Says criticism blown out of proportion

Levesque blasts media for budget coverage

MONTREAL (CP) — An economist's claim that the Parti Quebecois budget for an independent Quebec is absurd was blown out of proportion by the media, party officials said Wednesday.

Campaigning in Chicoutimi, 115 miles north of Quebec City, for the Oct. 29 Quebec general election, party leader Rene Levesque and economic adviser Jacques Parizeau both criticized the way the media have covered the Parti Quebecois budget.

Dr. Donald Armstrong, a McGill University management professor, said earlier this week the proposed budget for the first year of an independent Quebec is absurd because it does not allow for any interruption of economic growth because of independence.

Prof. Armstrong said he and his graduate students have done surveys leading them to the conclusion an independent Quebec would lose about 25 per cent of its jobs in construction, corporate and regional head offices and the convention business. A violent separation could increase this loss to 50 per cent.

Mr. Parizeau said the budget had been discussed sensibly on recent French language television programs by university professors and wondered why French-language reporters did not cover what they had to say.

McGILL IN OPPOSITION

Mr. Levesque asked how French-language economists could qualify to receive newspaper coverage. Meanwhile, he said, the Parti Quebecois is up against the English establishment of which McGill "is the intellectual arm."

The Parti Quebecois' stand for Quebec independence in an economic association with the rest of Canada continued to dominate campaigning Wednesday.

In Chicoutimi, Union Nationale leader Gabriel Loubier said some elements in the PQ favor anarchy and the establishment of a military government in Quebec.

Mr. Levesque, in an interview on English-language television station CFCF in Montreal, said negotiations on relations between a separate Quebec and Canada would have to be between two equal partners.

Asked if a vote for the PQ was necessarily a vote for independence, he replied:

"Well, if you're in your right mind when you do it, I guess eventually that's what you're voting for."

Premier Robert Bourassa took his Liberal party campaign to St. Jerome, 30 miles north of Montreal, where he was met by about 30 demonstrators protesting the jailing of the province's three top labor leaders.

He told about 100 persons his government is not anti-union but had to enforce respect for the law during a labor crisis.

The province's three top labor leaders were imprisoned earlier to ignore back-to-work in this year for contempt of court junctions during a 1972 province-wide public servants' strike.

PREMIER BOURASSA ...spent a couple of hours in Sherbrooke yesterday

Bourassa addresses Sherbrooke Liberals

SHERBROOKE (GH) — Premier Robert Bourassa attacked the Parti Quebecois platform while at a public assembly yesterday at the Church of the Immaculate Heart, in the East Ward.

Bourassa ridiculed the pequistes' proposed budget, saying Rene Levesque could never finance all the projected plans for Quebec independently. He played effectively on the Canadian financing of the 1976 Montreal Olympics.

The main point of Bourassa's talk was that a Parti Quebecois majority would create a lull in the economic growth of the province, if any was left.

"What would it be worth?" he asked. "If all the liquid assets in Quebec were drawn out because of an uncertain future."

"Money is important," he said. "It provides security and creates jobs."

Bourassa told the nearly 150 mainly Liberal supporters at the assembly that if the Parti Quebecois were elected and a weak economy resulted no jobs could possibly be created.

The Premier promised to make the Eastern Townships region a tourist centre. He claimed that if Quebec businessmen collaborated with organizers from the region the project could be easily undertaken.

Bourassa proclaimed his industrial program as new and realistic. He plans to continue building and creating employment.

"This election on Oct. 29 is important to each and every Quebecer," he concluded.

Heavy fighting reported on Egyptian front

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel said it destroyed 90 to 100 Egyptian tanks Wednesday in a fierce battle that continued into the night along the Suez canal. Egypt said the Israelis "suffered heavy losses in tanks and armored cars."

The Israeli drive into Syria still was bogged down about 21 miles from Damascus. The Syrian front was reported quiet through the night after heavy Syrian shelling Wednesday.

Elsewhere in the Middle East crisis, the Arab oil countries pledged to cut their production five per cent a month and to increase the cut five per cent each month as long as Israel holds on to the territory it seized in the 1967 war. They hope their West European and Japanese customers will press the United States into ending arms shipments to Israel.

There was intense diplomatic activity in Washington and at United Nations headquarters in New York aimed at ending the fighting. But no sign of progress was apparent.

Israel said its forces fought all day Wednesday in Sinai to "contain Egyptian counter-attacks." Maj.-Gen. Haim Herzog, the state radio's military commentator, said it was "the biggest armored clash in Israeli military history."

Chief-of-Staff David Elazar said: "We are now calling the tune." But he added: "This is not Israel's major offensive."

BATTLE LINES STATIC

The Egyptian command said fighting was continuing Wednesday night in the central sector of the Sinai front, but neither side reported any change in the battle lines 2½ to 10 miles east of the Suez canal.

It was the second day on which the Israelis had reported destruction of a large Arab tank force. On Tuesday they reported knocking out 105 Syrian and Iraqi tanks, while Syria that day reported its forces destroyed 80 Israeli tanks.

Elazar said Israeli forces were "initiating the attacks on both sides" of the canal. An Israeli spokesman said the commando task force that crossed the canal Tuesday still was in Egypt, continuing to sabotage missiles and artillery. But an Egyptian general said the force has been destroyed.

Israel said its air force bombed military installations near Port Said, the Egyptian city at the northern end of the canal, and anti-aircraft missile batteries. It said 10 Egyptian planes were shot down. Egypt said that its air force shot down four Israeli planes in one dogfight while ground fire downed 12 Israeli planes and five helicopters. It admitted the loss of one plane.

An AP correspondent on the Syrian front said Arab artillery was continuing to blast away at Israeli columns bogged down on the road to Damascus. Elazar, however, said "everything is fine" in the northern theatre of war.

OBJECTIVE NEARS — Operation Univestrie closed in on its objective with a $750 cheque from Roger Smith, centre, vice-president and general manager of B.F. Goodrich, Cellular Products Division, Waterville. The donation represented the company's second payment of a $5,000 contribution to the fund.

Antoine Turmel, right, chairman of the campaign, announced that over $2.5 million has now been subscribed representing 73 per cent of the objective. At left is Dr. J.M. Lalancette, vice rector, research, at the University of Sherbrooke.

Granby newspaper stops publication

GRANBY (CC) — Granby's daily newspaper 'La Voix de l'Est' did not publish this morning.

The daily, owned by Power Corporation, was shut down shortly after 2 p.m. yesterday when the 36 unionized reporters, secretarial staff and commercial printers went out on strike.

The employees voted more than 75 per cent in favour of strike action, according to union spokesman Alain Gazielle.

Shortly after the legal strike the newspaper's president, Eric Ferrat, said the newspaper would not publish until the conflict between management and the employees, members of the National Communications Federation, is settled.

Mr. Ferrat said he would do nothing to aggravate the situation and he remained willing to "negotiate seriously as soon as the union wanted to."

The employees, after going out on strike, seized local radio station CHEF, a 10,000 watt AM station which offers FM service. Order was restored a few hours later.

The radio station is also owned by Power Corporation. The newspaper, with a regional circulation of approximately 12,000 daily, was founded in 1943. It is the first strike in the newspaper's history.

Through a press release the employees denounced the poor attitude shown by management at the negotiation table during the last 15 months. They reacted against final management offers which they claimed would have made the employees "slaves of Power Corporation for three more years."

The areas of dispute are wages, both retroactive and current, as well as vacation policies. The last conciliation meeting was held last Friday.

Among the disputed clauses are the 40-hour work week, obligatory overtime, employees being unable to take more than two consecutive weeks vacation and salary conditions described by the union as "10 years behind salaries paid at other regional newspapers." The employees are also seeking job security.

Bazaille cited some salary discrepancies which exist in the chain of newspapers owned by Power Corp. A beginner at 'La Voix de l'Est' earns $90 a week while at the Trois-Rivieres Nouvelliste, a beginner makes $104 a week and $125 a week at Ottawa's Le Droit.

Also a four-year man in Granby makes $110 a week while his counterpart in Trois-Rivieres draws $174 and in Ottawa $192 weekly, according to Gazielle.

Parliament resumes hanging debate

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons resumes debate today on which types of murderers should face hanging.

As early as tonight, but more likely after considerable extended debate, MPs could decide the fate of the government proposal to establish another five-year ban on hanging for most types of murder.

Virtually all MPs expect the voting tonight and in the future to be close.

The Commons will have extended hours until the issue, brought before Parliament in January, is decided. No other business is expected to be transacted.

The House moves to capital punishment after giving approval in principle Wednesday to proposed increased family allowance payments.

That proposed legislation, supported by all parties, will raise allowances to a monthly average of $20 from the current flat rate of $12. It also will make benefits taxable for the first time since the program began in 1945.

NO PARTY TIES

All capital punishment votes are free, meaning MPs vote according to their consciences without party guidance.

In the spring, after prolonged debate, the bill to limit capital punishment to murderers of police officers and prison guards for another five years received second reading by a vote of 138 to 114.

