RE-OPENING RUSSIAN NEGOTIATIONS

British And French Meet Soviet Aide

Hope to Harmonize Conflicting Anglo-French and Russian Viewpoints on Mutual Defence Pact—Position of Scandinavian Countries Plays Important Part in Newest European Developments.

Moscow, July 8.—(P)—British and French diplomats arranged to visit Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov tonight in the Kremlin to submit new proposals for a British-French-Russian mutual assistance pact.

The proposals, designed to harmonize the still conflicting views of Moscow on the one hand and London and Paris on the other, will be conveyed to Molotov by British Ambassador Sir William Seeds, Special Envoy William Strang and French Ambassador Paul-Emile Naggiar.

SCANDINAVIANS IN CRITICAL POSITION

Helsingfors, Finland, July 8.—(P)—Could the Scandinavian countries and Finland, famed for their neutrality, stay out of a general European war?

There was a time when a declaration of neutrality was enough, when staying neutral meant an opportunity to trade with the warring powers as the Scandinavian countries did during the Great War.

But these are different days. The four northern countries are wondering what their fate would be if war should come to Europe. All four want no more than to be left in peace, but there is such a thing as being forced into a fight.

To begin with, there is the economic blockade. It is taken for granted that western powers, in a war with Germany, would impose one immediately. Germany, in turn, is expected to try to seal the water passage between Denmark and the south tip of Sweden.

Observers see every likelihood, therefore, that Germany would at least attempt to bring pressure on the Scandinavian countries for food and raw materials. Germany needs and would continue to need Sweden's high-grade ore for munitions. And if the Scandinavian countries and Finland should sell voluntarily to Germany, the other side might charge them with having a hostile attitude.

Their attention is on Russia as well as Germany. In a general war Russia might seek to take over Finnish islands in the Gulf of Finland for defence of Leningrad. The Finns have a suspicion that Russia, if warring against Germany, might try to occupy Finland as a defensive measure.

Denmark is directly under the arm of Germany, with no natural barriers. It is agreed she could do no more than declare herself neutral. So the Danes do not bother to arm extensively.

Sweden is well prepared to defend her neutrality. She has a small but efficient navy, compulsory military training, one of the world's best munitions factories, and an improving air force.

Norway is excellently protected by a rocky coastline and is farther from the continental mainland. She is taking active steps in preparedness, especially with aircraft. A vulnerable point is her extensive merchant marine.

Finland has a public spirit without equal, difficult frontiers, an efficient army, a few ships and a steadily growing air force.

A point of speculation is whether, in an emergency, Sweden, Norway

RELATIONS OF CANADA-U.S. HELD EXAMPLE

(By Record Staff Reporter)
Montpelier, Vt., July 8.—Relations between the people of Canada and the United States as expressed through the annual meetings of Quebec and Vermont citizens can well serve as an example and an inspiration to harassed people of other lands, where suspicion and hate have been engendered. W. Arthur Simpson, Director of Old Age Pensions of the State of Vermont, said here last night in addressing a banquet which marked the close of the

Use Of Reinforcements To Control Possible Soviet Mongolian Victory

With Japanese Troops on the Mongolian Frontier, July 6.—(Delayed)—With Mongolian troops surrounded by Japanese who hold parts of two contested heights, the future course of current border hostilities apparently depended today upon whether Soviet-Mongolian forces use available reinforcements.

A high Japanese officer said 60,000 Soviet reinforcements now are in Outer Mongolia. Strong Japanese reinforcements were reported authoritatively to have arrived at Halunashan, indicating a possible extension of the front to the south-east, or a new battle within a few days. The officers said Japan had sufficient men and equipment to repel a Soviet attack in any part of Manchoukuo.

(Halunashan is some 185 miles southeast of Lake Bor, on the eastern frontier of Mongolia. The scene of the present border fighting, which has been intermittent since May 11, is along the Khalka river, about sixty miles east and south of the lake.)

A dispatch by the same correspondent yesterday told of fighting at the contested heights which apparently preceded the situation described today and was delayed in transmission from the inaccessible frontier area.)

The Mongolian airforce has been reinforced, but Japanese apparently are superior here. Japanese believe the Soviet forces are hampered by lack of gasoline and ammunition at the front.

However, the Mongol attacks on Nonomhanheight resulted in a surprisingly long engagement. Prediction of an end of major hostilities first by Saturday and then by Sunday gave evidence of a Japanese desire to finish the warfare. Japanese have said repeatedly they have no intention of invading Mongolia. Innumerable Japanese supply trucks are continuously moving on the long, muddy communication lines. Rain transformed the battleground into a quagmire. Both sides entrenched today and brought up heavy artillery.

Japanese occupied lower sections of Nonomhan, which is 150 feet above the prairie and the highest point in the area. Mongolians shot down from this height and from Noro Hill, 120 feet above level ground.

Viciousness of the fighting was demonstrated by Japanese reports of the destruction of 250 tanks and armored cars, the finding of six hundred Russian bodies and the capture of sixty prisoners, including the chief of a tank battalion and a lieutenant of communications.

WHIP BUSINESS STILL ACTIVE

Washington, July 8.—(P)—The buggy whip business is still good. The United States Census Bureau disclosed today that, in spite of horseless carriages and iron horses, sales of whips amounted to about $500,000 last year. At price ranging from ten cents up, this means several million whips. Farming and racing people and carnival hawkers still buy a lot of them.

GREAT BRITAIN PLANS TEST OF RAID DEFENCES

Densely-Populated Areas of Southern England Taking Part in Vital Tests to Determine Value of Defences.

London, July 8.—(P)—Arrangements for a "blackout" over a strategic, densely-settled 16,000 square miles of Southern England reminded Great Britain today of her peril from the air.

The six-hour test of extensive air raid precautions, organized jointly by civil defence forces and the Royal Air Force, was planned to begin at 11 p.m. and cover all southern England except London, Devonshire and Cornwall in the extreme southwest.

London prepared for a separate test, but a vitally important one. The Port of London Authority arranged to test the whole A.R.P. (Air Raid Precautions) organization along forty miles of the Thames.

Both because of the importance of London's docks and because of the ease with which enemy airmen could spot the river, these tests were considered to be particularly vital.

The key area of the exercises outside London was in Kent and Sussex in the southeast—two counties nearest the continent, with a large number of vulnerable coast towns and extensive, newly-developed industrial sections.

The remaining counties agreed to co-operate in rehearsal for an even larger, twenty-six-county "blackout" in which all are scheduled to participate next month.

The tests called for A.R.P. bombers and fighter squadrons to roar over darkened towns in small bombs, exploding in vacant lots to give a realistic touch. Other planes were to carry observers.

GREAT SATISFACTION

Los Angeles, July 8.—(P)—Although she'll have to don a diving suit to use her yacht, Mrs. Daisy Monstall still has to pay taxes on it. She told the Board of Equalization that the $1,734 assessed valuation of the "Daisy M" was too high. It sank several months ago. The Board huddled, but her yacht assessment to $300. That will be $1678 a year.

Two Democrat Senators Hold Key To Neutrality Measure

Two Opponents of New Deal Legislation Could Defeat Efforts of Administration to Clear Way for Arms Exports to Great Britain and France—Deep Silence Maintained by Key Representatives.

Washington, July 8.—(P)—Fate of the United States Government's efforts to clear the way for arms sales to Great Britain and France, in event those countries become engaged in war, appeared today to rest largely in the hands of two Democrats who often have opposed New Deal legislation.

They are Senators Guy Gillette of Iowa and Walter George of Georgia. Polls of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee indicated, some Senators said, that the administration could safely count on only eleven of twenty-three committee members for a motion to strike out the modified arms embargo which the House of Representatives incorporated recently in legislation to change the Neutrality Act.

Without committee approval, these Senators said, there was little chance of the Senate reversing the House stand, inasmuch as foes of the administration's proposal to repeal the arms embargo provision of the present neutrality law said yesterday that thirty-four Senators had subscribed to a statement opposing any change in the statute.

Neither Gillette nor George, who are committee members, would say how he intended to vote when the issue was brought before the Committee next Tuesday.

Administration leaders have argued for repeal of the embargo on the grounds that the knowledge that Britain and France could obtain arms here would act as a restraining influence on aggressor nations.

Both houses were in recess today until Monday, when a state funeral will be conducted in the Senate Chamber for Claude A. Swanson, Secretary of the Navy.

METAL STOCKS LED ADVANCES ON EXCHANGES

Easing of European Situation Caused Moderate Advances on Canadian Stock Exchanges During Past Week.

Toronto, July 8.—(P)—Canadian stocks, trailing the Wall Street market, started the second half of the year with a substantial advance and volume expanded on price gains. Mining shares had the call and the gold and base metal groups posted index gains of three to four points in the period.

Gold shares led off with a wide advance on Tuesday and later in the week copper stocks stepped to the front, stimulated by heavy buying of metal. New York reported the heaviest sales of copper in many weeks and Wall Street base metal listings chalked up better gains than Canadian issues.

Congressional action on Thursday, permitting continuance of purchases of foreign silver, firmed the market for shares of some of the Canadian producers of the White Metal. Consolidated Mining and Smelting moved up $3.50 to close yesterday at $41.50. Noranda advanced $2.25 and Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting $1.35. Waite-Amulet was the strongest of the cheaper base metal issues, adding 45 cents while Sherritt, Falconbridge, Sudbury Basin and Pind Oreille were up moderately. Ventures added about 35 cents.

