Fifty-Eighth Year

SUDANESE RESENT VISIT OF NAGUIB

World News In Brief

Tokyo —(P)—Eight Russians left Japan Sunday night for Vladivostok aboard a Russian freighter, one under Japanese court expulsion order.

The Russians boarded the 3,974-ton Seizales at the inland sea port of Onomichi where the freighter had undergone repairs.

Philip Krekov, a Russian sea captain who got the oyster order, was found guilty Feb. 19 of transporting a spy into Japan. A court in Hokkaido, northern Japan, gave Krekov a two-year suspended sentence. It also ordered him to leave the country by the next available ship.

The other seven Russians were members of the unrecognized Soviet mission—a vestige of occupied Japan.

Montreal —(P)—Provincial police said Sunday night they believe they have solved two safe-crackings involving about $14,000 with the arrest of four men during the week-end.

Det.-Lieut. Albert Bisailon, chief of the holdup squad, said two men, both in their middle 30s, have been picked up for questioning in connection with an $11,000 safe-cracking last Wednesday at the Caisse Populaire—credit union—at nearby Laval des Rapides.

"We believe these two men took part in the job but we are still looking for two others," he said. Bisailon said two men were to be arraigned at Hull, Que., today on charges of stealing a safe containing $3,200 from a general store at Gatineau Mills, Que. The suspects were arrested in Montreal Saturday.

Washington —(P)—President Eisenhower said Sunday night United States responsibility for world leadership "can be admirably exercised in the United Nations, an organization having as its prime purpose the preservation of mankind from the scourge of war."

The president expressed faith in the UN in a message to a conference on U.S. responsibility for world leadership, sponsored by the American Association for the United Nations.

The president described the UN as the type of forum in which "the kind of leadership we seek to give can find expression, and the co-operation of our friends can be most effective."

New York. —(AP)—A taxicab with a confused driver ran into a four-engine plane at la Guardia airport Sunday.

The driver, Joseph Gumbs, 27, suffered eye injuries from flying windshield glass when his car went up a ramp and crashed into the underside of the huge aircraft that was parked in front of a hanger.

Gumbs told police he got mixed up in turning off an airport highway. He was given a summons for disobeying signs that prohibited unauthorized vehicles on the ramp.

Nehru Rejects Eisenhower Proposal Of Arms Support

By SELIG HARRISON
New Delhi, India —(P)—Prime Minister Nehru today rejected President Eisenhower's offer of arms aid for India and demanded the withdrawal of American observers from the United Nations cease-fire team in disputed Kashmir.

By giving military aid to Pakistan, Nehru told Parliament, the United States had intervened in the Indian-Pakistani fight over the Himalayan state and the American observers therefore "can no longer be regarded by us as neutrals."

At the end of 1953 the United States had 14 officers with the 48-member UN military mission supervising the Kashmir truce.

Eisenhower's offer of American arms aid "has done less than justice to us or to himself," the premier declared, continuing:

"If we object to military aid being given to Pakistan, we would be hypocrites and unprincipled opportunists to accept it ourselves."

Announcing the aid to Pakistan last week, Eisenhower said the United States would give "most sympathetic consideration" to any such request from India. In a letter to Nehru he also assured India that the United States will see to it that Pakistan used the arms for defence only.

Nehru today made public his three-paragraph reply, thanking

Plan Appeal In Murder Conviction

Cornwall, Ont. —(P)—Second Lieut. Peter Balcombe, 24, sentenced Saturday to be hanged May 25 for the October stabbing of a 21-year-old girl from near Quebec City, plans to appeal.

Within minutes after the death sentence was passed defence counsel J. M. P. Kelly of Ottawa announced he will appeal.

Balcombe, married and the father of two children, was arrested at Komoka near London, Ont., Oct. 18, three days after the knife-slashed nude body of Marie Anne Carrier of Bienville, Que., was found face down in a ditch 35 miles west of here. The girl's family said Balcombe previously offered to divorce his wife and marry the girl but she refused him.

It was reported that, if Balcombe is executed, he will not go to the gallows as an army officer. Action to strip him of his rank might be delayed, however, pending the outcome of an appeal.

The trial was interrupted by the levying of contempt of court fines totalling $14,000 against three United States crime magazines and one of their editors for publication of stories concerning the case before it went to trial.

Edward Bryan, Cornwall magazine distributor, was sentenced to 10 days in jail, but after sentence men here made representations to Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of the Ontario High Court, his sentence was remitted on payment of $50 court costs.

The British-born Balcombe did not testify.

The chief justice took two hours and 40 minutes to deliver his address to the jury. He said there was no possibility of a verdict of manslaughter, that the choice was between guilty of murder and not guilty.

He said two things stood out boldly from the evidence; That it was the body of Marie Anne Carrier that was found stripped of its clothing and that the clothes found in a cabin near Woodstock, Ont., were hers, "not thrown aside carelessly, but put in an attic where they might never have been seen for years."

He traced from the evidence Balcombe's movements from an apartment he had rented near Quebec City at 9 p.m. Oct. 14, to Montreal at 2 a.m. Oct. 14, to Cornwall, Ont. at 8:30 a.m. and to the cabin near Woodstock, at 2 p.m.

The defence had contended Balcombe did not have time to commit the crime and reach these various places at the time he was seen.

The chief justice took road mileage from point to point and said that, with an average speed of no more than 50 miles an hour, there was at least an hour not accounted for.

"The evidence points overwhelmingly towards the accused, but you are the sole judges of the facts," the jury deliberated three hours and 47 minutes.

At Least Twenty Killed In Demonstration Against Trip To Khartoum.

By ZEIN NAGATI

Khartoum, Sudan —(AP)—Police bullets beat off a wild attack on the British governor-general's residence today by yelling Sudanese tribesmen brandishing steel-tipped spears in a demonstration against visiting Egyptian President Mohammed Naguib.

At least 20 persons were reported killed, including the British police commander, Col. H. S. McGuigan, and six of his men. More than 100 were wounded, 30 of them critically. Authoritative sources reported the Sudanese police chief, Brig. Martada el Mahdi, among the victims.

The clash came after more than 30,000 demonstrators agitating for and against Naguib massed in the capital. Members of the pro-independence Umma party, brandishing spears and shouting anti-British and anti-Egyptian slogans, marched on the Governor-General Sir Robert Howe, where Naguib was being entertained after his arrival by plane from Cairo.

Sudanese police, commanded by British officers, first tossed tear gas grenades at the pressing crowd and then opened fire with their guns when the tribesmen charged with spears. The seven slain policemen fell before the spear charge.

Naguib came here with Egyptian Guidance Minister Salah Salem for the inaugural session today of the Sudan's first parliament. After the fighting, the governor general announced the ceremony would be postponed indefinitely. Salem was one of the men who helped engineer Naguib's ouster last week.

The police bullets sent the tribesmen fleeing for shelter. Hundreds barricaded themselves behind the iron fence surrounding the home of Sir Sayed Abdel Rahman el Mahdi, leader of the Umma party and head of the Ansari Moslem religious sect.

The government declared a state of emergency in the tense city. Army jeeps and trucks patrolled the streets.

The government also served an ultimatum on El Mahdi that he send his supporters out of Khartoum before dark or be held responsible for the consequences.

The battle came after tribal factions representing the Umma party and the pro-Egyptian National Unionist party, which is led by Sudanese Prime Minister Ismail el Zahary, invaded the city's streets early today shouting slogans at each other.

A huge crowd met Naguib at the airport, shouting: "Go out, go out, both British and Egyptians," and "No unity, no federalism."

The anti-Egyptian demonstration undoubtedly was a blow to Naguib, who flew to Khartoum after surviving a crisis in his own government in which he was forced out as president on Thursday and then reinstated on Saturday.

Naguib, born in the Sudan, has been a popular figure to the Sudanese up to now.

Wild demonstrations broke out in Khartoum last Thursday when word reached the Sudanese capital that Naguib had been ousted by the Egyptian revolutionary council.

Crowds roamed the streets shouting: "We want Naguib."

The Egyptian president had planned to attend the Parliament opening as a sort of super-salesman for Egypt, which has long been clamoring for the union of the Sudan with Egypt to insure the "unity of the Nile valley."

Authorities said the disturbances obviously were started by the Umma party, which opposes both Egyptian-Sudan unity and any ties between the Sudan and Britain. The Umma faction as decisively defeated in the first Sudanese parliamentary elections last September in which the pro-Egyptian National Unionists triumphed.

Egypt and Britain agreed a year ago to give the Sudan self-government in 1956 and to let it vote by then whether to unite with Egypt or be independent. Since 1899, the territory has been ruled jointly by Egypt and Britain under a condominium.

Report Pope As Showing Syrian Capital Situation Tense As New Chief Visits

Vatican City —(P)—The Pope for the fourth consecutive day was reported by Vatican sources "very slightly improved today." These sources said he had spent a "fairly good night."

There was no official announcement on the health of the pontiff, who marks Tuesday his 78th birthday and the 15th anniversary of his election as Pope.

Special prayers and other spiritual offerings for his recovery continued today. They began two days ago and ended Tuesday with solemn high mass celebrated in St. Mary Major basilica, the world's oldest shrine to the Virgin Mary.

It was here that the Pope celebrated his own first mass 54 years ago and last Dec. 8 inaugurated the Marian year, now in progress throughout the world to honor the

Charge Man In Toronto Strangling

Toronto —(P)—Harvey Snider, 23, early today was charged with murder in the strangling of his 22-year-old wife.

Police said that in answer to a telephone call, they went to the couple's four-room brick bungalow in suburban Swansea at 12:20 a.m. and found the body of Mrs. Shirley Snider in a bed.

They said a three-year-old girl, whom the Sniders had recently adopted, was asleep in the bed beside the body of her mother.

Police said the Sniders had been married about six months. They said they believed Mrs. Snider had been dead about two hours when they arrived at the home.

Snider, a city waterworks department clerk, was arrested by detectives on Church street in central Toronto after he talked with a priest.

Swansea police said today a priest called them to report that a man had told of a murder at a confessional. Officers went to the bungalow in the suburb and found it in darkness.

They said they found a door open, however, and they went in and found the dead woman and the baby. There were bruises on the throat which police said they believed had been caused by a pair of hands.

The room showed no signs of a struggle and the child was sleeping peacefully. Neighbors took care of her overnight and police said she would probably be put in the care of the Children's Aid Society later today.

Australia Holds Economic Place

Montreal —(P)—Sir Douglas Copland, Australian high commissioner to Canada, said today Australia has come of age and is ready to walk the path of economic expansion with Canada.

Speaking at a luncheon on the chemical engineering conference of the Chemical Institute of Canada, Sir Douglas said Australia now is ready to accept increasing responsibilities, "not only for her own development, but for the maintenance of the Commonwealth of nations as a vigorous force in the world."

The Australian economy had been expanding at as high a rate as any western country barring Canada.

Between 1947 and 1952 the population had increased by 1,820,000—an expansion of 15.5 per cent—and the country faced a major task in absorbing these "new Australians" without impairing living standards.

To meet this challenge Australia had added to its capital equipment and more than one quarter of the country's production was being plowed back for capital expansion and maintenance.

Syrian Capital Situation Tense As New Chief Visits

Damascus, Syria —(P)—Revolutionary wracked Syria's army chief of staff sternly warned against further violence and demonstrations today as the capital prepared to greet the nation's new chief of state, Hachem Bey el Attassi.

Though rival factions of army rebels united behind Attassi and ex-dictator Adib Shishki's cabinet agreed to step down, new rioting broke out in Damascus Sunday night and 13 persons were reported wounded.

Troops broke up the demonstrations by firing on the crowds and using tear gas. The capital for the second night was under a curfew.

Damascus was calm again today. One person was killed and 20 injured Saturday night when pro-Shishki troops fired on mobs

FIRE BY HIGH COMMISSIONER — John Dean, 33-year-old butler to Britain's high commissioner, has been fired because of a series of articles he has written about the Duke of Edinburgh, his former employer. A wartime RAF veteran, Dean was head of Sir Archibald Nye's servants. He said Sir Archibald took a critical view of the articles, describing his employment with the Duke. He said he will make a month's tour of Canada before returning to the United Kingdom. (CP Photo)

Frank Comments Cause Of Dismissal Of Former Valet

Ottawa —(P)—The Duke of Edinburgh's former valet says he has been fired from his latest job because of a series of articles he has written about the Queen's husband.

John Dean, 33-year-old head butler to Sir Archibald Nye, Britain's high commissioner to Canada, packed his bags Saturday. He said Sir Archibald fired him because of the articles appearing in a London publication, the Sunday Pictorial. Sir Archibald could not be reached for comment.

The sandy-haired butler isn't bitter. He said he realized when he first sat down to write the articles some months ago that he might be asked to leave Sir Archibald's service.

But after serving his present employer, as well as Lord Mountbatten, the Duke of Windsor and the Duke of Edinburgh, Dean concluded there is no "future" in being a butler. He plans to take a job in the business world after his articles are compiled in book form.

