

Grim Labor Day weekend marked in Townships as 15 die in district accidents

Labor Day weekend accidents in the Eastern Townships took 15 lives, including five children crushed simultaneously when a truckload of rocks fell on them.

The Canadian Press called it the worst Labor Day weekend on record for the whole of Canada, with 121 lives lost, eight in a single Alberta car crash. In Quebec, there were 32 deaths.

The five Townships children crushed by rock were Catherine Gregoire, 8, Solange Dupuis, 7, Bruno Turgeon, 8, Bruno Laflamme, 7, Jean-Luc Martin, all of Vimy Ridge Mines, near Coleraine.

The ground was reported by Thetford Mines Provincial Police to have given way suddenly under a truck while the five were playing on a pile of boards, toppling the rock onto them. The accident occurred Monday.

Holiday not very happy one

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Demonstrations by labor organizations, worried comments on the country's unemployment situation and a record number of accidental deaths marked Labor Day weekend across Canada.

Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labor Congress, told a luncheon at the Canadian National Exhibition Monday the long-range outlook for employment in Canada is "rather gloomy."

He said growth of the labor force and simultaneous drop in demand for production workers because of automation present dismal prospects.

But economic growth, new ideas and a revitalized spirit could all help to offset the possibility of a gloomy future, he said.

In Windsor, Ont., a prominent American labor leader called for the formation of national planning agencies to combat unemployment in both Canada and the United States.

ASSESS POTENTIAL

Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer of the United Auto Workers, told about 3,000 persons attending the city's Labor Day celebrations such agencies could assess the needs of the country's populations and determine the best potential use of national resources.

More than 25,000 persons collected in downtown Hamilton for the biggest labor-organized rally ever held in that city. They heard David Archer, president of the Ontario Federation of Labor, urge Canadian recognition of Communist China.

The number of accidental deaths across Canada soared to at least 121, a record for a Labor Day weekend.

Police in Winnipeg launched a massive campaign against traffic offenders Friday in a determined effort to cut down highway deaths.

In Quebec, police reported traffic build-ups reached critical peaks Monday evening. Cars backed up more than three miles at approaches to Montreal.

Kennedy cracks down on Diem government

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy publicly cracked down on the government of South Viet Nam Monday night in a move apparently aimed at forcing the removal from power of the brother of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

If President Diem is unwilling or unable to remove quickly his powerful brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, U.S. officials indicated today the Kennedy administration will feel compelled to consider other measures.

These measures, it is understood, will include a review of the U.S. aid program with possible cutbacks to follow.

Kennedy told a country-wide television audience in an interview from Hyannis Port, Mass., that the war against Communist forces in Viet Nam could not be won unless the Diem government makes "a greater effort" to win popular support.

He said that changes in policy "and perhaps in personnel" are needed to produce victory.

The president, however, carefully refrained from advocating any specific plan of action for the Vietnamese.

SAIGON (Reuters)—South Viet Nam's secret police chief, Ngo Dinh Nhu, today appeared ready for a showdown with the United States.

Nhu, brother and adviser to President Ngo Dinh Diem, has emerged as the most powerful man in South Viet Nam following the crackdown on anti-government Buddhists and declaration of martial law Aug. 20.

Nhu now appears confident the internal political situation is well on the way to being settled and that the possibility of a coup against him has disappeared.

Socred power race is tied as two leaders divide MPs

Discord is seen at rally

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Relations between certain delegates to the Congress of Le Ralliement des Creditistes held here over the week-end and Social Credit Members of Parliament grew rather strained at times, especially on Sunday afternoon when the various committee reports came before the plenary session for approval.

The first sign of discord came during the presentation of the report of the finance committee.

One of the first recommendations in the report suggested that the deficit of $14,000 accumulated by the provincial organization during the past few years be met by special assessments on the Members of Parliament.

The contention of the committee was that the deficit had been contracted in clearing the way for the election of the Socred MPs, who should be called upon to reimburse the central fund. This was a particularly opportune time to make the assessment, some delegates felt, in view of the recent sharp increase in indemnities granted Members of Parliament.

But the MPs were none too favorable to the idea arguing that it was unfair to expect a man to give his time and talents representing his county and at the same time pay off bills run up by the organization earlier.

Finally the clause was deleted.

Other delegates apparently felt that some of their parliamentarians were talking too much, especially outside the House.

Declaring that some MPs were making statements, particularly to the press, that conflicted with Socred policies and principles, some delegates proposed an amendment to the constitution that would prohibit any Social Credit MP from making any declaration to newspapermen or anyone else until it had been approved by his local party organization.

This met with wide approval but was ruled out of order when it was pointed out parliamentary rules prevent this sort of censorship over a Member's utterances.

Generally speaking the journalists were in disfavor with the Social Credit movement — from Real Caouette down to the individual delegates.

The Quebec chief devoted his 90-minute opening address to expressing his dislike for four groups. Low on his list of evils was Prime Minister Pearson and his Liberal cabinet whom he declared were "100 times worse than Diefenbaker."

Second from the bottom were Quebec Premier Jean Lesage and his Revenue Minister Eric Kierans for their participation in the 1963 election campaign.

Next to the top was National Socred Leader Robert Thompson whom he accused of seeking to divide the Social Credit forces to eliminate Caouette.

Booed-out Creditiste seeks 'great Quebec'

By MALCOLM REID

(Record staff reporter)

GRANBY — The delegate who was booed out of the hall at the Ralliement des Creditistes convention here Sunday for trying to speak against the convention resolution rejecting Robert Thompson as Social Credit parliamentary leader says what he seeks is "a great Quebec in a great Canada."

Paul Aubut, Montreal lawyer and Royal 22nd Regiment war veteran said as he walked from the hall to his hotel that he would have urged the convention, if he had not been ruled out of order for trying to speak after the vote was taken, that the Ralliement should wait and review the relations of its chief, Real Caouette, with National Leader Thompson in a few months' time.

"I want to build something, not destroy," he said. He said he had been a Social Credit member since the beginning of the party's recent rise in Quebec, and did not indicate he intended to quit. But he did not return to convention sessions.

As the only voice raised openly against the anti-Thompson resolution, he pleaded, "I may be some sort of a fanatic, but I believe in the theory of Social Credit. Believe me, I do."

He also insisted he spoke as "a good French Canadian."

"I admire Mr. Caouette," he declared at another point.

A few sympathizers joined Mr. Aubut on the sidewalk, when the cries of "out," and the chairman's ruling, led him to make his exit. But none of the six federal members who have since announced they are sticking with Mr. Thompson joined him in speaking against the resolution when it was on the floor.

Gerard Chapdelaine, MP for Sherbrooke and one of the six Thompson supporters, was not visible in the hall during the discussion.

Inside, a modification to the anti-Thompson, pro-Caouette resolution that would have acclaimed Mr. Caouette but left it to a national convention to deal with Mr. Thompson was shouted down.

So was one that would have repudiated Mr. Thompson, but left it to the caucus of Quebec Socred members of parliament to choose their leader.

"Caouette! Caouette!" was the shout from the floor.

A Montreal delegate put the convention's feeling most plainly: "I say this for the benefit of the newspapermen, who have a harder time understanding things than the rest of us. We don't want Thompson. We do want Caouette."

Mr. Caouette sat on the platform as the discussion went on, not visibly paying attention. He conferred with other platform officials.

Mr. Aubut received publicity last year when he said, speaking for Van Doos vets, that the French-Canadian regiment would take up arms against separatists if they tried to force Quebec out of Confederation.

Pope's first encyclical may deal with science

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Word can to the Pope's address last Sunday on the need of laymen to make Christianity vivid. They suggest that an encyclical of his entire reign. This was the case in the first letter of Pope John XXIII in 1959.

The encyclical is said to be on the relationship between the Christian truths and the scientific - intellectual concepts of modern culture. The encyclical — a letter to all Roman Catholic bishops — is not expected to be released before November or December.

GRANBY — (Special) — Real Caouette, fiery leader of the Quebec Social Credit movement in this province, may have succeeded in committing political suicide, not only for himself but for the party of which he was national deputy leader.

At the Congress of Le Ralliement des Creditistes, governing body of the Socred movement in this province, Mr. Caouette succeeded in forcing through a resolution calling for the 19 Social Credit MPs from this province to disavow the leadership of Robert Thompson and sit in the House of Commons under a temporary House leader.

But within hours of the approval of the resolution, six Quebec Social Credit MPs, including Gerard Chapdelaine, of Sherbrooke, pledged their continued support to the national leader when he arrived in Montreal Monday from his Alberta home.

Dr. Marcoux, sitting as an independent Social Credit member, said "the reasons forcing me to resign from the party last spring have disappeared and I foresee myself returning to the party in the near future."

Mr. Thompson, present when the statement was read, said the Granby resolutions "have no effect on our overall plans or on my position as leader," referring to support of his leadership given by a recent meeting of the party's national council.

The national leader expected other Quebec MPs in addition to those who supported him Monday will join his forces, "some sooner, some later."

