away,
Come on, 'gimme a show!"
Say, Jim, put me in centre field,
I'll play it fine fer you."
He'll have ter use that crutch fer
years,
Gee, whiz, what kin we do?

The club will meet to-morrow night
We're go'n' to jolly Dan,
An' see if he won't be pig-tail,
Er mascot—that's our plan.
We're mighty tickled 'bout our team
An' yet we're feelin' tough,
Cause we must disappoint poor Dan
The kid ain't strong enough.

—Denver Post.

RECORDER'S COURT.

There was only one man charged with drunkenness before the Recorder yesterday. He was fined $2 and costs or eight days' jail. A number of parties charged with not removing ice and snow from their sidewalks, were fined small sums, as they have removed the snow since the actions were taken. A young girl named Maria Boivin, for being drunk, was sent to jail for four months. Her mamma and papa were charged some days ago with keeping a disreputable house. The old lady was sent to Castle Morin for six months, but the old gentleman flew the town when he heard a warrant was issued for his arrest and has not been commandeered since. Mother and daughter are again reunited in jail.

Coleman Silver Mines Syndicate

Recently Acquired Properties Surrounded by Good Propositions—Shipments from Cobalt About $1,000,000.00 a Month—Shaft of 50 Feet Shows $60,000 in Ore—Stocks are Rising and Big Boom Expected Next Month.

(Ottawa Free Press).

The properties recently secured by the Coleman Silver Mines Syndicate are in the centre of all the active mining that is going on in the Portage Bay section. The syndicate now has control of eight claims, surrounded by the famous Evans mine, the Cobalt Chief, the Union mines, the Dufferin, the Erie, the Charon, the Capital, Cobalt Development, the Sargeson, the St. Paul Mining Company, and across Bay Lake there is the famous Thomas Edison mine and the Nodo property, which was sold a month ago for $102,000, and is now again under option for $125,000. A great deal of development work has been going on in the Portage Bay section and actual results prove that this section is as rich as the immediate vicinity of Cobalt. The Evans mine is only down some 50 ffeet, but the report is that they have $60,000 worth of ore blocked out, and would commence at once to ship a car a month. Magnificent samples of ore from this mine are on exhibition in Cobalt.

The Cobalt Chief, the Union mines and several others will be shippers in a few weeks, and then the public will wake up to the fact that they were just too late to get in on the ground floor in some syndicate, and will have to jump in and buy stock at a very much higher price.

The subscribers to most of the syndicates that have been formed for Cobalt mining have been very fortunate, as the subscribers to the Right of Way got their stock for 16 cents a share, and it is now worth from $6 to $7 per share. When the boom which is expected this spring arrives the subscribers to the syndicate who have secured their stock at 15 cents a share, bid fair to make a large amount of money.

Practically every company that has developed its property in the Cobalt section is realizing results far beyond their fondest expectations.

A RICH DISTRICT.

The mining world at least is now well aware that the Portage Bay section of Coleman will be the scene of greatest activity this spring and summer. This portion of Coleman was partially prospected last season, and the government record shows that a larger number of mining claims passed inspection of valuable discoveries in this section than in any other portion of Coleman township.

The rock formation in Portage Bay is similar in all respects to that portion of the township in which are situated the Nipissing, McKinley-Darragh, Larose, O'Brien and Foster mines. There are, however, larger deposits of cobalt in Portage Bay section than found in the vicinity of the shipping mines. It is in this portion of Coleman township that the electrical wizard, Thomas Edison, selected his mining property, upon which valuable cobalt and silver ore and which valuable cobalt and silver deposits have been discovered.

The Evans and Charron properties have made rich finds of native silver and on Cobalt Chief and Union Mines companies' claims, very valuable discoveries have been made and rich ore is being put in shape for shipment.

A LARGE SYNDICATE.

The Coleman Silver Mines Syndicate is considered one of the largest and most promising syndicates in which Ottawa investors have yet become interested. Some of those interested in the enterprise are: Dr. J. F. Kidd, who is a director in the now famous Right of Way mine; John I. MacCracken, barrister, who is also a director of the Lumsden Mining company; W. J. Kidd, barrister; F. X. Plaunt, contractor; Joseph Cote, furrier; V. V. Rogers, broker, and many others in Ottawa, Carleton Place, Smith's Falls, Kingston and Montreal.

The proposition is a first-class one, and the engineer's report, which has been secured by the syndicate, speaks very highly of the property.

The Toronto General Trusts Company is receiving all subscriptions to this syndicate, and this, together with the men who are connected with the enterprise, is the best guarantee the public can have.

Subscribers to the syndicate will receive their stock at about the same rate as the subscribers to the Right of Way mine, and the syndicate expects to commence operations within the next 30 days.

Mr. V. V. Rogers has left for the east to interest prominent men in Montreal, Quebec, New York and other places, and also to arrange for the listing of the stock on the various exchanges, as soon as the syndicate is completed.

A SPRING DANGER.

Many People Weaken Their Systems by Dosing with Purgative Medicines.

A spring medicine is a necessity. Nature demnads it as an aid to enriching the blood and carrying off the impurities that have accumulated during the indoor life of the winter months. Thousands of people recognizing the necessity for a spring medicine, dose themselves with harsh griping purgatives. This is a mistake. Ask any doctor and he will tell you that the use of purgative medicines weaken the system and cannot possibly cure disease. In the spring the system needs building up—purgatives weaken. The blood should be made rich, red and pure—purgatives cannot do this. What is needed is a tonic, and the best tonic medical science has yet devised is Dr. Williams Pink Pills. Every dose of this medicine actually makes new, rich blood and this new blood strengthens every organ and every part of the body. That is why these Pills banish pimples and unsightly skin eruptions. That is why they cure headaches, backaches, rheumatism neuralgia and a host of other troubles that come poor watery blood. That is why the men and women who use Dr. William's Pink Pills eat well and sleep well and feel active and strong. Miss Mabel Synnott, Lisle, Ont., says:—"I was pale and weak and suffered greatly from headaches, and I found nothing to help me until I began taking Dr. Williams Pink Pills. These have completely restored my health and I bless the day I began taking them."

But be sure you get the genuine Pills with the full name "Dr. Williams Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper around each box—fraudulent imitations. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Working Indoors Causes Anaemia

Chlorosis or anaemia is simply thinness of blood.

If confined too much indoors anaemia develops, because the lungs are insufficiently supplied with oxygen, and the blood is consequently ill-nourished and half-starved.

But there is a cure!

Dr. Hamilton has solved the problem in his famous pills of Mandrake and Butternut, as a blood enricher their equal is not known.

All the functions upon which life depends are helped by Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Richness and purity are instilled with wonderful promptness into the vital fluid.

Healthy color supplants the pallid, sallow face.

Better appetite, strong digestion and dreamless sleep are sure to follow, because of the increased blood supply furnished by Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Think it over.

Will it pay you to look and feel half-dead, to lack color and spirit, when all can be changed by Dr. Hamilton's Pills?

Better act at once.

Your case is more curable now than later on.

Dr. Hamilton personally guarantees his pills of Mandrake and Butternut.

Their merit is unquestioned.

Thousands of anaemics they have cured and kept well.

Try Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c. per box or five boxes for $1.00, and refuse any substitute.

Let Edison Furnish the Music

HOW else can you have music in the home unless you have the Edison Phonograph? You have a piano, but how many of the family can play it and how much can they play? You may be able to sing, but think what it would mean to hear the world's greatest singers singing the world's greatest songs.

The Edison Phonograph gives you your kind of music as rendered by the best musicians. When you play the piano you play a piece your way. With the Edison Phonograph you hear a march the way Sousa, who wrote it, would play it.

THE EDISON PHONOGRAPH and Edison Gold-Moulded Records

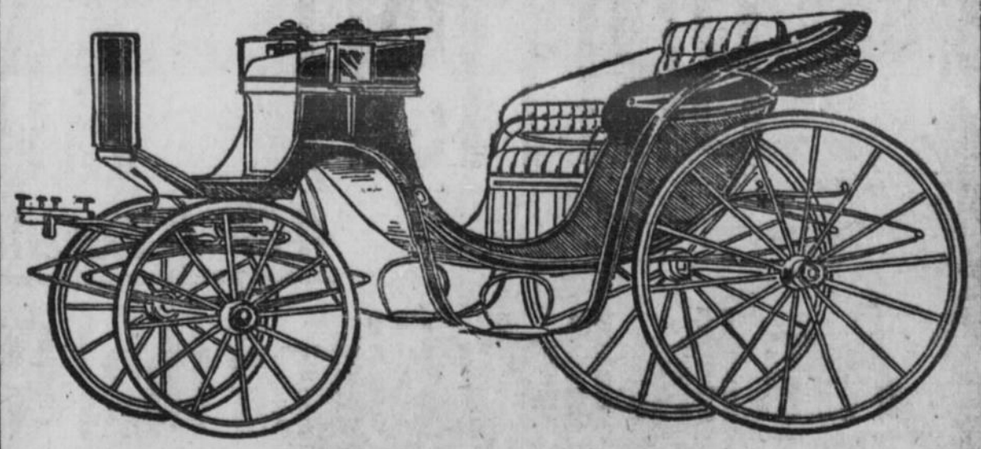

place the world's repertoire of music at your feet. They bring into the most remote home music ordinarily heard only in the world's capitals.

Edison spent years perfecting this invention so that it would be the most perfect reproducer of sound that could be made. There is no Phonograph but the Edison. Hear it as soon as you can. If there is no dealer in your town, write to us, and we will put you in touch with some one who can show it to you, but by all means hear it.

National Phonograph Company

TWO ODD FARMS,

Snapping Turtles and Pearl Oysters are Raised in Japan.

One of the oldest farms in the world is to be seen in Japan—a farm from which a crop of tens of thousands of snapping turtles is shipped every year It is the property of Mr. Hattori, says Professor Mitskuri in the National Geographic Magazine, and has solved the problem of preserving the supply of what is to the Japanese asgreat a delto some.

The farm consists chiefly of a number of ponds. Once a day a man goes over the shores and with little wire baskets covers up all new egg deposits Sometimes thousands of these wire baskets are in sight at a time, marking the place where the eggs lie and preventing the turtles from scratching the earth from them.

Hatching requires from forty to sixty days, according to the weather. The young, as soon as they appear, are put in separate small ponds, and are fed with finely chopped fish. They eat this during September and October, and late in October burrow in the mud for the winter, coming in April or May

Most of them are sold in the market when they are from three to five years old, at which time they are most delicate.

Japan also contains a unique fishery in a pearl oyster farm. In the Bay of Ago a Japanese has established a plantation from which he is reaping a harvest of jewels.

In May or June stones weighing six or eight pounds are sunk in shallowed water, and in August the tiny shells begin to apear on them. Here the stones remain for two months, but the young oysters cannot stand cold. In November, therefore, all rocks in less than five feet of water are moved farther out, where the temperature is more even. At the end of three years, when the shells are about two inches across, they are taken from the water, nuclei for pearls are inserted in them, and they are put back again, thirty of them to every six feet square of bottom.

They are left there four years. Then, being seven and a half years old, they are removed and searched for pearls.

