AUSTRIAN ARCHDUKES, FEARING REVOLUTION, FLEE TO REFUGE

AUSTRIA ASKS PEACE ALONE

GERMANS FLUNG INTO NEW RETREAT BY GREAT FRENCH ADVANCE

VIENNA ACCEPTS ALL WILSON TERMS; WILL NOT WAIT FOR BERLIN

Immediate Armistice Asked for by Austria—Emperor, Fearing Revolution, Sends Children to Godollo Castle—May Follow Soon Himself

By Associated Press.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 28.—Austria, in her reply to President Wilson, accepts all the views expressed by the President in his note of Oct. 19.

Austria says she is willing and ready, without awaiting the result of other negotiations, to negotiate a peace and an immediate armistice on all Austro-Hungarian fronts.

In his reply to Austria-Hungary on October 19, President Wilson said that events of utmost importance had altered the attitude and responsibility of the United States since his speech of January 8, the fourteen points of which were accepted by Austria. The President added that in the interim, the United States had recognized the Czecho-Slovaks as a belligerent, and had recognized the aspirations of the Jugog-Slavs for freedom. He continued:

"The President is, therefore, no longer at liberty to accept the mere 'autonomy' of these peoples as a basis of peace, but is obliged to insist that they, and not he, shall be the judges of what action on the part of the Austro-Hungarian Government will satisfy their aspirations and their conception of their rights and destiny as members of the family of nations."

In the last few days it has been reported that the Czechs were in complete control in Bohemia. It also has been reported that the Jugoslav nations have taken steps to throw off the yoke of Austria and establish a free state.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—A revolution is feared in Vienna, according to advices received here today.

The Archdukes have taken refuge in the castle at Godollo and the Emperor Karl, it is said, will soon leave for Debreczin.

Godollo, fifteen miles northeast of Budapest, is the site of a royal palace. Debraczin, 116 miles east of Budapest, is a manufacturing and commercial centre of about 75,000 population.

There are three Archdukes, Franz Josef Otto, aged six; Robert Karl Ludwig, three, and Felix Friedrich August, two. There is also an Archduchess, Adelheid, aged four.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—General Ludendorff resigned as First Quartermaster-General because the military authorities were placed under civilian control. The retiring general, an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Copenhagen adds, has returned to great headquarters to take leave of the army and Field-Marshal von Hindenburg, who remains as chief of the army.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Press despatches to The Hague, transmitted to the State Department today, say General Ludendorff resigned his post as first quartermaster-general and real leader of the German army as the result of a complete disagreeemnt with Prince Maximilian, the Chancellor. There was no possibility of a reconciliation, according to these advices, and tht Emperor was compelled to accept Ludendorffs' resignation.

Special Star Cable.

ROME, Oct. 28.—Field-Marshal von Hindenburg is expected to order a court-martial of General Ludendorff, according to information received here today fsom German sources.

REPORT HINDENBURG HAS QUIT

By Associated Press.

ZURICH, Oct. 28.—Reports that Field-Marshal von Hindenburg has resigned are printed in German newspapers. The Neueste Nachrichten of Dresden says the Field-Marshal has tendered his resignation, but that the Emperor has not yet decided whether to accept or not. The Frankfort Gazette maintains that von Hindenburg has not resigned, but reports to that effect, it says, are being circulated by the pan-Germans.

ZURICH, Oct. 28.—German newspapers predict that General von Seckt, Chief of Staff to General von Mackensen during the latter's Rumanian drive, will succeed General Ludendorff as the head of the German armies.

KAISER SHIES AT ABDICATION

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Emperor William has no intention of abdicating, but is willing, if it is for the good of the people, to ordain that his rights shall be reframed according to a statement attributed to German Court circles.

The Emperor is said to have remarked:

"I will not abandon my sorely tried people, but, if necessary, I am ready to become something like hereditary president of a German republic, like the Kings of England, Belgium and Italy.

CROATIAN REBELS STILL HOLD FIUME

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Oct. 28.—German newspapers maintain that mutinous Croatian troops are still masters of the city of Fiume, in spite of official statements that they were under control, according to the Zurich correspondent of the Journal, who says that the Croatians have driven the Hungarians from the city.

Grave troubles have broken out at Budapest as the result of the appointment of Count Julius Andressy, who is suspected of Germanophile tendencies, to be Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister, says a Zurich despatch to the Matin. A committee of workers and soldiers has been formed to represent the extremist party in impending events.

GERMAN STARTED WAR WITH DIRTY TRICK, SAYS MAX HARDEN

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—A Copenhagen despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company quotes Maximilian Harden, the editor of Die Zukunft of Berlin, as saying in an interview with the Berlingske Tidende, of Copenhagen:

"We started the war with a dirty trick and all our subsequent victories have been the results of dishonesty. . . . William II. is a film hero, and Germany a vulgar cinematograph. We sit today on the ruins of thirty years of Hohenzollern politics.

BRITISH POLITICS AGOG WITH RUMORS; ULSTERMEN'S STAND

Commons Has Voted $3,750,000 to Meet Election Expenses—Irish Situation Causes Anxiety Regarding Attitude of British Electorate

Special Star Cable from Our Own Correspondent. Copyright.

THE MONTREAL STAR OFFICE, 20 Cockspur street, London, Oct. 28.—The House of Commons this week voted $3,750,000 to meet expenses connected with the registration and general elections, which will cover about twenty million voters, including about eight million women and a great majority of soldiers and sailors now on active service. Political circles are all agog with rumors of a surprise contest in mid-November.

Should the Germans now accept an armistice, or be driven to do so by Foch in the next few weeks, Mr. Lloyd George may pursue his undoubted desire to secure an overwhelming mandate for a Coalition Ministry to strengthen his position at the Allied peace conference.

A curious incident of the week has been the arrangement for a deputation of influential Manchester Liberals to wait upon Mr. Asquith, and possibly also upon Mr. Lloyd George, to urge strongly the re-approachment between Liberals of every shade. The Liberals of Manchester and other centres earnestly desire that the general election be an agreed one as between Coalition and Asquith candidates, contests being held only where avowed pacifists, like Ramsay Macdonald, Snowdon and Outhwaite, are concerned, or where labor insists upon testing the new electorate. The premature disclosure of the deputation's proposal in the Daily Chronicle has for the moment deferred the movement.

ANXIETY IN IRELAND.

Among both Nationalists and Ulstermen, the greatest anxiety is expressed about the probable attitude of the British electorate towards the Irish question. The statement of the Chief Secretary, Mr. Shortt, in the House of Commons last week, indicated the possibility of a reassembly of the Irish Convention. It must, however, be admitted, after what I heard Colonel Sir James Craig, Sir Edward Carson's chief lieutenant, say yesterday, that Ulster seems very far from any Home Rule proposals for Ireland as a whole.

Indeed, he announced, with the consent of Sir Edward Carson, that he and the Ulster party felt so ashamed of the attitude of the greater part of Ireland during the war that in future they had decided to refuse, regard or call themselves Irishmen. Ireland would forthwith be struck out of their personal nomenclature. Ulster, not Ireland, was their country, and Ulster intended to remain an indissoluble associate with England, Scotland and Wales. Nothing in the way of devolution that England, Scotland or Wales refuse to accept for themselves would Ulster accept. Meanwhile, there was, in his judgment, nothing to be done but pursue a firm repression of Sinn Feinism and other revolutionary ideas, which are now seething through the south and west of Ireland.

Law and order is not, however, the British Government's only policy. It was announced in the House of Commons that the Irish Government had agreed to make some concession to Irish feeling by giving the Irish kilts to a sergeant piper and five pipers of Col. Lynch's brigade, and also that the brigade have a head dress of a colonial type, with a green band and a green and white and white buckle, representing the plume of the Royal Munster Fusiliers hat, the badge to be a representation of an Irish wolfhound.

On the economic side also, something may be done. The Irish Channel has always been the greatest obstacle to Anglo-Irish communion and mutual understanding. A proposal was revived last week, unofficially, that with the support of the British treasury a tunnel be forthwith made between the nearest points of England and Scotland, a distance of only twenty-five miles. No insuperable engineering difficulties are suggested. The intention would be to make Ireland the halfway-house of trade and travel between Britain, Canada and America, and a far more potent partner in Empire affairs.

MINUTES OF WAR CONFERENCE

The bulky volume of the minutes of the Imperial War Conference of June and July last was presented to Parliament last week, but severe censoring of its most interesting proceedings confines the disclosures to points of comparatively minor importance, namely, emigration, naturalization, cable communications, Imperial statistics and shipping. Everything verging on the confidential has been rigorously excluded. The Times summarizes it all in two inches of space, and says: "The Imperial War Cabinet, whose proceedings are highly confidential, overshadowed the Imperial Conference even more this year than in 1917."

BLUE BOOK HUMORS.

Meanwhile, the Blue Book is not without its humors. When the establishment of the Bureau of Imperial Statistics was proposed by Arthur Meighen and Premier Hughes, it was greeted with belittling and almost sneering remarks. Premier Hughes contended that the Empire had no policy and said: "Premier Massey, Sir Joseph Ward, Mr. Cook and myself, you and all of us, are citizens of this Empire, yet we walk these streets as much like aliens, as regards any right to a word in the Government of this country, as if we were inhabitants of Timbuctoo."

Walter Long, the Colonial Secretary, had his reply pat, and said:

"The Prime Ministers of the other nations who are here have the actual right of presence in our Cabinet, where they have full right to discuss every matter that arises, and to take part in its decision. If I were in Melbourne I should be in the position described by Premier Hughes, and I should have no right to entrance."

Thereupon, Premier Hughes became explanatory.

"I do not mean that at all. I think I made myself very ill-understood." He then proceeded to discuss Imperial preference.

DAYLIGHT SAVING EVERY SUMMER NOW

Special to The Star from Our Own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, Oct. 28—"I never expect the North American continent to go back to the old standard time, but rather to adopt daylight saving in summer every year," asserted Sir George Foster today. It was under Sir George's direction that the daylight saving scheme was passed.

"With the exception of certain farm papers," he added, "there is an unanimous approval of the new scheme, and both here and in the States a considerable volume of public opinion favors saving daylight all the year round. In the United States, daylight saving from April to October is a statute. Here, it is operative by proclamation, but I have no doubt that the same system will be made effective next year as this. There is a very remote prospect of either country reverting in summer to the standard time."

JOKE ON HAMILTON, ONT.

Civic authorities of Hamilton who declined to put back the clock till the 31st, telephoned to the Privy Council offices about the matter here today and were told to get in line with the rest of the continent and go back to standard time at once.

On April 12th an order-in-council was passed making daylight saving operative till October 31st. On May 12th an amending order cited the fact that the change in the United States became operative on the 27th, and adopted the same time and hour for Canada. No special notices, apart from official publication, were sent to anyone, and the authorities are quite unable to understand why Hamilton's mayor insisted on holding out till the 31st. The joke is on him.

MAJOR MacPHERSON KILLED IN ACTION

He took a commission in the Royal Canadian Artillery and was attached to the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery.

FRENCH FORCE ENEMY TO QUIT BIG SECTOR OF SERRE-OISE LINE

Brilliant Advance by Debeney Likely to Turn Whole German Line Between Chateau Porcien and the Argonne — British Break Up Fierce Counter-Attacks

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES IN FRANCE, Oct. 28, via Reuter's Agency.—General Debeney's army has won a signal victory. The German forces holding the Serre-Oise front are in retreat and the whole German line between Chateau Porcien and the Argonne is in danger of being turned.

Persistent attacks by General Debeney's indefatigible infantry has broken the river line, which is the last water-line commanded by the enemy between the present front and the Meuse.

LONDON Oct. 28. — Th British, advancing in Mesapotamia, have cut the road from Sherghem to Mosul, one of the principal Turkish lines of communication. This probably will force the Turks to fall back on Mosul.

BRITISH CRUSH COUNTER-ATTACKS

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—The British official statement today reads:

"A determined counter-attack was made yesterday on Famars and was repulsed after street fighting in which many of the enemy were killed.

"We have improved our positions slightly on the borders of the Mormal Forest and north of the Raismes Forest."

The text of the British official Italian statement today reads:

"British front in Italy, Sunday—The line of the Tenth Army is reported tonight to run south of Stabinzzos, Polo di Piava Borge, Zanettiborgo, Malanotti, Lasegac and Tenon.

"Prisoners counted up to 6:15 o'clock this evening amounted to 5,620, including 121 officers. Of this number 3,520 men were taken by the Fourteenth British corps.

"The number of guns at present counted amounts to 29, including six 9-inch howitzers taken by the Twenty-Third British division."

General Debeney's first French army continues to press the Germans back between the Oise and the Serre. Unofficially they are reported in the outskirts of Guise and along the road between Guise and the important railroad point of Marle, toward which General Mangin is advancing east of the Serre. Further east, toward the Aisne, the Germans are reported to be retiring before the continued French pressure.

Fighting continues in the Italian theatre, with the British extending their lines east of the Piave in the region of Montello, where they have advanced more than two miles from the river. In these operations the British have captured more than 5,600 prisoners. Vienna reports the recapture of Monte Asolone, between the Brenta and the Piave, and the repulse of Italian efforts elsewhere on the Mountain front.

In northern Serbia the Austro-Hungarians have given up Kragulevatz, fifty-five miles southeast of Belgrade. The town formerly was the main Serbian arsenal, and is of vital strategic importance.

General Ludendorff's retirement as first quartermaster general of the German army is reported to have resulted from the action of the civil authorities in taking control of the military. It is reported also that the General resigned owing to a complete disagreement with Chancellor Prince Maximilian.

FRENCH GAIN ON LYS FRONT

Special Star Cable by United Press.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—"On the Lys front, south of Deynze, French troops captured a farm which had been organized for defensive purposes, taking 100 prisoners," Field-Marshal Haig reported today, in his special Belgian communique.

BELGIAN COMMUNIQUE.

HAVRE, Oct. 28.—"The enemy's artillery was active yesterday, especially against the front lines and our communications," the Belgian War Office announced early today.

SERBS DRIVE BACK BABAROUS FOE

Special Star Cable by United Press.

PARIS, Oct. 28.—The French War Office eastern communique announced today:

DEBENEY'S SUCCESS A BRILLIANT ONE.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Oct. 28.—Germany's armies have begun a new retreat, this time between the Oise and the Aisne. General Debeney's first army, in the teeth of stubborn resistance and repeated counter-attacks, has succeeded in swinging on its right flank so that it faces east. It has reached Guise and the Guise-Marle road, driving the enemy before it.

General Debeney is now in a position to push rapidly along the upper Oises valley toward Hirson and Vervins, through a level country devoid of streams. The first result of his progress is to force the enemy opposing the Tenth and Fifth French Armies, exhausted by fruitless counter-attacks, to begin a backward movement which is eventually bound to extend to the front before Rethel. This will open to the Fourth Army a double passage of the Aisne and Ardennes Canal.

General Debeney's success was won by sheer hard fighting. The importance the enemy attached to stopping this progress up the Oise may be gathered from the fact that the Germans yesterday threw in three fresh divisions, which, however, were knocked out.

RMAN REFORM BILL.

Associated Press.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 28.—The So- list Vorwaerts (Berlin) prints the posed text of the reform bill, ich includes the following pro- ions:—

First—War can only be declared h the sanction of the Reichstag d the Bundesrat.

Second—The Chancellor can only main in power while he possesses confidence of the Reichstag.

Third—The Chancellor will be sponsible for the political actions the Kaiser, and the Chancellor and nistry will be responsible for their ure of office to the Reichstag and ndesrat.

Fourth—The appointment, pro- tion and dismissal of officers of army and navy can only be effec- e by the signature of the Chancel- . The Minister of War will be d responsible for the same by the ichstag."

A despatch from Berlin says the ichstag on Friday passed in all stages the bill amending the law ating to the Government of sace-Lorraine.

According to a Dresden telegram, Saxon State Gazette announces t in view of the reorganization of Saxon Government the King has cepted the resignation of the Saxon nistry.

In the course of a speech in the ichstag on Thursday the German e-Chancellor, Freidrich von yer, said that the enemy's belief d assertion that the German ople were politically deprived of ir rights and were so oppressed d dependent on small ruling cies that it constituted a con- ant danger for the peace of the tire world, had been the greatest drance to the attainment of ce. This hindrance, he declared, d to be removed, and the Gov- ment had instituted far-reaching ernal reforms which were long rdue.

On the previous day the Vice- ncellor had said: "We need fidence, not merely at home; we ed the confidence of foreign untries, even the confidence of r enemies. For we want peace d we need it. Our enemies dis- ust our sincere intention to con- ude a peace of justice. They mis- ust us mainly on the ground of ny events in the past, concerning hich we cannot take it amiss of em if they have certain doubts. "We have therefore no use for yone in the Government who still vors a peace of force more than peace of justice. What we need order to be able to exist is an equivocal, honest and straight- rward policy. That alone can pro- ote our welfare in the future."

EADY TO QUIT ALSACE.

y Associated Press.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 28. — "As for lsace-Lorraine, it is at once clear at as these territories were expres- y mentioned among President Wil- n's fourteen points, we agree to the gulation of these questions by peace egotiations," said Dr. W. S. Solf, erman Foreign Secretary, in addres- ng the Reichstag on Thursday. (In e address refered to, President ilson said that "the wrong done to rance by Prussia in 1871 in the atter of Alsace-Lorraine, which has nsettled the peace of the world for early fifty years, should be righted.) "Moreover, having accepted Presi- nt Wilson's programme as the basis the entire peace work," Dr. Solf ontinued, "we will loyally and in the ense of complete justice and fairness ulfil the programme in all directions nd at all points."

AYS ISSUE INTERNAL.

y Associated Press.

BASIL, Switzerland, Oct. 28. — The uestion of Alsace-Lorraine is purely German internal question, declares arl Hauss, the new Governor of lsace-Lorraine, in a statement pub- shed in the Strassburg Gazette. The tatement is a reply to declarations ade in the Reichstag by Dr. Georg icklin, a deputy from Alsace-Lor- aine, and amounts to a governmental anifesto. It is issued in agree- ent with other deputies from Alsace- orraine.

The statement of Herr Hauss de- lares that the future of Alsace-Lor- aine must be decided by vote of the opulation, and that it is an internal uestion in Germany with which u nace conference could have nothing o do. It concludes by saying that a ew era is opening for Alsace-Lor- aine which will enable the two prov- nces to form a point of reconciliation etween France and Germany and "to ollaborate in establishing a com- romise between two civilizations alled to work in common for the afety and prosperity of humanity."

EARED MILITARY COUP.

Special Cable By Arno Dosch-Fleurot, To The New York World and The Montreal Daily Star. Copyright.

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 28. — Berlin apers of Saturday show that the new overnment of Germany feared an ttempted coup d'etat by the react- onary generals at headquarters led y Hindenburg and Ludendorff. This ttempt was expected to fail, but it as feared that it would shake the ew Government so seriously that the olsheviki elements, represented by he Left Socialists, would try to upset he Government from their side, ex- osing Germany to the dangers of a roletariat revolution.

With this in mind, the Reichstag is ushing a new constitutional amend- ment concentrating all power of con- trol in the Reichstag itself, so that the General Staff will be unable to make a pronouncement breaking off peace negotiations and throwing the country into chaos.

Vorwaerts says.

"The very latest events make a con- stitutional amendment especially urgent." It adds "Minorities, whether they consist of noble gen- erals or Bolsheviki, are not entitled to terrorize the public will."

A new storm was caused by an ef- fort of Marshal von Hindenburg to interfere with peace negotiations by wiring to the Berlin press confer- ence:

"Wilson expects capitulation from Germany, but the army and navy would rather fight to the last man."

This caused indignation in the Reichstag. Government papers now openly state that the demand for a Government which could ask Wil- son for peace originally came from General Headquarters.

Count Westarp, Conservative leader, sometimes called "The Uncrowned King of Prussia," added to the tension of the eve of the receipt of President Wilson's last note by cry- ing in the Reichstag: "The German army cannot wait twenty-four or forty-eight hours to learn whether Wilson demands capitulation."

The indications apparently were sufficient to cause the Tageblatt to say: "The supreme army command has decidedly changed its attitude since it ased the Government to ar- range an armistice. That paper adds: "The question which Wilson calls the kernel of the situation has developed to a point which cannot last much longer."

PLAYING INTO BOLSHEVIST HANDS.

The Conservatives tried on Friday to make capital of recent events and attempted from the tribune to make propaganda and a pronuncia- mento. The Tageblatt points out that such action is all the Bolshe- viki have been waiting for to turn loose with their revolution, saying: "This playing with fire must be prevented by decisive action."

The Tageblatt cites Georg Leb- deur, a Social Democrat, as saying in the Reichstag, "General Head- quarters is preparing a pronounce- mento," and "Labedeur spoke ironi- cally, but the affair is serious. Since Hindenburg and Ludendorff asked for an armistice their opin- ion has changed because the retreat in the West has succeeded without too much sacrifice. A complete change in the turn of events is ex- pected at the Kaiser's dictatorial word."

DEMANDS ABDICATION.

Cohn, Radical Socialist, advocated the abdication of the Kaiser because he protects the war party, saying: "There is no getting away from the point—war with the Hohenzollerns, peace without the Hohenzollerns. Not only the present wearer of the Crown, but his whole dynasty must leave the field."

Cohn ended by a call for an inter- national revolution which caused a tumultous outburst of protest.

Otto Ruehle, a Commonist, follow- ing Cohn, cried: "The workers de- mand a Socialist Republic and the abdication of the originator of the war—the Kaiser."

When called to order Ruehle re- plied: "That cannot save the Kaiser from the criminal court."

DISCUSS KAISER'S EXIT.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—German news- papers are discussing openly whe- ther the abdication of William Hohenzollern, the German ruler, is necessary to obtain peace for Ger- many. A Copenhagen despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company says the view held in Germany is that President Wilson does not de- mand the ruler's abdication, but will rest satisfied with democratic de- velopment of German political in- stitutions.

The Frankfort Zeitung says the monarch is confronted with the great- est difficulties in making the per- sonal decision whether Germany shall surrender or negotiate. It expresses the hope that he will make "a speedy and clever decision."

An official statement, according to which the demobilization of the Aus- tro-Hungarian army is being pre- pared, is published by the newspap- ers of Vienna, an Exchange Tele- graph despatch from Copenhagen says.

SAID SEPARATE PEACE IMPOSSIBLE.

BERNE, Oct. 28.—Professor Lam- masch recently was asked to form an Austrian Cabinet, and accepted, on condition that Austria-Hungary immediately make a separate peace with the Allies. Reports from Vien- na say that Emperor Charles de- clared such a thing was impossible, saying he had given his word of honor to the German Emperor never to make a separate peace.

DAILY RIOTS OCCURRING.

Canadian Press Despatch from Reu- ter's, Limited.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—It is persist- ently reported that riots are of daily occurrence in various parts of Ger- many, resulting in conflicts with the police and loss of life. The lack of raw material, especially for explo- sives, is seriously hampering muni- tion works. It is stated that Krupps have been compelled to dismiss many workers.

TO THE WOMEN OF MONTREAL:

The ladies' organization of the Victory Loan owing to the prevailing serious epidemic of influenza believe it would be unwise to prosecute their intended house to house canvass soliciting subscriptions, and thereby spreading the contagion, and therefore have decided to deny themselves the privilege of participating as an organization in this year's campaign.

Our captains and co-workers are being asked to use the best efforts individually to assist in making the Victory Loan the success I am confident it will prove to be. At the same time may I express the hope that the women of Montreal who subscribed so generously last year, and many others who were unable to do so, will this year aid in this necessary and patriotic duty.

Subscriptions may be sent direct to the Executive Committee at the Victory Loan Offices, Eastern Townships Bank Building, or to the women captains of teams, and will be duly acknowledged. The commission accruing to such subscriptions will be placed to the credit of the Canadian Red Cross and affiliated leagues fund.

Her veil of hand embroidered net was arranged in cap effect with orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and daisies. Miss Mabel West was bridesmaid, gowned in maize georgette with trimmings of deft blue, and wore a black velvet picture hat and carried tea roses. Mr. William Bell was groomsman. ODD ITEMS

THE WHOLE CHEESE.

It was brought to the notice of the Government this morning that under the new Election law, the smallest village in England is Hopwas-Hayes, in South Staffordshire, which contains only one voter. He constitutes the town meeting, of which he is both chairman and clerk, nominating and electing himself to both offices. He must audit his own accounts and present them to the authorities for their approval.

JUNE AND DECEMBER.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28—Tired of reminiscing over civil war times and the days in which, as a Yankee Republican political leader, he helped elect General Grant to the Presidency, Samuel H. Rundle, aged 86 and a millionaire, of Danbury, Conn., has brightened what remains of his life by taking today as his bride Gladys A. Brown, of New York and Washington, who has yet to see her twenty-fifth birthday.

WITH INTEREST WE HOPE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—Clerks in the main office of the Pennsylvania Railroad have just discovered that when George Pottsgrove died, 25 years ago, he had $187 due him in wages from the road, and a check was this morning forwarded to his widow.

NO NEW CONTRAPTIONS FOR HER.

BOSTON, Oct. 28—One Saco woman was chuckling this morning when the chief topic of conversation was the turning back of the clocks. "They don't fool me," she said. "I never set mine ahead."

TWO SPORTIVE YOUNGSTERS.

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 28—Capt. N H. Means, of Ellsworth, Me., who will be 94 years old this month, took an automobile ride yesterday to call on his brother-in-law, J. S. Young, who is 91 years old, and the boys had a great time together.

RETIRES AFTER JUBILEE.

Special to The Star from Our Own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 28. — After fifty years in the public service, Peter Connolly, chief messenger of the House of Commons, has been retired on superannuation. He entered the Government service at Quebec before the union, and came here at Confederation.

MRS. D. BARRY.

Mrs. Denis Barry, widow of the late Justice Barry, died Saturday evening at the age of 77. She was a daughter of the late Michael Morgan, merchant, of Sorel. Her husband, who was appointed a member of the district magistracy by the late Hon. Honore Mercier, died 23 years ago. Mrs. Barry, who resided at 349 St. Denis street, is survived by a son, James Edward Denis Barry, and a sister, Mrs. James Dunn.

Pte. Thomas Dinesen, who has been awarded the Victoria Cross for most conspicuous bravery displayed during ten hours of hand-to-hand fighting which resulted in the capture of over a mile of strongly and stubbornly defended enemy trenches, won the highest honor in the British Empire while attached to a Montreal regiment. Five times in succession he rushed forward alone and single-handed put out of action hostile machine-guns, accounting for twelve of the enemy with bomb and bayonet. His sustained valor and resourcefulness inspired his comrades at a very critical stage of the action and were an example to all.

Pte. Dinesen is a Dane, who enlisted through the Canadian Recruiting Mission at New York in June, 1917, and was attached to the Second Reinforcing Company of the 5th Royal Highlanders. He trained in Montreal during the summer and left for England in October, 1917, and on arrival in France was attached to the 42nd Highlanders.

Pte. Dinesen is a son of the late Captain Dinesen, member of the Danish Parliament and a well-known author and sportsman, who distinguished himself in the Danish-German war of 1864, and later served in the Franco-Prussian war of 1870 with the French forces.

Pte. Dinesen was anxious to take part in the great fight and endeavoured to get to England to enlist in the British forces, but as Danish civilians were not permitted to enter England, he crossed to the American continent, landed at New York, offered his services at the Canadian Recruiting Mission and was accepted.

