EIGHT KILLED IN ASBESTOS BLAST

FIREMEN POUR WATER ON RUINS OF HOUSE

ASBESTOS — Eight persons, five of them children, were killed here last night when an explosion blew a two-storey house to bits.

Three other youngsters, two of them teenagers, were injured none of them seriously.

The blast, believed to be the result of a propane gas leak, rocked the town, destroying a neighboring house and causing severe damage over a wide area.

Dead are:

Mrs. Raynald Lambert, 44, of 123 Lafrance St.;

Yvon, her son, 2;

Michelle, one of Mrs. Lambert's twin daughters, 6;

Mrs. Arthur Paradis, 54, of 125 Lafrance St., who lived upstairs from the Lamberts;

Huguette Briere, 19, a boarder living with Mrs. Paradis;

Luc Pellerin, 11, son of Gerard Pellerin, 118 Lafrance St.;

Louise Toutant, 8, daughter of Gerard Toutant, 127 Lafrance St.

A son of David Bourassa, of 129 Lafrance St., whose first name has not yet been determined.

Injured were: Danielle, Jean Guy, and Claude Lambert aged, 6, 18, and 17 respectively.

Danielle was taken to Sherbrooke Hospital suffering from facial burns. Her condition was described as satisfactory by hospital authorities this morning.

Jean Guy was taken to Johns-Manville Hospital in Asbestos where he was treated for burns to the face and hands.

For awhile, police feared the toll might go beyond eight. They dug in the ruins for several hours in search of more bodies.

Mr. Gaudette told the Record last night that Mrs. Lambert telephoned him shortly after 9 p.m. and told him that she smelled gas.

He said that after he turned the leaking gas tank off, he left, and just as he was getting back into his truck, the house exploded.

"It was lifted right off its foundations, just as though it was a pack of playing cards, scattering the debris in all directions," Mr. Gaudette said.

Ten houses in the neighborhood had windows, doors, and whole sides blown off by the force of the explosion.

The heaviest damage was done to La Boulanger Asbestos, where the impact blew a complete wall in, causing damage estimated in the area of $10,000 to property and machinery.

Mrs. Laurant Laplante, operator of a drygoods store directly across the road from the explosion site, was picking up her children's toys in her driveway when the blast occurred. She said: "Pieces of the house literally flew past me and over my head."

She ran into the house and immediately summoned help.

"The heat generated was so intense in my home, that we had to get out," Mrs. Laplante continued.

propane gas tank outside and turned it off. He left, and a few minutes later, the explosion took place."

Chief Larivee said people who were in the house shortly before the explosion, including Gaudette, had told him they sniffed gas in the air.

Five of the bodies were found in the cellar and the other three by the side of the house.

hands and face. His condition is excellent according to hospital authorities this morning.

Claude was also taken to the Johns-Manville Hospital where he was treated for cuts and burns to the face and hands. He was released after preliminary first aid.

All but three of the dead were in the house when the explosion occurred. The Pellerin, Toutant and Bourassa children were all playing in a yard beside the house. Authorities say all victims were killed instantly in the explosion and fire that followed.

Mr. Lambert was at a parish meeting at St. Aime Church hall.

"It was a propane gas explosion," said Capt. Joseph Diorne, who lives about 800 feet from the 30-year-old house owned by Mrs. Paradis.

The Lambert family occupied the lower floor.

Asbestos police and fire chief Adrien Larivee shared the same belief after taking a statement from Clement Gaudette, a plumber who visited the house shortly before the explosion to check the furnace.

He said Gaudette "went there to check the furnace and found a leak in a propane gas tank outside and turned it off. He left, and a few minutes later, the explosion took place."

Chief Larivee said people who were in the house shortly before the explosion, including Gaudette, had told him they sniffed gas in the air.

"The heat generated was so intense in my home, that we had to get out," Mrs. Laplante continued.

PC rally in city

Greenhere Monday

By CUTHBERT JONES

(Record Staff Writer)

Political campaigning for the June 18 federal general elections, which has been in a state of suspended animation following the rash of nominating conventions, is expected to speed up during the coming week.

Touching off the drive will be External Affairs Minister Howard Green who will speak Monday night in support of Maurice Allard, former MP and Progressive Conservative candidate in Sherbrooke county, at a rally to be held at the Central School at the corner of Ball and Gillespie streets.

The Minister is scheduled to arrive at Deauville about 7 p.m. where he will be met by a motoredcade of local party supporters who will accompany him to the meeting place.

The Liberals as yet have no big names scheduled for local or regional rallies but indicate several of their top billers will be in the district during the three weeks preceding election day.

In Sherbrooke County the campaign period is generally short. With most of the voters concentrated within the city of Sherbrooke half-a-dozen meetings for each party suffice to serve all those interested in party meetings.

These are generally confined to the two-week period between nomination and election days.

But for the candidates in the largely rural constituencies the situation is different.

Consider the case of a man running in one Eastern Townships constituency which covers an area of about 125 miles from east to west and 45 miles from north to south. The riding includes four incorporated towns and 47 local municipalities.

Custom decrees that a candidate hold at least one rally in each town, village, townships or parish at which he must make a personal appearance.

By proper planning, a candidate might make three addresses in an evening, with the result he could run off his campaign in 17 days.

But in most cases he is limited to two per night and for meetings in the larger centres

After 65 years of operation

Sherbrooke Record threatened by strike

The Sherbrooke Daily Record, the only English language daily newspaper in the province, outside of Montreal and Quebec City, may be compelled to close its doors after 65 years of operation as a result of a strike vote taken by members of the Fédération Canadienne de l'Imprimerie et de l'Information, Sherbrooke District C.N.T.U.

The Fédération, which was certified last July as bargaining agent for the newspaper's 20 mechanical department employees, is seeking a two year contract with an hourly 16c wage increase for journeymen members, from June 1st, 1962 to May 31st, 1963, and a reduction of the work week with same take home pay during the second year.

The majority strike vote was taken May 12th. The company received notification of it last week from Gérard Picard, Fédération President.

Numerous meetings have been held between the company and the union since August, 1961 and were attended by Ivan Saunders, Managing Director, Mr. Picard and Gustave Steenland, local president.

Recommendations made by Conciliator Jacques Guilbault, Montreal, further to meetings with him on December 28th and January 11th were rejected by the Company and the Fédération. An Arbitration Board headed by Marcel Gaboury, Montreal, met February 23rd, April 26th and May 10th. No agreement was reached.

Some 90 employees, 70 of which are non-unionized, will be affected by the strike. No deadline was given and the Fédération reserved the right to strike without further notice.

The Record has been publishing daily without interruption since February, 1897. It is the only English language daily newspaper in the Eastern Townships.

There is no union at the commercial printing plant on Camille Street.

THE CAMPAIGN TRAIL

Big guns of political parties snipe at each other's policies

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The hustings echoed like a shooting gallery Friday night—with the big guns of the political parties sniping at one another's policies.

Here's how the shots sounded: Prime Minister Diefenbaker said, in a national TV address, that the Liberal party's "take-a-stand-for-tomorrow" slogan is like the lines from Shakespeare's Macbeth — "Tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow... Full of sound and fury signifying nothing."

Liberal Leader Lester Pearson said in Carleton Place, Ont., that the Conservatives have a "confused record of a group of men who are better at talk than at action... let's throw this government out."

New Democratic Party Leader T. C. Douglas, aiming a double-barrelled salvo at the Liberals and Conservatives, said in Windsor the choice between the two is like being offered "an opportunity of being boiled or fried—you still get cooked."

PREDICTS GUILLOTINE
Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson said in Saint John, N.B., the government has a "let - them - eat - potatoes" approach to Maritime problems, a Marie Antoinette attitude that would lead the Tories to "the ballot-box guillotine of June 18."

Mr. Diefenbaker now heads into the interior of British Columbia while Mr. Pearson takes a break in Ottawa. Mr. Douglas flies from the East to Winnipeg and Regina and Mr. Thompson heads out of the Maritimes into Quebec.

Their speeches Friday weren't all pot-shots at rivals. Mr. Diefenbaker said in his CBC broadcast, that Conservative policy of the last five years "accomplished all that it set out to do and more."

"It is, above all else, a policy which sets as its goal the completion of the great promise of Confederation for a fuller and better life for those who have the good fortune to live in this dominion of the north."

WOULD BE INGRATITUDE
At Vegreville, Alta., the prime minister said the New Democratic and Social Credit parties may elect a few members. But if one voted for them, he told his farming audience, "you would condemn us for what we have done in your behalf to provide markets for you."

Another view of farm policy came from Liberal Paul Martin who said in Goderich, Ont., that the Conservative government has overlooked eastern farmers.

Illicit alcohol count laid

Two Sherbrooke men pleaded not guilty in Sherbrooke Court of Sessions Friday to a charge of being in possession of 25 gallons of illicit alcohol seized by the RCMP in a raid on a farm house on the Ascot Road.

The two men were traced through finger prints on six of the one-gallon cans of alcohol.

The accused, Jean Claude Boucher, 27, and Maurice Mafais, 32, both have previous records with the RCMP of being in possession of illegal cigarettes.

Earlier last month Florian Rousseau, owner of the property was fined $125 on the same charge.

The accused both told the court they had never seen the alcohol and that they never went to the Rousseau home.

Judge Evender Veilleux adjourned the hearing till next Friday.

A 24-year-old Sherbrooke man was sentenced to one month in the Winter Street Jail yesterday after pleading guilty to a charge of stealing his aunt's purse and watch.

The accused, Albert Lauzon, pleaded guilty to stealing the purse and watch valued at $40 from Mrs. Antonio Aube, on May 19.

Guy Duquette, 22, of Weedon, was fined $100 and costs and had his driver's license suspended for three months after pleading guilty to a charge of drunk driving and driving on the wrong side of the road.

The accused was fined $50 for drunken driving and $50 for driving on the wrong side of the road.

Fourth man to orbit earth

New space success hits headlines

Gagarin... Titov... Glenn... and now Malcolm Scott Carpenter.

The 37-year-old lieutenant-commander in the United States Navy became the fourth man to orbit the earth Thursday. But his Aurora 7 spacecraft overshot its landing point by 250 miles and the astronaut was missing for a tense 41 minutes until a search plane spotted him in a liferaft.

Carpenter was fired aloft at the tip of an Atlas missile from Cape Canaveral at 8:45 a.m. In almost five hours of flight he laced the earth three times, reaching a speed of 17,532 miles an hour and a height of 164 miles.

Despite some difficulties, including overheating of his space suit and a shortage of fuel for his controls, the flight appeared to be going well until Carpenter fired his retro-rockets to slow the capsule for the descent through the atmosphere. Scientists explained afterward that the capsule was at the wrong angle and went into a shallower descent than had been scheduled.

The spacecraft plopped into the ocean 1,000 miles south-east of Florida, where Carpenter crawled out, scrambled into his rubber dinghy and waited for rescue.

On Friday officials connected with the flight indicated the astronaut may have become dangerously tired or even confused during his last circuit.

PROMISES NEW ROAD
Prime Minister Diefenbaker added two planks to his platform for the June 18 election Wednesday night when he told a Winnipeg rally that a second Trans-Canada Highway will be started "very shortly" and described a national power grid as "the next great plan" for Canada.

Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson fired some of his heaviest ammunition of the last year and run for 30 days.

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—At the point Thursday afternoon when astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter had disappeared somewhere in the Atlantic Ocean, NBC radio reporter Merrill Mueller paused, drew a long breath, and remarked with audible emotion: "I don't know about you, but what can we say now? We're just waiting—for any kind of word."

