Huntingdon County Reports Bond Sales of $24,250

Results to Tuesday Noon Very Encouraging—Conversions Amounted to $7,000—Chateau Buys $5,000 in Bonds

Up to Tuesday noon, the sales of Fifty Victory Loan Bonds had been very encouraging with sales amounting to $24,250 being reported. This amount was realized from 69 cash applications, while there were three conversion applications reported which amounted to $7,000. The later cannot be included in the objective for the present campaign.

The canvassers reporting sales from the various districts in Huntingdon County are as follows: R. E. Cogland, W. A. Hunter, Robt. Waldie, G. S. Walsh, John Leahy, Medard Fortin, Albert Dupuis, Adrian O'Rielly, Keith Curran and Henry Cassidy.

An objective board has been erected near the Canadian Bank of Commerce, on Chateauguay Street, which will show the progress of the campaign as it affects Huntingdon Town and Huntingdon County from time to time. It will be interesting to watch the progress made in the campaign and will give people of the County a very good idea of how the sales are going.

A specially equipped car made a tour of the district on Tuesday and by means of loudspeakers announced the Victory Loan in both the English and French languages.

It certainly looks as if the people of Huntingdon are right behind this loan and realize the necessty of buying as many bonds as they can. Following is a list of names of those who have made purchases up to Tuesday noon.

42 Employees Fawcett & Grant Purchased $4,450 in Bonds

One of the first of the Huntingdon industries to report success in the Fifth Victory Loan campaign, is the firm of Fawcett and Grant. The objective set for this firm was $2,400, on Tuesday evening, their chairman, Mr. J. Fox, reported to The Gleaner that his firm had gone over the top with bonds purchased to the amount of $4,450. This amount does not include the directors or management of the firm, but only the 42 payroll employees, all people earning under $40.00 per week. This works out to an average of almost $106.00 per employee and almost doubles the objective set. This shows that the employees are anxious to speed the victory and are doing their part to this end.

Barn, Stock Lost in Fire

Blaze Occurs at H. Welburn Farm, Rockburn, on Friday

On Friday evening the barn on the farm known as the John A. Goldie place, situated half mile south of Rockburn, and occupied by Herbert Welburn, with the season's crop of hay and straw, was totally destroyed by fire. Threshing had been completed that afternoon about 2.30, after which Mr. Welburn took advantage of the available help to store in the shed attached to the barn, the farm machinery. Fortunately, the milking was done and the cows turned out to pasture before the fire broke out, and it had originated where the freshly threshed straw was stored.

Mr. Welburn's young sons, assisted by Harry Johnston, were able to save a team of horses, the double harness and a pig. A six months colt and some young pigs were lost in the fire. As soon as the alarm spread, neighbours from far and near gathered to help. Milford Oliver brought his truck to draw water from the near-by brook, and only the heroic efforts of the crowd saved the dwelling house and other buildings from destruction. Fortunately the wind blew the flames away from the other buildings and an earlier shower had dampened the grass and leaves or the fire might have spread far. Among the machinery lost, unfortunately Mr. Hoyer's corn binder was burned.

Premier A. Godbout Visited Valleyfield, on Saturday

Premier Participates in Many Functions—Gives Send-off to Fifth Victory Loan

The fifth Victory Loan campaign was given a great send-off in Valleyfield on Saturday, when a celebration was held at which Premier Adelard Godbout made a broadcast over the CBC network for the opening of the campaign for Quebec.

The Premier also officially opened the Council Chamber, which has recently been renovated, and honoured 17 farmers of the Beauharnois district.

Hundreds of persons gathered in Victory Square on Farmers' Day, as Saturday was known in Valleyfield, and listened to the addresses and watched the ceremonies, despite the unfavourable weather conditions.

Mayor Louis VI Major, welcomed the Premier and presented the sincere and respectful wishes of the population. The Premier said "It is a progressive city where the mixing of the two races proves once more that the harmonious understanding is a great force for the country, if one knows how to employ it to good use. Valleyfield gives to the country an example of concord and understanding."

Mgr. Paul E. Leger, vicar-general of Valleyfield, in a few words thanked Premier Godbout, in whom he saw a perfect Christian and an ideal parishioner.

All members of the Valleyfield City Council were present for the occasion of the inauguration of the Council Chambers.

Dr. O. E. Caza welcomed the Premier at the Victory Stand in Victory Square, by the City Hall, from which point the broadcast was made. He said, a year ago, Valleyfield received the Hon. J. H. Ilsley, Minister of Finance. Today, we have the honour of receiving the Prime Minister of the Province of Quebec, the Hon. Adelard Godbout. He referred to the return from overseas of Lt. Col. J. E. Levesque and ended by thanking the Mayors and organizers of the five committees of the region for their collaboration.

Premier Godbout told farmers of the Valleyfield district that the Fifth Victory Loan opening Monday represented a "great opportunity for farmers to prepare for the post-war period of reconstruction."

Farmers are prosperous at present, he said, and the province "placed great hopes" in their response to the loan.

The Premier announced a program of improvement for Quebec agriculture, with systematic drainage, levelling and soil improvements planned, and said the government proposed to rebuild Quebec agriculture to make it the keystone of Quebec industry.

Returning to a discussion of the Victory Loan, he said that it was necessary to furnish not only the soldiers for war but also the material with which to equip them and the food with which to feed them.

He had no doubt, he added, of the success of Quebec's victory loan campaign. Four times the province had responded to the call and gone over its objective, and the people realized that the need was more urgent than ever now that ships had been sunk "in our very St. Lawrence Gulf."

"Our sons are the living ramparts of our country, and they must be protected by every resource at our disposal," he said. "That is a reason for buying bonds.

"There is a further duty, that of safeguarding a civilization to which we are inevitably attached, for our hard won self-government would be in danger if we were to cease our vigilance."

The Royal Naval Silver Band, H.M.C.S. St. Hyacinthe, gave musical selections throughout the program and these were very much appreciated by the numbers in attendance.

The hero of 28 raids over enemy territory, Pilot J. E. R. Pichette, was introduced by Mr. Leon P. Favreau and the speaker was thanked by Mr. Gontrau Saintonge for his fine address in behalf of the Victory Loan.

Premier Godbout, in his capacity of Minister of Agriculture, introduced seventeen farmers of the district, who had recently obtained awards in the five year agricultural competition.

Lt. Col. W. G. E. Aird, joint chairman of the National War Finance Committee of Valleyfield, voiced words of appreciation of the way the day had been carried through and also offered words of thanks to the Premier for his attendance and speeches on behalf of the Victory Loan Campaign and the various other functions he had performed that afternoon.

Farmers' Day proved to be an eventful and colorful one for Valleyfield and will no doubt do much to stimulate interest in the progress of the Fifth Victory Loan in that city.

Why I Bought Victory Bonds?

D. J. O'CONNOR, M.P.P.

In an interview with Mr. D. J. O'Connor, M.P.P., when he made his application for the purchase of Fifth Victory Bonds, he gave as his reasons for buying, the following:

"I believe Victory Bonds are a good investment not only for myself but for Canada and the war effort. I have been a conscientious supporter of all campaigns to help the war, or sufferers as a result of the war, and I believe everyone should support the Victory Loan Campaigns to their utmost. If we expect to beat Hitler we must do everything in our power to see that our fighting men are supplied with the tools to do the job. The only way for civilians to do this in a place like Huntingdon County, is to lend our money so that the production can be carried on. In doing this we are helping in many ways as well as helping ourselves. We have only lent our money and after the war we may find that this money will be the means of helping us tide over the tough period of reconstruction. That is what I mean when I say I believe it is a good investment. I am happy that I can do this much for the war effort and in support of our fighting men, and especially as a backing for the boys who have left Huntingdon County to do their share on the battle front. If the people of Huntingdon County and elsewhere support the Fifth Victory Loan as well as the ones in the past, there should be no difficulty in reaching the objective set. In which case we shall all have done our part in Speeding the Victory."

Accident Verdict Given at Enquiry Sept. 20th Car Crash

Enquiry Held at County Building Thursday Into Circumstances of Payant-Macfarlane Car Accident

The enquiry into the circumstances surrounding the accident which occurred on the Malone-Montreal Highway, on Monday morning, September 20th, took place at the County Building, on Thursday afternoon. Dr. J. R. McEwen, Coroner, presided at the enquiry with Detective Claude Bernard, Provincial Police. The enquiry opened at 4.25 p.m.

In the accident for which the enquiry was held, two cars were involved, one belonging to Mr. Joseph Payant, of Massena, N.Y., the victim of the accident; the other belonging to Mr. Clarence Macfarlane and driven by his son George. Eight persons were injured in the accident and Mr. Joseph Payant was killed. There were seven persons in the Payant car and two in the Macfarlane car. Some of the victims are still in hospital as a result of the crash which proved fatal to the driver of the American car.

The first witness called was Paul Fournier, son-in-law of the late Joseph Payant, who declared that he had identified the body of the victim as that of his father-in-law, Joseph Payant.

