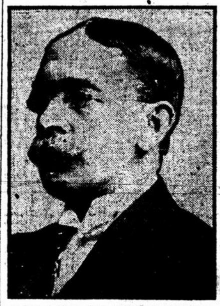
DEATH REMOVES NOTED DIPLOMAT OF BRITISH SERVICE

Sir Eldon Gorst, Who Succeeded Lord Cromer in Egypt, Had Notable Record.



THE LATE SIR ELDON GORST.

Special to the Montreal Star.

London, July 12.—Sir Eldon Gorst, for many years prominent in the Government of Egypt, and for four years British Agent and Consul-General in that country, died here to-day.

He was born in New Zealand, in 1861, and entered the diplomatic service in 1885. He was Controller of direct taxes to the Egyptian Government in 1890; Under-Secretary of State for Finance in 1892; adviser to the Ministry of the Interior, in 1894; financial adviser to the Egyptian Government from 1898 to 1904; Assistant-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs from 1904 to 1907, and from the latter year to a few days ago, British Agent and Consul-General in Egypt.

He was knighted in 1902. His father, the Right Hon. Sir John Eldon Gorst, M.A., LL.D., F.R.S., K.C., represented Cambridge University in Parliament from 1892 to 1906, and contested Preston in the general elections last year.

His Late Illness.

Sir Eldon Gorst, K.C.B., who has acted as British Agent in Egypt since the Earl of Cromer's retirement in 1907, left the East early in April to undergo a cure in Italy. On his arrival there, however, the doctors recommended him to proceed to England, and on the 17th of the month he left for London. Ten days later he underwent an operation in a West-end nursing home, and was removed to the Wiltshire seat of his father, Sir John Gorst. Sir John Gorst remained at Castle Combe with his son, and cancelled his Coronation engagements.

Sir Eldon Gorst, began his diplomatic career in Egypt as an attache when he was 26 years old. Excepting only his immediate predecessor, he was the world's best posted authority on Egypt and its divers problems, and this intricate knowledge he obtained by working himself up step by step in the Egyptian service. "Johnnie" Gorst, as he was familiarly known in the land of the Pharoahs, was Cromer's right-hand man for years, and because a Liberal Government could find no one in its party skilled enough to handle Egyptian affairs it perforce gave Cromer's position to Gorst, a thorough Conservative in sentiment and in deeds.

Relations with France.

He was well known in France, for it was he who, after prolonged negotiations at Paris, succeeded in effecting an agreement between the French and English governments, according to the terms of which the former abandoned her constructive policy in the Land of the Nile, especially in connection with the International Commission of the Debt, thereby rendering available for urgently needed public works in Egypt the surplus of the annual revenue. In fact, it was Sir Eldon who attended to all the Egyption phases of the modus vivendi between England and France, by the terms of which all the differences between the two nations were satisfactorily compromised. As a reward for his services in the matter, Sir Eldon was appointed Assistant Under Secretary of State of the Foreign Office in London, a post which he abandoned to take Lord Cromer's place at Cairo. He was married to the daughter and heiress of C. D. Rudd, one of the South African multi-millionaires, and was a most capable and brilliant man, without that cynicism and tendency to biting sarcasm which renders his wonderfully clever father so generally unpopular. Indeed, his father, Sir John, was forced to give up his seat in the Unionist Cabinet as Minister of Education, owing to the impossibility of his agreeing with any one of his colleagues, each becoming in turn the butt of his uncontrollable, sardonic and rankling wit. Sir John began life as a missionary in New Zealand, where he was in turn newspaper editor, magistrate, soldier employed in the suppression of the Maori insurrection, etc., and afterwards Solicitor General in England, Under Secretary of State, and Minister of the Crown.

Sir Eldon was born in New Zealand, entered the diplomatic service, and on receiving his appointment as third secretary of legation immediately joined Lord Cromer's staff, being subsequently transferred to duty under the Egyptian government, serving in succession as Under Secretary of State for Finance at Cairo, as British adlatus to the Minister of Interior, and finally as financial adviser to the Egyptian government, a lucrative office which gave him a seat in the Egyptian Cabinet as a representative in the latter of England's views and wishes. He was firm and at the same time conciliatory, and was acquainted with every detail of the administration of the Egyptian government and of its relation with the Sublime Porte and with the foreign powers.

Mr. E. G. Lewis, recently a publisher of magazines and promoter of enterprises, at St. Louis, Mo., has been indicted charged with fraudulent use of the mails.

INFANT MORTALITY NINETY-SIX PER CENT OF TOTAL DEATHS

Relief Has Come, However, by To-day's Break in the Hot Spell.

Temperature.

To-day at noon, 82 degrees.
Yesterday at noon, 92 degrees.

Infant Mortality.

July 1 to 12, 454 deaths, being 96 per cent. of the total deaths in the city.

The appreciable fall in the temperature is withholding the hand of death from many suffering children in the city. The officials in the Health Department were given pleasant evidence of this fact this morning, when there were fewer registrations of death.

Up to noon ninety-six per cent. of the deaths which had been reported since July 1 were those of infants under five years of age, the actual figures being: Total deaths, 473: infants, 454.

For the first eight days of the month, 432 deaths were reported, including 324 children under five years or just seventy-five per cent of the total.

Since Saturday, there have been 171 additional deaths registered at the City Hall, and of this number no fewer than 130 were young children, bringing up the infant mortality to the disquieting proportion of 96.12 per cent. of the total death rate for July as far as the month has advanced.

Dr. Ward who has charge of the statistical details of the department, had not the figures of last year available to-day. They are in the hands of the printer who is preparing the medical officers' report for the past year. But it is known that the infant mortality for the month, as far as it has gone, is certainly much lighter than that of the corresponding period of 1910.

In July, 1909, the deaths of children under five years were 69.84 per cent. of the whole.

In August, 1909, the infant mortality was 66.04 per cent. of the total deaths; and in September had dropped to 59.94 per cent., which was then about ten per cent. above normal.

In June of the present year, it is calculated that the infant mortality was fifty per cent. of the total deaths, so that there has been an alarming jump of forty-six per cent. since June 30.

Drop in Temperature.

A welcome change has come about in the atmospheric conditions to-day, the temperature at noon standing ten degrees lower than at the corresponding hour yesterday. To-day there is also a refreshing breeze blowing. The percentage of humidity is considerably lower than yesterday McGill records gave the temperature at 8 a.m. as 75.6 degrees, and at 11 a.m., 79.3. Humidity at 5 a.m. was 77 per cent., at 8 a.m. it was 56, and at 11 a.m., 42.

Hearn & Harrison's record gave the maximum temperature up to noon at 82 degrees and the minimum 67.

Hearn and Harrison's thermometer this afternoon registered a maximum of 88 degrees.

COMMANDER OF THE RAINBOW LEAVING

Returning to England Because His Wife Does Not Like Living in Esquimault.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Victoria, B.C., July 12.—Commander J. W. W. Stewart, of H. M. C. S. Rainbow, relinquishes his command on July 30, and will be relieved by Commander Walter Hose, whom the Dominion Government has borrowed for two years from the British Admiralty. Commander Stewart returns to England.

In connection with the above, an Ottawa despatch says:—

The resignation of Commander Stewart of H. M. C. S. Rainbow it is stated here, is dictated purely by domestic reasons. Hon. Mr. Brodeur, questioned regarding the matter at Quebec, is quoted as saying that the Commander gave up the post because his wife did not like Esquimault as a place to live in, and not because of any dissatisfaction with the conditions obtaining in the Canadian Navy

ORANGEMEN GATHER IN FORCE AT HULL

Many Thousand on Parade and Everything Promises to Be Orderly.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Hull, July 12.—Orange lodges from Wright and Pontiac Counties, with a sprinkling from Ottawa and vicinity, are in Hull to-day, to the number of about three thousand, celebrating the Twelfth of July. The parade was scheduled for 2.30 p.m. this afternoon. This morning Hull citizens watched quietly the marching of the lodges to Laurentian Place, where the rendezvous of the Orangemen is located. Everything was very orderly.

Chief Chevalier, of the Hull police force, while not anticipating any trouble, had a number of special constables sworn in. An invitation was sent to Mayor Archambault to be present at the parade, but he declined. He said he had no objection to the picnic, but only to the parade.

Thousands also gathered at Pembroke, Carleton Place, St. Catharines, and other points, where enthusiastic celebrations were held.

HELIGOLAND IS TO BE FORTIFIED BY GERMANY

Special to The Montreal Star.

Berlin, July 12.—The Government has decided to fortify the Island of Heligoland, which was ceded to her by Great Britain some twenty years ago. The Island has attracted considerable attention in the past year or two, because of the arrest of British and French officers on charges of espionage in that vicinity.

At one time it was said Germany would abandon it altogether, and it was afterwards announced that visitors would be restricted to the open plateau which would have ruined the place as a summer resort.

According to the latest plans, it will be a regular military station under the control of army officers.

Canadians at Port Sunlight.

Canadian Associated Press.

London, July 12.—The Dominion Parliament representatives were entertained at Port Sunlight yesterday, by Sir W. Lever.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell, in expressing thanks for the cordiality of their welcome said he had travelled all over the United States and Canada, and had found no place in which the working classes had houses so cleanly and comfortable in appearance as at Port Sunlight.

LORD STRATHCONA GIVING A GARDEN PARTY AT DEBDEN

In Honor of Visiting Canadian Senators and Members of Parliament.

BUT SOME CONSIDER IT IN NATURE OF FAREWELL

Statement Made Indicating High Commissioner Has Not Yet Resigned Office.

By special Cable from our own Correspondent.

London, July 12.—Lord and Lady Strathcona have issued invitations to a garden party at Debden, their beautiful country home in Essex, for Monday next. The party is in honor of visiting Canadian Senators and members of Parliament, but is regarded by many Canadians as a kind of farewell.

There are, however, others who point out that Sir Wilfrid Laurier did not say that Lord Strathcona had resigned or that his resignation would be accepted if proffered All the Premier said was that Lord Strathcona had given him notice that advancing age and still more, the order of his physician, would compel him at an early date to relinquish the position.

As a matter of fact Lord Strathcona has said much the same thing to Sir Wilfrid Laurier several times before. Hence the expression of the hope that His Lordship may be induced to retain the office which he seems as well fitted to occupy as at any time this past ten years and in which he cannot possibly be replaced.

One who speaks with especial authority says on this point:—

"To maintain the traditions of the position, as established under the present regime, require not only a vast fortune but a real native disposition, to spend that fortune most generously. It is estimated that the position costs Lord Strathcona from four to five hundred thousand dollars annually while the salary is but ten thousand.

"Lord Strathcona and Sir Wilfrid Laurier understand one another fully. If Lord Strathnona is an Imperial asset he is likewise a valuable asset for the Government he represents. If he brings prestige to his country, its Government gets the reflected lustre. Only if His Lordship's physician really speaks imperatively, as apparently he does not, would Canadians understand Lord Strathcona's retirement, and any change of Government need make no difference. There is only one Strathcona.

"When, however, the time arrives that the change becomes inevitable, the Canadian government must face the question of housing its High Commissioner in offices truly worthy of Canada. Only Lord Strathcona's personality makes this matter of secondary importance at the present moment."

SOLICITOR NEWTON SUSPENDED FOR YEAR.

Law Society Found Him Guilty of Professional Misconduct in Crippen Case.

London, July 12.—Mr. Arthur Newton, who was found guilty of professional misconduct in his defence of the wife murderer, Dr. Hawley H. Crippen, by a committee of the Law Society, was to-day suspended from practice for one year and ordered by the Divisional Court to pay the costs of the inquiry.

Mr. Newton was alleged to have abused his privilege as a lawyer by aiding and abetting Horatio W. Bottomley, editor of a weekly publication and member of Parliament for the south division of Hackney, to publish false statements regarding the case, and also to have aided the Daily Chronicle to give publicity to similar untruths.

Washington, July 12.—An earthquake of some violence and remarkable for its duration, was recorded last night at the seismological observatory of Georgetown University.

The tremors began at 11.27 p.m., and continued until 1.18 a.m., being most severe at 12.20. The indications were that the point of occurrence was remote from here.

TWO FAMOUS SINGERS WED.

Mme. Emma Eames and Emilio de Gogorza, both divorced, marry in Paris to-day.

THE SOCIAL WORLD

Lindsay-Pope.

The Church of St. James the Apostle was the scene of a pretty, though quiet wedding at five o'clock this afternoon, when Miss Gladys Pope, youngest daughter of Mr. Rufus H. Pope, of Calgary, Alta., formerly of Cookshire, Que., was married to Mr. Neville H. Lindsay, of Calgary. The church was effectively decorated with flowers, palms and ferns, and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Canon Ellegood. The bride, who was given away by her father, was unattended. Mr. Douglas Wilkes, acc'd as best man. The bride wore a white serge costume, and a white hat. Her only ornament was a pearl necklace, the gift of the bridegroom, and she carried a white Prayer book. The relatives, who were the only guests, included the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Pope. Mrs. Pope gowned in navy blue foulard with a blue hat to match; Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Gilday, Mrs. Gilday, who is the bride's sister, wearing a white gown and hat; Mrs. W. B. Ives, of Sherbrooke, gowned in black peau de sole with lace yoke and sleeves, with a black hat; Dr. and Mrs. A. R. Pennoyer, the latter in a gown of white marquisette embroidered in coral and black, and a black plumed picture hat; Mrs. and Miss Ramsay. There was no reception. After an extended trip to various watering places in the East, Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay will take up their residence in Calgary. The bride's travelling costume is of navy blue serge, and a blue hat to match, trimmed with Imperial grebe.

Johnston—Troop.

The marriage of Miss Emma Almon Hill Troop, eldest daughter of the Rev. G. Osborne Troop, to Mr. Harold Stanley Johnston, of Calgary, Alta., formerly of Montreal, son of Mr. G. L. Johnston, of Gananoque, Ont., took place this afternoon at four o'clock in St. Martin's Church, which was prettily decorated for the occasion. Palms lined the aisle, and the bridal party stood under an arch of daisies. The ceremony was performed by the Right Rev. Dr. Farthing, Bishop of Montreal, the service being fully choral. The music was in charge of Mr. H. H. St. L. Troop, and the choir sang "O Perfect Love." The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of white Liberty satin embroidered in seed pearls, with long tulle veil, and wreath of orange blossoms, her ornaments being a jewelled pendant, and the bridegroom's gift, a gold watch bracelet. Her bouquet was composed of white roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Gerald Bogert, who attended her sister as matron of honor, was gowned in mauve embroidered mousseline with a white hat trimmed with mauve flowers, and carried sweet peas of the same color. The little flower girls, Miss Edith Hanson, and Miss Dora Borlase wore dainty white lingerie frocks, and white hats, the former with pink ribbons, and carrying a basket of pink sweet peas, and the latter with yellow ribbons, and carrying a basket of marguerites. They each received a bracelet. The bridegroom's brother, Mr. C. M. Johnston, was best man, and the ushers were Rev. G. W. H. Troop, brother of the bride; and Mr. Sydney Harrington. Mrs. Troop, mother of the bride, wore a gown of black and white over white silk and a black hat. The bridegroom's parents, Mr and Mrs. G. L. Johnston, of Gananoque, and his sister and brother, Miss Agnes and Master Kenneth Johnston, were among the guests. Following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the Rectory. Mr. and Mrs. Johnston leave this evening for Banff. They will reside in Calgary.

Rosevear—Peebles.

At St. George's Church this afternoon, the marriage took place of Miss Mary Ingham Peebles, recent head mistress of the Practice School of Macdonald College, to Mr. W. H. Rosevear, of St. Lambert. Shortly before three o'clock the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Howard, in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends. The bride wore a tufquoise blue satin suit with a corsage bouquet of white flowers, and a black hat with taupe plumes. She was attended by Mrs. E. J. Allan, as matron of honor, wearing a gown of pale mauve silk with lace overdress, with a white plumed hat, and a corsage bouquet of pink roses. After the honeymoon spent at the Muskoka Lakes, Mr. and Mrs Rosevear will reside on Victoria avenue, St. Lambert.

ANNIVERSARIES.

R. Wilson-Smith, Jr., Montreal, died a year ago to-day.
L. F. Morison, St. Hyacinthe, died 2 years ago to-day.

Auld—Smith.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Grant Smith, Nelson B.C., was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday evening, July 5th, when their daughter, Elizabeth (Lily) was united in marriage to Mr. Francis Hedley Auld, of Saskatoon, Sask., by the Rev. A. E. Smith. The ceremony took place in the drawing-room, which was decorated with evergreens and floral bells. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin veiled with point d'esprit and applique trimmings inlaid with seed pearls. Her veil, of Brussels net, surmounted with a coronet of lilies of the valley, was the gift of her grandmother. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley, and wore the gift of the bridegroom, a pearl pendant. The bridesmaid, Miss Jessie McKenzie, of Greenwood, B.C., was in pale blue mousseline de sole, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The best man was Mr. D. Stirling Auld, of Regina, brother of the bridegroom. Little Miss Jessie Fowles, daintily dressed in white china silk, was flower-girl, and carried a basket of pink roses. The mother of the bride was in black pailette silk with lace trimmings. The bridegroom's gift to the bridesmaid was a pearl blouse set, to the best man a signet ring, to Mrs. Cryderman, who played the wedding march, and to the flower-girl, pearl lace pins. The bride travelled in a costume of cream serge, with black picture hat and grey feather boa. Mr. and Mrs. Auld will spend some time at Banff Calgary, Edmonton, and other points en route to Saskatoon, where they will take up their residence.

Civil Ceremony in Paris To-day—Special Dispensation Granted by Pope.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Paris, July 12.—Mme. Emma Eames was married to Emilio De Gogorza at noon to-day in the Mayor's office in the Rue D'Anjou, Eighth Arrondisement.

The Attorney-General of France granted a special dispensation from the law requiring the banns to be posted at the Mayor's office ten days before the ceremony.

Still more remarkable, the Pope granted a special dispensation permitting Mme. Eames, a Protestant, to be married in a Roman Catholic Church.

So anxious is Mme. Eames to comply with the religious forms that to-day's civil ceremony will be followed by a religious ceremony Thursday. The latter will take place at 10.30 o'clock at the Church of St. Pierre De Chaillet.

The couple will then go to Germany for a month's honeymoon.

To-day's Ceremony Private.

The ceremony to-day was in strict privacy, only the legal number of witnesses being present.

The witnesses for the bride were William Francis Warden, the painter, and Fairchild Blair, the composer; and for the bridegroom, George Armstrong, a banker, and Ernst Arnal, a lawyer.

M. Sansboeuf, assistant to the Mayor, officiated, and made a brief address in which he wished the contracting parties happiness and prosperity and expressed the felicitations of the municipality.

The prima donna was divorced from her former husband, Julian Story, in the spring of 1907. The baritone, who has been associated with the bride professionally, was divorced from his wife, Mrs. Elsa Neumann de Gogorza, last year.

WOMAN PUTS OUT FIRE.

Suffers Severe Burnings About Hands and Wrists.

While striking a match in her bedroom this morning, Mrs. Jules Meillier, 66½ Marie Anne street east, accidentally set fire to a pair of curtains. In her attempt to extinguish the flames she was severely burned about her hands and wrists. Her efforts, however, were successful in preventing a spread of the fire and when the firemen responded to the alarm there remained little work for them to do.

MacVicar Memorial Picnic.

MacVicar Memorial Sunday School will hold its annual picnic to Hudson on Saturday next, July 15, when an attractive programme of races and games will be carried out. WRONG SORT

Perhaps Plain Old Meat, Potatoes and Bread May Be Against You For a Time.

A change to the right kind of food can lift one from a sick bed. A lady in Welden, Ill., says:—

"Last spring I became bed-fast with severe stomach trouble accompanied by sick headache. I got worse and worse until I became so low I could scarcely retain any food at all, although I tried about every kind.

"I had become completely discouraged, and given up all hope and thought I was doomed to starve to death, until one day my husband, trying to find something I could retain, brought home some Grape-Nuts.

"To my surprise the food agreed with me, digested perfectly and without distress, and I began to gain strength at once. My flesh (which had been flabby) grew firmer, my health improved in every way and every day, and in a very few weeks I gained 20 pounds in weight.

"I liked Grape-Nuts so well that for four months I ate no other food, and always felt as well satisfied after eating as if I had sat down to a fine banquet.

"I had no return of the miserable sick stomach nor of the headaches, that I used to have when I ate other food. I am now a well woman, doing all my own work again, and feel that life is worth living.

"Grape-Nuts food has been a God-send to my family; it surely saved my life; and my two little boys have thriven on it wonderfully." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ontario.

NAPOLITANO CASE NOW INTERESTING LONDON PEOPLE

Many Callers at High Commissioner's Office and Petitions Being Presented.

By Special Cable From Our Own Correspondent.

London, July 12.—The case of Mrs. Angelo Napolitano, under sentence of death for the murder of her husband, at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., excites much interest here.

There have been many callers at the High Commissioner's Office regarding it, including Mrs. Henry Fawcett and Lady Constance Lytton, who recently suffered imprisonment in the cause of woman's suffrage.

Mr. Griffiths, official secretary of the High Commissioner's Office, gave these callers all the information requested.

To-morrow the High Commissioner receives a deputation of the International Woman's Franchise Club, who will present a petition for Mrs. Napolitano's reprieve.

The former is down the St. Lawrence and the latter in Prince Edward Island, so that the woman's fate will not be known definitely till next week at the earliest.

CHANGE IN THE NATIONAL ANTHEM

Verse Antipathetic to Peace Movement Will Likely Be Eliminated.

Special to The Montreal Star

London, July 12.—A change has been made in the National Anthem. In these days, when the main thought throughout the civilized world is peace, one of the old verses of the anthem is said to have struck the King as sounding a somewhat discordant note It runs:—

"O Lord our God, arise,
Scatter his enemies
And make them fall;
Confound their politics,
Frustrate their knavish tricks;
On Him our hopes we fix,
O, save us all."

That verse has now been replaced by the following, written by Dean Hole, and breathing a more peaceful spirit:

"O Lord our God arise,
Scatter his enemies;
Make wars to cease.
Keep us from plague and dearth.
Turn Thou our woes to mirth
And over all the earth:
Let there be peace."

This alteration has been specially sanctioned by King George, and is therefore of national importance, seeing that it is now likely to be universally followed.

Wallberg Appeal is Lost.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, July 12.—The judgment of the Privy Council in the case of Wallberg vs. the King, refusing special leave to appeal, is an affirmation of a judgment of the Supreme Court here, in an action by E. A. Wallberg of Montreal, against the Government, for work performed at the Intercolonial Railway shops at Moncton. The judgment appealed from awarded $57,000, where about $90,000 was claimed. The judgment is thus upheld.

People Placing Them on Thoroughfares May be Held Responsible.

Thomas Craig has entered action against the City Ice Company, claiming $1,999 damages, which he says he suffered through an accident which occurred at the corner of Charlevoix street and Hibernia road last February, when his sleigh was overturned by a block of ice, which, it is alleged, was left on the roadway either through the mistake or the carelessness of one of the company's employees.

Special interest attaches to the case as it is expected it will decide to what extent the responsibility for keeping the roadways free from obstruction may be placed either upon the city authorities or the people who place the obstructions on the thoroughfares.

CITY HAS ANOTHER ANNEXATION LEGACY

Held Responsible for Alleged Illegality by Notre Dame de Grace.

Daniel McDonald, W. H. Bonner, and John Donohue have entered action against the city, which may bring to a head the existing differences between the city and thirty people interested in the ownership of a strip of land which they say has been "appropriated" for the widening of Sherbrooke street, in Notre Dame de Grace Ward.

It is claimed that this land was illegally taken over by the municipality of Notre Dame de Grace before, annexation to the city. As the city assumed all the town's obligations with annexation the action, which is of the nature of a test case, must stand against Montreal.

MONTREAL'S HOME-COMING WELCOME TO SIR WILFRID

BIG DEMONSTRATION BY CITIZENS MARKS RETURN OF PRIME MINISTER FROM THE IMPERIAL CONFERENCE

Fireworks Blaze Out a Welcome as The Premier Steams up the River in the Early Dusk.

THOUSANDS LINE PIERS TO SEE DRUID SWING INTO HER MOORINGS

Premier Asserts in Speech That Opposition to Imperial Defence Plan Was Actuated by Desire to Save the Rights of Canadian Citizens—Says He Received New Lesson of Dignity of British Institutions at Coronation.

Acclaimed in various ways, and welcomed by a vast crowd, Sir Wilfrid Laurier reached Montreal last night and at once became the chief figure in an imposing demonstration.

The Corporation, in its welcome, declared that the Prime Minister had "justified national hopes," and the crowd which greeted him appeared to believe that he is really "Canada's Pride," as one streamer declared.

Hon. Mr. Brodeur asserted of his Chief that he had achieved "the fiscal independence of the Colonies." Sir Wilfrid told the gathering the part he had played in the Imperial Conference, and said that he had opposed the suggestion that there should be a Parliament of Colonies discussing Imperial defence with an Imperial Parliament, because that would mean "an abdication of the rights of Canadian citizens."

Of the great scenes at the Coronation Sir Wilfrid said that he had "received a new lesson in the nobility and greatness of British institutions."

What had strongly appealed to him was the fact that for the first time the British workingman had been accorded a place in the coronation ceremonies, at once demonstrating the position of Great Britain as a true democracy.

Sir Wilfrid took advantage of the occasion to rap the Nationalists, and to condemn the alliance of that party and the Quebec Conservatives, and he prophesied a complete rout of these forces.

On the subject of Reciprocity, the Premier said that he would resume the fight for it, adding that this policy had been the hope of Canadian leaders for many years.

