Valleyfield Bowlers Retain Fisher Bowling Trophy

Twelve Rinks Compete in Bonspiel at Huntingdon Greens — J. McAlpine Rink Top Scorers — All Prizes go to Valleyfield

The Huntingdon Bowling Green was the scene of the annual Fisher Trophy Bonspiel, on Saturday afternoon and evening, with twelve rinks competing. The afternoon was one of the hottest of the year and there was much mopping of brows until the after supper game had been played. The first two games were for ten ends and the evening game was for fourteen. All six greens were in play throughout the bonspiel and presented much activity.

Teams were in attendance from Valleyfield and Ormstown as well as those from Huntingdon and all were in keen fettle. Play commenced at approximately 3 p.m. and was steady from then on until 6.30. The players then adjourned to the Chateau, where a turkey supper was served and thoroughly enjoyed. After supper the games continued until 9.30, when the prize winners were announced.

Valleyfield won the Fisher Trophy and all prizes, the first prize being gabardine trousers made to measure for each of the four players. The second prize was four folding lawn or garden chairs and the third prize was a set of glasses and tray for each of the four players.

The winning rinks were:
First—J. McAlpine, skip, A. Seed, R. Fishhornet, S. Chambers, 3 wins and a plus score of 24.
Second was a tie—C. Mayoh, skip, G. Crook, F. C. Moore, H. Stretch, 3 wins and a plus 22; H. Whitehead, skip, D. Boyd, E. Arrondale, J. W. Evans, 3 wins and a plus 22. The skips tossed for it and C. Mayoh won the toss.
Third— W. Colquhorn, skip, W. Mitchell, J. Dow, J. McDonald, 3 wins and a plus score of 16.

All the above winners were from Valleyfield and thus trophy and prizes went to the Valleyfield competitors.

A very enjoyable time was spent by all and an invitation was extended by the Valleyfield players to all to join in their bonspiel on Saturday, July 17th. Mr. Fawcett of the Huntingdon Club made the presentation of the prizes and also urged as many of those present who could, to attend the bonspiel at Valleyfield.

Bus Accident Near Valleyfield on Friday Afternoon

Twelve Persons Injured, Two Seriously, When Two Provincial Buses Collide

Twelve persons were injured—a soldier gravely and a civilian seriously—when the autobus in which they were riding crashed into a ditch four miles east of Valleyfield late Friday afternoon, July 9. Ten of the victims are members of the local basic army training centre.

Gravely hurt was Cpl. L. P. Brouillette, Cap de la Madeleine, who had fractures of the skull, arm and leg.

Sam Segal, 32, 4610 St. Urbain street, Montreal, driver of the Provincial Transport Company bus, sustained a broken pelvis.

All the injured were taken to Valleyfield Hotel Dieu, with the exception of two civilian casualties, Harry Parkinson, 53 government accountant for Allied War Supplies Corporation at Nitro, and J. R. Ufford, 25, Lachine, an employee of Nicholas Chemical Company, Valleyfield, who were treated at the D.I.L.'s Nitro hospital.

Col. J. Emile Levesque, officer commanding the training centre, said next-of-kin had been advised of the mishap, and Capt. Phil Levac, camp adjutant, identified the other injured soldiers as:

Sgt. Marcel Champagne, 342 Victoria street, Lachine; Cpl. P. E. Bellemarre, Berthierville; Cpl. J. B. Landry, 2204 Valois street, Montreal; Cpl. L. M. Paul, 4287 St. Andre street, Montreal; Pte. Gerald Benoit, 4299 Parthenais street, Montreal; Pte. Richard Messier, St. Chrysostome, Chateauguay Co.; Pte. Raymond Chenier, 960 Addington avenue, Montreal; Pte. Marcel Vaillancourt, 4093 Colonial avenue, Montreal, and Pte. R. C. Verney, Valois, Que.

The accident occurred at 5.30 p.m. when the Montreal-bound bus reportedly met another of the same company on a narrow detour behind Village Biette.

It was believed Cpl. Brouillette was sitting or standing near the front of the bus when it ran into the ditch and struck a large tree.

Several other persons in the bus, the majority of them army men, received cuts or bruises and a shaking up.

Cadets Have Enjoyable Time At Camp Frontenac, St. Jean

Boys From Huntingdon, Ormstown and Valleyfield Present —All Report Wonderful Outing

On the morning of July first, twenty-six Cadets from the Huntingdon Academy Cadet Corp and their instructor, Quartermaster Sergeant Clouston of the McGill C.O.T.C., left for the Cadet Summer Camp at Camp Frontenac, St. Jean, Quebec. They were later joined by Cadets from Ormstown and Valleyfield.

Upon their arrival at Camp Frontenac they were assigned to tents and were issued with fatigue clothes, eating utensils, and bedding. Later on in the day they were assigned to companies. The Cadets from Huntingdon were assigned to "D" Company and the Cadets from Ormstown and Valleyfield to "C" Company.

The next day training began. The Cadets were up at six-thirty and had their blankets and mattresses folded before going to breakfast at seven. After breakfast they finished cleaning up their tents before going to morning parade at eight o'clock. After the morning parade was over the Cadets attended lectures and had drill. The morning was divided up into four periods of forty-five minutes each, starting at eight-twenty and going on till eleven-thirty when they broke off and had a shower before going to dinner at twelve. After dinner the Cadets were free till one-fifteen when they went on parade again. The afternoon was divided into three periods of forty-five minutes and training ended at four and the Cadets were free to do as they liked till supper parade at five. After six the Cadets who were in possession of a pass were allowed out till eight-forty-five. Those who were less fortunate, spent the time writing letters home or they took part in one of the many sports. At nine, the boys had a light lunch of cocoa and sandwiches before preparing for bed. The Cadets were in bed and most of them asleep by ten-fifteen.

The training at Camp Frontenac included courses in Hygiene and Sanitation, Map Using, First Aid, Fieldcraft, besides the usual rifle and platoon drill. Aside from these lectures the Cadets were allowed special times to swim and have Range Practice, they were also taken on a few Route Marches.

Some of the special events were Visitors' Day the Demonstration by a Mechanized Section and the inspection of the camp by Col. Grier, the Director of the Royal Canadian Army Cadets, and Major Gen. Brown. Sunday, July fourth, was Visitors' Day and many of the Cadets had visitors from home. On July seventh, the Cadets were given a real thrill when a Mechanized Section from Farnham came over and gave the Cadets rides in "Jeeps" and "Universal Carriers". While waiting for their turn to ride in the Carriers and Jeeps, the Cadets were instructed in the use of Bren guns, Sten guns, Tommy guns, Mortars, and Six-Pounders. On Thursday morning the Cadets were allowed to examine a tank but were not fortunate enough to have a chance to ride in it. On Thursday afternoon, the Cadets witnessed a demonstration on precision drill and unarmed combat by men from the Training Centre at St. Jean.

Friday morning an inspection was made by Major Gen. Brown. Everything possible was done to entertain the Cadets and make them feel at home. There were movies in the camp every night and on three different occasions the Cadets were taken to free movies in one of the local theatres. On the Friday night before the Cadets left camp they were taken to the Stadium and were entertained by wrestling matches and different Cadets displayed their talents on the piano and guitar. Before the Cadets left the Stadium the prizes for sports were distributed. The Cadets from Huntingdon who received prizes were: Cadet Capt. Hamilton, Cadet Sgt. Major McNair, Cadet Sgt. Marshall, Cadet Sgt. Goodfellow, and Cadet Anderson. After the distribution of prizes the Cadets returned to camp where they were treated to soft drinks and chocolate bars by Major Lavallee, the Camp Commandant.

On Saturday morning the Cadets left Camp Frontenac at ten-forty and arrived at Montreal at eleven-thirty. After eating dinner at Windsor Station the boys were free to wander around Montreal till their train left at four. The Cadets arrived home at seven, a very tired but happy group of lads, and all

Man Has Hands Badly Crushed in Hay Fork Pulley

Last Thursday, while engaged in unloading hay on the farm of Mr. Lester Fraser, Dundee Centre, Napoleon Russell, 20 year-old son of Jos. Russell, had the misfortune to have both his hands badly jammed in the hay fork pully. The lifting rope twisted at the hay fork and while trying to untwist the rope his left hand was drawn into the pulley. His right hand also was caught when he endeavoured to extracate himself. Before the tractor which was being used for hauling the hay fork could be stopped, both his hands were badly mangled.

He was taken to Fort Covington, but as no medical service was obtainable there, he was rushed to Huntingdon for attention. The ends of three fingers on his left hand were crushed and two on the right severely lacerated. Previous to working on the farm the injured man was employed as a helper by Road Patrolman Stewart McGibbon.

Drowning Averted by Quick Action

Youth of 18 Saves Man From Drowning In Chateauguay River

What might have proved another fatality occurred on Sunday afternoon, July 11th, at the Arthur (Brims) Bridge, on the Chateauguay River, when a number of young men from Elgin and Athelstan were swimming and gathered along the bank.

Mr. David Jacobs, of Springfield, Mass., who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Foers, in Athelstan, decided to go in wading with a bicycle tire around his body as he was unable to swim. He was warned about deep holes under the bridge, but evidently did not heed the warning and waded out into deeper water. He was caught in the current and carried under the bridge. He swallowed some water, then evidently became panicky for he stopped moving his hands and feet and sank like a log. In a moment or so he reappeared and sank again, by this time his desperate situation began to be observed by bystanders and other swimmers.

William Morrison, who had just dived off the bridge, saw him and swam quickly to his rescue, succeeded in seizing him and drew him towards the shore, but not without some difficulty, as Mr. Jacobs is a big man and seemed determined to go back upstream. It was necessary for Morrison who is a slight youth of 18, to force Mr. Jacobs under the water to control him and then tow him downstream and then ashore.

Mr. Jacobs suffered no serious consequences although he was considerably shaken, over the incident, as were the bystanders. William Morrison has been much applauded for his quickness of thought and action. This incident is one more argument in favour of being prepared for any emergency. William was prepared, having taken lessons in life-saving from Y.M.C.A. in Montreal and in Naval Training School. This young man is spending an indefinite time in Elgin with Mr. and Mrs. Allan Mack, prior to continuing his work in the Merchant Navy.

BARRIE MEMORIAL HOSPITAL CROWDED

A report in this issue on the Barrie Memorial Hospital shows that the facilities of this hospital are being greatly taxed both as to accommodation and to adequacy of staff. The report says that the number of patients has increased over any previous period and the requirements at the present time point to the fact that a 40 to 50 bed hospital is required. Quite a long discussion took place over the matter of an addition to the present hospital to meet the conditions as they exist. A committee has been appointed but at this meeting they had nothing to report in the matter.

So much additional work is required to be done that the staff is not able to handle it all, therefore another nurse is to be hired to try and relieve the situation.

Other opinions expressed regarding the addition to the present Barrie Memorial Hospital, were that it might be well to consider a new site with a view to a new building when the time was opportune.

When one considers the fact that many persons were skeptical of the advisability of a hospital for Ormstown in the earlier years, and compares this with the progress the hospital has made since its founding, it is easy to see that the project was a well advised one. As time goes on the hospital will prove of greater value to the citizens of Ormstown and surrounding territory and it has certainly proved its worth during the past few years and at the present time. It is very doubtful if the doctors at Ormstown could have carried on under the same load if a hospital had not been available during these years. It has proved a boon on many occasions both past and present and when talk of making additions to it are spoken of by the Board, it certainly speaks well for its usefulness.

Patients at this hospital all speak well of the treatment and service received while there and the point that many return for further attention and treatment speaks well for its personnel and medical attention. Financially the hospital has been well managed and its appointments are well looked after and cared for. No serious complications have arisen between patients and the medical attendants and no unsavoury tang has ever been attached to the institution. With such a favorable reputation, it is no wonder that more accommodation is required and has become necessary.

All though its history the reports have shown that improvements are constantly being made which add to the efficiency of the hospital and staff. There is a forward outlook at all times which is most encouraging. In the present situation, the Board and the Staff are doing everything possible to overcome the difficulties the hospital is facing in trying to accommodate the increasing number of patients it is being called upon to treat and care for.

HUNTINGDON COUNTY HOSPITAL FUND CAMPAIGN NEARING THE CLOSE

There is still much discussion on the matter of the Huntingdon County Hospital and with the campaign for funds fast approaching the closing date, the tempo is increasing. This canvass is entirely a County project and as such, contains much of worth to commend the people doing all they can in the next few weeks to see that the objective of the campaign is reached.