The harvest of artificial or "culture" pearls in very large, but unfortunately these are only little more than half-parts, for although large, lustrous and of the quantity, they are flat on one side, This the farmer hopes to remedy on time, but the market for half-pearls is always very large.

He has an additional source of income in the natural pearls which his oysters produce for there is no lacking among them the usual proportion of perfect gems to be found among oysters of this variety.

A TEA-PARTY IN JAPAN.

At a Japanese tea-party the guests sit on cushions placed upon the floor, and the tea service consists of a teapot, a cooling pot, teacups, and a stove to heat the water. The Japanese, instead of pouring boiling water over the tea as we do, pour the water into a cooler, and then on to the tea, which is allowed to steep for a few minutes. Boiling water is then added, and the cups filled. Green tea is used, but no sugar or cream is added.

Recurring Headaches

Do They Bother You?

You find life a miserable affair because you have headaches, but you have neither nausea nor are you weak—You know if you could only prevent headaches you would enjoy perfect health.

Such headaches indicate a general lowered condition, because they arise from a general decay of the nervous system.

This depressed condition of the nerkous system has its organ in the reduction kf the quality and quantity of the blood.

The blood is thin—its red coloring is reduced—it contains no nourishment.

The digestive organs are not supplying it with sufficient nutritive matter.

The result—nerve weakness, nerve debility, ill-health.

If you had used Ferrozone you would know how powerfully all the digestive and assimilative functions of the body are stimulated.

Ferrozone does more—it supplies all the elements that are essential to the rebuilding of the body—supplies the reconstructive forces that contribute to the formation of rich, red blood.

You see Ferrozone doesn't treat a symptom—it remedies a cause—and that's why Booth's treatment will absolutely remove every vestige of recurring nerkous headaches.

Nothing like Ferrozone to build you up, to give the reserve of force, that happy health that contributes so much to happiness and contentment.

Ferrozone will make you feel live now, try it—sold by all druggists in 50c. boxes.

LOOK FOR WEAKNESS AND PAIN IN YOUR JOINTS, MUSCLES.

A weak joint is hard to travel on, and a sore muscle is a serious matter to active people. Now joints are hard to reach. Only a liniment as powerful, penetrating and pain-subduring as Nerviline can help—congestion must be relieved and painful cymptoms cured. Five times stronger than any other liniment, more penetrating, more soothing, Nerviline's action upon joints and muscles is instant and permanent. Not an ache or pain in any part of the body that Nerviline won't cure. As a household liniment, worth its weight in gold' sold in large 25c. bottles everywhere.

POLITENESS.

Wife: "There is no doubt about it, marriage does improve a man's politeness."

Husband: "How so?"

Wife: "Well, you frequently get up and offer me your chair now; before we were married you always wanted to keep half."

ITCH, Mange, Prairie Scratches and every form of contagious Itch on human or animals cured in 30 minutes by Wolford's Sanitary Lotion. It never fails.

STALLION'S HARD FIGHT.

Thrilling Experience of Two Lucan Men in a Train.

Cooped up in a boxcar on a fast freight train, with two savagely fighting stallions, was the terrifying situation recently experienced by Paisley Brothers, of Lucan.

When the train finally reached its destination, one of the animals valued at over $1,000 was dead, the other was badly injured, and both men were severely bruised and cut as a result of their efforts to separate the enraged animals.

The two stallions were being shipped to Montana, and one of the animals, alarmed at the jolting of the train, began to rear and plunge madly, and in an instant had broken the halter by which it was held. Immediately it commenced a fierce attack with teeth and heels on its mate, which was more surely fastened, and failed for the time to break loose. The two men made every effort possible to drive back the big vicious brute, but in the close area and gloomy interior of the car it was risking their lives to make a move.

WAS KNOCKED DOWN.

That the two brothers did their best to separate the brutes is evidenced by the fact that the elder Mr. Paisley was knocked down three times, and each time narrowly escaped being trampled to death beneath the hoofs of the big beasts. The other stallion finally broke the tight fastenings, and the one-sided fight became a duel to the death. The two men were now powerless and could do no more than evade the terrible charges and blows of the titanic monsters, who, covered with bloody foam and with bloodshot, eyes, strove for the mastery, surging now to one end of the car and then to the other, but never for one moment letting up in their death struggle.

Finally, it was apparent to the two lone spectators of this struggle, that one of the beasts was weakening. Its breathing came in mighty gasps, that spattering the sides of the car with bloody foam. Relentless, its mate continued to rain blows, till with a shriek, almost pitifully human, the weakened animal dropped to the floor dead.

Victory gained the other big brute quieted down and submitted to being fastened again by the men

CROWS ATTACK EAGLE.

Horde of Sable-clued Birds Subdue Monarch of the Air.

There is one eagle less in the collection of bald-headed birds of freedom at the Stanley Park aviary in Vancouver. One of the largest of the quartette made his escape from the cage the other morning, but his liberty and life did not last long afterward

It is a strange fact that the death of this bird, which is popularly supposed to be the monarch of the air, is directly due to the inability to resist the attack of a horde of crows. Yes, crows—ordinary black crows—of which there are thousands in Stanley Park.

Unable to traverse the aerial heights with his accustomed freedom, owing to its six years captivity in a cage that did not admit of too much practice in flying, this eagle was simply beaten to the earth by a flock of crows that at once attacked it. They are old enemies — these crows and eagles. And when the bald-headed bird broke the wire netting of its cage while fighting with one of its cage mates it was at once set upon by a dozen sable-hued birds whose wild cawing soon attracted hundreds of others. The eagle made a few ineffectual attempts to mount high up beyond the reach of its pursuers, but its one-time powerful wings were now feeble. The crows, whose numbers were constantly increasing, renewed their attack, and simply beat the big bird down until it fell into Coal Harbor not far from the bridge.

To the rescue of the bird there came a spectator of the fight, who put out in a boat. But, although the eagle was exhausted as far as wing power was concerned, it was still dangerous with its powerful beak and calons. In trying to subdue the eagle the manin the boat hit it rather too heavily on the head with an oar and killed it.

BREAD THAT IS TWO YEARS OLD.

The Hungarian Has a Year's Supply on the Shelves.

In Hungary they do not eat fresh bread. Whether it is because the Hungarians believe in hygiene more than their European brothers and sisters or not has never been told, but the Magyar is partial to stale bread, and the staler the better. His "rozskenyer," or ordinary black bread, as it is eaten by the very large majority of the Magyar population, is carefully laid away on a shelf and dug out for consumption months and months after it has come out of the great ovens. If the huge loaf, weighing something like five pounds and for which the Hungarians pay six or seven kreutzer, equivalent to about three or four cents in our money, has carefully been hidden away for two years it is considered all the better. The Hungarian never thinks of where the bread is to come from tomorrow. He thinks of where it is to come from next year, for he has at least a year's supply on the shelves. The Hungarian bakes her own bread 365 days ahead of time. Her Wednesday baking is for the Wednesday of a year to come; her Thursday baking for a Thursday of a year to come.

The immigrants arriving in America from Hungary bring over many of these immense loaves. They are cumbersome affairs and of ripe old age. The loaf weighs a trifle under five pounds and is so hard that to drop it on your foot would be to smash a toe or two. A hatchet stuck into this loaf is hard to remove, and yet the loaf is considered a great delicacy by the Hungarians, who look upon it with the same pride that the German peasant looks upon his pumpernickel.

Eccentric—A term applied to those whom we cannot afford to call fools.

-ROYAL-
BAKING POWDER

Imparts that peculiar lightness, sweetness, and flavor noticed in the finest cake, short cake, biscuit, rolls, crusts, etc., which expert pastry cooks declare is unobtainable by the use of any other leavening agent.

Made from pure, grape cream of tartar.

CUTTING CAVES WITH WATER.

The effect of the hydraulic motor, which is now used for the purpose of removing masses of earth, well-nigh passes belief. A stream of water issuing from a pipe six inches in diameter, with a fall behind it of 375 feet, will carry away a solid rock weighing a ton or more to a distance of fifty or a hundred feet. The velocity of the stream is terrific, and the column of water projected is so solid that if a crowbar or other heavy object be thrust against it the impinging object will be hurled a considerable distance. By this stream of water a man would be instantly killed if he came into contact with it, even at a distance of a couple of hundred feet. At 200 feet from the nozzle a six-inch stream, with 375 feet fall, projected momentarily against the trunk of a tree, will in a second denude it of the heaviest bark as cleanly as if it had been cut with an axe. Whenever such a stream is turned against a bank it cuts and burrows it in every direction, hollowing out great caves, and causing tons of earth to melt and fall and be washed away in the sluices.

Gravity—A stratagem invented to conceal lack of intellect.

Be Sure to Get What You Ask For.

THERE is a Reason—
Why the Good People of America buy Cascarets as Fast as the Clock Ticks.

Every second some one, somewhere, is Buying a little Ten-Cent Box of Cascarets.

1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6—60 times to the Minute, 60 Minutes to the Hour, 3600 Boxes an an Hour, 36,000 Boxes a Day of Ten Hours, 1,080,000 Boxes a Month, and then some.

Think of it—220,000 People take a Cascaret tablet each day. Millions use Cascarets when necessary.

The Judgment of Millions of Bright Americans is Infallible. They have been Buying and Taking Cascarets at that rate for over Six years.

Over Five Millions of Dollars have been Spent to make the merits of Cascarets known, and every cent of it would be lost, did not sound merit claim and hold the constant, continued friendship, Patronage and Endorsement of well-pleased people year after year.

There is also a Reason—

Why there are Parasites who attach themselves to the Healthy Body of Cascaret's success—Imitators, Counterfeiters, Substitutors.

They are Trade Thieves who would rob Cascarets of the "Good Will" of the people, and sneak unearned profits, earned and paid for by Cascarets.

A Dishonest Purpose means a Dishonest Product and a Disregard of the Purchasers' Health or Welfare.

Beware of the Slick Salesman and his ancient "Just as Good" story that common sense refutes.

Cascarets are made only by the Sterling Remedy Company, and put up in metal box with the "long-tailed C" on the cover. They are never sold in bulk.

Every tablet marked "CCC."

Be sure you get the genuine. 765

THE CHECK REIN ON HORSES STRONGLY CONDEMNED

By the Leading Veterinary Surgeons of the World---It Irritates the Animal and is the Means of Producing Disease.

OPINIONS OF CANADIAN SURGEONS

We have pleasure in reproducing from the report of the Canadian Society of Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, a very interesting article in connection with the check rein evil, and which we publish at the request of the Queen's Society.

We, the undersigned veterinary surgeons, are of the opinion that the use of the bearing-rein, when tightly applied, is painful and irritating to horses, is directly or indirectly productive of disease when regularly worn, and by its mechanical action greatly hinders horses from employing their full strength. For the above reasons—on the plea of utility as well as humanity—its use should be discontinued.