Dr. Marcoux said Social Credit will re-organize on the provincial level, "not as a provincial party but as the Quebec section of the national party."

For the moment, the Thompson Quebec group would work as a team and had no plans to choose a leader immediately. A new Quebec wing headquarters would be opened in Montreal.

Mr. Caouette predicted in his keynote speech in Granby Saturday that "reactionary forces trying to make the revolution" would move quickly. He said they would be spearheaded by Dr. Marcoux, Mr. Thompson and Alberta Premier Manning who, he said, had used "undue influence" to get Mr. Thompson elected leader in the 1961 Ottawa leadership convention.

He told the convention he would waste no time in organizing a new national party if the delegates wanted this.

The convention was the first meeting of Le Ralliement since the April 8 election setback when Quebec Social Credit representation in the Commons dropped to 20 from 26 elected in the June, 1962, election. The party forces were further disrupted when six Quebec Social Credit MPs pledged support to the Pearson government—later withdrawn—and Dr. Marcoux resigned.

Mr. Caouette said early last week he supported an independent Quebec party aligned with "right wing parties including separatists."

He accused Mr. Thompson's group of being "lukewarm" towards Social Credit principles. Mr. Thompson publicly struck out at Mr. Caouette for the first time Friday when he said the deputy national leader should resign because of his "irresponsible statements." The national leader said Mr. Caouette no longer considered himself a member of the national party. June last year.

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—David Fellin and Henry Throne return home today after a week in a hospital recuperating from 14 days entombment in a mine cave-in. But fellow miner Louis Bova remains lost and the state virtually has abandoned hope of finding him alive.

Fellin, 58, and Throne, 28, said through a spokesman they were relieved by the failure to find "our buddy."

VENICE, Italy (Reuters) — Princess Alexandra of Greece, seriously ill after taking an overdose of drugs, regained consciousness during the night and said she felt happy to be alive, a hospital spokesman said today.

The princess, wife of ex-king Peter of Yugoslavia, was taken to a hospital here Sunday in a coma.

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP)—Defiant Governor George Wallace has doubled his state trooper guard around Little Tuskegee Elementary - High School in the face of another possible showdown today over school integration.

In doing so, Wallace paid little attention to a federal justice department spokesman who insisted "the dispute is between Governor Wallace and the local school officials."

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—After a summer of enforced idleness, 840 men still employed by Wabana Iron Ore Mines return underground today.

But 150 of them will be laid off by Sept. 30 as the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation mines cut back further on employment.

The miners on this small island just west of St. John's were laid off June 14 while a $50,000 sizing plant was installed.

SRINAGAR—Kashmir army, police and civilian rescue teams today sifted through the debris of 58 Kashmir Valley villages, hit Monday by a violent earthquake that killed an estimated 100 persons.

Another 500 persons were believed injured and latest reports said 73 bodies were recovered.

The tremors began at 7:10 a.m. local time Monday and lasted for 40 seconds.

OTTAWA (CP) — Income of Canada's paid workers during June continued to run some six per cent ahead of year-earlier levels, a Bureau of Statistics report showed Monday. It estimated labor income in June at $1,857,000,000, a rise of 2.7 per cent from the May total of $1,808,000,000 and 5.9 per cent longer considered himself a member of the national party. Brome Fair starts slowly, then gets record crowd

BROME VILLAGE — On Saturday, August 31, at 8 a.m., the gates to the Brome Fair were officially opened for the 10th consecutive year. Earl Marsh of Knowlton, president of the Brome County Agricultural Society, Vice-president, L.

P. Knowlton, secretary-treasurer, Albert Smith and assistant secretary, Adelard Premont, were directors.

The president of the Brome County Horticultural Society was H. W. Call of Sutton; the vice-president being Gordon Marsh of Brome and Stanley Quilliams, the secretary.

The poor attendance of 150 persons at the grandstand Saturday afternoon was said to be a result of the bad weather throughout the area. However, sunny skies and 80 degree temperatures on Sunday drew a record-breaking crowd of 15,000 persons to the fairgrounds.

Nearly 1,500 persons were reported to have entered the grandstand Sunday to see the Gastoni Circus Review. The grandstand is built to hold only 1,000 persons but the crowd managed to squeeze in.

Albert Smith, treasurer, said that there had never been that many people at the Brome Fair before.

On Monday, 1,350 persons were reported to have crowded into the fair grounds to see the biggest cattle parade ever shown, along with horse races and acrobatic attractions.

The midway was supplied by Bernard and Barry. There were the traditional Kiddies' rides, tankers, planes and live ponies, and the ever popular ferris wheel, tilt-a-whirl and airplane rides for everyone.

On Saturday, the Brome Horse Show was held for the second time at the Brome Fair and was said to have been a great success. Sixty-two horses were entered in 16 different classes. The competition was judged by A. D. Ness, The Ringmaster, George Rogerson, was assisted by Allan Whitcher. The announcer was Russell Call, of Sutton.

Paintbrush vandals run wild in Danville

DANVILLE — (Staff) — Paintbrush-welding vandals ran wild through this small residential community, 35 miles north of Sherbrooke early Saturday morning, blotting out the English portions of municipal signs, defacing three churches, and printing the letters FLQ on the doors of private homes, garages and cars.

In early Biblical days, all blue stones were called sapphires. It was some time later that the name became associated only with the hard, transparent blue mineral corundum. The other blue stones were given new names such as lapis lazuli, turquoise and azurite.

Sapphires occur in several other colors besides blue — white, yellow, red and orange. The most popular is the Kashmir (Cashmere) sapphire in a rare "velvety" cornflower blue shade. It has a somewhat sleepy or soft appearance, unlike the other oriental sapphires that are a rich royal blue. Ceylon, Burma and Australia are major sources for sapphires, although some stones of a steel blue color are found in Montana.

The very popular form of sapphire is the stone exhibiting the natural star phenomenon. This is termed asterism, and occurs when the sapphire is cut en cabochon with a flat bottom and convex or domed top. Ruby, the red corundum and sister gem to sapphire, also may exhibit the star effect. It is caused by three sets of reflecting grating or striae, which are parallel crystal growth lines.

Those born in September are fortunate to have the lovely sapphire as a special and lucky birthstone. Both men and women can easily find any number of sapphire set rings, pendants, pins, cufflinks or watches. There is a wide price range available in our fine collection of sapphire pieces, both in the natural gems, and in the new synthetic sapphires. These latter stones have almost identical chemical and wearing properties as the natural gems, but of course, at far less cost. The synthetic or natural star stones are particularly attractive, so do stop in and see them soon.

Police Chief Paul Breton this morning said this was the and running an old folks' home, has for the first time appealed to the people of the Eastern Townships to help.

"For more than 50 years the Association carried on with the voluntary financial support of a few citizens of Greater Montreal," an Association bulletin to the Press states.

The bulletin goes on: "As the Association aids - the blind across the Province it seems only fair to ask for financial assistance from more areas than just Greater Montreal. Hence the up-coming campaign in the Eastern Townships."

In the 1962-63 term, the Association says that 21.4 per cent of the pupils attending their school for blind children actually came from the Eastern Townships.

Of these 65 English-language blind from the Townships, 15 come from the Sherbrooke area. A Sherbrooke graduate of the school, completely blind, is now a successful lawyer in Montreal.

The financial campaign being carried out in the Eastern Townships is being headed by Rene Monty of Sherbrooke and Lee Watson of Lennoxville, both acting as co-chairmen.

The school that the Association operates in Montreal offers the Quebec Protestant and School curriculum for elementary grades. When a student graduates from these lower grades, he chooses the high school he wishes to attend. The Association can provide or obtain many text books in braille for the high school. Many blind children are now finding it possible to go on to university education.

The Association's Library has more than 1000 volumes. About 50 per cent are in Braille and the other half are talking books (12-inch long playing records). The library also sends copies of more than 40 magazines in braille every month.

Operating at a loss each year, the Association also runs a broom, mop and brush factory, giving permanent employment to more than 35 blind people and part-time work to at least a dozen more.

A total of at least 30 stop and parking signs ruined; Walls and doors of at least eight private residences defaced.

The letters FLQ painted on the hoods or doors of at least three private cars. Doors of three Protestant churches painted with the letters FLQ and the phrase Quebec Libre. Church signs giving the hours for various services were defaced.

Chief Breton said in all cases, green paint was used. He said the vandals must have done their work after 3 a.m. Saturday morning, since the last police patrol at that time reported everything normal. He said he would not attribute the acts to the FLQ, "but you never know."

Nearly all the acts were committed in the English-language section of the town, he said. This is the second outbreak of this kind of vandalism in Danville within a month. Earlier in August, the letters FLQ were painted on store windows and road signs.

But, Chief Breton said, these new incidents are far more serious. He said council has authorized the posting of a reward for anyone with information leading to arrest of the guilty parties. Chief Breton said police patrols in the town will be intensified, and the department put on a 24-hour alert.

"We are determined to find out who did these rotten things," he said. "They are a disgrace to the town."