Of himself he said that he did not know how long more he would be permitted to remain, but he exhorted the young men to follow his white plumes, which would never lead them from the paths of honor.

Montreal Gives a Generous Welcome.

On land and water, by fluttering flag and screeching syren; with flare of fireworks, flaming torch and roar of explosives; with commendatory phrases on bannerette and streamer suspended over the path, with brilliant illumination, with the music of bands and the cheers of citizens, Montreal, in its most generous mood, last night welcomed Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the chief city of this Dominion of which he is Prime Minister.

This last home-coming of the Premier proved to be the most striking reception ever given in the Metropolis to a returning representative. It was a greeting by the people to their chief executive, and while of necessity one political party was strong in its representation, the whole affair appeared to be devoid of narrow political significance, but rather expressed the broad heartiness of a spontaneous welcome to a friend who had been abroad for his country's honor.

It was the finest sight of its kind that the city has seen, surpassing in picturesqueness and brilliancy all previous demonstrations of this character, and bringing to the city ways the greatest gathering that has lined the streets since the wonderful religious demonstration of last September, which, in turn, had marked an epoch in this big Canadian city. Coming by night, when Nature in kindliest mood softens harsh outlines and gracefully hides ugliness, and permits man to make use of many artificial artifices which allow him to come a step closer in comparison with the real mother of beauty, the sights offered the eye were pleasing, more particularly so when afloat on the broad bosom of that mighty father of Canadian waters, the St. Lawrence, and steaming gallantly into what it has pleased men to term "Canada's National Port."

Countless Thousands Await Arrival.

Ashore, the impression lost in artistry, perhaps, but it gained in men, for here countless thousands had come down to the water gate of their island city to bid welcome and raise their voices to cheer a Prime Minister.

From the time that the C.G.S. "Druid," on board of whcih Sir Wilfrid Laurier proceeded from Quebec to Montreal, was first picked up off Pointe aux Trembles, until the chief figure of the demonstration finally disappeared from sight through the portals of the Place Viger Hotel, there was offered a series of pictures, each worthy in itself, the whole presenting a splendid collection which it is good to have seen.

Coming from the wondrous splendor of the great scenes enacted in London, it may have appeared less bright to eyes that had witnessed those other wonderful views, but to those untrammelled by any such physical conditions, and unhampered by imagination, it was all rare and new.

Viewed from the deck of an official craft, which piloted the "Druid" and its attendant flotilla into port, the scene on the river was delightful. A score of gaily decorated craft had swung in the stream and held on the heels of the sombre and solemn Government boat, which has a serious mission, and is not wont to take part in festival occasions. A departmental flag at the fore, and an ensign at the stern, was all the visible and outward sign on the "Druid," and at sundown the ensign disappeared, as befits official dignity. Then strings of electric lamps, running from bowsprit to the foretop, then to the main and then below again, flashed into life, and indicated that this was the craft bearing the Ministerial party. But the other craft unmindful of the niceties of nautical etiquette, flaunted their flags through twilight and dusk, and each at some moment stood out in fine relief as a swinging searchlight beam picked it up and pictured it clearly for others to see.

Many of the boats had made preparations to come into port with brightlighted lanterns, but a fresh breeze from off shore, that kicked up a chop in St. Mary's current, toyed mischievously with the flimsy paper things, and prevented this, although a couple of brave commanders braved the winds and were promptly flouted for their pains.

Bonfire and Pyrotechnics on Shore.

Bonfire and pyrotechnics lighted the shores, and the gleaming search lights showed groups and masses of people from Point aux Trembles to the point of disembarkation. Each pier had its crowd, the railway embankments its long line, while the approaches to Victoria Pier were fairly alive with an uncountable gathering of men, women and children.

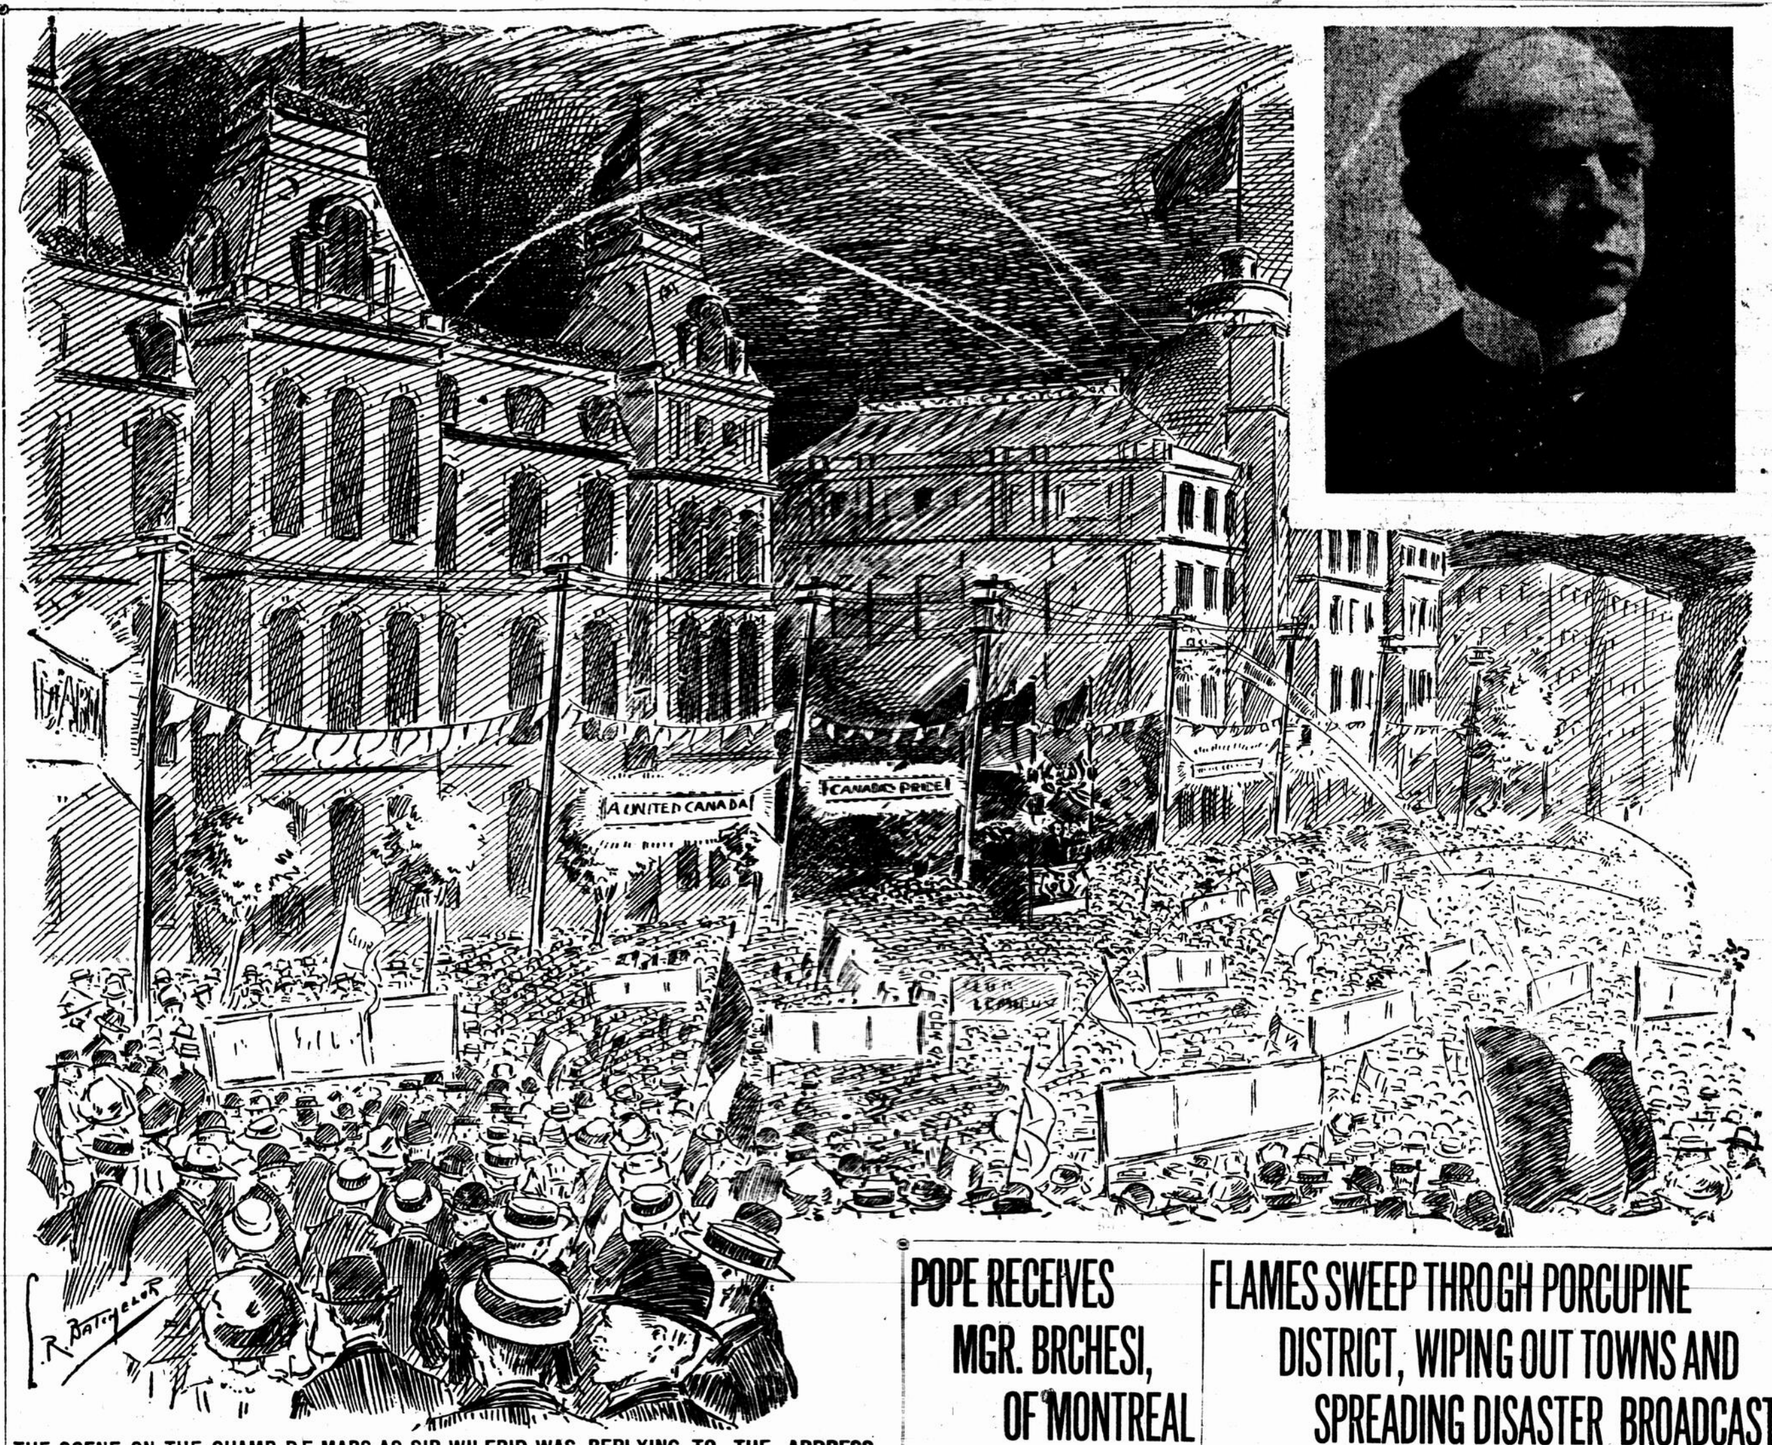
Then on the way to Champ de Mars, through the ramp, in Commissioners street and Jacques Cartier square, in the open space between the Government and Corporation buildings, in the field itself, and in the streets leading to it, were massed more citizens than people of good memories could remember ever having seen before.

When Sir Wilfrid had been officially welcomed to the port by the Harbor Commissioners, he went ashore, and was then tendered a welcome by the representatives of the Corporation, after which the party entered carriages and proceeded to Champ de Mars, where the Premier addressed the people.

A band, playing "O, Canada," preceded the Premier's carriage, which was guarded by a uniformed body armed with sabres, and followed by a group of Italian citizens attired in the picturesque attire of the famous Berseglieri.

Behind this followed Liberal Clubs in profusion, each indicating its presence by a white flag with the name in red letters. It was a marching mass rather than orderly parade, but it proceeded forward without trouble, and without accident or incident.

The police measures for the occasion proved most excellent, and Chief Campeau, Deputy Chief Hebert, and Inspectors McMahon, Leggatt and Grandchamps, achieved wonders with the comparatively small force under their command, the crowd aiding the police in preserving the lines laid out.



THE SCENE ON THE CHAMP DE MARS AS SIR WILFRID WAS REPLYING TO THE ADDRESS OF WELCOME.

Great Crowd Swarmed Early to Victoria Pier to Greet Premier.

Although the hour set for the arrival of Sir Wilfrid in Montreal was half past eight, the crowd commenced to gather around the approaches to Victoria pier shortly after 6 o'clock, and by eight had grown to huge proportions.

About 8.30, Inspector Grandchamps, who was in charge of the police arrangements at the harbor front, stated to a representative of the Star that he estimated that fully 50,000 people lined the approaches to the dock and along the route to the Champ de Mars. The order maintained by Inspector Grandchamps and his men was excellent throughout the evening, and did much to make the occasion unique in Montreal's popular demonstrations.

The scene presented at the river front was a splendid tribute to the popularity of the Premier and the Harbor Commission made elaborate preparations to express the sentiment of the public towards Sir Wilfrid on his return to Montreal from England. Electric lights, in red, white and green had been strung along the wharf from the horseshoe arch at the pier to Commissioners street and the scene was a blaze of beauty with the significant grey bas relief of Bonsecours church forming a background to the animated scene along the river front. Illuminated signs, reading, "Canada's National Port Welcomes Canada's Illustrious Son," and "Honor to a Great Canadian," were interspersed here and there along the light-bedecked route of procession up the pier, through the causeway, and to the street above.

Huge Crowd Patient in Long Wait.

The crowd waited patiently from the early hour until shortly after 9 o'clock when the flotilla accompanying Sir Wilfrid was sighted, during which interval the numerous Liberal Clubs of the city ranged their followers and the bands accompanying them along the west side of the ramp. Men and women of all ages and classes lined the revetment walls in the vicinity, eager for the first sign of approach of the hero of the evening. In the interval before the arrival of Sir Wilfrid, the bands, assembled on the piers surrounding the berth where the Druid with the Premier and his party were to land, played national airs, prominent among which was "O, Canada!" the chorus of which was caught up by the immense multitude and sung with inspiring effect.

Not an untoward incident marred the scene at the harbor front. After the advent of the influx of followers of the local clubs, the task of the police became a more difficult one, since previous to this, the crowd had been excluded from the wharf. The patience and diplomacy of Inspector Grandchamps and his men, however, made light work of the problem that confronted them and excellent order was maintained throughout.

About 8.30, the civic delegation, consisting of Acting Mayor Gauvin, Assistant City Clerk, Mr. Rene Beauset, and Ald. Dandurand, L. A. Lapointe, Drummond, Lamoureux, Monahan, McMahon, Brodeur and Clement arrived on the scene and were heartily cheered by the crowd on the revetment wall. Escorting the civic representatives was a squad of mounted police under Inspector Leggett, whose men lent a dignity to the occasion that is characteristic of mounted troops.

Scene on the Pier When Premier Arrived.

Fireworks from St. Helen's Island was the first indication to the waiting thousands that the Premier and his accompanying fleet were approaching and the big crowd was on tip-toe to view the advent of the miniature fleet; the noise of the as-

OTTAWA'S MAYOR WON'T GIVE ADDRESS TO SIR WILFRID

Objects on the Ground He Doesn't Want to Mix His Office With Politics.

Ottawa, July 12.—Mayor Hopewell of Ottawa has declined to present tonight a civic address of welcome to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and the incident is likely to lead to a clash in the city council.

The mayor was asked by President McGrath, of the Ottawa Reform Association, to co-operate with the association and citizens generally in welcoming the Premier home from the Imperial Conference. He refused, however, on the ground that in taking any such official action he would also have to officially welcome home Mr. R. L. Borden, the Opposition leader.

In reply to this it was pointed out by the Reform Association that the two cases are dissimilar, Mr. Borden returning from a political tour and Sir Wilfrid from Empire business, where he represented the whole of Canada. The Mayor, however, evidently wants to keep clear of politics and will not be present in his official capacity tonight.

When Sir Wilfrid returned from the coronation of King Edward in 1902, he was tendered a civic reception.

POPE RECEIVES MGR. BRCHESI, OF MONTREAL

Pontiff Congratulates Archbishop on Success of Eucharistic Congress Here.

Rome, July 12.—Pope Pius to-day received in private audience the Most Rev. Paul Bruchesi, Archbishop of Montreal, who presented His Holiness with the report of his diocese.

The Pontiff was most cordial in his entertainment of the Canadian prelate, with whom he conversed lengthily, and renewed by word of mouth his congratulations with regard to the success of the Eucharistic Congress, held in Montreal last summer.

NO SMALLPOX NOW.

There is not now a single case of smallpox in the civic hospital on Moreau street. The last patient was discharged yesterday. There had been seven patients in the place. The old hospital had been closed, and a contract had been given out by the Board of Control for the erection of a more modern smallpox hospital.

FLAMES SWEEP THROGH PORCUPINE DISTRICT, WIPING OUT TOWNS AND SPREADING DISASTER BROADCAST

Cochrane, South Porcupine, Pottsville, and Other Places are Wiped Off Map—Thousands are Homeless and Without Necessities of Life—Feared Many Have Lost Lives in Outlying Regions—All Mining Camps from Dome to Whitney Destroyed—Help in Shape of Food and Clothing Urgently Needed—Flames Also Destroying Towns in Northern Michigan, Where Terrible Loss of Life is Rumored—Latest Details.

Special to The Montreal Star.

North Bay, Ont., July 12.—The forest fires which have been raging here for days past, have developed into what looks like one of the biggest disasters Northern Ontario has ever suffered.

Yesterday, fanned by a great wind, the forest literally burst into a roaring inferno [illegible] millions of acres swooped down and through the Porcupine, destroying towns, sweeping away settlements, obliterating camps and rendering thousands of people literally destitute.

In many instances, notably at Cochrane, South Porcupine and Pottsville, all three of which have been practically wiped off the face of the earth, the fire raged with such swiftness and fury that the population had barely time to save their lives, and abandoned everything in one frantic rush for safety.

The fire swept over an area three hundred miles long, from North Bay northwards, by many miles wide, both to the East and the West, and within this area the damage done is incalculable.

Every mining camp from Dome to Whitney is gone. Men, women, and children lack the bare necessities of life. There are thousands of refugees, many of them centred at Golden Gate, which escaped the main path of the flames.

So far, comparatively few lives are reported as lost, though it is feared that many miners, prospectors, and settlers in the more distant sections, may have met a terrible death. Almost everywhere the heat was so intense and the power of the fire so great that the ground was burned and the refugees, wherever possible, took to the water to escape death.

The Ontario Government Railway is giving all possible aid, both in shelter, supplies and transportation, to the sufferers, and towns untouched by the flames are also co-operating. Supplies are urgently needed. It is expected that the Legislature will take action to-day.

Reports from Michigan tell of similar disastrous fires in the northern section of that State, with rumored heavy loss of life.

DISASTER IN NORTH WORSE THAN FIRST ANTICIPATED

Special to The Montreal Star.

North Bay, Ont., July 12.—A great disaster has befallen the north country as a result of the terrible heat and lack of rain. The whole country is burning up with bush fires everywhere. These have been in progress for over a week and reached a climax yesterday, licking up in their path everything before them.

Fanned by a terrible gale of wind, the flames swooped down on the villages and mining camps, and the loss of property will run into enormous figures, while the death-roll must be great, as the Porcupine district, where the fire is at its worst, contains thousands of prospectors, whose camps are scattered over a wide area of country heavily timbered. From North Bay northward for three hundred miles, and covering a wide section east and west, flames are carrying on their work of destruction and death, and miners and prospectors and settlers are in a desperate plight, if they even

The Ruling Soccer Body--New Royal Pitcher From Major League

PENDING INVESTIGATION ONE OWNER'S ENTRIES WILL NOT BE TAKEN AT DELORIMIER--YESTERDAY'S RACES

Pending investigation, the entries of C. Baldwin, the owner of First Premium will not be accepted by the Delorimier Park Stewards. The wonderful reversal of form showed by the old Gorman horse yesterday was the cause of the owner's plight. At King Edward Park and last Saturday at Delorimier Park, the tall chestnut ridden by Hall was practically left at the post and finished a poor last. Hall carried no whip and wore no spurs. Yesterday afternoon, with Griffith up the gelding showed a wonderful burst of speed and getting away to a good start, was never in trouble, going to the front at the half and never relinquishing the lead thereafter. He won under wraps by three lengths from a field which included some of the horses he had trailed last Saturday. Baldwin explained the reversal of form by the fact that for two years he has been trying to make a jockey out of Hall. This boy, he claims, has cost him over $1,500 in purses since he began riding for him. He has a knack of being left at the post. Mr. Baldwin has no doubt that after investigation has been completed he will be exonorated from all blame and will be allowed to enter his horse again. Mirdil and Frank Navin finished one and two to First Premium in this troublesome sixth race.

Troxler on Seymour Butler got a bad fall going around the first turn in the fifth race. It looked as if the boy would be tramped upon, but he came up smiling and made his way to the Judge's stand alone. Asked if he was hurt, he volunteered the information that he had landed on his head. "I could not hurt that" said the boy, "maybe there is a dent in the track though. Flims. Father Bill Daly's entry won by a neck from the favorite Ed. Keck with the others beaten off, the third horse, Starboard being five lengths away.

Although Naughty Rose won the first race by a comfortable margin, the McLaughlin entry took home the long end of the purse, Naughty Rose being disqualified because the judges said that Troxler had interfered with Twenty-one. Mollie Kearney, Inwood and Charley O'Brien finished in the order named. The decision was very unpopular.

There was nothing to it but Yankee Lady in the second, the Yankee filly leading from start to finish and rolling home the easiest of winners by three lengths. E. M. Frey was three lengths in front of Complete for second money.

Calypte repeated her fine performance of Monday. She showed a great burst of speed leading by ten lengths around the back stretch and entering the stretch was six lengths to the good. Peepover came through the last furlong like a house afire, and Calypte just lasted long enough to win by half a length. The race was between the first two, Brown Tony being ten lengths in the rear and copping third money.

Phronis, which opened at 8 to 1 and receded to 10 to 1 in the betting, and on which there was probably not ten dollars bet was the bottled-up good thing in the fourth. He made all his own pace for the whole distance and finished a length ahead of Hickory Stick, with Bright Start a distant third.

Billy Barnes captured the seventh from Tender an outsider and Forester the even money favorite. Off to a good start, the Kingston colt had his field at his mercy and won as he pleased five lengths in front of Tender, with Forester five lengths away.

The racing was better than on the previous days, the starts were up to the mark, with the exception of the sixth race when New Start acted like a mad horse, running away a couple of miles and throwing his rider twice before he could be persuaded to face the starter.

FIRST RACE—Two-year-olds, four and one-half furlongs, purse $200.

1—Molly Kearny, 105, Grano., even, 2 to 5 and out.

2—Inwood, Dreyer, even, 2 to 5 and out.

3—Charley Oberon, 108, Berger, 5 to 1 3 to 2, and 1 to 2.

Time, 58¼.

Twenty-one and Naughty Rose also ran.

In the second race there were five starters out of a field of eight, with Yankee Lady favorite at even money. Goodacre played down from tens to sixes. Yankee Lady jumped in the lead and won with consummate ease by two lengths with E. M. Frey, second, a length in front of Complete Goodacre had no speed.

SECOND RACE—, for three-year-olds and up, 5½ furlongs, purse $200.

1—Yankee Lady, 101, Grondo, even, 1 to 2, and out.

2—E. M. Frey, 111, Carroll, 3 to, 1, 3 to 5, and out.

3—Complete, 109, Bergen, 4 to 1, 3 to 2, 1 to 2.

Time, 1.06 2-5.

Rusticana, Goodacre, also ran.

In the third race, Clitter Clatter was scratched leaving six horses to try conclusions. For fifteen minutes after the layers chalked up the prices there was no show money to be had against any horse and the first hush of bettors had to play their choices straight and place. When there was a lull in the betting, show money was put up. Paul Davis was favorite and Elizabeth O. played down from ten to seven to one. Calypte showed a wonderful burst of speed and was leading by six lengths after going three furlongs and won by three lengths, making a show of her field Why 6 to 1 was posted against her after the race she ran yesterday was a puzzle. Peepover held second place safe all the way, Brown Tony getting third money.

THIRD RACE—For three year olds and up. Four and a half furlongs. Purse $200.

First—Calypte, 109, Girondo, 3 to 1, even, 1 to 2.

Second—Peepover, 106, Wingfield, 6 to 1, 2 to 1, and even.

Third—Brown Tony, 114, Bergen, 2 to 1, and even, and 1 to 2.

Time 57 1-5.

Alarmed, Paul Davis and Elizabeth O., also ran.

FOURTH RACE—Selling for four-year-olds, six furlongs, purse $200.

1—Phoronis, 112, O'Connor, -0 to 1, 4 to 1 and 2 to 1.

2—Hickory Stick, 112, Hoffman, 3 to 1, even and 2 to 5.

3—Bright Start, 112, White, 4 to 1, 2 to 1 and even.

