SOVIET OFFICIALS REPLY TO UNITED STATES Compton Bye-Election Case Heard In Local Court Today

Russia Does Not Regard U.S. Note "A Friendly Act"

Soviet Government Expresses "Amazement that Government of United States, Which by Its Own Will Has No Official Relations With Russia, Deems It Possible to Apply to It With Advice and Counsel."

(Associated Press Despatch)
MOSCOW, Dec. 4. — The Soviet Government notified the United States today that it could not consider the United States note reminding the Russian and Chinese governments of their Briand-Kellogg act obligations as a "friendly act."

In a memorandum handed the French ambassador, Maurice Herbette, by Maxim Litvinoff, acting commissar for Foreign Affairs, the Soviet Government expressed "amazement that the Government of the United States, which by its own will has no official relations with the Soviet, deems it possible to apply to it with advice and counsel."

In another place the memorandum states: "The Soviet Government further states that the fact of not giving any single state or group of states the function of protector of this pact. The Soviet, at any rate, never expressed consent that any state themselves, or by mutual consent, should take upon themselves such a right."

BANDIT HORDE REPORTED TO HAVE TAKEN KANGCHOW

AMOY, Dec. 4.—Belated information coming from Kangchow, Kiang-si province, stated today that a bandit horde that in recent months has been ravishing and looting the countryside south of Fukien, northeast Kwangtung province, now is operating in the southern half of Kiangsi.

It was reported that the outlaws last Sunday entered Kangchow and participated in an orgy of murder and looting, slaying in two days about 100 Chinese officials and

Curbing Of Marginal Trading On Stock Exchange Is Provided For

Two Bills Introduced at Washington Would Bar Stock Traders Access to Mails and Other Communications—New York Stock Exchange, Under Present System of Organization, Termed a Vast Monte Carlo—New Bills
Would Provide Fine or Imprisonment for Infringement.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Curbing of marginal trading in the stock market is the purpose of two bills introduced in the House yesterday by men representing two different sections of the country.
One was presented by Representative Clyde Kelly, of Pennsylvania, and the other was introduced by O.
H. Cross, of Texas, in an effort to close "this nation-wide gambling house" which is called the New York Stock Exchange. Both bills would throw up the barrier of denying the stock traders access to the mails, telegraph, telephone or other lines of communication in interstate commerce to pursue their marginal trading.

Mr. Kelly's bill would make it a felony punishable by a fine of $1,000 to $5,000 or, in the case of individuals, imprisonment for one to five years for "any person to deliver for transmission through the mails or interstate commerce by telegraph, telephone, wireless or other means of communication, any offer to make or execute any contract or any confirmation of the execution of any contract respecting the purchase or sale, either upon credit or margin, of any shares in any corporation or association intending that such contract shall be terminated, closed or settled according to, or upon the basis of the public market quotations of, in prices made on, any board of trade or exchange or market upon which such stocks are dealt in without intending a bonafide receipt or delivery of the same."

Mr. Cross labelled his bill "The Stock Exchange Trading Act," and would make it a misdemeanor, punishable by fine of $1,000 to $10,000 for price quotations or sale offers to be made over lines of communication in interstate commerce for any

P. H. Bouffard Was Nominated As Liberal Party Standard Bearer In Beauce County Bye-Election

Lawyer Son of Justice Bouffard, of St. Joseph, Was Selected Yesterday on a Vote of Sixty-Four to Three, the Other Candidate Being Leonce Cliche, Also of St. Joseph—Voting Will Take Place on December 10.

(Associated Press Despatch)
ST. JOSEPH, Que., Dec. 4.—
Paul Henri Bouffard, lawyer, son of Justice Bouffard, of St.
Joseph, was the choice of the Liberal convention held here yesterday to select a candidate for the provincial bye-election to be held in Beauce County on December 10th.
Bouffard was selected on a vote of sixty-four to three, the other candidate being Leonce Cliche, lawyer, of St. Joseph.

The meeting opened with 158 delegates in attendance and three names were advanced, the third being Edouard Fortin, a lawyer and publisher of Beauceville.
Mr. Fortin announced that he would not accept nomination and the ballot was only for the remaining two. Only sixty-seven delegates voted for a candidate, while twenty-seven returned blank ballots and the remainder who had been at the opening of the convention had departed.

The bye-election was made necessary by appointment of the sitting member, J. H. Fortier, to a judgeship.

stocks unless they "shall have been listed with such exchange or board of trade by owners thereof for sale and immediate settlement."

"Not only, as the President just stated in his message, does such frenzied speculation deplete the various communities of the nation of the money necessary to do the work of communities, and concentrate it in New York, but it demoralizes and depresses all markets, including agriculture, and undermines and paralyzes industry resulting in unemployment, poverty and suffering.
Why permit this nation-wide gambling house to run as at present where millions who do not own a share, sell stocks, 'on margin,' which is merely a bet with the so-called buyer that the stock on a certain future day will be higher or lower than at present? Why not restrict it to legitimate trading?"

AN UNFULFILLED PLEDGE CAUSE OF DISORDERS

Grand Mufti, Head of Arabs, Attributed Violence Between Jews and Arabs to Non-Fulfilment of Promise Made

JERUSALEM, Dec. 4.—Lawrence of Arabia (Colonel Thomas E. Lawrence) and an alleged unfilled pledge of independence for the Arabs as a reward for their revolt against Turkey during the war were introduced into the inquiry concerning the recent disorders in Palestine yesterday.
The Grand Mufti, head of the Arabs, introduced as evidence a letter from Lord Balfour to King Hussein, dated 1918, thanking the Arab leader for his help given the Allies and stating that the pledges of independence made by Colonel Lawrence would be fulfilled.
The Mufti attributed the violence between Jews and Arabs to non-fulfilment of this promise.

WAS RESTORED TO LIFE AGAIN BY OPERATION

Injection of Adrenalin Said to Have Worked "Miracle" on George H. Austin, Employee of Eastman Kodak Company.

(Associated Press Despatch)
ROCHESTER, N.Y., Dec. 4.—
George H. Austin, forty-six, an employee of the Eastman Kodak Company, thought dead three weeks after a fall, is living today and doing well, after being brought back by an injection of adrenalin, the operation being performed by Dr. Benjamin J. Slater, chief of the company's medical division. Confirmation of the "miracle" was given last night by Dr. Slater.

"He was dead all right," said Dr.
Slater. "Respiration and heart action had stopped and the reflexes of the pupils had ceased and the face had taken the ashen color of death. I found him collapsed on the floor, breathing in a labored manner. After breathing fifteen or twenty times, all the evidences of death set in. One other doctor and three nurses were with me at the time of the operation."

The recovery of Mr. Austin was learned through friends who visited him at Strong Memorial Hospital.
In describing his sensations, he said last night that he had recovered. "I knew the sensation was the same as if I had fainted and was revived."

Rochester physicians, in commenting upon the case, said that so far as they knew this is the only adult who has lived so long after such an operation. Austin apparently is on the road to recovery. He expects to be back at work soon.

WILL RESUME INVESTIGATION (Associated Press Despatch) WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Re- sumption of its investigation into the entire field of radio, telephone and telegraph communication was ordered yesterday by the Senate inter-state commerce committee.

Case Of Bye- Election Is Heard Here

Hearing on Preliminary Objections in Connection With Petition for Annulment of Bye-Election in Compton County Taken on Deliberate by Mr. Justice White—Defendant's Motion for Particulars Allowed.

The hearing on the preliminary objections in connection with the petition of A.W. Pratt, of Cookshire, for annulment of the Compton County bye-election on the grounds of alleged corruption on the part of the Liberal candidate, Hon. A. R.
McMaster, took place in the Practice Court here this morning and at the conclusion, was taken on deliberate by Mr. Justice White. The defendant's motion for particulars as to times, places and certain names in connection with the details in the petition was granted.

Pratt explained that he was in Montreal on October 18th in connection with the petition. He gave the details to his attorney, Edouard Macon, who drew up the petition and explained it to him. He stated, moreover, that although he was not thoroughly familiar with the French language, he was well enough acquainted with the tongue to understand the allegations contained in the petition.

Filed Electoral List
Mr. Macon, who, with Dorcas Panneton, K.C., represented the petitioner, filed the electoral list of the village of Cookshire, which contained the name of the Mr. Pratt.
He stated that the petition had been served on Hon. Mr. McMaster on November 27th, but that the petition had not been returned until November 27th, the last day on which he could make his preliminary objections.

Details According to Law
Mr. Macon, however, contended that all matters in connection with the petition had been carried out according to law. He acknowledged that after the petition had been served upon the defendant it had not been returned until November 27th, but stated that Hon. Mr. Mc-Master had a certified copy on which to make his preliminary objections.

At the conclusion of the hearing the case was taken on delibere by His Lordship, though the defendant's motion for particulars as to times, place and certain names for details was allowed.

WELL KNOWN MEN OF THE EASTERN TOWNSHIPS

MR. C. A. TURNER

Mr. Claude Allan Turner, proprietor of the C. A. Turner Manufacturing Company of this city, was born at Cherry River, Quebec, on January 13th, 1880. He was the son of Artemus L. and Mary Lewis Turner.
He received his education in the "Little Red School House on the Hill," and lived with his parents on their farm until he was twenty-two years of age. The following three years he was engaged at railroad bridge building with the Union Pacific in Colorado and the Canadian Pacific Railways in Quebec.

In the spring of 1919 he came to Sherbrooke, and for a number of years carried on a carpentry and building business. In 1910 and 1911 he conducted a retail lumber business, known as The Sherbrooke Lumber Yard; which was later sold to Mr. Bradshaw. Mr. Turner again took up building, and in the fall of 1916 accepted the position of superintendent at the Dominion Metal Company's bullet plant, remaining in charge until the end of the war.

In the early spring of 1925 he opened a factory of his own, and now manufactures all sizes of sash cords and has put on the market the first "Knot Passing Clothes Line Pulley" manufactured in Canada.

Mr. Turner is of an inventive nature and the greater part of the machinery used in his plant is of his own special design and make. He has several patents on cord and pulleys in Canada, the United States and Great Britain.

Mr. Turner is a lover of the out-of-doors and spends the greater part of his spare time in fishing and hunting. He is a member of the Y.M.
C.A. and an active member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, and is a citizen who has always taken a keen interest in civic matters.

Mr. Turner married Miss Jessie Watson Shaw, of Sherbrooke. They have two children, Malcolm and Helen, and two other children, Kenneth and Margaret, having passed away.

Mr. Turner's residence and office are at 199 Victoria Street, Sherbrooke.

Post Office Department Has Plan For Fast East To West Air Route

At Various Times Recently There Has Been Intimation of Such an Intention and Portions of Scheme Have Become Known—Understood that Now Complete Mode of Air Mail Communication Has Been Devised—Business Men of East and West Would Be Brought More Closely Together.

