CANUCKS SEIZE CARPIQUET IN MAJOR ATTACK

Russian Troops Are Advancing Swiftly Past Captured Minsk

Action Chops At Heart Of Nazi Caen Defences; Fighting For Airfield

Carpiquet Considered as One of Strongest Points Caen Perimeter and One of Keys to Caen Itself—British Troops Strike Forward with Canadians, Winning Ground South of City.

Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force, July 4.—(P)—British and Canadian forces in an assault to the West of Caen advanced one and one half miles to capture Verson, due South of Carpiquet, Allied Headquarters announced late today.

Verson is about four miles Southwest of Caen, just South of the Caen-Villerville-Bocage highway.

Headquarters said the British and Canadians now have advanced about one and a half miles on a two and a half-mile-wide front.

Earlier, a field dispatch from Ross Munro, Canadian Press War Correspondent, announced Canadian infantry and armor had captured Carpiquet in an attack launched with British support at dawn today.

Canadian troops were still fighting on the Carpiquet airfield this afternoon. British troops advancing along the bank of the River Odon captured Verson.

"From a slope in our forward gun lines I watched the attack as a bedlam of firing shook the front," Munro wrote. "The guns drummed with a steady rhythm as they beat up the objective, and rocket-firing Typhoons dived like black meteors right onto the German positions, blasting them at point blank range."

"German guns and mortars are hitting the Canadians now. The fighting is far from over and German counter-blows against Carpiquet may be expected."

American columns were converging on La Haye du Puits from the North, East and West. One column reached high ground controlling communication arteries 2 1/2 miles from the town.

(Today's German communique acknowledged the Allies had made several penetrations on the Western wing of the Normandy bridgehead but claimed most assaults in that area were repelled.)

Earlier today an Allied communique said the British-held Odon salient still was firmly held, and that a fresh series of German counter-thrusts in that sector had been repulsed.

In many places American infantrymen fought their way through water waist deep as their new attack rolled forward. Lt. Gen. Bradley's forces were pushing in a rough semi-circle from St. Lo d'Orville to a point near Carentan, a sector about 20 airline miles wide.

There were no reports of any advances from Carentan South to St. Lo. (The Germans admitted possibly deeper penetrations than the Allies announced officially. The Nazi International Information Service said in a Berlin broadcast: "During American attacks launched yesterday between Carentan and the West Coast of Normandy German positions were withdrawn several miles at some points.")

Allied communique No. 57 said this morning that "gains up to two and a half miles were made in spite of heavy rains which severely restricted air support."

Until late last evening the American drive had no air support but then clearing weather allowed fighters to hit German concentrations in the Lessay area, five miles due South of La Haye du Puits.

An indication the Allied force was "within range of prepared enemy positions."

Allied Headquarters announced the 5th Army has captured 26,500 prisoners from the opening of the offensive May 11 to July 1, bringing the total bag since the Salerno landing to more than 40,000.

Twenty-six miles inland from Cezina the 5th Army captured Casola D'Elsa after some of the stiffest opposition encountered North of Rome. Cezina itself was subjected to enemy air raids which caused little or no damage.

Following capture of Siena French columns fanned out, cutting the road to Arezzo at a point eight miles to the East.

The 8th Army pushed swiftly after the fleeing Germans North of Lake Trasimeno, gaining more than eight miles in a single day in a sector to the Northwest where Marciano and Lucignano were taken.

A little farther to the West a fierce battle raged between British units and the Hermann Goering Division North of Trequanda. Cortona, 13 miles Southeast of Arezzo, also was captured.

Indian troops rolling up the Tiber Valley won a footing on Monte Acuto, three miles Southwest of Umbertide, a road junction 14 miles North of Perugia. Another column was thrusting toward Gubbio, 48 miles due South of Rimini.

In the Adriatic sector San Severino and Matelica fell to the 8th Army and brisk fighting continued in the vicinity of Osimo, 14 miles South of Ancona, where enemy losses in equipment and troops were mounting sharply despite favorable defensive terrain bolstered by minefields.

HUN AIRFIELDS IN FRANCE ARE UNDER ATTACK

Britain-Based Aircraft Roar Out on New Assignments After Being Held in Check for Days by Bad Weather Over Continent.

London, July 4.—(P)—Up to 500 American heavy bombers from Italy struck Romanian air targets for the second consecutive day today while an equal force from Britain smashed anew at German airfields in France.

R.A.F. Mosquitos last night struck at targets in the Ruhr and in France, South of Paris, as the weather began to improve.

The better weather permitted the first heavy daylight air action in France in several days. Airdromes in Northern and Northwest France were bombed today by instrument through heavy cloud layers. U.S. A.A.P. Headquarters did not specify targets.

Fighters flew with the bombers through varying intensities of flak which felled two bombers and four fighters.

Ranches of cloud hung over the Normandy battle area and the ceiling was no more than 3,000 feet in some places, but still the day brought the Allies their best flying weather since July began.

Clouds forced most bombardiers to use a overcast bombing technique. One formation bombed two airfields in the vicinity of Paris. Returning crewmen from that group said they encountered no German planes and only light flak.

The new daylight operations were launched after a night of increased activity which saw R. A. F. Mosquito bombers spread havoc among German rearline communications South of Paris and attack targets in the German Ruhr Valley for the first time since June 30. Mines also were laid in enemy waters during the overnight forays, which were carried out without loss.

German rocket bomb attacks on Southern England also were continued during the night—although on a somewhat reduced scale—and were resumed this morning in daylight.

The first improvement in the weather was noted last evening, when tactical air formations based in both Britain and Normandy were able to step up their operations, bringing to 600 the total number of sorties flown during the day.

Attacking the area of Orleans, Montfort and Cloyes the Mosquitos wrecked trains, road vehicles, bridges, rail crossings and highway junctions last night. Earlier, mediums of the British 2nd Tactical Air Force had bombed a German fuel dump near Argecan sending it up in smoke.

U.S. HOLIDAY TOLL 317

New York, July 4.—(P)—Death of five persons early today in an Arizona train wreck boosted the toll of fatalities in the United States over the Independence Day week-end to 317.

Traffic accidents, despite restrictions on gasoline and tires, were the primary cause of death, with 138 victims. Eighty-five persons drowned and ninety-four succumbed to miscellaneous causes.

Reports Paris Is City Of Terror

By CHARLES S. FOLTZ, Associated Press Staff Writer, Madrid, July 4.—(P)—Frenchmen arriving today at the Spanish border said Paris was a city of terror as the Germans, with the enthusiastic support of frightened collaborators, pressed a programme of house-to-house manhunt, anti-Jewish roundups and kidnapping of French labor unequalled in the four years of their occupation of France.

"It is worse than anything France has known in modern times," one escaping Frenchman said.

Spanish correspondents of Madrid newspapers writing from Paris said the city was "yellow with panic" as the Germans and Vichy officials staged mass arrests in "reprisals" for the assassination last week of Vichy Propaganda Minister Philippe Henriot.

Unrest, sabotage and active resistance, meanwhile, were reported on the increase throughout France, particularly in the South.