A veteran of the RAF who served in Canada as an air force clerk during the Second World War, Dean plans to holiday in Canada for a month before returning to London.

The ousted butler, who bid good-bye to his friends with "mixed feelings," has been here for the last six months, heading the servants at Earscliffe, the grey-stone office-residence of the high commissioner and Lady Nye.

He was the Duke of Edinburgh's valet for five years. He accompanied the royal couple on their country tour of Canada in 1951. He was with them in Kenya when the Queen, then Princess Elizabeth, received word of her father's death.

Dean said he is fond of the duke and his articles were in no way derogatory but "frank and truthful." But while he received some praise from the working classes of Britain, Sir Archibald was critical.

Dean, a bachelor from Surrey, England, said Sir Archibald did not like to have "facts revealed about the royal household."

Dean left the palace staff about a year ago. He did not like the "formalities." Things became "complicated" after the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth. Anyway, he wanted to come back to Canada and was glad to join Sir Archibald's staff.

He emphasized there had been no differences at Buckingham Palace which led to his resignation.

Dean became a nursery footman to Lord Mountbatten at the age of 16. He was footman to the Duke of Windsor in 1938-39 and after the second World War, returned to the Mountbatten home, this time as butler. When Lord Mountbatten was appointed viceroy to India in 1947, the Duke of Edinburgh asked Dean to be his personal valet.

Dean found the duke a "down-to-earth guy." The duke preferred sports clothes, had a healthy appetite and was particularly fond of fish dishes. He took a drink now and then and at first frowned on all formal functions he had to attend. But he gradually got to enjoy them and "I really think he likes to be on display now," Dean said.

Attassi was due here today from Homs to be received officially,

St. Laurent Warns Against Strong Western Boasting

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Colombo, Ceylon —(P)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today the Western world perhaps should be "a little more modest" about its accomplishments.

He made the statement to a group of Colombo newspaper men at a three-quarter hour press conference held in the office of Canadian High Commissioner James Hurley.

The Canadian leader said in two weeks in Asia he has seen some of the "marvellous" achievements of vanished Asian civilizations.

He recalled that on the outskirts of New Delhi in India, he was shown an iron pillar that has withstood rust for more than 2,000 years.

"This iron pillar is of almost absolute purity," he said. "We can't produce that."

"It would perhaps be a good thing for us in the West to be a little more modest about our accomplishments," he said.

He was asked many questions about Asian and Middle Eastern political problems to which he replied in most cases that he had not sufficient background to express an opinion.

When one newspaper man asked if control of the Suez canal should not be turned over to a European, Middle East and Asian commission, he replied: "Perhaps I should be sitting where you gentlemen are and you here answering questions."

His reply to a question about the greatest potential danger to world peace was his oft-repeated world statement that he does not believe war will occur.

"I think some people were quite concerned about disposal of war prisoners in Korea," he said. "But January 22 has passed and nothing terrible has happened."

"I think many of the problems between adjoining nations will iron themselves out."

Regarding recent government changes in Egypt and Syria, he said that while knowing little about the Middle East, he thought reactions there must be those of "intelligent men anywhere in the world trying to adapt themselves to what circumstances bring about."

He denied once more the suggestion that the purpose of his visit to Asia was to mediate India-Pakistan disagreements. "It sometimes happens that those who want to be mediators are known as meddlers. I don't want to be a meddler."

The prime minister said there is a growing recognition that too great a disparity exists between Eastern and Western living standards. "I think in the international family there should be the kind of distribution of the good things of the world so that none will feel they are being kept down."

Vatican Halls Worker Priests

Paris —(Reuters)—A 10-year-old experiment by more than 100 French priests to spread Christianity among the working people ended today on orders of the Vatican.

The "worker priests" have been employed as factory hands, dock workers and coal miners to give them closer contact with industrial workers. From now on they may devote no more than three hours daily to manual tasks.

Limitation of their work was ordered after charges that some worker-priests had swung to communism instead of winning converts to Christianity.

The Vatican order caused considerable controversy in France among church groups as well as laymen. The Dominican (Catholic) Order claimed that 8,000,000 French working men and women have become "de-Christianized" and need missionary work.

Supporters of the Vatican stand reply that the church's mission is to "keep Christianity alive where it exists."

Naguib Return Results In Fresh Egyptian Disorder

By ROBERT HEWETT
Cairo —(P)—The Egyptian government strived to keep public order today following the return of ousted President Gen. Mohammed Naguib as chief of state and a new outbreak of mob violence.

All government universities — past hotbeds of mob action — were ordered closed indefinitely after wild demonstrations Sunday in which police wounded 12 rioters. One police officer also was hit by a shot from a student.

The police opened fire as disorderly, slogan-shouting crowds of young people surged toward Republican Square from all over the city to cheer Naguib, their popular hero. The display of force nipped the demonstration before it endangered the country's shaky military regime.

Naguib, waving and smiling, appeared on a balcony at the presidential palace and appealed in an impromptu speech for "moderation and forgiveness."

Facing the first anti-government riots since the army overthrew Egyptian Farouk 19 months ago, Naguib and the man who supplanted him briefly last week, Lt.-Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser, patched up their differences enough to make a shot of unity.

The president sat Sunday in a cabinet meeting beside his former deputy. Nasser now holds Naguib's other former posts of prime minister and chairman of the revolution council, the rule of body of 12 army officers who planned and directed the coup against Farouk and tried to drop Naguib last week.

Then the two visited wounded riot victims in a hospital. There demonstrators, who had screamed against Nasser a few hours before the shooting, kissed him.

Naguib, accompanied by Guidance Minister Salah Salem and several aides and newspaper men, flew to Khartoum today to attend the inauguration of the first Sudanese parliament later in the day. Salem was the president's most outspoken opponent during his three days out of office.

Three Die In Explosion At Philadelphia

Philadelphia —(AP)—Five persons, including three children in a neighborhood lunch room, were killed Sunday night when a violent explosion destroyed two buildings in a crowded section of South Philadelphia.

17-year-old girl, trapped for six hours in a public telephone booth under the mountain of rubble, escaped unhurt. Twenty others, including four firemen, were injured.

The blast of undetermined origin occurred in one of the most densely populated areas of the city. Deputy fire chief George E. Hink said it was "amazing" that the death toll was not higher.

The roofs of two adjoining three-story brick buildings were lifted into the air, turned half way around and dropped on the rear of the structures. Not a wall was standing when firemen arrived and flames licked at the pile of debris.

About 500 persons were routed from their homes and Red Cross authorities estimated 50 families were sheltered for the night.

The buildings housed the lunch room and an adjoining jewelry store. The upper stories contained apartments.

The dead included the proprietor of the lunch room, Isadore Pearlman, 50, and three young customers.

The fifth victim was Mrs. Fanny Rudolph, 45, who lived in an apartment above the jewelry store. Her husband, Samuel, 45, suffered cuts and bruises.

The fire marshal's office began an investigation today into the cause of the explosion.

A neighbor across the street, Mrs. May Saltzman, said she saw the buildings collapse. She described it this way:

"The entire building shuddered and flames seemed to shoot right up through it. The front cracked and it came down with an awful noise."

U.S. Farm Prices On Stable Basis

Washington —(AP)—United States Agriculture Secretary Benson, in his first annual report to the president, said today 1953 was a year in which a long decline in farm prices had been halted and a "sound permanent" farm program had been developed.

It also was a year, the secretary said, in which steps were taken to adjust agriculture's production on expanded greatly during the after the war-to peacetime needs.

The report attributed strengthened farm prices in part to stabilizing activities undertaken by the government. He said these activities included full use of price-support programs authorized by Congress, increase in grain storage facilities, emergency aid to farmers in drought areas and a special beef-buying program.

Montréal —(P)—A federal conciliation board hearing a dispute between Canadian railways and their 150,000 non-operating employees resumes sittings today.

The board, under the chairmanship of Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock of the Supreme Court of Canada, began sittings here a month ago but adjourned Feb. 26 to permit both sides to gather more material for their cases.

The unions are seeking fringe benefits covering vacation pay, sick leave and statutory holidays. The railways have estimated the demands would cost them $60,000,000 a year.

Youngsters' Reaction

School Children Impressed By Romeo And Juliet Presentation

Romeo sighed; the audience sighed. Juliet cried out in fear; the audience recoiled from her cry. And over 175 school children from the Sherbrooke area attending the special children's matinee of "Romeo and Juliet" produced by the Bishop's University Dramatics Society Saturday afternoon watched in absorbed attention as the action of Shakespeare's famous tragedy unfolded before them. There were pupils from Sherbrooke High School, Lawrence School, Mitchell School, Lennoxville High School, Stanstead College, Coaticook High School and a contingent of green-clad students from St. Helen's School for Girls at Dunham.

With ages ranging from a mere five to a more lofty fifteen, various reactions to the play could be noted. A pair of little girls, age nine each, watched the ball room scene with critical bobs of the head, but their fingernails and consulted frequently together on some aspect of the scene. They looked at each other in outrage when Romeo kissed Juliet, traced out the scenery with pointing fingers during some of the more tedious speeches, and tugged at each other's sweaters whenever one of them turned her attention from the stage.

The appearance of Benvolio, Mercutio, or the Nurse was the signal for a ripple of pleased comment and everyone sat bolt upright lest they should miss any of the conversation.

Boys, of course, reacted differently from girls. A few of the boys looked guiltily enraptured during the love scenes, but most of them feigned disinterest, picking noses, looking up at the ceiling, or examining their shoes with great care. The girls, on the other hand, appeared completely captured by the marriage of Romeo and Juliet, smiling satisfaction and looking on with dreamy eyes.

Of the children who were agreed on which character they liked best. The two little girls thought the Nurse "so crabby—and you know what, she has only four teeth!" The smallest boy there, age six, declared a preference for Romeo. The youngest onlooker was a little girl five years old, who decided after hurried consultation with her mother that she liked Juliet best.

All were excited at the duelling scenes, and could be seen bouncing up and down in their seats, or standing up to get a better view. There were general chorales of glee when Tybalt died on Romeo's sword, and before that, whispers of regret when Mercutio was killed.

And they were a critical audience, too. One little girl complained in a hoarse whisper that "they don't even make any noise when they kiss," while another declared expertly that "there was too much light for night."

The tomb scene left most of them gasping in amazement, and there were general whispers of surprise, and in a few cases dissent, when Juliet awakened from her sleep, because by that time, it seemed to be universally agreed that Juliet was dead.

However, in spite of the fact that the youthful critics occasionally got lost in the high language and the plot, there could be no question that they enjoyed the whole spectacle. It was one of the few times that Shakespeare was ever applauded with shrill whistles of favour.

March Comes Like Lamb With Warmth And Brilliant Sun

March came in like a lamb today.

It was a quiet, contemplative lamb which arrived to usher in the windy month—a lamb standing in the rich sunshine, his wool unruffled by more than a passing breeze.

The first day of March saw a continuation of the mildness which has characterized the last few days with the thermometer standing in the thirties.

Main streets were for the most part clear with some few almost as dry as in summertime. Hard layers of dirt-covered ice still covered surfaces of side streets and residential sections. Motorists and walkers had to preserve a wary eye for slippery spots.

More windows were seen open this morning and some homes were getting an early airing. The time had arrived, householders seemed to have concluded, when the air could be welcomed by more than a few inches of window concession.

There was not a city throughout the country which reported a mercury lower than ten degrees above.

The thirties were the rule with Toronto reporting an almost record maximum for this time, of 54 and St. John, N.B., following not far behind, with 50.

Probabilities were that the sunny, mild weather would be replaced within a few more hours by increasing cloudiness and coolness.

Police Recover Newsie's Cycle

There is one newspaper delivery boy who is unusually happy today. Police have notified Eddie Anderson, 119 Wellington street north, that his bicycle, stolen from in front of the Record Office on Friday afternoon, has been recovered.

The cycle, a maroon and white model, is Eddie's necessary helper on his route. Police were notified of its disappearance on Friday and had been keeping a lookout since. An alert constable, knowing its serial number, found the bike abandoned in the East Ward in the early hours this morning.

Manslaughter Charge Results From Accident

Fernand Gilbert, 25, of Asbestos, was charged with manslaughter on Saturday, before Court Clerk Jean-Marie Grogan, in connection with the death early Saturday morning of Viateur Chartrand, 19, also of Asbestos.

Gilbert was driving along Manville street at 4:00 a.m. on Saturday morning when he failed to make the turn onto St. Aime street. He struck Chartrand and went into a field landing against some trees. An ambulance was called and the victim was removed to St. Mary's Hospital where Dr. Cooper ordered that he be taken to Sherbrooke. Chartrand died on the way.

A coroner's inquest was held at 10:00 a.m. on Saturday by Dr. Le-tendre and Gilbert was held criminally responsible for the death of Chartrand.

Flames Damage New Property In North Ward

Fire broke out early Sunday morning at 1400 Ontario Street in a house owned by Dr. A. A. Mignault. The house was under construction and the fire is said to have started with an explosion in a temporary oil furnace. The alarm was turned in by two alert citizens passing by at 6:25 a.m.