Mrs. G. Payant, wife of the late Joseph Payant, and an occupant of the car driven by her husband when the accident happened, was next called. Having just been released from the hospital at Malone, she appeared quite weak and a chair was provided for her to give her account. Mrs. J. E. Barrett acted as interpreter for the witness. Through Mrs. Barrett, Mrs. Payant told that the party was returning home from a trip to Valleyfield and in the car were herself, her husband, four daughters and her sister-in-law. All were asleep except Mrs. Payant and her husband, when the accident happened. They left Valleyfield at about 11.15 p.m. and the accident happened 4 or 5 miles past Huntingdon. Before they came to the curb in the road, they saw the lights of the other car which appeared to come to the right and then seemingly came towards their car. Their speed was between 35 and 40 miles per hour. Her husband she said, did everything he could when he saw the car. The car was in good condition and her husband was a careful driver. He was always careful to see that his car was on the right side of the road. The other car went on to its own right side of the road when it stopped. When she recovered, she was on the grass and lost consciousness again. She never saw the men in the other car.

The next witness was Roland Leduc of Athelstan, who said the Macfarlane car passed his car as he was returning from Trout River, and he judged the speed to be between 35 and 40 miles an hour. He left Trout River between 11.30 and 11.45 p.m. He said he came to the wrecked cars about 15 minutes later and a girl asked for help. He went with Mr. Holm and phoned for a doctor and for an ambulance from the Huntingdon Barracks. He said he saw the driver of the car (Payant) after the accident, he did not speak to him. Mrs. Payant was in the car when he arrived. He helped to put all the people in the ambulance. Did not see the men in the other car. Mr. Payant's car was on the right hand side of the road going toward the States. He saw Macfarlane standing in the middle of the road.

The next witness was Wm. Greig, Circulation Officer, Ormstown, who was called to the scene of the accident. He said he received a call from the operator telling him Mr. Holm was calling from Huntingdon about a serious accident west of Huntingdon. The accident occurred at approximately 12.25 a.m. and he was called at 12.30 a.m. When he arrived at the scene two or three of the passengers of the American car were on the side of the road and some others were in the house of Mr. Douglas close by. Dr. McCrimmon and Dr. Clouston were there and also an army truck. Mr. Macfarlane was walking around and Mr. Higgins was sleeping in the back seat of the Macfarlane car. Macfarlane said he had a sore jaw, but talked quite normal and appeared to be sober. The army truck picked up some of the people and took them to Malone and an ambulance from Malone picked up the rest. He phoned Montreal for the Provincial Police and Detective Bernard was sent. The American car was on its right side of the road about 2 or 3 inches from the side of the road. According to the marks on the road it showed the brakes had been applied and the car had slid about 10 or 15 feet. Canadian car had come along left hand side of the road and struck a rut which caused it to jump right across the road in front of the American car. When he arrived Mr. Payant was dead. He asked Macfarlane if he knew what happened, but he said it happened so fast that he did not know how it happened.

George Macfarlane, driver of the Canadian car was next called. He stated he had been to Malone Fair Grounds to watch the celebration

Wants to be a Free Man in a Free Canada

MAYOR W. E. S. McNAIR

Mayor McNair's application for Fifth Victory Loan Bonds, was the third received at Victory Loan Headquarters in Huntingdon, and he was asked his opinion as to why they should be purchased. This is his reply:

You ask me why I bought this Victory Bond. Well sir, I want to continue living a free man in a free Canada. I mean free from slavery: and now that the claws of the beast that threatened us are being loosened, and it is gradually being pushed back into the pit from which it came, I want to add my ounce of push to the people who are doing such a fine job to rid the world of this monster.

Important Matter Decided At County Hospital Meeting

Hospital Governors to Invest Purchase Price of Building in Victory Bonds or Buy Outright—X-ray Equipment to be Purchased

At the meeting of the governors of the County Hospital on Wednesday evening, matters that will be of much interest to the general public were given decisions. First it was decided that for the Victory Loan the hospital invest money to the extent of the purchase price of the building, plus that which is entrusted to the Board of Governors as a subscription for a specific purpose such as the donation by Leach Textile Ltd. employees of $555. which was eartagged for the furnishing of a private room. Should the Women's Missionary Society in Toronto wish to accept payment for the property now, less 3%, which would be the equivalent to the interest coming from the purchase of Victory bonds, the Board of Governors would be prepared to complete the purchase of this property at once.

For some little time the matter of purchasing an X-Ray for the hospital has received much consideration by Doctors McEwen, McCrimmon and Clouston, the latter having made several trips to Montreal investigating the various features of X-Ray machines offered for sale. To a very considerable extent a community hospital is valued according to the equipment it has placed at the disposal of its doctors. The doctors felt that if the better equipment were bought, it would certainly serve the hospital for a longer period of usefulness, even though it were costing $600 more than an X-Ray that might acceptably serve for the time being. Upon motion of Mr. W. C. Winter and seconded by Mr. D. Faubert, it was decided that the County Hospital invest $3,800 for the purchase of an X-Ray.

The doctors have also selected other hospital equipment which represents an expenditure of $3000. The repairs to the building are now well advanced, the interior carpentry work being practically completed and likewise that of the electricians. The painters are now able to make favourable progress, and the change noted from day-to-day is encouraging. This week a semi-circular driveway is being built in front of the hospital and a cement sidewalk laid.

The management committee is meeting with many difficulties in the way of delays in the purchasing of many materials, but for all of that, hopes are still being maintained for the opening of the hospital, not on the 1st of November, but in the very near future, so that the hospital will be able to accord this community a valued service during the coming winter.

Display of Hospital Contributions

Messrs. James E. Barrett, A. A. Lunan and N. F. Manning are constituting a committee of three who are going to look after the creating of a collection of donations in the way of vegetables, fruits canned or preserved jams, jellies and what not, that may be required for supplying the larder and furnishing of the County Hospital. The display will be made in the recently renovated store building of the late C. H. Lamb. Donations may be left at this building on Saturday evening of each week between the hours of 8 and 9 p.m. People who wish to make contributions are invited to call up any of these men should they wish further information. In Dundee, Mr. Albert Dupuis is to look after the contributions and such are to be left at the home of Mrs Charles Smallman. In Elgin Mayor George Paul is open to receive the contributions for the hospital, and in Hinchinbrooke it is Mr. John S. Ross. In Godmanchester Mr. Charles Reid will be glad to hear of any contributions which may be forthcoming. Contributions from any or all communities may be brought to this depot in Huntingdon, if such meets with the convenience of the general public. Let's get the ball rolling through making our contribution in kind now. As the contributions increase the display will make it all the more inviting for others to fall in line and lend the cause their deserving and helping hand.

Ormstown W.I. Lends Support to Victory Loan In Chateauguay West

The following letter received at headquarters of War Finance Committee for Chateauguay West, at Ormstown, shows that the Ormstown branch of the W. I. is anxious to do its part in the Fifth Victory Loan. Such support should show that the lending of money to the Government for the war effort is not only a good investment but an urgent necessity. If everyone will get behind this campaign and see that Victory Bonds are purchased, it will Speed the Victory.

Mr. A. J. McQueston,
Joint Unit Organizer

P.O. W. D. Hayter Sends Interesting Letter Home

Speaks of Visiting Historic Points in Scotland And Buying Victory Bonds

Part of a letter from Pilot-Officer W. Douglas Hayter, received Oct. 7, by his parents.

I've just got back from a wonderful leave. I spent one night in Birmingham, then went through London to see Allan, but he had moved so I didn't see him, so stayed in London. The next morning went to Edinburgh. Leslie met me and I went out and stayed with him. He was going to show me some of Scotland, Loch Lomand, etc., from the air, but the weather was bad. Leslie had Saturday off, so we saw some of the city — the castle and many other places of historic interest. We met a school teacher and his wife, who told us many interesting things about each place. I've also met people who have friends in Huntingdon and district. Sunday attended church at St. Giles Cathedral. In the afternoon went to see the Forth Bridge. The Scotch people are very friendly. Monday I visited friends I had met in March, Leslie is looking well and has leave in another week or so. Although I've often spoken of going on leave, it was only the second 7-day leave I've had since coming over. Your lovely box, also letter of Sept. 22 was here last night when I arrived. Thanks a lot for everything. I see where Canada has another Big Victory Bond Campaign. With every one behind us, it won't be many months before we'll have Jerry licked. Dad you will receive my $100. Bond which I bought over here, in November. Buy another $100.00 one from my acct. The Gleaner will likely soon come in. I'll write again shortly. We're all well. Don't worry. Cheerio for now.

Loving son Douglas.

SPEED the VICTORY
5TH VICTORY LOAN

A Great Service

NO one can say just how valuable the blood given by the 115 donors at the Blood Donors' Clinic, on Tuesday, of the past week will be, but there is no doubt that it is a worthwhile contribution to the war effort. Furthermore, the individual must be willing to give this donation and it really is a personal contribution. There is honor attached to these donations and the individual who gives his or her blood can be proud of such a donation. This type of donation is new to most of the people of this district, but the ice has been broken and no doubt the next clinic will see a large number of donors coming forward.

It is interesting to note that two years ago a mere handful of patriots gave their blood, while today these number over 11,000 every week throughout the Dominion. But many more are needed, at least 4,000 more weekly, before the Red Cross can reach the objective requested by the government.

While the Red Cross has been busily engaged in recruiting donors the technicians have been developing improved methods for processing the blood into serum. And now the processing is less cumbersome and quicker. New machinery has been built, developed by the ingenuity of Canadian engineers, to reduce the time and manpower required in the manufacture.

Recently a new step was instituted to improve the availability of the serum on the battlefield. A box has been invented to carry seven bottles of serum, seven bottles of distilled water, and four administration sets. Thousands of these boxes are being packed and shipped overseas.