Reports reaching here from border points said that along the Mediterranean Coast, German Garrisons were fighting partisan attacks from the rear while awaiting an expected Allied attack from the sea and that several smaller mountain towns in the Pyrenees within sight of the Mediterranean were in the hands of the Maquis.

ROBOT ATTACKS ARE LIGHTEST YET RECORDED

Allied Hope to Soon Renew Their Offensive Against Comet Bomb Installations in Pas de Calais Area of France.

London, July 4.—(P)—German flying bomb attacks on Southern England tapered off during the night and reports from that area today indicated the assaults were the lightest recorded since the Nazis unleashed their so-called "secret weapon."

Prime Minister Churchill plans to make a statement Thursday in the House of Commons regarding the robot bombs. Foreign Secretary Eden told the House today.

Signs of clearing weather over France, meanwhile, raised hopes that Allied bombers might soon be able to renew their offensive against installations in the Pas de Calais area from which the Germans have been launching most of the robots.

There are indications that the Germans have been doing extensive new construction work in that area, but whether this is connected with the rocket bomb campaign is not apparent.

Even with poor visibility over the Channel, observers on the British coast have been able to discern large white tents which have appeared recently on the slopes of Cape Gris Nez—perhaps excavations for a new trench system to command the entrance to Boulogne harbor.

Similar markings have been observed near Calais and the appearance of six or eight new buildings.

Last German Defences In Polotsk, Gateway To Latvia, Are Stamped Out

Reds Surge Past Minsk

Map shows where First White Russian Army crossed the Berezina River to capture Bobruisk and outflank the East bank stronghold of Borisov. The Soviet forces have now captured Minsk, one of the last remaining obstacles on the ancient invasion route to Warsaw.

Finnish Command Reports Russians Have Started New General Offensive on Karelian Isthmus—Red Vanguard in Some Places Nearly 40 Miles Northwest of Minsk, Slutsk and Polotsk.

Moscow, July 4.—(P)—Russian armies rolled swiftly West of captured Minsk today toward Warsaw and East Prussia, while other Soviet forces stamped out the last German defences in Polotsk, gateway to Latvia and Lithuania on the Baltic.

(The German communique said Polotsk had been evacuated and that the Russians had penetrated Minsk and "pushed ahead further West." A Berlin spokesman said Russian vanguards in some places already were nearly forty miles West or Northwest of Minsk, Slutsk and Polotsk.

(A Berlin broadcast said Russian advances were so rapid that great German units "were left in the rear of the enemy."

(The Finnish Command said the Russians had started a new general offensive on the Karelian Isthmus between Suomenvedenpohja and Karisalmi with heavy artillery, tank and air forces supporting the infantry.)

Since the fall of Minsk, Polotsk was the largest Russian city left in German hands.

With the collapse of German defences at Minsk before two hard-driving Russian columns, a number of important new objectives lay ahead for the Red Army steamroller.

Cutting between the flanks of the disorganized Germans and smashing sporadic opposition, the Russians were battling toward communication lines and border line cities of the Soviet Baltic Republics and threatening the bulk of the Nazi positions on the Russian side of the Western Bug River.

In addition to being less than 150 miles from the East Prussian frontier, the Red Army troops were only thirty-eight miles from Daugavpils (Dvinsk), in Southern Latvia; 94

WAR BULLETINS

Kandy, Ceylon.—British, American and Chinese troops operating under the command of General Stilwell in Northern Burma have killed 17,700 Japanese troops and have taken 100 prisoners since they launched the campaign early this year, Allied Headquarters announced today.

Kandy, Ceylon.—Allied troops have captured Ukhul in the India-Burma border region, it was announced today.

New York.—The B.B.C. said early today that Canadian troops "began an attack on a German airfield four miles West of Caen" at dawn, and the attack was "going well." The broadcast was reported by United States Government monitors.

London.—American fighters, apparently heading in the direction of Boulogne, swept out across Dover Strait early this morning under leaden skies.

The Paris Radio went off the air abruptly at 8 a.m. (2 a.m. E.D.T.) today during a news broadcast, suggesting the possibility that Allied daylight raiders might be approaching.

DYNAMITE BLAST DE GAULLE WILL CREATED PANIC ARRIVE IN U.S. AT BEDFORD, N.H. LATE THIS WEEK

Explosion Cracked Walls in Nashua, 15 Miles Away, and Drove Hundreds from Their Homes in Fitchburg, Mass., 50 Miles Distant.

Washington Officials Look to Visit with Optimism Following Marked Strain Between U.S. Government and French Committee.

By FLORA LEWIS, Associated Press Staff Writer, Washington, July 4.—(P)—General Charles de Gaulle has made definite and final arrangements for his visit here, it has been learned, and is expected late this week.

The French leader in previous discussions about the trip had qualified his plans with a big "if"—as to whether he found he could make it. Gen. de Gaulle is understood to have sent a note on the subject of the talks with President Roosevelt.

The Boston office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation announced agents already were at the scene attempting to determine what set off the stored explosives.

McClintock said the dynamite was a "40-60" mixture and was kept in a long one-story warehouse. The dynamite was owned by the Dupont Company and distributed by the Varreck organization.

Among the injured were ten persons, most of them girls, who were in a Bedford dance hall at the time. They were treated at hospitals for cuts and bruises about the neck and legs. One girl suffered an eye injury and was held for further treatment at Sacred Heart Hospital.

Manchester Police Chief James F. O'Neil estimated glass damage in that city alone at more than $25,000.

So great was the force of the blast that only a huge crater was left where the building stood. Trees in the vicinity were uprooted and tops of others sheered off hundreds of feet away.

The explosion cracked walls in Nashua, 15 miles away, drove hundreds from their homes in Fitchburg, Mass., 50 miles distant, and shattered windows 70 miles away in Worcester, Mass.

For a time excited residents of Manchester, five miles away, milled about the streets, thinking nearby Grenier Field, one of New England's important air bases, had been bombed.

For a time police were unable to approach the vicinity of the warehouse, so great was the confusion. Later scores of families were ordered from their homes as walls bulged dangerously from the concussion.

The blast took place at 11:15 p.m. E.D.T. and rumors of an earthquake or an enemy attack on Grenier Field resulted in hundreds of telephone calls to seismograph offices, police stations and news paper plants.

First Channel From United Kingdom To Cherbourg Is Cleared Of Mines

Written For The Canadian Press By Lt.-Cmdr. George Lawrence, R.C.N.V.R.

Aboard the Canadian Fleet Minesweeper Malpeque, July 4.—(C.P. Cable)—Eight minesweepers of the Royal Canadian Navy and six Royal Navy sweepers have cut through German minefields to sweep clear the first channel from the United Kingdom to Cherbourg.

(The passage was swept July 2 but announcement was withheld until now.)

It was our third attempt to reach the approaches to Cherbourg in almost a week. We were ordered back from the first as enemy shore batteries blazed out across the Channel in our path. On this last try we were thankful the shore batteries were engaged by our shore units and warships for they could have reached us with ease.