After the explosion flames spread to the cellar ceiling and burst through the windows, running up the outside wall to the roof. The call was answered by firemen from No. 1 fire station under the direction of Chief Percy Donahue.

Legion Branch March Of Dimes Drive On Friday

The Canadian Legion March of Dimes is to be held in Sherbrooke on Friday and Saturday, March 5th and 6th. This drive will take the form of a house-to-house canvass of the city and Lennoxville on these dates.

The "March of Dimes" is in aid of the Canadian Foundation for Poliomyelitis, Canadian Legion Quebec Chapter. Money collected in this drive is used for the purchase of equipment for the care and treatment of victims of the dread scourge polio. In the past few years equipment has been obtained for the St. Vincent de Paul and Sherbrooke Hospitals, and it is hoped that, with the continued support of the public, similar equipment may be obtained for the Hotel Dieu Hospital.

Additional equipment is also needed by the other two hospitals if they are to be ever called upon in the event of an epidemic of polio. Part of the money collected this year is to be spent on the conversion of blood plasma into gamma globulin, a serum used in the treatment of polio. This blood has to be purchased and converted for use in this manner.

Several local organizations have volunteered to help in the canvass, but more help is needed. Any individual wishing to help is asked to contact the local Legion Branch at 3-1540, stating what time they would be available, and which part of the city they would like to work in. Full details will be published on Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Public Speaking Award Winners At St. Patrick's

Public speaking, an art which so many persons would like to possess, is receiving unlimited support at St. Patrick's Academy this year. This fact was much in evidence this week when ten students of the high school section participated in a public speaking contest at the Academy. Joseph Niles, aged 14, emerged the victor, having chosen as his topic "The History of Fort Beauséjour in Nova Scotia." Among those who participated in the contest were: John Harvel, Edmund Marianne, Eddie Wodowiak, John Moore, Ronald McCone and Guy Lafond.

Joseph Niles will represent St. Patrick's Academy in the forthcoming Rotary public speaking contest. Next month several members of the St. Patrick's Academy public speaking class will participate in the annual Optimist Club public speaking contest. The winner of this contest will represent the Sherbrooke Optimists at the district convention being held the latter part of May in Burlington, Vt. Should the Sherbrooke contestant be successful in winning the district championship, he will represent district 28 at the International Optimist Convention scheduled for Houston, Texas, in June.

Rev. Brother Walsh, principal of St. Patrick's Academy, is sparing no effort in the promotion of public speaking at the Academy. The St. Patrick's Academy Old Boys' Association has donated a trophy which goes to the top public speaking winner at the Academy each year.

Judges for the contest were: Rev. Brother Kevin, St. Patrick's Academy, John Maher and Henry Crochere, secretary-treasurer of the St. Patrick's Academy Old Boys' Association.

Education Week At Waterville Has New Theme

Waterville, March 1. — The relations of business to the scholar will be the dominant theme of Education Week at Waterville this year and the committee in charge have organized a special program following along these lines.

The first important item on the program is a visit of the pupils of the Waterville-Compton School to the plant of the American Sponge Rubber Company. Through the generosity of a number of local business men, an essay contest will be held, the pupils giving their impressions of the plant visit.

At noon on Friday, there will be a general assembly of students in the plant cafeteria for the noon-day meal at which a number of local business and professional men will be present to address the pupils of "The Value of Education in Business."

Following this, the visitors will be taken on an inspection tour of the new school.

Lennoxville Members Charged With Program For Snow Shoe Club Event

The Sherbrooke Snow Shoe Club held its final ladies' event of the year when 300 persons sat down to a chicken-pie supper at the clubhouse on Saturday evening.

"Lennoxville Highlights" was the title of the night and the members from the "suburbs" did themselves up proud with an outstanding program which included a few words from Mayor Lee Watson and a banjo-playing alderman, Cecil Dougherty.

Led by master-of-ceremonies Herb Wark the first number was a piano accordion solo by Ken Birch. Not an import because he married a Lennoxville girl, Three Lennoxvilleites Howard Woolleton, Norbert Keenan and "Lindy" Lindsow presented a short skit "Tall Tales From The Ozarks." Thelma Crawford rendered a selection of three numbers with Mrs. Robert Bell at the piano. Two imports, Johnny Moors, a tenor with Gault Parker at the piano sang three numbers. Mr. Parker also played a piano solo.

First Vice-President Jim Wark thanked the artists for their fine program. A short sing song prior to the program was led by Assistant Chorister Ernie Kimmis with Giz Gagnon at the piano.

Guests at the head table were: President and Mrs. Bert Noble, First Vice-President and Mrs. Jim Wark, Second Vice-President and Mrs. Bud Mutchler, Secretary and Mrs. Art Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Wark, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Kimmis, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Moors, Mr. Gault Parker, Mrs. A. L. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Lindsow, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Birch, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Woolleton and Rev. and Mrs. R. C. Tait.

Philip Robins Elected President Of Sherbrooke Branch Of Bible Society

Tribute to the officers, collectors and subscribers of the Sherbrooke branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society was laid last night by Rev. Dr. A. H. O'Neil, speaking at the annual meeting in St. Peter's Memorial Hall. Dr. O'Neil traced the increase in the Word of God over the past 150 years, and said that it was the friends in branches like Sherbrooke, and elsewhere throughout the eastern townships, who made the Society's achievements possible. The speaker, who was heard in Trinity Church, Grace Chapel, and St. Peter's Church during the day, is general secretary of the Society for Canada, and was on his first visit to this area.

Announcement of a district rally in Sherbrooke on September 18 was made by Rev. DeCourcy H. Rayner, district secretary of the Montreal auxiliary. At that time a Service of Witness commemorating the 150th anniversary of the founding of the Bible Society will be held. The speaker will be Rev. W. J. Platt, of London, England, general secretary of the parent society, and formerly a missionary in Africa.

Officers of the Sherbrooke branch were elected as follows: Honorary president, Philip Robins; president, Dr. A. C. Hill; first vice-president, Walter Spansky; second vice-president, Alan Morrison; secretary, Charles Rubie; treasurer, Douglas Armitage; directors, Edward Holgate, Roland Loughheed, Reginald Farmer, Lynn Trussler, Charles Spaulding and Samuel McLean. Representatives of the Salvation Army and the Pentecostal Church are still to be appointed.

Appreciation of the work of the British and Foreign Bible Society was expressed by an American missionary to the Belgian Congo, Rev. Mr. Cross, who was present at the meeting with his wife, and showed a Bible provided in the language used by the African people among whom he works.

Public Speaking Award Winners At St. Patrick's

Public speaking, an art which so many persons would like to possess, is receiving unlimited support at St. Patrick's Academy this year. This fact was much in evidence this week when ten students of the high school section participated in a public speaking contest at the Academy. Joseph Niles, aged 14, emerged the victor, having chosen as his topic "The History of Fort Beauséjour in Nova Scotia." Among those who participated in the contest were: John Harvel, Edmund Marianne, Eddie Wodowiak, John Moore, Ronald McCone and Guy Lafond.

Joseph Niles will represent St. Patrick's Academy in the forthcoming Rotary public speaking contest. Next month several members of the St. Patrick's Academy public speaking class will participate in the annual Optimist Club public speaking contest. The winner of this contest will represent the Sherbrooke Optimists at the district convention being held the latter part of May in Burlington, Vt. Should the Sherbrooke contestant be successful in winning the district championship, he will represent district 28 at the International Optimist Convention scheduled for Houston, Texas, in June.

Rev. Brother Walsh, principal of St. Patrick's Academy, is sparing no effort in the promotion of public speaking at the Academy. The St. Patrick's Academy Old Boys' Association has donated a trophy which goes to the top public speaking winner at the Academy each year.

Judges for the contest were: Rev. Brother Kevin, St. Patrick's Academy, John Maher and Henry Crochere, secretary-treasurer of the St. Patrick's Academy Old Boys' Association.

Junior Chamber Visited Bryants

Members of the Sherbrooke Junior Chamber of Commerce and their friends, numbering about 60, visited the new beverage plant of J. H. Bryant, Limited, on Thursday evening.

Bryants very kindly conducted them on a tour through their most modern factory, explaining in detail each step in the manufacture of their famed lines. The visitors were very much impressed with the colossal machinery and equipment it takes to produce an article as small as a bottle of Coke.

Souvenirs were given each visitor and refreshments were served.

Diverse Red Cross Activities Obtain Chief Support From Voluntary Work

It has often been said that the soldier is a hero during wartime but the forgotten man when the conflict is finished. Governments these days are assuming far greater responsibilities towards veterans than ever before and the Canadian Red Cross Society, which is now conducting a campaign for funds, has been active in giving the old saying the lie.

The Red Cross considers the welfare of veterans and their families one of its foremost concerns. Many veterans, it has been found, never succeed fully in readapting themselves to civilian life. In some instances, the Red Cross helps them out with rent, food, clothing, fuel and medical supplies.

Between 200 and 300 Quebec province veterans are assisted each month.

Visits to veterans in Quebec hospitals average between 4,000 and 5,000 monthly and cigarettes, candy and books are distributed. The main hospitals on the visiting list are the Queen Mary Veterans' Hospital, in Montreal, Ste. Anne de Bellevue Veterans' Hospital, Parc Savard and the Military Hospital in Quebec City and institutions at Senneville, Hull, St. Hyacinthe, Three Rivers and Laval.

At the Queen Mary Hospital there is a Red Cross library all ways open to patients and tended by a full-time librarian, assisted by a volunteer corps. The beautiful Red Cross Lodge at the Ste. Anne hospital contains a large, pleasant living room and a restaurant, providing a club atmosphere for the up-patients, and cost-price meals in the restaurant. This building also includes several bedrooms for relatives and friends visiting the patients.

The many diverse activities of the Red Cross draw most of their support from volunteers. In many branches women volunteers make clothing and other articles needed to help disaster victims, destitute people of other countries and veterans' families, the women in Quebec doing their full share in the preparation of such shipments and home necessities. While the Canadian Society is asked occasionally to send supplies to other countries which may be ravaged by war, floods or famine, the largest portion of the clothing articles, baby layettes, blankets and surgical dressings made in Quebec Red Cross workshops go to disaster victims, veterans and the blood transfusion service in Canada.

The girls of the Red Cross volunteer corps, in their grey uniforms, are to be seen every day on the streets of Montreal, Quebec and Hull. These girls work an average of two or three days a week without remuneration and buy their own uniforms. They distribute cigarettes, sweets and books in veterans' hospitals and help the disabled, blind persons, refugees and crippled children. Corps members welcome and register donors at the blood clinics and act as nurses' aides. They drive Red Cross vehicles. In cases of disaster they are sent to investigate the victims' needs and distribute supplies and help.

EXPLANATION OF MORE DIFFICULT CLUES:

- ACROSS:
- MARRY is best. The clue expressly says "bad-tempered". To MARRY even a comparatively GOOD-tempered man is likely to lead to trouble. The stipulation "bad-tempered" points to MARRY.
 - HEIGHT is best. He will want to know its HEIGHT in connection with his scaffolding, hoisting apparatus, etc. A LARGE status may be erected, but it is not the total HEIGHT that is important.
 - They may SLOW up, of course. A vehicle cannot BLOW up. It is blown up. It is the explosive from time to time. "Blather" means the vehicles themselves, which may BLOW up.
 - HILL is best. The clue says "perpetual". Only a HILL could be classed as perpetual which means "everlasting". A HILL is man-made so could never be everlasting or perpetual.
 - DASH can certainly help you to GET ON, but having plenty of CASH is more like the RESULT of having GOT ON. Furthermore it depends on how you make use of the CASH as to whether or not you get on.
 - BOYS is certainly the better of the two. Without further information it is difficult to suppose what her reaction to the BOSS will be. In many cases the girl will certainly be EMBARRASSED rather than flattered.
 - True of SAW. In some cases SAP is quite difficult to handle.
 - ANTS is best. The field of aesthetics embraced by the term "THE ARTS" is so vast that one can hardly make "a close study of them." "ART" would be better. ANTS is satisfactory. ACTS is too vague.
- DOWN:
- He likes to see them KEEN on improving; but to KEEP on improving they must be prepossessed to be ALREADY improving and we have no evidence of this.
 - ROOFS is best. The clue specifies "palaces". You'd expect to find beautiful ROOFS in many OBSCURE homes. "Palaces" implies a strong suggestion of pretentious architecture, justifying the selection of ROOFS.
 - SHELF is best because the clue says "injured". You can be INJURED when a SHELF falls but you are referred to as WOUNDED, not injured, when a SHELF explodes.
 - HORSES is considered more apt, since HORSES have "points" which are commonly referred to in judging. You are not as likely to refer to the "points" of a HOUSE.
 - REGARD is best. A man who has what it takes to save your life is very unlikely to have done so without an idea of accepting a REWARD and particularly a large REWARD as expressed by "highly". This is all the more reason why you might well REGARD him highly.
 - DEAF is stronger, since this supplies a reason why you might NEED TO MAKE special allowances.