OTTAWA, Dec. 4.—An elaborate plan for bringing business men of the east and of the west more closely together has been formulated by the Post Office Department in the form of a fast air mail service. At various times recently there has been intimation of such an intention, and portions of the scheme have become known, but now, it is understood, a complete mode of air mail communication has been devised.

By this plan an airplane would leave Montreal, N.B., at noon and arrive in Montreal that evening. The service would be taken on the west coast and land there two days ahead of the railway service.

Such a plan would place Maritime and Quebec cities on a parity with Winnipeg in the matter of business mail both for that city and for Alberta cities. It is estimated that it would cost about $2,000,000 annually for the first year or two, and later would cost the country only about $500,000. In about five years it is anticipated that such a business mail between the east and the west would be developed that the service might even be self-sustaining, and important advantages to business in the two sections of the country are believed certain to accruce.

The service between the Mar-times, Montreal, Winnipeg and Calgary is expected to be inaugurated early next summer, and the service extended across the Rockies shortly afterwards, or as soon as landing facilities are provided on the Pacific Coast. It is understood that the city of Vancouver is already making financial provisions for such an airport.

A Bright Picture Of Financial Condition Of U. S. Was Painted

President Hoover in His First Budget Message Estimated Treasury's Outlay for Twelve Months Beginning Next July at $4,102,938,700 and Figured
There Would Be a Surplus at End of that Period of $122,- 000,000.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Dec.
4. — President Hoover today laid before Congress a recommendation for tax reduction, a request for $3,830,- 445,231 for governmental use next year, and a bright picture of the state of the nation's finances.

Drawing a lesson from the lowering of taxes in the past, the President said that there was no doubt that increased revenues had always followed and that the stimulus given to business was partly responsible for these upward jumps in receipts.

Outlay of $4,102,938,700
for Year

In his first budget message he estimated the treasury's outlay for the twelve months beginning next July at $4,102,938,700 and figured there would be a $122,000,000 surplus at the end of that period.

The difference between appropriations asked and the expenditure forecast was explained as being due to the fact that the President had not included any amount for the revolving fund of the Federal Farm Board because it had not been determined how much would be necessary.

Carry Over of Appropriations

In the estimate of outgo, however, the amount was placed at $200,000,000. A further difference of $72,000,000 was due to a carryover of appropriations from the present year which would be available next year. As submitted, the request was for $146,696,000 less than for this year.

Practice Of Placing High Tariff On Finished Product And Leaving Raw Material Free Is Criticized

Chairman William H. Moore, of Advisory Board on Tariff and Taxation, Says Duty Is Being Placed on Baked Apples and Green Apples Allowed to Come in Free—Manufacturers of Pipes and Tubes Before Board.

OTTAWA, Dec. 4.—"We are putting a duty of thirty per cent on baked apples and allowing green apples to come in free," observed Chairman William H. Moore of the Advisory Board on Tariff and Taxation, yesterday morning. He was referring to the practice of imposing a high tariff on finished products and admitting the raw material free of duty. The whole principle, he thought, was wrong. The matter under consideration at the time was the brief of Page Hersey Tubes, Limited, whose plants are located at Welland and Guelph, but who bring their raw materials from the United States at a cost equivalent to sixty-two per cent of the price of the finished products. The chairman again impressed upon Canadian manufacturers the importance of building up Canadian industry.

Asked for Explanation
"Here," said he, "we have an item of $8,000,000 for the importation of skelp. I would like some one to tell me why we should go on importing six million dollars worth of iron and steel skelp from the United States or any other country."

"I asked myself the same question many years ago," replied W.
H. Moore, president and managing director of Page Hersey Tubes, Limited. "We thought of erecting a skelp mill in Ontario, and we went so far as to get an option on a piece of land on Lake Erie (presumably near Welland), but the way came along and the project was abandoned. There is not a sufficient demand for skelp in this country to make its production economically possible. It would require three different kinds of mills. Our figures at the time showed that an expenditure of eight to ten millions would be necessary. Unless these mills could be continuously employed it would be foolish to erect them. You would require to roll about 20,000

TWELVE PLANES ARE CAPTURED FOR SMUGGLING

Canadians and U. S. Dry Officials
Co-operating Together to Meet Existing Conditions in Satisfactory Manner.

(Associated Press Despatch)
WASHINGTON, December 4. — Co-operation between Canadian officials and United States preventive forces at the Detroit border has resulted in the seizure recently of twelve rum-running aeroplanes. Senator Lowman, in charge of prohibition enforcement, told the Canadian Press yesterday.

"The Canadians are notifying us of rum-running aeroplanes whenever they can," Lowman said.
He said reports that there had been an "increase in the force at Detroit in the prospect of the Christmas rush. Some men temporarily attached to the preventive forces at Detroit are being replaced from the regular service list, and this accounted for the erroneous report. While there might at Christmas season be increased attempted smuggling, he said ordinarily during the winter there was a decrease.

To combat floating ice in the river,
Lowman said the forces at Detroit were being supplied with heavier boats and icebreakers. The anti-smuggling forces do not use aeroplanes on the border he said. They are used only along the coast.

partment of Pensions and National

Mr. Near thought that before an item was inserted in the customs tariff, there should be someone capable of producing the article it referred to in Canada. He stated they obtained the raw material from the United States cheaper than the same material was sold for in the United States for domestic use. In other words, skelp is dumped in Belgium, but it is not as good as United States skelp. What Belgium supplies is basic bessemer. There are several kinds of skelp; bessemer steel skelp, puddled iron skelp, wrought iron skelp and copper bearing skelp. Mr. Near admitted in cross-examination that much of the skelp they import at Welland and Guelph comes from their own plant in the United States. Messrs.
Dechman and Darby suspected the Canadian Page-Hersey Tubes Company was a subsidiary of an "American concern, but it turned out that the United States company is a subsidiary of the Canadian company, two-thirds of the stock being owned by Canadians.

Mr. Near said the duty on pipe varies from 15 per cent under the British preference to 30 per cent under the general tariff, while the duty on raw material (skelp) is 5 per cent.

Get 25c. ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a 16 oz. bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The 16 ounces thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, loosens the tenacious phlegm, and soothes away the inflammation. Part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

A very interesting Scotch service in connection with St. Andrew's Day was held in Trinity United Church, on Sunday evening, December 1st.

Mr. Wright Gibson, B.A., of Sherbrooke, who presided at the organ rendered very effectively old Scotch airs before and after the service. Old Scotch tunes such as "Dundee," "Merryblyden," "Salisbury," and "Auld Lang Syne," were sung to the psalms and hymns. The special vocal selections consisted of two anthems by the choir, a quartette, "My Ain Country," by the following: Mrs. Jack McLeod, Miss Kathleen Armstrong, Messrs. Wright Gibson and Charles Webb. During the offertory, a solo, "Land o' the Leal," was rendered very sympathetically by Miss Kathleen Armstrong. A short address was given by the minister, Rev. W. E. Lang on "National Greatness, a Search for the Cause." Much of the effectiveness of the service was due to the indefatigable work of Mr. Wright Gibson and the members of the choir.

HOW TO PREPARE FOR WINTER

See if you can go through this winter without a cold. Very few people escape having one or more severe colds each winter when, as a matter of fact, everybody ought to feel better in cold weather. There is no excuse for the sniffles and sneezes, the headaches, aching eyes, and a nose that gets red and sore.

The cold season is a bracer, and it should make one feel energetic. The cold, sparkling air rushing into the lungs stimulates them, and oxygen is more plentiful in the blood stream.

The Anglo-Saxon racial strain, which is probably the most energetic on the face of the earth, was cradled in the cold. The fact that these men had to struggle to overcome the freezing chill to keep warm, and to shelter themselves and their own from the blasts of winter, built a tougher and more stout-hearted breed. Winter is a challenge that makes the red blood flow faster. It whips up new powers, ambition.

The reason that so many people feel distressed with the cold weather is that they reverse many of their rules of health. The snappy air of winter acts as an appetizer and makes them feel like eating far more than is needed, especially of the starches and sugars, and instead of burning these carbohydrates up by using the bulk of the population stays cooped up in houses. Most of the houses are overheated, and do not get aired out enough during the day, and this leads to a congestion of the lungs because of the foul, warm, humid air. Upon venturing out of an overheated room into the cold, the delicate, congested linings of the nose, bronchial tubes and lungs receive a severe shock which could easily be avoided if the rooms were not overheated and fresh air was allowed to circulate freely.

Often, too, people wear heavy clothing in their overheated houses, and this produces a still greater congestion of the lungs, bronchial tubes and nasal membranes.

You can easily see a demonstration of how overheating brings on a crop of colds if you watch the doctors' offices shortly after the Thanksgiving and Christmas feasts. At the same time that more starches and rich foods are eaten, the additional mistake is usually made of using less of the fresh vegetables and salads. Since fruits are also more expensive in winter, they too are left off the menu. Anyone who is well and wants to stay well must include one or, if possible, two vegetables with the starch meal, and at least one large salad daily. I am sure that you will find in the list if fresh fruits are available. You can also use dehydrated or canned vegetables to supplement the scarcity of fresh vegetables.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Water Blisters

Question—Mrs. S. D. writes: "I took a water fast for fourteen days and my body cleared up from blisters which had a terrible itching but now three weeks afterwards these irritations are coming back. I do not know what to do for relief."

Answer—If your skin cleared up on the fasting regime this would indicate the correct treatment. The fact that the eruptions returned after a few weeks of eating indicates that some of the foods or combinations which you used must have been wrong. It would be a good policy to repeat another short fast and then be especially careful of your food combinations. Short fasts, followed by an olive oil shower, followed by a cold shower, should be beneficial to the skin.

Fresh Figs

Question—M. R. writes: "Please give me some information regarding the food value of fresh ripe figs. And should one troubled with mucous colitis avoid figs?"

Answer—Fresh figs contain 79 per cent. carbohydrates, 5 1/2 per cent. protein, and the rest mostly mineral matter. They are highly alkaline forming and are a very good food even for those troubled with mucous colitis.

Wearing Hats

Question—G. W. asks: "Does the wearing of a hat part of the time have any effect on the growth of the hair or the health in general?"

Answer—There is no doubt that tight fitting hats have some effect upon making a poor circulation of blood throughout the scalp. If a hat must be worn part of the time, it is a simple matter to choose a hat which rests lightly upon the head and does not fit so tightly as to stop the circulation.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Mrs. Reddy Sees the Turkeys
By Thornton W. Burgess

When there's something to be done, Two are twice as good as one. —Reddy Fox.