It was a proud moment for these sweepers as we turned at the port approaches, our objective, and continued our job within range of the enemy resistance. We were within plain sight of the great, ugly, gray forts along the waterfront and we saw yellow and black cordite smoke curl upward from their spasmodic fire.

Every hand that could be spared stood on deck to stare at that shore. We saw the round breakwater forts of Cherbourg itself—they now were ruins—the harbor entrance and fortifications along the flanking waterfront.

Our tension had an outlet in brief cheers as a nearby destroyer opened fire on a mine which had been cut adrift. It bobbed off our starboard quarter, a malignant monster which contained, our experts said, a third of a ton of high explosive. It was one of several turned up during the day.

Besides the Malpeque, commanded by Lieut. Donald Davie, of Victoria, B.C., the Canadian sweepers engaged were H.M.C.S. Caraque, under command of Cmdr. Anthony Storrs, Victoria, the senior officer of the flotilla; the Fort William (Lieut. Hugh Campbell, Toronto); Cowichan (Lieut. Kenneth Hall, Montreal); Blairemore (Lieut. Joseph Marston, Vancouver); Wasage (Lieut. James Green, Stratford, Ont.) and the Minas (Lieut. John Kingsaid, Victoria). All are of the Bangor Class and all were built in Canada.

As the day wore on the minesweeping flotilla did clearance sweeps along the shoreline. We had started out for Cherbourg in pre-dawn darkness and a drizzling rain. Our forepeak was flooded and all mess decks and compartments forward of the bridge were sealed against the danger of striking a mine.

Our watertight hatches were dogged down, lifejackets were donned and steel helmets and anti-flash gear were brought to hand. We were before Cherbourg by noon.

Our little ships from Canada had drawn the span that within day would bridge the Channel with Allied convoys.

Bull's-Eye Fails To Stop British Advance

With a tremendous explosion, a British ammunition truck is literally blown to bits by a direct hit from a German mortar shell in fierce fighting that marked the break-through West of Caen. British armor in foreground paused only briefly, however, in the successful advance which led infantry across the Odon River. White patches on vehicles are censor's deletions of identifying markings.

Appointment Of Various Committees Is Announced By Local Lions Club

Featuring the first meeting of the 1944-45 period of the Sherbrooke Lions Club yesterday was the announcement of the appointment of the various committees for the coming year, by the President, Don Elliot, and an address by Roger Charbonneau, Provincial Superintendent of the National Salvage Department of the National War Services, in which he submitted a request to the Lions members for the holding of a salvage drive to collect waste paper.

Mr. Charbonneau stated in his address that the need for waste paper was greater now than at any other time since the outbreak of war, and that if more waste paper is not collected than has been in the past, the situation will be desperate. He stated that during previous drives other articles such as rubber and steel have been collected in goodly quantities, but that very few people realize the high value of paper, and for this reason comparatively small quantities have been collected.

He said that thousands of tons of paper are used each month in the packing of war materials for Overseas shipment, none of which is ever returned. In order to replenish the fast-diminishing paper supply, these drives are being staged in all parts of the Dominion with renewed effort, and it has been decided to call upon the members of the Lions Club to organize the local drive, due to the success of their recent salvage campaign.

President Don Elliot thanked Mr. Charbonneau for his address and it was decided to hold a meeting of the directors of the Club to determine the course of action to be taken in this matter.

Three presentations were made during the meeting, consisting of the Lions Club Past President Pin to last year's President, Cecil Dunn, and the Past Secretary, Pin to Alberie Julien. Lion Cecil Dunn was then called upon to present last year's District Governor, Justice Dalma Landry, with a trophy, which is presented annually to the Governor of a district in which at least two members are added to each club during the recruiting period held in January of each year.

Justice Landry expressed his appreciation for the fine gift, and offered his sincerest thanks to members of the recruiting committees in all clubs in his district, and said that with co-operation such as was given him during the last year's recruiting period by the committee of each club, it was an easy matter to surpass the membership increase required.

The members elected to the various committees were as follows: First Vice-President: Henri-Léo Gagnon. Attendance: Chairman, R. Savoie, C. Parkin, A. Julien, L. Pye. Finance: C. Dunn, J. H. Codere, M. Stenson.

Membership: R. DuBerger, C. Parkin, J. S. Page, W. Routhier. Programme and Entertainment: H. L. Gagnon, G. Marchesseau, G. Carr.

Constitution and By-Laws: Chairman, A. Rousseau, J. P. Dion, R. Charest. Reception: P. Juneau, D. Landry, C. Dunn. Second Vice-President: Eddie Caron.

Lions Education: Chairman, D. Landry, N. Tracey, A. Rousseau. Convention: J. C. Dupuis, P. Francis. Blind Work: N. Tracey, Albert Trudeau, W. Legare. Boys' and Girls' Work: L. A. Hamel, J. Giroux, J. A. Landry, J. L. Labrecque, R. Vanier.

Special Council

Thursday will be followed by a special Council session at which the whole matter could be disposed of.

The amendment was carried by a vote of eight to two, those favoring the special session being Aldermen Gervais, Fiset, Bryant, Hamel, Rousseau, Biehop, Trudeau and Deziel, the latter conditioning his acceptance on limiting the special session debate to the water problem. Those opposing the amendment were Aldermen Lanctot and Tremblay.

The electric rate question also came out for an airing but no progress was registered. The brief debate was an upshot of a statement attributed to Ald. Trudeau in a local newspaper in which the Alderman was said to have favored a reduction of ten per cent in the local rates. He was asked for an explanation by Ald. Fiset.

Ald. Trudeau admitted the interview but emphasized that he had made no definite proposition, rather urging a study of the whole problem. The Electric Committee Chairman, Ald. Deziel, was also favorable to rate revision, but was warned by Ald. Gervais that the Council would accept no reduction which would involve the raising of the tax rate.

With a few more interchanges the matter was forgotten—or at least sidetracked.

The United States Government had already transmitted to Algiers its views on the conversations, stressing military topics bearing "on the conduct of the war."

Washington officials look to the visit with increased optimism, following the marked strain between the United States Government and the French Committee two weeks ago.

A factor which has helped clear the atmosphere was completion of negotiations between Britain and Gen. de Gaulle's Committee on civil administration and currency agree-

In the first eleven days of the Westward-surge offensive, the Soviet troops have plunged forward some 150 miles—nearly one-fourth the distance to Berlin. Official announcements have reported some 225,000 Germans killed or captured since the drive through White Russian began June 23rd.

The fall of Minsk, in peacetime a city of nearly 250,000, came three years to the month after the Germans took it in their first plunge into Russia.

First dispatches from Minsk by a Red Star correspondent said the city was in Russian hands by noon yesterday. These reports said the streets were littered with German corpses.

Tanks, motorized infantry and cavalry charged down the city's brick-strewn streets as fast as they could go after remnants of the fleeing garrison, the dispatches said, adding that the Germans, bewildered by the force of the Soviet offensive — were surrendering over wide areas to the first Russians they saw.

Red Star's dispatch said the German garrison of Minsk became panicky on the eve of the Soviet occupation and that the Russian civilians, taking advantage of the situation, staged a bloody insurrection, turning on the Nazis who had kept them in virtual captivity for three years.