That a hospital is needed for the county is being daily made more plain, as those who have occasion to visit the doctors' offices will readily signify. If you visit the doctor at his office you will find that you have to wait for several hours before you can be given your consultation, unless you happen to be first in line. Many of the cases that the doctor is attending could be treated at a hospital by the staff of that hospital, just as well as by the doctor. If the doctor had this time free, he would be more free to attend to his other patients who may require less of his time and thus save many people a long wait. Some people have reported having to wait in the various doctors' offices for hours on end before having the opportunity of seeing him. Sometimes these waits are necessitated because the doctor is away on a call or has been called out on a serious case demanding his immediate attention. Many of such cases could be taken to the hospital and be under the constant supervision of the staff who would be trained to deal with them.

There is a section of pople who have voiced the opinion that the funds raised for the hospital should be on a share basis with dividend attached to it. There is no hospital that we know of that ever paid a cash dividend. A hospital might be placed in the mercy class of institutions, its sole place in any community is to serve the cause of human suffering and treatment. It is not considered a commercial institution in any sense of the word, nor should anyone expect to get rich as a result of other peoples misfortunes. The patient pays for services rendered and the benefit of medical skill, but should not be expected to pay a dividend to shareholders. Most hospitals are doing well if they can keep out of the red, that is why the government is willing to make a grant.

When you make a contribution to the Huntingdon County Hospital Fund, you are furthering the cause of humanity on the home front; you are building a worthwhile project to help others who may not be as fortunate as yourself, or mayhap you may have to seek the services of a hospital for yourself or your family. If such proved to be the case, would it not be nice to have a hospital situated close to your home? We find people who say that they would not go to any other hospital than that in a city. Why should the city hospital prove so much superior? If the doctor in charge of the smaller hospital deems it advisable that you should have special treatment of which the facilities on hand will not permit, he will advise you so and see that you get them. He doesn't want to take your life in his hands unncessarily, he is anxious to do all in his power to help you. Oftentimes the treatment given in the smaller hospital can be more individual and less on a systematic basis and lends much to the comfort and care of the patient. The facilities available and the knowledge of the doctors today, makes even a well cared room in an ordinary house is sufficient for the needs. City hospitals always seem so busy and officious, the doctors usually seem to have so much to do that they must be very clever, the whole atmosphere seems to tend that you must get well in a city hospital. But still people die in the city hospitals and fail to regain full health, just the same as it happens in the home and at the smaller hospitals. But the chances of a patient recovering health are really greater in the smaller hospital, because as said they are liable to receive more individual attention, they are dealing with the doctor who has the medical case history at his fingertips. The country doctor has probably attended the family for years and maybe has attended the fathers and mothers of patients, or even been responsible for bringing the patient into the world at birth. All these things speak in favor of a hospital for Huntingdon County and give the reason why everyone should be vitally interested in seeing that all is done to make it a fact.

The best way to make this a fact is to make sure that your subscription is sent in during the next few days, the closing date of the drive has been set for July 24th.

A meeting is to be called for July 29th, when officers of the official Hospital Board will be chosen from among those who are members of The Huntingdon County Hospital. This means that all persons who have contributed $10.00 are eligible as ordinary members and all persons who have contributed $100. per person or $150. for man and wife are life members. From among these persons the official board will be chosen and they will be responsible for the hospital renovations, the operation of the hospital and setting the opening date and so forth.

Let us all get together and make the last weeks of the drive the best of all for the swelling of the fund.

Bad Electrical Storm At St. Agnes

On Monday afternoon, from 3 to 4 o'clock, Ste. Agnes village and the surrounding district experienced one of the worst electrical storms in many years. Not only did the rain come down in torrents, but the lightning did considerable damage.

On Vernon Elder's farm, an elm tree was struck and splintered. The lightning left the tree and followed a barbed-wire fence for a distance of approximately 600 yards to a pig yard, where it killed 3 pigs. Two other pigs that were in the same pen were injured, but are likely to recover in a few days. The pigs, which would have been ready for market in another 3 weeks, were four months old and would average 135 lbs. apiece.

At Wilbrod Marchand's store, the lightning entered on the light wires, blew open the fuse box and blew the fuse plugs completely out of the box for a distance of 7 or 8 feet. In an upstairs bedroom it burned the parchment shade off a boudoir lamp. Mr. and Mrs. Marchand feel very thankful that no further damage was done, as could easily have been the case.

To Unveil Plaque At Dundee Church Sunday Morning

A marble plaque, commemorating the bequest of $2,750.00 from the will of the late Walter J. Fraser, of Fraser's Point and New York City, to the United Church in Dundee, is to be unveiled next Sunday at the regular morning service. The late Mr. Fraser made the bequest as is slated on the plaque, as a memorial to the memory of his father and mother, the late Hugh and Sarah Fraser, of Dundee, with the stipulation that a suitable memorial be placed in the church commemorating the bequest.

Mr. Fraser spent his boyhood in Dundee before going to New York City, where he became a successful business man in the drugstore trade. At the time of his death he was living a semi-retired life at Fraser's Point, one portion of which he was the owner.

Meeting of Town Council

Two Building Permits Applied For, One Rejected

The regular meeting of the Huntingdon Town Council was held on Tuesday evening, July 6th, at the Council Chambers in the County Building, with Mayor W. E. S. McNair presiding and all members present.

The following accounts were passed and approved for payment: Receiver General, $34.35; C.N.R., $1.40; Johnson Sales Co., $292.32; Canadian Industries Ltd., $14.52; Bell Telephone Co., $8.07; J. Macrow, $95.75; Provincial Treasurer, $12.00; Huntingdon Gleaner Inc., $5.60; Pringle, Stark & Co., $222.47; J. E. Barrett, $6.00; Laberge Bros., $6.96; Imperial Oil Ltd., $4.74; Provincial Treasurer, $155.57; Payroll, $80.20; D. Moody, $107.10; Can. Nat. Telegraphs, 47c.; R. Rolfe & Son, $39.57 and Payroll, $33.00.

J. J. Patterson applied for a building permit to build a bungalow on Lorne Avenue, and complained about a sewer on Wellington Street East. The Council agreed to attend to the sewer as soon as funds were available and asked him to submit an application for the permit on the approved form.

A letter was read from the Provincial Transport Co. asking for permission to stop for passengers at the corner of Bouchette and Chateauguay Streets. The secretary was asked to write to the company and ask them to send their inspector to Huntingdon to discuss the matter further before such permission would be granted. A building permit asked for by Mrs. Jos. Riel was rejected. It was decided that the Town purchase from Miss Margaret Hunter a strip of land for $75.00, size 6 feet wide from Lot 324a, for the purpose of straightening the sidewalk on Hunter Street, and that the Mayor be authorized to sign a notorial deed of sale to give effect to same.

The Council decided to ask the Quebec Municipal Commission to approve an extension of time to November 1st, 1943, for the payment of the sum of $5,000.00 due the Canadian Bank of Commerce and representing the balance due the said bank on amount borrowed pending the levying of 1942 taxes.

It was moved that the Town of Huntingdon borrow from the Canadian Bank of Commerce up to the amount of $7,500.00 as required to meet current expenditures pending the collection of 1943 taxes, the whole to be repaid on or before December 31st, 1943, and that the Mayor and Secretary-Treasurer be authorized to sign a note or notes up to the above amount.

After considerable discussion in regard to procedure in criminal prosecutions, it was decided that in future the policemen should report to the Police Committee before taking proceedings.

It was decided to allow a credit of $237.16 to the Huntingdon Woollen Mills Ltd. on water rates for 1943 as a result of over-payment on water rates prior to July 1st, 1942.

It was decided that the town should raise the flag stones forming a sidewalk on Church Street between York and Wellington Streets and replace them after the necessary grading has been done by St. Joseph's Church.

Alderman Fawcett reported he had received an estimate of from $350.00 to $400.00 as the cost of a roof on the bandstand. The council decided that such an expense would not be warranted at the present time.

Word has been received by Mrs. John L. Murphy, St. Anicet, Que., that her son Gerald T. Murphy, graduated from the United States Army Air Force Advanced Flying School, at Douglas, Arizona, on Tuesday, June 22nd, 1943, as a Lieutenant in the Air Corps.

Barrie Memorial Hospital Reports Increase in Patients

Extra Nurse to be Engaged — Addition to Hospital Discussed; Also Possibility of Nurses' Home

At a recent meeting of the Board of Governor's of the Barrie Memorial Hospital, the Medical report given by Dr. Quintin showed that in the first six months of 1943 there again had been an increase in the number of patients treated in the hospital over any other like period, the need for an extra nurse being engaged was pointed out in order that the same high standard of nursing care be given patients as had been done in the past. The meeting was unanimous that an extra nurse be engaged and a motion passed to this effect, this will bring the nursing staff up to nine. It was reported that a painter had been secured to re-decorate the rooms as they could be secured for this work and also the laundry would be painted, extra closet room was ordered built in the basement for storing needed supplies.

The Chairman reported having received the Annual Government Grant of $5000 for 1943 through Romeo Fortin, M.L.A. for Chateauguay.

The matter of securing an extra grant of sugar from the local ration board for canning and preserving purposes was left in the hands of Mr. J. E. Ness.

The need of a Nurses' Home was pointed out in order that the nurses could live more together, a committee was appointed to look into this matter and find such a home if possible.

A long discussion took place over the question of an addition to the hospital, it being pointed out the need for a 40 or 50 bed hospital was quite apparent.

A committee previously appointed to consider plans for an addition to the hospital reported that nothing as yet had been done in this regard.

There was some opinion expressed that it might be well to consider a new site and a new building erected when the opportune time came, rather than an addition to the present building.

Has Made 59 Operational Flights Over Germany, Polish Flyer Tells Story

F/O Pieniazek Now of R.A.F. Ferry Command is Spending Furlough at Fraser's Point — Has Been Pilot in Polish Air Force Since 1939

To have made 59 operational flights, bombing important German targets including Berlin itself, and each time to have returned safely to his home base in Great Britain, is the unique and thrilling distinction claimed by Flying Officer Julien Pieniazek, of the Royal Air Force, Polish Squadron, who is now spending a couple of weeks' furlough at Fraser's Point, Dundee, Que.

Despite all the honours which he has won (Polish V.C., Polish Cross with three bars and English D.F.M.) for his daring exploits, The Gleaner reporter found the distinguished young flying officer to be rather reluctant to talk of his unusual adventures in the last four years, since the Germans invaded his homeland, in 1939.

F./O. Pieniazek, who is 28 years of age, was born in Rzeszow, Poland, joined the Polish Air Force in 1935, and at the time of the invasion was a seasoned pilot. He took part in the valiant attempt of the Polish air squadrons to check the overwhelming strength of the Luftwaffe, but was shot down and his navigator was killed, while attempting to take off from an airfield, in a sortie against the enemy. Wounded himself, though not seriously, he was able two weeks later, to make his escape from Poland to Roumania. He then went by boat to Beirat, Syria, thence to France and later to England, where he joined up later in 1939, with a Polish squadron in the R.A.F. Since that time and up to a few months ago, he has made 59 operational flights over the Continent.

In one 4-month period, he stated he had made 30 flights, truly a wonderful achievement. It was usual, he said, to withdraw men from active duty in the R.A.F. after 30 flights, but such was not possible in his section, due to the lack of Polish reserves to draw from.

He has flown all types of British heavy bombers—Wellingtons, Halifax, Stirlings and Lancasters, and thinks the latter are about the best ever.

During his long course as a pilot of night bombers, the young flying officer had some thrilling adventures and some narrow escapes. He recalled on one occasion of flying most of the way back to Britain from Hamburg, with only one engine of the four-motored ship operating, but they made it. The worst flak he ever encountered was in a raid over Berlin, in 1941, when even at 30,000 feet the enemy guns made things far too hot for comfort.

Asked if he thought air bombing would be a deciding factor in the final conquest of Germany, he said he was sure it would. He added that many many times more damage is being done to Germany and occupied countries at the present time, than was ever done to even his beloved Poland or to the British Isles, during the days of the blitz.

He thinks the R.A.F. Command is a wonderful organization, and although at the present time he has been withdrawn from active duty and is with the R.A.F. Ferry Command, he says he would rather be at the controls of a Lancaster, getting ready for a bombing run over a Nazi target. He enjoyed seeing the two and four ton block busters crashing to the mark and described the destruction in their path, as a "beautiful sight."

Mrs. Pieniazek, whom he married five months ago, and a friend who also escaped from Poland and is with the R.A.F., are staying at the summer cottage with him.

It Should Make Us Think

THE talk given by Capt. Cecile Bouchard of C.W.A.C., at the International Day Carnival, should give everyone something to think about. While it was given in simple language that everyone could understand, it contained the heartfelt feeling of the speaker, who was trying her best to make her points go home.