Time 1.15 2-5.

Miss Rex, Inflection, Massassoit, King's Guinea, Rosebore, Doctor Young, also ran.

In the fourth race, all of the nine horses entered started with Inflection and Hickory Stick, split favorites, at 2 to 1. Bright Start and old Dr. Young received a good play for place and show. They were off to a straggling start with Phronis in the lead. Miss Rex and Inflection were second and third passing the stand the first time around. Hickory Stick moved up on the back stretch, but could not quite catch up. Phronis won by a length with Hickory Stick two lengths in front of Bright Start.

FIFTH RACE—Selling for four year olds and up. Purse $200.

First—Flims, 106, Hanover, 3 to 1, even and 1 to 2.

Second—Ed. Keck, 111, Quinlan, even, 1 to 2, and out.

Starboard, 116, O'Connor, 5 to 1, 2 to 1 and even.

Time, 1:16 2-5.

Tiger Jim, Cousin Peter, Our Nugget, Seymour, Bentler, Donation also ran.

SIXTH RACE, one mile, three-year-old and up.

1st—First Premium (Griffin), 3 to 1, even and out.

2nd—Mirdil (Matthews), even, 2 to 5 and out.

1st—Billy Barnes (Levee), 3 to 1, even and out.

2nd—Tender (Girondo), 6 to 1, 2 to 1 and even.

3rd—Forester (Grand), 8 to 5, 1 to 2, and out.

Kauffman, Tee May, Creole and Ell Soo finished in the order named. Time, 1.09.

ELATED AT WORK DONE BY THE CANADIANS

Dr. Barton, Hon Coach of Oversea's Team, Says Boys Showed Up to Form.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, July 12.—Dr. James W. Barton, honorary coach of the victorious team at the Festival of the Empire track meet, in London, England, returned to Toronto yesterday.

Dr. Barton is, of course, highly elated at the splendid showing of his charges. What was particularly pleasant was that the members of the team did just what was expected of them, running to the form they had shown in their trials here.

At the English championships a week after the Empire games, Jack Tait was beaten in the mile by Nichol, who barely nosed him out of first place. The Torontonian ran the distance in 4.22, which was faster than the best previous mile in England this year. Tait was watching Owen, whom he had beaten in the festival games, and failed to see Nichol, who beat him, coming up on the outside.

Mel. Brock won his heat of the half-mile in 1.57, beating J. M. Hill, who won the final at that distance in the Empire contest.

Halbhaus was beaten in the hundred at the English championships by Ramsdell, formerly of the University of Pennsylvania. The finish was so close that most of the spectators thought the race was a dead heat.

CHATEAUGUAY CLUB'S CHILDREN'S NIGHT

Glorious Time Provided by Intrepid Mariners of Basin for Little Ones.

"Children's Night," given by the Chateauguay Boating Club, in Tully Hall, last evening, proved to be a very enjoyable event to the hundred or more children present, and to almost an equal number of adults. This was conducted in a very able manner by the ladies' auxiliary of the club. It opened with a grand march, led by the smaller and followed by the larger. As the children approached the stage they were presented with flags by the lady and gentlemen presidents of the club. With flags flying, sweet voices shouting, and tiny feet dancing, a prettier and more inspiring sight could hardly be imagined, and the enthusiasm at Laurier's reception was mild in comparison.

After this there were potato races for the boys, Rene Lavallee being the successful one in the race for the larger boys, and Master Moquin for the smaller. Such games as "Putting the Tail on the Donkey," and "Feeding the Bun to the Bear," were played, and many handsome prizes were given the winners. Recitations, songs, piano soos and clog dances were given by Miss Daisy Featherston, Kathleen Coffin (age four), Master Moquin and Rene Lavallee, while Miss Marion McCord delighted all with a fancy skirt dance in costume.

Every child in the place was next presented with fans, bags of beads, goggles, pins, postcard albums, and many other presents, and a very merry evening was brought to a close with the serving of ice cream and cake to all present. Many thanks to the ladies.

Track Races At Shamrocks

Handicaps and Intermediate Game Will Provide Lots of Excitement Saturday.

As a curtain raiser to the National-Shamrock lacrosse game on Saturday at the National grounds, there will be a match between the second string team of the National Club and the Nationals of Quebec, in section "A" of the Intermediate N. L. U. This match, which promises to be a tough one, as both teams are decidedly in the running, will start at 2 o'clock.

Between the quarters of the senior affair track handicaps will be run, the scheduled events being one mile and one hundred yards. A big entry list for these races is expected. Any runner desiring to enter is requested to notify Mr. Gagnon, secretary of the National Amateur Athletic Association, 162 Berri st.

THE CANADIAN LEAGUE.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Guelph, Ont., July 12.—The Guelph Canadian League team lost its eighth consecutive game yesterday, when Berlin defeated them at home by a score of 9 to 7. The other games in the league were again postponed on account of rain, the games being: St. Thomas, at London, and Hamilton at Brantford.

TWO LACROSSE PLAYERS WHO WILL SHINE IN THE MONTREAL-TECUMSEH MATCH AT HANLAN'S POINT, TORONTO.

LET NOTHING BE NEGLECTED

No efforts should be spared to put the Montreal team in such a position that they will be fit to win the game against Tecumsehs on Saturday next.

From what President W. E. Findley says, there will not be.

He also says the team is in splendid condition, and will not be changed from Saturday last.

The Montreal Star's suggestion about the hot trip on the train overnight, has been discussed by the executive but the majority seems to think it does not do any more harm than having the team stay a day in Toronto before the match. This they base on past experience.

A special attempt will be made on Saturday morning to use the leisure time in preparing the boys properly for the big struggle and keeping them out of mischief.

All eyes in Montreal are focussed on James Murphy, Esq., president of the National Lacrosse Union.

People here seem to think that after playing two matches under the same referees, Montreal is entitled to a change.

Naturally, there is the old adage of the frying pan and the fire to be remembered, but they want a change just the same.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, Ont., July 12.—The most important game of all the season in the N. L. U. will take place at the Island Saturday afternoon, the Montreals will meet Tecumseh, and on the way this game goes, practically speaking, depends the result of the N. L. U. championship, for should the Tecumsehs, with their unbroken string of victories, defeat the Winged-Wheel aggregation, then it will give them a lead that will hardly be overcome.

It does not appear, from this end of the matter as though Montreal could win next Saturday's game as the Indians are in good shape, and are all keyed up for this one contest. The game should be one of the greatest exhibitions of our national game that has been played in several years, and should bring one of the biggest crowds on record.

It all depends on the weather. A whole lot as to the result will depend on the Montreal defence. They have one of the best homes in the country, if not the best, but the home has not been guilty of doing the great work credited to the Tecumsehs defence, excepting on probably one or two occasions. Should Montreal put up a real strong game in front of their flags against Tecumsehs, then look out for there is apt to be blood on the moon, but the Tecumseh defence has been known all season for their steadiness, and they have been improving, too, so that Montreals good home will find themselves up against a pretty tough proposition when they tackle them for the first time this season. The two teams not having met before this season make it all the harder to dope out their chances except on past performances, and that may not count in this case.

The Toronto News says:—

Tecumsehs have done all that has been asked of them, and with six wins and no losses to date, appear to have a solid hold on the lead and one hand on the championship.

However, you never can tell in lacrosse. The Tecumsehs have yet to play two games each with Montreal and Torontos. If the M. A. A. A. team can beat Tecumsehs here next Saturday they may change the whole aspect of the race. On paper it looks like a great match, and will undoubtedly be one well worth seeing, but Tecumsehs have always been able to beat the Montreal team either here or in Montreal, and with such a well-balanced team as they have this year the Indians should not fear the Easterners.

Ald. Tom O'Connell, of the Shamrocks, in response to some jibes by Tecumsehs supporters at the Island game, shouted: "That's all right. Have your laugh to-day. Next Saturday Montreal will make you laugh on the other side of the face."

Can Tecumsehs put one over on Montreal on Saturday? asks the Toronto Telegram. Well, positively we don't know, but we rather incline to believe that they can if they play the best lacrosse they know. Whether they do or they don't, one thing is pretty nearly sure, and that is that Saturday's fixture at the Island will be the greatest exposition of lacrosse seen here this season.

Montreal have a fast, spectacular bunch of players. The kind of home that manoeuvres before, it attacks and then goes directly for the citadel and a defence that plays in and out lacrosse. If Montreal had as good a defence as they have a home they'd be a terrible hard team to beat. Sometimes their defence is great, and Saturday may be one of those days.

Fairmount to Play Scotians.

Members of the Fairmount Football club are notified that the club has arranged a friendly game with the picked team from the steamship Scotian for this evening. The game will be played on the Fairmount ground.

Bermuda Cricketers' Score.

Philadelphia, July 12.—The Bermuda cricketers yesterday made 188 runs in their first innings against the Pilgrims on the Germantown Club grounds. The home players batted rather poorly in their innings, and had put together only 62 runs for four wickets when play was stopped for the day.

THE RACE OF JULY 22

UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THE CALEDONIAN SOCIETY.

When at the solicitation of the President and the Executive of the Montreal Caledonian Society, The Montreal Star last year decided to offer a cup for another Amateur Star Race, to be run in connection with the Annual Caledonia Games, it made a rule that it should be won twice, not necessarily in succession, before it becomes the property of any one.

The race this year will be run on Saturday, July 22. It will start from Dominion Square and will finish at Dominion Park. The distance is about seven miles.

It will be run under the rules of the Amateur Harrier Union of Montreal.

The race is open to any amateur in the world. The runner who has the first claim on The Star Cup, having won it last year, is Ellard White, of Brockville.

GOTCH IN TRAINING FOR MATCH WITH HACK

Champion Not Taking Chances on Being Out of Shape for Labor Day Contest.

Mason City, Ia., July 12. — Frank Gotch is not going to take any chances whatever in his wrestling match with Hackenschmidt for the heavyweight championship of the world. At his home in Humboldt, Ia., he has established his training quarters, and is fitting himself for the task of his life.

Gotch always was and always will be the possessor of a great deal of confidence in his ability to win. He never was given to bragging, but he understands full well the task he has at hand and knows himself quite thoroughly, and he believes that he will be the master of the situation when the two men come together on the mat.

At the present time, when the thermometer gets to and around the 100 mark, he is resting, but in the cooler hours of the day he is taking his exercise. Just now he is looking well after his underpinning, and to build up strength he is taking a run of from eight to twelve miles. His inside training is much like that taken by the pugilists. Gotch is in fine shape. He is as well as he ever was in his life, and is as hearty as a bear.

YANKEE ATHLETES VERY CONFIDENT

What They Said Before They Took the Boat for England.

In view of what happened in England yesterday, it will be interesting to read the statements made by the Yale-Harvard athletic crowd when they left New York. Harper's Weekly says:

"Seventeen hardy athletes, constituting the flower of the track and field forces of Yale and Harvard Universities, sailed on the steamship Vaderland on June 24. They will meet the best athletes of Oxford and Cambridge in a dual contest in London on July 11th. Although the struggle will be between British and American stars, it will be by no means a battle for the international championship. Rather, it will furnish an occasion for strengthening by friendly athletic rivalry the ties of friendship between the peoples of England and New England. The events on turf-track and cinder-path and field will afford much exciting sport, inasmuch as the teams on each side are pretty evenly matched, while the intermingling of the husky undergraduates of the finest old universities of both countries in the exchange of social amenities will gracefully contribute to international concord.

"More hopeful argonauts never left harbor. Victory in a majority of the events was confidently predicted—provided always, however, that the athletes shall not be too badly upset by seasickness and that the climate of England shall not prove too violent a change from that of home.

Coach Mack, if Yale, usually averse to the role of prophet, spoke with the utmost confidence in predicting triumph.

"Nothing but a complete breakdown can stop our boys,' he said. 'Even last week, while preparing for the meet, nearly all of them broke their own records. Until our last trials, it looked as if the English team would have a walk-over in the dash, the high jump and the distance run. We have improved wonderfully, though, of late, and it is not impossible for us to win every event on the programme.'

"Coach Donovan, of Harvard, was rather more conservative.

"'Our boys are fit to go on the field to-day and win easily,' he said, 'but the sea voyage and the change of climate may affect them seriously. We ought to take six out of the nine events, no matter what happens.'

"Captain Foster, of Harvard, and Captain Kilpatrick, of Yale, were equally enthusiastic."

JUNIOR LEAGUE MEETS.

Minor Soccer Organization Holds Weekly To-night.

The Junior Soccer League of the P.Q.F.A., will meet this evening at the Central Y.M.C.A. Building at 8.15 o'clock to receive reports of referees and transact its usual business.

This evening's meeting promises to be a quiet affair compared with some sessions the league has held recently, only routine matters being on the table.

TO GOVERN ALL CANADIAN SOCCER PRESIDENT ROBERTSON, OF TORONTO, WHO IS HERE BOOSTS THAT PURPOSE

Mr. Tom Robertson, President of the Toronto Soccer League and secretary treasurer of the Ontario Soccer League is in town this morning, with an interesting scheme for the arrangement of a governing body to control the Soccer game throughout the country.

Mr. Robertson believes that the time is ripe for the change, and he also thinks that if the game could be centrally governed, the internecine strife which breaks out from time to time and spoils some of the brightest outlooks would be discouraged, and rendered practically impossible. He visited Mr. Fred Barter, president of the P.Q.F.A., during the morning, and consulted with him on the scheme. It is probable that the P.Q.F.A., will lend its support to the plan and thus make it practically assured.

Mr. Robertson is visiting Montreal on his vacation, and is taking the opportunity to sound local conditions in view of this scheme.

Mr. Robertson is also a lacrosse fan and he came down with the Toronto lacrosse team on Saturday hoping to see the Winged Wheel aggregation bite the dust. While disappointed in the result, Mr. Robertson does not hesitate to admit that the Montreal team was superior on Saturday's play.

The Toronto game with the Cornishians will be played on the Rosedale grounds, which Mr. Robertson declares is the finest soccer pitch in Ontario.

CAPTAIN FOULKES WILL BE IN OTTAWA

Tennis Champion Will Defend His Title in Dominion Tourney at Capital This Month.

Ottawa, July 12. — The committee in charge of the Canadian National Lawn Tennis Championships, which are to be decided in the Ottawa courts, Third avenue, in the week beginning July 24th, has finally decided upon its programme. It will include: All-comers' singles for national championship, the winner to play Captain J. F. Foulkes for the Canadian Challenge Cup; men's handicap, open to all comers; men's doubles, national championship, the winners to play Messrs. Allan and Sherwell, present holders; ladies' handicap, open to all comers; mixed doubles, open; ladies' open singles, national championship, the winner to play Miss Moyes, of Toronto, holder of the Canadian challenge cup; ladies' doubles, open. The rules of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association will govern, and all matches will be decided by the best two in three advantage sets, except in the men's finals when three sets out of five will be played. Matches will be played on grass courts. All entries must be in by Friday, July 21. Mr. M. B. Connell, 136 Nepean street, is the honorary secretary.

Captain Foulkes will certainly be here to defend his titles. Schwenger, the present British Columbia champion, will accompany him. Work on the new grand stand will be proceeded with next week. These will be the first national championships ever decided in the Capital.

ST. PATRICK'S A. A. A. WILL HAVE ITS OUTING.

On Saturday afternoon, July 22nd, St. Patrick's A. A. A. will hold their annual outing to Lake St. Peter. The R. and O. steamer Three Rivers has been chartered and will leave Victoria Pier at 2 p.m., and return about 10 p.m. A first-class orchestra has been engaged. During the return trip a fine concert is being arranged at which some of the best local talent will contribute.

Reynolds Now Goes to G.T.R.

Rovers Player Gets Third Transfer—C.P.R. Players Censured.

Somewhat of a sensation was caused at the meeting of the first division of the P. Q. F. A. last evening when Reynolds, of the Royal Rovers, made application in the usual manner for his transfer from that club to the Grand Trunk.

Reynolds' action came as a complete surprise to the Rovers' delegates, but they had no objection to offer which could retard the transfer and it went through.

Reynolds, who is a speedy winger, has already transferred once from the Rovers, going to C. P. R., but before he had played a game with the Angus team, he returned to the Rovers and was regarded as a fixture for the rest of the season. Tullis transferred from the G. T. R. to the Sons of Scotland.

Duff, of the C. P. R., was censured by the League for his conduct in leaving the field in the C. P. R.-Locos game some time before the game finished.

The secretary was instructed to write to the secretary of the Angus A. A. A., calling the Association's attention to the poor accommodation provided for visiting football teams, the particular complaint being lack of water.

YESTERDAY'S BIG GAMES.

Results Considered Realization of Cecil Rhodes Ideals.

London, July 12.—The London morning papers are delighted with the success of the Inter-University athletic contest and the sportsmanlike spirit displayed by all concerned. The Daily Express regards it as most appropriate that the odd event was won by the aid of an American Rhodes scholar, Putnam, which was the best proof of good sportsmanship and the success of Rhodes' ideals. It was also a reminder that England and America are one family.

Sporting Life is convinced that after such a glorious result a return match will be arranged before another seven years elapse.

KING EDWARD PARK'S MILE TRACK.

It is announced that as soon as the racing season is finished work will be commenced upon a mile track to take the place of the present half-mile race course. Mr. Laurendeau has decided to put his track in the same class as Blue Bonnets, and some of the other well known Canadian and United States tracks, and as there is lots of land available, the track is expected to be ready for next Spring.

THE EASTERN CANOE TOURNEY NEXT WEEK

Great Preparations for the C.C.A Regatta at Cartierville, July 22nd.

Preparations are going on rapidly for the big Eastern Division Regatta of the C. C. A. The Cartierville Boating Club, under whose auspices it will be held, on July 22, are doing their very best to ensure a successful regatta, and with the help of the experienced officials appointed by the C. C. A. will run this regatta to the satisfaction of both spectators and competitors. The prizes, which will be on view very soon in a St. James street window, are the finest ever put up for an event of this kind. The two war canoe events will be the feature, keen competition being expected, about eight crews will start, with three pronounced favorites, St. Lambert, Cartierville and Grand Trunk. These three crews are very evenly matched and are practicing hard.

Evans Goes To Syracuse

Deal is Readjusted—New Big Noise Pitcher Now Being Dickered For.

A readjustment of the deal between the Montreal club and Syracuse as announced in yesterday's Star, was made yesterday and the manaagement announces this morning that Sitton and Evans will be turned over to Syracuse, while Glaze will be held for a while, but may eventually find himself a member of the Utica Club.

The team returns home, suffering from injuries and sickness. Hardy will be out of the game for a day or so with his bruised and swollen elbow, while Holly is still sick. French will climb back into the game to-day, however.

In the circumstances all proposed deals with Buffalo for an infielder have been called off.

The management is dickering for a No. 1 major league heaver, with a fair chance of success, at last. President Lichtenhein has turned down dub heaver after dub heaver offered by major league clubs through the season, but he asserts that if this man comes he will have the goods.

No names can yet be mentioned in connection with this deal, but an announcement is expected in a day or so.

C. C. A. Meet is On Saturday

Cartierville Club Making Arrangements for Successful Day.

Everything points towards one of the best and largest canoe meets Eastern Canada has held when the C.C.A. meet is pulled off at Cartierville on Saturday, July 22. The Cartierville Boating Club, under whose auspices the meet is being held, are making all arrangements necessary to ensure the success of the regatta well in advance, waits between races being eliminated as far as possible.

The prize list is a handsome one and the trophies will shortly be on view. The war canoe events are expected to produce exciting finishes, the Grand Trunk, St. Lamberts and Cartierville clubs being very evenly matched this year.

Regals Beat St. Marie.

Regals defeated St. Marie in a closely contested game by 11 to 10. The feature of the game was the batting of Price and Wheaton for the Regal Club. Batteries—Wheaton and Price, Regals; Leblanc, Larocque and Bessette, St. Marie.

ROYALS ROAD TRIP WHICH ENDS TO-DAY NOT AS SUCCESSFUL AS IT MIGHT BE UP TO THE PRESENT

Section of huge crowd expected to watch Montreal-Toronto game in Ottawa to-morrow.

Reading from left to right the figures are: Real live sport from Hull; prosperous hay merchant of Sparks sitreet; famous politician and orator, M.P. for Squeegiac. N.B.; youthful Senator under impression that he is watching golf championships; one of our country's brave defenders suppressing overwhelming desire to yawn.

With to-days double header in Toronto, the road series will end and the Royals will return to Atwater for a long series with Toronto, Buffalo, Newark, Jersey City, Baltimore and Providence in the order named. This will bring the club up to the second of August, when they start another road trip at Providence.

The road series, which ends to-day, has not been a very successful one up to date for the Royals, although by gathering in two victories to-day and winning at Ottawa to-morrow, they can return here with an average for the last part of the series of .545, which wouldn't be so dusty.

Since they started the last part of the trip at Buffalo on the Glorious Fourth, the team has won one from the Herd and lost two, won two and lost two at Rochester, and lost the only game played in Toronto, a total of five losses and three wins, which is not good enough for a team with pennant aspirations.

The opposition has been whaling our heavers hard, as the dope testifies. Since the third of July opponents have garnered forty-six runs from Royal twirlers, while the Montreal team to date has secured but thirty-two, which gives us an average licking of five and a fraction runs to four in each of the eight games played.

Nevertheless there is room for rejoicing. At this time last year, the team was in last place and looked as if it would never get out.

It had the glorious percentage of .358, having won 24 games and lost 43.

Jersey City Has an Ump. Riot.

Jersey City, N.J., July 12. Baltimore nosed Jersey City out in a spirited exhibition yesterday, winning by a score of 3 to 2. In the third inning during an argument Umpire Jack Doyle banished Manager Jack Ryan and Right Fielder Wheeler and Catcher Tonneman from the grounds and this angered the fans, resulting in the mobbing of the umpires at the close of the contest. Umpire Doyle was hit in the face by a bottle thrown by a rooter and Killen was punched in the neck before a police rush cleared the grounds.

PICKED UP FROM THE DIAMOND.

For some unknown reason the trend of feeling in Ottawa seems to wish Montreal to win to-morrow's conflict.

They used to think hens' teeth were scarce, but hens' teeth are a heavy crop compared to successful pitchers this year.

If Mr. Magee wallopped Tom Finneran as hard as the despatches say he did he should be a good candidate for the position of White Man's hope.

Big McConnell's win from Buffalo yesterday was his seventeenth victory this season. The Royals are the only club to have registered a clear victory over the human hairpin.

Besides indefinitely suspending Magee for his assault on Umpire Finneran, President Lynch, of the National League, has imposed a fine of $200 upon Magee. The fine is the limit allowed by the National League regulations.

The application of Vincent Campbell for reinstatement was granted without the imposition of a fine by the National Baseball Commission. Campbell before the 1911 season opened, formally notified the Pittsburg club of the National League of which he was a member he had decided to retire from professional baseball. Late in June he made application to the commission for reinstatement.

By a deal arranged yesterday between "Garry" Harrmamm, owner of the Cincinnati Club, and Horace Fogel, of the Phillies, Beck, the hard-hitting outfielder of the Reds, will hereafter wear a Philadelphia uniform. In exchange Fogel has turned over Humphries, of his pitching staff, and Shortstop Grieves, of the Hamilton, Ont., club, together with a money consideration.

ALL CANADA TENNIS TOURNEY GOING WELL

Many Matches of Vivid Interest Took Place in Toronto Yesterday.

Toronto, July 12.—Despite the rain, good progress was made in the All-Canadian championships yesterday. Some great tennis was seen. Baird again won easily, his accurate smashing at the net and hard line drives being too much for his opponent. Both Spanner and Henderson showed good form in their matches and were not extended to win.

In the open doubles, Laird and Hall won a hard game from White and Purdis. Baird and Witchall easily disposed of J. Bickle and Fawns. Burns and Smart won their game with ease, and will be keen contenders for the championship. Results:

Men's Open Singles.

Baird beat Wisgand, 8—2, 6—0.
Starr beat Dunlop, 6—4, 6—2.
Henderson beat Sykes, 6—0, 6—0.
Calder beat Bagley, 6—2, 6—7, 6—3.
Breckenridge beat McKinley, 5—7, 6—4, 7—5.
Langley beat Smith, 6—2, 6—4.
Witchall beat Samuel, 6—2, 7—5.
Spanuer beat Mackenzie, 6—2, 6—4.
Northey beat Davidson, 4—6, 7—5, 6—1.
Henderson beat Hambourg, 6—1, 6—0.

Men's Doubles.

CAPITAL CONFIDENT OF PLAYING DUPRAS

It is Claimed All the Clubs Have Consented to His Appearance.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, July 12.—"Dupras will undoubtedly play. We have wired for the consent of the different clubs, and unless something unexpected turns up, the Montagnes will line up with Capitals when they take the field against Cornwall here on Saturday."

The above statement by an officer of the Capitals does away with the rumors that Dupras would not be allowed to take part in Saturday's fixture; also it means that the locals will be considerably stronger, the ex-National home star having opened the eyes of the local management with his shifty and heady work on the home.

There may be one other change on the defence, but Coach Smith will not make his final selection until to-morrow night, when the team will work out in the sun for a final limbering up. The Capitals are confident of breaking their losing streak on Saturday, and while Cornwall have always proved a tough nut, they hardly appear good enough to take the measure of the twelve that Sam Bilsky has gathered together.

Cameron Still Wins.

Halifax, N.S., July 12. — In a twelve-mile race at Windsor, Fred. Cameron, of Amherst, defeated Johansen, the Swede, by over a lap, and he showed that he could have made the difference between them greater had he wanted. The winner's time was 68.54. Cameron led from the start. At the end of the fifth mile he was half a lap ahead, and when the eighth was completed a full lap was between the runners.