"LA DOLCE VITA" DIRECTOR USES A 'PERSONAL APPROACH'

Although he started with a conventional shooting script when he began filming "La Dolce Vita," director and co-author Federico Fellini had given his secretary enough additions and corrections to fill a Rome telephone book by the time he had completed the three-hour motion picture. I've never seen a director direct so little with his head and so much with his heart, said Madame Denise Fellini, who filmed a behind-the-scenes documentary of Fellini directing "La Dolce Vita." "He puts one actor there, another here, and then he changes them round again. He's much like a painter creating a picture. He's a genius, the man of our time, as Rossellini was the man of the early days of neorealism. No other director today works like this man."

Once again, network television and radio did a magnificent job in keeping viewers informed around the world, into and out of the ocean. When there was worry about Carpenter's fuel supply, the sit-

PRESENT LECTERN — The graduates of Cookshire High School presented Cookshire School with a lecture at the classes' annual graduation dance held May 18. Mary Cassidy, CHS correspondent says the students received their school pins the same evening.

The theme of the CHS dance this year was Spring Daze. Decor included paper streamers, silhouettes of the graduates, roses, Childhood Memories poster and a stone wishing well containing four gold fish named Harriet, Clifford, Oswald and Oscar by the students.

CAR WASH PROJECT — This idea, first carried out by Sunnyside High School students and mentioned in the May 5 High Times column has certainly caught on. Grade nine Bedford High School students are holding a car wash project too, today. They began their project this morning at 8.30 a.m. and will stay on the job until 2.30 p.m. The project is to raise funds for the grade nine glass trip to Quebec City June 1 and 2.

INTER-HOUSE TRACK MEET — On May 18 the Lennoxville High School inter-house track meet was held says Ruth Rafal, LHS correspondent. Total points for the houses were as follows: House A, 81 points; House B, 104 points; House C, 63 points and House D, 58 points. Wallace Billing had the high boys' total of 25 points and Myrna Sarasin tallied the girl's high total of 22 points.

IN OTHER LENNOXVILLE high school news, May 18 marked the school's graduation dance. Theme of the evening was over the Rainbow. Highlight of the evening was the Graduates Grand March led by Sandy Cotton and Jo-Anne Katadotis, says grade ten LHS student Anne Nugent who sent in this report. Special thanks go to the cha-

A. B. Smith to retire from CPR

A. B. Smith who joined the Canadian Pacific Railway in Sherbrooke in 1911 at the age of 14, will retire at the end of June after over 50 years of service.

He with L. J. Thomson, supervisor of the data centre, were honored by fellow officers at the Royal Alexandra Hotel in Winnipeg before leaving on pre-retirement holidays.

Mr. Smith is now assistant manager of the department of industrial relations for Western Canada. Prior to this Mr. Smith filled many clerical positions in Eastern Canada and became industrial agent in 1942 alternating between Toronto and Montreal.

As head of the department in Western Canada since 1952 he has aided industrial expansion by finding many suitable locations in the West.

In World War I he was awarded the Distinguished Conduct Medal for conspicuous gallantry. He was also welter-weight boxing champion 1st and 2nd Division C. E. F. Canadian Corps, France, 1918.

Scholarship is awarded

Robert Tanguay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benoit Tanguay of Sherbrooke, has been awarded a $850, Elbridge A. Stuart Scholarship for the 1962-63 school year the Carnation Company Scholarship Foundation has just announced.

Robert who plans to attend the St. Charles Seminary in the fall to study science is one of 85 winners selected from sons and daughters of Carnation employees throughout the United States and Canada.

Robert's father is a filler operator at the local Carnation plant.

The winners were selected by a three man committee composed of Dr. Wallace Sterling, president, Stanford University; Frank L. King, chairman of the board, California Bank, Los Angeles and James Shelton, chairman Emeritus Security-First National Bank, Los Angeles. This is the first time Robert has received a Stuart Award.

The scholarships were established by Carnation Company to honor its founder and first president, Elbridge A. Stuart. Awards are made on the basis of character, scholarship record, leadership and seriousness of purpose. Although an award is for one year, recipients may apply for renewals.

Money donated

The Canadian Cancer Society received a cheque for $160.63 from Mrs. Peter McKenzie, of Beebe, a trustee for the Dr. S. J. Bennett Memorial Fund.

The money had been raised by friends of the late Dr. Bennett who felt a need to "help fight the scourge of cancer."

BEDFORD

Mr. and Mrs. J. Simpson with their sons, Jimmie and John, of Gagetown, N.B., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Jackson, en route to Kingston, Ont.

Mr. John Cruise of Ottawa, spent the holiday weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Cruise.

Mrs. J. Salisbury, of Bromfield, is a guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Ewing on the Phillipsburg Road.

While on vacation

Urge owners to safeguard homes

By DAVID TODD
(Record staff reporter)

Statements warning the public of home break-ins and thefts and how to avert them while away on summer vacation were issued to the newspapers Friday by both the Quebec Provincial Police and the Sherbrooke Municipal Police.

Chief Moreau also asked vacationists, before leaving to contact the police and a neighbor, and to have someone cut the grass.

"A neighbor can keep a watchful eye on the house, the police will endeavour to check the home periodically and the well-groomed lawn will serve the purpose of showing that the house is occupied," he said.

Sgt. Ralph Allen, head of the Sherbrooke detachment of the Quebec Provincial Police, urged people to stop all regular deliveries such as milk, newspapers, and mail.

"At least one light should always be left on and the blinds should be left up, not pulled down," the chief said.

"A pile of mail at the front door or a note to the milkman serving notice that the house will be empty for 15 days is a perfect set-up for a thief," the sergeant said.

Sgt. Allen also pointed out that a short call to the municipal police force telling them when you are leaving and when you are returning would help.

Sherbrooke Municipal police were called upon to make 150 investigations of public home thefts last summer.

There are even some cases on record of thieves hauling away truck loads of household furnishings and other valuables while the owner was absent for two or three weeks.

The most common case, however, is of a household, or returning to find that his home has been broken into and several portable and easily sold articles have been taken.

It could happen to you so police have asked you to help in their attempts to cut down summer crime.

Another reason to be careful before you go on your vacation is to prevent fire from destroying your home.

Percy Donahue, fire director of the Sherbrooke Fire Department offers the following suggestions.

1) — Notify a neighbour of your intention of leaving and have him keep an eye on your home.

2) — Inspect your house

A good sense of balance needed should be something to darken it or break the monotony such as clouds or an overhanging branch.

Another good point to remember is that your picture should have something to anchor them. The foundations, so to speak, could take the form of shadows or darker tones in the scene. This can be accomplished by incorporating shalows form trees and gullies or valleys.

If you were an artist working with a brush, you would easily see if the painting were becoming unbalanced. Perhaps it is the rapidity with which a camera draws a picture that tends to make the photographer overlook the importance of composition. In point of fact the photographer should be as fast as painstaking as the artist.

Some of the fun of taking a picture should be in the preliminary work of direction of just in getting the best camera angle. The actual pushing of the shutter release only has importance when the photographer is trying to capture a spontaneous action of expression. Here the composition could be sacrificed, but it is still important.

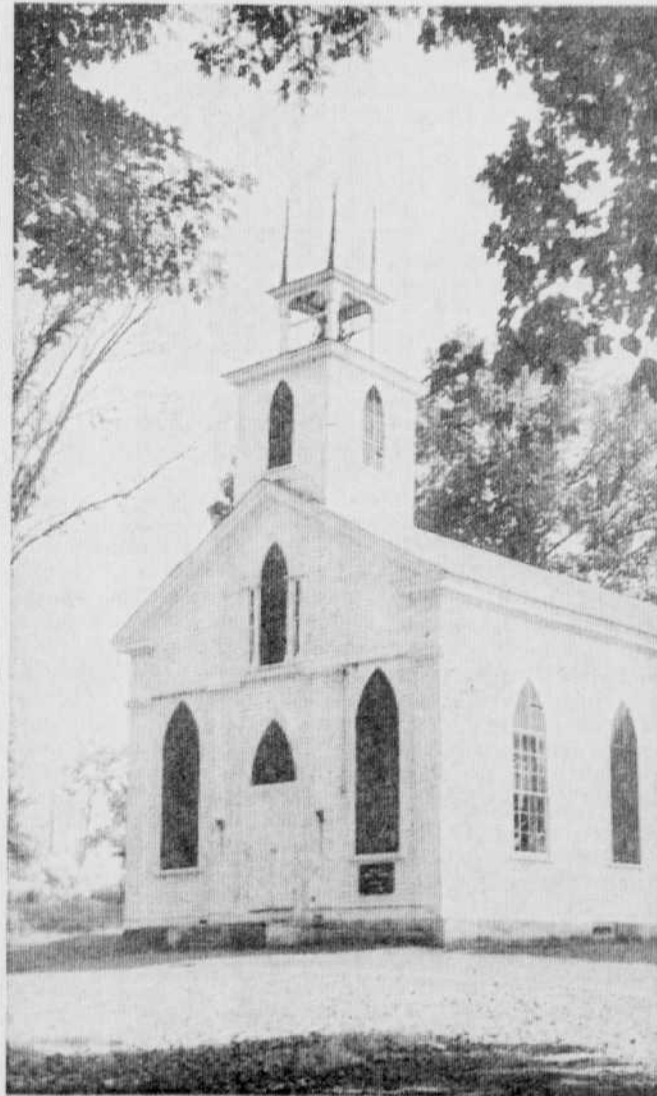

On your next photograph, out your composition in mind. You may be surprised to see how nature has created wonderfully balanced scene. Take advantage of them.

Camera talk by Doug Gerrish

From time to time I like to make a point of discussing composition as it is an important factor of picture taking and perhaps one of the least understood.

Most people have the idea that you have to be artistically inclined or else you have to be born with an eye for composition. However, you can develop a knowledge and an awareness of composition, because all anyone really needs is a good sense of balance. A knowledge of mathematics will be just as useful in these cases as any artistic inclination.

When looking through a viewfinder, you should concentrate on the main subject. In other words if the sky takes up two thirds of scene there

Sherbrooke Hospital

Campaign committee, governors appointed

Marcel Roy, mayor of Richmond, has been named honorary chairman of the Richmond committee for the Sherbrooke Hospital's 1962 Campaign for funds.

The campaign began on May 14 and has an objective of $50,000.

Richmond is the only community in the district to have a separate committee. All the other districts outside of Sherbrooke have only a separate chairman.

The district chairman for the Richmond region is H. H. (Griff) Griffiths while C. A. Chartier is his vice-chairman. Mrs. A. R. Gagnon is the secretary-treasurer, and the advisory board is made up of Rev. H. I. Apps, C.

W. Armstrong, Dr. D. L. Dykeman, A. E. Dyson, Dr. C. E. Manning and M. T. J. McKee.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Sherbrooke Hospital this past week, three new governors were appointed.

The new governors are: Alphe Gauthier, Freeman Clowery, and Milton G. Buzzell.

Group to visit Montreal centres

To show the citizens of Sherbrooke that recreation problems can be worked out, the Larocque Old Boys Association has organized an excursion to Montreal where tours will be made of one park-school, three municipal centres, 3 parish centres, the Paul Sauve sports centre and the Maurice Richard Arena.

Buses will leave Sherbrooke on Sunday for Montreal. Organizing the trip is Roger Perreault, president of the Old Boys Association. Father Yves Mongeau, director of recreation for the island of Montreal will act as a guide.