Much is said these days about sacrifice, subscribing for Victory Bonds, War Savings Stamps and Certificates, about the people of Quebec and the French-Canadian. Capt. Cecile Bouchard is a French-Canadian and she is serving Canada and the British Empire in the Canadian Women's Army Corps, she has recently returned from a visit to England and has seen the French-Canadians serving in the Canadian Army over there. In her talk she pointed out what the British people are doing to make these French-Canadians feel at home and what the re-actions of these soldiers are to the British people. Having been to Great Britain and seen for herself the conditions that exist there, she has a first hand knowledge of what sacrifice and loyalty mean. She told her audience that the French-Canadians are proud to be fighting for Canada and the British Empire because they know and they realise that they are fighting for a just cause. Everyone in Great Britain is doing a job because they believe it is the right thing to do and we must be prepared to do the same in this country: to fight, to work and to give in order that we may win the war.

Capt. Bouchard has been through at least one air raid and knows what it feels like to be so helpless, that a person is more or less waiting for death at almost any minute. She told her audience that she was really afraid, but that the British women just went about their work with a resigned air and did not seem to bother whether the bombs were falling close or not. It is hard for anyone who has not really witnessed an air raid to know just what a feeling it brings. Amid the terrific din and through the time of waiting many thoughts pass through a person's mind, there is a constant wondering of where the next one will fall, as the drone of the planes pass overhead, there is the question, is it one of ours or is it one of the enemy? The shriek of the anti-aircraft shells is terrifying and the whine and whistle of the bombs is more so. Everything is so confusing. This does not go on for minutes, it continues for hours. It is no wonder that Capt. Bouchard was afraid, when she experienced it for the first time. But she gained an experience in that one instance that would give her a far different view of the conditions of war than she ever had before.

There is no doubt, that the speech she made was a sincere one and the appeal she left with the people of Huntingdon should not go unheeded. Many people are wont to say that too much is being asked of them, they can't do this or they can't do that. But is it very much that we are asked to do, when consideration is given to what people are doing over there.

Much has been said about French-Canadians shirking their duty, not answering their calls for service and not being willing to contribute to the war in many ways. But Capt. Bouchard proved to those who are skeptical and to the French-Canadians themselves, that the French-Canadians serving overseas are proud to be fighting as part of the British Empire forces. But for those who might be inclined to dodge the issue, Capt. Bouchard told them straight from the shoulder that they should be doing their job whatever it may be with the same enthusiasm that the people of Britain were doing theirs.

While the talk was given in very simple language, it contained much food for thought and should make us really wonder if we are called upon to do very much after all.

Before the Leaves of Autumn Fall

THE announcement on Saturday that troops of the United Nations had started an invasion of Sicily was not greeted with surprise, it had been more or less expected. The point of the invasion was not known until announced, but it was expected that it would come at some point and at almost any time. Naturally, everyone was interested and is still interested, although very little news of an informative nature has been gained by the general public to date. It is known that British, Canadian and American troops are taking part and that they have gained some ground, and this without a great deal of opposition or losses. But whether the operation is entirely successful or whether our troops will be able to hold on is not yet known.

That there must be a huge amount of supplies and fighting men is quite evident from the number of ships reported in the convoy which reached African ports. The total announced was 2,000. In the storming of the African coast before the battle of Tunisia, 850 ships were used. When this is compared with the present number, it can easily be imagined that a far greater scale of operations is intended.

While the penetration is not great, much apprehension is felt on account of the fact that the landing has been comparatively easy so far. It is thought that the Axis Powers are either taken completely by surprise or they are waiting to draw the United Nations forces as far inland as possible before making a strike. It is understood that the enemy is based somewhere near the centre of the island and that as our forces come nearer to this spot and have pulled away from the sea aiding forces, that the enemy will make defensive stand. In any case the authorities are warning that the battle is not won and that bitter fighting may be expected and that casualties may be heavy. Sicily was considered to be a very heavily armed fortress and would require a huge force to subdue it. Apparently the United Nations have left nothing to chance and they have mustered a huge force for the purpose.

After months of talking about a second front and a large amount of mysterious gatherings and consultations and rumors of where the invasion would most likely take place, at least there is some satisfaction that a start has been made. We are not prepared to say that this is the real invasion point, but events as they occur will prove how the plan is intended to work. Sicily may prove to be the jumping off point for an invasion of Italy and ultimately of Europe. It may be just a ruse to direct the attention of the enemy to a different part of the war theatre, while operations are in progress at another. There seemed to be a lull on the Russian front as though the Germans were waiting to see where the Allies would strike. Apparently the spring offensive against the Russians has started, as hard fighting has been reported from that sector and the Germans have made some gains. Just what effect the invasion of Sicily will have on this will remain to be seen.

For the past few months it has been felt in official circles that Germany has been storing up much of her equipment and manpower against the time that the United Nations would make their invasion attempt. It is understood that some of the best Nazi troops are in Sicily and that a strong force of the Luftwaff is there also. If this is the case, they have not been heard from much so far. But as stated earlier, this might be all part of a preconceived plan. In such an event, it would seem that we are just as prepared for eventualities and ready to meet them.

This will be the first time that Canadian troops have been used in a real battle attempt and many of them will be glad of the chance now presented to them to show what they can do and to avenge for the losses in the Dieppe raid. Almost since the beginning of the war Canadians have been stationed in England with nothing more to do than intense training. These men will be able to demonstrate the worth of their training and have the chance they have been asking and waiting for. It has been promised that Canadians would have the spearhead of the attack and the Canadians have been looking forward to their part. There is no doubt we shall hear that they have acquitted themselves nobly and well, but we must expect that there will be casualties.

Prime Minister Churchill said in his speech recently, that the invasion would come, that it would happen before the leaves of autumn fell, it would appear that it has happened considerably before that time. Everyone is pleased with the fact that it is taking place as it means that a start has now been made to end the war. While this may take years yet, at least we have passed the period of waiting when there was nothing decisive being done that was comprehensible. There is a relief to a tension that was being built up with the promises that something would happen. It has happened and we can let our nerves relax to a certain extent. That they will tighten again there is no doubt, there will be many tense times before this war is won. If one will consider the task it was to beat the Germans back in 1914-1918, some idea will be gained of the immensity of the task confronting us today. So we do not look for early or easy victories, but for much long and bloody fighting.

Continues to be a Constant Danger

THE matter of maintaining price ceilings and the ever increasing menace of inflation continues to worry officials in charge of this phase of the war. In Washington, the officials have voted down the granting of subsidies to maintain price levels. In Ottawa, it has been declared that no additions to subsidies can be made than those now being paid. There must be a ceiling on subsidies, it seems, otherwise the taxpayer will have to dig down lower than ever and prices will rise on account of wages having to be increased. If other subsidies are not allowed, the price of the goods will be increased, with a resultant increase in the cost-of-living. The fact that the United States will not subsidise manufacturers in order to keep price levels will have its effect in this country by reason of goods which we import being at a higher price.

Much discussion has been going on at Ottawa regarding the cost-of-living index and it has been asked that it be given an overhauling to make sure that a proper compilation has been made. It appears that vegetables are not included in the index, because they are of a seasonal nature and are bought in heavy quantities only at certain times and that the prices change very rapidly. But just the same, vegetables are a vital part of the food purchases made by families all over the country. A majority of the early vegetables are imported from the United States and the price of these is very high at the present time and it seems they will remain high.

Ottawa is watching the happenings in the States very closely and will no doubt try to maintain price ceilings in this country as far as possible. There is also the Turgeon report to be brought down yet, and this may introduce increased rates of wages for the lower brackets or may suggest a unified payment of the cost-of-living bonus. If either of these are introduced, they may cause reconstruction in the system of price ceilings.

Thus the danger to price ceilings is ever present and the whole structure may collapse and have to be abandoned. The cost-of-living index has risen in the past while but it is claimed unless it rises some more during the next month, no increase in payment of cost-of-living bonuses will be ordered. With the invasion of the European fortress already under way it is probable that prices may get out of control and the whole structure collapse. There is no doubt that greater calls will be made on the human resources of the nation and this may cause shortage of supplies that will affect the price structure. There are many matters to be watched in connection with the maintenance of the price structure and anti-inflation measures and they will continue to be an ever increasing danger.

Notes About Dundee by John Davidson of Dundee

As to all the changes that have taken place in the methods and manner of living and doing things now by it was forty years ago since my memory carries me back, you of course, are pretty well posted on. The time when we used to have to run to a neighbor for a coal of fire should the coals die out that had been covered with ashes, when the old pot hung in the chimney on the crook or crane simmering full of oat or cornmeal porridge, and the lady of the house giving it an occasional stir with the "spurtle" and then transferred to plates and with some milk in a bowl or plate and tin plated, sometimes bone or wooden spoon, the strong health invigorating food was eaten with a relish that would make some of the dainty eating class nowadays think that the consumer was not a human. When we could go to church bare-footed and in our short sleeves, no spring and top buggies to loll and take your ease in but find your way through the bush among the brush and on logs where the land was low, and then when you got there, it was not to sit on a fine high backed cushioned pew but to sit on a slab with four water beech legs and support your own back (a poor place for sleeping those days in church). The sermons, too, were none of your modern concerns, that is not sure of future punishment, but they were reeking with fire and brimstone and woe betide you if you disregarded the commandments, you were sure of hell fire and all its accompaniments. There was the time when if you didn't have your catechism at school off by heart you would catch it. When the poor goose wings were denuded to supply the "governors" with writing instruments, and it took half the time of the teacher to make and mend these quills. Teachers didn't need any diplomas in order to qualify for the business. Their qualifications, as far as "larning" was concerned, were certainly very meagre, but they could wield the rod to a very uncomfortable degree and what they could not induce you to learn they would drive it in by brutal force. Yes, I have heard them swear at the scholars if they did not do as they were wanted. These were the days of bees, logging, etc., plenty of cheap whiskey and dances. All that was required for a dance was to get about 5 gal. whiskey, a few pounds of sugar to make "sling" and a few pounds of crackers to eat with the "sling". There were lots of fiddlers, and each one that could play took their turn. Scotch and eight reels were the principal dances. Cortillions, waltzes, etc., were unknown, and one didn't need to be dressed in broadcloth, cashmere, etc., nor the ladies didn't need to change dresses in the middle of the night, as just as like they had the only good one on and they just looked as well and felt as well as they do nowadays.

John Cruikshank—We belonged to Morayshire. My father, Donald, came out in 1824. Davidson had bought the lease of the lot I live on, and, though there were no improvements on it, my father paid him $60 for it. In 1831 when I came out, father had 8 acres cleared, but it was 8 years more before we could see a neighbor's house from our own. We thought then we could not clear the brush fast enough, and now we are in want of cordwood.

Note: I was born in 1825, and there was one before me, born on the lot.

John Gray, Godmanchester—My father was an American and served in 1812. He was stationed at Fort Covington and while sentry saw, one night, a boat steal up the Salmon River. He hid behind a great red oak until they passed, when, levelling his musket, he ordered them to pull in. It was a boat reconnoitering and the five men were sent to Green Bush. He got no promotion for the act. At the close of the War he stayed at the Fort and on marrying, took up a lot on the Beaver, disposed to do so to be beside his wife's relatives, who were McMillans and McMasters. This would be in 1822, I think, or 1823. When he came there was an old German living on the lot afterwards taken by John Cameron named Shafford. He had come in the employ of a lumbering firm and taking a notion to a place beside a fine spring, put up a shanty and lived by himself. He trapped and hunted some, had a cow and raised steers, cutting the hay of the beaver meadow nearby for feed, and had a small plot for garden stuff and potatoes. He wore buckskin breeches. He was a decent, inoffensive man, and sociable, despite his living by himself. I remember him well. He kept track of the days by notching a stick. He would do no work on Sunday and read his Bible. When he got feeble Hugh Cameron took him into his house and he died there. My fathered lumbered a good deal and after running a raft down the St. Lawrence came back by the Chateauguay. He said at Huntingdon there was only Poliquin and Palmer and a man might starve for they seldom had a bite to spare. He got a grant of 160 acres for his services but sold his claim for $160. Before he died he had a pension.

MANY HAPPY RETURNS

"Many Happy Returns" is the title of a booklet just released by the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations. The introduction to the booklet says: "The following pages are intended for road-users of all shapes and sizes who look forward to a happy return."

The booklet is amusingly illustrated and each page bears a reminder for motorists. Here is one of the reminders: "If you want your return to be happy, be as generous as possible to other motorists. If they annoy you, it's probably because they're tired and worried—or just possibly because you are . . . And please don't forget that to the crazy driver in front you may be the crazy driver behind. It isn't your fault if all other road users are completely daft, but it IS your fault if you are not prepared for them to be so."—Smith Falls Record-News.

OVERWORKED SCOTCH

Scanning the editorial pages of various weeklies gives this corner many a hearty laugh. The Porcupine Advance comes up with this one, of course, it had to be on the overworked Scotchman.