Through the resourcefulness of the doctors and technicians it is now possible to give blood transfusions at the front line, which means the saving of untold lives among Canadian wounded.

When the full story is told of the war uses of Canadian Red Cross Dried Blood Serum it will be the Roll of Honor of lives saved by the medical profession and those who so nobly gave of their blood for the serum.

While 150 donors were asked for at the first clinic for civilians held in Huntingdon, on Tuesday, actually 133 volunteered, and 115 persons made the donation. This was a very creditable showing and speaks well for the spirit of the people in this district. While these clinics are being held at different points almost every day, it was the first to be held in Huntingdon. Naturally a little education is necessary before the enrollment will reach anything like the number that is required. It takes people to talk of the experience and explain that donating a little blood is not such a hard thing after all. Large numbers of people are afraid that giving blood will have some ill affect upon them. But when they realize that it does not, they will come forward and be willing to donate their blood along with the rest of the donors.

It is proposed to hold these clinics at regular intervals and it is hoped that larger enrollments will be the case at each succeeding clinic. The next clinic will be held here in about two months' time, when the number for enrollment is asked to be 165, and we believe that that number will be forthcoming.

Blood is not taken from persons who are not able to give it, the doctors make sure that no harm will come to the person who gives his or her blood. Evidence of this was seen when eight persons were rejected. The reasons for the rejections are not known to us, but it is evident that the persons were not suited to give it, or were in the opinion of the doctors in attendance, unable to give it. Those who did give their blood have suffered no ill effects and were able to carry on at their jobs in a short time after. With this in mind a larger number of donors may be looked for at the next clinic.

The Need is Just as Great, or Greater

IT will be noticed in this issue of The Gleaner that there are a number of appeals for people of the district to Buy Victory Bonds. The sponsors of these appeals are convinced of the urgent need to lend money to the government to carry on the war that is fast speeding to victory. They are also conscious of the need to urge the people by every means possible to put their money into Victory Bonds. This newspaper together with other publications throughout the country is desirous of acquainting everyone possible with the fact that to invest in the purchase of the Fifth Victory Loan Bonds, means that we, on the home front, are bringing victory that much closer.

We hear people saying every time a Victory Loan campaign is underway, that there is a wicked waste in the advertising and posters and other means of publicity that are used. But the intensity of these campaigns demands that extraordinary means be used to produce the desired results in the short time at the disposal. That these means have been successful, is shown by the results obtained in the various campaigns. Another remark often heard is, that this is the fifth loan that has been launched and everyone knows what is expected. It might be surprising just how many people do not understand the need for them to purchase Victory Bonds. If everyone was so conscious of the need, Victory Bonds would be selling steadily all the time instead of just when a campaign was sponsored. It is the intenseness of the campaigns which brings home to the people the reality that the country is in urgent need of more funds with which the carry on the war. Every means possible is used to reach every possible person and impress upon him or her that they are required to buy Victory Bonds.

This is the Fifth Victory Loan Campaign and with the feeling among the people that Victory is just around the corner, it has become much harder to convince them that the need for purchasing Victory Bonds is just as great. Up to the Fourth Victory Loan Hitler's fingers were at our throat—his fingers pressed hard—and we struggled violently to free ourselves. Now we have shaken him off and our fingers are on his throat. If we do not persist in increasing the pressure, he will shake us off and the war will be prolonged, with the danger that war-weariness will dictate a stalemated peace, with every prospect that another generation of our children will have to go through this horror again.

Complacency is the biggest hazard in this loan. Every bond that isn't bought is a relaxation of the pressure on the Nazi throat. Every bond that is bought increases the pressure.

Thus it should be evident of the urgency of the need for everyone to buy as many bonds as possible and not to think that the war is as good as won. As Churchill said on his return to England after the Quebec conference, "The bloodiest portion—make no mistake about it—the bloodiest portion of this war lies ahead of us". We can say of our fighting men that their blood, their sweat, must do it. But OUR money! That is the fundamental reason for buying Victory Bonds. We've got to back our boys. They have to have the tools of war. It takes money to provide those tools. Who then, will supply the money if we on the home front do not?

There is another reason. Deep in the heart of every member of the United Nations is a deep emotional feeling. For God's sake, we are thinking, let's get this thing over with. Let's put an end to this bloody carnage. But let's do it in the only way we can bear to think about. Let's win—and do it fast! And so it falls to everyone of us on the winning side to do every mortal thing he can to smash the enemy and "Speed the Victory".

Careless Talk

CARELESS TALK posters have been seen about us since the early days of the present war. It has been felt that careless talk may result in giving information to fifth columnists, and eventually work to the detriment of our soldiers and our cause. The basic training soldiers receive, tends to inculcate in them the keeping of their lips closed against talking with civilians about the armed services. Here in Huntingdon, it is a generally known fact, that at the moment, the enrollment in the camp is not large and the prospects are that changes are quite likely to be made at Chateauguay Barracks. The officals of Chateauguay Barracks are not in a position to give out any information as to the future of the barracks, even if they knew; and we doubt very much if they know anything definite at this moment as to what is going to take place. The officers of the Barracks are always trying to train the men to be prudent and not talk loosely with civilians and civilians can aid the officers and men of Chateauguay Barracks if they will kindly refrain from pumping questions at the soldiers. The soldiers naturally want to be polite and cordial with the public, but if they talk about army matters they are merely breaking down the efforts being put forth by their officers in giving these men their basic training.

Post war Aviation

MUCH is being heard at this time about the prospects for aviation after the war. An airpower conference has been going on in London, England, with a view to making a plan concerning international air lines after the war. In recent newspaper articles it was mentioned that a plane is being built in Great Britain which when completed, will be capable of carrying 150 passengers with a cruising speed of over 200 miles per hour. This plane will ply between this side of the Atlantic and Great Britain, the fare per passenger it is said will be $200. The crossing is expected to take 15 hours.

For firms and executives conducting an international business, these is no doubt whatever that the airplane will be the future means of transportation. It is fast and when business is concerned and competition is keen, customers must be interviewed in a minimum of time. In olden days much business was lost on account of the time required to transact the business before the actual order was started or filled. With the war proving the adaptability of the airplane to commercial enterprise and the rapid strides made in using the plane for long distance flights, ther eis a great scope for commercial aviation after the war.

Passenger travel may not be on such a large scale for a few years, because of the rate for each passenger, but as it becomes cheaper and more common, its use will increase. Canada will be in a position to stand high in the world's aviation and will have available a highly trained and skilled personnel to handle it.

CHATEAUGUAY, BEAUHARNOIS and HUNTINGDON COUNTIES

From Manuscripts of
The Late ROBERT SELLAR

SOME RECOLLECTIONS OF OLD TIMES

Mrs. Charles Lanktree of Elgin, who died suddenly on the 1st inst., of pneumonia, was not only an old resident of the district, having been born near the union of the English river and the Chateauguay in 1828, but was the grand-daughter of Nahum Baker, who came to the Chateauguay in 1802. Mrs. Lanktree was no ordinary woman and was possessed of strong individuality of character. She was a keen observer and had a most retentive memory, so that she recollected not only what she saw and heard herself when young, but what her grandmother, who had seen the wilderness of the Chateauguay at the beginning of the century, told her. From her reminiscences we select two passages. The first relates to her father's prowess as a hunter:

My father (George Baker) was a hunter in every sense—he knew the woods like a book and his chief pleasure was in roaming them. He told me the winter before he died that he had shot 500 deer on the Chateauguay and English rivers. I remember of his killing 5 bears. The first was on a small lot above our homestead, used for pasturing calves. Word was brought that one had been killed and father went up and saw it was the work of a bear. He set a trap and next day got the message a bear was in it. Taking his doubled barreled gun to shoot it he set off, but on arriving found it was a cub that had been caught. Taking up a rail he struck the animal until it cried with pain, in order to bring the mother. All at once she came rushing towards him, and he had barely time to catch up his gun and present it. She was so near when he fired, that the wadding went into her. She keeled over at once, greatly to father's relief, for he had only the other charge, not having taken ammunition. While out seeking for honey, he came upon a tree the sides of which were scratched with claws. Knowing they indicated a bear, he waited his chance and shot it. His boldest feat was on the St. Louis, where he had sold a lot, reserving part of the cedars. Going to chop some, on crossing a large log he recognized by its sound that it was hollow and had an inmate. Seizing his axe he began to cut it in two, when a bear leaped out. Altho he had no gun, just his axe, he followed, and the beast being weak from its winter's sleep, it grew tired as he tracked it unrelentingly for hours. Finally he came up with it as it was crossing a log, when he struck it with his axe on the back. The beast stood up, enraged, and awaited his assault. Knowing a bear's forepaws are equal to hands in seizing or striking aside, he did not think it prudent to advance with the axe, but paused to cut a long sapling and pointed it. Approaching, he thrust it into the open mouth of the beast, when teeth and jaws seized it. While so engaged, he gave it a stunning blow on the head with the axe. Once, when sent to get some early potatoes from a bit of bruler land, newly brought in, I found a bear, scratching up the potatoes. I shrieked and ran home. The bear was as much frightened as I was and scampered off. Father tracked it, but had to give up, owing to darkness setting in. Next day, he found it had got away. Seeing deer were eating a field of peas, he hid in a tree near thespot, and in one night shot 5. I remember his bringing home honeycomb enough to yield 16 gallons of strained honey. Some it it must have been in the tree for years, for the comb was dark.