The vote was good enough for Solicitor-General Warren Allmand to propose that hanging be banned altogether in favor of longer prison terms. The idea was defeated in committee.

At the end of today's debate, MPs will vote on two amendments which would include more murderers in the bill.

An amendment by Albanie Morin (L.-Louis-Hebert) would apply the rope to persons found guilty of murder following deaths resulting from rape and kidnapping.

HIJACKERS CITED

One by Allan Lawrence (PC—Northumberland-Durham), former Ontario attorney-general, calls for hanging of aircraft hijackers who cause death and to second-time murderers.

At 10:45 p.m. there will be formal votes on these two amendments and possibly on whether the Commons should report the bill as having passed through detailed committee study.

Assuming MPs agree to report the bill, debate will start on third and final reading. This debate could last a week, with all sittings extended until the bill is dealt with.

If the majority vote against reporting the bill, it will die. The first five-year ban on most hanging ended last December. Since then the old law, which says those guilty of premeditated murder face hanging, has applied.

The government has commuted all death sentences to life in prison since the last hanging in 1962.

Some retentionists say the whole capital punishment debate is an exercise in futility because the Trudeau government never will permit a hanging.

Same name—but that's all!

MONTREAL (CP) — The name is the same but the party affiliation often is different for close relatives of prominent Quebec politicians taking part in the Quebec election campaign.

A few years ago, the names Johnson and Bertrand were synonymous with Union Nationale, but in the campaign for the Oct. 29 election they are more likely to mean Parti Quebecois.

Marc Johnson and Jean-Francois Bertrand, sons of the late Union Nationale premiers Daniel Johnson and Jean-Jacques Bertrand, have become major warm up speakers at Parti Quebecois meetings. They say the party's independence stand is the logical extension of the philosophies expounded by their fathers as provincial premiers between 1966 and 1970.

Jean-Francois Bertrand's sister, Louise, has been nominated to run for the Union Nationale in the traditionally Liberal riding of Montreal Notre-Dame-de-Grace.

Fernand Levesque, brother of Parti Quebecois leader Rene Levesque, is running for the Parti Creditiste in Montreal Maisonneuve while his brother seeks a Quebec national assembly seat in Montreal Dorion.

In Montreal Outremont, Lise Trochu-Cloutier, sister of Education Minister Francois Cloutier, is running for the Parti Quebecois against Justice Minister Jerome Choquette, one of her brother's colleagues in the Liberal government of Premier Robert Bourassa.

Loubier here today

SHERBROOKE (CC) — Gabriel Loubier, who arrived in Sherbrooke late last night, is barnstorming through the city today.

Already today Mr. Loubier, Union Nationale leader, has taped a television show, participated on a mid-morning open-line talk show and visited employees at Lowney's.

Among the activities scheduled this afternoon are a meeting with striking employees at Combustion

Engineering and another open-line show on radio station CJRS between 3 and 4 p.m.

Mr. Loubier has scheduled an important press conference for later this afternoon before heading off to a civic reception at city hall.

At 7 p.m. Mr. Loubier will be visiting the new Carrefour de l'Estrie shopping centre where he will mingle with the crowd. At 10 p.m. he is scheduled to visit a downtown night spot.

Bourassa attacks PQ, appeals to youth Awards night at AGRHS

SHERBROOKE (CC) — Liberal party leader Robert Bourassa continually ridiculed the Parti Quebecois and urged youth to join the Liberal bandwagon during an hour-long open-line radio program on station CHLT yesterday.

Mr. Bourassa used telephone call questions to advantage as he defended his government's record.

Speaking with confidence that Liberal candidates would be elected throughout the region, Mr. Bourassa acted as if the Parti Quebecois was the only serious opponent which his party will have to handle October 29.

In fact he only mentioned the Creditiste party once during the hour-long French language program and that was only to urge Creditistes to join the Liberals in their fight against the pequistes.

During the program Mr. Bourassa outlined the economic benefits of federalism but said that his government, when re-elected, would press towards making French the language of work. He also indicated that a Liberal government would take concrete steps to safeguard the "cultural identity of our people."

But, he added, "We can't stop the use of English because we still live in North America."

Mr. Bourassa's announcement that his government would attempt to accelerate the use of French as the language of work comes just after Georges Vaillancourt's statement that a Liberal government would force immigrants to learn French.

Speaking to a group of high school students in Coaticook on Tuesday Mr. Vaillancourt, Liberal candidate in Orford riding and incumbent minister of state said, "We will force immigrants who arrive in this country in the future to learn French; for those that are already here we will maintain the status quo."

Mr. Bourassa's program was directed primarily towards youth. Time and time again he claimed that a separatist government would cause large scale unemployment and that youth coming out of Quebec schools would be jobless.

Quebec youth, he claimed, would be forced to leave Quebec in an attempt to find jobs.

He guaranteed that his government would continue to strive towards industrial development so that new employment opportunities would be created and youth would be able to find work in Quebec.

"We had 137,000 students come into the labor market during the last year," he said. "The Liberal government created 125,000 jobs and will continue to create jobs."

Among the other items discussed on the program were the Parti Quebecois budget and its regional development plan for the Eastern Townships announced Tuesday. The Liberal government's new family allowance plan and other projects the Liberals hope to undertake.

He disputed many of the Parti Quebecois plans for the Eastern Townships.

In the development document prepared by the pequistes, that party guarantees that a four-lane trans-Quebec highway will be built between Sherbrooke and Route 20 within two years and that a belt route will be constructed circumventing Sherbrooke within three years.

The PQ also promises to pave many Eastern Townships highways. Mr. Bourassa wondered where the money would come from.

"That's funny," he said. "In their budget they do not increase the budget for the roads department."

"I can't understand where they will get the additional funds needed," he concluded.

Mr. Bourassa had many other gems to attack the pequistes. Insisting that a Quebec dollar would be devalued, Mr. Bourassa said the PQ was going to tax both family allowances and welfare payments.

Although Mr. Bourassa did not guarantee that there would not be a tax increase, he asked everyone to recognize that his Liberal government didn't increase taxes during its three years in office.

He attacked the pequistes for their plan to make asbestos mining companies Quebec-owned and to force the mining company to manufacture its products in the province.

"That would be alright if we had a monopoly but we don't," he said. "The buyers would just go elsewhere if the prices weren't competitive."

"We want to solve the real problems of Quebecers without making promises," he said.

LENNOXVILLE (BP) — Over six hundred people gathered at Alexander Galt Regional High School last night for the second annual awards night.

Of the persons packed into the auditorium, were about 150 students who were to receive an award or bursary.

mathematics-science were among other awards presented during the course of the evening.

By JOHN DINNING
Record Reporter

COWANSVILLE — Election fever is still at a low ebb in Brome-Missisquoi — a normal turn of events as only one candidate had filed nomination papers by last Thursday.

The style this year, yes some of them have been on the hustings, is low key person to person contact. Meetings with factory employees, a quick trip through local stores, hotels and restaurants shaking hands greeting old friends and trying to make new ones.

There are five candidates in the newly formed riding: Glendon P. (Glen) Brown, the sitting member for the old riding of Brome, Liberal; Jean-Guy Choiniere, Union Nationale; Georges Binette, Creditiste; Richard Paquette, Independent Creditiste; Paul Doucet, Parti Quebecois.

LIBERAL

Glen Brown, at 58, is the eldest of the group. Mr. Brown was born in Knowlton, attended school there as well as in Mass., and went to college in engineering at North Carolina State College.

His working career is varied thus giving him a broad spectrum of human relationships. It includes working as a grease monkey, private chauffeur, "tug fireman" and mechanic, machinist and machinist foreman, an instructor in industrial arts and manual training as well as being a professor at both Knowlton and Cowansville High Schools.

Well known in the athletic community, he played for the Montreal Winged Wheelers (forerunners of the Alouettes) from 1935 through 1940, and again in 1946.

He was a member of the Montreal Navy and Montreal Navy Combines in 1943-44, as well as being both a player and a coach on the Navy team which won the Grey Cup in 1944.

He coached the following teams: Montreal — assistant to Wilfred Perry Hughes, head coach of St. Dominic's, Montreal Pat's (NDG Maple Leaf) Montreal Navy "Donnacona-St. Hyacinthe," "Quebec City Swimmers," "Sherbrooke Athletics," Montreal High, Catholic High, and Brome-Missisquoi Bombers, Farnham.

Mr. Brown is a member of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association, Sutton and Knowlton Masonic Lodges, a director of the Brome County Farmers Association and a warden of St. Michael's and All Angels Church, Bolton Glen.

He is a past president of the Knowlton Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Bible Society and the Brome County Historical Society.

He is honorary president of the Quebec Rugby Football Union and a past vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce Region XIV.

Glen Brown was first elected to the Legislative Assembly for Brome County in 1956, a post he has held to date.

He is predeceased by his first wife, Doris Geraldine Smith of Sherbrooke, N.S., and his eldest son Donald Bryce Brown. His two surviving children are Geraldine Lynn Brown Cousins and Glen Allen Brown.