Trade in the medium price gold group was featured by a sharp advance in Centaurium on news that richer ore was being uncovered near the McIntyre boundary. The price advanced from $1.65 to $2.31 and netted a gain of about 60 cents for the week.

Amor also supplied some of the fireworks in the secondary gold Continued on Page 2, Col. 4.

THIRTY-SEVEN KNOWN DEAD IN U.S. HEAT WAVE

Chicago, July 8.—(P)—A heat wave in which a large part of the United States' population suffered continued today with a death toll of at least thirty-seven.

Temperatures in the 90's were common yesterday and the mercury zoomed to 100 or higher at many points.

Residents Of Quebec Go To Vermont Capital For Third Peaceful Invasion

Over One Hundred Canadians Attend Third Annual Good-will Conference at Montpelier, Including Four Ministers in Quebec Cabinet—Friendship Vows Renewed at Afternoon and Evening Meetings—Relations Between Two Peoples Held of Deep Significance in Troubled World.

BY DICK RYDER,
(Record Staff Reporter).

Montpelier, Vt., July 8.—Yesterday, in various sections of this troubled world, lives were taken and blood spilled as man pitted might against man in conflict and strife. The Sino-Japanese war entered its third year with the dead counted in millions; heavy fighting was waged between Japs and Manchoukuan troops on the Mongolian frontier; doors of a British gunboat were blown in when four bombs exploded near it.

But here, in this pretty and peaceful town nestled in the rolling green Vermont hills, drama of a different sort was enacted. A drama in which Peace and Good-will played the principal roles; a drama which the rest of the world would not appreciate because it could not understand.

For to Montpelier yesterday came over one hundred loyal Canadians of Quebec's Eastern Townships for the third annual good-will conference between peoples of the province and its neighboring state. While they were here these peaceful invaders heard mutual pledges of friendship and respect and when they left they took with them a deeper realization that Canadian-American relations are without parallel in the world as it exists today.

Approximately fifty of the delegation were from Sherbrooke, while the remainder came from Magog, Coaticook and the surrounding district. Included in the party were Col. the Hon. Johnny S. Bourque, Minister of Public Works and Lands and Forests in the Quebec Government; the Hon. Bona Dussault, Quebec Minister of Agriculture; the Hon. Henri Auger, Quebec Minister of Colonization, with Col. Bourque, official representative Premier Maurice Duplessis; Henri Gerin of Coaticook, M.L.A. for Stanstead County; Pro-Mayor J. W. Genest, of Sherbrooke; Alderman E. Thibault and J. E. Lacroix, also of Sherbrooke; W. L. Reford Stewart, president of the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce; J. A. Faulkner, chairman of the Old Age Pension Commission; Mothers' Allowance and the Blind of the Province of Ontario; Earl Beersworth, of Ayr's Cliff, representing Mayor M. R. Rexford; F. J. Meade, Pro-Mayor of Coaticook; J. N. White, president of the Coaticook Board of Trade, and a number of other municipality mayors and prominent Eastern Townships' citizens.

Organized largely through the efforts of J. L. Foley, a past president of the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce, the ten-car Sherbrooke delegation which left the city shortly after noon yesterday was met at the international border by Mayor

REICH DISSOLVES CATHOLIC SOCIETY

Vienna, July 8.—(CP-Itavas)—Seventy-four branches of the Catholic St. Vincent de Paul Society in Austria have been dissolved and their property taken over by the state, it was revealed here today.

The St. Vincent de Paul societies, which administer relief to the poor, were said to have no place in the Reich. Other private welfare agencies in Germany have also recently been dissolved. The property of the St. Vincent de Paul groups was turned over to the Nazi Welfare Association in Berlin which was instructed to make use of it in Austria.

Gerald, Mo., July 8.—(P)—When her hand caught in the wringer, Mrs. Addie Gehlauf, thirty-six, fell headlong into her washing machine and was drowned. The accident occurred on the Gehlauf farm near here yesterday.

Felony Charges Threatened Against Organizers Of Relief Works Strike

New York, July 8.—(P)—Spreading strikes and protest walkouts by skilled craftsmen on United States Government relief projects against sub-union wages and longer hours today drew an official threat that all persons who interfered with work projects would be prosecuted on felony charges.

Simultaneously, under strong pressure from American Federation of Labor Leaders, supported by rival Congress of Industrial Organizations chieftains in a united front, a movement developed among some members of the United States Congress to revise the new relief act and restore prevailing union wage standards.

Federation officials estimated 100,000 relief project workers throughout the country had been made idle by the mass protests against extension of their work month to 130 hours. The increase, with no wage rise to compensate for it, reduced the pay of skilled workmen from a $1.60 to $2 an hour to sixty-five to seventy cents.

The threat of federal prosecution was voiced in New York City by the local Works Progress Administrator, Colonel Brehon Somervell, who said he had asked Federal Attorney John Cahill for an interpretation of that section of the Federal Relief Act which makes it a felony to deprive relief workers of their benefits by "fraud, force, threat, intimidation or boycott."

Refusing to recognize the work stoppage as a strike, he described the situation as "incomprehensible."

"You can't strike against relief," he said. "It's fantastic."

STUDY ALLEGED CONFESSION IN TORSO SLAYING

Cleveland, July 8.—(P)—Sheriff Martin O'Donnell renewed his questioning of an unemployed bricklayer today as he sought to clear up discrepancies in the man's story of beheading and cutting to pieces the body of Mrs. Florence Pollio, one of the twelve victims in Cleveland's bizarre torso slayings that have baffled authorities four years.

O'Donnell said Fran Dolezal, fifty-two, the suspect, had signed a confession to the Pollio slaying. He said Dolezal admitted hacking to

Regrets Failure Of Woodsworth To Co-Operate With Herridge Movement

Saskatoon, July 8.—(P)—When Socialism stands in the way of the people's happiness and security, it is just as reactionary as any "rot of those reactionary groups" which are at present in control of Canada's affairs, said Hon. W. D. Herridge, leader of the New Democracy movement, speaking here last night.

Mr. Herridge was referring to the refusal of J. S. Woodsworth, leader of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, to co-operate with the New Democracy in overthrowing the Liberals and Conservatives, who the speaker said, "must both go if we are going to establish anything resembling real democracy in this country."

Mr. Herridge did not refer during his address to the attack made upon him and the New Democracy by Conservative Leader Manion. He interviewed reporters afterwards, Mr. Herridge refused to reply to Dr. Manion's attack.

"Do you wish to make any reply to the criticism made against you by the Conservative leader?" he was asked. "Nothing more than I have already said," Mr. Herridge answered. "He was quoted in a press despatch, Thursday afternoon, as replying to Doctor Manion with words 'Poor old Bob.'"

Answering Mr. Woodsworth, who said the C.C.F. did not propose to co-operate with the New Democracy, Mr. Herridge read a prepared statement.

It follows: "I am sorry that Mr. Woodsworth, the leader of the C.C.F. yesterday declared his unwillingness to co-operate with the New Democracy, and I believe that the majority of rank and file of the C.C.F. are sorry too.

COMMUNITIES TO AID HERRIDGE MOVEMENT

Edmonton, July 8.—(P)—Support will be given by the New Democracy movement by the Communist party in Alberta, Lawrence Anderson of Edmonton, Provincial Communist leader, told a meeting here last night.

Anderson declared the Communist party was ready to co-operate with other progressive groups in naming joint candidates for constituencies in both provincial and federal elections, but it also was ready to name its own candidates in certain constituencies if co-operation was not forthcoming.

They said the youth and four companions would be charged in connection with a series of twenty-five holdups.

Winston Prouty, of Newport, and escorted by a State Highway Patrol car to Montpelier, Capital City of Vermont.

Here the visitors were welcomed by Mayor William F. Corry, to whom was given much of the credit for the gathering's success. Eugene Lowe, president of the Montpelier Rotary Club, Dr. W. D. Lindsay, president of the Montpelier Kiwanis Club, officials of the other organizations sponsoring the assembly, The City Club, the Chamber of Commerce and the Women's Club, and Dr. Joseph D. Bachand, of St. Johnsbury, chairman of the State Commission on Foreign and Domestic Affairs who was instrumental in organizing the conference.

While the ladies among the visiting party were entertained at tea by members of the Women's Club, the men were taken to the State House, where each met Governor George Aiken, in the Governor's Chambers, with Dr. Bachand introducing the speakers, brief addresses were given by Governor Aiken, the Hon. Johnny Bourque, the Hon. Bona Dussault and the Hon. Henri Auger, all stressing the desirability of lasting Quebec-Vermont friendship for the mutual advantage of the two territories.

Among those introduced during the banquet were Nathan Greenberg, president of the Montpelier Chamber of Commerce; George H. Mazunan, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and Charles F. McKenna, secretary of the Montpelier City Club. During the evening telegrams expressing regret at their inability to be present were read from Charles B. Howard, M.P. for Sherbrooke, and Charles A. Plumley, Vermont Senator.

The conference in Montpelier yesterday was the third since the event was inaugurated in 1937. Burke Mountain was the site chosen for the initial assembly, while last year the visitors and hosts met at Barton.

In his remarks, Governor Aiken pointed out the common problems facing the people of Quebec and Vermont and believed that the rest of the world would learn it must follow the Canadian-American path of international sanity and peace. Governor Aiken was followed by the Hon. Johnny Bourque, who told the gathering that work would start within two weeks on the highway between Coaticook and Stanhope, proving a direct route, fourteen miles shorter than at present, between Sherbrooke and Lyndonville, Vt.