A young lady in the United States who had been in a coma for several days through the disease known as "sleeping sickness" was temporarily roused by having a violinist play selections alongside her bed in the hospital. Any Sassenach can tell you that if they had brought in a piper instead of a violinist the young lady would have been roused permanently. This comment, no doubt, will resurrect the old story of the last war. A Scottish soldier in a military hospital was dying, and earnestly begged to be allowed to hear just once more before he died the beloved musical pipes of his native land. His request was granted, and to the surprise of all he made almost immediate and miraculous recovery—but all the other patients in the hospital passed on.—Orillia News-Letter.

FAMILY TIES BEING CEMENTED

We believe that something, not only good but lasting, is going to come out of our busy life today when everyone in the family is helping everyone else—right now we probably can't see this when everybody is both physically and mentally tired with the extra work. However, we do have a few laughs to make us forget our weariness. For instance it was no laughing matter to Mother when she gave her grown-up family a laugh when she sunburned her knees driving a tractor. There's a good spirit everywhere, a spirit of co-operation and understanding of the work of others—Dad helps Mother in the house, Mother does jobs which up to now were Dad's, brother washes dishes without a thought of "O gosh, this is sissy work," and sister cuts the lawn and carries fuel as if that had always been a job for the weaker sex, and as a matter of fact that expression is as out of date as "Gee whiz." Nowadays everyone in the family works and there are no distinctions as to who does what jobs. That's why we think home life and family life is going to be strengthened. With families working together as they are today there's bound to be more respect, love and understanding for one another.—Amherstburg Echo.

WEEK AT OTTAWA

The parliamentary session shows signs of coming to a close. It is not likely from appearances to last more than a week to two weeks more. The Ontario elections and the Federal by-elections in the offing will be making calls on the time of some of the members. What, however, marks the approach of adjournment is the steady, though at some times hesitant progress in the discussion of the War Appropriation Bill. Under this Bill the House reviews the whole range of the war activities of the government through the study of expenses of the various departments. In the past week it has been mainly the departments of agriculture and finance that have had their estimates under scrutiny.

A point emphasized by Mr. Gardiner, minister of agriculture, during discussions was the urgency of the shipment of 200 million bushels of oats and barley from Western Canada to the Eastern provinces and to the United States before the new crop came in. Canada raised about 1000 million bushels of grains used in feeding livestock, while its annual domestic use had never risen above 500 million bushels. Leaving 300 million as a reserve there was the additional 200 million bushels, a large part of which still remained on Western farms. If there was a short crop in Eastern Canada this year the need of this grain would be increased. The livestock and dairying industries have acquired a new position in the Canadian economy with the supplying of large quantities of bacon, cheese and other products to Britain. It was brought out that this year $26,000,000 will be paid to 184,000 farmers under the acreage bonus plan for the transfer of part of Western farms from wheat to coase grains and fallow. Eastern farms were aided by allowances on freight for feed grains, subsidies on cheese, butter and other products, etc. This year the aids to farmers in Canada would reach 98 million dollars.

The stocks of cheese in Canada on July 1 were 24½ million pounds, which was 15 million pounds less than on the same day last year. The season was delayed this year, but production was now expanding. The British have been told that this country would do its best to send them 150 million pounds of cheese this year. Deliveries under the contract were keeping up well, some shipments coming out of surplus stocks. The sales of dairy cattle to the United States was discussed in the house. There had been fairly heavy exports because of higher prices available across the border, but there were 4 million cows in Canada and if Canada's cattle population was kept up there was certainly no cause for regret that Canadian farmers made something out of sales to the United States.

A great deal of discussion revolved about the whole system of price control and the operation of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board which affects the lives of all Canadians. The Price Control has passed its experimental stage and has become an institution but the path before is still a far from easy one. The Minister of Finance, Mr. Ilsley warned that while most people wanted to obey the regulations 'there is a minority which does not." If that minority is allowed to infringe the regulations with impunity, the number of violators becomes larger and larger until eventually the whole structure crumbles." There have been over 3300 prosecutions for infractions of the regulations since price control was instituted.

There was a discussion of whether the cost of living index used by the prices board is a safe criterion on which to judge changes in the cost of living in the country. The minister explained the way in which the index was figured out. It was based in the first place on a study made in 1937 and 1938 of nearly 1500 families with an average income of $1453 a year. This study showed that food normally represents 31 per cent of the cost of living, fuel and light 6 per cent, housing 19, clothing 12, house furnishings and services 9 and miscellaneous 23 per cent. Rent, life insurance and doctor's bills were all taken into account. The Bureau of Statistics which compiles the cost of living index does not rely entirely on reports of storekeepers. It has its own representatives in most of the principal centres. The index used in Canada is not faultless but is as good as any used anywhere and is compiled with great care. It was pointed out that since the beginning of the war, foods have risen in price 31.8 per cent, fuel and light 14.1, housing 7.4, clothing 20.3, home furnishings 16.7 and miscellaneous 6.8 per cent. The total index has risen 17.6 per cent since August 1939 but of this only 2.2 per cent since the establishment of the price ceiling.

The establishment of price control and its maintenance in the face of unremitting pressures against the price ceiling has been a tremendous and complex task. The supply and equitable distribution of commodities are among the prices Board's most important and taxing duties. Inequities have to be removed. Rationing difficulties have to be met and overcome. The great safety valve of the price ceiling, the granting of subsidies through the Commodity Prices Stabilization Corporation is costly. This year subsidies will reach 120 million dollars. But the aim of the whole system is of vital importance, to avoid the disaster of uncontrolled inflation which would mean an economic pestilence.

BERLIN CLOCKS SET BY R.A.F. PLANE

London.—Berlin residents set timepieces by a single Royal Air Force Intruder plane that for several weeks appeared punctually over the city at 2.05 a.m., said a Stockholm news despatch to London.

Although the plane dropped no bombs it had a great nuisance value until Berlin officials decided that sirens wouldn't sound for single intruders. Before, the sirens sent thousands racing for shelters and other thousands to their air raid posts.

Experience Counts

FOR the past 56 years the residents of the Chateauguay Valley have enjoyed the unexcelled banking service of the Eastern Townships Bank and The Canadian Bank of Commerce, with which the former was merged. This institution has assisted at every stage in the growth of this fine dairying district, and the special needs of dairy farmers continue to receive its particular attention. Included in these is the handling of butter, cheese and milk cheques, which may be negotiated at any of our branches, no matter on what branch or bank they are drawn.

We shall be glad to be of service in any type of banking transaction you may require.

Canadian Fish is Available In Spite of War Difficulties

The fishing industry, even more than many others, has been affected by the war. Deep sea fishermen are exposed to new hazards from submarines; many fishermen and many of the larger fishing boats have joined the Navy.

In spite of difficulties, a fair amount of fish is available on Canadian markets. Smoked and dried fish can usually be bought even if fresh fish is unobtainable.

For fish days, the Department of Fisheries at Ottawa suggests the following recipes.

Codfish Puff

Shred and freshen in several waters 1-2 cup salt codfish. Cover with cold water, bring to boiling point, drain and flake. Add 1 cup mashed potatoes, 1 tbsp. butter, 1-8 tsp. pepper and a little salt, if needed. Beat vigorously. Melt 2 tbsp. fat in a hot iron frying pan and add fish mixture. Spread evenly and cook very slowly till a brown crust forms underneath. Fold like an omelette and turn on a hot platter. Garnish with parsley. Serves 4-6.

Mock Scallops

1 cup freshened salt cod
1 cup mashed potatoes
1 egg
Bread crumbs

Shred fish very fine, add potatoes and beaten egg, season. Shape in pieces the size of scallops. Dip in bread crumbs and fry in deep fat one minute.

Finnan Haddie and Potato Scallop

Place a layer of cooked, sliced potatoes in a greased casserole; season and dot with butter. Add ½ tbsp. onion juice and pieces of left-over finnan haddie. Cover with cream sauce. Repeat till casserole is full, cover with fine bread crumbs and dot with fat. Bake in a moderately hot oven till heated through and brown.

Baked Kippered Herring

4 kippered herrings
1½ cups tomato juice
½ green pepper chopped (when available)
3 slices onion
Paprika or pepper

Place kippers (head and tail removed) in a greased baking dish. Saute onion and pepper in a little fat and add to fish. Add tomato juice and sprinkle with pepper or paprika. Bake in a moderate oven until fish is cooked through.

To remove odor of fish from the hands, rub them with salt and rinse in cold water before washing. Dishes and pans used for cooking fish should be washed in water with a generous quantity of dry mustard added to remove the odor.

Interesting Letter Received By Mrs. Pollock, Rockburn

The letter below was received in answer to a note accompanying a garment made by Mrs. Pollock for "Bundles for Britain" which was evidently turned over to the Red Cross.

15 St. Leonards Ave.,
Exeter, Devon,
England.

Dear Mrs. Arch. Pollock:

My sister-in-law lost everything and almost lost her life in the dreadful blitz on the 4th of May last year. She was given clothes by the Red Cross and your note was in the pocket of one of the garments. I was bombed in London and came here to live with what home we had left, and so was able to give her a home. She has been with me ever since. I say "me" as my husband is away on war work and my son is in North Africa. We are so grateful to you all. I heard a broadcast today given by one who has been with you. All the kind things you say about the women of England made me want to cry when I never thought of crying over all we have been through. With it all we are still counting our blessings. I wonder if you would kindly give our thanks to the Overseas Club Y.W.-C.A. who also helped to clothe my sister-in-law.

I remain sincerely and gratefully yours.

AS IS WITH LIFE

"Betty," a mixed-breed Bantam hen, was the mother of six checks, and to see her strutting about with her little family, no one would suspect she was eight years old. She was ever on the alert for danger and kept her brood from straying very far from her watchful attention. With seemingly tireless energy, she scratched and dug in the earth to uncover grubs and worms for the eager little ones to snap up.

The uncovering of a "June bug" occasioned excitement and apparent alarm on the part of the youngsters, but good old Betty was quite elated over the find. She grabed the beetle and held it in her bill, at the same time calling them to come and take it. Putting it down and taking it up, she constantly spoke to her young ones in a manner that was pronouncedly persuasive—they were going to miss something exceptionally delicious if they did not hurry. Being finally convinced that the big brown object was something not to be afraid of, but really worth-while having, one of the chicks, somewhat more daring than the others, grabbed it and ran. Betty said something in mother-hen language and the other five chicks gave chase after the one with the prize. For a few moments the pround mother watched the performance of her brood, then joined in the merry chase. Overtaking the one with the beetle, she took the insect and proceeded to demonstrate how to disjoint and dismember such prey. Again one of the chicks snatched at the insect and ran, and once more the others went in wild pursuit.

Suddenly, and without any warning, a Sharp-shinned Hawk darted from the sky toward the racing chicks. The bullet like speed of the hawk was well matched by the quickness of eye on the part of Betty, and she gave a cry that sent her little family scattering in all directions. With wings outstretched and feathers raised, the courageous mother rushed toward the hawk and flew at it with the fury of a demon. What a few moments before was a spot near an apple tree in full bloom, where white petals had begun to carpet the ground, and where happiness and contentment reigned supreme among a small group of chickens, became a battleground to the death. Yes, to the death, for the onrush of the courageous, diminutive mother was met by a vicious stab of the cruel talons of the hawk, and Betty paid the supreme sacrifice. The measure of mother love in a little hen, in every mother, is the giving of her best for the happiness and welfare of her flesh and blood, and, if needs be, her life. The exemplification of love and devotion is sacrifice.

Weekly Tips for Meat Rationing

The toasted loaf pictured above is a new and attractive way of serving left-over meat. It's a rationwise way too, for a very little meat will go round if it is stretched by the addition of vegetables and gravy or sauce.

To make the bread case, remove the crust from a loaf of bread and cut a slice ¾ inch thick from the top of the loaf. Use scissors to remove the centre of the loaf, leaving a case ¾ inch thick. Crumble the bread taken from the centre of the loaf, add left over ground meat and cooked vegetables if desired. Season well, moisten with left over gravy, white sauce, canned tomatoes or tomato sauce and pack the mixture into the bread case. Replace the slice cut from the top and brush sides and top of the loaf with melted dripping. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375 F. until the loaf is crisp and browned, about 35 minutes. Serve with brown gravy or tomato sauce.

KNOCK OUT MILLION TONS OF AXIS SHIPS

London,—Dingle M. Foot, Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Economic Warfare, told the House of Commons that during the last year the Axis lost at sea 30,000 tons of rubber, 5,000 tons of tin, 25,000 tons of edible oils and considerable quantities of quinine and tungsten. Since the Allies occupied North Africa, 700,000 tons of Axis shipping have been sunk and 300,000 tons severely damaged.

Return to Simple Life

Increasing war traffic means less space for pleasure travel. Railroads are taxed to the limit transporting troops and munitions and the situation is further aggravated by wartime restrictions on gas and tires. Canadians are being asked to avoid unnecessary travel. The young couple pictured here have solved the problem by travelling on wheels. Bicycles, for those who have them, are an ideal means of transportation for a healthy, outdoor vacation.