Firm Stand Taken To Protect Forests

For a long time fires have decimated the forests of Eastern Canada their toll running into many millions of dollars. Some of these fires have engulfed communities. They have deprived people of their livelihoods and a large number, it has been proved, have been caused by carelessness on the part of those walking or driving through the woods with smoking, in many instances, to blame.

This is the background of the action taken by the Provincial Government the other day when the Hon. J. S. Bourque, Minister of Lands and Forests, introduced a bill in the Legislative Assembly to ban smoking by those walking or driving through the Quebec forests.

The bill passed the House unanimously. It provides stiff penalties which were subject to a measure of Opposition criticism, not supported later in the vote.

Infractions may be punished by fines ranging from fifty to a thousand dollars. More, anyone convicted may lose a forest travelling permit for the period of one year.

The new law is comprehensive. It even requires that train locomotives, passing through woodlands, shall be provided with effective means of preventing the escape of sparks with a thousand-dollar penalty in the event of failure.

Premier Duplessis described the forests as our only self-renewing physical assets. They protect the soil and prevent floods. Minerals disappear on mining but the forests remain.

"It is not reasonable," the Premier added, "that people should be allowed to go into the woods and toss cigarette butts. Such action endangers the wealth of the race."

Those who have been ruined, blackened forest areas know well what fire can do. One district, for instance, has had two growths go up in smoke within fifty years. As a result no lumber has been taken out; hundreds of men who might have been employed there have never raised an axe. Charred pillars are all that remain of great pines which might have turned the wheels of industry and gone into the making of many homes.

Smoking in the forests has proved too costly a luxury and the Hon. Mr. Bourque and Premier Duplessis are to be congratulated upon handling the problem with a firm hand. Stiff penalties have been provided but it is doubtful whether any other course would prove effective. When lives and livelihoods are at stake the public should welcome a necessary measure and co-operate by self-restraint.

The Way Out Of Turmoil

The last week in Egypt has seen the ousting of General Naguib, front man, popular hero, often considered a moderate. And the last day has seen his triumphant return. There is still great uncertainty in a country, always poor, where most of the people know hunger and disease.

In the same week Adib Shisheky, "the decent dictator," of Syria has fallen. There is great uncertainty in Syria.

Mario Scelba, the tough, resourceful Sicilian whom many in Italy regard as a new hope, has won a Senate vote. He has once more stood up to the Communists, stealing part of their thunder with his leftist program, and his riot police appear to be in effective control of the industrial centres. He must face the Chamber on Tuesday and there is uncertainty in Italy.

France, drained by paying for three wars, has seen no drastic change on the political surface in the last week but there have been 22 Cabinets since the War and political uncertainty is a chronic condition.

In devastated West Germany the government of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, making co-operation with the West a cardinal principle, provides a bright spot in a disturbed scene. Hard work has seen much of a vast rebuilding program completed but the Russians are in Berlin and pressing on the frontiers.

Britain has achieved a large measure of recovery but still has far to go. Spain, with its Franco dictatorship, is tranquil on the surface. In hard-pressed Yugoslavia no one can foretell from day to day the economic or the foreign policy trends.

A world-wide depression, as Washington well knows, would probably see most of Western Europe in the hands of the Communists.

What is the answer?

The emergence of strong men and governments might serve a momentary purpose but they are not enough. Mussolini and Hitler showed their hollowness as disease-delaying expedients. The "cure" was almost as bad as the illness and in its repercussions and effects could hardly have been worse.

More than a temporary shift, more than an expedient is needed.

The Soviet, with all its faults and inhumanities, has behind it the Power of an Idea. This, the positive image of brotherhood, is served badly in practice and distorted fantastically, but in Red eyes it still provides a springboard to world domination. Freedom, on the Western side, is an ideal which may do more to defeat the Soviet than all the weapons in the growing arsenal of Science. For personal freedom can never thrive under a system which must inevitably lead to a "1984" end.

But there is a Greater Idea — that which the Communists have spurned.

The time is more than ripe for a spiritual upsurge if we are not to enter the Dark Age which some have prophesied. Two wars in an "enlightened century" have proved the emptiness of the Material resort.

What other hope is there save a general crusade of faith, the answer to more than Communism and the ills of the economic body?

Practical thinkers of a sceptical age may see such an upsurge as the least likely of developments but it may come in our time.

U.S. SET FOR TALKATHON AT AMERICAN STATES CONFERENCE

Washington — (NEA) — Of the 28 items on agenda for the tenth meeting of the Organization of American States, opening at Caracas, Venezuela, on March 1, only one subject has been proposed for discussion by the United States. This is Item Five — Intervention of International Communism in the American Republics.

It is something of an ironical touch that while the United States delegation wants to talk about this more than anything else, the other sister republics to the South want to take about everything else but that.

The center of interest on the Communist issue is, of course, Guatemala, where a fellow-travelling government has openly embraced Communists who are thumbing their nose at Uncle Sam and getting away with it. Some of the Latin-American diplomats apparently feel that the U.S. put this Item Five on the agenda just to take a whack at Guatemala. To the United States, the important point is to awaken the other republics to the danger of communism in the Americas. Frankly, however, there is little real hope that anything will be done about it at Caracas.

Aside from this one issue of international communism, the Inter-American Conference will present pretty much of an open field for debate on anything. There are on vital issues. Most of the important problems were settled with the adoption of the Inter-American Charter at Bogota, Colombia, five years ago.

For A Better Look

What now comes up is a second look, and possible refinement of the Bogota Pact — not to be confused with the Charter — for Inter-American defense against aggression by Latin-American countries. It has been ratified by only eight of the 21 countries. A further look into the operation of the Inter-American Peace Committee — to settle disputes between American republics by peaceful means — is also on the agenda.

A number of extraneous, Latin-American local squabbles may take up a lot of conference time. President Figueres of Costa Rica has been saying he would not attend the conference while Venezuela held so many political prisoners in its jails. This has annoyed the host country. It was announced recently that Costa Rica would not attend. No official reason was given.

There is also the long-standing dispute between Peru and Colombia over Victoria Haya de la Torre, the Peruvian political leader. Five years ago he was granted asylum in the Colombian embassy at Lima, Peru. The Peruvians want him and the Colombians won't give him up. Peaceful settlement of this dispute has so far been a flop.

Economic questions are of real importance to all countries. Fortunately for Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who will head the U.S. delegation to Caracas if he gets away from Germany in time, this country is now prepared to talk about such things. A year ago it would not have been possible. The Eisenhower administration had not then clarified its Latin-American policies.

WHEN STEALING ISN'T THEFT

Ottawa Journal

We have been thinking over a ruling made the other day in a Montreal court. A man employed by a laundry was charged with keeping money he had collected from patrons of that establishment. The man argued that he was entitled to keep it because the laundry owed him more in commissions and back pay than the amount involved. The judge said the accused was right and dismissed the charge.

This leaves a good many points shrouded in fog. If for example A works for B and B owes A $29 in wages would A be justified in taking $28.99 from the till and leaving a note that he had resigned? If there is no agreement on how much and how much, must the issue be contested around a charge of theft? Isn't this confusing the functions of civil and criminal courts, making the latter perform the functions more natural to the former? We doubt that the Montreal judge will find himself meeting general support. The moralists will disagree with his conclusions, and all those who dislike the spectacle, for one reason or another, of the courts being turned into collection agencies or into tribunals for the checking of accounts.

DEVELOPMENT OF THE JET

Times-Journal, St. Thomas
The British Government has made extensive and determined efforts to locate the Comet jet plane that exploded in mid-air a few months ago and sank in the Mediterranean Sea. It was reported Monday that naval searches had found it and they have to make tremendous efforts to fish it up so that the experts can find if the ship was blown up by a time bomb, or due to some mechanical defect. As this is not the first Comet that has been lost the operating company simply must find out if there is a remediable cause.

Considering the vast number of miles travelled at terrific speeds and over as much as 2,000 miles without stopping, the Comets have a remarkable record of safety. Yet, notwithstanding that, some 50 mechanical adjustments have been made since the first scheduled journey, and that was why the new liner of the skies had such a relatively safe record.

If plane designers were discouraged by failures, some of them costly both in lives and money, aviation would be far behind its present status. The same could be applied to the railroad and the automobile. There were many fatalities in the early years of each due to defects, and the remedies were only ascertained through experience. The British aviation industry has forged far ahead of other nations because the companies producing planes were subsidized by the government. American companies have not received any financial aid from the United States Government. Whatever the have achieved has been done at their own expense, which means the money invested in them by the public, but jet experiment is so costly that they have shied away from it. They have chiefly depended on British experience.

Nevertheless, word comes that the Boeing Company has undertaken to spend $20,000,000 on building jet planes. It does not seem right that a commercial company should spend that amount in trying to put American aviation in the forefront. If it succeeds, probably in a few years of building and flying, the company may get orders from all the American airlines. Jet exploration is a very costly business, and the company that is ahead has a great advantage because it can keep on trying to produce something better. Fine as the best British jets are today, there are even now better ones still — bigger, faster and safer — on the drawing-boards, that will not be ready for operation for two years.

WORKING WIVES

Windsor Star

Dr. J. R. Mutchmor, secretary of the United Church's Board of Evangelism, has called attention to a development which, he believes, interferes with a normal and ideal life. It is that of brides working after their marriage.

It is one which has its impetus during World War II, when the shortage of labor made it a patriotic duty of women to take employment if possible. As many of their menfolk were in uniform, this didn't have so many repercussions on the home life.

The practice of wives working period, during which good opportunity for employment, have been available. Inflation, with its impact on the cost of living, has been an economic impetus. Many families have found it necessary to have more than one income if a decent standard of living is to be had.

But the social consequences of wives working can be serious. They may show up in children not having the proper care or training. And, also, in the number of broken homes.

There is nothing particularly new in wives undertaking work outside the strictly domestic sphere. In pioneer days, and to an extent even yet, farm women helped their husbands by looking

Everything's Same

By E. A. HOUGHTON

McClure Syndicate — WNU Features.

When John came into the kitchen from his room upstairs, they knew the homecoming was a failure. He smiled, but it wasn't the boyish eager grin of eighteen months ago. It was more like the automatic smile of a tired young stranger who was trying to please, trying to seem glad to be home again.

"Gee, Mom, my room—not a thing's been changed," he said slowly. "Everything's almost the same as—"

He stopped and Mathilda, watching her son's lips tighten and his eyes fall, glanced from him to his father, Harvey, silent but tense, sat stiffly in his rocker and stared out the window. "Everything's almost the same—" The words echoed through the room. But of course it wasn't. Helen was married now and Eddie, who really shared the little room with John, was somewhere in the South Pacific. Nothing really had been the same since the war broke out.

Yet from John's letters Mathilda and Harvey had known he was hoping desperately it would be. "I'm almost afraid to come home," he wrote once just before his furlough. "I'm afraid things will be so different."

That was why they had tried—why the little upstairs room had been reopened, why the old penants were tacked again on the walls, why the 22 had been oiled and placed in its spot behind the kitchen stove along with the high-topped hunting boots, just as they used to be.

Harvey shifted uneasily in his chair. Then he rose, crossed the room and commenced pulling on his galoshes. His voice was calm. "Come on, John. There's someone down in the barn that's mighty anxious to see you."

The son turned his head "Nellie?"

Harvey stamped his feet on the hard floor and nodded, smiling. The young soldier was silent as his mother pulled the coats from the row of hooks on the wall beside the stove. He took the heavy army coat she gave him, and she offered an ulster to his father.

"Not that one, Mathilda," his father growled. "The red one."

Mathilda frowned, placed the coat on the hook and handed him his hunting coat. "Smelly old thing," she fussed. "I don't see why you never wear the good one no more."

Harvey merely grunted as he pulled on the jacket and led his son to the door. Walking toward the barn neither had anything to say. But as they approached it John spoke suddenly: "I bet she doesn't even remember me."

"That's where you're wrong, son," Harvey answered firmly with a scornful frown. "She's been pining for you ever since you left—won't let anyone else even touch her. Why, I have to let her out in the pasture to clean her stall."

"Yeah?" John's tone was politely skeptical. "Wait here a second, son," the old man said at the barn door. "and let me show you. Watch."

John stepped out of sight of the horse as his father approached Nellie. On seeing the red-coated figure the young mare reared quickly, whinnied and retreated to the rear.

Harvey came back to John, smiling. "See?" he said triumphantly. "Now, you try it."

There was a tense expression about the young man's mouth as he stepped forward. From the father topped on quietly. The horse whinnied again, reared toward the soldier and poked his muzzle into the khaki collar. John's hands went up and stroked the soft wet nose. "Hello, Nellie," he murmured warmly. "You do remember—don't you?"