In as wild a night as Minsk ever has seen in its long history of wars, outflanked badly to the South the

EARLY DECISION ON FILTRATION PROJECT

Special Council Session On Thursday Evening To Decide On Question Of Referendum

Council, After Turbulent Debate, Decides to Hold Session to Make Final Decision on Holding of Referendum—Electric Rates Also Under Debate.

A definite decision as to whether the tenders were asked. It had been planned to call for the tenders on the Provincial Government-approved Hunter plan and at some future date submit the scheme to the ratepayers in the form of a referendum.

The chief opposition to the immediate calling of tenders was led by Ald. Lanctot, who expressed the belief that it was inadvisable to proceed with the filtration plant during wartime, even if the materials were available.

The chairman of the Water Committee, Ald. Bryant, in urging consideration, believed it would be a calamity if some unwise decision taken on a snap vote were to result in the defeat of the plan.

Ald. Lanctot then brought matters to a head with a motion calling for an immediate decision by the Council on the matter of ordering tenders. The motion was seconded by Ald. Tremblay. To this Ald. Goyva made an amendment providing for a special committee meeting

WON HIGH PRAISE

Lieutenant Craig Bishop

Word has been received of the accomplishments of another local boy partaking in the invasion of the French Coast with the report of high praise having been bestowed upon four boats in a flotilla of Canadian motor-torpedo craft, one of which was commanded by Lieutenant Craig Bishop, twenty-four-year-old son of Alderman and Mrs. C. Guy Bishop, of 155 Quebec Street.

Lieut. Bishop, well known here prior to his enlistment in the Royal Canadian Navy in June, 1940, was educated in the Sherbrooke High School, Bishop's College and McGill University, and has obtained his degree of Bachelor of Arts.

He proceeded overseas two months ago, and in training aboard a destroyer at sea. He received his commission in England in December, 1942, and had seen much action prior to taking part in the invasion.

The despatch announcing the fine work of this Canadian flotilla, states that the crews of these boats did much to convince the German coastal craft to think twice before venturing out of their home ports, and in many cases, they did.

Rome's Prosperity And Filth Described By Capt. J. Bassett

"I was resentful for a moment of London's war scars until I realized those scars were symbols of England's defense of the whole free world and a promise of the brave new future she will help to mould."

Such were the first thoughts which entered the mind of Captain John Bassett, following a two-hour glimpse of Rome a short time after leaving war-torn England.

In his letter Captain Bassett said: "I had a two-hour glimpse of Rome. I drove into the city and soon picked up a nice looking couple with a four-year-old son. They seemed very pleased and proud to show me around. The main thing I wanted to see, of course, was St. Peter's. Its magnificent dome rises above Vatican City, dominating the area. One has a tremendous sense of history as you cross the neutral line of Vatican City to step into the court yard of St. Peter's, flanked by beautiful marble statue work and a fountain spraying up and down for the pigeons in the centre. Then into the church, cool and shadowed, with its vaulted dome, until suddenly confronted by the sheer beauty and aliveness of Michael Angelo's paintings. Even to my untrained and non-artistic eye the color and depth of the paintings were breath-taking. Then the high altar where a black-robed Italian priest knelt beside a khaki-clad U.S. soldier. Marble sculptured statues knelt down on us, more alive than the kindly Italian interpreters. Outside again for a glimpse through the gate at the Vatican itself, with its Swiss guards in blue and white, its air of invulnerability, the Vatican seemed ageless. Through centuries invading armies have swept to its gates—none have violated it—it seems like a virgin, cold, pure, untouched and beautiful. The streets were swarming—the main part of the City untouched by war. Smartly-dressed women reminded me of Paris before the war. I was resentful for a moment of London's war scars, until I realized those scars were symbols of England's defense of the whole free world, and a promise of the brave new future she will help to mould. I hoped then, that Paris too, with her Notre Dame, would be spared as Paris and Rome, representatives of past splendours and glories, are all the French and Italian people—who failed so badly in their turn—now have left.

Leaving St. Peter's we drove to the Palazzo Venezia, the main square of Rome. On the North side of the square is the magnificent marble monument to Italy's Great War dead. The right was formerly Mussolini's offices, with the balcony from which he used to address the throngs. The main thoroughfare of Rome leads in from the South, and the left side was a Fascist Government building. The square is smaller, all shows how cleverly Fascist propaganda in all its uses of the movies, parades, martial music, etc., fooled us all. It is a pleasure to drive through the wide, sweeping avenues, shady with leaves, and look at the innumerable bridges, most of them heavy with marble sculpture, that cross the Tiber. The Coliseum, somewhat smaller than anticipated, but majestic in its scars, lies among a group of trees at the end of a wide boulevard. Shops are filled with dresses, hats, purses, perfumes, and all seem to be doing a brisk trade. The people were all smiles and waves and our occupation is still new enough for them to give the "V" sign and cheer as we drive past. One gets very cynical about Italians, however, and I am sure prices are 100 per cent. Women, pretty, well turned out, men in summer suits and white shoes, all prosperous looking. Out as you drive out past the old Roman wall surrounding the city, typical filth and poverty can be seen in the suburbs. Rome is Italy with its face washed, but I doubt if the back of the neck is even touched. Finally out we drove down "Highway Six"—8th Army's road to glory and Rome, via Valmonte and Cassino and back. "Highway Six" should be the name of the army who took on this campaign, for here at Cassino the Boche stopped the American 5th Army, but the old "desert rats" plus Canadians, smashed all the way through."

Lengthy Building Code Submitted At Regular City Council Session

Many and varied were the matters discussed by Sherbrooke's City Fathers last evening as they sought to wind up their regular sessions for the summer months while the way was opened for even more argument when these sittings are resumed. In addition to reviewing the water question, the ediles went into such matters as a building code, the purchase of new office equipment, the laying of sidewalks and the naming of a pro-mayor.

For the next three months Ald. C. Guy Bishop will be the chief assistant to the Chief Magistrate, replacing Ald. Bryant.

During the course of the evening, the Aldermen, without debate, approved the purchase of two billing machines for the public utilities services at a net cost of $3,520.35 each, one addressograph and accessories for $2,367.65, two hundred gas meters at a total cost of $2,110, three hundred feet of concrete pipe for $1,005, and an air compressor for $320.20.

The City Treasurer, on behalf of the Sherbrooke delegation to the seventh annual congress of the Canadian Union of Mayors and Municipalities, submitted to the Council a report on the convention at which the City was represented by Mayor Genest, Aldermen Armand Fisetle, Oliva Deziel, Alphonse Trudeau and Sylvio Rousseau together with City Treasurer Maurice Cormier.

A proposed building code for Sherbrooke was also distributed to the Aldermen for their attention during the summer months. This a lengthy affair of sixty-nine typewritten pages and was prepared by Denis Tremblay, local architect. It covers such matters as zoning, use of certain types of material and similar items.