THE WORLD'S PRESS COMMENT

BRITISH

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 28 — "The brevity of the German reply to President Wilson's last note is a measure of its significance," says the Daily News. "President Wilson's note put an end to further argument. It is due to Dr. Solf, the German Foreign Secretary, to say that his note is precisely what the occasion demanded."

"If peace, as the new posture of Germany warrants us in believing is coming within reach," the newspaper continues, "there must be no delay in taking steps to end hostilities. There is no justification in fighting on for what can be had for the asking. The terms of an armistice must be rigorous, but must not be needlessly so."

The Express, enumerating the latest occurrences in Germany, including the reply to President Wilson, exclaims:

"The signs portend enough, pointing to a speedy end of the nightmare, indicating an acceptance of the terms soon to be dictated."

The Chronicle says: "The German reply is, in effect, an unqualified acceptance. Nothing remains but for the associated powers to announce without delay the program of naval and military measures which the armistice necessitates. It is unlikely that Germany will object to the details after agreeing to the principle. If her situation were not desperate she would never have gone as far as she has. If any confirmation were needed as to the significance of Dr. Solf's reply, it would be found in General Ludendorff's resignation.

HOPES ALLIES WON'T REPLY.

The Daily Mail hopes and believes the Allies "will not do anything so foolish" as to immediately disclose the terms upon which they are willing to grant an armistice. The paper says the German reply does not meet President Wilson's questions, and after summarizing the most recent happenings in Germany, declares in effect that nothing is altered there.

"The sword is still in the hand of autocracy," the paper says. "It will be time enough for Marshal Foch to state the terms when that sword has been broken or surrendered."

"The promptitude of the reply may be accepted as convincing evidence at least of Germany's desire and need of an armistice," says the Post. "Dr. Solf's assurances regarding far-reaching changes are not very satisfactory. Nothing has happened as yet to suggest that anything fundamental has been changed in Germany except the expectation of victory.

The first condition of any armistice is that Germany shall be unable to break it or refuse the conditions the Allies dictate. If the German Government means business, it will send plenipotentiaries to Marshal Foch, but from present indications Germany's rulers are intent only on gaining time."

The Times says:

"There is no new viewpoint in the German reply except that it seeks rather crudely to impose upon President Wilson and the Allies the initiation of proposals for an armistice. It is for the Germans to approach the naval and military commanders with their formal petition for a cessation of war."

GERMAN

By Associated Press.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 28.—President Wilson's note to Germany was printed textually in the German newspapers on Thursday evening and on Friday morning. The Vossische Zeitung, of Berlin, printed the English text alongside the note in German.

Aside from the junker organs, which proclaimed the necessity of every man coming to the front for the Emperor and the Empire, many papers apparently contemplate without excessive lament the prospective disappearance of the Hohenzollern dynasty. Emperor's abdication is again strongly rumored to be impending.

It is noteworthy that the Frankfort Gazette hints at a coming "sacrifice" with comparative equanimity, and both the Berlin and Frankfort stock exchanges showed an improved tendency as a result of President Wilson's note.

Fears are not concealed that the Entente conference at Paris will put forward demands "incompatible with German honor," but the anxiety to know the exact terms of the associated Governments puts everything else in the background.

"Anger and shame are bad counsellors," says the Lokal Anzeiger, of Berlin, which is content to leave the decision to the army leaders. It is a significant sign of the times that Prince Charles Max Lichnowsky's pamphlet blaming the German Government for starting the world war, and saying that Great Britain did everything to avert it, has been permitted to reappear in Germany.

A BIG VICTORY LOAN BRINGS THE BOYS NEARER HOME

FIFTH VICTORY LOAN

MONTREAL'S ARMY GOES OVER THE TOP FOR $100,000,000

Cheerful Din Announced Start of Campaign, Begun Under Strange Conditions Due to the Influenza—"Avenue of the Allies" is Here

The Victory Loan battle is on. At 9 o'clock this morning a terrific medley of sound from bells and whistles from one end of Montreal to the other, announced the zero hour. The organized Victory Loan army that had been preparing for that moment through days and weeks, leaped to action and began the arduous task of "going over the top." Despite the influenza epidemic, they have the spirit that makes victories. Officers of the Victory Loan organization this morning expressed utmost confidence that Montreal would win her objective of $100,000,000 well within the time allotted, from now to November 16.

No official statement was made today at headquarters, in the Eastern Townships Building, as to the distance won in the first half day of the drive. The first announcement will be made at 6 o'clock this evening when the 25 captains of the teams of 25 will meet and hand in their reports of the first day's battle for dollars. Tomorrow and daily thereafter midday reports will be given out as well, showing the progress made towards the goal. Unofficially it was reported this morning that several firms had taken large subscriptions that will go far towards swelling the first day's total.

"AVENUE OF THE ALLIES."

It was a day of feverish activity for all members of the organization. The office of the chairman, J.W. McConnell, was the mecca for a stream of business men, team leaders, and those who wished to discuss various aspects of the campaign. But busiest of all on this opening day were the men connected with the "features department." Theirs was the part of completing in the shortest time possible the decoration of the streets, and especially the arrangement of the "Avenue of the Allies," on St. Catherine street, from Guy street, to Papineau avenue. F. W. Stewart is in charge of the features generally, while J. D. Chesney is vice-chairman. Charles Mackay has especial charge of the "Avenue."

The elaborate flag and picture display that graced Fifth Avenue, New York, at the time of the last Liberty Loan drive in the United States, loaned to Montreal for the Victory Loan by the Fifth Avenue Association, arrived in the city at the end of last week, and today was distributed from Almy's, St. Catherine and Bleury streets, to the various places to which the material had been allotted. Officers of the committee rushed up and down in their cars, notifying the stores that their allotment of decorations was on its way, and hard in their wake followed waggons bearing the flags and pictures. Simultaneously the decorations were placed on the stores all the way from Guy to Papineau, a crew of over 200 men being employed in this service under the direction of Mr. Mackay.

HOW FLAGS ARE ALLOTTED.

At noon the work was well under way, and St. Catherine street had blossomed out into such a gala appearance as it had never know before.

The scheme of decoration is carefully worked out by nations, and the twenty odd countries forming the Allied world are separated. One large store, for instance, represents Belgium. The centre of the plan is an immense oil painting, 18 feet long, and representing a typical Belgian war scene. About this painting are draped the flags of the country.

Great Britain—Henry Morgan & Company, Limited.
France—Dupuis Freres, Limitee.
Italy—Goodwin's, Limited.
Belgium — Fairweather's, Limited; R. J. Tooke, Limited.
Serbia—Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company.
Siam—A. Blumenthal's Sons, Limited.
China — The John Murphy Co., Limited.
Czecho-Slovaks—Jacobs Building.
Poland—Kellert Building.
Haiti—Lesser Bros.
Cuba—Letendre, Limitee.
Nicaragua — The Hamilton Company.
Greece—La Patrie; Holt, Renfrew & Company, Limited; Willis & Company, Limited.
Honduras—F. W. Woolworth Co., Limited.
Brazil — John Henderson & Company; The G. A. Holland & Son Co.
Liberia—Dandurand Building.
Montenegro—C. W. Lindsay, Limited.

The oil paintings which form the central feature of this street display are wonderful pieces of work by the best known artists of the United States. They are 18 feet in length and are fastened up on the outside of the stores, with the flags draped above and around them. All in all the street scene in the "Avenue of the Allies" is one of the most remarkable feats in decoration ever witnessed in Montreal.

FOR THE BIG PARADE.

In addition to the outside decorations, the committee has furnished the stores with a wealth of posters and other window decorations. The grand parade for the Victory Loan has been arranged for Monday, November 11, and to stimulate enthusiasm in that event, prizes have been offered for the best effects in window-dressing for the occasion. The first prize will be a $100 Victory Bond, and the second a $50 Victory Bond. For the best floats made in the city for the parade two prizes of similar value have been offered. There will be a number of smaller national parades as well as the great

WOMEN TURN OVER LISTS.

Although the ladies' committee of the Victory Loan has ceased to exist owing to the danger of influenza infection which a house to house canvass might involve, it is expected that the subscriptions of the women of Montreal will amount to no small sum. Captains and members of the now disorganized ladies' committee are at liberty to canvass their own households including household employes. Other women are asked to buy their bonds from the men's teams or through the banks.

At the Victory Loan headquarters this morning workers were completing the big task of redistributing to the men's teams the cards containing the addresses of possible women subscribers, cards which were necessarily called in from the captains of the now non-existent women's organization. Though there is some disappointment among the women that they cannot take the large personal share in the campaign that they did last year, they recognize the wisdom of the executive's decision that house to house canvassing would not be a wise step in view of the epidemic.

Accordingly the offices in the Coronation Building are closed and all the machinery for getting in touch with the women purchasers has been placed in the hands of the men's executive. The officials at the Victory Loan headquarters would appreciate it greatly if the members of the previously existent women's organization would send the subscriptions of their households with as little delay as possible. The commission on such subscriptions will be turned over to the Red Cross.

PROVINCIAL CAMPAIGN.

The Provincial Victory Loan Committee also started out today in splendid style. There were rumors about that several places in the province had gone "over the top" on the opening forenoon of the campaign. E. A. MacNutt and A. P. Frigon, joint chairman of the committee, received the following resolution this morning from the Hon. J. A. Tessier, Minister of Roads, and Mayor of Three Rivers:

"Whereas every municipality of the Dominion of Canada is invited by the Government of this country to subscribe a generous share to Victory Loan;

"Whereas, the City of Three Rivers has widely benefited of the industries which aim is to fill up war contracts and that it is to get some more benefit in the future;

"Whereas, I believe it is the interest of the citizens of the city to make it an honor to subscribe the $1,000,000 which is expected from them:

"I consequently think it advisable as the mayor of the city, to make an appeal to every manufacturing company operating in the city of Three Rivers, and to their employes as well, as to every citizen, to subscribe to Victory Loan through the office opened in Three rivers to raise the subscriptions of the Victory Loan. By this means they will allow the city to fill up what is expected, in subscribing its share of $1,000,000.

"So every citizen could see, with pride, the flag of honor offered by His Excellency the Governor-General, floating on the City Hall when the indicated quota will have been subscribed and this even before the end of the campaign."

AIRMEN ARE DELAYED.

The Star was informed this morning at the offices of the Royal Air Force that the two aviators who were to fly from Deseronto and Leaside Aviation Camps to Montreal, as a feature of the opening of the campaign, had been unable to make a start as late as noon today, owing to the high wind and weather conditions prevailing in Ontario.

A hangar and other preparations have been completed for their reception at the Polo Grounds. During their stay these aviators will contribute to the loan campaign, by dropping pamphlet appeals from the air to the streets below, and by various other interesting performances.

PREMIER BORDEN REMINDS NATION OF ITS PLEDGES

Appeals to All Canadians to Back Men on Firing Line

PRIME MINISTER BOUGHT FIRST BOND

Halifax Bombarded from Air with Loan Literature

By Canadian Press.

TORONTO, Oct. 28.—The following appeal "To the Canadian People," from the Prime Minister of Canada, Sir Robert B. Borden, is issued today, the first actual working day of the great Victory Loan campaign.

"More than four years ago, Canada, under a high sense of duty, undertook her part in this supreme struggle for the world's freedom. From that time to the present, our effort has never slackened, and is at its maximum today. From month to month, and from year to year, the world's destiny has hung in the balance. The battle-line has happily been far remote from our own shores, except for the occasional venture of a submarine raider, but none the less it is our own battle-line which Canadians have held and advanced beyond the ocean.

"Now that victory seems in sight, we are called upon for the final and supreme effort which will crown the untold sacrifices of the years that are behind us.

"Canada's purpose has never been more gloriously maintained than during the past four months, in which our forces have been in the forefront of attacks that are still hurling back the hosts of tthe Huns and freeing humanity from the menace of cruel and relentless militarism.

"The final effort cannot be obtained until the nation makes ample provision for those who fight its battles. For that purpose the latest Victory Loan is placed before you. The labors of our people at home have been abundantly rewarded, and the national prosperity has never been more fully assured.

You are asked to lend in order that you country may keep inviolate its pledge to those heroic men who have gone forth from our shores to fight for our liberties and who under the sternest tests have never shrunk from even the last sacrifice.

"You have before you both a compelling duty and a great opportunity of service. In any effort necessary to win the war you have never fal- that you will not fail now.

(Signed) "R. L. BORDEN."

ONTARIO STARTS WELL.

By Canadian Press.

TORONTO, Oct. 28.—With guns booming and whistles blowing in all the big cities of Ontario, the first day of actual canvassing for the Victory Loan of 1918, began this morning all over the province.

In most cities of central and western Ontario, the beginning of the work was accompanied by a generous downpour of rain, but the Victory Loan workers, far from allowing their spirits to be dampened by this, heralded the incidental weather conditions as a forerunner of showers of blessing, so far as their work is concerned.

Few figures of actual results were available at noon, but it was stated generally that the number of sales tonight in practically all localities woud indicate that the campaign had opened with a bumper day.

In Toronto city up till noon the sum of $845,000 in subscriptions from firms and individuals was reported. Toronto's objective is $80,000,000.

NOVEL HALIFAX STUNT.

By Canadian Press.

HALIFAX, Oct. 28.—Armed with a proclamation read by Lieutenant-Governor Grant before a mass meeting of citizens held in the open air, six of the city's prettiest girls set out for the United States Aviation Camp near here this morning where they commandeered an aviator and seaplane, and sent him soaring over the city distributing literature announcing the launching of the Victory Loan campaign.

The literature was enclosed in envelopes, numbered serially, and a series of drawings will be conducted by the United States Consul-General for the purpose of determining the ownership of a fifty-dollar bond which will be awarded the person picking up the lucky envelope.

ST. JOHN STARTS.

By Canadian Press.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 28. — The Victory Loan campaign was inaugurated at nine o'clock this morning with the screeching of factory whistles and the clanging of the fire alarm. The local campaign committee gathered on the City Hall steps, where Mayor Hayes bought the first bond. With a spirited address from him, the canvassers tehn sent out on their ounds.

VICTORY!

INVEST IN IT!

BUY VICTORY BONDS

The Dominion Government begins today selling shares of stock in that glorious company, the Allies. It is a "going concern," indeed, it has just about arrived.

The buyer of VICTORY Bonds invests in Victory.

Recent world events have made it possible to say that, with general consent. Sooner or later, the Central Powers are doomed to military, political and economic disaster.

Invest in VICTORY! No better business deal was ever put through. Victory means for the Allies an inestimable economic gain.

VICTORY means that, in the mine we have been operating, gold has been found in paying quantity. VICTORY means we have "struck it rich."

Is it necessary to plead the advantage of investment in an enterprise the success of which is blazoned on every bulletin board in the world?

The VICTORY LOAN is a financial proposition. Its value depends on the condition of the Allied cause. That condition is one of prosperity unexampled and unprecedented. The fifth Victory Loan is, therefore, unbounded in attractiveness as an investment. It commands instant action.

The democratic peoples of the world have every right to reap the full advantage won by their great efforts. Financial advantage, open to all, is neither discreditable nor dishonorable.

VICTORY Bonds pay 5½ per cent interest and are exempt from all taxation. The country needs the money now. Later on, the money will be paid back with increase. But, with VICTORY, the bonds may so increase in value as to return a much larger sum. That's what makes this particular VICTORY LOAN so interesting.

VICTORY IS YOURS. USE IT! MAKE IT PAY. BUY VICTORY BONDS and preserve them as the purest jewels you could secure. Buy all the VICTORY Bonds you can, with the money saved up or the money in prospect.

And then the day of final VICTORY will be the richest pay-day you have ever known.

More than that—far more than that—every bond you can buy is a bullet or a bayonet or a bomb aimed at the Curse of the World.

Every bond is a blow at the Kaiser and his hellish war machine that knows no law nor mercy; no honor and no humanity—the Juggernaut that crushed peaceful Belgium and splashed the blood of women and children contemptuously in the face of a horrified world. Every bond is a blow struck to avenge them—a blow to make impossible a similar crime.

And every bond is a memorial to the brave men who have died to crush this monstrous thing and keep us safe and free.

DEATHS CONTINUE BELOW 100 MARK; DOCTORS HOPEFUL

Unless This Afternoon's Figures are Extraordinary, Worse it Over

NO TALK YET OF LIFTING THE BANS

Provincial Conditions are About the Same — Reports from Hospitals

Returns made to the City Hall this morning show definitely that the influenza epidemic is lessening—unless the medical men send in a flood of cards this afternoon. At noon 74 deaths had been reported and as usually most of the returns come in during the morning it is hoped that to-day the death list will fall below the 100 mark for the third time. If it does there will be further proof that the epidemic is at least constant in its actions as in many of the American cities when the deaths totalled 100 a day they continued to do so for 12 days. Such was the case in Montreal. Friday last was the twelfth day on which the deaths totalled over 100 daily and on Saturday they fell below that mark.

With the epidemic on the wane many are anxious to have the various health regulations lifted, but there is no indication yet when this will be done. The city authorities deem it wiser to wait a few days more before predicting when normal conditions will return, especially as the influenza is quite rampant in many parts of the province.

The notifications of new cases had totalled 460 at noon hour to-day.

HOSPITALS REPORT.

PROVINCIAL CONDITIONS.

The epidemic shows little sign of abating in the province, according to reports received at the Provincial Board of Health this morning. These show that since October 25, seventy-five additional municipalities have reported the disease within their borders, with an average of fifty cases in each municipality.

Conditions are somewhat better in the districts immediately surrounding the city, however, there being fewer new cases and fewer deaths reported.

Ten new cases were notified in Verdun during the week-end, with five deaths for the same period. Since the epidemic began there have been 845 cases reported in Verdun to date, with ninety deaths. Last week there were ninety new cases and thirty-four deaths.

In Westmount there were twenty new cases reported during the week-end, five of these being notified this morning. No deaths occurred in this municipality.

Lachine reported 13 new cases and two deaths.

Outremont has so far escaped lightly, with only thirty-six cases reported last week, and but eleven deaths since the epidemic started.

At Longueuil there were three new cases with one death.

No new cases and no deaths were reported from St. Lambert or Montreal West.

The Verdun Hospital for the Insane reported one death and no new cases. Thirty-two cases have been notified here since the start of the epidemic.

Out of 3,400 inmates the St. Jean de Dieu Hospital for the Insane at Longue Pointe has 134 cases of influenza, and with but three deaths to date. The majority of the cases are mild in nature, and the mortality has been kept low by the prompt measures taken to prevent and remedy the disease.

MILITARY SITUATION BETTER.

In the Montreal Military District the influenza epidemic seems to be under control. Major-General E. W. Wilson, C.M.G., expressed himself as very hopeful this morning when he gave out the following figures, corrected to midnight of the 27th:—

Admissions: Montreal, —3; St. John, nil. Discharges, nil. Deaths, nil. Undergoing treatment: Montreal, 139; St. John, 48. Total sick: Montreal, 558; St. John 681. Total deaths: Montreal, 126; St. John, P.Q., 21.

HOSPITALS, ARE HOPEFUL.

That the epidemic has been practically broken is the opinion expressed at the city hospitals today, where a considerable decrease in the number of new cases admitted is reported.

At the Montreal General Hospital where there were no deaths during the week-end, and but four new cases admitted, the situation was described this morning as being much improved.

The Royal Victoria Hospital, with 193 cases under treatment, had seven deaths yesterday, and reported a bare half-dozen new cases this morning.

Only three new cases were admitted to the Western Hospital yesterday, and there was one death. Sixty-four influenza cases are under treatment at the present time at this hospital. Dr. Stewart, the medical superintendent, who is ill with the disease, was reported this morning to be doing well.

No fresh cases were admitted to the Notre Dame Hospital yesterday or this morning, and there was but one death yesterday.

The Hotel Dieu Hospital received 65 new influenza cases last week, and there are now 106 patients under treatment. There were 16 deaths during the week, and 34 patients were discharged as cured, 106 calls for influenza cases were answered by the hospital ambulances.

Two fresh cases were admitted to the Catholic Sailors' Club temporary hospital today. No deaths have occurred among the 63 patients under treatment here since Saturday. Nine cases were discharged this morning and ten yesterday.

THAMESVILLE HAS BRILLIANT RECORD

Subscribed $48,000 to Victory Loan in Twenty-five Minutes

TORONTO, Oct. 28.—Thamesville is some town. In twenty-five minutes after midnight of Sunday, its people had earned its loan flag and two stars by subscribing $48,000, having been asked to subscribe $25,000. The large amount represents sixty dollars per capita for the whole population. As soon as the midnight hour had struck, an auto started out with a piper and a trombone player in it, and the canvassers behind and they went over the top as stated. The report does not say whether the piper or the trombone player scared most people, but the town is naturally proud of its record. It has always done well in the loans and in every patriotic endeavor.

DIED DOING DUTY.

Captain, the Rev. Charles Asbury Sparling, of Hamilton, who before joining the army in June last, was rector of St. Mark's Church there, died in the Hamilton Hospital yesterday of influenza, contracted while attending a dying soldier in Niagara camp, where he worked zealously among the sick men. He was the son of Charles R. Sparling, Toronto, and was born in 1881. His wife, son and daughter survive.

Another bright young pastor paid the penalty for devotion to duty in the death on Sunday morning at St. Michael's Hospital here, of the Rev. Francis Corrigan, C.S.R., one of the priests of the Redemptorist Fathers in Canada. He was born in Toronto about 30 years ago, and following his ordination three years ago, was stationed at St. Ann's, Montreal. He was assigned recently to the missionary band of St. Patrick's Church, this city. It is believed that he contracted the influenza while assisting on mission work in the Province of Quebec. He had been ill for a week only. His mother and sister reside here.

W. H. HOYLE, M.L.A., DEAD.

W. H. Hoyle, member of the Legislature for North Ontario, who has been ill for some time, died at his residence, 52 Concord Avenue, Toronto, yesterday. He had represented the riding named since 1898, and for several years he was Speaker of the Legislature. His illness of late has been such as to deprive public gatherings and large circles of friends of his presence.

EPIDEMIC LIFTING.

Eleven deaths from influenza and three from pneumonia were recorded at the city hall, Toronto, up to the closing hour, noon, on Saturday. That is a big drop, and the officials, while realizing that to-day may bring in heavy figures of deaths over the week-end, speak with confidence of the abatement of the epidemic. Schools, theatres and other places of like nature will remain closed for the balance of the week, however.

One of Brockville's chief industries, the Canada Carriage Works, was wiped out by fire early on Saturday morning. Spontaneous combustion in the woodworking shop is believed to have been the cause. The damage is estimated at $500,000, with $600,000 insurance. B. WILLIAMS.

OFFICIAL WAR REPORTS

BRITISH

London, October 28.—The official War Office report yesterday said:

A hostile counter-attack, preceded by a heavy bombardment, was carried out this morning against our line in the neighborhood of Englefontaine. The enemy was repulsed, leaving many dead. Our positions were maintained intact.

Another counter-attack was launched in the afternoon against our position in the neighborhood of Artres. This was also repulsed with heavy losses. We captured a few prisoners.

There were patrol actions on different parts of the front.

Italian Front—On the night of October 23-24 the Tenth Army undertook operations against the island of Grave di Papadopoli in the Piave. The Seventh British Division crossing the river in small boats, under circumstances of considerable difficulty, surprised the garrison, which consisted of troops of the Seventh Austrian Division, and occupied the northern half of the island. In the operation some 360 prisoners were captured. The remainder of the island was cleared of the enemy on the night of October 25-26 by a combined movement of British troops from the north and troops of the Twenty-seventh Italian Division, who crossed the Piave and attacked the southern end of the island. In these operations some 350 additional prisoners were taken.

This morning the Austrians made a violent counter-attack on the British troops holding the northern portion of the island. The enemy advanced with determination, and reached within ten yards of our foremost line. He was everywhere repulsed with heavy loss, and further prisoners were captured.

Sunday morning's statement said:

After a heavy bombardments yesterday evening, the enemy delivered a determined counter-attack in strength against our positions on the railway immediately northwest of Le Quesnoy. The attack was completely repulsed with great loss by our rifle and machine gun fire.

Saturday night's statement said:—

As a result of a successful operation commenced by us this morning, south of Valenciennes, we captured the village of Artres and Famars, thus securing crossings of the River Rhonelle at the former place, and pushing forward along the east bank of the Scheldt toward the southern outskirts of Valenciennes. A counter-attack delivered by the enemy in the neighborhood of Englefontaine was repulsed. During the course of to-day's operations we took prisoners, about 1,000 Germans."

The British have made further progress toward the Scheldt and have captured the village of Avelghem, southeast of Courtrai.

A War Office communication dealing with the operations of the British forces on the Italian front, issued last night, says:

"The Tenth Army's attack has met with considerable success. On the right of the Eleventh Italian Corps, commanded by General Paolino, we are advancing east of the river and have reached the line from the neighborhood of Roucadelle to a point have way to Cima Dolino and St. Pelo Di Piave, where we are in touch with the Fourteenth British Corps under Lieutenant-General Sir J. N. Babington, who has captured Tezze and Borgo Malamotte.

"The prisoners already captured in today's operations exceed 2,000."

British troops fighting along the Piave River since the night of October 23-24, have occupied half of the island of Grave di Papadopoli and taken more than 710 prisoners, according to an official statement issued to-day. Saturday violent Austrian counter-attacks were repulsed.

The important city of Aleppo was occupied by British cavalry and armored cars Saturday morning, says a British official statement issued yesterday on operations in Syria and Palestine. The statement reads:

"Our advanced cavalry and armored cars occupied Aleppo on the morning of October 26, after overcoming slight opposition."

An official communication on the operations in Mesopotamia says:

"Our troops continue to pursue the Turks on both sides of the Tigris. On October 25 our columns moving up the eastern bank forced a passage of the Lesser Zab near its mouth, in conjunction with our cavalry, which crossed this river the previous evening seven miles further upstream.

"A later movement turned the left flank of a Turkish force holding the angle formed by the junction of the Lesser Zab with the Tigris, and assisted the main body to drive the enemy across the Tigris to the western bank.

"Meanwhile our troops, advancing up the right bank of the Tigris, over a difficult country much cut up by ravines, drove the Turks from a hill position which they were holding in prolongation of their forces on the left bank. The enemy, after burning his stores, retired about four miles further up the river.

"On the Kerkuk road our patrols entered the southern outskirts of Kerkuk. The Turks appear to be occupying in strength the high ground to the north of the town."

FRENCH

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Last night's official statement issued by the War Office:

The enemy, pressed hard by our advanced guards, continues his retreat between the Oise and the Serre on a front of more than twenty-five kilometres (about fifteen and a half miles). Our advance at certain points exceeded eight kilometres in the course of the day.

On our left we occupied Boperies, Proix and Macquigny, and pushed our advanced elements as far as the outskirts of Guise.

Further south our troops are drawing near to the road between Guise and Marie, having attained the general line of Bertaignemont wood, Landifay-et-Bertaignemont, west of Faucouzy, Monceau-le-Neuf and Montigny-sur-Crecy. We took numerous prisoners and captured considerable material.

Since October 24 the number of prisoners taken by the First Army has reached 3,700. In the booty taken by this army in the same period were twenty cannon and several hundred machine-guns.

On the Serre front, the Tenth Army, to close liaison with the First, has energetically presed the enemy northward. Our troops have occupied Crecy-sur-Serre and have gone considerably beyond that point.

West of Chateau-Porcien, the fighting in the last two days has likewise compelled the enemy to abandon part of his Hunding position, which he had still held between Herpy and Revouvrance. Our units are keeping in close contact and are continuing their progress.