C. W. Dickson guest speaker at meeting

C. W. Dickson, English secretary of the Royal Commission of Inquiry on Education, will be the guest speaker at the joint meeting of Compton county school boards, teachers and home and school associations, to be held May 31 in the Cookshire High School auditorium. Mr. Dickson will give an analysis of the problems and needs of our schools, to be followed by a question and answer period.

Charity campaign controls needed

The suggestion by the Canadian Council for Crippled Children and Adults that all national charities file annual reports with the federal government showing their gross returns, budget allocations and the cost of raising the funds should receive the close study of the government.

There are many organizations in Canada which raise funds by nationwide appeals and carry on their welfare activities in all sections of the country. The vast majority of these are legitimate enterprises, efficiently run which do valuable work in the relief of suffering and distress. Most of them issue annual reports showing the salient features of their operations, and thus would find little to complain of if the government asked them to file copies of their audited reports.

But, unfortunately, fly-by-night organizations frequently arise asking for public assistance to this or that program. Very often the greater portion of the money raised is diverted to the pockets of the promoters in the form of salaries, expenses and collection commissions. In some cases it is estimated that less than five per cent of the campaign receipts are expended on the purposes for which they are collected.

Often the nature of these promotions becomes apparent only after some scandal breaks. In the meantime the organizers have found sanctuary elsewhere or are hiding their operations behind some other high-sounding name.

When the story of the irregularities comes before the public, confidence in the whole charitable organization of the country is shaken. As a result even the worthwhile groups suffer.

Government supervision would do much to eliminate this condition.

Some people talk along interesting lines and others just talk along.

CLC proposal grandiose, unnecessary

The Canadian Labor Congress presented a brief to the Royal Commission on Health Services in Toronto yesterday in which it contended that the Canadian people are not now being cared for adequately, and shortages can only be met by a comprehensive plan under public control.

In a memorandum to the commission, the million-member group outlined a two-stage plan for national health insurance.

The first stage would include services of both general and specialist medical practitioners, as well as supporting health personnel such as nurses and technicians. It would also include prevention, diagnosis, treatment and rehabilitation services and preventive dental care for children. The second stage, to be introduced not more than five years after the first, would include full-scale dental care and the provision of drugs and appliances.

The program suggested by the labor group would be available to all persons, without regard to means, and would be aimed at providing health care of the "highest quality" literally from cradle to grave.

This complete socialized medicine is needed, says the CLC, because "the people of Canada are inadequately protected in terms of their health needs. Many people do not get any health care at all. Others do not get enough. In some instances, health care cannot be obtained because of inability to pay for it."

With this, there can be little quarrel, but the conclusion that the only way to remedy the situation is to introduce socialized medicine is a very questionable one. Two briefs previously presented to the Royal Commission contain concrete suggestions that go a long way towards remedying the ills, where they exist, of which the CLC speaks and serve as strong refutations of the CLC position on socialized medical services.

The first was presented by the Canadian Medical Association last week. Admitting that there was a segment of the population unable to pay for proper medical care, the brief suggested that government support should be available to these people.

It mentioned two groups: the eight per cent of the Canadian population that could be classed as indigent and would need complete government support and a second group members of which should get partial assistance "on proof of need."

The rest of the population does not need government assistance. Those who are wealthy can afford their own medical services. Those who are just "average" have available to them government hospital insurance plans and a variety of privately-sponsored medical insurance programs which, in most cases, are adequate for their needs.

It is true that many private insurance schemes could do with improvement, and there is no reason why this could not be done without resorting to sprawling government control. In another brief to the commission last week, the Canadian Health Insurance Association unveiled proposals for just such improvement. In addition to additional services, the plan would provide for people who cannot at present obtain health insurance because of age or prior medical conditions.

What, in fact, these two latter briefs have done is forestalled CLC objections to predominantly privately-controlled medical care by offering far better, less costly and radical measures to improve existing situations.

Husbands have a lot of scraps when they're continually late for dinner.

lations, restrictions, controls and licences!

The national NDP leader and former premier of Saskatchewan looks with yearning eyes at "Scandinavian countries" and Israel where, he says, there are rent and purchase systems where a family's costs are related to income.

Some day, says Tommy, Canadians will do the same thing with food. Large families and those with fixed incomes will make use of a "stamp plan," and then everyone will be happy and well-fed.

We do wish everything was as simple as this. We can see the parents of large families lining up for their stamps before hordes of government officials.

We can see the civil service enumerators counting heads, checking incomes, and filling up forms in quintuplicate. We can envisage the massed ranks of officials checking on other officials, all gainfully employed in achieving nothing at all.

All this is to save us from "the big food and beverage companies," who will just have to grow to love stamps instead of folding money.

Tommy Douglas, the only man not in step in this present wicked world, omits to say who's going to pay the farmer. He also fails to tell his bemused audiences why he himself, after 20 years of trying to introduce this kind of dreamy economy into Saskatchewan, must admit failure. Elect me, says Tommy Douglas, and I'll end unemployment in 12 months. If it's that simple, why didn't he fix it in Saskatchewan, where he was undisputed ruler for 20 years?

The fact is that Tommy Douglas hasn't got an answer, short of totalitarian control of life and liberty.

Is Tommy Douglas saying that a provincial fiasco can be a national Utopia? It's a wonderful never-never land for stamp-collectors.

Adventures with God

Love is a key to unselfishness it unlocks the purse of misers

By JANE SCOTT

Love is the key that unlocks purses and changes misers into benefactors. Yes, it is true. When a man, woman or a child really loves God or a particular person, he or she wants to give something to prove that love. We have known selfish young people, and older people, too, to suddenly become generous under the impulse of a new love.

We have known some who were not too particular about apparel or their person to change their behavior almost overnight when constrained by a new love. Many a lad who would not scrub himself or press his trousers to please his mother has suddenly become meticulous about himself when influenced by an attractive young girl.

The impulse of love releases the most positive forces of life, and breaks down the resistance of a selfish nature. This is the case in the physical and the spiritual realm. What men will not do by command or compunction, they will do gladly when compelled by love.

Many a Scrooge who formerly found reasons for refusing to share the wealth, has under the power of a new affection, shared the wealth with reckless abandon. The tightwad often becomes the most indulgent husband and father, and the selfish, mean, money-conscious woman often becomes a paragon of virtue, full of love and tenderness and generous to a fault under the strange, refining force of a new love.

UNDER IMPULSE
The patron who merely lends his name (often from personal and selfish motives) to a great charitable cause,

Many a poor girl has been elevated to a higher strata of society because some rich young ruler fell in love with her. Many a poor man has risen in the ranks because a loving, unselfish woman set her affections upon him and shared everything she possessed with him. They became partners in the most wonderful relationship possible in this life. They gave themselves in unselfish love. Love counts not the cost, but impels men and women to give sacrificially to please the beloved.

will, when recharged by a new affection, put everything he has of time and money into a partnership from which he can gain nothing but satisfaction.

Others who act under the impulse of an impelling love will invest everything without desire or hope for a return in appreciation or affection.

Our Lord came not as a patron of humanity. He came as a partner, who loved that He was willing to lay aside His glory and stoop to the lowest depths of humiliation that we might have a new and abundant life and share the wealth of God.

Because of His impelling love and sacrifice we have become heirs of God, and joint heirs with Christ. Through His poverty we are rich.

lection plate passes, but it is usually lack of love. Love will find a way to please and share with the object of one's devotion.

MADE MARTYRS

The man who really loves his wife, and the wife who really loves her husband or her children, will work their fingers to the bone to keep the home together. And the Christian who loves his Lord and the household of faith will delight to do without some things to give as the Lord has prospered him.

Yes, love is the key that unlocks purses, and releases selfish personalities. If you are counting the cost of your marriage or church membership there is a chance that you have lost your first love.

Remember the day when you looked into the face of your beloved and said sincerely: "With all my goods I thee endow." You meant it then, because you were in love. You may have much more goods now, but you have less love and the burden seems greater than you can bear.

Losing one's first love is a tragedy. It makes martyrs of men and women, and fills the divorce courts. But when we lose our first love for God who has given us all, we lose fellowship with the divine partner, and joy and adventure goes out of life. We feel that we just can't afford to give or go to church.

Let's not settle for paying alimony to God. He wants our whole-souled love and devotion, and in return we may have His fellowship. Are you really broke or have you just lost your first love?

Impeachment proceedings against U.S. President Andrew Johnson were defeated by a single vote 94 years ago today — in 1868. Johnson became president when Abraham Lincoln was assassinated and immediately ran into trouble with a radical faction in Congress that wanted to treat the South harshly. A long series of disputes led to a vote in the House of Representatives in an unsuccessful effort to remove him.

1954 — Lionel Conacher, 54, Canada's outstanding athlete of the first half century and an MP, died at Ottawa during a Parliament Hill baseball game.

1954 — An explosion aboard the U.S. aircraft carrier Bennington off Rhode Island killed 91 men.

REPORTING

SAINT JOHN, NB — The people who cling to the rocky slopes of this promontory jutting into the Bay of Fundy marked Loyalist Day the other day. That's the anniversary of the landing in 1783 of Tories who had been run out of the 13 colonies by George Washington's bully boys.

These Tory DP's laid a solid Tory foundation for the constituency of Saint John-Albert. So solid that it would take a political tide comparable to that of old Fundy itself to stop Tory candidate Tom Bell from winning a trip back to the House of Commons.

The only Liberal in recent political history who had such a tide is a gay, loveable Irishman named Danny Riley. He was defeated in 1953, and declined the Liberal nomination this year. Officially the reason was the pressure of his legal work. But just as easily it could be Riley's measure of Liberal chances here.

However, Bell won't get an acclamation. The Liberal candidate is an energetic young entrepreneur named George Urquhart who's nothing if not game.

Another politically interesting fact here is the failure of the splinter parties to make any real impression. This is a seaport and industrial city, but the labor vote shows no sign of swinging to the New Democrats.

Then too, close to a fifth of the population is Acadian, the result of an influx that started during the war. But I'm told that the Social Credit Union des Electeurs which is causing the Liberals some anxiety in Quebec is a negligible factor here and elsewhere in New Brunswick. The Acadians may be less easily led from their traditional Liberal partisanship than their cousins, the French-Canadians.

Interesting item No. 3: here, as elsewhere in New Brunswick, persons whom I recognize as strong Conservative partisans admit privately and reluctantly that they are disappointed in John Diefenbaker and his government.

Political partisanship down here is bred in the bone. Families are Conservative or Liberal, and tend to stay that way. So those Tories who admit their dissatisfaction with Diefenbaker likely will still vote Conservative, with the alternative choice of not voting at all.

The dissatisfaction does not yield easily to analysis. Partly it seems to be realization that the prime minister is just not their kind of Conservative. And partly it may be that New Brunswick Conservatives, and perhaps Tories elsewhere as well, are the victims of their own party's propaganda.

In all the election campaigns between 1940 and 1957 they had agreed with their leaders' damnation of the Grits as the greatest bunch of scoundrels ever to grasp power in Ottawa. They hailed the Tory victory as the start of the millennium — but in five years their great expectations had not been realized.

The Diefenbaker image has lost so much of its lustre in New Brunswick that the Conservatives will do well to take five of the province's 10 seats on June 18. That would be a loss of two — and with a strong Liberal tide the loss will be three or four.