Prof. Pritchard, Royal Veterinary College, London.
Prof. Axe, Royal Veterinary College, London.
Prof. Walley, Royal Veterinary College, Edinburgh.
Prof. McCall, Veterinary College, Glasgow.
Prof. Mayer, Agricultural College, Gloucester.
Prof. McGill, Veterinary College, Glasgow. —

Then follow the names of 564 members of the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons, after which ten pages are taken up with special remarks by forty veterinary surgeons and other practical horsemen, in which they describe the particular diseases and evils which arise from the use of the bearing-rein, diseases and evils which have been discovered, in a great measure, by years of experience in the post-mortem house and the dissecting room, as well as through connection with a horse insurance company. The evil effects upon the circulation of the blood, upon the veins, and upon the arteries, are also described by John Adam McBride, Professor of Veterinary Medicine and Surgery.

We, the undersigned veterinary surgeons, are of opinion that the use of the overhead check-rein, when tightly applied and used for any length of time, is painful and irritating to horses, is directly or indirectly productive of disease, and by its mechanical action greatly hinders horses from employing their full strength.

(Signed,) Duncan McEachran, F.R.C.V.S., D.V.S., Dean Faculty of Comp. Medicine and Veterinary Science, McGill University; Chas. McEachran, D.V.S.; F. F. Daubigny, D.V.S., Prof. of Laval; Wm. Patterson, M.D., V.S., M.R.C.V.S., Medalist, Edinburgh; J. Turcot, V.S.; Alex. Cowan, D.V.S., Westmount; Louis Leduc, D.V.S., 543 Hypolite; O. Bruneau, M.V., Prof. Laval; M. A. Piche, D.V.S.

Dr. D. McEachran, F.R.C.S., Principal of the Veterinary College, Montreal, in his opening address to the Society of Comparative Psychology, speaking of the horse, said:—

"Never cause pain or discomfort by the use of unnecessary restraints, such as the bearing-reins, particularly what is called the over-draw check, which is a disgrace to modern civilization, and neither ornamental nor useful in more than one case in a thousand."

And in a letter he states that he favors its abolition on the ground that it is not based on any "common-sense principle," forcing the animal to carry his head in an unnatural position.

William Mole, 260 Adelaide street west, Toronto, Veterinary Surgeon, M.R.C.V.S., London, Eng., says:—

"During my short residence in this country I have been required to treat four cases of poll-evil in horses' heads, invariably induced by the over-check bearing-rein. I have also met with a number of cases of laceration of the angles of the lips and injured tongues from this cause. If horsemen could see and understand the effect of its insidious work on the respiratory organs and glands of the neck, I do not think there would be many who value their animals and desire the greatest speed from them who would use this unnecessary ornament, for a tight bearing-rein or over-check is nothing less than ornamental cruelty."

Prof. Axe, of the Royal Veterinary College, London, says the check-rein is responsible for poll-evil, abscesses, sprung knees, paralysis, and disorders of the brain and muscles.

Dr. Fleming, late Chief Veterinary Surgeon of the British Army, gives the following reasons why it should be abolished.

"It wearies the head and neck of the horse by the constrained and unnatural position in which they are fixed.

"It spoils the appearance of the horse and largely detracts from his free and graceful movements.

"The long-continued pressure on the lower jaw tends to give the animal a hard mouth, and therefore renders it less obedient to the driver's rein.

"It does not prevent stumbling, but, on the contrary, predisposes the animal to fall, and with much more severity than if it were not used.

"In hot weather, or during extreme exertion, it may directly or indirectly produce an attack of giddiness or apoplexy—the last probably terminating in death.

"In heavy draught, in addition to the torture it occasions, it causes a large portion of the horse's power to be lost, from the animal being unable to get his head and neck down and thus to throw more of the weight of his body into the collar.

"The powerful muscles which pull forward the shoulders and indirectly the fore limbs, and which are attached to the head and neck, are by it placed in the least favorable position for exercising their function, so that the horse's action as well as its speed and strength are impaired from this mechanical disadvantage.

"It causes pain and distress in breathing.

"It tends to distort the upper part of the wind-pipe and causes roaring.

"It frets the temper of nervous and excitable horses, and shortens the lives of all."

We have this testimony from the President of the Royal Veterinary College, London, William Pritchard:—

"An act of great cruelty is being daily and hourly perpetrated, and in many instances by very good people who 'know not what they do.' Were they aware of the pain they are inflicting I am sure they would soon bring about the abolition of a custom which undoubtedly is a source of much evil. . . . If the practice were not blameable on any other account than that of compelling the horses to carry the head and neck in a confined position for hours together, surely this of itself would condemn it. . . . Some persons imagine that by so reining up the head the animal is prevented from falling. A moment's thought will suffice to show that this is an error. Let me ask the question: Is the horse, more calculated to avoid obstacles in his path when travelling with his head in a fixed position, or when he has a fair opportunity to move it from side to side and upward and downward? Again the continued pressure of the bit of the bearing-rein (check-rein) deadens the surrounding portion of the mouth with which it is in contact thus producing a partially insensible condition of it—a condition most ill-suited to receive a sudden impression, as a check from the driver, in the event of the horse stumbling from the cause; I would therefore say that, instead of preventing horses from falling, the bearing-rein is calculated to render falling more frequent. Other not uncommon results of the use of this instrument of torture are distortion of the wind-pipe to such a degree as to impede the respiration ever afterwards, excoriation of the mouth and lips, paralysis of the muscles of the face, etc.

"I am happy to say that there are many human men who have seen the folly of the over-check, and Senator Sanford is one of them. I was at Heulo Park a short time ago and the people told me that Mr. Sanford would not permit the outrageous contrivance on any of his horses"—Thomas E. Hill, of Chicago.

"A great many people think that a trotting horse should be driven with an over-check. I can remember when I had the same opinion myself. I am now satisfied that it is a serious mistake. It is just as easy to choke a horse by checking him too high and forcing the tongue back at the entrance of the throat as it would be in any other way. I have seen one or two horses die in harness that I am sure were choked to death."—John Spianin, "Life With the Trotters."

Testimony of The Lancet of London, England:—"We are glad to find that useless and mischievous piece of harness, the bearing-rein, is being discarded by the best drivers. Whether on grounds of policy or humanity, a system which has been conclusively shown to be injurious and to produce an ungainly, exhaustive and unsafe carriage of the head in the horse, is likely to be given up.

TRICKS OF THE TRADE.

Getting After Customers Who Can Be Caught by Bargains.

"Make me some cheap shoes, good lookers, that I can sell for bargains in February or March." This is a usual order given to the shoe manufacturer who can make a shoe that looks like a shoe—and that's the best one can say about it. The dealer uses these shoes as bait to get customers to buy at a profit to people who are not his regular customers. Ever buy a pair? Then you know them to be as worthless, as a shoe that's been through a fire.

The man who knows how to conserve his earned income buys the shoe upon which is stamped the Seal of Certainty and he likes to see the ladies, too, buy the real Slater Shoe. They are made and manufactured by the Slater Shoe Company.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

words used were that he (Mr. Geoffrion), as chairman of the Public Accounts Committee, was a disgrace to Parliament. He asked that these words should be expunged from Hansard.

Mr. German (Welland) defended the action of the Government and said it was clear that the moneys were paid to the North Atlantic Trading Company.

Mr. Foster—What is that?

Mr. German—That I would like to know. (Loud Opposition laughter).

Mr. Robitaille (Lib. Quebec) started out by complaining of discourtesy on the part of Deputy Speaker Marcil, who had declined to recognize him when he rose to take part in the debate. For this remark he was called to order by Mr. Speaker Sutherland, who had just taken his place.

"I can take my medicine as well as any man," was Mr. Robitaille's retort. Mr. Robitaille then went on to attack the Government for withholding the information which had led to the motion being brought forward. He said that if the North Atlantic Trading Company transaction was an honest one, then there was no reason for withholding the information asked for. On the other hand, in attempting to suppress the evidence, the Government simply confirmed the suspicions which existed. He went on to refer to what he himself had witnessed at the Public Accounts Committee, and described the conduct of the procedure there as highly unsatisfactory. He had known witnesses to refuse to take the oath because they declared they didn't recognize a God! He also pointed out that, judging from the statements made by the Government in entering into the contract with the North Atlantic Trading Company in such a secret fashion, they had violated the conditions which prevailed on the continent of Europe in regard to these matters.

A division was taken on Mr. Monk's motion, which was defeated by 99 to 51. Messrs. Bourassa, Lavergne (Montmagny) and Robitaille voting with the Opposition.

POSTMASTERS' SALARIES.

Mr. Lemieux, in answer to a series of questions on the same theme, replied that the Government was considering a scheme for more liberal compensation for postmasters, letter carriers, and the outside employees of city post offices.

Mr. Foster gave notice that on Tuesday next, he would take occasion to say something with regard to the report of the Royal Insurance Commission.

Mr. Bourassa asked whether it was correct that the interim position of the minister of marine and fisheries was being filled by the Minister of Inland Revenue, and also whether Mr. Scott was acting as interim minister of militia. He confessed that he was surprised that Mr. Lemieux had not been asked to act as interim minister of marine and fisheries.

Mr. Lemieux replied that he had already sufficient work in his two departments.

Mr. R. L. Borden enquired whether the Minister of Labor had any information to offer to the House with regard to the threatened strikes in the West and in Nova Scotia.

Mr. Lemieux replied that the parties in both instances had been under the impression that the Labor Disputes Bill had not yet been sanctioned. He hoped, however, to be able to make a statement to-morrow.

The House went into supply on the marine and fisheries estimates and passed votes amounting to over $3,000,000.

The House adjourned at midnight.

Is Woman Suffrage a Mark of Progress?

Hurrying to Polls After Morning Housework.

Discussing Merits of a Candidate before Voting

Delegates to State Convention.

No! Says a Mere Man in a State Where Women Vote.

HAS complete woman suffrage in Colorado, Utah, Wyoming and Idaho, where it has been in force for more than a decade, proved successful? The writer of the following article thinks not.

It isn't difficult to determine that the writer is a man; moreover, a man who isn't favorably impressed with feminine participation in the rights and privileges of the ballot. "But," he argues, "advocates of woman suffrage have long presented their views, permit me to state mine."

His observations are made at close range; whether his conclusions are correct or not, he seems to have the courage of his convictions. He must be a bold man, in fact, to approach his subject from the viewpoint he has.

Perhaps he may be a dyspeptic, or merely a crusty bachelor. But he has evidently studied the subject and thinks the views of a "mere man" should he heard. So they are given, to stand or fall as one regards his conclusions.

NOW, between the fall and spring elections, the political pot in Colorado is boiling with unaccustomed fierceness. The edict has gone forth quietly from the Machine leaders of both the great parties that the nomination of women for any but public-school offices will no longer be permitted.

Naturally, the women do not like it. Even those who ordinarily take no interest in political affairs are exercised over this trampling upon their rights.

Those who have no expectation or desire to run for office, yet dearly cherish and hug to their bosoms the sacred right to be candidates, should the spirit so move them, mean to see to it that no "mere men" shall ever take that right from them.

On their part, the party leaders argue that the woman candidate is responsible for the evil repute of affairs political in the Centennial State.

No man with a reputation to lose, say they, will run for office against a woman. He can't afford to. The woman and her followers can assail his character, reputation and record without restraint, but the traditional gallantry of his sex makes it impossible for him to retaliate in kind.