What City Executive Learns While Riding With Rural Mailman

A fine service was recently rendered to national advertisers, governments, country-town merchants, the public generally, and to advertising agencies in particular, when an executive of a large manufacturing firm in Toronto took a holiday in the country and reported his findings on how country people get their news. And where they read their news is precisely where they look at the advertisements, both national and local.

Our information in the matter comes from "Marketing", a weekly newspaper for Canadian advertisers and sales executives, ably edited by John Love, ably assisted by Miss Margaret Brown as business manager and published in Toronto by W. A. Lydiatt. Weekly editors will be particularly interested in the report.

The "ad" man pitched in stooking grain and after getting "a bunch of aching muscles" he toured the rural routes with the mail man and got an eye-opener on what rural people in Ontario actually read. Here are some extracts of his report:

"Judging by this section of the rural community I would say that any advertiser who wished to reach the greatest number of farm readers must use the local paper." And he goes on to tell how they come down to the mail boxes to meet the mail man on the day the weekly paper is delivered. Then he quotes figures on circulations actually obtained on his two weeks' visit. Here they are:

67 per cent of boxes received the local weekly;

51 per cent received a leading farm paper;

20 per cent received a second farm paper;

13 per cent received a small city paper;

5 per cent received big city dailies;

3 per cent received one national magazine.

He found, too, that many farm homes are not served by radio and many who have them use battery sets through which they get farm and market reports and then shut them off to save batteries. Other pertinent and interesting observations on farm life were contained in his illuminating survey but the above is sufficient for the purpose of our editorial on the question which appears in this issue.—Canadian Statesman.

DISASTER IN WINTER

Berne.—Baron Franz von Papen has told Turkish friends that Winter may well bring catastrophe to German troops in Russia. His fears were expressed confidentially, but are reported in an Ankara despatch to the Gazette de Lausanne.

Opinions of Others

A MESSAGE TO ADVERTISERS
(Canadian Statesman, Bowmanville Ont.)

In another column in this issue is a story of what an executive of a Toronto manufacturing concern, doing a world wide business, found out when he took two weeks' holidays in rural Ontario. Two things stand out with smashing clarity. Frist, that 60 per cent of farm people read the local weekly; second, that "any advertiser wishing to reach the greatest number of farm people must use the local paper." He used the word "MUST". Isn't it obvious?

Next in order are farm journals, 51 per cent or one; 20 per cent for the next. But we have found that generally, farmers take two and often three farm papers so that these percentages cannot be added together. Over it all is this: "Farmers are at mail boxes when the local weekly comes." That fact establishes "reader interest." So in those two paragraphs is the whole story. Big dailies and national magazines scale down to 5 per cent and 3 per cent respectively. It is time these facts and figures were drilled home to industry, governments and advertising executives and agencies.

The "agencies" are middle-men hired at liberal commissions to adand to prepare copy. Their "take" is scaled on rates. Their service is vise national advertisers as to media make money. But they have too long good. Like everyone they are out to been by-passing the weeklies in many important instances. That means they ignore the tremendous farm buying power. Sixty-seven per cent of rural Canada represents over 3,000,000 people, according to the Canada Year Book. Why then treat rural Canadians as "poor relations" not entitled to know what is being offered and recommended?

The weeklies have been lauded by prime ministers and important personages as or vital importance in the life of Canada, and yet we find many vital wartime messages to rural Canada appearing in farm journals and not in weeklies; particularly over the signatures of the minister of agriculture and minister of labour. For instance, as of September 23, the minister of labour has a page and a quarter "ad" in a farm journal, "A Message to Men Who Work On Farms" and not a line in the weeklies. Can it be that he is not informed about the 67 per cent? Does he not wish to reach all the farmers?

The whole thing doesn't add up to common sense. There are, of course, the enlightened exceptions which recognize rural people as of high importance. The insurance companies, the banks, and the public services

Now that we are in the throes of war and are soon to come to the days such as hydro and telephone, and a few enlightened industrialists, use the weeklies freely to state their services.
to express themselves in this matter and come to a showdown in behalf of themselves and their readers.

SAVING FUEL BILLS

To penny-pinch fuel bills, choose a vegetable to accompany the roast that will oven-cook along with it. Say beets in casserole, baked onions or squash, or escalloped tomatoes.

WEEK AT OTTAWA

As the capital is the nerve centre of the Fifth Victory Loan campaign, the thoughts of everybody here are concentrated on the progress of this essential element of victory. With the ground so fully covered by leaders in Canada's war effort, little need be added. What has been placed before the Canadian people in the stern reality that in spite of the magnificent and inspiring successes in Russia and in the air war in Italy, it would be foolhardy to believe that Germany's power is broken. The fighting strength of Japan, a resourceful and dangerous enemy is still at its height. Allied advances are confined to a fringe of the islands of the South Pacific. The U-boats warfare on the Atlantic has been intensified by new devices and heavier armament that have brought the submarines to the surface to challenge our aircraft. The Canadian as well as the British and American part in the struggle is approaching not receding from its most acute stage. Any slackening in the will to maintain our fighting power at its height will retard the hour of victory.

The acceptance by this country of the Italians as co-belligerents but not as members of the United Nations, is considered here as a rational course to take in the deadly struggle. Italy is not relieved of her position as a defeated enemy which has surrended unconditionally to the allies, and none of the rights of the nations, small or great who have fought against her is jeopardized. She will not come under the terms of our Mutual Aid arrangements or the Lease Lend of the United States. It is difficult to visualize the confused feelings of allied troops who have been fighting Italians in North Afrca, Sicily and Italy, now that Italy is on our side. The same thing applies to Jugoslavia where a division of Italians has joined the ranks of the army fighting so stubbornly for independence, and on our side, and the moral effect of this on its former Axis partners must be great.

An effort will be made to increase the export price of bacon, which now stands at $21.75 for Grade A. It is not of course known whether this effort will be successful. It is recognised that in supplying 85 per cent of the British bacon ration, the farmers of Canada have been performing an essential war work, the importance of which cannot be overestimated. It looks now as if the greatly increased marketings in the autumn will bring deliveries much closer to the agreed 675,000,000 lbs. than appeared at all likely a few weeks ago. The difficulties that have had to be overcome through labour shortage and in Eastern Canada through the feed grain situation have been acute. There is a ceiling on feed grain prices but even with the subsidies to encourage shipments from Western Canada, transport troubles have been great. An anxiety felt by farmers in the East is the effect of the $1.25 wheat on the price of lower grades used for feeding. It isn't probable that this country will be able to increase for next year the amount of bacon contracted for in this year, but may be about the same, as the British now look to Canada as the main source of supply for its rationed needs. Selective Service officials have stated that they are extremely anxious that as many farm workers as possible not essential to carrying on farm work in the off-season should take jobs in other essential industries. Industries such as logging and pulpwood cutting, coal and base metal mining, railway maintenance, and fish and

In Self Defence

● This war has come close to our own shores. Axis submarines have operated along our coasts, and last year sank ships in the St. Lawrence waterway. Enemy mines have had to be cleared in recent weeks from the Halifax ship channel.

Canada's fighting men, on sea, land or in the air, are defending you and your home and family wherever they may be—in the hottest actions in Europe or along Canadian waterways.

These defenders of Canada depend first upon the civilian public for the new supplies and munitions they need to continue to protect Canada. These supplies and munitions can only be furnished in adequate quantities if everyone with surplus earnings and savings invests in the next Victory Loan.

SCHOOL NOTES

HUNTINGDON HIGH SCHOOL

On Thursday morning, through the kind permission of Major Molson and at the suggestion of the Fire Chief G. C. Stark, Captain Brennan of the local Military Training Center visited the High School to give a very interesting talk on the subject of Fire Prevention and Precaution.

Although the ages of the students varied from 6 to 18 yrs. of age, Captain Brennan maintained the interest of young and old alike, throughout his entire address. He said he was there to teach them the A B C's of Fire Precaution—The significance of A B C in this case being: Always Be Careful.

He varied his talk with humorous remarks, gave many most helpful hints and suggestions and told the students to be sure if a fire started which was in any way beyond their control, to call him and he would come to their aid with a modern fire engine and plenty of help.

Captain Brennan was well received and was extented an invitation by Principal J. B. Macmillan, to return at any time in the future.

Friday night Grade X entertained Grade XI to the first of the interclass dances. A small sum was realized which was to be devoted to the decoration of the First Aid room at the suggestion of Grade X.

The band expects to add four or five new members to its number before long, thus making a total of about 30.

The boys are improving and Bandmaster Moore is pulling them through hard work. Their course this year, will include the theory of music and they will be given credit for this subject in their group of studies for examination purposes.

The Cadets are daily receiving more and more of their official uniforms and it is hoped that within the next month they will be able to attend a church parade at one or other of the town churches.

Grades X and XI of Huntingdon High School are forming a Red Cross Club, under the supervision of Miss Salter and Miss McEwen. This club will meet once a week after school for the purpose of sewing and knitting. No further details have been disclosed as yet, but once the Club has been formed and is in operation, further details will be published in this column.

MASSACRE IN SERBIA

London.—Reuters News Agency in a Stockholm despatch said that a correspondent of the Swedish newspaper Svenska Dagbladet reported on his return from a visit to Hungary the massacre of 16,000 Jews and Serbs in the Bacska region of Serbia.

