We beg to announce that we have added to the personnel of our establishment the services of one of the best draughtsmen of the United States, who has had several years experience with the best houses of Paris and New York. In securing the services of such a man, our aim is to turn out the best work possible, and build the best style of carriages that taste and experience can produce. We have now almost completed a few carriages of newest designs which we would be pleased to show you at any time you would favor us with a visit. We always have on hand

Coupes, Broughams, Rockaways, Victorias, Cabriolets, Traps, Buggies, of every kind at reduced prices.

Hoping to be favoured with a visit when wanting to buy a fine and good carriage, Respectfully yours,

A Voluntary Opinion from a Well-known Veterinarian

MONTCLAIR, N. J., Feb. 20, 1900.

DEAR SIRS—I have selected three horses, so lame that they could not be driven. The cause of lameness, though different in each case, was such that the jar caused by the foot coming in contact with the ground caused pain, and thereby the lameness. Now, in each case the effect of your pads was but little short of wonderful. Two of the horses left the shop without showing any lameness. In the third, the lameness disappeared before the third day. All three horses have been used every day since—four weeks—without showing any lameness.

Now, I am very much opposed to my name being used for advertising purposes, but I am desirous that the veterinarians and horseshoers should know the effect of these pads on certain kinds of lameness. When I say kind, I refer to the cause, for it seems too bad that horses should be compelled to endure so much suffering with relief so close at hand. All cases where pain (lameness) is caused by the jar incidental to the foot coming in contact with the ground will find immediate relief in your pad. Most cases where some part of the limb is overtaxed by receiving the weight of the body after the foot is in position on the ground, will be benefited by them. Lameness, caused by a condition which mechanically interferes with the motion of a joint; lameness which is caused by soreness at the toe, due to the heels being too high, or that which is caused by a seam on the inside of the shell, or a spur, cannot be cured by the use of a pad, or any other method of shoeing, and should receive the treatment indicated in such cases. But as these conditions cause less than ten per cent of all lameness, it is safe to say that ninety per cent will find relief in your pads.

Yours truly, JAMES McDONOUGH, D. V. S.
