Huntingdon Fair Rained Out Both Days But Many Exhibits

Greater Support is Needed For Success of Future Fairs—Larger Representation Called For Annual Meeting

The Huntingdon Fair which was held on Thursday and Friday met with disaster in regard to weather. It rained on Wednesday and that was bad enough for those who were preparing exhibits; it rained on Thursday and it came down as a down pour on Friday until after two o'clock. The rain spoilt the fair, spoilt the entry, yet did not keep everyone away from the grounds; so that today the general public has a better idea of just what a bad state of repair the roofs are on most of the buildings. The fact that the bad state of repair the buildings are in was perhaps the most gratifying feature of the fair. The public now knows the fair has to be supported and pushed ahead or it is but a short time before it will be closed up. Without sounding any death knell to the local fair, those who want the fair maintained in Huntingdon will have to take some action. The action that will be necessary must first be shown at the annual meeting of the Agricultural Society. The general public must turn out in numbers and either support the present directorate or elect a directorate that they will support. If the general public have so lost interest in having a fair in Huntingdon, the day is definitely not far distant when a fall fair should be held in Ormstown where a fine exhibition plant is standing idle. Even if Ormstown revived its spring show, a fine fall fair could be held in their show buildings for the benefit of the entire Chateauguay Valley.

The exhibits at the Huntingdon Fair scored a good average, but the way the weather turned out nothing could or was shown to advantage. The vegetable exhibit was really good, large classes and fine specimens were shown. In the home cooking and preserves etc. we happened along when the judge was performing her task of judging preserves. How did you find the exhibits Judge? Well Mr. Gleaner man, the preserves surprise me for wartime. They are all excellent so far as I have gone, here I am at raspberries, and eight entries in the class. The bread was all real good but am sorry to say such could not be the rating for the home cooking. However, we can't blame the cooks for that, it's wartime and they just haven't got the materials or have become accustomed to wartime cooking that they forget they are cooking for exhibition. Those are excellent fruit cakes and the prize sponge cake on exhibition.

Fancy Work

Mrs. J. T. Elder, Ormstown, has judged fancy work at Huntingdon Fair for a good many years. She knows her needlework and judges accordingly. She was well pleased with the quality of the work shown, especially that of the many fine quilts on exhibition. The fancy work exhibit was naturally very small for in these war days people are not doing fancy work but applying their leisure hours to something that will be of more useful service in the way of a war effort, or comfort for someone they know who is overseas.

Flowers showed a bit of a comeback from 1943, although the dry summer made it difficult for the exhibitors to show large blooms in any of the classes. Some beautiful baskets and vases of cut flowers were shown. The season, such as it was meant a great curtailment in the showing of the gay gladioli in profusion. Potted plants put up a fair show and their admirers had a good opportunity to view the entries, which were not over crowded. Among the cut flowers the Gleaner had a display of photographs arranged according to provinces. The pictures were supplied through the courtesy of the Canadian Pacific Railway, whilst the pictures of local interest were supplied by the Gleaner, photographed by W. R. Boyd.

The apple and fruit show was not as extensive as has been the custom of late years. Mr. Smaill was informed that the reason was that the growers were busy picking apples, and that they had not the time and necessary help to put on an exhibit. Fruit showing makes a very fine asset to the fair so we would think the fruit men have here made a suggestion and that is that Huntingdon Fair consider having a one-day fair and make it on Labour Day. Labour Day would likely prove to be a good fair day, for on that date hundreds of people from Montreal spend the day in our midst. A one-day fair would quite likely fill the bill.

Livestock men were hard hit by the weather. The animals could not possibly be shown at their best and the exhibitors themselves were all soaking wet. However, it was surprising to see such a commendable turnout of exhibits. In the Calf Club competitions the weather did not dampen the ardour of the youthful exhibitors. The Kiwanis Club Shield was awarded A. Ouimet.

The presentation of the shield was made by the Kiwanis representatives present from Montreal viz. President Hodgson, Vice-Pres. W. J. Bryant, Messrs. Cowie and Dunbar. Mrs. Bryant was also present.

Another Montrealer was present, and he showed real good sportsmanship when attending the fair, and that was Mr. R. N. Watt. Mr. Watt has acquired a fine property in St. Anicet for his summer home and this year donated a $10 prize to the fair. Amidst heavy rain he went to the open field and saw his class judged and at the same time pro-

McArthur & Son Ayrshires Rank High at Quebec

Major Awards Captured by Cherry Bank's Exhibit in Most Classes

At the recent Quebec Exhibition the well-known Ayrshire herd of P. D. McArthur and Son of Howick, Que., captured major awards, incidently this year's exhibition was a greater success than any previous year both as regards numbers and quality of entries, there being some 176 head of Ayrshires entered, and in many classes over 15 head paraded.

It is interesting to note that "Cherry Bank's" entire exhibit with the exception of "Cherry Bank Favorite Buttercup" (sister to Winter Royal) was sired by "Cherry Bank Winter Royal" as well as the Senior and Grand Champion male "Cherry Bank Royal Jupiter" owned by the Quebec General Hospital of Quebec. "Jupiter" defeated his sire, the well-known champion "Cherry Bank Winter Royal"; however, there was some difference of opinion in this placing, many favoring the older bull for tag honours. This also applies to the yearling heifer class, where undoubtedly the best trio of yearling ever shown by "Cherry Bank" paraded, but had to be content with 4th, 5th and 6th placing, they later made a sensational win in the Junior Get of Sire class.

In the two year old heifer dry class, Cherry Bank Royal Princess was defeated by a heifer owned by Roland Pigion, of Vercheres, Que., and sired by Cherry Bank Cupbearer. A son of this bull also took 3rd place in the bull calf class.

In three-year-olds dry, Cherry Bank Royal Marietta came out in her usual pleasing form, but was finally placed 2nd in a strong class.

The heifer calf class was led by a daughter of Cherry Bank Royal Marina and sired by a son of Cherry Bank Cupbearer, for St. Hyacinthe Dairy School, of St. Hyacinthe, Que.

The four-year-old Cherry Bank Royal Bella annexed the aged cows in milk class and later Senior and Grand Championship, while her stable mate Cherry Bank Royal Gaiety a second calver, stood third in the same class.

Cherry Bank Favorite Buttercup made a popular winner in the three-year-olds in milk and later took Reserve Senior and Reserve Grand Championship.

Cherry Bank Winter Royal maintained his record in that his Get of Sire has never met a defeat and in this case were placed 1st and 2nd senior Get of Sire, 1st Junior Get of Sire, 1st and 3rd. Produce of Dam.

P. D. McArthur and Son also won aged herd and all of the special prizes.

KILLED IN ACTION IN ITALY

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Skidmore, of Delson, Que., have received word that their son, Gnr. Clyde Skidmore, was killed in action in Italy, on [illegible] 31. Gnr. Skidmore enlisted in the R.C.A. in March, 1940, and went overseas to England in July of the same year. In September, 1943, he went to Italy as a radio signaller with the British 8th Army. Gnr. Skidmore was 23 years of age and while in England was married in July, 1942. He is the brother of Mrs. Frank Weale, of Ormstown, Que. Mr. and Mrs. Skidmore had four sons and one son-in-law in the forces. One son, Cpl. Lawrence Skidmore, was wounded last March in the left leg, while in England, and is now employed at MacDonald College. Sgt. Lloyd Skidmore is with the British Infantry in France. Their youngest son, O/S Clifford Skidmore, is at Cornwallis, in the R.C.N.-V.R. A son-in-law, Petty Officer J. F. Weale, is with the R.C.N.V.R. at Halifax, serving as a radiographer, at the Royal Canadian Hospital.

BEES CAUGHT OUT

ST. THOMAS, Ont.—(CP)—The weather turned warm last January and fooled the bees. They thought it was summer and ate up a lot of their food supplies. As a result the honey crop in this district is only about one-third of normal this season, with heavy demand reported.

Huntingdon Fair Covered By Rain Insurance

Each year the Huntingdon Fair carries insurance against rain during the three hours from 10 A.M. to 1 P.M. The amount of insurance is $500 and if it rains 1/10 of an inch of rain during these three hours the insurance company will pay whatever it takes over that received from gate receipts to make up the equivalent of $500. The rain during these three hours was heavy and measured 1 and 4/10 inches. A one inch rain is considered a good day's rain. The insurance premium was $48.

Visit to Rome Described by Cpl. Howden

Saw St. Peter's Cathedral While Visiting The Vatican

CPL. DONALD HOWDEN

A very interesting letter has been received from Cpl. Donald Howden, who is well-known to people of Howick and vicinity. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Howden, live at Massena, N.Y. Cpl. Howden in a letter dated June 28th, describes a trip to Rome, Italy.

"Monday I went into Rome for a day. I enjoyed it greatly and saw many wonderful sights. Rome stands on the yellow rapid Tiber River. The contrast between modern Rome and imperial Rome is very great. Here you see old ruins dating back to before Christ, as well as some ultra-modern buildings in their different colorings of stucco, cement and marble.

"I visited the Vatican. The palace has 11,000 rooms, including a museum with artistic paintings and sculptures. Here is St. Peter's Cathedral, the most beautiful sight I have ever seen. The dome is 493 feet high. The pictures on the side are all done in mosaic and cannot be described. The tomb of St. Peter is here and 100 lamps are kept burning continually. Around the church are 21 monuments, the work of the best Italian and foreign sculptors. The church holds 50,000 persons but it is so well proportioned and the perspective so good, it doesn't look that large inside. It has 44 altars, 229 pillars of various kinds of marble, 503 of limestone and 168 of bronze. The statues number 391.

"In the crypt below, many kings, queens and popes are buried. Everywhere is 18-carat gold and it all makes a magnificent sight.

"It was truly worth it just to see St. Peter's and I'm very glad it wasn't destroyed.

"I was to the coliseum, one of the most wonderful ruins in the world. It occupies six acres of ground, the arena was 275 feet long, 177 feet wide and it held from 50,000 to 75,000 persons. Here the sports were held and thousands of men and beasts lost their lives.

"The finest shops in Rome are in the Corso Umberto, and I feasted my eyes on many fine things. The prices have gone sky-high.

"Everywhere to be seen are old churches and buildings, famous for their age. I saw many fine modern memorials and the one to Victor Emmanuel is the best. In the middle is the tomb to the unknown warrior and this building commemorates one of the greatest events in modern history.

"Seeing these world-famous sights was nice, but we were struck by a city lighted up, no blackouts, wide clean streets, many speaking English. After seeing so much ruin, so many peasants, it was a great contrast to see women well dressed, the men in white suits, the store windows well kept.

"I walked and walked, visited parks, then walked again.

"At the Vatican and elsewhere are people selling souvenirs, rosaries and all sorts of religious things. The city is packed with soldiers sight-seeing and many civilians who, I believe, are happy to be free again. The city must be close to 2,000,000, so you can imagine the size of it."

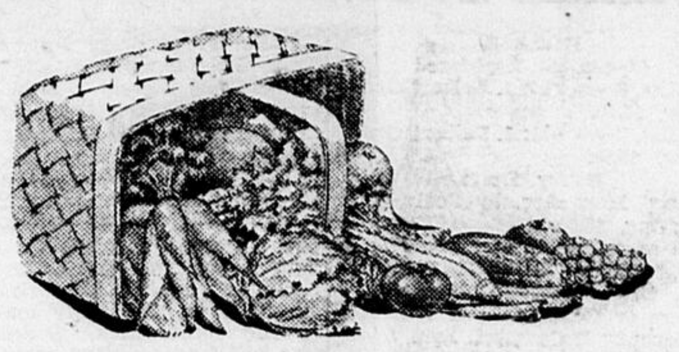
Burke Man's Body Found In Woods After Search

Much surprise and regret came to Burke, Monday afternoon, Sept. 11, when the news arrived that after a number of hours search the body of Chester W. Hinman, 55, a popular and highly respected farmer of this town had been found in the woods at Indian Lake by William Hehr and Lincoln Johnson, of Malone.

Mr. Hinman had been last seen alive Sunday morning when he left the cottage where he and his brother-in-law, Charles Williams were staying. One of the state guard men who found the body, suggested that his death might have occurred due to a heart attack, having fallen into the brook which was only a short distance from the spring.

The camp from which the search was made is located at Indian Lake and about three miles from Owls Head.

