Schools Forced From Hockey By Ice Lack

Local Boy Scout Receives Gilt Cross

His Excellency the Right Honorable Vincent Massey, CH, in his capacity as Chief Scout for Canada, presented gallantry awards to two west end Boy Scouts Monday.

David Perlman, 4156 Marcell avenue, and Chris Carr, 445 Strathcona avenue, received the Silver Cross and Gilt Cross respectively from the Governor General.

Perlman, cited for "gallantry with considerable risk," won his merit award a year and a half ago. Two uncles, a cousin and himself were out fishing, when a storm came up and overturned their boat.

His 10-year old cousin luckily was wearing a life preserver, but neither of his uncles could swim. David spent some time keeping them afloat, and then managed to cut the anchor that was holding the boat in place. He then got the boat right side up again, and eased all three back in. Then he towed the boat to shore.

Chris Carr, an 11th year student at Westmount High School, was cited for "gallantry with moderate risk." A football and hockey player, he saved two girls from drowning off a wharf at Kingston, Ont. a year ago. Jumping in after the two, he brought them into shore.

Westmount Junior, St. Leo's Are Affected

A general lack of ice time has forced two Westmount schools to accept the probability of curtailing inter-school hockey activity this year, along with two other west end institutions.

Both St. Leo's Academy and Westmount Junior High School have lost their ice time, and as far as they are concerned the 1953-54 season will just slip by unnoticed in regard to Canada's national sport. West Hill and Montreal West High Schools are similarly affected.

The St. Leo's team was most surprised by the decision. They have been regular users of Lachine Arena ever since it opened, but the Lachine Sports Commission turned down their application this year.

The schools are still hoping for some eleventh hour reprieve, but from the looks of things, nothing will save them. The Forum and Verdun Auditorium have also turned down applications from the schools. Deadline for league entries is Nov. 30.

Three of the four schools, West Hill, Montreal West and St. Leo's, were forced out of Lachine. (Continued on Page 4)

Capt. A. A. Edgington Heads RCASC Group

Capt. A. A. Edgington was elected president for the coming year at the annual meeting of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps Officers' Association.

Other officers include: 1st vice-pres.: Lt. Col. A. S. W. White; 2nd vice-pres.: Major W. G. Pepall; secretary: Capt. W. J. Devenne; treasurer: Lt. D. Jason; committee: Lt. Col. J. E. R. Roberge; Capt. G. S. Kitchen; Lt. Col. J. A. Grant; Major J. G. Patenaude; ex-officio member: Major S. Christie; honorary member: Lt. Col. H. Short, Offr. Comd. 3 Div. R.C.A. SC. Coln.

George Lighthall, Groom at 92, Celebrates 72 Years as Notary

Westmount's oldest notary — when he caught pneumonia. He has been back on the job only a short while.

He is 92 years old, and has spent 72 years in the notarial profession.

"It's absolutely unique," Edmund Greenwood, a youngster of 75 employed by Lighthall since 1907, says. "No one else has been a notary as long as he has."

Their formula for long life is lots of hard work, and aside from that they have no special secrets. Mr. Lighthall recently married the former Mrs. Arthur Schell, a friend of 30 years, and was on a honeymoon trip to Washington, D.C., when he caught pneumonia. He has been back on the job only a short while.

Born in 1861 on St. Lawrence boulevard, Mr. Lighthall has lived in Montreal all his life. He was a student at the High School of Montreal — at which institution he was a guest of honor as the oldest member of the Old Boys' Association — and graduated in the class of '79.

He received his Bachelor of Civil Law degree from McGill University in 1882. When he went into the notarial profession, it was with his father, William F. Lighthall — who had been in business since 1848. When the elder Mr. Lighthall died in 1922, he carried on — always with Mr. Greenwood.

Winter Parking Starts Tuesday

Local residents are reminded that winter parking restrictions come into effect Tuesday, Dec. 1. Chief R. A. Byford told The Examiner that all signs are up now, and motorists should watch for them.

The restrictions remain in effect until the end of March.

Briefly, wherever there are signs, parking is allowed on one side of the street only. On Victoria and Greene avenues, during rush hours, parking is prohibited on the west side from 8-9.30 a.m., and on the east side from 4.30-6.30 p.m.

ROUTINE AT COUNCIL: Routine matters occupied the Westmount Council Monday in full session and in committee, according to City Manager T. Hughes. A meeting will be held next Monday, as usual, and several important items are on the agenda.

Canada's Tax Picture Is Painted By Abbott In New York Talk

A review of major points of interest in the Canadian corporation income tax structure was given by the Hon. Douglas Abbott, Finance Minister and MP for St. Antoine-Westmount, to the American Management Association Friday in New York City.

He first described the main elements of the Canadian tax picture, then outlined the corporation tax policy.

He said that about 30 per cent of Federal tax revenue comes from a steeply progressive personal income tax, the only personal income tax in Canada. Another 30 per cent of Federal Revenue comes from corporation income tax. About 21 per cent of Federal revenue comes from sales tax applied at the manufacturers' level at a rate of 8 per cent, and from a special excise tax on a broad group of less-essential items.

He noted there is no sales tax on almost all foods, fuels, building materials, nor on capital goods, and said the rest of the Federal tax revenue comes from excise duties on tobacco products and liquor, from customs duties, non-resident income tax, succession duties and so on.

The great bulk of revenue, he said, is raised by the two income taxes — on personal and corporate incomes — and from indirect taxation, in the form of a manufacturers' sales tax and special excise taxes. In addition to this tax structure a special old age security tax levied the revenue from which is paid into a special extra-budgetary fund from which to pay old age pensions. These special taxes are a 2 per cent manufacturers' sales tax, a two (Continued on Page 6)

SAVING VALUABLE TIME: Miss J. Brockington, medical record librarian at Westmount's Reddy Memorial Hospital demonstrates the versatility of the Reddy Memorial's medical record microfilming system—the first and only one in a Montreal area hospital to date. Miss Brockington fans out a sheaf of papers from a bulky file, which she shows microfilmed and in its separate envelope in the steel, fireproof filing cabinet, and then prepares to examine on the microfilm viewer. Some 10,000 films may be stored in a small cabinet which formerly would require a complete large-sized vault. The Reddy Memorial opens its campaign today for $200,000 with a city-wide appeal for the generous support of Montrealers to help it continue its priceless work of mercy.

Dance on the same date starting at 9 p.m. Club members, their parents and friends will be cordially invited to attend.

Chanukah, The Feast of Lights Begins Tuesday, Concludes Dec. 9

By Harry J. Halperin
 The Jewish community of Montreal, together with similar communities throughout the world, will celebrate Chanukah, the Feast of Lights, from Tuesday evening, December 1st, to Wednesday, December 9th, inclusive. The age-long struggle which man has been waging for religious freedom and political equality can be traced back more than 2100 years when the little state of Judaea was under the dominion of a Syrian monarch named Antiochus who sought to coerce the Jews into the worship of idols.

Unlike festivals such as Rosh Hashanah, Yom Kippur, Passover, and others, there are no biblical restrictive laws which pertain to Chanukah. The festival can also be considered to have had an influence upon the course of world history. If the armies of Antiochus had succeeded in forcing Hellenism upon Hebraic Judaea, the so-called Judeo-Christian civilization of the present era might never have been possible.

Although most of the people of Asia accepted the edict of Antiochus, self-opinionated and strong-minded king of Syria, the Jews refused to reject the God of Israel and adopt the pagan national gods of Greece. The superior well-trained armies of Antiochus succeeded in converting the Holy Temple of Jerusalem into a Greek pagan temple. Hundreds of Jews died as martyrs for the ideals of religious freedom and freedom of conscience.

Mattathias, a priest in the Temple of Jerusalem, and his five sons, refused to worship the Greek idols, and were aroused to revolt. Fighting a guerilla war, the Jews soon destroyed all evidence of the new heathenism, and under the leadership of Judah a victorious Jewish army drove the Greeks out of Palestine and revived the Temple service. The re-dedication of the altar (Chanukah means dedication) took place on the 25th day of Kislev (which corresponds this year to December 2nd), and the great Manarah was once again kindled after having been dese-

RT. HON. LORD SHAUGHNESSY selling the first lot at the Westmount Stamp Club's second auction for the Westminster Abbey Appeal on November 19th. Left to right: Louis A. Sendel, W. W. Gear, Lord Shaughnessy, and Mr. A. H. Christensen. The club raised the sum of $764 at its two auctions for the Abbey Appeal.

Westm't. Stamp Club Increases Abbey Total

Westmount Stamp Club raised a further sum of $377 at their auction last week, for the benefit of the Westminster Abbey Appeal, making with the proceeds of $387 from the previous sale a total of $764.

Rt. Hon. Lord Shaughnessy auctioned off the first lot and congratulated the club on their efforts on behalf of the Abbey. The guest speaker was introduced by W. W. Gear first vice-president of the club.