COMMON CITIZENSHIP AND CURRENCY URGED

Plymouth, England.—Leslie Hore-Belisha, former Cabinet member, advocated "common citizenship over the whole English-speaking world" as a means of attaining the Anglo-American solidarity which he said was necessary to preserve the fruits of victory. He also recommended the use of "common currency" after the war as a valuable means of simplifying worldwide economic exchanges.

The time is fast approaching when the supply of Fresh Green Vegetables will be falling low and hard to get, as well as being expensive. The good housewife who studies Nutrition in her family and follows Canada's Food Rules, should plan to use all the fresh green vegetables she possibly can at this time. She should also can as many as possible for use during the winter months. The above together with other foods set out in the list of Canada's Food Rules, if eaten in the right proportions, will keep your family healthy and strong. A strong body will do a lot toward prevention of sickness during the winter and early spring, by being able to offer resistance to the common cold and other such ailments. ## Cookies and Candies For Overseas Must Be Chosen With Care

Christmas boxes for the troops may have to travel thousands of miles and suffer pretty rough handling en route. Only foods which will retain their freshness for many weeks and which are known to be good travellers should find a place in overseas parcels.

Carefully packed, these treats from the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture will travel half way around the world and arrive intact and delicious as when they were packed.

Mincemeat Cookies

1-2 cup butter or mild-flavored fat
1 cup sugar
3 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
2 cups mincemeat
3 1-4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. baking soda
1-2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. allspice

Cream fat, add sugar gradually, continuing to cream. Beat eggs and add, beating until the mixture is light and fluffy. Add vanilla and mincemeat. Mix and sift dry ingredients and add, combining thoroughly. Drop by teaspoonfuls on a greased baking sheet and bake in a moderately hot oven, 375 deg. F., 15 to 20 minutes. Makes about 5 dozen cookies. Pack with wax paper between layers.

Molasses Kisses

1-2 cup molasses
1 1-2 cups sugar
1-2 cup water
1 1-2 tbsps. vinegar
1-4 cup butter, melted

Cook molasses, sugar, water and vinegar in a heavy pan, stirring constantly. Boil until mixture is brittle when tried in cold water, 256 deg. F. Stir constantly during last part of cooking. When nearly done, add butter and soda. Pour into a greased pan. When cool enough to handle, grease fingers and pull until taffy is light coloured and porous. Cut in small pieces with greased scissors. Wrap individually in wax paper. Makes about six dozen.

3 tbsp. mild-flavoured fat
1 tbsp. milk

Children's Corner ...

CALLING ALL INSECTS

Believe it or not, the world's most skilled radio operators are the insects. Long before mankind dreamed of such a thing these tiny creatures have been using the radio as a means of communication.

One of the most skilful radio experts in the world is the cockroach. Shut one of them up in a box and leave another outside, although neither can see the other they can communicate. Every cockroach is equipped with feelers which are really antennae. By waving these back and forth the insect sends out a flash that has a wave length of half an inch. The same antennae can also receive the message sent in reply.

Even the mosquito is believed to possess radio equipment. His feelers are covered with hairs, each having a separate tone like a piano or organ. By the tones, the mosquito can send a message and receive a reply. That buzzing which warns us of his presence is the sound of his broadcasting station. When you slap one you destroy one of the most ingenious of all radio sets.

Spiders are believed to possess wireless apparatus. At any rate it has been found that nothing will make a spider any angrier than to strike a tuning fork near him. The sound probably interrupts his broadcast.

Many insects have their radio sets in queer places. The moth has his in his stomach; the grasshopper has a hole in his leg below the knee through which he receives his messages. The common housefly has a set of knobs on his body which act as receivers for messages.

Farm Notes

Good Holstein cattle are still in heavy demand, as was proved at the Holstein Auction at the farm of Raymond Tremblay on Saturday, October 16.

Not a large crowd attended, but good buyers were among those present. For years, Mr. Tremblay has been a breeder of Holstein cattle, always trying from year to year to improve his herd by raising choice heifers and using a good herd sire.

Prices on a whole were very satisfactory, the highest price being $227.50 for a Reg. cow and purchased by L. E. Blair of Franklin Centre; Reg. 2-yr. old heifers sold as high as $127.00; Grade cows bred for next spring ranged from $90 to $170.; the top price paid for a grade yearling was $58.00; a few pigs were also sold and two horses; the sale totalled $2,550.00.

Auctioneer T. G. Graham conducted the sale in one hour and fifteen minutes of selling.

Popular Couple Married at Henrysburg

The wedding took place on Thursday afternoon, Oct. 7th, of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Herbert Fraser, at Henrysburg, Que. Mrs. Fraser as the former Miss Alma Beerworth Cockerline, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hewson P. Cockerline. Mr. Fraser is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs George W. Fraser of Dundee, Que. Shown in the above picture from left to right are Miss Janet Cockerline, sister of the bride and her only attendant; Mr. Earl McNicol, cousin of the groom, who acted as best man; the bride and the groom.

DAHLIA'S WHATNOTS

THE C.C.F.

While it is two much to assume that the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation has "put the fear of God" into the two old parties, it is certainly true that it has given them food for thought—plenty, and unrationed—and the thought includes misgiving.

Through personal contacts, I know of a war-plant worker who voted for the C.C.F. in the Ontario election because, so he said, the two old parties were "rotten"; and of a labourer in a mining region who reported that, in spite of a very great outlay of funds to stabilize the position of one of the old parties, the miners voted almost to a man for the new party; and of a Huntingdon farmer who thinks the C.C.F. might be all right; and, through a broadcast, of a McGill professor who is full of expectancy of the grand part to be played by the C.C.F. in the new democracy of the post-war era.

But there are always two sides to a picture. Here is what the editor of an Eastern Ontario rural weekly says: Not until the last few days of the Provincial election campaign was it made apparent that the mysterious and sinister C.C.F. organization was not only tied up to, but largely sponsored by the treacherous labour organization known as the C.I.O. This outfit is the one that has hamstrung the United States war effort by its strikes in the coalfields and the munition works. It also has been behind similar war production breakdowns in Canada . . . After all, the electors of the big cities have a right to vote any way they like regardless of how crazy their views may seem to us or how many foreigners may be wielding the ballot. Our own idea is that the farmer and his close brethren in the villages and towns will, in the end, scotch this political viper. What has he in common with these industrial ranters who want to socialize all methods of making a livelihood, and reduce everything to a common basis where initiative, individual ambition, and industry are crowded out of the picture? . . . Right or wrong he never will go off the deep end and tie up with radicals whose only interest in the agricultural classes is the political support they can secure from them at election time . . . Let us say the man who gets $5,000 a year is reduced to a common level of $2,500 and the man who gets only $1,500 is raised to the $2,500 standard. It looks good on the face of it, but human nature being what it is, the results would not work out as the reformers expect. Humanity is selfish. The $5,000 man reduced to $5,200 would diminish his production in accordance with the drop in his remuneration. Nor would the $1,500 man have the inclination or the ability—in all likelihood—to increase his productive capacity to a point where it would compensate for the slackening of effort on the part of the man whose income had been impaired.

The above is an extract from the Almonte Gazette, and gives us no reason to think that the writer, even though a Progressive Conservative, did not know what the C.C.F. stands for.

Yet, like Eve, I feel that their proposition is tempting. But a viper! The sight of the nicest little garter snake I ever saw was enough to make me quail, and I am no St. Paul, (see Acts 28) nor yet a St. Cecilia, with music's charms. $2,500! Not enough to bribe the man of big interests, but the poor farmer!

Of course, those figures were merely suppositions, used for the sake of argument.

The same newspaper contained a wide-awake criticism of a speech by Miss Agnes Macphail, now a C.C.F. member in the Ontario Legislature. The author of the criticism is R. J. (Bob) Deachman, who, a few months previous, contributed an intelligent paper, full of facts and figures, to the Canadian Countryman. In this latter article Mr. Deachman shows up the fallacy of the agricultural and industrial policy advocated by a certain university dean.

HENDERSON—GRAY

A marriage of interest here quietly solemnized on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 9, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gray, 28 Garden street, Saint John, N.B. was that of their daughter, Miss Mary Macqueen Gray to Mr. William Charles Henderson, son of the late Wm. T. Henderson and of Mrs. Henderson, of Huntingdon, Que. The drawing room, like other parts of the house was decorated with chrysanthemums and roses. The ceremony was performed in the bay window which was banked with bronze chrysanthemums, Rev. C. J. St. C. Jeans, minister of the Church of St. John and St. Stephen, officiated. The bride and bridegroom were unattended.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a model gown having a grey velvet skirt and grey and gold lame top. Her hat was of cerise velvet, and her corsage of orchids. Mrs. Gray, mother of the bride, was wearing a gown of black and white figured crepe, and a black hat. Her corsage was of American Beauty roses. Miss Margaret Gray, sister of the bride, wore a gown in violet tones. Her hat was of black and she wore a corsage of Sweetheart roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held, when only relatives and intimate friends were present. The table in the dining room was centred with roses flanked by ivory candles in silver candlesticks. Later Mr. and Mrs. Henderson left on a wedding trip to be spent in Eastern Townships. They will later take up residence in Montreal. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Stirling of Montreal, were out-of-town guests at the wedding.

HUN TANKS, PLANES "DEAF AND DUMB"

Berne.—Destruction of large radio manufacturing plants in Berlin and Holland by Allied bomber fleets has left many of Germany's tanks and fighter planes "deaf and dumb." The Basel National Zeitung suggested this major dent in the enemy's radio output as one of the main reasons why German fighter planes have been suffering heavier losses recently.