Socred committees subjected to barrage of delegates' queries

GRANBY—One thing is certain. Delegates to a Quebec Social Credit convention do not accept the reports of their committees as a matter of form. They want to know the whys and the wherefores of any recommendation and are prepared to argue until they receive the desired information.

This was apparent at the annual congress of Le Ralliement des Creditistes which met here over the weekend.

One after another the committee chairmen were subjected to a barrage of questions, amendments and sub-amendments and even amendments and sub-amendments to the sub-amendments as they presented their recommendations to the general session Sunday afternoon.

For instance, the committee on changes in the constitution recommended several revisions, mostly concerning covering the situation created by the decision to enter the provincial political field.

These were accepted without much discussion. But a clause providing that the outgoing president be retained on the executive committee for a two-year period in an advisory capacity touched off a major storm.

Finally a revised resolution was adopted ordering the Quebec delegation in the House of Commons to disassociate itself

Party provincial role studied by committee

GRANBY — (Staff) — The Social Credit party will contest the next provincial general elections in Quebec but no definite decision as to the extent of this participation will be made for another 12 months.

During the congress of Le Ralliement des Creditistes held over the weekend, the delegates approved unanimously a recommendation by the executive that the party contest the next provincial election but referred to whole matter to a committee of ten.

The committee, to be named by the executive, will report at the next annual congress. No provincial general election is expected before 1966.

Decision to enter the provincial field was not unexpected following the opening address of the Quebec leader, Real Caouette, Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Caouette was particularly bitter against Premier Jean Lesage and Provincial Revenue Minister Eric Kierans for their participation in the last federal election campaign. He charged their interference cost the Social Credit party many seats in this province.

Premier Lesage made a province-wide TV and radio appeal to the electors a few minutes before the blackout on political broadcasting became effective in which he urged them to support federal Liberal candidates. Mr. Kierans, then president of the Montreal and Canadian Stock Exchanges, made frequent appearances in which he attacked the fallacies of Social Credit fiscal policy.

Later he was inducted into the Lesage cabinet and is seeking election in a Montreal riding by-election.

They said leader Real Caouette's reported idea of an "alliance of the right"—to include Marcel Chaput's separatist Republican Party, the Union Nationale, and Montreal Mayor Jean Drapeau—was not applicable because Social Credit surpassed the whole notion of right and left in politics. Anyway, the "left" in Quebec was insignificantly small.

Yet less than an hour before the Ralliement's re-elected president, Laurent Legault, had said to convention cheers that one of Quebec's biggest dangers was "sliding to the left, towards socialism and communism."

Social Crediters, he said, were the only ones left firmly on the right.

The young Montrealers were able to draw parallels between Social Credit and Chinese Communism—whereas the national party has denounced Canadian wheat sales to China.

They were able to quote Russian revolutionary V. I. Lenin, and say Social Crediters were socialists "in the earliest sense of the word." They, too, sought the elimination of capitalism—it was just that they didn't intend to accomplish it by state takeover of the economy.

They even expressed a certain respect for Quebec Resources Minister Rene Levesque, a target of Social Credit campaign invective. "Levesque has some principles," one said, "not like Lesage, who's an opportunist completely sold to high finance."

All this, they were ready to admit, might not square with ing passed a resolution calling for a new national leader to replace Mr. Thompson. (CP Photo)

Another amendment invited the Western Canada Socred MP's to join with the Quebec group to disown the national leader but few if any of the delegates seriously believed the call would be heeded.

On the other hand, nine of the Quebec MP's accepted the congress resolution and rallied to the Caouette banner.

As a net result, two Social Credit groups have been created in the House of Commons, each with its own leader. And each is expected to have 11 followers.

In addition to the six Quebec MP's who threw their weight officially behind Mr. Thompson, Dr. Guy Marcoux, who has been sitting as Independent SC, formally rejoined the party as a backer of the national leader, while Lucien Plourde, MP for Quebec West, who did not sign the declaration indicated he would support Mr. Thompson.

This would give the national leader eight supporters from Quebec together with three from Western Canada.

On the other hand, Mr. Caouette has received a definite pledge from support from nine Quebec MP's and expects backing from two others who so far have not committed themselves.

Regional planning for world's fair

It is encouraging to learn that the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce plans to set up a special committee to study the part this region can play in the Montreal world's fair in 1967.

And it is equally as encouraging to hear that both the English and French sections of the Junior Chamber of Commerce are thinking along similar lines.

Interesting, too, is a proposal from Patrick Asselin, Liberal MP for Richmond - Wolfe that there be an Eastern Townships booth at the world's fair to present the area's attractions to potential visitors.

Mr. Asselin is also reported to have suggested that the Eastern Townships Agriculture Association may be able to form the coordinating link in various Townships efforts at regional promotion for the centennial fair.

In all of these developments, there is heartening evidence that more and more influential people and organizations in the ET area are beginning to think seriously about taking the fullest possible advantages of the opportunities the world's fair and the centennial year itself will afford for touristic and perhaps trade improvements in this region.

It appears that it will not be long before this thought will coalesce into constructive action along several lines.

Perhaps some of the uncertainty and confusion surrounding the fair itself at this point have held up regional developments. Even viewed through the eyes of the most enthusiastic supporter, our world's fair is off to a shaky beginning.

However, in an event of this magnitude, some false starts, some preliminary backing and filling are all but inevitable. None of it can put off the coming of 1967 and the fair itself. And certainly, it should not provide any reason for cold feet at the regional level here in the Townships.

Autumn taps summer on the shoulder

The four seasons of the turning year constitute a majestic symphony, and each contributes to an entity that includes resurrection, growth, harvest and dormancy.

The music of each movement is distinctive; the music of each blends to make the rounded composition. In September, autumn taps summer on the shoulder. In September we hear the music that is building toward the grand finale of the winter tempests.

When the planets in the vast outer spaces swing into line, men skilled with graphs and charts can tell us the exact moment when the equinox occurs. Then we know that day and night are of equal length. The sun rises due east and sinks due west. The equinox is but a fleeting instant of eternity. Nature's basic law is that time shall never cease.

It is good to feel the cooler air; good to go out in the morning and see blue-black smoke rising from farm house chimneys along the road. The music of a September day includes the clear, far-carrying calls of the blue jays as they flash above the orchard, the chants of the chickadees as they explore the old Pound Sweet behind the woodshed, and the melancholy calls of the crows from elms in the meadow.

Stand on a ridge among the oaks, in the sugar grove, or among the evergreens above the pasture, and you can hear music in the leaves. When dusk deepens and lights shine from kitchen windows, owls begin to hoot from the woodland and a fox may bark from the upper field.

It is the ripe time of year. The air is filled with fragrance from wild grapes, sun-ripened grasses and drying leaves. In the midst of the ripeness that means a cycle is ending, one should listen for the music. Nature's symphony is never finished, but it always has melody that strikes a chord in the sensitive heart.

The readers say:

God didn't work through Karl Marx

Dear Sir:

Printed in the Daily Record on page four was an article that appeared in the Ottawa Journal, Church re-states fundamental truths. The editorial said "the congress in which even Karl Marx could be praised has accepted the 20th Century."

Did God work through Karl Marx and Lenin?

I shall not take time to tell you about Karl Marx. Karl Marx had no love for religion - the Christian religion that is, and in his book Das Kapital he jokes about the blood of Christ which I would call blasphemy.

The Bible says that grace and truth came by Jesus Christ, and that Jesus Christ came to seek and to save that which was lost.

The Bible is the word of God. Marxism isn't. Marx lived off other people's labor like a leech. Some one has said, that the Communists have said they will pull God off his throne.

There is no freedom from sin and the devil through Lenin.

Show me the drunkard that lost his thirst for drink and loved the Bible and went to church each Sunday because he had read Marx.

Name me one harlot that was restored to pure womanhood again because she had read Karl Marx, and she hated her sin and wanted to be pure again.

The writer has witnessed the transforming power of the Son of God. Paul the Apostle could say that he lived by faith of the Son of God. Paul was a sinner, until Christ made him a new creature. Yes, and you can find others who can tell you what the Lord Jesus has done for them too.

You know, Mr. Editor these things were not done in a corner.

He that hath the Son hath life.

The writer listens in each Sunday afternoon at four thirty to the Salvation Army broadcast, and rejoices what Christ can do for men and women who call upon Him.

Marx lived off labor of others like a leech, and you know that Godless Communism enslaves men. But Christ sets men free of sin. Take the sales girl who was converted at one of D. L. Moody's meetings. Before she was saved she was dishonest, but afterward a change took place.

One day a customer came in to buy some merchandise and said to Anna "Is this a genuine article?"

Anna answered, "before Mr. Moody's meetings it would have been, but, since then I must tell you it is just a cheap imitation."

Thank you,

A hot issue

Argument over old age pensions: some planning, some politics

OTTAWA (TNS) — The hottest political issue in Canada today is pensions for 7,000,000 Canadian workers. Currently, it dominates the Ontario Provincial election campaign. It will also dominate all business when Parliament resumes on Sept. 30.