Harvest Festival Appeal Meets With Ready Response



The appeal that went out in The Gleaner last week suggesting that our churches sponsor Harvest Festivals whereby the churches would be appropriately decorated with fruits, vegetables, preserved fruits and canned vegetables, pickles, etc., is meeting with great success. These fruits, vegetables, canned or preserved fruits, vegetables and pickles, etc., will in turn be bestowed upon The Huntingdon County Hospital.

Should there be an excess of any one thing over what the Hospital can utilize, the Hospital management would see to it that nothing is wasted. It might be that if the surplus was great of some particular vegetable, they might exchange it with a retail outlet for citrus fruit. In any event the general public can rest assured nothing will be wasted.

The following congregations have set aside the following dates for their respective Harvest Festivals:

Huntingdon United Church	September 24
St. John's, Church of England, Huntingdon	October 1
St. Andrew's Presbyterian, Huntingdon	October 1
St. Paul's Church, Herdman	October 8
Zion United Church, Dundee	October 8
St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church	October 8
St. Patrick's Church, Hinchinbrook	October 8
St. Agnes de Dundee, R.C. Church	October 8
St. Anicet Roman Catholic Church	October 8
Elgin Presbyterian Church	October 8
Athelstan Presbyterian Church	October 8

Other congregations who will quite likely hold similar Harvest Festivals have not yet set a date, but when known, will be duly published in The Gleaner columns.

J. J. Murphy's Holsteins Win Many Prizes at Exhibition

Two Champions, 8 Firsts and 1 Second Taken at Quebec Exhibition by Mr. Murphy's Exhibits

Over 150 Holsteins were exhibited at the Quebec Provincial Exhibition this year and Mr. J. J. Murphy of Huntingdon reports the classes were quite strong. The animals were in better condition this year than last and also the showing of the animals by the different breeders showed much improvement.

One of the strongest classes was the 1-year-old heifers, consisting of 24 heifers and Mr. Murphy's exhibit was fortunate to top this class. There were heifers away down the line which would have topped many an ordinary class.

The quality of the herd sire can be determined from the classes, get of sire and produce of dam. It is remarkable to notice that this year and last year at the exhibition in the classes senior get of sire, junior get of sire and produce of dam, the offspring of Raymondale Bluejay have been first in these three classes both years. Also in 1943, the senior get of sire and produce of dam were selected and on the page of the Holstein-Friesian Journal, for all-Canadian selection.

OPTIMISTIC OF FUTURE

TORONTO (CP)—A recent survey in the city revealed that 300 Toronto business firms believe employment will increase here in the first year after the war. They are confident the changeover from war to peace can be made without special government or financial assistance.

RETURNS HOME

Cpl. R. W. Daniel returned to his home in Huntingdon, on Tuesday morning, after being wounded in France. He was met at the station by his relatives and a number of interested persons and friends. Cpl. Daniel was one of the first survivors to reach Montreal, of the 1st Battalion Black Watch, that made history on a ridge back of Caen, when they marched behind their young Maj. Griffin of Ste Anne. Cpl. Daniel was wounded on the day before the unit was cut off by the German counter attack. Asked what he thought he would like to do first, Cpl. Daniel replied that he would like to do a little fishing at Lake St. Francis. He was wounded in the hand and it is still in a cast.

DIES OF WOUNDS

It was recently reported in this newspaper that Pte. Harold J. Cosgrove had been wounded in action in Italy and was in hospital. This week news has come to hand that Pte. Cosgrove has died of the wounds. He is reported to have died on Aug. 19, according to a letter received from the Major of his unit, who wrote to relatives of the deceased. Meeting Held on Thursday To Discuss Liquor Store

Those at Meeting in Favour of Store—Petition Being Circulated Against Such Move

On Thursday evening a meeting was held at the Textile Union office on Chateauguay Street, by a number of persons in favor of having a liquor store located in Huntingdon. There were about 75 people present and Ald. A.C.H. Picard was in the chair, when discussion of the angles for having a liquor store was undertaken.

Many arguments were brought out in favor of having a liquor store in Huntingdon and quite a number of those present took part in the discussion. About 15 or 20 women were present. One argument put forward was that the establishment of a liquor store in Huntingdon would mean increased business for the stores of the town. It was explained that now the nearest store was at Valleyfield and that a man going to that point to purchase liquor, would in all probability be accompanied by his wife, who would do her shopping there.

Thus at the present, it tended to take business away from Huntingdon. But if the liquor store were located here, all purchases would be made here. It was also said that if a store were located here, a man would buy just the amount of beer, wine or spirits he required and then go home. Under the present system, he goes to get a drink and meets other friends when more drinks are obtained until he has spent several dollars and perhaps is less sober than he would have been. It was stated that there was no intention of upsetting the present way of selling liquor as that carried on by The Chateau. One of those present who was stated to be a director on the Board of the Chateau, said that he did not think the Chateau had any objections to the establishment of a liquor store here and that it would not interfere with their business.

Others taking part in the discussion said that they did not think the morals of the people would be corrupted by the establishment of such a store, as only persons of certain age could procure liquor from a government store. At the moment it was said that minors were able to get liquor from some place or other, when they should not be able to do so. All present were in favour of having a liquor store in Huntingdon and also that a grocery license should be granted.

Mr. Henri Turcot, defeated Union Nationale candidate in the recent Provincial election, attended the meeting. He was a little late in arriving, due to an automobile accident enroute, so arrived just a short time before the close of the meeting. The whole matter was placed before him and his influence was urged to bring about the establishment of a liquor store in Huntingdon. He told the meeting that he was the defeated candidate, but realized that the people of this district wished him to act on their behalf. He said there were some people who were not in favour of the store being opened here and he would have to be guided by the wishes of these people too. He had not come to the meeting to make a speech, merely to hear what was required and to assist the people in getting proper consideration of their wishes.

Petitions Being Circulated Against Liquor Store

Several petitions are being circulated around town with the idea of obtaining signers who do not favour the establishment of a liquor store in Huntingdon. A large number of people are not in favour of such a store and it would therefore seem that the petitions will receive generous support. Those who do not favour the establishment seem to think that many families will suffer if such a store is located here. They feel that while liquor can be obtained under the present system, it is not so easy to do so as if there were a store in Huntingdon. Being a little more difficult to obtain, there is a deterrent to buying liquor except maybe at holiday seasons. Most of those who do not favour the store feel that no one is debarred from getting liquor at the present time, but do not feel it is wise to increase the sources from which it can be obtained.

There may be drawbacks to the present system and there may be abuses, but these would occur under any system. If all persons were content to use liquor in moderation and according to their pocketbooks, a different aspect may be taken. But when liquor is taken in excess it can be the cause of serious consequences, thus it becomes a dangerous agent to sanction admittance to our town. Huntingdon has long been a quiet, orderly town and very little disturbance has come about through drunks or disorderliness. Those against, therefore feel that it is better that the situation should remain as it is for the good of the town and all concerned.

Great Enthusiasm Shown in Annual Calf Club Exhibition

Gilbert McMillan Judged Entries—Large Numbers of Persons in Attendance

The Howick-Huntingdon Ayrshire Club held its annual Calf Club show at the home of Mr. Chester Orr, Riverfield, on Saturday. The boys and girls put on a grand show. 64 head of Ayrshires were tethered in the judging field and from early in the morning until the last animal was exhibited, the club members were busy preparing their animals for exhibition. The Club has a membership of 18 boys and two girls. In the class of yearlings, 17 entries paraded before judge Gilbert McMillan.

The Club members and their able leader, Archie Roy, were not the only ones present, by any means, for the parents and friends were present in droves. Cars would come and go throughout the day, and so it was that possibly 200 or more people made an appearance at this fine show.

Judging competitions as well as showmanship were features of the show. Youngsters under 12 years of age who are not old enough for club membership, were given an opportunity to display their ability as showmen. 24 boys and girls of this tender age paraded out their calves. Mr. McMillan picked his winners with rapidity throughout the day, but even at that it was a late hour before the work was completed. After Mr. McMillan gave his reasons for so placing the animals in the various classes, Mr. G. H. Girard of the Federal Livestock Department of Agriculture, gave the reasons in the French language.

On the spacious lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Orr the ladies of the Women's Institute performed the duty of judging the school fair exhibits which included entries of vegetables, flowers, home cooking and sewing. All-in-all it was quite a day for the boys and girls, and one the adults also thoroughly enjoyed. Among the many people present, the appearance of a political friendship party was also in evidence, for here we saw Mr. D. E. Black, M.P., and Mrs. Black; Horore Mercier, M.L.A., and Mrs. Mercier and son Honore; Hon. Robert Ness, M.L.C., and Mrs. Ness and Mr. P. D. McArthur, President of the Progressive-Conservative party of Canada.

During the noon hours lunch was served by the ladies. Prizes were awarded as follows:

After the judging had been completed, many special prizes that had been donated were given out. Short speeches were made by D. E. Black, M.P., Henri Girard, district fieldman, and Gilbert McMillan, judge.

The Burnside Trophy was presented by Doug. Ness to Donald

Eighty-second Milestone Reached

TIME and tide wait for no man, they roll on ever and ever without regard, so The Gleaner reaches the eighty-second milestone of its career with this issue. On September 18th for the exact date, the 81st year ended and the 82nd year began. Founded by the late Robert Sellar the life of The Gleaner has been carried on by members of the same family through all these years. From a small beginning it has branched out as the years passed into its present day form, when it ranks among the best known weekly newspapers in Canada. With The Gleaner, Huntingdon and the Chateauguay Valley have also advanced, due to the splendid publicity given the district by its own newspaper.

How very much different The Gleaner is today to that produced over eighty years ago, is seen when earlier issues are compared. Like everything else improvements have been made in style and quality and the news coverage is of a far greater area. In style The Gleaner follows the trend of the larger dailies and gives to its readers and advertisers a newspaper of which they can be justly proud.

In the past few years Huntingdon has grown both in population and in industrial expansion; there are prospects that more industries will locate here in the years following the war. With more industries the population will increase, business will increase and the prosperity of all the people will benefit. In part The Gleaner has been responsible for the steady growth of the Chateauguay Valley by making it known far and wide, thus promoting greater interest from outside sources.

As an advertising medium for the Chateauguay Valley we believe that most people will agree that The Gleaner has done its full share in promoting the district and in proclaiming the merits of such. The fact that the Chateauguay Valley is so widely and favorably known tends to prove the truth of the foregoing statement.

Many weekly newspapers in years gone by have started and failed. The Gleaner has had its ups and downs but by perseverence and attention to business it has overcome many of the difficulties so well known to all publishers. A reputation has been built up over the past eighty years that has become well and favorably known to all who have dealings with the newspaper. Such a reputation once gained is a valuable asset to hold, and at all times the publishers do their very best to uphold it. For the members of one family to have carried on the traditions of this newspaper is evidence that they value the reputation that has been built up. The Gleaner values its subscribers, its advertisers, its printing clientele and the general goodwill that exists toward it. Without this support no business can function as it should.

Thus we pass into another year with thanks to all for their very fine patronage and with the expressed hope that the eighty-second year will see better times for all of us.

Opinions Differ as They Should

IT would not do for everyone to have the same opinion and we are indeed lucky in this country to be able to voice our opinions on all the many and varied subjects. In the "Letters to The Editor" column will be found a letter from Allan L. Smith in which he disagrees with the text of an editorial which appeared in these columns in the issue of September 6th, entitled "Socialism Breeds War".

Both Socialism and Capitalism are subjects that require much study and about which there are many conceptions. It therefore depends on which way a person looks at either one of these subjects, as to the opinion gained. Socialism in the editorial in question could be termed total socialism—that is where everything is totally controlled as was the case in Germany and is still so today. Capitalism does not control as it realizes that it must work hand-in-hand with all works of life in order to survive. Too often Capitalism is associated with a man or men who control certain large sums of money or industrial concerns, while other men are compelled to work for these men or industries in order to make a living. But actually Capitalism has a much broader aspect than this and it is met in all forms. A man with brains who is able to use his head to advance himself in the world, might be termed a capitalist in brains. Some men have made their way in the world by their ability to grasp at opportunities when offered, such a man might be called a capitalist of opportunity. But all capitalists realize that they must co-operate with others in order to further their efforts. Capitalists have even turned to many of the socialistic things in order to secure a greater share of life's better things for the good of all.