Fruits Arrive For Christmas Cakes

Ingredients used in the making of fruit cakes are now on the market, and fears have been dispelled that this seasonal delicacy would not be available for inclusion in overseas Christmas parcels.

Freight officials of the Canadian National Railways report the arrival of a large shipment of Australian raisins by fast service over the Canadian National system. These, with shipments of cherries, molasses and other commodities have been delivered to bakeries and deliveries of the ever popular cake will be made in ample time for the mailing of Christmas parcels overseas.

This season's plum puddings will be prepared without figs, but no shortage of candied peel or citron is anticipated. Ten carloads of dried orange skin recently arrive in Montreal from Porto Rico and delivered to local firms for processing. Papaya, used in the manufacture of citron, has also arrived in local markets from Cuba.

Thank-Offering Meeting

The Young Women's Auxiliary of W.M.S. held their Autumn Thank-Offering meeting in the School room, of the Presbyterian Church, on Wednesday night. The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Wm. Baird and opened with singing "Come Ye Thankful People, Come." Bible reading by Mrs. Stewart Ross and a prayer of Thanksgiving by Miss Bessie Graham. Miss E. Kimball was the guest speaker and remarked that as the idea of a Thank-Offering in Women's Missionary Societies was something she had not known previous to coming to live in Canada, she began looking up references as to the origin. The story of Joseah, King of Judah was the first Bible reference, when he issued a proclamation for free-will offering to restore the Temple and on a given day all came with their gifts and dropped them into a box placed in the outer court of the Temple. Miss Kimball emphasized the thought of giving without any thought of reward or honour. Miss Kimball also told an interesting story illustrating how a hard worldly man was influenced by a dream, to begin storing up material for his home in Heaven. Mrs. McCaffrey thanked the speaker for the message she brought, and the meeting closed with singing God Save the King and W.M.S. prayer. The offering amounted $24.85. Refreshments were served at the close of meeting.

NEW HUN GUNS CAN BLAST BOMBERS TO BITS WITH 1 SHOT

Stockholm.—Berlin correspondents of Swedish newspapers reported a German claim that new Nazi fighter 'planes fired projectiles capable of blowing a four-engined bomber to bits with a single shot.

According to these accounts, the Germans used this fighter type during aerial fights which accompanied the United States 8th Air Forces' deepest continental penetration.

An Allied source here confirmed that the Germans are using a new projectile which he said resembles an ancient cannon ball and contains tremendous explosive force.

It was disclosed at British bases that German fighters again had used their so-called "rocket guns" on the American ships.

Dr. Stalker Loses Wheels And Tires From His Car

Dr. Stalker had the misfortune to have his car stolen in the early hours of Wednesday morning.

Having made his early morning visit to the Barrie Memorial Hospital, he returned home to discover his car was missing from the garage.

The car was located during the day down in the vicinity of Tullochgorum, having been abandoned by the thieves, after having removed all the wheels and tires and otherwise damaging the remainder of the car.

A theft of this kind is a very serious matter as a physician very frequently gets a call during the night to attend a patient, and requires to have a car ready for any emergency, therefore it is hoped the culprits may be found and punished.

"Springburn" Farm Has Been Sold

A real estate tranfer has taken place that is of more than casual importance, and that is that the famous "Springburn" gold medal farm of Mr. Gilbert McMillan, in Godmanchester, has been sold to Mr. Walter Harkness, Lachine. Mr. Harkness is a engineer of General Motors. Mr. McMillan is to remain on the farm this winter and possession may be taken of the farm anytime after May, 1944; although, should Mr. Harkness feel at that time he is still unable to take possession, due to his present war work, then Mr. McMillan will continue to operate the farm.

Springburn Farm has always been stocked with Ayrshire cattle and such is to be the continued practice, when Mr. Harkness takes over. Mr. McMillan at the present time has a large Ayrshire herd, noted from coast to coast for its high quality. Mr. McMillan will quite likely hold a big stock sale in the spring of 1944, and restock the farm with a good commercial herd of Ayrshires for Mr. Harkness.

Shawinigan Company Organizes Victory Loan Campaign

Strong Appeal From President Sent to All Employees

Organization for the Fifth Victory Loan Campaign in The Shawinigan Water and Power Company's widespread organization is already proceeding rapidly, and a vigorous effort by a strong campaign committeen is well under way, under the chairmanship of Mr. N. P. Woods, Assistant-Treasurer of the Company.

In a strong personal letter asking for support of the campaign, addressed to every employee of the Company and its subsidiary and affiliated companies, Mr. James Wilson, president, warns against overconfidence and undue optimism because of victories recently gained by the Allies. He points out that in every theatre of war the intensity of the fighting is increasing with each passing week and emphasizes that this very fact adds greatly to the cost of the war. This cost, which must be borne by the people through taxes and loans, he aptly describes as representing "the increased value of the freedom we are fighting to maintain."

The Shawinigan Company is again financing free of interest, all bonds purchased by its employees through pay-roll deductions, as was done in previous Victory Loans, and it is anticipated that the excellent results achieved in previous Loans will be repeated in this campaign.

Poppy Day Set For Saturday, November 6th

The annual Legion appeal through the sale of poppies has been set for Saturday, November 6th. The sale of poppies will go on that day and it is hoped that everyone will purchase at least one. The proceeds of this sale go to help the disabled veterans of the last war, and their dependents. The poppies themselves are made by disabled veterans in Vetcraft workshops and are a symbol of Flanders fields and the men who died there The torch which they threw down has again had to be taken up and the battle against the old enemy is proceeding. It has not yet reached Flanders Fields, but we hope that it will very soon.

The Canadian Legion will have the task of looking after the returned men and women of this war and thus the poppy will have a double significance at this time.

Accident Verdict Given at Enquiry

on September 19th. He left home in the morning at about 11 o'clock and was alone. He met Higgins at about 1 o'clock, went to the Malone Diner, had lunch, then went to Malone Fair Grounds until it was over. It ended before dark. He had supper and met several friends. He admitted having a glass of beer before supper. He left Malone about 11.15 or 11.30 p.m. He remembered feeling sleepy near the customs, and a culvert near the scene of the accident, but did not remember seeing a car coming. He was driving on the right side of the road up to this culvert, first thing he remembered after that he found himself in the ditch. He said he was over 21. Did not remember much of the accident.

C. H. Pease did not have much to say other than that the Macfarlane car came along at about 12 o'clock.

C. Burrill, Trout River Customs, said that Macfarlane left his license at the customs office and on returning he handed him his license. He asked Macfarlane if he had a good time, he said he had, but was not drunk. He seemed to smell of beer, but he would not swear he was drunk. The time was about 12 o'clock.

Harold Higgins was called, but was absent.

Mr. E. J. Holm was the next witness called. He told the court that he was in Malone on Sunday afternoon and left Huntingdon about 2 o'clock. Returning, he left Malone about 11 o'clock and saw a car like the Macfarlane car at the Customs and saw it again at Douglas Corner about 12 o'clock. Another car was coming from the direction of Huntingdon and the people were screaming for help. When he arrived three of the people had their heads through the windshield. He could not get the doors open and got a crowbar and with help forced the doors open. He got the driver out and he was able to stand up and walked to the side of the road. The driver spoke about his wife in the car. A young girl was sitting in the middle of the car and had her legs jammed in. He went and did some telephoning, noticed that the driver, Mr. Payant had tumbled over. Dr. McCrimmon said he was dead. He made arrangements for the other people and shortly after the truck from the Barracks arrived. Following this the ambulance from Malone and the people were taken to hospital. Dr. J. R. McEwen arrived and waited for the Provincial Police. After this the body of Mr. Payant was removed to Huntingdon. Higgins appeared to be lame and did not want anyone to touch him.

Claude Bernard, Provincial Police Detective, said that during the night of September 19-20, he was called to investigate an accident at Huntingdon and arrived about 4 o'clock. The victims were not there, some having been taken to Alice Hyde Hospital and some to Barrie Memorial. He gave orders for the body of Payant to be removed to Huntingdon. Payant car was on right side of road going toward Malone. Macfarlane car was on the left shoulder of the road. The road was fifteen feet wide with a white line. The line was not in the center of the road being about 18 inches out going toward Malone. Payant car was 8 inches inside the white line. He went to Malone to see the victims but only one could talk. He went to Barrie Memorial to question Higgins, but he was not in good condition to talk. He said they had had a few drinks. Returned to Macfarlane's place, but he could not talk. Witness said he had a license and the car belonged to his father. Apparently the Macfarlane car had left the road for a few feet and suddenly turned onto the road. Pictures of the wrecked cars were shown to the jury.

Those on the jury were R. C. Cooper, foreman; Hollis Louden, Elmer Caza, Ernest Lefebvre, Fred Grennon and Wallace Douglas.

After being warned by Dr. J. R. McEwen, Coroner, the jury retired for a few minutes to consider their verdict. On their return the verdict given was: It was an accident without criminal negligence. All the jury were agreed in their verdict.

FARMERS AND FARM WORKERS

If Your Farm Work has Slackened for the Winter, You Are Needed Elsewhere in Essential Employment

Lack of fuel wood will be serious to our population. A shortage of saw-logs and other necessary forest products would threaten our war effort. Therefore, any man on the farm not needed at home during the Fall and Winter, should offer his services at once for work in the woods until the farm again requires him.