And, by next year, it could force the Liberal Government to spring an election and seek a majority mandate for its controversial Canada Pension Plan.

What is this hassle — this pension race — all about?

Three pension plans are being bootied about on the hustings in the Ontario election campaign. Each contains a certain amount of plan — and a great deal more of politics.

The Canada Pension Plan, brainchild of the Ottawa Liberals, is a pay-as-you-go plan. This means that this year's pensions are paid out of this year's contributions from the work-force. There is no attempt to build up a huge pension fund.

The Ontario Portable Pension Scheme was approved by the Ontario Legislature to go into effect in January, 1965. This is a private plan. Workers' contributions are turned over to insurance and trust companies and the like for investment. It is "funded." That means a pensioner gets out of the pension fund what he has put into it.

The third plan is the Quebec Portable Pension Plan. Premier Lesage has not disclosed the details. But it is known to be a public and funded plan. This means that the contributions, instead of going to private companies for investment, will be used by the provincial government to promote the economic growth of the province.

In the Ontario campaign, Liberal Leader Wintermeyer and New Democrat Leader Donald C. MacDonald have come out four-square for the Canada Pension Plan.

Wintermeyer has accused Conservative Premier Robarts of trying to "sabotage" this plan. MacDonald hints darkly at a Robarts-Lesage

"axis" — like the Drew-Duplessis axis of earlier days.

Premier Robarts rejects the charge he is against the federal plan. He is neither for it nor against it. He wants information. And he is going to a federal-provincial conference of premiers in Ottawa Sept. 9 to get it.

Robarts holds the key to whether or not the Canada Pension Plan is killed off. It can go ahead without Quebec, which definitely will not join because it would infringe provincial autonomy, in Quebec's view. But it cannot go ahead without both Ontario and Quebec.

Health Minister Judy LaMarsh isn't nearly as pessimistic as Mr. Wintermeyer, her fellow Liberal, on what Robarts will do. Already, she claims to see Robarts "waving the olive branch."

Assuming that all political leaders want the best possible pension deal for as many Canadians as possible. What is the irreconcilable problem?

It is not the difference in the size of the pension when the schemes reach maturity. Under the Canada Pension Plan, in full effect in 1975, a pensioner would get $175 a month. Under the Ontario plan, he would get $80, plus the Old Age Pension, going up to $75 early next year, a total of $155.

The main criticism here is that it would take a man 40 years to qualify for $155.

Both Mr. Wintermeyer and Mr. MacDonald are making a big point of the difference between $175 and $80, ignoring the $75 that all pensioners would automatically get.

Another serious clash is over the number of Canadians covered by the plans. The Canada Pension Plan covers every Canadian worker. The Ontario plan covers all workers employed by companies with 15 or more full-time employees. And they must work more than 24 hours a week and be employed continuously for six months a year.

Cost: Under the Canada Pension Plan, the size of over-all pensions will depend on the individual's average annual earnings during the years of contribution. No one will be asked to contribute more than $3.32 a month — $40 a year. The employer will match it.

In the $4,000 a year income group — the ceiling at present — employee and employer will contribute $80 in all, a contribution rate of two per cent. of the employee's average earnings.

Under the Ontario plan, several methods of financing are available. The leader is likely to be one under which employee and employer pay about the same as they would pay under the national plan.

However, the pension maximum is geared to a top salary of $4,800, requiring contributions of $48 a year, to receive $80 a month after 40 years. The pensions are at their peak for a person of 70.

The Canada Pension Plan allows people to start collecting at a smaller rate, after 65. At that age, the $4,000-a-year man could retire on $118 a month.

The Ontario Plan also aims at 70, but allows reduced pensions any time after 60. The exact figure would depend on which of several plans was being used.

Both the plans are fully portable, the first anywhere in Canada, the second anywhere in Ontario — supervised by a central pension agency.

What about widows? Under the Canada Pension Plan, the widow is cared for. She would get her own $75 pension, plus 60 per cent. of her husband's contributory pension. The widow gets nothing under the law setting up the Ontario contributory plan.

Both plans allow supplementary pensions schemes and all contributions are deductible from income tax.

Stripped down, the battle is not mainly over the competitive sizes of pensions. It is over the economic soundness of the Canada Pension Plan and the 40-year wait before

Canada in world economy

Is big business not progressive?

By CHARLES MacNAB

When it comes to big business, a surging world economy may be passing Canada by.

Even though the Canadian economy has experienced vigorous growth in the last few years, our giants have done little more than mark time.

Last year, Canada placed only four companies in Fortune Magazine's list of the 100 largest industrial companies in the world outside the U.S. (ranked according to U.S. dollar sales per year.)

The four: Massey-Ferguson, Aluminium Ltd., Canada Packers and International Nickel.

PUSHED DOWN

But even these had been pushed further down the list of 100 from their positions a year earlier. And they're all that's left of the eight places taken by Canadian companies in the 1956 list of the top 100.

It's a tough competitive race to stay on the list and in some years company sales have to grow as much as 12 per cent. just to maintain a position.

Countries like Japan, Britain and the Common Market countries have been setting a blistering pace.

Japan, for example, has placed four companies in the top 50 and 14 in the top 100 in 1962, compared to none and four respectively in 1956.

Italy has five in the top 50 in 1962 compared to one in 1956. Other Common Market countries continue to hold their ground.

Germany had 15 in the top 50 in 1962 compared to 10 in 1956. And she had 22 in the top 100 last year compared to 23 seven years ago.

DEVALUATION COST
What's setting Canadian companies back in the world race?

It's true that some of the decline last year in the U.S. dollar sales of Canadian concerns can be charged up to the devaluation of our own dollar.

But the push began back at least as far as 1956.

While the world's biggest economic gains have been made in industries like electrical equipment and appliances, electronics, chemicals and textiles, the Canadian giants score most heavily in areas like farm machinery, aluminum, food products and alcoholic beverages where the growth pace is steadier but less spectacular. Take the Tokyo Shibaura Electric Company in Japan as an example. Its sales of electrical appliances rose spectacularly to $795 million in 1962 from $650 million in 1961.

BIG SALES JUMP
Matsushita Electrical Company (Japan) showed a similar pattern with sales rising to $802 million in 1962 from $479 million in 1961.

The French-based chemical and textile company, Rhone - Poulenc, had sales of $992 million in 1962 compared to $648 million in 1961 and rose from 31st place to 15th on the list of the top 100.

Granby accepts tender

GRANBY — (Special) — A tender has been accepted by the city council here for the digging and cleaning of the water intake included in section A of the digging of the Granby Lake.

The contract was given to the LaSalle Paving Company of Victoriaville at a cost of $38,000 this being the lowest bid.

The company has offered to do the work at a cost of 95 cents per cubic yard of material taken out. According to the estimates of the engineers there are around 40,000 cubic yards of material to be taken out, thus bringing the cost of the operation to $38,000.

The digging operations started at the end of August. The other bids were given by Robert Guay, Granby at $1.45 per cubic yard; Choiniere Construction Inc. Roxton Pond, at $1.25 per cubic yard and Inter-Provincial Dredging, of Ville LaSalle at $1.12 per cubic yard.

Southern Canada Power is putting in a new power line, to supply power to Lines Brothers new factory on Lewis Street. The line will go across from the Burlington Hosiery on Carnation Street to Western Avenue, across Slack Brothers and town property, up the West Shefford road on the left hand side to the new factory now in the process of being built. To date, the steel structure is being erected at the Lines Brothers factory.

The old sheds and barns on the former Exposition Grounds were sold at public auction, August 17. These are now being demolished and removed by the buyers. The site is owned by Slack Brothers. The agreement with the Town of Waterloo required a five-year period before the land could be cleared and taken over. The five years ended July, 1963. The land is to be cleared within a month from the date of sale. The grandstand and baseball park on the Exhibition Grounds are to remain. No further change will be made unless another factory should locate on this property.

A special message to all parents of boys and girls now in high school

You can guarantee your youngster's College Education in partnership with "MY BANK"

BANK OF MONTREAL UNIVERSITY EDUCATION PROGRAMME

A comprehensive, life-insured plan for financing a college education for boys and girls now in high school

If you are like most parents with children in high school, you are probably wondering how you are going to meet the costs of financing your youngster's college education. To help parents solve this problem, the Bank of Montreal has introduced its University Education Programme—the first life-insured plan of its kind in Canada.

Under this comprehensive programme, parents, guardians and sponsors of high-school students can spread the cost of a university education over periods of up to nine years, thus keeping monthly payments to amounts they can afford without hardship. And the cost to the parent is only a fraction of the interest paid on a straight loan programme.

HOW THE PROGRAMME WORKS

Under the basic plan, the parent agrees to make monthly payments to the Bank starting, say, two years before the student enters university, and terminating one year after graduation. In return, the parent receives an annual sum from the Bank at the start of each of the four university years.