He must never whisper that his antagonist is anything but a lady. If she asserts that he is a thief, a grafter, a robber of the poor and a betrayer of the innocent, he dare not even so much as insinuate that she doesn't tell the truth.

MEN DRIVEN OFF TICKETS

One politician has said that if he found himself a candidate for office against a woman, without the option of withdrawing, he would go out and commit suicide.

The party that holds its primaries first finds itself at a disadvantage. If it puts up a candidate regarded as invincible, the other party puts up a woman in opposition. The invincible candidate promptly withdraws rather than submit to running the gauntlet that he knows lies ahead of him, with the satisfaction of fighting back denied him.

To get candidates who will "stick" it is often necessary to nominate men who are anything but a credit to their party. Hence it has been decided that the woman candidate must go.

But whether the woman candidate must indeed go or not remains to be seen. The women have not yet had their say.

There is talk that a "Woman's party" will enter the political arena, and that the next Governor of Colorado will be a woman.

As the women ordinarily cast 40 per cent. of the vote of Colorado, it is evident that if they should vote together they could put up a stiff contest, as many men would take their side.

Bitterly have the politicians repented ever giving the ballot to the so-called weaker sex; but the amendment to the State Constitution never can be undone. Even if the female candidate can be eliminated, the indeterminate quantity of the female vote will always remain to upset the best-laid plans and the most scientific of calculations. That the female candidate will consent to be eliminated, however, is highly improbable.

Unquestionably, woman's suffrage in Colorado, Wyoming, Utah and Idaho—the four States in which the sexes stand upon absolute political equality—has not worked out as anticipated by either its friends or its enemies.

NO PERCEPTIBLE PURIFICATION

There has been no catastrophe holding those States forth as "horrible examples" to warn all the rest of mankind to beware of permitting females within reach of the ballot-box.

On the other hand, there has been no perceptible purification of politics. Women have been arrested in Denver on charges of repeating. Voting on fraudulent tax receipts and similar tricks of the ward heeler are practiced in Denver to a greater extent than in any other city in America.

To attribute this entirely, or even mainly, to woman suffrage would be both false and unfair; but it shows that the purification of politics by the simple expedient of permitting women to vote is an iridescent dream.

Full or partial suffrage for women now prevails in twenty-six American Commonwealths. Wyoming extended the unrestricted ballot to women in 1869, Colorado in 1893 and Utah and Idaho in 1896.

In Kansas women vote for school and municipal officials; in Montana and Iowa for the issuance of municipal bonds, and in Louisiana upon all questions of public expenditure.

Oregon and Washington women are conducting a vigorous campaign for the ballot, with prospects of early success. The granting of school suffrage alone does not meet the demand; it has been tried in Arizona, Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Michigan, Nebraska, North Dakota, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Vermont, Washington and Wisconsin. In all these Commonwealths, as well as in Kansas, Iowa, Montana and Louisiana, the entering-wedge has been driven.

The moment the women of any State are given the right to vote the evolution of the female politician becomes inevitable. She is a character that demands careful study on the part of all aspirants to political preferment.

A hustler, full of vim, nervous energy and personal magnetism, she may come from any walk of life—the highest or the lowest. Free of speech and in manner, she is rarely touched by the breath of scandal.

Sometimes she is reputed to have "a past," but she is mightily capable of taking care of the present and of providing for the future. If she happens to be young and pretty, well and good; but some of the most successful of her class cannot be described thus.

THE WAYS OF THE FAIR POLITICIAN

It is not often that she is ambitious to attain political preferment for herself. True, women have been elected to almost every office, short of the Governorship, within the gift of the people of Colorado; but the women so elected have not come from the ranks of the female politicians.

Generally they have been business women or professional women, who found their opportunity in the discord of regular party leaders, or who seized the psychological moment of popular revolt against the reign of bossism. The female politician is prone at times to instigate a terrifying splitting of ballots. She reads every individual in her territory as easily as a printed page, and knows just whom to trust, whom to cozen, whom to bluff and whom to ignore as hopeless and unapproachable.

She divines by instinct the woman who can be handled to better advantage by male workers than by her own indefatigable self, and quickly spots the men whom she can win by smiles, tears, flattery or promises, sifting them unerringly from those who can be brought into line only by other arguments.

As a friend she is invaluable. As an enemy she is implacable and without mercy. Her advent upon the political arena has introduced a new hazard to tenure of office that the shrewdest of male politicians confess their inability to estimate with any degree of accuracy or to control with any degree of success.

She has been instrumental in the ending of many a promising career, and has brought more than one forlorn hope triumphantly to the house of fulfilment. She has been the instrument that has shaped most of the political "accidents" that have confounded the calculations of Machine leaders and party bosses in Colorado, Idaho, Utah and Wyoming since she first took a hand in the game.

At the present time there are more than 4,000,000 women in America competing with men in the ranks of the breadwinners, leaving out of consideration those who are occupied in what is regarded as woman's proper sphere—household work and domestic service.

According to the twelfth census, out of a total of 131 gainful occupations women are employed in all but two, one being that of telegraph and telephone linemen and the other that of soldiers, sailors and marines.

AWAKE AND ALERT

The line that separates the sexes in the trades, professions and business pursuits having thus been obliterated, it is, perhaps, only natural that women feel that the political deadline is unreasonable and irksome.

Performing so large a share of the world's work, it need not excite surprise that they demand a share in the making of the laws by which they are governed and by which the occupations and industries in which they are engaged are regulated.

Although the progressiveness of America is proverbial, yet this country is not in the van on the question of woman's suffrage. In Australia, New Zealand, Finland and the Isle of Man women stand on absolutely equal ground with men in the casting of the ballot and the holding of office.

In Great Britain, Sweden, Norway and Iceland women exercise the right of suffrage for the election of all officials excepting members of the national legislative bodies, and it is believed by many that in Great Britain even this disability will be removed within the present year.

Canada has given the right to vote on municipal affairs to widows and unmarried women who own property. Outside of the United States the granting of additional political rights to women is now an issue of importance in Canada, Denmark, France, Germany, Great Britain, Holland, Hungary, Norway, Sweden and Switzerland.

While, in the writer's opinion, the granting of full woman suffrage in the four Western States has not been a complete success, perhaps existing troubles will adjust themselves in time. It is not fair to judge a system by its faults alone, nor to measure the great army of noble womanhood there by the political activity and ethical conceptions of some of the women politicians.

The endeavor has been to state facts as they are, not to slur women who look upon suffrage as their right, nor to reflect upon the many thousands who exercise that right patriotically and fairly. This "mere man" simply desires to record his opinion of the working of general suffrage as he has seen it.

A few weeks ago a woman—Miss Hilda Smith—was drawn as a member of a Denver jury. She sat in the jurors' box with five men to try a divorce case.

The jury, after listening carefully to evidence and arguments, decided in favor of the plaintiff and gave him a decree upon the ground of desertion. Miss Smith collected $1.50 for her services and returned to duties with which she was more familiar.

"It is not hard work," she remarked, "but I have no desire to become a professional juror."

Some Freaks of Legislation in Many States

Proposed to Make Prize Euchre a Crime

Only Two Hats a Year for Missouri Women

Demands Longer Sheets on Hotel Beds.

WHAT if women were prohibited by law from spending more than $1.98 for a hat and were limited to two new pieces of headgear each year!

And what if men were forbidden to treat each other and were fined $1000 for offering a highball to a thirsty friend! Or—terrible thought to those enjoying single bliss—what if bachelors were required to pay an annual tax sufficient to support one lonely female!

That these things have not come to pass in various States is not the fault of legislators who champion this sort of "freaky" legislation. Strange and devious are the shifts of the legislative mind, and marvelous, indeed, are some of the bills offered for enactment.

IT WAS in Ohio that a statesman offered a bill making it a grievous and criminal offense to treat a friend in a place where liquor was sold.

Ohio thus took the lead in aiming a blow at the treating system; but South Dakota has gone Ohio one better. At Pierre, the other day, the Legislature actually passed an anti-treating bill which was sent to the Governor for his approval.

More attention was attracted by the Ohio bill because it was first in the field. To take a cherished friend into a saloon, lead him to the bar and invite him to order whatever he desires, according to the measure, is a temptation causing the fall of many men, the disruption of home ties, instigates high crimes and misdemeanors in general and merits vigorous punishment. Representative Spangler, of Henry county, favorably reported the bill.

According to the measure, a white-aproned bartender handing forth a foaming glass of beer at a "treating" invitation is guilty of a crime against society, and a man ordering a cocktail for a friend before dinner calls upon himself the just ire of the Commonwealth.

The fine for treating or accepting a treat was placed at $1 to $10 for the first offense. To ask a friend to "have another" was finable at $5 to $50, and if the friend accepted a third, a man worth only $1000 would be broke after satisfying the law. To the relief of all bibblers in Ohio, the bill was side-tracked.

Influenced, perhaps, by President Roosevelt's crusade against race suicide, Representative Nye introduced a bill in the same Legislature making it a crime for an apartment-house owner to refuse to rent to families with children.

"The trouble of moving from apartment houses where a ban is placed on little ones no doubt is the cause of so many small families," Representative Nye declared. "What if a youngster screams on the flat below; people with a mustard seed of patriotism in their hearts will rejoice to know a possible president has been born."

MANY SLAPS AT BACHELORS

Bachelors have long been subject for attack by alleged hen-pecked legislators. Bills have been offered in many States calling for punishment of those who believe it is good for man to be alone. It may seem singular that most bills introduced into State Legislatures for the taxing of bachelors had their birth in the minds of married men. They say the bachelors do not know the sweetness of home-life; bachelors unkindly look upon it as an act of envy and malice.

A bill providing for the levying of a tax upon every bachelor sufficient to support one "old maid" was prepared by Representative Asa W. Elson, of Ohio. All men should be married at 30, Elson has declared, or they should support a single woman. The bill hangs fire.

Representative Oberting, of Indiana, proposed before a committee of the Legislature to tax bachelors and apply the money toward raising the salaries of school teachers.

"It is not good for man to be alone," contended Mr. Oberting in an address. "Unmarried men between 25 and 30 should pay $2.50 a year; bachelors between 30 and 35, $4; between 35 and 40, $5, and confirmed bachelors, $7."

"Why don't you tax old maids?" asked a member of the committee.

"Because it isn't their fault," replied Mr. Oberting. The bill was postponed.

There was consternation among the 100,000 bachelors in Texas when Representative Lively introduced a bill into the House proposing a tax. He declared it would bring an annual revenue to the State of $800,000. So strong was sentiment in favor of the bill that a bachelor lobby was formed to defeat it.

When a bill imposing a tax on bachelors was proposed in Minnesota, but postponed because of position, several members suggested a tax on whiskers. Governor Davidson, of Wisconsin, is said to be at the head of a movement in that State to make the unmarried men pay up. According to statistics, only 400,000 of 1,157,161 males in the State are married.

Similar measures have been proposed in Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Massachusetts and West Virginia, but as a rule the members framing the bill weakened when the time came to present it.

No doubt many men would bless the name of Norfleet, of Missouri, if his bill to limit women to two new hats each year had passed. That expensive hats for a wife cut down a man's income and limit his expenditure for tobacco probably no husband will deny. However, the small flower beds with which women love to bedeck themselves are often inartistic to the masculine eye, and to insure simplicity, Representative Norfleet would allow no fair one to spend more than $1.98 for a hat.