Number of Items in Index Adequate, Bureau Claims

There is definitely both rhyme and reason behind the exclusion of certain articles in the Cost of Living Index and the inclusion of others, according to the Bureau of Statistics.

After the Bureau had worked out from the yearly spendings of 1,400 families throughout Canada what was spent by the average family and what was bought with the money, they then had to make out a list of items which they considered to be representative of the articles bought by that average family.

This list of items has been published and covers everything from magazines to marmalade. The prices of these items, which are checked regularly, regulate the rise or fall in the cost of living index.

In comparing the list under the six headings of Food, Shelter, Fuel and Light, Clothing, Home Furnishings and Miscellaneous items, everything upon which the average wage-earner spent his money was included.

The list is a lengthy one, but many who have studied the items claim it is not long enough. For instance there is no mention made of hats or rubbers for mother and there are complaints that restaurant meals for father are not included.

It is not a generally known fact that provision has been made in the Index for these omitted items. Take food for instance—In listing 45 items of food for price checking, the Bureau of Statistics admits that this covers only about 75 per cent of food purchases, the other 25 per cent is represented indirectly.

Definite reasons are given for not listing that 25 per cent. Fish is one item which cannot be averaged for all of Canada, because certain kinds of fish are eaten only in certain parts of the Dominion The consumption of many other foods is affected by seasons, when in season they are cheap and are eaten in quantity, at other times of the year the consumption drops considerably. With certain fruits and vegetables, crops vary from season to season and the variation in consumption would make it difficult to place them in a consistently correct proportion in the Index. The fluctuation in the cost of these items is allowed for indirectly in that 25 per cent of the total food costs.

Restaurant meals were included in the total of 31 per cent allotted to foods when the Index was drawn up. It was calculated that the average family spent 31 cents out of every dollar for food, including restaurant meals. The cost of these meals is allowed for by recording the increase in cost of the 45 food items included in the food budget.

Just because the clothing and home furnishing lists have been kept down to a fairly small number of items, it does not mean that other items have been forgotten. With clothing, the same seasonal factor has to be considered. Hats, dresses and coats fluctuate in cost under the price ceiling. At the peak of the season, these articles command the maximum ceiling price and at other times are often cleared at reduced cost. To include these articles would cause erratic movements in the Index which would not accurately represent basic changes in clothing costs.

Allowances have been made for these articles however, by including a proper proportion of all the important materials used in making clothing. Materials allowed for include cotton, rayon, wool, rubber and leather. The Bureau claims that a check kept on the prices of certain manufactured articles of standard construction made from these materials gives a correct record of the rise and fall of clothing prices.

Therefore, if it should be noted with surprise that father has been allotted 3½ pairs of rubbers yearly and that no provision has been made for mother and the children, it must be remembered that the required quantity of rubber to protect them all from the rain is allowed for in father's 3½ pairs.

Canning Corner

By Laura C. Pepper,
Chief, Consumer Section,
Dominion Department of Agriculture

Cherries are ripe, and if canned now, will bring a taste of summer into many winter meals. Either sugarless canning or canning in the usual way in syrup will give successful results. Perhaps you will want to do some with, and some without sugar this year. If so, plan to use the cherries you can in syrup as canned fruit and the sugarless ones for pies and puddings.

Here are some points that will be of help when you are canning cherries.

For sweet cherries, the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, recommends a syrup made in the proportion of 1 cup sugar to 2 cups water. This amount will be sufficient for three pints of cherries. For sour cherries a syrup in the proportion of 1 cup sugar to 1½ cups water is advised.

If cherries are to be processed in the oven they should be precooked in the syrup for 5 minutes then packed hot in sterilized sealers. If processing is to be done in the boiling water bath, steam or pressure cook, the cherries may be packed into the sterilized sealers and the boiling syrup added.

Processing times for cherries canned with sugar are:—

Boiling water bath, 20 minutes.
Oven (for glass sealers), 20 minutes at 275 F.
Steam cooker, 30 minutes
Pressure cooker, 10 minutes at 5 lbs. pressure.

These times are given for pint sealers. Quarts require 5 minutes longer in boiling water bath and steam cooker, 10 minutes longer for oven processing.

If cherries are canned without sugar, crush part of the cherries in the bottom of the preserving kettle, add enough water to keep the fruit from burning, add the rest of the cherries. Heat slowly until juice is extracted. Pack hot into sterilized sealers. The fruit should be packed quite solidly and there should be enough juice to fill the sealers. Processing times are the same as those given for cherries canned in syrup.

W.I. NEWS

HUNTINGDON BRANCH

The Huntingdon Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Wallace Merson, on Tuesday, July 6th, with a good attendance of members and visitors, the President, Mrs. Antoine, conducted the meeting. The roll call was responded to by giving "Ways to save", when some very helpful household hints were learned.

Ditty bags had been sent for and will be filled and sent to the sailors through the Navy League. Hand made handkerchiefs were handed in as one contribution toward filling the bags.

Mrs. Carl Anderson told of a radio talk she had heard about the drying of vegetables. The secretary was instructed to write in for further information on the subject.

Moved by Mrs. Robb, seconded by Mrs. Houghton, that a note of congratulation be sent to Mrs. Smallman, who has been elected to Provincial President, to succeed Mrs. Cameron Dow.

Moved by Mrs. Anderson, seconded by Mrs. Hood that Institute give prize money to the high school students in the cooking and sewing classes again next term. Carried.

Reports of the different conveners were then heard. The secretary reported having written to Mrs. Petch, who had kindly consented to address the Institute at an early date. A paper entitled "The Secret of Repose" was given by Mrs. John Henry in which she stressed the value of a daily rest period for every woman, no matter how busy. As an example she told how the farmer rests the soil by putting his fields in summer fallow, thereby getting larger returns. Our lives may be ordered in the same way if we but stop worrying about our work and daily problems, relaxing if only for a few minutes each day. The result will be a greater power of concentration on our work, and not a waste of time, as we are apt to think.

Mrs. Robert Anderson then gave two recitations in her usual pleasing manner. Other contributions toward the programme were the singing by Mr. Arnold Burgess, of Verdun, a humerous monologue by Miss Marion Merson; songs with guitar accompaniment by the Misses Ethel and Bessie Arthur, and a solo by 7 year-old Ann Sharpe of Montreal.

These numbers were much enjoyed by all. The National Anthem and Mizpah brought the meeting to a close, after which refreshments were served by the hostess. "Consumers' News", explaining the rationing of commodities was given out by the President.

AS ROME DID

Aristocratic families in ancient Rome bedecked pet moray fish with jewels.

Do people you talk to on the telephone say, "I can't hear you!"? Our repairmen report that the most frequent causes of complaint about not being heard may be traced to failure to use the telephone properly.

IT'S REALLY NO PROBLEM to make yourself clearly heard — provided you remember to speak directly into the mouthpiece with your lips half-an-inch from it.

Then you can speak in ordinary conversational tones and the other party will have no trouble hearing you.

By observing this rule, you will also help to conserve the time of telephone service men. The delicate mechanism inside the transmitter is adjusted to operate most efficiently at this half-inch distance.*

*RESEARCH reveals that transmission results are only one-quarter as good when the lips are one inch (instead of half-an-inch) from the mouthpiece. Every additional half-inch has the effect of adding hundreds of miles to the talking circuit.

OBITUARIES

The Late John Antoine

A very sudden, and certainly unexpected, death occurred on Sunday afternoon, when the late John Antoine dropped dead as about to go for his supper. Mr. and Mrs. Antoine celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Monday, July 5, and that afternoon Mr. Antoine remarked to the writer that he felt well in every respect apart from the fact that he had to remain in his wheel chair. In a joking manner he said he thought he should live another ten years. Everyone agreed that his outward appearances indicated that he had a just right to have such an expectancy. As it was, Mr. Antoine was 74 in March, 1943.

Sunday afternoon Mr. Antoine had made arrangements with his son-in-law, Mr. John S. McCracken, to go to Malone this week with him so that he could have a visit with his daughter (Elsie) Mrs. John S. McCracken. So fit has been Mr. Antoine he was anticipating being in Malone so that he could attend the Fair in August. 15 minutes before his death he was talking to his son, Mr. Albert Antoine, who in turn had gone to the garden to set the garden hose. In his absence Mr. Antoine turned on the radio; the call came for supper and with that he turned off the radio and wheeled around in his chair and dropped dead. And so the peaceful and easy passing came to one who had endured so many trials four and five years ago when he suffered the amputations of his two lower limbs.

Throughout Mr. Antoine's life he was a sawyer and hard worker, a true and most faithful worker for his employers. Approximately 35 years ago Mr. Antoine came to Huntingdon from Dewittville and filled the position of sawyer at the local saw mill. As a foreman of the mill, many men worked under him over this long period of years, and all men agree in that he always endeavoured to accomplish much and with the least possible delay. In the late fall and early winter months he liked getting to the bush to prepare the logs for hauling to the mill.

The departed was a home man, and as spare time permitted he spent it to a very considerable extent with his family or in visiting them. Fortunately Mr. and Mrs. Antoine enjoyed good health throughout their long and happy married life. Their three daughters, Elsie, (Mrs. John S. McCracken), Malone; Violet, (Mrs. Louis Roy), Huntingdon, and Edith (Mrs. Albert Roy), Massena, and their respective families, all provided much joy and pleasure to Mr. and Mrs. Antoine.

Mr. and Mrs. Antoine also had two sons, Albert, the eldest of the family has always lived in Huntingdon, the youngest son Nelson, and whose daughter Mona, lives at the Antoine home.

The funeral service was held on Tuesday afternoon, the Rev. Mr. Knowles officiating. The funeral was largely attended by the many friends of the departed and family.

The Late Mrs. Chas. Hadley

The Hemmingford community was shocked and saddened by the sudden passing of one of its highly respected citizens in the person of the late Mrs. Chas. Hadley.

She passed away on July 8th, after everything possible was done to save her life.

Ethel May, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Baskin, was born at Havelock, Que., and was of a quiet disposition. She had many friends who gathered from far and near at the Hemmingford United Church, on Sunday, to pay their last respects. The service was conducted by the Rev. R. C. Belbin.

She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, daughter Hazel, Montreal; son Lloyd at home; the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. R. McKee, Mrs. H. E. Wilson, Mrs. K. Boyd, Mrs. Ray Ellerton, Mrs. Donald Douglas, Mrs. Torrance Brisbin; Messrs. T. W. Baskin, Calgary, Alberta, George, Butal, Edward of Havelock.

The pallbearers were neighbors: Messrs. Jas. Wilson, Wm. McKay, R. Marlin, A. Kyle, R. Hawkins, V. Ellerton.

Flowers were sent from the following: Wreaths—The Family, Mrs. Jessie Hadley, Forum Staff, Montreal. Sprays—Mrs. R. McKell, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wilson, Mrs. K. Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hadley and Hallerton W.A.

Interment was made in Hemmingford United Church Cemetery.

Worm May Turn When Attacked

By B. Leslie Emslie

The Victory gardener is likely to improve his knowledge of entomology before the season is far advanced and learn that warfare must be waged against insects which attack his plants, if the fruits of his toil are to be realized and the food crops saved for human consumption.

As in land, sea and aerial conflict, the method of attack on insect pests varies according to the defences of the enemy and his vulnerable points. The life history of insects generally is divided into four stages, namely: egg, larva, pupa and adult.

Biting and chewing insects, such as certain beetles, caterpillars, grasshoppers and slugs, can be controlled by stomach poisons which include arsenates of lead and lime, cryolite, Paris Green and nicotine, whereas sucking insects have to be attacked by contact poisons such as nicotine sulphate, derris, pyrethrum, oil sprays, lime sulphur and thiocyanates. These act on the respiratory system or by their caustic effect.

One of the most troublesome and elusive pests in the garden is the cutworm, a caterpillar that buries itself during the day and "cuts up" at night during warm weather. Given freedom of action, these insects may mow down cabbage, corn, tomatoes and other young plants as fast as they come up or are set out, severance being usually at ground level.

Cutworms are plump, smooth-bodied, gray to brownish caterpillars, fully one and a half inches in length when full-grown. They usually hide in the soil by day and do their dirty work by night. When disturbed, they coil up into a semi-circular attitude, feigning innocence and demonstrating that even a worm may turn.

Cut worms can be destroyed most effectively by means of a poison bait prepared by mixing thoroughly one quart of bran with a teaspoonful of Paris Green or sodium fluosilicate and then adding about a pint of water sweetened with two tablespoonsful of syrup or molasses to make a moist but not sticky mixture. This should be scattered lightly around or near the plants shortly before the worms emerge to feed. Since these baits are poisonous, they should be used with due caution and stored beyond the reach of children, poultry (even your neighbours') and domestic animals.