Reddy Fox could think of nothing but turkeys. All the day following his discovery of those turkeys on a distant farm Reddy thought about turkeys while he was awake and dreamed about them while he was asleep. It seemed to him that never in all his life had he wanted anything quite as much as he wanted one of those turkeys. He could hardly wait for jolly, round, red Mr. Sun to go to bed behind the Purple Hills. Just as soon as the first of the Black Shadows appeared Reddy was prepared to start. "Come on, my dear," he said impatiently to Mrs. Reddy.

"Where?" demanded Mrs. Reddy. "Why, to see those turkeys that I found last night, of course," replied Reddy.

"What's the good of going 'way over there when you can't get them?" Mrs. Reddy demanded.

"Listen, dear," said Reddy. "Over on that farm is just as good hunting as there is anywhere around here. We are sure of getting something to eat, even if we don't get a turkey; and there is always a chance that one of those turkeys may roost low enough for us to get him, or perhaps not go up in a tree at all. Come along, my dear; come along."

Mrs. Reddy hesitated. Then she decided that she would at least go over and see those turkeys. So off they trotted. Mrs. Reddy at Reddy's heels. And so at last they reached the farm where the turkeys lived.

Reddy stopped at some little distance from the farm yard. He had no intention of taking any unnecessary risks.

"What are you waiting for?" demanded Mrs. Reddy. "I want to see those turkeys."

"You'll see them," promised Reddy. "I don't want to go up there until those lights in that farmhouse go out. If that farmer ever suspects that there are any foxes around, we shall never have a chance to get one of those turkeys. We must get one before he knows that we know where they are."

So Reddy and Mrs. Reddy spent time hunting mice down in the meadow. Mrs. Reddy had very good luck and this made her better natured. Yes, sir, this made her better natured. Reddy was not so successful, but he didn't mind. He was afraid his thoughts were not on mice. His thoughts were on turkeys. By and by the lights went out. Mrs. Reddy was for going up there right away, but Reddy wouldn't. He wanted to be sure that every one was asleep. Finally he led the way.

When he reached the orchard the moon was shining bright. Reddy led the way to a certain apple-tree over near the barn. "There, do you see 'em?" he whispered.

Mrs. Reddy was watching Mrs. Reddy sharply. He saw the gleam that came into her eyes when she saw the twelve great birds roosting in the trees and he was satisfied. He knew that now he would have a willing partner in all his plans.

"My, my, my," whispered Mrs. Reddy, "how big they are! Do you suppose we could kill one even if we could get to it?"

"Trust me for that," replied Reddy. "Just let me get hold of the neck of one of those birds; that's all I ask. I believe one of those turkeys is roosting lower than he did last night. Now, my dear, what do you think of my discovery?"

"I think," replied Mrs. Reddy, "that we won't go home tonight. We'll stay somewhere around here until we get one of those turkeys."

"Just as you say, my dear," replied Reddy.

KING COLE ORANGE PEKOE
Tea costs more by the pound, but less by the cup. It is blended entirely from "small leaves." These are the tender young shoots and bud leaves of the tea plant. They are cured with slow care with the result that they have the most sap and yield the richest "liquor" in the tea pot.

W. C. T. U. MET AT WATERLOO; GENERAL NEWS

Interesting Account of Anti-Alcoholic League Meeting Presented — Successful Church Sale — Newsy Notes and Personal of General Interest.

WATERLOO, Que., Dec. 4. — There was a very well attended meeting of the November W.C.T.U. at Mrs. Colburn's. It was reported that $15. had been sent as a donation to the Provincial Educational Fund. It was decided if possible to take up the campaign in three rural day schools and two Sunday Schools. As the Union had sent the Rev. Mr. Allenby as a delegate to the conference of the League Against Alcoholism, and at the close of the business meeting he read a report which was brief as he was not able to attend all the sessions but selected what he considered the outstanding points. Mr. Allenby's report is as follows:

On November 4th, I had the honour of representing your society at the convention of the Quebec League Against Alcoholism.

The first address was given by Dr. E. J. Rexford, of Montreal. Laying special emphasis on the fact that in view of recent happenings, education remained the most successful cause could be furthered. He also advocated the co-operation of temperance people with the Government in enforcing the spirit of the present law. He felt that if the spirit of the law was observed and the profit element in the trade removed as originally intended many of the manifold evils would disappear.

The second outstanding address was given by Rev. W. J. Clark, of Westmount, and was a fearless attack on the liquor traffic. Government control systems were invariably adopted with a view to decreasing liquor consumption, reducing bootlegging activities, rendering greater economic service to the country and the curbing of crime. But we have just the reverse. Liquor consumption and bootlegging activities have increased and little or no economic benefit to the country has been realized, while crime under government control has been on the increase, the system contributing indirectly to the increase of crime. In many cases might be termed manslaughter or even murder, whilst under the influence of this stimulant.

One of the great claims of the government for their system is that it will reduce crime and promote human happiness. Since liquor in the industry become interested in the happiness and welfare of our people? It is responsible for more hardship and unhappiness than any other one thing I know.

Another problem, the government has made this business a respectable calling. In the old days it was a disgrace; no one wanted to be linked with it. The liquor traffic is hard, relentlessly and ruthlessly removing those who stand in its way. And Dr. Hart pitched himself almost single handed at that cruel devilish thing. Heroic! yes; sacrificial! yes; unafraid! yes. The temperance cause gave him a hard task, at which he was always abounding in the work.

Fearlessly facing the enemy, rallying a discouraging army of workers, till the strain was too much and the leader fell by the way. Yet I would not look upon his death as a tragedy, but sudden promotion. His life was not long but full. The master wasn't long lived, but it was a full and useful life. He was responsible for the death of Dr. Hart followed in the way of the Master. He did not go out into the dark. He knew the way and as yet no other prophet has been raised to take his place.

Large Sum Realized from Sale
The annual sale of St. Luke's parochial W.A. which was held in the town hall on Friday afternoon and evening, November 29th, was a pronounced success in every way. The hall was tastefully and attractively decorated for the occasion. The fancy work table in charge of Mrs. K. W. Wallace, Mrs. Candlish, Mrs. Holden, Miss Booth, was filled with articles and novelties. Mrs. Phelps and Mrs. E. J. McKenna readily disposed of the surprise articles at their counter. The plain work table in charge of Mrs. F. Stone, Mrs. E. A. Savage, Mrs. S. Taylor, Mrs. Woolley possessed many useful articles. Mrs. M. C. May, Mrs. Bridge and Mrs. S. MacLoughlin were in charge of an interesting orange tree, which afforded much pleasure to the children.

Pounds of delicious home made candy were disposed of by Mrs. A. Adams, Mrs. H. W. Moynan, and Mrs. J. S. Macdonald.

At six o'clock a supper was served to over two hundred people in the council room, by Mrs. Porter, Mrs. F. Slack, Mrs. F. Snodgrass, Mrs. H. King, Mrs. J. Young, Mrs. Shaw, Miss W. K. Robinson, Mrs. F. Jones, Mrs. Hackwell and Mrs. Irwin.

Following the supper an enjoyable dance took place, at which Mrs. Holden, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Adams, Messrs. M. Bergeron and Alder Perkins furnished excellent music.

The proceeds derived from the undertaking amounted to nearly four hundred dollars.

in any way with the hotel or brewery. No respectable citizen ever dreamed of going into the business. But now it is no more than going into a bank or opening up a grocery store. Since when has the traffic gone on its knees in prayer and found that which purged it into a respectable calling?

Government control has entrenched the traffic. One might say it is almost impregnably entrenched. And to launch oneself at this business so entrenched is to do so at the risk of being looked down upon as a fanatical lunatic. A disinterested community mind is largely responsible for this state of affairs, and is making it possible for them to reject, what, in the old days, would have made them tremble. What are we to do?

We must smartingly feel the conditions that are with us. We cannot accept them jauntily and philosophically. For we have a duty to society. It is ours to praise what God would praise and to denounce what God would denounce. There are no situations with which we have no right to be popular. They hate us, no matter how much they pat us on the back to keep us quietly in the corner, in a mood of inactivity and destroy everything for which we stand.

For self preservation we must attack right along the line. It must be war to the death. Keep out in the open, rallying your scattered and discouraged forces and return again and again to the attack, striking fear and terror into the hearts of our politicians. For this is the only way we know. This is the only impulse to which he will respond.

A very impressive Memorial service was conducted by Dr. S. R. Rose, stating that Dr. Hart was well born. And this means much to one who faces a dispirited and single handed man should choose his grandfather. For many children are not so much born into the world as they are damned into the world. It was for these latter children that Dr. Hart gave himself so unreservedly. He was born in China, the son of a Methodist minister who was an outstanding missionary of the church.

Dr. Hart was a man steadfast in friendship unmovable in the face of duty, always abounding in the work. The liquor traffic is hard, relentlessly and ruthlessly removing those who stand in its way. And Dr. Hart pitched himself almost single handed at that cruel devilish thing. Heroic! yes; sacrificial! yes; unafraid! yes. The temperance cause gave him a hard task, at which he was always abounding in the work.

KNOWLTON

CHICKEN PIE SUPPER ENTERTAINMENT
The chicken pie supper and entertainment which was held in the United Church on Friday evening, November 10th, was a decided success. The attendance was very good and all seemed to enjoy to the limit the splendid supper which the ladies provided. The programme given in the church auditorium at the close of the supper was of an exceptional high order. Rev. W. H. Thomas, secretary of the Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbytery, was present and assisted in the musical entertainment. Rev. Arthur Seaton, of Hatley, was the special speaker. His address was timely and much appreciated. Mr. Blair, of Sherbrooke, rendered several solos in a very effective manner. Miss Murray, teacher of expression in Stanstead College, gave four readings which greatly pleased her audience. Rev. J. Thomas, of Ayer's Cliff, played several piano solos. A duet was given by Rev. W. H. Thomas and Mr. McFayden, of Ayer's Cliff, both of these gentlemen sang solos. The friends from Ayer's Cliff always give splendid entertainment and they were thoroughly enjoyed on this occasion.

EARLY MAILING URGED BY POST OFFICE CHIEF

Friday Latest Practical Date for Despatch of European Matter —Last Dates Fixed for Christmas Mails to Other Sections.

The necessity of mailing letters and parcels for the Old Country before Friday is stressed in a statement issued today by the Post Office, if it is desired to have the mail distributed before Christmas. While the matter destined to England will reach there before December 25th if sent by a later boat, this would be received by the post office there at the height of the rush season and the class of postage paid into the hands of the postmaster. The matter destined for the Yukon territory and the United States should be mailed on or before December 10th, as parcels for the latter place have to undergo customs examination, which causes considerable delay during the rush season. The last practical date of British Columbia mail is on December 16th, while that for the Western Provinces should not be delayed after December 17th.