The greatest proof that the Capitalist System is not benefitted by war has been shown in the present one. Businesses engaged in making munitions of war and wage earners and others who have been paid high wages as a result of the war, have been the highest taxed of any.

Referring to Germany and the Nazi System, it is known as a National Socialistic System and is total. People have been deprived of all their rights, they could not voice a word as to the way their country should be run, they could not express an opinion such as those expressed in the editorial or the letter in question. They were oppressed and regimented by the leaders who gained power and put into force a period of greatest fear. People subjected to such a state become restless and ill at ease. The only way to appease them is to seek fresh excitement and produce a great clamour of supposed injustices that have to be subdued. In the case of Germany, the excitement took the form of a hatred toward other countries that finally flared into a war. The excuse for the war was that German minorities in other countries were being unfairly treated, they were not equal to the citizens of the countries blamed. Thus socialism bred war and allowed the people to gain a certain amount of freedom by dominating other countries; it gave them the satisfaction of subjecting other people to the same regimentation they themselves had been experiencing in their own country.

The writer of the letter speaks of the trial given to socialism in Russia and the results obtained to date. It must be remembered that in Russia in the Czar's time, the people were subjected to regimentation of much the same nature as that in Britain before Magna Charta, they had no freedom such as we enjoy today. To the people of Russia the revolution meant freedom from oppression and as they thought, a chance to have a say in things. Gradual changes have been made so that today Russia is turning more and more toward a Capitalistic System as the best means of running the country. There has even been instituted a form of provincial representation with certain rights granted to the divisions to agree upon themselves as to what should be done. The fact that the Russian people's own homeland was being attacked, brought home to them the need for greater co-operation on the part of themselves and with other countries. Capitalistic countries had to come to their aid to supply them with the weapons to defend themselves and their country, to feed and clothe them. They thought they were self-sustaining and independent of other nations, Germany's attack proved it otherwise. In other words they awoke to the fact that their way of life was not proof against the inroads of other and more powerful nations. The Russians have much to thank the Capitalistic System for. Without the help of the Capitalistic countries, it is doubtful if Russia could have saved herself, let alone be saving civilization from total destruction.

It was the Capitalistic System that was able to turn around and start an unparalleled production that is now forcing Germany to the wall and will soon be doing the same thing to Japan. But there will be no gain for the capitalist except that which is dear to all of us—living in peace with our neighbor and being able to trade and earn a living in a free manner.

Spoiling A Nice Picture

WE have become used to the perversions of Nazi psychology, and when Dr. Goebbels or Hitler cries out against an alleged breach of international law by the Allied nations we pass it off with a tired smile. But this perversion appears to be catching, or perhaps it is a common characteristic of all fanatics. An example of this queer mental twist occurred in the House of Commons at Ottawa recently when Clarence Gillis, CCF member for Cape Breton, complained bitterly that Thomas Reid, Liberal member for Westminster, had slandered our sister Dominion of New Zealand.

At a previous session Mr. Gillis had presented a glowing picture of New Zealand as a Socialist Utopia, and had cited comparative figures which purported to show how much better they do things in that island than we do in Canada. Mr. Reid went to work on New Zealand Government reports and discovered that Mr. Gillis' facts and figures were so far wrong as to present the very opposite of the truth. Here are some of the comparisons Mr. Reid worked out:

Per Capita Debt
Dominion	$ 1,024	$670.00
Dominion plus local governments (plus provincial in Canada)	1,152	908.00
Rate of Interest	3.24%	2.60%
Per Capita load on Interest charges	28.75	14.65
Per cent debt payable outside	33	3.3
Income Tax
Single man, $700 a year	53.00	13.00x
Married man, 2 children, $1,-500 a year	154.00	25.50x x — Pre-latest Canadian budget, refundable deducted.

Annoyed at this exposure of misrepresentation, Mr. Gillis indignantly charged Mr. Reid and other members of the House with trying to belittle the people of New Zealand who had made such a fine contribution to the war. It was all right for Mr. Gillis to belittle and besmirch Canada by citing false statistics, but for Mr. Reid to go to the trouble to dig up facts that spoiled the CCF's glowing picture of Socialism in New Zealand—that was nothing short of a cruel slander against the New Zealanders. Such is the mental perversion of fanaticism.—(From The Canadian Statesman, Bowmanville, Ont.)

Russian Motives Still Doubtful

NEWS reports over the week-end seem to indicate that the surprise visit of Mr. Anthony Eden to the Quebec Conference, had something to do with a disagreement between the Soviet Union and other members of the United Nations.

Russia has made many surprise moves in this war, one of the latest being a declaration of war on Bulgaria. While the Bulgarians were in Cairo negotiating a peace with British officials with whom they were at war, the Russians who were not at war with Bulgaria declared war on that country. While the explanation given by others for the incident was that it would enable Russia to get into Yugo-Slavia, no explanation has been given by Russia itself. The battle of Warsaw was stalemated on account of some disagreement between the underground in Warsaw, the Polish Government in London and Russia, but this has been straightened out through a negotiation on the part of the Polish Government in London. Russia is said to be more willing to negotiate with the Polish Government in London since the affair, but there is still a mystery attached.

Premier Stalin was invited to attend the Quebec Conference, but gave pressure of war duties at home for his non-acceptance of the invitation. Premier Stalin has never attended one of these conferences between the big chiefs, his excuse being that discussion would center on Japan and Russia was not at war with that country. It is quite possible that Russia will want to have a say in any peace settlement that may be made with Japan, however. In such a case, it may be probable that when the European conflict is over that Russia may declare war on Japan to get in at the peace table.

The moves of Russia are very baffling and do not seem to make for complete accord with other members of the United Nations. It was therefore conjected that Anthony Eden's visit had something to do with this state of affairs and a feeling to have all running smoothly in readiness for the defeat of Germany. If the reports are true, then the special trip of Mr. Eden must have been made because of the seriousness of the situation.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Huntingdon, P. Que.
Sept. 18th, 1944

Mr. Adam L. Sellar,
The Editor,
Huntingdon Gleaner Inc.
Huntingdon, Que.

Dear Sir:—

With reference to your Editorial published in The Gleaner of Sept. 13th, inst. in connection with the establishment of a Liquor Store, and Grocer's permit for the sale of beer in the Town of Huntingdon. On behalf of the members of the Town Council who voted in favour of this resolution I take time to answer the remarks made in your editorial.

A petition was brought before the Council with 84 names, 75 of whom are Ratepayers. When petitions of this nature or any other question of importance are brought before the Council we usually discuss the matter thoroughly, and if necessary vote upon the issue. In this particular instance to my idea of thinking there is no moral question involved, and if there is, we must have been confronted with this very same question for the past twenty years or so, because Liquor has been sold in Huntingdon all these years.

As it eventually turned out, four of the six aldermen voted in favour of this motion with two voting against. This is a privilege that each and every one has in this country, "the preservation of the freedom of free speech", one of the many reasons why we are fighting this war today. We believe that the establishing of a Liquor Store would be in the best interests of the general public of Huntingdon and certainly would be most advantageous to the local Merchants. At the present time when a person residing in this vicinity requires a bottle of liquor and wishes to purchase it legally, he is obliged to travel to Valleyfield or elsewhere. These trips are usually quite frequent by a great number of our citizens, on practically every occasion other members and friends of the family go along and do their shopping at the same time. This additional business is being diverted from the Merchants of Huntingdon because of the fact that we have no retail Liquor Store here.

Some people are of the opinion that we are trying to force the Chateau to close its doors. This is far from being the truth because we all realize that the Chateau is absolutely essential to the community. I doubt if you will find a better rural hotel anywhere in Canada to compare with the Chateau. The Beer and Liquor question is entirely another matter. At the Chateau today you are able to purchase Alcoholic Beverages in any manner, shape or form. They sell Beer and hard Liquor to take out. These are the privileges that we are asking the Quebec Liquor Commission to place where they rightfully belong, so that those requiring a few bottles of Beer or a bottle of Liquor may go direct to the Grocers or to the Liquor Store, the same as in other centres throughout the Province of Quebec.

I could go on and mention various other reasons why I believe this Liquor Store would be beneficial to the Town of Huntingdon, but why waste precious time and newspaper space when it appears as though the question may go to a vote of the ratepayers of Huntingdon before it is definitely decided upon. Sometimes I wonder just how many of those who signed the petition against this resolution would vote "DRY" if the original Town By-law (Beer and Wine) were rescinded and the issue were one of "WET" or "DRY".

Judging from the remarks heard on the street, it would appear that the issue is more political than moral, personally I would like to advise you and the ratepayers at large, that I have been of the opinion that we should have had a Liquor Store and Grocer's permit here since 1935 and that I will still be of the same opinion five years from now, whether as one of your aldermen or a citizen.

In regards to your remarks about the four Councillors who supported the resolution, and who are the duly elected representatives of the people, we could also be just as narrow and bigoted in our reply to you through your paper but we are quite willing to leave the matter in the hands of the ratepayers of the Town who will have an opportunity of expressing their opinion in February next.

Trusting that you will publish these remarks in the next issue of The Gleaner.

Yours very truly,
LEO CAPPIELLO

The Editor, Huntingdon Gleaner,
Huntingdon, Quebec.

Dear Sir:

Your editorial in the Gleaner on the 6th inst, wrongly entitled "Socialism Breeds War," compels me to make a broad denial of nearly every paragraph it contains, this I do not do because I am a member of that party nor am I influenced by any connection with church or state. I do not think that the writer of your editorial has given much thought to the problem. The fact is that I have never met a Tory even of the old school that would not admit that much of socialism is absolutely necessary even in our business ventures, the more we possess of this peaceful mingling the more prosperous the business ventures, and this has never been blamed for leading to war.

What social legislation (that is pure socialism) has been put on statue books of all free countries the last three decades would fill many editions of the Gleaner. Was it not the great Tory Hon. R. L. Bordon who gave us many brankrupt railroads to socialise and today have the great C.N.R. as an example of what socialism can do, where capitalism utterly failed. Was it Hon. R. B. Bennett who gave us the Bank of Canada, wholly owned by the people, members of both old political parties, social creditors, C.C.F. and all socialists, see in this the beginning of sole control of our banking system by the people. Hon. R. B. Bennett also gave us the C.B.C.

Mr. Editor, your writer is made to say the cause of this and the last war is found in the theories of Karl Marx and adopted by C.C.F. saying "Marx was a German and the German people were first influenced by him", neither statement here is true. Karl Marx theories have long ago spread to all corners of the earth where men are free and if he had access to Spain during his life time this war would not have taken place for the first battle of this war was fought in that country.

Mr. Editor, would your writer condemn Germany for producing Martin Luther? Again I say, ask the free countries of the world that I have already mentioned who have benefitted by the doctrines of both men, let me name New Zealand, Australia, South Africa, Canada and all the rest of the British Empire, the U.S., in fact all countries where free people reside. You may look at the countries where neither man got a foot hold and see what you have, let me mention Spain, Portugal, Italy, Poland and others. If the 19th century was the most capitallistic, and peaceful in all history, why did not the capitalists keep it peaceful since they owned the whole earth and all that was on it.

"Marx talked bitterly of the haves and the have nots, and Hitler deliberately fostered that bitterness in the German people by his campaign for National Socialism." Seventy five per cent of the people in all capitalists countries at the moment are among the have nots.

Look at the strikes in this rich Canada. Strikes were not known in Marx time. Again there is no socialism in Hitlerism. Socialism is as wide as the races of men are varied and of course cannot from any point of view be Hitlerism. National Bloc Populaire is National though they don't like the name and presume the church would not let them use it. Mr. Editor, this is an endless question, the only people who have given it a fair trial is Soviet Russia and in fifteen years (15) they have created manhood and a system that is now saving our civilization from total destruction. What is strong churchism and anti-socialism at the moment doing in this province to help out the great struggle in which we are engaged.

Kidney Acids Rob Your Rest

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—lie awake and count sheep. Often they blame it on "nerves" when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons from the blood. If they are faulty and fail, poisons stay in the system and sleeplessness, headache, backache often follow. If you don't sleep well, try Dodd's Kidney Pills—for half a century the favorite remedy. 103

RECIPES

Home-Made Jams Tested and Approved

Not many women can afford the large stocks of home-made jams and conserves which were their pride and delight in the days when sugar could be bought by the hundred pound bag, without benefit of coupon.