In the course of his address Lord Shaughnessy said that having had the great privilege of attending the Coronation of Her Majesty last June and feeling the tremendous spirit exhibited by the peoples of the Commonwealth in that ceremony, it was very gratifying to see the members of the club supporting the Westminster Abbey Appeal in this very practical manner.

The first lot was a beautiful album page designed for Canada's Coronation stamp, the work of H. G. Teal, who also donated several other attractive pages which were sold for the fund.

The auctioneers were Louis A. Sendel, J. E. Pickering, H. C. K. Organ.

The lot donated by the boys at the Shawbridge Farm and Training School was bought by Mr. Sendel who generously gave the stamps to several boys who were at the auction.

The Westmount Junior Stamp Club also held auction sales for the Westminster Abbey Appeal and have raised a total sum of $19.25.

Arthur Davison Wins Top Award At U.K. Concert

Arthur Davison, 30, former prominent local musician, was presented with the Canada Medal by Princess Marie Louise at the final concert of the annual Festival of Commonwealth Youth sponsored by the Over-Seas League in London.

Premier award of the Festival, the Forres Medal, went to Mr. Davison's accompanist, Geoffrey Parsons, from Australia.

From his earliest years, Arthur Davison showed amazing musical awareness and his "perfect pitch" became apparent while still in his high chair. He won the first diploma at the age of six and gave his first recital at the Emmanuel Church while still in his 6th year. Alil told he won seven scholarships and studied at the Academie du Musique de Quebec and also under Camille Couture for many years.

Mr. Davison later won the Associated Board of Royal Schools of Music Canadian Scholarship and was awarded a bursary by the Montreal Ladies Morning Musical Club which helped him to study at the Royal Academy of Music in London, Eng. In his second year at the Royal Academy of Music, he was concert master of the Royal Academy Symphony, won the most prizes for violin and chamber music and was president of the students association. He returned to Canada in 1950 and appeared as soloist with the CBC Little Symphony and in Chamber music Broadcasts on the Trans-Canada and International services of the CBC.

Since returning to London he has been appointed concertmaster of the Hull, Essex and Peterborough Symphonies and is conductor of a well known series of London Youth Concerts and assistant conductor of the Essex Symphony. He is at present giving sonata recitals with Robin Wood, Canadian pianist, winner of the Queen's prize. Mr. Davison has toured extensively through Europe and the British Isles and looks forward to a visit to Canada in the near future.

While in Montreal, Arthur Davison worked at the T. Eaton Department Store and during the war was part of the Eaton's group of troupe entertainers in Europe.

Lower Canada College and Loyola have signified their intentions of building artificial ice rinks for next year, while the City of Montreal constructed one at Lafontaine Park. They promised to build another at Trenholme Park if this one turned out to be a success.

The erection of any one of these would greatly alleviate the situation, but none will be ready before next year.

In the meantime, all the schools involved plan outdoor intramural leagues and greater emphasis on other activities. More basketball teams will likely be sponsored, while city rinks will be put in use for an intramural hockey league. Only hitch will be the warm winters, which last year limited good skating to 32 days.

The 42-voice choir will present a program of religious music by such renowned composers as Bach, Handel, Mendelssohn, and Mozart.

Featured soloists for the occasion are: Ronnie Downie, Verdun; Peter Bildfell, Allan Lamb and David Ross, all of Lachine; and Wayne Horton, Notre Dame de Grace. Among the selections chosen for the performance are: Mozart's "Alleluia"; Bach's "Come Christians"; "To Thee Jehovah" and "Now Let Every Heart Adore Him"; "Come Unto Him" and "O Thou That Tellest", by Handel; and Mendelssohn's "I Waited for the Lord."

Although the Church of the Advent is located within the City of Westmount, its choristers come from far afield. Ville LaSalle, Lachine and St. Lambert are but a few of the many communities in Greater Montreal which are represented in this group.

The purpose of the recital each year is to foster interest amongst boys in the city in choral singing. Proceeds of the collection at the recitals are devoted to the choir's extension and the training of new choristers.

TABOOED SHADOWS

Among the New Zealand Maoris, a village maiden performs the task of seeing that no human shadow defiles, the food of the tohunga priest or doctor, by passing over it.

better than dew ponds

Why did Jack and Jill use up all that energy to fetch the liquid? Surely it would have been simpler to find a spot where the stuff ran down, and fill up the pail there!

The answer seems to be that Jack and Jill got their water from a dew pond, and dew ponds are always at the top of a hill. They have no connection with any spring, no inlets or outlets, never overflow, and never dry up.

The dew pond is, in fact, an enigma. Few people know how or why it works. But Kipling believed in it. Once he wrote "The dew pond on the height unfed, that never fails".

If you're thinking of adding a dew pond to your property, choose a hill with a chalk formation near the sea. Dig a bowl in the chalk, cover the surface with straw, then cover that with puddled clay. Put some water in to start things off, or wait for rain. Either seems to work.

Dew ponds have a good taste, being refreshing and thirst quenching. The hitch is to find a suitable hill near the ocean. They're scarce.

Actually, some people achieve a similar result with less energy, by placing a few long green bottles of Molson's Ale in the ice box. They claim the taste, refreshment and thirst quenching derived from Molson's far surpasses any dew pond. Handier, too.

Canada's Rapid Development Pace Reflected In B. of M. Statement

Canada's rapid pace of development in 1953 is strikingly reflected in the all-time loaning record contained in the 136th annual statement which the Bank of Montreal is sending to its shareholders for the year ended October 31.

At $787 million, commercial and other loans show an increase of 18.6 per cent over the 1952 figure, reflecting a record demand for credit by B of M customers in their expanding operations.

Notwithstanding the heavy increase in the demand for credit, the bank's traditionally high liquid position has been maintained, with quick assets at $1,513 million equal to 66.75 per cent of all its liabilities to the public. Cash assets alone run to 20.31 per cent.

In line with the enlarged credit needs of its customers, the bank's holdings of government and other public securities at $864 million are less than the 1952 figure to the extent of more than a hundred million dollars. Other bonds, debentures and stocks are approximately the same at $118 million.

Deposits increased during the year by $79 million to reach a new peak at $2,226,960,000, representing the funds of two million customers.

The bank's total resources at $2,364,374,000, marking a new record, exceed its liabilities to the public by $96,705,000. An important enlargement in the shareholders' funds is revealed in an increase in the rest or reserve fund from $53 million to $60 million. Besides a transfer to this account of two million dollars from the profit and loss account, it is understood that a sum of five million dollars has been added to the rest account from the contingency reserve representing special funds accumulated from refundable taxes and other sources.

EARNINGS, TAXES HIGHER

Earnings for the year, after provision has been made for a tax-bill of $6,650,000—up from $5,918,000 in 1952—amount to $7,012,676, compared with $5,668,778 a year ago. Dividend payments to shareholders are $5,040,000, representing a return of 5.21 per cent on

John Diefenbaker May Lead The P.C.'s

John Diefenbaker may lead the Progressive Conservative Party in the next election, Blair Fraser, Ottawa editor of Maclean's Magazine, said today. In an outspoken article in the current issue of Maclean's, Fraser names Diefenbaker "the Conservatives' heir presumptive" — and reports on the opposition the Saskatchewan MP will face when he makes his bid for leadership.

"A powerful fraction of the Conservative Party is still against him," Fraser warns. An independent thinker, Diefenbaker has opposed George Drew on several touchy issues in the past. He squelched Drew's proposal to outlaw Communism in Canada and supported King's Family Allowance Bill, Fraser points out.

"According to Diefenbaker's friends the 'Bay Street Colonels' think he is too progressive. Some are suspicious of his good relations with organized labor and others dislike his campaign for a Canadian Bill of Rights," the Maclean's article says.

Some of Diefenbaker's strongest supporters in his constituency of Prince Albert are drawn from Liberal and CCF ranks and might desert him if he led the Conservatives nationally. "What worries Conservatives is their doubt of his ability to swing his own personal following to the Conservative Party," Fraser comments.

West-End Offers Stand High At McGill Placement Service

How are you fixed for jobs? Statistics show that approximately 25 per cent of all the jobs offered to students at the McGill Placement Service are from the west end of the city, while 23 per cent of the students who get jobs are from the district.

The Placement Service can supply everything and anything that an employer might be interested in, while also taking care of such matters as baby-sitting, tutoring and other types of home work.

Students who apply for jobs state their preferences and what they are most suited for, but will take anything that come up. The great amount who apply make it possible for the Service to suit almost any demand.

Of the 470 boys registered at the Service, 107 come from the west end. There are 131 girls, and 36 originate in the district. Of the 887 part time jobs that came in, 200 were from the west end. These figures all average out to about 25 per cent, which is proportional to the registration at McGill from the district.