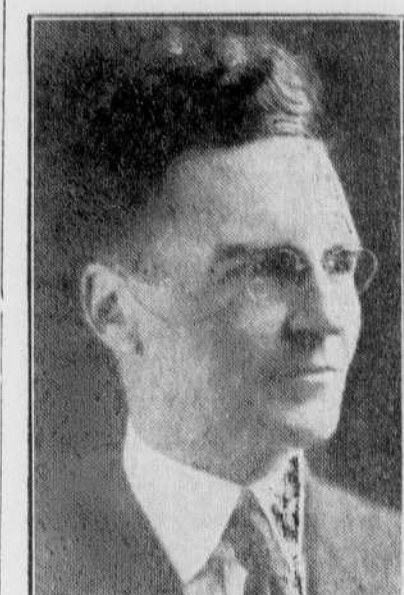

The extension of the sidewalk now under construction on the North side of Lafontaine Street for a distance of three hundred feet was approved at a cost of $1,000.

The Police Committee report authorizing the Director to attend the Police Chiefs' Convention and elevating Sgt. Pierre Breton to the rank of Lieutenant was also approved.

DEATH REMOVES NOTED ORGANIST IN 73RD YEAR

C. V. CHAMBERLIN.

The death of a widely known Sherbrooke musician, in the person of Charles Versal Chamberlin, organist and choir director of Plymouth Church, Sherbrooke, occurred at about ten o'clock last evening in the Sherbrooke Hospital.

Mr. Chamberlin, who was 72 years of age, had occupied his present post in Sherbrooke for more than ten years and had brought with him experience acquired in many countries and the results of studies in such cities as New York, Rome and London.

Born in Knowlton in 1872, Mr. Chamberlin came to Magog with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Versal Chamberlin as a youth, and a few years later went to Boston where he studied organ and voice and was organist of his church. He was later organist of Calvary Baptist Church in New York, in which city he gave lessons in organ and voice, and was also organist in St. James United Church in Montreal and Knox Presbyterian Church, Montreal. He went to Italy on three occasions to study, the last time being some fifteen

AFTER FOUR WEEKS

Events of the past four weeks—from the day the Allies launched their dramatic invasion of Continental Europe—cannot but inspire profound confidence that the affairs of the United Nations have prospered exceedingly. Taking this period in retrospect it may be safe to say that Hitler is on his last mile, and that his knees are knocking loudly. But it is well to remember that the war will not be won until the Fuehrer is out cold. And the amount of striking power which we must expend to achieve this expeditiously will far exceed anything we have used thus far. The greater and faster the action, the greater the consumption of material and the greater the call on the home front.

The Nazi dictator's weakness has become more apparent now that we have him battling on three land fronts—East, South and West. He has not either the reserves in manpower or the equipment with which to meet the onslaught but is depending, as he said at the week-end, on "national fanaticism" to pull him through. And no wonder, for history has recorded nothing to equal the magnitude of either the great Russian offensive or the Allied amphibious invasion of Normandy.

The Russian armies continue to rip the vitals out of Hitler's battleline which is trying vainly to guard the historic "Baranowicz Gap"—the open country which leads by Minsk to Warsaw and Berlin. Napoleon marched his Grand Army through that gap to attack Moscow, and the Little Corporal's terrible defeat perches on Corporal Hitler's shoulder like a black bird of ill omen.

Despite the catastrophe which is piling up about him in Russia, Hitler has been compelled to withdraw some troops to try to stem the invasion of Normandy. That shouts lack of manpower. If the withdrawals continue, it will mean that the Russians will open fresh offensives against the weakened sectors. Thus there is no direction in which Hitler can turn safely.

The capture of Cherbourg, with its great harbor facilities, opens the funnel through which the Western Allies can pour a great army to march against Berlin from the West. With Cherbourg nailed down and the beachheads secure, it seems that it would take an upheaval of nature to oust the Allied forces from the peninsula. One other thing remains to make our route to Germany secure. That is the defeat of Marshal Rommel in the impending all-out German counter-attack in the strategic Caen region near the Eastern end of the Allied line. We shall know soon how much strength the braggart of Berchtesgaden can muster to save his skin in Normandy.

And with the disposal of Hitler will come the task of winding up Tojo. But here too, despite the rather serious situation in China the United Nations are making substantial progress and in recent weeks important advances have been made along the road to Tokyo, with the Allied encirclement ring being drawn closer and closer about the Japanese homeland.

THE EUROPEAN UNDERGROUND

The great publicity which the Nazi press and radio is giving to the activities of the Underground or freedom forces in the occupied countries of Europe—especially France and Denmark—is an indication of two things: First, the difficulties which these forces face in undertaking any large-scale liberation movement without outside support and second, and even more important, the extent to which they have expanded their activities despite the difficulties and the oppressions which the Nazis place upon them.

In Denmark, Copenhagen, the capital city, was brought virtually to the point of starvation by a military blockade in retaliation for a general strike called by the Danish labor leaders. The people were deprived of water, gas and electricity and it is reported that even further punishments are planned in an effort to terrorize any resistance elements in the capital.

From France comes the report that several German divisions, accompanied by tanks and dive-bombers have been ordered to the Southern areas in an effort to put down the Maquis who have been growing bolder and bolder with each passing day and have reached such strength that in certain districts they are said to have virtually replaced the collaborationist administrations as the real rulers. Fear of an invasion from the Mediterranean is perhaps the chief reason for this intensified effort to down the Maquis.

But the reign of terror is not limited to the occupied countries and despatches coming by way of Spain say that twenty thousand squads of kill or to-be-killed commandos now roam the heart of the German homeland, striking fear into the hearts of officials and householders alike as they plow doggedly toward their ultimate goal—junction with guerilla forces operating in the German rear. From various sources the story has been pieced together concerning these fifty thousand men—all foreigners who escaped within a fortnight of the Allied invasion of France.

Thirty thousand of them are said to be Russians, who, like the Poles and Balkan Slavs, know that it is death for them to be caught. They operate in small groups, seldom more than five, and often all alone.

All seem to agree that the Leipzig district was the crossroads of escapes—Czechs and Serbs passing from Northern and Western Germany en route to their homelands, Russians and Poles from Western and Southern Europe, Belgians, French and Hollanders Southbound from the great Pomeranian, East Prussian and Silesian labor and prison camps. Since the invasion, officials of villages and towns in Upper Bavaria have asked and obtained removal of all Russian prisoners in farm and factory labor in fear of mass revolt.

Thus despite the vigilance of the gestapo and the terrorism of the blackshirt units, the freedom-loving people of the Continent are moving with the greatest possible speed to strike an effective blow for the restoration of their ancient rights and privileges.

IT MIGHT BE SO, BUT . . .

People of the United Nations would not be well-advised to take too seriously the report appearing in an Egyptian newspaper that Hitler, Goering, Goebbels and Mussolini are preparing to flee to Japan in a special plane via Eastern China. According to this report, the latest information from the Reich shows that discipline is breaking up and that there are signs of approaching collapse. The British news agency which distributes the report to the English-speaking world makes it very clear that it accepts no personal responsibility for the declaration and that it is merely relaying the despatch of the Egyptian correspondent.

The intimation of the Cairo writer is that the big four know the Nazi goose is cooked and that they are seeking refuge elsewhere. For some reason Japan is picked on as the terrorists regard Sweden, Switzerland and Turkey as unsafe.