"Face" the Facts

Play a fair game with yourself. Match up the best cigarettes you've ever smoked—at any price—with

Black Cat

10 CIGARETTES FOR 10c.

Then ask yourself if you've ever known greater cigarette enjoyment than these give.

The smooth, even flavor of the sun-cured, straight Virginia tobacco in Black Cat Cigarettes make you wonder how the price is possible.

Honesty is the answer. Just the policy of the maker to give full value in the best possible cigarette.

Look for the Black Cat at your tobacconist's —to-day.

CARRERAS & MARCIANUS CIGARETTES, Limited, Montreal, Quebec

POSSIBLY you are one of those people to whom the need of a motor car is revealed only by the actual arrival of summer. Perhaps you are only now experiencing that longing which comes with balmy days, stirring in the breast of the city dweller a desire for means of easy access to the hills and dales of the green country.

Don't you realize, you tired business man—you doctor—you lawyer—that you and your family would reap a health benefit from the ownership of a car that would more than recompense you for the expense involved?

Particularly if you purchased the car that combines moderate price with utmost satisfaction,—

McLAUGHLIN-BUICK

Perhaps all you need to swing you over to a decision to purchase at once is a realization of the fact that a really dependable car may now be had at a reasonable price. When for $1,500.00 you can obtain a five-passenger touring car such as our Model 27, it is surely false economy to be without an automobile.

Another model that appeals to the man of moderate means is our No. 33, selling at $1,300.00, and offering all the comfort, speed, and appearance that you'll find in cars of other makes at one-third higher price.

That is not just an "advertising claim." It's a fact.

We are producing to-day at prices within the reach of moderate incomes, cars that are the envy of manufacturers asking at least one-third more.

That is because of our close association with the largest motor car factory in the world—our superior facilities—our determination to head the list on quality—adhering unswervingly to our inspiring motto: "One grade only, and that the best."

Don't toss aside this argument with an incredulous shrug. There's fact and reason behind it all that claims your belief, and believe it, you will, if only you'll do us the justice of coming to our garage to see for yourself the wonderful value represented by our line. Come to-day.

CAMORRISTS FEAR REVELATIONS OF CAPTAIN FABRONI

Witness Gave Names So Freely That Judge Cautioned Him to Be Moderate.

Viterbo, July 12.—Captain Fabroni, who, if not the star witness for the Crown, has at least made the accused Camorrists more uncomfortable than they have been made by any other occupant of the witness stand, to-day went deep into the political influence of the Camorra to-day, and mentioned names with a boldness that caused the judge to caution him to be moderate in his statements, whereupon the witness replied:

"I must say all, and give an exact picture of the prevailing atmosphere in order to strike a deadly blow at this criminal association."

Fabroni, in the guise of a clerk from the Ministry of Justice, devoted years to learning the alleged connection between the Camorra and the Neapolitan Judiciary. Along this line he said in substance:

"The Camorrist has no political ideals. He exploits the elections and the elected for gain.

"The leaders distribute bands throughout the towns and they have recourse to violence to obtain the vote of the electors for the candidates whom they have determined to support. Those who refuse to vote as instructed are beaten, slashed with knives or kidnapped. All this is done with assurance of impunity as they will have the protection of successful politicians who realize that they cannot be chosen to office without paying toll to the Camorra."

Prominent Men Named.

Asked to be more specific, Fabroni said he had especially in mind former Deputy Gargiulo and Count Ravaschieri. "The latter," he continued, "in 1904 hired the Camorra which at that time surpassed all precedents in corruption, abuses, and crime. During the election of Ravaschieri, Enrico Alfano, Giro Vitozzi, the priest, and Giovanni Rapi, promenaded the streets of Naples wearing large tri-color rosettes and as masters of the town, ordered all kinds of lawlessness to obtain their object."

It was at this point that the president cautioned the witness who, however, would not qualify his statement.

Blackmail the Chief Object.

During yesterday afternoon's sitting Captain Fabroni in dealing with the inner working of the organization, declared that the chief object of the organization was blackmail and usury. A typical example was to be found in the Camorrist Danna, ostensibly a cobbler, who collected $160,000. Special members of the association, he said, introduced youths to women, who take them to gambling places, where they lose their money and run into debt. Then the usurer completes the work.

Fabroni continued his testimony until late in the day. He said that nothing could escape the Camorra, which makes money out of everything and every person, including the poor emigrants going to America.

Senator Bailey Prevents a Vote

Interposes Three Hour Speech to Save Reciprocity Measure From Vote.

Washington, D.C., July 12—The interposition of a three-hour speech by Senator Bailey, of Texas, and the submission of one of his amendments to the Canadian reciprocity bill, prevented that measure from coming to a final passage in the Senate yesterday.

Senator Bailey's amendment, which was not voted on, omitted the agricultural provisions of the free list bill.

Chairman Penrose and the other leaders who are pushing the reciprocity bill through held the Senate in session until 7.15 p.m. From now on the Senate will be in session until 6 o'clock or later, and all efforts for delay will be frowned upon. This is expected to force the opponents of the measure to hasten their speeches and the presentation of their amendments.

Senator La Follette's long speech is expected any time after to-day. He will ask for a day after introducing his amendments, which he expects will be to-morrow or Thursday. Meantime his friends will try to prevent a vote until he can be heard.

MOVING PICTURE DISASTER.

Two Dying and Many Injured at Celong, Australia.

Special Cable to The Montreal Star.

Melbourne, July 12.—The perils of the moving picture shows were vividly brought home to Australians by the disaster which has just happened at Celong, when a biograph film ignited and the appearance of a tongue of flamt was followed by a stampede on the part of the panic-stricken spectators. The operator of the biograph machine behaved with great bravery. He caught up the burning film and rushed into the street with it.

The spectators, however, became terrified and dashed for the entrances falling over each other in their mad rush. Five women were seriously burned in the disaster, and two of them are dying.

WESTMINSTER CATECHISM.

Disapproved by Rev. Dr. Duval, of Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, July 12.—A radical debate on higher criticism and the new theology occurred at a meeting of the Winnipeg Presbytery yesterday when stagnation in Sunday School work was discussed. Rev. Dr. Duval said:—"What we want is a catechism of instruction that can't be impoached. The progress of philosophy and science has been such that many of the beliefs embodied in the Westminster Catechism are not tenable. The fact of the whole matter is that they are teaching their children an abominable philosophy that can't go down and until this is changed conditions will not change."

The "abominable philosophy" was apparently sections of the Westminster Catechism.

ROOF GARDEN FOR COMMONS.

So Members May Escape Wearisome Debates and Cool Off.

Ottawa, July 12.—For some years the idea of a roof garden on top of the Central Block of the Parliament Buildings has been considered, but this year the members may return to the work of the mid-summer session to find that the dream has turned into a reality.

Plans are now under way to change the flat roof of the House of Commons into a garden where the members may escape the tollsome debate and retire to breathe the invigorating drafts blown across the river from Hull.

CANNOT ARREST FOR NON-PAYMENT OF TAXI BILL

So Decides Judge Lanctot in Police Court Case Over Eleven Dollar Charge.

That the police have no power to arrest a man for refusing to pay his taxi-cab bill was the judgment rendered this morning by Judge Lanctot when Thomas Davis, 46 Victoria street, was arraigned on a charge of being drunk and refusing to pay for a taxi.

Judge Lanctot explained that while a man was compelled to pay for cab hire as a consequence of a civic by-law, there was nothing in either the city by-laws or the criminal code referring to taxi-cabs and as a consequence allowed Davis his liberty, although recommending that he settle for the taxi at once.

It was indeed a hard luck story that Davis told the Court that he was a chef by profession and had only arrived here on Monday in search of employment.

He explained that yesterday he met a number of friends, and during the afternoon decided to go for a ride in a taxi, at that time Davis alleges that he had $70 in his pocket. When he returned to his hotel he was presented with a bill of $11 for the taxi, and when he put his hand in his pocket his money was missing and it was for this reason that the taxi bill went unpaid.

HAD GUN, SHOWED FEAR AND ROBBERY FAILED.

Revolver Wavered and Would-be Victim Started Fight.

A story of an attempted hold-up and robbery was told in the Arraignment Court this morning, when Donation Forest, 334 Wolfe street, pleaded guilty to pointing a revolver at James St. George, Notre Dame street west, with the intention of committing robbery.

Detective Lajoie, who arrested Forest yesterday said Mr. St. George had complained to the detective department that on Saturday night, July 1st, three young men entered his establishment, and after looking over some goods, Forest turned upon him with a loaded revolver in his hand and demanded the contents of the till.

He said that Forest, who was only 18 years of age, might have succeeded but for the fact that as he pointed the gun he showed considerable fear, and at a moment when he looked around to see that his pals were still with him. Mr. St. George pounced upon him and knocked the revolver from his hand. While he was grappling with Forest the others took a hand in the scrap and before the police arrived all three had escaped, and it was not until yesterday afternoon that the detectives succeeded in locating Forest.

Forest will appear for sentence on Thursday the 20th.

'PHONE COMPLAINTS BEFORE THE BOARD.

Bi-lingual Difficulty is a Big One Here.

The Railway Commissioners concluded their July visit to Montreal yesterday afternoon. The only feature was the evidence of Mr. R. F. Jones, manager of the Bell Telephone Company, who replied to certain complaints that the company is not giving a good service. Mr. Jones said that one of the chief troubles was the bi- one of the chief troubles was the bilingual question, which militated against an all-round quick service, but that the Telephone Company will do all in its power to improve matters.

Mr. Mabee, the chairman, was inclined to give the company efery latitude in plew of the many difficulties and it was agreed to allow the matter to remain over until the next meeting of the Board in Montreal.

ALARM OF FIRE FOR ILLUMINATION.

Apparatus Got Through Crowd Without Mishap.

Illuminations on the Place Viger Station for the Laurier demonstration last night had the appearance of fire and a citizen who noticed the glare sent in an alarm for fire from box 151 while the reception on the Champ de Mars was at its height.

Apparatus of the central and east divisions under Instructor Doolan and District Chief Mann responded to the alarm and had to pass through the crowd, but this was accomplished without a mishap.

DORVAL ISLAND HAS BEEN SOLD.

Place One of Historic Interest in Lake St. Louis.

Dorval Island, in Lake St. Louis, was sold yesterday to a purchaser, whose name has not yet been made public. The price, it is understood, was a high one and in keeping with the increased values of lake front properties.

The Island is a place of historic interest and the ownership was once the subject of a famous law suit, in which the late Sir George Simpson was one of the parties involved.

THRILLING SCENE MARKED REVIEW IN PHOENIX PARK

Trooper Thrown, in Peril, Rescued by General Lyttelton and Staff.

Special to the Montreal Star.

New York, July 12—The Herald's Dublin cable says:

King George and Queen Mary completed their four days' whirl and Irish trip yesterday and depart to-day, leaving Dublin an enthusiastic, adoring wreck.

"It isn't the distance, it's the pace, that kills," exclaimed an Irish peer as he mopped his streaming forehead.

In the course of the ceremonies late last evening, when, on a quay of the Liffey, the King dedicated the Peter Fenelon Collier dispensary for the cure of tuberculosis patients, the King received a cable from the late New York publisher's son acknowledging his appreciation of the honor conferred by the King in dedicating the memorial, and expressing the hope that it may be of influence in the King's great work for Ireland.

All shades of opinion unite in speaking of the effect of the Royal visit. The tact of the King and the graciousness of the Queen have immeasurably strengthened the Throne in Ireland.

The King began yesterday's ceremonies with a review of a regiment of the Royal Irish Constabulary, men as ready to fight as to eat, and good at both. This was followed by an inspection of sixteen thousand troops in Phoenix Park.

A herd of deer got caught between the lines of troops. After a chase which excited the laughter of everybody the animals were finally driven away. Then an Irish terrier provided excitement. For an hour he raced up and down the open space in the parade grounds, pursued by troopers. Finally he was captured by a soldier.

Spectators get a Thrill.

A dramatic incident closed the review. The march past had been completed, and cavalry and artillery massed at one end of the grounds for the purpose of charging past the King. As the first detachment of cavalry thundered toward the Royal party a trooper was thrown and unable to move.

He would probably have been speedily trampled to death by charging horses had not General T. Lyttelton, commanding the troops in Ireland with a staff officer, ridden to the rescue. They dismounted and took up their positions beside the fallen man, facing the oncoming column. Regiment after regiment, battery after battery, wheeled just enough to avoid trampling the soldier and his saviors.

The King, Queen, and entire body of spectators held their breath. When all was over a mighty cheer went up. His comrades carried the wounded man from the field. The King and Queen sent word to the trooper that he should have every comfort.

REALTY REVIEW

VOL. I. MONTREAL, WEDNESDAY, JULY 12, 1911. No. 171

Valuable Lands

The value of a piece of land depends entirely on its location.

You wouldn't take a town lot on some lonely island in the Pacific as a gift although you could probably raise much better cabbages and voilets in your backyard than you could on the island of Montreal.

On this island you are in close touch with the madding crowd and that madding crowd is full of business. Their business success naturally helps yours, provided you have some investment they are also interested in.

You should be interested in the following lots:—

Corner of Guy and Dorchester. Good location for a large up-to-date apartment house or light manufacturing. Area 34,424 feet at $5.00 per foot. Easy terms to suit purchaser.

Several good lots on Esplanade Avenue. Any size or location. Purchasing conditions to suit any buyer. From $1.50 to $2.50 per foot.

Rockland Ave. Good situation on this very popular avenue at prices from 40 to 60 cents per foot.

7 nice lots, 29 x 100, corner of Bernard and Outremont Aves., 80c per foot. Payments on very easy terms.

Several lots on Cote St. Antoine Road, from 52½ cents to $1.50 per foot.

Property on the Boulevard from 65c to $1.00 per foot.

One specially attractive lot opposite Weredale Park suitable to the construction of 2 beautiful double houses, with uninterrupted light from three sides.

P.S.—We can sell you some of the most important parts of the Island of Montreal.

Summer Dresses

For afternoon dresses, nothing is cooler or daintier than dimity, either plain white with crossbarred or striped threads or in tiny sprigged patterns. Dimities seem somehow especially suited to little folks and even the colored patterns launder splendidly. Dimity may be trimmed with lace or embroidery, but the embroidery should be of the finest quality with a ground fabric as sheer as the dimity. It seems superfluous to add that only laces of fine and good quality should be used on children's clothes. Nothing is so atrocious as cheap lace, the cheaper for many a tubbing, on a little girl's frock.

Embroidery flouncings make charming white dresses for afternoon wear, and if one is watchful for opportunities, very good flouncings may occasionally be picked up at low price. These may be put together with val lace insertions, plain, fine white lawn being used in conjunction with the flouncing where necessary. A pretty way to use the flouncing is to have it run straight across the bodice and out over the arm in seamless peasant style, lace being inserted between the scalloped edges of the embroidery over shoulder and top of sleeves and the edge of the embroidery forming front and back of a shallow square neck. The embroidery may be turned and mitred at the edge of the sleeve or a finish of lace may be added. This embroidery bodice is rather short waisted and is attached to a straight, gathered skirt of the flouncing under a sash of ribbon.

When the waistline is high in the Dutch or "Empire" fashion, the sash is usually finished with rosettes, either at the back, or on each side of the front. With the long waisted French style of frock, with its abbreviated skirt the sash is tied loosely around the body and allowed to droop in a soft, big bow, at one side of the back, the ends of the handsome ribbon falling the least bit below the short petticoats. Little girl's skirts are rather soft and limp to give the narrow effect fashionable just now, all bouffancy being avoided. Very soft and graceful are the voile and marquisette dresses which are often embroidered with squares, dots and geometrical figures in color. Such frocks have slightly gathered skirts finished at the bottom with a deep hem. The sash ribbon matches the dominant color in the embroidery.

For play wear, many small girls, like their brothers, wear brown khaki, but this material is too worm for anything but a mountain or seashore temperature. The brown khaki frocks, made with utmost simplicity and worn with brown short stockings brown sandals or low shoes and black patent leather belt and tie, are exceedingly smart. A panama or peanut straw shade hat, wound with a white scarf should accompany such a costume. Beneath the play frock the little girl now almost invariably wears loose knickers or bloomers, which save a deal of wear and washing in the way of white cambric undergarments.

The New Handkerchiefs

Handkerchiefs with some color continue in demand. Quite new are those handkerchiefs with slashed borders. The handkerchief has the conventional hemstitched border, an eighth or a quarter inch wide. This is slashed in fancy design, blocks or rectangles being cut out quite around the handkerchief. These slashes are button-hole stitched in color. Handkerchiefs of this kind in black and white are in good taste for mourning.

Another novelty is the handkerchief with embroidered figures in quite startling colors—in one corner. Grenadiers, soldiers a-horseback and sailor boys, as well as characteristic people of far distant lands, are wrought out by hand in most carefully placed stitches. In passing, it may be said that there is great doubt as to whether handkerchiefs of this sort will obtain favor on this side of the water.

The Chantecler is still with us; handkerchiefs with the Chantecler as well as the hen pheasant outlined in color in one corner are seen.

The hems of a solid color, either with or without a design in color, stamped within the hemstitching, are very popular. Seldom is a hem wider than a quarter inch.

Madeira-made handkerchiefs are as popular as ever, and rightly so, for they are exceedingly beautiful. Some of these have the button-holed edge, while others are hemstitched, the handwork appearing in corner designs only.

The Poets Corner

To a Very Little Maid.

Whatever flowers fairest blow
And sweetest are of scent,
Smooth paths no thorny briars know—
Mid fields where pleasant waters flow,
Through woods that loving shadows throw,
Be thine, sweet innocent.

Whatever earthly happiness
May be to mortals lent,
Ne'er overcast by dire distress,
Nor dimmed by troubles that depress,
Unmarred by aught that will not bless,
Be thine, sweet innocent.

A maiden sweet and fair to see,
Kind Nature thee hath meant;
A mind that judges carefully,
Well stored and trained and error-free,
A heart that draws true worth to thee,
Be thine, sweet innocent.

DAILY FASHION HINT

A NEW PSYCHE HAIR-DRESSING THAT LENDS HEIGHT.

Most women look better, in evening dress, with the hair dressed high on the head, and when the face is oval and the contour of the head good this new classic coiffure, built without a "rat" or foundation of any sort, is charming. The hair is parted in front and waved softly over the ears and forehead. At the back there is a high knot made with the ends of the hair, or, if the natural hair is not long enough, with a cluster of puffs or one large puff. Around the base of this knot is twisted a coil of long hair or a braid.

SOME TRIED RECIPES

Lobster Newberg.

Take freshly boiled lobsters, or a can of lobster meat, using the best grade you can buy. If the latter, drain from the liquor and heat in the chafing dish or small stewpan with a little butter. A single ball will be enough. Cover to simmer and add three tablespoonfuls of fine sherry wine. Beat two eggs well and add to the lobster. Stir very slowly, and when beginning to thicken turn down the blaze and serve with wafers. If you prolong the stirring process your Newburg may curdle in a twinkling. It is always better to cease mixing at the first sign of creaming.

Welsh Rabbit Sandwiches.

For lunch these are very good, and they have the double value of being equally satisfactory, hot or cold. There is really no rabbit to them. You simply crumble cheese into a dish over the fire and wait for it to melt. When it does, pepper well and spread on buttered strips of toast, cut thin, and cover with another strip, making a sandwich. Serve with tea and olives or spiced pickles.

Wigwam Potatoes.

Take mashed potato and form into small round portions and brush with a little butter and cracker dust. Place them in a low pan in a very quick oven and let them brown. Serve with little French peas, using half a small can drained from the liquor and heated in a very small amount of white sauce made of flour and butter with a little milk.

Health and Beauty

The Care of the Hair.

Don't put the hair in crimping-irons, because they are sure to destroy it in the long run.

Don't wash the hair frequently in cold water, because it causes it to fall out.

Don't use a hair-dye, because all hair-dyes in unskilled hands are apt to be injurious.

Don't apply any pomade or grease to the hair unless the scalp is very dry, because Nature usually supplies enough grease from the glands in the scalp.

Don't on any account use any animal fat on the head, because it becomes rancid and irritates the skin.

Don't allow split hairs to remain; cut off a quarter of an inch once a fortnight.

Don't have a dry shampoo containing carbon tetrachloride, because the fumes are very poisonous.

A Few Hints.

To promote the growth of scanty, falling hair, thoroughly comb and brush the dead hairs out of the head every night, then rub a little of the following lotion into the scalp for ten minutes once or twice a day: Vinegar of cantharides 4 drachms, tincture of cinchona 2 ozs., rectified spirit 2 ozs., and rose-water to make the whole up to half a pint. Mix and shake well and then add half an ounce of glycerine, and mix and shake well again. The act of rubbing this lotion into the scalp increases the circulation of the blood, which leads to renewed growth of hair.

For hair which hangs in long, greasy strands and easily becomes matted, wet the brush with the following lotion and brush well into the hair night and morning: Carbonate of potash half a teaspoonful, borax 1 1-2 teaspoonsful, rectified spirit 2 ozs., and rose-water to make the whole up to one pint. In the course of a few days the hair will become somewhat less greasy, and even a little curly.

For hair which is dry and scurfy, use the brush on the hair itself, but not on the scalp, and apply a little of this lotion to the scalp once or twice a day: Salicylic acid 30 grains, bay rhum half a pint.

The Fashions of the Moment

In spite of repeated warnings, that eccentricity is not appreciated in the highest circles of le monde ou l'on s'habille, at present there is far too great a tendency in that direction, which is doubly a pity, for it is energy misdirected, seeing that there is so much that is charming in fashion now without seeking out what are errors on the part of La Mode. There are two very notable traits to be remarked on—one is the liking for light mousseline overdress over a foundation of bright color for afternoon gowns, and the other is the increasing vogue for rich and handsome fabrics made in rather mediaeval style.

The little short coats which the French term vestes are having an ever-increasing success, especially in taffetas or charmeuse with foulard or lace frocks. Narly all of them have narrow fluted basques, and are shorter in front than behind, not always becoming to the average figure, it must be owned. Many of them boast highly ornamental collars in embroidered linen or muslin, often lined with a bright, contrasting color, and being fastened across the chest with one or two buttons, allow but little display of the frilled one-sided jabot, which is fast becoming the property of the multitude rather than the elect.

One of the small trifles which make perfection just now is the artificial corsage bouquet, composed of various flowers fashioned with the art that does outrival nature, so perfect are they, and scented correctly. These trifles are not cheap, but then good flowers never are and only the best is permissible where artificial flowers are concerned. Some of the leading French houses send out a corsage bouquet with each gown.

The velvet or ribbon belt, tied in stiff upstanding loops at the left side with short ends fringed with silk or beads, is a noteworthy feature on the toilette habillee, and is placed at only a slightly raised waist-line.

Skirts fairly tight and fairly short are still the general wear for the street and if the close fit is not extreme one can have no quarrel with them. But for State occasions and gala attire there is far greater amplitude and length, in fact the newest gowns all show an inclination towards a short train. The loose panel back is a smart innovation, and the newest form of tunique is an apron panel back and front in filet lace or embroidered muslin. A little drapery is apparent in this class of skirt generally. There is no sign of the tunique being displaced, and often it takes the form of a jacket in mousseline, especially with those who cling to some pretence of an over-covering. The return of the flounced skirt has also to be reckoned with, the flounces shaped, not full-ed, preserving the slim, narrow outline. They look particularly well in taffetas brode or broderie Anglaise, and the bodices are trimmed fichu fashion to match, belted in at the waist after the approved style of 1830. And to carry out this illusion we have the crinoline sleeve, held out below the elbow by wires. Nor are the high crowned hats unlike some of those worn in those far-off days, survivals of the Directoire style, with high montante bows towards the back or feathers poised behind. Many styles go to make the millinery world this summer, but these curious high shapes are the ones that are fast gaining ground. They have an undoubted air of smartness, but everything depends on the manner of wearing them, a truth which applies not only to millinery, but is indeed the fundamental axiom in the world of dress.

GIRL'S PEASANT DRESS CLOSING AT SIDE-FRONT

10 to 14 Years.
To Be Worn Over Guimpe.

The dress that closes at the front is always a practical one for young girls. It can be slipped on and off with ease and without assistance, and this model is essentially smart. In the illustration, it is made of batiste trimmed with striped lawn cut on the bias, but the model will be found a good one for various seasonable materials. For more dressy occasions, it can be made from flowered batiste, from white lawn or from linen; and for morning wear, chambray, gingham and materials of the kind are appropriate. The model also is a good one for light-weight wool materials. As the dress can be worn with or without a guimpe, it becomes adapted both to cool and warm days.

The dress consists of blouse and skirt. The blouse is cut in one with the sleeves and has only the back and the under-arm seams. The skirt is cut in five gores, the two are joined by a belt, and the closing is made with buttons and buttonholes.

For a girl of 12 years of age will be needed 5 yards of material 27 ins. wide, 4¼ yards 36, or 2⅞ yards 44 ins. wide, with ⅞ yard 27 in. wide for the trimming.

The pattern, No. 6985, is cut in sizes for girls of 10, 12 and 14 years of age, and will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper on receipt of ten cents. (If in haste send an additional two-cent stamp for letter postage, which ensures more prompt delivery.)

Montreal's Welcome to Sir Wilfrid Laurier

sembled clubs on the wharf and the music of the numerous bands had made impossible the hearing of the blasts of whistles and the boom of welcoming guns farther down the river.

Soon the electric-light-invested Druid, on which were the Premier and his associates hove into sight and the crowd gave a mighty cheer as the thousands composing it realized that the object of their demonstration was at last nearing the landing stage. The shrill piercing of the syrens of the motor boats in the vicinity of Victoria pier and the deeper blasts of the larger craft soon heralded the aproach of the Druid, as the government steamer slowly and carefully came up to her berth at the western end of the pier allotted for the flotilla.