Eastern theatre—Continuing their vigorous pursuit, notwithstanding the stubborn resistance of the enemy and very unfavorable weather, the Serbian troops reached on October 25 the heights south of Kragujevatz in the Morava valley and are at the southern outskirts of Chuprija. The enemy set fire to the station and depots at Kragujevatz.

It is confirmed that in their retreat the Austro-German troops committed atrocities of all sorts, despoiling the populations.

Sunday morning's statement said:

During the night the troops of the First Army redoubled their efforts along the entire front between the Oise and the Serre. The Germans, disorganized in the fighting yesterday, were compelled to fall back along the entire line toward the north. They abandoned the positions which they had occupied. The French conquered Mont St. Origny, Origny-Ste. Benoite, Courjumelles and Chevresis-Monceau, and also a number of fortified points between these villages. On the right, French units crossed toward the northeast, capturing Hill 117 and Sucrerie, 1,500 metres east of Richecourt. A number of prisoners also were taken in this action.

On the front of the Serre the Second Army, supporting the movement of the First Army, also made gains. We crossed the Serre east of Assix-sur-Serve and penetrated the German trenches. East of Sissonne violent German counter-attacks in the region of the Macquigny Farm were broken up by our fire. Artillery fighting continued very lively on the front between Banogne and Nanteuil-sur-Aisne.

The number of prisoners taken during the fighting of October 25 and 26, between Sissonne and Chateau Percien, is more than 2,450, including 51 officers.

Saturday night's statement said:

Our troops, supported by tanks, today carried out a vigorous thrust, between the Oise and the Serre. The enemy was overthrown and driven from several villages. We captured Pleine-Selve, Parpeville and Chevresis-les-Dames and pushed north of Pleine-Selve as far as the approaches to Courjumelles. We took numerous prisoners.

Between Sissonne and Chateau Porcein, the Germans attempted during the day to retake from us our gains of yesterday. Their counter-attacks with heavy effectives were renewed several times, especially south of Banogne and Moulin-Herpy. These, brought up against the resistance of our troops, who everywhere, repulsed the enemy and maintained their positions.

Aviation—On October 25 our air-squadrons gave our troops effective co-operation during the battle engaged along the front of the Fifth Army. Our pursuit patrols likewise circled over the field of battle at a height of from one to two hundred metres assuring security of the air. Our observation planes, flying still lower, machine-gunned enemy troops, convoys and batteries, supporting the tanks in their attacks, regulating the fire of our artillery and marking the advance of the infantry.

One air crew fearlessly carried out its work forty metres above the earth, braving the fire of the German machine guns, which were reported to our troops by signals. Another at an altitude of less than 300 metres carried out a reconnaissance four miles inside the enemy lines, and was able to report large enemy reinforcements arriving by camions in the region of St. Fargeau, which were immediately taken under our fire.

Eastern theatre, October 25.—The Allied forces continue their progress in Serbia, in pursuit of the Austro-Germans in retreat northward.

Belgian communication—There is nothing to report on the front of the French-Belgian armies. The Second British Army made some advance in the direction of the Scheldt, occupying Avelghem.

ITALIAN

ROME, Oct. 28.—Last night's official statement said:—

The attack of our Tenth Army across the Piave in the area of the island of Grave di Papadopoli commenced at 6.45 o'clock this morning. The Italian troops on the right met with strong resistance. According to the latest reports, after heavy fighting, this resistance was overcome and the advance successfully commenced.

On our left, the British troops are advancing satisfactorily and have reached their first objective according to programme, overcoming strong resistance.

Sunday morning's statement said:

On Monte Grappa strong and repeater attacks were launched by the enemy yesterday, the action being localized in the areas of Monte Asolone and Monte Pertica, and at the salient of Monte Solarolo. The enemy was repulsed with heavy losses, and 514 prisoners remained in our hands.

On the middle Piave the fighting activity greatly increased during the day. Yesterday possession of the island of Grave di Papadopoli was completed and here 351 additional prisoners were captured. Numerous enemy forces sent forward in a counter-attack, especially against the British troops were destroyed.

Our own and Allied aircraft has displayed much activity carrying out powerful bombing operations against the enemy's lines of communication, and repeatedly attacking his troops in position and on the march with machine gun fire. Ten hostile airplanes were brought down in aerial combats. On the railway station at Levico, which was surprised in full activity, 500 kilograms of bombs were dropped last night by one of our airships.

Saturday's statement said:

In the region northwest of the Monte Grappa massif, fighting begun at dawn continued the whole day yesterday on the terrain carried by us on the preceding day. The struggle was fierce and with varying fortune, but finally the stubbornness of the Fourth Army overcame the desperate attacks of the enemy and our positions were maintained and extended at some points.

In the last twenty-four hours, 47 officers and 2,002 of other ranks have been captured. The Pesaro Brigade and the 18th and 23rd assault detachments carried out the difficult conquest of Monte Pertica, which had been formidably fortified by the enemy.

GERMAN

BERLIN, Oct. 27, via London, Oct. 28.—The official communication from general headquarters today says:

Army group of Crown Prince Rupprecht in Flanders—There are no special fighting operations to report. The enemy is continuing the destruction of Belgian villages behind the front. The populations in Ooteghem and Ingoyghem, who had sought refuge in cellars on account of the bombardment by incendiary shells, have perished for the greater part.

South of the Scheldt we repulsed by our counter-attack strong enemy attacks between Famars and Artres. In partial attacks the enemy penetrated into Englefontaine and Hecq He was again driven out of Hecq by our counter-thrust.

Army group of the German Crown Prince—From the Oise to the Aisne the French continued their attacks. On both sides of Origny we repulsed them before our lines. The enemy, who penetrated into our positions near Pleine-Sleve, was held up on the height northeast of the town, and his attempts directed from that point to bring about the fall of our front on the Oise by an attack in a northerly direction failed, with heaviest losses to the enemy. Origny and the heights to the southeast were maintained. Numerous armored cars of the enemy were destroyed.

In the Serre sector, enemy thrusts from Mortiers were brought to a standstill before our lines. Violent attacks against the Souche sector, between Froidmont and Fierrepont, were repulsed. Towards evening we repulsed attacks which were renewed by the enemy in great strength.

On both sides of Sissonne the enemy infantry yesterday remained inactive. On the heights west of the Aisne a local counter-attack by our troops against Saxon Wood rendered abortive strong attacks which the enemy, with far-reaching objectives, had begun between Nizy-le-Comte and the Aisne. When crossing the height to the northwest of Nizy-le-Comte the enemy suffered heavy losses as a result of our artillery fire.

Here, as well as west of Banogne, attacks of the enemy completely failed. Desperate fighting lasted throughout the day in the thickly-wooded lands west of the Aisne. The fighting was in our favor. It came to an end near the Banogne-Chateau-Porcien road and near Herpy.

The Aisne front and army group of General von Gallwitz—On both sides of the Meuse there have been no large fighting operations.

Southeastern theatre — Movements to the rear lines are taking place according to plan in our successful defensive operations. Near Kragujevatz and Jogodina our rear guards protected the withdrawal of our main forces.

Saturday's statement said:

There have been tremendous and, thanks to the brilliant courage of our troops, successful struggles on many parts of the front. After a violent fire the enemy launched strong attacks in the Lys lowlands southwest of Deynze and between the Lys and the Scheldt.

From the north wing of the attack to the Courtrai-Oudenarde railway he was repulsed. North of the Scheldt the enemy, after slight ital gains of territory, was soon brought to a standstill.

The new line between Ingovghem and Avelghem held against repeated assaults in the afternoon. On the battlefield throughout the day the enemy artillery directed its fire on places lying behind the front, which up until now had been untouched by the war. They for the most part were destroyed by this fire, and the Belgian population suffered heavy losses in killed and wounded.

Between the Scheldt and the Oise, the British yesterday confined themselves to violent partial attacks. South of the Famars we threw back the enemy into his positions of departure by an extensive counter-attack. Southwest of Le Quesnoy and northwest of Landrecies attacks broke down.

Between the Oise and the Aisne, a big combined attack was launched by the French on a front of more than sixty kilometres. The main thrust was directed against our line between the Oise and the Serre, as well as between Sissonne and the Aisne. The enemy endeavored to capture the Serre-Souche sector by cutting off this tract of territory, which is strong, owing to the nature of the terrain. Attacks launched early in the morning between the Oise and the Serre broke down. In the afternoon the enemy obtained a footing in Villers-le-Sec and on the heights east of that place.

NOW, THEN, CANADA!

Subscribers Got the Benefit

OUR annual report for 1917 shows that we have issued capital stock to the amount of $18,000,000, and bonds $11,149,000 or $29,149,000 in all.

The value of our plant and equipment in use at the end of last year, in round figures, was $42,670,000, an excess of thirteen millions over our capital and bond liability.

How was this excess plant acquired?

By careful administration over a long period, our surplus earnings derived from the economical operation of our plant and from premiums on sale of stock and bonds, as well as from profitable investments, have been turned back into the business for the purchase of new equipment.

This means that on this thirteen odd millions no dividends have been paid; our subscribers, not our shareholders, have benefitted by it.

Rates have been low by reason of our small capital and bond liability. Neither stock nor cash bonuses have been paid our shareholders.

Net earnings for 1917 were only 5.5 per cent of our assets. At the increased cost of operation and maintenance our earnings cannot provide an adequate return on the investment.

This situation we wish to meet by the application of a fair schedule of rates.

RUBBERSET TRADE MARK BRUSHES

How Rubberset Brushes Got Their Name

YEARS AGO, under the old makeshift systems of brushmaking (employed to this day in many factories), it was not merely the common thing for brushes to lose their bristles—it was INEVITABLE. A brush might last a week, a month, a year—but sooner or later the bristle and the handle would part company "for keeps."

"Glue set" really meant, "Don't use this brush in water"; "Shellac set" cried out, "Don't put me in varnish"; "Pitch set" shrieked the warning, "I'll get soft if I get warm"; cement dried out and crumbled with age; wire or staples corroded, cut the bristles loose, or let them work out one by one; fragile thread broke. Altogether, the brush user's life was a merry-go-round of "don'ts," hard luck, and new brushes.

In those days we were in the hard rubber business, but we knew all the bad points about brushes, and a whole lot of good things about hard rubber. So we perfected a process of embedding the butts of the bristle in soft rubber and then vulcanizing this entire portion of the brush into one solid unit of almost flintlike hardness—a grip impervious alike to heat or cold, to flood or drought, to use, to old age, or to the chemical action of any compounds in which brushes may properly be used.

Thus came the adoption of the abiding principle "Every bristle gripped everlastingly in hard rubber"—the establishment of the ironclad guarantee "RUBBERSET must make good—or WE WILL!"—the development of the line to include a standard brush for almost every use to which a bristle brush is put.

And because the name RUBBERSET on a brush means that it is made by the Rubberset Company, that it possesses every good quality possible to any brush and the one outstanding feature which the ordinary brush cannot have, and because the original principle and the guarantee have been lived up to in sincerity through all these years, the better dealers throughout the Dominion will offer you RUBBERSETS to-day when you ask simply for the best.

TORONTO GOES OVER TOP WITH GREAT MEETING

Five Speeches Heard by Crowd of Nearly 35,000

PREMIER BORDEN DELIVERED APPEAL

With Finance Minister, Hon. Mr. Rowell and Premier Hearst

Special to The Star.

TORONTO, Oct. 28.—Favored by mild weather, an immense crowd gathered in that section of Queen's Park, north of the Parliament Buildings, here yesterday afternoon, to take part in the service of prayer and praise inaugurating Canada's Victory Loan campaign. At least 25,000 people were in attendance. Some place the number at 35,000. It was a quiet and well behaved gathering of citizens, which joined with evident appreciation of their meaning in the reading of the prayers and in the singing of the well known hymns led by eleven brass bands.

Starting on the very stroke of 2:30 the program was carried out without a hitch closing at about 3 o'clock. Fifteen minutes of the time was given to the devotional exercises and the rest to the addresses delivered from five separate platforms by Sir R. Borden, Sir Thos. White, Hon. N. W. Rowell, Sir Wm. Hearst, Premier of Ontario, and Hon. T. W. McGarry, Treasurer of Ontario.

Naturally the greatest crowd tried to hear the Prime Minister of Canada, though the crowds around the other platforms were big also.

Sir Robert reached the city Saturday evening, and was met at the station by city councillors and prominent members of the loan campaign committee. He was welcomed to the city by Tommy Church, and driven up Yonge street, with an escort of Dragoons, and followed by carriages with members of the committee. It was a rather silent ride, the great torchlight procession that had been promised did not take place, and for some reason not apparent the bands and the infantry escort were left a long way in the rear, and the Premier passed without lots of people knowing it.

Following yesterday's gathering, Mayor Church, in a message, to Torontonians urging that they subscribe liberally to the loan, said that the city had applied for one million dollars. He calls on the citizens to beat the allotment of $80,000,000.

AN ELOQUENT APPEAL.

The Prime Minister of Canada made an eloquent appeal, based on the four years' sacrifice of Canada's sons at the front, and the service they are doing for the liberation of the oppressed peoples of Belgium and Northern France.

"The end is not yet," he declared, "but the end may not be far distant. Even while I speak to you on this solemn Sabbath day our gallant soldiers are pressing on in their stern duty, and in the final and supreme effort through which alone victory can be grasped.

"The retreating hosts of the Hun have burned and destroyed and enslaved, even while their Kaiser pleaded for peace. God grant that peace may come, and that quickly—but not until Germany has learned her lesson.

"On a summer evening in July last, I heard distinctly in a little village just north of Brighton, England, the distant boom of guns at the front. It cannot reach us here, but this very day the thunder of Canadians guns beats time for the steady march of our men as they follow the sullenly retiring Huns. We at home, have sought to do our part, but how small a part it is compared with theirs!

PROSPERITY AT HOME.

"Notwithstanding the war, there has been, and there is with us, an abundant material prosperity. So now we must call again upon the resources of the prosperity with which we are blessed. We cannot maintain our armies at the front without the necessary provision of financial means to sustain them. The compelling needs of war conditions have imposed upon the nation other vast financial responsibilities. This second Victory Loan may prove in good truth to be the real Victory Loan. It may mark—I hope it will mark—the ultimate effort through which certain victory will be achieved.

"To make it a success the unceasing effort of every good citizen should be consecrated from this day until the 16th of next November. The man or woman, the boy or girl, who does not aid in that purpose, has fallen out of the ranks of good citizenship. The British people have provided, by loans, thirty billion dollars for war purposes; and neither there nor in any of the Dominions has any war loan ever failed of complete success.

"While in the United States in recent weeks, I was profoundly impressed by the wonderful spirit and overflowing enthusiasm of all the people, by their fine unanimity of purpose and action. It is reported that 25 per cent of the population of the United States were subscribers to their recent loan. A like proportion would mean nearly two million subscribers in Canada.

"Therein is a high example for us. If we seek a higher we may find it in the record of those heroic men who have gone forth from our shores and whose spirit, if it inspires us, will raise us far above any thought of failure. Remember their sacrifice, and consider that you are not asked to give, but to loan, and that upon the security of your country. The world offers no better today. The nation's purpose remains unfulfilled unless this loan makes that provision which is absolutely necessary to keep faith with those who have gone forth with cheerful courage, to fight and to endure—yes, perhaps to die—in order that we at home may live in security and comfort.

"The nation's purpose has been maintained with strong resolve and with firm heart up to the present. Like the spirit of our army, let it be so maintained to the end."

FINANCE MINISTERS APPEAL.

When Sir Thomas White told his audience that the Allies must not use by insipid diplomacy that which had been gained by such prodigious valor of arms, he raised a responsive chord.

"Today," he said, "is the time not to slacken, but to increase our every effort. We must not lower the pennant of the god of war until Germany has done what Bulgaria did, yielded by virtue of unconditional surrender.

"What was it?" continued the Minister of Finance, "that stemmed the rush of the German armies from the Somme to the seas? We may never know. Perhaps it was the new unity of the Allied command; perhaps it was the influence of Spanish influenza. But we are all agreed that it was the intervention of Providence."

It was fitting, Sir Thomas said, that the Victory Loan campaign in Ontario should be opened with devotional services. The war was being waged for the principles of Christianity, and only the knowledge that they were fighting for the rights of humanity had sustained the Empire and the Allied command. Through the Victory Loan the opportunity was given to the people of Canada to show their appreciation of the heroism and sacrifice of the Canadian forces in the field, and to again announce to the world Canada's unflinching determination to persevere to the end of final and conclusive victory.

HELPING TO SAVE WORLD.

By her efforts in the war, Canada had helped to save the world from barbarism. This had not been done without enormous sacrifice and suffering. It was not yet fully accomplished, although Germany could not now win. The German peace offensive, designed to separate and cause dissension among the Allies, had failed. If there was to be any armistice, it must be arranged with the commanders of the naval and military forces of the Allies. That meant unconditional surrender. In the meantime, the German armies were a long way from German territory, and still formidable. This was not the time for a slackening of effort, but for a redoubling of blows to bring the enemy to submission.

The war could not be carried on without money. The people were not asked to give, but to lend the money to the Government. Every patriotic citizen should subscribe to the utmost of his means. By so doing they would immediately assist in bringing the war to an end, and Canadian soldiers back to their homes and families. He had every confidence that Canada would do her full duty.

ONTARIO'S PREMIER.

"Every Victory Bond we buy," declared Sir William Hearst, "will cheer the lads at the front, will keep strong the arms and stouten the hearts and brighten the eyes in the firing line.

"The failure of this loan would mean starvation of business, unemployment, decrease in wages, and want and suffering. Unless Canada can furnish the credits Great Britain requires in this country to buy supplies, she must buy elsewhere. This would mean loss to everyone.

"Let us practice thrift and economy, and thus lay up something for rainy days that may be ahead of us."

Ontario might well be proud of what it has already done, but it must do even better. The province had contributed about half of the first Victory Loan.

"Germany's peace notes have no interest for me," he said, "except the evidence they afford that she is getting in sore straits. The proper answer to them is, greater pressure, more shells, more bombs, and more tanks."

Hon. N. W. Rowell said that while the prospect for victory was never so bright as it is today, the was is not yet won, nor did Germany show any evidence of repentance for her crimes.

"The question of peace," he went on, "is in the hands of Germany. If her rulers are prepared to follow Bulgaria's example and unconditionally surrender, they can have peace at once; but whether Germany's answer is peace or war, the money is needed. If the war continues, we will need larger sums than ever to maintain Canada's war effort. If peace is declared, in all probability it will be more than a year after the terms of peace are settled before all our troops can be returned to Canada and demobilized, and in the meantime they must be maintained. Any money which this year may be saved through peace, if it comes, will be urgently needed for the work of reconstruction, which is even now pressing for consideration."

The whole Victory Loan of $500,000,000, he declared, could be paid out of the single item of the increase in our savings bank deposits since the outbreak of the war.

Among the reasons he urged for support of the new loan were the support of the Siberian Expeditionary Force, to remove from our western coast the menace of a Prussianized Siberia, increased separation allowances and pensions, the needs of Canada's ship-building programme, and the vital factor in winning the war—the output of British Columbia airplane spruce.

HON MR. MCGARRY.

Hon. T. W. McGarry, Ontario provincial treasurer, who announced to the crowd the news of the resignation of General Ludendorff, said:

"We are met together today not alone for taking up a great collection, but for paying tribute through the Victory Loan, to the valor of Canadians at the front, and of sending a message of assurance across the seas."

It was one of our greatest privileges to be asked tolend our money to our own Government at 5½ per cent., and, speaking as one who has a good deal to do with financial affairs, he predicted that these bonds would bring a far greater price in any of the markets of the world, whether in New York, Chicago, London, or Paris, or any of the great capitals, the bonds would be honored at 100 per cent. cash. This would probably be the last opportunity given the people of this Dominion to help along the great work of our soldiers at the front.

"I would like to see less red tape in connection with soldiers' pensions," exclaimed Mr. McGarry, "and no soldier's widow should find it even necessady to write to the Government for help that should be given magnanimously."

CORNWALL LAD KILLED.

CORNWALL, Ont., Oct. 28.—Mrs. Alex. D. R. Grant has been notified that one of her sons, Pte. Clifford A. Grant, was killed in action on September 29. Pte. Grant was born in Martintown and was 22 years of age on August 16 last. The family came to Cornwall four years ago from the South Branch. Pte. Grant enlisted with a battalion at Cornwall on October 28, 1916, and went overseas in April, 1917. He trained in England until last January and went to France with an Ottawa battalion, being in the trenches eight months. The young soldier is survived by his father, who is in Gull Lake, Sask., his mother, two sisters and four brothers.

FINANCE MINISTER APPEALS TO THE ENTIRE DOMINION

OTTAWA, Oct. 28.—On the eve of the opening of Canada's great Victory Loan drive, the Minister of Finance issued the following message to the people of Canada:

The Victory Loan of 1918 is now being offered for public subscription. It is an undertaking of most vital consequence to the nation, and I cannot too earnestly emphasize the duty and responsibility resting upon all citizens of Canada to co-operate to the extent of their available resources in making it an unqualified success. The money to be raised is urgently required to enable us to continue the prosecution of the war, now in its fifth and most crucial year, and for the maintenance of the prosperity of the Dominion in all departments of productive activity.

Apart from patriotic considerations, which should alone suffice, it is the direct, immediate, personal interest of every individual Canadian citizen that the loan should not fail of its objective. The bonds afford absolute security and yield a most attractive rate of interest. Undoubtedly, in the period succeeding the war, they will show a substantial appreciation in value. All citizens are earnestly invited to subscribe. Remember, you are asked not to give, but to lend your money to the state.

Small subscriptions from those of slender means are as welcome as the large. In the last Victory Loan we received subscriptions of over four hundred million dollars from over eight hundred thousand subscribers. This year we expect five hundred million dollars from more than a million subscribers. Let all subscribe to the extent of their means, be they great or small, and once more demonstrate to the world the strength, unity, and determination of the Canadian people in this world struggle.

Even if the war should end at an earlier date than has been anticipated, all the money asked for will be required for the purposes of demobolization, which will extend over many months, and for the continuation of credits for the purchase of Canadian products.

The organization and publicity work in connection with the loan has been completed after many weeks of effort. It now remains for the people of Canada to do their share. That they will do so to the fullest degree I am entirely confident.

HOUSE TO HOUSE CANVASS FOR V.L. NOW CALLED OFF

Central Committee Thinks Ladies Would Run Risk of Infection

LADIES WILL NOT BE IDLE HOWEVER

County Honor Flag Challenge to Province from Huntingdon

The influenza epidemic has interfered with the Victory Loan campaign to the extent that the house-to-house campaign by the Women's Loan Committee, which was a most successful factor in the last Victory Loan drive, has been abandoned. It was decided by the general committee that such a canvass at this time would expose the women workers to infection, and also carry the danger of spreading the disease.

The women will not, however, entirely drop their share of the work. Under the chairmanship of Lady Meredith their organization will be kept intact, and vigorous efforts will be made by mail and telephone to add to the success of the drive. The following letter from J. W. McConnell, chairman of the Victory Loan executive, to Lady Meredith, contains the decision of the Victory Loan authorities on the matter:

ELIMINATE ALL RISK.

"Dear Lady Meredith: At a meeting of the Victory Loan Executive Committee held this afternoon, the activities of the ladies' organization and the inadvisability of a house to house canvass under the present circumstances were discussed very seriously, and the following resolution was passed:

"'Because of the serious risk the Ladies' Organization of the Victory Loan would themselves incur in making a house to house canvass during the epidemic of influenza, as well as the danger of carrying the infection to their own homes, the Executive Committee earnestly requests the ladies to disband their organization as a separate entity, and to co-operate with the Central Committee, thus giving the benefit of their invaluable services to the general organization in obtaining subscriptions in their own households, and influencing their friends to subscribe, without subjecting themselves to unnecessary risk."

"It is most regrettable that conditions are such as to render it impossile to carry out the intensive house to house canvas which produced such wonderful results last year, when your organization secured nearly eight thousand subscriptions, amounting to more than $3,500,000.

"I realize and fully appreciate the tremendous amount of work already done in building up an organization even more extensive than that of last year, and on behalf of the Executive Committee, permit me to thank you most sincerely, and, through you, all the captains and workers, for the sacrifices, they have made, and the good work accomplished.

"The utmost confidence is expressed that this splendid organization of the women of Montreal will co-operate in every possible manner to achieve the financial results so essential to the successful prosecution of the war and the continued prosperity of Canada. Yours sincerely (Signed) J. W. McConnell, Chairman."

LADY MEREDITH REPLIES.

"Dear Mr. McConnell: I am in receipt of your letter of the 24th inst., informing me that, owing to the prevailing deplorable epidemic of influenza, the executive committee of the Victory Loan of 1918 desire that the Ladies' Organization as such should desist from house to house campaign, and devote their energies to soliciting subscriptions in their own households and from their friends.

"Although our captains and teams will naturally share with me a feeling of disappointment that, owing to unfortunate circumstances, we are to be denied the privilege of participating to the fullest extent we would desire in the campaign, I fully share the feeling of your committee that it would be unwise under existing conditions for our ladies' organization to carry on a house to house canvass, and thereby subject themselves to contracting the disease, and the danger of spreading the contagion in their homes.

"But I feel I can speak for all our workers when I say that you can depend upon receiving their energetic co-operation individually, and that of their friends, as well as the ladies of Montreal generally, in doing all that is possible to assist in this necessary and patriotic work, and in making the Victory Loan of 1918 the overwhelming success I am confident it will prove to be. Yours very truly,

"BRENDA MEREDITH."

HONOR FLAG CHALLENGE.

A friendly challenge to the various counties of the province has just been issued from Huntingdon and forwarded to E. A. McNutt, joint chairman of the Provincial Victory Loan organization. It is as follows:

"To the sister counties in the province of Quebec:

"As a matter of friendly rivalry, Huntingdon County challenges you to a friendly competition, believing it will be the first county to obtain its honor flag, and we also believe that the total amount of subscriptions will be heavier than any other county (Montreal Island and Quebec City excepted) in proportion to assessed valuation. Here's to the winner of the race.

"(Signed), Andrew Philips, chairman; W. F. Stephens, secretary; R. E. Cogland, organizer."

The Canadian Consolidated Rubber Company has announced that it will subscribe for the Victory Loan an amount equal to all subscriptions by its employes.

HUNS DESTROYED HISTORIC PAPERS

PARIS, Oct. 26.—Deliberate destruction of property and documents of historic nature was carried out by the Germans at St. Quentin, according to a report made to Premier Clemenceau by the municipal authorities of that city, who have made an investigation.

Ancient city documents which had been walled up under control of the German command and placed under seal were found to have been removed or burned. Evidence showed that this occurred shortly after the inhabitants fled from St. Quentin in March, 1917. At the cathedral an attempt was made to mine the great pillars, but the rapid advance of the French prevented the Germans from carrying out their design.

HENDERSON BACKS WILSON'S NOTE

Declares it Will Materially Clarify Situation

Be Canadian Press.

LONDON, Oct. 28—Arthur Henderson, leader of the Labor Party in the House of Commons, said on Saturday that his first impression of President Wilson's note to Germany was that it would assist very materially in clarifying the situation.

"It is of the highest importance that the German people should be encouraged to look, not for a temporary cessation of hostilities, but for a permanent discrediting and destruction of the militaristic and arbitrary system that has involved them and nearly the whole world in unprecedented suffering and loss of life," he said.

