Shoplifters at Plaza, mostly women, fined

Fines from $25 to $100 have been imposed upon 11 persons, mostly women, who pleaded guilty of theft from Westmount's Alexis Nihon Plaza during the month of January.

The shoplifters, none of them Westmount residents, were picked up by store security men and turned over to Westmount police.

Fines varied, according to circumstances, Westmount police explained, the lower fines going to those who seemed motivated by need, the higher fines for thieves of merchandise in the luxury category.

Two sisters who "went shopping together", as Westmount police put it, were fined $100 and $60. The $100 fine went to Miss Gabrielle Raymond of 5035 Demarteau in Tetreauville; Francois Raymond of 4520 Bourbonniere, Rosemont, was fined $60.

Miss Lise Larochelle of 8440 Duchardonot, Ville d'Anjou, was fined $50.

Mrs. Eugene Gosselin, 61615 22nd. Ave., Ville St. Michel, was fined $40.

Mrs. Jeanine Brulotte, 4429 St. Denis, Montreal, $50.

Miss Louise Dubuc, 2135 Holy Cross, Montreal, $35.

Mrs. Yvon Bougie, 1554 Pine, Montreal, $25.

Miss Nicole Voyer, also of 1554 Pine, $25.

Pierre Legault, of no fixed address, served eight days in jail as an alternative to a fine of $25.

Miss Ginette Clark, 820 Roy Street East, Montreal, $50.

Chandra Joshi, Guelph, Ont., $25.

Selby Street's steps lead nowhere Last of 239 Families moves Wooden steps lead up to nothing along Selby Street's sidewalk. At dusk, the lights of Montreal's soaring buildings can be seen past the rubble that is all that remains of the street's Victorian row houses.

The last of the 239 families has moved out, into new accommodations found with the assistance of a special office set up by the City of Westmount.

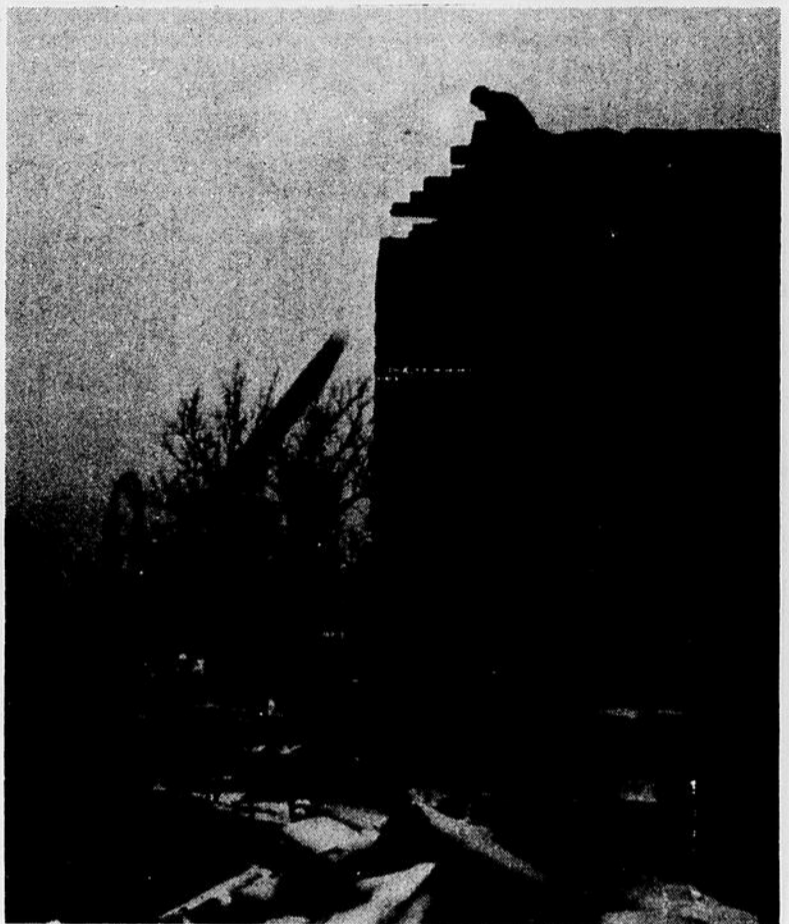

The entire area of Westmount south of St. Catherine Street is slated for urban renewal, according to plans being worked out in discussions currently being carried on with the Quebec Housing Corporation. This does not mean, however, that the whole area faces demolition, city authorities point out. The idea that urban renewal begins by bulldozing everything in sight is out of date, one official said in an interview.

"Just because a house is 50 years old," he said, "is no reason to assume it is no good. The thinking on the subject these days is that the whole area is to be studied, with a view towards retaining what is of value and weeding out what is not."

In the meantime, the matter is under discussion. The Quebec Housing Corporation has asked for some changes in the city's proposals and these are being worked on now.

THE END - A demolition worker is silhouetted against the evening sky as he throws down a board from the shell of a Selby Street house this week. The last of the 239 families once living on the razed street moved out at the middle of January. The land was expropriated by the provincial government for an eventual road.

Attacks on women are ended

A series of attacks on women in the Green-Dorchester area of Westmount ended last Friday with the arrest of a 17-year-old boy by Westmount police. The juvenile, whose name cannot be released by law, pleaded guilty to six charges of assault, robbery and indecent acts.

The youth, not a Westmount resident, was sent by the juvenile court for a mental examination. A final decision by the court awaits the results of the examination.

Westmount police report that the first of the attacks was last October 1, and that they have occurred periodically since then. During one of the attacks, police say, a woman received a serious knife slash to her hand.

INJURY ENDS CHASE

A suspected stolen car, chased by Montreal police from Cote St. Luc into Westmount early Tuesday morning, struck a taxi at the corner of Grosvenor and Sherbrooke Streets, injuring the drivers of both cars and seriously injuring an 18-year-old student nurse, a passenger in the taxi.

The passenger, Miss Patricia Le Jeune, was returning to the Montreal General Hospital when the accident occurred. She was taken to the Queen Elizabeth with head injuries and then transferred to the Montreal General, where her condition is described as satisfactory.

Taken into custody by Montreal police after treatment at the Queen Elizabeth Hospital for possible fractures was Michel Desormiers, 18.

The driver of the taxi, B. Bernstein, was released from hospital after treatment for facial lacerations.

Westmount police report that the suspected stolen car, a red sports model, was chased down Grosvenor Street, going against the one way traffic direction, and went through a red light, smashing into the side of the taxi. The impact pushed the taxi into a lamp standard at the corner, resulting in total damages to the vehicle. The sports car, too, was damaged beyond repair, police estimate.

The accident occurred at 1:45 a.m. Tuesday.

RUBBLE - Selby Street, once an ageing row of Victorian houses, is now a heap of rubble. The towers of modern Montreal can be seen in the background.

International Club Salutes France

At Saint Paul's Academy International Club, the country under discussion at this week's meeting was the Republic of France. The President was Martine Del Giudice, the Recording Secretary was Toni Paré, Assistants were Patricia Marks and Anne Murphy. Guests of honor included Sister A. M. Mulcair, Sister M. Murphy, Sister M. Arsenault, Sister S. Sullivan, Mrs. M. Murphy, Miss K. McMorrow, Mrs. O'Connor, and Mademoiselle G. Labbé. This meeting was made possible thanks to the courtesy of Air France, Mr. P. Brassac of Vins de France Dept., Mr. Boyer of Vinant Company - Guerlain Perfumes, and Mr. Phisel of French Government Tourist Office. The atmosphere created in the room was gay and very French, ornated with scenic posters of cities, countrysides, the Riviera, chateaux, and cathedrals. One section of the room was devoted to a four square-foot map of French departments and provinces, on which were placed small dolls wearing the national costume of Samples of "Chant d'Arômes de Guerlain" were distributed to all the members, thanks to the generosity of the Vinant-Guerlain Company. Small bottles of French Liqueurs were also displayed in this section and later presented to the guests of honor.