The town council of Nordhausen, Prussian Saxony, passed an ordinance recently prohibiting women from wearing trains on their dresses. The penalty for a violation of the ordinance was fixed at $7.59. The measure is for "the protection of health."

WOULD REGULATE HOTELS

As tall men, particularly tall traveling men, know, nothing is so aggravating as to go to bed in a hotel and gaze at one's toes protruding from the opposite end of the cover. Senator Barker, of Wisconsin, has evidently suffered from cold feet. A short time ago he introduced a bill to compel hotel proprietors to use sheets nine feet in length on beds, to place clean individual towels in the bedrooms every morning and air the bed-clothing daily.

Believing that association with heads of institutions supported by the State and railroad men leads to the corruption of honest legislators, Assemblyman Roethe, of the same State, fathered a bill demanding that legislators avoid these men and refuse to attend their banquets. He said these suppers are given for no other purpose than to "jolly" the lawmakers of the State.

A bill was introduced into the Legislature of Rhode Island ordering George N. Kingsbury, commissioner for the Jamestown Exposition, "to avoid all further public association with 'Boss' Brayton." General Brayton is blind, and for many years has occupied a chair in the Capitol. Charging that he is a lobbyist and controls votes, Governor Higgins recently endeavored to eject him from the building. The bill was designed to prevent Kingsbury from carrying messages from Brayton to members of the General Assembly.

Although many persons, including scientists, have favored putting to death persons afflicted with incurable diseases or mental afflictions, the first attempt to embody this into a law in the United States was made in Iowa at a former session of the Legislature. A bill was offered by Representative Gregory permitting physicians to take human life in cases where there is great suffering and death is certain, and of deformed or idiotic children. The bill required three physicians and the County Coroner to participate in the act, which was to be done with the consent of the nearest relative of the patient himself. A bill was introduced into the Legislature of New York by Assemblyman De Groot making a person who advocated the legal putting to death of incurables guilty of felony.

Sometimes queer mistakes are made in acts which are passed. Because of the omission of a comma from the local option license law of New Hampshire the courts have been called upon to decide whether towns shall vote for license every two or four years.

The measure aimed at prize euchre and whist parties was introduced last month in the Legislature of Alabama.

Some Curious Facts

MILLIONS of European birds go to the tundras of Siberia and to Iceland and Greenland and other northern resorts, rearing their young there.

The nest of the boya bird of India is ingeniously illuminated. This little bird fastens fireflies to it with moist clay, and in the night it glows with changeful sparks.

Every cyclist in Roumania is forced by the authorities to have his name and address not only on the frame of his machine, but also on the lamp glass, so that it may be read at night.

In Norway drunkenness is punished by imprisonment. When a man is incarcerated he has a loaf and wine supplied to him morning and evening. The bread is served in a wooden bowl full of wine, in which it has been soaked for an hour. The first day the prisoner swallows his allowance willingly enough. The second day it seems less pleasing, and at the end of the eight or ten days men have been known to abstain altogether from the food thus presented. Except in rare instances, the drunkard is cured by this treatment.

In the northern wilds of Minnesota, a trapper named Edwards was drowned. For several weeks his big bulldog faithfully guarded the man's camp. A surveying crew found Edwards' camp outfit and boat on an island in Bear Island Lake. The bulldog was there, almost starved, but still on guard, and it was a long time before he would let one of the party get near. The dog refused to go until the boat and camp outfit had been loaded on the surveyors' wagon.

A NEST BUILDING FISH.

Nature Affords a Safe Asylum For the Helpless Fishes.

It is doubtful whether protective mimicry among animals is better exemplified than in the case of the fish commonly known as the marbled angler of the Sargasso sea (Pterophryne histrio). Owing to its peculiar structure it is a poor swimmer, and it therefore spends most of its life moving slowly about on the bottom among corals, seaweed, etc., which these fishes closely resemble in color and in outline. They cling, too, to the floating masses of sargassum weed with their peculiar fins, and the color markings of the fish closely resemble the weed itself. Not only does the weed thus furnish a home for this species, but the fish actually constructs a nest from it and therein deposits its eggs. One of these nests, found in connection with the Hassler expedition, was described as consisting of a round mass of sargassum about the size of two fists rolled up together. To all appearances it was made of nothing but this gulf weed, the branches and leaves of which were, however, evidently knit together and not merely tangled into a roundish mass, for, though some of the leaves and branches hung loose from the nest, it became at once visible that the bulk of the ball was held together by threads trending in every direction among the seaweed. By close observation it became apparent that this mass of seaweed was a nest, the central part of which was bound up in the form of a ball, with several loose branches extending in various directions. On still closer examination the nest above described was found to be full of eggs, which were scattered throughout the mass.

Nature has thus afforded a safe asylum for these somewhat helpless fishes, whose cutaneous filaments, which are plentifully provided on the belly, around the mouth and on the dorsal spine, so nearly resemble the weed itself that predaceous fishes doubtless fail to recognize the living animals, and thus the latter escape extermination.—Scientific American.

WHY HIS MARRIAGE FAILED.

He regarded children as a nuisance.

He did all his courting before marriage.

He doled out money to his wife as if to a beggar.

He never had time to go anywhere with his wife.

He never dreamed that there were two sides to marriage.

He never dreamed that a wife needs praise or compliments.

He thought his wife should spend all her time doing housework.

He treated his wife as he would not have dared to treat another woman.

He never dreamed that his wife needed a vacation, recreation or change.

He never made concessions to his wife's judgment, even in unimportant matters.

He thought the marriage vow had made him his wife's master instead of her partner.

He took all the little attentions lavished on him by his wife as his by "divine right" and not as favors.—Success.

Flowers For London.

In Scilly and Guernsey the industry of growing early flowers for the London market has reached large proportions. From the former island as many as fifty tons of early spring blossoms are shipped to the mainland in a single day. The flower season begins in January, when the early varieties are coming into bloom. Often, when the weather is cold and cloudy, the buds are tardy in opening, and it is necessary to resort to artificial aid in order that the waiting markets may be supplied. The flower heads are picked as soon as one bud penetrates the calyx and placed in jars of water, which are ranged upon the shelves of a greenhouse kept at a temperature of 60 to 70 degrees. In a few hours the backward buds respond to the genial warmth, spread their petals, assume their glowing colors and are ready for bunching and packing.

An Anecdote of Whittier.

A friend in conversation with Mr. Whittier, the poet, remarked that he was about to contract to furnish a lot of oak timber for the government gunboats and asked him if he thought it was in consistence with the peace doctrines of the Quaker denomination. Without saying anything calculated to decide the question the two arrived at their parting place, when Mr. Whittier, shaking his friend's hand, said, "Moses, if thee does furnish any of that oak timber thee spoke of, be sure that it is all sound."

BIG BUSINESS.

Large business continues the rule at the Auditorium this week. The Four Emperors of Music are perhaps the laughing hit of the show, although there are many other features of equal merit. To-morrow's matinee for ladies and children promises to be unusually large. Coming next week: Felix, Barry and Barry, comedy skit; McCree and Poole, sharp-shooters; the Mimic Four, singers, dancers and character changers; the Three Musical Shelters, Fred Morton, Lelia Taylor, Inze and Lorella and others.

THE QUEEREST SCHOOLS.

Educational Establishments of Many Kinds—School for Nursemaids to be Opened in London—Lessons for Grave-Diggers.

There are some very strange educational establishments open at the present day. Miss Alice Boutelle and Mr. Wanamaker opened a school for cash boys some little time ago. According to a prospectus issued by them, pupils who must not be under fourteen years of age, are taught arithmetic in every day use, book-keeping, penmanship, and the quick handling and counting of money. Many of the boys who have attended the school are now earning good wages as cashiers in some of the largest stores in New York and Chicago.

It is proposed to open in London a school for nursemaids, where girls over sixteen years of age may be given lessons in the management of infants, preparing of children's food, plain sewing, laundry work, and taught the kindergarten system of education. Such an institution already exists in Berlin. It was founded two years ago by a clergyman, and is in connection with a foundling hospital. The growing girls of this establisnment are taught to become competent housemaids, and positions are found for them in the houses of the best families in Germany.

Russia possesses a school for policemen, where young men are trained for the force. The school is situated in St. Petersburg, and in a museum connected thereto the pupils make themselves familiar with jemmies, drills, chisels, and other tools used by professional thieves. A particular branch of the school is the Russian passport system, which every budding policeman has to study in detail.

A remarkable educational establishment is the school for judges opened recently in Paris. Here make-believe trials are held by the pupils under the supervision of well-known attorneys. The whole procedure, from the issuing of a warrant for arrest to the summing up and the judge's verdict, is carried through in a business-like manner.

At Monte Carlo there is a school of croupiers. It is held during the six summer months in the clubroom of the Tiraux Pigeons and the Salle d'Escrime, in the Casino building. Here are tables similar to those in the Casino gaming-room, and each pupil in turn takes the role of croupier, while others personate players and stake money over the table. At a given instant the croupier must calculate and pay out the winning stakes.

There are usually between forty and fifty pupils in this school, and a six months' course is generally sufficient to turn them into finished croupiers.

A very odd educational establishment is the school for grave-diggers in Belgium. It was founded by the directors of the Great Evere Cemetery, and all candidates for posts as sextons in Belgium must undergo training in the school and pass an examination.

There are several schools of housewifery in England, the principal of which is connected with the National Training School of Cookery in London. Every branch of household management is taught at this school; the keeping of accounts, the principles of domestic sanitation, and a certain amount of sick training being included.

HARD RULES FOR CHILDREN.

London Doctor Would Cut Off Most of Little Folks' Indulgences.

Dr. George Carpenter, a prominent authority on the diseases and treatment of children, in a lecture before the Institute of Hygiene, at London, recently, laid down several rules for child rearing, one of which was that children must never be excused from eating wholesome food when set before them.

They must be made to eat it willy-nilly, he said, and mothers must not be frightened when they scream or otherwise protest. There must be no second helping to dainties. If a child professes to be hungry after it has had its share, bread must be given to it.

Dr. Carpenter condemned currants, which, he said, were excessively indigestible and had not the least nutritive value. Children should never taste currant sultan cake or plum pudding. They should have no light at night, and should not be allowed to stay up after bedtime.

VIGOROUS THINKING.

Adopt Hobby of Thinking and You'll Prolong Your Life.

Nothing reacts so favorably upon the various functions of the body as strong, vigorous, mental exercise. Nothing else will take the place of clear, forcible thinking. It is a perpetual tonic. Use your brains, and bodily strength will follow. It is well known that great thinkers are longer lived, as a rule, than indifferent thinkers.

A celebrated English physician says that to attain a long life, the brain must always be active when not asleep and he lays great stress upon the necessity of everybody having a hobby outside of the vocation which gives him a living. This hobby must be one in which he takes real delight, one which will exercise pleasantly and agreeably, without unduly taxing his mental faculties.