The craft accompanying the Druid, being smaller and more easily docked, tied up to the pier a minute or so earlier than the ship bearing the Premier and his party and many of those who had accompanied Sir Wilfrid up the river were on hand ready to give him welcome.

Prominent among these were Major Stephens and Mrs. Stephens, Mr. C. C. Ballantyne, Mr. L. E. Geoffrion, of the Harbor Commission; Mr. James McShane, Harbor Master, and Chief Engineer Cowie. To all Sir Wilfrid gave a smiling greeting and leant over the rail, shaking hands cordially with many of his old-time friends and associates.

On landing, Acting-Mayor Gauvin, on behalf of the corporation of the city, read an address of welcome to the premier, the text of which was as follows:

Official Congratulations of the Corporation.

To the Right Honorable Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Prime Minister of Canada.

Right Honorable Sir:

On the occasion of your passage through Montreal, the Members of the City Council deem it their duty to welcome you most sincerely and to congratulate you upon your happy return to Canada.

Our citizens acknowledge with pleasure that Canada was honorably represented during the Coronation festivities as well as during the important deliberations of the Imprial Conference. The great organs of public opinion in England, even those who differed with you in many respects, rendered unstinted homage to your eloquence, your towering influence and your sterling qualities as a statesman; they acknowledged that Canada occupied the foremost position in the great assizes of the Empire.

If, in the past, Canadians were proud of being represented in London by such men as Macdonald, Cartier, Thompson and Tupper, they have also reason to congratulate themselves upon having at the present time as their representative in the capital of the Empire, a man whose merit is universally recognized. They are pleased to see that, in the interesting deliberation of the Conference, in the midst of the most prominent men of the Empire, your opinion has often prevailed and has always been respected. As regards our relations with the Mother Country you have eloquently pltaded the cause of the Colonies.

Those in Canada, as well as in England, who do not share your opinion concerning the application of certain principles, admit, nevertheless, that on the great scene of the Capital of the Empire, you have played a part which does honor to Canada. Please accept, Sir, our most sincere congratulations."

Appreciates Welcome, a Canadian Citizen.

In reply to the civic address Sir Wilfrid said:—

"It is with profound emotion that I ask you to accept my sincere thanks for the welcome which you have extended to me on my arrival in Montreal. I thank you specially, Mr. Acting-Mayor, for the address which you have presented to me. I understand that in the City Council of Montreal, political opinions are divided and that you welcome me, not as a politician, but simply as a Canadian citizen. I appreciate the terms in which you spoke about the part I played at the Imperial Conference and which I interpret to mean that I simply did my duty. Once more, Mr Acting-Mayor, please accept my sincere thanks for the welcome which you have extended to me."

After this formality was completed, Sir Wilfrid with Acting-Mayor Gauvin entered the four-horse coach and commenced the triumphal march to Champ de Mars. To the cheerings of thousands of lusty-throated men and women the procession, headed by several bands and uniformed organizations went through the subway leading to Commissioners street, under the electric-illuminated flags of Canada and France, along Commissioners street to Bonsecours Square, and thence under and through the bright street to Champ de Mars.

Holiday Crowd Well Marshalled by Police.

Long before the hour fixed for the arrival of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, immense crowds had invaded streets leading to the City Hall from Victoria Pier. The police, however, had the gathering well under control. Inspector Grandchamp's men lined up along the water-front and kept the overanxious crowds away from the path of the procession. Very seldom has the police of Montreal been called upon to handle such large gatherings, and they acquitted themselves of their strenuous task in a manner which reflects credit upon the force. Without the slightest delay the parade of carriages and automobiles wended its way to the Champ de Mars, preceded by Inspector Leggett, with a squad of mounted men. The behavior of the mounted police was superb, the good-natured spectators being pressed back from the path of the parade as gently as possible and withal in a very effective manner.

As soon as the carriage bearing Sir Wilfrid had arrived at the stand erected midway between the City Hall and the Court House and the incoming crowds from the water-front had been left in charge of Deputy Chief Hebert and his force who looked after the demonstration on Champ de Mars, Inspector Grandchamp marched all his men to the Place Viger Hotel, where he reinforced Lieutenant Talbot, who had been keeping order there.

Inspector McMahon, with a force not quite adequate to the arduous task he had to contend with, looked after the migrating of the crowd from Champ de Mars to Place Viger Square. The genial Inspector however, was right at home and it was a well behaved following of people that escorted the Prime Minister to Viger Square. Over 150 men were detailed to look after the mass of humanity that gathered from Victoria Pier to Viger Square, and never in the history of the city of Montreal have they been handled in such a masterful way. At 7 p. m., the constables who were to be on duty for the night's work had already reported, and were lounging about the lawn in front of the City Hall, and when Inspector McMahon lined them up at 8 p.m., they presented a very impressive sight.

The stand on Champ de Mars was erected slightly to the left of the centre of the Square, about half-way between the City Hall and the Court House. On each side of the stand, were large signs reading "Glory to the Chief" and "Welcome Home."

Champ de Mars was illuminated in a manner which Montreal has seldom had a chance to witness. Reading from right to left and extending all round the field were signs surrounded by electric bulbs. "Canada's Pride," "A United Canada," "Canada First," "Grand Old Man," "The Country Salute You," "Gladstone of Canada," "Canada and Laurier," "Canada is Proud of its Representatives" and "The Great Canadian," they read.

As a background to the temporary stand where the Prime Minister was delivering his address could be seen an immense canvas stretching from the City Hall to the Court House and which read, "The Country is Satisfied with its Representatives."

Turning in from Commissioners street to Jacques Cartier Square, the first decoration that greeted the eye was "Welcome to the Premier." About fifty yards further on the Square "Defender of our Rights," caught the eye. "Long Live Sir Wilfrid" was the next good wish and just before reaching Notre Dame street, Sir Wilfrid was made acquainted with the fact that he had been compared with one of the gods of Mythology, when he was greeted as "The Nestor of the Conference."

The "Riendeau Hotel" on Jacques Cartier Square gave a fine display of illumination. Strings of electric lamps running from top to bottom of the house brought out such signs as "Vive Laurier," "Welcome Home," and "Honor to Our Prime Minister."

Right beneath the stand from which Sir Wilfrid Laurier bowed to the crowds in front of the Viger Hotel, could be discerned the letters "G. O. M.," and on each side of the balcony were electric signs reading "Welcome Home" and "The Country Salute You."

Great Crowd Gathered on Champ de Mars

The immensity of the crowd that gathered on Champ de Mars was not a mere figure of rhetoric when referred to by speakers, it was really phenomenal. The whole Champ de Mars was a sea of faces, from Gosford street to St. Gabriel street, and from Craig street not only to the Court House to the City Hall, but it could be said to Commissioners street, because all the space between the City Hall and the Court House, and all Jacques Cartier Square, including Notre Dame street, was thickly crowded with people anxious to see Sir Wilfrid Laurier and if impossible to hear, at least to cheer him. Those who could recall some of the large gatherings of Montreal compared it to the meeting held by Mercier on the Champ de Mars, in 1886, which was reported as having gathered 16,000 people and which, according to those who saw both, had less than one-fourth of the people at the meeting of last night. An idea of the immensity of the crowd will be given in mentioning that in some corners brass bands did not stop their melodies and in other corners, groups kept on singing "O Canada" without interfering with the speeches and those who were close enough to listen to the speakers.

Those accompanying Sir Wilfrid on the platform included: The Hon L. P. Brodeur, Minister of Marine and Fisheries; Hon. Sydney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture; Hon. R. Lemieux, Postmaster-General; Hon. George Graham, Minister of Railways; Hon. Mackenzie King, Minister of Labor; Senators Beique, Dandurand, Mitchell; Messrs. Honore Gervais, M.P. for St James; C. A. Wilson, M.P. for Laval; A. Verville, M.P. for Maisonneuve; A. Lanctot, M.P. for Richelieu; J. A. Lafortune, M.P. for Montcalm; J. A. Dubeau, M.P. for Jolliette; Geo. Parent, M.P. for Montmorency, Jos. Demers, M.P. for St. Johns; Clement Robillard, M.L.A. for St. James; M. Martin, M.P. for St. Mary; G. W. Stephens, president of the Montreal Harbor Commissioners, and C. C. Ballantyne, and L. E. Geoffrion, of the Montreal Harbor Commissioners; R. C. Smith, K.C.; Sheriff Lemieux, H. Biermans, Acting-Mayor Gauvin, Ald. Dandurand, Ald. L. A. Lapointe.

Justified National Hopes Is Term of Address.

Mr. Leon Garneau presented the following address to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, on behalf of the Liberal Clubs of the city:—

To Sir Wilfrid Laurier, G.C.M.G., Prime Minister of Canada.

"The Liberal Clubs of Montreal, following the usages and the traditions of the past, desire to bid you welcome after the noble mission that you have accomplished.

"Once more you have been faithful to your country and faithful to yourself. And you have plainly justified our national hopes.

"In circumstances singularly difficult, in the discussion of interests of the most important character with the other notable statesmen of the British Empire, you have clearly defined the respective rights of the Empire and of the Colonies. By your firmness and your prescience, by the art of steering clear of reefs and of settling thorny problems, you have still further justified your right to the title by which you are popularly known, that of the champion of Canadian autonomy.

"Neither the hostile clamors of a certain section of the overseas press nor the obstinate silence of another closer at home have turned you from the path of duty so plainly traced by your patriotism. The entire effort of your life, in fact, has been to dignify and to strengthen the position of your country. Every movement of your policy and every Imperial conference has marked a new conquest, a step in advance towards greater well-being and greater liberty.

"We are not unaware of the sounding of the clarion for the approaching battle. But be well assured, sir, that we will follow with enthusiasm the venerated chief who has made us still more proud of being Canadians.

Received Lesson in Nobility Declares Premier.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in replying to this address, said:—"I cannot but declare that I am deeply moved in the presence of this immense meeting—such an immense meeting that my eyes can hardly compass it—on my return for the fourth time from an official meeting of the Imperial Conference. Let me express my gratitude for this most hearty welcome, and let me thank you for having selected for your spokesman, Mr. Garneau, a bearer of one of the most honored of Canadian names, and grandson of our greatest national historian.

"In your address you have expressed your absolute confidence in me, and your satisfaction at the way in which I have represented your views in London.

"As you know, I had to represent Canada at the Coronation, and I may tell you that His Maesty King George V. gave me a new and most favorable impression of the dignity of the English monarchy. It was for me the greatest lesson I have ever had in the nobility and the greatness of British institutions. George V. was crowned with the same rites and ceremonies as his ancestors were 500 years ago, and thus the ceremony demonstrated not only the dignity of British institutions, but also the conservatism of them—using the word conservatism in the broadest sense.

Labor Represented at Coronation.

"Up to the 20th century only two classes of the population—the nobility and the clergy—were admitted to the Coronation ceremonies. On this occasion, the common people for the first time were admitted. For the first time in the history of Great Britain, and for the first time in the history of the world, it happened that workingmen were admitted as the representatives of their class to the crowning of a King in Westminster Abbey. It is only in the 20th century that the working classes have gained their admittance and their recognition into a position of honor never before occupied by them. They have been lifted to a place of honor, and recognized as equals with the oldest nobility. Thus has the world learned afresh that the British monarchy is the protector of democratic government. We Canadians had known for a long time that the British monarchy was the guarantee of greater liberty and a more real democracy than any other governmental institutions.

"But my presence at the Coronation was not the most important mission I had to fulfill. The most important was to represent Canada, with my colleagues, Mr. Brodeur and Sir Frederick Borden, at the Imperial Conference. Citizens of Montreal, I remember that when I left here some months ago, there were many doubts as to what would happen at the Imperial Conference. Many people were thinking that there would be found a reef on which the Government would be wrecked. But if there were doubts on that occasion, there appears to be none now, for my friends have been kind enough in their address here presented to me, to express their approbation of my conduct and the policy I adopted at the Conference.

"That is not a matter of surprise, because the policy I upheld there was the supreme expression of the political principles I have always advocated ever since I have had the honor of being chief of the Liberal party. For 23 years I have been leader of the Liberal party in Canada, and I have frequently repeated that I would not change that title of leader of the Liberal party for anything, though I hesitated to accept it when it was imposed on me. If I hesitated it was not because of lack of appreciation, but because I knew that in a bilingual country, the task before me would be a rather hard and painful one. But I accepted because, being selected by the majority of my English-speaking colleagues, whilst belonging to the French minority, I thought that my acceptance would be the best step towards the alliance of the two races.

"I adopted at the outset two principles. They were the acknowledgment of our duties as British subjects, and the claiming of our rights as citizens of Canada. This has been my line of policy for 23 years. This was the column of fire which led me during the night, and which protected me from the fierce beating of the sun in the daytime. And never have my friends or my enemies found that I have deviated from the path I set before me.

That double inspiration was also my leading thought at that Imperial Conference at which I represented my country. I will tell you what I conceive should be our relations to the Empire. We have always been pleased, and still are pleased, with our relations to the Empire, though I do not claim that they are perfect. All the ameliorations made or proposed to us were not always ameliorations. Some of them were beneficial changes, and some of them were drawbacks.

"It was proposed, for instance, that the relations between Canada and Great Britain should be submitted to an Imperial Council sitting in London. For my part, I did not want any such Imperial Council.

"It was also proposed to have over the Imperial Government another Government or Parliament elected by Canada and the other colonies to look after naval and military questions, determine the policy regarding these things, and transmit them to us for execution. To have adopted that would have been an abdication of our rights as citizens of Canada, and I refused my consent to it.

"What I proposed was that the relations of Canada and the other colonies with Great Britain should be determined first by the Government of the colony under a Cabinet responsible to the electors of that colony, and that that Government should then deal with the Cabinet of England, which is responsible to the electors of England.

Offended the Jingoes and the Nationalists.

"I could talk to you also about the decisions with regard to our treaties, but I reserve that. But I cannot forget that there was a class of men whom I myself happened to offend, though that is not any great misfortune. I offended or displeased two classes. One was the jingoes of Imperialism. You have seen for yourselves what they said. I offended them, and they in their papers attacked me and anathematized me for two months. But my health did not suffer by it; indeed, I felt it was rather an honor to be the object of their attacks.

"But that is not all. There is something that would be still worse if it were not comical. I was also abused and anathematized by the jingoes of Nationalism. What a fall! And when did the pure fall like that! Who would have believed that a day would come when there would be seen arm-in-arm—aye, even embracing each other—the leaders of the Nationalist party and the leaders of the Conservative party. It is true that they have something in common. All extremes touch, and they might easily be found melting into one. Their alliance shows that they have no principles. They have only one object and that is to pull Laurier down.

"But I have come back feeling in good health. It may be that I could be in better health, but I feel better than when I was young, and I still have a firm foot and a good eye. And at any rate this hybrid alliance will not last. After the coming elections, whether they win or lose, they will disband, because they will destroy each other.

His Opportunism Is Policy of Good Sense.

"Some people accuse me of opportunism. I should like to know what they mean. I wish they would define what opportunism is. There is one sure thing, and that is that the very people who accuse me of opportunism are the greatest opportunists of all. It is a sure thing that those who accuse me of opportunism do not know what they are talking about, for what they call opportunism is a policy of common sense—a policy I have always followed. It is not my fault if there are some people who are so narrow that they cannot understand it. But if there are such narrow-minded people, we cannot say that of the Canadian people as a whole—the people who have understood and approved that policy for the past fifteen years.

"I have had to face numerous problems in my long career, and I do not claim that my policy has always been understood by all. Many times I have had to stimulate the courage of some, and moderate the enthusiasm of others, but I am pleased to say that throughout the good sense of my fellow-citizens has supported me. And if my policy has sometimes not been understood at first sight it was always understood at long range, and it has always won in the end.

"Coming from England, and coming from the Imperial Conference, I have just closed one task, and a new one is awaiting me here. I am going to resume the fight in favor of reciprocity with the United States. For fifty years you have been looking for that reciprocity. For fifty years we have been asking the United States to lower the tariff. Many times we have proposed better relations with the United States. Every party has done the same whether Conservative or Liberal. Sir John A. Macdonald, Alexander Mackenzie, Blake—each went to Washington seeking better terms, but without success. We also made a pilgrimage in 1908, but we did not succeed. Then we declared that that pilgrimage would be our last, and that if our relations were to be bettered we would not go to Washington, but the Americans would have to come to Ottawa. And they did come last winter. They came and proposed that the tariff between the two countries should be lowered.

"What could we do in such circumstances. Our line of conduct was already traced for us. Since we agreed on the pact for the free interchange of natural products, the Conservative party has outlined a policy against us. We are told that they are inspired by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. I do not believe it, because the manufacturers are business men, and they know that the more prosperous the farmers are, the more prosperous the manufacturers will be.

"What has inspired the Conservative party to back down on their past policy is that they in their turn are inspired by jingoism—the jingoism of Imperialism. Is not that a reason why the citizens of Canada should be firm in their policy and true to their conditions? We are not looking for jingoism; we are looking for the prosperity of our people.

Tremendous Progress In Fifteen Years.

"We have been in power for fifteen years, and I can say with pride that Canada has not been stationary during that time. Compare the present conditions in Montreal with those of 15 years ago. Fifteen years ago the harbor of Montreal was only a point on the map. You had no trade. Now you have one of the best and most perfectly appointed harbors in the whole world.

"And if there was one thing I was pleased to do before leaving for England, it was to allow my friend and colleague, the Minister of Railways, Mr. Graham, to give the necessary guarantee for the building of a third transcontinental railway of which the terminus would be Montreal.

"But there is still much to be done. They say that the population of Montreal is over half a million. The destiny of this place as a commercial metropolis cannot be estimated to-day. I do not know what it will be when I am here no more, but I do think that I may fairly claim to have contributed to what it is now. I do not think I have many years yet to live, but as long as I live, and as long as God preserves my health, I will fight the battles I have fought for the last forty years, and I will do my best, and my modest share for the welfare of my countrymen. And when I am gone I hope that the young men at my side will follow my example. I tell them to follow my white plumes, which will always guide them in the path of honor.

"A last word and I am done. I reiterate that I cannot express as I would like to my sense of the honor done me at this the best demonstration I have ever received during my long life. I have never seen a nicer demonstration."

Navy Really Canadian Says Mr. Brodeur.

Hon. L. P. Brodeur, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, followed the Premier and declared that the demonstration to the Canadian Premier was worthy of a comparison with all the festivities of the Coronation in London. Mr. Brodeur touched very lightly on live politics in a few references to reciprocity and to navy, the most important of his utterances being in connection with the latter. "You have been told this and that about the navy," said he, "and especially that the navy created by the government of Sir Wilfrid Laurier was not a Canadian Navy. You have been given all kinds of scares about the Imperial conference, but an official report of the last conference will be published shortly, and there you shall see not only that our navy is a real Canadian one, but that those who have been fighting it were acting only through spite and hatred of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his government."

Talking of the fiscal side of the Imperial conference, Mr. Brodeur said that Sir Wilfrid Laurier had made possible the fiscal independence of colonies by obtaining that all the old treaties of England binding the colonies to give the treatment of the most favored nation to at least twelve countries would be amended and that Canada would be left free to act as she pleaser in dealing her commercial treaties with foreign peoples. This, remarked the speaker, would allow the Government to remove one of the strongest objections against reciprocity with the United States. It was claimed that owing to those old treaties of England, by which Canada was bound, reciprocity would be extended without any returns, to at least twelve countries of Europe. Owing to the wisdom of Sir Wilfrid Laurier that objection made at home was destroye din the Mother Country.

The Minister of Marine remarked that it was through Sir Wilfrid Laurier that the Imperial Conference had decided to extend the Canadian naturalization all the rights pertaining to English naturalization, meaning that a naturalized Canadian would, after this conference be recognized as a British subject all the world around.

First Public Speech Here of Labor Minister.

After the conclusion of Mr. Brodeur's speech, there was a general demand for the Hon. Mr. Lemieux, but he had left the platform during Sir Wilfrid Laurier's speech and the Hon. Mackenzie King, Minister of Labor was invited to speak in his stead and received a hearty welcome.

It was the first public speech delivered in Montreal by the younger member of the Laurier cabinet. The Minister of Labor repeated in English what Sir Wilfrid Laurier had said in French, regarding the national policy. He insisted very strongly that Sir Wilfrid was quoted by his opponents in England, as a separatist, by his opponents in Quebec, as an imperialist, and by his opponents in Ontario as an annexationist. He made an eloquent eulogy, claiming that Sir Wilfrid was the champion of responsible government; not only in Canada, but in the whole British Empire. Of reciprocity, he said, that it would first of all benefit the workingman, his friends, who were the bulk of the population.

At the conclusion, Mr. Dandurand appeared at the platform and invited the audience to give three cheers for Sir Wilfrid Laurier and acting-Mayor Gauvin, and he was heartily responded to.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier was then escorted to the Place Viger Hotel, Mr. Honore Gervais, M.P., Ald. J. A. E. Gauvin, acting-Mayor, and Mr. Leon Garneau accompanying him in his carriage, surrounded by torch bearers and followed by at least a dozen brass bands. When at the hotel, Sir Wilfrid appeared on the balcony and bowed to the crowd and was cheered thrice more.

The Druid Escorted Into Port by Gay Flotilla.

(Staff Correspondence, on board the C. G. S. Druid.)

Until the lights of Montreal began to twinkle in the distance at 8 o'clock last evening, Sir Wilfrid's trip up the river aboard the government steamer Druid was devoid of outstanding incidents, with the exception of the two demonstrations, which were extended to the Premier on his journey at the gaily-decked ports of Three Rivers and Sorel.

Once the ministerial vessel hove within sight of Pointe aux Trembles, however, the scene as viewed from the Druid became an intensely dramatic one. This was despite the fact that the Druid with Sir Wilfrid on board had to anchor for over half an hour off Pointe aux Trembles, in order to await the proper moment to run full speed ahead of the thousands of people ahead of the escorting flotilla, within sight of the thousands of people who lined the wharfs.

From Sorel up to Pointe aux Trembles the Druid made good time, and the officers anticipated slowing down near Longue Pointe in order to arrive at Victoria Pier at the scheduled time of 8.30.

Unfortunately, owing to the speed which the government vessel made, it was 7.10 when the Druid sighted the awaiting throng on the Pointe aux Trembles wharf and heard the first cracking of cannon crackers and saluting guns on the Island of Montreal.

Motor Launch First of Welcoming Fleet.

The first intimation that the people aboard the government vessel received that they were so far ahead of time was from the daring crew of a motor launch which careerd down the river and circled around the Druid. On coming within hailing distance of the vessel, the men in the motor launch stood up in their seats and shouted: "Stop right there; you people are an hour ahead of time!"

Then the curious spectacle was witnessed of the government steamer, with the Primt minister on board, casting anchor opposite Pointe aux Trembles and remaining stationary in the channel for half an hour within plain view of the city of Montreal awaiting the dramatic moment to arrive in the harbor. Three large tugs of the Sincennes-Macnaughton line had already met the ministerial steamer and they also cast anchor astern of the government vessel.

At 7.50, while many of the ministerial party were still at dinner, the procession up the river made its real start, accompanied by about twenty vessels.

It was then that the riot of noise which must have been heard throughout the grtater part of the city was started. The twenty odd vessels screeched the announcement that Sir Wilfrid Laurier was on the way up the river to Montreal, and the red, white and blue lights strung out from the masts of the Druid, steaming ahead of the flotilla, proclaimed to the spectators, lining the wharves, that she was the steamer which bore the Prime Minister of Canada up the river.

Syrens and Search Lights Play Parts.

As heard aboard the Druid, the noise was almost deafening. The Druid herself gave vent to fanciful screeches, alternated by sonorous whistles, while the entire flotilla took up the chorus with hoarse roars.

Searchlights from Dominion Park and from three of the Sincennes-Macnaughton line tugs played their illuminating shafts of lights about the St. Lawrence, bringing the whole procession into bold relief.

Rarely have the waters of the St. Lawrence been plowed into deeper furrows than they were by the flotilla coming up the river. To those looking from the stern of the Druid in the dim light of the advancing night, it was easy to imagine that this was an armada bearing up the river to capture the metropolis of Canada.

Darkness fell just as the tall factory buildings of Maisonneuve with their twinkling lights hove into sight, and then an entrancing spectacle was beheld from the decks of the Druid, the brilliant fireworks and lines of electric lights at Dominion Park being the first to command the eye.

Simultaneously, Longueuil seemed to burst into a sea of multi-colored fire, the display from that town and from St. Helen's Island vieing with one another to provide the most spectacular sights as viewed from the ministerial steamer.

Far up the river, the illuminated arch erected at the point where Sir Wilfrid ultimately landed blazed forth its message of "Welcome," and "Bienvenue," while the searchlights from the steamers playing on shore revealed piers which were densely packed with humanity.

Amid the din of screeching whistles, the first direct sounds from the shore were heard when the Druid passed the brilliant lights of Sohmer Park, and then the strains of "O Canada" and the plaudits of the people were heard across the water.

Premier Gazes Silently on Great Display.

All this time, Sir Wilfrid Laurier was seated in a wicker rocking chair on the aft deck of the Druid, enjoying the fairy-like spectacle, although he said little to the group around him, to betray his real feelings. It was only when the Druid approached the city wharf, near the welcoming arch, that Sir Wilfrid rose from his seat, and nodded his head to the remarks of Hon. Mr. Lemieux and Hon. Mr. Sidney Fisher, who called the Prime Minister's attention to the crowds lining the wharves.