Today's smaller supplies are doubly precious and when every cup of sugar has to be counted, nothing short of a perfect product is good enough. Perfection is not difficult to achieve in jam making if both general directions and specific recipes are carefully followed.

General directions stressed by the home economists of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Consumer Section, are—

Use only firm, ripe fruit, never over-ripe or green fruit.

Measure fruit and sugar accurately.

Heat slowly to extract the juice of the fruit. A little water may be added to prevent sticking but since it must later be boiled away it should be added sparingly.

Fruits which have tough skins like grapes and plums, should be cooked until skins are tender before adding sugar.

Jam is cooked sufficiently when a small amount taken up on a spoon remains heaped. If a jelly thermometer is used the jam is cooked to 220 deg. F.

Watch carefully while cooking, stirring frequently to prevent burning.

Skim, if necessary before pouring into hot, sterilized jars.

Allow to cool, then pour on a thin coating of melted paraffin wax. When this has hardened, pour on a second layer, tilting the jar gently so that the wax swirls up the sides of the jar.

Cover jars with metal or brown paper covers.

Store jams in a cool, dry, dark place. Warmth and dampness encourage the growth of moulds and yeasts which cause spoilage, and light fades the colour.

Plum Gumbo

2 quarts plums
1 orange (rind and pulp)
3 cups sugar

Cut plums and remove pits. Slice orange very thinly and cut in pieces. Cook together slowly for 15 minutes. Add sugar and cook until thick, about 10 minutes. Pour into hot, sterilized jars. Cool and seal. Yield, about 2½ pints.

Grape and Apple Butter

4 cups grape pulp (6 cups whole grapes)
4 cups apple pulp (12 medium apples and 2 cups water)
4 cups sugar

Wash grapes and remove stems. Crush and heat to boiling point. Boil gently until skins are tender, about 15 minutes. Rub through a sieve. Wash and quarter apples, add water and cook slowly until tender. Rub through a sieve. Combine apple and grape pulp, add sugar and cook until thick, about 20 minutes. Pour into hot, sterilized jars, cool and seal. Yield, about 3 pints.

Carrot, Apple and Peach Conserve

2 cups diced carrot
1-4 cup water
2 cups diced tart apples
2 cups diced peaches
3 cups sugar

Add water to carrots, cook 5 minutes; add fruit, cook five minutes. Add sugar, cook until thick, about 20 minutes. Pour into hot, sterilized jars, cool and seal. Yield, about 2½ pints.

Amazing Discovery

After years of study and experiment, the chemists of the Plant Research Laboratories have finally discovered what has so long been a mystery to MAN.

With the permission of the censors, the Journal is proud to publish the most interesting part of the report presented to the authorities:

'. . . Chemical Analysis of a Woman'
Symbol: WO.
Accepted Atomic Weight: 120.

Physical Properties: Bawls at nothing and may freeze at any minute. Melts when properly treated; very bitter if not well used.

Occurrence: Found wherever man exists, seldom in single state, except during wartime.

Chemical Properties: Possesses great affinity for gold, silver, platinum, and precious stones. Violent reaction when left alone. Able to absorb great amount of food matter. Turns green when placed beside a better looking specimen.

Uses: Highly ornamental. Useful as a tonic in acceleration of low spirits, and as an equalizer of the distribution of wealth. Is probably the most effective income reducing agent known.

CAUTION: Highly explosive when in inexperienced hands.

NEWS OF INTEREST to WOMEN

Food, Ration Cards Delight War Brides

British Women Fascinated at Prospect of Buying Clothes Without Coupons

Toronto, (CP)—British war brides recently arrived in Canada get a great thrill from Canadian ration books. With fewer rationed articles and no restrictions on where they may be bought, cooking will be fun.

In Britain persons must register for each rationed item at a specific shop and that makes food preparation an involved business.

Quantities and prices of fruit in Canadian shops amazed one young bride on her first shopping expedition. Lemons in England if available at all, cost $7.20 a pound and oranges about $4 a pound. She was amazed at the number of eggs for sale. In the old country one person is allowed one egg a week in summer and none in winter.

Shopping for clothes and shoes without coupons is fascinating to women who have to get on with 24 clothing coupons every six months, 18 of which would go for a suit and seven for a pair of shoes. High-heeled and fancy shoes have been out in England for a long time, and nice stockings are things to treasure for special occasions.

Cosmetics, soaps, fresh fruits, milk, meat and clothes—the plenitude in Canadian stores is a delight and an astonishment to English girls coming to make their home in the Dominion.

120,000 Ditty Bags Needed Urgently For 1944

W.I. Branches Working to Supply Large Number of Required Quantity

The various branches of the Women's Institutes in Huntingdon County and Chateauguay County are endeavouring to fill as many ditty bags as possible in order to help supply the number required. They solicit the help of all who would be willing to contribute toward this worthy cause and will welcome donations for the purpose. The Huntingdon Branch is holding a card party on Wednesday, Sept. 27, with the idea of raising funds to buy the articles to fill their quota of the bags. The W.I. has done much of this work in the past few years and been responsible for sending large numbers of ditty bags to sailors. The general public has responded very well to previous requests for donations and it is hoped that this occasion will be equally well responded to.

"In the days when Napoleon ruled the land,
But never the sea you understand,
The women of England packed parcels so neat,
To send to the men who sailed with the Fleet.
And to make them more friendly
and add some fun,
A "Ditty" was written and enclosed with each one.
So to this day when parcels we pack,
For the men of the Navy, for every man Jack,
They are called "Ditty" Bags, in memory you see,
Of the way they began in the British Navee."

The Navy League needs 120,000 ditty bags in 1944. It has been said, by men in authority, that the giving of ditty bags to the men of the sea was, and is, one of the greatest factors for the building of morale that has, as yet, been devised.

Certain it is that the great majority of letters from men who have received these gifts, bear testimony to that opinion, and tell how, when they were feeling lonely and forgotten and Christmas seemed like something they had dreamed about, they were fairly "lifted" out of themselves and made to feel that someone really cared.

It wasn't only the gift. Thoughts ran back to the person who had prepared it and at once the seaman pictured in his mind the kind person who had sent it to him. In most cases, he accepted the gift as a personal thing especially when there was a letter . . . It was as though mother, sister or sweetheart actually knew his whereabouts and, in some mysterious way had found him; had known his feelings of loneliness and his wish to be at home, among friends.

For the season of 1942, the Navy League of Canada collected and distributed more than one hundred and four thousand ditty bags. Last year the number was close to one hundred and twenty thousand.

This year the objective as requested by the Director of Merchant Seamen and the Department of Naval Services is again, 120,000—and your generous, kindly help is needed if this figure is to be attained—You will help, won't you?

A PARCEL FROM HOME

Oh, it isn't so much the chocolate bar,
Or the package of chewing gum,
It isn't the smokes or books of jokes,
That cheer a man when he's glum.
It isn't the can of pork and beans,
Though the taste is certainly grand,
Or the milk or jam, though they seem to a man
A bit of Canada Canned.

No, these are not the important things
In the parcel that comes from home,
That isn't the part that cheers the heart
Of a man when he's alone
When you come to camp and there's a parcel
From the folks far over the sea.
The feeling that stays through the endless days
Is "Someone remembers me."

Oh, a parcel from home just hits the spot
In a way you will never know
Till you've stood in a queue, and it comes to you
And the Corporal says "No!
There's nothing today, I'm sorry,
'Bud,'"
If you saw us you'd be surprised
As we turn from our place with a saddened face
And the wind is hurting our eyes.

There's a lot of boy left in a man
And the price-tags matter but little,
Whether razor blades, lighter or fountain pen,
Or maybe a knife that'll whittle.
It's just the thought that you've not forgotten,
In the time that we've been away,
Now I'll close — and say, do you s'pose
There's a parcel for me to-day?

Big Ben's Bell Signature Tune For Empire

To Canadians listening to the B.B.C. the booming notes of Big Ben are as familiar as the chiming of their own hall clock!

The first broadcast of the British Parliament's famous clock was made on December 31, 1923, nearly 21 years ago. Since then the voice of Big Ben has come directly from the clock itself, not from a gramaphone record of it.

The microphone, installed above the hour bell of the chimes, can be brought into service instantly, at any time, by the pressure of a switch at Broadcasting House in London, headquarters of the British Broadcasting Corporation. Big Ben broacasts up to 43 times a day in the B.B.C.'s short-wave transmission, proudly living up to the title of the Empire's signature tune.

Nutrition Director Stresses Breakfast

"Breakfast is an important meal for everyone", says Dr. L. B. Pett, director of the Nutrition Division, Ottawa.

He goes on to say that an adequate breakfast is of particular importance to the school child, who, after a fast of 12 to 14 hours needs a substantial meal to provide energy for the morning's work. Dr. Pett emphasizes that breakfast, beside supplying energy, should provide its share of the day's needs of protective foods.

The breakfast pattern recommended by the Nutrition Division includes three of the five important food groups, fruit, cereals and milk.

At this time of year raw fruits or berries in season are good. Citrus fruits, tomatoes and stewed fruits are good at any time. For energy, nothing beats a whole grain cereal with its bonus of health protective minerals and vitamins. As a change or an extra, an egg with toasted whole wheat or vitamin B bread are liked by most children. Milk may be served hot or cold or as cocoa.

"Every school child should start every day with a breakfast built on this pattern," concludes Dr. Pett.

Butter Ration To Be Cut

The Prices Board at Ottawa has served notice on Canadian housewives that they will have to get along with less butter than they expected between now and the end of the year.

For the fourth time this year the board ordered postponement of the validity date of butter coupons. Last order affects two pairs of coupons. Those numbered 80 and 81, which ordinarily would have become good Oct. 5, will not be good until Oct. 12 and coupons 88 and 89 have been advanced to December 14.

While butter is going to be less plentiful S. R. Noble, sugar administrator, had a measure of cheering news. He said that while world sugar supplies were "next thing to desperate" no reduction in the ration is expected this year.

Under the revised coupon dates butter bought Sept. 21 with 78 and 79 must do the consumer for three weeks, until Oct. 12. Butter bought Nov. 23 with coupons 86 and 87 must also last for three weeks. Butter coupons, each good for eight ounces, normally become valid every two weeks.

BEST MEDICINE IN THE WORLD

The hospital tent was full, as the chaplain entered with "Lulabelle."

The chaplain, Lieutenant Colonel William E. King, used to preach at the Maywood Baptist Church, Kansas City. Lulabelle is a dog, about six inches long, but not quite that tall—so small, in fact, that the chaplain aften carried her around in his trench-coat pocket.

The wounded lads, lying on their cots, looked up as the chaplain and his dog approached—all eyes centered on Lulabelle. Stopping to chat here and there, Colonel King let each of the boys pet the dog. At last, he reached a cot where a quiet soldier lay—a soldier who for days had said not a word except in reply to questions. Stony-eyed he lay, staring straight up rather than look down toward two stumps of arms, where his wrists and hands used to be.

A nurse whispered to the chaplain, "He's lucky to be alive, but he doesn't seem to care. He hasn't shown the slightest interest in anything, even in staying alive."

Walking over to the bed, the chaplain stood for a moment looking down at the lad. Then, all at once, the soldier saw Lulabelle. He started to speak, gulped and remained silent.

"What is it, son?" asked Colonel King.

"Say," stumbled the boy, "would you just let the puppy lick my face?" In answer, Colonel King leaned over and put Lulabelle down on the plaster-encased chest between the stumps of arms. And wagging her tail like mad, Lulabelle nuzzled her tiny head forward and licked the soldier's face. In the stillness, the sound of the lad's swallowing seemed loud. Tears began to trickle down his cheeks.

"I used to have a dog, sir, and he'd sneak up and lick my face while I was sleeping. That's the first time a dog has licked my face since I left home, sir."

Colonel King nodded understandingly and when he started on to the ward tents, he left Lulabelle there on the cot. When he returned he found her snuggled up into the soldier's armpit, her head lying on his shoulder.

"Certainly is nice to have a dog around, sir," said the boy. "Every patient ought to have one." Suddenly his face broke into a broad grin.

Colonel King grinned back. When he left the hospital, an hour or so later Lullabelle stayed.

Now—Or Never?

Officials of the Munitions and Supply Department are again urging purchasers of wood fuel to be wise and stock their next winter's supply of firewood now, while limited reserves are available.