Nothing will destroy itself quicker than an idle brain. If there is any body in this world to pitied, it is the one who thinks he has nothing to do; no motive to impel him out of himself; no ambition which will exercise his brain or his ingenuity, and call out his brain or his ingenuity and call out his resourcefulness or exercise his energies.

PICTURE OF LANGUOR AND WEAKNESS

Tired in mind and body—Worn out by the monotonous and debilitating indoor life of winter.

To a great many people spring is anything but a season of joy and gladness. True, there is relief to think that the cold and storm of winter have passed, but on the other hand, there are weeks of weariness and languor which are almost more than the run-down system can stand.

Just at the time when the buds are bursting forth, when the birds are chirping merrily on the trees, and all Nature is sending out the notes of joy and gladness, are felt most strongly the debilitating and enervating effects of indoor winter life.

But Nature has provided certain restoratives to be used at this season of the year, and they are probably nowhere combined in such happy proportions as in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Thousands of women, and men, too, have learned to escape this time of weakness, depression and discouragement by the use of this great food cure.

Loss of appetite, indigestion, headaches, lack of energy and ambition, weakness and dizziness, shortness of breath, depressed spirits and irritability of temper are some of the accompaniments of spring ailments which arise from the weak, watery condition of the blood.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food naturally, gradually and certainly overcomes these symptoms by the actual formation of rich, red blood.

Vitality is increased, strength and confidence return, buoyancy is felt in every movement of the body, and the glow of health and vigor is restored to the pallid cheek.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

SARTORIAL NEWS.

Colored Slips Under Lawn Dresses. Rickrack Again Used.

The custom of wearing a slip underneath thin dresses has made it possible to wear them winter and summer. And the new spring styles show these thin gowns over washable lawns in white, pink, buff and blue, and they also show them over taffeta foundations.

Odd effects in lawns and muslins are obtained by printed figures, which give the impression of eyelet embroidery designs, showing a contrasting color below the openwork.

It may be that the days of rickrack are returning, for one sees dresses trimmed with braid made into lace with such a fine design that very little of the actual braid is recognizable. For instance, there are braids that are twisted and turned and made up with thread and finer braid until the result is something very novel and decorative in the lace line.

Among the handmade trimmings is a trellis work of taffeta, the effect chiefly wrought through the medium of narrow strappings, filled in with a waved arrangement of the silk closely gathered at intervals.

In silk petticoats the newest colors are yellow, shading from canary to a golden brown hue, and shaded silks in three tones.

Fine straw hats with wings and rosettes of straw are among the novelties seen in the shops.

Morning gowns that are made with breakfast jackets and skirts to match are both dainty and comfortable. Here is one made of dotted challis and trimmed with lace. Dotted swiss carried out in the same design would be charming for a summer morning gown.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

FRIBBLES OF FASHION.

Figured Fabrics—Dyed Laces on Smart Lawn Gowns.

This promises to be a figured season, and thus far plaids and barred designs and coin spots lead. Sometimes both plaid and spots are found in the same design, and again one or the other is seen against a plain background. Plain tones, however, always have a certain popularity.

Directoire coats are very much to the fore. An original juxtaposition was achieved in a model of striped gray cloth, the lines of the jacket being placed perpendicularly and those of the skirt diagonally.

Dyed valenciennes lace on white and pale tinted lawn dresses is one of the novelties of the season. These pastel laces are often used with black velvet ribbon or black lace.

STRIPED VOILE GOWN—5600, 5353.

A new color which has come very strongly into vogue is called "vieux apprecot." Just why the French have applied such a name is undecided, as an old apricot is hardly a thing of beauty as to coloring. The color itself is rich and beautiful, and shown in ostrich tips, paradise plumes, velvets and ribbons it is delightful.

The voile gown in the cut is of dove gray in a fascinating shadow stripe and is trimmed with bands of the material cut bias. The sleeves are distinctly novel and can be made either in three-quarter or full length.

THEIR TEMPORAL, PHYSICAL AND SPIRITUAL NEEDS

Every Minister or Clergyman Should Be a Philanthropist to Accomplish Effective Spiritual Work.

No man is in a better position to scatter blessings and sunshine all along his pathway than the minister of the gospel. Many of them, however forget that their office and ministry not only includes ministering to their spiritual need, but also to their physical and temporal needs. It has been amply proven that spiritual good can be much more effectually accomplished by the minister or pastor who manifests and active sympathy with physical and temporal requirements. Rev. C. E. Burnell, Baptist minister of Forest, Ont., is one of those who, when he has the priceless blessing of health brought into his home, does not forget to use his influence and ministry to bless other homes. He is numbered among Phychine's warmest friends, because it brought sunshine to his home. And Mr. Burrell has two splendid reasons for the good words he speaks for this great remedy. The first and best one is that it cured his wife. Speaking of that case, Mr. Burrell says:

"Several years ago my wife was so seriously ill of lung trouble as for months to be unable to walk, at which time a noted physician told me that the next dress that I would buy for her would be a shroud. She used Phychine and is now reasonably well."

Rev. Mr. Burrell has also noticed the good work Phychine has done for others. Speaking of one case in particular that come under his notice, that of a Mr. Galbraith, he says:

"His was an extreme case; apparently, so far as I could judge, a hopeless case, and yet is now so much improved as to be away on a visit. Previous to going he was taking Phychine and was gaining at the rate of 3 ½ pounds per week, and was again quite well and able to walk again. The doctors absolutely gave him up."

Phychine pronounced Si-keen, is not only a cure for advanced lung trouble in many cases, but is an absolute specific for coughs, colds, bronchitis, catarrh, la grippe, night sweats, pneumonia, stomach trouble and all the diseases that lead to constipation. The time to cure consumption is before it begins, that is, cure the trouble that leads to it. Pshychine will do it. It tones up the entire system. At all drug stores, or Dr. T. A. THOUGHT HE OUGHT TO KNOW.

Reddy was the clergyman's handyman, and his favorite resort was the barber's shop. All of a sudden Reddy ceased visiting the barber's and the clergyman asked him the reason.

"Well, sir, I've quarreled with him because he said things about you."

"Indeed, Reddy? and what was the barber saying about me?"

"He said, sir, that your head was cracked."

"And I'm sure you contradicted him," said the minister, for he knew the barber's love of joking.

"No, I couldn't do that, sir, when he's had your head in his hands so often. I thought he ought to know, but I was so angry at him telling everyone."

HE BLINDED THEM.

The case looked rather against Mr. Sands the grocer—he had been charged with selling as coffee a mixture which contained 75 per cent. of chicory—until he gave his explanation. Then indeed, it seemed that the clouds would roll away.

"It was due to a mistake on the part of my apprentice," he said. "The stock of coffee and chickory is kept in tins which look somewhat similar. In making up, my apprentice mistook the tins, and instead of taking three parts of coffee to one of chicory he did the reverse."

In due course the apprentice was called, and he corroborated the evidence of his employer.

"Do you often make this blunder?" he was asked.

"I have never made it since the inspector called."

"But did you ever make such a blunder before?"

"Well," was the hesitating reply, "I—er—didn't know it was a blunder before."

FEEDING LONDON GULLS.

There is a man to whom the sight of the coming of the seagulls on the Thames has suggested possibilities of trade, and for several hours every day he promenades the embankment with a tray, on which are set out small paper bags full of sprats, says the London Daily News.

"They sell like hot cakes," he told a reporter. "People will always spend a penny on a bagful to feed the gulls with. They like to see them dart on the fish and catch them before they reach the water.

"I'm just a hawker, and make my living this way. It's a brisk trade while it lasts, which is most of the winter, and I'm not denying it pays pretty well. Even giving ten for a penny I'm able to make a living profit out of them."

It may be added that he provides a considerable amount of amusement for those who patronize the embankment during the luncheon hour also. The feeding of the gulls is now a recognized pastime, and one which attracts a large number of visitors. The birds fly around the buttresses of the bridge in flocks emitting a continuous chorus of hoarse cries. By Blackfriars Pier they perch on the railing of the deserted gangway, not single spies, but in battalions, all facing up-stream, all keenly awake to the chance passing of a morsel of bread or a sprat.

The fast ebbing tide carries the floating birds down with it. They shoot, passive and uninterested in their fate through the arches by dozens, but once below the bridge they rise on the water, their wide wings spread out and up they swoop over the mass of cabs and 'buses, drays and trolleys that streams across the bridge, away to the edge of the embankment again, where a newcomer has just opened a bag of sprats.

A fish is thrown up into the air, three birds dart simultaneously from different sides in its direction. A collision seems inevitable, yet apparently by mutual consent two of the birds turn aside with a sharp flick of the wing, and the third etaches his prey with a downward flash. His gray back shimmers in the sunshine, a moment and he is lost to sight again, indistinguishable in the swirling mass.

Some of the birds are tame enough to stand upon the parapet on the embankment and pick up crumbs, while men stand by and watch.

ATTRACTIVE TRIFLES.

Brown Boots For Spring—Practical Girdle—Gray Popular.

Brown boots are going to be very much worn this spring. With a brown costume russet boots are particularly attractive, but they are now worn with gowns of all colors, even black, save in mourning.

A pretty girdle is formed of two bias folds of the goods, or silk may be used if the frock is not self trimmed, the lower fold being attached to the skirt, while the upper is set on the bodice. When adjusted, which work is done by means of any one of the patent devices for fastening, the juncture between bodice and skirt cannot possibly be detected.

Gray is one of the smart spring colors and is a prominent shade among the new tailored suits, ranging from pearl gray to dark oxford tones. There are many invisible plaids and checks in this color. Pretty, too, are the gray silks and plain toned gray pongees.

When yellow, which this season is such a modish color, is becoming, try wearing it with a lace yoke to keep the trying yellow tint away from the face. By this means very often a really unbecoming shade of any color can be adapted to the wearer.

Ribbon threading is a decoration successfully applied to lingerie, lace and silk blouses and bodices.

There is no cessation in the elaborate use of lace and the lavish employment of ribbon in decorating gowns, the only difference being in the new designs concocted by the manufacturers and the pleasing conceits modistes weave from ribbons for beautifying costumes.

Although the tailored shirt is to be popular, the intricately exquisite lingerie blouse with its incrustations of hand work and insetting of fine lace is in no danger of being ousted.

The tiny tot's dress illustrated is of Persian lawn trimmed with lace and embroidery consisting of tiny flowers somewhat conventionalized.

GLIMPSES OF THE MODE.

Smart Effects In Tailor Mades—New Ginghams Are Charming.

Many of the new tailor mades for spring show the popular hip length coat and jaunty Eton.

New plaids in gingham are charming, nor are the tartans the only varieties. Sizes vary from a quite large pattern down to the smallest check.

Other smart skirts have hip yokes of varying depth, cut under which fall wide and narrow stitelike pieces.

Trimmed skirts are in vogue, but on the new models the principal ornamentation is put on above the hem. As all these dress skirts must be quite long, there is none of the barrel effect so much in favor and so unbecoming about two or three years back. There is little or no fullness allowed about the waist and hips, for both the princess and empire designs are still popular, and neither allows of any fullness above the knees.