"If the German people are honestly seeking peace, they should do all in their power to immediately provide such political safeguards and constitutional guarantees for the future world peace that no section of their population will be in a position, if so disposed, to influence a resumption of military effort.

"As President Wilson has clearly shown, the best safeguard against a future war is the reduction, at least to virtual impotency, of all the forces upon whom rests the direct responsibility for the horrors of the present struggle."

CANADIANS WIN VICTORIA CROSSES

Three Our of Four Go to Soldiers from This Dominion

Canadian Press Despatch from Reuter's, Limited.

LONDON, Oct. 28—Four new Victoria Crosses have been awarded, three of them to Canadians.

Sergeant Robert Spall, late of an Eastern Ontario regiment, is decorated for the most conspicuous bravery and self-sacrifice when, during an enemy counter-attack, his platoon was isolated. Spall took a Lewis gun and, standing on the parapet, fired upon the advancing enemy, inflicting very severe casualties. He then came down from the trench and directed the men into a sap 75 yards from the enemy. Picking up another Lewis gun, this gallant non-commissioned officer again climbed the parapet and by his fire held up the enemy. It was while holding the enemy up at this point that he was killed. Spall deliberately gave his life in order to extricate his platoon from a most difficult situation, and it was owing to his bravery that the platoon was saved.

The second Victoria Cross was awarded to Corporal Harry Garnet Bedford Miner, late of a Central Ontario regiment, for the most conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty in attack when despite severe wounds, he refused to withdraw. He rushed an enemy machine-gun post single-handed, killing the entire crew, and turned the gun on the enemy. Later, with two others, he attacked another machine-gun post, succeeding in putting the gun out of action. Miner then rushed single-handed an enemy bombing post, bayonetting two of the garrison and putting the remainder to flight. He was mortally wounded in the performance of this gallant deed.

The third Victoria Cross was awarded to Private Thomas Dinesen, of a Quebec regiment, for the most conspicuous bravery displayed during ten hours of hand-to-hand fighting, which resulted in the capture of over a mile of strongly and stubbornly defended enemy trenches. Five times in succession he rushed forward alone and single-handed put out of action hostile machine-guns, accounting for twelve of the enemy with bomb and bayonet. His sustained valor and resourcefulness inspired his comrades at a very critical stage of the action and were an example to all.

HEPBURN TO REVOLUTIONIZE LOCAL SOCCER GOVERNMENT

CALDER NOW PLEASED AT PEACE MOVES

Although President Frank Calder, of the National Hockey League, and the National Hockey Association could not be gotten to make a statement today, it is understood that things are veering around fast towards hockey peace with the National Hockey League on top.

President Calder assured several gentlemen interested in the matter here to that effect on Saturday last over the telephone.

There was some question about a certain payment, in which there was a difference of opinion as to whether it should be one thousand or fifteen hundred dollars, but that question according to the president's statements to his friends was also satisfactorily settled.

There are rumors that Livingstone and Quinn, have fallen out, but this may be some more camouflage.

It is also stated on pretty reliable authority that Livingstone and the Toronto Arena Company are coming together in the matter of settling Livingston's financial claim for last season out of court, and this naturally should help a good deal towards peace in general.

MAYOR CURLEY MAY BUY BOSTON BRAVES

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—Former Mayor James J. Curley is after control of the Boston Braves baseball team. He is understood to have the backing of a syndicate of local bankers. There doesn't appear to be any question as to the price.

Mr. Curley has had a conference with Manager George Stallings of the Braves, but he is not inclined to be talkative as to the result of it.

Current reports have James E. Gaffney, former owner of the Braves, agreeing to an extension of the mortgage he holds against the team, which comes due November 1. This extension, coupled with the Curley-Stallings conference, strengthens the popular belief that the Boston National team ownership will shortly change hands.

As peace indications brighten in the war some interest in the coming baseball season noticeably increases. This increased interest, with every likelihood of the 1919 season going through on regular schedule, is understood to be quite a factor in the pending deal for the Braves.

At club headquarters they declare there is nothing new in the situation. Apparently little is thought of any foreclosure danger, and the impression is given, though not in as many words, that the present owners will continue to control the team through the coming season.

Golf Clubs Wanted for Soldiers in Camp

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—A movement to provide soldiers at cantonments, with golfing paraphernalia has been started by officials of the United States Golf Association, and President Charles F. Thompson, of the Western Golf Association, today received letters from the officials of the national body asking him to interest clubs in the Western organization in the matter.

Golfers are asked to donate clubs, balls and caddy bags, which will be forwarded to a central point, and from there allotted to the various army camps. The plan does not contemplate the expenditure of a large sum of money by army athletic officials for the construction of golf courses, but wherever ground is available nine-hole courses are to be laid out.

Although golf is on the wane in the north, there are cantonments where it can be played throughout the winter, says a letter from Secretary Howard F. Whitney, of the United States Golf Association.

Jack Dempsey's Family Tree

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 28.—"I am neither a Jew, Pole or Slavonian—just plain American," said Jack Dempsey here yesterday in a statement following the Reisler Dempsey hearing.

"I have never told any one this story before, because I never wanted to tell my one, and because I don't think the folks back home in Virginia and Kentucky would be very glad to hear of it. I think I can claim origin from some of the proudest blood in America; I mean the old West Virginia and Kentucky mountaineers.

"Back in 1882 the country was electrified by the McCoy-Hatfield feud in West Virginia, and that feud cost close to twenty lives among my immediate relatives. Also it caused my father and mother to move West.

"I am a descendant of the McCoys and Hatfields. My father, Davidson Dempsey, is a relative of the Hatfields, and a second cousin of ex-Governor Hatfield, of West Virginia, while my mother, Cecilia Smoot, was related to the McCoys.

"I am leaving here for Philadelphia, near which I will go to West Virginia to visit some of my relatives and to look up a claim in a coal mine which my father believes belongs to him."

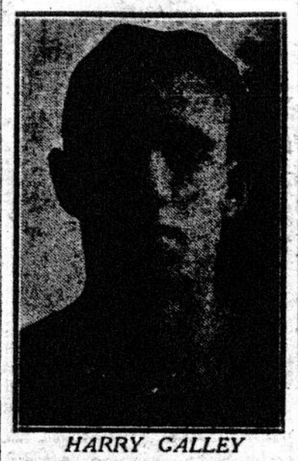

Influenza's Toll of the Sportsmen

VANCOUVER, Oct. 28.—"Smile" McKay, of Vancouver, one of the best-known professional lacrosse players in Canada, is critically ill with double pneumonia and is not expected to survive.

TORONTO, Oct. 28.—Harry McGavin, who won the 100 yard Canadian title at Winnipeg, in 1915, and also the sprints at the exhibition games the same year, is dead of influenza after a few days' illness.

He leaves a widow and one child.

SOCCER'S LATEST "FLU" VICTIM

HARRY GALLEY

Another well-known soccer player has fallen a victim to the prevalent epidemic, poor Harry Galley passing away on Saturday morning, after a few days illness.

Harry Galley had played soccer in Montreal for the last seventeen years, passing through Rosemount, St. Thomas, East End United, Royal Rovers to Sons of England, with whom he turned out regularly for the last two seasons.

While never a star, Harry Galley was a whole hearted player, letting up only on the final blow of the whistle.

GEORGE KENNEDY AND WRESTLING HERE FOR BENEFIT OF THE U.S.

George Kennedy said to-day that he had been requested by Jim Coffroth, through Jim Curley, to put on a wrestling match at Schmer Park here for the United States Warwork fund, but that he had written back saying that he would suggest that the proceeds be given to the Canadian Amalgamated funds for the Red Cross and Navy League, for which a big drive would be made shortly.

"If they insist, however, that I shall put one on for the American Fund," said Mr. Kennedy, "I suppose I will have to do it, since we can only get our wrestlers and boxers through amicable relations with the American promoters, and since after all funds for American warworks will indirectly benefit Canadians."

COMMANDER ROSS' LUCK HOLDING OUT

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 28.—When Cudgel, the big bay son of Broomstick and Eugenia Burch, which races under the black and orange colors of Commander J. K. L. Ross, laughed his way home in the Dixie Handicap at the Laurel track Saturday afternoon, he stamped himself as the very best horse now racing in America.

Carrying 128 pounds and ably ridden by Jockey Sande, this great four-year-old ran the mile and a quarter of the race in two minutes and three seconds. While this time was a second slower than the track record made by Hourless when he beat Omar Khayyam in that celebrated race here a year ago, it was still much faster than has been shown this year by any horse. It was even a much greater performance than that of Hourless from a time standpoint, for Saturday the track, which has had a new coating of top soil this season, was like a ploughed field as compared with the pasteboard track over which Hourless made his record.

While there were only three starters for the Dixie, it was a good horse race, and at the end Cudgel was an easy winner from Midway, while Omar Khayyam, the other starter, was four lengths back. At the start it was Midway who went out to make the pace, and then he and Cudgel came down through the first quarter out of the chute close together. Omar was showing a flash of speed, and took the lead before they got around the first turn, and these two ran together down through the back stretch, with Sande sitting perfectly still and Cudgel running easily.

At the final three-eighths pole, Sande kicked Cudgel a few times and the horse went up at the far turn, first passing Omar Khayyam and then challenging Midway, who was still leading until well down the stretch run, but in the final sixteenth, Cudgel showed his real quality by moving to the front after which he was eased up to land an easy winner, even though by so slight a margin.

Commodore Ross also annexed the Waterloo purse, an affair for two-year-olds at a mile, with Milkmaid, making it her third straight victory at Laurel. Under a clever ride by Sande, Milkmaid withstood a hard challenge by Be Frank, with Routledge a beaten-off third. Dramaturge, also from the Ross stables won the steeplechase, making a triple victory for the Canadian owner.

Willis Sharp Kilmer's Exterminator took the Ellicott City Handicap with ease from Aurumand Tomboio, under the clever handling of Knapp. Franklin, owned by J. S. Ward, took the Canvasback Stakes in a driving finish from Flittergold and Douglas S.

Edward B. McLean, of Washington, accounted for two of the handicaps. The Porter took the Blue and Gray Handicap in the driving finish from Crank, and Leochares annexed the Low Tie Purse in easy fashion from Valor, a rank outsider. Results:

Marshall Won at Chess Saturday

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—When play was called in the fourth round of the masters' tourney at the Manhattan Chess Club Saturday, it was found that the United States champion was pitted against the French champion, Janowski, Chajes had to face the Cuban, Capablanca, and the Canadian champion, Morrison, was pitted against the Serbian expert, Kostich.

A large crowd of spectators was in attendance and much satisfaction was evinced when it was found Marshall had the better position against Janowski.

Marshall relied upon a queen's pawn opening. By a well-figured advance of the king's rook's pawn Marshall had his adversary at his mercy, the more so as Janowski had to sacrifice several pawns.

Morrison and Kostich discussed a queen's pawn opening, in the course of which Kostich gained a strong attack after having sacrificed a pawn. The Canadian, however, put up a sterling defence, and, when the game was adjourned, material as well as position seemed pretty even, the Serbian master, though, being in position of a knight, while his adversary had a bishop.

STARTLING REFORMS BY N. HEPBURN

The following letter explains itself:
Sat., Oct. 26th,
397 Garnier street.

Sporting Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—In view of the recent order prohibiting meetings I have been unable to place before the constituency my proposed new form of government and fearing that time will be too short for debate when the ban has been raised I would ask of you as a special favor for soccer men in general that they will appear in your sporting columns.

This will afford the delegates an opportunity of coming prepared to act on the same.

It is not my intention of entering into controversy until the matter has taken up by the delegates at our first meeting. NEIL HEPBURN.

Vice-president Senior League.

Mr. Hepburn's views as he intended to place them before his fellow-soccermen are as follows:

Gentlemen.—It is not difficult to make friction which must absolutely be expected in the course of a readjustment, when there seems discontent on both sides.

Ours is the freest of democratic sport because our constitutional elasticity is greater than that of any other.

Therefore we are afforded the opportunity to be more expressive of the views of its democracy than any other.

We therefore must not consider ourselves the predominating elements of that constitution merely by virtue of office, but must regard ourselves at all times the servants of the constituency.

We are elected to office not for the purpose of degenerating but for the purpose of maintaining and should our constitution or system not meet with the requirements necessary to the carrying out of good law, we have every right to readjust them, this to be done in the interests of those who have placed their confidence in us.

Much has been said of late about a certain proposed change of government that would be placed before you when the time for renovating came and I have no doubt as much has been said of the individual that would make the proposition.

However, I am here in all my simplicity prepared to place before you the change I think would be beneficial to all concerned, not as a proposed amendment but as a suggestion.

After having placed before you my idea of an ideal government I will leave the same for your consideration and sound judgment.

(1) To dispense with two constitutions having one to govern all.

(2) The drawing together of the P. Q. F. A. First and Second divisions as a joint meeting.

(3) The selection by nomination of seven men not necessarily attached to form an executive committee, but to dispense the business of the association, and that the secretary of this body shall be the secretary of the association and shall have an assistant if necessary. The said body to deal with players and other matters as before in sec. 24 of the present bylaws.

(4) That the President and vice-president shall be the choice of the association and not that of the executive as before.

(5) That clubs shall have one delegate who shall vote on routine business only, but shall not vote when his club is concerned.

(6) That the President shall be chairman through all proceedings.

(7) That the executive shall not vote on routine matters unless when a subject under discussion is in dispute and their ballot will be cast and will be final.

(8) That the order of business shall be decided as on former occasions but for approval I would suggest.

FIRST DIVISION. Second Association.

You will observe that nothing has been said in the aforementioned that tends to disfranchise a club, this was never intended, what was intended was a form of government that would bring about a closer relationship of the various clubs one that would foster harmony and expell discontent.

If permissable, I will separate the whole into their component parts and thereby develop your minds as to their first principles.

(1) We at present have three constitutions governing the work of eighteen clubs and as the situation now presents itself we cannot transact the business of one with consulting the other to avoid error. With one constitution to work from the government will be free from complications.

(2) The drawing together of all bodies, will tend to promote harmony, bring about a closer relationship and advance our business abilities.

(3) The executive should in my opinion be free from the obligations of any club further than for administrative purposes. It should not consist of persons who would retire from a club for the purpose of becoming an executive member, but from such as have retired at some recent date. I would suggest that the names of persons desirous of becoming executive members should be requested to submit their names, the same to be submitted within a given time. The electors could then select from the nominal roll the ones they think favorable candidates. An executive such as this would be able to give of their best without feeling any on one hand and favoring any on the other.

(4) Previously it has been the custom of the executive to elect their own president and vice-president, which has on many occasions caused discontent and bad feeling, now what is the idea. Not a few men have occupied the presidential chair with a feeling of uneasiness simply because they have not had the confidence of the association. Should the association entertain the idea of electing the president and vice-president in the aforesaid manner the president's duties will have been made much lighter knowing that he has been elected by a real majority and has as a basis the confidence of the association.

(5) It will be seen that no attempt has been made to disfranchise clubs. This is not a privilege extended them, but may be said to be theirs by right, when a club has no vote it ceases to exist and it might be said that only an extremist would even suggest the disfranchisement of that which is yours by right, although much has been written on the subject with an attempt to poison your minds against any form of new government.

(5) But I am in favor of a club not being allowed to vote on matters that concern itself. This to me seems like the first step to stop clubism, which has been very prominent of late, the same having a bad effect on any form of good government.

(6) Any one will realize the importance of having the president and secretary in office throughout the proceedings.

(7) That the executive should not vote on routine matter you will admit is wise. By this procedure should a dispute arise and the president call upon them to cast their vote on the matter their finding being final it will carry more weight than if they were habitually voting.

One must never imagine that the executive are sitting there as a board of judges. You will have the same privilege of viewing their work when associating business is on the table, but shall have no voice in the proceedings.

Gentleman, one constitution and no more cross-roads.

The bringing together of all bodies means not only a stop to endless correspondence from one to the other, but will also mean a speedier method of dispensing business than in the past.

In submitting the above for your approval or condemnation, I do not hesitate to say, that if such a form of government is given a fair and sporting trial the wisdom of the change will be noticable ere it has long been in force.

Yous in sport,
NEIL HEPBURN
Vice-President Sen. League.

FAMOUS SHAMROCK PLAYER OF FIFTEEN YEARS AGO IS DEAD

Bill O'Reilly, fifteen years ago a famous cover-point of the Shamrock lacrosse team, died last night of heart-disease, brought on it is thought by an attack of influenza.

He was with the Green-shirts in 1901, 02, 03, and 04, and went with them to the Pacific Coast in 1903. He afterwards played with the Nationals.

IF THIS HORSE WINS AT LAUREL TODAY THE CANADIAN RED CROSS WILL BE BETTER OFF BY TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS

BILLY KELLY

This picture was taken at the Saratoga race track, Aug. 14, 1918, immediately after the winning of the Sanford Memorial Cup. The jockey is E. Sand.

The race between Kelly and Eternal at Laurel track today will take place between 4 and 5 o'clock, Montreal time. Each horse will carry 132 lbs.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—O'Neil Sevier, at one time a turf writer in Montreal, writes in the Globe: New York, a citizen of New York as is interested in horse racing, will be at Laurel Park today for the great $20,000 match between Billy Kelly and Eternal, the result of which the fraternity is agreed shall be decisive of the two-year-old championship of the current season. This race, as I have already said, is to be called the John R. McLean Memorial, as last year's great mile and a quarter match between Omar Khayyam and Hourless was called the John R. McLean Memorial. Edward B. McLean, of Washington, now one of the most public spirited and enthusiastic of American sportsmen, having asked the privilege of presenting the owner of the winning youngster with a golden trophy as he presented Major Belmont with a golden trophy last season after the brilliant victory of Hourless.

CUP WORTH WHILE.

Major Belmont has a cup on his sideboard that is worth while. For when Mr. McLean sent to New York last fall for a cup fit for the Omar Khayyam-Hourless match his representative found in a Fifth avenue shop that makes a specialty of rare old trophies of sporting event an elaborately designed vase that had been raced for in India for the better part of seventy-five years. This vase is Major Belmont's only tangible relic of the victory of Hourless over Omar Khayyam in what is now universally agreed to have been the greatest three-year-old special ever run in the United States. The $10,000 check presented to him by the Maryland State Fair corporation was immediately turned over to the American Red Cross organization.

The interruption of Laurel Park racing by the epidemic of influenza has prevented Mrs. McLean from exhibiting at Laurel Park the trophy either Billy Kelly or Eternal will win for Commander Ross of Montreal, or James W. McClelland, of Kentucky, today, but I'll bet it is worth while. McLean does not do things on a niggardly scale. And as the Cup from India is all that Major Belmont has ever had to show that Hourless beat Omar Khayyam in the John R. McLean Memorial of 1917, this piece of plate will be all that either Commander Ross or Mr. McClelland will have to show for a Billy Kelly or an Eternal triumph. By mutual agreement Billy Kelly and Eternal are to race today for the Red Cross. If Billy wins, the Canadian Red Cross will be the better off by a matter of $20,000, the Maryland State Fair corporation $10,000 and the losers $10,000. If Eternal wins, the Maryland chapter of the American Red Cross will get $20,000. And the money will be paid over in bonds of the Fourth Liberty Loan which were purchased by Commander Ross, Mr. McClelland and Colonel Matt J. Winn, of the Maryland State Fair corporation when the articles of agreement were signed at Laurel Park a week ago last Monday.

GREAT INTEREST.

No horserace ever aroused more anticipatory interest, than this impending battle between Billy Kelly and Eternal. It is not possible, of course, that it will develop as great a race as the Hourless-Omar Khayyam developed. No race of three-quarters of a mile between a pair of three-year-olds, no matter how good the youngsters may have shown themselves to be can develop a struggle comparable with a gallop of one mile and a quarter or further, between two great three-year-olds that have been primed by skilful trainers for a duel to the death. Nevertheless the crowd at Laurel Park today will be limited only by the capacity for crowd handling of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and of the motor transportation concerns of Baltimore and Washington between which cities Laurel Park lies. The fact that Eternal and Billy Kelly are to race for the Red Cross and are to be paid in Liberty Bonds has awakened concern everywhere in their approaching meeting. And on top of this it is conceded by all experts that Billy and Eternal are as smart a pair of two-year-olds as might have been brought together in such a race in a quarter of a century. Billy Kelly, certainly, is the fastest and most courageous two-year-old gelding the American turf has known since Sairdere's time and Eternal is conceded to be a colt that would have given Colin or Celt, or Dominant, or Regret, or Campfire, or Sunbriar a race and probably a beating.

There was no side bet last season between Major Belmont and Wilfred Viau. Omar Khayyam and Hourless did no more than race for the Maryland State Fair Corporation's $10,000 purse. Major Belmont and Mr. Viau are not much at betting. Commander Ross and Mr. McClelland would catch cold if they did not get six or seven bets down every racing day in Maryland, there being seven races on each day's card at Pimlico, Laurel Park, Bowie and Havre de Grace.

KELLY FAVORITE.

It is always the money of the New York and Philadelphia contingents that determines favoritism in races in Maryland. The patrons of the sort in Washington and Baltimore are not heavy speculators. Of the total sum that passes through the machines in the course of a racing day at one of the Maryland tracks when there is no New York competition, less than twenty per cent is wagered by those native sons. And though on the New Yorkers and Philadelphians lean toward Billy Kelly this season as they leaned toward Hourless last year, it is practically a certainty that the Dick Wellen gelding will go to the post favorite over Eternal.

As under rule 3 prior to race by the comparative handicapping of the two colts heresbouts, the weight adjuster of the jockey club, Mr. Vosburgh, rates Billy Kelly a five pounds better youngster at least, than Eternal.

Vosburgh's line is found through Sweep On. In the Astoria handicap at the Saratoga race in which Mr. Vosburgh put the unprecedentedly heavy burden of 140 pounds on Billy Kelly he asked Sweep On, then at the height of his powers, to shoulder 128 pounds. At Aqueduct, on Sept. 26th, after Sweep On had gone back a bit—the son of Sweep and Vodlee, certainly, was not running then as cleverly as he had run at Saratoga—Vosburgh asked Sweep On to pack 122 pounds of Eternal's 130 in the Oakdale handicap. The Maryland handicapper Frank J. Bryan tackles tougher proposition Kelly, also, but not so strongly. Bryan has had the weighting of the two colts in two or three handicaps at three-quarters of a mile for horses of all ages but he has not asked Billy Kelly to concede more than two pounds to Eternal. Conversation with the shrewd handicapper about New York who are also the heaviest betters, has convinced me that they share handicapper Vosburgh's opinion of the superiority of Billy Kelly. Moreover the racing folk of Baltimore and Washington, also prefer Billy Kelly.

They have seen the Dick Wellen gelding do brilliant stunts under weight at Havre de Grace and Laurel Park. Billy's victory over Leochares in a handicap for sprinters of all ages—the Columbus, six furlongs—in which he made a concession of twelve pounds according to the jocky club's scale to the extremely fast son of Broomstick and Leonora, made a profound impression. Last season, it will be recalled, Washington and all Maryland backed Omar Khayyam to beat Hourless. Hourless would have been a vastly stronger favorite if it had not been for this local support for Omar, which the Marylanders and Washingtonians had seen perform brilliantly in the Havre de Grace handicap.

No one in Maryland has seen Eternal run. When James McClelland and Kimball Patterson took the son of Sweep and Hazel Burke to Maryland some three weeks ago they announced that Eternal had come to Laurel Park.

JOSH WILSON LOOKS AFTER THE MEDALS

This is the time for amendments to the P.Q.F.A. constitution, and following Steve McKellar, Josh Wilson, the Board's secretary offers his suggestions which will be taken very seriously, as Mr. Wilson has five years experience of board work.

The P.Q.F.A. secretary's proposals are:

Rule 4: Change to read, annual meeting to take place on or before January 15th.

6 A: Change to: Board handles all cases of players being ordered off, or otherwise reported.

Rule 12: Change to read: Vacancies on the board to be filled by a special general meeting.

New Rule: Each affiliated association shall be entitled to two representatives, and each affiliated club to one representative at all general meetings of the Association. No person shall act as representative for more than one club.

New Rule: Leagues shall not be permitted to play International Games.

New Rule:—That the names of all players ordered off the field, or otherwise misconducting themselves during any match shall be transmitted by the referee to the secretary of the association. Referees shall report in full within two legal days after the occurence. A player is automatically suspended on being ordered off. The secretary of the association shall issue a notice to the clubs at the beginning of each season, the date and place for offending players to appear before the Protest and Re-instatement Committee. Referees shall report by 'phone to the secretary of the association the result of the game where in he officiated.

New Rule:—Referees shall receive the following fees for their services—Finals, $5.00; Semi-Finals, $3.00; Senior League games, $2.50; Second League games, 2.00; Linesmen, 2.00.

To provide money for championship medals, Mr. Wilson suggests the following:

At the end of each season, the leaders and winners up of each league shall play a series of two games for the purpose of supplying funds to purchase medals. Should the runners up secure the better record in these games, they shall receive medals of equal value to the champions.

Manister Toi Sold at Block for $3,600

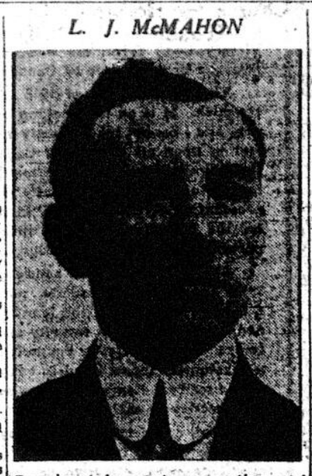

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Manister Toi brought top price among the horses in training sold in the paddock at the Belmont City track before racing began yesterday. The son of Santoi was knocked down to C. A. Applegate for $4,600. Daddy's Choice also was in demand, and went to the bid of $3,100 by Joe Morrone.

Mr. Kornbloom, owner of Lively, bought Nellie York and Clare Booth. Nellie York brought $650 and Clare Booth $300.

Edward Arlington withdrew Questionaire and Koh-I-Noor, but let St. Isidore go to E. A. Collins for $1,700. Toomsbola to E. A. Bresler for $300, Apple Jack 2nd to F. S. Randolph for $850, and Ragazza, a yearling, to W. A. Smith for $1,300.

Of the three horses offered by A. K. Macomber, F. Peters bought Thomas F. McMahon for $800, Jule Carson took War Idol for $535, while E. Sletas bought War Plume for $400.

LOFTUS TO RIDE FOR RIDDLE NEXT YEAR.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Johnny Loftus, America's premier jockey, will ride the thoroughbreds belonging to Samuel Riddle, of Philadelphia, next season. For his services in the saddle the great jockey will receive the largest salary paid to a jockey since the days of Tod Sloan. Loftus's contract with A. K. Macomber expires next Friday.

Mr. Riddle races his horses under the name of the Glen Riddle Farms. He hasn't many old horses, but he has an exceptionally big string of high class yearlings. Besides his Glen Riddle Farm, which is just outside of Philadelphia, Mr. Riddle has an extensive farm at Berlin, Md. In charge of his horses is Louis Feustel, a high class trainer, who knows the horse training business from every angle. Feustel is not a betting man, and is respected by all true lovers of the sport. Under Feustel's training and Loftus's riding Mr. Riddle promises to play an important part on the metropolitan turf next season.

TURF NOTES

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Taps was sounded on the racing season of 1918 in the Metropolitan district at the Empire City track near Yonkers Saturday, and when the band added the plaintive tones of "Auld Lang Syne" an audible murmur of regret went up from just about the biggest crowd which ever enjoyed a day's sport under James Butler's hospitable roof.