With transportation facilities increasingly tied up in war production, and because of truck shortages and other factors, it may be more difficult for consumers to obtain wood toward the end of the year. They are strongly urged by Alan H. Williamson, Timber Controller, to "Buy Wood Now!" and help avoid a bottleneck in the fuel situation later in the season.

Ash Stain

An ash stain can be made by mixing one quart of boiled linseed oil, one quart of turpentine, one pint of whiting, one level tablespoon raw sienna.

There Goes that TELEPHONE!

COPPER, rubber and other telephone materials continue to flow overseas in military communications equipment as well as in the form of ammunition, weapons, aircraft . . .

During one brief air battle, for example, this fighter plane's guns may spit enough copper to build several miles of telephone line.

War needs both at home and abroad must come first. Extensions to present telephone equipment are strictly limited. Fullest possible use must be made of existing equipment.

To those applicants who have been unable to obtain telephone service, we offer our regrets—and our thanks for their ready understanding of why their requests have had to be denied.

Legion to Arrange Receptions For Returned Men

At the last regular metting of the Chateauguay-Huntingdon Branch of the Canadian Legion it was decided to hold a series of receptions in honor of the men from this Valley who have returned from overseas in the past while. It was decided to do this as it is very hard to know just when a man may arrive in Huntingdon from overseas and it is not always possible to turn out in force to meet him. From time to time these receptions will be held and honor will be done to those men who have returned home after serving their country. The public will be given an opportunity to take part in these receptions as tickets will be sold up to a certain number depending upon the seating accommodation available. Further particulars will be announced as they are known

Brings Forth Fondest Memories

The liberation of Paris has sent everyone scurrying back a number of years for their fondest memories of France's great capital. We have been fortunate enough to have in our possession a pre-war Parisien post card used for a clever bit of advertising. The advertiser in question is "Harry's New York Bar" and the post card goes like this:

YOU'RE TELLING ME!
What a Difference
a Few Years Make!
1888

Fifty years ago women wore hoop skirts, bustles, petticoats, corsets, cotton stockings, high buttoned shoes, ruffles, cotton drawers, flannel night gowns, puffs in their hair, did their own cooking, cleaning, washing, ironing, raised big families, went to church on Sunday and were too busy to be sick.

Men wore whiskers, square hats, Ascot ties, red flannel underwear, big watches and chains, chopped wood for stoves, bathed once a week, drank ten cent whiskey and five cent beer, worked twelve hours a day and lived to a ripe old age.

Stores burned coal lamps, carried everything in stock from a needle to a plow, trusted everybody, never took inventory, placed orders for goods a year in advance, always made money.

Today women wear silk stockings, short skirts, low shoes, no corsets, an ounce of underwear, bobbed hair, smoke, paint and powder, drink cocktails, play bridge, drive cars, have pet dogs and go in for politics.

Men have high blood pressure, wear no hats, have no hair, shave their whiskers, shoot, golf, bathe twice a day, drink poison, play the stock market, ride aeroplanes, never go to bed the same day they get up, are misunderstood at home, work five hours a day, play ten, and die young.

Stores have electric lights, cash registers, elevators, never have what the customer wants, trust nobody, take inventory daily, never buy in advance, have overhead, markup, markdown, quota, budget, advertising, stock control, annual and semi-annual, end of month, dollar day, founder's day, rummage and economy sales, never make money.—The Aluminum Ingot.

The room was prettily decorated with mauve and yellow streamers and yellow and mauve candles burning in each room. After Ina was seated in her chair, Joan, Bernice and Sandra Barrington drew in a wagon laden with beautiful gifts for the bride-to-be. Ina thanked each one and asked them all to visit her in her home. Games were played, after which delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. H. Kerr and Marion Rember.

Little Miss Dorothy Robertson, niece of the bride-to-be, dressed as a bride and Master Melvin Cowan as a groom, entered the room drawing a wagon laden with many pretty and useful gifts, bearing the good wishes of all present. Rev. C. L. Taylor delivered a very instructive service to his congregation in St. Paul's United Church, on Sunday morning, taking his text from Jeremiah, II Chapter and 13th verse, saying Love can penetrate to the depths of sin and parents can overlook the sins committed by their loved ones, even if they have been placed behind prison bars, because they are still their children, in their youth they have the spirit of independance, like the words of the hymn, I loved to choose my way, but now lead thou me on, also Ye have not chosen me but I have chosen you. The choir rendered the beautiful Anthem, "Jesus Lover of my Soul". The lovely boquet of roses in the chancel were in memory of a dear pastor and friend, Rev. A. F. Pollock, placed by Miss Lillian Kershaw, of Montreal..

The service in the evening was a Masonic Service and was attended by around thirty members of the fraternity from surrounding districts who marched to the St. Paul's United Church in a body. The opening hymn being "How Firm a Foundation". Rev. W. T. Payne read the Scripture Lesson from 1st Corinthians, 3rd Chapter. The choir contributed two Anthems namely "I Come To Thee, Oh Lord I Come To Thee," and "What A Friend We Have In Jesus", which were much appreciated. Rev. C. L. Taylor then addressed the Masons, choosing as his subject words from II Chronicles, II Chapter and 5th verse, "And The House Which I Build is Great, for Great is Our God Above All Gods". Our Masons are not operative Masons but are speculative Masons handing down the wisdom of Philosophers through the ages and building temples upon a rock of solid foundation as the Master has said if Ye abide in Me My word will abide in you, our temple is a place of sa--crifice and service. The following hymns, Faith of our fathers; Rise up, O men of God; Go labour on, were also sung and the National Anthem. Rev. C. L. Taylor extended the regrets of Rev. H. Pritchard at not being able to attend this service as he had to hold a service at Rockburn.

Obituaries

The Late Francis Bergevin

There passed away at Elgin, on Sept. 11, 1944, one of the grand old gentlemen of Elgin in the person of Mr. Bergevin. Although he had passed his 84th birthday, he remained until the last few weeks before his death, as youthful in spirit as ever.

Born July 4, 1860, son of Mr. F. Bergevin and his wife, Adele Lafontaine, the late Mr. Bergevin spent his early years in Ste. Martine. He came to Powerscourt and learned his trade of pump-maker under Mr. James McClatchie. Then followed his marriage to Miss Melvina LaBerge, in 1884. To that union seven children were born, five of whom survive. The children are Omer, of Ville la Salle, Alexandrina (Mrs. Chartrand), who predeceased her father nine years ago; Eva; Arthur of Edmonton, Alta.; Yvonne (Mrs. Edmund Bacon,) of Willimantic, Conn., and Fred and Aleck of Elgin.

In January, the deceased suffered a slight stroke from which he appeared to rally, but after a second stroke and a last illness of three weeks, he passed to his rest. And so passed from the sight of men "the good grey head whom all men knew."

The Late Mrs. Gordon Leney

There passed away at the Montreal General Hospital Central Division, in the early hours of Saturday evening, Sept. 16th, 1944, one who has been long and favorably known in this community, in the person of Mrs. Gordon Leney, though yet a young woman, she has been a great sufferer for the past few years, which she has borne with Christian fortitude and was quite cheerful at all times. Her maiden name was Dorothy Scoble, the daughter of the late Ernest Scoble and his wife, Harriet Fleet, now Mrs. Goodfellow of Surrey, England.

She emigrated to Canada at the age of 14 years, going to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rember in Upper Ormstown Concession. She made her home there for a number of years, when she was united in marriage to William Gordon Leney, in January, 1936, and moved to lower Ormstown Concession and has resided there since. She was a consistent member of Ormstown Presbyterian Church, a member of the choir and Sunday School teacher for a number of years before her marriage and since a member of the local Red Cross and Home Helpers, holding offices when her health permitted. She will be sadly missed by her neighbors and co-workers.

The remains were brought to the home of Mr. Walter Rember, on Sunday evening, from whence the funeral was held on Monday, Sept. 17th, to Ormstown Presbyterian Church. Service was conducted by her pastor, Rev. H. A. Pritchard, who based his talk on The First Five Minutes After Death and paid a fitting tribute to the memory of the deceased saying we should not wish her back to a life of suffering and pain, Farewell Dorothy, Sleep on and take thy rest for you have left the memory of a good name which neither life nor death can take away. The flowers which adorned the casket were varied and beautiful tokens of love and respect from the family, neighbors and home helpers. The pallbearers were Wm. English, A. Marshall, Kenneth Campbell and Alvin Gruer.

She leaves to mourn her loss her sorrowing husband, her mother and one brother, who have the sympathy of this community. Those who attended the funeral from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. George Boyle and Mr. Alex. Leney, of Ottawa, and Mr. and Mrs. Irving Leney, of Longueuil.

The evening was enjoyably spent with cards and social intercourse, then Mr. A. R. Allen asked the host and hostess to come forward and in a few brief words, expressed the regret of those assembled, at losing such good neighbours; for whenever a helping hand was asked "Willie and Martha" were always ready to give it, and hoped that they would be happy in their new home. Mr. F. G. Easton, on behalf of the neighbours, presented them with an electric lamp. He cited various incidents of how the love of Christ had transformed those who had fallen to the lowest depths and His power and love are just as potent today and urged all to accept Him. The address may last from 30 minutes to an hour in length and after that the subject is open for general discussion until midnight. Tuesday night the subject selected by the Club was Canada, and they had Adam Sellar, who is an honorary member of the club give the talk. To tie in with the talk the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. supplied a number of photographs of scenes in the Provinces across Canada and three movies. The Movies referred to Mining in Canada, Wheat Growing, and the Radiant Rockies. The Rev. Dr. Campbell is chairman of the Discussion Club. The Club is non sectarian, its membership being made up of clergy of all denominations, educationalists, manufacturers, doctors, lawyers, horticulturists and agriculturists, etc., etc.

Below is a portion of the address given by Mr. Sellar, a further portion will be printed next week and each succeeding week until completed, as it is quite lengthy.

My subject being "Canada" I believe the fat text might well be our National Anthem

O Canada! Our home, and native land,
True patriot love in all thy sons command,
With glowing hearts we see thee rise,
The true North, strong and free;
We stand on guard, O Canada,
We stand on guard for thee.

Now a definition for a politician is too often like a man who once considered being a minister of the cloth or a doctor, but not being interested in saving souls or bodies, fell into the political field where he could worry the populace to the horror of the minister, and the nervous system of man for the doctor to attend. Consequently developing an undue amount of labour for both minister and doctor.

My subject upon which you have asked me to speak, would require a greater amount of labor for my doing justice to same. If I make you feel envious of Canada, come and live with us. If as Americans, I tread on your toes, don't blame me for it is an expression of "My true patriot love for Canada, my native land."

With Glowing hearts we see thee rise
The true North, strong and free.

Whilst the United States proudly proclaims it a "land of the free" you must not feel it is the only free land. Here in Canada we usually regard Americans as a boastful people, yet I am quite certain you will conclude I am quite equal to being boastful about Canada, our land that is "Strong and Free". Laws we have in both lands, and laws that are quite similar, yet I believe more real bad criminals get light sentences in the U.S. than in Canada, so perhaps that is what you may consider part of your freedom. Here in Canada, too many people get free from justice through paying light fines, or clear on technicalities. The laws on the statute books of both United States and Canada are certainly far from perfect.

Canada, has to too great an extent been kind to the U.S. through populating your country. Perhaps you do not all realize it but over one million Canadians now live in the United States and they and their immediate families living in your land represent between three and four millions of your citizens. That is not the worst factor of it, for amongst these Canadians we find an undue number of them are amongst your foremost citizens. The reason is quite easy to explain. Our universities are considered among the best, such as your Columbia or Cornell. Many of our brilliant youths have graduated from McGill, Varsity, Queens or Western and then gone to the U.S.A. in place of remaining here in the land of "the true North, strong and free," where they might well have remained to help build up Canada. Had these three to four million Canadians who are in the United States been classified as citizens of Canada, this Dominion of Canada would be 30% greater in population today than is actually the case.

If you go to Washington and view the public service you will find sitting at President Roosevelt's right hand as his Administrative Assistant and Advisor on far Eastern Affairs, a Nova Scotian, Lauchlin Currie.

Col. Leonard Rowntree of London, Ont., is your guiding genius in the U.S. Selective Service, who has 33,000 doctors and 70,000 dentists under his care.