VARIANTS OF THE PLAN

Several optional plans are available under the programme, and these vary as to the number of years in which the parent wishes to make monthly payments, as well as to the amount required annually for university expenses. Plans are based on objectives ranging from $1,000 to $8,000 payable to the parent in four annual instalments.

Here is an example of how one of the basic plans can be varied to suit your needs:

OBJECTIVE: $4,000
To be paid to the parent in four annual amounts of $1,000 each
OPTIONS	YOU PAY MONTHLY	PERIODS OF PAYMENT	YOUR PAYMENTS BEGIN
Plan A	$49.55	7 years	2 years before university
Plan B	42.78	8 years	3 years before university
Plan C	37.56	9 years	4 years before university

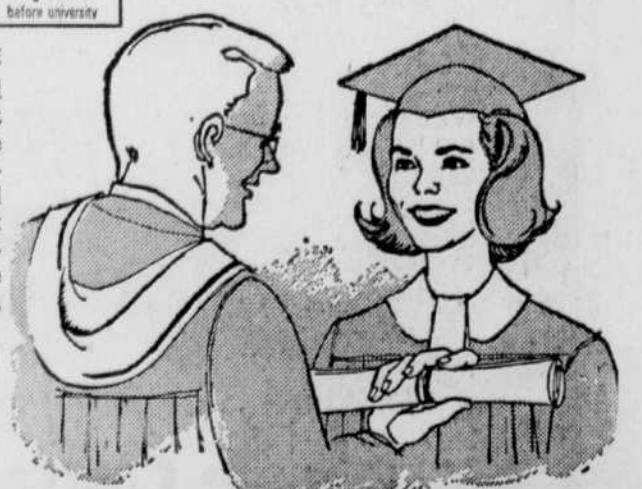

LIFE-INSURANCE FEATURE

If the parent concerned should die after the start of the programme, the funds for education specified in the agreement will be advanced by the Bank each year without any further payments being made by the family or the estate.

HOW TO JOIN THE PROGRAMME

See the people at your neighbourhood B of M branch. You will receive a warm welcome from a staff who will be pleased to give you further details and to help you select a plan suited to your needs. Ask for your copy of the Bank of Montreal University Education Programme folder.

P.S. If you need help in financing a student already in University—or planning to register this year—talk to your B of M Manager. Chances are he can arrange a tuition loan with extended payments adapted to your circumstances.

Care of woollens

Here are a few tips on the care of woollen garments:

Brush them . . . with a good long-bristled brush. Try to do this after each wearing; dirt abrasion makes fabrics wear out sooner. Never use a harsh brush. Let mud dry before brushing.

Hang them properly . . . on a shaped wooden hanger that fits. Set shoulders squarely on hanger. Use a trouser press for trousers.

Give 'em air . . . at least overnight. Air helps wool spring back into shape. And try not to crush clothes in the closet.

Let 'em rest . . . even rugged British woollens need it! If possible rotate suits.

Pockets need pampering too . . . don't leave them loaded down when you're not wearing the suit.

Treat stains promptly . . . they may injure wool fibres. Tell the cleaner what caused the stain, or if you tackle it yourself, use a cleaning agent that's made for the specific stain.

Don't "toast" wet woools . . . dry them away from direct heat.

Hats and hairdos may meet in Paris

PARIS — (NEA) — Hats and hairdos should be as companionable as strawberries and cream, but in recent seasons they've been in enemy camps.

Chic chapeaux ruined chic but extravagant coiffures; hats were disappearing from the Paris fashion scene. The battle wasn't a fair one since it's easier to part with your hat than your hair.

Now that dilemma may be coming to an end.

Leading Paris modistes hope that this fall and winter no woman with pretensions to smartness will go hatless. There is talk of a gentleman's agreement with the master hairdressers to launch hair styles which won't be wrecked by any kind of hat. If this comes to pass, the hat designers are ready with their half of the bargain.

Paris chapeaux for the fall go all out for the carefree, youthful look. For informal wear, designers have produced snugly-fitted hoods, anchored by trailing scarf ends wound around the neck. These come in solid colored jerseys, velvet and light-weight tweeds.

To top off the towering collars which are one of the star features of the new fall silhouette, hats have also acquired considerable height. Crowns are conical, squared and sugar-loaf shaped, with minute brims. And there are astronauts' helmets, floppy draped berets and a variety of turbans.

Few women will be able to resist the evening hats which include fluttering ostrich "wigs," turbans in gossamer laces and a new interpretation of the nose veil in the shape of a diadem.

Leading colors for daytime are emerald green, ruby, beige and off-white. For formal wear, white, black and orchid pink are in the lead.

Chinchilla, mink, broadtail and fox share honors with felt and fabric.

If the hair stylists come through as expected, the ladies can again happily buy a new chapeau as an antidote to the doldrums.

Beauty Tips

Meaningful Myth

Myth or no, the stories about the Southern belle who dodged the sun are worth considering. She maintained her peaches and cream complexion while her less fortunate cousins saw their skin become rough and leathery after years of exposure to the sun.

Pound cake of sterling quality

One of the most popular and versatile cakes is the plain pound cake. It can be varied by using different kinds of flavoring each time it is baked, by serving it plain, or with ice cream and frozen or canned fruit — or whatever berries are in season.

Pound cake owed its initial popularity to the days when dear old grandmother had nowhere to run out and buy a cake when guests dropped in unexpectedly. Cakes that kept moist for several days were her standby.

This recipe for Pound Cake Ring, like grandmother's, makes one large cake to serve many people. Two ingredients not usually associated with the modern pound cake are included — finely chopped almonds and rosewater. The rosewater, that grandmother probably kept in the kitchen cupboard, is quite expensive and can be bought from a drug store.

This cake keeps well in a closely covered container and is good to have on hand for spur-of-the-moment use such as a partner for cooling summer drinks, summer fruits and cold desserts. It also serves well in place of short-cake to top with berries and whipping cream.

POUND-CAKE RING
(Yield — 1 ring cake)
2 3/4 cups once-sifted all-purpose flour or
3 1/2 cups once-sifted pastry flour
1 teaspoon baking powder.
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 pound (2 cups) butter or margarine.
2 cups fine granulated sugar
8 eggs (at room temperature)
1/2 cup finely-chopped blanched almonds
1 teaspoon vanilla

Polly's pointers

by Polly Cramer

DEAR POLLY — When you are traveling, keep a large safety pin attached to the lining of your purse. If you slip your rings or watch on the pin when you wash your hands, you will not run the risk of leaving the jewelry behind. — MARY.

DEAR POLLY — After the recent birth of my baby, I found I had neither the time nor the energy for those necessary exercises to slim my waistline back to its normal 24 inches. I discovered a trick that is doing it in a painless way. I stretched my clothes-line as tight as possible and high enough up so that I can only reach it by really stretching. It is necessary to bend down to the washbasket and then stretch up to hang the clothes. My baby is 7 weeks old and I have only one more inch to go. Mrs. G. W.

GIRLS — This seems like a painless way to exercise and, if your doctor approves, you might lose inches without losing time. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — So that my wife could have all her accessories in one place, I made her an accessory or boutique closet. This closet had one shelf for hats which I did not remove. I made three new shelves and inserted them about 18 inches apart. On one, she places blouses and skirts, on the next are scarves, handkerchiefs and gloves. Below that she has lingerie, hosiery and her jewelry box. On the underside of the bottom shelf, I placed big cup hooks on which she hangs purses and belts. The belts are buckled so they do not touch the floor. She no longer keeps me waiting while she hunts for this and that. With a place for everything, she keeps everything just where it belongs. — J. R.

DEAR POLLY — I want to share my favorite money saver. I had a pet plastic purse that was large and roomy, just the thing for a working gal. The purse stayed in very good shape but the handle broke several times and finally was beyond repair. I decided to fix a new handle with a narrow short length of belt. I slipped it through the holders at each end and buckled it as you would around your waist. The purse wore out three belts in this way. Now I buy new purses with metal holders in the top and not on the sides. I have got belts that match about any color purse I have wanted to buy. — MRS. M. L. P.

GIRLS — With the belt slipped through the holders and buckled, the belt handle would be double. Stitch at each side 1/4 inch above the holder to hold it in place. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — This tip works well in my family. I have the children turn down a cuff on each of their socks or anklets before they put them on. This prevents the top from stretching out of shape. — MRS. J. T.

DEAR POLLY — Here is an unusual idea for a successful children's party. Give each child the same amount of play money. Have an auction with your child's outgrown toys. This goes over big and the children are thrilled with the toys they "buy." Everyone goes home with a few things. The excitement the children enjoy is worth watching. — MRS. G. F.

DEAR POLLY — These good ideas are my mother's. A quick trip to town sometimes creates a problem when you have no change for the parking meter. Mother keeps a handful of small change in the glove compartment. She includes enough for a telephone call home, from the nearest phone booth, in an emergency. We are quite a traveling family so mother puts in our suitcases, stamped, addressed post cards. In each suitcase she fastens a five-dollar bill. In case a wallet or purse is lost or stolen, we have enough to tide us over until funds arrive from home. — M. V.