SAINT PAUL'S ACADEMY

their respective region. This section was planned by Toni Paré. Another section, devoted to French fashion and gastronomical dainties was dominated by a huge five-foot Eiffel Tower around which "échantillons" of many different perfumes as well as the latest Paris fashions were displayed.

A third section, more on an intellectual level, held many books on France, her cultural and artistic wealth and beauty, and pamphlets on every aspect of France. These were also distributed to all the members, along with miniature French-ENGLISH DICTIONARIES, WHICH WERE TRULY APPRECIATED BY THE STUDENT MEMBERS. After the opening and welcoming remarks made by the president, French flags were distributed to all.

The meeting then commenced with Patsy Langan, who described the natural geography of France, followed by Valerie Sécardin, who discussed the major cities and devoted a special part of her speech to Paris, the capital, and described the world-renowned sights that make her the capital of the artistic world and perpetually attract tourists. Wendy Colomb then examined the population of France.

After the geographical aspect, the historical was then treated. Anne Murphy outlined the history of France from Ancient times up to the Revolution. Nocolé Gareau then took over from this point and clearly continued the history to present times, at the same time explaining the various governments that existed under the different republics. A general outline of the present governmental system, legislative, executive, and judicial, was then given by M. Del Giudice who then introduced a famous Frenchman, as Patsy Langan entered wearing a "De Gaulle" Attire. A touch of humour was added to the meeting which made it even more enjoyable.

The meeting then resumed with Doreen Day, who spoke on Religion in France; Betty Brault who examined the educational standards; and Christine Reutlinger who very efficiently described Trade, Industry and Agriculture, the "backbone of the French economy".

CORSICA

Special attention were paid to Carol Gregor's interesting notes on Corsica, which many tend to forget, as a province of France. Mary Green, whose topic was French Literature, elaborated on many famous philosophers, as well as on their celebrated works.

Cathy Colvey then discussed French Art; architecture, painting and sculpture. This part was especially interesting as there were many posters to show the grandeur of the Chateau, or the beauty of the Palace at Versailles or still the Mediaeval beauty of Gothic Cathedrals, such as Notre Dame de Paris.

M. Del Giudice then discussed French music, which is considered the most beautiful, refined and expressive music in the world, by many experts. The audience heard excerpts from Chopin's "Polonaises" and "Etudes"; from Debussy's "Suite Bergamasque"; from Ravel's "Valse Nobles et Sentimentales"; and from Bizet's "Carmen", his celebrated opera.

A break was then taken and music from the "Gaités Parisiennes" better known as "French Can-Can" was played. Patricia Marks, in charge of service announced that "Pâtisseries Françaises" would be served to all the members. All were invited to visit the numerous exhibits displayed.

The meeting then resumed with P. Marks, who spoke on French Cuisine and Fashion, mentioning the national dishes and the famous Couturiers of Paris. Sue Johnson then clearly outlined France's role in the Common Market. This topic encouraged much discussion on current European problems within the Common Market. Judy Bedford also outlined France's role in the United Nations, the world activities in which she takes part and her position as a regular member.

One fact about which International Club members are especially proud is the bilingualism put into practice at all meetings - all conversations and speeches are carried on both in English and in French.

THEY TRIED; Westmount High School's Snow Bowl football game, scheduled as a part of the Winter Carnival, was finally cancelled because of slush-covered ground.

TEACHERS ON TOP - A student-teacher basketball game, part of the Winter Carnival at Westmount High School, was won by the teachers, with a close 10 to 8 score.

WHS spirits survive slushy carnival days

Rain and the resulting slush put the damper on outdoor activities during Westmount High School's Winter Carnival, but not on school spirits as festivities included games, contests, a chicken dinner, a dance, the Purple and White review, a slave auction, and the crowning of carnival royalty.

Carnival Queen was Wendy Ronalds, while Howie Lord reigned as Carnival King. Assisting were Princess Ann Parkinson and Prince Charles Simco.

The Purple and White Review, featuring a jazz group, popular songs, folk songs and popular instrumentalists, was emceed by Susan Schnerder, John Fisher, Michael Rosen, Stephen Simco and Carol Leidke. The event was organized by the Theatre Club and its president Tina-May Isenmen.

The review opened with a jazz group, The Stiffened Fibres. The musicians were Michael Rosen, Michael Legatt, his brother Robert, Jay Spheper, and David Woodhead.

Noreen Desmond was solo vocalist, with a selection of popular songs.

Folksingers Linda Harrison and Susan Kyle entertained.

Humphrey and the Hangers, a popular instrumental group, climaxed the show. In the group are Skip Spiller and his brother Doug, Dean Farley and Dugal Dunbar.

Other features of the evening were the presentation of tabs to the cheer leading contest winners, from Room 111, by Student Council President Lynne Kassie, and the presentation of cheques to the winners of the literary contest by Mary Shapiro, editor of the yearbook literary section.

The carnival dance, with music by the Monks, was highlighted by the crowning of the Carnival Royalty.

Saturday was taken up by a ski trip to Mount Sutton, under the supervision of teachers William Horsnall and Claud Luc.

Events rained out included the Snowball Football Game, the car cramming contest, the girls' ball hockey game, and the various events scheduled for Murray Park.

Teachers proved the victors in the student-teacher basketball game, with a score of 10 to 8.

Extramural games brought success to Westmount, with the senior boys beating Lower Canada College 53 to 45 in basketball Wednesday, and the senior boys beating Loyola at hockey Thursday.

School committee formed

A school committee has been formed which will represent St. Paul's and St. Leo's of Westmount. The president is Mrs. Michael Rudge. The executive consists of Mrs. P. A. Breault, Mrs. H. Yacci, R. B. Keefer, W. A. McVey, N. Sherriffs, Lester A. M. Mulcair, C.N.D. Bedford, and D. Bedford. The chaplain is Rev. Peter Timmins.

A general meeting of parents and teachers of the two schools will be Monday, Feb. 12, at St. Leo's Academy at 8 p.m. The guest speaker will be P. McKeefry, secretary-treasurer of the Provincial Association of Catholic Teachers who will outline the proposed administration of education under recommendations of the Parent Report.

We Say

Keep Westmount a private-enterprise preserve

Last of the 239 families who once lived in Selby street has moved.

All apparently have found new homes elsewhere.

Many with assistance from the City of Westmount, who set up a special relocation bureau for their benefit.

Which is a credit to the City authorities.

And just as much to the Selby residents themselves.

Expropriations by the provincial authorities, demolitions, and construction of the Trans-Canada Highway link through Westmount may now proceed as government spending programs permit.

The end of an unhappy, sometimes tense and, at one time, potentially ill-starred venture.

No one likes being uprooted, particularly if as in some of these cases one is a long time resident of one place.

Emotions ran high with some, determined first to maintain the status quo.

And then demanding that the civic authorities were responsible for providing them with alternative dwellings on the same economic level.

This would have meant, in short, the City of Westmount going into public housing.

Which in turn ultimately means the tax-paying majority of Westmounters who provide homes for themselves subsidizing a group relying on the City for accommodation.

At the time this possibility loomed, The Examiner expressed its firm opposition to the City doing any such thing: not in opposition to the interests or claims of the Selby street people, but in support of the basic tradition of this country that citizens who are able should provide for themselves.

We felt then, and still feel, that the idea so widespread in Britain and other countries of "Council houses" should not be imported here.