Jean-Guy Choiniere, aspirant to the seat of the late Jean-Jacques Bertrand representing the Union Nationale, was born in Farnham April 2, 1933.

Mr. Choiniere is a vice-president of the North American division of Technoma Canada Ltd., Cowansville.

One of a family of nine, he attained his education at St. Romuald School, Farnham, St. Cesaire College, and took an extension course in Business Administration from Laval University.

Mr. Choiniere has been actively involved in the Junior Chamber of Commerce both in Cowansville and Bedford and served as a district vice-president for the Richelieu-Yamaska Junior Chambers.

Active in the world of music he has been a member of both the Farnham and Cowansville bands and served as vice-president of the Quebec Federation of Amateur Bands.

Mr. Choiniere was responsible for the first inter-provincial student exchange in Cowansville. He is an active member of the Knights of Columbus.

He joined the UN in 1956 and was chosen president of the Missisquoi UN Association in 1973.

Mr. Choiniere is married to Marie-Paule Barsalou. They have one son, Alain 18, and twin girls. The Choinieres reside in Cowansville.

CREDITISTE

Georges Binette, the Creditiste standard bearer, was born in Outremont 37 years ago. He is married to the former Helene Lallier of Bromont and the father of two girls.

He graduated from Quebecs Academy, Outremont, with a commercial course.

Mr. Binette's business career includes two years as a salesman for agricultural equipment, a hotel keeper for five years, owner of a textile store for another five and a salesman in the textile industry for two.

He has been active in Creditiste ranks for the past 14 years, at both provincial and federal levels. On the local level he has been one of Gilbert Rondeau's chief organizers. (Mr. Rondeau is MP Shefford.)

Mr. Binette ran as a Creditiste candidate in Iversville during the 1970 provincial election.

Richard Paquette, the Independent Creditiste candidate, was born in Cowansville in 1929, one of a family of eight children.

He is married to the former Therese Asselin of Sherbrooke and is the father of three children.

Mr. Paquette is employed by the Town of Cowansville and is in charge of the pumping and filtration plant. He has been active in the Cowansville labor movement and is the founder of the Heating Oil Common Front — whereby members obtain advantageous prices from one supplier.

A member of the Knights of Columbus, he fought to preserve the Brome-Missisquoi-Perkins Hospital when the provincial government was considering closing all but emergency services.

PEQUISTE

Paul Doucet, the Parti Quebecois candidate, was born to Alderic and Therese Doucet 32 years ago, and has seven brothers and sisters.

He is a graduate of the Universities of Montreal,

Ottawa and Sherbrooke, and is presently studying for a Masters Degree in dramatic expression at the U of M.

Mr. Doucet has taught French at Massey-Vanier High School for the past five years and was department head in 1970-71. His teaching career began at the Lafleche secondary school, St. Pierre Claver Classical College and St. Leon School, Cowansville.

He is actively involved in the local theatrical scene through organization of amateur festivals as well as having produced and acted as director of choreography. He also holds a swimming instructor's license and is active in local hockey.

Mr. Doucet is the only bachelor among the candidates.

Poll results inconclusive

ASBESTOS — A telephone poll, undertaken in four counties by local media, showed that the Liberal candidates are leading in Arthabaska and Richmond counties while the Creditiste nominees had the lead in Frontenac and Megantic-Compton ridings.

But the poll also indicates that the undecided vote would be the deciding factor with both the Creditistes and Liberals running close together and at least 25 per cent of the vote still undecided.

The poll, which was taken by a media chain with radio stations in Thetford Mines, Lac-Megantic, Victoriaville, Asbestos and Plessisville, was compiled after 930 persons were reached by telephone.

The question asked was "If the election were held tomorrow for what party would you vote?" The names of the persons telephoned were chosen from the telephone directory. The poll was taken between Monday and Thursday last week.

Popular assembly fails

SHERBROOKE (GH) — The public assembly last night at the Notre Dame des Sept Douleurs failed miserably.

The assembly, proposed by Inter-Media, was to present the four electoral candidates of Sherbrooke county. But it was lacking in more than one respect.

Two of the candidates, Rejean Giroux, Creditiste, and Jean-Paul Pepin, Liberal, failed to appear. No reason was given for their absence.

The first part of the assembly was given to a program presentation, 10 minutes allotted to each party. Marcel Cote, Union Nationale candidate, entered from a previous engagement immediately after his compatriot Michel Bellavance had presented the party's program.

Mr. Lafontaine, PQ, in his presentation, spent a majority of the ten minutes on the development of the Eastern Townships, saying it was a neglected area. He also spoke briefly on guaranteed incomes.

Mr. Bellavance gave a brief outlook of the Union Nationale program, spending most of his allotted time on economic and industrial development. He spoke briefly on the party's recreational policies.

Questioners from the crowd of nearly 200 probed into the feasibility of the two party programs. A large majority of the crowd seemed to take a pequisite outlook.

The first domino

The role of the Soviet Union in the Middle East war has now come into the open and it cannot but affect the angry debate in the United States about the scope of the United States-Soviet detente policy.

Following the initial Arab successes the Soviet Union has now thrown the full weight of her power behind the attacking Arab armies. At the Security Council, guttersnipe language unknown in this diplomatic forum since the days of the late Andrei Vyshinski has been heard.

Moreover, three days before the Arab attack the Soviet Union announced she was sending into the Mediterranean its newest aircraft carrier, now joined by other Soviet warships.

Leonid Brezhnev's message to Algeria, prodding President Boumedienne to take an active part in the fighting and use the vast Soviet material with which his forces had been equipped, hardly bears out Henry Kissinger's assertion that Mr. Brezhnev agrees with President Nixon about the need to end the fighting and a non-involvement of the superpowers.

Indeed, those who had their initial doubts about the Soviet purpose of arming Mediterranean states threatened by nobody now see their doubts confirmed.

Analysts have been probing into the reasons that compelled the Arabs to launch this war. Most were predicated on the assumption that the Israelis would smash the Arabs within hours; none took into consideration the Soviet Union's long-range plans in the Mediterranean. Today another question poses itself: Is it the aim of the Soviet policy that Israel become the first domino to fall in this vital area?

The fighting, with its terrifying losses in men and material inflicted upon Israel, has shown how fallacious were the military estimates that dismissed the flood of Soviet sophisticated weapons into Egypt, Syria and Iraq as of little consequence when measured against Israeli superior military capability.

While these sophisticated weapons were being supplied to the Arabs, Israel had to pay hard cash to obtain, after much lobbying, a trickle of planes, almost one-third of which has now been knocked out by missiles whose handling requires no more skill than that of pressing a button.

The policy of keeping a balance of power in the Middle East by restricting arms to Israel has proved a dismal failure. The Israelis are out-missiled on the ground and in the air and one cannot but question, in view of these harsh facts, not only the validity of the Middle East assumptions by the experts, but the validity of all military estimates about East-West balance of power.

The Americans have no answer to the Soviet SA-6; there seems to be no answer to the Strelka anti-tank missile; and the "Frog" ground-to-ground missile used by the Syrians against Israeli settlements is both accurate and devastating.

In an article in the current issue of Foreign Affairs, Milton Shulman, strongly supporting President Nixon's detente policy, admits that the Soviet Union has based her foreign policy on the premise that the United States has passed the zenith of its influence as a world power.

Moscow believes that Washington suffers from grave economic and social problems at home, and that America's loss of power and influence abroad offers opportunities for relative increases in Soviet political influence. The time is, therefore, ripe for the Soviet Union to secure a dominant position in the Mediterranean, and here may be the answer to the present war.

Nobody expects Israel to fall now. But if the analysis of President Nixon's Monday speech is correct, that to end the war the president may have to compromise the United States position for the sake of an agreement in the UN Security Council (whose members vigorously applauded Mr. Malik's anti-Israeli vituperation) then we would return to a situation far worse than that of 1967.

An Israel within her old, indefensible borders ringed by huge, well-equipped, victorious Arab armies protecting hordes of Soviet-armed terrorists. For the Israelis it would be an untenable position. For Moscow it would bring closer the old dream of ruling the Mediterranean.

Moscow is well aware that the Communists may be in power in France in the next election — the recent French by-elections all point to this — and in Italy perhaps even sooner. Since a "popular front" electoral victory could give rise to civil wars in both countries, the Soviet Union is determined to eliminate from the Mediterranean all effective Western power that could frustrate her and her friends' plans.

Dupuis: A story hard to believe

QUEBEC (CP) — No one would have believed it a decade ago—Yvon Dupuis, brand-new leader of the Quebec Creditiste party, launching his provincial election campaign at a mass rally with Real Caouette, federal Social Credit leader, at his side.

Mr. Dupuis, 47, won the provincial leadership last February after a long absence from politics and is leading the three-year-old provincial party in its second election campaign.