Baby-sitting, with 150 out of the 281 jobs in October from the district, was the only department that the local citizens led. Besides the many routine chores that come in officials look mainly for jobs that involve evening or weekend work. Two jobs that suited the most students were a packing assignment which lasted two weeks at nights, and a cleaning job where everything was taken care of in months at the students' own time. Jobs are good for any length of time or at any hour, for it is likely that someone will be found to suit the time.

Many students take on tutoring jobs, and there are teachers in every language and subject. The many students who come in from foreign countries are most capable at teaching their native languages. They have a good knowledge of English, since they are at an English university, and in the past have proven very adept at coaching.

Some students just apply for unusual types of jobs, while others specialize in interior painting carpentry, night watchmen, cleaning offices, chauffeuring jobs, and now, putting on double windows.

Miss A. Elliot, Centenarian Pioneer Dies

Final tribute was paid Saturday day to Miss Annie Elliot, one of the pioneer residents of Westmount, who died Friday after a long illness at her home, 513 Cote St. Antoine road. She was 100 years old.

Miss Elliot moved to Westmount with her parents, Andrew Elliot, and his wife, the former Sarah Pullen, in 1888, when it was still the Village of Cote St. Antoine. She lived there with her brother, James Elliot, former general manager of Molson's Bank, who died in 1913. The last male member of the family, Frederick J. Elliot, died in 1930.

Miss Elliot was a familiar figure in Westmount, devoting much time to her garden at the northeast corner of Cote St. Antoine road and Victoria avenue.

She was one of the early members of Melville Presbyterian Church, which was later torn down and replaced by the present St. Andrew's Church.

Service was conducted by Rev. Harvey Campbell from her residence.

per cent personal income tax limited to a maximum of $60.00 per year, and a two per cent corporation income tax."

Sales and Excise

He said Canada relies so heavily on sales and excise taxes because at concert over high rates of income tax, which he feels tend to encourage extravagant expenditure by business, blunting the incentives of both management and labor. A reasonable balance between taxes on spending and taxes on earning is emphasized.

A Provinces

Nine out of the ten provinces of Canada have signed agreements with the Federal Government renouncing certain of their tax fields to the Federal Government, he stated. As a result of these agreements there are no provincial personal income taxes, only one provincial corporation income tax, and only two provincial succession duties. This simplification of taxation has been achieved without in any way reducing the constitutional power of the provinces, he said the system relies entirely upon the voluntary entry of the provinces into five-year agreements. Many of the improvements in corporation income tax in Canada have been made possible by the willingness of the provinces to co-operate in reducing the number of taxing authorities.

Under present rates the Federal Government is taxing away nearly half the profits of corporate enterprise, Mr. Abbott said.

"Back in 1929 our rate of tax on corporations was only 8 per cent. Twenty years ago in 1933 it was only 12½ per cent."

"During the early years of World War II, the rates were pushed up rapidly along with other taxes and by 1942 the pattern, including excess profits tax, was 40 per cent minimum with 100 per cent on excess profits, with 20 per cent refundable. At the end of 1947 the excess profits tax was repealed."

Successive post-war tax cuts brought personal income tax rates down to fairly reasonable levels as compared with top wartime rates, the speaker said. Corporations, however, did not have a comparable reduction. The federal rate was lowered to 30 per cent but the two large provinces, in which many firms have their head offices, re-entered the field with 7 per cent taxes. In 1949 a special low rate of 10 per cent in the first $10,000 of profits was introduced and increased the rate on all profits over $10,000 to 33 per cent. With the 7 per cent provincial tax, the overall level of corporate income tax for most large companies in the two large provinces was brought back to the 40 per cent which was the wartime standard rate he said.

Adjustments

"As a result of the post-Korea tax increase and the re-arrangement of taxes with the provinces, the special low rate on small businesses had to be brought up for a time to 22 per cent. It is now at 20 per cent. The last budget made a further important adjustment by increasing the special low tax bracket from $10,000 to $20,000. This low rate on the first $20,000 is extremely important to small businesses in every part of Canada, particularly in the small towns and villages. It has been estimated that about 70 per cent of all corporate taxpayers in Canada fall within this $20,000 bracket, although by far the greater part of corporate profits in the big concerns still bear tax at the higher rate, which is now 48 per cent."

A dividend tax credit was introduced at the same time as the low rate he said. This tax credit allows individuals to deduct from their personal income tax liability 20 per cent of the dividends they receive from Canadian tax-paying corporations. This is an important method of reducing double taxation, that is, the taxation of corporate profits and the subsequent taxation, through the personal income tax, of the dividends paid out of these profits. For about three-quarters of the corporate taxpayers, double taxpayers, double taxation has been completely removed.

Capital Cost

Perhaps an even more important development in our corporation tax policies deals with "capital cost allowances" or what used to be called "depreciation allowances" he continued. In 1949 there was an important change in our philosophy on this subject. The term "depreciation" implies physical wear and tear.

"In the past," he said there were depreciation allowances which theoretically were geared to the loss, by wear and tear, of the assets used in production. If an asset were standing idle in a plant, then there was no basis in theory, and I believe in practice also, for granting the taxpayer any deduction in respect of depreciation of that asset. Some countries provided especially for obsolescence, but our law never did recognize this factor.

In 1949 Canada threw overboard the concept of depreciation and adopted a system of capital cost allowances. The new concept is the amortization capital costs rather than allowances in respect of physical wear and tear. A reasonable basis for amortizing costs is, of course, a period corresponding roughly to the period during which the asset will be earning income. The main difference, however, is that once a machine, for example, has been purchased the cost of it may be amortized even though the asset is never used at all or is used but never happens to wear out, he said.

This is how Canada has tried to develop a corporation income tax system appropriate to its

Dr. Wilder Penfield Wins Jacoby Award

Day long opening ceremonies of the new McConnell Wing of the Montreal Neurological Institute were climaxed by the presentation of the Jacoby Award, highest honor granted by the American Neurological Society, to Dr. Wilder Penfield, OM, director of the Institute and well-known local resident.

The honor, presented by Dr. Roland Mackay, president of the society, brought to a climax day-long opening ceremonies of the new McConnell Wing of the Institute.

Awarded for "meritorious research in nervous and mental diseases," the honor recognized in particular Dr. Penfield's work in the surgical treatment of epilepsy.

The triennial award was presented to Dr. Penfield at a dinner held in the Faculty Club given by the chancellor and board of governors of McGill University.

Guest speaker was Sir Geoffrey Jefferson, emeritus professor of neurosurgery, Manchester University, England. He was introduced by Dr. F. Cyril James, principal and vice chancellor of McGill University.

Lauding the work done at the Institute, he referred to Dr. Penfield as "another saint like Sir William Osler — both equally dedicated to mankind's service."

He paid tribute to the work of Dr. William Cone — "one of the most expert, one of the world's greatest neurosurgeons."

Attending were G. Lyman Duff dean of medicine, McGill University; Chancellor B. C. Gardner; and Drs. Francis McNaughton, Percival Bailey, Houston Merritt, Jean Soucier, E. A. Carmichael, and Stanley Cobb.

rapidly expanding economy, he stated. A high level of investment must be maintained in both manufacturing industry and natural resources.

Par For Defence

"At the same time we must gather in revenue sufficient to pay for a high level of defence preparedness and for an expanded social security programme. Our tax system is part of our policy of achieving this without imposing the unfair burdens of inflation. I should stress that in my view tax policy is much easier to devise and to administer when it is backed up by a balanced budget and by the appropriate monetary policies. It has been our experience in Canada that in our complex economy upon which have been laid the heavy demands of defence, of social security, of a high level of investment and a rising standard of living, no one line of government policy can do the job alone."

Canadian Legion Christmas Tree Seeking 9,000 Gifts This Year

An appeal for 9,000 gifts will mark the tenth anniversary of the Canadian Legion Christmas Tree Campaign for gifts for war veterans who will spend Christmas in hospital.

The drive will open on Friday, when the first gifts will be placed beneath the Legion tree in Ogilvy's department store in Montreal.

Since 1944, when the campaign was founded, 60,000 gifts have been collected at the Legion's tree and distributed to vets in hospital.

The appeal asks the public for inexpensive gifts. They may be placed beneath the tree or sent by mail to: "Canadian Legion Christmas Tree, Ogilvy's, 1307 St. Catherine St. W., Montreal."

Most suitable gifts, according to Clem Hampton, committee chairman, are: handkerchiefs, scarves, sweaters, socks, slippers, cigarettes, pipes, tobacco, playing cards, games (except jigsaw puzzles), fountain pens and writing materials, razor blades, shaving kits, toilet articles, billfolds, photo-frames, books (except pocket novels), candy and biscuits.

The gifts are distributed at Christmas to veterans in D.V.A.