That the Nazi leaders are making their plans for a safe refuge when the German military machine breaks down is not to be denied but this in itself is no indication of an early Reich collapse, for the individuals in question have long been moving to secrete their ill-gotten gains in neutral countries as a sort of insurance policy.

But that they would select Japan is another matter, for they must surely realize that when their own countries are disposed of, the United Nations will waste no time in handing out the same medicine to Tojo and his pals.

Rather it is to be expected that they would seek refuge in some desolated section of the world, possibly some uninhabited island, in which their presence would not be noticed for many years to come. Here they might be able to ride out the storm that is bound to break over their heads when Germany is finally defeated.

Meanwhile it would not be advisable for the United Nations to pay any attention to these stories. Rather the duty of the people is to speed up their production of war material to the point that the defeat of the Reich will be so sudden and complete that Hitler and his pals will be unable to escape anywhere.

QUEBEC TO VOTE

St. Catharines Standard
Premier Adolphe Godbout, of Quebec, has taken the plunge, and a general election in that Province will be held on August 8th. It promises to be one of the hottest in history, if present conditions of turmoil in the neighboring provinces are any criterion.

In his manifesto, the Premier demands that the election be fought out on provincial issue alone, and that his government be judged by its acts, one of which he mentions as particularly noteworthy. That was breaking of the power trust in Montreal and the institution of Hydro.

The Premier's manifesto implies that strong currents are running against the federal Liberal administration. He declares that, as a citizen, he has full right to "criticize or approve certain measures of the federal government." And when the time comes for the King government to go to the people, he will express opinions on questions under consideration. That is not exactly what might be called repudiation, but the inference is that Premier Godbout wants to chart his own course and not have his government judged from an Ottawa angle.

The Union Nationale is the official Opposition in Quebec, under Maurice Duplessis. That party is expected to play up the racial appeal for all it is worth. It is suspected of fascism and is reactionary to the point of chauvinism. It has been charged with alliance with the secret Jacques Cartier Society. The Quebec election thus promises a bitter washing of provincial linen. There is only one point of agreement among the parties engaged. They are all dead set against sending troops overseas, or financial contribution by Canada to the common cause.

THE GERMAN BIRTH RATE

Minneapolis Star Journal
Despite the Nazis concerted drive to keep the German birth rate high it has been dropping year by year since 1939, when the birth rate exceeded the death rate by 8.1 per 1,000 population. By 1942 it had fallen to 2.9, the lowest rate of natural increase in Germany for any year since the World War. The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, which compiles these figures, has not been able to secure official data on the German birth rate. But we can assume that with German soldiers at the front and family life disrupted by bombing of German cities, the birth rate has fallen still farther and that the death rate has risen.

Birth rates in the Allied countries present a sharp contrast. In 1942-43 the birth rate in this country rose to its highest level in twenty years. In 1939 the rate of natural increase in Germany was twenty-one per cent ahead of ours; in 1942 the U.S. rate was almost four times that of Germany. Since the peak in 1942-43, however, our birth rate has declined to its lowest level in twenty years. It is doubtful whether the birth rate of any country will rise again until after the war.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

REDUOUBLE FORCES UNMAKABLE "BUY"

Mrs. Stuyvesant Wainwright, of New York, seems to make a specialty of winning team-of-four championships. She is one of the few women who have won the Eastern Resister team-of-four. She won the Eastern mixed team-of-four this year, which puts her name on that trophy for the third time, each time paired with Walter Malowan. Mrs. Wainwright is a member of the committee for the American Contract Bridge League Children's Fund, to which the proceeds of the eastern mixed team-of-four event are donated by the league.

Here is an example of nine defence by Mrs. Wainwright and Malowan. Mrs. Wainwright's opening bid was not too stout, but Malowan had a good hand and redoubled, hoping that East and West might get into a major suit. East felt compelled to respond to the double with two clubs, and Mrs. Wainwright then doubled, as she did not want her partner to bid either hearts or spades. Gazing regretfully at his six-card major suit, Malowan passed. After winning the first trick, six trumps separately and two aces, Mrs. Wainwright continued a dia-

"As the earth is round," remarked a lecturer the other day, "it is obvious that we could go East by going far enough West." That's the sort of thing that puts ideas into taxi drivers' heads.

Two vocal teachers were discussing the troubles of a student singer for a recital.

"What, in your opinion, is wrong with her?" asked one.

"That's simple," replied the other. "It is just another case of incorrect voice-placement."

"Hm-m—maybe. But just how do you mean that?"

"Well, there is only one correct placement for that voice that I can see—a deserted island in the Pacific."

"I understand she married a struggling young man."

"Yes, he struggled, but he couldn't get away."

Vicar's Wife: "I'm sorry, Mrs. Johnson, to notice that you do not come to our meetings as regularly as a year ago."

Mrs. Johnson (calmly): "I have two good reasons for not coming."

Vicar's Wife: "How bad! What are they?"

Mrs. Johnson: "Twins!"

The other day a woman burst into tears in court and told the magistrate that she had been jailed four times in the last two years. The experience had naurally unmanned her.

Friends Fete Melboro Couple On Twenty-Fifth Wedding Anniversary

Melboro, July 4.—A very happy event took place on Saturday evening, June 24, when upwards of one hundred relatives, friends and neighbors gathered at the Melboro Intermediate Schoolhouse to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Nelson's wedding day.

The event was arranged as a complete surprise to the honored guests. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson were invited to go for a car ride with relatives who had been visiting them during the afternoon, when on returning home they dropped in to a social evening. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson were taken completely by surprise to find so many assembled in their honor, who rose and welcomed them as they entered.

After extending congratulations and best wishes to the honored couple, dancing was enjoyed for a time, with music being furnished by Messrs. J. A. Johnston and Raymond Pariseau, with Mrs. R. Pariseau at the piano and Gordon Ames as floor manager.

At midnight, refreshments were served, with orange and lemonade. The guests-of-honor were seated at a beautifully appointed tea table covered with a lovely lace cloth and centered with a four-tiered wedding cake. Four large lighted cream-colored tapers in crystal holders completed the table decorations.

At the table were seated the guests-of-honor, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pariseau and Mr. and Mrs. Buzzell, of Sherbrooke.

The attraction platform in front of the grandstand is being re-built with cement abutments, and is under the direction of the Building Committee, whose aim is to have it ready for whatever attractions the performers may care to present. It will also be the aim of the Attraction Committee to have some first-class entertainment between the horse races, which this year promise to be very fast as considerable labor has been spent to put the track in "A-1" condition for the event. Clay has been mixed with the sand, which they feel will improve the time and make it much easier going for the horses. Their main endeavor is to make the track faster than ever.

The reserve seats on the grandstand were also under discussion, and the gentlemen in charge are having them re-numbered so that all purchasing these reserved seats ahead may be assured that they will have them when going to find them.

Last autumn a large amount of "bee work" was done on the cattle rings and this spring they were smoothed and seeded.

The Society arranged to hold meetings monthly until Fair time. All these excellently arranged committees and plans add up to only one thing, that the Stanstead County Fair will excel all other small county fairs, and will be a place where you are sure to enjoy yourself.