Ten years ago Mr. Dupuis was a promising federal Liberal politician whose job in the 1963 federal campaign was to spearhead his party's attack on Social Credit in Quebec.

"Caouette," he said in 1963, "has been spreading lies around the province for so long that some people have started to believe them."

"It's time to show that this man is doing nothing but fooling the French-Canadian people."

That, however, was before political scandal brought Mr. Dupuis' political career crashing down around him.

Mr. Dupuis, who had been rewarded with an appointment as minister without portfolio for his service against Social Credit, the chief threat to the Liberals in Quebec during the 1963 federal election, was forced to resign from the cabinet in 1965.

Though Lester Pearson, then prime minister, gave no explanation at the time, the motive became clear shortly afterward when Mr. Dupuis was charged with influence-peddling.

In April, 1966, following a six-week trial, he was convicted of having accepted a $10,000 bribe in 1961 from a chiropractor in St. Johns, Que., for using his influence to help the man obtain a permit for a racetrack.

He was sentenced to pay a $5,000 fine or serve a one-year prison sentence.

In the meantime, running as an independent Liberal in the 1965 federal election, he was defeated in St. Jean-Iberville-Napierville, the riding he had won in the 1958, 1962 and 1963 federal elections.

His wife, Robert, was defeated in the corresponding provincial riding the following year, also as an independent Liberal.

VERDICT REVERSED

But Mr. Dupuis' fight was not over.

In November, 1967, 18 months after his conviction by a Sherbrooke, Que., jury, the Quebec Court of Appeal ordered a new trial.

No jury was present this time and no new evidence was introduced. Sessions Judge Marc-Andre Blain was presented with 6,790 pages of testimony from the first trial and on that basis acquitted Mr. Dupuis in a 38-page written judgment.

The judge said he had concluded that Mr. Dupuis never received the $10,000.

Mr. Dupuis returned to private business, setting up with his wife a company which prepared legal dossiers on cases to be heard by senior courts—including the Quebec Court of Appeal, the Exchequer Court and the Supreme Court of Canada.

Later, he began working as a hot-line host on a Montreal radio station.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY

He also put out a weekly publication called Defi. The name means "challenge" and it consisted almost solely of letters from readers.

The following he built up on radio and with Defi was the basis of Creditiste expectations that he could lead the traditionally rural-based party to victory in Montreal ridings for the first time.

But until a short time before the convention at which he was elected Creditiste leader, Mr. Dupuis steadfastly maintained he would not return to politics.

At the provincial party's first leadership convention in 1970, Mr. Caouette tried to draft the former Liberal, whose "arrival" on the provincial scene would amount to an atomic bomb to the other parties.

But party members booed the mention of Mr. Dupuis and he never appeared on the platform, although it was reported that he was at the convention, hiding in a wash-room. He denied this.

Mr. Dupuis' political roots go back to 1952, when he was elected to the Quebec legislature as Liberal for Montreal Ste. Marie.

At 25, the youngest parliamentarian in the Commonwealth, he was following in the footsteps of his father, Hector, who had long represented Ste. Marie in the House of Commons.

At that early age Mr. Dupuis was already building a reputation as an effective orator.

He frequently infuriated then-premier Maurice Duplessis, who once called him "le petit jeune"—the little youngster.

Mr. Dupuis shot back a reply calling the premier "le petit vieux"—the little old man. Some even in the premier's own party chuckled.

But Mr. Dupuis was defeated in the 1956 provincial election and left Montreal for St. Johns, where he turned to federal politics. Defeated in 1957, he won his seat in 1958.

In his 1963 campaign against Social Credit, he aped Mr. Caouette's style in a series of television broadcasts similar to those Mr. Caouette had been producing for six years.

At meetings, Mr. Dupuis often mimicked "Santa Claus" Caouette, whose proposals for distributing more money to consumers would, he said, lead to the kind of runaway inflation Germany suffered after the First World War.

He ridiculed the Social Credit financial platform. In his current campaign for the Oct. 29 Quebec general election, Mr. Dupuis' style is little changed. He has only switched sides.

A new element, however, is his attacks on the press.

His antagonism toward reporters may have been prompted by the ordeal of his resignation and trial, which he calls a "three-year injustice."

In any case, it was apparent from the beginning in Defi, which he boasted was the only journal without journalists.

And it continues today. He attacked the newspapers at the convention which chose him provincial Creditiste leader and he opened his current campaign with an attack on the press.

Peace prizes

OSLO (AP) — U.S. State Secretary Henry Kissinger and Le Duc Tho of North Vietnam were awarded the 1973 Nobel Peace Prize Tuesday for fashioning the ceasefire which officially ended the Vietnam war.

Aase Lionaes, chairwoman of the Nobel committee, announced the award would be shared equally by the architects of the truce, who conducted 42 months of on-and-off negotiations in Paris before reaching agreement in January.

In a brief statement, Mrs. Lionaes said the prize winners "had acted in accord with Alfred Nobel's idea... that conflicts should be solved through negotiations and not by war."

Asked if the choice had been difficult, Mrs. Lionaes said, "no."

Kissinger, 50, and Tho, 62, a member of the North Vietnamese Politburo and the first ranking member of a Communist government to win the prize, will each receive 255,000 Swedish crowns, or about $60,000, the Nobel medal and the peace prize diploma.

The presentations will be made in a formal ceremony at the University of Oslo Dec. 10. Mrs. Lionaes said she hoped both winners would attend. She said both had been notified immediately before the public announcement at the Nobel Institute.

ATTENDING MEETING

Kissinger was attending a White House meeting on the Middle East when he received the word. He was beaming as he left to drive to the state department, saying, "I'm very pleased." No comment was available from Tho.

President Nixon said, "By jointly citing Dr. Kissinger and Le Duc Tho, the Nobel Committee has also given deserved recognition to the art of negotiation," which Nixon said "will be more essential than ever as we seek to build a maintain a structure of peace in the world."

Kissinger, who was Nixon's chief national security adviser when he negotiated the ceasefire, is the 16th American to win the peace prize. Tho is the first Asian to be so honored.

Four other U.S. State secretaries have won the Nobel Peace Prize—Elihu Root in 1912, Frank Kellogg in 1929, Cordell Hull in 1945 and George Marshall in 1953.

47 NOMINATIONS

A total of 47 candidates had been nominated for the 1973 prize, including Nixon and Yugoslav President Tito.

Mrs. Lionaes told a news conference that when the Paris ceasefire was signed Jan. 27, the gratitude of the world went to Kissinger and Tho, "who for more than three years had employed all their ability and good will to bring about a peaceful solution."

She said it was the hope of the world that the parties involved in the agreement would live up to their "moral responsibility" and that the truce would lead to "lasting peace for the peoples of Indochina."

Kissinger and Tho earned their prize in hundreds of hours of secret talks while the official peace talks continued at the International Conference Centre in Paris.

Their meetings began in 1969, in such secrecy that Kissinger sometimes travelled to them by subway to avoid attracting the attention of reporters.

FOLLOWED EVERYWHERE

When they ended in a blaze of news and television coverage in January, they were still nominally secret. But Kissinger and Tho found themselves followed wherever they went in Paris by scores of reporters and photographers.

Details of how Kissinger and Tho arrived at their breakthrough after dozens of months of bargaining are likely to remain secret for years.

Kissinger has said Tho made the crucial concession at an Oct. 8, 1972, meeting, when he finally agreed to separate military and political issues. Tho has remained silent about the bargaining.

The agreement provided for total U.S. withdrawal and left Saigon and the Viet Cong to work out their political differences later.

The agreement was formally signed by the foreign ministers of the U.S., North and South Vietnam and the Viet Cong in Paris on Jan. 27.

Whelan discloses farm transactions

OTTAWA (CP) — Nearly 1,000 farmers have been given government grants worth $1.8 million during the last two years because they've sold their land to help other small, but more aggressive, farmers improve their lot.

A total of 179 of these more ambitious farmers have used the fledgling federal-provincial small farms development program to enlarge their holdings and operations.

Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan reports in a written Commons reply to Don Mazankowski (PC—Vegreville) that more than $2.9 million in special credit has been granted by the Farm Credit Corp. to these relatively small operators to buy up other farms.

The program has two aims: To help young, aggressive farmers expand and to help poorer farmers retire or leave the land for other work. It has slowly evolved since being announced Dec. 6, 1971, as a seven-year, $150-million plan aimed at making farming more businesslike.

All provinces but Newfoundland have signed agreements to implement the program, though Quebec joined only two weeks ago. First to join, July 14, 1972, was Alberta where 745 farmers have used it to sell out and retire or move to other jobs.

Critics complain that the program is yet another government move to rid the country of small, family-operated farms. Mr. Mazankowski, whose riding is in Alberta, says he is "opposed in principle to any scheme that will reduce the number of farmers."

HELPS ON OR OFF

But supporters say the plan helps family farms become "economically viable," giving rural families the option of improving their lot on or off the farm.

"The young farmer, and the farmer who wants to expand his land base to bring his income up to a reasonable level, can buy land without taking any real financial risk," Mr. Whelan said in a recent speech.