Farmers engaged in essential work during the off season will be allowed to return home when needed. Also, those on postponement under Mobilization Regulations will continue on postponement while in approved essential work during the slack on the farm.

Aubrey-Riverfield

The W.M.S. of Riverfield Presbyterian church, held their monthly meeting on Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 12th, at the home of Mrs. T. E. Robertson. The meeting was opened with the Call to Prayer, followed by Hymn 691. The Scripture Reading from Pslam 111, was given by Mrs. Jas. Angell. Plans were made for a Thank-Offering Service to be held in the near future, and also for sending Christmas boxes to our local boys who are overseas. Mrs. E. Robertson read a very timely article on "Thanksgiving". Hymn 139 was sung, and the Roll Call was answered by Bible Texts bearing the word "Fruits". The Glad Tidings item read by Mrs. Wm. Stewart, was a letter from a missionary, entitled "The Church in Korea carries on". The "Biography of Pilot's wife," taken from the book "Women of the Bible," was read by Mrs. J. S. Carmichael. Quite a number from this community attended the Sectional meeting at Athelstan, and an interesting report of this was given by Mrs. Jas. Angell. Hymn 140, and prayer brought the meeting to a close.

The funeral of the late Miss Lizzie Goundrey was held from Riverfield Church, on Thursday afternoon, when friends from near and far gathered to pay their last respects to an old and dear friend. The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Bingham, of Georgetown.

Anglican Church News

The congregation of St. Luke's Anglican Church, entertained the Anglican congregations of Havelock and Edwardstown, at a farewell to the Rev. W. A. Howard, rector of these parishes during the past twelve years.

The Parochial Hall was attractive with gladioli, autumn asters, and hydrangea. The tea table, with lighted candles in silver candelabra, bowls of flowers, and glimmering silver, interspersed with dainty cakes and sandwiches, was presided over by the wives of the wardens. At the conclusion of a social time, Mr. R. Hadley in a few well chosen words, presented the rector with a purse containing a substantial sum of money. Mr. Howard thanked the parishioners, not only for this gift, but also for their hearty co-operation during his pastorate in this vicinity.

At the Movies

"HELLO, 'FRISCO, HELLO"

-o-

The Technicolor musical from the assembly line at Twentieth Century-Fox marks the return of Alice Faye to the screen in a story of show business at the turn of the century in San Francisco. It is studded with richly-staged song and dance numbers, a nostalgic collection of favorite tunes and lavish costuming in the manner of the day. With John Payne, Jack Oakie, Lynn Bari, Laird Cregar and June Havoc sharing the evenly-divided moments of comedy and drama.

The production is pure "theatre" from the opening shot of Pacific Street on the Barbary Coast, loud with barkers crying the charms of the hula girls, to the gaudy heirlooms of Nob Hill and the travel poster shots of a European honeymoon. It is all in the spirit of the many and varied turns and specialty acts, roller-skating, can-can and ballad backdrops, and to the tune of the jive of another generation—"Lindy Lou," "Has Anybody Here Seen Kelly," "Bedelia," "They Always Pick on Me" and "I've Got a Gal in Every Port."

To these and others, Alice Faye lends her beauty and voice, Jack Oakie his appealing buffoonery in soft-shoe tempo and June Havoc her able and good humored burlesque trouping. Milton Sperling has blended them with a slight tale of a successful showman who outgrows Barbary Coast and tries Nob Hill society. He returns, inevitably, to find his friends and the girl he loves still believing in him. John Payne carries this burden with resolution and an occasional break into song.

Showing at O'Connor Theatre, Sunday and Monday, Oct. 24 and 25.

Herdman

Chicken Supper Realizes $206.05

One of the largest crowds ever to gather in Herdman Town Hall, was seen on Thursday evening, when the congregation of Rennie's United Church held their roast chicken supper. Supper commenced at 5.30, and serving continued until approximately 8.30 p.m. In the gathering were included a large number of our American friends, who seem to look forward to the annual chicken suppers in this vicinity. Total receipts amounted to $206.05. After deducting the expenses, $187.13 was left. Thanks are extended to all who helped make the supper a success.

Service in Rennie United Church was cancelled on Sunday, due to the funeral service of the late Miss Moe, at Franklin.

The Montreal Cottons Technical Society

The first meeting of the Montreal Cottons Technical Society for the 1943-44 season took place in the lecture hall, The Montreal Cottons Ltd., Dufferin Rd., Valleyfield, on Wednesday, Oct. 13th. Messrs. F. H. Moody, J. J. Skelly, and H. Bonneau, representatives of the Imperial Oil Company, presented a very interesting and instructive film entitled, "Fighting Friction." This film showed much of the work that goes on in the laboratories of The Imperial Oil Co. in the various processes of refining the oil from the crude to the highest grade motor oil. After the film was shown, the members were invited to ask questions. Some questions were brought forward and were ably answered in English by Mr. Moody, and in French by Mr. Skelly. A second film was then shown entitled "Safari on Wheels." This was a very interesting travelogue through Africa.

At the close of the meeting, Mr. J. H. Maudsley was called upon to thank the Imperial Oil Company through their representatives, and to thank the representatives also for their efforts. After this, Mr. J. H. Meury spoke a few words in French, thanking them also. Mr. J. Atkins then thanked the members of the society and guests for coming out to see the films, and announced the next meeting which is to be held on November 4th, when Mr. J. H. Maudsley will give an address on the various products of the Montreal Cottons. The meeting opened at 8.00 p.m. and closed at 10.15 p.m. Over 100 members and guests were in attendance.

Eyes Impaired When Diet Lacks Essential Vitamins

"I don't think girls are as "mere" as they used to be," remarked twelve-year-old Bill.

Bill used to lead his class at school but lately Mary has taken his place and Bill has dropped back to a spot more than half way down the class. His dad is a bit upset about this and had been telling Bill that in his younger days he would never have allowed a "mere" girl to get ahead of him.

Now Bill isn't lazy and he certainly isn't dumb. He hasn't said much about it, but lately he has been finding it hard to see the board at school, specially after he has been playing outside in the bright sun. His eyes feel sore too, they water easily and are a bit inflamed.

Bill's trouble is not uncommon and, according to Dr. L. B. Pett, director of Nutrition Services at Ottawa, his symptoms indicate that Bill may not be getting enough of the two vitamins that are needed for healthy eyes.

To Bill, milk, salads and carrots spell Mr. Milquetoast but to have bright useful eyes like his favourite thriller hero he needs these foods for they contain the two "seeing" vitamins; A which helps the eyes to respond quickly to sudden changes of light and riboflavin which prevents watery soreness.

Green vegetables, eggs and liver provide both vitamin A and ribiflavin. Milk is one of the best sources of riboflavin and also contains vitamin A while whole grain cereals and bread provide riboflavin and other B vitamins.

If Bill will eat the foods listed in Canada's Official Food Rules every day, his trouble will clear up and, with his keen brain and bright healthy eyes again, he'll have no trouble regaining his place at the head of the class.

Week at Ottawa ...

other packing need at least 150,000 extra men. Harvesting has been shorter this year than last in the West because the crop has not been so large, and these men will be available for coal mining, packing and other industries. Canvassers are already at work in Quebec and Ontario and the campaign is spreading to the Maritimes.

The report of the National War Labour Board which has been studied very carefully by the government for some time will be issued shortly. The new labor relations code, founded on this study and on a review of labour conditions throughout Canada will not, however, be made public until it has been discussed at a conference to be held with the provinces. While the powers of the federal government under the War Measures Act are broad enough to institute any code on labour relations it may think desirable, full co-operation with the provinces, it is believed, will ensure its effective administration. The views of provincial governments through their representatives on the merits of the federal government's proposals will therefore be welcomed at the conference. There are certain definite principles which it is believed will underlie the new code. These may be summarized as follows: (1) some leeway will be allowed for an upward revision in wage rates under fifty cents an hour, and efforts will be made to remove any manifest inequities in wage levels; (2) the principle of collective bargaining on working conditions, hours of work, etc., will be again affirmed, but any agreement that might be reached between employers and employees on wage rates will be strictly subject to approval of the labour board; (3) the system of wage control as an essential to the whole system of price control will be strongly supported by the government and penalties for infraction of the regulations will be enforced; (4) Dominion and Provincial agencies will work together within their spheres of jurisdiction in the administration of the code.

you mean ...my Dad?

Names on a casualty list — so cold and impersonal — yet to the families who receive the official telegrams saying that one of their loved ones was Killed in Action, it means the anguish of bereavement, the tears and heartbreak of loss by death.

If we can shorten this war by one day — even by an hour — there will be fewer brave men killed, fewer homes left mourning their fathers and their sons. And it is in our power — the opportunity is squarely before every Canadian man, woman and child NOW.

Canada's Fifth Victory Loan gives every one of us the chance to bring the day of Victory closer. Your Victory Bonds are not only the finest investment you can make in money — they are also an investment beyond value in humanity . . . for the bond YOU buy may mean one less little chap asking — bewildered and stunned "you mean . . . my Dad?"

A WEEKLY EDITOR LOOKS AT

Ottawa

Written specially for the Weekly Newspapers of Canada
(By Jim Greenblat)

Capital chit-chat: There are 13,125 bicycles licensed in Ottawa and among the handle-bar riders are Air Marshal "Billy" Bishop, V.C., and members of the Russian Legation . . . Adding to the Hall of Fame in the main central corridor of the Parliament buildings are new bronze busts of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Robert Borden . . . Some of the refunds to persons who have overpaid income tax are already going out, but some will take time, palpably because each one of the 1,500,000 tax forms has to be assessed and that's some job.