The pressures of creeping socialism are strong enough in this country, particularly at the higher levels of government. For already over-burdened municipalities - even comparatively well-to-do ones like Westmount - to get into public housing would, in our view, be an immense mistake, irreversible once begun.

Though the threat of such a development insofar as the Selby street people is concerned has now been surmounted, we flog this point again.

Because the extensive urban renewal plan in a broad area adjoining Selby street envisages, in the planners' overall thinking, that the City of Westmount still should go in for public housing in the neat and orderly redevelopment they envisage.

Of course, by using public monies in construction it is possible to make the final result more closely approximate the planners' dreams.

We simply don't believe any town planning should be that rigid.

In other words, we believe the plan should lay down general principles of what is desirable in the general public interest. Then, within that outline, leave it to private enterprise to achieve the final result.

Redevelopment in Westmount thus far may have some drawbacks, but by and large what we see on our changing skyline is generally good, even exciting. With the City having the last say in approving architectural plans, the public interest is secure - without the City getting into the building and building-management game itself.

Westmount, the home of many of the greatest private-enterprisers in Canada, should keep it that way at all levels.

Bulletins from Birdland More Birds for us

By WINIFRED E. WILSON

That man is in any way responsible for the gradual warming up of our Canadian climate is a moot question. At all events, our climate is extremely slowly warming, and with the warming trend come certain southern birds. Adding up these from the United States, a few that have been imported in the last 100 years or so, and those already here which have multiplied because of assistance given them, we hope that the total count in 1967 will not be far behind the number here in 1867 in spite of man's bad treatment of Great Auks and Passenger Pigeons.

The gorgeous Cardinal of the south began to cross our southern boundary at the west end of Lake Erie about 65 years ago, and very gradually spread west and east. One was found in Manitoba in 1918; it became quite common in southern Ontario years ago; only within the last eleven years has it decided to enter the Province of Quebec. Though there are still but a few pairs, they are found to be continual residents in and around the Montreal area.

Another bird of the south seems to have entered Canada via the New England States. The Mockingbird came first to Nova Scotia and the Lower St. Lawrence areas about 1925, but reached the Montreal district only in 1957. Now a few are seen in the Eastern Townships every year.

The Carolina Wren is also pushing northward, and its date of entry to the Montreal district was also 1957. Two years later one was seen in the Eastern Townships.

Most people are quite unhappy about the English Sparrow which was introduced into North America in 1850. No one needs to be told how far and fast it spread. The Starling was brought to New York City in 1890. It was first recorded in southern Quebec in 1922, yet by the fall of 1931 thousands occupied roosts just across the St. Lawrence from Montreal, and by 1940 these birds had reached British Columbia.

Unintentionally as well as intentionally man has aided the increase of birds established here long ago. The Meadowlark is just an example of a bird increasing as our forests were cut down and farmland came into the picture. It nests in fields and likes a branch on a lone tree from which to sing. The farmer supplied both. The Killdeer, too, appreciated this kind of country and increased.

One toe less

One day late in December our dinner was interrupted because we spotted something dark just disappearing behind the main trunk of the big elm right outside the window. The hot dinner was forgotten as we waited eagerly to see if it would come around into sight again. It surely was a Woodpecker, for it clung to the bark and kept in a vertical position instead of perching on a horizontal branch.

The back was entirely black, the sides barred black and white, the wings seemed to be black. This must be a Black backed or Arctic Three-toed, but it was impossible to see how many toes it had. The great majority of land birds have four: three pointing forward and one backward. But two species of Woodpecker have only two pointing forward. A tiny yellow cap was perched on the front of its head, showing that it was a male, for females are capless. The bird seemed nearly as big as a Robin, but with a tail which though shorter was interesting, especially designed to help hold the bird in an upright position. Composed of stiff feathers terminating in sharp spines which can be stuck into bark, the tail acts like the hind leg of an easel, allowing the Woodpecker to work on the wood with its specialized bill. How fortunate we were to obtain such a close-up view of an uncommon bird! But it is noted for being fearless.

As the name implies, this Woodpecker's home is in northern Canada, the chosen part being our spruce forests from Newfoundland right across the country to central Alaska. However, it is found farther south in mountainous regions. Only occasionally does it come within our range, and then the time of year is between October and April, the reason, as usual, being related to the food supply.

Following lumber trails, the Three-toed finds some of the work done for it, as dead trees lose their bark and are an invitation to destructive insects. This Woodpecker's main food is the bark-boring beetle found where spruce budworms or larch sawflies have been at work. Its presence is detected by large patches of wood seen when the bark has been stripped from the trunks of dead conifers. It uses a different method of getting at the deep-lying beetles from that used by ordinary Woodpeckers, which just dig down with their bills through bark and all.

When it has cleaned up a district, it moves on. Then it may investigate our vicinity.

The Study student finalist in McGill Alumnae contest

A student of Westmount's school for girls, The Study, is among 10 public speaking contestants to enter the finals of the 20th annual public speaking contest sponsored by the Education Committee of the Alumnae Society of McGill University.

The student, Miss. Audrey Keys, was chosen during the semi finals, Jan. 23 and 24, at Westmount High School and at Villa Maria High School. The finals will be at the Montreal Presbyterian College, Feb. 21, at 8:15 p.m.

Other Montreal semi-final winner are Miss Sharon Dickenson of Rosemere High School, Miss Linda MacGill of Holy Name High School, Miss Evana Harding of Dunton High School, and Miss Elie Scheiner of St. Winston Churchill High School.

There will be five other finalists from the Lakeshore and off-island districts.

Judges for the Montreal semi-finals were Mrs. D. G. Metrie, Mrs. Norman Lei, and Mrs. Barbara Whitley.

Chairman of the committee sponsoring the contest is Mrs. R. K. Nicholson.

PHILATELY

BY

Mark Weiner

Official word from Antigua is that the Government is to restrict future issues of commemorative stamps, denominations will also be limited to only those used postally and designs and subjects must be relevant to Antigua. The 1968 program will include a set consisting of four values to commemorate the dedication of the NASA tracking station in Antigua, a likely release date being sometime this month, and in mid 1968 a five value set featuring tourist attractions. This policy will be gratefully accepted by collectors the world over, as there are far too many new stamp issues flooding the market.

This policy is in direct contrast to that announced by Mr. Lehmann of the Intergovernmental Philatelic Corporation which was granted the world wide franchise to handle all new stamp issues from Trinidad. When announcing this acquisition Mr. Lehmann emphasized that this did not mean a spate of new issues with every conceivable theme, although, he did go on to say that the following new issues are in active preparation for 1968: 20th Anniversary of WHO: International Human Rights Year; Trinidad Carnival; Cricket Test Match or Olympic Games (more than likely we will see both) plus a new definitive series. For a country which over the past 20 years has averaged less than one new stamp issue per year, why suddenly all the new issues?

To publicize the Summer Olympics to be held in Mexico and to mark her participation at the international games, the Netherlands Antilles will issue a set of three stamps February 19. The denominations are such to prepay domestic, foreign air-mail post cards and foreign air mail letters. Designed by Oscar Ravelo the stamps have been printed by offset process: 10c - The Olympic Torch, which will be carried from Greece to Mexico City; 20c - depicts the famous "Discobolus" statue by Myron, which was used on the world's first Olympic stamps (Greece, 1896, 5 and 10 lepta); 25c - shows three doves flying above the Mexico City stadium. Included as part of the design for all three values are the five intertwined Olympic Rings and the inscription "Mexico City 1968."

For the second time in less than a decade, Prague will be the focus of the philatelic world, the event "Praga 68" from June 22 to July 7, 1968. The spirit of the exhibition is aptly expressed by its motto "Philately - World of Knowledge and Peace."