Most proponents of the plan emphasize the advantage to struggling farmers and play down its effects on the declining farm population.

The 1971 census showed the numbers of farms had dropped to slightly more than 366,000 from 416,795 five years earlier and nearly 500,000 in 1961.

And a recent review of the small farms program by two agriculture department experts says between 125,000 and 150,000 farm families, about one-third of those remaining, require the kind of assistance offered by the adjustment plan.

"It is expected that many of these would find better opportunities outside agriculture," sociologist Mongi Mouelhi and economist Walter Bruns write in the bi-monthly Canadian Farm Economics publication.

The writers say the farms sold under the program average 195 acres, of which 106 are under cultivation. Average age of sellers was 57 and more than half had reached retirement age. About a third of those who sold farms took other full or part-time jobs and about one-quarter took advantage of a special feature of the program to retain their farm homes after selling their land.

Buyers had an average age of 39 and ranged from 20 to 58 years old. Average value of their land before they took part in the program was $30,433 and after, $43,859. Size of the average farm increased to 223 from 142 cultivated acres.

Buyers are only given special credit if they have less than $60,000 worth of assets and they do not have to mortgage their land as security when buying another farm. Down payment on sales of $20,000 or less is $200, plus a $10 registration fee. A buyer, to be eligible, must already operate a farm.

Mr. Mazankowski says this is a particularly offensive shortcoming.

"The real vacuum in agriculture is the lack of any incentive that encourages young people to get into the business. There's no incentive to the new farmer in this or any other program."

Sellers, on the other hand, have ample encouragement to leave the land. The program offers eligible owners of small farms a grant of $1,500 plus 10 per cent of the sale price to a maximum grant of $3,500 if they sell.

Sellers, however, lose the right to the government grants, if they sell to others who either "continue to operate the farm as a separate, uneconomic farm unit" or who use the land for non-farm activities.

All the federal-provincial agreements, established for five-year periods, also allow the farm Credit Corp., which administers the program, to buy land itself if there are no other available buyers.

"My guess is that you're against the use of automobiles, because of how they pollute, so I won't give you a lift and let you compromise your principles!"

ACW meeting

LENNOXVILLE — The Oct. 5 meeting of the A.C.W. was opened by the president, Mrs. S. Jellicoe. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. L.M. Watson with mention of the Mission to be held at St. George's starting Oct. 28, and of St. Andrew, our patron saint.

Mrs. Jellicoe introduced Richard Salt, Co-ordinator of Youth Work and Christian Education for the Diocese of Quebec. He said his work is difficult to define as it adjusts to the needs, and the facilities, of each parish.

At present the greatest need is in Family Life work and the outstanding event of the year was the Youth Synod held in Quebec in the spring.

During the summer months Youth in Action held Bible Schools in five localities, and Coffee Houses in two. Mr. Salt's work is really to provide a boost whenever needed. He also spoke about the Conference Centre opened in Hatley to be used for meetings, retreats and other projects.

Mrs. H.C. Barter thanked the speaker who left for another meeting.

Business was then disposed of and supplies arranged about for the coffee hour held after the Confirmation Service on October 7. The meeting adjourned and refreshments were served by Mrs. H.C. Barter and Mrs. G. Durrell.

When the continent-wide charity game of the American Contract Bridge League takes place on Dec. 14, at least a hundred thousand people will play the same hands. When they finish they will be given an expert analysis which will attempt to cover many of the possible results.

Today's hand was played in the spring charity game. The analysts point out that most South players would arrive at four spades after very simple bidding. They also point out that four spades can be beaten.

Jack of hearts lead to East's ace. Eight of hearts return as a suit preference signal to ask for a diamond lead next. Ruff by West; diamond return to the ace and a second heart ruff.

The analysts also point out that nothing can hurt a four-heart contract, but don't see how to get there.

We agree with that. In fact, we doubt if anyone actually did play this hand in hearts. Furthermore we doubt if even a corporal's guard of players found that killing defense. Even if the jack of hearts is opened and East clatters up with the ace, South will drop his queen. East is not likely to lead a heart back.

"Someday, son, this Chromacolor II will be yours."

What is it that shortens the life of a television set?

A refrigerator, for one thing.

A furnace for another.

Every time they turn on or off they may affect the voltage going into your TV. Sometimes too much. Sometimes too little. It's a shock to the system that finally takes its toll.

What have Zenith engineers done about it? They've invented the "Power Sentry". A voltage regulating transformer that delivers a steady and even flow of power in spite of voltage variations in the home. (This not only protects all the parts inside your set; it also helps keep the picture bright and sharp.)

They've also made the chassis 100% solid-state so there are no chassis tubes to burn out.

So when you buy a new Zenith Chromacolor II, pick out a cabinet you like. You're going to have it for a long time.

Cote-St. Onge wed

MANSONVILLE — She was a beautiful bride waiting for the priest to walk down the aisle to greet her and her father at the door of the St. Cajetan Roman Catholic Church in Mansonville, Que. As Rev. Father Maurice Domingue walked toward her with the two altar boys dressed in street suits (Paul St. Onge, brother of the groom, and a cousin, Merille St. Onge), he greeted and shook hands with those seated in the pews. The bride, Judy Gladys, and her father Edward Cote of Vale Perkins, as well as the maid-of-honor, Miss Rachel Marcoux, were led to the altar by Father Domingue, where the groom, Adrien Louis, his father Louis St. Onge, and the groom's best man, Lawrence Cote, the bride's brother, were in attendance. The double-ring ceremony was on Sat., Sept. 29 at 11 a.m. Pictures were taken by several people throughout the ceremony.

Colossians 3:12-17 was read and Father Domingue rendered wonderful words on the meaning of loving one another.

Judy wore a full-length white sateen bridal gown, with long puffed sleeves edged with wide overlaid cuffs, and overlaid ring collar slightly opened at the throat, and a wide overlaid panel front dotted with tiny sateen bows to the waistline with a full shirred waistline at the back held by a narrow sateen ribbon. Her long veiled train swept the floor and was overlaid with a very short neck-length veil over the face and caught up to a designed crown similar to large white petals. Her hair swept back in a cluster of curls and long ringlets falling below the shoulder. She carried a cascade bouquet of red sweetheart roses and sprengeri fern decorated with a wide white sateen bow.

The maid-of-honor wore a full-length fitted powder-blue polyester gown, long fitted sleeves edged with blue maribou fur and brocade embroidery at the bosom with a ring collar opened a few inches down the front. She wore drop earrings with maribou tufts there and in her hair and carried a nosegay of white pompons with deep pink button roses and a light touch of baby's breath, complemented by a wide powder-blue sateen ribbon.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Cote, wore a beige street-length coat dress of bonded fabric with contrasting tie belt, frontal piece, cuffs on long sleeves and high collar, and brown accessories. She had a white pompon cascade corsage at the shoulder.

The groom's mother, Mrs. St. Onge, wore a mint green polyester crepe street-length empire waistline dress, long fitted sleeves overlaid at the top with eyelet lace giving a short puffed sleeve effect with the eyelet crossing the upper bosom and also edging the high stand up ruffled collar. The eyelet lace had a touch of mint green edging each eyelet. She wore black accessories and a deep yellow Pompon cascade corsage.

The groom's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Pearl Greenham, wore a navy blue pants suit trimmed in white with black accessories.

Also attending the wedding was the groom's grandfather and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Larose of Highwater.

Ushers were brother of the groom, Rosaire St. Onge, and brother of the bride, Bryan Cote. Philip Lessard played traditional wedding church hymns on the organ.

At the completion of the wedding ceremony, the wedding registration was signed by the bride couple, both fathers and the priest, at the altar and Bryan Cote rang the church bells.

Following more picture taking on the steps of the church, a cavalcade of 35 cars proceeded around the village proper and onward to the reception hall at Brome in the Fairview Hotel, enjoying the fall foliage and passing another cavalcade going in the opposite direction, of members of the Brome County Historical Society out to enjoy the fall foliage, led by MNA Glen Brown.

Upon entering the hall, the tables were set in a letter M fashion each graced with lit candles and fresh multicolored flowers in several vases furnished and arranged by Mrs. Bernice Morin. Another table against the wall was laden with beautifully wrapped gifts.

Gracing the head table was an exquisite wedding cake made by Mrs. Archie Cote of North Troy. Of white frosting trimmed blue and pink, 6 pillars, each a foot in length, held up a large two-tiered cake. The top tier held a large bride couple with a veiled fan-shaped piece behind the statuettes complemented with lilies-of-the-valley, and the second layer had a best man and maid-of-honor in blue. From the top of each pillar hung streamers of sateen ribbon leading to small heart-shaped cakes with blue trim and pink rosebuds, topped with accordion-pleated type bridal couple. All cakes were scattered with silver leaves and tiny silver balls.