All white costumes are always smart, but this year the striped ones are the fad. White with a hair line of black or dark blue made with facings of black on collar and cuffs is a favorite pattern, and there is an endless variety in the width of the stripe. In dark colors the hair line of a darker or lighter shade is far smarter than the shadow check or plaid of last year, and the colors are most charming.

There are not many long coats this season. The three-quarter length in the cutaway design with round front is a winner, while the much shorter half fitting pony coat is also popular.

Sailor costumes for girls are always worn. The one in the cut is of white linen banded with blue. The usual emblems are worked on sleeves and shield.

Sale of the Revenues of Champlain, Jacques Cartier, and Berthelot Markets, and also of the Revenues of the Weighing Scales of St. Paul's Market.

Quebec, 25th March, 1907.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that on Tuesday, the 9th of April next, (1907), at ten o'clock in the forenoon, in the room where are held the sittings of the Finance Committee in the City Hall, of the City of Quebec, the revenues of Champlain, Jacques Cartier, and Berthelot Markets shall be sold separately by public auction for the term and space of one year from the day of the signature of a notarial deed of the said sale until the thirtieth of April next year (1908).

The upset price shall be twelve hundred dollars ($1200.00) for Champlain Market, one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) for Jacques Cartier Market, and ($20.00) twenty dollars for Berthelot Market,

Each bidder will have to exhibit a receipt from the Treasurer to the amount of five hundred dollars ($500) for each of Champlain and Jacques Cartier Markets, showing that such deposits has been made.

The said revenues consist of the taxes leviable upon persons who frequent the said markets, in the same manner as such taxes are or may be collected by the clerks of the markets of the said city; the revenues of the Cattle Stand of the Champlain Market, being, however, excluded therefrom.

Public notice is also hereby given that the revenues of the Hay Weighing Scales of St. Paul's Market, from the 1st of May next (1907) to the 30th of April 1908, shall also be sold on the same day, to wit: Tuesday, the ninth day of April next, (1907), immediately after the sale of the revenues of Champlain, Jacques Cartier, and Berthelot Markets, and St. Paul's Market weigh house, hereinabove advertised, also by public auction, separately to the highest and last bidder, the upset price being for the St. Paul Hay Weighing Scales, five hundred and twenty-five dollars (525.-00), the price of adjudication to be paid cash.

Each bidder for the revenues of the Weighing Scales shall previous to the sale deposit in the hands of the Treasurer an accepted cheque for five-hundred and twenty-five dollars ($525.00), for St. Paul's Hay Scales, and shall exhibit a receipt thereof.

The cost of the notarial deeds and copy thereof to be paid cash by the adjudicataires.

On the day of sale, the adjudicataire shall pay in the hands of the City Treasurer the balance of the price of his adjudication.

Within the four days following the day of said adjudication, the said adjudicataire shall sign the said notarial deed of sale and upon his default of so doing, the said price of his adjudication shall remain confiscated for the benefit of the city, which may then proceed to resell the said revenues, after public notice of four days, published to that effect in the official newspapers of the city.

The said sale shall be made subject, moreover, to all the conditions which shall be read and made known at the moment of the sale, and which shall be contained in the deed of sale.

A BY-LAW.

Concerning the Sale of Milch Cows in the City of Quebec.

(Drawn up in the French Language.)

AT A MEETING of the City Council of the City of Quebec, held at the City Hall, in the said City of Quebec, on the twenty-second day of March, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Seven (1907), in conformity to law, and in virtue of a By-Law passed by this Council pursuant thereto, and after the due observance of all the formalities prescribed by the statute in such case made and provided, at which meeting were present two-thirds of the members composing the Council of the City of Quebec, that is to say:—

His Worship the Mayor, Aldermen Barbeau, Barry, Bedard, Campbell, Dinan, Drouin, Duquet, Fiset, Foley, Hall, Huard, Lemay, Madden, Mathieu, Messervey, Mulroney, Paquin, Shink, St. Pierre, Taschereau, (St. Louis), Ta(chereau, (St. Peter's), Vezeat.

It is ordained and enacted by the Municipal Council of the City of Quebec, and the said Council doth ordain and enact as follows:

1. Every cow brought into the City of Quebec to be sold or used as a milch cow, must previously be taken to the municipal stable, at the cattle stand of the Palais Market, or at any other place specified in a notice published to that effect by the City Engineer;

2. Every cow thus destined to be sold or used as a milch cow in this city and brought to the municipal stable, must be submitted, by the veterinary surgeon employed by the City, to the test known as the tuberculine test, or be tested by another approved medical or scientific process, to ascertain if such a cow is infected with tuberculosis, and if its milk is fit for domestic use or to be used as food.

3. But the proprietor or possessor of such cow may employ another veterinary surgeon to make the said test, and if such cow has been found healthy, the certificate of said veterinary surgeon to that effect, shall be sufficient to allow the sale or use of said cow as a milch cow.

4. On the Monday and on the Tuesday of each week, the said veterinary surgeon shall apply, at the City's expense, in the said municipal stable, the test above mentioned to every cow that shall have been brought there and destined to be sold or used as milch cows.

5. If the proprietor or possessor of a cow wishes to have it inspected and tested on any day other than Monday and Tuesday, he may have it done by the said veterinary surgeon, or by another veterinary surgeon, but at his own expense.

6. If by the said test, it is found that a cow is not fit to be sold or used as a milch cow, its proprietor or possessor shall immediately remove it outside of the City limits, or shall have it slaughtered.

7. If, after the test, the said cow is found to be healthy and suitable for sale or be used as a milch cow, the said veterinary surgeon shall deliver to the proprietor or possessor of the said cow a certificate to that effect and if the said cow is afterwards sold, said certificate shall be delivered to the purchaser of said cow, said purchaser shall keep said certificate as a proof of his good faith in purchasing or using said cow.

8. Nobody shall sell, or shall purchase in the City of Quebec any milch cow before the said cow has been inspected and submitted to the test hereinbove mentioned and a certificate shall have been delivered as above stated by a veterinary surgeon.

9. Said certificate shall be valid for six months from its date.

10. Any person found guilty of any offence against the provisions of the present By-Law, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding forty dollars, and in default of payment of said fine and costs, to an imprisonment for a space of time not exceeding two months.

Leases of Shops, Stalls, Sheds, on the divers Markets of the City, and of Stalls on Champlain Wharf.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that the Shops, Stalls and Sheds on the divers Markets of this city, shall be put up at auction and leased from the first day of May next, to the 30th of April, 1908, at the City Hall, in the chamber wherein are held the sittings of the Finance Committee, from TWO to FOUR of the clock in the afternoon of the days hereinafter named viz:

Montcalm and Berthelot Markets on Tuesday, the ninth day of April next,

Champlain Market and the Stalls on Champlain Wharf, on Wednesday, the tenth day of April next.

St. Peter's Market, on Thursday, the eleventh day of April next.

Jacques Cartier Market and St. Paul's Market, on Friday the twelfth day of April next.

In the event of the present lessees not paying before the sale by auction all arrears of rent due by them, the said Shops, Sheds and Stalls shall be put up at auction and shall be leased to any other applicant who will then and there comply with the said conditions.

Instructions have been given by the Market Committee to lock up on the last day of April next, at 5 o'clock p.m. the Stalls that shall not be leased on the days above mentioned.

A Notarial lease containing the conditions will then and there be signed by the lessees and paid by them with a copy for the Corporation.

One month's rent in advance, and the price of the license shall be paid by each of the lessees for each stall prior to the passing of the deed of leases to the notary then and there in attendance in the Central Police Station Room and nowhere else, except the sheds on Champlain Wharf, for which two month's rent in advance or one sixth of the amount shall be paid.

Each lessee shall furnish before the execution of the said deed of lease and to the satisfaction of His Worship the Mayor, two good and sufficient securities.

In default of the leases, or any of them being signed by the lessees and their sureties within twenty-four hours after the adjudication, such leases shall be absolutely null and void, and the Market Committee shall proceed forthwith to grant them to other parties.

The terms of payment and other conditions of the leases will be made known publicly on the spot, by the Notary, before proceeding to the sale.

For more ample information, apply to Mr. Wagner, City Hall.

Commercial News.

New York, April 5—Operations for the advance were aggressively pursued in the stock market to-day and wide additions to yesterday's gains were made. No change in conditions was apparent, beyond the continuance of the relaxing tendency in the money market. This was generally regarded as the keynote of the situation and gave the impetus to the movement in the market. Commission houses reported a general revival of interest on the part of the clients of the speculative class and profit taking was noted. The manner in which this profit taking again was absorbed proved impressive to speculative sentiment and was assumed to indicate the re-entry into the market of some of the large financial powers. The action of the market under such forces takes on a more or less artificial character and reflects active manipulation as well as genuine marketing of securities, and is for that reason viewed with suspicion. Enormous operations centered in the Harriman stocks and Reading, suggesting the resume of operations by forces which have been quiescent for some time. Southern Pacific shared fully in the movement. A rebound in the price of copper in London was responded to by the rise in Amalgamated Copper here.

NEW YORK CLOSING LETTER.

From E. & C. Randolphe's Private Wire to McDonald, Lesperance & Co.

The market opened with a continuation of the advance which was in progress yesterday and this rise has continued pretty steadily all day. There has been more or less irregularity and some reactions from time to time, but in all cases dullness has followed the declining tendency and the advance has before long been resumed. This advance amounted to from 2 to 4 points or more in the active list, U. Pacific being especially prominent. Brt. alone amongst the active stocks was reactionary and this was the to be noted as some of the other local franchise stocks like Con. Gas showed most pronounced strength, rising a half dozen points without much opposition. In the late trading, while some of the active railroad stocks which had been prominent earlier in the day sagged off a point or so from the earlier high level. Acp. was taken in hand and on heavy buying ran up to 97. The market as a whole closed somewhat irregular, but decidedly strong, with large net gains the rule throughout. Call money remains easy around 2½ p.c., and a very favorable bank statement is expected to-morrow as the banks have gained over $12,000,000 from the sub-treasury since last Friday. Reports of serious damage to wheat in the southwest caused an advance in that staple, but was unreflected in the stock market. Sales $1,253,317.

LIST OF COTTAGES ON THE LINE OF THE Q.R.L. & P. Co.

We take pleasure in announcing to our readers that the Quebec Railway Light & Power Co. have issued a complete list of summer houses and boarding houses on its line for season of 1907.

This booklet will be of great advantage for those who desire a summer residence close to the city, it contains much information concerning the summer time-table, location of the houses, etc. A copy of this list may be obtained at the office of the company, corner of St. Paul and Ramsay Sts., or by mail on application to J. A. Everell, Superintendent.

BRADSTREETS REVIEW.

New York, April 5—Bradstreets tomorrow will say:—Something like a lull in retail trade is shown this week in Canada. Business done before Easter on spring account was good, however. There is still some complaint as to collections, though these have slightly improved in the North-West. Canadian clearings for March (eleven cities) exceeded a year ago by 12 p.c., while for three months the gain was 7.8 p.c. Failures for the first quarter were 26 p.c. less in number than a year ago, while liabilities were 13 p.c. smaller. Montreal this week reports country roads in poor shape, but a good Easter trade in millinery was done. Hardware is active, cotton goods tend higher, and important improvements are planned. Toronto reports that the cold snap came just too late to spoil Easter trade. Roads are poor in the North-West, and Winnipeg reports collections slow, but building active. Failures for the week number 29 as against 21 last week and 17 in this week a year ago.