Farmers of the province and state can do many things to aid each other in agriculture, Hon. Bona Dussault, Quebec Minister of Agriculture, stated, while A. E. Jones, Vermont Commissioner of Agriculture, held that there was deep significance in the 3,000 miles of unfortified border between Canada and the United States.

Those of most other cities have ceased to be yawning holes and unsightly piles of earth. The trenches have been reinforced and covered and have entrances into which citizens can dive if the air raid sirens sound.

Occasionally the wanderer sees evidence of slackness and indecision in completing these arrangements. In Salisbury Square, a short city block from The Canadian Press building, lies a great mound of sand surrounded by heavy boards. Workmen dumped it there one night in September, presumably to be converted into sandbags.

The Golden Text is from Psalms 51:10. "Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Jesus saith unto them, Come and dine. And none of the disciples durst ask him, Who art thou? knowing that it was the Lord. Jesus then cometh, and taketh bread, and giveth them, and fish likewise. This is now the third time that Jesus showed himself to his disciples after that he was risen from the dead." (John 21:12-14).

group. It moved up to its former high of $2.75 on Friday and closed with a net gain for the week of 30 cents. Other medium price metals advanced 15 to 25 cents were Pickle Crow, Wright-Hargreaves, Sylvanite, Powell Rouyn, MacLeod-Cockshutt, Macassa and Lamaque. Smaller gains were noted by Teck Hughes, Preston, East Malartic, O'Brien, San Antonio, Central Patricie, Little Long Lac, Perron, Pamour and Kerr-Addison.

Industrial listings were comparatively dull but in the average there was no deviation from a firm price tone. The European situation was regarded in financial circles as a little less threatening but potential buyers were still inclined to cautiousness.

Practically all groups participated in the moderate advance, showing as 2.57 in the index. Foods, steels and dsenior oils were well to the front. Teel of Canada added $2.50, Page-Hersey $1.25, Dominion Steel "B" $1.12, Walkers common $1.35 and Distillers Corporation Seagrams $1. Fanny Frier, Loblaw A. and Consolidated Beries were gainers in the food group.

Trading in the western oils were colorless. Home Oil and Anglo-Canadian moved in considerable volume at net gains of two cents and Home Oil shows no change for the week. Selling in less than board lots, Royalite advanced 50 cents.

SELECT SITE FOR BUILDING AT LAWRENCE

Executive of Colonization Association Approves Choice of Land for New Church—Plans for Structure Made.

Lawrence, July 8.—The site for a new church and hall has been approved by the executive of the Colonization Association. It is expected that a departmental grant will soon be made and work should begin shortly.

It is planned to erect the structure as near to the centre of the settlement as possible and plans call for a fairly large church with a basement hall beneath. It is very probable too that the furnishings for the church are to be donated by another parish of the diocese.

General Notes. Holy Communion was celebrated in the Lower School on St. Peter's Day with the celebrant being Rev. N. D. Pilcher, assisted by Darrel Wilson.

Lawrence became part of the mission of Bury on July 1 and in future will be in charge of the new incumbent, Rev. W. J. Rowe, who comes from Valcartier.

SILVER SCREEN WILL FLICKER IN OLD QUEBEC

Determined Action of Premier Duplessis Results in Announcement of Opening of Theatres on Monday.

Quebec, July 8.—A moving picture "famine" of more than five weeks in this old city has almost ended and residents will see their first flickering on the silver screen Monday since June 2nd when the theatres closed. Operators of the eleven theatres closed shop in protest against a ten per cent increase in the civic amusement tax.

After the Provincial Government stepped into the imbroglio Thursday, Bernard Devlin, counsel for the operators, announced last night that the theatres would "re-open Monday following an agreement between Premier Duplessis and Mayor Lucien Borne for repeal of the amusement surtax."

The Premier, in a letter to the City's Mayor, had suggested "immediate" abolition of the tax boost. Mr. Duplessis' letter followed one by Mayor Borne who asked how the city should proceed to repeal the tax because it had been put into effect by the Provincial Legislature.

This interchange of correspondence removed operators' doubt as to their future action. Mr. Duplessis said Thursday that the Government would see to repeal of the tax but operators said there would be no re-opening until the tax "definitely disappears—by resolution of the City Administrative Committee declaring it inoperative."

Mr. Duplessis requested in his letter yesterday that the City Council "decree immediate abolition of the tax, on the assurance that necessary Provincial legislation for the repeal will be submitted at the next session of the Legislature."

"It seems evident today that this additional tax for which you asked was harmful to the best interest of Quebec, prejudicial to the rights of the working class and in the nature of increasing unemployment," the Premier wrote.

Theatre operators rushed to obtain films and no longer will the city's moviegoers have to cross the St. Lawrence River to Lévis to see a show in one of that city's two theatres.

CONTEST CITY'S LEVY ON CHAIN STORES

Laura Secord Company Asks Annulment Of Right To Tax

Candy Firm Claims Provincial Legislation Authorizing Imposition Is Trespass on Federal Powers—Inscription in Law Fyled in Local Courts Will Test Legality of Municipality's Levy.

Denying the right of the city to impose a chain store tax with the claim that the Provincial legislation authorizing the levy trespasses upon the exclusive powers of the Federal Government, attorneys of the Laura Secord Candy Shops Limited yesterday filed in court against the city of Sherbrooke an application for an injunction to restrain the city from imposing the tax. The application was filed in the name of the Laura Secord Company, which is the principal of the candy firm.

The application was filed in the name of the Laura Secord Company, which is the principal of the candy firm. The company claims that the tax is an unconstitutional invasion of federal jurisdiction. It argues that the power to tax is reserved to the provinces under the British North America Act, and that the federal government has no authority to legislate in this field.

Bourque Promises Direct Route Between Sherbrooke And Vermont

(By Record Staff Reporter)
Montpelier, Vt., July 8. — Within two weeks work will be started on a highway between Coaticook and Stanhope which, when completed, will provide a through route between Sherbrooke and Lyndonville. Col. the Hon. Johnny Bourque, Minister of Public Works and Lands and Forests, said here last night.
Col. Bourque, representing Premier Maurice Duplessis, of Quebec, spoke at a banquet attended by 186 Quebec and Vermont citizens here to attend the third annual good-will conference between the two peoples. Reminding the gathering that he had promised the Coaticook-Stanhope highway in a speech made at the unveiling of the Stanhope-Norton peace memorial, the Public Works Minister said it had taken him over a year to fulfil the promise but with the election last fall of Henri Gerin, of Coaticook, as M.L.A. for Stanstead County, the road is a surety.

Relations Of Canada-U. S. Held Example

third good-will assembly of residents of the province and state.
Stating that the gatherings have done much to strengthen and foster the amicable relations between the neighbors of the two countries, Mr. Simpson pointed out that citizens of Quebec and Vermont have much in common, such as ancestry, aspirations and a community of interest, both economically and socially.
"The good-will expressed through these meetings is, without question, an expression of a feeling which has long existed between the two countries, but as a living and tangible thing it has made us better neighbors, better citizens and true exponents of the charity, hope and faith which this world of ours so sadly needs," Mr. Simpson said.
"If by precept and example we can live and work together, we can train the rising generation to build a worthy leadership," he declared, adding that the most democratic thing in the world is an idea.
A dominant idea will often choose a humble beginning, Mr. Simpson told the gathering, and from such a beginning an idea may become the force of a mighty movement which will rock the world and make even dictators tremble.

NO IMMEDIATE RELIEF FROM HEAT IN SIGHT

Temperatures Still Hover Around Ninety Mark as Hot Spell Continues Unabated—Heavy Death Toll Through Dominion.

Temperatures continued to hover around the ninety mark as no immediate relief from the current heat wave was in sight this morning. At ten o'clock reading at the Lennoxville Experimental Farm was eighty-five with the thermometer steadily rising.
Yesterday the year's record mark of eighty-nine was equalled for the second time this week and during the night local residents tried to sleep in a temperature which was seventy at its lowest. Official readings yesterday were maximum eighty-nine, minimum sixty-seven; for the same day last year they were maximum seventy-seven, minimum forty-seven.

St. Gabriel de Brandon, Que., July 8.—While the rest of the Province sweltered in the fifth day of a heat wave, residents and summer visitors to this village about fifty miles northeast of Montreal felt refreshed today after a two-hour rain storm that left virtual flood conditions in its wake.
Raising the level of nearby Lake Maskinonge by five feet, the storm which struck yesterday afternoon severed all communications with the village for several hours. Streets were flooded and surrounding bridges washed away but no loss of life was reported.
A slight washout was reported on the Canadian Pacific railway line about three miles south of here. Passengers had to leave the train and continue their journey by automobile but the schedule was resumed today.
Three nearby villages also felt the storm, confined within a radius of about six miles from here.

Toronto, July 8.—Canada today counted a total of twenty-eight deaths from various causes in a two-day period that found the eastern part of the Dominion sweltering in a heat wave.
Eight fatalities, seven of them in the Montreal area, were attributed directly to the heat. Drownings claimed six lives, and seven deaths resulted from accidents.
Eleven fatalities occurred in the Montreal district, six in New Brunswick.
Included in Montreal's tragic list of heat victims was Xavier Boyer, forty-year-old laborer, who collapsed and died after saying, "The heat's got me."
Other Montreal deaths attributed to the heat were: Mike Gibbons, seventy-two; Francois Xavier Beauchamp, fifty-one; Mrs. Gertrude Goyette, thirty-nine; two-month-old Audrey Redmond; Jacobs Marks, seventy-two; and Arthur Jensen, thirty-two.