Sterling, Dollar Convertibility Held Major Post-War Problem

"No economic problem of the post-war years has been more persistent or more difficult, and none is more important to Canada, than that of expanding the flow of trade and investment between the dollar and sterling areas," says the Bank of Montreal in its latest Business Review issued today.

Just how deep-rooted and many-sided the problem is has been made clear in a forthright and penetrating analysis by Hon. Lewis W. Douglas, formerly U.S. Ambassador to the United Kingdom. This report was made at the request of the President of the United States, and of it Mr. Eisenhower wrote that "it has in it a vein of candor, both with respect to the United Kingdom's position and our own." The London Economist referred to it as "the biggest dose of liberal realism that could wisely be administered, at this stage in the making of American policy, with one document."

Although often cited, the brief and at times incisive text of the report has seldom been reproduced in full. In view of its clarity and timeliness, the Bank of Montreal has this month devoted the major part of its Business Review to quoting the significant portions of the Douglas Report verbatim.

Convertibility Essential

The analysis of the sterling-dollar problem is frank and fundamental. At the outset, the report recognizes that any marked increase in the freedom of international trade cannot be achieved without making sterling freely convertible. The reasons for sterling's present difficulties are set forth bluntly, and, while noting what Britain has already accomplished, the report indicates that the U.K. must do more. At the same time, "it is for us (The United States) as soon as possible to commence to remove from our own policies the impediments to freer trade and currencies."

Measures to increase the flow of investment capital and smooth out violent fluctuations in the markets for raw materials are also advocated.

Prompt Action Urgent

The most important feature of the report, however, is its implied warning that there is now an opportunity for the U.S. and U.K. governments to act in concert towards achieving some degree of sterling convertibility, and that with further delays the opportunity may be lost for a long time to come. A retreat to government intervention in international trade on the scale of the early post-war period "might be regarded as the failure, possibly the final failure, of an economic system of which the market place is the central feature."

Higher Fares and Taxes

That Is The Inevitable Result Of Municipal Ownership

Montreal's publicly-owned transportation system, losing money heavily, faces still higher deficits or higher fares if the current demands of the employees are met.

Last weekend's strike focussed attention on our municipally owned system, when the City took over the tramways, it lost the tax revenue formerly paid by the private owners, and at the same time assumed the problems of management, turning these over to a group infinitely less qualified than that which formerly ran the system. The result was inevitable: deficits on top of tax loss, and a growing belief among the employees that public ownership means limitless resources to be exploited. The consumer gets it in the neck two ways — by higher taxes and higher fares.

Nobody wants private monopoly of public services. But even that is preferable to state monopoly. The ideal system is private ownership and management under government supervision. You can tax forever, but you can expropriate only once.

Pleasant Illusion

Canadian Ground Troops Inadequate
 By Ridgway Standard

The real danger to the free world is the pleasant illusion, very common in Canada, that new weapons have removed the need for large armies. The U.S. Chief of Staff, General Matthew Ridgway, warns against this illusion; he insists that manpower is NATO's biggest need. He says: "Resolute men and women, rooted to this earth and fighting on and for their portion of it remain the final determinant."

If this is the case, Canadian ground troops are totally inadequate. In an emergency, this country could field fewer than 100,000 trained or partially trained soldiers; one in 150 of its population. A draft system would presumably be imposed at that point, but it could not possibly produce any sort of troops for six months.

Christian Science

Man's God-given dominion over evil of every sort will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon. Bible readings include the following from Ephesians: "Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might. Wherefore take unto you the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand."

Reading from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy includes the following passage: "There is no power apart from God. Omnipotence has all power, and to acknowledge any other power is to dishonor God."

The Golden Text is from III John: "Beloved, follow not that which is evil, but that which is good. He that doeth good is of God: but he that doeth evil hath not seen God."

Calvary United

Sunday evening there will be a special St. Andrew's Day service, commencing at 7 p.m. with an organ recital of Scottish music by the organist A. J. Binnie. At 7.30 p.m., the regular service time, the minister, Rev. Walter J. Spence, B.A., will preach on the theme - "The Wee Kirk Among the Heather".

At the close of the evening there will be a fellowship hour in the church parlours, when a program of Scottish songs and music will be given and appropriate refreshments served under the auspices of the young adult group of the church. All are invited to attend, and bring friends.

Mr. Spence will preach at the morning service at 11 a.m., and the Sunday school and nursery class will meet at the same hour.

Mr. Max Pascal was the host. Arrangements for the Breakfast Forum are supervised by Mr. S. L. Kert, assisted by Dr. S. H. Feldman and Mr. Ralph Bercovitch.

At a buffet supper held on Friday, November 20, The Business and Professional Women's Club had as their guest of honour Miss Margaret Clay, who was elected a Vice-President of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs at the congress held in Stockholm, Sweden, last July.

Miss Clay, a Past President and active member of the Victoria, B.C. club, and a Past President of the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, afterwards addressed the members, outlining some of the highlights of her round the world trip, during the past year and relating activities of the various Clubs visited in many countries.

Lady Fiset who was the guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. H. Burstall in Quebec City for some time has arrived in town to spend the winter with her son-in-law and daughter, Brig. and Mrs. Jean Carriere.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Chadwick have returned from their wedding trip to New York and Bermuda and have taken up their residence in Westmount. Mrs. Chadwick was formerly Miss Margaret Emily Willis.

$425 Cheque Presented To Children's Hospital

A group of women from the National Council of Jewish Women, Montreal Section, headed by Mrs. David Shizgall, recently made a presentation of $425 to the Department of Psychiatry of the Children's Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Charles Nathaniel Sommer, president of the National Council, made the donation to Dr. Hymán Kaplan, assistant director of the department.

The group was formed under the chairmanship of Mrs. Shizgall after becoming interested in the topic through the recent panel discussion "What Happens to the Retarded Child?" The money will support one child through the coming season at the hospital.

Mrs. Shizgall said the group will sponsor a course for training baby-sitters for retarded children.

Dr. Kaplan took the group on a tour through the nursery, and told them how they could best function if the members wanted to do volunteer work.

In order to learn more, they enrolled one member in a course, and she will return to the group after each meeting and tell them what went on, thus increasing the general knowledge of the subject.

Her Twelve Young Men in a Boarding School

What happens when you find yourself the only woman in the lives of twelve young men? You'll find out in the December Ladies' Home Journal when you read Louise Baker's heartwarming true story of her first year as a housemother—the only woman in a boys' boarding school. Her first few months taught her to distinguish between the two types of stomachaches—the first to be treated with milk of magnesia and the second to be treated to hot chocolate and sympathetic chatter. You'll delight in the feverish and hilarious preparations for the first trip to Miss Pettigrew's dancing class—and the awesome moment of realization that there is more to life than for you as it was when Louise Baker first met "Her Twelve Men," and you'll chuckle with her at the disarming bread and butter recipe that read: "Dear Mrs. Spender, I had a very nice time over the week-end. Enclosed please find twenty-five cents for your courtesy." "Her Twelve Men" has already been made into a movie—but before you see the picture, you'll want to read the complete one issue story in the December Ladies' Home Journal.

And in the same issue, a five-fold Christmas present including patterns and perfume for a lover—gift suggestions from famous husbands and wives—Sub-Deb hints for the brightest Christmas ever—and a wonderful holiday menu that's both different and traditional. It's in the bright new December issue of Ladies' Home Journal.

Keen Interest Being Shown In Ideal Home Open To Public, Sponsored By Hadassah

Montreal Hadassah's current big project for raising money, through the sale of tickets on a drawing for the "Ideal Home" is now well underway and until about the middle of May thousands of people will have a chance to see its charming furnishings and its compact construction. Each week members of Hadassah Chapters act as hostesses to the public.

Situated at 4901 Kensington Avenue (north of Somerled), Hadassah's Ideal Home has six rooms, with provision for a seventh over the adjoining garage. Mrs. Madeline Aubry, of Henry Morgan's did the interior decorating, which, through the use of neutral colors and soft pastels, with bright accents and the comfortable, handsome furnishings, along with the basic charm of the house itself, achieves an elegant simplicity with sophisticated beauty.

A graceful wrought-iron hand rail painted white leads the eye up the easy, carpeted stairs which match the wall-to-wall carpeting in sitting room, diningroom and hall. There are plenty of cheerful windows, good cupboard space, and, just opposite the foot of the stairs, a smart little unobtrusive powder room.

The planned kitchen has a specially designed linoleum by Dominion Oilcloth in a marbled cream with red insets; and among the appliances exhibited in the kitchen are an electric stove and "fridge" by Frigidaire; coffee maker, juicer and electric iron by Silex Company of Canada, while in the basement are deep freeze and washing and drying machine, both by Frigidaire.

In the dining room Morgan's exhibit Swedish modern, and the living room is furnished in a combination of period and modern. The decor of the master bedroom upstairs is a monotone color scheme of soft green, with wall to wall drapes and bedspread of Toile de Jouy, depicting a pastoral motif.