CONFERENCE ON INTERNATIONAL FINANCE OPENS

Stabilization of International Exchange to Be Studied at Three-Week Parley at Bretton Woods, New Hampshire.

By C. L. BLACK, URBAN Canadian Press Staff Writer

Bretton Woods, N.H., July 4.—Stabilization of international exchange and provision of funds for the orderly development of sound enterprise in war-improvised countries is the goal of the United Nations monetary conference which today embarks on three weeks of concentrated effort on this complex problem.

Close to 700 persons representing forty-four United and Associated Nations (including Denmark) and a delegation from the French Committee of National Liberation, are at work in this mountain retreat to produce a definite plan, but their ultimate goal is far in the distance.

All they can hope to do is draft a convention for submission to their respective legislative authorities where it may have stormy reception, particularly in the United States Congress.

The plan, developed after two and a half years' study by international experts and embodying parts of definite proposals offered by Canada, Britain and the United States, would require particularly in the United States Congress.

The plan, developed after two and a half years' study by international experts and embodying parts of definite proposals offered by Canada, Britain and the United States, would require particularly in the United States Congress.

J.—A central fund (probably $8,000,000,000) to support permanent machinery whereby foreign exchange could be kept within a small range of fluctuation.

An international development bank with a capital of probably $10,000,000,000 from which loans could be advanced to impoverished nations or those in a temporary slump to promote establishment of sound enterprise.

The first proposal, in brief, would make it possible for sellers in any market of the world to obtain proceeds which could be used for purchases in any part of the world.

The second would provide for orderly international loans designed to ensure that no country would remain impoverished while others prospered—this based on the increasing assumption that there can be no permanent prosperity in any part of the world while certain areas are impoverished.

Canadian delegates, including the experts who drafted the Canadian plan which is much in line with that of the United States, are taking a leading part in the deliberations.

Canada's share in the fund might be $350,000,000 but there is no way of estimating accurately until the numerous committees have reported and a plenary session adopts a definite plan.

The proposal most closely affecting sovereign rights of nations is that which provides that no member nation can alter its exchange rate without advising the fund directors and may not change it more than 10 per cent without approval of the fund members.

The fundamental principle is that manipulation of exchange rates by a country is no longer of local concern but concerns the whole trading world.

Close to 100 correspondents and photographers are accredited to the conference. Yesterday they were told by Harry D. White, Special Assistant to Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, official spokesman, that the press would be invited to play a full part but would be asked to observe certain confidences they will share with delegates.

How well this system works will decide the extent to which the press will be privileged to work with governments in the international conferences to come, he said.

The working agenda and basic proposals tentatively drafted at a preliminary meeting at Atlantic City is to be released to the press at the same time it goes to the delegates.

But the press must keep its details secret until they are released piecemeal as the various committees deal with them and bring them into open discussion.

BELVIDERE RAP OUT 6-2 WIN OVER PARISEAU

Bill Voiselle And Jack Kramer Are The Pick Of Rookie Pitcher Crop

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bill Voiselle of the New York Giants and Jack Kramer of St. Louis Browns shape up today as the pick of the rookie pitcher crop as the major leagues head into the 4th of July flurry of doubleheaders after a day of inactivity.

Under the guidance of Manager Mel Ott, Voiselle has blossomed out as a ten-game winner in the first half of the season, pitching twelve complete games for a 10-9 record. The 25-year-old righthander from Ninety-Six, S.C., has been a real workhorse, starting nineteen times and has been conked real hard only once when he was beaten by St. Louis in a night game, 10-0, on May 20.

For a youngster who was the "loosest" hurler in the International League where he won 10 and lost 21 with Jersey City, Voiselle has been a surprising success.

Kramer had trials in the big show before he went into the Seabees but never really graduated from the rookie class.

Walt Dube of the New York Yankees is giving Kramer a close fight for freshman laurels in the Hartford loop as the husky Hartford, Conn., native includes nine complete games and a neat two-hit shutout while breaking even at 5-5.

Lefty Joe Page of the Yankees who was named to the all-star team ran into first-inning miseries after a sensational start but has shown every sign of becoming a top flight ace when he controls his blazing fast ball.

Sig Jakucki of the Browns (5-3), Lefty Ed Lobat of the White Sox (3-5), Rufe Gentry of the Tigers (4-7), and Clem Hausmann of the Red Sox (4-4), have won their starting spurs. Specs Klieeman (4-4) of the Indians recently broke into the starter class after a half-season of relief chores, and "Jittery Joe" Berry, a 37-year-oldster from Huntsville, Ark., is living up to Connie Mack's hopes with his 5-5 performance as a "fireman."

Ken Raffensberger (8-8) who had earlier chances with the Cards and Cubs before coming to the Phils ranks close to Voiselle in the National where Charley Schanz (6-7) of the Phils is another good-looking youngster.

Preacher Roe (5-6) and Nick St. Noevich (5-4) of the Pirates, and Al Jurisich (5-4) and Ted Wilks of the Cards are making the National grade but the latest "flash" is Cincinnati's Jim Konstanty who is unbeaten in three starts since coming up from Syracuse.

MELBOURNE RIDGE

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Sims were Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Henderson and the Misses Greata and Shirley Henderson, of Montreal, and Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Sims and Miss Evelyn Sims, of Windsor Mills.

CASTILLOUX IS GIVEN DECISION

Saint John, N.B., July 4.—(P)—Dave Castilloux, Montreal, Canadian lightweight and welterweight champion, gained a 10-round decision over Cpl. Johnny Lifford, Saint John, veteran Maritime welterweight and middleweight champion, in a non-title boxing match here last night. Castilloux weighed 136 and Lifford 148½.

The Montrealer was too experienced and smooth-working for his heavier but older opponent. Although on the verge of a knockout in the seventh, eighth and ninth rounds, Lifford put up a strong, rugged battle and refused to go down for the count.

MAX BAER HAS ENDED HIS CAREER IN RING

Sacramento, Calif., July 4.—(P)—A training-camp injury received several years ago has put an end to Max Baer's fighting career.

The former world's heavyweight champion, now a staff sergeant with the United States Army, said yesterday his left arm is beginning to "dry up" and lose its effectiveness and that he has no idea of ever fighting again.

He suffered the injury when he was struck on the top of the head by an 85-pound punching bag while training for his fight against Max Baer and Lou Nova in 1941, Baer said.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Toronto, July 4.—(P)—This is Independence Day in the United States and is as good a day as any to consider in a learned fashion the independence or lack of it as far as sport officials are concerned.

Your baseball umpire or hockey referee usually is an honest, conscientious soul who does his duty as he sees it and winces only at the taunts and torments of the hostile crowds. They make some mistakes, inevitably, but in the long run they are bound to be right most of the time as they call 'em as they see 'em. The shrieks of the players and the crowd won't intimidate a good official, who clings tenaciously to his own brand of the four freedoms.