For Quebec, Ontario and the Maritime provinces, the latest date for the despatch of all matter before December 19th, and all are asked to transmit all mail for local delivery before the following evening.

While the local post office is taking all possible steps to cope with the unusually heavy Christmas mail, Postmaster C. E. Soles stressed the fact that it was only with the full co-operation of the public that efficient delivery could be maintained, as during the week before Christmas nearly twenty times the usual amount of mail passed through the local office.

STRANGE DOINGS IN Y'S

MEN'S CLUB
The local Y's Men have been doing unusual things lately. It is understood that the committee for the manufacture of bogus money has reported that they will be able to supply enough currency for about six hundred people. An emergency meeting was held recently to find some way to keep the crowds away from the Masonic Hall Friday night. Of course, it's all in connection with the "Gas Works Gambol" that the Y's Men's Club is presenting this Friday night. This promises to be a most interesting novelty dance and it is expected that the hall will be packed.

V.O.N. DECIDE TO MOVE INTO MACKINNON MEMORIAL BUILDING

The V.O.N. decided at their regular meeting held yesterday afternoon at their room in the Whiting Block that they would at the beginning of the year move into the Mackinnon Memorial Building. The president, Mrs. A. M. Sangster, presided, and much business was transacted.

After the treasurer's statement, which showed a balance of $259.15 on hand, had been adopted, a long report from headquarters in connection with Miss Stevenson's recent visit to Sherbrooke was read, also a letter which accompanied the report which said in part: "Miss Stevenson's report on her recent visit to Sherbrooke will, I am sure, be of great interest to your committee and Miss Dwyne. It is forwarded with congratulations on your accomplishments as an organizer in the city of Sherbrooke." The letter is signed by Miss Elizabeth Smellie, who is chief superintendent of the V.O.N. Miss Dwyne's report stated 458 visits were paid during the past

FELLOWSHIP IS WELL FOSTERED BY ONEIDA CO.

Interesting History of Makers of Community Plate Recounted
Last Night at Rotary by Mr.
Ted March, of Montreal.

The manner in which fellowship is fostered and carried out by Oneida Community, Limited, makers of Community plate, was recounted last night by Mr. Ted March, of Montreal, before a large gathering of Rotarians at the New Sherbrooke House.

The Community was first founded in 1848 by a young Yale student who believed in the Golden Rule and good fellowship to such an extent that he broke away from the church and, with a band of followers, founded a community in central New York State. At that time, as the speaker pointed out, the nearest neighbors were Indians.

The main belief of the members of the newly founded community was that all labor was equally good and all people equal. As a result they all resided in one large building and lived a simple life. At first farming was the chief occupation.

This, however, did not bring sufficient revenue, and canning was taken up. Even canning did not prove sufficient to satisfy the community, and the members started to make traps of all kinds, as one of the members had met with great success in this line. The industry grew until it was one of the largest in the world. It was owned by the community until a few years ago, when it was sold to make place for the silverware business, which had been started and which had grown to large proportions, along with their silk business.

In 1880 the community broke up and was formed into a joint stock company, although the ideals of the community were kept up by the manner in which the stock was divided, each employee being given shares according to the number of years he had worked for the community.

It was explained by the speaker that a safeguard was in force so that no one man or group of men could gain control of the company, no one man being allowed to hold more than three per cent of stock.

Fair Wages Paid.
In order to train the younger generation for the executive positions, continued Mr. March, there were on the directorate a large number of young men. He also pointed out that every section of the business was represented in order to further foster the feeling of good fellowship.

The wages paid the workers, according to the speaker, were fair ones, the largest portion being paid on a piece work basis. In addition to this, when a man had been in the employ of the company for three months his salary was increased on per cent, whether he had obtained further increases through his ability or not. This was increased gradually until at the end of five years it had reached ten per cent. From five years to twelve years the salary further increased until in twelve years an additional two per cent had been added to the salary of the employee.

Fifty per cent of the profits, the speaker continued, went to the people making up the company, while the remainder was divided among the shareholders.

Provision for Education.
The company owned clubs which the members were privileged to use on the payment of a very small sum yearly. In addition to this, every employee was insured for $2,500 on payment of $10 a year, the remainder of the money being paid by the company. In order that the children of the employees could receive the best education available, Mr. March said, $25,000 a year was given towards their upkeep.

In closing, the speaker pointed out that every effort was made to keep the spirit of youth in the business. Every executive had an understudy who was learning his work, so that on his retirement a young man, well acquainted with the duties of that particular individual, would be able to take his place. In connection with pensions to retiring employees, it was stated that at the end of twenty years a member of the company could retire on twenty per cent of the salary earned during the last five years, giving as an illustration the fact that a man who had worked for the company for forty years would be entitled to forty per cent of his income when he severed his connection with the business.

The vote of thanks was proposed by Rotarian A. C. Skinner.

During the meeting Rotarian E. J. Page, chairman of the boys' work committee, gave a brief summary of the work accomplished by the committee.

The meeting last evening was presided over by Rotarian S. G. Newton, the vice-president, in the absence of President A. M. Sangster.

month, 236 nursing cases and 222 non-nursing or education. Included in the above report were twenty free cases, and the collections from the total visits amounted to $23.25.

Miss Dwyne is very anxious to furnish one of the rooms in the Mackinnon Memorial to be devoted to classes in mothercraft and other classes in connection with V.O.N. work. The committee members are very grateful to Mrs. W. B. LeBaron, Mrs. R. S. Stevens, Mrs. G. E. Hyndman and Miss Kate Sangster for donations of old linen and cotton. The next meeting will be held in the Mackinnon Memorial Building, notice of which will be given later.

MENARD FOUND NOT GUILTY OF PERJURY COUNT

Crown's Case Falls to Pieces
When Proof Showed that Statement on Which Charge Was Based Had Not Been Legally Sworn.

Clement Menard, Mayor of St. Edwidge, charged with perjury was found not guilty by the jury in the Criminal Court here last night. It was proved that the statement on which the charge was based had not been sworn to legally and that consequently the accused could not by law be held guilty of the alleged misdemeanor. Despite this fact, however, the jury twice disagreed, and had to be again informed by Mr. Justice White that they could not do anything but free the accused of the perjury count because a verdict of "not guilty" was returned.

The evidence of the accused showed that on June 21st last he accompanied Chute to the Bergeron farm in St. Edwidge in the position of interpreter, as Chute wished to purchase some cattle from Bergeron. During the course of the conversation, he stated, Bergeron said that he had seven head of young cattle and two cows for sale, and as they were in the pasture, a distance of about a mile, went with the two men to see them. He declared that while they were in the pasture Bergeron and Chute entered into an agreement whereby Chute purchased the seven young cattle, but he did not wish to pay the price asked for the two cows. They returned to the farm of Bergeron and while there, the witness said, Chute stated he would buy the two cows for immediate delivery, while the young stock were to be taken in the fall. This evidence was substantiated by Chute.

Bergeron, however, swore that he had not gone to the pasture, but that the deal was made in front of his place, the accused and Chute having gone to the pasture alone. This evidence was corroborated by Bergeron's son, wife, daughter and three neighbors, who stated that they had seen Chute and Menard drive off to the pasture alone.

Had Not Been Legally Sworn.
Menard, who was ill at the time of the Superior Court action over the deal, was unable to give his evidence in Court. He therefore made sworn statement similar to the evidence he gave in the Court yesterday. It was proved during the trial, however, that the accused had not been legally sworn in giving his first statement for two reasons. In the first place, the commissioner of the Superior Court, who administered the oath, was Wilfrid Lazure, C. C. Chute's attorney, and in the second neither a judge of the Superior Court nor a prothonotary of the Superior Court had been present.

Mr. Justice White, who presided, pointed out in his charge to the jury that the jurors could not, by law, find the accused guilty of perjury, as the statement on which the perjury charge had been based was proved not to have been properly sworn to, and asked them, therefore, to return a verdict of "not guilty".

Failed To Agree For Some Time.
The jury retired at 5.30 o'clock. At six o'clock the foreman of the jury, Donald A. McDonald, announced that they could not agree on the verdict. The jurors were then sent back the second time and asked to report at eight o'clock. On the jury's return the announcement was made that a disagreement still existed.

Mr. Justice White again stressed the fact that it was impossible to return a verdict of anything but "not guilty," according to law, and the jurors were again requested to retire to decide the verdict. At 8.25 o'clock the jury filled in and announced that the members had reached an unanimous decision finding the accused "not guilty" of the charge.

MRS. LUSK DIED THIS MORNING AT COOKSHIRE

Passed Away in Her Sixty-Ninth Year After About Two Months Illness.

(Special to the Record.)
COOKSHIRE, Que., Dec. 4.—Mrs. C. C. Lusk, widow of the late Mr. Charles Collin Campbell Lusk, passed away at five o'clock this morning in her sixty-ninth year after about two months illness. She was the eldest daughter of the late Wm. G. Thompson and his wife, Catherine Adams. She was born in Guelph, Ont., and went to Ottawa at an early age, where she was married in 1886. She came to Cookshire in 1896, where she has since resided. Her husband predeceased her six years ago.

She leaves one son, Mr. Victor Lusk, and one daughter, Mrs. Wm. J. Bradbury; three grandchildren, Charles and John Lusk, and Bradbury; three brothers, Messrs. W. G. Thompson, of Ottawa, James A. Thompson, of Sandwick, Ont., and Edward F. Thompson, of New York; and two sisters, Mrs. Charles Stewart, of Deseronto, Ont., and Mrs. Robert Savage, of St. Lawrence. The funeral will be held Friday at St. Peter's Church, Cookshire.

LENNOXVILLE

Annual Meeting of Malvern Cemetery Committee Held
The chicken pie supper given last evening in the town hall in the interests of the Malvern Cemetery campaign fund was quite successful, over two hundred people sitting down to the tables. The supper was provided by the Lennoxville branch of the Women's Institute, the officers and members waiting on the guests. Red and yellow candles decorated the tables, which looked very attractive.

Following the supper the annual meeting of the Malvern Cemetery committee took place, when reports of the financial standing of the company and of the returns of the campaign for funds to date were given by the secretary, Mr. W. H. Abbott. Mr. Abbott stated that fully three-fifths of the objective of five thousand dollars had been reached in cash and pledges since the opening of the campaign less than two months ago, and the belief was expressed that the requisite sum would be reached in the near future.

Mr. D. G. Harrison, town captain, presided over the meeting, stating in his remarks that a large part of the territory had still to be covered, and that in his belief the objective would be reached. Mr. Harrison suggested that people who were arranging their affairs by the making of wills might remember the cemetery in bequests, which would be of material assistance in sustaining it in future.