You never said good-bye,
But we know you are watching us
From your beautiful home on high."

Covey Hill

On Tuesday evening of last week an earthquake tremor was distinctly felt in this vicinity.

On Monday evening a number of our young folk attended the P.Y.-P.S. meeting at the home of Misses Elliott, Hemmingford.

A few farmers have started haying, while some have had to make a second sowing of root seed on drowned out land.

Some species of wild life in this section seem bolder in war while others appear to be more democratic in their attitude towards humans. A spotted adder slakes its thirst of a morning from the drip of an eavespout on one farm house, a second farmer has for tenants a family of skunks under his barn, close to the very threshold of a third farmer a hen was snatched from the jaws of death in the shape of a fox, and weasels have played havoc with a fine flock of chickens.

Mrs. Lillian Stanton and daughter Miss Margery Stanton, of New York, also Mr. Harry C. Steele and Miss Helen Firth of Montreal have been guests of Mrs. K. Steele, Mrs. Stanton's sister.

Warning Given Again of Fuel Shortages

Farmers Urged to Use Spare Time in Cutting Firewood

To aid in preventing a possible firewood famine next winter, the period during which the Government will subsidize cordwood production has been extended to December 31, it is announced by Munitions Minister Howe.

"I should like to remind farmers and farm workers, entitled to postponement of military training and living in areas where they can spare time from their normal agricultural pursuits, that their postponement will not be affected by engaging temporarily in cutting firewood," said Mr. Howe. "I might point out, however, that such temporary absences from the farm must not interfere with agricultural production."

When the Department's plan for meeting the emergency was announced on March 4, the decision at that time was to pay the $1.00 per cord subsidy to dealers only on commercial cordwood contracted for and cut on or before June 30, 1943, and delivered to a dealer or held to his account after March 5, 1943. Under the extension, the subsidy will be paid on the same basis for cordwood cut on or before December 31, 1943.

According to Mr. Howe, the shortage has been aggravated by the severity of the past winter and the lateness of the spring thaw. "Unless firewood is cut during the summer and early fall, the situation in many parts of Canada may be critical," he said. "For this reason, the subsidy will be extended for six months."

The Minister urged dealers to arrange, wherever possible, for the purchase of slabwood from the mills. "On such purchases a transportation subsidy will be paid, if the dealer can show that otherwise he could not obtain the wood for his customers," he said.

The transportation subsidy can apply not only to slabwood, but also to cordwood. The Wood Fuel Controller will authorize the payment of such portion of the transportation costs as he considers proper, particularly in instances where dealers, to procure supplies, find it necessary to contract for firewood at locations outside the area from which they normally derive their supplies. In order to receive any such subsidy, dealers must obtain a permit from the Controller before contracting for the supplies.

The cutting and transportation subsidies will be made available only to wood fuel dealers registered as such with the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

"It is encouraging to note that many communities have realized the seriousness of the firewood shortage and are taking all possible steps to arrange for local solutions of the problem," said Mr. Howe. "On the other hand, there are communities where nothing at all has been done, and the citizens will face extreme hardship unless action is taken immediately."

The Minister pointed out that a coal shortage also exists, and warned not only that coal will not be available for use as a substitute for firewood, but because of the coal shortage firewood consumption is very likely to be greatly increased.

ORMSTOWN BRANCH

Mr. Jarvis, treasurer of this Branch, reports that he has received $156.15 since the beginning of the year. This is in addition to the subscriptions to the "Annual Drive" and includes these items: Membership fees, $8.00; Donations, $42.65; Blanket Fund, $11.00 Proceeds of Masquerade, $90.00 and Sundries, $4.50.

The June shipments comprised these articles: 2—8 year girl's kits; 2 boy's shirts; 8 children's underwear; 4 surgeon's gowns; 6 women's dresses; 86 handkerchiefs; 56 bath towels also 19 sweaters; 10 pairs gloves; 3 pair mitts; 3 caps; 24 "Tuck-ins"; 26 pairs socks (plain, seamens and sea boots); 1 crib quilt (donated) and 1 box of used garments sent to Bundles for Britain.

There must be no "let up" in the sewing and knitting. The war goes on and the probable increased need of hospital and other supplies must be prepared for and met by the women on the home front.

The "dependables" must continue their splendid efforts. But are there not some who can sew or knit, yet have not hitherto assisted, who would go to the Town Hall, on Thursday, from 2 to 4.30 (where work is given out) and join in this patriotic task?

A large consignment of material has recently been sent from Headquarters with the request that it be completed and returned "as soon as possible".

Learn to Recognize Poison Ivy

Without much doubt, one of the largest crops from 1943's Victory gardens is going to be a record number of cases of ivy poisoning. The following are a few suggestions offered by the Province of Quebec Safety League to help new gardeners recognize poison ivy.

It grows mostly as a vine with serial roots to heights of more than ten feet, its leaves are trifolately compound, lustrous green turning to red in autumn, the underside of the leaf is paler and duller and has a fine hairlike growth.

Though the average leaf is from 2 to 5 inches long and 1 3-5 to 4 inches wide it varies considerably and may be found 8 inches long. They are supposed to have smoothly rounded edges coming to a point but most of them have one, two or three along the side. The younger growth has brownish green stems but older vines have grey ones. The flowers are greenish yellow and usually appear in June, while the drupaceous fruit is white. All parts of the plant are poisonous with its oil of toxicodendrol throughout the year.

If you should touch it, wash your hands at once. Use plenty of laundry soap and hot water. Obtain a 5% alcoholic solution of Ferric Chloride from your druggist and apply it to affected parts, not rubbing it. See your physician at once if there is any sign of severe irritation. If you have to handle poison ivy, rubber or heavy leather gloves will afford some protection, but remember the sap of the plant picked up by the clothing can be easily transmitted to the hands and to the other parts of the body by touching them. Clothing has been known to hold the poison for as long as a year, and still cause irritation. Dry cleaning will remove it. Soap and water is not so effective.

Changes Made Motor Vehicle Act, Highway Law Amended

New Rules Affecting Right of Way, Bicycle Riding and Age at Which Licenses Issued

Important changes, which have been made in the Motor Vehicle Act of Quebec, and which were sanctioned on June 23 by the Lieutenant - Governor - in - Council, have been passed over with but little attention in the stress of current events.

How many motorists know that the "rule of the road" which gave the right of way to vehicles coming from the right of a driver, has been modified? How many bicyclists know that riding on any public highway except in single file is an offence? Or that the age at which young people can obtain operator's licenses has been reduced?

The attention of the motoring public is called to these changes in the interests of public safety. It is pointed out that although there are four-lane divided highways in the province, there has been no law to prohibit a person driving in either direction on either side of the safety strip. Now that omission has been corrected. The amendment to the Motor Vehicle Act provides: "When a public highway comprises two roadways separated by a strip of ground or other obstacle, any person driving a vehicle or an animal thereon shall travel on the right hand roadway.

The right of way question is amended by inserting in the existing clause of the act an exception, which is given in quotation marks in the following section: "At bifurcations and at crossings of public highways, the driver of a vehicle on one of the roads shall give the right of way to the driver of the vehicle coming to his right on the other road "except when a stop signal is placed on one of such roads, in which case the driver of a vehicle on such road shall give the right of way." This amendment has been made for the protection of drivers on boulevards, it is pointed out by Mr. McNamee. The onus is now on the driver who has stopped at a stop sign before entering the intersection on a boulevard to see that the road is clear both from the left or the right.

New Sections

New sections have been introduced into the Motor Vehicle Act in regard to bicycle riders, and if the law is observed motorists should be freed from some of the risks they now run from irresponsible cyclists. First it provides: "On any public highway which does not include a roadway specially set aside for slow traffic, persons riding bicycles must travel in single file on a strip four feet wide at the extreme right of the pavement."

Another section provides: When a public highway includes a roadway specially set aside for slow traffic, any person riding a bicycle must travel on such roadway only." It is pointed out that the definition of highway under the Act is "any part of a bridge, road, street, place, square or other ground open to public vehicular traffic," so that the new sections apply to bicyclists on the streets of cities and towns that come under the Act, and bicyclists must keep to the right of the roadway at all times and ride in single file.

Finally the age limit for the issuing of an operator's license has been reduced from 18 to 17 years. The reduction of one year in the driving license age is made in Section 15 of the Motor Vehicle Act which now provides: "No person shall drive a motor vehicle upon a public highway unless he be at least 17 years of age, and in the case of an autobus, unless he is 21 years of age." Any person who is between written consent of his parents or the age of 17 and 21 must have the parent or tutor before any operator's license is granted.

This change brings the province of Quebec into line with practically all other provinces and the United States in fixing the operating age at 17. It has been changed in order to meet in some measure the shortage of manpower to operate vehicles for essential purposes until they become eligible for military service.

Interesting Letter From Sgt./P. Stanley McCracken

The following story has been received and gives an account of impressions gained by Sgt./P. Stanley McCracken while he has been in England, and he writes to his mother of them.

Sgt./P. Stanley McCracken of the R.C.A.F. stationed somewhere in England writes home as follows:

Dear Mother:

Will drop a few lines over my noon hour and try to give you my impression of my first few days in jolly old England.

I really like it very much, much more than Canada. It's so much prettier and decorative. The roads are narrower than ours and well kept, at least in good condition. There is lots of traffic too, mainly taxis, trucks, (lorries here) and doctors' cars. I notice lots of rock gardens, flowers and hedges, all well kept too. I will send post cards occasionally so you can get an idea of the beauty of the countryside nearby my station.

My biggest surprise of all was the beautiful quarters furnished us. I live in a large hotel, formerly a summer resort hotel and have almost everything except room service. The is a bath ajoining my room with showers and tub. It is done completely in black and white tile. Also have large windows and a door leading to a small balcony overlooking the city. I truthfully can say this place compares to the hotels in Daytona Beach and Miami Beach. We find the civilians very friendly and sociable. Many have been bombed out of their homes but you would never know it. They keep on just the same. The kind of people that hold this country together in a time like this.

Oh, yes, we get butter (half margarine and butter) lots of tea, coffee in restaurants, sugar too, but not an awful lot. Food in general is a little better than we got in Canada.

I may buy a few civilian clothes, just slacks and shoes as we can wear them off duty, so I understand as everyone else does.

Will go on at least seven days' leave in a week or so. Get a new R.A.F. uniform in a couple of days.

Love to all,

Stan.

VALLEYFIELD COUNCIL

A decision was taken to hold the regular council meeting in the Mayor's office on account of the varnishing work being done to the wood-work in the large council room.

An estimate submitted by Mr. Jos. Lafleur, for the amount of $1224.29 (taxes included) for twelve benches and two desks for the council room was accepted. It was the lowest, by a few dollars only, than that submitted by Mr. Oswald Barrette.

The city of Valleyfield will study the case of the St. Aubin fosterhome, which although not considered as an institution for public assistance, by Quebec, sees to the care of six children placed by the city. An inquiry will be made in the case.

A letter was received from the Junior Chamber of Commerce proposing to assist the city in securing a reduction in electricity rates. A discussion ensued on other portions of the letter, the meaning of which was not clear to the members of the council, therefore, it was decided to seek further explanation on the subject.

Mr. Jos. Primeau was chosen by the Junior Chamber of Commerce to represent this group for the purpose of forming an industrial committee. A delegation composed of His Honor the Mayor, the controller of the city and the aldermen, will join the members of two Chambers of Commerce, and the merchants of the city, to discuss with the authorities of The Montreal Cottons and the Beauharnois Power, the matter of what is to be done regarding the reconstruction of the famous Dufferin Bridge and Chaussee Street.

By applying pressure on both sides it is hoped to obtain a suitable answer from these companies, and also to be able to come to some conclusion on the matter.

The conroller of the city made known to alderman Gagnier that water had been placed in the pond at the Bellerive Park, and that the children would be able to make full use of this from now on.

The regulation prohibiting the wearing of "shorts" on the streets in Valleyfield is always in force and will be enforced regardless. Those contravening the regulation will be severely dealt with.

Scouting Around

By Lorne Barnewall V . . . B.P

When this column was written, I had not finished my holidays, and therefore I was not in a position to gather up all the facts before going to press, but I can tell you a little of what went on.

Perhaps a few of you would like to know something about the daily routine of Camp Tamaracouta, owned and operated by the Boy Scouts Association, situated on the shores of Lake Dawson, in the Laurentian Mountains, just 50 miles by road from Montreal. Here is a typical daily programme:

7.00 a.m. Rouse, "morning dip" and good wash; breakfast at own troop campsite; bedding aired in sun until noom, except on rainy days. 9.30 a.m. Inspection of tents and site by Scoutmaster. 9.45 a.m. Instruction period. 11.15 p.m. Morning swim. 12.30 p.m. Lunch in troop camp site. 1.30 p.m. Compulsory rest period. 2.30 p.m. Troop or combined programme. 4.15 p.m. Afternoon swim. 5.45 p.m. Flag-lowering ceremony, (full uniform must be worn). 6.00 p.m. Dinner, in spacious dining hall. Canteen open for sale of fresh fruit and candy. 7.30 p.m. Evening programme. 9.30 p.m. Lights out.