Harvey was happy as he went back into the kitchen. Mathilda threw him an inquiring glance, and Harvey motioned her to the window. Side by side, through the frosted glass they saw John lead the mare from the barn, mount her unsaddled, just as he used to do, and then horse and rider galloped down the lane.

As he passed the house John turned, waved and grinned the old boyish grin.

There, they knew then, was the same after all.

The stove sizzled. The room was pleasantly warm. Mathilda turned after the poultry and doing many other chores, some even working in the field. And, in the earlier days of business, wives often assisted their husbands in the keeping of stores, etc.

There is, however, a difference between that and what is the practice now. Women then were working in or near the home, usually in partnership and companionship with their husbands and families. The jobs of most married women today are away from the home, thus interfering with home life. This does entail dangers to the home life of a family. The high costs of living, combined with the desire to have a good living, economically, are chiefly to blame.

excepting only coffee. They would like to have the American market stabilized so that they could earn enough dollars to buy all the industrial machinery they want for their internal development. This is an obsession.

But it is a dangerous booby-trap area for the U.S. All trade agreements have to be made on a bilateral basis. What the Latins seem to want is a multilateral pact that will guarantee them more. Knowing the dangers of a domestic parity price support program for its own farmers, the United States will have to vote against trying to establish this system on an international basis.

Ten agenda items on cultural, social and human rights are expected to consume time and talk, without great accomplishment.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

The sombre notes of the Last Post sounded through the House of Commons yesterday when tribute was paid and a bronze memorial unveiled to the memory of Lieut.-Col. George Harold Baker, member for Brum and first Canadian parliamentarian to give his life overseas during the Great War.

The Hon. J. L. Perron, Quebec minister of roads, has announced plans to plant miles of trees along highway borders of the province.

E. W. Hay, Mayor of St. John's, and long a colorful Eastern Townships figure, died this week.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Government Leader in the Senate, has criticized a bill to legalize sweepstakes, before the Senate, as leading to "plain, unadulterated gambling."

Ten Years Ago
German troops, armed with new "secret weapon" tanks, loaded with explosives, have launched new assaults against the Allies' Anzio bridgehead in Italy.

to her husband, sniffed and said on scolding voice, "Harvey, take off that dirty old hunting jacket. Heavens, it smells like a stable!" Harvey walked to the row of hooks, pulled off the coat and placed it on the rack tenderly, as if it were an old friend. "It oughta smell a little bit like horses," Mathilda, he said. "You see, I've been whippin' poor old Nellie with it every day for a month!"

SPONGY BARK

The bark of the giant Sequoia tree is not hard and tough, as might be expected. It is so soft as to be quite spongy, yet fire seems unable to penetrate it, while insects dislike it as much as insect powder. The tree's greatest enemy is man.

INDIAN NAME

Nipigon lake in Ontario's Thunder Bay district was named from an Indian word meaning "deep clear water."

Colored Bulbs

Flame tint bulbs burn up light. Amber-orange and flame tint bulbs give a warm glow, but they steal light. To get more light, replace them with inside frosted bulbs of the same wattage or plain bulbs covered by small shades.

George Washington never read his Farewell Address in public. Full of political wisdom and valuable advice, the document was dated Sept. 17, 1796, and first was printed in a Philadelphia newspaper.

Jacoby On Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY

DOUBLE OF LOW CONTRACTS

The bread and butter of the doubling business is the double of a low contract. This statement, a quotation from my brand-new book, "What's New in Bridge," introduces the highly important subject of Doubles of Low Contracts.

The hand shown today, also taken from the book, gives a typical example. This is the sort of situation that occurs in play several times per session.

East opened the bidding with one spade, and South made an overcall of two clubs. West happened to be an expert, so he doubled.

It doesn't look like a killer's double, does it? The average player would probably bid instead of doubling, and South would be off the hook. West might wind up playing the hand at game in hearts or no-trump or spades but might even stop at a part score. The double is more lucrative.

Let's suppose that West doubles and everybody passes. West opens the nine of spades, dummy covers with the ten, and East wins with the jack. East returns the jack of hearts. South puts up the king, and West takes the ace and queen of hearts.

West then leads his remaining spade, and East wins another finesse. East cashes the ten of hearts and leads the king of diamonds. The fall of the cards is highly revealing, so East cashes the queen of diamonds.

By now the defenders have picked the corpse clean. South is down to his trumps, and a cold winter wind is blowing. East leads the ace of spades, and South dares not ruff high. (If he does, he will surely lose two trump tricks to West.)

South therefore ruffs with the eight, and West overruffs with the nine. West leads the thirteenth heart, and East obligingly "uppercuts" by ruffing with the ten of clubs. South must overruff, and now West is assured of his second trump trick.

South is down four. It doesn't matter who's vulnerable; the penalty is worth more than the game that East-West might or might not bid.

CARD SENSE

Q—With both sides vulnerable, the bidding has been:

North East South West
1 Diamond 1 Spade
You, South, hold: Spades A-6, Hearts 5-2, Diamonds K-9-5, Clubs A-K-Q-J-4-2. What do you do?

A—Bid three clubs. There may be a slam in clubs if your partner has good diamond suit and the ace of hearts. It would be cowardly to settle immediately for game in no-trump.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades A-6, Hearts 5-2, Diamonds K-9-5, Clubs A-K-Q-J-4-2. What do you do?

Young Players To Join In Opening Of Border Arena

Rock Island, March 1 — The sale of tickets for the hockey game tomorrow evening to mark the opening of the new Border Arena is progressing apace.

The game will feature "The Rocket" Maurice Richard, with the possibility that Butch Bouchard and the famous Bellevue of the Montreal Canadiens will play with the local Butterfield team, reinforced by other players from the Massawippi Valley League, against the Montreal Royals.

Great enthusiasm is being shown in this event, especially by the local junior hockey teams as the Montreal Royals have asked these young lads to skate with them on the ice, in their full hockey outfits, thus giving encouragement to future hockey players.

Without a doubt these young hockey teams will pick up some ideas from the game, and although the boys have played some very fine exhibition games this winter at the Arena and elsewhere, very likely from now on imitations of the "Montreal teams" will be in evidence.

Reception Given Newlyweds At St. Elie d'Orford

St. Elie d'Orford, March 1.—A reception for Mr. and Mrs. Neil Gautrey of this district was given in the St. Elie d'Orford Parish Hall by Mr. Fred Gautrey, father of the groom. Miss Grace Betty Mitchell, daughter of Mrs. John Mitchell, and the late Mr. John Mitchell, Mrs. Mitchell is now Mrs. Wilfred Whiteher, and both Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Whiteher and their family are residents of this district.

About seventy-five or eighty friends and relations gathered from this and adjoining districts to join in the dancing and fun, and in presenting of gifts to the happy couple. The variety of gifts included a set of dishes, a pressure cooker, electric kettle, electric clock, electric lamp, electric iron, table linen, bedroom linen and beautiful comforter, kitchen linen, pyrex dishes, china, glass and silverware, flatware and kitchen utensils and kitchen ware. These were pleasantly arrayed on a table set up on a stage at one end of the hall, along side of which the Sam Hopper dance orchestra gave forth peppy music for square and round dances, in modern and old time tunes. This was made more enjoyable by being conducted on the floor with the voice of Douglas Barton, a very able caller for square dances, admiring cheers of joy and delight. Dancing started around nine p.m. in the evening with about four sets to each square dance, giving everyone a good chance to enjoy plenty of square dancing.

At midnight lunch was served consisting of coffee, a variety of sandwiches and cakes. A three-tiered white wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom and beautifully decorated with silver motifs, was a gift of their aunt and uncle, sister of the groom's father, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bench, of Lennoxville. Pictures of the couple cutting the cake were taken by Mrs. Norman Armstrong.

There was also a family decorated post-green birthday cake with fifty-nine golden yellow candles for the father of the groom, Fred Gautrey, who was celebrating his fifty-ninth birthday on the same date. Every one of the lighted candles were blown out by him after which there was a great deal of fun and excitement when he was bounced by his friends and relatives. The birthday cake was a gift of his daughter, Alice, Mrs. Stuart McKelvie, Mr. McKelvie and family of Magog. Dancing was continued immediately after the luncheon and lasted into the wee sma' hours of the morning with folks wending their way home through roads which were banked high with snow on each side, a calm, pure white mantle over all the quiet countryside after the storm had subsided augurs a good omen for the bridal couple, to whom it was wished a long, happy serene life by the community.

The couple are at present staying with Fred Gautrey, on the Eighth Range, and Neil Gautrey is employed by Leonard Cabana of the Cabana Service Station on King Street West, who also was a resident of this district over twenty-eight years ago.

long convalescence before he can resume his full activities.

It said that the illness was developing "along a milder course— even though slowly—as is completely to be expected."

His ailment, now in its sixth week, has been tentatively described as gastritis pending x-rays of the Pope's stomach walls and adjoining organs. That has not yet been possible because the pontiff, still on a semi-liquid diet, cannot yet tolerate the barium solution necessary for the x-rays.

Conference Is Pledged U.S. Support

Caracas, Venezuela — (AP) — Latin Americans here for the opening of the 10th inter-American conference today got word from U.S. State Secretary Dulles that the United States' program of friendship with them has been the big northern neighbor's "most solid and dependable policy."

"The friendly association of American states is the oldest foreign policy of the United States and it is still our most solid and dependable policy," he said in a brief airport statement on his arrival for the 20-nation conference.

The first day's program was confined to formalities—a preliminary organization session and a plenary session with Venezuelan President Marcos Perez Jimenez extending the welcome.

The conference is expected to last three to five weeks.

Venezuela took extraordinary security measures to prevent a recurrence of the Communist-blamed rioting in which 1,500 persons were killed during the last inter-American conference, in Bogota, Colombia, in April, 1948.

High, well-guarded barbed wire fences surrounded nearby University City where the conference activities centre. Guards patrolled the airport at Dulles' arrival with his party of 15 experts on Latin America. Perez Jimenez sent his own automobile, which has bullet-resistant windows, for Dulles, but U.S. ambassador Fletcher Warren said the special protection had not been requested.

Sherbrooke High School Notes

By ALAN TRUSSLER

Yesterday morning Leslie Marcus and Brenda Beck of Grade XIA and Virginia Kennett of Grade XA were the proud winners of the Senior Public Contest staged in the auditorium. Eight speakers representing the two senior grades delivered their speeches to the entire student body and staff.

To get the contest under way the chairman, Caryl Littler called upon the Student Council president, Charles Bennett, who in turn conducted the devotional exercises. Following this the speakers were heard after short introductions by the chairman.

According to Ronnie Knapp, the first speaker, "This is a Woman's World" and from the strong arguments on the subject who knows, it might be a true supposition. Perhaps the main gist of the topic boiled down to the fact that the woman is succeeding in taking the "males" place. In concluding Ron gave the following warning to the "men" present. "Be careful men, keep on fighting, or we might be extinct."

Myrna Shufelt expressed her views on the position of the "teen ager" in today's society by answering the question "If you ask me?" In her speech she stressed the importance of the teenager and gave her true definition of what he or she was.

The winner, Leslie Marcus, described his recent trip down the corridors of time by telling us "The Paintings in the Corridor of Time." He vividly described the various portraits of men that have been placed in history to live forever. From the biblical character Moses to that renowned political figure, Churchill, perhaps the highlights of history were presented by portraits. In concluding Leslie remarked, "Many more pictures will be added in the future and I hope to see them on my next trip."

Some valuable advice was secured from Virginia Kennett's speech which may prove invaluable to many students in school who in a short while will be finished and out into the working world earning their "bread and butter." Spare time jobs, according to Virginia, are an excellent means of finding out which field of endeavor is best suited to us. Such jobs also "help us to get along with others."

Charlie Warner took a firm stand for the "men folk" at S.H.S., by talking on "It's a Man's World." Concerning women in the matter he stated: "We can see a woman's faults better than they can." Charles went on to relate several humorous incidents which inevitably proved to us this was truly a man's world.

One of the less humorous and more serious speeches was entitled "Democratic Privileges and Duties" given by Ian Neelley. Concerning the "Red Hammer and Sickle Menace" Ian stated "their only strength is in the power of spreading their doctrines throughout the land." In concluding Ian stated that as citizens of a democracy we must "make certain that Communism will never come to Canada."

"Sportsmanship," the title of the speech by Christine Wilcox, seemed to draw much interest from all students, athletic and non-athletic. Christine believes "What a pity it is to see a game be thrown away" because of poor sportsmanship. She went on outlining the factors pertaining to the subject and concluded with the words "A sportsman is an ambassador wherever he is."

Concerning teenagers the final speaker, Brenda Beck stated "In spite of all our shortcomings we will grow up to be the leaders of tomorrow." She outlined the duties of the modern teenager by means of illustrations and quotations, which though ancient in origin, bear the same idea, "teenagers will always be the same."

On hand to judge these speakers were five members of the staff, Mr. Gale, Miss MacKenzie, Mrs. Beattie, Mrs. Conley and Mrs. Caswell. The boys chosen will represent the school at the Rotary Club contest on Tuesday night while the other winners will be the school's representatives at the Business and Professional Women's Club, a week from Monday.