Mr. Harrison gave considerable of the credit for the success of the undertaking and the campaign to the Women's Institute, which organization, he said, had assisted in crystallizing into action what had existed in thought in the minds of the committee for several years.

Mr. C. S. White also emphasized this point, and moved that an advisory board from the Women's Institute be appointed to confer with the cemetery committee when considered necessary naming Mrs. E. L. Atto, Mrs. E. Reed and Mrs. McCurdy, as such committee. Mr. C. C. Crawford seconded this motion, which was unanimously carried.

The election of trustees followed, resulting in the appointment of Messrs. D. G. Harrison, A. T. Speid, James Pearson, J. H. Woodside and Charles Peterson, with Mr. W. H. Abbott as secretary-treasurer.

Expressions of appreciation for the services of Mr. C. J. Lane as a trustee were spoken by the chairman, as well as for the secretary, Mr. W. H. Abbott, whose faithful and painstaking work had kept the records of the cemetery in such admirable condition.

Social and Personal

Madame Leopold Fortier and Professor Alfred Laliberte, of Montreal, who are in town to attend "Medtner" concert this evening, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Moore, Brooks Street.

The Lennoxville Women's League of St. Andrew's Church met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Donald Shaw, Lennoxville, with Mrs. Robert Ray as joint hostess. Mrs. Tremblay, the president, presided and many business matters came up for discussion and settlement. The feature of the afternoon was an address by the Rev. Mr. Corcoran, which was most instructive and inspiring, and greatly enjoyed by the members, who deeply appreciate Mr. Corcoran's kindness in giving so much of his valuable time and energy in order to address the League. Tea was served by the hostesses and an enjoyable and profitable afternoon brought to a close.

Mrs. Messenger entertained the members of the Young Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Church last evening at her home on King Street. Miss Robins, the president, presided during the business meeting, when plans were completed for the Christmas Sale and tea to be held in the Church Hall on Saturday, December 7th, when Christmas novelties and mysterious parcels will be offered for sale. At the conclusion of business a social hour was enjoyed by the members and delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, who were assisted by Mrs. Wilfred Davey, who presided at the pretty table centered with a silver basket of yellow roses. Miss Andrea Irwin and Miss E. Planche assisted in serving.

The regular meeting of the Child Welfare Clinic of Sherbrooke took place yesterday afternoon at their room in the Whiting Block with Mrs. W. S. Allen, the president, presiding. The treasurer's report showed a balance on hand, with a number of large accounts to be paid. Letters were read from Mr. C. B. Howard, Mr. Sangster and the Sherbrooke Hospital, the latter offering to reduce the rate for children sent from the clinic for operations. Mr. Howard notified the committee that Dr. Lessard had promised to visit the clinic in the near future. The letter from Mr. Sangster was about some information on clinic work. The sum of $25 from the Sherbrooke Cotton Mills and $20 from the East Ward School, being the proceeds of a tea recently held, were very gratefully received. There were 127 cases treated at the clinic during the past month, consisting of 22 new cases, 8 dental, 7 eye and 16 operations, a large number and proving that more money is badly needed if the wonderful work which is being done for the children of Sherbrooke by the Child Welfare Clinic is to be carried on.

A most successful Christmas sale and tea was held yesterday afternoon in Wesley Hall under the auspices of the women's societies of Trinity United Church. The hall was brightly lit and green decorations, the numerous tables carrying out the Christmas color scheme. The Ladies' Circle had charge of the food table, which was laden with quantities of delicious home cooked food and was completely "sold out" long before closing time. The ladies in charge were Mrs. George Combs, convener, Miss Yates, Mrs. H. E. Morgan, Mrs. R. L. Dean and Mrs. Walter Combs. The Women's Auxiliary had a most attractive table of fancy work, centered with a Christmas tree and filled with pretty articles which found a ready sale. The committee in charge, with Mrs. J. Cutts as convener, consisted of the following members: Mrs. W. Dobb and Mrs. Shorten. The members of the Ladies' Aid looked after the apron table, with Mrs. J. A. Barrie as convener, assisted by Mrs. W. R. Hall and Mrs. C. A. Joslin. This table was most popular and "sold out" very soon.

Mr. D. G. Harrison, town captain, presided over the meeting, stating in his remarks that a large part of the territory had still to be covered, and that in his belief the objective would be reached. Mr. Harrison suggested that people who were arranging their affairs by the making of wills might remember the cemetery in bequests, which would be of material assistance in sustaining it in future.

Mr. C. S. White also emphasized this point, and moved that an advisory board from the Women's Institute be appointed to confer with the cemetery committee when considered necessary naming Mrs. E. L. Atto, Mrs. E. Reed and Mrs. McCurdy, as such committee. Mr. C. C. Crawford seconded this motion, which was unanimously carried.

The election of trustees followed, resulting in the appointment of Messrs. D. G. Harrison, A. T. Speid, James Pearson, J. H. Woodside and Charles Peterson, with Mr. W. H. Abbott as secretary-treasurer.

Expressions of appreciation for the services of Mr. C. J. Lane as a trustee were spoken by the chairman, as well as for the secretary, Mr. W. H. Abbott, whose faithful and painstaking work had kept the records of the cemetery in such admirable condition.

Col. and Mrs. B. B. Morrill left by motor on Monday to spend the winter in the South.

Mr. Raymond Bonner, of Kitchen, Ont., is spending a week in Sherbrooke and vicinity in connection with his business.

Mr. Nicolas Medtner, the noted Russian pianist, and Madame Medtner, of Paris, France, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Moore, Brooks Street.

The members of the Ladies' Guild of Plymouth United Church met last evening in the Church Hall with Mrs. George Lothrop, the president, in the chair. Final plans and arrangements were made for the sale of fancy Christmas articles, food and also for afternoon tea to be held on Saturday, December 7th.

MR. FRANK WADLEIGH PASSED AWAY IN MONTREAL
Word has been received that Mr. Frank Wadleigh, formerly of Melbourn, died on Monday in Montreal. Mr. Wadleigh was for years manager of the Bank of Hochelaga branch at South Durham.

He had been in poor health for a long time, and some time ago took up residence with his family at Montclair, in the hope that the higher altitude would benefit him. He leaves a wife (nee Bessie Jones), also formerly of Melbourn, and four children, to mourn his death.

ASSAULT CHARGE AGAINST LENNOXVILLE MAN WITHDRAWN
The charge of assault laid against O. Doyon, of Lennoxville, by Alcide St. Sanscoure was withdrawn in the Magistrate's Court this morning by the attorneys for the plaintiff.

Pierre Comeau, of Coaticook, appeared before the Magistrate and pleaded not guilty to a charge of illicitly having in his possession malt used for the manufacture of spirituous liquors. The hearing of the case was postponed until next Wednesday.

The preliminary inquiry in the case of Jos. Bolduc vs. George Roderigue was fixed for next Wednesday. Roderigue is charged with having obtained the signature of Bolduc to a note by forgery, and raising the sum of $565 by the use of the note. Both men are of Cookshire.

The hearing of the trespassing charge laid by Thomas Tisdale, of Magog, against Omer Gaucher was adjourned until next week.

PROFESSOR KUEGHER SPOKE ON CHEMISTRY
"The Place of Chemistry in Life" was the subject of an instructive address at the Omega-Alpha Club, at the Y.M.C.A. last evening, when Professor Kuegher, of Bishop's University, was the guest and speaker.

The larger place which chemistry has taken in life was in the realm of medicine where the different elements, antiseptic and healing, being segregated and brought into combination with other elements, had given mercuriochrome, novocaine and in the realm of gases had produced ethylene gas. He also told of the progress that had been made in the realm of leprosy, where an ultimate cure had been attained, and of the efforts to get control of cancer and tuberculosis. The latest development in this respect being by German scientists, who, by the use of dyes, are attempting to segregate the destructive element in cancer, with the hope that there may be found an element that will destroy the first destructive microcosm.

The speaker then dealt with the development in the production of antiseptics telling how these were produced and their effects on the blood. At the close of the address he was heartily thanked by the president, and asked to return at an early date and give another of his interesting lectures.

Reports from the upper dance, which was held at the New Sherbrooke House, showed a good balance on hand after all expenses had been paid.

REQUEST CHECK BE PLACED ON SHOE IMPORTS

Canadian Manufacturers Appeal Government—Bulk of Imports Tended Inferior to Canadian Product.

MONTREAL, Que., Dec. 4.—An appeal to the Dominion Government to assist the Canadian shoe manufacturers by curtailing importations of boots and shoes from the United Kingdom and the United States was put in the form of a resolution and passed by the Shoe Manufacturers' Association of Canada at its eleventh annual meeting in the Windsor Hotel. In his presidential address, George A. Blackford, of Toronto, pointed out that importations of women's shoes from across the border and men's shoes from the Old Country have continued during the past year in considerable volume.

"Such importations," he said, "constitute a serious problem, because they represent a loss of business that is needed by the Canadian factories. In most cases the imported shoes are inferior to those of Canadian manufacture, which are sold at the same or lower price, and the bulk of the importations are entirely unnecessary either in the interest of the retailer or in the interest of the consumer."

"Compared grade for grade," continued the president, "Canadian shoes are not surpassed anywhere in the world for quality of materials, workmanship or style."

In regard to the chain-store development of the past year, Mr. Blackford said that had not been the cause of non-success among many independent retailers, but that it taught certain lessons which should not be disregarded. "Its growth," he stated, "has been based on the principle of moderate stocks and a high rate of stock turnover, with careful regulation of operating expenses."

entitled "The Road Back," in the Church of the Advent last night before a large and attentive audience. A creditable performance by each member of the cast and excellent comedy throughout the play provided a most enjoyable entertainment.

The scene of the play's set is the "road back" to the old-fashioned, comfortable, and cozy life of the middle-aged, lazy mother of Jenny, Milly and George, is afflicted with weak ankles and other ailments which "will not let her work" but do not prevent her from going to the movies. "Pa Fowler," out of work and discouraged, lets the burdens of the family settle on the shoulders of the daughter, Jenny, employed in a bank. Jenny feels that the family members are started on the down grade, and makes strong endeavors to start them on the "Road Back."

This is not accomplished until after George has been arrested for stealing funds from the bank where Jenny and he work. When Jenny takes the blame for the theft and George allows her to do so without protest, Milly and Pa Fowler are shocked into a realization of how low the family members have come in the down grade. Pa immediately takes the initiative and sets Ma Fowler to work to clean the home, and Milly decides to help improve the family morale and to get rid of the gossiping neighbor, Mrs. Blinders. Mrs. Blinders, from Arizona, comes home after years of absence to visit the "kin" and finds plenty of trouble. The course of true love does not run smoothly for Jenny and Milly and their lovers, difficulties being provided by the scandal of the bank theft and the very snobbish mother of Blake Chester (Milly's lover).