The appeal of the candidates themselves is unusually important because, while Lester Pearson is accepted, his image here is not such as to whip up much enthusiasm to "follow" Mike.

Urges influence of IOOF to aid world peace

As "one of the greatest fraternal orders in the world" the Independent Order of Oddfellows must show its strength and exert its influence to further peace in the world, the sovereign grand secretary of the order said Friday night in a speech to 200 members of the IOOF and Rebekah Association gathered in Sherbrooke to mark the 82nd anniversary of the Grand Lodge of Quebec.

A. Ford Winters of Baltimore pointed out that the importance of any organization is measured by the use it makes of the time allotted to it. "Time is the raw material of life," Mr. Winters said. "In order to make good use of time we must, 'speak, act, and serve together with unity and positive thinking."

"In the 143 years since the order was founded we have spent millions to relieve distress and to help when disaster strikes," Mr. Winters said.

"We gave assistance at the time of the great Chicago fire, and just last year we contributed $50,000 to alleviate the suffering caused by the hurricane which struck Texas last summer. During World War II the IOOF contributed to the war relief fund for the rehabilitation of people in war-torn Europe," Mr. Winters added.

In spite of the armed conflicts in which the world has become involved Canada and the United States have always enjoyed peace and good relations, Mr. Winters said. "Our two countries have proved that through fraternal relations it is possible to live together in harmony. The IOOF has worked towards this goal on this continent and it is now a tower of strength in fraternizing the world," he said.

week at a Toronto luncheon Tuesday, charging that the Conservative government had failed to carry out its "big five" promises — to reduce unemployment, lower taxes, cut spending, balance the budget and lower interest rates.

NDP Chief T. C. Douglas and Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson divided a half-hour of CBC television free time Monday night and put their main emphasis on economic planning.

The NDP leader called for an economy planned by the government "not for profits, but for people."

Thompson urged a balanced economy, "not a planned economy which means controlled people."

ESCAPES GUILLOTINE

Raoul Salan, onetime general who became the leader of the French terrorist Secret Army Organization, was sentenced to life imprisonment Wednesday in a verdict that astonished both supporters and enemies, who had expected a death sentence.

A new Secret Army plot to assassinate President de Gaulle also was disclosed. Police announced Monday night the arrest of several persons linked with the conspiracy to kill the president during his tour of France the previous week.

In Algeria itself, scores of terrorist killings were reported and European settlers, fearing Secret Army attacks and Moslem reprisals, fled the territory by the thousands.

HONG KONG PACKED

Refugees also continued to flood out of famine-threatened Communist China, faster than British security forces in overcrowded Hong Kong could round them up and send them back.

By the end of the week the total for the month had risen to some 60,000—the normal annual figure. The flow decreased sharply on Thursday and Friday, however, and there were reports that the Peking government had acted to curb the exodus at Britain's request.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker meanwhile announced Tuesday that Canada would admit 100 refugee families from Hong Kong immediately.

UNIONS CLASH

A bitter union jurisdictional battle between the Independent Seafarers' International Union and the Canadian Maritime Union, which supplanted SIU crews on vessels operated by Upper Lakes Shipping Limited of Toronto, disrupted the Port of Toledo, Ohio, this week.

Several shots were fired at an Upper Lakes freighter last weekend and two small boats were sunk in incidents between police and picketers backing the SIU.

POLITICAL ROUNDUP

must confine himself to a single appearance.

The two-per-night rule is decreed by the strategists who argue that their standard-bearer should appear at one meeting early so that he can shake hands with everyone in the hall—perhaps 10, sometimes 15 and occasionally 25.

Then he speaks first, makes his excuses and moves to the second gathering, probably of the same size as the first.

Here he is billed as the wind-up speaker and on conclusion of the meeting is expected to remain until he has completed another round of hand-shaking.

And just to keep his prestige high, he must take time off to appear at regional meetings held in neighboring counties where he can mingle with the party brass.

So it can be seen why many candidates, whether elected or defeated, disappear for a period immediately after election day.

NEW PUBLICITY ANGLE

Social Credit candidates in the current contest will have a unique, low-cost campaign aid as one million copies of a 16-page tabloid size newspaper are now being shipped to the constituencies across Canada.

The newspaper, a special election issue of the party's official publication Focus, contains an eight-page four-color supplement on national leader Robert N. Thompson, done in comic page style. Chief feature is a split run operation which will provide candidates with personalized copies, placing his name and photograph on the front page, along with those of Mr. Thompson and Real Casquette, the deputy leader.

Focus includes articles on Social Credit policies, ranging from the party's views on agriculture and industry to nuclear arms and U.S. trade.

FOSTER PARENTS PLAN — The plan by the Junior Red Cross of Cookshire High School to adopt a child through the Foster Parent's Plan was agreed upon this week and has been carried through. The project was undertaken co-operatively through the efforts of grades one to eleven. More information concerning the adopted child will be available at a later date says Mary Cassidy.

TO GO TO UN — Kathy Barnard a grade ten student at the Asbestos-Danville-Shipton High School has been chosen delegate to the United Nations. The announcement was made at the Oddfellows dance held May 18. Kathy will go on the trip sponsored by the Oddfellows.

SPRING PROM HELD — The Princess Elizabeth High School, Magog, Spring Prom was held May 11.

Hawaiian food including coconuts, pineapples and cherry breads made up the menu while usherettes wearing ties in various island colors served punch. The grand march was led by Oscar Hamilton, president of the Students' Council and his partner followed by the King, Queen, Princess and Prince.

Selected queen of the Spring prom was Patricia Patterson and the king was David Lundeen. Allyson Trew and Kerry Lee were princesses and Larry Whittier and Russell Desan were princes.

A twist contest was won by John Brookhouse and Patricia Patterson. The waltz contest was won by Andre Pouliot and Judy Griffiths. Thanks goes to Allyson Trew, chairman of the dance committee and the prom committee who made the prom such a big success.

My thanks to Kerry Lee for sending along this interesting item to High Times.

TEACHERS HONORED — A tea was held Friday after school at the Asbestos-Danville-Shipton High School grade eleven home economics class in honour of the teachers who taught the graduating class, says Sandra Gallup.

GRADUATION BANQUET — The graduation banquet at Cookshire High School will be held June 1. Grade nine students will be putting on the event this year.

MEANWHILE — It's hustle and bustle at Sunnyside High School these days as grade ten students plan for their graduation dance to take place in the gymnasium June 1. Les Beaulieu's orchestra is supplying the music for dancing. Students are also busy reading the proofs of the Strobe, the Sunnyside High year book, which should be on sale at the end of this month.

KNOWLTON GRAD DANCE — The Knowlton High School graduation dance was held May 19, opening with a coffee party for the grads and their escorts, given by Mrs. E. Gatenby, French specialist and grade eleven class teachers. At the coffee party Mrs. Gatenby was presented with a bouquet of red roses by Claudia Jewett on behalf of the graduating class.

Elizabeth Patten introduced the grads and dancing began with the traditional graduation waltz. Spring was the theme of the dance. Following the dance grade ten and eleven students and their escorts went to the Shore Crest Inn where a party was held. Dancing continued until 6 a.m. when Mrs. Davidson served breakfast.

COUNCIL ELECTIONS — Students at Lennoxville High School will hold an election May 29 to elect a new Students Council for 1962-63. To date, the following is a list of the candidates nominated for the executive. President, Dave Simons, Sutherland Richardson, Leslie Hughes-Games; vice president, Judy Woollerton and Sandra Brand; sports, Grant Peak and Lindsay Majury; Dramatics, Jeremy Smith.

KNOWLTON—(Special) — The superb committee of the United Church Women met at the home of Mrs. Carl C. McClay on May 22 to make preparations for the athletic banquet taking place at the High School on June 1, as well as planning refreshments for the special service in the United Church here on Sunday evening, May 27, when the United Church choir from Waterloo will present the Beatitudes. Refreshments will be served in the Church Hall following the service.

Further plans for entertaining the United Church Women from the Creek Church were also discussed. Mrs. McClay served refreshments.

The regular meeting of Unit No. 4, which was scheduled to take place on May 23, at the home of Mrs. Hugh Miller, has been postponed until May 30.

held in this District for a number of years, and with the help of the leaders of the packs, it could be made an annual event.

Mr. Harold Bench, retired Cubmaster, attended the District Council meeting and was presented with his long service medal by District Commissioner, P. Gray. Mr. Bench has been active in the Sherbrooke and Lennoxville packs and troops for many years. Upon receiving the medal, Mr. Bench quoted some advice which was given to him when he first entered the movement. His father had said, "if you are going to be a Scout, don't be just half a one; be a whole one", and that is just what he did.

Governor General Georges P. Vanier, in the capacity of Chief Scout for Canada, recently spoke to a luncheon meeting in Ottawa of the national executive committee of the Boy Scouts of Canada. His Excellency remarked that one-third of the population has no memory of the Second World War or the Great Depression. All of us tend to take our pleasures for granted and forget the necessity of giving. "The Good Turn, the challenge and achievement of mind and body, the ideals of religion and the fundamentals of citizenship is the measure of the essential importance of the Scout-Movement in the world today."

New cathedral is opened

COVENTRY, England (Reuters) - Diplomats from more than 40 countries gathered here today for an afternoon consecration of the new Coventry Cathedral, built to replace the one destroyed by German bombs in 1940.

The Queen, the head of the Church of England, was scheduled to join 10 processions to the cathedral through streets lined by 5,000 boys and girls, with Coventry Bishop Cuthbert Bardsley performing the ceremony.

The Archbishops of Canterbury and York, primates of the Anglican Church, were to lead a great assembly of clergy-including the bishops of Toronto, Michigan, Connecticut and North Indiana.

Few Cathedrals have been so richly endowed from the start with gifts from abroad.

They range from an icon from Stalingrad to a crucifix from Tanganyika. West Germany sent a group of young people to build an international centre among the ruins their fathers created. They also gave library furnishings and an altar book-stand.

Canada provided the organ and also contributed generously to the rebuilding fund. Four vergers' maces came from Canada, Australia, South Africa and India.

OBITUARIES

MAURICE J. GIGNAC, OF BARRE, VT.

BARRE, VT. — Maurice J. Gignac, of 96 Maple Avenue, Barre, Vt., died in the Mary Fletcher Hospital, Burlington, Vt., after a few days' illness.

Mr. Gignac was born in Lebanon, N.H. and attended school there. He married Queenie Longmore in 1934, who survives him. The deceased also leaves a daughter, Karen, and a son Bruce.

He was a member of Mascoma Lodge, No. 25, I.O.O.F., and of the First Presbyterian Church in Barre.

Funeral services were held from the Whitcomb Funeral Home on Tuesday, May 15. Burial took place in Hope Cemetery, Barre.

MRS. JULIA MILLIGAN, OF LAKE MEGANTIC

LAKE MEGANTIC — The death of Mrs. Julia Milligan, R.N., occurred on Saturday, April 21, 1962, at St. Joseph's Hospital, in her 47th year.

Mrs. Milligan was the daughter of the late A. H. Andrews and Mrs. Andrews, and leaves to mourn her loss, her mother, her sister (Louise), Mrs. Clyde Elger, and other relatives.

In 1941, she enlisted with the Canadian Army as a nursing sister, and served for two years in South Africa, returning in 1943.

The funeral was held on Monday, April 23, in St. Barnabas Church, Rev. Elias officiating. Members of the Canadian Legion and Chaudiere Regiment were present and conducted a military funeral.