Goldenberg flits across Canada, an ambassador for labor peace

by JACK TRENT

OTTAWA - (Special) - Carl Goldenberg, Westmount resident who spends more time out of Westmount than in it, has been flitting across the country with Justice Minister Pierre-Elliott Trudeau - but managed to come to rest in Ottawa last week long enough to sit down with some of the top men in the construction industry and tell them to reduce strife between labor and management in their industry, or else.

Strife in the construction industry is nothing new. It has been the vogue for years; but now Mr. Goldenberg warns, if something drastic isn't done to halt the strife, the government will be forced to step in to protect the public interest.

Apparently the industry believes the situation is just as dangerous as the famed arbitrator says it is - for they have just completed a two-year-long survey of the situation that has cost $100,000.

The program suggested by Goldenberg as a result of the survey will be publishing in full in the not too distant future - and meanwhile Mr. Goldenberg told the construction men a few home truths.

Joint Councils

He recommended unions and employers set up joint councils at the federal, provincial and regional levels;

Recommended every effort be made to encourage multi-trade and multi-party bargaining.

Goldenberg pulled no punches. He said contractors often showed little or no concern for their workers - at least partly because construction is one of the last refuges of the free wheeling entrepreneur.

Among those who aided in preparing the report was Abbe

Gerard Dion, social scientist of Laval University. Key to the end of the costly and troublesome disputes he saw as - education, faith and goodwill.

Mr. Goldenberg called for a strengthening of the apprenticeship program in the industry and a broadening of the pension and welfare programs.

Music and theatre come to the schools

The school commissioners for the city of Westmount have announced two coming events in the field of the arts.

In addition to the Home and School programs which will take place in the coming months, other events of special interest are:

February 29 and March 1 - The High School will offer as the annual school dramatic presentation - The Diary of Anne Frank. Roslyn School - In early spring a dramatic musical will be presented.

February 8 and 9 - The Westmount Schools Fine Arts Committee, with the co-operation of the Greater Board, has arranged a Music Workshop for the High School music students. Senior music students from the McGill Conservatory will work with the young people in a program designed to stimulate and enrich their musical experience.

MORE PRICE HIKES COMING

Price increases are coming in gasolines and heating oils in eastern Canada, according to W. L. Dack in The Financial Post. Announcements could be made over the next few weeks, he says. Price hikes ranging from 3/10¢ per gal to 1¢ per gal have become general practice across the prairie provinces and in parts of British Columbia in recent days.

TRAFFIC CLUB DINNER DANCE

The Traffic Club of Montreal Inc., the largest of its kind in North America, will hold its 18th Annual Ladies' Night and Dinner Dance in the Ball Room of the Queen Elizabeth Hotel on Saturday evening, February 10th. Continuous music for dancing and listening pleasure will be supplied by Harold Davis and his orchestra, beginning at 7:00 p.m.

The club was formed in 1926 and with the present membership in excess of 1,600, enjoys a reputation as being the largest of its kind in North America.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice "Moe" Saucier, President of the Club and Mr. and Mrs. H. Upton, Chairman of the event will head the receiving line welcoming the many local businessmen and their wives to the event.

GENERAL WHOLESALE INDEX

The general wholesale index (1935=100) rose 0.7 p.c. in December to 266.8 from the November index of 264.9, and was 2.2 p.c. higher than the December 1966 index of 261.0. Six of the eight major group indexes advanced while one declined. The remaining one, the non-metallic minerals products group index was unchanged at 200.7.

WEREDALE HOUSE

BUSINESS: Reception of Reports, election of Governors for the ensuing year and any other business which may be legally brought before the meeting.

Business Examiner

THE MONEY IS HERE - The old myth that there is a lack of investment capital in Canada has surely been buried deep by a remarkable York University Business School study. The study estimates that between now and 1975 Canadian financial institutions and individuals will be seeking to buy more than $10,000 million of stocks, perhaps much more. The Financial Post says that if the investment industry can't develop more stock issues, the limited choice of Canadian equities will open up even further the already huge hemorrhage of investment funds into U.S. securities. What is needed is a vigorous and imaginative assault to create a new pool of diversified common stocks in Canada. SHINE OFF TOP-JOBS MARKET - The Class of '68 will find the outlook for permanent jobs for university graduates less bright than in recent years, Isabel Mulligan reports in The Financial Post. More graduates are competing for fewer available jobs. In this buyers' market (from the employer's standpoint), starting salaries have advanced less than in the past. The number of students graduating this year is up 18 p.c. over 1967. Of course, not all these graduates will be looking for jobs immediately. But campus recruiters estimate they will have 15 p.c. - 20 p.c. fewer jobs available for those who are. BETTER BREAK FOR CREDITORS - Forthcoming amendments to Canada's Bankruptcy Act may give low-priority, unsecured creditors a better break at the expense of preferred government creditors. Hyman Solomon writes in The Financial Post that officials are considering restrictions that would limit provincial and federal governments from claiming back taxes beyond a certain time. With no restrictions on the part of Canadian governments, tax officials often end up with the lion's share of the assets and leave most other less preferred creditors to pick for bones. SKIM OVER LAND AND WATER - Boat, marine and sport equipment distributors can expect to have the first production models of the Hovergem land-water sportsraft in their showrooms by this summer. That, The Financial Post reports, is the latest word from P. H. Rubie, president of Hovergem Ltd., Ottawa, builder of North America's first two-seat air-cushion vehicle. "Hovergem is literally the first small air-cushion vehicle designed for mass production and for sale to the public," Rubie told The Financial Post. "We expect production models will retail in Canada for around $3,000. The craft will hover about a foot above the surface and travel 45-50 mph over land and 33 mph over water."

FARM PRICES - Canada's index of farm prices of agricultural products declined 2.6 points between October and November to 293.7 from 296.3. The most significant price declines were recorded for livestock particularly hogs. In some provinces, prices were also lower for eggs and potatoes. PASSENGER BUS STATISTICS - Passengers carried by 41 intercity and rural bus companies during November numbered 3,274,510 compared to 3,493,088 carried by 43 companies in November 1966. This is a 6.3 p.c. drop. Total operating revenues for November amounted to $4,398,360, a 3.2 p.c. drop from the $4,544,408 reported in the 1966 month. METER MAIDS TAKE STING OUT OF PARKING TICKETS - Police officers in Windsor, Ont., have had one responsibility taken away from them and they're not complaining a bit, reports Civic Administration. Parking meter enforcement was handed over to the city's traffic engineering department to create a more desirable police image and to release police officers for other duties. And a major emphasis, according to Windsor traffic engineer Eric Wylie, is placed on public relations, with quality of enforcement rather than quantity as the desirable end result. One of the major needs was for trained personnel to give complete direction to tourists from out of the province and from the U.S. who might be seeking accommodations and access to highway routes. A recruiting drive was undertaken to select eight pretty "meter maids" who were sworn in as bylaw enforcement officers, who were nattily uniformed, supplied with three-wheeled patrol vehicles, and trained in court procedure, ticket writing, traffic problems, meter operation, map reading and public relations. One of their best methods of creating good public relations is the policy of not issuing a ticket if the violator returns to the car while the ticket is being written. UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE - Claimants for unemployment insurance benefit numbered 1242,500 on October 31. This exceeded by 15 p.c. the 210,900 recorded on September 29, 1967, and by 32 p.c. the 184,300 for October 31, 1966. In comparison both with last month and with the same period one year ago males accounted for approximately three-quarters of the increase.

DEPARTMENT STORE SALES - Department store sales by regions during December rose 4.0 p.c. over the corresponding 1966 month with regional increases as follows: Atlantic Provinces, 2.6 p.c.; Quebec, 2.1 p.c.; Ontario, 3.1 p.c.; Manitoba, 1.7 p.c.; Saskatchewan, 2.5 p.c.; Alberta, 7.1 p.c. and British Columbia, 7.0 p.c.