However, all is happily arranged by the Arizona uncle, who declares himself a wealthy man, and with the power of his wealth overcomes the objections of the snobbish mother, repays the stolen money and plans to take the whole family to Arizona to start life anew. The play ends with the lovers reunited, and the Fowler family well started on the "Road Back" to self respect.

Mrs. Vibert in the role of "Ma Fowler," provided the major part of the comedy and was the outstanding character. Mr. A. Sadler as "Pa Fowler" gave a most sympathetic rendering of the part and was a general favorite. Mrs. Sadler, as "Jenny," played the part well, and Mrs. Marshall as "Milly," the slangy married sister, was also well liked, adding much to the comedy of the play. Mrs. Alonzo Hurd as "Mrs. Blinders," the gossiping neighbor, played another good comedy part and was responsible for many a laugh. The part of "Uncle Ben" from Arizona, was capably filled by Mr. Rex Marshall. Other good parts were taken by Mr. Ullian Bartholomew as Arthur McLeod, Jenny's lover; by Mr. D. Twyman as Blake Chester, in love with Milly; and by Mr. Charles Banks, as George Fowler. The roles of Mrs. Chester, the snobbish mother, and Mr. Harrison, Jenny's employer at the bank, were well acted by Mrs. C. Warner and Mr. J. Twyman, respectively.

An enjoyable entertainment was provided by Mr. William Peak, who gave a short demonstration of electrical club swinging.

The presentation was given under the auspices of the Ladies' Gym Class, and the financial returns were gratifying. After refreshments had been served by the members of the class the players returned home by motor.

STATEMENTS OF BYRD DEFENDED BY EXPLORERS

British Explorers Claim Existence of Mountains Which Were Sighted by Commander Richard E. Byrd, But Which Norwegian Airman Doubted.

LONDON, December 3.—British explorers came to the defence of Commander Richard E. Byrd against the reported criticisms of Major Trydove Gran, Norwegian airman and explorer, who was a member of the Scott Antarctic expedition.

Major Gran was quoted in a Copenhagen despatch to the Daily Mail as saying that the terrible mountains which Commander Byrd described are a fantasy.

Captain G. England, who commanded the Nimrod, of Shackleton's first expedition in 1907, said that he could not understand Major Gran's reported statement.

"It is all the more extraordinary because Gran was one of Scott's men," said Captain England. "It would be nothing short of a miracle if Scott's men did not see mountains near the South Pole. On the east there is the Queen Alexandra range, 5,000 feet high, and on the west the Queen Maud range, which is about the same height. These mountains have been actually surveyed, named and measured."

Captain William Obeek, who was a member of the Southern Cross expedition of 1908-9, said: "It is well known that the mountains near the South Pole, Commander Byrd would probably see them from 100 miles away because of his height in his aeroplane. His was a magnificent flight."

CREW OF WRECKED SHIP REPORTED TO BE SAFE
Crew of Thirty-Four Men on Beach of Gardner Island in Phoenix Group—Every Effort Being Made to Save Lives.

PAGO PAGO, Samoa, Dec. 4.—Radio messages yesterday from the steamer Lavington Court said it had sighted the wrecked British freighter Norwich City and its crew of thirty-four men on the beach of Gardner Island in the Phoenix group, 1,800 miles southwest of the Hawaiian Islands.

The messages said the Lavington Court was working in conjunction with the steamer Ellsworth and "making every effort to save the lives of the crew."

The Norwich City, the message indicated, was a total loss. Rescue work was greatly hampered by a heavy surf breaking over the reefs that virtually surround the island.

MARRIAGES

PHANEUF—GENDRON
The marriage of Miss Eva Gendron, of this city, to Mr. Louis Phaneuf, of Richelieu, took place on Monday morning at St. Jean Baptiste Church, the Rev. Father Lamare officiating.

The bride who was given away by her brother, Mr. Emile Gendron, of this city, wore a very becoming French model brown dress, a fox fur and small hat to match. To travel she wore a Camel Hair coat trimmed with beaver. Her bouquet was of beautiful tea roses. Mr. John Woodgate, a friend of the groom, acted as best man.

The musical part was carried out by Miss Muriel Gendron, of Sherbrooke. At the organ Mr. Caron accompanied the wedding march and accompanied Miss Miller in the "Ave Maria," of Cherubini, and Mr. Gendron rendered a very appropriate hymn.

After the ceremony a buffet lunch and refreshments were served at Mrs. Woodgate's home, 1800 Ave. The table was centered with a beautiful wedding cake and the decorations were of roses, tulips and ferns. Mr. and Mrs. L. Phaneuf left to spend their honeymoon in Montreal and Ottawa. The newly married couple were the recipients of many valuable gifts. Upon their return they will reside in Richelieu.

LADUKE—COREY
PEARCE, Dec. 4.—A quiet wedding was solemnized at the United Church parsonage, Dunham, at seven o'clock Wednesday evening, November 20th, when Miss Florence Corey and Mr. Charles H. Laduke were united in marriage, Rev. J. F. Carleton officiating.

The bride, who was unattended, wore a gown of grey crepe satin with rhinestone trimmings with shoes, stockings and gloves to match, and a blue hat.

A reception was held at their home later in the evening, where over fifty relatives and friends were assembled. The house was prettily decorated in pink and white with white bells, ferns and palms and a large three-story wedding cake centered the dining room table. After refreshments were served, the evening was pleasantly spent with music and dancing.

The presents were lovely and useful, consisting of linen, silverware and gold, glass and chinaware, aluminum and granite ware.

Among those present from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Jones and Miss Margaret, of St. Albans, Vt.; Mr. and Mrs. Tarran Casey and Miss Emma, of St. Armand; Mr. and Mrs. Orval Casey and Mrs. F. Clough, of Stanbridge Ridge; Mrs. A. Callahan, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Best and Miss Mabel Best, of Freilighsburg; Mrs. M. A. Best, Miss Evelyn Best, Mrs. E. Guthrie and Mr. Dupuis, of Bedford, and other relatives and friends.

REFORESTATION IS DISCUSSED BY E. H. FINLAYSON

Says Forest Is Not a Mine But a Crop, and Same Methods as Are Applied to Agriculture Should Rule.

MONTREAL, Dec. 4.—If it were not for the large supplies drawn from the Pacific slopes, even now all those parts of the Dominion that lie east of the Rocky Mountains would be feeling the pinch of shortage and high prices which would be the penalty for the "ore" of forest depletion and destruction" which has been going on in eastern Canada for the past century. This was brought out by E. H. Finlayson, director of the Forestry Branch, Department of the Interior, Ottawa, in an address here yesterday.

After reviewing the wasteful methods that have depleted the virgin stands of timber in the east during the past century, Mr. Finlayson told how the problem of reforestation could be met. "We have at last got to the stage where the public is forest-minded," he remarked, adding that in Quebec there has been a definite programme of dedicating forest lands to timber production.

Forest A Crop.
The forest is not a mine but a crop, and the same methods as are applied to agriculture should rule. A mature stand of timber takes from forty to a hundred years to grow, said the lecturer, and in setting aside land for the purpose, provision should be made against any change of plans which would entail using such land for other projects before the crop is matured and against cutting down crops before it has ripened. Wood crops can be grown successfully in new soil that will not serve for agriculture, and only by finally and definitely dedicating non-agricultural land to forestry can Canada's timber capital be restored, he felt.

Land available for reforestation is sufficient to supply all domestic requirements to a population larger than Canada has at present, with a margin over for export, Mr. Finlayson estimated. Due to the foresight of the grandfathers of the present generation, ninety per cent. of timber areas has been retained as crown lands.

Fire Protection.
Adequate fire protection is a prerequisite in forestry, said the lecturer, who added that the forests have just been through the most serious fire season ever experienced, and it is likely that 10,000 forest fires will be recorded.

During the past season, the fire fighting organizations have been able to show improvement for the first time, said Mr. Finlayson, although they are still a long way from conquest of the fire menace.

Another encouraging feature is that a properly organized inventory of Canada's forest resources has been begun for the first time during the past year.

It was to be regretted that the large "avenues" taken by government from lumbering should have gone principally into other channels, Mr. Finlayson declared.

SPECIAL RATES MADE FOR FREIGHT TO EXHIBITION
Flat Rate of $3.50 for Each Square Foot of Floor Space for Freight Both Ways and Unpacking—Available Space Totals 30,000 Square Feet.

(Canadian Press Despatch)
OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 4.—To encourage manufacturers and others in Canada to send exhibits to the British Empire Trade Exhibition being held at Buenos Aires, Argentina, early in 1931, special facilities are being provided.

Following a conference yesterday between B. F. O'Hara, Deputy Minister of Trade and Commerce, and representatives of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and the transportation companies it was announced there would be a flat rate for each square foot of floor space of $3.50. This includes freight both ways on exhibits, together with expenses in connection with unpacking and setting them up. For those wishing to take care of shipping and incidental expenses separately, the charge will be $1.50 per square foot. Available space totals 30,000 square feet.

BRITISH GOVT. MAY PURCHASE 'EARNSCLIFFE'

If Conservative Party Does Not Buy Residence of Late Sir John A. Macdonald as Home for Its Leader, British Government Is Interested in Securing It for Headquarters of British High Commissioner in Canada.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
OTTAWA, Dec. 4.—It has been established beyond question that the British Government is interested in the disposal of "Earncliffe," historic Ottawa mansion, which once was the home of the late Sir John A. Macdonald, says the Evening Journal yesterday.

Desiring to secure a dignified residence for Sir William Clark, British High Commissioner to Canada, the MacDonald administration is reported to be taking steps toward acquiring the palatial home. On the other hand, however, the British Government recognizes the superior claims of the Conservative party in Canada to ownership of "Earncliffe," the paper states, adding:

"Sir William has let it be known, therefore, that if the Conservative party desires to purchase the property, the British Government will stand aside."

It was suggested some time ago that the Conservative party purchase "Earncliffe" as the official residence of Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, as a means of assuring preservation of the mansion as a memorial of Canada's first Prime Minister. "Earncliffe" stands on the Ontario bank of the Ottawa River. The deep blue of the nearby Gatineau hills lends an artistic background and besides being probably the most historic home in the Capital, it is also one of the most beautiful. Its most recent occupant, Dr. Charles Harris, died only a few months ago.

CANADIAN TAKES HONORS

Canada scored another notable victory yesterday when Joseph H. B. Smith, a wheat grower from the foothills of the Canadian Rockies, won the title of "Wheat King" of the National Hay and Grain Show at Chicago. Mr. Smith, whose home is at Wolf Creek, Alberta, won the title with his sample of hard red spring wheat which weighed 66.3 pounds to the bushel.