The bearers were Douglas Clark, Ernest Mills, Otto Wood, George Ouellette, Fred Crossman and Charles Morrison.

Interment was in Riverside Cemetery.

Among friends from out of town present were: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brien, Mrs. Gale Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Alton Lavalliere, of Farnham; Mrs. Victoria Plow, North Hatley; Mr. and Mrs. Royce Gale, Sherbrooke; Mr. Lyford Elger, Scotts-town; Mr. C. Hodgson, Brownville Junction, Me.; Mr. and Mrs. I. Elger, Mrs. Morton Baird and Mr. L. O. Brien.

MRS. EVAN CLOGSTON, OF DUNCAN, B.C., Formerly of Stanstead

STANSTEAD — Mrs. Evan Clogston, for years a resident of Stanstead, died on Sunday, May 20, in hospital at Duncan, B.C. Although suffering from a heart condition for the past two years her death was sudden, following an attack of flu.

Adelaide Clogston was widow of the late Sidney Prangley. They came to Stanstead from Bury in 1927. Mr. Prangley died here in February 1949.

About five years later she married Mr. Clogston and had since lived in Western Canada. While in Stanstead, Mrs. Clogston was a member of Stanstead Frontier Legion Auxiliary, a member of Christ Anglican church and active in the Guild. She is survived by her husband, and five children, W. D.

(Dick) Prangley, Duncan, Sybil, Mrs. Lincoln Matthew, Sawyer, Dorothy, Mrs. J. H. Fraser, Victoria, B.C., Donald Prangley, Rock Island, and Thomas, Mayo, Yukon, as well as 19 grandchildren.

The funeral and interment took place in Duncan.

MRS. PATRICK RENNICK OF FOSTER

FOSTER — Funeral services were held at St. Paul's Anglican Church on Thursday afternoon, May 3, at 2 o'clock for Mrs. Patrick Rennick, who died in the B.M.P. Hospital on Tuesday, May 2, following a short illness.

The service was conducted by the Rev. T. E. R. Nurse and the bearers were: Leonard Westcott, Arthur Purchase, Douglas Purchase, George Purchase, Harold Battley and James Battley.

Interment took place in the Knowlton Protestant Cemetery beside her first husband.

Relatives and friends from Ontario, Montreal, Granby, Warden, Cowansville, Iron Hill, Foster and Knowlton attended.

Born in Iron Hill, Mrs. Rennick was the daughter of the late William Bowbrick and his wife, Sally Tibbits. She was married a number of years ago to Harold Simpson, who predeceased her.

Surviving are her husband, Patrick Rennick; six sisters, Mrs. Arthur Devlin, of Sutton, Mrs. John Purchase, Cowansville, Mrs. Wm. Barber, Stouffville, Ont., Mrs. Palmer Bowbrick, Knowlton, and Mrs. Marsh, Sweetsburg; Miss Lily E. Dupras, Cowansville; and four brothers, Walter Bowbrick, of New Hampshire, Harry Bowbrick, Cowansville, William Bowbrick, Iron Hill, and Nelson Bowbrick, Alburgh, Vt.

If it does, then you already know how Hippo P.P.* Oil puts a skid-proof gloss on floors, a gloss that stays bright with only occasional washing. Never needs waxing.

Hippo Oil, in Satin for panelling and Gloss for all wood surfaces, has been the most widely used varnish finish for over 50 years.

But here's news! Hippo goes on faster, dries quicker with a new two-coat combination. Hippo Speed Seal dries in three hours and Hippo Oil dries overnight.

*Permanent Pliable Hippo Oil. Beautifies and protects all wood surfaces, inside or out. Dealers from coast-to-coast. Acme Paint and Varnish Limited, Toronto, Montreal.

FROM ALL POINTS IN CANADA - PRAISE POURS IN ACADIAN IS A SUPERB CAR!

"I have been able to get 31 miles to the gallon. It rides very smoothly and the seats are most comfortable..."

Alex Majean, Rouyn, P.Q.

"One of the most pleasing features is the economy. We would estimate that our gasoline costs have been almost cut in half..."

Mrs. Garnet Lane, Moncton, N.B.

"I use it full time as a taxi. The nicest feature is the way it responds and handles. Tremendous traction power. A superb car..."

R. Hawley, Edmonton, Alberta

"The good taste in design, and fine workmanship in construction have combined to make the Acadian a car I'm proud to own..."

Elmer Voelpel, Dauphin, Manitoba

"The brakes are excellent, fast, fadeless and positive even on slippery surfaces..."

Frank E. Tucker, Thornhill, Ontario

"I purchased an Acadian Sport Coupe. I'm particularly pleased with the ease of handling, comfort, and economy..."

Wayne Carrothers, Thornhill, Ontario

"I particularly like the handling, excellent vision, and its good looks combined with economical performance..."

John Rempie, Abbotsford, B.C.

"What really impressed me was the big car ride and roominess... tremendous pick-up and ease of driving..."

Al Muirhead, Regina, Sask.

B., of Montclair, N.J., in the auditorium of West Hill High School, Somerset Avenue, on Tuesday evening, May 29th, at 8:15. Mr. Carr is making a nationwide tour as a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship. He received his education at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. In 1942 he withdrew from business to devote his whole time to the public practice of Christian Science healing, and in 1952 he became an authorized teacher of Christian Science.

For and about Women

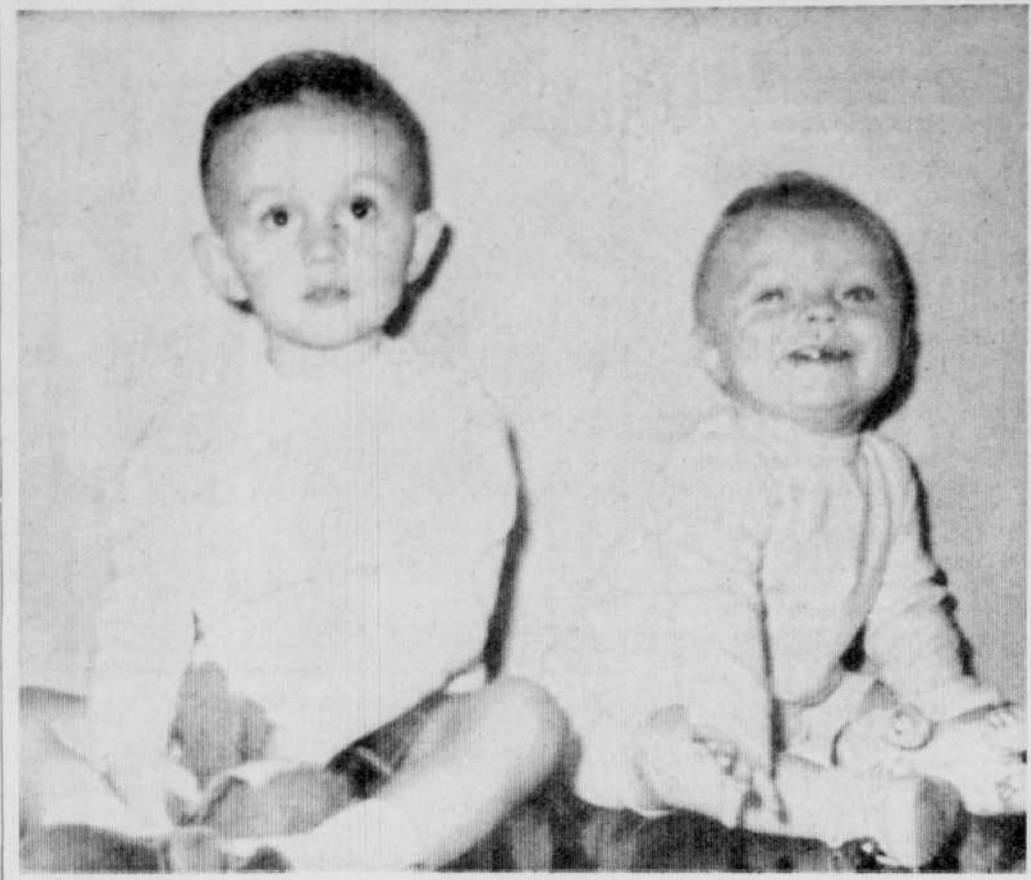

Today's recipe

Supper is fun for everyone when the main course comes to the table wrapped in individual foil packages. The children enjoy the element of surprise and mother can have the afternoon free from meal preparations. All she need do is arrange the foods in their wrappings (hours ahead if she likes) then stow the packages in the refrigerator until time to cook. The food is cooked and served right in the foil, and may be brought to the table unopened.

Fish is one food which cooks quickly and deliciously in foil. Encased in foil it literally steams in its own juices and none of the fine flavour is lost. For an adventure in good eating, try the following foil package combination recommended by the home economists of Canada's Department of Fisheries.

FILLETS IN FOIL
1 pound frozen fish fillets, ¼ teaspoon salt, 6 cups packaged precooked rice, ¼ cup water, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup grated Cheddar cheese, 1 tomato, cut into 4 slices.

Thaw frozen fillets sufficiently to allow the block to be cut into 4 portions. Sprinkle with ¼ teaspoon salt. Thoroughly combine rice, water, and ¼ teaspoon salt. Add cheese and toss lightly to mix. Have ready four 12-inch squares of aluminum foil, greased on the inside. Place 3 tablespoons of rice-cheese mixture in centre of each square. Top with a fillet portion and then a slice of tomato. Lightly sprinkle tomato slices with salt. Bring two edges of foil together over food and double fold to make a tight seal. Also double fold outer edges. Place packages on a baking sheet and bake in a hot oven (500 degrees F.). Allow about 30 minutes cooking time if fish is frozen and 15 minutes if completely thawed. Makes 4 servings.

Women's groups in the news

UNIT III, U.C.W.
Unit three of the United Church Women, Lennoxville planned a strawberry social for Friday evening June 29 at the regular meeting held in the ladies parlor, Douglas Hall, Queen Street. Mrs. Taft Cameron presiding with 27 members present.

Mrs. Philip Lawrence was in charge of the devotional period with Mrs. Philip Walton at the piano.

The treasurer, Mrs. Fred Hicks reported a substantial sum realized from the recently held Coffee Break and Mrs. Douglas Baldwin reported the success of the rummage sale held by the United Church women.

A notice to all units contained the following dates to remember and attend if possible. United Church Women general meeting, Upper Scott Hall Tuesday evening, May 29 with Mrs. Gladys Taylor as guest speaker and May 31, 10 a.m. annual Presbyterial in the Lennoxville United Church.

After the adjournment, Mrs. Noble Smith introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. Fred Vaudry, local florist, who gave a very informative talk on gardening. He was thanked by Mrs. Keith R. Lane.

Mrs. Arthur B. Lovelace joined the members for refreshments which were served by Mrs. Douglas Hadlock, Mrs. Harold Bassett, Mrs. Everett Dennison and Mrs. Alex Rowat.

Mrs. Donald McElrea and Mrs. H. R. Edgcombe poured at the lace covered tea table, attractively arranged with carnations and daffodils and green tapers in silver holders.

John Rugg was assisting on this project.

During the program period, Miss Joan Beers was in charge and had members divide into groups. Those in charge of group discussions were Mrs. P. Gray, Mrs. E. Westerman, Misses Eunice MacIntyre and Joan Beers. This proved most interesting and informative, the subject of discussion, the Mission of the Church.

Birthday greetings were given to Mrs. R. Whitley, Mrs. W. Gibson and Mrs. E. Westerman.