In the OPA in Washington you will find it is Walter Thompson of London, Ont., who lays down the law for all business services in your fabulous U.S.A. and he was preceded by another Canadian J. A. Galbraith, of Elgin County, Ontario, and who is now with "Fortune" Magazine.

In the U.S. Senate, one of your ablest and most respected Senators is Charles Eaton, Nova Scotian born.

Donald Nelson, the Production Czar will tell you that one of his top men is Malcolm Slaght of the University of Western Ontario.

When Douglas MacArthur confers with the Commander of the Far Eastern Airforces, he talks to a Nova Scotian, Lieut. Gen. George Kenney, and don't forget that Major Gen. Ben Lear who is in command of all United States Army Ground Forces was born in Hamilton. He rose from Private to Major General without benefit of West Point...a very rare accomplishment even for native born Americans...

It may surprise you to know that more French Canadians in proportion to their population have moved to the United States than English speaking...some of them have come to the top...chiefly in the music world...but most important one of all...is Jean Louis Garand...the inventor of the famous Garand rifle issued to every American soldier. He was born in Quebec.

Another man in Public Service is R. H. Hartley of York County, New Brunswick. If you called on him... you would have asked for the Governor's residence...for he was Governor of the State of Washington.

duced another $10 bill so that a similar class might be judged amongst the Ayrshire and Jersey breed as well as the Holsteins.

We were pleased to note that one of our most recent farmers to come into our midst, Mr. William Harkness was an exhibitor.

Ladies Auxiliary Has Successful Booth

Despite the very bad weather the booth sponsored by members of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion, Huntingdon Branch, was very successful. The booth was decorated in the Auxiliary colours of blue and gold and flags, and consisted of a food table and fish pond which were well patronized. The Agricultural Society donated the booth concession and the members of the Ways and Means Committee are very grateful for this. The money raised by the selling of the tags will be used for comforts for the wounded men in the hospitals overseas.

In making the draw for the woollen blanket donated by the Huntingdon Woollen Mills Ltd. and the rug donated by Popular Rugs Ltd., Officer Nightingale made the drawing with the following results: Ticket No. 504 was the winning one for the rug and Miss Nora Murphy was the winner. Ticket No. 325 was the winning one for the blanket and Mrs. Steve McDermid was the winner.

The money raised on the booth and other items will be used for sending cigarettes and birthday parcels to members of the forces from this district who are overseas.

The members of the Ways and Means Committee wish to thank all those who helped in any way or contributed to the success of booth and other activities sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary at the fair.

War Savings Stamps Booth

The Women's War Finance Council of Huntingdon were allotted a booth at the Fair by kindness of the Fair Committee, for the prosecution of the sales of War Savings Stamps, and to help the Druggists effort in this connection.

The booth was nicely decorated with the Empire Flags and colours, and the Council looked forward to a record sale. Unfortunately the "Fair" weather was quite unfair, and the sales were thoroughly damped, netting under $80.00, which considering the weatherman's face was not too bad. The booth was in charge of Mrs. N. W. Sparrow, Miss Ruth Warden, Mrs. Rolfe and Mrs. Antoine, assisted by Mr. N. W. Sparrow. The Miss Canadas were led by our star sales lady Miss Ruth Warden, and the Misses Elsie Salter, Alison Stark, Barbara Fox and Mona Antoine acted as Miss Canadas. The Ladies' Council are much indebted to the Huntingdon High School Cadets who so kindly helped in this effort.

The sale of War Savings Stamps has fallen off very considerably during the Summer months, and the Women's War Finance Council has a real job of work before them during the Fall and Winter months in order to reach the objective set. The public are reminded that the war is not over, and, according to Mr. Churchill, who is in a better position to know than any of the public, there will still be eighteen months of war yet. After the Nazi has been utterly squashed, there is still that little, cheeky, undersized, grinning yellow ape, to be sent back to his lair, and chained there for all time. The fearful expenses of moving troops, ships, tanks, planes, guns, and all the necessary war material to the Pacific, and India and China areas has to be met, and the purchase of War Savings Stamps is a very real help to the government in this gigantic task. Let each man, woman and child in Huntingdon and the County show that we are right behind the war effort still, and complete the job we have taken on by joining the 25's Club and purchase one 25 cent stamp per week. Thus the boys and girls who are over there will the sooner be back over here where they should be. Whilst your own efforts to prosecute the war languishes the longer your sons and daughters are in danger of death or mutilation.

The judging awards results will be found on another page.

Honor Roll Dedicated at Howick Church on Sunday

Mrs. A. R. Allen and Mrs. J. E. McKell, Mothers of Boys Who Gave Their Lives, Unveil Tablet

The Honour Roll of Howick United Church was dedicated at the morning service, Sunday, Sept. 17, before a congregation which nearly filled the church to capacity. Covered with a Union Jack as the service commenced, the tablet was unveiled by Mrs. A. R. Allen and Mrs. J. E. McKell, mothers of the two boys of the congregation who have given their lives overseas. The session stood during the unveiling to receive the roll on behalf of the congregation, following which the assembled worshippers rose and joined in a responsive form of dedication.

The Honour Roll consists of a walnut tablet to which are attached individual name plates, cast in bronze, representing those on active service; silvered name plates indicating those who have died in the course of duty. The head of the tablet bears the name of Howick United Church, together with the provincial shield and Canadian coat-of-arms, also in bronze.

The Honour Roll is a gift to the congregation from Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Kerr, of Fertile Creek, in memory of their daughter Myrtle, who died in November, 1942, at the age of sixteen. The individual name plates were contributed by the Young Peoples' Union of the church.

There have been seventeen enlistments from the pastoral charge, of which two have paid the supreme sacrifice, Sergeant Ward W. J. Allen and Pilot Officer H. Archie McKell, both of whom were serving in the R.C.A.F. Two others have received wounds, and two have suffered illness in hospitals during their service overseas. The most recent enlistment, WREN H. Ruth Younie, is the only lady member to date.

The front of the church was adorned with gladioli, also placed in memory of Myrtle Kerr, and in honour of those killed overseas. Maple leaves in brilliant fall colours filled the windows on either side of the honour roll.

The minister of the church, Rev. Kenneth H. Woodwark, based his message on Ps. 76:10, "Surely the wrath of man shall praise thee", raising the question whether any good can possibly come of war. The evil results seem obviously to be in the great majority; yet the history of Israel illustrates the providence and power of God to bring some good out of the evil which man brings upon himself and his fellows. Out of the cruel treatment which Joseph's brethern dealt him God raised a leader to rescue the land from famine; and out of the captivity in Babylon the Hebrews derived the conception of a universal God, instead of a mere tribal deity. Any possible enduring benefits of this war therefore will depend on whether mankind is willing to heed God, who desires to lead us into better ways of settling international differences than by that of resorting to war. "My ways are higher than your ways, saith the Lord." And toward that purpose we must seek to rid ourselves of prejudice against those of different race from ours. As Don Blanding wrote in "Pilot, Bail Out":

What did you learn, soldier,
What did you learn at war?
I learned that we must learn something
That wasn't learned before.
That victories won on battlefields
Are victories won in vain,
Unless in peace we kill the germs
That breed fresh wars again.

Special music was in the form of a fitting solo by Mr. W. F. Welch, Kipling's Recessional, "God of our Fathers, known of old". The choir sang "Dear land of home", and the service closed with Kipling's hymn, "Land of our birth, we pledge to thee our love and toil in the years to be."

Echoes of the 'Quake Bring Forth Curious Facts

Mrs. Jas. Colquhoun, of Dundee, spent a few days the past week visiting her mother, Mrs. Laura Burpee, of Massena Centre, N.Y. Mrs. Colquhoun reports that the recent earthquake did considerable damage around her old home at Massena Centre, which is reported as being quite near to the epicentre of the quake. Although still standing, her mother's house, which is of brick, is so badly damaged as to be untenable for the Winter months unless a great amount of repair-work is done. Some freak actions of the quake occurred in a nearby cemetery, where nearly all the monuments, one of which weighs in the neighbourhood of 4 tons, were turned on their bases and nearly all apparently shaken in a northerly direction.

The area along the river, near Massena, had two light shocks again last Saturday and one on Sunday which although no new damage was done still it is said the vibration was quite distinct. From other sources it is learned that the earthquake insurance salesmen in Massena are doing a land office business since the heavy quake of two weeks ago. Over in Cornwall a seismologist from Ottawa was present at a luncheon last Wednesday, at which quite a number of Cornwall business men gathered to listen to the expert give a talk on the subject of earthquakes, their cause and the possibility of recurring shocks. According to a newspaper item it is reported that one authority on quakes states that a tremor of equal violence as the one which was experienced on Sept. 6 caused by a slippage in the Temiskaming fault is not normally to be expected for another 60 years.

Despite all assurances however the residents of Cornwall and Massena which were the towns most seriously affected are still rather juttery as they go about repairing the damaged walls and chimneys of their private houses and public buildings.

"Pin Up Girl" Starring Betty Grable

Wherever there's a thumbtack—and a man—there you'll find Betty Grable!

It's as inevitable as that.

For the simple, unadorned fact of the matter is that Betty stands today as America's undisputed No. 1 "Pin-Up Girl."

Seven million service men—from Guadalcanal to Salerno . . . from Akron to Alaska—whose barracks, tents, planes and tanks her likeness adorns, can't be wrong— Nor can the millions of home-front fans who have boosted the blonde and shapely beauty to the pinnacle of screen success.

What with her pin-up status, and her personal contributions to morale-building in hospitals, army camps, naval stations and other points of troop concentration throughout the country, Miss Grable has become a distinctive, streamlined symbol of our times.

Thus, it was no accident that 20th Century-Fox decided to make a motion picture celebrating Miss Grable's eminence in the esteem of the men of the armed forces and the public generally. The spectacular Technicolor production of "Pin Up Girl," which stars Betty Grable, and shows on Sunday and Monday, Sept. 24 and 25 at the O'Connor Theatre, is practically a command performance. And in further tribute to her unique position as a sensational real-life personality who warrants a salute in an especially patterned film production, the studio surrounded her with a brilliant array of talent, including John Harvey, Martha Raye, Joe E. Brown and Eugene Pallette, and featuring Charlie Spivak and His Orchestra.

Salvage Division Says, "Dig it Out, Hand it Over!"

"Dig it out and hand it over!" might well be the motto of salvage committees across Canada nowadays, according to a spokesman for the National Salvage Division in Ottawa for that's what these hard working committees are asking of the members of their communities.

He spoke enthusiastically of the splendid results obtained in a District Drive which included Galt, Kitchener, Waterloo and Preston, Ontario. In these four communities, the day chosen was known as DD "D" Day, in other words District Drive "D" Day. The chairman of the Galt Salvage Committee which was co-operating in the organization of the drive told the citizens that waste paper collected in Galt would go directly into cardboard cartons and casings for blood plasma and many war tools being sent to the battlefronts in France and Italy.

In Port Hope, Ontario, Girl Guides collected salvage during the summer months, and are distributing the proceeds to war charities. Peterborough, Ontario, recently had a four-day drive in which the city's residents were asked to search their homes and places of business for available paper salvage. Requirements for old paper and rags in the nation's industrial plants are as great as ever and the quota set for Peterborough was 30 pounds of salvage from every home.

Good News For Sportsmen

Canadian sportsmen who lacked ammunition for their annual hunt were no doubt, anxiously awaiting an announcement from the Ration Administration—wartime Prices and Trade Board—with regard to ammunition that might possibly be released for sporting purposes this fall.

This extract from Notice RA-40, released by the Ration Administration—Wartime Prices and Trade Board—on August 8 last gives the details of the plan as it directly affects the sportsman.

Extract From Notice RA-40

In accordance with its announcement of January 3rd last, the Board has now completed arrangements in the distribution of limited quantities of small arms ammunition to sportsmen this fall.

Rationing was adopted for small arm ammunition in March, 1943, to ensure that the limited supplies available were distributed equitably among essential users. Because of the shortage of copper and other necessary materials no ammunition could be made available for sporting purposes. The metals position has now eased considerably but the labor and production facilities are still limiting factors.