Mr. Smith indeed deserves praise for his enterprise in producing such a high class grade of wheat.

A DARING FEAT

By his daring flight over the almost limitless plateau at the South Pole, after having performed a similar journey across the North Pole, Commander Richard E. Byrd has won a place among the world's greatest explorers. It required a great deal of courage to attempt such a bold venture, and in successfully carrying out his plans Commander Byrd has not only corrected a great deal of geographical guesswork about the Antarctic region, but has given a valuable demonstration of the utility of the airplane in exploratory work.

It is admitted that the intrepid aviator-explorer and his aerial conquerors of the Antarctic were favored with quite a little luck in their dash to the South Pole, but it was luck that was scientifically calculated. The weather conditions had been expertly estimated, and they were aided by tools supplied by modern mechanical and scientific progress that enabled them in the vast and unknown polar area, where ordinary means of location utterly fail, to keep to their mapped out course.

It was a truly wonderful feat and Commander Byrd and his companions deserve all the honors it will be heaped upon them.

DESERVING OF MORE ASSISTANCE

The request made by the Victorian Order of Nurses for a larger municipal grant is one which is deserving of very careful consideration by the City Fathers. At present the Victorian Order of Nurses receive five hundred dollars annually from the city.

The Victorian Order places itself at the disposal and service of the citizens regardless of creed, nationality and whether or not the patient is able to pay.

It can be readily understood that much of the work done by the Victorian Order is among the poorer people of the city, and consequently many cases are handled each year which do not bring in any financial returns.

The manner in which the work of the Victorian Order has increased in Sherbrooke is ample proof that the organization is fulfilling a worthy purpose, and as such is deserving of all possible public support and encouragement.

THE MOTHER OF RELIGION

(By Glen Frank)

All of us who have lived past the cocksureness of our callow youth are seeking a satisfying insight into the meaning and ministry of religion, to men in this modern age.

Is religion a city of refuge for the weak or a way of life for the strong?

Is religion born in a cry of weakness or in a shout of strength?

Do men turn to religion because they have lost their way in the universe, or is religion a sign that men have made themselves at home in the universe?

T. V. Smith, in his just-published Philosophic Way of Life, has some provocative things to say on these questions.

"All religions," he says, "began as a way whereby men sought to improve their lot."

"The way is in essence a short-cut to satisfaction."

"If men have to go the long way of discovering concrete means and adapting them to ends, they will never live long enough to achieve the ends felt necessary to prevent life's losing its deepest significance."

And so men, in gray despair, grab at gods to ease their lot, according to Mr. Smith.

"Gods grow up," he says, "as a guaranty that goodness will not remain wholly impotent in a world of hostile powers."

"Religion might survive the death of all the gods; but when men cease to believe in a short-cut, religion is no more. . . . There might be science or art or philosophy, but not religion."

"There remains over and above science art and philosophy the way of faith, the will to depend on a short-cut to success in the venture of life. This is religion."

In short, in this conception of religion is to be accepted, men can have no use for religion as long as they can fill their wants at other fountains.

Religion will play no role in health, if a good doctor is conveniently near at the end of a telephone.

Religion will play no role in the life of the workingman, if his trade union wins for him short hours, high wages, and sanitary surroundings.

God will no longer smile in a sunset or ride the thunderstorm, if the Weather Bureau issues readable predictive reports.

There is, indeed, some seeming ground for such contention, for, as Mr. Smith points out, "the natural history of religion in civilized times is a gradual surrender of province after province of its ancient realm," where "natural means" have come in to procure for men what they but blindly prayed for before.

But I doubt that the death of religion will come so surely in the wake of man's growing mastery of nature.

It is more likely, I think, that intelligent men will outgrow the older shabby habit of running to God as to a Santa Claus or an indulgent uncle, and will come to see religion as man's perfect emotional adjustment to his universe, an adjustment that will insensibly help him as his continuing conquest of his world.—1929.

PRESS COMMENT

REVERSING THE ORDER.

(Regina Leader)

The son and heir of a British Earl, after visiting the Peace River country, says he does not think that country ripe for Anglo-Saxon settlers until it possesses more of the amenities of life. In Canada the usual plan has been for the settlers to precede the amenities; not the amenities the settlers.

THOSE MIDDLE YEARS.

(James Kerr in Chambers' Journal)

The middle years are virtually the battleground of the individual life. From the standpoint of service to the most productive. Standing midway between the morning and evening of life, the period possesses the key of control, may, in fact, be a veritable Gibraltar—and consequently should be made impregnable by all the upbuilding and strengthening of character which religion and psychology afford. These years need not be colorless and uninteresting—far from it. The busy and light of the preceding years may be so projected that life may advance in a more or less rhythmic measure until the Western slope is reached, when the pace must necessarily be slower and more suggestive of reflection.

SPEAKING OF PARITY.

(Christian Science Monitor)

Parity is hard to define. Just when Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Hoover thought they had found it, their parity is challenged as not being parity at all. Doubtless parity, in the complete sense, does not exist. There must always be some difference somewhere. Take the analogy of baseball. The "Cubs" and the "Athletics" thought they had parity; they had precisely the same number of men, precisely the same kind of playing field, precisely the same kind of equipment, similar managerial and training resources, and the conditions of the game were identical for each. Alas! when everything had been done to secure parity, despite the uncommon plitude of parity, one side seemed to prove itself superior to the other!

Perhaps those who appear to shy at parity will ponder this parable, and, conscious that absolute parity is unobtainable, will content themselves with the parity that is humanly possible.

But, after all, there is a great difference between baseball teams and navies. The "Cubs" and the "Athletics" had to encounter each other to put their parity to a test. Now the whole point about Anglo-American relations is that, having agreed upon their naval parity, they have also agreed never to bring it to the proof in combat. So that even the hypocritical critic can comfort himself with the thought that even though parity be an illusion, nobody need ever find it out. Neither side will do anything to show it up; and while a few of the wise politicians in both countries will know that the other country's navy is really stronger—or weaker, in accordance with the temperament of the wise politician—yet the majority of ordinary folk can hug the happy thought that they possess the elusive thing called parity, and never will their innocent faith be shattered as on a baseball field.

SAVED DIME, SPENDS $13,000,000

Arthur Curtiss James, regarded the largest holder of railway stock in America, believes in economy. When his counsel summoned a regular taxicab in San Francisco, James restrained the lawyer, preferring a cab that was 10 cents cheaper. A few minutes later James was arguing before an Interstate Commerce commission examiner for the right to spend $13,000,000 for a line connecting the Great Northern and Western Pacific roads in which he is a heavy stockholder.

RUSSIANS TO BE RETAINED BY CHINESE

Providing They Do Not Attempt to Spread Bolshevik Propaganda They Will Be Assured of Their Jobs on Chinese Eastern Railway.

(Canadian Press.)

HARBIN, Manchuria, Dec. 4.—Nine thousand Russian employees of the Chinese Eastern Railway are to be retained in the jobs they held for years prior to the break between China and the Soviet Union over the control of the line. "So long as these employees attend to their own business and do not attempt to spread Bolshevik propaganda they will be kept on the payroll," said Liu Yuan Kwan, thirty-eight-year-old president of the road.

In addition to the Russians, the majority of whom are "whites," the Chinese Eastern, which is the oldest concession railway in China, also employs 18,000 Chinese in operation of its 1,100 miles of track. Its western terminus in Manchuria, on the Manchurian Russian frontier, where connections were formerly made with the trans-Siberian Railway.

Mr. Liu has been credited by some of the officials in Nanking and Mukden with acting without their consent when he ousted the Russian railroad officials and brought a Siberian army to various points along Manchuria's boundary. He has been an executive of the road for six years. He speaks Russian fluently, but no English.

"Formerly, we had about 13,000 Russian employees, but after the severance of diplomatic relations by Moscow, some 4,000 'reds' Russians were either recalled by the Soviet government, or were forced to give up their places because of evidence in our possession that they had been spreading anti-Chinese government propaganda under the leadership of trained hands from Moscow," Mr. Liu emphasized. "Naturally, when we took charge all the trouble-makers known to us were dismissed."

The president of the Chinese Eastern takes great pride in the fact that the railway has been operated successfully since the Russian general manager and the several thousand Russian employees were succeeded by Chinese.

"Moscow thought the road would quickly go to rack and ruin," Mr. Liu said. "But the freight and passenger service has been running on time, with a few exceptions due to sabotage or the shelling or bombing of the yards at frontier points, ever since the controversy came to a head in July."

"At present, when the fall crops are moving we have started to deliver approximately 16,000 tons of soy beans and other Manchurian products to the South Manchuria railway at Changchun. To accomplish this we have nearly doubled the tonnage of our freight trains, using two locomotives instead of one as formerly."

The railway may be operated in the future on a gold dollar basis. It formerly worked on a fixed gold rouble-yen basis but when Russia broke off diplomatic relations with China efforts were made to get away from all Russian influences. This included the gold rouble.

Japanese interests are vitally interested in the fixing of the exchange rate owing to the fact that approximately 16,000 tons of freight are moving over by the Chinese Eastern to the Japanese owned South Manchurian Railway every day at Changchun. They desire that the exchange be placed on a yen basis, but the Chinese say that is out of the question.

FUNGI INROADS ON MURALS ARE SAFELY HALTED

Chemists Succeed in Checking Tropical Fungi Which Started to Eat Five Great Mural Paintings of Operations During Building of Panama Canal.

(Canadian Press.)

BALBOA, Canal Zone, Dec. 4.—Tropical fungi which started to eat five great mural paintings here, sole official records of epic scenes in buildings of the Panama Canal, have been balked by chemists. The paintings show scenes now fifty feet under the canal waters, and depict the construction of the canal with pyramidal buildings. The artist who painted them, W. B. Van Ingen of the art school of Cooper Union, New York, supervised the fungi campaign, and some of the best chemical minds of America and Europe collaborated in the extermination.

This latest outbreak of tropical fungi, which one after another have been mastered in making the canal, differed from anything which modern art heretofore has faced. Fungi have attacked smaller paintings before, and have been killed by fumigation. But entirely new methods, said Mr. Van Ingen, had to be devised for the canal murals, which cover four hundred square feet and have eight hundred pounds of white lead holding them to the walls of the administration building. The fungi are a vegetable parasite, a species of mold. Mr. Van Ingen said they spread in clusters of green and white, resembling damp talcum powder. In spots he found the paint apparently eaten down to the canvas, less than fifteen years after the paintings had been completed.

Originally the paintings had been covered with a protective varnish of beeswax. This was washed off with alternate turpentine and alcohol baths. A wash of thymol was discovered to be effective in exterminating the fungi, even to the deep-seated spores. Then Van Ingen said they spread in clusters of green and white, resembling damp talcum powder. In spots he found the paint apparently eaten down to the canvas, less than fifteen years after the paintings had been completed.