The Druid left Quebec on its way up the river at 1 o'clock yesterday morning, arriving at Three Rivers shortly after 10 o'clock, and despite the inconvenient hour of the forenoon, a goodly proportion of the old city's population lined the wharves to welcome him. The Prime Minister was greeted at the gangway by Hon. Jacques Bureau and Mr. J. N. Tessier, M.L.A., the latter reading the address in which Sir Wilfrid was eulogized for the manner in which he had represented Canada in London.

Sir Wilfrid delivered a gaily worded speech in reply. After referring briefly to the Imperial Conference, and to the subject of colonial autonomy he turned to the ladies on the terrance and remarked that Mrs. Pankhurst had once asked him concerning the progress of the suffragette movement in Canada, and that he had replied: "The women of Canada do not need the suffrage, since they govern themselves already."

Gallant Sir Wilfrid Kissed Young Women.

Before the Premier boarded the steamer to continue the trip from Three Rivers, an incident was witnessed on the wharf which aroused good-humored applause from the populace. Just as Sir Wilfrid was approaching the gangway, a young woman rushed out of the crowd and shook hands with the Premier. Without a moment's hesitation, Sir Wilfrid put his arm around the young lady's waist, beat and kissed her.

Behind the Premier, four stalwart men of Three Rivers bore a "Laurier Tree," which, it is said, required one month's tending in the city in anticipation of the Premier's return. The "Laurier tree" was placed aboard the Druid, and spread its green foliage in the stern of the vessel, from whence it will be duly transferred to Ottawa.

Profuse decorations decked the wharf at Sorel when the Druid landed there. On landing at the wharf, Sir Wilfrid and the ministers accompanying him were surrounded by an immense crowd of people. Mayor Lafreniere read the address of welcome, to which the Premier replied, eulogizing the electors of Sorel for what he called their faithful stand by the Liberal party.

During the trip up the river a departure was noticed. Since the Canadian navy was authorized by Parliament, Hon. Mr. Brodeur, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, has issued instructions that the Canadian flag at the stern of Government vessels should be gracefully dipped either to the whistles from passing steamers or the plaudits from the shores. This practice was followed until Vercheres was reached, but to the people aboard the Druid it seemed somewhat cold-blooded that the Premier's steamer should pass all the whistling dredges and passing steamers in dignified silence, so when the crowds on the south shore became thicker, the Minister of Marine countermanded his orders and thereafter the Druid gave vent to more readily understood siren calls in response to the whistling steamers and fireworks from the wharf.

It was only when ocean-going vessels passed that the crew of the Government steamer gracefully dipped the flag, while Hon. Mr. Brodeur stood erect on the upper deck and responded to the salutes of captains of the passing steamers.

Fleet from Port Welcome the Druid.

A large number of steamers decorated from stem to stern with flags and bunting, left their moorings at an early hour to meet the C. G. S. Druid. The first boats to leave met the Druid below Pointe aux Trembles while she was anchored. As soon as the homeward journey was resumed, these vessels followed in the wake of the Druid forming a brilliant marine procession. As the fleet drew near to the docking pier, numerous smaller craft joined, every ship creating as much noise as possible with their syrens.

The steamer Alphonse Racine, of the Harbor Commissioners, with a large party on board, including Major Stephens, chairman of the Harbor Commissioners, and Mrs. Stephens; Mr. C. C. Ballantyne, F. E. Geoffrion, Senator Beique, Mr. F. W. Cowie, Chief Engineer of the Commissioners; L. A. Rivet, M.P., C. E. Gault, M.L.A., J. T. Flanie, M.L.A., M. Fennell, and Mr. Honore Gervais, K.C., M.P., met the Premier's boat at Point aux Trembles, giving the first official greeting from Montreal. The Racine accompanied Governmeent steamer up the river and preceded her to Victoria pier, where she docked.

The steamers Boucherville and Imperial also met the Premier down the river at an early hour, each with a party from various Liberal clubs of the city; the tug John Young carried members of the Harbor Commissioners staff.

Amongst the boats that took part in the procession up the river, following in the wake of the Druid, were the Sin-Mac, of the Sincenne-McNaughton Line, Limited, with Mr. G. O. Gravel, the president, and a party on board; the Hudson, Alaska, G. O. Gravel, Matilda, John Pratt, Ethel, Emma L., Alice, Imperial, Empress, Robert McKay, Alexander, John Young, Sport, Pirate, Eel, and Boucherville. A large number of private launches and sailing vessels also took part in the display.

THE NONSENSE OF COLONIAL "NEUTRALITY."

It is time that an end was put to the irresponsible and ignorant nonsense talked in some quarters about the possibility of the Colonies remaining neutral while the Empire is at war. The latest display of this form of aberration is credited to the Pretoria Volksstein which is reported in a despatch to the London Times, to have argued that the Colonies would be naturally in a position of neutrality unless they themselves broke that neutrality by an express declaration or act. With an ingenuous naivety, it proceeds to show that this might on occasion help the Empire which would not be compelled to guard a neutral Colony from hostile attack.

It would seem to most of us that the cognizance of this latter fact would have saved the Pretoria paper from so absurd a contention. If it is to the advantage of the Empire to have a number of its Colonies neutral in time of war obviously, it is to the disadvantage of the enemy; and it is the enemy which decides whether or not any part of the Empire is to be left alone. To teach the doctrine that a nation going to war can save certain parts of its territory from attack by pronouncing them "neutral," is to reach the climax of the ludicrous. The British Empire is as much a national unit for fighting purposes as the German Empire or the French Republic. Yet what a shout of derision would go up if France were to go to war with the statement that Savoy or Algiers was neutral and so safe from attack; or if Germany were to embark on a naval war wth Britain by announcing that all her Colonies were "neutral," and so could not be captured by the triumphant British navy. Spain should have begun her war with the United States by advertising the "neutrality" of the Philippines.

This ridiculous doctrine is attached to a statement which Sir Wilfrid Laurier is reported to have made in the Imperial Conference. It is impossible to deduce from the meagre reports of the discussions at the Conference just what Sir Wilfrid did say; and he will doubtless explain when and if the matter comes up before our Parliament. But Sir Wilfrid has said more than once that, when the Empire is at war, Canada is at war; so that this foolish fallacy of the optional neutrality of the Colonies cannot be fairly attached to his name. What he may easily have meant is that it is optional with each Colony to say what part it will take in any Imperial war. That is, for example, if Britain sends a punitive expedition against the hill tribes on the Afghan border of India, the Canadian Government might decide that they need not take any part in that "war." But when we fought against the Boers in South Africa, there need be no question over what we would do in case of any war which menaced the life or prestige of the Empire.

But what ought to be said plainly and understood universally is that every time the British flag goes under fire, Canada is at war. The enemy may be too far off to attack Canada—as in the case of the Indian hill tribes—but any enemy with which the Imperial Government is at war, is perfectly within its rights in invading Canada or exercising the rights of war upon her commerce. More than that, a successful war against the British Empire would destroy the prestige of Canada, though not a hostile soldier might land on our coasts. There is no greater folly than for us to imagine that we do not stand or fall with the Empire, or that we do not live—like other small peoples—in a predatory world.

MR. BORDEN RETURNS.

The return of Mr. R. L. Borden from the West synchronizes with that of Sir Wilfrid from London; and both leaders will be busy enough getting ready for the re-assembling of Parliament on the 18th. Mr. Borden is universally admitted to have made friends in the West by his frankness and pluck—two virtues for which Westerners have a passion. Though constantly met by organized opinion in favor of Reciprocity, he squarely and stoutly opposed it, leaving not the smallest room for doubt about his position on this momentous issue. If courage and honesty pay in politics, Mr. Borden should reap some benefit from his signal display of these qualities.

The task to which he set himself in the West was not an easy one. Opinion there had been systematically stampeded in favor of the Taft-Fielding agreement. Moreover, Mr. Borden is not one of those who can conquer a head wind by "tacking." He is a poor "dodger." If the intention were to deceive the West the wrong emissary was chosen. And now the West knows exactly where he stands.

We may, perhaps, be permitted the mild criticism that it does not seem to us that the Conservative leader "banked" heavily enough upon the basic loyalty of the Westerners, depending more upon his ability to convince them that the bargain is a bad one for economic reasons. But the fact remains that, if the pact is rejected by Canada, it will be rejected by those who believe in the separate political destiny of this Dominion and not by those who are in doubt as to how it will affect the price of barley.

In any case, Mr. Borden has enhanced his reputation as a plain speaker, as a man of settled convictions and as an effective platform exponent of a question which arouses the "heckling" spirit in his audience. He has shown that he knows his mind on Western questions; and now the West knows it, too. This must result in clearing the air—a very desirable proceeding antecedent to an election.

ONTARIO AND THE CORONATION.

Among the first things that some of the Ontario militiamen who had been members of the Coronation Contingent did on finding themselves once more in the sympathetic home atmosphere of Toronto was to rush into print with a complaint that they had not been properly appreciated in London or given that prominence in the Coronation ceremonies to which they were entitled. Kitchener, it appears, did not find time to make much of them, Roberts failed to call them the pick of the Imperial armies, and when it came to the Coronation itself, they were not included in the procession or given places in the Abbey. The complaints generally point out that they have no personal feelings on the subject and are speaking only for the good of Canada and in order that the mistakes may not occur again. Here in Canada, the incident will naturally be taken at its real value, but unfortunately it is to be feared that knowledge of it cannot be restricted to circles where the peculiarities of Ontario militiamen are thoroughly understood. There is a type of soldier developed at and around the Niagara Camp whose sole military asset is his excellent opinion of his own worth and ability. He expects the military rulers of Europe to stare and possibly to tremble at sight of his martial bearing and fire-eating appearance. It is his firm belief that the main reason for sending him to the Coronation was to show the civilized nations that, wherever else they might look for trouble, it would be wise to let the British Empire alone, as long as Ontario was part of it. It was naturally a great disappointment to find that this view was exclusively confined to Ontario—and not even to all of Ontario—and the temptation to tell the loved ones at home all about it through the public prints was probably too strong to resist. For the sake of the rest of Canada, however, it is a pity that an explanatory foot-note cannot be attached to the accounts which will be cabled to London, explaining just who and what the complainers are.

RAILWAY WRECKS.

A wreck yesterday on a railroad which prided itself on adopting as early as its practicability was demonstrated every device for safeguarding the lives of passengers, cost a dozen or more lives and injured four times that many people. None of the mechancial accessories were at fault; the signals worked properly, the block system kept the traffic properly spaced, the train schedule was carefully observed. There was only one thing which could not be covered by rules and regulations, and that was the mental capacity and ability of the man in the engineer's cab, who took the responsibility for the safety of hundreds of passengers in his hands as soon as he touched the throttle. For fifty-eight years the company had not suffered a serious accident, which is to say that its engineers had proven up to the responsibilities which rested on them every time one of the company's record-breaking fliers left on its daily run. Then came the inevitable moment of forgetfulness and of inattention, and in a second a dozen cars were over an embankment and a dozen lives were snuffed out. The system, with all its elaboration, had shown itself no stronger than its weakest link, and that link was the fallibility of human nature. It would probably be as well if we remembered a little oftener that the block signals and the other mechancial devices are all excellent in their way, but that the most to be expected of them is that they shall aid the man in the cab on whose judgment and skill still depends the safety of the train.

LA FOLLETTE ON RECIPROCITY.

There is one more address to be delivered in the United States Senate before the reciprocity debate closes which is expected to add much to the wealth of material concerning the subject already embalmed in the pages of the Congressional Record. Senator La Follette, the head and front of "Progressive" Republicanism, has been preparing one of the speeches for which he is famous and has announced that he will begin it before the end of the present week. La Follette's physical strength is on a par with his mental ability. He spoke for three days in exposing the true inwardness of the Lorrimer case, and his friends expect that his reciprocity speech will be at least as comprehensive. It will be the last big gun to be discharged during the present fight; there will undoubtedly be a little skirmish firing before the issue is actually joined, but with La Follette's presentation, the anti-reciprocity forces are prepared to rest their case and await the judgment of the country at the elections next year.

As far as influencing the decision of the Senate, Mr. La Follette and his friends are perfectly aware this speech may as well not be delivered, but there are other less direct but no less forceful ways by which it can bring results than by convincing men who are hermetically sealed against conviction. The Senate of the United States has acquired the habit of not listening to those of its members who speak unpleasant truths in a loud and sonorous manner; the people of the country, however, have not yet reached this pitch of beautiful self-sufficiency, and La Follette on reciprocity will probably become as much of an authority as La Follette on railway rates or on any of the other subjects which the Wisconsin senator has expounded primarily to a dozen bored senators, but ultimately to several million interested voters

One of the features of the King's visit to Dublin was the opening of a Dispensary for the fighting of Tuberculosis. They are taking up this battle very seriously in the British Isles. Our Parliament is about to meet; and there is no problem to which it could more profitably devote its attention. We are terribly "panicky" about small-pox, but the White Plague goes on silently killing its thousands.

The census managers might invite all those who have not been counted in the census to fill in blanks containing the necessary information and then check off these blanks with their own sheets to see that no one is counted twice. A good deal depends upon a correct census—Parliamentary representation, for example—and any who are willing to take trouble to be counted should not be left out.

Some Toronto men do not seem to have received the attention at the Coronation which they through was their due. This was a terrible mistake for the British authorities to make. But it can be prevented on future occasions if the Toronto men will wear a distinctive and noticeable uniform so that it will be seen at a glance that they are from TORONTO.

If the Board of Control were to issue a hurry-up order to furnish the policemen with straw hats for summer wear we doubt if even prisoners would object. To compel men to walk the streets in such weather as we have been "enjoying," wearing heavy felt helmets, or equally leaden-peaked caps, is cruelty. In many cities a straw hat or straw helmet is the regular summer rule for police.

France will not debate the Morocco question in its Chamber. This is another evidence of the seriousness of the situation. There is too much gunpowder exposed to allow the sparks of rhetoric to fly about.

They are talking of giving the members of Parliament a "roof garden" on top of the Central Block. But it is probable that the vaudeville performances will still be confined to the Commons Chamber.

"I Remember--"

CHAS. RACICOT

"Don't shoot but get your guns ready; don't break the law, but be prepared for any eventuality; don't be the first to make trouble, but clear your rifles. Don't be the first to make an overt move, but be ready to act."

There were among the first works which made lasting impressions on the mind of Mr. Chas. Racicot, now nearly eighty six years of age, but hearty and well, enjoying life, and, at the moment his summer vacation, for during a merciful respite, the courts are closed the judges are away and Mr. Racicot no longer has to cry—"silence." in the courts in that peremptory voice which all obey.

The man who uttered the words quoted, was no other than the famous leader of the rebellion of '37—Papineau and they were spoken in Boucherville, when Mr. Racicot, who was brought up there by an uncle was a lad.

"The people had assembled to hear the great man," said Mr. Racicot, in recalling the event of which I was a spectator. "I remember those words distinctly. He simply asked the people to be prepared. He was willing as I gathered his meaning, to proceed along constitutional lines for the redress of the grievances of the people; but if this would not do then he asked the people to have their guns ready. The address made a great impression on the people. Well, the guns were used, in due and inevitable course, as it seemed, the rebellion was crushed Some of the rebels were executed; some were exiled. Papineau himself fled, though he subsequently returned, and spent the remainder of his life quietly at Papineau village; while the exiles came back one by one, from Bermuda.

"Which reminds me of an incident in the connection " said Mr. Racicot. "A certain number of the rebels had been exiled to Bermuda, but escaped, or were allowed to do so, unmolested. One night, at my uncle's, before going to bed, ten men came to the house, each with a handkerchief about their face. They demanded money. We knew some of them by their voices. My uncle said he had no money for them. They knew that he had recently sold some land and suspected that he had the money in the house. 'Give us the money or we will cut your throat," said the leader, pulling out a knife, which he drew across my uncle's throat in a significant manner. Still, my uncle held out. Then the men gagged and bound him and the rest of us, and thrust us all, into the cellar. My uncle at last indicated where the little bag was, and the rebels took it. It contained some $175; They went to another house, treated the family in the same way and nearly killed a poor woman who had just become a mother. However, they were all caught ultimately and punished.

"But to return to the rebellion. I would not say that it was a mistake. It was the means of bringing about responsible government. That was what Lafontaine and Martin, and others obtained by constitutional means, but that was all Papineau and Nelson and their followers wanted. They resorted to force because peaceable means failed. Many suffered; yet the rebellion put an end to oligarchical rule.

Speaking of the outbreak of cholera to which reference has been made many times, Mr. Racicot said:

"I remember it very distinctly. I remember Father Down and the Rev. Canon Ellegoode working among the people like beavers. I also remember that my wife's mother was among those who carried provisions to the poor people who were hungry as well as sick."

When Mr. Racicot was young he often crossed the bridge on Craig street on the way to St. Denis street, which was only partially built up.

"There was no St. Hubert street then," he said, "and where the monument of Chenier stands to-day was a cattle market. Viger Square was a swamp; and about the only place on St. Hubert street was that of Mr. Lacroix; all else was either a pasture land or swamp. There was a garden on St. Denis street, from which the people obtained cabbages. This belonged to a Mr. Christin. St. James Church was on the street, but it was subsequently burned down in the great fire of '52.

"From Mignonne street to Ontario, also, was a garden, while Ontario street itself was mostly swamp, in which we often pulled bullrushes. At the corner of St. Denis and Sherbrooke street there were trees, and a little north on the latter street was the reservoir, fenced in on all sides. That is now St. Louis square. Many a time I have taken a gun and shot snipe and wild duck between Sherbrooke and Ontario streets, which was then a combination of farm land and swamp. You could have bought land there for next to nothing. Had I had any foresight myself, I might be rich to-day; but I had so little faith in the future growth of the city that I refused an offer to own a fine property for $100."

* * *

There was a glance at the old jail and court house, close to the present City Hall; the Governor's Garden, where the sinister instrument of modern civilization stands—the "Black Maria"; the old market on Jacques Cartier Square, covered in; the old City Hall, the Guibault Gardens, in which, as a lad he had often enjoyed himself, and which ran down toward St Urbain, from Sherbrooke; the rejoicings at Confederation; the visit of the Prince of Wales; the Trent affair, which latter brought out Lord Wolseley.

"Oh, I remember all that, of course," said Mr. Racicot. "We had a lively time when the soldiers were here. I suppose we had something like one hundred officers. The officers' mess used to be held facing Place Dalhousie, which has been taken over, as you know, by the C. P. R., and on which we had at one time a fire station. In the evenings the officers would dine in the plain view, while the regimental band played on one side of the square. Many a time I watched the officers drinking their wine, heard them laugh, and watched the crowds which, every evening, promenaded on the square, to see the life that went on, to admire the officers and soldiers and to listen to the music. That was a gay time in old Montreal.

* * *

"That is a big gift which Sir William Macdonald has just bestowed on McGill. Well, I remember when the business from which Sir William has made his millions occupied a few bits of rooms on Commissioners street, in the east end. Nobody would have thought that the business would have made a fortune for the struggling young man who was then commencing

"I remember the rejoicings at the coming of the French warship, after the Crimean war, the building of the waterworks, and the laying down of our sewerage system. I remember when we were a few people, and poor, when the mechanic only got seventy-five cents per day. But living was cheap; rents and clothes were cheap, and the people did not bother about fine clothes.

"I owe much of my long life to the fact that I was marriedat seventeen," said Mr. Racicot in conclusion. "If I had not married early, I might have sown some wild oats; and young men who sow wild oats do not live to be my age—eh?"

To The Editor

Canada's Indebtedness To England.

To the Editor of The Montreal Star:

Sir,—On Thursday of this week, the Prince of Wales will be formally invested as such, with all the rites and ceremonies peculiar to the occasion, at his ancient seat, Carnarvon Castle, in Wales. As this historic pile, according to the engravings we have seen of it in the illustrated papers, is now in a somewhat dilapidated condition, would it not be a graceful thing on the part of the Canadian people, and as some return for the unbounded kindness and hospitality which have been extended by all classes of the English people, but particularly by the King and Parliament of Great Britain, to our visiting brethren of Canada, throughout the unparalelled pageant of the Coronation, to ask to be allowed to spend a reasonable sum in the restoration of the castle, so as to make it habitable and fit for occupation by the young Prince? New Zealand and Australia are, I believe, returning the hospitality of the mother country, in their case, by presenting Dreadnoughts. Here would be an equally acceptable and serviceable way of manifesting our gratitude, and at the same time showing an interest in the rising hope of the nation.

Yours faithfully,
HENRY J. MORGAN.

Roads In Need Of Repair.

To the Editor of The Montreal Star:

Sir,—I would call attention to the disgraceful condition of the road approaching Black's Bridge, Windmill Point. It may not be generally known that more heavy traffic passes over this spot than any place in the city. It is the outlet of all the bituminous coal, used mostly for steam purposes in the large establishments, factories, rolling mills and other places wherever situated. The road is full of holes, causing a large amount of coal to fall off the carts, and considerable hay is wasted owing to the wretched state of this thoroughfare. Coal carters are often accused of stealing coal and are often arrested, though perfectly innocent. Scarcely a day passes but axles are broken, and other inconveniences occur which must put the master carters to considerable expense. Even the scalesmen are sometimes suspected of not weighing the coal correct. How can it be expected that a load of coal or hay will turn out the proper weight when it reaches its destination after part of it has been lost on the road not through any fault of the carters but through the bad condition of the road? Let it be thoroughly understood that more heavy traffic passes over Black's Bridge every twenty-four hours than over any other part of the city. This should be taken into consideration, as it causes a great loss to numerous establishments and other persons.

AN EYE-WITNESS.

Aid For The Little Ones.

To the Editor of The Montreal Star:

Sir,—Can nothing be done to save the little ones of Montreal? Why not appoint a small committee to do what can be done now, and a larger committee to consider more permanent measures? Could not a number of cows be pastured near Montreal? Let the cows be milked, some at 6 a.m., some at 7 a.m., and others at 8 a.m. Let the milk be thoroughly cooled at once, or, perhaps sterilized, and brought at different hours to milk depots to be opened in different wards. Could not a number of nurses and nuns visit the poorer homes of the city and instruct mothers how to care for the little ones? Could not tents be pitched on Fletcher's Field and other places, where the children could be cared for, and in some cases the mothers also? These measures may not be the wisest, but if they saved some of the children it would be well worth while.

As to the expense, the citizens of Montreal will only too gladly contribute.

Obstruction On St. Catherine Street.

To the Editor of The Montreal Star:

Sir,—Perhaps one of your numerous readers could enlighten me re the Montreal Street Railway and its charter. At present this company is engaged relaying track on St. Catherine street, the part which I particularly note being between St. Mark and Fort streets, thereby reducing the north side of our principal street for ordinary traffic by using it as a temporary loop line for their cars. This obstruction has continued for about three weeks now, and, according to evident progress made in the work done, it would appear that quite a considerable space of time must elapse ere completion. The stores at this part must be greatly interfered with and much loss incurred in consequence; there not even being any consideration given them for arrival or despatch of goods by team. Part of the sidewalk is even encroached upon by tiers of street stones and other material. Does their contract with the city entitle them to take this liberty for so great a time?

I noticed the proprietor of an automobile was charged with obstruction of the thoroughfare last week, for allowing his machine to stand on a certain part of St. James street. There is certainly some incongruity in not allowing one man to do what a company has apparently the full privilege of.

ENQUIRER.

Save The Trees.

To the Editor of The Montreal Star:

Sir,—There is a fine old garden enclosed in a brick wall, at the upper west corner of St. Lawrence and Sherbrooke streets. In this garden, amongst other things, are some fine fruit trees of choice varieties. These, three weeks ago, were full of leaves, and maybe the fruit was set; to-day there is only a vestige of green on any of them. Not only in this garden, but in those belonging to neighbors, the trees are sharing the same fate. Now, is there no law to oblige the owners to destroy noxious insects, if not for their own sakes, for the sake of the public? These insects which are probably the caterpillars of the gypsy moth or the brown tail moth propagate in a surprising manner, each moth laying thousands of eggs, which quickly emerge as caterpillars and go on with the destruction of beautiful as well as valuable trees. Already the chrysalids of these moths are thick on the trunks of the trees in our city streets, and in passing down our street I often kill twenty or thirty in one block of a street bordered by fine elms and maples.

Let me recommend to your notice the April number of the National Geographic Magazine, which describes the enormous expense that has been incurred to save the trees in the United States, which could have been easily saved had the remedies been used in time.

THERE must be as much art in drawing an analyst's bill as there is drawing a plumber's bill. A man being fined $50 and costs for selling beer without a license found included in the costs a charge for "Analysis of the liquid found in a barrel of beer, $20"; and "another analysis of the same liquid for traces of poison, none found, $20." We are amazed at the moderation of the charges, considering the unlimited opportunities. The "liquid found in the barrel of beer" might have been analyzed for traces of a thousand and one things which were not there, and a separate charge made for each.

Why Not?

THE Winnipeg Industrial Bureau is charged with supplementing the work of the Census Bureau, by taking a local census on its own account. This shows a most improper lack of confidence in the only really, truly, genuine, orthodox, official, Government census. There will have to be a law against counting noses without a license.

A RACE is in progress between an elephant and a donkey from Luna Park, Coney Island, to Washington, D. C. What makes the event of national interest is, that in the newspaper cartoons the two great political parties of the United States for many years have been represented by an elephant and a donkey respectively; the elephant being branded "G. O. P.," and the donkey, "Dem." The elephant has gained 125 pounds in weight during the race, the donkey has lost ten pounds, but is lading the procession by half an hour. Naturally, all the donkeys in the country are watching the race with keen interest.

FROM THE STAR FILES THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Earl of Wemyss.