However, as was anticipated, production has increased during the past few months to the point where there is a slight surplus of rim fire cartridges and shot shells over the needs of essential users. Accordingly, a limited distribution of these types of ammunition will be made to hunters during the next few months. Because of the large demand for centre fire ammunition from essential users (residents of northern out-posts, etc.) it will not be possible to include centre fire cartridges in this distribution of ammunition for sporting purposes. First claim on available supplies must still, of course, go to essential users and, unfortunately, after their needs are provided for the quantities of centre fire ammunition available will be inadequate for any general distribution to sportsmen.

The Allotment

a. Every person possessing a registered Rim Fire rifle is entitled to 100 Rim Fire cartridges. Persons possessing more than one Rim Fire rifle are still entitled to only 100 R.F. cartridges.

b. Every person possessing a registered shot gun is entitled to 50 shot shells. Persons with more than one shot gun, irrespective of gauge, are entitled to only 50 shot shells. Within this limit of 50 they may purchase some of each gauge.

c. A person possessing both registered Rim Fire rifles and registered shot gun is entitled to a maximum of 100 Rim Fire cartridges and 50 shot shells irrespective of the number of Rim Fire rifles and shot guns he possesses.

d. No person with a registered Centre Fire rifle is entitled to Centre Fire cartridges for sporting purposes.

e. Essential users are entitled to apply for ammunition for sporting purposes in addition to their allotment for essential purposes.

The Hunter

a. No hunter is entitled to ammunition unless his firearms are registered.

b. Application must be made to the Local Ration Board. The applicant must present both his gun registration certificate and his ration book or card.

c. If the Local Ration Board is satisfied with the application it will issue a Hunters' Purchase Permit for Small Arms Ammunition (form RB-205).

d. Permits will be issued from August 15 to September 30, inclusive. No Hunters' Purchase Permits for Small Arms Ammunition will be issued after September 30.

e. Hunters may use the permits for purchasing ammunition from September 1 to December 31, 1944, inclusive.

Non-Resident Tourists

Non-resident tourists are not entitled to purchase ammunition for hunting purposes in Canada, as their firearms are not registered in this country. They are entitled to import firearms, provided they obtain the necessary permits from the R.C.M.-P., Ottawa, but this permit must be applied for well in advance of the date of their trip to Canada. They are also entitled to import reasonable quantities of ammunition on payment of duty and taxes.

Rationing System Effects Huge Saving in Gasoline

Coupon Plan, Plus Voluntary Appeal in 1941, Canada's Present Annual Consumption

Figures released by the Department of Munitions and Supply show that motor gasoline consumption in Canada, in the four years ended March 31, 1941 to 1944, was as follows:

Year Ended March 31st	Gallons
1941	882,216,930
1942	944,178,060
1943	787,710,630
1944	814,248,820

These figures include usage for all purposes including the armed services, the Alaska Highway, agriculture and other essential war uses.

In the year ended March 31, 1943, the first ration year, motor gasoline consumption was 156,467,430 gallons less than the actual consumption of the previous twelve months. It was 192,289,370 gallons less than the estimated number of gallons that would have been used had it not been for the voluntary conservation campaign launched in 1941.

While motor gasoline consumption at the close of the second year of rationing showed an increase of 26,539,190 gallons over the year ended March 31, 1943, direct sales to the armed services and sales of marked gasoline, used chiefly in agricultural machinery, increased by 10,640,000 gallons and 30,940,000 gallons respectively. There was, therefore, an actual decline in civilian consumption of motor gasoline during the second complete year of rationing of 15,050,000 gallons.

Savings have been effected in the face of tremendous growth in the nation's war effort. Canada had to service the trucks and equipment used in the construction of more than 120 additional airports for the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F., many of them far removed from railhead. It supplied the gasoline for trucks and equipment used in building the Alaska Highway; for the thousands of training aircraft operating under the Commonwealth Air Training Plan. It had to meet the needs of greatly increased truck haulage of materials from widely scattered war plants.

Had the use of gasoline not been controlled, M. and S. officials estimate that consumption for the years ended March 31, 1943 and March 31, 1944, would have reached at least 980,000,000 gallons—which is the actual indicated consumption for the year ended March 31, 1942. The voluntary appeal and two full years of gasoline rationing have, therefore, effected a total saving of approximately 393,750,000 gallons of motor gasoline, which is about one-third of Canada's total annual consumption at the present time.

ONE THIRD TAX CUT SEEN POSSIBLE

Assuming that the postwar budget works out along the lines now officially indicated, Dominion Government taxes could be decreased a third within three years of the end of the war, a survey in The Financial Post reveals. For the current year, it is stated, individuals will pay $804 millions in direct taxes, and corporations $648 millions, exclusive of $85 millions refundable, but whether any postwar cuts would be made in the same proportions is not certain.

Says The Post, "Of course, political factors, the trend of national income and public policy regarding the taxing of corporations might vary both the size of the over-all tax reduction and the amount by which either class of taxpayer would benefit. In addition, there is no certainty that tax relief would be proportionally equal for taxpayers from different income brackets. Politics may bring a 100% reduction in some brackets, virtually no relief in others."

BURIED IN OATS

BROWNSVILLE, Ont.—(CP)—An unusual accident occurred to J. E. Fenn when a mow of oats slipped sideways to the centre of the barn burying him, a team of horses and the wagon. He burrowed out to fresh air, and then helped cut a hole in the barn wall to free the horses.

Sun Spot Minimum Foretells Possible Mild Winter

If sun spots keep on behaving true to form, Ottawa can expect a mild Winter, but one with clear, cold nights.

This year Ottawa is smack in the middle of a sun spot minimum which occurs approximately every 11 years. This means that the temperature for the average day is from one to two degrees higher, which had something to do with the hot Summer. It also means clear, frosty days and nights. The nights will be colder because the clearness of the atmosphere allows more heat to escape.

According to the sun spot cycle the nights last Winter should also have been clear and cold, but a new volcano starting up in a Mexican farmer's field changed all that, says Dr. R. E. DeLury, Dominion Observatory authority on sun spots. The blanket of volcanic dust that floated as far north as Canada kept heat from escaping and allowed drops of water in the atmosphere to condense around the particles, forming fogs.

Another result was that sunsets last Winter were orange-red colors, instead of the steely-green that usually comes with a cool, transparent atmosphere.

Sun spots are large circular disturbances of burning gases, rushing out from the sun's surface in a motion like a whirlwind. Above them are white clouds giving off ultraviolet rays which break up the atoms in our atmosphere. As a result the electrons become nuclei for water vapor to form clouds around.

Rainfall has a definite connection with the sun spot cycle. Near the coast where there is lots of moisture in the atmosphere high rainfall comes at the maximum part of the cycle. But inland, where air currents have a chance to come into effect, heaviest rainfall comes with the minimum part of the cycle.

This had something to do with the ample rain that gave the Prairies and Western Ontario their best crop in years but the Ottawa Valley bout of dryness has yet to be investigated.

Dr. DeLury would not make any exact prophecies about the weather this Winter. However, he is looking forward to the time when records have been kept long enough to enable experts to deduce accurately in advance how much coal he ought to put in.

IN ENGLAND

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Coulter, of Athelstan, Que., have received a letter from their daughter, Pte. Jean A. Coulter, who is in England with C.W.A.C., in which she says she has not had much chance to see the country yet. It does remind her of the Eastern Provinces of Canada and she does not think the Scotch people are half as bad as some stories would have us believe. Pte. Coulter says they are very generous people and very kind.

Maple Leaf Grange

Maple Leaf Grange met on Thursday night. The Master, Wm. Graham and Past Master F. J. Donnelly reported on the recent meeting of Pomona Grange, at Gabriels, N.Y., which they attended, along with Mr. Andrew Elder, Mrs. W. F. McDonald, Miss Harriet Coffey and Miss Gladys Tannahill. Three members of Maple Leaf Grange were elected to Pomona Grange offices. F. J. Donnelly was elected Pomona Master, Mrs. W. L. Carr and Miss Harriet Coffey to fill the seats of Pomona and Ceres.

The next meeting of Pomona Grange will be held at Maple Leaf Grange in November when the officers will be installed. Pomona Grange is made up of representatives from all Granges in Franklin County, N.Y., and meets quarterly.

A cheque was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Goodfellow along with the good wishes of their Grange fellow members. The usual chorus on these occasions was sung with emphasis.

The Maple Leaf Grange will hold its Annual Harvest Supper followed by the Booster Night Programme on Sept. 28th.

An amusing dramatic contest resulted in Allan Mack being declared winner.

Mr. W. L. Carr who had returned that evening from Quebec, gave a short account of the Quebec Fair, mentioning the success of the Holstein herd of James Murphy & Son and the banquet which he attended in honour of the winners of the Merit Agricole competition.

Sandwiches, doughnuts and coffee were served by Miss Ida Anderson, Miss Bessie Graham, Miss Marjory Elder, Mrs. M. Anderson and Leslie Hay.

FARM CASH INCOME SHOWS AN INCREASE

Cash income from the sale of farm products increased in the first six months of 1944 as compared with the corresponding six months of 1943. The 1944 estimate for the six months of $716,394,000 represents an increase of $166,183,000, or 30 per cent, over the 1943 figure, and is only $6,000,000 less than the estimate for the entire year of 1939. The increase for the first six months of 1944 over the 1943 six months was common to all Provinces except Prince Edward Island, and was particularly marked in Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Income from the sale of wheat was about $100 millions higher in 1944 than in 1943, and over half of this increase occurred in Saskatchewan. Increased deliveries of wheat, combined with higher prices to producers, brought about the increase in income. The decline in Prince Edward Island was due to the relatively poor crops harvested in 1943 and particularly to the decline in the supply of potatoes for market.

There are few things more appetizing or more healthful than a bowl of luscious, fresh fruit and what an easy way to solve the dessert problem! Canada's food rules for healthful eating call for two servings of fruit every day. While fresh fruits are in season, the Nutrition Division at Ottawa suggests going the food rules one better and serving fruit at every meal.

Opinions of Others ...

"MISSING"

There is no word which brings more anxiety, anguish and pain than that one little word "missing" during these terrible days of turmoil, when some wife or mother receives a message that a loved one is missing. There are long days and nights of watchful waiting, ever hoping for news that the lost one has been found.

Every time there is a knock on the door, the telephone rings, or a letter comes, hope springs up that it is some news of the missing one, followed by a let-down feeling when it is only a friend or a neighbour calling or dropping in to see if any news has come.

Only those who are going through this trying ordeal know the painful longing which fills the heart of the one who is left waiting and watching, hoping and praying, suffering in silence, but seldom, if ever, giving up to despair. Hope lingers on, day after day, week after week, month after month. Our boys in the fighting line may be wounded, torn and bleeding, but their physical suffering is nothing compared to the mental suffering of the brave soldier on the home front, the wife or mother of the boy who is missing.—Orilla News-Letter.

WHAT IS HOME?

Eight hundred replies came to a London magazine which asked the question: "What is home?" These answers were written by persons representing all classes. Seven were selected and published:

"Home—A world of strife shut out, a world of love shut in."

"Home—The place where the small are great, and the great are small."

"Home—The father's kingdom, the mother's world, and the children's paradise."

"Home—The place where we grumble the most and are treated the best."

"Home—The centre of our affection round which our heart's best wishes twine."

"Home—The place where our stomachs get three square meals a day and our hearts a thousand."

"Home—The only place on earth where the faults and failings of humanity are hidden under the sweet mantle of charity." — Lachute Watchman.

PARLIAMENTARY TRIBUTE

When all other countries had been crushed, England, in her heroic resistance against the tyrant who had enslaved all the European territories, fought in a manner for which we shall ever be thankful. The way for our country to express her gratitude in such circumstances, was to help to the limit of their resources those who had protected them against a tyrant whose victory would have meant enslavement perhaps for centuries."

The speaker of the foregoing words is a Canadian of French origin, speaking in French in the Canadian House of Commons on July 11, 1944. He is Vincent Dupuis, M.P. for Chambly-Ronville.—Printed Word.

WATER BEFORE FEED

Why should a horse be watered first and fed afterwards? The answer is because of the comparatively small size of the horse's stomach. If grain is given before the horse is watered, the inrush of water when the horse drinks washes the grain out of the stomach. This causes colic and impaction in the digestive tract. Veterinarians point out that the horse has such a small stomach compared with the size of its body that proper feeding is one of the most important factors to bear in mind in the care of work animals.

WEEK AT OTTAWA

Written Specially for
The Huntingdon Gleaner
By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA—(CP)—Canada's prairie farmers are in for another bumper wartime wheat crop.