During the social hour, refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Z. Griffith, Mrs. N. Lothrop, Mrs. G. LeBaron and Mrs. E. Kennett.

JOHN GEORGE JASPER, seven month old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Jasper, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. E. Harrison of Sherbrooke and Mr. and Mrs. A. Jasper of South Bolton. Great-grandson of Mrs. A. Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. G. Jasper of Sherbrooke and Mrs. E. Harrison, of Manchester, England.

Singing Girls of Sherbrooke are guests at hospital

The Singing Girls of Sherbrooke were guests at a recreational evening for the boarders and the members of the religious staff of "L'Espoir du Sacre-Coeur" and the resident sick people of "D'Youville Hospital."

They sang a group of songs from their concert which took place last month.

Refreshments were served to the girls of the choir after the short concert and the social hour was enjoyed.

Personals

The many friends of Miss Robina M. Stevenson will be interested to learn she is now a resident at the McKee Rest Home, 219 Montreal Street.

Approaching Marriage

The approaching marriage is announced of Elizabeth Ann Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Young, of Burlington, Ontario, to Robert G. Laxson, of Hamilton, Ontario, son of Mr. and G. H. Laxson, of Asbestos.

The marriage to take place June 9, in the Westdale United Church in Hamilton, Ontario.

Shoals and reefs that lie in sea of matrimony

"Two can live as cheaply as one" is the idea Niagara Falls has set out to sell to honeymooners.

To prove it, during the month of June honeymooners can get a double room for the price of a single at many Niagara Falls hotels and motels and even eat two-for-one meals at leading restaurants.

It's a good promotion stunt, all right. But what about the honeymooners who actually get to believing this "two can live as cheaply as one" propaganda?

Getting back to the everyday, work-a-day, worrying-about-money world is hard enough on any honeymooners. It's always something of a shock for a young couple to come down out of the honeymoon clouds and face such realities as the alarm clock, burnt toast, dirty dishes, and so on.

But it will be an extra shock for the couple which has been living high on the hog in the blissful assumption that two can live as cheaply as one. At least, it is going to be a mighty rude shock for the young bride when he gets back from his honeymoon and discovers that two not only can't live as cheaply as one, two can't even live as cheaply as two—when the extra member of the household is a woman.

The young man who has never before footed the bills for an attractive young woman just doesn't know how many things women spend money on that don't come under the heading of food and shelter—all those fancy cosmetics, those sessions at the beauty shop, those pretty clothes, those feminine touches a woman thinks a home has to have, and so on.

Taking all those into consideration, a young man may discover to his chagrin that two can live about as cheaply as two and a half or three.

So the young husbands who take their brides to Niagara Falls during June had better not believe any of that two-as-cheaply-as-one promotion—even while taking advantage of it. Once the honeymoon is over they are going to be paying the bills for two until baby makes three. And three can't live as cheaply as two—either.

Djilas' revelation?

Yugoslavia not really independent at all

CONVERSATIONS WITH STALIN by Milovan Djilas; Harcourt, Brace & World; 211 pages; $4.95.

The controversial Djilas, who has been in and out of prison most of his adult life for various reasons — mostly political — is in again. He was sentenced by a Yugoslav court early this month to nine years in prison for revealing what were termed "state secrets" in this book, which was released for publication in Canada yesterday.

But those who rush out to purchase the book for the purpose of reading about these "state secrets" will be sorely disappointed. As the author himself points out in his forward, there "is not much in this book that the well-versed reader will not already know from published memoirs and other literature."

What the reader will find instead is not so much intense anti-communism as intense anti-Russianism. The author's protest here is not so much against Communist philosophy as against the way Stalin applied it and the way Djilas thinks Russia is still applying it.

"Despite the curses against his name," Djilas writes, "Stalin still lives in the social and spiritual foundations of the Soviet society." To Russian society today, then, Djilas ascribes many of the traits of Stalin, as revealed to him in three separate personal confrontations near the end of the Second World War and the years immediately following. Summing up, Djilas says "Stalin was a monster who in practice recognized and could recognize only success — violence, physical and spiritual extermination."

The conversations Djilas had with Stalin were carried out in more or less the same atmosphere — they occurred during the course of lavish, late evening banquets thrown by Stalin for official Yugoslav delegations.

At the first banquet, Djilas worships Stalin. But at the second, Djilas, who had criticized the rapine conduct of Red Army soldiers in Yugoslavia, is snubbed, and begins to have serious doubts about Stalin and the Russia he leads.

His doubts turn to complete disillusionment during the third conversation, held for the purpose of discussing with Stalin Russian and Yugoslavian policies towards Albania. It is during this meeting that it finally dawns on Djilas that Stalin wants to manipulate countries and people to his own ends, and doesn't care a fig for their own desires or needs, whether they are Communist people and nations or not.

The portrait Djilas draws of Stalin is vivid but sketchy, as it must be with only three isolated meetings from which to draw, but of more importance are the implications that can be drawn from the book about Yugoslavia's position today. Assuming Djilas' contention that Russia today is essentially no different from Russia under Stalin is correct, and given the fact that the book contains no "state secrets," it is hard to escape the conclusion that Djilas' real crime so far as Yugoslavia is concerned has been to show that his country is not nearly as independent from Russian influence as its spokesmen would have us believe.

Why else would Djilas be imprisoned for writing a straightforward account in which in no way criticizes government in Yugoslavia, but simply describes the narrowness, ignorance and brutality of Russian political thought?

MILOVAN DJILAS

This book is a modern classic

I KNOW MY LOVE by Catherine Gaskin — 384 pgs Collins, London — $4.25.

Without doubt, I KNOW MY LOVE is one book to keep, to read and re-read. The language is at once beautiful and powerful, the mood of the novel is compelling and mid-nineteenth century Australia is depicted with a vibrant and vigorous pen. Canadian readers will find the parts of the story dealing with the Australian gold-rush particularly interesting as much of it parallels the Yukon saga in personal tragedy, violence, despair and hope.

Divergent characters with divergent and sometimes clashing interests, a girl with a murder to hide and another to commit, self-sacrifice and self-assertion, a struggle for political and social justice, big business—I KNOW MY LOVE contains them all. But far more, it is a love story, the love story of Emma Brown.

The year is 1854, the place The Digger's Arms on the road to Ballarat. A London-bred girl, a former draper's assistant, cast suddenly and horribly on her own in this remote Australian mining district, sans relations, sans friends, sans money, sans everything but courage and the determination to survive and to survive maintaining her personal integrity, faces the future with the crime of murder on her hands if not on her soul, and so begins her story: "The name I gave myself was Emma Brown. It was not my real name. What that was doesn't matter. It is buried back there, lost."

As the heroine of I KNOW

CATHERINE GASKIN

MY LOVE, Emma carries the story, but no reader will forget Adam Langley whom she loves, nor beautiful self-seeking and bewildered Rose, daughter of the Maguire family who befriends Emma, nor indeed any of the rollicking, defiant Maguires. Nor will the reader fail to remember domineering Papa Langley, Adam's uncle, the tycoon who builds himself an empire and hounds his family to various kinds of self-destruction. I KNOW MY LOVE is a modern classic and must enhance Miss Gaskin's already enviable international reputation as an author.

BLUEBELL PHILLIPS

An overwhelming but fascinating history

HOLY WEEK by Louis Aragon, pub. by Hamish Hamilton, 467 pp. $5.95.

This unusual book might be termed an historical novel but it does not follow the usual pattern of such works. Covering the period March 19th to 26th 1815, the "Holy Week" of the title, it is concerned with events in France, from Palm Sunday to Easter Sunday, as Napoleon, returned from exile in Elba, marches on Paris.

Instead of looking back from a standpoint of present knowledge, to give as clear as possible a picture of what actually occurred, the author chooses to place his reader, now in the court of Louis XVIII, now with troops still loyal to the King, now with peasants and workers, bewildered and apprehensive at the sudden, unexpected intrusion of history into their lives. The writing swoops from the musings of a cavalry lieutenant, to intricate plotting in the court of a king in undignified flight, to the discomfited of marching in the rain, even to the thoughts of workers in their first dim gropings towards what later became labour unions. Colourful snapshots of conversation alternate with poetic descriptions of scenes and scenery, vivid and detailed pictures of the life of the times mingle with the mental torment of soldiers and courtiers trying to decide what is best for France, or in some cases, for themselves.

With its huge cast of characters continually appearing and disappearing from the scene, the book is sometimes confusing and even a bit overwhelming, but readers with a good knowledge of the history of the period and an interest in poetic language may well be fascinated.

King Offa of England had 1st pennies struck

Numismatists do not agree on the origin of the word "penny" in allusion to the coin of common exchange, but there is no quarrel with the importance the denomination has had since the day of its inception in the reign of King Offa.

Three derivations are most commonly cited for penny. Two are from Latin roots. One is "pecunia" meaning cattle or chattels or any possession of value, and the other is "pendo" to weigh. The third opinion is that pennies were named after Penda, 925 fine at 3s.6d.

These silver coins are the most attractive of the Saxon series. Shown on the obverse is a bust of the king with words "Offa Rex," designed and executed with some attention to variety and relief, unusual for the period.

No doubt the very high intrinsic value of the coins made it rather easy for King Offa to force continental powers to recognize the fact that England had arrived on the scene as a power to be respected.

KING OF ALL ENGLAND

Until the time of his reign, England had been an island of many principalities constantly warring with each other and unable to agree on anything. However, after chopping off numerous heads and burning many towns, he could, with authority, style himself "rex totius Anglorum patriae"—King of the whole land of the English.

He placed an embargo on continental merchandise, bringing about, for the first time in history, wide recognition that English money was a good solid investment.

The pennies Offa struck were virtually the only English coins until Edward I and were certainly the most pleasing artistically until the reign of Henry VII. In the reign of Elizabeth II they are worth from $150 to $200.

king of Mercia from 633 to 655 A.D. but our research didn't support this.

WORTH 3.09 PENCE

It was another king of Mercia, Offa (757-796) who ordered silver coins struck 240 to the Tower Pound: thus "pendo"—to weigh. These pennies weighed 22½ grains so were actually worth 3.09 pence (or d. for denarius) based on one ounce silver of

Eminently readable

THIRD ACT by D. K. Findlay Geoffrey Bles, 263 pp. $3.75.

This is the "emotional life" story of an Ontario couple, Sharlot and Will, all about their falling in and out of love as well as in and out of the money. The story might just as aptly have carried the title BLACK DUCK as its finale suggests a return to the basic sound attitudes towards sex and life that featured their struggle for survival in the northern mining hamlet of that name.

The first half of the book has a pleasant, languorous quality and pace. The Ottawa Valley-born author knows well the Lake Deschenes setting "the basswood murmurs with bees" in which deep nostalgia for the ecstasies of youth is delicately created. Mr. Findlay is familiar also with the tribal life of post-war social Ottawa. He depicts in these pages, but he lacks the degree of sophistication required to grace successfully the various sex episodes occurring in these surroundings with the light touch he seeks to apply.

Coin club plans annual elections

Next regular meeting of the Sherbrooke Numismatic Society will take place, May 28th, 8 p.m. at the Y.M.C.A. Dufferin St., Sherbrooke. All members are asked to attend as nominations of officers for 1962-63 season will take place. Mr. Jack Edgar will give a talk on grading coins which should prove interesting to everyone. Anyone interested in coin collecting is welcome to attend.