"At the great volunteer review, held at Windsor Park, there were more men under arms (58,000) all told than ever assembled at one time on British soil since the invasion of Scotland. The volunteers were drawn from 119 regiments in England (representing 28 counties) and Wales (representing Glamorgan and Pembroke). There were no volunteers from North of the Tweed, but Scotland was represented by Lord Elcho's old corps, the London Scottish, under Col. Lumsden, and Ireland by the London Irish, under Col. Ward. Her Majesty was accompanied by Prince Leopold and the Princess Beatrice, attended by a large staff, including Sir Garnet Wolseley and Sir Frederick Roberts. The Canadian riflemen now practising at Wimbledon, were on the ground not far from the royal flagstaff, their shakos decorated with maple leaves. Col. Gibson, their commander, who won the Prince of Wales' Prize at Wimbledon last year, was cordially received." — From The Montreal Star July 12, 1881.

THE mention of Lord Elcho in connection with the London Scottish and the volunteer movement all over the Empire will set many thinking how useful a man the present Earl of Wemyss was. To-day he is the Father of the House of Lords, and over ninety-two years of age. That he has always taken an interest in volunteer matters is well known, but that on one occasion, when he was Lord Elcho, few people know how he straightened out the troops he commanded. He was once in command of a corps of volunteers, most of whom were raw recruits. They were marching along Fleet street in fine style, when it suddenly became necessary to execute the movement of "right wheel." The order was given, but the citizen army was hopelessly nonplussed. Lord Elcho watched the confusion for a moment, while his wrath rose at the sight. "Hang it all!" he shouted at last, "turn up Fuller Lane."

"Yesterday's heat.—The heat yesterday—it is of little use to tell anyone—was something terrific. Those who were fotunate enough to get away to the country complained of the scorching sun even there, but the great mass of unfortunates who had to remain in town sweltered and suffered in a manner which will not be soon forgotten. The Island and Mountain attracted great crowds, but little relief was found at either place. The majority of the residents shut their doors, windows and shutters, and simply sweltered, leaving the streets almost totally deserted. The thermometer, according to Messrs. Hearn & Harrison's report, reached its maximum at near 4 p.m., when it stood at 98 in the shade. At 9 a.m. it stood at 88, at noon 91, at 2 p.m. 93, and at 9 a.m. it stood at 120 in the sun. In the afternoon, of course, it was much hotter. For fifteen days past, with but one exception, the thermometer has reached each day a point over 80 degrees. This morning at 7 o'clock it had gone down to 71. Yesterday was the hottest day since 1868. On the 18th of June of that year it stood 98 in the shade, and on the 25th of July it reached 99. For nearly all June and July of that year the mercury was in the eighties and nineties. The highest point reached last year was 92, on August 22."— From The Montreal Star, July 12, 1881.

FIRE IN G. T. R. SHOPS.

But Damages Will Not Put Any Men Out of Work.

By an explosion of gas, fire was started in one of the engine rooms of the Grand Trunk shops at Point St. Charles yesterday afternoon. Firemen under District Chief Briere had to work an hour before the fire was put out, but the damages are not such as will cause any work in the shops to be discontinued.

FLAMES SWEEPING THROUGH PORCUPINE, GUTTING TOWNS AND SPREADING DISASTER

escape with their lives, for supplies, buildings and equipment are being wiped out of existence by a roaring wall of fire, which illuminates the sky for many miles.

The town of Cochrane, at the junction of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway and the Transcontinental, which was nearly wiped out the other day by fire, was levelled to the ground yesterday, and the inhabitants are in a bad way for food and shelter, and are asking assistance from neighboring towns to the south.

South Porcupine and Pottsville have been wiped off the map. Golden City was visited by the fire, but the greater part of the town has been saved thus far, only the outskirts being burned.

The south part of Tisdale has been swept clean, and other townships have suffered severely. All the mining camps from Dome to Whitney township have been burned. Hundreds of people—men, women and children—were forced to rush into the lakes and streams to seek refuge from the intense, blistering heat of the conflagration, an inferno of terror, with immense clouds of smoke darkening the sky, illuminated by sheets of flame as the fire leaped from tree to tree, with frightful rapidity and a terrible roar.

PEOPLE DRIVEN INTO LAKE BY FIERCE HEAT.

A report has come that F. Flynn, A. Yuille, and W. J. Fletcher have been burned to death, while Billy Moore and three foreigners lost their lives by drowning near South Porcupine down while running from the fire.

The flames swept down on South Porcupine town and Pottsville yesterday, and wiped out both towns so quickly that the inhabitants were driven into the lake, as no living thing could withstand the fierce heat and fire, which burned the very ground.

Gasoline boats removed the refugees from both towns to Golden City across the lake, although the outskirts of that town were in flames also, and a desperate fight was being waged to save the place. The provision supply is sufficient only for several days at Golden City and relief is being asked from outside points.

At the town of Cochrane, everything is burned except the Transcontinental Railway office, the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario agent's house, Johnston's pool room, the Imperial Bank, McKinnon's office and the Temiscaming & Northern Ontario Railway's new passenger station and freight shed, all the rest being wiped out clean, including the Bank of Ottawa's handsome brick block, The J. T. McManus store, the Rothschild block, Dempsey's hotel, the King George Hotel, the Pelango block, the Bank of Toronto, the Methodist, Presbyterian, and Baptist churches, Post Office, the Hudson Bay Company's store, the A. R. Springer store, and the C. H. Lloyd store. Only five buildings are left standing in this formerly prosperous town of 2,500 inhabitants.

Cochrane's inhabitants are without food, as nothing could be saved but the clothes on their backs. They are also without sleeping accommodations and are being housed in box cars, railway stations, Foley Welch and Steward's contractors' office, the railway roundhouse, and the freight shed.

Appeals have been sent for assistance to New Liskeard, Haileybury, Cobalt and North Bay, and the Mayors of these towns have called special meetings of council to arrange for succor.

All construction camps on the Ontario Government's new Porcupine Railway from Golden City west, were swept out of existence and the men had to run for their lives.

Kelso, which lost a number of buildings, as the result of bush fires on Sunday, is again threatened and in grave danger.

The Hollinger mining plant is supposed to be all right, as it was fire-swept some time ago, and is now surrounded by a large clearing and is, therefore, comparatively safe.

EXPECTED LOSS OF LIFE WILL BE GREAT.

The loss of life to prospectors and settlers must be great, and will not be known for days, as the survivors will find great difficulty in getting out, the trails being obliterated and the corduroy roads destroyed.

Superintendent Black and staff of the Ontario Government Railway remained at their posts all last night, arranging and sending relief trains to the stricken town.

The North Bay town council sent three hundred dollars worth of provisions to Cochrane on the first train. Blankets, tents and other supplies are required, and are being collected to go forward on relief trains.

TWO THOUSAND PEOPLE ARE NOW HOMELESS.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Englehart, Ont., July 12. — Advices from Cochrane confirm the report that the whole town has been wiped out, with the exception of six buildings. Yesterday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, a terrific bush fire swept up from the south-west, and the town was immediately in danger. At 4 o'clock the despatcher in the T. and N.O. station wired out that the fire had possession of the whole town. He continued:

"It is getting very hot here, and the smoke is so thick that I can hardly see to send."

However, he was able to stick to his post, though the whole surroundings raged and stormed with flames.

There is no report of any accidents, and it is presumed that everybody was enabled to get out in time, though all the goods and chattels must have been lost.

Absolutely everything in the junction town has been swept clean, except a few places. Two thousand people are homeless and without any means of subsistence whatever. The flames played over the whole area of the town, even to the other side of Commando Lake, not even the Catholic Church escaping. What little the fugitives were able to salvage out of the conflagration was eaten up as the fire advanced.

The scene was one of indescribable confusion, women and children running hither and thither, not knowing what was destroyed next. The T. & N. O. officials put all the available box cars at the service of the burned-out families, and they are now packed.

Immediate steps will be taken to provide the town with food and clothing, and some relief was sent north last night from Englehart. In the meantime the contractors, Foley, Welch & Stewart, have provided all with food, but their supplies cannot meet the immediate demand for long. Happily there have been no serious injuries, though a number of persons have been slightly burned.

Terrible has been the burning between Matheson and Kelso, the smoke at Matheson being so dense that lamps had to be lighted all yesterday afternoon A carload of settlers burned out in the fires already have arrived in Matheson, and more are expected. Nothing but rain can relieve the situation

A train bearing Porcupine passengers and running south of the T. & N.O. Railway ran completely off the track at Swastika yesterday. Four cars were still off the rail late last night, and traffic was held up. The Porcupine train yesterday was cancelled, owing to the tremendous bush fires. The various Porcupine settlements so far have suffered no further loss.

ALL MINING CAMPS FROM DOME TO WHITNEY BURNED

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, July 12—The following telegram was received by Mr. J. L. Englehart, chairman of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway Commission in this city, last night, from J. H. Black, general superintendent of the railway at North Bay:

"Chief Engineer Clement wires from Porcupine:

"'Fearful destructive fires have swept the southern part of Tisdale and Whitney. South Porcupine and Pottsville have been wiped out. The outskirts of Golden City are burnt. All of our camps at Golden City and west are burnt, as far as we have been able to learn. All our men are safe. All of the mining camps from Dame to Whitney are reported burnt. F. Flynn, Alfred Youille and W. J. Fletcher are reported burnt, and three foreigners drowned at South Porcupine. Golden City is safe. All bodies being taken care of at Golden City.'"

Nothing can be done at present towards checking the fires raging in the North country, as the white birch, with which the country is filled, burns up like lightning as soon as it is touched by a spark. The bark curls up and peels under the influence of the heat, and blows in all directions like tinder.

The fact that no rain has fallen in the region for many days adds greatly to the danger, as all the wood is dry and takes fire instantly.

So far the railway lines seem to have remained uninjured, as well as the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario stations at Golden City and Cochrane. The two terminals at the latter point have been turned into temporary refuges for the homeless, and the people are also being accommodated in box cars and passenger coaches, for the time being.

Golden City is the haven for all who managed to escape from the mining camps in the surrounding district, and the bodies of the dead have been removed there.

Affairs at this point are being directed by Chief Engineer S. B. Clement, of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, who is on the spot.

HUNDRED REPORTED DEAD IN MICHIGAN HOLOCAUST

Special to The Montreal Star.

East Tawas, Mich., July 12.—The towns of Ausable and Oscoda, Mich., lying directly across from each other on the Ausable River in Northeastern Michigan, were wiped off the map, and probably hundreds perished, last night, by one of the worst forest fires that has ever visited Michigan.

Not a business place is standing in Oscoda this morning. The fire, which started in the forest near Oscoda, was fanned by a fierce gale, and within a few hours it had destroyed the little town, and by means of sparks and burning brands had swept Ausable, where the fire raged all night, completely destroying the town. Hundreds of people, driven from their homes by fire, took refuge on board the freighter Kongo, which was lying at the docks at Ausable when the fire broke out. Others boarded the regular southbound passenger train on the Detroit and MacKinac Railroad, which made its way to the stricken towns by means of numerous spur tracks.

The fire swept over the doomed cities with such rapidity that all the inhabitants could do was to flee for their lives, leaving behind all their belongings.

The fierce rush of flames drove hundreds into Lake Huron, and while it is impossible to ascertain whether any lives were thus lost, it is feared that many perished.

According to the stories of refugees who arrived here this morning, when the train left Oscoda flames were leaping 100 feet high and roaring like a furnace. The heat was so intense that those within the coaches had to close the doors and windows.

MANY REPORTED AS SUFFOCATED BY SMOKE

Bodies are lying in the streets of Ausable, and churches and halls were packed with those who were overtaken by the flames. Many who sought refuge from the fire were suffocated by the dense smoke. Babies carried to the water in trunks also were either drowned or smothered to death.

From Alpena and Boyne City, reports are coming in today of fierce fires raging about those cities.

At Boyne city, fires are reported to have surrounded several logging camps and to have hemmed in the loggers with a solid wall of flame. At both Alpena and Boyne city, heavy clouds of smoke can be seen on all sides.

Two relief trains of freight and cattle cars, loaded with 300 refugees from Ausable and Oscoda, have arrived here.

ONE AND HALF MILLION DOLLARS IS TOTAL LOSS.

Many people living on the shore side of Oscoda town started for safety, along the beach, but within ten minutes the heat was so intense that they were driven into the water and continued their way, wading along the shore.

The heaviest loser is H. M. Loud, Sons & Company. The company's loss is nearly three-quarters of a million dollars. Its property consisted of two sawmills, a planing mill, a shingle mill, a bolt mill, a lumber yard a cedar yard, pump house, stores and residences.

The total losses are probably in excess of one and a half million dollars.

The fire originated in a slab yard in Oscoda, and in half an hour, the entire town was in flames.

The fire quickly jumped the Au Sable river and soon Au Sable also was in the grip of a blaze that reached the town limits on every side.

A passenger train on the Detroit and Mackinack got around the towns by running on an old lumber spur, and arrived here at midnight. Flames were then running a hundred feet in the air, declared the passengers, and the intense heat scorched the sides of the train, and cracked the windows.

A special train carrying fire apparatus from Bay City to Alpena, in response to a call for help from that city, jumped the track in trying to pass around the two towns, and was held until nearly midnight before the track was repaired. It then proceeded, as the fire at Alpena was said to be still dangerous.

The high wind was generally throughout northern Michigan last night, and from all over the district came reports of heavy fires fanned to huge proportions by the breeze, which is reported at from 40 to 60 miles at various points.

SEVERAL FAMILIES AND CAMP CREWS MISSING.

Detroit, Mich., July 12.—Early reports to-day from the fire-swept district of Northern Michigan say that several settlers' families and lumber camp crews near Wolverine and several families near Gaylord are missing.

Of the two towns of Oscoda and Au Sable, only a school and two dwellings in the south end of Au Sable are left standing. Reports continue to be received of possible loss of life at Oscoda and Au Sable.

The burned bodies of three men and a woman are reported to have been found to-day near the railroad tracks at Au Sable, according to an unconfirmed report reaching the Detroit News.

The four had apparently been heading for the open fields when they were overcome.

FLAMES EATING UP MAINE FORESTS NOW.

Kineo, Maine, July 12.—After having burned to within an eighth of a mile of a hotel and the storehouses of the Great Northern Paper Company the Boydtown forest fire suddenly shifted its course and the buildings were saved.

The fire which has already burned over nine miles of territory, with a loss of upwards of $120,000, is now sweeping along the west branch of the Penobscot river, uncontrolled.

Another fire at Enchanted Township covers nearly 15,000 acres, and the loss is already close to $200,000.

Lt.-Col. Hibbard Says Utilities' Board Will Start Inquiry in Short Time.

In connection with the dismissal of the appeal of the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company, regarding the right of the Quebec Public Utilities Commission to enquire into the affairs of the concern, Lt. Col. Hibbard, chairman of the Board, told a Star representative to-day that the Commissioners would commence the investigation just as soon as arrangements could be made. He said he would confer with his colleagues, Sir George Garneau and Professor F. C. Laberge and the investigation into the price of the current would be taken up.

It was stated to-day that the company intend to ask leave to appeal to the Privy Council, but the officials of the company said that no definite conclusion had been reached in this connection.

PREMIER IS ALONE IN CITY CAB DRIVE

Paid Few Calls and Escapes Recognition Down Town.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier spent the early part of this morning quietly at the Place Viger Hotel, and about eleven o'clock he left to make several personal calls, driving through the city alone in a cab. He passed down St James street during one of the busiest periods of the forenoon, and with the exception of one or two people, he rode along unrecognized.

Arrangements have been made for the Premier to leave on the C. P. R. train from Windsor street station at four o'clock this afternoon.

FELL TWENTY-FIVE FEET FROM BED ON GALLERY.

Joseph Guest May Die as Result of Trying to Sleep in the Open Air.

Last night's oppressive atmosphere is given as the cause leading to an accident which may cost the life of Joseph Genest, 195 Plessis street.

Mr. Genest is 49 years old, and being unable to sleep in his room, he made up a bed on the balcony overlooking the yard. While half-asleep the man rolled to the edge of the balcony and fell to the ground about twenty-five feet below.

When picked up, Mr. Guest's head was bleeding and he was suffering from internal injuries.

At the Notre Dame Hospital it is said that his condition is serious.

HAD HIGH CLIMB FOR LOFTY FIRE

Brigade Beats Blaze on Fourteenth Story of Windsor Station.

The highest fire ever fought by the Montreal Fire Department was successfully combatted last night, after flames were discovered on the 14th tower storey of the new Windsor street C. P. R. station, on St. Antoine street.

District Chief Mann, with Captain Lapointe and Lieut. Cavanagh of No. 4 station, and four men, had the honor of climbing the dizzy height.

"It was a high and difficult climb," said District Chief Mann. He and his men had to make every inch of the distance by scaling the construction ladders. Four babcocks were carried up.

The fire started on the 14th storey where a blacksmith's forge was situated. The high wind blew some of the hot cinders to the wooden platform and scaffolding. As the sparks dropped down a blaze was also started on the 12th floor. Both fires, however, were extinguished before they could spread further.

POLICE CHANGES IN MONTH'S TIME.

Chief Has No Applications for Vacancies.

That it will be a month at least before anything definite has been decided upon in regard to the men who will be put in charge of the police and fire stations in the newly annexed wards, was the opinion expressed this morning by Chief Campeau, who is having considerable difficulty in securing desirable men for the vacancies.

The present proposition is that the firemen and policemen come under one head, the constables taking their place as fire fighters when the occasion demands.

Many of the constables at present connected with the different stations in the city have done duty in the fire department, and a list of these has been prepared with a view to drafting them for the new wards.

The men do not take kindly to the idea, however, as in the new wards the men will be compelled to remain in the stations night and day, and for this they will receive the same pay as the men in the central stations.

The chief also explained that besides the new wards there were a number of vacancies in the different stations throughout the city, but that there were no applicants for the positions.

HARVEST FAILED.

Pickpockets Who Came for Demonstration are Disappointed.

Outside of three "dips" from the United States, who were picked up yesterday afternoon by Detective Dan McLaughlin, there was no arrest made in connection with the gathering of people last night. The police have not received a single complaint with reference to pockets being picked or purses being snatched.

The three young men who were arrested last night are said to be very high exponents of the art of pocket picking, and after being photographed for Chief Carpenter's gallery were escorted to a South bound train. They had crossed the line in anticipation of a golden harvest at the Laurier reception, but they were not allowed to operate, being spotted an hour after they alighted from the train.

Worker Killed on C.P.R. Tracks.

M. Latour, 65 years of age, unmarried, of St. Rose, was run over by a freight train while working on the C. P. R. tracks near Mile End station at 11 o'clock this morning, dying almost instantly. An ambulance from the Royal Victoria Hospital made a quick run but the man was dead on its arrival.

Cobalt Beer Case.

The case brought by Mr. John H. Roberts, against R. Lusher, Berri st., charging him with selling an intoxicating liquor, in the form of Cobalt Beer, was called in the police court this morning and postponed until the 19th. Lusher is also charged with keeping a temperance hotel without a license.

PRIBYLOFF SEAL HERDS VANISHING

American Company is Charged With Illegally Killing 128,478 Animals.

Washington, July 12.—Charges that the North American Commercial Company illegally killed 128,478 yearling seals, valued at approximately $5,000,000 during its recent lease of the Pribyloff Islands, are made by Henry W. Elliott, of Cleveland, Ohio, who continued his testimony before the House Committee on expenditures in the Department of Commerce and Labor.

Representative Rothermel, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee declared that Department of Justice will be asked to prosecute othe company if the Elliott charges can be substantiated.

TUBERCULOSIS REPORT.

Royal Commission Says Mammals and Man Can be Reciprocally Infected.

London, July 12.—The Royal Commission appointed a decade ago to study the relations between human and bovine tuberculosis, has issued a voluminous final report, which briefly finds that mammals and man can be reciprocally infected, but that there is not sufficient to show that bovine and human tuberculosis are identical.

The bovine form, the report says, is constantly transmitted to children through milk, but rarely to adults.

The Commission recommends a more stringent regulation with regard to milk and meat supplies.

SHAW INQUEST TO OPEN AT CORNWALL

Difference in Religious Beliefs Said to Have Caused Trouble in Magee Family.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Cornwall, Ont., July 12.—On Thursday morning the inquest into the death of Wm. Shaw, the Carp druggist who accompanied the Dr. Magee party to Bridge End on Dominion Day, will be opened before Coroner Hamilton at the Court House here, and on Friday morning Farquhar D. McRae will receive his preliminary hearing before Police Magistrate Danis.

At the latter hearing a mass of evidence not before made public is expected to be disclosed in connection with the shooting and what led up to it.

It is alleged that Dr. and Mrs. Magee did not live on the best of terms. Each was brought up in a different religious belief from infancy, and religion is said to have crept in among other matters and was responsible for some of the trouble.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, July 12.—Attorney-General J. J. Foy has been requested to appoint special counsel to watch the proceedings at Cornwall in connection with the death of Wm. Shaw, who was shot at Carp, while assisting Dr. Magee to find his infant son, who, it is alleged, had been spirited away by Mrs. Magee, as a result of trouble over the No Temere decree.

When asked what action would be taken, Hon. Mr. Foy said: "This is a serious matter, and one that will be very carefully looked after."

BRIDGEPORT DEATH LIST UNCHANGED.

Debris Cleared Away During Night —No Further Victims Found— All Injured Still Living.

Bridgeport, Conn., July 12.—Toiling all night under the rays of electric lights, two hundred laborers and section men, with two wrecking cranes, cleared up the greater part of the debris which marked the flying leap of the Federal express, Boston-bound from Washington over the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, early yesterday.

No more bodies were recovered and the death list stands at twelve killed outright. There remains in the two large hospitals forty seven patients, several of whom are in a very critical state with the chances against them.

The railroad officials are beginning their formal inquiry into the accident. The coroner will hold his inquest at once.

CAPTAIN SHOULDERS BLAME.

Commander of Ill-Fated Santa Rosa Assumes Responsibility.

San Francisco, July 12.—The entire blame for the danger in which the passengers of the steamer Santa Rosa, which foundered last Friday, off the Californian coast were placed, was shouldered last night by Captain J. F. Faria, of the wrecked vessel. In an interview Captain Faria declared that he would make no attempt to shift the blame.

He maintained that he was in complete command and that messages received from the San Francisco office of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company with regard to the removal of the Santa Rosa's passengers were merely in the nature of suggestions.

Asbestos Breaks to 4!--"Rails" at 152--New Securities Co.--Consols Are Up

MELSON CUTTING TORONTO RY. SEEMS MORE THAN LIKELY

Mr. R. Forget, M.P., leaves for Toronto to-night, to confer with some of the Toronto Street Railway directors in regard to the reorganization plans which are evidently more elaborate than the "Street" surmises.

If the dividend on Rails is merely increased to 8 p.c., the stock is reasonably high, but, judging from the way Toronto has been buying it lately, there is something more than a mere increase of the dividend in the wind, especially as most of the buying has come from people pretty close to the company.

It looks now as if there would be a melon-cutting, as the company is in a position to carve up something.

Quebec Railway was stronger at 61.

"Rails" sold up to 152 and Detroit United 72½.

In Wall Street

A wire said: "Trading in stocks fell to a low point, and the demand was not sufficient to preserve the equilibrium of the market, which ruled slightly lower after a firm opening. Speculative operations were spiritless, and no attempt was made by the bear party to press the advantage. The decline was described as being due in part to reports that the Moroccan situation had assumed a more serious phase, but there seemed to be no pressure of offerings from abroad."

THE RUSH TO PORCUPINE.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Porcupine, July 12.—A large number of persons are arriving here each evening by railway, not less than 200 having come each night for the past five days.

SIR WILLIAM HAS LARGEST NUMBER OF IRONS IN FIRE

Sir Wm. Mackenzie.

Sir William Mackenzie, who has more irons in the fire than any man in Canada, is so busy with big plans for his various concerns just now that he hasn't got time to comment on the weather.

Just when the newspapers had mentioned what they thought to be all of the Mackenzie enterprises upon his arrival, along comes the annual report of the Monterey Railway, Light & Power Co., of which Sir William is president. The company showed a surplus available for dividends on the common stock equal to 4.25 p.c. on the $4,100,000 outstanding as compared with 3.25 p.c. last year.

Gross, net and surplus earnings experienced substantial improvement over a year ago, and at the close of the fiscal period there was left a surplus of $174,286, which brought the total profit and loss balance up to $381,175.

Coal Bonds Sell for 25 Cents on the $1.

Halifax, July 12.—Bonds of the North Atlantic Collieries Company, with a face value of $110,000, were sold here this morning at auction to T. F. Tobin, barrister, for $29,200, or one-quarter of their par value.

The bonds were offered for sale on account of the recent failure of the company to pay interest on them.

OPENS NEW CITY BRANCH.

The Bank of Toronto has opened its branch at 516 St. Lawrence Boulevard, near Ontario street, under the management of Mr. C. L. Parkinson.

OPINIONS ON THE MARKET.

Charles Head.—We suggest the same traders' position, and recommend buying the better class stocks on all reactions for higher prices.

Shearson-Hammill.—The southern railway stocks, all of them, should do better. We think the actives should be bought on the recessions.

Oswald Bros.: Repeatedly during the last week the stock market has proved that there is no pressure to liquidate at present levels.

ASSETS OF ROYAL BANK PASSED THE 100 MILLION MARK

E. L. Pease.

The statement of the Royal Bank of Canada for June 30, out to-day, shows that the aggregate assets of the bank have passed the one hundred million dollar mark.

Considering the fact that when the bank opened in Montreal, in 1887, its assets were less than five million dollars, and that as late as 1908 they were only fifty million dollars, the great progress made by the Royal is apparent.

The June statement shows cash on hand of $23,000,000, and liquid assets of over 52 per cent. of liability to the public.