NEW YORK PRODUCE MARKET

Corn receipts, 66,650 bushels; exports, 131,177 bushels; spot, firm; option market was firmer and closed ½c. to ⅝c. net higher. Oats receipts, 76,500 bushels; exports, 20,640 bushels; spot market steady; rosin, firm; turpentine steady; molasses, steady; pig iron, firm; copper, dull; lead, dull; tin, quiet; sugar, raw, steady; refined, steady; coffee, spot, quiet; mild coffee, dull.

CLOSING LETTER.

By Private Wire to Neuville Belleau & Co., 93 St. Peter Street, Quebec. Phone 946.

New York, April 5—The upward movement made further progress in today's stock market, the prices of all the active issues scoring good gains with a decided accession of outside interest in addition to renewed short covering. The further relaxation in the money market continued as the principal underlying cause for the brisk demand for dividend paying stocks and sentiment was also encouraged by the settlement of the Western railroad labor difficulties. Bullish manipulation was conducted with extreme confidence and commission house buying was more in evidence than for a long time past, being particularly noticeable in such issues as Great Northern pfd., Northern Pacific, New York Central, Union and Southern Pacific. Reading was a prominent feature on manipulation against the short interest. In the industrial list Amalgamated Copper showed decided strength with Standard Oil brokers figuring on both sides and the trading appeared to be largely of a manipulative character. United States Steel issues and the minor steel and iron shares were in good demand. A number of the old deal stories were revived, but attracted little attention as it was the general impression that the carrying out of such plans at this time would encounter the hostility of the banking interests because of their probable disturbing influence on the money situation. The high prices were reached shortly after midday with the short interest in full retreat, but the advances were too rapid to hold and heavy realizing sales were conducted on the bulge. A general reaction followed, but without impairing the strong undertone, and the closing though irregular was firm.

A NEW JURY SWORN

No New Developments in the St. Charles Case of Supposed Murder.

No new developments have been noted in the supposed case of murder at St. Charles, Bellechasse, and the Attorney-General's Department in this city do not expect any further news until the result of the inquest to-day. According to advices received from St. Charles yesterday, Coroner Perron had a new jury sworn in to investigate the case. The new jury is composed of Messrs. Maxime Kirouac, Leon Morency, Joseph Gonthier, W. Turgeon, Emile Leclerc and Chas. Chabot. The inquest will commence this morning at 9 o'clock.

The circumstances surrounding the death of the young man Carrier is just as mysterious as ever. A knife found in the pocket of the victim will, it is expected, play a prominent part in the investigation. Barring the theory of suicide, it is conjectured that the young man may have been killed by the knife, which was afterwards slipped into his pocket.

Fresh Air and Postum a Health Combination Hard to Beat.

"Four years ago" writes a Vermont lady, "I was victim of indigestion. Everything I ate distressed me—gave me nausea and formed gas in my stomach which was very annoying.

"I had palpitation so bad I could not lie on my left side, and began to think my heart must be affected. I had used coffee for 25 years, and thought it would be impossible to give up, as I usually had nothing for breakfast but a roll and a cup of coffee.

"My indigestion grew worse, in spite of doctoring, and I felt obliged to try something else. I drank chocolate and cocoa, but soon tired of them.

"The doctor had ordered my husband to stop drinking coffee on account of heart trouble, so he was using Postum and wanted me to try that. I took one cup of it as our servant prepared it, and thought it was wretched stuff.

"I was getting desperate when the cook left me and I had to make Postum for my husband. Then it was that I studied the directions on the package and wondered if the girl had been boiling it long enough.

"I cooked it fully 20 minutes and was surprised to find it most palatable. I found that rich cream improved it as much as it did coffee. I also learned that Postum tasted better, and it was easier to prepare it the night before.

"I put two heaping teaspoonfuls into a square of cheese cloth, tied it tightly, dropped it into a clean coffee pot, poured over it three cupfuls of cold water, and let it stand covered until morning.

"Then it was boiled thirty minutes and we had two large cups of a delicious drink, after cream and sugar had been added. It has a rich delicious flavour of its own and we have used nothing else for four years.

"Postum and Fresh Air have cured us of dyspepsia and seeming heart lease of life." Name given by Postum trouble, and we have taken a new Company, Battle Creek, Mich. Read. "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

MILITARY DINNER

No. 4 Company, 8th R.R., Had an Enjoyable Gathering.

The officers, non-coms and men of No. 4 Company, 8th Royal Rifles, had a very enjoyable gathering at the Auditorium Cafe last evening, when they were entertained to dinner by the company commander, Captain D. Watson. About fifty members of the regiment were present, the guests including Lt.-Col. W. Wood, Capt. W. H. Petry, Capt. Norman Fletcher, the staff-sergeants of the regiment and forty men of No. 4 Company. Capt. Watson presided at the gathering which was a most successful one in every respect. After full justice had been done to the good things provided, and which were served in excellent style by Mr. Dugal, of the Auditorium Cafe, there were a number of toasts, which included the King, Lt.-Col. Wood and the visiting officers. Appropriate and interesting speeches in response were made by Lt.-Col. Wood, Capt. Fletcher, Capt. Petry and others. No. 4 has always been one of the crack companies of the 8th, and it this year gives every promise of maintaining its previous high reputation. It is full strength and contains some of the best material in the Regiment, and the traditions of past years is being well sustained by the members and their Captain.

ANOTHER BIG SHOW

Announced for the Auditorium Next Week—Nothing Too Good for Quebec.

Manager Brown's policy that there is nothing too good for Quebec is well exemplified by the programme that is announced for next week at the Auditorium. It is the most expensive show so far, and breaks all records in the matter of attendance. At the top of the list stand George Felix and Lydia Barry, two very well-known favorites who will present their inimitable skit, "The Boy Next Door." Mr. Felix is a comedian of versatility. First by quiet methods and then by the most surprising gymnastic stunts he keeps his audiences in continual laughter. Miss Barry, the talented daughter of a talented father (Barsy, of Barry & Fay) entertains charmingly with a number of songs. She is one of the handsomest women in vaudeville, and dresses exquisitely. Miss Emily Barry also appears in this act. McCree and Poole are the champion sharp-shooters of the world, and winners of many an international contest. Nothing like this act has ever been seen in Quebec. The Mimic Four, consisting of Mr. Brock, Mr. Cook, Miss Groh and Miss Clemence, have a laughable sketch called "The Morning After." The act concludes with singing, dancing and characters changes. Inza and Lorella, two of the funniest acrobatic comedians on the stage, are good for fifteen minutes of solid laughter. Fred Morton is a mimic and paper-tearing expert. Lelia Taylor, known as "the cheerful caroler," has a fine stage presence and a well trained, melodious voice. The Three Musical Spillers, instrumentalists of the first class, should be a big hit. Pictures of old Ireland, and some comic views will be shown by the Edison Kinetograph.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING.

The ordinary meeting of the City Council was held last evening under the presidency of Mayor Garneau, there present being Ald. Galipeault, Shink, Brunet, St. Pierre, Huard, Masservey, Malcomdy, Fortier, Barbeau, Verret, Foley, Duquet, Fiset, Bedard, Drouin, Madden, Letourneau, Dinan, Picard, and Lemay.

A letter was read from Messrs. Pentland, Stuart & Brodie, on behalf of Jean Bonois Deslauriers claiming $500 for damages caused to his schooner Providence on account of the accumulation of ice in the St. Charles River at the foot of St. Roch street, and alleged to be due to the carelessness of the corporation employees. Referred to the Civic Advisors.

A letter was also read from the Royal Paper Box Co. informing the Council that they intended to lease their present building and in future occupy a building at the corner of Coulombe street and Boulevard Langelier where they would put up new buildings and asking for an exemption of taxes. Referred to the Finance Committee.

Several reports passed by the different committees during the week and already referred to in those columns were presented and adopted.

On motion of Ald. Galipeault, seconded by Ald. Dinan, the revenues of Champlain Market were sold to Herman Dombrowski for $1,200.

A notice of motion was given by Ald. Lemay to the effect that the city should force all proprietors of factories to make use of the necessary apparatus to use their own smoke and gas in their factories.

Most of the evening was taken up with the consideration of the civic by-laws already published in these columns and they were adopted without amendments.

The Council then adjourned until Friday next.

A WATER FAMINE

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., April 5—At the Michigan Soo this morning, a water main near the pumping station broke, leaving the city without a drop of water for any purpose whatever for several days, until it can be remedied, and absolutely without fire protection. All water for domestic purposes was furnished by the city, there being no wells. Schools were closed because of inability to heat the buildings. All other steam heated buildings are closed and the thermometer registers 11 above zero. The entire city of 12,000 inhabitants is being supplied by a bucket and barrel brigade from the river.

DAY BY DAY.

Perhaps the winter does not intend to move until the 1st of May.

Quebec needs more hotel accommodation. Not on Saturday night?

Wait till the sun shines, Nellie, then you'll need your overshoes.

Remorse is the sting that results from the past slapping the present in the face.

The first crows of the season are not crowing any over this season.

Let not your angry passions rise
When trolley cars won't wait.
Look meek and lowly; wear a guise
To cover up your hate,
To yield to wrath is most ill-bred,
Nor would it please your vanity
If people tapped their brows and said
"Emotional insanity."

A COMING EUCHRE.

Court Onaway, I. O. F., have issued cards for a euchre to be held under the auspices of the Court at their rooms in the Masonic building on Wednesday evening next, and which promises to be a very pleasant affair.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter McKenzie, of Montreal, are at the Chateau.

A Woman's Back

Has many aches and pains caused by weaknesses and falling, or other displacement, of the pelvic organs. Other symptoms of female weakness are frequent headache, dizziness, imaginary specks or dark spots floating before the eyes, gnawing sensation in stomach, dragging or bearing down in lower abdominal or pelvic region, disagreeable drains from pelvic organs, faint spells with general weakness.

If any considerable number of the above symptoms are present there is no remedy that will give quicker relief or a more permanent cure than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It has a record of over forty years of cures. It is the most potent invigorating tonic and strengthening nervine known to medical science. It is made of the glyceric extracts of native medicinal roots found in our forests and contains not a drop of alcohol or harmful, or habit-forming drugs. Its ingredients are all printed on the bottle-wrapper and attested under oath as correct.

Every ingredient entering into "Favorite Prescription" has the written endorsement of the most eminent medical writers of all the several schools of practice—more valuable than any amount of non-professional testimonials—though the latter are not lacking, having been contributed voluntarily by grateful patients in numbers to exceed the endorsements given to any other medicine extant for the cure of woman's ills.

You cannot afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for this well proven remedy OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, even though the dealer may make a little more profit thereby. Your interest in regaining health is paramount to any selfish interest of his and it is an insult to your intelligence for him to try to palm off upon you a substitute. You know what you want and it is his business to supply the article called for.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the original "Little Liver Pills" first put up by old Dr. Pierce over forty years ago, much imitated but never equaled. Little sugar-coated granules—easy to take as candy.