Amarillo, Tex.—(AP)—While hymns were being sung in the Temple Baptist church here Sunday a thief hidden in the floor under the pulpit swiped the $870 Sunday school offering.

The thief had cut a hole in the floor of the rostrum directly under the pulpit. From beneath the floor he was able to reach up to the shelf in the base of the pulpit where the offering is placed by ushers. He escaped through a small door which gives access to the space under the pulpit.

It was believed the thief already was hiding under the rostrum when the service started.

OBITUARIES

MRS. JOHN FRASER, OF LEEDS VILLAGE

Leeds Village, March 1 — On the morning of February 4 the community of Leeds was saddened by the passing of a highly respected citizen in the person of Mrs. Margaret Jane Fraser, wife of the late John Fraser, in her 95th year.

Born in East Broughton on August 28, 1859, she was the second daughter of the late Rodger Hopper and his wife Sarah (Rinehart) Hopper, being one of a family of thirteen.

She was united in marriage to John Fraser, also of East Broughton, on August 4, 1879, who predeceased her September 20, 1923. Of this union were born five children: Melinda, who died at the age of 4 in 1883; Luella, Mrs. John Chamney, who predeceased her in June 20, 1946; a baby girl who died in infancy in 1890; Hedley and Everett Fraser, with whom she made her home on the old home farm where she came as a bride.

Mrs. Fraser enjoyed good health and was very active, except the last year of her life. She was tenderly cared for by her sons and daughter-in-law, and was beloved by her many friends and neighbors for her many acts of kindness and her helping hand in time of need. The memories of her "Christian Life" and cheerful disposition will be cherished by all who knew her.

The funeral service, which was largely attended, was held at her late home on February 7, conducted by Mr. Irvin Wells, assisted by Mr. Keith Jackson. Two favorite hymns of the deceased were sung, "A Little While to Bear the Cross," and "Called Home to Rest". The organist was Miss Ruby Harper.

She was laid to rest in the family plot in St. James Cemetery, Leeds Village. The committal service was conducted by Rev. T. W. Tyson, of Lennoxville.

The bearers were Samuel Hopper, George Hopper, Alex Hutchison, James Miles, Lloyd Oliver and Clarence Gillanders.

She leaves to mourn her passing her two sons Hedley and Everett, of Leeds; her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Myrtle Chamney; three great-grandchildren, William, Dale and Luella Anne Chamney, all of Red Deer, Alberta. Her only grandson, William John Chamney, predeceased her June 17, 1952, being accidentally drowned at Lacombe, Alberta. Also surviving are a sister, Lorinda, Mrs. John Anderson, of Boston, Mass., and many nephews, nieces and cousins.

Those from a distance attending the funeral were Mrs. Albert Hall, Lennoxville; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hopper, Mr. and Mrs. George Hopper, Mr. Arthur Hopper, Miss Eleanor Hopper, all of Waterloo; Mrs. Ralph Cheal, of North Hatley; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Miles, Lennoxville; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Worden and family, Mr. John Cruickshank, Mrs. Albert Carl, Mr. and Mrs. Fred George, all of Inverness; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Miles, Mr. John Miles, Mr. James Miles, of Rectory Hill; Mr. William Hutchison and Mr. Clarence Gillanders, of Theford Mines.

DANIEL ASHTON, OF WARDEN

Warden, March 1 — Mr. Daniel Ashton passed away suddenly on February 10, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Croft Caw, with whom he had resided for several months. Having been in his usual good health his sudden death came as a shock to his friends.

Mr. Ashton, who was in his 83rd year, was the third son of the late Thomas Ashton and his wife, Almira Runkell, and was born and spent his early years near Warden.

For several years he was employed by the C. V. Railway Co., and later went to Lowell, Mass., where he lived for over fifty years. There he was married to Gladys Kline, Martin who predeceased him about ten years ago while living at Keteval.

Since then Mr. Ashton had made his home in this vicinity. He was one of a family of eight children all having predeceased him.

The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon from the Ledoux Funeral Home, in Waterloo, with

"Under the Dryer"

By BETTY HUGHES

You can blame this entire column on Marlene Dietrich. The young husband of a famous actress returned from Las Vegas recently, wild with enthusiasm about the ultra-glamorous grandmother's youthfulness and beauty. After a few hours of his wife's praise, his aged mother-in-law said: "How DOES she do it?"

And as we don't profess to know all the answers (having heard that a girl who does, seldom gets asked), we have scouted around to pick the brains of the qualified to advise us on HOW TO STAY YOUNG — LONGER.

A fashion photographer suggests we watch our mouths, learn to relax them; avoid downward droop of the corners and pursing them. Practice saying: "papa, potatoes, prunes and prisms." A cosmetic adviser: creamy foundation after 30, taking advantage of new hormone and lanolin additions. A rosy-tinted base, powder, lipstick and rouge to offset the tendency to sallowness. A touch of all on eyelids and cheeks.

AFTER MAKEUP IS APPLIED: Regular bedtime facial massage with circular upward rotation always. A well-known Canadian actress whose roles vary from that of Queen Victoria to bobby-soxer, claims we walk with a thud, sit with a slumped back, and sleep with a head on a pillow like a collapsed accordion with the maturity. So far youth's sake, stretch the body, keep chin up, sit tall, and figure it out. Try to get a little spring into your walking pace without imitating a pogo stick.

Confidence-wise, it involves many things. Hair condition, color and style. If you are 40 or over and have fine-tuning your top-knot, you might do well to let the color down gently a shade or so and avoid the too-black or too-blond tones. On the other hand, if you have been prudently avoiding a color-let, do consider it as another cosmetic. Your hair stylist will design a becoming color in keeping with the current vogue for distinctive, short, feminine hair-dos. There are special permanent cold waves by Helene Curtis, designed to restore protein and natural oils to mature hair... and regular restoration shampoos to protect its lustre. BUT ABOVE ALL... keep your curiosity alive, buy a frivolous hat and keep your funny-bone well-oiled.

For if life doesn't begin at 40—perhaps it begins to make sense?

Pearce, of Montreal West. Rev. John G. Pearce, brother of the bridegroom, performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. C. C. Campbell. Mr. G. W. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. John A. T. Martin, as matron of honor, with her cousin, Mrs. T. R. Brooks of Philadelphia, and Mrs. T. R. Identically dressed in ballerina frocks of grey and white, the bridesmaids were the bride's three attendants. Their dresses were fashioned with deep draped V shaped necklines and three quarter length sleeves and the circular crinoline skirts were caught at one side with huge matching bows. They wore small veiled copper velvet caps and carried matching muffs, to which were pinned clusters of Goldilocks and Sweetheart roses.

Schubert Club
In Tribute To
Mrs. L. E. Codere

The Schubert Music Club held its February meeting in St. Peter's Church Hall, with president, Mrs. Gerald Spafford, conducting the business meeting, which was opened with all members observing a minute of silence in memory of Mrs. L. E. Codere, a most valuable and well-loved member, whose passing has been a tremendous loss to the club—and indeed to all music lovers in the Eastern Townships.

The business meeting was concerned mainly with the Club's annual concert, to be held March 15, at the Sherbrooke High School, and featuring the young Montreal born pianist, William Stevens.

Club members were reminded that his New York debut in January, 1954, was hailed with great enthusiasm and high praise, and that they were fortunate to have the opportunity of hearing now a young artist who is most certainly one of the future "greats."

Ken Halpenny, in charge of tickets for this concert, presented an extremely well-arranged plan for handling the sale of tickets, and each member of the club will have his quota.

The program followed, and was thoroughly enjoyed by the large audience. Guest artists were the "Rand Male Chorus," under the direction of Ernest Howland.

Their singing was well controlled, sensitively styled and modulated and completely delightful. Club members taking part were: Lois Ogilvie, Blanche, coloratura soprano; Ken Halpenny, baritone; Dr. Neil Wilson, pianist! Accompanists for the evening were, Mildred Largie Sampson, Phyllis Armstrong Halpenny and Kenneth Birch.

Hosts for the evening, and receiving were Mrs. J. K. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. K. Halpenny and Dr. Neil Wilson. Refreshments were served after the program, and Mrs. F. H. Bradley and Mrs. Gerald Spafford presided at the table.

The program was as follows:

God Save The Queen.
1.—Droop Not, Young Lover, Handel; Henry and Arms, from "Samson"; Handel; Kenneth Halpenny.

2.—Prelude, Charles Avison; Solifoglio, K. E. Bach; Neil Wilson.

Canadians To Observe Pancake Day Tuesday As Lent Starts

Above — Start of the famous Pancake Day race at Olney, England. This annual event, which originated 500 years ago, takes place next Tuesday (Pancake Day), and rules require the ladies to flip their pancakes three times while running. The winner gets traditional kiss from the bell-ringer of the village church.

PANCAKE DAY: Below — All ready to die in for the Pancake Day feast! Next Tuesday is Pancake Day and youngsters all over the country will be following this young man's enthusiastic example.

Next Tuesday Canadians everywhere will celebrate Pancake Day in real old fashioned style.

Tables will groan with stacks and stacks of delicious syrup-smothered pancakes... just waiting to be eaten with gusto. And over it all will hang an atmosphere of old-time celebration similar to the spirit which shows itself everywhere at Christmas. It's a revival of those good old days, when people really knew how to enjoy themselves... when Pancake Day was a tremendous event... in most cases a public holiday.

In olden times a special Pancake Bell was rung in the churches to announce the start of Pancake Day. Housewives then rushed to prepare their pancakes (then called "Shriving Cakes") according to a prescribed formula. This done, they flocked to their churches to be "shriven" or absolved of their sins. Hence the last day before Lent became "Shrove Tuesday" now popularly known as Pancake Day.

In frying their Pancake Day delicacies, the housewives of yore were taking advantage of an opportunity to use up their accumulated meat fats—then forbidden during Lent. Their pancakes were customarily turned by flipping them into the air and catching them in a skillet. "Throwing the pancake" became a recognized household sport, one of a number of diversions which came to characterize the day.

Gradually Pancake Day began to assume an atmosphere of celebration, and in some parts of the world was referred to as Mardi Gras (Fat Tuesday).

One writer of the period relates that the pancake bell, due to sound at 11 a.m., commonly was rung before nine o'clock "by the help of a knavish sexton," whereupon the entire populace quit work and launched an enthusiastic celebration.

Boys and girls sang jingling little songs as they danced through the town, travelling bands of actors staged special plays, games of shuttlecock and battledore sprang up in the village streets—and over all, hung the tantalizing aroma of pancakes and other treats. The spirit of the day is described in a verse from Poor Robin's Almanac in 1604:

"But hark, I hear the Pancake bell,
And fritters make a gallant

SOUTH DURHAM—

St. James Church Vestry Meeting

South Durham, March 1 — The annual vestry meeting of St. James' Church, South Durham, was held in the church at 3:30 p.m. on January 17. Rev. Harold Church acted as chairman. The meeting was opened with prayer.

Miss Marion Montgomery was nominated as vestry clerk, and the reading of the minutes of the last meeting by Grover Montgomery followed. The financial and cemetery report was read by the secretary-treasurer, Ross Bogie, showing a balance on hand.

The resignation of Elmer Duffy as people's warden resulted in Arthur Johnston being elected to the post. Grover Montgomery was re-nominated as rector's warden by Rev. Harold Church. Others elected were: Ross Bogie, secretary-treasurer; Elmer Duffy, auditor; the year 1954: James Proulx, Stewart Moore, Elmer Duffy, Grover Montgomery, Ernest Johnston, Ross Bogie and Mervin Montgomery, sidesmen.

The rectory committee consists of the wardens, Grover Montgomery, Arthur Johnston, Ross Bogie, Elmer Duffy, Mrs. Calvin Cooie and Miss Irene Montgomery.

The Ladies' Guild presented a very fine report on their activities and a credit balance was shown. The meeting was brought to a close by Rev. Church, who pronounced the benediction.

General Notes

The next church service will be held on March 7, at 10:30 in the morning. Mr. Awcock officiating.

A Guild meeting will take place at the home of Mrs. Grover Montgomery, on March 17, when supper will be served, all members assisting. Everyone is welcome.

The Guild meeting on February 17 was held at the home of Mrs. Grover Montgomery, with eighteen visitors and members attending. The collection amounted to $5.

Mrs. Edwin Armstrong and Mrs. Quincy Richmond were calling on friends in Danville. Mrs. Richmond was also a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dyson.

Mrs. Luna Bean, of Sherbrooke, returned to her home in Sherbrooke after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Armstrong.

Visitors and callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Quincy Richmond include Mrs. Luna Bean, of Sherbrooke, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Armstrong, Mr. W. H. Richmond, Mrs. G. Montgomery and Miss Erma Montgomery.

Miss Jean Leroux, of St. Remi de Napierville, was a week-end guest of Miss Marion Montgomery. Mr. and Mrs. Grover Montgomery spent a day in Montreal.