WHAT A MOM! — POLLY

Fashion's newest and most comfortable craze is the glamorous long skirt designed for the knowing hostess . . . here we see it in a bold abstract cotton print. A modest black top adds glamour for at-home entertaining.

The schools step in

What is mama doing these days?

Obviously, she isn't exercising her right and responsibility to teach her children how to dress properly, behave in a socially acceptable manner, and in general to act like young ladies and gentlemen.

If she were, schools wouldn't have to be making rules for the proper dress, make-up and hair styles for their students.

Yet many schools are being forced to take on what was once the job of mothers—seeing that young people arrive at school looking like students instead of beatniks or movie stars made up for the camera. — Some wear skirts so short and sweaters so tight that school authorities consider them decidedly unladylike.

In Haverhill, Mass., for example, a dress code has been decided on by the Haverhill High School Student Council and approved by the Administrative Council, to take effect in September. It outlaws the improper dress for both boys and girls that mothers never should have let teenagers wear the first place.

On the forbidden list for boys are such inappropriate-for-school clothes as peg style, tight-fitting trousers, soiled or wrinkled trousers, sneakers and sweatshirts.

The girls aren't to wear sneakers, skirt lengths above midknee, shorts, tight sweaters or skirts, or culottes. Nor will they be allowed to wear such extreme hair styles as beehives or wigs. Heavy make-up and eye shadow are "out," too.

The students at this school have been given lists of what isn't acceptable for school wear, so that they and their parents will know what is right and proper and what isn't.

But it's a black eye for mothers when schools have to step in and do what ought to be a mother's job.

At home cottons

The patchwork look is back in style — but with a difference.

Today the greatest patchwork going isn't quilted or pieced like that of yesteryear but printed all over cotton. In keeping with the trend to the "country look" in fashion, patchwork prints show up in vivid color combinations for casual dresses and sportswear.

Now that at-home wear has brought about the return of femininity and full-length skirts have been so readily adopted by smart women, one of the most interesting skirts to date is shown made up in this interesting patchwork fabric. The pencil-slim skirt is further enhanced by large, angled hip pockets.

Worn with a black top color-accentuated with matching patchwork print piping at the neckline and armholes. For the woman handy with a sewing machine, this ensemble is simple to make and, for complete comfort, easy-care and washability, the top could also be made of black broadcloth.

Another smart version of the patchwork dress is a red and white print with full gathered skirt, fitted bodice, and long skinny sleeves ruffled at the cuff.

Bad weather cuts attendance at annual Inverness exhibition

By WM. H. LUNAN (Special to the Record)

INVERNESS — The Megantic Agricultural Society's annual fair ended here Saturday. The three-day presentation was marred by the weather when showers and heavy rain which persisted all through Saturday held back the crowd. Gate receipts were down twenty-five per cent from last year.

Judging commenced Thursday morning in the heavy horse class, beef cattle, field and dairy products and fancy work and home cooking departments. Commencing Friday, light horses, dairy cattle, sheep, swine, and poultry, were judged, with the final reports being turned in at noon on Saturday.

The grandstand performance, Thursday evening, opened with a tug-of-war competition and closed with the showing of movies. Friday afternoon there was a bicycle contest and judging of the animals of the Young Breeder's Association. The evening entertainment saw an old time fiddler's contest, step dancing contest and a square dance contest. The first event was won by Almen Connolly of St. Pierre de Broughton, the next by Albert Curteau of St. Pierre de Broughton and the last by Henry Landry of St. Antoine.

Saturday's program started with the parade, in front of the grandstand, of registered horses and cattle. Due to the storm which broke out, the crowd moved into the main building, where the baby contest was held. The crowning of the queen and a barn dance was held in the evening, in the main building.

A horse pulling contest was held on the grounds, Sunday afternoon, to close the year's activities.

LIVESTOCK DIVISION Beef cattle entries were 383, up 35 from the previous year. Entries in other classes were average. For the first time, entries were accepted in all departments from any part of the Province.

Taking the lead was Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Abbott of the Abbott Farm, Vercheres, Quebec. Their herd of registered dual purpose Shorthorns won them ten firsts.

First in the registered short-horns, class "F", bull, 3 years or over was won by Kenneth MacKenzie.

Herbert Taylor of Danville took seven firsts in class "G", registered Hereford.

In the grade beef cattle, G. W. Girouard took firsts, in aged cow in milk; heifer, 1 year and steer calf born Jan. 1.

C. J. Wright of Thetford took top honors in Class "N", registered Hampshire sheep division and was awarded the Prescott Walker Memorial Trophy. Edgar Nugent won first in the heavy draught horses in the brood mare and foal, 1500 pounds or over, class. Hubert Cook took first place in the agriculture horses, brood mare and foal. General purpose horses, brood mare and foal was won by an entry of Guy Davidson with the driving horses, under 1150 pounds, brood mare and foal won by Albert Lamonthen and Albert

Lamontagne, first in the heavy carriage class, 1150 pounds and over.

The saddle horse class was won in three entries by Antonio Turcotte.

Roger Fortier of St. Pierre de Baptiste won the Royal Bank of Canada Trophy for his entry in the registered horses for the best gelding or mare.

In the dairy products division, Alcide Vigneault took firsts in, maple butter and maple syrup.

Mrs. J. P. Vigneault of St. Pierre de Baptiste won thirteen firsts in the class "T", ladies division while Mrs. George Pelletier took first in the cooking class "U", for loaf of white bread, two pieces in a pan.

HORTICULTURAL DIVISION The Megantic County Horticultural Society registered 535 entries, 105 in potted plants, 191 cut flowers, 75 in fruits and 164 in vegetables. There were 180 entries less than in the 1962 exhibit.

The Allan Crawford Memorial Trophy, given to the person having the most points in the horticultural division, was won for the second consecutive time by Mrs. P. E. Rodrigue of Inverness. She also won the T. Eaton Rose Bowl for having attained the most points in the flower and plant section and took the honors in the vegetable section.

Willie Longmoore placed second standing in the same sections.

The Sherbrooke Daily Record prize given in the horticultural exhibit for the "best floral design" was won by Helen Learmonth.

THE WORLD OF SPORTS

Roughriders clip Blue Bombers 15-9 as Stamps dump Edmonton 13-11 to take top spot in Western Conference

Winnipeg Blue Bombers' big problem might not be defending their Grey Cup successfully—but, rather, getting into the post-season classic without buying tickets.

The team that has represented the West five times in the past six years in the Canadian Football League final is having its problems.

Six games have gone by and the once-mighty Bombers, best of all the football teams last year, have only a 3-3 record. Saskatchewan Roughriders clinched the champs 15-9 Monday afternoon in one half of the Western Conference's Labor Day doubleheader.

Calgary Stampeders dumped the last-place Edmonton Eskimos 13-11 in the other game. The win pushed the powerful Stamps into first place, the points ahead of the idle British Columbia Lions, with a 5-1 record. After the Lions (4-1) record, after the Lions (4-1) record, after the Lions (4-1) record.

"It was a hot day and our boys were tired," said Winnipeg coach Bud Grant. "The Riders were rested and it showed—their backs were just prancing out there."

Winnipeg had enjoyed a 9-1 halftime lead and still held a 9-8 lead at the three-quarter mark.

SCORES TWO TD'S

The Riders, however, who piled up 22 first downs on 280 yards rushing and 46 yards passing, struck twice with hard-plunging rookie fullback George Reed accounting for both touchdowns.

Other Saskatchewan points came on two singles by Martin Fabi and a convert by Reg Whitehouse.

Jerry Jones scored the lone Winnipeg touchdown, George Fleming kicked a convert and a single, and Jack Delveaux booted a single.

Delveaux was one bright spot for the Bombers. He gave one of the season's greatest kicking displays, averaging 61.4 yards on seven kicks.

The Bomber offence, though, was ineffective. They made only 90 yards rushing and 125 in the air.

Halfback Bill Gray was another Roughriders standout, picking up 90 yards on 20 carries in addition to snaring three passes from quarterback Ron Lancaster.

Larry Robinson was a kicking hero for Calgary with two field goals and a convert. The lone touchdown was scored by Lovell Coleman who is tied for the league scoring lead with Nub Beamer of B.C.

Tommy-Joe Coffey took a touchdown pass for the fired-up Eskimos, Bill Mitchell kicked a field goal and a convert and Bobby Walden booted a single.

The Stamps had their hands full with the pesky Eskies and found themselves out-rushed and out-passed. Only a stout defence kept the Stamps out front.

Tom Maudlin, picked up recently from Toronto Argonauts, made his debut with Edmonton. And he looked right at home—passing, carrying the ball and handling it.

Jerry Keeling's interception at midfield paved the way to the lone Calgary touchdown. Eagle Day clicked with his throwing arm on a series and Coleman finished it off with a plunge from the one-yard line.

The Eskies made 79 yards in the air and 306 on the ground. Calgary was 71-253.