I. C. Campbell.

Inspired phrases linger in the reader's memory... "Weatherbee lived a life of large meals and small incidents"... "On that misty day it looked like a scene done with strokes of charcoal"... "Perhaps she was the one who ruined him as she was the only one who could have helped him." Skillfully the author maintains suspense until the last page. Not intended to be a classic in its field, "Third Act" nevertheless is eminently readable and, at its climax, punches home with vigour an imperishable truth.

Sourdough songs

BOOMER BALLADS OF THE HIGH NORTH — by Charles A. Graham — 111 pgs. — Vantage Press, New York — $2.50.

Charles A. Graham, author of Boomer Ballads Of The High North is "a sourdough with many years' experience in the wilds" and the poems in the present volume encompass many describing life in northern Canada — Indians, white men, trappers, miners, (good, bad and indifferent), legends and tall stories are included.

The mood and rhythm of the poems are reminiscent of other poets of Canada's north and Mr. Graham has not yet discarded some of the archaic expressions popular decades ago and sometimes sacrifices rhythm for rhyme; yet, on the whole, it is one of the better volumes from among the personally published verse I have seen from the pens of Canadians and others.

MUSIC ON RECORDS

By HUGH DOHERTY

STRAVINSKY CONDUCTS STRAVINSKY — Violin Concerto in D Major with Isaac Stern as violinist, Symphony in Three Movements Columbia Orchestra (Stereo MS 6331) — This recording was made in honor of Stravinsky's eightieth birthday. In excerpts from a conversation with Stravinsky, printed on the back of the record cover, in which he discusses the violin concerto Stravinsky says "I do not like the standard violin concertos — not Mozart's Beethoven's Mendelssohn's Brahms." After listening to the concerto this becomes something of an understatement. Stravinsky's dislike for the more conventional concerto form seems at times to make him overanxious to have his music as strident and overpowering as possible. The Symphony in Three Movements was written during the war years and Stravinsky says of it "each episode in the Symphony is linked in my imagination with a specific cinematographic impression of the war." The music is harsh and seemingly discordant but like the concerto it captures the imagination, and if the listener really enjoys Stravinsky it may even fire the soul.

Stravinsky draws an impressive performance from the orchestra and as a salute to this composer conductor it is a memorable recording.

SALOME by Richard Strauss; Birgit Nilsson, Eberhard Wachter, Gerhard Stolze, Grace Hoffman, soloists; The Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra, George Solti cond. (LONDON two stereo discs OSA 1218) — Rarely on records have vocal and orchestral splendor been so spectacularly integrated as in this outstanding performance of Richard Strauss' fascinating one-act opera. London engineers apparently used a new "mixing" technique that not only reproduces the full glory of each voice, but also catches all the gorgeous finery of Strauss' music — finery that is, in some cases, seldom heard properly during actual performances. A sense of action is lent to the recordings by another device. Rather than being fixed in one spot, the singers moved around more or less freely during recording sessions. As for the soloists themselves, baritone Eberhard Wachter is a ringing John the Baptist whose voice loses none of its impact from coming largely from a "cistern," supposedly deep in the ground. Other supporting singers perform well, too, led by tenor Stolze as Herod and Grace Hoffman as Herodias.

But it is, of course, Miss Nilsson as Salome who makes this recording the superb effort that it is. Negotiating the tortuous demands of the composer with voluptuous, soaring ease, Miss Nilsson creates an unforgettable Salome. All the evil beauty and depraved sensuousness are there, clear, hard and brilliant. Miss Nilsson keeps the performance at a pitch of almost unbearable tensions from start to finish.

Collecting

Townships

The many collectors of stamps from the British West Indies will be interested in the latest news concerning the West Indies Federation. The original group included ten of the Colonies and several years ago a set of three stamps was issued from each Colony, and the series makes a nice addition to any collection. The Colonies of Jamaica and Trinidad have now withdrawn but the remaining parties have recently met in London for talks to hasten the Federation, these are, Barbados, St. Vincent, Grenada, St. Lucia, Dominica, Antigua, St. Kitts and Montserrat. It is proposed that Barbados, the largest, will become the Federal capital. The population of the islands is 673,000 spread over 1,350 square miles of poor land. The islands have only agriculture as a natural resource, apart from the booming tourist attractions of sun and warm climate. The final details will take some time to work out and meanwhile you would do well to complete your collections of the colonies and watch for any shortlisted issue that might come along.

The United States Post Office Department has announced that June 9 will be the final for the Project Mercury cover sales. These covers are available to collectors at one cent above the value of the stamp, or five cents each. Collectors will recall that this stamp was issued on February 20 and that the official covers bear the postmark of Cape Canaveral and are stamped at 3.30 p.m. to coincide with the successful completion of the flight. It is estimated that the total sales of the covers will be approximately three million. This is an all time high for first day cancellations. The stamp was originally printed in a quantity of 120 million, this was increased to 220 million and a further printing was made of 90 million, so a record total of 310 million has been made available to philatelists.

The addition of several good books on stamps can add a great deal to your collecting pleasure and philatelic knowledge. The number of books for collectors of Canadian stamps is limited but all really serious collectors should have a copy of Holmes Catalogue. The price is quite steep but a copy would make a good birthday or Father's Day gift. There are some people who keep a scrap book of cuttings from the many philatelic magazines, and this is an excellent way to accumulate information. The books that a stamp club possesses are always available to members and all should make use of them. The Scott catalogues are a must if you wish to understand the stamps and to know what ones you are missing. Gibbons is the catalogue to use for British issues and their listing of early Canada is really good. The stamp collectors who know their stamps and who place information on the album pages are the ones who are getting the most from their collections.

AN INVITATION TO STAMP COLLECTORS

The longer and warmer summer days will bring many collectors to our home in Dixville to talk stamps and visit. You are cordially invited to visit us and enjoy the beautiful countryside, those who like to fish could be rewarded with a fine brown trout or a rainbow, there is plenty of space for those who might like to bring along a lunch — but we do promise this, a good cup of tea to everyone and a pleasant hour or two. May we have the pleasure of your company? To make sure we are at home the telephone number is Victor 9-2021.

Is your name down on a waiting list for copies of THE CANADIAN DICTIONARY? If so, it might encourage you to know that you're not the only one kept waiting. McCLELLAND & STEWART jubilantly informs us that "By April 14th, the publication date of THE CANADIAN DICTIONARY French - English - English - French, there was no stock left at the publishers and many booksellers across the country had received more orders than they could fill."

"The book has taken off like a rocket," comments Hugh Kane, Executive Vice-President of McCLELLAND & STEWART. Both we and the booksellers of Canada expected it to be a best-seller, but what has taken us all by surprise was the promptness of the public to react to the news of its publication. When we placed an order with our printers for additional books some time ago, we had every reason to believe that we had enough stock to carry us through until the end of May... but we haven't, however we are doing our best to get additional stock as soon as possible."

So, if you haven't been able to get a copy of the new dictionary — be patient — more are on the way.

Pierre Berton was this year's guest speaker at the annual Book Fair held in Winnipeg recently.

Dictionaries are breaking out all over. Arthur Prevost who writes under the pen name of Gilbert Louvain, has been busy preparing a small dictionary in English and French of about 18,000 words. He is also said to be printing an English novel called FRENCH AND L'ANGLAIS and, apparently writing with equal aplomb in the French language, has just published a novel entitled LA CATHERINE DE MONTREAL.

MURIEL SAINT MCKAY

MEET AN AUTHOR: Muriel Saint McKay now lives in Toronto but her roots go deep in Newfoundland where she was both a radio and TV commentator over station CJON, St. John's. Whether Mrs. McKay's interest is primarily radio and TV or writing, the fact remains that she has been signally successful in both fields. Her first play won her a Nova Scotia playwrighting award and she has been winning prizes ever since, her latest being the $200 IOE fiction award for her short story BE CAREFUL, DARLING. She has also sold short stories to WEEKEND, THE STAR WEEKLY, CHATELAINE, FAMILY HERALD, WOMAN'S OWN and the JOHN DRAINE series. Mrs. McKay is married to Henry Keiller McKay, a native of Scotland, now employed with the Ontario Labor Relations Board. Active in the Canadian Authors Association Muriel Saint McKay is certainly one of the most talented of Canada's younger short story writers.

Worthwhile discussion of the medical scene

THE DOCTORS DILEMMA by Louis Lasagna, M.D. The Musson Book Co. Ltd. $4.95, 291 pp.

The front cover announces that this is a startling book. It isn't. Dr. Lasagna does not reveal any closely guarded medical secrets or criticize his profession any more harshly than others have done. However, it is for the most part a well written and very interesting book.

His comments on the American Medical Association and whether it actually represents American doctors are well thought out and carefully written. He discusses why the association is considered "by large segments of the American people as an ultraconservative hidebound pressure group more dedicated to rugged individualism than to social consciousness." He says that a "depressing aspect of the AMA's activities is the apparent decline in the quality of its leaders." But he also points out that it probably strikes a compromise between the best and worst of the state organizations.

He is equally frank in dealing with the delinquencies of the drug industry and the way in which doctors can be led into using drugs which are not necessarily efficient or even safe.

Dr. Lasagna talks about mental health problems and cancer research. He points out that in many cases money which is contributed by the public for medical research never reaches its destination. Instead it is eaten up by administrative expenses.

The chapters on quackery, fake cures, and weird people are mildly amusing but it is Dr. Lasagna's comments on the contemporary medical scene which make this book worth reading.

The 20th annual Eastern Townships Track and Field Meet sponsored by the Sherbrooke Y's Men's Club holds the spotlight on a busy weekend in the sporting world. A total of 305 boys from eighteen high schools in the Townships will battle it out for the thirteen top trophies.

This is without doubt the top sporting fixture of the current season and should draw a good crowd. Interest should be high and competition keen. The battle for team honors should be the closest it has been for years.

Bishop's College School, defending champion of the Skinner Trophy, has been installed as slight favorites to repeat but tough competition can be expected from at least three or four of the other schools if reports which we have received are reliable.

Capt. Sam Abbott has a pretty good crew of track and field competitors and they fight right till the last inch. BCS has turned out some fine athletes under Sam and this year we figure he will have his squad going all the way to register a sixth consecutive victory.

Coach Jim McKinnon of Sherbrooke High School has his team pointed for a victory. Last year they dropped the title to BCS in the last three events on the program. They staged a terrific battle and Coach Jim is looking, and hoping, for Lady Luck to smile their way this year.

Another school which might cause plenty of surprises is Asbestos-Danville-Shipton High. They walked away with the RDA Meet and possess plenty of good athletes. Charlie Boreham, who won the Open Mile and the Sam Abbott Trophy for the past two years, is expected back and should be a big help for his school.

The Y's Men, and their friends, work hard each year and the proceeds from the Meet are used to finance the camp at Shore Acres and is a worthy community effort. So don't forget to drop around and buy a tag to help a great cause.

Peter Singfield has the honor of being the first golfer at the Waterloo Golf Club to register an ace. He will receive the Dow Trophy from Jacques Langlois of Granby for his feat. Fern Boucher and Dave Reed comprised the threesome.

G. Jackman of Middlebury, Vt., won the gross honors at the Spring Ramble at the Orleans Country Club, Vt., last weekend. He posted a 74 while F. McKnight of St. Johnsbury was a close second with 75. Freeman Butler of Windsor won class C honors while G. Robinson of Lennoxville finished third. W. Fennell of Sherbrooke tied for third gross in class B with 83.