In the center of the pillars a three-tiered electrified fountain glowed with a continual flow of clear blue water. After the 175 guests enjoyed an appetizing hot turkey dinner catered to by the hotel management, and much clacking of spoons on the table and dishes, calling for the bride and groom to embrace, the cake was removed to the kitchen, the couple having had their picture taken while inserting a knife, for distribution to the guests. The tables were then cleared away and the balance of the day was enjoyed in dancing to the specially hired orchestra. The Echoes from Sutton, Miss Joyce Cote, sister of the bride, was in charge of the guest book signed by people coming from as far away as Manchester, Suncook and Westville, N.H., New Britain, Conn., North Troy, Vt., Picton, Ont., Beebe, Que., Waterloo and immediate towns in the Township of Potton.

After a short honeymoon to New Hampshire, Mr. and Mrs. Adrien St. Onge returned to their newly bought home on Bridge St., Mansonville. Mr. St. Onge is employed by his father as trucker and Mrs. St. Onge has resumed employment in the Mansonville Plastics office.

UCW meetings

SHERBROOKE — Plymouth-Unity U.C.W. met in the church parlor on October 9 with Mrs. E. Lavallee presiding. Mrs. Ruth Atto led the Thanksgiving devotional period and was assisted by Mrs. Miriam Fuller in a dialogue on Gratitude. Many thank-you notes were read from people who had received flowers.

Mrs. Harriet Rawlings reported that the plans for the November 22 Turkey Supper had begun. Tickets for the Christmas Sale and Chicken Patty Tea to be held on November 3 were distributed.

Mrs. Eric Fuller reported on the Presbyterian U.C.W. Fall Rally which was held in Stanstead, which was a very successful day.

The clothing brought to this meeting by the members will be taken to the Butters Home this week.

Mrs. W. Gibson reported that the afternoon tea at Grace Christian Home on October 3, served by five members and attended by twenty of the residents, was enjoyed immensely. Mrs. Eric Fuller stated that seven U.C.W. members would go to serve tea at Wales Home on October 11. Bingo with prizes will be played.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. G. McIntock and her committee for the beautiful decorations in the church on Thanksgiving Sunday.

Refreshments were solicited for the Church Anniversary Service evening coffee hour on October 28.

Miss Carlotta Perkins introduced Mrs. P. Gaudine, who showed slides and gave a very interesting commentary on her Spring holiday in Russia when they visited Moscow and Leningrad. Mrs. McIntock expressed the group's appreciation. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Miss C. Perkins and Mrs. K. Burbank.

WAY'S MILLS — The Way's Mills U.C.W. Thank-offering meeting was held on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 10, at the home of Mrs. Arthur Jordan with eleven ladies present.

The worship service, conducted by Mrs. Weyland Pope, was Thanksgiving chosen from George Kilpatrick's book, The Moral Spectrum.

Mrs. Muriel Cass gave a report of the Sherbrooke-Stanstead area U.C.W. Fall Rally which four of the group had attended. The questions used for discussion were reviewed.

Suggested projects for study in connection with the department of the church in society were discussed. More material will be available in November.

A committee was appointed to receive ideas and make plans for Christmas banners.

St. George's Guild

LENNOXVILLE — St. George's Guild held their opening meeting Sept. 26.

The president opened the meeting with prayer service and then welcomed the members back to a busy fall season. During the summer, Mrs. Willson, Mrs. Pearson, Mrs. Johnston and Mrs. Blake arranged marathon bridge and distributed the schedules.

It is hoped that this Mission will be a time of renewal and rededication for both old and young. An invitation will be extended to all in the area.

As there are still unsatisfied customers for the cookbook Cooking Favorites of Lennoxville another supply is being ordered.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Blake and Mrs. Elson.

There was much discussion about tables for the Christmas Bazaar, taking place on Thursday, Dec. 6. Tables will include:

A doll's table featuring some of the latest doll models.

An 'odds and ends' table of things new and not so new where you may find anything.

A Boutique table with gifts for someone special; A table featuring a variety of knitted goods.

A plant table will be a new attraction.

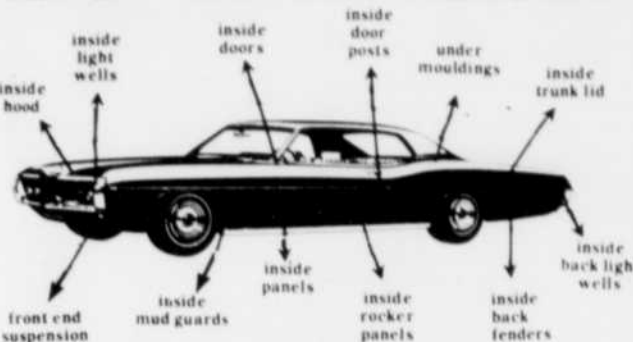

Miss Atto told of the plans for the Parish Mission being held in St. George's Church from Oct. 28 to Nov. 1. Archdeacon Davies and Rev. R. Pettit from Nova Scotia will be the visiting missionaries.

YOUNGEST COMPETITOR — Eight-year-old Brent Cairns was the youngest competitor in the field during the 54th annual Stanstead county plowing match held in Burroughs Falls. Prizes will be presented Friday evening at a banquet.

Stanstead county plowing match

BURROUGHS FALLS (IH) — The 54th annual Ploughing Match of Stanstead county was held Saturday, October 13 at the farm of Richie Harrison, near here.

There were 32 persons, men, women, boys and girls to plow.

Brent Cairns, of Ives Hill, Waterville, eight years old was the youngest plowman on the field and a good many people watched his skill with the tractor and plow and his fine plowing.

Alexander Johnston, 72 years of age from Stanstead was the oldest plowman. All people who plowed did fine plowing but some had trouble with their finish.

As one plowman said, "I don't bother too much when I plow my own field and it turns out perfect. Here I guess we try too hard."

In the afternoon a good number of spectators came to watch. The younger generation of which there were several in the youth classes were an attraction as people admired their efforts.

The judges were John Rose and Donald Goodfellow.

At noon, or as the plowmen finished their crown, everyone enjoyed a good dinner served by the Quebec Farmers Association.

The judges' decisions and prizes will be presented at the banquet to be held on Friday evening, October 19 at the Hatley United church hall.

The meal will be served at 7:30 p.m. by the women of the church consisting of casseroles and so forth. While this is to be only one setting for the directors and plowmen and their families it is also open to any interested friends.

The program will take place in the church hall after the dinner.

Hatley meeting

NORTH HATLEY — A public meeting was held at the community hall Thursday evening, October 4, 1973, to obtain ratepayers wishes in regard to sewage plans for North Hatley.

Over 60 interested ratepayers attended the meeting which was chaired by Mayor G. St. Pierre and attended by councillors B. Bishop, B. Bergeron, W. Sharman, D. Mills and A. Greer. Bylaw 229 was read in English by the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. W. Woodward and in French by the Mayor Mr. W. Morin of the Lemieux, Royer, Donaldson, Fields & Assoc. engineering firm was introduced and explained the plans in detail and answered many questions.

As well as serving the municipality, the pumping stations and all proposed lines are designed to handle future extensions to the surrounding Townships. The treatment plant will be situated on the former Cote property above the dam 300 feet from the river.

This will consist of two ponds to provide secondary treatment. The financing was discussed and explained by the engineer.

The bylaw was approved and the government will now be approached for a sufficient grant. If the grant is received, work will proceed as soon as possible.

Golf club meeting

DUFFERIN — The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Dufferin Heights Golf and Country Club was held at the club house on Friday evening, October 12.

President Douglas Henderson presided and giving his report of the 1972-73 year declared it a successful one. The membership stood at 423 adults and juniors.

He noted renovations and improvements to the club house and lawns, purchases made of two electric carts, installation of a water line on the greens and equipment bought.

He expressed appreciation to his committee: House, Match, Greens and Greenskeeper; also the stewards for cooperation and support all year; to Mitch Thomson and Geoff Denney for their assistance in various ways.

He mentioned the cooperation of the ladies club especially for the field days and bar-be-que.

Robert Alger was in the chair for the nominations of directors. Ten names were listed and from these the shareholders elected seven directors.

They were Douglas Henderson, Norman Wintle, Royce Martin, George Joyal, John Cochrane, Michael Gaudreau and Arnold McVeay.

These seven retired to another room and elected Mr. Henderson president for another year and Royce Martin, vice president.

Gordon "Doc" Stewart was named secretary-treasurer for another year and Harold Bowen, auditor.

Wallace Browning said he would like to see the course extension committee reactivated. This was discussed and Mr. Browning was nominated chairman of this committee and authorized to choose a group of six to work with him.

It was further suggested a committee be formed for alterations and renovations to the club house. This was approved and the president will name a chairman within a few days, with the chairman to select his own working committee.

It was thought that after the committee have made their survey of what needs to be done a shareholders meeting will be called and the recommendations made to them for approval or changes.

The floor also recommended the directors give thought to purchase of a sod cutter and to think about having the club championship a three-day in place of the present two day event.