Paris, July 12.—The condition of John W. Gates was unchanged from last evening, when the patient appeared a little brighter following the arrival of his son.

In Toronto, 93 was bid for 100,000 shares of Dome Extension on the Dominion Exchange.

CAUSES OF SLUMP IN JOHN BULL'S PREMIER SECURITY

Special to the Montreal Star.

London, July 12.—Consols, after breaking the record for 80 years yesterday, did not rally more than a very small fraction to-day.

Business yesterday was actually transacted at 78 3-16, and one has to go back to 1831 to get a lower price than that.

The price then was relatively lower, because Consols in those days bore 3 per cent. interest, whereas they now bear only 2½ per cent.; but, even making allowance for the reduction in interest, Consols are now lower than they have been since 1878.

Apart from general reasons for the fall in recent years, so frequently discussed of late, the present acute weakness is ascribed to liquidation on the part of minor financial institutions all over the country since the suspension of the Birkbeck Bank.

No Change in the Tooke Bros. Control.

To correct the misapprehension regarding the deal involving Tooke Bros., Limited, Mr. G. P. Grant, who was reported as being at the head of a purchasing syndicate, stated to-day that he wished to correct the impression that the Tooke business had been sold out to interests which he represented. These interests are merely joining with Mr. Tooke in a reorganization in order to carry out plans for the extension of the business. He further stated that there would be absolutely no change in the management or control of the business.

Winnipeg and Railway at Odds.

Winnipeg, July 12. — The city and the Street Railway Company are at another deadlock over the rights of the company to supply gas by mains through the city streets. The company has announced that it will place mains regardless of permits at the expiration of thirty days, unless the city within that period consented to grant permits.

The city solicitor announces that he will obstruct such measures by police intervention if necessary. The company bought out the Manitoba electric and gas light charter, and claims the privileges of that charter. The case is before the Privy Council.

Embrun, Ont., Has $20,000 Fire.

AMAL. ASBESTOS COMMON SELLS DOWN TO $4.00.

Amalgamated Asbestos common fell to $4 a share to-day, a new low record.

The decline set everybody wondering if the situation was even blacker than it had been painted, but there was little news to be had.

One director said: "The mill is running well, and costs of operation are away below last year."

Rumors that the company is not earning its bond interest could not be confirmed.

At the close the common was offered at 4¼, with 4 bid.

Black Lake common was offered at 11½, with 9½ bid. There were no quotations for the preferred stocks.

"DOPING" THE FUTURE OF HOLLINGER.

(Toronto Globe.)

From 350 tons a day it may be assumed for a while at least—that the grade will be around $40. That recovery each day would account for about $13,000, or nearly $4,000,000 per annum, 133 per cent. on the par value of Hollinger stock. Something might be shaved off this without jeopardizing the dividend prospects of Hollinger. A recovery of $20 from 350 tons per day would mean 22 per cent. per annum on Hollinger at $15.

The attention of Hon. Mr. Fielding, Uncle Sam's bosom friend, is called to the clearing house figures.

Australian Gold Yield Decreases

Special Cable to the Montreal Star.

Melbourne, July 12.—The gold yield of Australia for the half year amounts to 140,000 ounces, a decrease of 40,000 ounces, as compared with the previous half year. The decrease is chiefly due to the smaller output of the mines in Western Australia and Victoria.

SKYSCRAPER HOTEL FOR LONDON NOW

Reported One to Be Built on St. George's Hospital Site.

Special to The Montreal Star.

London, July 12.—Fred. Sterry, of the Hotel Plaza, New York, announced to-day that within a few days papers will be signed by which the St. George's Hospital site at Hyde Park corner will be acquired by an American syndicate and a large and up-to-date sky-scraping American hotel will be built upon it.

The price of the site is about four million dollars, but as it is in the heart of fashionable London and overlooking Hyde Park, the Green Park, and the Gardens of Buckingham Palace, Mr. Sterry thinks the price reasonable. Forty-eight thousand square feet will be available for building purposes and nearly twenty thousand more can be used as a park or for an open, glass-covered tea room. The hotel will have seven hundred bedrooms and will be ten storeys high. Five million dollars will be spent on the building.

COARSE GRAINS.

The foreign demand for oats was good, but owing to the further advance in prices in the Winnipeg market, none of the bids could be accepted. The local market is firm in sympathy, but the demand shows little improvement. We quote prices in car lots, ex-store, as follows:

ROLLED OATS FIRM.

A fair volume of business continues to be done in rolled oats and cornmeal at firm prices. We quote: Rolled oats, $4.65 per bbl. do. $2.15 per bag; cornmeal, $3.10 to $3.20 per bbl.

Looks As If Dividend Had Been Passed

The executive committee of the Chicago & Alton Railroad Co. met yesterday, but took no action on the prior lien stock dividend. Inasmuch as the semi-annual dividend of 2 p.c. on this stock is ordinarily payable July 15th, the failure of the directors to take any action on the matter is regarded as equivalent to a passage of the dividend.

Sovereign Bank Accepts Offer of New Assets Co.

Toronto, July 12.—At the annual meting of the Sovereign Bank yesterday a resolution was passed to accept the offer of International Assets, Limited, to purchase from the assisting banks their claims against the Sovereign Bank, giving for these claims something over half in cash and the balance in bonds. Hill Back From His Fishing Trip Says Very Little

Special to The Montreal Star.

J. J. Hill.

New York, July 12. — Mr. James J. Hill came to town from Montreal yesterday, with the firm intention of remaining here the rest of the week in spite of the heat.

Mr. Hill came from Labrador, where he rents a river, in which he has been fishing for about a month. It was cold in Labrador, and Mr. Hill said he had had a fine time, and caught many fish.

Of general business conditions he would say very little, because he hadn't been in the country of late, and knew only what newspapers which penetrate to Labrador had told him.

His notion of the crops was that they were spotted, which means that they are good but not very good, and bad but not very bad.

Big Land Deals Just Reported From The West

One of the largest deals of the present season in Western Canada farm land has just been consummated, the transfer covering a tract of over 15,000 acres, located just south-west of Sedgewick on the Saskatoon-Wetaskiwin branch of the Canadian Pacific.

The vendor was Mr. J. J. Milledge, manager of the Union Bank at Brandon, and the purchaser was Mr. J. I. McLeod, of Spokane and Calgary, millionaire mine owner and capitalist. The purchase price was in the neighborhood of $200,000.

Another important deal involving a transfer of 75,000 acres in Alberta, in which Toronto brokers are interested, is now practically closed, and several deals of from 7,000 acres to 80,000 acres have been consummated during the past few weeks

MONTREAL BADLY HIT BY THE NEW 4C GRAIN RATE

Special to The Montreal Star.

New York, July 12. — The Journal of Commerce says: That the reduction of the ex-lake rate on export wheat from Buffalo to New York from 5½ to 4 cents bushel, which the railroads voluntarily put into effect May 1, has greatly increased the movement of grain through this port, and considerably lessened grain traffic handled through Montreal, is shown by statistics compiled yesterday by the New York Produce Exchange.

According to figures, receipts at New York during the months of May and June, of this year, amounted to 3,366,000 bushels, compared with 3,231,200 for the same period in 1910, and 1,885,200 for 1909, when the 5½ cent rate was in effect.

The corresponding decline of exports of wheat via Montreal was 2,130,000 bushels, compared with May and June of last year.

BIG AMOUNT FROM WOOL.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Melbourne, July 12.—The wool production of Australia last season totalled 2,500,000 bales, valued at £31,000,000.

TORONTO CATTLE PRICES.

Toronto, July 12.—Reports show a fairly good market with a fair class of stocks on offer. Lambs have gone up a little. Hogs and calves are a little easier. Receipts are 25 cars, consisting of 500 cattle, 408 sheep, 800 hogs and 55 calves. Export cattle, choice, $5.90 to $6.10; hogs $7 to $7.10; sheep, $3 to $5.50.

GOOD DEMAND FOR FLOUR FROM ABROAD.

The European demand for spring wheat flour was fairly good and sales of some fair-sized lots were made at an advance in prices, and orders received for more, which millers would not accept only at a further advance. The local trade is fairly active and prices remain firm in sympathy with the strength in raw material. We quote prices as follows:

Manitoba spring wheat patents, firsts, $5.30; do. seconds, $4.80; Manitoba strong bakers, $4.60; choice winter wheat patents, $4.60 to $4.75; straight rollers, 90 per cents., $4.10 to $4.25; straight rollers, in bags, $1.80 to $2; extras, in bags, $1.60 to $1.70.

BALED HAY STEADY.

A steady feeling prevails in the market for baled hay with a fair trade passing. We quote prices for car lots as follows: No. 1 hay, $13 to $14; No. 2 extra quality, $12 to $13.50; No. 2, ordinary hay, $10 to $10.50; No. 3 hay, $9 to $9.50; clover, mixed, $8 to $8.50.

PRITCHARD'S REPORT OF CHICAGO PIT

From the Special Correspondent of the Montreal Star on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Chicago, July 12.—Wheat ruled lower, July selling at 88½ to 87⅞, and September at 90¼ to 89¼, compared with closings yesterday of 88⅝c and 90¾c, respectively.

Ideal weather in the north-west for filling of the new grain, easier cables, large local receipts and offers from the country and the official request by the directors of the Board for tenders for elevator room to take care of the new grain have all counted against values, resulting in much short selling. Covering by the latter sellers caused the partial recovery. Foreign news is depressing. Rains in India have resulted in larger offerings. Russia and America offering winter wheat freely.

Primary receipts were 1,311,000 bush, against 398,000 bush. a year ago and 182,000 bush. two years ago. Southwest proportion, 393,000 bush. against 173,000 a year ago. Omaha in addition gets 79 cars against 8 a year ago. Chicago has 505 cars to-day against 9 a year ago.

B. W. Snow, the crop expert, says that the corn crop has gone backward materially, and that there must be rains soon in order to head off additional heavy losses, which now seem to be inevitable.

COUNTRY CHEESE MARKETS.

Campbellford, Ont., July 12. — At the cheese market 1,020 boxes of cheese were boarded, all white: 540 sold at 11¼c, 330 at 11 7-16c; balance refused at 11 7-16c.

Stirling, Ont., July 12. — At the cheese board, 850 boxes were offered; 280 sold at 11 9-16c; balance at 11¼c.

FOREIGN WHEAT DEMAND.

There continues to be a steady demand from foreign buyers for Manitoba spring wheat, but exporters state that the prices bid for Nos. 2 and 3 northern are so far out of line with values in the Winnipeg market that it is impossible to do any business, while on the other hand advices from Winnipeg by wire reported a fair amount of trade going on for export account.

PROVISION MARKET STRONG.

There was no further change in the condition of the market for provisions, but the feeling in most lines is very firm, and especially so in all kinds of smoked meats owing to the heavy demand for the same at present from all sources, coupled with the recent advance in prices for live hogs tends to strengthen the situation considerably. The trade in cooked meats is also active on account of the very warm weather, but the demand for lard and other lines is only fair. Receipts were 3,835 packages lard, 214 packages tinned meats, and 66 boxes hams and bacon.

View Level Crossing Locations.

Commissioner Mabee with two members of the Board of Control, visited the east-end to look over the streets where the Lachine and Jacques Cartier Ry. have asked permission to extend level crossings. Mr Mabee and the Controllers will give special study as to how the company can operate across these streets by building viaducts and by sinking their lines.

Fire caused considerable damage to the kiln building of the Canada Cement Company's plant at Owen Sound, Ont., last night. The loss will reach $25,000.

LATEST DETAILS FROM FIRE-SWEPT NORTH REGIONS

Forest Fire Disaster Worse Than First Imagined, Hourly Reports Indicate.

North Bay Ont. July 12. — Thirty lives are now known to have been lost at Porcupine including Captain White and family at West Dome, and many have been injured. A hospital train is now on the way to Iroquois Falls.

The disaster is terrible and everything now being worse than reported. It is believed the casualties will number hundreds.

Special to the Montreal Star.

North Bay, Ont., July 12.—Reports from the burned section of Northern Ontario, coming in hourly, indicate that the forest fire disaster was even worse than was at first imagined. The danger is not over yet, nor will it be until a heavy rain sets in, or the whole country is burned over. All along the Ontario Government railway the fire is blazing on both sides of the track, and urgent demands are being made for cars to carry away the cut pulpwood, thousands of cords of which have been taken out and piled along the tracks.

The heat was so intense last night that windows on the south-bound express from Cochrane had to be closed to protect the passengers.

The Toronto and Northern Ontario Number 2 express, leaving Cochrane yesterday morning left the track near Sesekinka, 172 miles north of here. The engine and several cars went off the rails, but no one was injured.

The place where the accident occurred was surrounded by flaming bush, and the passengers had to hike along the track to a cooler region. The train was delayed five hours.

Besides the north country, bad fires are burning south of Lake Nipissing, in the Parry Sound district, and the flames are distinctly visible at North Bay, a distance of twenty miles. Reports are coming in from along the Canadian Pacific Railway main line, west of here, that the forests are in flames and are menacing the towns.

Cartier was thought to be doomed last night.

AID FROM NORTH BAY WAS PROMPTLY SENT.

Mayor McGaughey and President Ferguson, of the North Bay Board of Trade, have been up most of the night and a car is leaving this morning with foodstuffs for Cochrane, all bakeshops having worked to their highest capacity all night.

Frank Child, who has stores in Kelso and Cochrane, which were burned, arrived here from the south last night bound north, but when he heard that he had been wiped out, he took the next train to Toronto to buy a new stock of hardware and tents to begin over again.

Reports from Kelso mines, Charlton and Earlton say that the fire is all around, and danger ever present, but that they are safe as yet. Telegraph wires are down between Porcupine and Iroquois Falls, and news filters out only on work trains. Days will pass before anything like an accurate estimate can be made of the damage.

SUFFERERS APPEAL TO TORONTO FOR HELP.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, July 12.—The fire in Northern Ontario overshadowed everything else in local circles to-day and preparations for the immediate relief of the suffering and afflicted people are being rushed through everywhere.

A special meeting of the Toronto Board of Trade was held this morning, at which an order was made for $1,000 on receipt of the following telegram from F. L. Bradley, of Cochrane:—

"Can you help us by sending enough provisions, tents and blankets, Cochrane destroyed by fire."

President Gourley and R. Home Smith immediately set to work to drum up assistance of a tangible character.

LITTLE SCRAP MARKS HULL CELEBRATION

Disputants Come to Blows But Police Separate Them Without Trouble.

Ottawa, July 12.—Twenty people who were at a corner of the main street waiting for the Orange parade in Hull at 1.30 this afternoon got into a melee just before the parade arrived. J. Carr, a Protestant, and J. Kidder, a Roman Catholic, began with words and then came to blows in which others joined.

The police, with the assistance of specials, restored order and arrested the two principals, both of whom were badly cut and bruised around the face. No one else was marked to any extent.

Riordon Paper Mill is Burned

Calumet is Threatened by Forest Fires—Whole Population Fighting the Flames.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Calumet, Que., July 12.—This town is threatened with disaster from the forest fires raging in the immediate neighborhood. Already the pulp mill and woodyard of the Riordan Paper Company have been destroyed by the flames. The whole population is fighting to save the town.

Section of Square Condemned.

A section of Bellrive Square was condemned by the Building Inspector to-day as being unsafe. There was a small fire in some of the wooden supports of the section of the square, which fronts on the tracks of the C. P. R. The Board of Control will now order the wooden supports replaced by masonry.

FOUR BIG LABOR MEN INDICTED ON MURDER CHARGE

Sensation in Chicago To-day Over Action of Grand Jury—Officials Charged Prominent.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Chicago, July 12.—Not since the arrest of the McNamara brothers and Ortie McManigal, charged with blowing up the Los Angeles Times, have labor circles here been so stirred as by to-day's announcement that the Grand Jury has indicted four high Union officials for murder.

The indicted men are:—Simon O'Donnell, President of the Chicago Building Trades Council, with 60,000 members, and business agent of the United Association of Plumbers.

Thomas Kearney, business agent of the United Association of Plumbers.

James Garvin, business agent of the same union.

Maurice ("Moss") Enright, alleged professional slugger and gun man, business agent of the Steam Fitters' Union, which is associated with the United Association of Plumbers.

All are charged with the murder of Vincent Altman, professional slugger and murderer, killed in the station of the Briggs hotel on March 22.

It is alleged that Enright was hired as "slugger-in-chief" of the Building Trades Council connected with the American Federation of Labor, and Altman as chief slugger of the rival independent council.

It is charged that a plot to kill Altman was formulated in O'Donnell's saloon.

R., Ottawa, ninth, winning £1, and Lieutenant Blackburn, of Winnipeg, unattached, fourteenth, winning the same.

At the 300 yards stage, Private Bibby was second, winning £3.

Lord Cheylesmere has arranged for a Bisley competition in which the Canadian cadets shall partchipate.

Among Canadian riflemen attending the Bisley meet unattached are: Major Hart McHarg, Col. Stuart, Color-Sergeant Hunter, Private Warden, of Vancouver; Capt. Wolfenden, British Columbia; Captain Dover, Truro, N.S.; Staff-Sergeant Richardson, Victoria; Sergeant White and Sergeant Cliff, Toronto; Lieutenane Blackburn and Sergeant Forbes Clark, Winnipeg, and Sergeant Peter Armstrong.

PARENTS DYING, CHILDREN STARVING

A pathetic case of poverty and sickness comes to light with the investigation of a case at the Western Hospital. Last Friday a man came for treatment, complaining of a pain in his head. He was taken to a ward and very soon became delirious. It was found he was suffering from an abscess of the head and an operation was performed, but it is feared a clot had formed on his brain. He is at present on the verge of death.

In his delirious ravings, his name was learned to be John Reynolds, but no definite address could be ascertained. The nurse watching at his bedside last night, caught enough from his disconnected talk to convince her that his home was on Albert lane.

She accordingly went there this morning and found the poor man's family in a terrible state. Five small children and a mother, the latter in the last stages of consumption, live in a squalid home on this, one of the worst lanes in the city.

Nothing was in the house to nourish or feed the children, the youngest of which is a baby. Apparently the poor children and their mother had had little to eat for several days.

Many Milk Cans Confiscated.

The Chief food inspector of the city stated to-day that during the past two weeks 200 milk cans had been confiscated and destroyed because of unsanitary condition.

Berlin Has Got Heat Wave Now.

Berlin, July 12.—A heat wave has engulfed Berlin. The thermometers in the downtown section registered a minimum temperature of 102 degrees to-day.

ATTRACTIVE DISPLAY.

An interesting feature in the Coronation illuminations was the display seen just off the route of the Royal Procession near by Ludgate Circus at the offices of Messrs. Gordon & Gotch one of the premier London houses for advertising and publishing in the British Empire. The first place in the display was allotted to Canada of course, whilst beneath was a map of Australia in colored outline, also "South Africa," thus showing the principal territories covered by this enterprising firm. The design was decidedly unique and attracted considerable attention.

NO DECISION ON WATER PLANT PURCHASE PLAN

Aldermen Discuss Proposed Acquisition of Montreal Water and Power Co.'s Plant.

At a special meeting of aldermen at the City Hall today, the question was again brought up of buying out the Montreal Water and Power Company at a cost of seven million dollars.

A report was submitted by City Auditor Pelletier as to the cost.

The city would be called upon to buy the capital shares of the company, valued at	$1,020,000.00
Loan of five per cent. floated by St. Cunegonde	250,000.00
Company's debentures and various obligations	3,592,670.80
Other obligations bearing interest	1,074,596.50
Debts owing to various municipalities	417,666.98
Due to contractors	185,392.06
Current debts	41,747.37
Accrued interest, etc.	55,622.76
Total	$6,740,696.15

Ald Lussier opposed the purchase of the company. His main contention was that it would be better for the city to wait till the contracts expired with the new wards and then take them over and supply them with water.

Chairman N. Lapointe said that the longer the city delayed buying out the company, the greater the cost would be to the city, the company is now spending great sums in building a reservoir and improving its system, and that it would be wise to buy out the company by arbitration proceedings.

It was decided to adjourn the meeting till next week.

COOLER IN NEW YORK TO-DAY

New York, July 12.—Despite the fact that the temperature had dropped to 82 at noon to-day, ten degrees less than yesterday, 21 persons died from the effect of the heat between eight a.m. and noon.

The wind was from the south-east, and brought cooling breezes from the ocean. The Weather Bureau says it will be cooled to-morrow.

THE CAMPBELL FLOUR MILLS COMPANY, LIMITED.

Toronto, June 29th, 1911.

Messrs. Campbell, Thompson and Company,
Toronto.

Dear Sirs:—Referring to your purchase of $300,000 preferred stock of the Campbell Flour Mills Company, Limited, I beg to say that the additional moneys now being provided will be used for the erection and equipment of the new mill at Midland and for working capital.

The Company has no bonds, and there is no mortgage upon any of its real estate or plants.

When the new mill is completed, the Company will have an immediate capacity of 3,000 barrels of flour per day, and 130 tons of feed, with facilities to increase at a comparatively small expense to 4,500 barrels per day. Our brands, such as "CREAM OF THE WEST," "QUEEN CITY," and "MONARCH," have long been established, and are well-known to dealers, not only in Canada but also in the West Indies, South Africa, Newfoundland, and the United Kingdom, and I feel confident that we can readily dispose of our entire product at very remunerative prices. The wheat from our Canadian North-West is known as the hardest and best wheat in the world, and the production thereof is rapidly increasing, and the flour made from this hard wheat is in great demand. Our transportation facilities and freight rates are favorable for exportation to the seaboard, and we therefore have considerable advantage over mills not so well situated.

The new Company will be under the same management as the old one, and taking our past experience as a guide I think the profits of the new Company will be sufficient, within a short time, to provide not only the cumulative dividends on the preferred stock, but a substantial amount available for dividends on the common.

Yours faithfully,
(Signed) ARCHIBALD CAMPBELL,
President.

The above is a copy of a letter received from Senator Campbell in reference to our underwriting $300,000 of the preferred stock.

We would call your attention specially to the last paragraph.

We are offering the 7 per cent. cumulative stock at par, carrying a bonus of 25 per cent. common stock. The books will be closed not later than Monday, July 17th.

Prospectus on application.

MR. BALFOUR HOLDS CONFERENCES WITH LORD LANSDOWNE

Unionist Leader Also Sees Lord Knollys, King's Private Secretary.

Special to The Montreal Star.

New York, July 12.—The Right Hon. Arthur J. Balfour, Unionist leader in the House of Commons, had a further conference with Lord Lansdowne yesterday, and it was subsequently announced that he would address his constituents in the city of London on the constitutional crisis on July 25, just about the time when the Lords will be considering whether to surrender or to face the creation of scores, perhaps hundreds, of new peers.

Lord Knollys also conferred with Mr. Balfour yesterday, and as he is in the confidence of the King the announcement has a special significance at this juncture.

Meanwhile The Times states that the Chief Liberal Whip has a list of five hundred peers ready, but nobody really believes, in spite of the Unionist cry of "no surrender," that there will be any necessity for watering the peerage and creating a permanent Liberal majority in the House of Lords.

KING GEORGE HAS AWARDED ALSOP CLAIM TO STATES

As Chile Had Deposited Cash in Advance, Nothing Remains But to Pay it Over.

London, July 12.—The Times announces that King George has given the award in the Alsop claim to the United States. The award concedes £187,000 ($935,000) to the American claimants.

Early in August last the United States Ambassador and the Chilean Minister at London presented to the British Foreign Office their respective cases on the Alsop claim, which had been submitted to King George as arbitrator.

The claim is based upon large sums of money advanced to the Bolivian Government in 1874. Chili agreeing to assume the obligations of Bolivia to the company when Arica passed to Chili. The claim amounted to $1,500,000.

The United States and Chili agreed to submit the case to the late King Edward, and after his death, to his successor, King George. Chili deposited the amount claimed, in London, to be paid over in case the award was in favor of the American claimants.

COMPLAINANTS NO SOLDIERS DECLARES COLONEL DENISON

Toronto Veteran Ridicules Plaint of Militiamen Not in Coronation Procession.

Toronto, July 12.—"I do not know how Lord Kitchener treated the colonial troops at the Coronation, because I was up in the north of England when the Coronation took place; but I imagine he treated them better than they deserved. Kitchener isn't the man to treat them otherwise," said Colonel G. T. Denison, interviewed on his return from England.

"I suppose some of them thought because he didn't go and talk to them individually and say to them, 'Here, you will have to take some very special part in the Coronation ceremonies, because you come from Toronto,' that he treated them badly.

"Furthermore, any trooper who comes back here and gives out grumbling interviews to the newspapers is no soldier."

Col. Denison, on arriving, went immediately from the train to his place on the Bench in the Police Court."

Ottawa, July 12. — The published complaint of some of the Canadian Coronation troops that they were compelled to line the roads in London instead of taking part in the Coronation procession, is described as ridiculous by the Ottawa officers who have returned home.

"Personally I never expected that we would take part in the parade," said Captain O'Connor, this morning. "There is no cause for any complaint, for we had the best possible position on the line of march, just outside the gates at Buckingham Palace."

Captain O'Connor states that the reception and treatment of the Canadian troops in England could not have been more cordial and hospitable. A special entertainment committee looked after the men all the time they were in London, and gave them the time of their lives.

UNWARRANTED SAYS BRITISH OFFICIAL.

Canadian Associated Press.

London, July 12.—Referring to the Canadian contingent's reported dissatisfaction regarding their share in the Coronation processions, a high military official declared to the Canadian Associated Press that such dissatisfaction was entirely unwarranted, and points out that on Coronation Day the Canadians were posted at Buckingham Palace, thus being the first to give the Sovereign the salute on starting his journey.