As wages paid to hired farm help goes up, an interesting recap of the Canadian situation comes to us. When the employer provided board for the hired man the average wage for help by the day was $3.51 in 1943 and $2.50 the year before. "No board" in 1943 brought $4.74 as against $3.15 the year before. Wages for day help were highest in Ontario, but all provinces showed an "up." By the month average with board was $61.26 at August 15, 1943 as against $46.82 same date last year. Current rate of wages for farm help more than double that paid in 1940.

When the federal minister of agriculture asked farmers to refrain from marketing unfinished cattle during the fall months this year, it was because the expected hog output for the next few months would probably overtax slaughtering facilities. Besides they claim it an uneconomic practice when there is feed available in the country. Hog marketing will set new records this fall, while it is known that in the first 8 months of 1943, beef carcasses dressed an average of 20 pounds heavier than in 1942. This idea makes sense, doesn't it?

A few agricultural notes: Feeding tests at Brandon, Manitoba, show that millet mixed with other grain rations is ideal for market hogs feeding. It almost equals barley pound for pound in a mixture . . . research brings out some uncommon stuff; for instance it is reported there were 68,400 fibres per square inch on the skin of a highly bred Merina sheep, even tho' only 3½ per cent of the skin area is occupied by wool fibres . . . better breeding, proper care and feeding of the animals mean more fibres.

Designed to iron out some of the contentions as between landlord and tenant are some new rental regulations recently issued. A change has been made which sets 6 months instead of a year as the notice which must be given the tenant of the house when the landlord wants the accommodation, providing he purchased the property since last December 10th . . . local rental appraisers are being set up to help deal with applications and knotty points.

They're sure stretching this rubber research but will surely get results . . . the department wants more and more milk weed for experimental purposes and will pay 3 cents a pound dry weight, with green and frozen stuff accepted too. It should be sent to H. A. Seen, National Research Council, John St. Laboratory, Ottawa. C'm on kids.

There's a lot of cackling going on everywhere in the country as meat rationing enhanced the importance of poultry. Latest move by the Prices Board gives producers a better price, an increase of 2 cents a pound on dressed poultry. The mark up of retailer is cut from 9 cents a pound to 20% of selling price, not to exceed seven cents. A producer selling dressed poultry direct to consumer can add to the zone ceiling price the markup which is allowed a retailer.

A quick glance at the order giving "priority to empty coal bins" requires coal supplies dealers to give priority in coal deliveries to consumers who have less than one-quarter of their annual fuel requirements on hand. This is limited to the one-quarter and applies only to consumers who use less than fifty tons a year.

Facts: We know Canada is a great food producing country, but did you know that the gross value of our agricultural production has increased from about $1,205,000,000 in 1939 to more than two billion dollars in 1942. Exports of agricultural and vegetable food products, tobacco and its products, animal and fish products, from Canada to the United Kingdon last year, exceeded $236,000,000. As a major source of war materials our export trade last year was more than double that of 1939. Imports on the other hand haven't varied much in the last two years. We have a very favorable trade balance right now, nearly as much for the first seven months of 1943 as for all of 1942.

Maybe you don't know how the cost of living bonus is arrived at: 25 cents for each point rise in the cost of living for all adult male employees and for all other employees employed at basic wage rates of $25 or more a week: one per cent of their basic weekly wage rates for male employees under 21 and women workers employed at basic wage rates of less than $25 a week. Every employer, except in a few exempted classes, must pay this.

Some 254 members of the Canadian Army have been decorated for gallantry in the field or mentioned in despatches since the war began. Of these 52 were for the campaign in Italy, is an item from the Army Public relations. They won 192 decorations at Dieppe, including a Victoria Cross to Lt.-Col. Merritt.

Freedom is a Little Word

Freedom is such a little word. And many people cannot appreciate its value until they've lost their freedom—which is no simple thing at all, but a mass of rights and privileges accumulated over grim centuries by the blood, sweat and tears of their ancestors.

Compare your lot with that of a man or woman of France. In the first place, if you were a man of military age you probably wouldn't be in France at all, but in some German factory, far from your family, living under military discipline. Otherwise you mght well be still in your native city. But with many differences.

Your own police and magistracy would still be there—such of them as cared to or were able to remain in office. But over them, the Kreiskommandatur—the German regional military command. Every day or every week you would go to read the new orders. This or that right would disappear. No talking politics over the back fence. No laughing in public. No gathering of more than three persons—on pain of a charge under the riot act. Very severe rationing of food and clothing, of course. So many restrictions, in fact, that you might easily become a misdemeanant unawares.

The penalty? Well, for a quite insignificant offence you would be sentenced to a jail term. But you would not go immediately. The jails are too full for that. You would continue with your daily work until you received an official notification. Your turn for jail.

And then? Well, any French jailbird, even if he's just a man who chuckled in the wrong place, is automatically a hostage. You know what that means. Somebody—perhaps some group—among your fellow citizens, irked by the growing mass of restrictions and acts of tyranny, expressed resentment in some forcible way. Then the German commander lines up 50 hostages—you among them, maybe—and shoots them.

Well, you've got your freedom. But to keep it sure, you've got to do your bit, as a member of the United Nations, to destroy tyranny everywhere. Destroy it so that it will never again raise its head in your lifetime—or your children's.

How? On the battle fronts Canadians are fighting. On the home front they are buying Victory Bonds.

Maximum Egg Price Clarified

A number of inequalities which have arisen through interpretation of the order fixing the maximum prices of eggs have been ironed out in a revised order, it was announced September 27 by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. No change in the general price structure is involved.

In each of 25 cities in Canada maximum prices are specified. Montreal prices are effective for a radius of 25 miles. Sherbrooke, St. Hyacinthe and Three Rivers, and for a raduis of 20 miles around each, have the same maximum prices as the Montreal region.

In these sections the maximum retail prices, in cartons, are as follows: Grade A, Large 58½ cents; Grade A. Medium 56½ cents; Grade A. pullet 53½ cents; Grade B 52½ cents and Grade C 51½. The price is two cents less for each grade not packed in cartons.

CANCER OF THE MOUTH

Charged with more than 4,000 of the 145,000 deaths from cancer every year in the United States, cancer of the mouth is no respector of age, person or creed.

Unfilled, sharp and jagged teeth, which cut and injured the gum, cheeks or tongue, are listed among the most probable predisposing factors in mouth cancer. As cancer seems to be caused by irritation of tissues, loose and ill-fitting dentures and bridgework are considered dangerous. Many cases of lip and mouth cancer have been traced to the irritation caused by chewing tobacco or excessive smoking of pipes, cigars or cigarettes.

A cancer is a malignant tumor, which serves no useful purpose but grows at the expense of the rest of the body. Cancer cells have been described as gangster, or hoodlum, cells that run riot among the orderly cells of the body. They grow and multiply and prey on the normal cells about them.

Every organ in the body is made up of different kinds of cells. A normal cell has a comparatively short life. As it wears out, a new cell is formed to take its place by other cells dividing in half, each half growing to a complete cell. The process of cell death, replacement and repair is constantly taking place in the body. As long as there is a balance between the deceased and new cells, the organ is normal. But when more cells are formed than are needed, the extra ones perform no useful function, simply living off the other cells.

Although medical science has not as yet discovered the cause or causes of cancer, many authorities believe that some chemical change takes place in the body that causes the cells to become abnormal. Most causes of mouth cancer seem to follow long continued irritation, resulting from uncared for teeth and generally unhealthy condition.

Mouth hygiene, to prevent cancer, means more than mere brushing of the teeth. It means keeping the mouth free from any constant irritant. It is well to have periodic mouth examination by the family dentist, so that trouble may be prevented.

The Dental Hygiene Commission of College of Dental Surgeons of Province of Quebec, 3632 Park Avenue, Montreal, will be glad to answer any questions relating to this article.

Watch Your Vitamin C

By BETTY BARCLAY

Our fighting men are being served a balanced diet, but we on the home front where shortages are the rule and not the exception, must be constantly on the "alert." It's very, very easy to get enough food, but not enough of some certain food constituent.

Take Vitamin C, for example. This is one food constituent that must be obtained daily. The body refuses to "store" it up for future use as it stores practically everything else. Besides, vitamin C stores are drawn up heavily as we increase our efforts—viz., the harder we work the more vitamin C we need.

So keep your vitamin C food basket well filled. For your daily need of this vitamin, your first choice should be oranges, then lemons, grapefruit, tomatoes, cabbage—best raw. Alternates are melons, peppers, raw salad greens and rhubarb. Fill this basket often—and empty it quickly. Vitamin C is a daily requirement.

A glass of orange juice for breakfast; a healthful salad at noon; a fruit cup for dinner; and a glass of lemonade as a thirst quencher—all may be prepared from this important basket of fruits and vegetables. Serve such dishes daily and you need have no fear of a vitamin C shortage.

NAZI ASKS TO SEE "RUINS OF CHICAGO"

Sycamore, Ill.—A German soldier war prisoner asked permission to "view the ruins of Chicago."

Sheriff Alfred Diez of De Kalb County said the soldier was one of 100 German prisoners brought from Camp Grant, Ill., to work in a canning factory here.

The prisoner seemed surprised, the sheriff added, when he was informed that continental United States remained unscathed from enemy air attack.