This farewell meeting of a most successful season has been so full of life and action that one could understand the expressions of regret heard on all sides in the general rush to trains, trolley cars and automobiles.

The sport on the last day furnished a fitting climax too, and once again testimony of a convincing kind was furnished as to the place which racing holds.

John Sanford, the master of Hurricana Farm, who has not experienced a particularly fruitful season, enjoyed the satisfaction and pleasure of seeing his colors carried to impressive victory in the Yorkville Handicap at one mile and a furlong.

Sanford Smith, the Kentucky Derby winner of 1916, picked up 127 pounds, and after being cleverly rated off the pace by Frank Robinson for a mile, moved up to the leaders at the stretch turn and came away to win easily by two or three lengths.

It was an impressive performance as the black son of Out of Reach not only beat a field which would have done credit to a Brooklyn Handicap in midseason, but did it in a way which once more gives him high rank among the best of the older horses for the season.

He not only turned the tables on Star Master, which beat him at Jamaica on Oct. 12, at a difference of thirteen pounds, but he also turned the tables on Naturalist, which beat him at Jamaica on Oct. 3 at a difference of eleven pounds.

He met them under more favorable conditions yesterday, being in receipt of two pounds from Naturalist and conceding Star Master only nine, and under perfect handling won with something in reserve.

A. K. Macomber's good three-year-old War Cloud and Star Master were conceded to have slightly the best chance by the handicappers, largely on the ground that George Smith is a slow beginner and drew the rail position at the post. It was felt that he would have so much to do around the sharp turns to reach a contending position that his chances were materially lessened.

Robinson and George Smith fooled the wise ones, however. The horse broke much better than usual, and Smith cleverly held his position in the run to the first turn, and then placed him within striking distance of the pace. He did not lose an inch of ground in doing it either, and this had much to do with the result.

War Cloud was the actual top weight, according to the scale, and all things considered, he ran a good race. Loftus, however, made the mistake, unusual for him, of carrying him along a little too fast in the middle part of the race. He raced Naturalist into submission in the run up the back stretch and opened up a gap of two lengths rounding the far turn, but this effort under the heavy impost counted against him, and he had nothing left for the drive through the stretch.

It remained for his stable companion, Star Master, to come along and chase George Smith home, while Corn Tassel, closing strongly, beat War Cloud a neck for third money.

Incidentally Tom Healey sent Corn Tassel to the post at his best, and the son of San Toi ran his usual honest and consistent race.

OTTAWA ASKS FOR TIME TO SETTLE DOWN

Special to The Star.

Ottawa, Oct. 28.—Though a representative of the Canadian Hockey League came and saw Saturday, he failed to conquer as far as Ottawa was concerned. The Ottawas are still fast to the National League and there is no indication that they will resign from it.

The local club, however, is said to be moving in the direction of a peaceful settlement of the serious problems now facing the Hockey League. They have requested that the special meeting of the National League called for Wednesday night, be postponed for a few days in order that they can straighten out their internal affairs and then get everything in readiness.

E. P. Dey, owner of the Arena Rink, said last night that he had no negotiations with the Canadian leaguers. Mr. Dey expressed the hope that things could be satisfactorily straightened out, but intimated that he would have no dealings with the proposed Canadian league. He realizes that the rink owners have more at stake than any of the individual clubs and that unless the permanency of the league and the game is now established, there would be a repetition of the present trouble annually. Nevertheless, he feels that personal feelings should be set aside and that there should be some give and take on both sides with a view to avoiding further trouble. In this he is supported by other members of the Ottawa Club. Meanwhile, the Ottawa Club will not be in a position for a week or so to define its policy.

Mr. Martin Rosenthal, for many years secretary-treasurer and a director of the National Hockey Association, has tendered his resignation, having found it impossible, owing to a recent business change, to devote any time to the game. He is out of both the association and the club and states that he will hence forth take no part in the hockey battles. His loss will be a blow to the Ottawa Club, which has always valued highly his advice on all matters concerning the league.

None of the Ottawa players have yet been signed.

Sons of England F.C. Euchre and Dance

The above affair which was to take place on Wednesday next, Oct. 30, has been postponed indefinitely, and all patrons who have bought tickets are requested to hold same till the announcement is made of the future date, which the S. O. E. hope will be the latter end of November.

Included among the passengers on board a ship crossing the Atlantic recently was a man who stuttered. One day he went to the captain of the ship to speak to him.

"Oh, I can't be bothered," said the captain, angrily; "go to somebody else."

The man tried to speak to everybody on board the ship, but none could wait to hear what he had to say. At last he came to the captain again.

"Look here," said the captain. "I can tell you what to do when you want to say anything you should sing it." Then suddenly, in a tragic voice, the man commenced to sing:

"Should auld acquaintance be forgot
And never brought to mind.
The blooming cook's fell overboard,
And is twenty miles behind."

A man who seemed to have hazy ideas of just what he wanted entered a shop one morning. He looked at playing cards and he looked at pencils. He inquired the price of this magazine and that, and examined the post cards and the books. The young woman who was in charge of the counter became rather wearied answering questions without making a sale. At last the prospective customer asked:

"Have you a fly paper?"

"Yes, sir," was the prompt reply. "We have the 'Airman's Journal' and the 'Aviators' Gazette.'"

APPEAL ALLOWED IN MENARD CASE

ARMY OFFICER ATTACKS MAYOR

Col. Clarke Blames Mayor Church for Hospital Trouble

By Canadian Press.

OTTAWA, Oct. 28.—Replying to the statements alleged to have been made by General Logie at the inquest in Toronto Friday night into the death of a cadet at the base hospital, which was also made the subject of an enquiry into the conditions surrounding the base hospital, Colonel Clarke, of the Medical Services, condemned the Mayor of Toronto and the influences working with him, including a section of the press, as responsible for much of the trouble. He said Mayor Church and those at the back of him had done all they could to obstruct the military authorities at Toronto in combatting the influenza epidemic there, instead of helping with close co-operation as the Mayor and civic officials of Ottawa had done.

"The whole trouble in Toronto has been that the Mayor and influences behind him have worked against the military authorities there instead of with them," said Col. Clarke. "The Mayor of Toronto is starting his campaign for re-election, and he thinks he can do this successfuly by fighting the military authorities as much as possible. In Ottawa, by mutual arrangements with the civic authorities, we have succeeded in minimising the effects of the influenza epidemic, but we have had the close co-operation of Mayor Fisher and those behind him to do this.

"In Toronto the Mayor has exaggerated every little difficulty and has had it published in the press, thus creating a feeling of unrest. The base hospital in Toronto was never intended for threatment of epidemic diseases. When the epidemic occurred we had to do something. The city of Toronto did not come to the military authorities with any proffers of aid. It obstructed them all it could. Its mayor doesn't care so long as he can make himself a little god with the people there.

SAYS DESPATCH UNFAIR.

"The despatch referring to the statements of General Logie is not a fair representation of the situation there. As to the deaths that have occurred in the base hospital, I might state that only the serious cases of illness have been sent there and all the mild cases kept out. Naturally there is bound to be a high percentage of deaths among serious cases. None of the Toronto papers have done the military authorities justice by stating these facts publicly. The percentage of deaths in the base hospital there is no greater than the percentage of deaths in the Toronto General Hospital. The whole trouble in Toronto is that the civic authorities will not co-operate with the military."

GEN. LOGIE'S VIEWS.

The statements of Gen. Logie were carried in a despatch from Toronto as follows:

Major-General W. A. Logie, G.O.C. of this military district, last night placed on the authorities at Ottawa the onus for lack of ample hospital accommodation in this division, at the resumed inquests into conditions at the Base Hospital, and more particularly surrounding the death of Cadet F. N. Davidson, on October 13. He told of making numerous recommendations to Ottawa for additional hospital accommodations, and of how th were not approved. The officer commanding emphatically declared th he was not satisfied with the safe of the Base Hospital from a f standpoint, and that he had conside able anxiety on that score. He h protested against equipping it wi 800 beds, but Ottawa had overrul his objection. Gen. Logie also stat that, during the height of the infl enza epidemic, there were too ma patients in the base hospital.

WHAT MAYOR CHURCH SAYS.

TORONTO, Oct. 28.—"I do not mi much the personal criticism direct towards myself," declared May Church yesterday afternoon, with re erence to the charges made by C Clarke, of the Medical Services, in despatch from Ottawa, to the effe that the Mayor "and the influenc working with him, including a secti o fthe press," were responsible for t conditions at the base hospital Gerrard street.

"I do not know Colonel Clarke continued the Mayor, "but nether nor any other official can get aw with an effort to gloss over th methods of handling soldiers at th centre.

"There has been a deplorable loss life here, and Colonel Clarke need n endeavor to get from under the blan and place it on the city. Toronto not, as a municipality, interested Niagara camp, and so we may ta that as an example of what the mil tary authorities do when left to them selves. There has not been a pe manent building erected there y though thousands of our boys ha had to pass through it."

GOVERNMENT TO INVESTIGAT

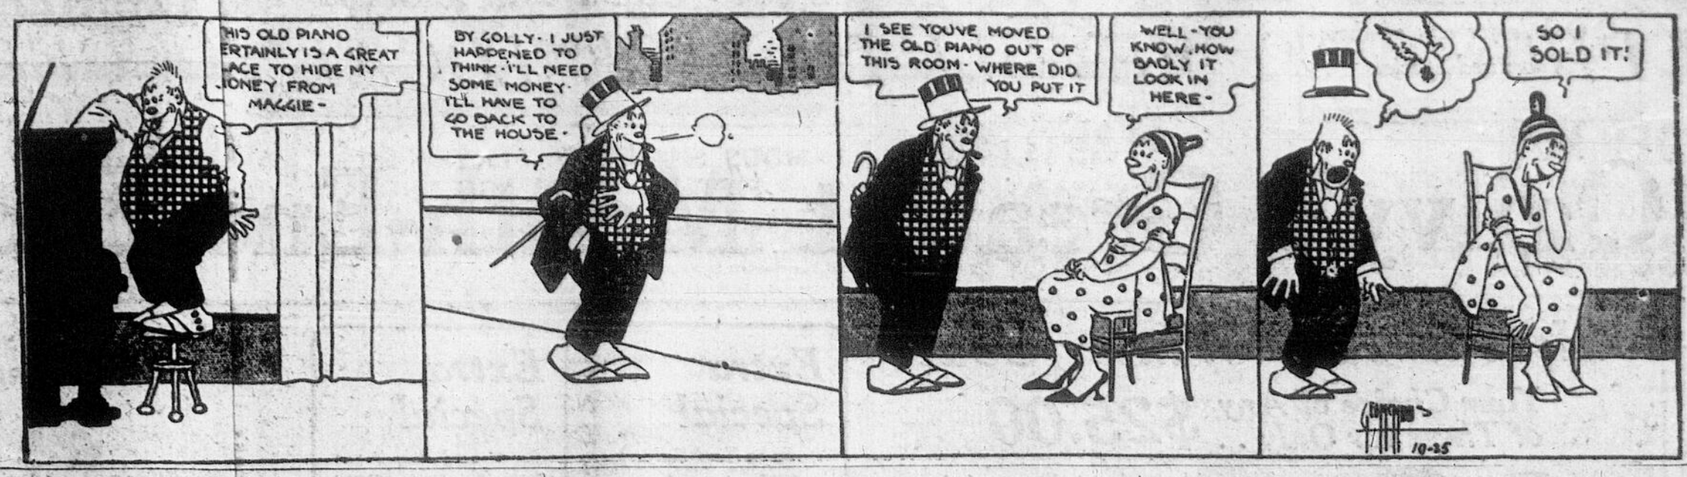

Word has reached the Mayor's offi that the Government at Ottawa h decided to take notice of the ma rumors and reports regarding cond tions at the base hospital in Toron and will make a thorough investig tion. The message to this effect w from Sir Robert Borden himself, a reached the Mayor Saturday.

"I hope that the result will be t providing of better accommodati for the men," said the Mayor, in di cussing the message, "and that t men will be given the opportunity making complaints in perfect fre dom."

Dangerous Antiseptics and Germicides are Unnecessary

A dependable antiseptic has come to be considered a necessity in most homes. Especially is this true since Absorbine, Jr., has had such a wide introduction, because the liniment is not only a powerful antiseptic and germicide, but it is absolutely safe to use and have around the house. It is not poisonous and it cannot do harm even if the children do get hold of it. That is a big point to consider.

Absorbine, Jr., is concentrated and is therefore economical. It retains its germicidal properties even diluted one part Absorbine, Jr., to 100 parts water and its antiseptic properties one part Absorbine, Jr., to 200 parts of water.

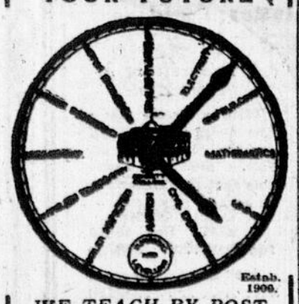

The antiseptic and germicidal properties have been repeatedly tested and proven in many prominent chemical laboratories. Detailed laboratory reports mailed upon request.

Absorbine, Jr., combines safety with efficiency. $1.00 a bottle at most druggists or postpaid.

"Quick—Bring Some Whisky!"

A COMMON phrase in the time of sickness! The fainting spell—the sudden chill—the accident—these call for prompt administering of the purest whisky obtainable. "The ills that flesh is heir to" are no respectors of time or person. They come in time of prohibition just as in time of plenty. So it is a matter of great importance to lay in now the supply of whisky you will need in the years to come.

¶ The medicinal value of a fine whisky is undisputed. There are emergencies which absolutely demand the quick restorative—and there are many doctors who prescribe nothing but Corby's Special Selected Rye Whisky.

¶ It is the finest that money, skill, and experience can produce. Nothing we can say is stronger in support of its high quality than the following letter from Dr. Milton Hersey, Government Analyst for the Province of Quebec:

"I hereby certify that I have conducted a careful chemical analysis of a sample of Rye Whisky marked "Corby's Canadian Whisky," distilled and bottled in bond by H. Corby Distillery Company Limited, Corbyville, Ontario. I find it to be a pure whisky of excellent flavor and can recommend it to those desiring a pure rye whisky.

The Virtue of Timeliness

The High Cost of Clothing must be felt very keenly this month when new clothes are a paramount necessity, seeing winter is such a short time away.

To help make this Store, with its large stocks of beautiful new winter merchandise, of greater utility, we have organized a Month-End Economy Sale on a bigger, broader basis than ever before, embracing clothes for every member of the family, furniture for every room in the house, as well as numerous household and personal utilities. And in every case we have made a real reduction in the price.

War Conditions make it impossible in many cases for us to duplicate the lines we shall offer in this great Three-Day Sale, once present stocks are exhausted, and in no cases at the same price, and prudence should dictate your buying NOW when such an economy opportunity knocks at your door.

Be on hand at 10:30 in the morning for best choice.

THE GERMAN NOTE AND GERMAN REFORMS.

ALTHOUGH the German Government has succeeded in compressing its reply to President Wilson's note into a very few words it not only implies a great deal, but reopens the fundamental question to which the President devoted a substantial portion of his message.

Doctor Solf's attitude as regards armistice terms is fairly clear. The German Government is to be a party to the negotiations, which is the proposition with which Chancellor Maximilian opened the discussion. But President Wilson provided against such a possible contingency when he said, after pointing out that the Allies' military advisers were the only authorities who could be entrusted with preparing armistice terms, "(the acceptance of these terms of armistice) by Germany will afford the best concrete evidence of her unequivocal acceptance of the terms and principles of peace from which the whole action proceeds." Pending the enunciation of the terms of armistice it is impossible to say what the German attitude toward them will be, but the German Government's reply leaves a way open by which it hopes to save its tottering credit with the country. It may eventually be forced into accepting the principle of unconditional surrender, but we can scarcely be surprised that it is using all the skill it possesses to fend off the evil day as long as possible.

The preliminary sentence in the short German note is a formal denial of President Wilson's concluding paragraphs in his note of October 23rd in which he dealt with the constitutional changes which have recently been brought about in Germany. It will be remembered that the President said, "It does not appear that the principle of a Government responsible to the German people has yet been fully worked out," and from that went on to insist that only with such a Government could the Allies deal. Solf's reply to this is that the President is in reality quite aware of the wide scope of the reforms in Germany and that the Government which is now proposing peace is "a people's Government" in the full sense of the term.

It is of course exceedingly difficult to estimate how much truth there is in Doctor Solf's assertion. Up to the middle of last week, when Mr. Wilson sent his note, it was a fair assumption that the alleged reforms were as carefully "pre-arranged" as any wired and cemented position ever taken up by a German army, that they were designed at once to conciliate a strongly dissatisfied and steadily growing element in Germany and to fool, if possible, Germany's democr governed enemies. It was with this legitimate belief that Mr. Wilson spoke of the "military masters and monarchical autocrats" of Germany with whom it would be impos to conclude a peace and who, he quite assumed, were still the de facto Gover of Germany. It may be, however, that the changes in Germany are more far-reaching and more likely to exercise a profound influence in the subsequent history of the country than seemed probable at first. Today there comes an excerpt from Vorwaerts of Berlin giving extracts from the "proposed" reform bill which certainly imply radical changes in the Government. Direct responsibility to the Reichstag is established where two very important officials are concerned, the Chancellor and the Minister of War.

Unfortunately there are qualifications which obscure the real significance of the reform. The Imperial Chancellor is made responsible to the Reichstag "for the political actions of the Kaiser" and the Minister of War is likewise accountable to the popular House for changes in the personnel of the army and navy which the Chancellor alone is empowered to make. Both changes are blows at the prestige of the Kaiser. The principle of the responsibility of the Chancellor for the Kaiser's actions was acutely involved in the extraordinary "Daily Telegraph" interview incident of October, 1908, and von Bulow exacted from his master, as the result of that blazing indiscretion, a more strict regard for the letter of constitutional accountability. The new bill embodies this principle in the law of the land. It is, unquestionably, a step in the right direction, but it remains to be seen how big a step. Similarly the withdrawal of the power of appointment to the personnel of the army and navy from the Kaiser and the placing of this power in the hands of an official whose action can be checked by still another official, with the power of revision reserved to the Reichstag, is another feather clipped from Wilhelm's wings. It is quite possible that the Kaiser did not exercise the privilege now taken from him to any very great extent, but it was always there, a fruitful source of power and patronage. Henceforth a successful career in the German army and navy will not depend upon strict subservience to the Imperial will.

* * * * *

But these two reforms are interesting rather than greatly important. Much more significant of a genuine change are the placing of the war and peace power in the hands of the Reichstag and the making of the Chancellor's position contingent upon Reichstag confidence. This looks like the real thing, but of these reforms as of all the others the only safe attitude for the Allies to take is one of "wait and see." We have not as yet read of any demonstrations of joy from the leaders of German democracy over these reforms; Liebknecht and Harden have not declared their satisfaction with them. It would be a fair test of the genuineness of the boasted reforms to ask that they should meet the approval of these men rather than of the Solfs and the Maximilians.

LUDENDORFF GOES OUT.

The retirement from active command of General Ludendorff, nominally Quartermaster-General of the German army but in reality Chief of Staff and latterly at least virtual head of the German war machine, means more than the resignation of an unsuccessful military chief in the fact of failure in the field. The German people had succeeded in making of Ludendorff almost as much of a super-man as they made of Hindenburg in the days of the latter's Russian successes. Now their second idol has to be taken rapidly down from its pedestal and there seems to be a lack of another to put in its place. Ludendorff's fall makes complete the list of the "old guard" which was largely responsible for the sort of warfare Germany has waged. He was not in direct command at the time of the earlier outrages in Belgium, it is true, but he bears the responsibility for the later abominations, not only on this, but on other fronts. He played his part, moreover, in the colossal German blunder of Brest-Litovsk and had his share in the unbridled rapacity of the Treaty of Bucharest by which Rumania was despoiled. Now he goes because the things he has stood for have been found not to pay. He gambled everything on the military success of the German drives in Picardy and Champagne last spring, pledging German strength to an extent we are now only beginning to realize in the hope of a smashing victory before the United States came in in strength. The cards fell against him and the failure of his plans brought the ruin of his country much closer. Broken in the field and discredited at the council board, Ludendorff's fall is a resounding one. It will be heard throughout the country and cannot fail to have a demoralizing effect.

ALEPPO FALLS.

The capture of Aleppo by General Allenby is the triumphant conclusion of a sensational campaign. It signifies that Turkey as a military power has ceased to exist, at least temporarily, for short of Constantinople itself there was no place under the crescent flag which she could less easily afford to lose than this hinge which bound together the two halves of her empire. Turkey today is a snake with a broken back. It no longer matters the price of a cartridge whether she does or does not sue for peace immediately. She has simply ceased to count, from a military standpoint. The story of her conqueror's campaign will make splendid reading, when it comes to be written in full.

MR. WILSON'S APPEAL.

A STIR has been given to party politics in the United States by President Wilson's appeal to the nation for a Democratic majority in Congress. The President asks for this result from the pending congressional elections as a vote of confidence in his war policy and to permit him to continue his present course.

President Wilson's appeal has angered the Republicans, who charge an attempt to stampede the voters for party gain; it is justified by the Democrats because of the consistent and bitter antagonism to Wilson policies of Mr. Roosevelt, Senator Lodge, Chairman Hayes of the Republican National Committee, and other leaders who, in recent months, have lost no opportunity to hamper the administration.

that a Republican majority in Congress, entering its duties in the antagonistic spirit stirred up by the aggressive party warfare carried on by the present Republican leaders, would practically nullify the force of a Democratic president. That is the danger against which Mr. Wilson wishes to guard, apparently, at a time when problems overseas require smoothing functioning at Washington. Always stronger than his party, Mr. Wilson now tries to carry his party with him, and the result of the coming elections will be awaited with keen interest.

There is at least one German official who ought to arrange to take a long foreign vacation at once, and that is the man responsible for keeping Karl Liebknecht in jail for the last two or three years.

For thirty years the Germans have been shouting Hoch the Kaiser and now when they would like to change their words into action they find the goods are too damaged and out of date to be worth hocking.

"Husband must sanction wife's suit," declares another headline. Shades of Mrs. Pankhurst! "Rave over," "admire," "pay for" or "be proud of" but "sanctioning" is surely unnecessary.

What's the German substitute for "Can the Kaiser," anyway?

THE WORLD'S PRESS

Compulsion All Round.

Woodstock Sentinel-Review: A bill before the Australian House of Representatives would make subscriptions to war loans compulsory. Why not? When men are compelled to place their lives at the service of the country why should men not be compelled to give their money? The Government has passed an order-in-Council forbidding strikes in all industries regarded as essential to the prosecution of the war. Why should the man who ought to do his bit by contributing to the cost of carrying on the war be allowed to go on strike?

Keeping a Cool Head.

Ottawa Citizen: In Canada we need correctives to offset our feelings. The tendency to think that it is all over but the shouting is growing and some means to check this unwarranted optimism should be taken. The trend of thought is altogether likely to have a disastrous effect on war activities and on the coming Victory loan. What we should do is hold our heads; the war isn't won and it may require a year to finish it. Certainly to relax our efforts when victory is dawning would be the height of folly.

Bolshevism in Canada.

Calgary Herald: Those persons who congratulate themselves that under a free and democratic form of government such as either that of Great Britain or the United States, no such breed of anarchists as the Bolsheviki of Russia could ever develop, may be due to suffer a great disillusionment some of these days. Bolshevism is a mental disease that knows no national boundaries. Unchecked, we have seen its results in a once great nation. Anglo-Saxons, however, have a canny habit of learning from the experiences of others.

The Mark of the Beast.

London Daily Chronicle: Are schoolboys still busy gathering blackberries, or have they heeded the old rural superstition. In most parts of England blackberry picking ends at Michaelmas; because afterwards the vines take the devil's mark. The modus operandi varies. In Ireland the devil is said to put his foot on the blackberries, in Scotland to throw his cloak over them, in parts of England to throw his club over the fruit. In Cornwall the belief is that the devil touches one berry and makes it poisonous and folk fear to eat blackberries after that date lest they should eat the berry poisoned by the evil touch.

The Might-Have-Been.

Springfield Republican: The German note would have been much more satisfactory than it is if it had announced, first, that the arrangements for an armistice would be left unconditionally to the military advisers of the associated governments alone; second, that submarine warfare against all merchant shipping had been stopped; and, third, that William II had abdicated, and, in view of constitutional changes the question of the succession to the imperial throne had been referred to the body which had originally invested the imperial title in the Prussian house of Hohenzollern.

Crude Amateurs in Crime.

New York World: The Bolshevists might seem expert in atrocity, but they know their masters. By comparison with Berlin-directed Frightfulness theirs is coarse work. There is crude simplicity in the "mass terror;" lack of discrimination in murdering every one who can read and write, so that the rest may "start even" in the new Utopia. Men who so reason and so act are incapable of the discernment of Berlin trade organizers who spare Roumanian peasants to grow crops and produce oil for them in virtual slavery, but order the extermination of Armenians by Kurds because they are a trading race, and Germans can do all the trading necessary in the Near East. Beside such artists the Bolsheviki, though well-meaning are butter-fingered bunglers.

The Soldier's Wife.

London Daily Express: Who pays the heaviest price of war in heartache, anxiety and sorrow? Surely the soldier's wife. Who is the greatest sufferer from the ever-increasing cost of living? Again the soldier's wife. There is no magic twelve and a half per cent. for her, no new bonuses no five pounds a week minimum, no easy and successful strike. One of the reasons why the soldier's wife has to pay inflated prices is the general rise in wages. Think what has happened. First the munition workers were allowed to earn excessive pay. Then everybody else demanded to be paid on the same scale. When the food producers receive more wages the soldier's wife pays more for her food. When the railwaymen get more, transport costs more, and up goes the price of almost every commodity that the soldier's wife must buy.

Foreshadowing Dark Hours.

Munich Nachrichten: What a magnificent object lesson to the nations of the earth is the contrast between the reception of the Austrian peace offer in Germany and in the enemy countries! In Berlin, the very shrine of the much-despised "German militarism," there prevails an honest, conscientious readiness to participate in every effort to bring about an early peace. From Washington, where sits enthroned the theoretical pacifist but practical tyrant Wilson, there emerges a brutal "No" which bars the way to every possibility of an understanding. This scandalously cynical answer was returned after the lapse of half an hour from the receipt of the Austrian Note. For the flippancy of this half-hour's consideration the nations of the world and the allies of America will yet have to suffer in many a bitter hour.

Back to Alaska.

Douglas Island Alaska) New : From every source we hear that Alaska is to be the mecca, after the war, for soldiers and former residents who are now living in the States. The soldiers say that they will never again be content to live in the narrow confines of the big cities or the cramped areas of the States. They all say that since joining the army they have a longing for the open places and the free, pure air of the great outdoors. Alaska is the last great frontier and the land of opportunities, and the place that will appeal to the soldiers when they get through with their job of cleaning up Europe. Alaska has open places and the free, pure air, and what a country it will be when it is peopled with the thousands of the resourceful men who have fought on the battlefields of Europe for their country. There is room enough for everyone and opportunities for all, and both Alaska and the soldiers will be the winners by their migration.

First Flight.

I watch the ever-widening landscape grow,
And all my heart is filled with sudden pity
For those poor things that crawl the earth below,
For those who never see the vision splendid
But view our world with dull, unseeing eyes,
Nor ever realize it was intended
To be regarded from the trackless skies.