In its first estimate of production of principal grain crops, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics has placed the 1944 wheat crop at 447,656,000 bushels, 154,000,000 greater than the third estimate of the 1943 harvest. The total in 1942 was 557,000,000 bushels while in 1940 it was 540,000,000.

Prairie province production this year is estimated at 423,000,000 bushels against 277,000,000 last year, while the average yield of wheat is estimated at 18.3 bushels an acre against 16.16 in 1943.

Bulk of the wheat produced outside the prairies will be harvested in Ontario, where winter wheat output is estimated at 20,708,000 bushels and spring wheat at 771,000, making a total crop there of 21,479,000 bushels

The estimate of Canadian oats production is up approximately 44,000,000 bushels to 526,138,000 compared with 482,022,000 last year. The increase has been attributed to a better crop in Ontario, where production is placed at 65,000,000 bushels against 35,000,000 last year. Oats production in Western Canada will be slightly higher, although acreage there is below last year.

Barley production has taken a drop, despite a larger crop in Ontario. The 1944 harvest is estimated at 203,776,000 bushels for the Dominion against 215,562,000 bushels last year. Barley acreage was reduced on the prairies this year.

Rye prospects are better this year, with production of both spring and fall rye estimated at 10,581,000 bushels compared with 7,143,000 in 1943.

This year's flaxseed crop promises higher yield per acre but prairie acreage was reduced sharply this spring and the western crop is little better than half the 1943 production. The total flaxseed crop is estimated at 10,082,000 bushels against 17,911,000 last year.

To Conserve Butter

Recent government statements stressing the problem of meeting the increasing demand for dairy products have been followed by action by the Prices Board to conserve Canada's dwindling butter stocks.

For the fourth time this year the board has ordered postponement of the validity date of butter coupons, which means that Canadian housewives will have to get along with less butter than they had expected between now and the end of the year.

This time the board has postponed the dates of two coupons—one in October and the other in December. In the past, this has meant a saving of approximately 5,000,000 pounds of butter, which should help to avoid serious shortages during the winter months of restricted production.

The board said the butter situation now is "tighter" than it was when the last set of butter coupons was postponed in July.

Canadian butter stocks at Sept. 1 were 11,500,000 pounds below the stocks at Sept. 1 last year, when the total was 75,322,559, while butter production to Aug. 31 was down about 12,000,000 pounds compared with the corresponding period in 1943.

Summer drought conditions in dairying areas of Eastern Canada were said to have contributed to the lowered production.

A recent board order limiting sales of cream by distributors in 180 principal markets to the amount they sold in June is expected to prevent any further inroads into butter production, which has declined with a falling off in milk production.

The combined output of factory products in July totalled slightly less than 1,400,000,000 pounds of milk, a decrease of approximately 63,500,000 pounds compared with combined make in terms of milk in the corresponding month of 1943.

Of the total milk available to the factories in July, creamery butter took 69.4 per cent, cheddar cheese 22.5, ice cream 3.2 and concentrated whole milk 4.9.

Working TOGETHER to keep CANADA STRONG!

BOTH are men of action — the soldier and the scientist — each has his stake in Victory, his duty to perform in attaining it. The scientist is working against these odds — loss of help, shortage of materials. Yet he is working to prevent sickness due to wartime strain, he is always trying to think of ways to keep you and your family in good health, while perhaps we have to make do with substitutes for this or that. We owe to the scientist the discovery of the proper simple foods which give us the greatest vitamin content for good health. The least we can do is to follow Canada's Food Rules and help out all we can.

CANADA

GS

The G.S. badge on the arm indicates that the wearer has volunteered for general service on any battle front, anywhere in the world.

Now!

DO A BETTER ONE WITH THIS!

In the factory and on the assembly line you have done the job Canada asked for—and you have done it well.

Now Canada's Army has another job for you—a more important job—one that is far more urgent.

REINFORCEMENTS FOR CANADA'S ARMY ARE NEEDED.

So put down the riveter and grab the Tommy gun. Take your place with the men of Canada's Army who proudly wear the G.S. badge on their arm. Reinforce the infantry for the great invasion that will end, for all time, the tyranny of Nazis. You'll require months of intensive training to make you fighting-fit.

Mr. Hidalla Caza, mayor, was named to inspect and receive the cutting of the brush and weeds alongside the public roads.

The Sec.-Treas. was authorized to advise Messrs. John Moriarty and Joseph Viau to cut trees on their property at the corner of Welsh and Quesnel roads to enable car drivers on Welsh road to see other cars coming on the Quesnel road.

Public notice will be given to notify the proprietors, whose lands border along the public roads of the municipality, to cut a width of 15 ft. the brush and weeds on their property as mentioned in by-law 95 of this municipality and also cut and take away the vines on the fences. The Late Mrs. D. C. MacDonald

Howick lost one of the older members of the community on Sept. 5, when Margaret Lindsay, widow of Donald C. MacDonald, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Roy Younie. She had been ill for about two months and was 82 years old.

Mrs. MacDonald is survived by five daughters and two sons, viz: Mrs. John Blachford, of Huntingdon; Mrs. W. E. Cline, of Vancouver, B.C.; Mrs. Melville A. Cunningham, of High Prairie, Alta.; Mrs. Mason Greig, of Ormstown; Mrs. Roy Younie, Howick; Charles P. MacDonald, of Ormstown and D. Cameron MacDonald, of Massena, N.Y. The late Mrs. Vernon Johnson

On Wednesday evening, Sept. 6th, there passed away one of the older residents of our community in the person of the late Mrs. Vernon Johnson, at her home on the Brook-Road, Athelstan, Que.

The deceased was born in Ayreshire, Scotland, coming to Canada with her parents at the early age of 8 years and has lived in and around this vicinity practically all her life. She leaves to mourn her passing her husband, to whom she was married in 1894; two sons Cecil and Clarence and a daughter-in-law. A daughter predeceased her several years ago. Mrs. Johnson was a good neighbor and friend to all who knew her and a most patient sufferer throughout her entire illness. She was a member of the Powerscourt United Church and a most willing helper in the Societies connected therewith. The funeral service was held on Friday afternoon and conducted by her pastor, Rev. J. H. Woodside, assisted by Mr. R. G. MacMillan. Interment was made in Powerscourt Cemetary. The deceased was in her 81st year.

The Late Mrs. J. D. Murray

After a lengthy illness death came to Mrs. Belinda Warner, wife of Mr. J. D. Murray, Chilliwack, B.C. and who moved away from Huntingdon 21 years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Murray will be well remembered by many Huntingdonians. Mr. Murray was the general manager of the Borden Co. Limited plant in Huntingdon. The Murray family came to Huntingdon from Truro, N.S. Their family of three daughters and two sons were well known here, Raymond for several years being foreman of The Huntingdon Gleaner Inc. Cecil, the younger brother, gave his life during the 1st Great War. The Murray family were highly prized and valued citizens in Huntingdon.

Mrs. Murray was born in Brookfield, Colchester County, N.S. For several years the family resided at South Sumas, B.C., where Mr. Murray was manager of the Borden milk plant. On Mr. Murray's retirement a few years ago the family moved to Chilliwack where they had a new home on Murray St.

Interment took place in the I.O.O.F. cemetery, Chilliwack.

Besides her husband she is survived by three daughters, Grace, at home; Rena (Mrs. L. A. Hardy), Chilliwack Central road; Hazel (Mrs. Q. McAdam), Burnaby; one son, Raymond, at home. One son, Cecil, who was killed during the first great war.

Diphtheria Uncontrolled Lethal as a Bomb

The Jones children have diphtheria! Yesterday they were playing in the school yard . . . tomorrow, mothers down every concession line will be wondering how far the disease will spread; will it come to them?

Diphtheria when uncontrolled is lethal. Children in Canada can, and do die from it just as children in Britain and all Europe are dying from bomb, shells and machine guns. Deaths like this cannot be avoided in wartime, but deaths from diphtheria can. Some communities have banished it entirely, but in areas where prevention has been neglected the death rate is noticeably high.

From 1939 to 1942 inclusive, there were approximately 11,000 cases of diphtheria in Canada, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. There were also approximately 66,000 cases of scarlet fever, and 72,000 of whooping cough. Some of these were fatal, many will leave scars and weaknesses for life. All could have been prevented. There is a toxoid for diphtheria, a toxin for scarlet fever, a vaccine for whooping cough and every child has a right to their protection.

National Immunization Week, September 10 to 16 stresses this fact. It's importance cannot be underestimated.

1943 Production of Common Salt Reaches New High

Recent figures from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that the production of sodium chloride or common salt in Canada reached a record high during 1943 in both quality and value of output. Six hundred and eighty-seven thousand, six hundred and eighty-six short tons were produced, valued at $4,379,378.

The market for salt in the Dominion is steadily increasing. Domestic production is sold principally to the dairy, meat curing and canning industries; fisheries; chemical industries; as table salt and to highway and transport departments for use as soil stabilizers.

The use of salt in soil stabilization for the foundation of highways and for a surface veneer for gravel roads has shown a marked increase in recent years. It has been used extensively also in the soil-stabilized bases for runways at Canadian airfields. Sand, piled each fall along main highways, remains loose and free-flowing even in the coldest weather when mixed with salt, thus allowing easy distribution on icy roadways.

Useful Hints On Storing Vegetables

Vegetables should be harvested as late in the season as possible for winter use, and when digging the roots care is necessary so as not to damage them as the slightest bruise will cause rot in storage, says J. Gallaher, Head Gardener, Dominion Experimental Station, Kentville, N.S.

The tops should be cut off close to the crown, as the ends of the leaf stalk if left on will also cause rot in storage. Beet tops should be twisted off, not cut. Good housekeepers can the beet roots when small as they become tough if kept in storage any length of time.

Carrots, parsnips and salsify may be stored in boxes, placed in layers with either damp sand, moss, or sawdust. If sawdust is used it should be from hardwood, as softwood sawdust may cause rot or fungus. In the fall a few parsnips may be buried about one foot deep in a corner of the garden and dug up again in the spring, when the quality of the parsnips will be found to be improved.

Potatoes and swede turnips do not require packing in any material, but put in boxes or barrels with the top exposed. Potatoes when dug should be left for a short time on the ground so as to allow the outer skin to dry. This is not necessary for turnips.

The later varieties of cabbage such as the Late Danish Ballhead are better for storing, as the earlier varieties do not keep well. A few plants may be pulled with roots intact. All leaves except a few close to the head should be removed and the plant suspended from the roots from the ceiling of the storage room; or the heads may be cut just below the base. Loose leaves should be taken off and the heads placed on a slatted shelf, head down in two or three layers. As the outer leaves decay they should be removed. Heads will keep well in some cellars if rolled in several sheets of paper.

Onions should be pulled and left in the garden for a week or ten days before storing. The tops and roots should then be removed and placed in slatted boxes or spread out on the flooor in a dry warm place for a few weeks, then placed in the coolest part of the cellar.

Celery, like parsnips, should be harvested at the end of the season. Choose a dry day and lift the plants with most of the soil on the roots. All decayed outer leaves and any suckers appearing around the base of the plant should be removed. Place them in boxes, covering the roots with soil, or, if space will allow put them as close as possible on the floor in a bed of about four plants to a row. Cover the roots and keep them well watered but be careful not to let the water on the leaves or into the heart. Leeks may be treated the same as celery.

Squash, citron, vegetable marrow and pumpkin, unlike the foregoing, require warmth, and should be stored in the warmest part of the cellar or in the attic, where it is dry and warm. The fruit should be well ripened on the plants and harvested before the cold nights come. Place the fruit on shelves where possible, but never in barrels or boxes. Be very careful not to bruise the outer skin at any time. Examine the fruit often, using the unripened first as they will not keep well.

Potato Storage

A cellar 14 feet wide and 30 feet long, provided with bins, will store 1,000 bushels of potatoes. Potatoes should be as dry as possible when going into storage. The best temperature for seed stock is 33 to 38 degrees F., but for table stock 38 to 42 degrees will give best results. Lower temperatures tend to cause a sweet flavour. Potatoes will keep much better if placed in slatted bins. A false floor and walls made of boards six inches wide with half-inch cracks between them, will allow for ventilation. The false floor and walls should be six inches from the walls and floor of the cellar.