Willie Mays woozy again and Giants lose ground, drop two to Cubs as Sandy Koufax wins, Cards take two Willie Mays is woozy, and San Francisco Giants are dead.

Both collapsed during a Labor Day doubleheader at San Francisco, Mays from exhaustion and Giants from an overdose of Ron Santo's slugging and the pitching of Dick Ellsworth and Glen Hobbie.

Ellsworth became the first Chicago Cub pitcher since 1945 to post two victories by winning the opener 7-5 before Hobbie put the finishing touches on the doubleheader sweep and Giants' pennant chances with a two-hit, 6-0 second-game victory.

Santo, meanwhile, went four-for-eight with seven runs batted in for the twinnish, hitting a grand slam homer and solo shot in the nightcap as the defending champion Giants fell 9½ games behind National League leading Los Angeles Dodgers.

Dodgers remained six games in front of second-place St. Louis Cardinals, whipping Houston Colts 7-3, as Sandy Koufax won his 21st, and 7-1. Cardinals kept pace by downing Pittsburgh Pirates 6-1 and 6-2. Milwaukee Braves closed to within one-half game of Giants despite a 9-4 loss to Philadelphia Phillies and Cincinnati Reds gained a doubleheader split with New York Mets, winning the nightcap 1-0 as Jim Maloney won his 20th with a three-hitter after Mets took the opener 5-3.

DODGERS WIN

In Sunday's games, Los Angeles downed San Francisco 5-3. St. Louis whipped Philadelphia 7-3. Pittsburgh defeated Cincinnati 6-4. Chicago shaded Houston 4-3 and New York outlasted Milwaukee 6-4 in 16 innings.

On Saturday, Reds blanked Pittsburgh 6-0. St. Louis overpowered Philadelphia 7-5. Milwaukee edged New York 4-3. Chicago nipped Houston 6-5 and San Francisco downed Los Angeles 4-3.

Mays, Giants' $100,000-a-year centre fielder, suffered a dizzy spell and dropped to one knee after fouling off a pitch in the fourth inning of the opener. He was examined by Dr. E. C. Sailer and sent home to rest.

Dr. Sailer said Mays, hitting .301 with 32 homers and 88 runs batted in, should be back in action today. "He just took a little rest and felt much better," said Dr. Sailer. "He had no blurry vision or anything like that. I advised him to get some rest and prescribed a sedative."

A year ago this month, Mays collapsed at Cincinnati as Giants battled for the pennant. He dedicated himself to training.

was out for three days. At the end of the season, Mays underwent extensive hospital tests which showed that nothing was wrong with his health.

FIELDERS COLLIDE
Ellsworth, a 20-game loser last year, brought his record to 20-7 in the opener with Lindy McDaniel's relief help. Cubs snapped a tie in the fifth with three runs—two on a fly by Billy Williams that fell in for a double when shortstop Jose Pagan and left fielder Cap Peterson collided. In the nightcap, Hobbie, 6-9, allowed only a third inning single by Felipe Alou and a triple by Willie McCovey in the ninth.

Koufax, 21-5, struck out 13 for a 25th total, moving to within 10 strikeouts of his own season record for a left hander. Dodgers put it away with a four-run fourth in which Tommy Davis and Frank Howard contributed doubles and Willie Davis smacked a triple. Johnny Podres, 12-10, and Ron Perranoski held Colts to five hits in the second game while John Roseboro hit a two-run homer.

Cards won both ends of a doubleheader for the first time this season behind the strong pitching of Bob Gibson, 15-8, and Ron Taylor, 9-6. Gibson checked Pirates on seven hits and hit a homer while Ken Boyer and George Altman homered behind Taylor.

Patterson has no chance with present setup
TORONTO (CP)—Cus D'Amato doesn't think Floyd Patterson, former world heavyweight boxing champion, has much of a chance on the comeback trail unless he shakes off the "distracting bumps" who influence him.

"He is influenced by people," D'Amato said in an interview Wednesday. "Who are filled with greed and who, in their greed, have killed the goose that poached the golden eggs."

D'Amato, for the record, is Patterson's manager. But his influence has waned and now only extends to getting one-third of the boxer's purse.

"Floyd's major mouthpiece is Julius November," he said. "November is a lawyer who kept Floyd in a state of confusion before both fights with advised him to get some rest and prescribed a sedative."

A year ago this month, Mays collapsed at Cincinnati as Giants battled for the pennant. He dedicated himself to training.

CHUCK MCKINLEY ADVANCES IN US SINGLES DUEL

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Concern over Chuck McKinley's aching back was eased Monday when the top-seeded ace from San Antonio, Tex., straining himself only as much as necessary, swept into the third round of the United States tennis championships.

Serving at a three-quarter pace and babying his overhauled, chunky Wimbledon king eased Jiri Javorsky of Czechoslovakia 6-2, 6-4, 6-3.

"I felt twinges of pain but I was much better all around," McKinley said after less than an hour on the centre court at the West Side Tennis Club. "It could serve better and I didn't have as much trouble moving."

Javorsky lacked the guns to put McKinley to a real test. McKinley, chief hope to bring the United States its first American championship since 1955 and recover the Davis Cup from Australia, tore a muscle in his lower back in his opening round match against Eduardo Zuleta of Ecuador Saturday and he was lucky to survive in five sets.

McKinley was joined in the third round by Ham Richardson, former Davis cup player from Dallas, Tex., who mowed down Eric Drossart of Belgium, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2.

In two second-round men's matches halted Sunday by darkness, fifth-seed Ken Fletcher won a marathon five-setter from Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn 7-5, 9-7, 7-9, 4-6, 6-3 and Charlie Pasarell 10th-ranked U.S. player from Puerto Rico, defeated Clark Graebner of Shaker Heights, Ohio, 6-3, 6-3, 6-8, 7-5.

D'Amato was asked about Patterson's tactics in the two Liston fights. He was knocked out in the first round each time. "Patterson's mistakes were basic ones," he replied. "He could have beat Liston two ways—one, by staying in close where he couldn't get hit, or two, by punching and then getting out to long range."

SLICING THE MELON

Als dump Ottawa, Ticats win over Argos

If Montreal Alouettes missthe Als to two wins in succession, seems to have the powerful Montreal backfield functioning.

The Alouettes, who floundered twice with Stephens, are bouncing along with Bubba Marriot—the man who took over when quarterback Stephens was suspended recently for being overweight.

The pre-season favorites looked like the team they were supposed to be Monday as they rolled to a 37-15 win over Ottawa Rough Riders and second place in the standings.

In the second game of the EFC's Labor Day program, Hamilton Tiger-Cats protected their lead by turning a last-quarter interception into a touchdown in a 7-1 win over Toronto Argonauts.

After the holiday action, the Ticats were on top with a 3-2 record, Montreal was 2-2, Ottawa 1-3 and Toronto 1-4.

Marriot, who now has guided riotti pass, scored an Ottawa touchdown and halfback Ron Stewart also crossed the line.

Tackle Moe Racine converted both and rookie Rick Black booted a single.

The Argos point, a single off a field goal attempt by Don Fuell late in the first quarter, held up until the final quarter. Garney Henley intercepted a Toronto pass and ran 59 yards before being knocked out of the game.

Jamie Caley took one rush, gained a yard then crashed over from the two for the touchdown. Dave Viti kicked the convert.

Dixon's big day gave him a career total of 3,924 yards rushing with the Als, bettering Abbruzzi's mark of 3,749 set in the mid-50s. His long gallop wiped out the previous record of 106 yards held by Clark.

Chris Williamson walks off with two-mile event in CNE Track Meet, four records set in classy event

TORONTO (CP)—It may have been Labor Day to the rest of the country, but it was Chris Williamson Day for a slight young man from New Brunswick.

Williamson, 19, firmly established himself as an international distance-running threat Monday by taking the two-mile event in eight minutes, 55.1 seconds at the Canadian National Exhibition's invitational track meet.

The young fellow from Fredericton, who moved to Toronto this summer to take advantage of Fred Foot's coaching, topped an international field which included Toronto ace Bruce Kidd, also a Foot protegee.

His performance, on an afternoon which saw four Canadian open, one native and three age-class marks shattered, made him the outstanding competitor in the meet.

Another major upset came in the 880 yards when unknown Dave McClure of Toronto East York whipped United States half-mile champion Jim Dupree.

But the pole vault, heralded as the feature event, fell short of its pre-meet buildup. Even though a Canadian open record of 16 feet, one inch was set, it was a far cry from the 17-foot leap made 10 days ago by John Pennel. His pending world mark is 17 feet, three-quarters of an inch.

Pennel, from Northeast Louisiana State, took one jump at 15 feet, one at 16-1 then boosted the bar to 17-1½. His first attempt was foiled when he twisted sideways going over and brushed the bar with his chest. He knocked it off on the way up on the second two tries.