TRADING-STAMP FIRMS HAPPY - Trading stamps are not licked yet and 125 members of the Canadian Association of Stamp Companies will hear at a meeting in Toronto that they are not likely to be. Dean Walker writes in The Financial Post that less than a year after they were hammered hard in submissions to the Senate-Commons Committee on Consumer Credit, trading stamp companies can contentedly tally their 1967 figures and predict still better years ahead. Of the 13,000 Canadian retailers offering stamps today, 12,000 are independents or belong to voluntary chains such as Independent Grocers' Alliance or Richelieu Groceries Ltd. Other big stamp users are gas stations, hairdressers, drycleaners. Some national supermarket chains in the U.S. have reinstated stamps in the last few weeks.

From BOWRINGS

...with love

A Valentine's gift is a very special gift for a very special person - the kind of gift you'll find at Bowrings - a touch of luxury, beautifully designed, lovingly crafted - enchantment in crystal by Kosta and Lalique, a champagne flute by Wiinblad, a candlestick by Quistagard - or one of a thousand imaginative gifts that keep on saying "I love you" long after Valentine's day is past.

From the littlest Valentine to the most expensive, when it comes from Bowrings... it goes with love in a pretty red box with lacy Valentine's trim.

Living-with-leisure problem is new group's action sphere

A problem peculiar to our machine age, leisure and what to do with it, is being met head on by a group of prominent Westmount residents, along with others in the Greater Montreal area.

The group, the Association of Leisure Time Services of Quebec Inc., has taken over and is expanding the responsibilities once assumed by the Montreal Council of Social Agencies in the leisure field. This is in line with developments taking place within the Province and the whole concept of regional development. It will give English-speaking Quebecers an organization that fits into Provincial, regional and local levels of the French-speaking leisure time structure, President John N. Parker told the inaugural meeting Jan. 30.

Westmount residents on the board of directors are Terence D. Dingle of 461 Lansdowne Avenue, Mrs. Norton A. Fellowes of 4854 Westmount Avenue, Brian Gallery of 204 Elm Avenue, Peter Lovell of 610 Carleton Avenue, David McCall Jr. of 732 Upper Lansdowne Avenue, John McLernon of 545 Prince Albert Avenue, Mrs. Clifford B. Powell of 38 Church Hill Avenue, and Gavin B. Ross of 1 Westmount Square.

The president's address to the inaugural meeting said, in part:

"In April, 1966, a large number of representatives of organizations engaged in recreation in this community accepted an invitation to attend the Provincial Leisure Time Conference sponsored by the Confédération des Loisirs du Québec, being held in Montreal in the Queen Elizabeth Hotel. Following a full-day Workshop, during which our group met and consulted with our French-speaking hosts of the Confédération, it was decided by a unanimous vote that we would undertake to form a Federation of English-speaking Quebecers that would work within the Confédération for the promotion of worth-while leisure time programmes and activities in our Province. To this end, a Provisional Committee was created, of which I have the honour to be the Chairman, and which, tonight, is discharging its final responsibility.

"When the Report of our English-language Workshop was presented to the plenary session of the Congress, in which we announced our desire to become part of the Confédération des Loisirs du Québec (C.L.Q.), it received an enthusiastic ovation from all the delegates. One of our number was elected to the Confédération's Board of Directors, and since that time, the C.L.Q. has been unremitting in its encouragement and assistance. In this regard, may I express our sincere appreciation, in particular, to its President, Monsieur René Belisle, and its Vice President, Soeur Dolores Riopel.

"The Provisional Committee set to work immediately. Through the excellent teamwork of Miss Sybil Ross, Leisure Time Planning Consultant of the Montreal Council of Social Agencies, and the Council's Honorary Solicitor, Mr. Derek A. Hanson, aided by the C.L.Q. and Mr. Pierre Leclerc of the Provincial Government's Bureau des Loisirs et des Sports, the Association of Leisure Time Services of Quebec was duly incorporated in February, 1967. The Government of Quebec came to our aid with a grant of $4,950, and the Montreal Council of Social Agencies sponsored our efforts by making available the professional services of Miss Ross, the clerical assistance of Miss Audrey Dorning and such office space as we required.

"The Provisional Committee then turned to the pressing problems of structure and finance. A Sub-Committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Norton Fellowes, was assigned the task of studying function and structure and preparing a Constitution. A Sub-Committee, under Mr. Joseph Leznoff, C.A., undertook to study and plan for the financing of the A.L.Q. ...

"... May I pay tribute to the whole-hearted co-operation we have received from the Executive Officers, the Boards and staffs of all the four major private bodies which plan and finance recreation in the English-speaking community, i.e., the Allied Jewish Community Services of Montreal, Federation of Catholic Charities, United Red Feather Services, and the Young Men's Christian Association of Montreal - Metropolitan Offices. They have had the faith to support our venture at a stage when we, as yet, have no direct services to provide. We must work hard to deserve their trust and confidence.

"It is also fitting that we pay tribute in this Report to the Prime Minister of Quebec, Mr. Johnson, and to the Minister of Tourism, Fish and Game, Mr. Loubier, for their financial support in the form of a $13,000 grant, which will form half of our revenue for the fiscal year 1967-68.

"This whole project is most remarkable in that it is a demonstration of public, semi-public and private agencies all working together to promote a worthy cause. It is all the more remarkable when we realize that these agencies are breaking down the old barriers of language, culture and religion in so doing. Let us hope that tonight marks the beginning of a new era of co-operation in this Province ...

"In closing, the Committee wishes to recognize the great contribution made by Miss Sybil Ross and her assistant, Miss Audrey Dorning."

AT THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE

A matter of attitude

The matter of attitudes towards life is being discussed in two Westmount places of worship this Sunday. Christian Science considers the superiority of right ideas over physical force and St. Andrew's Church will have, as the title of the Sunday Sermon "Being Positive about Life", to be delivered by the minister, Rev. E. A. Kirker at 11 a.m.

St Andrew's Church school will meet at 11 a.m. and the Crib Corner and Nursery will take care of young children while their parents are attending the service.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The superiority of right ideas over physical force will be the theme at Christian Science services this Sunday, in the reading of the week's Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Spirit". Appropriate Bible selections will include, from Zechariah: "This is the word of the Lord unto Zerubbabel, saying, Not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the Lord of hosts." Correlative passages from the denominational textbook will include: "Matter does not express Spirit. God is infinite omnipresent Spirit. He is all-inclusive, and is reflected by all that is real and eternal and by nothing else" ("Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy).

Dominion-Douglas Congregational meeting

Dominion-Douglas will hold its 103rd Annual Congregational Meeting this Sunday.

Following the Morning Worship, a light lunch will be served in Tees Hall. There will be special arrangements for children. Dr. Smith's sermon will be "With Banners Flying".

Warmth washes out club's winter games

With the extremely mild weather of last week-end and the preceding week all outdoor activities were at a minimum. However, this had the effect of chasing the members indoors and consequently all departments, Games Room, Crafts, Group Clubs, Woodwork Shop, Gymnasium, were going full tilt.

TABLE TENNIS TOURNAMENT: A very successful afternoon of Table Tennis took place at the Club recently. Unity was the host to the following clubs. East End, Point St. Charles and University Settlement. Lions Boys' Club indicated their intention to be present but didn't appear. The standings were: University Settlement first with 29 points, Unity second with 6 points, East End with 2 points and Point St. Charles with zero. A very impressive trophy was presented to the winners by Allen Bechard, Boys' Program Director of Unity. The Club members who represented Unity were: Donald Follette, Tim Lord, Ronald Anemaet, Russell Pepe, Desio Fernandes, Gary Syvret, Miguel Rolfe and Bruce Standing.