TWO COUNTRIES LEAD WORLD ON FRIENDLY PATH

Governor George Aiken Says Other Nations Will Learn Necessity of Following the Road of International Sanity and Peace.
(By Record Staff Reporter)
Montpelier, Vt., July 8.—In no other part of the world is there such a strong feeling of friendship as that in existence between Canada and the United States and the other nations will learn they must follow this path of international sanity and peace, Governor George Aiken of Vermont, said here last night at a banquet concluding the third annual good-will conference of Quebec and Vermont citizens.
Residents of the province and state have much the same problems with which to contend, Governor Aiken said, adding that "highways do not stop at the boundary any more than the fish in the lakes between the two countries or fires raging in the forest lands."
Problems on the farms and in labor of the province and state are decidedly similar, the Governor declared, as the butter price is approximately the same and the wage scale for most classes of workers alike.
During the past two years citizens of Quebec and Vermont have been working together even more closely than before, Governor Aiken believed. This harmonious and cordial relationship has a "deep significance" in these days of troubled world conditions, he said.
"We are all united in a duty and task of world leadership," the Vermont leader stated. "Our objective is the same. All of us desire peace, security and a reasonable amount of prosperity. The whole world seeks these things, but they cannot be obtained when nations are torn by conflict."
Governor Aiken, in concluding his brief address, stated that, in his opinion, yesterday's assembly was the most auspicious since the annual event was inaugurated in 1937. He promised that the visit would be returned in the near future and was assured by various Quebec speakers who followed that the Vermont delegation would be accorded a hearty welcome.

Note Satisfactory Increase In Revenues Of Municipality

Collections of School and Real Estate Taxes Lead General Upturn in Receipts of Various Departments—Public Utilities Revenues at Level of Preceding Month and of June, 1938.

A general, substantial increase in receipts in the different municipal departments was the most notable feature of collections for the month of June, according to the monthly financial statement issued this morning by City Treasurer Maurice Cormier.
Most noticeable in the various items was collection of school and real estate taxes which amounted to $31,417.05 as compared with $20,377.68 for the corresponding month last year. In May of this year collections were lower because of the fact that payment of these levies did not fall due.
A slightly higher total of receipts was marked in the Electrical Department while collections of gas bills also brought in more funds. Most accounts in the Waterworks Department came due in May, so that last month's figure in this category was small.
Notable among the other items on which there was recorded an increase in revenue was the amusement tax. Receipts for various licenses, however, were appreciably lower than the preceding month and June, 1938.

Great, wide, beautiful, wonderful world With the wonderful water round you curled; And the wonderful grass upon your breast, World—you are beautifully dressed!

CANADA AND THE SILVER PROBLEM

Although the uncertainty over the outlook for the world price of silver is greatly clouded by the action or lack of action by the United States Government, Canada would not be seriously affected if the United States ceased buying foreign silver...

Ottawa authorities, discussing this problem, point out that Canada sold the United States practically all the silver produced here, receiving almost $14,000,000 for it, but that any substantial change in the value of silver would scarcely affect Canada's export situation...

Washington is buying foreign silver at 36.75 cents an ounce, compared to a range of forty to forty-five cents just before the United States Government began its buying programme five years ago.

EUROPEAN GOLD SUPPLIES

Admittedly the strength of a nation's military machine is important when the possibilities of a successful outcome of any war are considered, but their economic position as measured in gold and foreign currency reserves is also an item of no mean importance.

In an analysis of recent gold and capital movements, the Reserve Board says that in December, 1913, England, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Switzerland held Central Bank gold reserves of $986,000,000.

On the other hand, Germany and Italy combined had total gold resources of $346,000,000 in 1913, $817,000,000 in 1929 and $222,000,000 in 1938.

The Reserve Board estimates the total gold holdings of fifty-two countries at the end of May at $25,140,000,000, of which the United States held $13,937,000,000.

NAVAL SECRETARY CLAUDE SWANSON

In the death of Secretary of the Navy Claude A. Swanson at the age of seventy-seven years, the United States loses a veteran public official who has served in various offices for more than forty years while President Roosevelt is deprived of a trusted adviser who has formulated much of his defence policy.

Swanson went from the chairmanship of the Senate Naval Committee to the cabinet as Secretary of the Navy in 1933.

Behind the veteran official was forty-four years of public service, which began with minor offices in Virginia, several terms in the House of Representatives, then a term as Governor of Virginia, to be followed by the beginning of his Senate service in 1910. He served in the Senate until named to the cabinet.

Included in his public activities was membership in the United States delegation to the Geneva Disarmament Conferences in 1932-33. Swanson was born at Swansonsville, Va., March 31, 1862, the son of a tobacco planter. He is survived by his widow and a stepson.

Swanson began seeing eye to eye with Mr. Roosevelt when the latter was Assistant Secretary of the Navy in the Great War period, and the former was chairman of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee. At that time Mr. Roosevelt was supposed to have shared Swanson's dream of "an American empire of floating fortresses second to none."

The present state of the United States fleet and the extensive programme to strengthen it even further is ample proof as to the manner in which these two men were able to place their common policy in effect.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

From the Files of the Sherbrooke Record.

July 8th, 1909.

Practically every member of the Royal family at present in London were guests at Dorchester House last evening on the occasion of the dinner and dance given by the United States Ambassador and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid in honor of the King and Queen and Princess Victoria. This is the second time since Mr. Reid's incumbency at the Embassy that the King has dined with him, but last evening, for the first time, Queen Alexandra and Princess Victoria accompanied His Majesty.

Showing a gain of eighty-six people, the annual census has just been completed of the City of Sherbrooke by the valuator, Clark Gordon, C. P. Byrd and C. Millier with W. C. Tracey as clerk. Totalling 15,302, the gain is the smallest recorded for several years. An interesting feature of the report issued today by city authorities is that in 1875 the total population was only 7,585. Valuation statistics are not yet available but it is estimated that the city's real estate is valued between $300,000 and $400,000.

Where, oh where has my little dog gone? So lament the firemen at Cowansville Fire Station where this humorous incident took place. Several dogs have been captured throughout the village for non-payment of taxes and for want of a better place, they were placed in the fire station for safe keeping. On the night of the fire scare at Adam Oliver's house, excitement reigned in the station and in the haste to answer the call, the canines were momentarily forgotten, several managing to escape.

HAPPY JOURNEY

I travelled to the sunrise East as far as I could go. To the quaint spires of Childhood with weather-vane below;

Green meadows lay there, flat and smooth as felt, Mother sheep gave milk and white lambs knelt.

Little boys in tall hats, a-swinging their canes, Walked arm in arm down the box-hedge lanes;

Painted cows grazed there by willows Japanese, And little girls in pinafores poured dainty cups of tea.

Under a wide oak with great boughs bending A kind nurse read aloud tales that had no ending.

I crossed a little running brook and climbed an airy stile,

And right behind me Childhood Lane stretched for many a mile.

But I knew I could not linger; life would not let me wait,

So I followed down the grown up path and closed the swinging gate.

Things That Cannot Be Shaken

Hebrews XII, 27: "And the word, 'Yet once more' signifieth the removal of those things that are shaken, as of things that are made, that those things that cannot be shaken may remain."

In these kaleidoscopic — one is almost tempted to say "melodramatic" — days of ours, men and women everywhere are longing for "an anchor of the soul sure and steadfast" — something that "cannot be shaken". And this instinctive longing for balance and sanity in the midst of instability is experienced not merely by individuals, but by whole nations and races of men.

The past week has witnessed the celebration of two great national festivals on either side of an undented boundary thousands of miles in length — in striking contrast to Europe's bustling borders! Let us rightly appreciate the blessing that Power Politics is here regarded with utter contempt and reprobaton, and that although we Canadians have indeed "a goody heritage," we have a neighbor innocent of any piratical designs upon it.

In the remarkable verse I have quoted above, the author of the epistle goes right down to the very heart of the Philosophy of Religion and of History. He asserts that through all the ages there rung a divine beneficent Purpose, and that it is not by mere accident that "the old order changeth, giving place to new."

Taken as a whole, our so-called Christian world is little better than it was in 1914. The materialistic scheme of life is again on its trial; the ancient controversy, God or Baal, Christ or Odin, still remains a "burning question." We have in Germany an instance of spiritual and moral perversion almost unthinkable, a whole vast civilization (save the mark) race of men intent on revenge, and plunder, and ravage, casting away all scruples of religion, mercy, honor and even common decency in the mad pursuit of racial aggrandizement.

It might be presumed that even the Nazis and the Fascists would have absorbed the lesson that War as an instrument of national policy can never pay—but no!

The visit of our beloved King and Queen to Canada and the United States is a highly dramatic, and indeed heroic way of impressing upon the people of the great and free democracies the need of "getting together," lest, as that most kindly man, Abraham Lincoln, said: "Government of the people, for the people, by the people" perish from the earth.

Since the Great War the nations, victors and vanquished alike, have persisted in putting their trust in "things that can be shaken." Development has been one-sided, Man's conquest of the forces of his environment has gone on apace, land, sea and air becoming tributary to human skill and genius. So we have overmaterialized the material, at the expense of the spiritual elements of our civilization. We are quite legitimately — here in Canada — very

DEMOCRATIC SYSTEM BEST FORM OF GOVERNMENT

(Le Jour, Montreal)

The King and Queen of Canada were recently among us. The enthusiasm of the crowds who acclaim and cheer them clearly the loyalty of some and the attachment of others to the British Crown. We noted that right across Canada, from sea to sea, the Canadian nation gave its Sovereign a triumph worthy of the great things they stand for. For us, the British monarchy is the symbol of an idea we have always cherished and we are proud to have fought for in the future; the symbol of all the great democracies in the world of all countries in which exist worship of freedom and respect for the human being.