They live a life of ceaseless fret and worry,
Perplexed by thoughts of losses and of gains,
And creep about, in their attempts to hurry,
In yonder quite pathetic little trains.
Some pitiful and limited objective
Absorbs their energies down there below,
Whereas to view the world in true perspective
They need to rise five thousand feet or so.

Here, in a realm that is of three dimensions,
Unlimited, magnificently sane,
I can but smile at their absurd pretensions
Who dwell but on a horizontal plane.
Only the ancient bards, all honour to them,
Had some faint inkling of essential things,
And rose above things mundane as they knew them
When they endowed old Pegasus with wings.

NO SMOKING FOR HIM.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—Mr. Louis Davis requests smoking to be allowed on the street cars. I do not doubt he would also want to smoke in church. If Mr. Louis Davis is so much attached to his stink pot as to want it under his nose all the time, let him remember that there are others who consider them one of the pests of the earth. J. H. THE CAT FOR THE KAISER.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—St. Helena is said to fit this purient puling fraud and imitation of a man—name of Bill—who has imposed so long.

Why was he not drowned at birth, or seasonably spanked?

Such a physical and mental degenerate needs life imprisonment in a common jail, along with his fellow-criminals, with a cat once a week to discourage future cases of cussedness.

Would it not be an insult to humanity that this ——— should further impose as a martyr at St. Helena?

ALLEN G. INGALLS.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—I have noticed with much interest the discussion that has been going on for some time in your columns regarding a distinctive flag for Canada.

Personally I am in favor of the "old flag," the Union Jack, as being good enough for any one, but if a distinctive flag must be had, why not have a pure white flag, with the Union Jack in the upper left hand corner, and a green, red and yellow maple leaf on the "fly."

If the three colors could not be blended, have the leaf a plain green one.

The suggestion to have stripes on flag is in my opinion an outrage to Canadian self respect. We dress our convicts in stripes and we want no penitentiary emblems on our flag! Let those have stripes on their flag who may, but no convict flag for us!

CANADIAN.

A CONTRAST.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—The case of the Meuring Hospital should bring out in bold relief the exceeding kindness and courtesy and speedy aid to be received from the great hospitals of the city. I have been trying to get two patients into hospitals; one a child was promptly received into the Children's Memorial; the other a woman, delirious and in great danger, was reported yesterday to the Meuring but rejected. Phones failing to get aid, I called up this evening the Alexandra. I at once received a polite reply and a promise that the first ambulance in should be sent. After all, the Meurling, with all its faults, is far ahead of hospitals in the olden time, and it is only in contrast with the chivalry of the up-to-date hospital's staffs that it seems for the time to fall short. "CROSS-BONES."

A CORRECTION.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—In regard to article in a recent issue by Canada Food Board relating to Gaspe codfish, I beg to say that there must be a misunderstanding when the Food Board reports me to have said that the Gaspe codfish is better than the Norwegian. I did not say such a thing, and would not even venture to touch this question. I remember to have said that the Gaspe codfish was just as good as any other specimen caught on this side of the Atlantic.

Furthermore, it is incorrect to say that the Daily Fish Bulletin is posted in every telegraph office in Norway. I told the Food Board that such a bulletin was posted in all the telegraph offices in the fishing districts during fishing season.

I would greatly appreciate it if you would publish the contents of this letter in your paper. A copy has been mailed today to the Canada Food Board at Ottawa.

A PLAN FOR SOLDIERS' WIDOWS

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—I am working on a plan, for the betterment of widows with a family, a movement to the soil, a rough outline of which follows:

If you want to make good gardeners or farmers, you must commence with the child when young. This rule applies with many other occupations and trades.

Children in the culture of small fruits and vegetables (for which there is always a profitable market) can sow, weed, and gather, quite well, if shown how, interested, and taught by competent workers and lovers of the soil.

Let us utilize this labor, not as slaves, but give them their games too, teach them how to play. Teachers, school, amusements, where to live, and men to do the heavy work, all are necessary.

Create a community of co-operative workers, under discipline.

A—Erect a one-storey fire proof School Hall, with class rooms on two sides. B—Ample play grounds, kept in order. C—Erect small cottages, having running water, and electric lighting, these to be rented to each family. (In a village) E—General store, post office, bank, etc., operated by a manager—who must be an enthusiast—who will purchase all supplies, and marketing all that is produced. F—Area of land required depends on number of homes, and size of fruit farms, with sufficient help to put all land in good condition. G—Location, anywhere within 15 or 20 miles of any large city, with good autoroad, suitable soil, well watered, and sheltered. H—Teachers, working gardeners, and agriculturists—graduates if possible—summer months for working classes, in the field, the winter for book work, aided by movie lectures. Mothers will have opportunities of working too.

Details of working are unnecessary for the present, and will close with a forecast, that:

1. Scheme will be self supporting, and more. 2. All will learn advantages of co-operation. 3. Living will be much cheaper. 4. Minimum sickness.

Graduates will branch out on their own, 65 per cent to till the soil, a leaven to the district where they locate, for they shall have learned the first principals of chemistry without which gardeners and farmers grope.

Richelieu Village.

"OUR NOBLE DEAD."

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—As one particularly interested in the memory of our soldier dead, I read with mingled feelings of interest and curiosity the letters of "M. M. Campbell" and "P. J. E." which appeared in your paper recently.

My interest was aroused through my connection with an association which seeks to get the nation to show a more real and tangible interest in the last honor that we can pay those who do our fighting for us, and whom today we frequently abandon in the hour of death and indigency, while my curiosity was aroused over the apparent lack of practical experience of war conditions exhibited by your correspondents.

It was evident that both deplored what appeared to them to be little less than sacrilegious disrespect of our noble dead on the battlefield after the enemy have captured a position, while to emphasize their contentions they stated that in some instances "the bodies are thrown into a hole, that is all, and frequently not even completely covered over."

It was evidently a matter of holy horror to them that such a seemingly disrespectful condition of things should be allowed—even under war conditions—and the occasion was seized to lay the blame entirely at the door of the enemy.

The substance of their statement is undoubtedly true, but without qualification is misleading to those who evidently like the writers have no actual experience of battlefield conditions.

It is a condition of necessity dependent on the rapid advance or retirement of troops which leaves neither time or opportunity for more than hurriedly collecting the dead—friend and enemy—and placing them in a "hole" or trench who are then hastily covered over without sound or ceremony, and left to be properly covered in by the "fatigue parties" of the Army subsequently in possession of the ground.

The writer has in memory the gruesome sight of galloping with his battery over partly covered in trenches containing the remains of Boers and Bretons who fell together at Bergandel on the South African veldt, when the Boers were forced to make a hurried exit from a position they had stubbornly held. Subsequently Briton and Boer were covered in with equal respect, when time and opportunity permitted.

It may be a matter of interest to others than your two correspondents to know that soldier's "casket" is his blanket whether he dies on the field of battle or subsequently in the field, or base hospital, and in that humble but honorable cover, he is sewn up and placed to sleep his last sleep, whenever time and opportunity permit.

Nobody has any excuse to offer for the wanton desecration of the grave once it has been completed—and the inexplicable ghoulishness of the Germans in France in that connection, must be ranked with their other deeds of fiendish vandalism.

But as a parallel to the honor shown the German dead in England spoken of by "P. J. E." and as a slight "heart-balm" to the relatives of those Canadian Military Prisoners of War in Germany who sleep their last sleep on enemy soil, let me refer your readers to a photo shown in the Montreal Standard of April 27th, 1918, in which we see a magnificent monument erected in the Cemetery at Geissen in Germany to the memory of Canadians who have died there, bearing the significant inscription thereon—"Pro Patria"—(for Empire) and surmounted by a life sized female figure placing a palm on the tomb. While the material was of necessity supplied by the Germans, the design and workmanship was that of Canadians at present prisoners of war taken at Langemarck, St. Julien, and Ypres, and amongst those who worked on the monument's construction, was a Mr. A. Nantel of Lachine.

Undoubtedly the motive that inspired your correspondents to write on a subject that I find is usually the furthest removed from the public interest, was a sincere feeling that the very least we can do is to honor those in the hour of death who have protected the nation's honor in their lifetime, and that brings us as a nation to a reflection of our own consistency of action or otherwise, towards those who having served "faithfully and well" fall on evil times and drop by the wayside, friendless and a "Public Charge" in the extremity of death.

Even in this day and hour of ultra-patriotism when we are wont to point to "our boys" as embodying the incarnation of the Deity through their supreme sacrifice—our inconsistency of action is appalling, and it may be a matter of combined surprise and interest to your correspondents to know that in this one city since the beginning of the war, no less than six returned men who had fought and bled for the cause, have been snatched from the ignominy of a "pauper's grave" by an association whose goal of ambition is to arouse public opinion to a more consistent and better appreciation of its duty towards them.

Have we any right to criticize as long as we deny our own dead, six feet of the earth they offered their lives in defence of? I think not. Let our patriotism be as consistent as it is apparently fervent. "A. H. D. H."

An Empire Calendar

LORD GEORGE GORDON
Died Oct. 28, 1793.

The details of the career of Lord George Gordon, who died one hundred and twenty-five years ago today, should serve as a warning to those who seek to establish a new social order by force, by showing the harm which one crack brained agitator can do when his actions are guided by egotism and personal animosities rather than by reason. For the Gordon riots in which 450 persons were killed and incalculable damage was done to property in London threatened, for some days to spread into a revolution that might have upset the whole social order although the chief author of the revolt had no rational idea of what might be substituted for the existing regime. George Gordon was the third and youngest son of the Duke of Gordon and was born in London in 1751. He was in the navy for some time but resigned when the commander-in-chief refused to promise him early command of a ship. A seat in parliament was purchased for him and he soon assumed the leadership of the Protestant associations whose aim was the repeal of the Catholic Relief Act of 1778. On June 2, 1780, he personally placed himself at the head of the mob which marched in procession to the House of Parliament to present a monster petition. After the rabble reached Westminster a terrible riot followed which was not quelled for several days. They destroyed several Roman Catholic chapels and pillaged the residences of several prominent Catholics, set fire to Newgate and broke open all other prisons in the city, finally attacking the Bank of England and several other public buildings. For his part in the rising Gordon was apprehended on a charge of treason, but owing to the skillful pleading of his lawyer—Erskine, he was acquitted. This did not stop his foolish flights or put an end to his mad schemes. He was excommunicated by the Archbishop of Canterbury and was later arrested for libelling the Queen of France and the whole administration of justice in England. He escaped to Holland but was forced to leave that country and on his return to England was arrested and sentenced to spend five years in Newgate. There he lived at his ease giving fashionable dinners and dances, but at the expiration of his sentence as he could find no one to give surety for his future behavior he was forced to remain within its walls, dying there eventually of fever.

United States embargoes steel except for war orders, but we do not use this as a particular argument to persuade you to buy Dodge Wood-Split Pulleys.

They have sufficient qualities to justify their use at any time in preference to metal pulleys.

Their greater adhesion provides a better belt surface, consequently there is less belt slippage. There is no waste power with them. They also cost less to buy.

And you can get them when you order. All sizes from 4-inch up to 6 feet diameters shipped the day orders are received.

Great News ! ! !

Santa Claus !

At first our wireless operator could hardly believe that it was really Santa Claus' special and very private signal but it came again, more clearly, and his message:

"Tell all the children that I'm feeling fine and that I'm getting ready—I'll wire again on Wednesday."

A MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE

(Copyright, 1918, by T. W. Burgess.)

Mysterious is a long word, but like many other long words its meaning is quite simple. A thing which is mysterious is something you do not understand and cannot explain. You just know that it is, and that is all. If you go about in the Green Forest a great deal you will have many mysterious experiences until you have learned to see and to hear and to understand what is going on about you.

The instant Reddy Fox heard the voice of Sammy Jay he knew that there would be no use in keeping watch of that hole at the bottom of the ditch any longer. He knew that Jerry Muskrat probably had heard Sammy's warning. Reddy looked up at Sammy flying over the Green Meadows, and if looks could have hurt Sammy Jay certainly would have been hurt right then and there But looks cannot hurt, and Sammy went about his business without giving Reddy Fox another thought. As for Reddy, he turned and trotted back to his home in the Old Pasture.

After this at all hours of the day and night Reddy Fox might have been seen creeping up to the edge of that old drainage ditch where Jerry Muskrat and made his tunnel. Sometimes it would be early in the morning, sometimes it would be late in the afternoon, sometimes it would be just after the coming of the Black Shadows, sometimes it would be in the moonlight. Always he hoped to surprise Jerry Muskrat and always he failed.

Then Reddy decided to try a new plan. He had discovered that Jerry was still getting carrots, so he decided to hide among the carrots and try to catch Jerry there. It was a moonlight night when he first tried it. Reddy lay flat down among the green tops of the carrots. By and by, seemingly out of nowhere at all, Jerry Muskrat appeared and began to dig up a carrot. He was some little distance away, and Reddy began very, very carefully to creep towards Jerry. Suddenly Jerry disappeared. His disappearance was as mysterious as his appearance had been. Reddy raised himself on his hind legs to look over the tops of the carrots to see if any were moving in a way to show where Jerry was. Not a leaf moved. It must be that Jerry was lying flat down on the ground. Reddy ran tightly down between the rows where he had last seen Jerry, but there was no Jerry there. He tried the next row with the same result. Then he began to get excited, and raced up and down all the rows, but no Jerry. This was too much for Reddy. He was positive that Jerry could not have reached the drainage ditch without being seen, yet Jerry had disappeared. Reddy finally gave up and went home to think it over. Such a disappearance certainly was mysterious.

THE GIRL I LEFT BEHIND ME

By CAROLYN BEECHER.

(Copyright, 1918)

CHAPTER LXXIX.

Elizabeth was busily engaged for the first days of her return in putting her house in order, and in receiving the congratulations of her friends upon little Gypsy's recovery. Harper North went to call at once, and talked with Elizabeth of his experiences, interesting her far more than she would willingly have owned. He seemed a pathetic figure to her with his empty coat sleeve. He had always been so bright, always so gay and irresponsible that the quiet, almost sad man with one arm seemed like a stranger to her.

Cyril Long called almost immediately, but unfortunately Elizabeth had others and could not question him about Soto, as she had intended. When he left, however, he remarked: you soon. I have some new music I think you will enjoy running over."

"Come soon," Elizabeth had replied. She had missed his companionship more than she would have believed possible. Although she had been busy with Gypsy, she had learned more of nature, more of the great outdoors than she had ever known before.

She had improved in looks, too, although Harper had laughingly told her that wasn't necessary. She had lost that ethereal look she had when Blake went away, that extreme delicacy caused by her worry and unhappiness, and while she would never look particularly robust, the bloom of perfect health was on her face, and showed in the elasticity of her movements.

She immediately took up her social diversions. She gave dinners which were the gayest affairs of the season. She invited any celebrities that she could get in touch with. Occasionally she had an officer as a guest, an English or French officer here on leave.

It was noticeable that upon such occasions, whenever the officers talked that Elizabeth listened intently, that usually she seated them next to herself at dinner, and that whenever they spoke of the war she gave them her closest attention.

There was another guest who also was an interested listener whenever the foreign officers spoke. That was Cyril Long. While seemingly intent upon entertaining the lady next to him, his alert mind grasped all that went on about him.

He had spent the evening with Elizabeth. They had been alone, but neither by word nor look had he emphasized that fact in a way to embarrass her. They had spent a delightful hour at the piano, their voices blending wonderfully. Then she had played for him, after which he had seated himself and improvised for an hour longer. It was during these improvisations that his music appealed most strongly to Elizabeth, wild, weird, or softly entrancing chords that stirred her intensely, and made her long to have him with her. Yet no thought of love for this man, no feeling of wrong toward her husband, entered Elizabeth's head. He made her forget, he fascinated her, and made her lonely life without Blake less lonely.

He spurred her on, too, in many ways. He was a wonderful linguist, and because of his proficiency had made Elizabeth rather ashamed of her lack. Then, too, so many people now spoke French, and the foreigners she frequently entertained often could not converse with her because she did not understand French.

"Take it up, Mrs. Iverson," Cyril Long urged the evening they spent alone. "I will assist you all I can. You should not be obliged to give up much time to it. Get a French maid, one who cannot speak English, and you will find her of great assistance."

"But would a maid speak good French?" Elizabeth asked, interested, anxious to take his advice; but doubtful as to her ability to learn a foreign language with the time she was willing to devote to it.

"I will take it upon myself to find one who does if you will trust me," and so it was settled that Cyril Long should get a French maid for Elizabeth.

Before he left they had a dainty supper served by Jane. Suddenly Elizabeth remembered that she had never spoken to Mr. Long about Soto.

"You recall how it rained the day I returned from the mountains?" she said looking up at him as they sat opposite each other at the small table Jane had arranged for them.

"Yes, it was a perfect downpour. I shall always feel hurt that you did not wire me what train you were to take so that I might have met you."

"It wasn't at all necessary. I had Jane with me, you know, and we took a cab. I did not get wet. But I saw you on our way home. You were standing in a doorway talking to an old servant of my—ours," she corrected herself. She had been about to say my husband's.

FASHIONS FOR TODAY

The little dance dress shown in the sketch may be made of white chiffon, net, Georgette, or silk tissue, and it is trimmed very simply with rows of inch-wide glossy ribbon in color. Rainbow colors may be selected for the ribbon, two or three of these dainty pale shades being used, with very good effect. If desired, the fabric of the gown may also be in color, and the frock be a genuine rainbow affair.

A foundation of sheer silk should be used for the dress, and it may be made a slip-over by running an elastic in at the waistline. Two or three ribbon straps hold it in place over the shoulder, and a ribbon girdle with long ends circles the waist.

A dress of this kind is easy to make, and may be very inexpensive. Spending a great deal of money on a dance or evening dress is never really necessary, and at present it is poor taste. There will be few formal evening functions during the coming winter season, and the simple dances scheduled call for simple costuming.

An allover lace dress is always pretty, and many lace dresses are being featured for the coming season. Extreme simplicity is the rule in designing these frocks. Frequently the bodice is merely a wide girdle of silk or satin topped by a frill or yoke of lace and with short lace sleeves. The skirt may be a single length of lace, or it may be formed of two or three lace flounces. A ribbon sash or girdle finishes the dress.

Ribbon trimming is extremely popular this season. Plain bands of ribbon are used on frocks for both daytime and evening wear, and ribbon flowers, bowknots, etc., appear on innumerable evening dresses of sheer materials.

Very narrow "baby" ribbon is often knitted to form cuffs and collars for a street suit or frock and the knitted ribbon sweater has been worn for months. During the summer it was merely a sweater, now it appears as a sleeveless vest to be worn underneath the suit jacket.

WIRE-HAIRS.

In reply to one of your correspondents that asked for information about the care of a wire-haired dog's coat I submit the following.

Twice a year there is a period when a wire-haired dog's coat will present a very unkempt appearance unless it is periodically brushed and combed. A dog changes its coat twice a year naturally, and at this time the old dead coat will mat and tangle unless removed by daily brushing. A good stiff "dandy" brush as used by horsemen is the brush to use, and if a good stiff comb called a stripping comb is used periodically it will remove all the dead coat and the dog will always be presentable. In preparing a wire-coated dog for exhibition the whole of the long dead coat is plucked out about eight to ten weeks before the date of the show, and a new coat grows in of the same length all over the dog's body, giving him a very smart even appearance which is very desirable in a show specimen. If your correspondent's dog is in a very unkempt condition, the "plucking" is what he needs, but for the sake of the dog I would suggest that an expert undertake it. Wire-haired dogs should be washed as little as possible, as too frequent washing spoils the texture of the coat. Show specimens are cleaned by rubbing liberal quantities of common household whitening into the coat and then brushing it out with a stiff brush. Mrs. J. Stringer covered the ground very practically in her instructions on the care of a long-coated Toy published in your columns recently, and I hope the above will be useful to your correspondent.

Ed. Note.—Thank you.

In answer to Mrs. J. McP. I would advise her to wash her dog with Taylor's Tar Soap and then to go and get cocoanut oil, the marrow out of a bone and some lavender water. Then mix the three together, and rub well into the coat of the dog. I have got Yorkshire terriers and I find this one of the best ways of getting the knots off the coat. J. B.

Ed. note.—Thank you.

I would like to know how she does it. I get out of school at 2 p.m., and I don't keep house, but I haven't any extra time to myself. "ANNIE LAURIE."

(Requested by "Jessie.")

"Give us a song," the soldiers cried
The outer trenches guarding;
While the heated guns of the campallied
Grew weary of bombarding.

The dark Redan, in silent scoff
Lay grim and threatening under
And the tawny mound of the Malakoff
No longer belched its thunder.

There was a pause — the Guardsman said,
"We storm the fort tomorrow;
Sing while you may, another day,

Below the smoky cannon,
Brave hearts from Severn and from Clyde,
And from the banks of Shannon.

They sang of love and not of fame—
Forgot was Britain's glory;
Each heart recalled a different name—
But all sang "Annie Laurie."

Their battle-eve confession.

Dear girl, her name he dared not speak
But as the song grew louder;
Something upon the soldier's cheek
Washed off the stains of powder.

While the Crimean valleys learned,
How English love remembers.

And once again a fire of Hell
Rained on the Russian quarters,
With scream of shot and burst of shell,
And bellowing of the mortars.

And Irish Nora's eyes are dim,
And English Mary weeps for him
Who sang of "Annie Laurie."

Go, soldiers to your honored rest,

By DR. FRANK CRANE

If any one can explain why Maximilian Harden is allowed to run loose in Germany I wish he would stand and speak out. He has been telling the truth in a way that must be most loathesome to the Prussian mind. True, his paper nas been suppressed again, but he will probably be allowed to resume it.

I have heard it said that he is considered a joke at home, that no German takes him seriously, and that the censor lets his stuff get by merely for the consumption of the Allies, to fool them into thining that the sturdy royalists of the Ftehrland the sturdy royalists of the Fatherland are smitten with democratic argues somewhat.

Recently when Prince Sahn-Horstmar in the Prussian Upper House declared that this war was merely a conflict between the Aristocratic Spirit as exemplified by Germany and the Democratic Spirit as embodied in the United States, Harden put to him the question: "Did not this conflict exist before either England or America intervened?"

Both were right. It is a struggle between Aristocracy, the old, foul, and fanged beast of the past, and Democracy, the young and fearless Siegfried of tomorrow.

Harden rightly locates the most formidable foe of all the reactionary dreams of the Junkers in America, in the continent that, he says, "gave birth to the idea of the rights of man, and that during the hundred years from Washington to Walt Whitman bore a veritable springtime of free spirits, cheerful in the service of humanity—a continent that has become the storehouse of idealisms such as the world before had never seen."

Germany made the fatal mistake of taking us at the estimate of our own snarling minorities, of those blatant calamity howlers who are the unfortunate price we pay for free speech. She supposed we were all money-mad, thoroughly sordid, incapable of national passion, led by venal demagogues, soft, timid, and inchoate.

She has rudely awakened to the fact that this country is "the storehouse of idealisms such as the world beefore had never seen."

Within a year the vast business organization, the genius for efficiency and the fervor in money making, were turned toward the creation of a mighty fleet and army, and the medieval monster of Europe finds herself confronted with a new and incredible host, young, eager, and faultlessly armed.

NO TROUBLE WHEN CLOCKS PUT BACK

Churchless Sunday Helped to Make Matters Easier

Many a weary one gazed in startled surprise at the unusual brightness of the sky as their alarm clocks rang out this morning—then smiled as they remembered that Father Time had slipped a step over the week-end, allowing them a full extra hour of daylight in the morning more than they had ben accustomed to since daylight-saving came into effect last spring.

The imediate efect of the revession to winter time was first noticed last evening when darkness fell around 5 o'clock—what seemed an unusually early hour. The lights, however, were switched oh all the right moment, and little inconvenience was felt.

None of the inconveniences occasioned last spring whe the clocks were moved forward, were felt, owing to the fact that there were no religious services, nor public gatherings of any kind yesterday. The only public services likely to be disturbed were the railways, but these reported that everything passed off smoothly. C. P. R. trains went out under orders to pull up for an hour at 2 a.m., so as to arive at their destination on schedule time. The Grand Trunk and the Rutland and D. & H. R. R. held up their night trains at the Bonaventure station for an hour, Saturday night, and in every case it was reported that there had ben no trouble.

The only unusual thing noticed this morning was that many of the habitually tardy ones at business arrived punctually on time.

STREAM SUBJECT OF ACTION DISMISSED

Mr. Justice Weir gave judgment on Saturday dismissing the action of Eusebe Labelle against Jean Baptiste Dagenais for $170 damages which Labelle complained he had suffered through Dagenais changing the course of a stream of water running through the parties' properties which adjoin one another at St. Vincent-de-Paul.

The Court was of the opinion that Dagenais was within his rights in cutting the trench upon his own land. In so doing and while improving his own soil for the purpose of cultivation, he did not increase the flow of water on the others' land.

C. P. R. SHIP GOES DOWN WITH ALL ON BOARD; 346 DROWNED

Princess Sophia Slides from Reef on to Which She Was Driven and Sinks—No Survivors—Disaster Between Juneau and Skagway

By Canadian Press.

VICTORIA, B.C., Oct. 28.—Pounded by mountainous waves and driven before a wind of terrible severity, the C. P. R. steamer Princes Sophia slid from the comparative safety of Vanderbilt reef, in Lynn Canal, midway between Skagway and Juneau, early Friday evening, and carried 346 persons, passengers and crew, men, women and children, to their death in the raging northern waters. There were no survivors.

The Sophia left Skagway Wednesday evening last for Vancouver with a pasenger list made up largely of Dawson people and Alaskans from interior points, eager to get "outside" for the winter. Four hours out she ran into a blinding snowstorm, in which, it is supposed, she got out of her course slightly and piled up on the reef, where she rested for more than 40 hours in what was thought to be a position of no danger. Lighthouse tenders and gasoline boats responded to the wireles call for assistance, and the Princess Alice was despatched from Vancouver to take over the passengers. Even though the seas were running too high to permit of the transference of the passengers on board on Friday, no alarm was felt.

Capt. F. L. Lockem, of Victoria, a veteran seaman of the northern coast, on the night of the disaster had wirelessed his office here that the ship was hard and fast on the reef with her bottom badly damaged, but she was not taking water, and the passengers were normal. It is evident that he believed the Sophia was planted so firmly on the rocks as to be secure from the severity of the storm which continued to rage.

Friday morning the United States lighthouse tender Cedar got within 400 yards of the Sophia, but her anchors would not hold on the rocky set bottom and the seas forced her back.

GOT LAST MESSAGE.

The waves were such that lifeboats could not have lived. When night shut down the Sophia was still on the reef. The wind increased and the air was filled with snow. At 8 o'clock the Cedar picked up the last wireless from the Sophia. The Sophia was sinking. She had been driven across the reef into deep water, against which he shattered bottom offered no support, and she filled quickly and went down. The Cedar rushed to the vicinity, but could see nothing of the Sophia.

When morning broke the foremast was visible above the water. There was no sign of life, no wreckage, and the bodies had scattered if they had not gone down with the ship.

It was not until late Saturday afternoon that word of the disaster came out. Unconfirmed reports carried up and down the coast earlier in the day that the Sophia had gone down, and these were finally confirmed by a wireless message from Juneau. Details have come through slowly.