Yours truly had the fortunate privilege of camping for a few days up there where a good time is guaranteed. Mr. A. A. Smith, Commissioner of the Southern District, and Scoutmaster of the Woodlands Troop, Verdun, extended the invitation to me, For those who have not had the opportunity of spending a two weeks' period, I can assure you it is a place that this writer would like to spend all summer round. The air is fresh and pure, and clear. Mr. Smith, a veteran camper and a fine Scouter certainly knows how to treat boys well. His experiences range from running the Canadian contingent at Washington, D.C. at the Boy Scout Jamboree held in 1937, then Camporees held in St. Johns and Verdun, and numerous other occations.

John Bingley, the Huntingdon delegate camping with the boys at York Factory, had high praise for the fine way the camp was being run and enjoyed the meals very much. He got a big kick out of camping at Tamaracouta. Since he has a few more days to go before returning, I have decided to wait until such time as will permit me to fully interview him, and then you will have my full report.

If you have been watching the newspapers very closely, you would have seen a few of the Huntingdon boys appearing in pictures taken at the Cadet camp just recently. I have not had any word from any of these fellows, but will try to get you some information for the next column.

If all goes well, the Ambulance Man Badge examinations will be coming off very shortly. I trust you have studied real well so that none of you taking it will fail. First Aid work is an important and essential part of Scouting.

Well, there is that ugly hand of time pointing at me again, telling me to stop until next week when I hope to have something of interest to tell you all. In closing may I leave this thought with you . . . water can be fun, and then it can be dangerous—be careful.—Chief.

At the Movies

CASABLANCA

Entertainment pulsating with drama and rich in human values is the keynote of the Warner Bros. picture, "Casablanca," which shows on Sunday and Monday, July 18 and 19 at O'Connor Theatre.

The film, taking its title from the Moroccan city that figured so largely in the recent war news, has to do with refugees from war-torn Europe and their attempts to secure exit visas to the Americas.

Starred in the film are Humphrey Bogart, Ingrid Bergman and Paul Henreid, who scored as Bette Davis' leading man in "Now, Voyager." A highly talented featured cast is headed by Claude Rains, Conrad Veidt, Sydney Greenstreet and Peter Lorre.

Although the story deals generally with the illicit trade in exit visas, the love story of Humphrey Bogart and Ingrid Bergman figures prominently and is responsible for much of the swift pace of the picture.

Opening in Vichy-controlled Casablanca, the picture goes back, in retrospect, to Paris just prior to the Nazi occupation where Humphrey Bogart and Ingrid Bergman meet and fall in love. Later, they meet again in Casablanca. It is a tender love story with tragic overtones, played against a background of chaos and conflict, but ending on a new note of hope.

FARM NOTES

Among these and in the two-year-old class was Kelson Lady Jean 3rd, belonging to Gilbert McMillan of Huntingdon, Que., as follows: 10,474 lbs. milk, 464 lbs. fat, 4.26% fat.

DENY ILLNESS REPORT OF NAZI LEADERS

London. — The Nazi-controlled Calais radio claimed that reports of the illness of both Hitler and Goering were "completely false."

The broadcast was recorded by the Ministry of Information.

Stockholm despatches said Goering was reported suffering a nervous breakdown and serious heart trouble.

"A wound" says a Spanish proverb, "is healed more easily than a word." Like most proverbs the saying has a deal of sense to it.

Successful Event.—

One of the most successful social events of the season took place Thursday evening in Munro Hall when a Supper and Concert was sponsored by the members of the Lend-A-Hand Mission Circle of the United Church, for the benefit of sending parcels to the boys from the surrounding locality, now serving overseas. The door receipts amounted to $95.00. Instrumental selections by Mrs. Merkley were much enjoyed. She also accompanied Mrs. Reese, who sang. A short one-act comedy entitled "Tommy Takes a Wife", was well presented by the following cast, and proved most amusing: Millie Harris (Vera Hamilton) the colored maid in the Crother's home, was most capable, only suffered from a distracting toothache. Sam White (Allen Mack) her dusky admirer and handy man about the apartment was also very efficient, even when it came to wearing his employer's red tie. The young married couple Merribelle (Dorothy Stewart) and Jerry Crothers (Clifford Whaelon) also had their ups and downs, but Tom Stewart (Cameron Stewart) Jerry's business partner, had trials of his own, when on receiving word of the unexpected visit of his uncle Peter (Henry Wallace) had to have a wife, at all cost and became entangled with not only his fiancee Eunice Westbrooke (Thelma Stewart) but also a book agent Sue Meredith (Hattie Shearer) who both played their parts well. However, everything turned out for the best in the end.

Miss Lillian Munroe and friend, Miss Jean Fulton of Montreal General Hospital, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Munroe, Ridge Road.

What the C.C.F. Plans To Do With Canada

"There's No Half-Way House"

(Article No. 4)

This is the fourth of a series of articles dealing with the socialist policy of the C.C.F. as laid down in the authoritative literature of Canada's leading socialists. We have been analysing and presenting the essentials of socialist policy as we see it as outlined in two books which wear the strong earmark of the C.C.F. One of the leading authors of these books is Professor Frank Scott of McGill University, at present national chairman of the C.C.F. The editor indicated in the third article that he would deal with the supposed intention of the C.C.F. Government, if it ever takes office, to compensate present owners for any business or interest that the socialist government might nationalize.

This editor's opinion is that the C.C.F. enthusiasts in declaring this supposed intention, do it with the tongue in the cheek and resort to a species of low duplicity which in any other party they themselves would roundly condemn. They do not intend compensation at all as compensation is understood by most people—not compensation in the really accepted sense of the term.

What they mean is confiscation, sugar-coated. The term is not quite original with the editor for it first appeared in an able article in The Canadian Churchman, the organ of the Anglican Synod of Canada, written by J. P. Bell, the treasurer of the Consolidated Fund of the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada. Mr. Bell apparently, judging by the phrasing of his reasoned article, feared that abolition of investment and of the returns from investment, would threaten the church's investments of its ministers' pension funds, which now go into all sorts of gilt-edged securities for purposes of safety as well as for purposes of revenue. If industry is nationalized and business regimented, who is to pay the taxes to municipalities and provinces to enable them to pay interest on the bonds in which such funds are invested?

This article can do nothing better than quote the words of the authors of "Social Planning for Canada" in regard to this matter of supposed compensation. The following is taken from page 175 of the book mentioned:

"If the private owners of industry are compensated in full (which may be tactically necessary) and allowed to retain most of their compensation, the last state of the community may be worse than the first. Unless the bulk of the compensation is promptly taken back from the rich former owners by drastic income and inheritance taxes, the 'public owned' industries would still be run on capitalist principles."

The latter portion, in black face type, of that quotation appears in italics in the book. It is plain that the authors intended to give those words special weight. Let us, studying their policy, accord to those words the weight that their authors accord to them.

At page 328, on the same subject, appear these words:

"The function of taxation will be to recover from wealthy former owners all their compensation except the modest sum necessary to give them reasonable economic security and moderate inducement to refrain from sabotage."

So the C.C.F.-Socialists plan to compensate for "tactical" purposes and then take it practically all back by means of taxation! In other words, they plan a disreputable political subterfuge. They are simply going to resort to the process known in the vernacular of politics as "kidding the troops."

When they take over the insurance companies they are going to establish a state insurance trust and in order to get money for the operation of their socialist Utopia they say that they will make the insurance trust cough up into the public treasury—in advance—the amount of the succession duties and taxes payable on existing policies. That is, they will collect the taxes before the person insured dies.

And as a matter of fact, for those who do not want the state to know their business—and that includes most of us—they say:

"The socialist government through ownership of the banks, trust companies and life insurance companies, would enjoy unrivalled facilities for efficient collection of . . . taxes."

The editor thinks he knows how most of his readers feel, but maybe he doesn't. He does, however, know how he himself feels. And he knows emphatically that he does not intend to stand idly by and allow his bank to be used by a socialist government as a tax collecting machine. —The Canadian Statesman, Bowmanville.

London.—The matter of replacing signposts and removing anti-tank ditches from barbed-wire barriers from Britain's roads is under consideration by the Government which is taking action along this line all the time, Lord Croft told the House of Lords.

Vitamins Caught When Vegetables Eaten Fresh

When mother steps off the back porch and comes back into the kitchen with the vegetables for dinner, those vegetables, straight from the garden are worth more than any she could buy in the most exclusive city shop.

They are worth more, not in actual money but in potential health, for vegetables from the home garden, picked and eaten within an hour or two are at their very best in flavour and in food value.

The staff of Nutrition Services at Ottawa are authorities on the ways of vitamins. They tell us that vegetables begin to lose their vitamin C almost as soon as they are gathered and that vegetables that have made a long trip to the city and stood all day in a warm shop can't compare in vitamin value with freshly picked vegetables.

When garden vegetables are at their peak of flavour, while they are still succulent and tender, they contain their maximum amounts of Vitamin C and B2 (riboflavin). At this stage, too, they require a minimum of cooking which helps preserve these precious nutrients. Better still, they may be served raw; tender young peas, beans and spinach are delicious additions to summer salads, and salads should appear daily in summer time.

Even the occasional member of the family who professes to regard salads as "rabbit food" will find a big bowl of crisp green salad practically irresistible on a hot summer day. They don't need to be told that it's "good for them." When they discover first, how good it looks and then how good it tastes, they'll soon be converted and before you know it they'll be demanding salads every day.

Elgin

Cpl. Wm. Fugill, of Headquarters Staff, Camp Petewawa, is spending two week's leave at the family home here.

Word has recently been received by her relatives here, that Nursing Sister Georgina Young, of Baragwanath Hospital, Johannesburg, Union of South Africa, was united in marriage on June 5th last to Col. Douglas Loftus, D.S.O., of the Springbok Squadron, South African Air Force. Col. and Mrs. Loftus expect to visit Canada later this summer. Mrs. Loftus is a sister of Mrs. Allan Mack, Elgin.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson and sons Bobby and Barrie, of Hampstead, are occupying their summer home near Athelstan Station. Barrie Wilson is not as well as his many friends would wish, as he is very slowly recovering from scarlet fever followed by rheumatic fever. He has been confined to a wheel-chair for six weeks, but hopes to be out of it before the summer is over.

Mrs. Francis Phalan has returned home after an enjoyable visit in Watertown, N.Y.

A PROPER DIET FOR THE PEOPLE AS A WHOLE

IS A MATTER OF NATIONAL CONCERN

Study In Black And White

This attractive small person takes the business of eating seriously as he tucks into his supper of cereal and milk.

Canada's Nutrition Program is vitally concerned with building a strong Canada by improving the health of all it citizens through better nutrition. Milk and cereals should play an important role in the diets of both young and old.

Canada's Food Rules

MILK—Adults: one-half pint. Children: more than one pint. And some cheese.

FRUITS—One serving of tomatoes daily, or of a citrus fruit, or of tomato or citrus fruit juices, and one serving of other fruits, fresh, canned, or dried.

VEGETABLES—(In addition to potatoes, of which you need one serving daily)—Two servings daily of vegetables, preferably leafy green, or yellow, and frequently raw.

CEREALS and BREADS—One serving of a whole grain cereal and four to six slices of Canada-approved bread, brown or white.

MEAT, FISH, EGGS, etc.—One serving a day of meat, fish or meat substitutes. Liver, heart, or kidney once a week. Eggs, at least three or four weekly.

PLUS OTHER FOODS YOU WISH

HEALTH IS A VITAL DYNAMIC FACTOR CONTRIBUTING TO VICTORY

No matter what your race or creed, whether you are black or white, health is a most important factor to all. A proper diet with the proper food and exercise can provide a way to good health and keep you strong and fit. The people of Canada are made up of many races, but they are citizens of Canada and CANADA NEEDS THEM STRONG. It is the duty of all to see that CANADA'S FOOD RULES are followed in order that a proper diet is arranged, it is a necessity for the good health of all. Sickness means a great expense, loss of time and consequent slowing up of production. People who study their health are rarely sick, they have the necessary resistance to guard against it.

VITAMINS FOR VICTORY

Lunch Box Strategy

Lunch boxes have a real job today—for if they are packed with the right foods, they will help keep Canada's workers at the peak of health and efficiency. Sausage roll with a vegetable salad, whole wheat bread and butter, a bran muffin, gingerbread and an apple; an extra one tucked in for the mid-shift rest period and a thermos of hot cocoa, make a lunch a man can work on.