The English Crown covers in august shadow the greatest Empire in history, and there is no doubt that within that Empire live the freest and happiest people in the world. We have only to cite Canada, Australia, South Africa, New Zealand and Rhodesia to realize that the British world — formed of independent, equal nations, mistresses of their own destiny and subject to no allegiance — is the strongest, the best developed, the proudest and the most contented part of the world.

This alone, we think, ought to show that the democratic states, more supple, more flexible, more individualistic and better equipped to bring forth strong, powerful individuals, are capable of progress and civilization on a greater scale than the monarchies which are regimented under dictators who see no way of leading men except by means of an overbearing discipline which destroys all energy and initiative.

HANDLING OF QUEBEC'S TOURIST INDUSTRY

(Le Petit Journal, Montreal)

The next few weeks, in the natural course of events, will bring us a horde of tourists, and it is being asked in certain quarters if the influx this year will be as great as in past years.

The Province of Quebec has certainly not lost anything of its charm, but it is feared that with reason, that the ever-increasing number of various taxes and the straitlaced attitude which reign in this province will reduce, if not stop, the progress of tourism in a surprising fashion.

After having done so much to bring here visitors from the other provinces and the United States, to mention only these; after having weighed the advantage there would be for us to open our doors to tourists, to feed them and house them and to sell them everything they would wish to buy from us, are we to see all these efforts go for nothing? We have quickly learned that the influx of visitors has helped to greatly reduce the number of our unemployed and that further the Provincial Treasury has found itself in a very improved position over a long period of time. We must not, however, deceive ourselves and believe that the revenue from tourism will increase indefinitely through the prodigality of the visitors. In return, we must always have in mind to provide them with amusement, and not weigh upon them excessively, with exaggerated taxes, such as those recently placed on gasoline, beer, moving pictures, etc. Such is not the case at present, and it would be a great pity if the labor performance, so painstakingly with a view to increasing the progress of tourism in our province, should see its efforts gradually brought to nothing.

And yet, all is not well with us. We are inclined to be factious, to think provincially, instead of in terms of national solidarity and unity. Moreover, we are all the while tempted to put business in the place of religion — in fact almost to make it a substitute for religion, as the Germans put duty to the State above duty to God. The claims of God upon men's lives are very generally ignored. The high nervous tension, the constant stir and excitement of a motorized age has induced a craving for the sensational and the spectacular, a state of mind fatal to the reception of religious truth.

Most of the sin and sorrow here below are due to the great measure to men's false ideas of Liberty. You may remember how, in reply to Socrates' question, "What is Justice?" a prominent sophist said: "Justice is the right of the stronger." — the thrice-cursed principle that has dominated German foreign policy ever since 1870!

It reminds one of the lament of the prophet of ancient Israel, that "every man did that which was right in his own eyes." This is the first step in the direction of Anarchy, and is the chief menace to democratic Liberty. In fact, it is quite possible for "The Liberty of the Subject" to be the mere catchword of selfishness and cowardice. It is commonly invoked even by the libertine and the criminal, to say nothing of the shirker and the "slacker."

The foundations of a free State are God and Duty. Free-willed obedience to law is the palladium of true liberty. In reply to the age-old question: "Am I my brother's keeper?" we have the proclamation by St. Paul that "Love is the fulfilling of the Law" — that "all we are brethren."

Let us, then, in these hard and perilous days, when the future is so uncertain, and the horizon so beset with clouds, claim and enjoy our Christian Heritage. "Other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, even Jesus Christ." Claim that, built on that Foundation!

Many things in age after age have been and will be shaken, but there are some things that are real, trustworthy, that cannot be shaken how great soever be the storm!

URGES CLOSER UNITY OF FRENCH-CANADIANS

(L'Evenement-Journal, Quebec)

Though the 24th of June is not an historical date and St. Jean Baptiste, our patron saint, does not figure in our history, the national holiday of French-Canadians has now been celebrated long enough to have become a tradition. Moreover, a young people like ours could hardly celebrate, as a national holiday, an historical event.

There does not seem to have been in the beginning of our national life any event so striking to our forefathers that they felt the need of commemorating every year. It would have been difficult later to have selected one, for the good reason that French-Canadians would have dismissed it for years before coming to an understanding — as they have done for the flag, with the result that we have none. It is now established that the celebration of St. Jean Baptiste Day dates back to the beginning of the colony. Unity has therefore been obtained.

A small people of only a few million, almost lost in the vast Anglo-Saxon and Yankee America, we have more reason than anyone else to implore the help of Heaven. And more than the others, we have the imperative duty of remaining united. It is good and well to remember a souvenir of the past, to glorify the heroes of our history, and to insist that all love their country. But it will be to no avail if we are not united. There is room in a country for political parties, for different viewpoints on the future and for dreams more or less realizable.

Let us, therefore, cease calling each other traitors as soon as we differ on minor points. Anyhow, the male-like suits that the ladies wear are an improvement on beach pyjamas. — St. Thomas Times-Journal.

CONFIDENCE STIMULANT TO INTERNATIONAL TRADE

The British Government recognizes fully that the export trade of this country is its life-blood and it is the only way in which we can pay for our foodstuffs and raw materials and, in consequence, gives every encouragement to the exporter. There are difficulties in the way as to quotas, tariffs and licences abroad, but these are not the making of the British Government and have become one of the normal obstacles which those who export expect to encounter and patiently overcome.

The whole of British industry is in a confident mood and ready to expand its export trade and this could only be done, I am convinced, by principals going abroad and seeing for themselves, as they are doing in increasing numbers, what the requirements of the various buyers are, what competition they have to face, and then coming back and laying themselves out to give complete satisfaction in price, quality and delivery.

If only we could get confidence back into the world I believe we are on the verge of a tremendous improvement in international trade. The lack of confidence has prevented this from taking place and giving that improvement in the standard of living to the people of the various countries to which they are entitled and look forward and which, in many cases, is long overdue.

Yours faithfully, LORD RIVERDALE, Capital Steel Works, Sheffield, England.

MCKENNEY'S BRIDGE QUIZ

BY WM. E. MCKENNEY Secretary, American Contract Bridge League

PENALTIES MAY NET DEFENSE MORE THAN VICTORY WITH OWN CONTRACT

Today's bridge quiz hand was taken from last year's Comenau Lake Tournament, a Master Point tournament of the American Contract Bridge League. It will be held this year at Comenau Lake, Pa., July 19 to 23 inclusive.

- 1. Has South a sound opening bid? 2. What action should West take on the first round of bidding? 3. If South bids one no trump and West doubles, what response should East make? 4. Can you picture the defense that will set South's contract of one no trump doubled 1100 points?

Solution to Bridge Quiz

- 1. South with four and a half honor tricks naturally has a sound opening bid. Some players might bid a diamond, while others, due to the distribution of the hand, would prefer the bid of one no trump. 2. Regardless of South's opening bid, West should double. He wants to disclose to his partner strength in at least one of the majors and a generally strong hand. 3. East should pass. This is the golden opportunity to collect large penalties, a contract of one no trump doubled, and even though the opponents make it, not much is lost. 4. The jack of hearts opening is won by East with the ace and a club returned to dummy's weakness. West wins with the ten-spot and returns a club. South is now in a very bad fix. He plays the king of spades, which West wins and returns another club. The only tricks the declarer takes are the ace and king of clubs and the ace of diamonds.

Fooling Cousin Harold

IF YOU get Bertha mad enough she can do anything," remarked her twin sister Elsa. "Now, I'm different. When I'm mad, I'm too furious to do anything except grind my teeth."

"Well, I never get mad," said Cousin Harold.

Elsa's glance seemed to say: "We'll see about that!"

You see, this cousin of the twins

ing," said Bertha.

Elsa thought so too, so they rowed back to the island and hiding the boat in some bushes they scouted inland. They had not gone far when they spied smoke and following it they found their cousin sitting comfortably before a glowing campfire over which hung a large iron pot. Nearby was a small tent.

"Oh, that sign and all was just a joke," explained Bertha.

"Weren't you mad a bit?" asked Elsa sadly.

"Why should I be?" said Harold. "I'm enjoying myself. Always do."

"Well, I'm sorry but we must start home now," said Bertha. "Mother expects us home for supper."

It took a little coaxing to get Harold to leave the comfortable fire he had built. "And you promised to row back," said Bertha. Harold said, "Sure," and took the oars. "Mind you hurry," said Elsa, "or we'll be late."

"Wouldn't be my fault," replied Harold cheerfully. He began to pull on the oars and the boat began to zigzag. First zigged and then it zagged and it was plain to see that Harold either couldn't or wouldn't row the boat against the tide.

"Here!" cried Bertha at last. "I'll row. Mother'll be anxious." Her eyes snapped as she changed places and she called to Elsa: "Come on, take an oar." But Elsa tossed her head: "Not much!" she cried. "He's just putting on. He can stay here all night. I won't row him!"

Creak, creak! What a queer noise? They looked about curiously. Creak, creak! It was Harold gritting his teeth.

"You do it, Elsa," he said. "You know, you told me you did."

Then Elsa remembered and blushing deeply she got up and sat down beside her sister. "I just won't let him know I'm mad!" she thought. "We couldn't make him mad."

They began to row in silence until suddenly Harold began to laugh. "Good for you, girls!" he cried. "You are good sports. Come on. I was just fooling awhile ago. Let me row now and I'll get you home in a jiffy."