The body of one woman was picked up, with four overturned boats, on Lyncoln Island Sunday morning. Reports to Canadian Pacific Railway officials in Victoria yesterday announce the recovery of nine more bodies, eight of them women, and all so far unidentified. Four of the bodies were on one of the Sophia's collapsible rafts. The message added that there was so sign of life and no hope of any survivors.

NO HOPE OF SURVIVORS.

Vanderbilt reef, it is pointed out, is 3½ miles from the nearest point where boats would drift ashore, and it was impossible that rafts or lifeboats or passengers with lifebelts could have survived for such a distance in the huge seas which prevailed Friday night. The search for bodies is being maintained.

The passenger list was cabled from Skagway, Saturday night, and shows that 285 passengers sailed on the Sophia, of whom 230 were men, 37 women, and 18 children. The crew comprised 61 persons, including one woman, Miss H. Browning, of Vancouver, a stewardess. According to these figures, there were 346 persons aboard, 290 men, 38 women and 18 children. The passenger list gave the names only, and it was impossible to identify all of them.

DAWSON HARD HIT.

The city of Dawson was hard hit, and despatches from that city state that almost two-thirds of the passengers were Dawsonites. William O'Brien, member of the Yukon Legislature, and of the Dawson City Council, accompanied by his wife and five children, was on board. William Scouse, of Seattle, who was lost, hoisted the first bucket of fabulously rich gold gravel on Eldorado, the most noted of Yukon creeks.

Mrs. Charles Vifquain, the wife of the assistant general agent for the White Pass and Yukon Company at Dawskon, was accompanied by her child.

U. G. Myers, formerly United States Commissioner in Eagle City.

Captain Augustine Steward, a veteran of the South African wars.

The passenger list included a large number of steamship officials who had been operating for the summer on the Yukon River. Among these were:

C. J. Bloomquist, Victoria, B.C., captain of the steamer Dawson.
W. W. Schillinglaw, Victoria, B.C.
B. Wilkinson, Victoria.
R. C. Haws, Vancouver.
P. Vint, Vancouver.

NO EASTERNERS ABOARD.

Most of the passengers belonged to Yukon and Alaska, and the Pacific Coast, and none have been identified as yet as belonging to eastern Canada. Included in the crew was C. J. Black, of Campbellford, Ont., assistant purser. The balance of the crew were coast men.

D. M. Robinson, Vancouver, the wireless operator, was a lad of twenty, and stuck to his post to the last. Formerly he was wireless operator on the Empress of Russia.

The Sophia is reported from Dawson to have carried a cargo of gold worth a million dollars or more. She had a score or two of horses, but otherwise little cargo. She was a steel screw steamship of 2,320 tons gross and 1,466 tons register, and was built in Paisley in 1912.

The White Pass and Yukon Railway Co., which operated steamship and railway lines in the Yuon and Alaska, have issued a list of 84 of their employes lost on the Sophia, three of them accompanied by their wives. Most of them were Canadians.

THOUGHT SHIP WAS FAST.

By Canadian Press.

JUNEAU, Alaska, Oct. 28.—Officers of the Canadian Pacific steamer Amy, which returned from the scene of the wreck of the Princess Sophia, said last night that two feet of snow fell in forty hours and a strong northeast wind developed into the blizzard which was responsible for the Sophia's heavy loss of life.

When the Amy left the Sophia, that vessel was resting for about two-thirds of her length on the rocks of the reef, which is four miles west of Sentinel Island and half way between Juneau and Skagway. The Sophia was then taking in water. She was surrounded by deep water on both sides, but with only her stern over deep water it was thought there was no danger of the steamer sliding off the rocks. The reef was covered, however, at half tide and the heavy seas had prevented attempts to take off the passengers.

The Sophia's only freight cargo is said to have consisted of forty horses.

THE WOMEN AND CHILDREN.

SKAGWAY, Alaska, Oct. 28.—Many women and children were aboard the steamer Princess Sophia when she left here Wednesday. Among the passengers were Mrs. Marks and children, Captain James Alexander and wife, and William A. Malong and wife. Mrs. Marks was the wife of a Fairbanks, Alaska, dredge operator, and Captain Alexander and Mr. Malong were mine operators from interior Alaska.

COMPANY'S STATEMENT.

Owing to the difficulty obtaining first-hand information, it is impossible to report the exact loss of life, said a statement issued from the head office of the C. P. R. last night. The company's official statement reads:

It is reported from Juneau that the Princess Sophia, of the Canadian Pacific Coast fleet, Alaskan service, has been lost on the rocks at Skagway or close thereto, and that all those on board have gone down with her.

Owing to the great distance the news has to be relayed, it is hoped that an announcement will yet be made that there are some survivors. Apparently the vessel struck a reef on Thursday morning last, and in the terrible storm which has been reported as raging in the vicinity of Alaska, she was unable to get free, and other boats in the vicinity were unable to get close enough to her to take off the passengers.

The Sophia is the newest of the fleet operating in the Alaska service, having been built in 1912, is a vessel of 2,319 tons gross with a passenger capacity of 500 and a maximum speed of 14 knots per hour, with a freight-carrying capacity of 1,200 tons. Her appointments were of the latest obtainable in 1912.

The difficulty in obtaining first-hand information has rendered it impossible to say exactly what the loss of life has been, as only a few names of passengers have so far been reported.

SOLDIER CONVICTED BY COURT-MARTIAL

The Standing General Court-Martial, of Montreal District, presided over by Lieut.-Col. F. Minden Cole, D.S.O., has concluded its sittings in the case of desertion against Pte. Louis Goodman. The actual finding and decision has not been given out and must be approved by the Militia Council before it is promulgated. It is understood, however, that the accused has been found guilty, the procedure requiring his dismissal from custody if the contrary was true. As it is Pte. Goodman is still held a prisoner at his barracks.

Capt. Louis Gosselin, K.C., Assistant Judge Advocate, in summing up, stated that whatever the decision and award might be in this case, it should be understood that the facts were unusual and established no precedent in future cases of desertion.

Take a Tip from Your Employer

Buy Victory Bonds

Employees' subscriptions to the 1917 Victory Loan would have been much heavier than they were, if workers generally had realized how deep their employers were digging down to buy Victory Bonds.

The Montreal Employees' Committee got subscriptions totalling nearly Five Million Dollars — but Employers bought several times more Victory Bonds than did all their employees put together.

Did you know that?

It means that your employer, when he urges you to buy Victory Bonds, is preaching something he is more than ready to practise.

It means that he, with all his chances of getting in on good things, considers Victory Bonds a mighty good investment.

From that business your living, as well as his, is drawn. Are you as wide awake as he?

Your employer will be glad to give you any information you want.

FIGURES FOR THE WEEK-END SHOW A BIG FALLING OFF

Below the 100 Mark for First Time in Twelve Days

REGULATIONS OF BOARD OF HEALTH

Amendments Made — Well Known Citizens Die of Influenza

City medical authorities have high hopes that the influenza epidemic is on the wane, for the figures reported to the health department during the past few days have all shown a decrease. This was first noticed on Wednesday when the death roll dropped from 155 to 133; it kept around the same figure the next day, and dropped still lower on Friday. The return for Saturday showed even more improvement, there being but 94 deaths, while the notifications of new cases totalled 487, which was less than had been reported for the previous ten days. On Sunday, although the office was kept open to receive returns there were only 19 notifications of new cases, and only 73 deaths were registered. While it was not believed that this is a complete return, it is hoped that the total for today will not be duly augmented.

Of the deaths reported on Saturday 71 were due to influenza and 23 to pneumonia, while of Sunday's total 54 were due to influenza and 19 to pneumonia.

In the city run hospitals on Sunday morning there were 1,148 patients under treatment. There were 20 deaths on Saturday and 12 yesterday, making a total of 32 for the week end. Forty patients were discharged on Saturday and 32 patients yesterday, leaving 133 vacant beds on Sunday evening.

OPEN ANOTHER HOSPITAL.

A new hospital is to be opened tomorrow for children in St. Paul's Academy, at the corner of Beaubien and St. Denis streets where accommodation will be provided for fifty sick children. The nursing sisters will be supplied by the sisters of the Ste. Justine Hospital.

A COMPLAINT VOICED.

Complaint was made at the meeting of the Board of Health on Saturday that insurance collectors were entering the houses of sick people, even going to their sick rooms in order to collect sums due, and the opinion was strongly expressed that collectors should not enter houses on which attending physicians had affixed a seal indicating the presence of influenza. Dr. David J. Evans, who reported the matter to the board, said that the collectors of one large company met to the number of fifty or sixty in a large room at their office after their daily rounds, and it was a practice that should be stopped.

Fifteen of the Catholic school teachers have volunteered to aid in the care of the sick and their services have been accepted by the Board of Health.

ORDERS FROM HEALTH BOARD.

NO MILITARY DEATHS.

There was, over the week-end, a conconsiderable improvement in the influenza situation as affecting the soldiers in this military district. The fact that three days passed without a death being reported either in Montreal or St. Johns was taken by Major-General Wilson, O.C., as indfeating that the epidemic was now well in hand.

The only death reported was of a St. Johns soldier who died a week ago. There were only two new cases reported in Montreal Saturday and two new cases reported in Montreal Saturday and two on Sunday, with none at St. Johns either day. Since the outbreak of the epidemic there have been 1,239 cases in the military district and 147 deaths.

Pte. John Rowan, 5th Pioneer Battalion, a veteran of the war, died at the Grenadier Guards' Armory hospital on Saturday of influenza. He was 51 years old and leaves no family. The funeral will be held at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning under the auspices of the Last Post Fund.

MANY CIVILIAN DEATHS.

Francis Joseph Conway, a brother of Thomas E. Conway, manager of the Francais Theatre, died in Drummondville yesterday of pneumonia following influenza. He was 32 years of age. He is survived by his mother, a brother and one sister, Mrs. K. Murphy, of Montreal.

Rose Kehoe, widow of the late Patrick Flood, and mother of the Rev. James J. Flood, of St. Anthony's Church, died on Saturday of pneumonia, the result of an attack of influenza. She was born in St Columban, Que., in 1850, and had resided in Montreal 25 years. Her husband died in 1911. Surviving children are the Rev. Father Flood, P. J. Flood, U.S. Army, Camp Custer, Mich., Francis and M. J. Flood, of Montreal; Mrs Chas. Kelly, Mrs. Alfred Deegan, and Miss Katherine Flood, all of Montreal.

MRS. J. H. ARTHURS.

The death has occurred in Ottawa from pneumonia of Mrs J. H. Arthurs, wife of J. H. Arthurs, of the Department of Railways and Canals, who is a son of Lt.-Col. Jas. Arthurs, M.P. for Parry Sound. Mrs. Arthurs was formerly Miss Dora Agnes Millidge, daughter of Mrs. C. Millidge, of 133 Hutchison street, Montreal. Four unmarried sisters lived in Montreal and other sisters are Mrs. Herbert Doyle, of Halifax, and Mrs. J. J. Grubert, also of Montreal.

After a six days' illness, Felix St. Vincent, a well known hotel-keeper on St. Lawrence street, died, in his seventieth year. He is survived by a widow, nee Miss Hermeline Dore, a daughter, Mme. Hector Demers, and two sons, Felix and Hector.

Another physician who became a victim to his devotion in fighting the epidemic was Dr. Alfred Ferron, of Grand'mere, whose death has just been announced. He was 42 years old, and is survived by a widow, nee Miss Bella Gelinas, daughter of E. Gelinas, of Montreal, and two sons, Claude and Albert.

Capt. Alban Robineau, of St. Hubert street, died last Thursday morning on his vessel, the W. B. Morley, at Cardinal, of Spanish grippe. Since April last he had been plying between Cleveland, O., and Rimouski. Last Tuesday the epidemic broke out on the vessel and soon 17 men were sick. One died and was buried at Oswego. The next victim was the captain. He is survived by a widow and four children.

The first priest in the city to die of the epidemic is the Rev. Father Joseph Gaudette, who had been for two years curate at St. Jean Berchmans. Born at Ste. Anne des Plaines, he studied at Ste. Therese Seminary and entered the Grand Seminary in Montreal in September, 1909. He was ordained in 1913 and at once went to St. Jean Berchmans parish.

The Court of Appeal on Saturday reserved judgment on an appeal from a judgment of the Superior Court rendered by Mr. Justice Maclennan annulling and setting aside the will of the late Dame Adele Gaucher, widow of Narisse Papineau, dated May 13, 1914, on the ground that the legal formalities for the preparation, execution and making of the testament had not been fulfilled. Deceased's estate is said to be worth $32,000.

PRECAUTION AGAINST GRIPPE

Do not toy with cold—The very lightest one may lead to GRIPPE—Keep at hand a bottle of the "Mathieu Syrup of Tar and Cod Liver Oil," the tried family remedy for colds, and at the very first sign of a cold, even before the cold shows itself—take a dose—give it to the children.

If fever accompanies the cold, Mathieu's Nervine Powders soothe it, dispel the headache and pain in back and limbs, and a natural health restoring sleep becomes possible.

N.B. — It is wise to err on the safe side and to insist on the genuine "Mathieu Syrup" which has acquired such an excellent reputation as a family remedy. 35c large bottle.

SIR WM. WISEMAN BACK IN LONDON

Laison Officer at Washington Confers with Cabinet

LONDON, Oct. 28.—The most important event in diplomatic circles in England last week was the arrival in London from Washington on Saturday of Sir William Wiseman, who has been acting at Washington as liaison officer between the British War Cabinet and the Washington Government. Sir William, on his arrival, immediately went into conference with Lord Reading and members of the Cabinet. Within a few days he will proceed to Paris to join Colonel House, now on a special mission from the United States.

It has been learned that the day prior to his sailing, Sir William had a long conference with President Wilson. On the occasion of Colonel House's previous visit to Europe about a year ago, Sir William was one of his closest advisers, and he was very close to Colonel House while in the United States.

COL. HOUSE SPEAKS.

PARIS, Oct. 28.—Col. Edward M. House, who has arrived in Paris on a confidential mission for President Wilson, made the following statement to The Associated Press:—

"It is with the keenest pleasure that I find myself again in France. Upon my last visit some eleven months ago the Allies' fortunes, it seemed, had struck their lowest level. Those memorable days, when we counselled together and formulated plans looking toward a civil and military unity and the coordination of war economies and industries, can never be forgotten.

"From that hour the clouds began to lift and we could see, dimly at first, the stars of hope and victory which today are shining with such a steady and effulgent glow.

"We are now confronted with different and more complex problems—problems which I feel confident will be met with high courage and with the vision which comes from lofty motives and unselfish hearts."

Col. House told the semi-official Havas Agency that his trip had no correlation with an armistice, and he had not received from President Wilson and the American Government special powers to negotiate on this question. As regards future negotiations which might arise, Col. House declined to talk.

The Colonel added that the American press has been a faithful interpreter of the general feelings of the United States during the exchange of notes with Germany.

VIOLENT VETERAN

Opposed Superiors—Goes to Pen for Two Years

TORONTO, Oct. 28.—Two years in Kingston penitentiary was the sentence meted out to Pte. Richard Alvin Rolph, a veteran of the 15th Toronto Battalion, who was found guilty on three charges by district court-martial for offering violence to his superiors. The sentence was promulgated at Park School, at the District Depot Casualty Unit, to which Rolph is attached. Rolph was tried by district court-martial last Monday at the Central Convalescent Home, College street. Two charges were that Rolph drew a gun on N.C.O.'s at the hospital after being ordered to fall-in on parade, and the other charge was of offering violence to his escort while under arrest. Rolph claimed he was suffering from shell-shock.

Full in the path of victorious Germans, alone for two nights in a pitch black hospital with nine dying soldiers and a madman! One small woman saw it through. And overhead roared the shells of the advancing Hun

France's Fighting Woman Doctor

This was Nicole Girard-Mangin, the woman doctor who was mobilized and sent to the front by mistake because they thought she was a man.

"What! a woman?" cried the head doctor. "This is no place for a woman! But, good God, if you know anything, roll up your sleeves and stay."

The Luck of Geraldine Laird

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

DESERTED, insulted by the hideous terms of her husband's letter, penniless, Geraldine Laird faces life. Her two babies need food, shelter, clothes, schooling. Another man is eager to take her husband's place.

Would the fact that your husband had deserted you for another woman drive you in the extraordinary direction it drove Geraldine? The way she solves her problem is fascinating, thrilling. The second big installment moves swiftly forward. Read it now or save your installments till the four are completed—you will have right there a big popular novel to read that would cost you $1.50 at the bookstores.

The Man Who Looked Back

By LUCY PRATT

Greatest war story of the year

A GERMAN Airman. But he could not forget. "Children? Oh—yes! Plenty of 'em—mostly children! The dead ones didn't cry—of course—like the others—like the ones that tried to crawl—and cry for their mothers. Still hanging on—to their school bags—living and dead—you understand. You see—they kept crying—for their mothers!"

The man had looked back! He looked back! What he went through, what you go through as you read—is tragic. But it is true! Shall children die and women plead in vain?

Making the World Safe for Monogamy

By HELEN RING ROBINSON

First woman State Senator of Colorado

WILL the war make husbands monogamous? War has always profoundly affected marriage. At the close of the Thirty Years War it was practically abolished in Germany. They wanted cannon-fodder. They want it now. Hence, their system of "secondary marriages" today! Will our line hold against the Hun and the Harem? Retaining our ideal and keeping out the ghastly German desecration depend on just one thing. Read in this issue what it is!

DECLINE IN WALL STREET PRICES---LOCAL TRADING QUIET

REACTION IN N. Y. PRICES; TOOK PROFIT

Special to The Star.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28. — Prices faded away today after a fairly strong start when commission house clients gathered in their profits and professionals turned to the selling side.

Some pessimistic views were entertained regarding what additional measures might be taken to curb speculation if the public persisted and it was felt that the gymnastics of Mexican Petroleum were doing the market no good.

C.P.R. opened at 169¾ to 170 but later dropped back to 168½. Steel dropped from 110⅞ to 108 and at 1.30 was 108⅝. Mexican continued its wild fluctuations, opening at 182 to 187 from which it dropped to 172 and later rallied to 175¼.

Oils, shippings, rails, motors and coppers featured the strong opening, further extensive buying being stimulated by the tenor of foreign advices. Mexican Petroleum was again the leader jumping 11 points in the first half hour. Advances among shippings, representative rails and metals ranged from 1 to 2½ points. The war group was slightly heavy with the exception of Baldwin Locomotive. U. S. Steel made a fractional advance but immediately reacted.

Week-end developments of international character pointed decidedly towards peace. This was reflected in the stock market at opening. All stocks in so-called peace group made gains. There was no pronounced weakness in the war group, but little interest was manifested in this department.

The resignation of General Ludendorff was interpreted in Wall Street houses as meaning the abdication of German militarism. There is no doubt it strengthened hopes of an early unconditional surrender by Germany and her Allies. Stocks were bought on the assumption that the enemy would accept most drastic armistice terms. Peace stocks soared and war stocks continued their decline.

Coppers led the market in the second half hour. Kennecott was singled out for particular strength. All leading Copper companies are sure of earning their dividends this year with the copper price at 26 cents until January first, 1919. This is the primary reason for strength in the Copper group. Strength in Kennecott also reflects belief that the Company will pay its last installment of 16,000,0000 dollars in notes outstanding next April. When the notes are paid Kennecott will own 38 per cent of Utah free and clear.

Pennsylvania, Seaboard Steel Corporation has given notice to the holders of its first mortgage six per cent five year serial gold bonds that it will pay off the balance of the outstanding issue on December first, 1918, at 101 1-2 and accrued interest.

Mexican Petroleum after selling, up 12 points to 187 in the first hour dropped back to 174 in the second hour for a net loss of a point. Much criticism has been directed against floor operations in this stock and it is common gossip that exchange authorities have an eye on alleged manipulation.

Steels did not hold up well. From a high of 111 Steel common dropped nearly two points. It carried other steels and equipments down with it. War shares showed pronounced weakness.

Many severe reactions resulted from the heavy profit-taking in the first hour's turnover of almost 300,000 shares. Mexican Petroleum lost practically all its gain, Royal Dutch 6½ and some of the active war equipments 2 to 3 points. U. S. Steel reacted 1½ despite favorable forecasts of the quarterly statement to be issued tomorrow. Rails yielded 1 to 2 points and motors 1 to 4 points. Trading slackened toward midday, firmness among certain issues being offset by further heaviness elsewhere.

Press Opinions on N.Y. Situation

Tribune.—It has often been necessary to take drastic action to check a stock market panic, but the imposition of restriction designed to prevent the development of a bull market is something new in Wall Street's experience. Yet that is what happened last week. Out of an extended period of dullness and hesitation there suddenly emerged an extremely active and broad speculative market.

Times.—The report on the country's foreign trade during September was striking, not only in the tremendous value of the goods which went in and out, but also by reason of the evidence supplied of improved shipping conditions. The figures indicated that the shipbuilding program is having a positive effect in the movement of the merchandise. The factor of increased prices for many commodities should not be lost sight of in making comparisons, of course, but this detracted nothing from the actual increase of $100,000,000 in the value of exports, as compared with September 1917, while imports were about $40,000,000 higher.

Herald.—In the last week railroad securities intrenched themselves more firmly in public favor as peace issues. With the exception of oils and a few specialties in the industrial list, railroad stocks have dominated the market. A less obvious, but equally significant movement has taken place in the railroad bond list. A convincing bullish influence on the rails was the announcement that the Railroad Administration has consummated several contracts with railway companies.

LOCAL MARKET QUIET; IRON RETAINS LEAD

The quietness of local trading in the stock market today did not come as a surprise to the Street. The surprise would have come had it been the other way about. With the Victory Loan campaign given a noisy start, most interest was centered in it.

The tone of the market was steady, however, the two Steel leaders being fractionally firmer than last week's close. Iron ranged from 63 3-4 to 64 at the opening and later reverted to 63 3-4. This compared with last week's close at 63 1-2 and a high of 64 1-2. The dealings amounted to 555 shares out of a total of 1,062 shares, so that Iron maintained its position as leader.

Brompton maintained its advance to 62, St. Lawrence Flour was steady at 90 1-2 to 90, Steamships pfd. at 76 1-2 while B.C. Fish sold at 48 1-2 compared with 49 1-2 some time back.

Who's Who in the Street

Zepherin Hebert, who has been elected director of the Montreal City and District Savings Bank, succeeding the late Sir Evariste Leblanc, is one of the best known business men in Montreal and the first French-Canadian to fill the office of President of the Montreal Board of Trade. He is a native of Montreal, fifty-two years of age, and is president of the old-established house of Hudon, Hebert & Co., Ltd., wholesale grocers and exporters. He has been a member of the Montreal Board of Trade for thirty years and was member of the Council in 1913-14; second vice-president in 1915; first vice-president in 1916; and president in 1917. He is a governor of Notre Dame Hospital, of the Montreal General Hospital and of Laval University. He took an active part in promoting the "Bonne Entente" movement, to establish better relations between English-speaking and French-speaking Canadians. In early life he was a member of the 65th Regiment Mount Royal Rifles, and saw active service in the North-west Rebellion in 1885. He retired with the rank of Major, after eighteen years of service.

Brokerage Opinion on Iron's Strength

O'Brien & Williams writing on iron say in a recent letter: "The strength and activity in Domonion Iron reflect the now almost general belief that the stock will be on a 6 per cent dividend basis by next January. What, in our opinion, is even more important than a dividend increase, however, is the report that Mr. Workman is about to close an order that will keep the rail mill busy for pretty close to a year. This is not war, but peace business, and this order, together with the plate mill contract, will go a long way to allay the fears of many who have felt apprehensive about the Company's position should war orders suddenly cease.

"When the plate mill is completed the Company will have spent about $15,000,000 on improvements and extensions and this great expenditure must inevitably result in a more efficient performance of the plant.

"The ending of the war will result in a loss of considerable business to be replaced, we hope, by an active export trade in iron ore from Wabana and an export business in other lines. The coal outlook is, of course, excellent and peace or war this branch of the Company's business will continue active and profitable for a long time to come."

EXCHANGE IN RELATION TO LATE EVENTS

Special to The Montreal Star.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—News relating to the war in the early future is calculated to have an important bearing on the course of foreign exchange. International bankers attach considerable significance to the inter-Allied conference in Paris, attended by Col. House, to unify the policy regarding terms of an armistice, and point out that this, in conjunction with the continued brilliant successes of the Allied troops, and the possibility of a nearby surrender by Austria and Turkey, will not only act as a sustaining influence, but pave the way for further progress in exchange rates to a more normal basis.

Furthermore it would not occasion any surprise if the market took on more life in view of the fact that the volume of business in neutrals in the closing dealing last week showed a noticeable increase and tendency. This was due to the receipt of a dispatch from London to the effect that the Turkish Minister to Switzerland has handed to the British and French Ministers to that country an offer of peace virtually amounting to surrender.

There have been no striking fluctuations witnessed during the past week outside of Swiss, which showed a decline of several centimes from the high figures made following the establishment of the extreme low level recorded less than a fortnight ago. To a large extent those fluctuations have been influenced by the action of the London market. There was also an increased supply of exchange on Stockholm, Copenhagen, Christiania, Holland and Madrid in the late transactions. This serves to add additional interest to the prospective movement of rates.

For reasons which have been frequently referred to in these columns, exchange on Allied countries continues to move within narrow limits. Just how long quotations on London, Paris and Rome will remain pegged is a question.

Some bankers, however, incline to the opinion that it will not be long before a further upward revision will be made on the market for Paris, London and Rome remittances.

THINKS POSITION OF EXCHANGE SERIOUS

"The money committee is not going to rest with the increased margins called for last week and new restrictive measures are going to be undertaken this morning to prevent the market running to any length on the bull side. It is a hard matter to control a situation like this where everything would seem to justify a tremendous advance and much enthusiasm, but the banks are going to do everything in their power to curtail such a demonstration. I can state this positively. They might even go so far as to allow only cash purchases, if people insist on buying stocks as they did on Saturday and as they are doing this morning. I think the situation a very dangerous and serious one for the stock exchange.

TRADE POSITION OF CANADA AFTER WAR

NEW YORK, Oct. 28. — Referring to Canada's September trade returns the Wall Street Journal remarks:

"There is in the kind and variety of Canadian raw material and products, as well as in the Dominion's geographical position, an appeal for trade extension which has now taken tael, practical form with the knowledge of what has been done in the past four years.

"With the ending of the war it is not unreasonable to look for a sharp wrench to all export trade in war material. Thoughtful Canadians have not been slow to give close study to this subject.

"Canada has enormous undeveloped productive resources. She has also emerged into the world, now shares in its ambitions and has participated in its highest honors. It is not likely she will be satisfied to go back to vegetate in the gloom of an unending prospect of adverse trade balances."

Topics of the Street

With the demand for Iron having exceeded 15,000 shares last week the Street was inclined to expect a little quieter market this week with the Victory Loan campaign under way and engaging the bulk of attention.

A strong tone in Iron is anticipated in view of the general belief in the Street that some additional distribution is in store for the shareholders in conjunction with the next quarter's declaration early next month.

The assurance of continuous employment for the plant through the large steel rail order discussed last week is said to have removed any lingering doubts there might have been of the advisability of sharing the company's prosperity with the proprietors.

Wall Street confesses to certain occasions when it became necessary to adopt steps to check bear movements but the instances are exceptionally rare where it has been necessary to publicly adopt measures to check bull movements.

This is of course entirely a war situation and one in the interests of the country's pursuit of its war aims through the keeping of funds free as far as possible for the furtherance of war work.