In the Buckinghamshire village of Olney, housewives still cook their pancakes at the first ringing of the pancake bell. At its second ringing they gather at the village pump, and when the bells peal for a third time, they pelt through the streets, frying pans in hand, to the churchyard. Winner of the race is rewarded with a kiss from the bell-ringer.

Another time-honored Pancake Day custom is enacted each year at Westminster School, London, England. At 11 a.m. a verger of the abbey solemnly emerges from the college kitchen, followed by a cook bearing a large pancake. In the schoolroom the cook skillfully flips the cake in the approved fashion, then throws it into a crowd of milling boys, who fight for possession of the pancake. The lad who emerges from the fray with the biggest chunk is rewarded with the sum of a "guinea" from the abbey fund.

The menfolk and the youngsters in the modern family are always real pancake enthusiasts, and Mom makes a close second when this delicious dish is the order of the day. Whether you call them griddle cakes, hot cakes, flapjacks or just honest-to-goodness pancakes, the appeal is always the same and the cry of "bring on the pancake" is a signal for celebration all round. But pancake enjoyment is not confined to just the standard pancake recipe. There are all kinds of appetizing and easy-to-prepare variations. Some of them are reproduced here. Add a little magic to Pancake Day by trying something different in your kitchen.

First of all—the basic pancake recipe, from which stem a large number of delicious variations:

BASIC PANCAKE RECIPE

Add 2½ cups milk to 2 cups ready-mix for pancakes. Add milk all at once and stir lightly. Some-what lumpy batter makes light, fluffy pancakes. Pour ¼ cup of batter for each pancake onto a hot, lightly greased griddle. Bake to a golden brown, turning only once.

For extra rich pancakes, add one beaten egg and two tablespoons melted shortening to pancake batter.

For buckwheat pancakes use 2½ cups milk to 2 cups ready-mix for buckwheats.

Gingues, Menard And Papineau Tally Two Apiece As Locals Upset East Angus 8-2 In Playoff Drive

Sherbrooke Intermediates turned in their best performance of the season on Saturday night, when 800 fanatical onlookers watched them completely outplay East Angus, to triumph 8-2, in the first tilt of the semi-final playoffs of the Massawippi Valley Hockey League.

It was of general opinion after the game, that this was one of the best hockey games played in the local arena this year, although Sherbrooke was victorious by a big margin. Spectators saw plenty of action, as both clubs displayed good passing, hard checking and some fast skating.

Among those who contributed to the win were Claude Gingues, Gerry Menard, and Guy Papineau, who notched a pair of markers each. Dussault and Hayden, the other two Sherbrooke marksmen, also played outstanding good hockey. Captain Frank Reid of East Angus played his usual good game, accounting for a goal and assisting on another. Gagnon tallied the other East Angus goal.

Labbe, the Sherbrooke custodian and Stickle, the East Angus tender, were in the limelight throughout the game as both exhibited sensational netminding under pressure. Sherbrooke broke a 1-1 deadlock in the second period, while East Angus notched three more, while Sherbrooke held them to one tally in this stanza.

With 36 seconds of play gone in the initial period, Reid scored the first East Angus marker. Skating over the blue line, he let go with a bullet shot that caught the upper left hand corner of Labbe's net. Hayden abolished the short-lived lead as he slapped the disc in at 6:21. On this goal, Morin passed from the corner to Linday, at the East Angus blue line, who in turn relayed to Hayden. Uncovered in front of the nets, Hayden didn't even move, just banged it in.

Menard opened the scoring in the second period, as he scored to give Sherbrooke a 2-1 lead. At the halfway mark, Hayden took a shot on Stickle, and wingman Papineau poked in the rebound for goal No. 3. A scramble in front of the East Angus cage, gave Papineau his second goal. Gingues completed the scoring in this period, as he scored on a passing play with Papineau at 17:44.

One of the most spectacular moments came at the 15:00 mark, when the East Angus club staged a powerful drive. While Menard was serving a hooking penalty, Labbe was sprawled out on the ice with the local players all clustered around in an effort to smother the loose disc. In the meantime, East Angus players repeatedly took shots on the net but the rubber failed to penetrate into the twine. Labbe finally snatched the rubber but, he had to run out 17

University Of Montreal Rallies To Post 53-48 Win Over Bishop's In A Closely-Fought Loop Fixture

Led by Captain Claude Fyfe the University of Montreal Carabins pulled away from a mid-game deadlock against Bishop's Gaifers on Saturday afternoon, to eke out a 53-48 decision at the Lennoxville High School gymnasium in a regular Ottawa-St. Lawrence Valley Basketball Conference contest.

The scoring was evenly distributed throughout all four quarters. The first half was closely played and ended in a 20-20 tie. The Carabins increased pressure and by the third quarter led by two points. In the last quarter the Montrealers widened the gap and finally won by a score of 53-48.

Feeling out each other in the first quarter both teams played scattered basketball. Passing was sloppy and offensive rushes were slow and poorly timed. Don Wells opened fast by scoring four points. Dave Wadsworth bucketed one and Murray Greenwood, a penalty shot. Conrad Fortier was Montreal's high scorer in the first quarter scoring five points. Henri Tardiff scored the other two to tip the score 7-7.

Playing tightened up considerably in the second quarter. John Rochon's coaching payed off in Bishop's superior passing offense. Don Wells, Ted Fullerton, George Mitchell and Dave Wadsworth all scoring two. The Carabins made the mistake of trying to stop Jack Wood who scored three points in penalty shots. Montreal high scorers in this period were Henri Tardiff and Claude Fyfe with five points apiece. Conrad Fortier and Marcelle Dagenais garnered the three remaining points.

Captain Claude Fyfe led a hard hitting Carabin offensive in the second half. Bishop's couldn't keep to glue up the many Carabin rushes as the Gaifers had done in the first half. Again and again

Lennoxville Retain Quebec Challenge Cup

The Lennoxville Curling Club retained the Quebec Curling Club Challenge Cup on Saturday when they won a default over the Etchemin Curling Club of Quebec City, who were unable to make the trip. Saturday marked the tenth time the Lennoxville curlers have defended the cup, winning five games, drawing one and taking the other four by default.

The Quebec Curling Club put the cup up for competition in 1874 and it is believed to be the oldest curling trophy in competition in Canada. In the four score years the cup has been played for Quebec has won and lost it six times, the last time it was in their possession was on January 23, 1923 when they lost it to Ottawa.

The cup first came to the Sherbrooke Curling Club in 1898 when the Sherbrooke Curling Club won it from Ottawa. Sherbrooke won it again in January 1952 and Lennoxville took it to the college town a month later. Approximately fifty members of the club have alternated on the teams that have competed in the events that marked the defence of the trophy in the past two years. Saturday's win by default extended the number of wins but left an air of disappointment in the college town club house. Members of the club were keen to defend the cup on the ice and must now await the next challenge.

Lennoxville has the best record of defending the silverware since Buckingham lost the coveted trophy to Shawinigan Falls in 1940 after holding it for fourteen successive challenges. The all-time record for defending the cup is held by Heather who defended it twenty times between Dec. 28, 1908 and Jan. 20, 1912, losing on that date to Rideau by 33-32.

The suburban curlers are well on their way towards equalling the record of Buckingham and future games will be well worth watching.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT
New York — (AP) — The most significant news to come out of the baseball training camps so far has Leo Durocher, manager of the New York Giants, saying that he already has settled upon a starting line-up in the National League race and intends to stick with it, barring the unforeseen.

Leo means it this might well mean that the senior league is ready to engage in a real old-fashioned three-club donkeybrook instead of the two-club duel between Brooklyn and Milwaukee. The consensus among those who followed the Giants last year was that the club suffered through poor, or at least indifferent, management. Durocher himself has been quoted as saying he did a bad job, which is the most remarkable admission we can recall a manager having made. In many eyes it made Leo a much bigger man.

The manager's biggest mistake was in juggling his players around until they finally got into their place. Of their last 64 games the floundering Giants won only 24.

It was not, of course, all Leo's fault. But it was the player juggling, Leo's critics say, that brought on the collapse.

Infant Shuffle To Blame
The uncertainty and discontent among the Giants began almost from the first day of training, when Durocher announced that he was shifting his field captain, Alvin Dark, from shortstop to second base and installing the slick fielding rookie, Daryl Spencer, at short.

It looked like a sensible move, on the surface, but it never worked out and the club never fully recovered.

It is widely believed that at some time during the present winter the league's senior manager was advised by his club president, Horace Stoneham, that life was real and life was earnest and that he wished him to quit fooling around and think seriously of winning another flag.

If so, Leo listened rapidly. He not only has written down the line-up he says he will land to the umpires on opening day, but he predicts that the return of effervescent Willie Mays from the army to play centre field will perk up his team's spirit in a hurry.

Mays is the ball player he was when he left, the Giants will be there or thereabouts.

Superior School Cops Semi-Finals By Edging Optimist 2-1; Carnegie Wins Midget Title From Superior

Marcel Doucet's Superior School juvenile squad will tangle with Pat Murphy's St. Francis club in the finals for the city juvenile title. On Saturday night at the local arena, Superior won a blazing 2-1 victory over the Optimist Club to clinch the semi-final series.

Team captain, Jacques Dupont, who led the individual scoring standing all season and earned the distinction of being top marksman, fired in the winning tally for Superior at the opening of the third period. His goal climaxed two hard-fought periods, which saw spectacular net-minding by both goalies Cliche of Superior and little Jacques in the Optimist cage.

Playing a 2-out-of-3 series, Optimist captured the first tilt 3-1 but, Superior came back to edge them 3-2 in the second contest. Superior finished second in the standing this year and they will now meet the first place, St. Francis squad, in the finals. This will be a 3-out-of-5 series, which is scheduled to get under way at 7:00 o'clock on Thursday evening at the local arena.

Dononcourt notched the other Superior marker at 14:57 of the initial frame, as scored on a pass from Dupont to give his squad a 1-0 lead. Hamel, who led the Optimist club in scoring in the regular season, evened the count on a rush play shortly after the opening whistle in the middle frame.

Fontaine and Lester assisted on the tying goal. Dupont sent his club into the finals with a goal at 1:10 of the third, as he scored with Lessard and Gagnon assisting.

Optimist carried the burden in the penalty section, having spent 6 minutes in the box, compared to 4 for the winners.

Carnegie Wins
In other minor hockey league games over the week-end, Carnegie defeated the Superior midgets to win the semi-final series of the city league. The 4-1 win, gave Carnegie the right to meet B.C.S. Abenakis, in the finals.

Carnegie posted two wins over the Superior entry, 5-1 and 4-1, but suffered a 6-0 dousing in the third game of the series. Saturday night's contest was the fourth of the 2-out-of-3, the series being extended as the club battled to a 2-2 stalemate in the second game.

Ruel, Gagnon, Lemieux and Langlois paced Carnegie to victory with singles, while Thibeault accounted for the only Superior tally. Thibeault opened the scoring in the middle stanza but Ruel tied the count and the clubs remained at a 1-1 deadlock with play entering the third period.

Three goals in the final period gave Carnegie the win in the fast skating, clean tilt. Only three penalties were handed out, one per period. Therrien of Superior drew a charging penalty in the first period, while teammate Thibeault went off for slashing in the third. Dussault, Carnegie's husky rearguard accounted for the other.

Dex Jolley is the white haired boy with the Perseus smile around Knowlton these days after his double hat trick in Granby against Cowansville in their last league game this week. As usual in this District of Bedford's Senior High School hockey it was Cowansville High and Knowlton High right down to the finish. Knowlton has a slight edge on experience in the defence, both had one good experienced producing line, the second line on Knowlton might have had a bit of an edge, and in goal Cowansville had a brilliant junior in Blair Bowling, but Knowlton had John Delamare a steady dependable performer. So in this last league game Cowansville had to win to tie the league and force a playoff or be eliminated. Cowansville had won the last game in Cowansville completely outplaying the Knowlton boys and their strategy hinged on stopping Jolley.

"Stop Jolley and we've stopped Knowlton," was the cry around the boards, and as they trooped off the rink after that game one of the Cowansville players said, "See, what did I tell you, if you stop him you stop their team."

So one can safely assume that the Big Red players would see that Dex wasn't doing a Greta Garbo on the ice in the last game of that background it was one of the finest performances in senior school hockey in some years time, when the Jolley sang six of his teams seven goals to beat C.H.S. seven to three.

The game was a fine fast one and both teams reserve credit for a clean tie. Cowansville were good sports in losing and the skeleton of old Man alibi was left in the closet for another season and a less worthy team. Tommy Wenkert sank two for the losers and Bob Taylor one, while big Dale Osborne, Knowlton's line defenceman, pushed in the seventh marker. Bruce Tyler in his return to coaching high school hockey did a fine job of rating the team along, and has them right up there for their playoff with St. Lambert this week-end.

As if the Purple weren't in there enough with a senior win Knowlton's intermediates, under the fine care of Bruce Kerwin walloped Cowansville 8-0 one night and on the following night closed off Waterloo 5-3 to break a three way tie for the intermediate Eastern section championship.