The den, which can double as a guest room, has antique weave drapes in a modern design, with almost surrealist pictures. One Morgan exhibit which has already caused a good deal of favorable comment is a wrought iron floor lamp, with glass cloth new gooseberry-type shade.

The girls' room is designed with an eye to labor saving. It has clean-lined furniture and has also two cupboards. The bathroom, in chartreuse with touches of black and lemon, has a linen cupboard. And a roomy recreation room, completely partitioned off from the oil furnace in the basement, completes the story.

Entire proceeds from the Ideal

Shrinkage-Controlled
Woolens Eliminate Blocking Or Stretching

Today there are knitted garments available which have been shrinkage-controlled, thus removing the traditional worries women have had in washing.

With attention to a few simple rules of washing, these shrinkage-controlled garments, like sweaters, baby's clothes and men's hose, hop right back to their original fit and softness, even after repeated washing.

When you wash an ordinary sweater, not carrying the Sanforlan label, here's how the leading soap manufacturing recommend you do it:

Make an outline of the sweater on heavy paper before washing unless you use a drying form. Wash with mild flakes dissolved in lukewarm water (95 to 105 degrees). Wash quickly and gently. Squeeze. Do not rub or twist. Rinse thoroughly at least twice, in clear, luke-warm water. Squeeze out as much water as possible. Roll sweater in towel and knead gently to remove excess moisture. Unroll immediately and place on sweater outline, stretching gently to shape outline as necessary.

But you can skip all this when the garment is Sanforlan-labeled: Simply wash separately by hand. Rinse and lay flat to dry. Stretching or boarding are unnecessary.

Free Bulletin Issued On "Freezing Foods"

Beef is a good buy these days. Canadians are buying it in large quantities too, for an official of the Canada Department of Agriculture reported recently that there has been a 100-million pound jump in beef consumption in the first eight months of 1953. Those homemakers who are fortunate enough to have locker space or a home freezer find it is a good plan to keep a supply of meat on hand. Freezing meat, and poultry too, is so easy that no one need hesitate about doing it. The home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture in their new bulletin "Freezing Foods" give complete and easy to follow directions for freezing both meat and poultry. They say that good quality beef, pork, lamb, veal and poultry (that includes chicken, turkey, duck and goose) may all be frozen quite satisfactorily.

As for the actual cooking of frozen meat, meat thawed before cooking takes the same cooking time as fresh meats, while it is necessary to increase the time where the meat is cooked frozen.

Frozen poultry may also be thawed before cooking or cooked frozen. Thawed poultry will take the same cooking time as fresh poultry, but if it is cooked frozen, the cooking time should be increased by about one half.

St. Mary's To Hold
Candle-light Tea,
Christmas Shower

The Thimble Club of Outremont Subdivision will have on display some of their beautiful hand-made articles, including baby layettes, toys, etc. which they will donate to the Children's Ward and the Clinics.

A silver collection will be taken, proceeds of which will be used to supply gifts to put on the patients' trays on Christmas morning.

Mrs. C. H. Wood, President, will conduct a short business meeting preceding the tea.

Conveners will be Mrs. J. P. DuBois and Mrs. J. Chas Magnan.

GLAMOUR AT HOME, especially at this time of the year, is essential to modern women of today and glamor does not stop at the feet as has so often been the case in the past. Here is a ballerina type in rich black velvet trimmed with sparkling white braid. The little matching bag keeps everything at hand for the busy hostess.

List of Panel Members

Another "Career Clinics" aimed to give McGill University undergraduates an insight into various phases of the business world was held at Royal Victoria College on Wednesday, November 25th, at 7:45 p.m.

These clinics covered the fields of teaching, social services, secretarial work, personnel, advertising, laboratory technical work, merchandising and commerce opportunities and undergraduates were able to discuss job requirements and career possibilities with the panel members.

The list of panel members announced by Shirley Nowlan, Chairman of McGill Alumnae Placement Committee included Miss Joy Oswald, Guidance Counsellor, West Hill High School; Miss Gwyneth Howell, Associate Executive Director, Montreal Council of Social Agencies; Miss Claire Bourgeois, Personnel Director, Ayerst, McKenna and Harrison, Limited; Miss Eleanor Hamilton, Staff Training, The T. Eaton Company; Miss Mary Cardon, J. Walter Thompson Company Ltd.; Dr. Eleanor Harper, Head, Dept. of Biochemistry, Children's Memorial Hospital; Miss Gertrude Truscott, Employment Supervisor, C-I-L and Mrs. Ruby Cormier, Training Manager, Henry Morgan and Company.

The clinics were under the sponsorship of the McGill Alumnae Placement Committee and were opened to co-eds in all years of arts, science and commerce at McGill University.

Members of the Potters Club on Elm Avenue, as well as other potters in the neighborhood, have also contributed many beautiful pieces.

To add interest to the exhibition, two free film programs have been arranged for Thursday evenings Dec. 3 and 10. Each program consists of four shorts (3 English and 1 French) covering various aspects of pottery making and will be shown twice, at 7.30 and 9.30.

Films shown on December 3 will be: Clay Pottery, Color in Clay (French), Peter and the Potter, Glaze Application.

Films for December 10: The Hands are Sure, Un Grand Potier (French), Simple Slab Method, Decoration.

These are interesting and well made and should appeal both to the craftsman and the uninitiated.

Garnish Broiled Ham Steak with Bright Color

BROILED HAM STEAK, thick and succulent, garnished with pineapple and fresh cranberries, makes a noble dish for fall.

Beth Bailey McLean, and her associate, Thora Hegstad Campbell, tell about broiling ham steaks in their new and unusually helpful "The Complete Meat Cookbook." Here's what they say:

Preheat broiler. Read directions given with your range for special mechanical adjustments to give best broiling results. Slash edges of fat in several places to prevent curling. Place the broiling rack so that the surface of the meat is about 3 inches from the source of heat.

After broiling remove meat to a hot platter and serve. If the broiler rack is the honeycomb or semisolid type, heat transfer through the rack may cook the meat from the bottom, shortening the cooking time. If this type of broiler rack is preheated, this will also decrease the cooking time.

Glazed-Broiled Ham Slice (5 to 6 servings)

One 1½ to 2-inch slice ready-to-eat ham, 2 tablespoons orange or peach marmalade, honey, or brown sugar mixed with a tablespoon of mustard.

Heat the broiling oven. Slash fat edges of ham to prevent curling. Broil ham slice for 10 minutes. Turn with tongs and broil until brown. Spread with orange or peach marmalade or other sweet topping. Serve hot.

Note: Slices of ready-to-eat picnic or cooked boneless shoulder butt or Canadian style bacon may be broiled in this way.

BROILED SCHEDULE (Cured pork 1 inch thick)

Modern tender ham slices, broil 10 min.; Ready-to-eat ham or picnic slices, broil 5 min.; Home-cooked ham or picnic slices, broil 5 min.

Times are for broiling on each side. With the broiled ham you could serve whipped potatoes, Brussels sprouts, rye bread, pumpkin pie, coffee, milk.

Spanish Tapered Toe Seen In Shoe Fashions

The afternoon-and-after shoe which appears at cocktail time and goes on to dinner and theatre can be found in either soft glossy leathers or luscious suedes. Popular, too, for this type of shoe are the new gleaming leathers in jet black, bronze and antiqued gold. These shoes, also, are narrow and elegant in line highlighting the Spanish tapered toe in either straight or patterned design.

You might start with a black suede opera pump on a flexible leather sole with a high stiletto heel. One of the prettiest has a little metallic collar highlighting the throat line.

With all the browns, beiges and golds you'll wear after five, you might include in your shoe wardrobe a pointed toe of walnut brown suede leather inlaid with a V of pleated bronze leather. Behind the toe of this shoe are a few strips of suede to hold your foot on a high, thin heel.

Creamed Soups Gain In Character With The Use Of Vegetables

Most of the soups on our list acquire richness and body from the addition of evaporated milk and butter; so we start our preparation by putting into each soup cup two tablespoonfuls of evaporated milk, a pea-sized piece of butter, and a sprinkle each of salt and pepper. This we call the cream base.

Almost any combination of hot vegetable liquids added to this base makes an acceptable soup. Often we add a sprinkle of paprika on top to please the eye.

Perhaps there is the water from a can of asparagus. The stalks were used as a salad at lunch. And there's the water some onions were boiled in. When these have been heated together and poured into the cream base we have cream of asparagus soup.

Corn and Tomato

We may have some cream-style corn left from lunch and an equal amount of stewed tomato. We put them together, and a little water and let them simmer 10 minutes; then strain them, mashing through as much as possible of the pulp, and add to the cream base.