While it may be possible to check speculative excesses on borrowed capital it will not be likely to prevent a strong tone and the steady purchase of securities where people have the ready money.

Confidence in Bell Telephone shares as an investment is indicated by the fact that over one half, the shareholders are women. The total number of shareholders is 2,747 and the exact number of women shareholders is 1,456 or 53 per cent.

The average number of shares held by each stockholder of both sexes is 66. The tendency in Bell stock is towards its wider distribution, there being 92 more shareholders on June 30 this year than last.

While the rise in Stocks in America is considered natural by the London correspondent of the N. Y. Post points out that with Great Britain the after-war problems are likely to reveal yet more clearly the huge financial sacrifices made in the first three years of the conflict, involving Britain's change from a creditor to a debtor nation.

Moreover, the prospects of peace were somewhat discounted by British securities months back. The Bankers' Magazine lists 387 representative stocks, showing an appreciation for six months of 223 millions sterling. The lowest point of the war for these issues was in December, 1917, when the depreciation from the peace level was 770 millions.

In their October review, Greenshields & Co. state that a "strong stock market through August and September found support in a number of favorable influences. Continued successes by the Entente armies in France held out good hopes of a victorious peace at no distant date. Liquidation over many months had reduced the floating supply of stocks to very small proportions. As the bank statements, with rising deposits, had shown, the amount of funds awaiting investment had become large. With these as basic factors, prices advanced easily to their highest level of the year, with only a moderate expansion in the volume of buying. There has been no boom on the lines of the war stock markets of 1915 and 1916. While some industrial common stocks might be considered high in view of the uncertainties ahead, the general position of the market is sound. Good industrial bonds and preferred stocks merit more attention than they have been receiving, because of the appreciation in values likely when interest rates begin to decline. Purchases of common stocks demand more than ordinary caution, because of the change in business conditions that will have to be faced very shortly."

LESS SILVER CIRCULATES; EXPORT HIGH

Special to The Star.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The United States Treasury Department reports the stock of silver dollars on October 1, 1918, as $374,080,376, compared with $568,269,513 the year before. The reduction of $194,189,137 was due to melting of silver dollars under the Pitman Act to provide silver bullion for shipment to India.

The most remarkable item in the monthly circulation statement was a drop in standard silver dollars in circulation during September from $79,480,196 to $12,887,240. This drop of $66,701,956 in silver dollars in one month is the greatest change in this item in any one month in years, and is the smallest figure at which this item has stood in many years, the total stock of silver dollars having been reduced during the month by $86,173,583.

The decrease of $194,189,137 during the past year in the silver dollar stock represent a bullion recovery of about 150,000,000 ounces for shipment to India. Silver production in the United States during this period was about 75,000,000 ounces and estimated exports were 175,000,000 ounces.

With our silver reserve more and more heavily drawn upon and exports showing heavy increases, the tendency of the law of supply and demand being to make a higher silver price than $1.01¼ is becoming more pronounced.

UNITED STATES TAKES ENTIRE SUGAR CROP

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Details of the contract for the purchase of the new Cuban raw sugar crop show that under the terms of the agreement Uncle Sam will purchase the entire crop of the island, which may amount to 3,500,000 tons, and will distribute it to the Allies—Great Britain, France, Canada, Italy, etc.—as circumstances dictate.

The price to be paid is on a basis of 5 1-2 cents f.o.b. Cuba, or 5.38 cents, cost and freight. Based on a freight rate of 38 1-2 cents from northern ports of the island to New York or Philadelphia, a cost and freight price is indicated of 5.885 cents, but the price has been fixed at 5.88 cents, as the Sugar Equalization Board will assume the risks of insurance.

The Cuban Government agrees that no sugar shall be exported from the island except as provided for in the contract. The shipments are to begin as soon as possible after grinding begins, the first shipment of 2 per cent of the crop to be made in December, and the balance in equal monthly installments from January to November of next year. All sugars are to be shipped in bags of about 325 pounds each.

The United States also reserves the right to order larger quantities shipped in any month if tonnage is obtainable and the sugar is produced and is available. The producers are to pay all lighterage charges and all shipping expenses and also all Cuban domestic and export taxes.

MINING MANAGER LOST

COBALT, Oct. 28.—Chas. Watson, manager of the Mining Corporation of Canada, which for the past few years has been the largest silver producing mine in the British Empire, was a passenger on the steamer Princess Sophia, of the C. P. R. steamship service, which went on a rock in Lynn Channel, on Thursday last on its way south from Skagway. He left Cobalt several weeks ago for the purpose of examining mining properties in Alaska in the interests of the Mining Corporation.

Notes on Change

At the International Soil Products Exposition held at Kansas City, Mo., lat week, a world's sweepstake prize for wheat was awarded to Seegar Wheeler, of Rosthern, Saskatchewan. First prize for the most artistic exhibit was awarded to the province of Manitoba. First prize for best display of sorghums fell to Florida. The greater part of the other awards were given to Kansas and Missouri exhibitors.

According to private estimates the total wheat crop in France for 1918 will be about 180,000,000 bushels, an increase of about 25 per cent over last year's production. In striking an average, however, for the wheat crop of France for the three years preceding the war, there is shown a production of 324,187,000 bushels, while in 1914, immediately following the entrance of France into the war the wheat crop amounted to only 282,689,000 bushels, and for the crops of 1917,1918 the wheat production dwindled to 144,149,000 bushels.

Practically all the producers of copper have agreed with the War Industries Board to accept a continuance of the existing price of 26 per pound from November 1 to January 1.

CORN DOWN; REACTION WAS WEAK

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Although announcement that the German Government was awaiting proposals for an armistice had a bearish effect today on corn, the market soon reacted. Selling on account of the note was not aggressive, and there appeared to be no urgent demand. The upturn brought about some increase of offerings from commission houses.

Opening prices, which ranged from ⅜ to 1⅝ cent lower, with November 124⅞ to 125 and December 119½ to 120¼, were followed by an advance to well above Saturday's finish, but then a fresh decline.

Oats paralleled the action of corn. After opening unchanged to ¼ cent lower with November 69⅝ to 69¾, the market rallied, but again tended to sag.

Higher quotations on hogs hoisted provisions. Lard and ribs were especially strong.

MINIMUM HOG PRICES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—A minimum price for packers' drove hogs of $17.50 a hundred pounds was announced Saturday by the Food Administration, after a conference between the live-stock sub-committee of the Agricultural Advisory Board, which includes members representing the swine industry, the Food Administration and fifty packers. A minimum price of $16.50 has been fixed for all other hogs, except throw-outs, which consist of hogs under 130 lbs., stags, boars, sows and skips. As packing house products have been selling on a basis of $16.50 for hogs, the announcement for November resulted in a big jump of prices for pork, lard and ribs.

WINNIPEG OPENED UP

WINNIPEG, Oct. 28.—Oats opened unchanged to ⅛ higher for December at 79⅝ to 79¾.

Flax opened half cent lower for December at $3.50.

Winnipeg grain range to noon:

CATTLE PRICES LOWER; MARKET AT STANDSTILL

Receipts for the week at the West End Cattle Market have been 2,800 cattle, 5,400 sheep and lambs, 2,300 hogs, and 850 calves. This morning the offerings for to-day's market amounted to 2,200 cattle, 4,660 sheep and lambs, 100 hogs, and 750 calves. There were also two other cars of stock expected.

The market this morning was a featureless affair, trade shrinking away to nothing. Prices for all lines were considerably lower, there being a decline of fully 50 cents per 100 pounds in cattle, while small meats were also weaker. The demand for cattle was so poor, even at reduced prices, that it was expected there would be a considerable number left on the market. Small offerings of hogs tended to keep the price of this line firmer, but a decline also was noted here, and the best select were $18 per 100 pounds.

The market for small meats has been firm recently, and to-day large offerings of sheep and lambs were on the market, evidently to be realized on at a good figure. But prices in this section also tended lower, and demand dwindled.

Choice steers, $12 to $12.50, good steers, $11 to $11.50, medium steers, $9.50 to $10.50, common, $8 to $9.50. Choice butcher bulls, $9 to $9.75, good buls, $8 to $8.50, medium, $7 to $7.50. Choice butcher cows, $8.50 to $9, good $8 to $8.25, medium $7 to $7.50. Milkfed calves, $12 to $12½, grass calves $6 to $10. Sheep, 9 to $11, lambs $12 to $15. Choice select hogs, $17.50 to $18. Stags, roughs and heavies, down ot $15.

RAISINS ADVANCE 2 CENTS

Local market for dried fruits continues very strong. Last week advances were recorded in apricots and prunes. Raisins have also advanced two cents per pound, and seedless are now being quoted by wholesale grocers at from 15 to 16 cents per pound package.

If a Testator

although seeing the benefits to be derived from a Trust Company's administration, hesitates about cancelling any appointment he may have already made, the Montreal Trust Company can be named to act with the Executor or Executors already appointed. In this way the Trust Company co-operates with the Testator's appointees in the administration of the Estate.

This plan is very acceptable when the Testator's wife is named as Executor. Few women have the necessary business training to enable them to carry on the administration of an Estate, but with the co-operation of the Montreal Trust Company the Testator's wife can be appointed with full assurance that the Estate will be well looked after.

WOOL FROM THE SEA.

Material for cloth-making is now being obtained from the sea bottom along the south coast of Australia. It is fibre derived from a plant that grows in shallow water.

One would naturally infer that the plant was a seaweed of some kind. But it isn't. It is a flowering plant, a perennial, that produces seed every year.

When the plants die the soft tissue is "retted out" of them and the leaf fibres sink to the bottom, where they are covered by shelly detritus, the mixture forming a bed in which the seeds of a fresh crop sprout.

This has been going on for many centuries, and, as a result, there exist vast deposits of fibre that in some localities are more than seven feet thick.

After stripping off the top or growing layer, the underlying material is dredged up, sifted and washed for recovery of the fibre. The average return of air-dried fibre is about six pounds per cubic yard. Workable deposits cover 240 square miles.

The fibre is in color brown to buff and white. Some of it is delicate and silky, some is more like horsehair. Tweeds have been woven out of it; but it seems to be better suited (mixed with wool or alone) for carpets and upholstery, for backing oilcloths and linoleums and for mattresses.

BRITISH TOMMIES IN PARIS

Leave is in full swing again (says the Paris correspondent of the London Times), in spite of the continuous fighting. The British Leave Club is crowded with men eager to make the most of their first visit to Paris. One sees them everywhere, on foot, or in large waggonettes, in tramways and mertos, conducted by lady guides in the neatest of uniform, drinking in the wonderful history of Paris in the past and gay decades. One day recently over a thousand dinners were served to our soldiers at the club is two hours—all honor to those who did it; it was no light task. The English theatre is crowded at every performance. Tommy is delighted to hear his own language, and also to be able to follow the whole entertainment without the necessity of translation.

RABBITS WIN THE WAR, TOO.

Rabbits that were once the curse of Australian, as they have been to a lesser extent in the southwestern United States, now are providing a profitable source of revenue and at the same time are helping to win the war by increasing food supply.

Official despatches received in the United States say the British board of trade has ordered 600,000 crates of skinned rabbits, which will require the killing of 21,600,000 rabbits weighing 36,000,000 pounds after dressing. Previously the rabbits were shipped with the skins on, but inconvenience was experienced at hospitals in England in removing the fur.

How to dispose of the skins is causing the Australians speculation. There is a ready market for them in the U.S.A., but tonnage is scarce.

ESKIMOS HAVE NO SURNAME.

Eskimos are not able to trace their ancestors back for more than a generation or two because the Eskimo names do not run from generation to generation, and in every Eskimo family each person has a separate name.

Mendalook, who is a teacher at Kotzebue, says that the Eskimos call themselves "Enupeak."

"We learn that name from our forefathers," he continued. "It means 'a real human being.' White people are called 'Nalluakmeult,' which means in English, 'people who come from white tan sealskin.' Our forefathers gave the white people that name because of the color of their skin, but called themselves 'Enupeak,' or 'real human beings.'

"Let us try to 'Enupeak' in every right way we can. One way is to have an 'Enupeak' surname. We are not a real people because we have no 'Enupeak' surnames. In every Eskimo family each person has a separate name, so we cannot trace our forefathers a generation. We know hardly our great-grandfather's name, only our grandfather's name, and because there is no family name.

"We may be given a name by white people, but that will not be a real name to us, as we are 'Enupeak.' We must use our 'Enupeak' name for our last name. If we have no 'Enupeak' name, our name will sink as a stone when we throw it into the water. And then our next generation will hardly know our name.

A PALACE BUILT OF HAY

To advertise their agricultural products, the folks of the Sunnyside Reclamation Project, in the State of Washington, built last summer a brand-new kind of structure. They called it a Hay Palace.

It was built wholly of baled hay—alfalfa hay of the best quality, 6000 tons of it, contributed by the farmers of Yakima Valley. The house was 150 feet long, 100 feet wide, and 25 feet high, with an exterior effect somewhat resembling that of a mediæval fortress.

Inside of it were exhibits of every imaginable kind relating to the field and garden products of the valley. Also an auditorium, with a stage for speakers, music and vaudeville acts. The palace was illuminated by electricity and cooled by electric fans.

But, although the Yakima Valley produces wonderful fruits and vegetables, its big money-getting crop is alfalfa. The celebration at the Hay Palace (which was, incidentally, a sort of carnival) was planned mainly for the purpose of bringing together the grower and consumer of alfalfa hay with elimination of the much-objurgated middleman.

On the last day of the fair the hay from which the palace was constructed was sold at auction to the highest bidders and the proceeds were distributed pro rata among the farmers who had contributed the material.

IF YOU WANT TO LIVE 90 YEARS

Our lowest ambition should be a life of ninety years, says Dr. T. Bodley Scott, author of "The Road to a Healthy Old Age." Our main task after we reach 40 to 50 should be the saving of the heart and arteries, whose failuer accounts for one-third of the deaths between 55 and 65.

Do not continue working at high pressure after 50 or thereabouts.

Anyone who lives to 60 without a rise of arterial tension and who has a sound heart is likely to live to a full old age.

Special Star Cable by U.P.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 28.—Emperor Karl has accepted the resignation of Hungarian Premier Wekerle, according to a Budapest despatch received here to-day.

A Budapest despatch to the Vossische Zeitung says Count Karolyi, now head of the National Council, will request the Emperor to appear before the Hungarian Diet and proclaim Hungary's independence.

Peace demonstrations occurred in the Hungarian Parliament House on Saturday, the police being forced to intervene, it is reported.

GERMAN NOTE UNEXPECTED IN U.S.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28. — The German Government's reply to President Wilson's last not, asserting that the negotiations for peace are being conducted by a people's government with actual and constitutional power and that the terms of the American and Allied governments for an armistice are awaited, reached the Swiss Legation today by cable.

Germany's rejoinder to President Wilson's last note was rather unexpected here. Generally, however, the note was not regarded as one requiring an answer.

The diplomatic situation is just where it was when President Wilson informed the German Government that its request for an armistice and peace had been transmitted to the Allied Governments. The next step expected is the submission of terms of an armistice to Germany.

The announcement from London that Premier Lloyd George and the Foreign Secretary, Mr. Balfour, had left for France with naval and military advisers foreshadows an early meeting of the Supreme war council at Varsailles. While the military and naval members of the council are drawing terms of an armistice which will be tantamount to surrender by Germany, the political representatives of the Entente Powers are expected to discuss the individual peace views of their governments, with a view to formulating a complete program to be presented if Germany accepts the terms of armistice.

BERLIN WANTS INITIATIVE WITH U.S.

Special to Star by United Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Germany appeared to official Washington today to be attempting to force an early submission of Allied armistice terms.

Her latest note, for which there appeared no particular excuse or need, carried the plain suggestion that she is struggling now to make the Allies appear on the initiative in suggesting an armistice.

Opinion was divided as to its importance, some officials seeing another step forward in Germany's efforts and others declaring it merely more camouflage, more flattery of the President designed to keep him interested, and containing nothing new or important.

What Germany meant when she said President Wilson "knows" of the "deep-rooted constitutional changes" under way in that country is uncertain. Some believed she might have made a secret supplemental statement as to political reforms. Others thought she was merely trying to emphasize that political changes were under way.

Her statement that the military Powers are subject to the new reforms is regarded as inconclusive, though reforms indicated in press reports show, on the face, the German people control if the new reforms becomes effective and the people choose to exercise their new perogatives.

THINK NOTE A MANOEUVRE.

Some looked upon the German note as a manoeuvre to avoid one imposition of the President's stipulation—surrender if the Kaiser does not abdicate. It is held to be a subtle effort to show the United States that reforms are proceeding thoroughly; but, as generally viewed here, the world has not yet had proof that the reforms are thorough or sincere or even that they will actually be placed in effect.

The resignation of General Ludendorff, Germany's master military mind, is held significant by some and denounced as camouflage by others.

Maximilian Harden's reported statement that the Brest-Litovsk peace had made German statesmen look like card-sharpers to the whole world is fairly illustrative of the sentiment here. Hence, there is an attitude of doubt about the real importance of Ludendorff's action.

Another factor in the situation is Germany's constant appeal to President Wilson to get a "just peace." German papers are indulging in flattery of him. There is a growing fear that the peace manoeuvres are part of a sly Teuton game to cause dissension among the Allies by appealing to the United States solely on the theory that more lenient treatment can be expected from this quarter than from any other.

WANT PEACE TALK FINISHED.

Military men are hoping that peace developments will come to a decision quickly. They foresaw today that if peace talk is long continued, it will have a demoralizing effect on war work. Symptoms of this have already become evident, as shown last week by the Government appeal to non-essential industry workers to shift over to essential lines, regardless of peace talk.

It was indicated at that time that the peace exchanges were tending to depress war work because some laborers thought peace was at hand and hence would not give up peace-time jobs.

Military men say that it is a natural reaction to have war work hampered if peace talk is persistent. But, they point out, that thus far there is no assurance that Germany will accept the Allies' armistice terms, and hence no reason for any American to believe that he can "let down."

The army authorities believe that Germany is making a strong bid to escape the inevitable—invasion of Germany. The resignation of Ludendorff is viewed as a long step, but army men are far from convinced that Germany is entirely sincere in her manoeuvres to date.

The army men hope that matters will be left to them. If the armistice terms are rejected, they expect to make a clean-up of the situation, though they admit there will be very desperate fighting ahead with heavy losses all around.

In this connection, they point out Germany will have shorter lines and hence will need fewer men than before. They add that the German military machine is still intact, though suffering reverses. The army is getting out of Belgium with most of its material and with comparatively small losses in prisoners. In these circumstances, military men warn that the nation must not be over-sanguine about a walk-away in crossing the Rhine.

CZECHS GIVEN CONTROL OF FOOD SUPPLY.

By Associated Press.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 28.—Austria has handed over entire control of food supply and distribution to the Czech authorities in Bohemia, a Vienna despatch to the Vossiche Zeitung of Berlin says, with the result that one hundred carloads of potatoes are on their way to the famishing Austrian capital.

A despatch from Prague to the same newspaper, dated Oct. 24, says that in compliance with a demand by American bankers, the Czech leaders have given an undertaking that the prospective Czech Government will make every effort to have the new regime in Bohemia come into operation without excesses.

The correspondent adds that this is borne out by the entirely calm behavior of the Czechs in Prague, who are entitled to credit, at least for the present, for keeping perfect discipline.

As a consequence of the reorganization of the Government of the kingdom of Saxony, all the Ministers have resigned, the Saxon State Gazette has announced, according to advices from Dresden. King Friedrich August has accepted the resignations of the Premier and Minister of Finance, it is said.

FIST FIGHT FOLLOWS POLISH DEBATE.

Special Star Cable by United Press.

BERNE, Oct. 28.—Riotous scenes, including an attempted fist fight, accompanied a debate on the Polish question in the Reichstag, according to advices received here today.

The Foreign Secretary, Dr. Solf, told the Polish members that President Wilson's program did not mean that Danzig would be ceded to them. Replying to their demand for a war indemnity, he said the German soldiers were fighting for the liberation of Poland.

VENIZELOS COMING TO U. S.

Special to The Star by United Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Premier Venizelos, of Greece, will come to America soon, probably early in December, the Greek Minister, M. Roussos, declared today. M. Venizelos, in response to a cable from the Greek Legation here, indicated his intention of visiting America when his present mission in London and Paris is finished.

M. Venizelos will lay Greece's war aims before President Wilson personally and conferences will be held regarding the specific application of President Wilson's war aims to the Balkans.

Conferences on this question are now on between M. Venizelos, Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Clemenceau. Mr. Venizelos will see Col. House informally on the same subject in Paris.

Bulgaria's collapse and Turkey's expected surrender entangle the situation. America has not declared war on either of these countries, hence Greece deems it important that President Wilson's position regarding disputed territory in Thrace, Macedonia and Asia Minor be known.

THE SCARCITY OF BACON

At one time the slaughter of Danish pigs numbered 2,600,000 yearly, most of which supplied bacon for England. The number has steadily declined for the want of feeding stuffs, and one week in August only 1,230 pigs were slaughtered, not enough for home consumption, which requires at least 5,677 pigs. A further decline is expected, and several slaughter houses may have to close. Much was expected from the new Corn Bill, which was to reduce the price of bacon after September, but it is now evident that there will be very little bacon to sell.

M.S.A. REGISTRAR OF QUE. ARRESTED

Follows Charge by Arrested Draftee—Granted Bail

QUEBEC, Oct. 28.— As Jules Larue, registrar under the M. S. Act, was walking across Place d'Armes here on Friday afternoon Detective Sylvan walked up to him, court warrant in hand, and placed him under arrest. Smilingly, Mr. Larue accompanied the sleuth to the Court House, appeared before Judge Langlier, heard two lengthy charges read, pleaded not guilty, and applied for and obtained his release on personal bail of $5,000. The charges, boiled down, are two-fold: first that he caused the arrest of one Emile Dussault, a class 1 man; second, that he conspired with Major Desrochers, head of the local office of the Dominion Police, to have Dussault thrown into jail.

These are but the skeletonized outlines of a little local drama in which the war, civil and criminal law and the Spanish influenza all figure.

When the M.S.A. first became a reality, Dussault went up for examination, was placed in category E, and was exempted. Some months ago he was arrested for not presenting himself for re-examination. He engaged Armand Lavergne, K.C., ex-M.P., who two weeks ago obtained a judgment from Judge Chouette upholding his client's submission, which was that, having been exempted as a category E man, his exemption could not be annulled by the recent order-in-council affecting all unmarried men of certain ages. The military authorities forthwith took the finding of Judge Chouquette to appeal.

Pending hearing of the appeal, however, Dussault was again placed under arrest, hence the present proceedings, Dussault claiming that the second arrest was brought about by collusion between Registrar Larue and Major Desrocher, in open defiance of the existing ruling of the civil tribunal.

Mr. Lavergne applied to the criminal court for the issue of summons against both. Neither paid any attention to the summons. Then Mr. Lavergne applied for warrants, Mr. Larue having notified him that he personally would not go to court unless taken there in execution of a warrant of arrest.

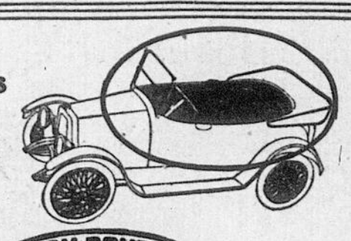

Here the Spanish 'Flu steps in. Mr. Larue is probably one of the busiest men in Quebec, and is kept working night and day in his office. Owing to the 'flu, these offices are hermetically closed to everybody but members of the office staff. No detective could get in to serve a warrant.

In the dilemma parties acting for the prisoner Dussault got into touch with Mr. Larue by telephone and asked him "how about it." Mr. Larue replied that he was in no wise evading arrest. He was a very busy man attending to the carying out of the law in this district. However, his duties as registrar necessitated that he should pass through Place d'Armes at a given hour. If those back of the warrant wanted to arrest him, let them have their sleuths on hand at that hour and let them be quick about it, as he hadn't much time to lose, he was so busy. And the sleuths were there on time. The arrest and appearance took up about 5 minutes, and Mr. Larue went his way, busier than ever.

He will come up for arraignment, on the 31st.

BLEW OUT BRAINS AT G.T.R. STATION

Placing a loaded revolver to his head, near the main entrance to the Bonaventure station last night, Otto Hoffman, 28 years of age, of 130 Dunn avenue, Toronto, a naturalized German, blew out his brains before any one in the building could prevent the act. He was taken to the Royal Victoria Hospital, but was dead when the ambulance arrived. He was first found by a constable from the Montfort street station, and by Detective Samson of the provincial police, who were in the station at the time and heard the shot. Patrick Maloney, assistant station master, called a priest and the last rites were administered before the arrival of the ambulance. At the hospital it was found that the bullet had pierced the man's head from side to side, the shot having ben fired from such close quarters that the face was badly burned with powder. Hoffman was employed at the Hospital for Incurables, Toronto.

DRANK NITRIC ACID; SUICIDE

Suicide in a moment of mental aberration, was the verdict given by Coroner McMahon at the inquest into the death of Barbara Beresford, 34 years of age, of 14 Rose de Lima street, who died yesterday morning at the Western Hospital, from the effect of poisoning by nitric acid. The case was reported to the coroner yesterday, who disposed of it immediately without calling a jury.

A verdict of accidental death was returned by the coroner's jury on Saturday morning at the inquest into the death of an unidentified man who was killed on Craig street, near the morgue, on Friday night. The motorman of the car had been watching an automobile swerving beside the car, and in trying to avert a collision, failed to see the man, who had fallen across the tracks.

SAILORS THANKED FOR THEIR SERVICES

A number of the chefs and other members of the crew of a liner that has been in port for the past ten days, were the recipients of a souvenir from the Harbor Commissioners on Saturday evening, in recognition of their volunteer services at the harbor hospital, where 82 sailors are being treated for influenza and pneumonia. There were eighteen members of the crew who volunteered their services to the hospital, acting as stewards, chefs, orderlies, waiters, and so forth. When the hospital was first opened there was a shortage of this help, and an appeal was made to Capt. Miller and Chief Steward W. Bain for assistance. They called the crew of their ship together and asked for volunteers and practically all the men came forward, wishing to do what they could for their fellow-seamen. Those who were selected were: W. Eccles, second steward; T. Barlow, storekeeper; W. Williams, T. H. Collins, A. Johnson, F. Scanlan, J. Holden, H. Collins, J. Wickman, D. C.M.; H. Todd, J. Moores, S. Harrison, R. Hughes, P. Huxley, waiters; Jos. McCutcheon, George Pinkerton, Wm. Whiteley and Geo. Wakefield, chefs.

Brief speeches were made by Farquhar Robertson, M. P. Fennell, Miss Whitney, lady superintendent, and Dr. Hepburn, medical superintendent, in which tribute was paid to the splendid assistance that the men had given in the hospital. Mr. Eccles replied, and said the men all wanted to do their part for the common good and were sorry they had to leave.

Another Quiet Talk On The VICTORY LOAN

AS with other industrial organizations, many of our people put their savings in Victory Bonds last year and the sense of possession is giving many of them so much satisfaction that they say they are going to put away double the amount this year in the same way.

We ought to be very grateful to the Government for even permitting us, let alone encouraging us, to put our savings in such a strong place with such big returns.

Before the war many of us didn't know very much about Bonds; we knew of saving banks with their 3% interest, but a $50.00 Government Bond at 5½% interest was an unheard of, unthought of thing.

But here they are today and we may take as many of them as we care to, and what is more, buy them on the instalment plan! Was there ever anything so good, so easy?