Two boys in particular stood head and shoulders over their team mates in the last game in the fine care of Bruce Kerwin walloped Cowansville 8-0 one night and on the following night closed off Waterloo 5-3 to break a three way tie for the intermediate Eastern section championship.

Saints Win Over Senators But Drop Verdict To Braves

Tough Break Gives Braves 2-1 Win Over Locals In Hard-Checking Tilt; Quebec Aces Here Tomorrow Night

A fluke goal yesterday afternoon by Roland Leclerc gave the Braves of Valleyfield a 2-1 win over the Saints and vaulted them by the locals into fourth spot in the Quebec Hockey League before 2,406 fans at the Arena. On Saturday night at Ottawa the Saints squeaked by the Senators 2-1 in a hard fought battle.

The victory gave the Braves a slim one-point advantage over the Saints and it was their second consecutive verdict over the locals who dropped a 4-3 decision last Thursday. The Saints held two games over the Blake men but this week they will play six games commencing here tomorrow evening when the Aces will be the visitors.

Following tomorrow's tilt they hit the road and they don't return until Sunday. In the meantime they travel to Quebec, Chicoutimi, Springfield before returning home to receive Ottawa next Sunday. The only free night this week is Friday.

The Saints have only four more home games, including tomorrow's tilt with the Aces, and seven on the road. The 1954 Quebec season is slated to be drawn next Sunday and the fans are asked to secure their tickets as they are going fast.

Dewar Thompson and Roland Leclerc did the scoring for the Braves while Moe Irving chalked up the lone tally for the Saints. There was no scoring in the opening frame although six penalties were handed out by referee-in-chief George Gravel. The Braves drew four but the Saints failed to capitalize on their opportunities.

In the middle session Bruce Cline broke in on Gerry Cotoir but the local netminder came up with a nice save. Collins got the nod for holding but before the Saints could get organized Moe Irving went off for interfering and this proved costly when Collins returned.

Gordie Haworth set up the play when he drove into the corner after the disc and then relayed it out to Jack Irvine. He in turn let go with a hard shot and the former Sherbrooke player, Thompson, tipped it into the net.

Jim Hay and Kiteout Joannette commenced a little feud of their own. The local rearguard bounced his worship around a little and it seemed the latter resented it. They got the nod for roughing. They returned and a couple of minutes later they went off again and then Needham got the nod for clipping, leaving the Braves two men short.

Gilles Dube carried the disc into Valleyfield territory and rounding the net dropped it back and Moe Irving from the point pulled the trigger on a screened shot to catch the lower corner and even the count.

In the final period the Saints commenced to bombard Paul Leclerc, and Podolsky, Brown and Malo rifled hard shots at him from close range but he held the locals at bay. Bougie got away but Ed

Braves Establish Early Lead And Then Stand Off Aces' Third Period Drive To Post 3-2 Win Saturday

Valleyfield, Que. — (CP) — Valleyfield Braves stood off a last-period rally by Quebec Saturday to edge the Aces 3-2 in a Quebec Hockey League game.

Valleyfield built a 3-0 lead before Quebec penetrated their defenses.

Georges Bougie drove home the Braves first goal at 18:42 of the opening period on a relay from Jack White, while Jean-Paul Bisailon made it 2-0 for Valleyfield halfway through the second stanza.

Bruce Cline then slammed in the winning tally at 6:36 of the final frame on a double assist from Gordie Haworth and Dewar Thompson, before the visitors went into action.

Two goals in quick succession by Gerry Cabana and Michel Labadie put the Aces within striking distance of a tie, but Quebec failed to beat Valleyfield goalster Andre Payette during the last 3½ minutes of play.

Cabana's goal was on passes by Larry Regan and Ludger Tremblay.

On the Isle of Man there's a witchcraft museum. All the tools of the trade are on view, including broomsticks, magic rings, and a recipe for Witches' Ale Brew that's a direct steal from Shakespeare's "Macbeth".

Before brewing, the Bard of Avon's Weird Sisters would screech: "Double, double, toil and trouble". Then they'd hurl in leg of newt, wool of bat, adder's fork, lizard's eye, scale of dragon and nose of Turk. Not a word about yeast, though.

You could try brewing Witches' Ale but dragon's scale is scarce these days. The Turk might object, too. The results are better when a skilled brewmaster takes hops, malt, and the special Molson strain of yeast, brews it, matures it, and pops it into long, green bottles. Better still, and less toil and trouble, buy a dozen or so at your grocer's.

Next witching hour, just whisper "Make Mine Molek's". The vision conjured up is so bewitching even witches will forsake their broomsticks and swoop down for a sip. "Absolutely wizard!" they'll screech.

Canadiens Blast Out With First Period Drive To Notch Four Goals And Then Shut Out Rangers 5-0

Montreal — (CP) — Montreal Canadiens struck for four goals in the first period Saturday night and went on to blank New York Rangers 5-0, giving relief goalie Jacques Plante his third shutout in seven games.

Maurice (Rocket) Richard scored his 34th goal of the season in the big first period and the others went to blank New York Rangers 5-0, giving relief goalie Jacques Plante his third shutout in seven games.

The result put another crimp in the New Yorkers' hopes of making a playoff spot as the regular National Hockey League schedule nears its end. The teams moved on to New York for a Sunday game, the fifth-place Rangers still trailing the idle Boston Bruins by three points while Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs were then deadlocked for second place.

The Rangers defence sagged in the opening period and couldn't cope with Canadiens' outburst of speed and sharp passing deep in the New York end. By the time the Rangers pulled themselves together, Canadiens virtually had the game wrapped up and Plante's fine work was a big factor in the shutout. It was his third in a row on Montreal ice since he took over from the injured Gerry McNeil.

Bones Raleigh, Nick Mickoski, Camille Henry and Doug Bentley turned in good offensive efforts for New York. Late in the final period Bentley sailed in alone on Plante but was outguessed by the goalie. Rangers lost an argument in the second period when they claimed the puck had crossed the goal line on El Kullman's shot.

The crowd of 14,468 had its biggest moments in the opening-period spurge of goals. The fans also gave a big hand to Dickie Moore, whose series of injuries has kept him out of the line-up since last October.

New York — (AP) — Goalie Johnny Bower chalked up his third National Hockey League shutout of the season last night as New York Rangers defeated Montreal Canadiens 2-0 at Madison Square Garden on goals by Camille Henry and Doug Bentley, the latter with only 16 seconds left to play.

The 29-year-old netminder turned aside 38 shots, many of them difficult ones. He previously had blanked Chicago Black Hawks twice.

Just prior to Bentley's clinching tally, the Canadiens had pulled substitute netminder Jacques Plante out of the cage and had a six-man attack going. The 37-year-old veteran then stole the puck at centre ice and came in to slap one into the empty net.

Henry's marker at 8:35 of the first period snapped Plante's unscoring string at 168 minutes. Camille took Wally Hergesheimer's perfect pass to the right of the Canadiens' goal and sent it into the net. Doug Bentley also got an assist on this scoring play.

The victory, their fifth in 13 games against Montreal, boosted the Rangers to within one point of the fourth-place Boston Bruins. New York has nine games left to play.

Brides Of Boundary Communities Honored By Friends And Relatives

Rock Island, March 1 — Mrs. Donald Young, the former Miss Joyce Lyons, of Stanstead, was the honored guest at a pre-nuptial shower on Friday evening, February 19, given by Miss Betty Young and Miss Gladys Smith at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Young, in Beebe, and attended by upwards of fifty relatives and friends.

A chair was artistically decorated in yellow and white, with a table arranged in front of which were piled many prettily wrapped and ribbedon gifts.

Upon arrival, the bride-elect was escorted to the special chair and greetings were exchanged, followed by the opening of the gifts, the guest of honor being assisted by her mother, Mrs. Hector Lyons, of Stanstead, and her mother-in-law-to-be, Mrs. William Young.

Gifts included a chest of flat silverware from the co-workers of her fiancé at the Union Twist Drill Co., wool blankets, linens, pyrex and many other useful articles for her new home.

The bride-elect in her usual charming manner, expressed her appreciation for the pleasant evening. A buffet lunch was served by the hostesses.

Attending from out of town were Mrs. Grace Barnes of Stanhope, grandmother of the bride-elect; Miss Marlene Barnes, also of Stanhope; Mrs. Ira Page, Miss Leslie Page, Derby, Mrs. Kenneth Lyons, East Barre, Vt.; Mrs. Casie Lyons, East Montpelier, Vt.; Mrs. E. J. Barnes, Rock Island; Mrs. Bernard Enright, Miss Therese Lacroix, North Hatley; Mrs. W. D. Baker and Mrs. R. C. Bat-chelder, of Stanstead.

Mrs. Young was again honored when Mrs. E. J. Barnes, of Rock Island, and Mrs. Edward Hyatt, of Stanstead, were hostesses at a post-nuptial shower, given at the home of Mr. Hyatt Tuesday afternoon, February 23.

Mrs. Young was taken by complete surprise upon arrival at the home on an errand to find twenty-five relatives and friends gathered and awaiting her. The group sang "For she's a Jolly Good Fellow" as she was escorted by Mrs. Hyatt to a chair decorated in white and blue.

Little Miss Joyce Hyatt and brother, Gordon, presented her with an attractive basket filled with gifts, which the bride's mother, Mrs. Hector Lyons, and Mrs. William Young assisted her in opening. The parcels revealed many lovely miscellaneous articles for her home. Mrs. Young thanked everyone for the gifts.

Tea was served from the dining table, covered with a lace cloth and centered with a cut glass basket holding narcissi blossoms. Mrs. Lyons and Mrs. Young presided at the table.

SHOWER FOR MISS LAVERS

A delightful shower was held at the home of Miss Joyce Hatch and Miss Glenna Rollins, Rock Island, where Mrs. Merilla Farnham was hostess, assisted by Miss Jean McIntosh, Mrs. Flora Wilson and Mrs. Maynard Rollins, on Monday evening, February 22, the guest of honor being Miss Jean Lavers, of Beebe, an employee in the drafting department of the Union Twist Drill Co., a bride of the week.

A chair, coffee table and basket had been prettily decorated in shades of aqua and rose with white and garlands were suspended from the ceiling to the table and chair, with a balloon over the bride-elect's chair.

Upon the arrival, Miss Lavers was escorted to the chair and, after pleasantries were exchanged, presented with the gifts. She was assisted in opening these by her mother, Mrs. Elsie Lavers, and both of Beebe. After everyone had admired the beautiful miscellaneous articles for the new home, the bride-elect expressed her appreciation to all. It was at this time that the balloon was exploded and the bride-elect "showered" with confetti.

Flash pictures were taken by Miss Glenna Rollins as souvenirs of the happy evening spent by the thirty co-workers and guests. Refreshments were served by the girls.

Amusing games of "Gossip" and "I packed my trunk" were played by the group before the arrival of the honored guest.

Brotherhood Week Observed At Cowansville

Cowansville, March 1 — Brotherhood week, now a national institution in Canada, was observed Tuesday evening by the Cowansville Lions as they met in good numbers at the Ottawa Hotel to hear Mr. Robert Osborne, minister of the United Church of Canada in Sutton, speak on the ideals of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews.

President W. M. "Bill" Stowe presided at the meeting and during the course of the dinner he called for reports from the active committees. The welfare committee reported that although little call for help had been received lately one family of four had appealed for food and clothing since the last meeting, and with the valued assistance of Rev. Gerald Fee of Cowansville a large box of groceries had been delivered and clothing obtained from other sources. Lion Alf. Bibby also reported for the Booster Club committee stating that present returns were most satisfactory and that to date a total of $17,000 had been secured for the new B. and N. P. Hospital at Sweetsburg.

In his introduction of the guest speaker, Lion L. S. Henderson pointed out that with the experience and varied vocations of Mr. Osborne he could not have been better chosen for an address on "Tolerance", which was the main topic. After leaving school he was employed in a textile mill, then there to school teacher, still later serving overseas during the second world war, and now a minister in the United Church.

Opening his remarks Mr. Osborne stated that a great deal of prejudice and lack of tolerance was encouraged in children whose parents would tell them "The black man will bite you if you are not good", or make some derogatory remarks about nationalities, or religious faiths other than their own, bringing them up to believe that no one could be any good but themselves and no beliefs worth while but their own. His advice was to have close friends in all religions, racial and national groups and learn to understand their mode of thinking.

He wound up his comments by telling of his experiences in the war while serving in a tank. The men in the tank were of four nationalities and five religions and never could there be a place which better represented the meaning of the brotherhood of man.

The speaker was thanked by Lion G. A. "Mac" McGerigle.

Lion John Flemming of the Northmount Lions Club in Montreal was a welcome guest.

Prior to closing the meeting it was announced that on March 9th, the Lions would meet jointly at the Ottawa Hotel with the Easter Seal committee of the Order of the Eastern Star. Mr. Busfield will be the guest speaker.