Incidentally: Members of the 1943 Victoria Army hockey team that bowed to the strong Ottawa Commandos in the Allan Cup finals, Mel Lunde, has been killed in action. . . . After all the victories garnered by H. G. Hatch's entries in Eastern Canada, it was quite a shock to see Acara slapped down to third place in Winnipeg's Canadian Derby Saturday. And it must have shocked the pocketbooks of many good Eastern burghers no end. They'll be mad at Jim C of the Toronto Globe and Mail who suggested the rousing slogan "Hurry home with Hatch" as a means of helping pay off Mr. Hsley.

And, comments Hal (Edmonton Bulletin) Dean, "It's a dead clinch he doesn't as many mistakes in a game as some of those players who are the bulk of the squawking." It's generally the poorer player who argues most vehemently about close plays because he isn't enough acquainted with the rules to know he is wrong, Dean adds.

10th Inning Splurge By Syracuse Turns Tight Ball Game Into Rout

Baltimore, July 4.—(P)—A big 10th inning outburst by the Syracuse Chiefs turned a tight ball game into a rout tonight when the Chiefs defeated Baltimore Orioles, 11-4, as Baltimore resumed the International League series on its own diamond.

The clubs barged into the 10th inning tied, 4-4. Bub Beber and Bobo Palica had pitched good ball and good defensive plays kept the 6,500 fans on edge.

But in the final stanza Syracuse hopped on Palica and chased him with a barrage of hits, aided by two walks, an error and a grand slam homer by the 17-year-old Bob Carson.

This was the Chiefs' third straight win over Baltimore.

Syracuse 000 112 000 7—11 14 2
Baltimore 010 002 100 0—4 11 2

Batteries: Beber and Rice; Palica, Kleckley (10) and Lollar.

LEAFS TOP BISONS, 8-2
Buffalo, July 4.—(P)—Al Jarrett had a bit too much on the pellet in the International League, and there's a rumor about that nursing bottles and those three-cornered infant sarongs soon will be standard equipment for each ball club. The lack of age parading in Toronto's ball park recently has been terrific. When Syracuse Chiefs came to town they had 17-year-old Bob Carson at short, then Baltimore Orioles appeared with Sherman Lollar, at 18 the club's only catcher on the well and healthy list, and another 17-year-old shortstop, Ken Braun.

Members of the 1943 Victoria Army hockey team that bowed to the strong Ottawa Commandos in the Allan Cup finals, Mel Lunde, has been killed in action. . . . After all the victories garnered by H. G. Hatch's entries in Eastern Canada, it was quite a shock to see Acara slapped down to third place in Winnipeg's Canadian Derby Saturday. They'll be mad at Jim C of the Toronto Globe and Mail who suggested the rousing slogan "Hurry home with Hatch" as a means of helping pay off Mr. Hsley.

for the Bisons last night as he notched his 11th triumph of the International League season in squiring the Toronto Maple Leafs to an 8-2 triumph over Buffalo in the opener of their series.

The Toronto flinger scattered seven blows, walked only one and whiffed six with Eddie Kobesky's 14th home run smash, coming after Crompton dropped Maier's tally fly in front of the plate opening the fourth frame, providing the only real damage against him.

The Leafs snuffed out his lead and belted Walter Wilson off the premises by cuffing eight hits and chasing over seven scores in the sixth and seventh frames. One of these blows was a circuit drive by Dick Stoff with the sacks empty.

Dick Stoff clipped three straight singles in as many tallies.

Joe McSpaden And Ben Hogan Will Compete In Golden Valley Matches

By CHAULES CHAMBERLAIN,
Associate Press Sport Writer

Chicago, July 4.—(P)—Tournament-tough Joe McSpaden, the Philadelphia putting wizard who has monopolized five golf titles in the last seven months—the Victory National his latest—was on his way on today with Lieut. Ben Hogan to Minneapolis to compete in the Golden Valley best-ball team matches, after defeating Hogan for the Chicago Victory National Championship in an 18-hole playoff.

McSpaden, shooting a one-under-par 70 to Hogan's 75, captured his third playoff victory in the last year. It was the fourth time little Ben had failed to beat a playoff jinx since 1941.

The championship gave Jug $8,000 in war bonds and kept him away out in front in the bond-winning race with a total of $18,100, compared with $15,591 for Byron Nelson and $14,941 for Sammy Byrd. Little Ben's second place award was $1,750 in bonds.

The Victory National title was Jug's fifth in 13 tournaments since January, when he started his sensational winning streak by taking the Los Angeles open.

Little Ben, using a 15-day furlough from the Fort Worth, Tex., air field to play his first competitive golf since entering the service in November, 1942, found it hard to control a hook in yesterday's play-off and went over par for the first time in seven rounds during the meet.

He won the first hole when McSpaden missed an eight-foot putt to take a bogey five, but on the third Jug dropped a 15-footer for a birdie three while Hogan missed for five feet for a five. Little Ben squared the match once thereafter but never regained the lead.

He drew up a one-broke range, however, by shooting two successive birdies on the last nine, only to have Jug prove he was better under pressure by sticking a tee shot seven feet from the pin on the 136-yard 17th and tapping in the putt for a deuce. Hogan overshot the green and took a four.

FIRE DESTROYS ORIOLE STADIUM

Baltimore, July 4.—(P)—Fire destroyed the Oriole Baseball Park, home of the Baltimore International League Club, early today.

The Park which had a seating capacity of 1,000, had only wooden stands and the flames swept through the structure in a little more than an hour.

The Baltimore Club, which is leading the league, had no immediate announcements as to plans for today's holiday double-header with Syracuse or for the remainder of home games on its schedule.

In this park the late Jack Dunn managed the Orioles to seven straight International League pennants in the '20s, and here such stars as Lefty Grove, Babe Ruth and many others started on the road to baseball fame.

Dube Bangs Out Round-Tripper In Second, Scoring Three Runs; Metivier Also Knocks Home Run

Connecting for eleven hits, including two home runs by Dube and Metivier, the league-leading Belvidere ten romped through to an easy win over Pariseau in the only game of the Sherbrooke Industrial Softball League played on Dufresne Park last night.

Pariseau sluggers were kept pretty well on the home plate as Collin turned in a good mound performance, permitting only three hits, walking three, and fanning seven. Both Pariseau counters crossed the plate in the first inning, MacIntyre scoring after he was walked, and Delafontaine was forced in after he had been given a free ticket to first, followed by a pitcher's error, a fielder's choice, and another base on balls.

The league-leaders put good support behind their pitcher, and knocked Pariseau's Monette for a total of eleven safe hits. Gilles Dube connected for three in four trips to the plate, Metivier for a homer and a single in three trips. Dube banged out his homer in his first of three trips to the plate.

Only once during the game did things look good for Pariseau, that being in the first inning when two runs came home, giving them a 2-0 lead which they held until the last of the second. With two away in the second inning, Pelletier singled to right field, Charpentier walked, and then Bergeron rapped a two-bagger scoring Pelletier. Cote then stepped up and lashed out a homer, scoring three runs, and giving Belvidere the lead which they held throughout the remainder of the game, and increased by two more points, one by Metivier's four-base hit in the third, and the second as Gilles Dube scored on a single by Metivier in the fourth.