Other combinations which we use vary according to what vegetables we have been using. They might be spinach and onion, string bean and turnip, parsnip and onion, or alternate combinations of these or any one of them separately.

Leftover peas make a good nucleus for a soup. Add five or six whole cloves and enough water to permit the peas to simmer 10 minutes. Then mash through a sieve and reheat with an equal quantity of milk before adding to the cream base.

Cheese sauce thinned with milk and heated to the boiling point makes a good soup, with or without the cream base. In place of milk, broccoli, water with the little flowerets in it makes a good combination with the cheese sauce.

Different Soups

Mashed squash, thinned with water and simmered with a few whole cloves, may be strained into the cream base for cream of squash soup.

We particularly enjoy baked-bean soup. Add water to the leftover baked beans and simmer with slices of onion. When the onion is tender, mash the combination through a sieve and reheat. Instead of the cream base, put a tablespoonful of tomato ketchup into each soup cup and add the bean mixture. A slice of lemon in each cup adds variety of flavor in this soup, as it does to split-pea soup.

It only costs a few cents, but it's helped me out many-a-time. That's why I always carry a roll of cellulose tape in the glove compartment of my car as well as in my overnight bag. Here's how you can use it:

- (1) Put tape over the lock of your car door to keep it from freezing in sleety weather.
- (2) Repair torn road maps or make temporary repairs on ripped upholstery in the car.
- (3) If you're without a needle and thread, a piece of cellulose tape will hold up a ripped hem until you get home.
- (4) To remove lint from your clothes, wrap tape around your hand, sticky side out, and pat lightly over the surface.
- (5) Seal cosmetic bottles with tape to prevent leakage.

No matter where you travel, cellulose tape is one thing you should never be without.

won through studies made during the past century. In most schools where teachers are educated this understanding is the rock upon which education in the theory and practice of teaching is based.

Before teachers are certified as competent to teach they must now be equipped with specialized knowledge both of the learning process and of the factors that determine responsiveness of children to education. They must know how child growth and development are assessed and utilized in teaching; and how they can help each child to learn more effectively and to live more happily and successfully within his social environment.

By E. George Cochran, B.A., B.Ed.
Assistant Principal, Van Horne School

Editor's note: This article is reprinted from Health Bulletin for Teachers, a publication of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

Teaching as a profession requiring special knowledge and skill has been slow in coming into its own. Everyone who instructs, guides, or advises others is, in a sense, a teacher. Hence, teaching has always been intimately associated with all the arts, crafts and sciences. The physician was bound by his Hippocratic oath to teach his art by "precept, lecture, and every mode of instruction" to those of his sons and the sons of his former teachers who wished to learn it. Practicing lawyers and theologians taught the young clerks who sought admission to the learned profession of law and theology. Craftsmen were teachers of the apprentices learning their craft. As the great universities arose, the faculties were drawn from the masters of the subjects taught. Mastery of a subject was then, and indeed still is, necessary.

Professional schoolmasters for youthful citizens appeared when the transmission or a civilization's culture required mastery of the tools necessary to possess it, interpret it, use it, and enrich it. But these early schoolmasters were not teachers in the sense that they had been trained especially to educate the young. It was assumed that anyone who could read, write and spell and had mastered grammar, arithmetic, and the rules of logic could teach these skills to others if he so wished.

The teacher, in other words, began teaching as a layman who had chosen teaching as a vocation or an avocation. Not until fairly recently has there been the usual distinction between the layman and the professional in respect to teaching. The professional, through his specialized knowledge and experience, has a right to speak and act on matters that pertain to his profession. Teachers in our elementary and secondary schools can now lay claim to this distinction, largely because of the tremendous increase in the scientific understanding of children

Let's Eat By IDA BAILEY ALLEN

Here's a letter from a young husband who asks how to avoid table-hopping.

He says: "I like to enjoy my dinner with my wife at the table. But she's constantly hopping up to fetch this or that. She claims it's necessary for good service. Is it?"

It takes planning to avoid this tiring, often embarrassing situation which he calls table-hopping, and here are some practical suggestions.

To Stop Table-Hopping

1. Plan a menu with no last minute cooking.
  2. Before serving, be sure all needed equipment is on the table or beside it on a hospitality wagon or rolling table. If you haven't got one, it pays to buy one.
  3. Serve foods for the main course in casseroles.
  4. Let your husband toss the salad at the table.
  5. Keep beverages hot or cold in thermos bottles at the table.
  6. Have the first course in place before sitting down.
  7. Clear the dishes on to a tray. Return from the kitchen with the entire main course on a big tray.
  8. Remove the main course dishes on a tray, and return with the dessert and beverage on a tray.
  9. Have extra bread, butter, relishes, water glasses and a pitcher of water ready to pass at the table.

Add 1 cup boiling water and 1 beef bouillon cube. Cover and bake 1 hour, or until fork-tender in a moderate oven, 375 degrees F. Five minutes before serving, add 1/2 cup commercially soured cream. Serve in a ring of rice.

Roll pie pastry 1/8-inch thick and cut in 4-inch squares. On each, place a thin slice of sharp cheddar cheese or bleu cheese. Moisten the edges of the pastry with water. Fold over, turnover fashion, and press the edges together with a fork. Brush with melted butter, dust with paprika. Bake 12 minutes in a hot oven, 400 degrees F. Serve at once.

Sandwich Fillings For School Lunches

If your children take lunch to school, you'll need a variety of fillings for their sandwiches. Here is a favorite: Combine 1 hard-cooked egg, chopped with 1/4 cup canned deviled ham, a little Worcestershire sauce, and 2 tablespoons chopped pickle.

Or, mix 1/2 cup peanut butter, 1/2 cup chili sauce, and 1/2 cup chopped, cooked bacon.

Or, combine 1 1/2 cups grated raw carrots, 1/2 cup finely chopped salted peanuts, 1/4 cup piccalilli, and 1/3 cup salad dressing.

Figures

SPEAK LOUDER THAN

Words

Words are hard put to tell the full story of Canadian achievement in 1953. During this past year, Canada took new strides forward in almost every field of endeavor. These strides toward the future were made possible through an investment — by Canadians in all walks of life — of time, talent . . . and money.

How important a part your money played in Canada's progress in 1953 can be seen from the following highlights taken from the B of M's Annual Report for this year. Printed here, these figures — as they did all through 1953 — speak louder than words.

DEPOSITS: At the end of the Bank's year, October 31st, 1953, over two million Canadians had $2,226,960,333 in deposits with the B of M — money which has been kept hard at work with Canadian enterprise of every description and size. Although much of this money belongs to institutions and business firms, well over half of these deposits represent the savings of everyday Canadians — savings that, day by day, are working for you . . . and for Canada.

LOANS: Your bank is playing an important role in our expanding economy by means of loans to Canadians of every calling — farmers, miners, fishermen, oil men, lumbermen, ranchers — to individual and business enterprises and to Provincial and Municipal Governments. As of October 31st, B of M loans totalled $857,762,561 — the highest figure in the history of the Bank. In a thousand ways, these dollars played their part in maintaining full employment and in sustaining — or bettering — our standard of living.

INVESTMENTS: At the close of the year the B of M had $864,057,948 invested in high-grade government bonds and other public securities which have a ready market. This money is helping to finance government projects for the betterment of the country and the welfare of Canadians at large. Other securities held by the Bank — mainly short-term credits to industry — bring total investments to $982,490,826.

The message these figures express is a confident and encouraging one. Actually, it is your message...for it is made possible by your savings.

In line with her continuing policy of expanding the scope of the Canadian School of Ballet across Canada, Gweneth Lloyd is visiting Montreal to arrange a further development of her educational and artistic aims.

For sixteen years, among the pioneers of the arts of Canada, she has been laying the foundation of an art which has begun to come into its own in this country both in appreciation and with a firm nucleus of achievement.

The importance of a national training school for teachers of this art, through world recognised technical systems together with related subjects, has long been Gweneth Lloyd, in building a Canadian-wide school (she already has branches in Manitoba, Alberta and Ontario) has done much to help the future of dancing in this country. With the founding of the well known Royal Winnipeg Ballet Company, she has demonstrated how Canadian dancers, choreographers, musicians and artists can collaborate to make a native art form.

The future of Canadian dancers lies with their teachers and many teachers are needed for this growing country, in addition to the performing artists, and a full training comparable to a university course should be a requirement. This has been the special work of Gweneth Lloyd for sixteen years in Western Canada and Ontario and now, she brings it to Quebec also.

Dancing Princesses
At Victoria Hall
Friday December 5

On Saturday afternoon, December 5, at 2.30 o'clock, in Victoria Hall, the Junior Co. of the Montreal Ballet will present "The Twelve Dancing Princesses", under the direction of Eleanor Moore Ashton, director and choreographer.