Spiritual renewal services

EASTERN TOWNSHIPS — A group of concerned Christians from many churches have been meeting for "spiritual renewal" services in several municipalities in the Eastern Townships for about a year and a half. They realize the need for a united Christian voice to be raised to combat the evils of an overly permissive society — mounting drug use, open immorality — increasing alcoholism, etc.

A committee has been formed to present special evangelical services at St. Andrew's Church. The Rev. Donald Campbell of St. Andrew's, the Rev. Hubert Lewis of the Pentecostal Church in Lennoxville, Mr. Robert Seale of Huntingville and Mr. Alison Welch of Grace Chapel, Sherbrooke and others.

The Rev. Robert Crooks of Parry Sound has been invited to be the evangelist at these services. Mr. Crooks has been set aside by the Presbyterian Church in Canada as an "Evangelist at large" and has conducted evangelistic services in many parts of Canada.

Originally from Ireland, Mr. Crooks is a graduate of Trinity College in Dublin and of New College in Edinburgh. He is a married man with three children and has been in Canada for almost twenty years.

He is much in demand for interdenominational conferences like Canadian Keswick in Muskoka, and speaks with real authority to the needs of our distressed and confused culture.

The services at St. Andrew's will be held at 7:30 p.m. from Sunday through to Thursday, October 21 to 25, and he will be available for counselling through the day.

A local men's choir will be helping with the musical program. There will be a special young people's service on Monday evening, when Miss Beverly Weaver, well-known singer from Montreal, will assist in the service.

School dedication

DERBY LINE (IH) — The new elementary school building on Elm street, Derby Line, will be dedicated Sunday, October 21 at 2 p.m.

The dedication ceremony will take place in the multi-purpose room of the school. The guest speaker will be Robert Withey, a commissioner of education for the state.

There will also be an address by members of the school board, construction and architect representatives and others. Following the ceremony a guided tour of the school will take place.

David Elwood is school principal.

HOLLAND, Vt. (IH) — A large dairy barn owned by Gaston Lefebvre was completely destroyed by fire on Monday evening. The loss is unofficially estimated by Derby Line Fire Chief Benoit Blais to be about $35,000 — 40,000.

The fire alarm was sounded to the Derby Line Fire Dept. about 7:40 p.m. The department saved the house located about eight feet from the burning barn and the machinery shed.

The young calves were removed from the barn, but Mr. Lefebvre told the Chief it was possible one of the calves returned to the barn.

The fire started in the hay loft. Mr. Lefebvre was cutting his second crop of hay and it is his belief the fire started from combustion. He said no one had been in the loft to his knowledge since the preceding Sunday.

The fire department used water from its tankers and the farm pond. Mr. Lefebvre had a herd of more than 100 Holstein cattle. As of Tuesday morning he said he was undecided if he will sell the stock or board out the animals and rebuild this fall.

There will be vegetables and dessert and all for only $3, half price for children of 12 years and under.

Mrs. Jacobs said the cafeteria will seat 275 people. The dinner will start at 5 p.m. and serving continue until 8 p.m. if needed. The directors agreed to have an advance sale of tickets.

There will not be a meeting of the club in November due to deer season. The next meeting will be in December.

Border Minor Hockey League

ROCK ISLAND (IH) — A meeting of the Border minor hockey club was held on Monday evening, October 15 at the community centre in Rock Island.

Clubs represented and in the league this season were Rock Island, Stanstead, North Hatley, Ayer's Cliff and for the first time, Derby Line. Beebe will be in but there was no representative at the meeting Monday night.

The league officials welcomed the Derby Line delegation and they were welcomed into the league. Derby Line will have five teams in the league this season.

Michael Gaudreau, president, presided for the important agenda. It was agreed by all that any Derby Line youngsters who had played in the league in the past will be given the opportunity to choose if he wishes to continue with the Canadian teams or play with Derby Line.

Officials of each club were given the League secretary, Miss D. St. Martin. Presidents are, Rock Island and Stanstead, Donald Joyce; Ayer's Cliff, Peter Despres; North Hatley, G. Meigs; Derby Line, P.G. Daigneault.

Coaches — Atoms: Stanstead, Arnold Rever, P. Lacroix; Rock Island, Garry Carruthers, Larry Hibbard.

Mosquitoes, Stanstead, A. Wing; Rock Island, A. Flanders, Joe Gaboriault, D. Groleau.

Pee Wees, Stanstead, D. Joyce, H. Stevens, Rock Island, John Lees, J. Galazzo.

Bantams, Stanstead, R. Roy; Rock Island, Donald Dewey.

Midgets, Stanstead and Rock Island, Rev. G.W. Stokes. The other Clubs will name their coaches later.

Ronald Winter is president of the referee association. He said their club of referees had held a meeting and agreed to charge for their work this season.

The charge to be $1 for Atom, Mosquito and Pee Wee games and $2 for Bantams and Midgets. This announcement brought forth a lengthy discussion from the floor as it will cost each Club about $100 additional.

However, a vote was taken and the motion carried to pay the referees. It seemed to be the feeling that by doing so the referee situation will be well in hand.

Stanley Holmes read the recommendations of the rules committee. This was drawn up so that all players will have equal time on the ice.

These rules and how to handle the matter also came in for lengthy discussion. The atoms, mosquitoes and pee wees will have 5 shifts, on and off the ice in 15-minute periods.

The bantams and midgets will have equal time based upon the same idea.

Another meeting of the league will be held at the community centre Tuesday, October 30 at 7:30 p.m.

NEW YORK (AP) — Something finally has taken the play away from Oakland Athletics' internal battles—Rusty Staub's bat.

The Athletics, who have grabbed most of the headlines lately with juicy stories of clubhouse unrest, took a back seat in the World Series to New York Mets Wednesday night.

Providing some news of his own, Staub dismissed a painful right shoulder and knocked in five runs to help the Mets win 6-1 and square the best-of-seven series at two games apiece.

"I did a lot of work during batting practice and did several things to adjust for my sore shoulder," said Staub after hitting a three-run homer and two-run single.

He wouldn't say but whatever it was that Staub did, it worked wonders.

"Under the circumstances, my performance was unbelievably satisfying," said Staub, who also had two hits and a walk in a 4-for-4 night. "When you've been playing in the big leagues for about 11 years and always wanted to play in a World Series, well, this is a great, great feeling."

Staub's shoulder has been a daily topic since last week, when he hurt it while making a stunning catch in the National League playoff against Cincinnati Reds.

He still can't throw well—but, obviously, he can hit. Even if it is to the opposite field.

"I hit a fastball," he said about the clutch over the left-center field fence at Shea Stadium off Ken Holtzman in the first inning. "I hit the ball perfectly so that it could carry that way. I knew the wind was gusting out there."

"I thought, though, that it would fall between the fielders. I was kind of surprised when it went over the fence. I was running as hard as I could because I wasn't sure it was out. It was the first ball I've hit out since the shoulder injury—and obviously, the wind helped."

The blast was the beginning of the end for Holtzman, the Athletics' winner in the opening game of the World Series last Saturday. After the 20-game-winning left-hander walked John Milner and gave up a single to Jerry Grote, he took a shower.

Staub's three-run single highlighted a two-run fourth inning that was mere icing for young Jon Matlack's first World Series victory.

The power-throwing left-hander limited Oakland to one unearned run and three hits before leaving with a stiff shoulder after eight innings.

"I learned a little about the Athletics in the first game and used it to my advantage tonight," said Matlack, the losing pitcher in game No. 1.

He encountered rough going in only one inning—the fourth, when the Athletics scored their only run with the help of a New York error.

BANDO SCORES
After Joe Rudi struck out, Sal Bando reached first on Wayne Garrett's boot and went to third on a single by Reggie Jackson. Then Bando came home as Gene Tenace bounced out to short.

Matlack, last year's rookie of the year in the National League, couldn't finish, though. His arm stiffened and he had to watch the ninth inning from the bench.

"My shoulder was really tight out there," said Matlack. "It impaired my throwing. It took something off my fastball because I couldn't come around over the top."

Ray Sadelski pitched the ninth, but gave New York manager Yogi Berra some anxious moments before nailing it down. He loaded the bases with two out before striking out Bert Campaneris as most of the paid 54,817 fans roared their approval.

One of the few who wasn't roaring was sitting near the Oakland dugout—owner Charles O. Finley of the Athletics.

Although Andrews was back in uniform Wednesday night after baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn ordered him reinstated, the Athletics were still smoldering with unrest.

Andrews made his first appearance since Sunday, in a pinch-hitting role, and grounded out in the eighth inning. He received a standing ovation from the sympathetic fans when he stepped to the plate and a hefty reaction after he went out.

The series continues tonight in football-like weather as New York's Jerry Kosman faces Oakland's Vida Blue in another duel of left-handers.

The game, scheduled to start at 8:30 p.m. EDT, will be televised by CBC.

Rookie's goal sinks Habs, Flames dump favored Bruins

By GLENN COLE

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Until Wednesday night, young Lanny McDonald had been having his problems living up to his nickname Machine-Gun Lanny.