Juris Terauds of Sunnyside High School didn't have too much success at the first meeting of the E. T. Track Association held in Magog Wednesday. Sixteen out of twenty-two schools answered they were interested but only five were represented at the meeting. Juris will call a meeting as the majority of the schools were getting ready for the E. T. Meet. We glanced over the new constitution and Juris certainly put a lot of work into it. The Townships certainly needs something like this to encourage our top athletes to continue in sport.

Anyone interested in securing an NHL statistical card containing the final official statistics for the regular season and playoffs can secure one by writing, Information Bureau, 601 Sun Life Building, Montreal.

The CAHA has decided to publish a monthly magazine devoted to attracting more interest in amateur hockey which is a good move. They figure it will show an estimated profit of $11,000 for the first year.

The delegates decided to have minor hockey players pay a subscription fee of 25 cents when they get their registration cards while others will pay $1.00. We wonder if the CAHA intends to make the players take the magazine. This they don't mention and we don't think too many players would be interested in buying it.

The CAHA has bypassed the Montreal Olympics in picking teams for the Olympics and World Hockey Tournament. Trail got the nod for the World Tournament but the Olympics were passed over. It seems funny to us that a team who won the Eastern Canadian final and reached the Allan Cup finals should be shoved aside on the say-so of a few.

We know the Olympics would need reinforcements, but what team doesn't. We are sure the league could supply a team strong enough for that kind of competition if they were asked. We think the CAHA should give a little consideration to the Olympics and forget all this funny stuff about forming a club from juniors. We don't think they would get very far with the brand of hockey they play in world tournaments.

The fifth annual Newspapermen's Golf Tournament, sponsored by Molson's, will take place Friday, June 1st, at the Drummondville Golf and Country Club. This is open to all members of the press, radio and television throughout the Province. The field will be divided into two classes and the Atlantic handicap system will be used.

President R. 'Lindy' Lindsko of the Lake Massawippi Fish and Game Protection Club and his members certainly have done wonders with their new project, the Lake Massawippi Conservation Park. The executive has put in a lot of hard work, and we mean hard work, at the farm since they purchased the property.

It is a 275-acre farm and three rearing ponds will be constructed this year for raising land-locked salmon, rainbow trout and brown trout to stock Lake Massawippi. This is the first project but the boys are already planting trees on the property.

The club certainly deserves plenty of credit for such a large undertaking but if all members give a helping hand we think within a few years they will have one of the best conservation parks in the Province. President Lindy and his executive are to be congratulated.

Alouettes clash with St. Johns at stadium tonight

Earl Palmore to be on the mound, play Drummondville twice Sunday with chance to take league lead

Sherbrooke's surprising Alouettes see action three times this week-end with a chance to take over first position in the Eastern Townships Provincial Baseball League.

This evening they clash with the St. Johns Pirates at the Park Avenue Stadium and they take on the Drummondville Royals in another home game Sunday afternoon and meet the Royals in a return contest the same evening in Drummondville.

Other Sunday action sees St. Johns and Granby in a home and home series, and the Coaticook Canadians and Acton Vale in a home and home series.

If, as expected, the Larks get by the Pirates, they could move into the league lead with a split with the Royals on Sunday. The Royals lead the league now with a 2-0 record. They defeated Acton Vale 8-1 in their first game of the season and followed through with a 5-1 victory over the Pirates Tuesday night.

Earl Palmore is expected to pitch Saturday night. Claude Prud'homme and Al Hooker will probably be on the mound for Sunday's game. The rest of the line-up remains basically the same.

Marcel Durand will be at first base, Frank Kurty on second, coach Claude St. Vincent at short and Chet Wodjle will be on third Normand Jacques slowly recovering from a serious nose operation, will most likely be behind the plate. Jacques Monette will be in left field, Gilles Robichaud in centre and Jean-Guy Melancon will be in right field.

In their first game of the season Tuesday evening, the Larks, pounded Coaticook pitchers for a 16-hit barrage and bounced them 14-8. They have shown that they have the power at the plate and they have a well-balanced pitching crew in Prud'homme, Palmore, Bernier, and Hooker.

Gametime Saturday evening is 7:15.

Baseball's Friday jinx hits again; Ernie Banks knocked out by a pitch Baseball's Friday jinx has struck again. The latest victim is Ernie Banks.

Banks, Chicago's homer hammer, was the third top star to be injured on successive Friday nights when he was beamed and suffered a concussion during the Cubs' 2-1 loss to Cincinnati Reds.

The 31-year-old infielder was knocked unconscious in the ninth inning when a pitch from Moe Drabowsky hit him just below his protective helmet. He collapsed at the plate, was carried from the field on a stretcher and taken to hospital.

A spokesman at the hospital said examination showed the two-time National League's most valuable player did not have a skull fracture. Banks was reported in fair condition and scheduled for further tests today.

Last Friday, Mickey Mantle of New York Yankees collapsed while running to first base and suffered a tear in a thigh muscle expected to sideline him for a month. The Friday before, Minnie Minoso of St. Louis Cardinals fractured his skull running into a fence while chasing a fly ball, and has been placed on the disabled list.

There was no indication how long Banks, 17th on the all-time homer list with 309, would be lost to the Cubs. The right-handed swinger has been playing first base this year after nine seasons during which he became the No. 1 homer hitting shortstop in baseball history.

Meanwhile, the first-place San Francisco Giants thumped Philadelphia Phillies 10-7 as Billy Pierce won his seventh without a loss and remained 1½ games ahead of Los Angeles Dodgers, who clobbered New York Mets 17-8. Hank Aaron drove in five runs with two homers and a double in Milwaukee Braves' 11-8 victory over St. Louis and Pittsburgh Pirates edged Houston Colts 4-3 in 13 innings.

Drabowsky (1-3), who allowed

Shrewd southpaw Detroit pitcher; late bloomer keep them near the top

Two of the big reasons it's such a cozy group at the top of the American League standings are a crafty old left and a late-blooming veteran who's finally found a major league home at 30.

The shrewd southpaw was Detroit's Don Mossi, who got tough when it counted, beat New York's defending world champions 5-4 Friday night and became the first left-hander to score over the Yankees this season.

The late bloomer was Chuck Essegian of Cleveland, whose 12th homer of the season brought the Indians a 2-1 decision over Washington Senators and pushed Cleveland into a share of the top spot.

With Los Angeles Angels edging Kansas City Athletics 5-4, Baltimore Orioles taking Boston Red Sox 9-5 and Chicago White Sox beating Minnesota Twins 5-4, it left only four games separating the leaders and the seventh-place Tigers.

Essegian, whose career reads like a travelogue, may have found himself steady employment for the first time in a 10-year career as the sparkplug of the Indians.

The previous trade-bait outfielder looms as one of the key factors in Cleveland's hopes of upsetting the mighty New York ers. His two hits last night pushed his batting average to .383, which put him in a tie with Kansas City's Manny Jimenez for the league lead.

His first was a double that set up Cleveland's first run and his homer made it 2-0, enough to offset Danny O'Connell's homer for the Senators and provide Pedro Ramos with his first victory of the year.

Mossi spread 11 hits about as well as possible and survived four Tiger errors in going the distance against the Yanks. He was in and out of trouble all evening but spiked the Yankee guns in the clutch, leaving 10 runners stranded.

The Tigers managed only five hits, but they included a three-run homer by Dick McAuliffe and a solo job by Chico Fernandez.

Leon Wagner bounced a single into centre in the eighth and drove in Albie Pearson for the Angels' winning run against Kansas City, giving Jack Spring his third victory without a loss. Jimenez drove in two Kansas City runs on a double and his ninth homer.

Baltimore's victory over Boston was featured by Jim Gentile's two-run, 500-foot home run deep into the centre field stands. It was Gentile's 13th and tied him for the league lead with Detroit's Al Kaline.

Ron Stover signs with Argonauts

TORONTO (CP)—Ron Stover,

end from the University of Oregon, has signed with Toronto Argonauts of the Eastern Football Conference, it was announced Friday.

Stover, who played in 1959 with Argonauts, returns after a two-year hitch with the United States Army. The 225-pound end who graduated from the University of Oregon in 1958, will report to the Argonaut training camp June 29.

6 new members join 100-mile an hour club

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Twenty-one of the 33 starters in the 46th 500-mile auto race Wednesday are fraternity brothers—members of the exclusive champion 100-mile-an-hour club.

You qualify by going all the way in the Memorial Day classic.

The "100-mile-an-hour" part of the name was a limiting factor when the society was founded in 1934 but anybody who finishes in the modern 500s has to do well over 130—maybe over 140 this year.

The club took in six new members at its annual meeting Friday night.

Chuck Stevenson of Garden Grove, Calif., the 1952 national champion, made it for the first time in the 1961 race after six starts. Eddie Sachs of Coopersburg, Pa., got in after five starts and Shorty Templeman of Seattle after four starts.

The other three raced into the club on their first appearance—Bobby Marshman, Pottstown, Pa., who finished seventh, Jack Brabham of Australia, ninth, and Norm Hall, Los Angeles, tenth.

Hall was badly injured in a qualification run crash May 13.

Young tennis players are lazy—Fontana

OAKVILLE, Ont. (AP)—Canada's young tennis players are lazy, says Don Fontana, the Canadian Davis Cup captain.

"They don't take training seriously," he said Friday. "They are only interested in playing and pay no attention to athletic preparation. Without it, they'll never become top-notch competitors."

Fontana is appearing here in the Oakville invitation tournament. He was beaten in the singles semifinals by Bob Bedard. Both Fontana and Bedard have given up Davis Cup competition.

Fontana gave the Russians an example of what hard work can do.

Windsor Cardinals play Richmond, Drummondville at Theftford and Asbestos at Magog on opening day

WINDSOR — The young and still untested Eastern Townships Junior Baseball League opens its 1962 campaign tomorrow in three Township towns.

The Windsor Cardinals play host to the Richmond Royals, the Asbestos Angels travel to Magog to play the Aces and the Drummondville Royals and the Theftford Miners clash in the first game of a double-header at 2:00 in Drummondville.

The league, recently formed, combines a talented group of last year's junior players and a promising group of rookies. Reports from the various training camps have indicated that each team has a well-balanced club and they promise to make the league an interesting one.

WINS TROPHY — Frank Perrault, right is seen accepting from John Daly, general manager of Canadian Ingersoll Rand, trophy for winning the Men's high average in the Circo Bowling League for the past season. It was the 25th anniversary of the circuit and a banquet and dance was held at the Bellevue Club where presentations of the various trophies was held.

Little League executive were the guests of Molson's who are linking up sports activities to take place during 125th Anniversary of Sherbrooke. We had the pleasure of meeting other sports organizations and there was quite a spirit of harmony among those attending. Some time during July the Little League will meet an All-Star team from Montreal. The game will be played either at Dufresne Park or Sangster Park.

Saw some of Chief Umpire Clark's crew in action this past week and was impressed by their showing. Looks as if Charlie has a competent squad of Umpires.

Vice-President Gerry Daniels is working hard these days in lining up the program for the official opening of the league, which takes place Saturday, June 9th. There are quite a lot of details to work out and there is no doubt the opening will meet the same success it has on former occasions.

The week of June 11-18th has been designated as Little League week and the many Little Leagues all over Canada and the United States will have the opportunity to demonstrate to their communities the values of Little League Baseball to our youth.

Three stars this week go to Jacques Guay, Bruno Bernier and Mike Brunet.

Lawson Little Jr. of California won his second successive British amateur golf championship 27 years ago today at Lytham St. Annes in Lancashire. The next season he turned professional and won the Canadian Open.