This beautiful ballet has a novel twist in that the story will be narrated by a mother (Allison Lucking) to her child (Eve-Mary Krupski) and every word uttered by the mother is danced in the following act. The fairy tale concerns 12 lovely princesses who danced each night, much to the annoyance of their royal father who was obliged to replace their shoes, yet did not know where they went. Finally he offers the pick of them in marriage to whoever will discover their secret.

The cast includes 35 ballerinas—the pick of dance projects on the Island of Montreal. Beautiful stage settings have been designed by Peter and Ruth Douet—the bedroom of the royal daughters, the gold and silver forest and other lavish scenes. There is an infinite variety of beautiful costumes embracing every colour.

Dog Obedience Show Planned For Friday

Some very fine dogs—all obedience champs—will be at the First Presbyterian Church Sunday School tomorrow when the S.P.C. A. puts on a performance. Wm. Dunlop, general manager, will show the lovely Walt Disney film "Beaver Valley" and other movies and will give a membership button to every child attending.

The dogs will be under the direction of Mrs. Alex Casgrain, who will bring them from her own obedience training school and from the Mountain City Obedience Club, of which she is president and training director. They will jump, retrieve, fetch, and in other ways demonstrate how a well trained animal—and a champ at that—can really be a stage personality.

MUNICIPAL TOUCH RUGBY
Final play-off games were run off last week and champions have been decided in each section.

Grade 4. Roslyn All Stars defeated Roslyn Redmen by a 2-0 count in a very fast hard-fought game. Harvey Friedman caught John Wright behind his own goal line for a safety touch. Mike Peterson was a standout for the losers. These two teams displayed a keen sense of sportsmanship as remarked by several people who witnessed the game.

Grade 5. St. Leo's Reds were too strong in every department for the King's Colonels. The Reds won two in a row, piling up 35 points without being scored upon.

Grade 6. St. Leo's Greens hammered the St. Leo's Reds 37-0 to take the sudden death final played at Staynor Park. Although the Reds were never in contention all year, they showed plenty of spirit and deserved a vote of appreciation for their good sportsmanship.

Grade 7. St. Leo's Whites took the honours in the Grade 7 division by beating Westmount Junior High School 7 B 1, 10-5.

Seniors. St. Leo's Saints took 2 out of 3 from the Lions to win the senior section. They won the first game by a 5-0 count and took the second by a score of 13-0.

Championship team rosters are listed. These boys will subsequently be awarded City of Westmount Sports Crests.

Roslyn All Stars — Champions
Grade 4 Section:— Peter Mendell, Captain; Harvey Friedman, Steven Yaphe, Richard Adelstein, Doug Elkin, Eric Salomon, Mike Kennedy, Tim Powell, Billy Carter, John Whittall, Phillip Isenman, Douglas Wyatt, John Cameron, Derek Hamilton.

Staynor Beats Royals To Stay Unbeaten; Star Winners

Staynor remains unbeaten in the City Basketball League, having dumped Royals on Tuesday night in the first game of the weekly double-header by a 45-24 count. Earl MacDonald, whose checkered sports career goes way back to the days when he was a left-footed kicking sensation in bantam football under Andy McGillis at St. Leo's, was best man for Staynor with 19 points. Doug Alexander had 16 and Bud Selby 7. Royals showed three new men in Ted Jackson, who led the team scoring with

Dow Cagers Meet Giants In Opener at Roslyn Gym

A strong Giant team, new entry in the Montreal Basketball League's Senior "B" circuit, make their debut Monday night at the newly finished Roslyn School gymnasium against coach Doug Alexander's experienced Dow squad. This marks the first meeting between these two top teams and should prove to be quite a rough affair* as both squads boast some very prolific scorers. The Giants have a couple of players from the defunct Millcraft team and of the Senior M. B. L. loop and have added plenty of strength down the centre.

Mentor Doug Alexander will be trotting out much the same squad as he threw against the packed Georgians last week. Dow is fresh from two games of Golden Ball under their belt in which they divided two games. The squad showed plenty of class in overpowering Holy Trinity and lost a thriller to the polished Georgians only by three points, which coach Alexander says could have easily been won.

McIntosh Centers Attack

Dow will again center their attack around Ian McIntosh, assisted by such players as Earl MacDonald, John Field, Gerry Rowntree, Pete Siemers and Jack Stride, to mention a few.

This game is the league opener and on the following Saturday night Dow will travel to Verdun to take on last years runner-ups, Southwestern "Y".

Hoop Squads Show Promise As Coaches Parade Players

The High School Basketball Tournament, under the auspices of the Province of Quebec Branch of the National Board of Approved Basketball Officials, has once again come and gone. Westmount's entries fared well in play, though neither the bantam or senior team coaches expected anything as a result of this tourney.

Coach Ron Sharp's seniors went before losing to the ultimate senior B champs, Three Rivers High, in the third round. Mentor Sharp was well-pleased with what he saw, and had 19 boys parade before his eyes during the two days of competition.

The bantam squad, jointly coached by Walter Nickels and Walter Coombes, put many men on the floor for their games and got into the finals.

Players Not in Shape

No one places much emphasis on winning this tournament, for it takes place far too early in the season to show much skill—players are just working into shape for basketball, and many of them work out for less than a week before they are thrown into 30 minutes of basketball.

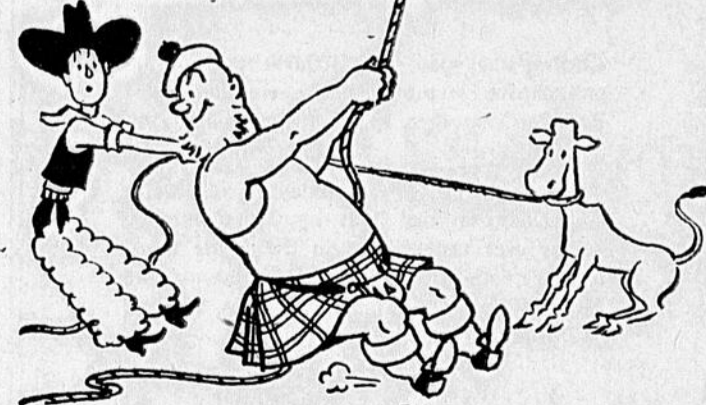

The Senior High's hockey team, now working out regularly twice a week, and the basketball squad, both have ceased activities until the end of exams. Both coaches will know more about who will be eligible for the team and just what they have to do when play resumes.

Three All-Star Matches Feature Annual Carnival

Montreal's high school hockey goes big time once again come the night of Monday, December 7, when high schoolers from every nook and cranny of the island will jam the House of Selke for their annual hockey carnival.

The hard-working teacher committee in charge of arrangements for the big night, has ironed out all the preliminary wrinkles and promise that this year's carnival will be the biggest and best ever staged.

Senior A, Junior and Bantam all star contests will feature the lengthy program. Also on tap are a broom ball game, a girls' hockey game a duds' game, the last always one of the most crowd-pleasing items on the agenda as well as the usual relay races.

Heading the committee in charge of the whole business is Brother Paul of D'Arcy McGee. Working with him are Dave Bedford, Doug Potvin, Jack Lang, John Murray, Herman Ebers, Andy McGillis, Ed Meagher, Bill Searle, Vince Patton and Fred Urquhart.

An effort is being made to have all or part of the hockey carnival program televised.

THE COACHES

Coaches' roster for the night of December 7 looks like this:

Senior A: East—Brother Paul Catholic High School; West—A. Watson, Verdun High School.

Junior: East—Herman Ebers, Baron Byng High School; West—Ed Meagher, Loyola College.

Bantam: East—Coach to be appointed by Town of Mount Royal High; West—Andy McGillis, St. Leo's.

Broom ball game: East—Bill Osterman, High School of Montreal; West—L. Blane, Verdun High School.

Girls' hockey game: East—G. Frazer, Rosemount High School; West—coach to be appointed by West Hill High School.

Duds' hockey game: Doug Potvin of Catholic High in charge of all the arrangements.

Relay races: Dave Bedford and Bill Osterman in charge of all arrangements.

PATTON PUBLICIST

Vince Patton, the NDG resident who teaches at D'Arcy McGee, is again handling the publicity chores for the hockey carnival. This is nothing new for Vincent, who has been doing public relations work for the Snowdon Major Fastball League for the past two seasons.

Monsieur P. has revealed that the carnival committee has come up with the following time allotments: Senior A hockey—30 minutes; Junior hockey—30 minutes; Bantam hockey—30 minutes; broom ball game—10 minutes; girls' game—10 minutes; relays—20 minutes; duds' game—five minutes.

Well, we can't have everything

- 1- 1st Place team
- 2- Highest scoring team
- 3- The most spirited team

A terrific end to a terrific season

Scottish Troupe Barbarians 19-8 In Rugger Finish

High hopes for a gala rugger finish were disrupted over the week-end when all three scheduled games had to be called off. Toronto Irish were delayed at the last minute from coming to meet Westmount Scottish, while the Barbarians also had late delay and were forced to cancel their trip to Boston.