Order Repair Parts Without Delay

J. M. Armstrong, Dominion Agriculture Department engineer, said in a statement that farmers who have not yet had the necessary repairs made to their harvesting machinery should order repair parts without delay.

Farm machinery manufacturers in 1943 were allotted 165 percent. of repair parts based on the 1940 output. Notwithstanding this quota, Mr. Armstrong said if farmers delayed ordering parts they need until harvest time they might find it difficult to get them.

Two workmen sat down to eat their lunch and one began unwrapping a parcel about 18 or 20 inches long.

"What's that?" asked his friend.

"Well my wife is away, so I made a pie for myself."

"A bit long, ain't it?"

"Of course it's long. It's rhubarb."

Butchers Don't Need To Handle Coupons

Little smears of bacon grease and hamburger globules may be precious titbits inside a wrapper, but clinging to milady's ration book—they're definitely not wanted; especially when that ration book is dropped into a lady's handbag.

Butchers, with all their wartime problems, find they often just haven't time to wipe their hands after handling every piece of meat before tearing coupons from their customers' ration books.

Wartime Prices and Trade Board spokesmen point out that butchers do not need to handle their customers' ration books at all. As indicated on the back of the ration book, "Coupons must be torn off the sheet in the presence of the storekeeper," so the shopping housewives are legally permitted to remove their meat coupons with their own dainty fingers just as long as the butcher is present to view the operation. It is, of course, against the law for storekeepers to accept single, loose coupons not torn off by themselves or in their presence, according to Prices Board officials.

Army Sports at Chateauguay Barracks

Softball

C.A.B.T.C. 41 softballers are tied for the loop leadership of the Valleyfield and District Softball League and have better than an even chance to make the playoffs. The team has been mainly supported in their drive to the top by the flashy pitching of Cpl. Tommy Osborne and the hitting of Pte. Rene Senecal. Manager Sgt. George Tolhurst is at present making a few changes to give the team its final playoff drive. Thanks are given to Mr. Pringle for his help in putting the Log Lodge diamond in condition.

Track and Field

The centre track team under the keen coaching of Lt. Eddie Mackisoc and Q.M.S. Powers are showing that they will be hard to beat when they compete in the Montreal and District Army Track Meet to be held at Coteau Barracks, Three Rivers, Que., on Saturday, July 24, 1943. The team has shown great promise with such star performers as Lt. Phil. Shaughnessy, Cpl. H. H. Thompson and Cpl. Alex Simatos. Lt. Shaughnessy threatens to break the army record in the discus event with throws of 117 feet compared with the army record of 119 feet.

Football (Rugby)

Some of the more hopeful of the centre are already beginning to think of football. The team, which had a good season last year competing in the Quebec Rugby Football Union, must rebuild if they expect to gain a top place in the Union this year. With such experienced players as Lt. Phil. Shaughnessy, Loyola College Star, Lt. Eddie Mackisoc, former American player, Lt. Dave Peebles, Eastward Coach and Sgts. Harry Ross, George Tolhurst, Frank McGrath, Harry Smith and Jack Bertwhistle, the team promises to show plenty of power in their drive to capture the title. Last year's star, Cpl. Alex Simatos will probably captain the team.

Swimming

Lt. Pat. Earl, sports' officer of M. D. 4, was visiting here recently. He intimated there would be a District Swim Meet in Montreal on July 28. Out of the results of the meet it is hoped that some of the entries will prove successful in these events in order to participate in the Dominion Swim Meet to be held in Winnipeg, in the latter part of August.

Boxing and Wrestling

In view of the fact of the Centre procuring some new equipment, it is hoped that the Centre will be able to produce talent combining town and Centre, that will compare favourably with shows put on previously by out of town stars.

Among the added equipment recently received in the Centre were a much needed wrestling mat and cover, regulation bell, and a new ring is expected in the course of another week.

In the next issue of this paper it is hoped that we will be able to list events and weights of several interesting entries.

It is hoped that the younger members of this vicinity will participate in work-outs, dates of which will be posted in this paper shortly. In extending this invitation it is well to point out at this time the A.-O.-C. is anxious to have esprit de corps between camp and town.

Condition of Political Prisoners Described in Diary Smuggled to London

The appalling conditions under which French political prisoners are existing in the prisons and concentration camps of France and Germany today are graphically described in a report made by a well-known French journalist whose name must remain secret, but who found a way to pass it on to Captain Pierre Bloch, French parliamentarian now in London.

Hunted like animals, living in constant fear of reprisals to family or even innocent unknown hostages, or when caught, crowded into small cells with barely enough room to move—dying like flies from starvation and torture—Patriots and leaders of French Resistance are being rounded up in ever increasing numbers as the fear of an Allied invasion casts its long shadow over Europe. It is not strange, for these are the men and women who will ignite the fires of revolt and spring to aid the Allies when the time comes.

Written in prison, he gives a picture of the life and conditions, which he endured for months:

"The enquiry proceeded under truncheon-blows. Many comrades had ribs broken. R. was the object of infamous blackmail and certain attempts by the Inspector. One of the accused was "knocked about" on the head for eight days on end (rawhide whip — ruler — truncheon), naked, arms raised, standing on a little box over which his toes projected. He is now half mad.

BEDDING: "We are kept here, in the cells, in confinement; no question of status as political prisoners, instead of 300 prisoners there are 1,800. We are six in a nine feet square cell. When we lie down, there is no room to pass by. A little light comes from above. We are shut in for twenty three and a half hours out of twenty-four, just half an hour to wash in the morning, fifty at a time, in a little yard with only one tap. The walls of our cells are covered with bugs. We have already killed thousands; it is our chief occupation.

Our bedding is the torn remains of a straw mattress, and a blanket. At five o'clock we undress and our clothes and shoes are taken away by the warders. Thus we have to lie down from five p.m. till seven a.m.—a real torture—scratching. They have taken away all our jewellery, watches, money, all our games. It is forbidden to play cards, and it is virtually forbidden to read, for we can get only prison books and they are awful. Newspaper-reading isn't allowed; we are cut off from the world. What few items of news we get are tapped in Morse from cell to cell. Loneliness and lack of movement are real torture. Already I feel I have no more muscles in my legs and my eyes are dazzled when I go out. One must turn into a slobbering idiot after six months of this treatment.

FOOD:—At 7.50 a.m. we are brought prison broth from the canteen (you must pay) at 9 a.m. potato-peelings soup. The same thing at 3 p.m. Less than 10 ounces of bread, and that's all. Twice a week we get stew quite uneatable. The bread appears to be made of dust, plaster, and mud. We are not allowed a jug, so that we have to drink our water from a dixie still greasy with soup. It's disgusting. No knives, no tools to open our canned foods; it's a real problem. A parcel of six and a half pounds once a week, without tobacco. It's five days since we had anything to smoke, and the two parcels we received were fallen upon by the six of us. Let's hope our friends are going to receive some, too.

"Everything is worked out to subdue, wear down and overwhelm the prisoner. The warders only know how to shout certain words: Bedtime! Silence! Letters! Parcels! Shower! When we are waiting for our lawyer in the hall we are made to face the wall. The slightest look is noted and penalised. Once a week a shower. They make us undress cutside, throw our clothes on the ground (even if it's pouring) and then we go for our shower, naked (even if it's freezing). We dress again outside, still wet, of course for there is no chance of a towel for oneself.

"If our comrades knew all that, they would not allow men who are all of outstanding dignity, and some of whom are heroes, to be treated in such a way.

"All the political prisoners here are treated in the same manner. Some that have been here a year are very weak. Above all, we have to struggle against boredom. We tell each other stories, but the stories get exhausted. Especially do we talk of comrades who are worse off than we at Fresnes . . .

"Sometimes we end up by making fun of our situation, but we don't often laugh. There are moments of despair in one's cell.

"The nights are horribly long, agonising, haunted by nightmares and bugs . . . and always we are cut off from the world, we face the animosity of our warders. I can assure you that it teaches one hate, a feeling unknown to me before. The least rumour goes through the prison with the speed of lightning—alas, rumours are generally sensational and nearly always untrue. Bitter is the disillusionment that follows."

Final Results In Greek Fund Announced

The following report shows the results of the campaign for the Greek War Relief Fund for the entire district which had its headquarters at Valleyfield. The report shows that very appreciable results were obtained and that the sum of $3,977.67 was realised. The drive was not on the same basis as the Russian Relief Fund drive, but good results were obtained and the district can be proud of its efforts on behalf of the Greek Fund.

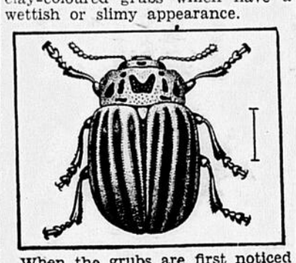
REPAIR SHIPS

Canberra, Australia.—Australian ports have averaged 1,000,000 tons of merchant ships repaired or overhauled every month since last August, the Navy Ministry announced.

INSECTS INVADING VICTORY GARDENS REQUIRE STERN STEPS TO CONTROL

The success of Victory gardens throughout the country this year will depend, to a great extent, in controlling the insects which annually invade the gardens.

The Colorado potato beetle is a yellow and black-striped insect which appears on the potato vines. The female lays clusters of yellowish eggs, chiefly on the under surfaces of the leaves. The early destruction of these, helps greatly in reducing the infestation. The young of this beetle are small, reddish to clay-coloured grubs which have a wettish or slimy appearance.



When the grubs are first noticed on the plants, dusting or spraying should be commenced. Calcium arsenate should be used for this purpose. If dusting is preferred, mix one part of the poison in 8-10 parts of hydrated lime or wheat flour. The plants should be covered thoroughly and the dusting repeated at 10-day intervals.

For spraying, mix ½ lb of calcium arsenate in 10 gallons of water, or preferably bordeaux mixture. Bordeaux is advised since this controls fungus diseases which usually attack potatoes. This is made by dissolving one pound of copper sulphate in 10 gallons of water and then mixing in one pound of hydrated lime. However, should the poison be mixed with water only add ½ lb. of hydrated lime to prevent burning of the foliage. The first applications of dust or spray should be made as soon as the young grubs are noticed on the vines.

MAXIMUM PRICES FOR HONEY SET

Maximum selling prices for honey in all forms were established by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board in an order which became effective June 22.

Pasteurized granulated honey will be sold at slightly higher price than extracted honey and in many cases in new composite and fibre cases in order to conserve tin.

Where the primary producer of honey sells direct to the consumer he sells at wholesale price plus a mark-up not to exceed three cents a pound for honey in bulk or in more than one-pound containers. The maximum price for standard comb honey is set in the order at 40 cents a section.

Wall Paper

To remove wall paper, saturate the paper with boiling water, using a whitewash brush, and when loosened, scrape off with a putty knife.

Card of Thanks

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion, Chateauguay-Huntingdon Branch, wishes to thank all those who contributed in any way by work or donations to the success of the Carnival Day on May 5th. We especially thank Mr. C. M. Oney, who acted as general manager and co-ordinator of all activities; Major J. H. Molson, E.D., Officer Commanding C.A.(B.)T.C. 41 for his splendid co-operation; Mr. J. A. McCracken for the use of the facilities and space of The Empire Garage; The Shawinigan Water and Power Co., McLean's Meat Market, Mr. Henry Grant, Mr. A. M. Cappiello and Mr. J. Peters for show window space; Rev. J. P. Heslin for much advice and help; Mr. E. Rider, Malone Chamber of Commerce and Company "G"; Pres. Bert Fion, Montreal Kiwanis; The Canadian Broadcasting Co. CBM; Mayor W. E. S. McNair and the Town Council for supporting the holiday and the use of the streets and the President and members of the Legion for their untiring efforts.

Autos Double Checked

To correct uneven wear, tires should be switched at regular intervals. The Munitions and Supply Department urges all motorists to make this switch every 5,000 miles. Follow the diagram shown above.

Although pleasure driving is out for the duration, spring is the time to have the family car checked for repairs and cleaned to start the season with conservation in mind. Care will make cars last longer.

Arrange for general lubrication, inspection, and tire checkup, if the required inspection has not been attended to since last year. Have tire cuts repaired. Also have wheel alignment and balance tested. A tire a half-inch out of line is dragged sideways 87 feet every mile. Having tires shifted by regular rotation, including the spare, will help tires to last longer.

After the winter most car finishes are dull. A special polish should be used and rubbed until the surface shines.

When winter rust shows on chrome-plated surfaces, a fine cleanser should be used. By applying furniture wax or oil, chrome-plate will be protected somewhat from further damage.

Whisk out the upholstery or use a vacuum cleaner attachment. This should be done once a month, to keep the car interior neat and trim. Grease spots can be cleaned off with non-inflammable dry cleaning solvent. Remember to dust first though. For other spots, a sponging with sudsy water, and then a rinsing with cold water will help make them disappear.