John Uelses of Philadelphia and Dave Tork of Fairmont, West Virginia, didn't fare too well either. Uelses couldn't

BC Lions have produced fine crop of 1963 Canadian players, four are in lineup with others standing by VANCOUVER (CP)—By good management and good fortune, British Columbia Lions have produced a fine 1963 crop of Canadian football rookies.

Two are first-string players, another stands right behind quarterback Joe Kapp in the coach's estimation, and the fourth is a place-kicking specialist of a calibre previously unknown to the club.

Previously good Canadian players have been misplaced, traded away and under-rated by Lions, but this group by all standards deserves a happier fate in the Western Football Conference.

Paul Seale, a starting 215-pound corner line-backer, was picked for Lions from his high school days. Bill Lasseater accidentally got a chance to run offensive half-back and has stayed on the lineup.

As understudy to Kapp, Pete Ohler has bumped one quarter-back right off the club and has made it unnecessary for Lions to dress an import reserve. Peter Kempf climbed into the place-kicking job after trying several other spots without much success.

All four are from Vancouver. Lasseater is 21, Seale and Ohler both 22, and Kempf 23.

FINE RECORD

The best college football career ever chalked up by a Vancouver product is the record Seale brings to his line-backer spot. He was a junior All-American at offensive end for Wenatchee, Wash., and went on to play defensive end for Oregon State.

"We figured him first string from the start," says defensive coach Jim Champion. "He studies his position and opponents, he's quick, he recognizes situations. He's a dream as a Canadian."

Whitey Ford wins 20th, Mickey Mantle back

It was only Labor Day, but it had all the looks of a World Series tune-up for New York Yankees.

Whitey Ford won seven innings plus in posting his 20th victory and Mickey Mantle was back in the starting lineup.

It happened in Detroit Monday as Yankees held onto their American League cushion of an even dozen games with a doubleheader split against Tigers.

Ford became a 20-game winner for the second time in his 12-season career in the opener, taken by Yanks 5-4. Mantle was a starter for the first time since June 5 in the second game, a 2-1 squeaker won by Tigers behind lefthander Hank Aguirre's neat pitching.

J. C. Martin's two-run double in the last of the ninth inning gave Chicago's second-place White Sox an 8-7 decision over Los Angeles Angels and a doubleheader split against Angels. Los Angeles ripped off 15 hits in capturing the opener 7-5.

Minnesota Twins put on another power show and climbed to within one-half game of White Sox by knocking off Kansas City Athletics twice, 6-2 and 3-1. Boston Red Sox dropped Baltimore Orioles in a pair, 4-3 as Bill Monbouquette won his 19th and 3-0 on the five-hit pitching of rookie Bob Heffner; Cleveland Indians and Washington Senators blasted 12 homers in the opener 15-3 and Senators squeezing by in the second game 8-7.

WIN PAIR

In Sunday's games Cleveland swept a doubleheader over Detroit 6-3 and 3-1, New York edged Baltimore 5-4 Chicago whipped Minnesota 8-3, Boston shaded Washington 4-3 and Kansas City nipped Washington 7-6.

On Saturday Detroit out-slugged Cleveland 9-8, Chicago blanked Minnesota 2-0, Kansas City trounced Los Angeles 7-0, New York downed Baltimore 5-3 and Boston defeated Washington 5-4.

Mantle, out of action completely for two months with a broken foot and resultant knee trouble, had been confined to pinch hitting before his start in centre field in Monday's second game. Mantle's loss hadn't been felt by Yanks—except perhaps at the gate—but they'd feel a lot safer with the switch-hitting slugger in prime shape for the World Series.

Mantle rapped two singles against Aguirre, who stifled several threats in turning in an eight-hitter. Tigers overcame a 1-0 deficit with their two runs in the third inning against Stan Williams on Bill Bruton's double, Dick McAuliff's bunt single, a sacrifice fly by Al Kaline and Rocky Colavito's single.

Joe Pepitone's three-run homer against Frank Lary in the fifth inning of the opener broke a 2-2 tie and powered Ford to his 20th victory.

Angels stopped Gary Peters' winning string at 11 games by holding off White Sox in the 12th inning of the second game, while Lee Stange pitched a five-hitter for Minnesota.

Homers by Larry Brown, Max Alvis, John Romano and Joe Adcock drove across 10 Indian runs in their rout of Senators, then Don Zimmer, Ed Brinkman, Jim King and pitcher Ed Hoag homered in Washington's narrow victory. Alvis and Joe Azcue also connected for Cleveland in the second game, while pitcher Don Rudolph and Don Lock had Washington homers in the opener.

Jack Kralick went the distance for Cleveland in the first game but the Tribe used seven pitchers in the second.

Ed Bressoud's two-run triple in the seventh inning and Dick Radatz' relief pitching helped Monbouquette to his 9th victory.

Maple Leafs finally win playoff spot after shaky start, knock over Richmond to clinch second place

Toronto Maple Leafs, at one time 16½ games behind the International League northern division leader and deep in the division basement, clinched a long second-half drive by winning a playoff spot Monday, final day of the regular season.

Toronto defeated Richmond Virginians 3-1 at Toronto to clinch second place and the final playoff spot.

Their opponent in the best-of-seven semi-final won't be known until tonight when Indianapolis Indians and Atlanta Crackers meet in a one-game sudden-death playoff at Indianapolis to decide the southern division championship.

Maple Leafs will meet the loser and Syracuse Chiefs, northern division winners, will meet the winner.

Crackers and Indians tied for the division lead Monday night when Atlanta defeated Columbus Jets 2-0 and Indianapolis split with Arkansas Travelers, losing 13-2 and winning the second game 4-1.

Rochester Red Wings, who would have tied Toronto for second place if Toronto had lost and they had won, kept the pressure on by defeating Syracuse 7-2.

Buffalo Bisons were 8-7 winners over Jacksonville Suns. Sunday, Syracuse defeated Richmond twice, 6-1 and 7-4. Toronto split with Richmond, losing 1-0 and winning 3-2. Columbus split with Atlanta, winning the first game 6-4 and losing 1-0, and Indianapolis defeated Arkansas 6-1 and Jacksonville defeated Buffalo 5-4 in single games.

Saturday, Toronto also split with Richmond, winning the second game 6-1 and losing 3-2. Columbus defeated Atlanta 3-1 and 11-1. Buffalo shut out Jacksonville 7-0. Syracuse defeated Rochester 4-2 and Indianapolis defeated Arkansas 10-5.

Jim Hannan was the Toronto hero Monday, pitching no-hit ball for four innings and ending with a five-hitter. Richmond's only run came on Don Buddin's seventh-inning homer.

Lou Jackson doubled in one run for Toronto in the first inning and Maple Leafs wrapped it up in the fifth when, after two were out, Tony Washington tripled, Mack Jones doubled, and Jim McKnight singled.

Dick Hughes, with help from Riverboat Smith and Bob Humphreys, set down Jets for Atlanta, while their mates were held to only four hits off three Columbus pitchers.

Indianapolis took a 17-hit bombing from Arkansas before rallying to win the second game.

Pittsburgh — Johnny Morris, 162, knocked out Jimmy Becham, 155, Philadelphia, 4, 1963.

Don Clark and Caleb tie for scoring honors

Montreal Alouettes' Don Clark and Jamie Caleb of Hamilton Tiger-Cats moved into a three-way tie with Dick Shatto of Toronto Argonauts for the Eastern Football Conference scoring lead Monday.

Clark collected two touchdowns in Als' 37-15 win over Ottawa Rough Riders and Caleb got a one in Ticats' 7-1 victory over Toronto. The three leaders now have 24 points each off four touchdowns.

Riders' Ron Stewart scored one touchdown to jump into second place among the scorers with 18 points. He is one point ahead of teammate Moe Racine, Bobby Jack Oliver of Hamilton and Don Sutherland of Hamilton, all tied with identical records of seven converts, three field goals and a single.

CAUTION

《SCHOOL'S OPEN!》DRIVE WITH EXTRA CARE!

DRIVE CAREFULLY

KEEP THEM SMILING...

DON'T LET TRAGEDY STRIKE

DRIVE EXTRA CAREFULLY around schools and playgrounds! Be on the lookout for children when they walk to and from school! Your vacation from school children is over now!

• BE ON THE ALERT when you are near a school bus. Of course, they have to obey all traffic rules! But, give buses a break anyway... they carry a priceless cargo!

• PARENTS NEVER STOP TELLING children about the many traffic dangers! Only then can we hope to reduce traffic fatalities! One out of seven fatalities involves a school-child! One out of ten fatal accidents is caused by a teen-age driver!

• DRIVERS DON'T HURRY when you drive! We may as well face it! We cannot reduce traffic casualties unless we slow down! Their lives are in the hands holding your steering wheel. The minute you may save, isn't worth the life of a school child!

• HAVE YOUR CAR CHECKED by an expert! Any car that is not in perfect mechanical condition is a potential murder weapon! The few dollars you spend may save a life!

• PULL OFF THE ROAD when you're tired, and take a nap! DON'T DRIVE at all when you've had a drink! Drowsiness and drinking are responsible for most fatal accidents!