WINTER OUTING - Bonnie Benedict and Leslie Broches two very faithful volunteers planned an outing to Beaver Lake last Saturday for Club members. We are most fortunate to have such a beautiful natural setting with all the facilities for winter sports right on our door step and those who participated in this event, I'm sure, really enjoyed the experience.

TARGET PRACTICE - Preparations are being made at Unity to have interested members participate in this activity. Chuck Tyler, Club Director will interview members who are serious in pursuing the study of gunmanship.

BIDDY BASKETBALL - East End Boys' Club paid a return visit to Unity last week. Unity were the victors. Members who played were Donald Follette, Michael Hansen, Brent McPhee, Raoul Lefevre and Billy Soltys. The score: 34-6.

GIRLS' VOLLEYBALL - Vicky Rountree, Gail and Eileen Galley, Gail McGee, Patty Ann Fernandes, Cathy Jones and Debbie Standing made up the Unity team when Dawson Boys' Club paid a visit to Unity last week for their League game. Unity

UNITY BOYS' and GIRLS' CLUB NEWS was badly beaten by scores of 11-4, 11-6 and 11-7. More practice should see an improved situation so come along girls get in the gym a few evenings and strengthen your team.

PHOTOGRAPHY - We are most fortunate in having excellent photography equipment which has been donated to the Club by interested friends. A class is being organized by Nathan Krakow, a volunteer who has had a great deal of experience in this line. At the moment this is being planned for Tuesday evening at 7:00 p.m. We welcome Nathan and feel most fortunate that he is taking on this assignment. Those interested in joining contact Club Director Chuck Tyler or Boys' Program Director Allen Bechard. Girls and boys, young and old come along and learn all about this interesting hobby.

TEMPLE SCHOOL

At the Junior Assembly Sunday morning, February 11, a dramatic presentation written and directed by Mrs. Lionel Morris will be presented by Grade 11 students. This program is in observance of Tu B'Shevat - Arbour Day in Israel. Parents are invited.

The confirmation class meets regularly on Saturday mornings following the Junior Congregation under the leadership of Dr. Stern.

FELLOWSHIP DINNER

Wednesday, February 21 at 7:00 p.m., Grover Auditorium. Guests of Honour - Dr. Alton Goldbloom and Msgr. Irene Lussier. The Rt. Hon. John G. Diefenbaker will address the gathering on the theme "Whither Canada Now." For the past 40 years the Temple Brotherhood has sponsored this Fellowship Gathering between Catholics, Jews and Protestants with the purpose of promoting increased understanding in the Montreal community.

This is the revolutionary new KENWOOD'S way to store furniture. Your cherished possessions are wrapped, padded, listed and packed at your door into large, solid wooden pallets which become your own personal storage unit. There's no unpacking or re-crating at the warehouse, as with ordinary movers. Your possessions are kept together, untouched, stored in complete safety in a specially-built temperature-controlled modern warehouse, until you call for them to be delivered at your new address. Trust KENWOOD'S to find a better way of doing things. Call KENWOOD'S.

C. M. Drury and Mrs. Drury honored guests at RMR ball

Approximately 250 guests attended the annual Regimental Ball of the Royal Montreal Regiment, January 26, at which C. M. Drury, minister of industry and defence production, and Mrs. Drury, were guests of honor.

The Armory was decorated on a basic theme of "Light and Color". By confining the decor to a simple theme, the ladies' gowns and the colourful dress uniforms of the officers provided all the galaxy of color. This was achieved by the use of giant-size modern art "canvasses" on basic mondrian and "op art" themes. The canvasses, which were primarily black and white, were accentuated by individual floodlights and were in turn complimented by a black and white ceiling. Regimental crests were silhouetted around the walls at intervals to express the military aspect of the event.

Members of the Committee in charge were: chairman, Captain J. G. McIntyre; vice-chairman, Captain D. G. Sutherland; finance, Lieutenant R. Clark; tickets and reservations, Major T. A. M. Cauty; officers mess liaison, Major P. Fairclough; publicity, Major J. R. Nesbit, C.D.; catering and music, Captain V. A. Murray, C.D.; regimental liaison, Captain A. V. Jensen; house committee, Lieutenant M. Ross; decorations, Lieutenant S. D. Phillips; ladies committee, Mrs. R. C. P. Lawson.

THE LADIES

Mrs. J. A. Calder, wearing a sheath gown of printed chiffon in shades of jade and shrimp and wearing jade accessories.

Miss C. Darney, wearing an empire gown of emerald green lace over matching poie de soie and wearing silver accessories.

Mrs. H. Etheridge, in a gown of sapphire blue silk with beaded bodice and wearing pearl accessories.

Mrs. P. Fairclough, wearing an A-line gown of powder blue poie de soie and gold accessories.

Mrs. A. W. Jensen, wearing a sheath gown of apricot taffeta with an apricot and gold brocaded coat with gold accessories.

Mrs. T. J. Kennedy, wearing a full skirted gown of silver grey poie de soie, chinchilla trim on cuffs and wearing silver accessories.

Mrs. M. Kolesar, wearing a sheath gown of white crepe with front fullness accented with black braid and wearing black accessories.

Mrs. R. C. P. Lawson, wearing an empire gown of imported silver grey silk brocaded with gold threads and matching gold accessories.

Miss I. Molyneux, in an empire gown of midnight blue velvet

Westmount women attend presbyterial

Delegates from Westmount will attend the Montreal Presbyterial United Church Women's Sixth Annual Meeting February 20 in St. James United Church, 463 St. Catherine St. West, Montreal. The theme of this day-long meeting is of special interest to women at this time. It deals with "The Educational Task of the Church", with emphasis on "What is Happening to Women?"

Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. and the day's program with a worship service at 10 a.m. The afternoon session will begin at 1:15 p.m., and the evening worship service at 7:15 p.m. The evening service is open to both men and women.

A varied program has been planned for the day, offering opportunities for the women to participate in worship, discussion and fellowship.

A highlight of the afternoon program will be a panel discussion on the subject, "Choices Women Make". The chairman will be Professor Aileen Ross, department of sociology, McGill University, and on the panel will be: Dr. Jessie Boyd Scriver, formerly associate professor of pediatrics, McGill University, Mrs. George Johnston, housewife, formerly a medical social worker, Mrs. L. J. Stuart, president, Canadian Association for Retarded Children, and Miss

Valentine Tea

The Montreal Convalescent Hospital Associates will be holding their annual Valentine Tea, Wednesday Feb. 14, at 2 p.m., in the Assembly Room of the hospital.

As a special feature, Jaques Rochon of the T. Eaton Co., will give a talk on Interior Decorating. Mr. Rochon has been associated with Eaton's for 20 years, having studied at the Parson's School of Design in New York.

Conveners of this event will be Mrs. J. Commins and Mrs. D. O'Sullivan, with Mrs. Harold Wheeler and Mrs. Ed. Cooney at the Tea Table.

Eileen Griffin, executive director, Foster Home Recruiting Centre.

The guest speaker at the evening service will Mme Jeanne Sauvé, free lance broadcaster.

School lunches are real meals

"Three meals a day" should be more than a trite phrase. Each meal must supply one-third of the day's food requirements. That is why the lunch a child takes to school should be as carefully planned as meals eaten at home.

Basically, the school lunch box must contain protein (such as meat, fish, eggs, cheese and peanut butter); enriched bread; fruit or vegetables; and milk as a beverage or as the ingredient of a cooked dish.

Add to these four "musts" some imagination in preparation to whet the child's appetite.

Sandwiches are the most practical staple in a lunch box but the key to appeasement of hearty appetites lies in the variety of fillings.