He had earned the epithet for his scoring exploits in the Western Canada Hockey League, where he terrorized opposition goalkeepers with his scoring prowess.

When Toronto Maple Leafs drafted him in the National Hockey League's amateur draft last summer, they felt that McDonald, a 62-goal man with Medicine Hat Tigers in 1972-73, would add some scoring punch to their lineup.

McDonald finally managed his first goal in NHL play Wednesday night and no doubt, he will remember it for a long time.

McDonald whipped a shot past Montreal Canadiens goalie Michel Larocque with 2:17 left in the third period to snap a 3-3 tie and Toronto went on to defeat Montreal 5-3. It was the first victory for the Leafs at the Forum since Jan. 30, 1971.

Elsewhere in the league, Atlanta Flames scored two goals within 78 seconds in the first period en route to a 4-3 victory over Boston Bruins, New York Rangers blanked St. Louis Blues 4-0, Pittsburgh Penguins clipped Minnesota North Stars 4-2, Chicago Black Hawks slammed Vancouver Canucks 5-0 and it was Philadelphia Flyers 5, California Golden Seals 1.

McDonald, a six foot, 185-pound native of Hanna, Alta., had not been playing that well early in the game against Montreal. During the second period, coach Red Kelly decided to sit the youngster out in favor of Eddie (The Entertainer) Shack.

"I thought it was a good move," said McDonald. "I wasn't playing that well at the time. Eddie went out there and got us going."

"I couldn't blame the coach for the move. If we are going to win, we are going to win as a team."

McDonald said he has had scoring chances in his first three games with the Leafs but found himself "shooting right at the goalkeepers."

"Usually when you score a winning goal like that, it adds a lot on confidence. Last year I was scoring a bunch of goals and I expected to score here. I knew that I'd score if I kept on working."

SHARES SPOTLIGHT
McDonald had to share some of the spotlight with goalie Eddie Johnston who stopped 27 of Montreal's 30 shots.

AEROS COMMANDED PLAY
In Vancouver, the Aeros led 4-0 after the first period and 6-0 at the end of the second.

Rookie goaltender Ron Grahame, 23, who played at Denver University last year, faced only 27 shots and gave up two goals to Danny Lawson, the WHA goal-scoring leader last season.

Mark Howe, 18, part of the father-sons combination which includes father Gordie, 45, and Marty, 19, also assisted on Gord Labossiere's goal in the first period. Gordie was also in the play which gave the Aeros their 4-0 lead.

Action resumes tonight with Chicago Cougars playing in Los Angeles against the Sharks, Toronto Toros visiting Quebec Nordiques, and Winnipeg at New York Golden Blades.

"E. J. held us in there when we were having some trouble," noted coach Kelly. "I thought he really played well in the second period."

In Atlanta, Leon Rochefort and Curt Bennett beat Boston goalie Gilles Gilbert at 6:29 and 7:47 respectively in the first period sending the Flames to their first win ever over the Bruins.

Rochefort added another goal in the second period and Chuck Arnason, acquired from the Canadiens' organization last spring, scored the game winning goal at 12:02 of the final period.

In New York, Red Gilbert, benched for disciplinary reasons Sunday, scored his 271st NHL goal to move within one of the club record held by Andy Bathgate.

LOVES HIS JOB
"You've got to play the game to score," Gilbert said after the game, an obvious reference to the benching for being late for a team meeting.

"I love my work, I love what I do and I don't like to miss games for any reason. There are no bad feelings now."

Ed Giacomin stopped 23 shots

Williams quitting?

NEW YORK (AP) — Oakland Athletics say their manager, Dick Williams, is quitting after the World Series and that they still are mad at owner Charles O. Finley for "firing" infielder Mike Andrews.

So it's a little hard to believe then when they say the controversy isn't affecting their play in the deadlocked series with New York Mets.

Andrews rejoined the team Wednesday at the direction of baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn. He immediately held a news conference and said he had been under extreme duress from Finley when he signed a statement saying he had a bad arm.

Williams wouldn't say he was leaving, but second baseman Dick Green and others confirmed that the skipper told the team in a meeting Tuesday that he would quit after the Series—win or lose.

"He did say: 'I won't be back next year,'" Green said, "and if we repeat it, he'll deny it." Williams did deny it.

There was speculation that Williams would become manager of New York Yankees, succeeding Ralph Houk, who went to Detroit Tigers.

WILLIAMS WILL WAIT
"I haven't talked to them. They haven't talked to me," Williams said. "Right now I am the manager of the Oakland A's and that's it. Next year is next year."

Finley has been quoted as saying he would not stand in Williams' way if the Yankees made an approach. He said Williams is under contract through 1974.

The Minneapolis Tribune quotes Finley as saying, "There's a certain amount of glamor to working in New York. Maybe this interests him."

The A's were in a state of personnel conflict. Outfielder Reggie Jackson reiterated that "I want to be traded. I'd love to play in New York."

Third baseman Sal Bando said: "If I got traded, I wouldn't be disappointed."

ATHLETICS OBLIVIOUS?
But through it all, the Athletics claimed to be oblivious as far as their on-the-field war with the Mets is concerned.

"It will have no effect on the team," Green said of Williams' expected resignation. "Most of us knew it was coming three or four weeks ago."

Williams said before the game that he didn't think the Andrews affair would affect morale. He inserted Andrews as a pinch-hitter in the eighth inning and Andrews got a standing ovation from the crowd, both before and after he grounded out.

The gents, meanwhile, went down to defeat against Sherbrooke CEGEP by a 3-1 count. Charles Brouillet was the lone scorer for Champlain.

The Bishop's University field hockey Gaiterettes were edged out by Alexander Galt Regional High School by a narrow 1-0 margin. Marion VanHorn picked the single goal in the contest.

Both men's and women's basketball squads from the local CRC will begin their exhibition season on Saturday, encountering the St. Lawrence Campus of CRC from Quebec City.

The contests will be played at AGRHS with the women starting at 1 p.m., while the men follow directly after.

WHA roundup

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bobby Hull finally knows what it feels like to win at Boston Garden, at least as a player-coach with Winnipeg Jets of the World Hockey Association.

"This game gives us a big boost," said Hull who picked up an assist Wednesday night as the Jets defeated New England Whalers 3-1.

The Jets, who scored three unanswered goals in the third period, had lost six in a row on Boston ice—three league games and three in the playoffs last year.

In the other WHA game, Houston Aeros got two goals each from Mark Howe and Paul Hughes—his fifth and sixth—to whip Vancouver Blazers 7-2. The contest was played before 12,186 fans in Vancouver.

"We weren't really pointing for this game," Hull said. "But we had lost two on the road and knew we had to win this one to have any kind of a record starting out the season."

WILLIAMS CONNECTS
The Whalers took a 1-0 lead in the first period when Tommy Williams intercepted a pass and scored just 22 seconds after the opening faceoff.

However, Danny Johnson tied the score on a two-on-one break at 10:10 of the third period. Chris Bordeleau added another Winnipeg goal less than two minutes later and Norm Beaudin got the insurance marker into an empty net after the Whalers pulled goalie Al Smith.

It was the first defeat at home for the Whalers in their last 15 games, including competition last year.

The win lifted the Jets into a second-place tie with the Aeros and Edmonton Oilers, all with four points, and one behind Minnesota Fighting Saints in the West Division. Vancouver is fifth with two points.

The Whalers still lead the East Division with seven points, two more than Cleveland Crusaders who have three games in hand.

AEROS COMMANDED PLAY
In Vancouver, the Aeros led 4-0 after the first period and 6-0 at the end of the second.

Rookie goaltender Ron Grahame, 23, who played at Denver University last year, faced only 27 shots and gave up two goals to Danny Lawson, the WHA goal-scoring leader last season.

Mark Howe, 18, part of the father-sons combination which includes father Gordie, 45, and Marty, 19, also assisted on Gord Labossiere's goal in the first period. Gordie was also in the play which gave the Aeros their 4-0 lead.

Action resumes tonight with Chicago Cougars playing in Los Angeles against the Sharks, Toronto Toros visiting Quebec Nordiques, and Winnipeg at New York Golden Blades.

Deer-Taking Tips!

1. Know your rifle. Sight it in before you hunt. Use brand name ammo, not imported.
2. Stalking is a good way to pinpoint a good area, but stand hunting is better.
3. True stands are new to many hunters and are proving very effective.
4. Hunt from stands overlooking scrapes or points where trails enter cover.
5. Rest or scout at mid-day, but be on your stand early and late.
6. A set of good binoculars is a must to save your eyes and give better visibility.
7. Use Buck Scouts, almost a "must" when stalking deer.
8. Always carry a good hunting knife, compass and length of 3/4" nylon rope.
9. Dress right! Keep clothing loose, a hand warmer is great in cold weather. Hunting clothing is important; choose it with the same care you choose a rifle.
10. When it rains or snows it's no time to stay in camp, because the forest floor is slippery and the deer are less alert.