"Never!" cried Bertha, almost sobbing. "I'll row myself even if it kills me."

Elsa pulled her sleeve. "Say," she whispered, "maybe we could learn something from Cousin Harold. Don't let him know we're mad. We'll pretend we don't care!"

Bertha's eyes flashed and she laughed. "All right," she agreed. "We'll fool him anyway."

They found Harold, sitting comfortably before a glowing campfire, lived in a far-off city and had come on a visit so they were just getting acquainted. The girls thought he was a little bit self-important. "Says he never gets mad," Elsa told Bertha.

"Well, he seems kind of good-natured," said Bertha.

"I bet we could make him mad easier than shaking a stick!" cried Elsa.

"It might be fun," agreed Bertha.

That very day, after a hearty dinner, the girls found Harold lying comfortably in the glider on the screened porch.

"Oh, Harold," said Bertha, "we're going on a little picnic and here is some supper. We thought we'd row over to the island. It's a dandy place. You'd like it. Come on!"

"I don't feel like rowing so soon after dinner," said Harold, taking a nice long stretch.

"Well, we'll row going and you row coming back," said Bertha.

"All right," agreed Harold, "though I don't usually let the girls do all the work."

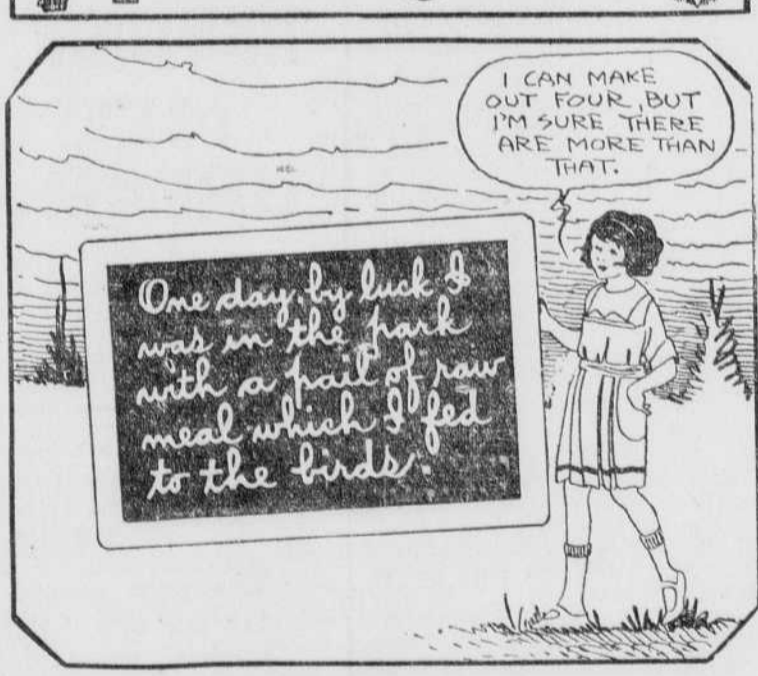

Soon they were in the boat, Bertha and Elsa each with an oar and their cousin sitting comfortably in the stern.

"The current is helping you," said Harold. "It'll be much harder coming home 'specially as the wind is coming up."

It is true—the row to the island was quite easy and soon the three were landed on the little sandy shore. Bertha and Elsa went off together. "Now," whispered Bertha, "as soon as he is out of sight we'll grab the boat!"

Harold had seen some oppressor tracks and went off on their trail so the girls placed the two lunch baskets on the shore with the notice:

THE JUNIOR COOK

CORN ON THE COB

Every Junior Cook should know how to cook corn on the cob so as to bring all the sweetness and flavor in the kernel.

Put on a kettle of water and bring to a boil. Use enough water to well cover the number of ears you intend to cook—use not less than two quarts in any case.

While the water is coming to a boil, husk the corn and remove all silk.

Cut away any defective portions. Only perfect ears, or those which have slight blemishes that can be cut away should be used for serving corn in this way. Corn that is not so perfect should be cut from the cob and cooked some other way.

When the water is boiling drop in the ears, being careful not to splash.

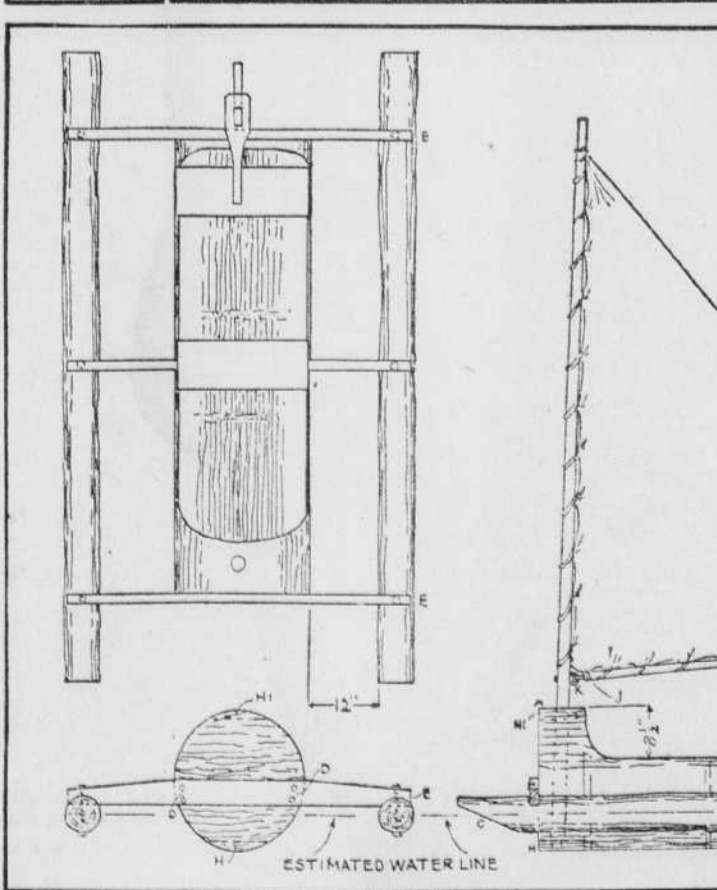

Boil for twelve minutes.

After ten minutes boiling add salt to the water, 1/3 teaspoonful for each ear. Boil only the two minutes after salting.

Remove from the water with a wire whisk or open spoon and serve immediately.

The HANDY BOY AT HOME

BY CHARLES A. KING, STATE NORMAL SCHOOL, PLYMOUTH, N.H.

A COUPLE of boys should have a little trouble in building this boat; the most important part of it is the two galvanized oil barrels about 23" x 35". Next are the three straight outriggers of light wood, cedar, balsa or white pine, 5" or 6" in diameter and 102" long, cut under as at C. Cut the sides of the barrel about as shown leaving 8" at A and 2" at B. Do this with a sharp cold chisel and hammer, and turn the sharp edge over, pounding it down and filing until it is smooth to prevent bad cuts. Make the three oak transoms 1 1/2" x 5" x 56"; shape as shown. Fasten

A French Story

TO THE little French boy July 14th is the anniversary of a very important date, the day when—way back in 1789—the French people stood up for their rights against the tyranny and oppression of an extravagant Court. On this date they marched in a body and destroyed the Bastille, the prison where so many innocents were entombed to gratify the personal vanity and hatred of the Nobles. Some few years later Napoleon Bonaparte asserted himself, and made himself master, and a very pretty story is told of a man named Charney, who was cast into prison, not the Bastille, by Napoleon, for doing something to displease the "Little Corporal" as Bonaparte was called.

As you can imagine, Charney was very lonely in his little dark cell. Behind the cell was a tiny yard and these comprised the prisoner's world, now.

One day while standing in the yard he saw a plant pushing up between the rough stones. It was the only bit of life among the gray mass, and Charney bent over it and caressed it.

"How came you in this dark, dreary place?" he asked.

The tiny leaves swayed in the wind as if to say, "We came to cheer you."

The lonely man loved the plant, and watched it grow. Day by day it developed, and pretty soon a lovely flower graced its stem.

"Oh, my friend," cried Charney, "You are beautiful. I love you, please don't leave me!"

The flower waited its perfume in a reassuring way toward the man. Even at night he could detect the odor, and as he lay on his hard cot he dreamed of the message the flower brought him, and that message was "Freedom."

One day a rainstorm threatened to break the flower, and Charney bent over it and protected it with his body until all danger had passed.

"God is good to have sent you to cheer me," he cried, and his faith in God returned, for he felt that no one but the Supreme Being could make anything so beautiful.

Empress Josephine, Napoleon's

"Please Don't Leave Me."

wife, heard of the poor prisoner's love for the flower, and as she, too, was fond of flowers, she interested herself in the man, and begged the great Napoleon to set him free.

Charney soon after left the prison, but the plant must not remain to die. He uprooted it, and replanted it in his own garden, where it lived still to cheer and comfort him.

The Skatemobile

EVERY boy has his own chauffeur—provided he owns a skatemobile! No, it isn't exactly an auto nor yet a pair of roller skates; though it is, more or less, a sort of combination of the two. And it is made in this fashion:

First, take one of that pair of roller skates of yours that you have discarded for the brand new and finer pair your Uncle gave you the other week. Separate it fore and aft. Then saw out a piece of board about one yard long, about one inch thick and three inches wide. Fasten one set of rollers (from the skate you have already separated) to the bottom of the plank, at one end of it; then attach the other set of rollers to the other extremity of the board, about two inches from the end. If you have trouble in fastening the rollers with nails, screws, etc., take them and your board to any bicycle repair store and they will rivet them on for you. So much for the "body" of your new skatemobile.

