After some remarks by Mr. Pope and Mr. Languevin, Mr. FREDRICHE'S amendment was carried.

The House was then called upon to appoint a Committee, which they did as follows: Messrs. Levesque, G. Langlois, G. Lafontaine, 20, Avignon, 19, Palmer, 19, Bely, 19, Taschereau, 19, Blanchet, 19, and McDougall, 19.

NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

PARLIAMENTARY SUMMARY.

In the Senate, Mr. Carrall brought forward a motion with regard to the Pacific Railway and the terms on which British Columbia entered into Confederation. This of course led to a long argument as to whether the Government had done their best to carry out the arrangements that had been made. After a long discussion the debate was adjourned until Wednesday.

The Commons report of the committee on the Library was presented. It recommends that the library should be chiefly one of reference and that the system of allowing the public to remove books from it be abolished. It also asks for an additional grant for requisite additions.

Hon. Mr. Cartwright introduced a bill to amend and consolidate the Act respecting insurance; so as to extend to Life Insurance, the provisions already existing in regard to Fire Insurance. This bill was read the first time.

Mr. Schult brought up the subject of the terrible slaughter of buffalo that was constantly going on in the North-west, and which threatened to deprive the Indians of their chief food supply.

The Premier said the subject was already under the consideration of the Government.

Sanitary statistics then occupied the attention of the House up to noon, and shortly after the House resumed its session. Mr. Languevin moved that the Standing Committee on Privileges and Elections inquire into the charges connected with the election of Mr. J. H. Baxter, and place in the House by the Hon. Hector Louis Languevin affecting the honour of Joseph Elouard Cauchon, M. P. for Quebec Centre, and President of the Privy Council.

This was the signal for a little royal, chiefly among the French members, who slung hard accusations against each other as thick as grape shot.

Mr. FREDRICHE moved in amendment that a select committee be appointed to inquire into the charges against Mr. Cauchon; this was carried, and the House adjourned at 1 o'clock.

The procession organized for, but prevented from parading on St. Patrick's day owing to the inclemency of the weather, turned out this morning. The march was a grand success, and the marchers were well received by the authorities.

There was a grand musical service and sermon by Rev. P. D. St. Laurent, at the St. Joseph's Church.

It is a great pity that, to some extent, been spread here by the indication of a milkman selling the milk of one of his cows which had been recently inoculated by a medical man for the purpose of obtaining a supply of fresh milk.

There was some unpleasantness at St. Patrick's dinner, on Friday, which is causing much talk here. It seems that an Irishman employed on one of the local papers and a member of the Provincial Council had been talking and some trifling talking caused between the two, leading in the newspaper man challenging the other.

The cause of the trouble have not yet been ascertained.

The Postmaster-General has acceded to the demand of a large number of citizens, to permit postage and registration stamps to be sold in the Post Office and a special department is at once to be opened for that purpose.

This evening, Mr. D.