Group to hear of lighting as decoration

Patrick Hadden of the T. Eaton Co. will address The Westmount Women's Club, at their meeting in Victoria Hall, at 2.30 p.m. on February 9, 1968.

His subject will be "Lighting - Montreal's deadliest decoration Sin".

Mrs. R. T. Stackhouse will preside. Tea will be served.

Montreal YW shows hats after lunch

The Montreal YWCA will hold a luncheon, hat show, and bazaar on Wednesday, Feb. 28, in Holden Fisher Hall, 1355 Dorchester Blvd. W., in aid of World Service. Luncheon begins at 12 noon, the hat show at 1 p.m., and the bazaar opens at 1:45 p.m.

Bazaar items will include handmade articles, plants, gourmet food, purses, jewelry and knick knacks. Tickets are required for the luncheon and hat show and are on sale at the YWCA Front Desk and Locker Office for $3.00. No ticket is necessary for the bazaar. There will be a free baby sitting service for children from two to five years of age (mothers are requested to bring children's lunches, milk will be supplied).

All three events are open to the public. Proceeds will go to World Service which assists in the educational, welfare and vocational training fields in 75 countries around the world.

MR. and MRS. STEPHEN ALFRED MAGNUS KINSMAN, photographed following their wedding which took place in Emmanuel Church, Plymouth, Devon, England. Mrs. Kinsman was formerly Miss Gillian Boyd Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alistair Donald Walker, of Mannamead, Plymouth, and Mr. Kinsman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Magnus Kinsman, of Westmount.

Westmount groom weds in England

The marriage of Gillian Boyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alastair Donald Walker, of Mannamead, Plymouth, South Devon, England, to Mr. Stephen Alfred Magnus Kinsman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Magnus Kinsman, of Westmount, took place in Emmanuel Church of England, Plymouth, the Rev. Canon M. H. Clarke, of Wellingborough, Northamptonshire, officiating.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was in a gown of white grosgrain, fashioned on empire lines and trimmed with a band of similar material at the high neckline, sleeves and on the hemline of the skirt which fell into a train.

Her long veil of silk illusion was held by a bandeau of small white grosgrain flowers, and she carried a cascade bouquet of deep pink Sweetheart roses and lily of the valley.

Miss Brigid Richardson, of London, England, as bridesmaid, was in a frock of turquoise silk, fashioned on empire lines. She wore a matching bow with streamers in her hair, and carried a small cascade bouquet of pink roses and lily of the valley.

Master Andrew Coggins, godson of the bride, as page boy, wore a white blouse and dark blue silk trousers with a wide silk sash.

Mr. Derick J. Halliwell, of London, acted as best man for Mr. Kinsman, and the ushers were Mr. Andrew Walker, brother of the bride, Mr. Ian Treacy, cousin of the bridegroom, Mr. Graham Adam and Mr. John Dobell.

Mrs. Walker, the bride's mother, was in a gown of sea-green worsted silk under a matching coat, and wore a hat and accessories of a deeper shade of silk.

Following the reception which was held at the Royal Western Yacht Club of England, Plymouth, Mr. and Mrs. Kinsman left on their wedding trip, the bride travelling in a suit of harvest yellow light wool, and wearing a hat of the same material and dark brown accessories. They have taken up residence in London.

Mrs. E.H.S. Piper new UCW president

Mrs. E.H.S. Piper has been installed as the new president of the United Church Women of St. Andrew's, Westmount. She replaces Mrs. D. W. Sutherland.

Other officers installed at the group's annual meeting recently were: first vice president Mrs. T. Allen, second vice president Mrs. M. D. Loucks, recording secretary Mrs. W. W. Robb, corresponding secretary Mrs. W. D. Bremmer, treasurer Miss H. Keith, and social convener Mrs. N. P. Baylis.

Guest speaker for the evening was St. Andrew's minister Rev. E. A. Kinker.

'68's first UCW general meeting

This year's first general meeting of the United Church Women of the Dominion Douglas Church will be in the form of a dessert-coffee party, Tuesday, Feb. 13, at 1.30 p.m.

The party is being organized by Unit 3 under the direction of Mrs. Percy Roberts.

Of particular interest to the members at large will be a display demonstrating the service "Meals on Wheels". Mrs. Douglas Johnson, in charge of the group of church women volunteering their time to this service, will arrange the display and answer any questions.

After dessert, those present will be entertained by a film, The Parable, which was originally shown at the New York World's Fair. Locally, it was featured during unity Week, at Place Ville Marie.

Book on sex available to parents

The Canadian Health Education Specialists Society announces the publication of a book entitled Family Living and Sex Education, "A Guide for Parents and Youth Leaders."

Written by Dr. S. R. Laycock, formerly Dean of Education at the University of Saskatchewan, and one of Canada's leading educational philosophers, this book makes its appearance at a time when parental concern about family living and sex education is at its peak.

Parents and teachers who are disturbed by the so-called "new morality" may not find much comfort within these covers, as the author exposes the anatomy of at least four current attitudes towards morality with a considerable degree of objectivity. As Robertson Davies wisely observes in A Voice from the Attic, "We are in revolt against so many false and cruel moralities that great numbers of people rashly assume that there is no true morality". Laycock leaves us in no doubt.

He believes that pre-adolescence is the appropriate time to teach children the physiological facts of sex and this information is given in some detail. He views responsible sexual behaviour as a result of: (1) child-rearing practices which give the child feelings of security and adequacy; (2) an understanding not only of the physiological needs in determining sexual behaviour; and (3) the development in the child and adolescent of the principles of non-exploitation of others, respect for other individuals, and continuing concern for the welfare of others and society.

According to one of the reviewers, Dr. F. R. Wake, of the Department of Psychology at Carleton University, the most important thing about the book is that "sex education does not stand alone; it is treated as a part of family living and thus is seen in relation to other aspects of life. The writing is low key, easy to read, almost conversational, and the content is based firmly on research in developmental and family life fields."

The book should prove valuable to many parents. Perhaps the greatest value might accrue from offering it directly to teenagers - with family or other discussion to follow.

Reviewed by several health educators and medical people across Canada, the book is fast becoming one of the most important references for parents and teachers interested in the education and upbringing of children in matters of family life and sex education.

Information about the book, which sells for $2.00 is available from the Canadian Health Education Specialists Society, P.O. Box 2305, Station D. Ottawa, Ontario.

STUDY SUPERSONIC AIRPORTS

Federal planners may soon decide to build a new international airport for Montreal and gradually let Dorval become a secondary field for business and local flights. This, Clive Baxter writes in The Financial Post, is one of the alternative policy lines now under consideration in a major study of airport development in Montreal and Toronto over the next 20 years. Decisions to be taken later this year, Baxter says, will influence land values around both cities, involve construction contracts

Rotarians greet District Governor

By E. C. GANNON

Westmount Rotarians gave a hearty welcome to Governor of District 704, John J. Hayes of Potsdam, N.Y. on his annual official visit here. The weekly luncheon held in Victoria Hall was well attended for the occasion and President T. P. Everson and his committee chairmen saw to it that the guest was made to feel completely at home in true Rotarian fashion.

At the head table were vice president, Dan McLuskie; and Directors O. M. Retallack, John Patton, Kurt Ross while in the assembled luncheon gathering were several past presidents and many of the original members who helped form the Westmount Club over 30 years ago. Among the many grey haired members attending were a gathering of the younger members who recently joined and in this respect nine of the latest members to join were personally inducted into the club by the District Governor.

The members receiving their "Charge" from the District Governor were Claude Cadorette, Gordon Cormie, Ritchie Johnston, Marc Hamel, Roy McKelvie, David Room, Kim O'Byrne, Ross de St. Croix, and George Trimm.