The sister clubs managed to play a game between themselves, and Scottish thoroughly trounced an undermanned Barbarian team 19-8. The Barbs only had 12 men out, and were easy prey for their fast-moving opponents.

The game probably marked the end of rugger hostilities until the spring, when the teams will turn to school grounds to work out on. As it is, they both enjoyed good seasons, Scottish going undefeated throughout, and hope for even better ones after the snow comes and goes.

Grey Cup Game To Be Televised

Through the courtesy of the Dow-Kingsbeer Brewery residents of Westmount will be given the chance to lamp this Saturday's Grey Cup battle on television. The brewery people have arranged to have the entire game screened at Victoria Hall.

Doors will open at 11.30 a.m. The show will be run off on a first come, first served basis with the proviso that children under 16 must be accompanied by their parents.

The RCA Victor Company is donating the sets which will be used.

Dow-Kingsbeer are working with the Imperial Tobacco Company, sponsors of the telecast, to make the screening available to west enders.

Regents Rough In Beating MacRae 5-1

MacRae Electric tasted defeat for the first time this season when they were soundly trounced 5-1 by the N.D.G. Regents Saturday. This win was a big one for the Regents, now in sole possession of first place, one point in front of the Westmounters.

Fourteen penalties for a total of 80 minutes were handed out in the roughest encounter to date. All in all there were 5 minors, 4 majors, 1 misconduct, and 4 match penalties.

But Selby and Stu McCowan, the two outstanding players for the Electricians gave the home crew a short-lived lead in the first two minutes of play. Selby scored on a high hard shot from just inside the blue line.

Campbell and Darcy scored in the first period for the Regents to give them a lead which they never relinquished. Darcy scored again in the second with Campbell helping out on the play.

Fisher and Johnny Foy scored in the final frame to wrap up the game for the westenders. The biggest surprise of the day came when the usually quiet Al Turner staged a pier six brawl with Campbell of the Regents. Both players were banished to the dressing room along with Selby and Brambell of Mac Rae and Gamble of the Regents.

on Sports

by MARTY GOODMAN

● THERE IS A strong possibility, almost a certainty, that Westmount Junior High School will drop out of inter-scholastic hockey competition this year. This situation is not limited to the local school, but is widespread throughout the city. St. Leo's is another Westmount institution that will not ice teams, while West Hill and Montreal West are similarly affected.

These schools are not dropping out of competition because they cannot afford to have teams, or because they do not want to pay for ice, or because there is no student support for the teams. The answer is simply that there is no decent ice time available to them.

St. Leo's Academy have had ice hours at Lachine Arena ever since it began, but they, like the others, lost it when the Lachine Sports Commission decided to give priority to long-waiting local groups and schools. To this end, they admitted Provost Academy and Summerlea School, at the same time adding to the time of some organizations and including new local ones.

They cannot be censured for this attitude which is forcing other schools to forgo the game. Even here it is common practice to allow residents only the use of city facilities. Still, it seems a shame that such a long connection as St. Leo's had must be broken.

While the final date for entering teams is Nov. 30, it does not seem likely that any eleventh hour miracle will arrive to provide the schools with ice. Applications have also been turned down by The Forum and Verdun Auditorium, and there is little likelihood of a good outdoor season.

Verdun is in much the same position as Lachine — they are taking local groups into consideration first. The Forum's policy is more concerned with the teams it sponsors, and with the development of junior B hockey, they are too full to admit any new high schools other than the ones which have been regularly using their ice.

Much of the trouble stems from the fact that the schools deal with the arenas individually, not collectively. Since the ice is given first to those which have seniority, some retain a large number of ice hours through the years while others are left out in the cold each year and continually face the same problem. Westmount Senior, being an old customer at The Forum, again has its two hours, but the Junior High, never established as a steady customer at any ice palace, is left without hockey.

Though school plans undoubtedly call for greater emphasis on intramural sports and basketball, etc. to make up for the slack, it is a shame for any Canadian school to have to forgo the national sport. Many schools plan to supplement their school teams with intramural leagues played on outdoor ice, but this hope is slim when the mildness of recent winters is noted. Last year, for instance, City of Montreal rinks reported 32 days of good skating weather, and those days could arrive at any time.

Hope for the future seems to rest in schools and civic-built artificial ice arenas. Both Lower Canada College and Loyola are planning these for next year, while Montreal City has built one at Lafontaine Park and will construct another at Trenholme Park next year if this one proves successful.

Toronto has four artificial ice rinks, and keeps them in operation from October through March. Even then, it is not heat that shuts them down, but a lack of people using the facilities. A long season like this, with only one rink in operation, would greatly alleviate the situation. If all of them are built, the schools will more than hold their own in developing hockey players.

As it is, however, nothing can be done this year, and even if the schools banded together to pool their ice time, then divided it up, there would be a great lack for satisfactory practices. This is something which should have been done some time ago, when it became apparent that trouble was in store for schools wishing good hours in which to hold their practices. Now, it would not be a bad idea for the school boards to consider the construction of their own artificial ice arena — that would solve all problems quickly and completely.

'53 will just be a lean year for the schools in hockey, and depending on outdoor facilities, they will end up playing their shinny on ice cubes.

● IT IS UNDERSTOOD that the Province of Quebec branch of the National Board of Approved Basketball Officials, to use the proper name, would want to sponsor a basketball tournament in order to get a line on their officials for the coming year. Towards this end, the high school "Gold Ball" tourney was held over the weekend, with 44 teams taking part from 21 schools.

We hope that the Referees' Association got something out of it, because we doubt if the schools did. Most had just finished strenuous football seasons, with the boys just finishing up an entirely different type of sport, when they were called upon to play at least 80 minutes of basketball. Just what this is supposed to prove we can't figure out.

It certainly does not place one team as the class of the league, as witnessed by the large amount of teams which fail to come close to a season title after sweeping the tournament. Nor is any good done the players, who are forced to exert themselves for the game. The idea is fine, but the timing bad.

Instead of holding it so early in the season, a long time before high school leagues are even underway, it could be held a little later on and stretch out over a longer period of time. This way the teams would be in better condition to start off with, and coaches could correct mistakes from one game to another. It would not make any difference in choosing referees, who are picked and then wait for the schedule to begin anyway.

It seems as if this just isn't the week for the school boards and sports authorities, but if they were not doing a job on sports, there would be nothing to criticize. They have developed athletics greatly, at the same time retaining the basic idea of the most activity for the largest amount of students. In addition, of course, they are still kept at a level which will not place them above the education students are supposed to be going to schools for.

Then again, there is room for improvement.

Unity Boys Lose 57-53

Unity Boys Club Intermediate cagers lost their first game of the 1953 season when they were edged 57-53 by the Giants last Friday night in a well-played contest reeled off on the UBC larrigans' home floor.

The game was a Golden Ball fixture, part of a round robin affair in which the winners of sections A, B and C are playing off in round robin style. Coach George Presho's Unity Boys now hook up with the strong Sir George Williams College quintet.

Last Friday's tussle was a hard-fought battle all the way. At one point in the second half the Giants ran up a 12-point lead but the host club came roaring back to tie up the game and then take a short-lived lead.

It was anybody's ball game right up to the final whistle.

Don Goldberg, the diminutive setshot artist who performed with Doug Alexander's West End Grads last season and prior to that for Sir George Williams College, was the big cog in the nattily attired Giants' machine. His deadly sniping gave the visitors their victory margin and he doubled as a play-maker and as one of the most efficient defenders on the none too spacious Unity court.

Dick McGrail, the Snowdon Major Fastball League outfielder, was the glitter guy for the losers, breaking through frequently to score from close-in and playing a spirited game on defence.

gories of QMHA hockey, however, due to a type-setting error a line was omitted and readers were confused. Here are the age groups and example 'as it should have read:—

- Mosquito- Under 10 as at Aug. 1 '53
- Pee Wee- Under 12 as at Aug. 1 '53
- Bantam - Under 14 as at Aug. 1 '53
- Midget - Under 16 as at Aug. 1 '53
- Juvenile - Under 18 as at Aug. 1 '53

Example: Bantam — A boy 13 years of age before August 1st, 1953, and a boy who turns 14 years of age after August 1st, 1953, is eligible. A boy who is 14 years of age before August 1st, 1953, is too old for Bantam and therefore must play in a higher age group.

All boys 13 to 15 years of age who wish to coach or referee in the Mosquito and Pee Wee sections are entirely welcome. This is good training and interesting work.

Anyone wishing to manage, coach or referee is invited to get in touch with Rocky Rothwell or Johnny Garland at FI, 6975. A referees' clinic will be held some time in early December for all potential referees. All the rules will be gone over and new rule books will be given out. All referees will be paid for their efforts this year.