Next, pick out a nice soap box at the grocery's and nail it to the plank about ten inches from the front end and with the opening of the box facing the rear of your new "speed marvel." Nail a short stick of wood to the top of the box so that it will project beyond each side and be available as handle bars. Now you are ready for your ride.

Bend over, grip both of the handle bars lightly, get a good running start (down hill if possible) hop aboard—and you are flying over the ground. That is, of course, after you have learned to balance yourself, which feat, after all, is not as difficult as riding a bicycle.

SOCIAL EVENT ENJOYED

A pleasing social event took place at the home of Miss Ada Hitchcock, "The Grange," when a number of her friends met in honor of her birthday. The affair was a surprise and was arranged and carried out by Mrs. E. Price and Miss Stevenson.

Miss Hitchcock cordially welcomed the guests. Although she has been a "shut-in" for many years with an infection of the lower limbs, she maintains an uncompromising manner, is cheerful and enjoys visits of neighbors and friends.

Among the guests was Mrs. Willis Hunting, of Huntingville, a resident here for many years.

A profusion of flowers decorated the spacious living room, lovely blooms of peonies predominating. At the tea hour a delightful lunch was served, including a birthday cake with eight candles, which represented the decades of Miss Hitchcock's life.

In leaving, the guests expressed best wishes to Miss Hitchcock.

General Notes

The members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union and friends convened at the home of Mrs. W. Frappied and spent a few hours in social chat. Owing to illness the president and vice-president were unable to attend and the business was put over. In July and August meetings will not be held. The hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Charley Taylor, served a salad tea at the close of the afternoon.

Mr. T. N. St. Dizier, who was in the Sherbrooke hospital a few days for observation, returned with Mr. John Stebbins, Mrs. Stebbins and Mrs. E. Ayer who were tea guests at his home, returning to Sherbrooke the same evening.

COUPLE FETED AT BRESSETT'S CORNER EVENT

Large Number Attend Reception in Honor of Mr. and Mrs. S. Wilson—Several Minor Accidents in District.

Bressett's Corner, July 8.—Over seventy-five relatives, friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Wilson where a reception was held for Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Wilson (nee Evelyn McClary, of West Bolton) who were married a week previously.

The guests were nearly all assembled when the guests-of-honor arrived and as they entered the house to the strains of the wedding march all guests arose to wish them health and much future happiness.

The table on which the unopened gifts were placed was centered with a bouquet of white bridal roses while pink streamers suspended from the ceiling at the centre formed a bow at each corner of the white cloth.

The rooms were decorated with different colored pompons, bridal roses and other summer flowers.

The bridal couple were assisted by Miss Emma Wilson in unwrapping the gifts which were then handed around the rooms so that all might see them. Mr. Wilson then thanked their friends in a few well-chosen words for the beautiful gifts and expressed the wish that all present would come to see them in their new home.

Entertainment was provided in a short program in which several took part. Songs, recitations, speeches and instrumental numbers were rendered under the able direction of Mrs. John Knutson, Jr.

Delicious refreshments in the form of sandwiches, cakes and cookies accompanied by a fruit cocktail and ice cream were served by the hostess who was assisted by Mrs. John Nelson, Mrs. Victor Hodgson, Miss Bernice Bates, Mrs. D. M. Wilson, Miss Ruth Merrill, Miss Emma Wilson, Messrs. Monroe and Percy Wilson and Mr. Allan MacRae, of North Hatley.

Those present from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Bullis and Miss Alice Hill, of Stanstead; Mrs. Fred Luce and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Day, of Sawyerville; Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Newstad and Miss Audrey Newstad, of Huntingville; Mr. and Mrs. S. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney McElroy and their two sons and Mr.

Nips Granby In Extra Inning By 7-5 Score

One-Run Rallies in Ninth and Tenth Frames Account for Winning Markers—Trifluvians Toss Four Hurlers into Fray—Stirling Lead Athletics and Sherbrooke by Half-Game.

It's come to a turn now in the Provincial Baseball League where a team can't afford to take a day's rest for fear they wake up in a lower berth.

Quebec Athletics tied it yesterday along with all other outfits except Three Rivers and Granby Red Sox and the off-day cost Athletics their hold on first place, a berth they were enjoying for the first time this season.

The Trifluvians hurried over Quebec into first place by winning sixth-place Granby seven-six in an extra-inning contest at Three Rivers. They now hold a half-game edge over Quebec with Sherbrooke but a few percentage points behind the Athletics in third.

A one-run rally in the ninth that knocked the count and another in the tenth for the winning marker gave Three Rivers the verdict over Granby. The Trifluvians threw four hurlers into the game with Speece finally getting credit for the victory.

The Red Sox held a six-three edge at the end of the fifth frame but the Trifluvians got two back in the sixth and successive singles by Speece, Clabaugh and Corrigan tied it up in the ninth. The winner came in the tenth when Sullivan singled, went to third on a sacrifice and a fielder's choice and scored on Maloney's single.

In Sporting Vein

By Allan Bryce.

The way things are going now it looks as if the teams in the Provincial League are having a game of bean bag with first place. Sherbrooke, Sorel, Three Rivers and St. Hyacinthe have all taken a crack at holding the lead, and yesterday Quebec Athletics were all in the saddle seat. Prosperity was too much, it seems, and today Three Rivers are back on the pinnacle, one-half game ahead of Quebec and Sherbrooke.

Tomorrow Sherbrooke travels to Tigertown for a joust with the De-Mo-Small nine, and in the evening Sorrel will play the locals at the Park avenue stadium.

It has got to a point where to predict Calvert as a starting pitcher leaves one open for a raking over the coals, but the temptation is too much. Calvert will pitch against Sorrel here tomorrow night, it is expected, but don't put any money on it since Calvert is still having arm trouble and may want a longer rest.

Roland Brault, Eastern Townships amateur golf champion, is going to town in the provincial championships at Montreal. The slim, steady-going Cowansville linksman is in the semi-finals with defending champion Frank Corrigan, of Ottawa, and Arthur Bernbe, of Isleterre.

In his performance here in E. T. amateur tournaments, Brault showed himself cool as ice under pressure. He is deadly with iron and putter. He will not be a pushover for any of the three other semi-finalists.

YOUNG LECLERC TAKES AUBE AT WINDSOR MILLS

Windsor Mills, July 8.—Seven promising bouts of boxing and exhibitions of weight-lifting and trapeze and slackwire work were staged in the Canada Paper Arena last night before a large crowd.

In the final bout of the evening Kid Aube, 118, of Sherbrooke, and Young Leclerc, 118, of Sherbrooke, battled for five two-minute rounds. Leclerc getting the nod from the judges, while the semi-final attraction, matching Jack Couture, of Sherbrooke, weighing in at 122, and K.O. Hebert, of Sherbrooke, tipping the beam at 129, was short and sweet, Couture finishing his man in fifteen seconds of the first round.

A pair of eighty-pounders, Stan Murphy and Robert Bruneau, battled to a draw in three one-minute rounds as a curtain-raiser, while another draw featured Chick Couture, of Sherbrooke, and Bob Forder, of Windsor Mills. Ponder weighed 143, and Crowley 145.

Raoul Girard, of Windsor Mills, 145, scored a technical knockout in thirty seconds of the third round over L. Belanger, of Sherbrooke, 145, while L. St. Cyr, of Windsor, weighing 126, won a decision over Placide Ponderoli, of Sherbrooke, also a 126-pounder.

In the seventh out, Kid Lehou, 118, of Sherbrooke, scored a second-round, technical K.O. over Rene Couture, 118, of Windsor Mills.

The card was arranged by Arthur Bell and Young Leclerc, of Sherbrooke, was referee. Judges were J. B. Bruneau, Rene Desruisseaux and Felix Petit.

Jeffre L'Heureux, assisted by Gerard Fortier and Gerard Lemieux, gave a popular display of weight-lifting and muscular control, Lorne Harding performed on the trapeze and Jean Pinard held forth on the slackwire as other features of the programme.

Hank Greenberg likes his little joke. The papers quote him as saying Joe DiMaggio can have the American League batting championship for all he cares.

Helen Willis Moody is trying to make up her mind to have another shot at the United States championship this year.

Seven Fast Boxing Bouts Staged in Canada Paper Arena—Weight-Lifting, Trapeze and Slackwire Turns Presented.

Sponsored by the Magog Aquatic Club, a regatta will be held tomorrow at Lake Memphremagog, and competition is expected to be keen in the swimming, tilting, diving and boating events.

Considerable time has been spent in organization and given good weather officials may expect a large entry list and goodly numbers of competitors.

James (Deacon) White, ninety-two year old, oldest living former league baseball star, died suddenly yesterday at Aurora. His physician said death had been hastened by the extreme heat of the last few days.

White, who learned to play baseball from a Union soldier just returned from the Civil War, started his professional career seventy-one years ago as a member of the Forest City team in Cleveland. He played for twenty-one years, winding up with Pittsburgh. With the late A. G. Spalding, White formed the first catch battery of the sport. White caught banded and, later played third base and pitcher.

The last big league game White saw was in Chicago several years ago, at which time he professed amazement at the speed of Lefty Grove, then the ace pitcher of Philadelphia Athletics.

"Batters of my day would have had little success with present-day pitching," White said in an interview the day before he died, "but by golly, you haven't got any better fielders now. We fielded banded and that took a lot more skill than the present-day fielders need with their gloves."

Australia's challengers for the Davis Cup, fresh from their conquest of the Mexican team, started practice today for next week's matches against the Philippine squad.