Attendance Top

District Governor Hayes, introduced by President Everson, expressed his great pleasure in being able to visit Westmount and commented favorably on the excellent attendance record of the members, which by the way is the highest in the district. He congratulated the various committees on their work and in his address told the members how their work could be made more effective by following the four avenues of service.

These, he said, could be classified as Club Service in which the effectiveness lies in their personal involvement through meeting attendance and service. Community Service he said, in this changing society could be meaningful, lying in the search for new activities and new avenues of approach. Vocational Service he emphasized could be found in the impact of Rotary in the application of the Four Way test in personal, business and professional relationships, while International Service of Rotary found its effectiveness in mutual responsibility leading to a knowledge of the problems of other countries and a willingness to help.

In his tour of the District, he said, he found that Westmount was one of the best clubs because of its inter-provincial and inter-cultural atmosphere. He reviewed the work of other clubs in the district and suggested that Westmount members become more personally involved through regular attendance as this was the key to involvement in any and all projects.

Past President Frank Starr reported on the success of the International Bonspiel and tendered congratulations to President Everson and his rink upon winning the silver medal in play.

Jet Tour

Enthusiasm is being shown by members for the forthcoming Easter vacation jet tour to Venezuela which is scheduled to take place on April 12, returning April 22, featuring an exchange visit with the Venezuelan Rotarians as hosts in return for Westmount's reception to their group who came here during Expo. Local Rotarians will be guests in Venezuelan homes and applications are presently being received by President Everson or Mrs. Clibbon, the local club secretary.

That local Rotarians get around, is shown in the visits of Harry Segal to Port of Spain and Blair Jardine to Riviera Beach, Florida. Visting Rotarians were welcomed by Dan McLuskie.

Looking for a lost quote? library index can guide

The Westmount Library invites you to discover the Index Counter located in the Reference Room!

If you would like to find a short story which is not listed in the catalogue, try looking in the Short Story Index, a guide, in several volumes, to short stories in collections. Stories are listed by author's name, by individual title, and by subject.

Once you have the story, perhaps you would like to read some comments on the story. For this, go to the set of volumes entitled Twentieth-Century Short Story Explication. The stated purpose of this work is "to provide a bibliography of short story explication published from 1900 through 1960 in books, monographs, and periodicals," giving "interpretation or explanation of the meaning of a story, including observation on theme, symbol, and structure.

If you would like to find a poem, but have forgotten the author's name and the title and remember only the first line; or, if you want a poem on, for example, "friendship," you will most likely find your answer in Granger's Index to Poetry. This index lists poems by author's name, by title, and by first line. It also includes a comprehensive subject index, with a host of topics, ranging from "Aachen, Germany" to "Zulu."

Again, perhaps you would like to see critical comments on a poem. Consult the volume entitled Poetry Explication; a checklist of interpretation since 1925 of British and American poems past and present. This will guide you to articles in books and periodicals.

If you would like to read a certain play which you do not find listed in the catalogue, you will probably locate it through one of the several play indexes, such as Index to Plays in Collections; an author and title index.

If you want to find a carol, a folk song, or a song whose author and title you do not know, try Songs in Collections, and index to composed songs, anonymous songs, folk songs, carols, and sea chanties, with listings by author, title, and first line.

The Essay and General Literature Index is a very useful set which contains author, subject, and selected title entries. For example, under a particular author's name, you will find references to works by the author, general works about the author, and works about the author's individual works.

For articles in magazines, you will use the Readers' Guide to Periodical Literature and the Canadian Periodical Index. These are author and subject indexes which list articles from a large number of periodicals.

French progress amazes home and school group

A joint meeting of the Home and School Associations of Westmount Park and Roslyn Schools was held on Monday evening, February 5th, in the auditorium of Westmount Park School.

The program was opened by The St. Lambert Bilingual School Study Group chaired by Mrs. Olga Melkoff and including Mrs. V. Neale, Mrs. M. Parkes and Mr. C. Parfett. The group also includes Mrs. M. Langshur, who was in the audience and Mrs. K. Stewart, who was unable to be present.

This panel discussed at length the bilingual classes started in St. Lambert in September 1965 and although, as they said in the beginning of their discussion, they were not there to sell us on their Bilingual Programme, it was clearly evident, after hearing tape recordings made last week of the children in these classes, that the Westmount parents were greatly impressed with their achievement.

The children, who started in the first bilingual kindergarten in the fall of '65 are now quite bilingual.

Scientific research on this first group of children carried out by Dr. W. E. Lambert of the Department of Psychology at McGill University during the last two years has shown the following:

In French, they have reached the same level of comprehension, as a French control group.

At the end of two years, in terms of overall expression their average rating fell within the normal range for native French-speaking children of the same age, although at the lower limit.

Their speaking of French is on a par with the speaking of English by the English control group. (A class from Roslyn School).

Their French reading skills were on a par with the French control group.

In an auditory discrimination test they did better than the French control group.

TRANSFER OF SKILLS

Although, when they had still not been taught to read in English, there was a transfer of skills to English to a surprising degree. The experimental children did just as well in a mathematical test given in English, as the English control group. Both groups had covered the standard first grade program in mathematics.

Their transfer to English reading is proving successful. Within five months half of the group has already advanced into grade two level of English reading and the remainder of the class in finishing the last book of grade one.

The second half of the program was a talk and demonstration by Mr. M. Paradis, of the Department of French at the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal, on the "Bon Jour Line" method of teaching the French language.

This method is presently used in 37 of the almost 100 elementary schools under the Greater Montreal Board.

MUST START EARLY

He stressed the need for starting at an early age to learn a second language. By doing so, not only do children become truly bilingual, but their intelligence is greatly increased.

Since the subject of French in our schools is limited to 30 minutes a day, there is no doubt, that Mr. Paradis was justified in saying, that the "Bon Jour Line" method is by far the best audiovisual method of teaching French.

Art Cinema film forceful

Sickness is seldom attractive, whether it be physical, moral or spiritual. Sick people who manage to be interesting and likeable do so in spite of their affliction, not because of it.

This idea, not a new one, is driven home on the hard-to-reach emotional level, by director Rolf Thiele in Sang Reserve, the current offering of Westmount's Art Cinema.

True cinema art it is.

Thiele marshalls the many media of expression provided by cinema, and, with careful attention to each, applies them with subtlety. As subtle force joins subtle force, however, the total becomes nearly irresistible.

One device, color, which is usually wasted as a medium of expression in film, is used by Thiele with economy and powerfully emphasizes many points. Muting of color is achieved through the sets, makeup and lighting, rather than gimmicks of filtering and processing. The effects are sometimes startling, but seldom distractingly artificial.

The plot, the story of a brother and sister, twins, whose unnatural attraction to each other is heightened under the threat of the sister's impending marriage, is another vehicle, but unimportant in itself.

Dare we, in this day and age, speak unblushingly of a moral? If so, then the moral of Sang Reserve is perhaps indicated in part by the color. The color comes alive, vibrantly, only during the play-within-the-play and towards the end of the film when the twins' passion for each other reaches its culmination.

Richard Wagner's opera, Die Walkuere, dealing in earthier terms with the same theme as Sang Reserve, is seen, in part, in the film.

Sang Reserve, as an art form, is a valuable contribution. Its value as a social comment is possibly debatable, but this observer, at least, is inclined to uphold the affirmative. As a moving emotional experience, it demands the co-operation of the viewer, but offers a bountiful return.

Dialogue is in German, with French subtitles, but don't let that scare you. There are few subtleties that cannot be missed and, while the dialogue probably assists in following the plot, it is not really necessary. The mood, to misquote a certain brain draineer, is the message.