Jack Brownwich, the youngster with the two-handed shots, and Adrian Quist will bear the brunt of the campaign against the Islanders, but the veteran Jack Crawford and Captain Harry Hopman will see some action.

The Australia-Philippine Islands matches will be played at the Long Beach Tennis Club, Southern California, and the winner meets Canada or Cuba later in the summer.

George Edmond, St. Paul Dispatch writer, is at the mid-point in the age period at which a golfer is most likely to win a championship. That's Byron Nelson's age.

BABE DRISKO SOLE .400 HITTER

Montreal, July 8.—(7)—With the teams swinging into the second half of a heavy schedule, Keith Drisko of Sherbrooke stands a lone survivor in the .400 per cent batting class of the Provincial Baseball League, it was revealed in statistics released today by President Jean Barrette.

But a second place at the figures shows that Paul Martin of Three Rivers and Frank Mader of Quebec, holders of second and third place, are really belting the ball for averages of .368 and .357 respectively. Drisko has been at bat only twenty-three times compared with the 125 for Martin and the 126 for Mader.

Paul Calvert of Sherbrooke, with four wins and no defeats, and Glenn Leblanc of Quebec, with two victories and no losses head the pitchers division with 1,000 per cent. Jack Leroy of Three Rivers and Harry Winston of Granby follow in that order.

MEMPHREMAGOG WATER SPORTS ARE ARRANGED

Many Competitors Expected for First E.T. Regatta of Season at Magog Tomorrow.

Magog, July 8.—Arrangements have been completed by the local Aquatic Club for a mammoth regatta to be held here on Lake Memphremagog tomorrow afternoon, and officials are expecting a record number of competitors.

Sporting clubs in Sherbrooke, North Hatley, Little Lake and Lake Nicolet, as well as individual performers from many points in the Eastern Townships, are expected to take part in the swimming races, living competitions and canoe and boat races.

In addition to the usual regatta event, the organizers have planned several surprises for the spectators. It is expected that the regatta, first of the season in the Eastern Townships, will attract spectators and perhaps competitors from the New England States.

An amplifying system will be erected to keep the crowd informed as to the standing of the competitors and winners of the various events.

CHESHIRE PRO WINS BRITISH OPEN TOURNEY

Cautious Dick Burton Completes 72-Hole Total of 290 for Margin of Two Strokes Over J. Bulla, of Chicago.

St. Andrews, Scotland, July 8.—(7)—The 1939 British Open golf tournament rested today with a man who wanted most—Dick Burton. The Cheshire professional brought faultless golf to a faultless course when the pressure was on and won with a seventy-two-hole total of 290 strokes to 292 for John Bulla, of Chicago.

For four days the pick of Great Britain's players, a strong Argentine squad and Bulla and Lawson Little from America, struggled with the title. Everyone from Jim Bruen, the somewhat pompous young Elre player, to the Argentine, Martine Pose, had a chance to win it at one time or another.

In the end it was Burton, a Ryder Cup player and ordinarily just a run-of-mine pro, who cashed in on the title worth only £100 ($468) in cash but thousands more in prestige and endorsements.

He won it decisively, and there is no doubt he was the best man in the field when all the scores were in. It was a good field to be best man in, too, for down the list were Reg Whitcombe and Alf Perry, champions in their own right, at 294; Pose, who fumbled his chance yesterday with two seventy-sixes and a 205; Bobby Locke, the brilliant South African, a stroke behind, and far down at 298 Bruen and the great Henry Cotton.

Burton is about what you'd expect the winner at St. Andrews to be. He hits a healthy drive but not over-long. His approaches are sound but not spectacular. His putting is better than it looks. He puts carefully, but he controls the ball on the lightning-fast rolling greens. He takes advantage of every good line, every following wind, every freak of Scottish weather. He is cool, steady and cautious.

ROBERT RIGGS SINGLES CHAMP AT WIMBLEDON

Defeats Doubles Partner, Elwood Cooke, 2-6, 8-6, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2—Reaches Mixed Doubles Final with Alice Marble.

Wimbledon, England, July 8.—(7)—Bob Riggs, the new Wimbledon champion, plays tennis as if he was being paid by the hour. His motto seems to be, "Never finish a match in three hours if you can make it last five."

His type of play is not liked here—for two reasons: First, it's boring, and second, it cuts into the tea hour.

When Bob takes it into his young head to stand at the baseline and keep the ball in play for ten minutes without the slightest attempt to win a point, he does it. And when he decides to give points and games away, he just grins and watches the ball whizz by.

And that is apt to annoy the spectators. He did both things yesterday several times in his five-set contest with his doubles partner, Elwood Cooke, and before long a lot of people got up and started looking for the tea tent.

"All right, I'm a careless guy," he says, "but that's the way I like to play."

"What I'm worrying about now is first how I'm going to win that Seabright Cup when I get back home and how America is going to keep that Davis Cup."

Riggs took all of five sets as he defeated Cooke, 2-6, 8-6, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2 in the final to succeed Don Budge as the All-England champion.

Then he teamed with Alice Marble to reach the final of the mixed doubles. They had to play two matches defeating C. M. Jones and Ermyrtrude Harvey, Britain, 5-7, 6-1, 6-3 and Camille Malfroy, New Zealand, and Betty Nuthall, Britain, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4 in the semi-finals.

Cooke and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabry won a semi-final berth with 7-5, 3-6, 6-3 decision over A. D. Russell of Argentina, and Mrs. Freda James Hammersley, Britain.

Here's the lineup for today's Anglo-American finale of the tournament:
Women's singles:
Kay Stammers, Great Britain, vs. Alice Marble, United States.
Men's doubles:
Bobby Riggs and Elwood Cooke, United States, vs. Charles Hare and Frank Wild, England.
Women's doubles:
Miss Marble and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabry, United States, vs. Hilary Jacobs, United States, and Ellen York, Great Britain.
Mixed doubles:
Riggs and Miss Marble vs. either Cooke and Mrs. Fabry or Wilde and Nina Brown, Great Britain.

Old Hugo Quist, who brought out Sonja Henie, says he has a new skating find (Vivi-Ann Hultner) under wraps out at Coronado, Cal.

Red Sox Spill Yankees To Open 5-Game Spat

Manager Joe Cronin and Ted Williams Hit Vital Blows in 4-3 Triumph—Bobby Feller Steady for 14th Victory as Indians Wallop Chisox 7-3—Dodgers Bring Joy to Flatbush by Edging Out Giants 3-2—Cubs Push Pirates Back to Sixth.

Boston Red Sox have been gouging New York Yankees in the last few days until the champions ought to be getting sore.

The second-place Red Sox opened a five-game series in New York yesterday with a four to three victory. It was the third time Boston had beaten the Yankees in four games this month and their eighth triumph in the last ten games.

This latest victory was taken in stride by Boston. Manager Joe Cronin, a fighter from away back, hit a home-run and brought in another tally on a single. Ted Williams singled behind Jimmy Foss's double for a run and scored the deciding marker himself on an infield out with the bases full in the eighth inning.

The Yankees got ten hits off Jake Wade and Emerson Dickman to the eight Red Kuffing allowed, but Boston's newly-acquired crudding spirit carried the issue.

The four games which confront the two teams today and tomorrow should test once and for all the seriousness of the Red Sox threat.

Bob Feller chalked up his fourteenth victory as Cleveland Indians walloped Chicago White Sox, seven to three.

In the only other game in the American League St. Louis Browns came from behind to beat Tigers, eight to six. Joe Gallagher, whom the tail-enders obtained recently from the Yankees, hit a three-run homer as the big blow of a five-run rally in the seventh inning.

New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers re-opened their feud before a noisy sellout crowd of 36,000 fans at Ebbets Field and the Dodgers brought joy to Flatbush by winning three to two. Whitlow Wyatt won his eighth straight although he gave nine hits to the seven Brooklyn got off Cliff Melton and Manny Salvo.

Police were plentiful but had nothing to do except watch the ball game.

Chicago Cubs pushed Pittsburgh Pirates back into sixth place with an eleven-inning five to four victory made possible by a bad throw by catcher Ray Berres, of the Pirates. The error let Stan Hack race from first to third and into position to score on Billy Herman's sacrifice fly.

Max West gave the Boston Bees a seven to three triumph over the Phillies by hitting a triple with the bases loaded and two out in the sixth inning.

Cincinnati Reds and St. Louis Cardinals were idle.

ROYALS DROP PAIR TO CHIEFS

The current Jersey City-Rochester struggle for the International League lead is stirring up a lot of excitement, but unless one of them can earn a decisive victory somewhere, it may be just too bad for both of them.

So far their hand-to-hand struggle of the past two nights hasn't done anything but break their tie for first place. The Wings felt the strain last night when Marty Marion, shortstop, injured the thumb of his right hand on an infield play in the second game, while the Little Giants indicated their morale may be suffering when they committed five errors in the losing nine to four after taking the opener seven to four.

The even break kept the Giants one game ahead.

While the two leaders were battling to a draw, Syracuse Chiefs edged closer to second place by taking the Royals to within one bill with Montreal by identical scores of four to three.

The second game went to eleven innings before Butch Meyers' single scored the winning run. The double defeat extended Montreal's losing streak to six games and dropped the last place Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Leafs defeated Baltimore, four to three in twelve frames, for their second straight win over the Orioles when Harry Matuzak walked pitcher John Pezullo with the bases full to force in the winning tally.

Buffalo Bisons swept their four-game series with Newark by downing the Bears twice, five to one and eight to six, before 11,790 spectators, the largest night crowd of the season at Buffalo.