DISARMAMENT PREPARATIONS NEARLY ENDED

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Dec. 4.—Active preparations have started for the big five naval disarmament conference to be held in London in January. Ranking as it will with the Pacific Conference and the Washington Conference of 1921, the London Conference of 1930 is expected to go down in history as the third great gathering of the powers after the World War. The Tagore, Locarno, Genoa and half a dozen other place names of conferences held during the last decade are looked upon as lesser milestones on the long road to world peace and disarmament.

Ancient London will be host to France, Italy, Japan and the United States. Each participating country will be responsible for the housing of its own delegation, reservations in four of the finest hotels in the West End have been made. Chief delegates, experts, advisors, clerks and secretaries will have in addition to their rooms, suites for conference office work.

Official announcement of the exact location of sessions remains to be made, but of the two probable places, the Foreign Office in Downing Street or historic old St. James' Palace, the latter the more likely, will be chosen. The great audience chamber there where royal levees are held is the only room of its kind in London suitable for the plenary sessions. Half the space at these colorful gatherings will be reserved for newspaper men. Unusual facilities will be afforded news writers for picturing proceedings for readers throughout the world.

With five principal delegates expected to represent each of the five participating powers seated around the great conference table, a score of experts from each country in the background, a hundred or more accredited news reporters and members of the public who will have sufficient influence to obtain entrance tickets, the conference available room will be taxed to its utmost. Starting the third week in January the sessions will last from two to four weeks, according to plans being made.

GOVERNMENT TO MAINTAIN SOME WINTER ROADS

In Different Sections of Province Highways Will Be Kept Open Until Spring in Order to Facilitate Travel.

Winter maintenance of highways in the Province of Quebec as planned by the Roads Department is outlined in the latest semi-monthly bulletin of the department. In the district of Montreal, the Government will maintain the island of Montreal, exclusive of that section maintained by the City of Montreal, a distance equal to forty-eight miles; the road from Pont Vieu to Terrebonne, 9.8 miles; the road from Viau to Ste. Rose, 8.9; the road from l'Abord-a-Plauffe to St. Eustache, 12.9 miles; and the St. Lambert-Rouses Point Highway, via Laprairie and St. Johns, 24 1/2 miles, making a total of 124 1/2 miles. All these roads were maintained by the department last year, with the exception of the last named, which was kept open by the Winter Highways Association under the auspices of the Royal Automobile Club of Canada.

The first four were kept open last year by the Government as an experiment, and at its own expense, with the understanding that, if the undertaking proved successful, the authorities would have the right to ask the municipalities benefited for a contribution in succeeding years. This contribution has been set at $100 a mile, which does not represent even half the cost of the work. Negotiations with these municipalities have progressed more favorably, the bulletin reports.

In the district of Quebec City the department will maintain for motor traffic the Quebec-Charlesbourg circuit; the Quebec-Les Saules-L'Anceienne-Lorette circuit; the Quebec-Les Saules-Loretteville circuit; and the Quebec-St. Foy-Cap Rouge-Sillery-Quebec circuit, the total length of the four being 16.65 miles, including a few adjacent roads. The road to Kent Giffard, Beauport, Beauport East, Courville, and Montmorency, will also be kept open, as well as the road to Levis via Sillery, the Quebec Bridge, St. Nicholas, St. Romuald, St. Telephore, St. David, and the city of Levis, a distance of 6.18 miles.

In the Chicoutimi district the Chicoutimi-Jongueville road ten miles long, will be maintained.

Well...It Can't Be Done

HOW often have you decided that it just isn't possible to comfortably heat your home—that, no matter how much coal your furnace eats, the rooms never seem to lose their chill?

This Saturday afternoon apply two to three inches of DRY INSULEX between the attic floor joists, anyone can do it. It forms a fire and vermin-proof barrier that retards the loss of heat through the ceiling, forcing it to give full value in the downstairs rooms.

DRY INSULEX comes in convenient sized bags, costs little and pays for itself in two or three seasons' fuel bill reductions.

See us to-day and learn how DRY INSULEX will add to your comfort this winter.

BRUINS HANDED OUT A BEATING TO CANADIENS

Boston Increased Their Lead Over Rangers to Three Points—Montreal Maroons Just Managed to Nose Out Pittsburgh.

(Canadian Press Despatch)
TORONTO, Dec. 4.—With about one-fourth of the National Hockey League season over, the indications are that Pittsburgh's Pirates and the New York Americans are due to be the cellar champions of the two groups. But even that is none too certain.

So far these teams can boast of but one victory each in six games, while the teams which were down with them for a while are rapidly forging ahead.

Toronto Maple Leafs were close to the Americans for a while, but they proved their superiority last night and raised their point total to seven by handing the New Yorkers their worst trouncing of the season. The final count of six to nothing was the first shut-out of the year for the Americans and the highest score Toronto has made.

Hal Cotton, Leaf wing man, was the outstanding goal-getter with two tallies and as many assists to his credit. On one occasion he aided young Charley Conacher in the delightful pastime of eluding big brother Lionel, New York manager and defense star, by score. Roy Worters, American goalie, played the leading role for the New Yorkers, keeping the Leafs from making a much higher score.

Pittsburgh fared better against Montreal Maroons, but could not get its second victory of the year. The biggest of Montreal's heavy players crashed down the rink twice in the second period to gain a two-one victory. Nels Stewart and Red Dutton scored Montreal's goals. Ted White accounted for the Pirates' lone counter.

The victory gave the Maroons a tie for second place in the International group, as their rivals, Canadiens, of Montreal, lost to the Boston Bruins by a three to one count. By winning the Bruins increased their lead in the American group to three points over the idle New York Rangers.

JUNIOR LEAGUE MEETING DID NOT MATERIALIZE

Last night the meeting of the Eastern Townships Junior Hockey League did not materialize, there not being a quorum present. It was agreed that the meeting be adjourned to Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock, when all teams that wish to enter should have their blue forms with their application for admission to the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association properly filled out and registration fees paid.

GOLF

HORTON SMITH PUT OUT OF RUNNING

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 4.—Horton Smith, twenty-one-year-old pride of the Missouri Ozarks, today was listed among the missing as sixteen survivors in the Professional Golfers' Association went into their second round of match play.

The superb drives and putts of Craig Wood, youthful Long Island, N.Y., professional, turned the trick of eliminating one of the favorites in the first round of match play yesterday, replete with outstanding performances.

Leo Diegel, defending champion, turned in a sparkling sixty-four for his morning eighteen, a new competitive course record and a good start on an advantage which enabled him to out P. O. Hart, Wheeling, W.Va., by ten and nine.

No less outstanding was the rousing comeback of Walter Hagen. Apparently unimpaired of the troublesome runny round Monday which saw him stumble almost into elimination, the five-time winner of the P.G.A. event ended his match with Bob Shave, of Aurora, Ohio, on the twenty-eighth green by nine up and eight to play.

Among the chosen sixteen, eight of whom face elimination today, are Fred Morrison, medalist, Gene Sarazen, Fresh Meadow, N.Y., Herman Barron, Philadelphia, Charlie Guest, Los Angeles, Al Espinosa, Chicago, "Wild Bill" Mehler, New York, Neil Christian, Portland, Ore., Larry Nabholz, Houston, Texas, Al Watrous, Detroit, Henry Cici and John Farrell, Long Island, N.Y., Tony Manero, New York, and Eddie Schultz, Troy, N.Y.

ALL STAR TEAM NAMED

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 4.—The two major leagues in baseball shared honors equally in the 1929 all-star team of the Sporting News. St. Louis baseball newspaper, named by the votes of 187 members of the Baseball Writers' Association and announced today. Each league placed five men on the team, which includes two pitchers.

An outstanding feature was the unanimous selection by the scribes of Mickey Cochrane, of the world champion Philadelphia Athletics, for the catching position. He received all 187 votes. Three of his team-mates also were chosen.

CHICAGO CUBS QUITE ANXIOUS TO BUY GRIMES

(By Bryan Bell, Associated Press Sports Writer)

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Dec. 4.—John H. Farrell, secretary and treasurer of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, today submitted his twenty-eighth annual report to the convention. Mr. Farrell reported that twenty-seven leagues qualified last year, one did not start, two disbanded and twenty-four finished the season. The Utah-Idaho League did not start and the Lone Star League and California State League failed to complete the baseball year.

The roll of players employed by the National Association clubs during the season reached a total of 7,653. The secretary's files now contain more than fifty thousand names of baseball players and their records.

The decision was expected today from President H. M. Sexton after a rehearing of the case of George Toporcer, Rochester infielder, recently suspended for one year from organized baseball after being fined $200, and that of William H. Southworth, the Rochester manager, fined $500 as an aftermath of the "Little World Series."

President Sexton, with members of the Board of Arbitration also present at the hearing, spent almost all of yesterday in hearing the defense of disciplined players who were making their first personal appearance before him, as they failed to receive notices inviting them to attend the first meeting when the suspension and fines were imposed.

One of the few deals involving major and minor league clubs resulted in the transfer of the contract of Frank Nekolai, young left-handed pitcher of Holy Cross, from the New York Yankees to the St. Paul Club of the American Association.

Major League presidents and managers came to the National Association as visitors, but they were willing to trade among themselves if the details could be arranged. Joe McCarthy, of the Chicago Cubs, was understood to be willing to pay Pittsburgh a large sum for the release of Burleigh Grimes, Pirate pitcher.

BOXING

DALY TO MEET SHIRES (Associated Press Despatch)
CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—Dan Daly, of Cleveland, who professes to be yearning for an opportunity to gain revenge for "Lena" Blackburn, former White Sox manager, will get his chance Monday night.

Daly has consented to be the first ring opponent of Art Shires, the "bad boy" of the White Sox, who decorated Blackburn with two black eyes last summer.
"I am a close personal friend of Blackburn's and I want to get a crack at his much-advertised tough boy from Texas," Daly said in his successful application for the match to Promoter Jim Mullen.

MUELLER AND RIOUX MATCH-ED (Associated Press Despatch)
CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 4.—Hein Mueller, one of the newest and most impressive heavyweight importations from Germany, will make his second ring start in this country December 13, meeting Elzear Rioux, the big French-Canadian, in a ten round semi-windup to the Earl Mastro-Bud Taylor battle at the Chicago Stadium.

The High Cost of Studying

Son—"I know, dad, and I don't study very hard, either."

Clothing for your boy at school is a necessary expense. That often seems excessive. All healthy boys are destructive. When it comes to clothes. However, you'll find that The things you buy at Rosenbloom's Will last much longer. And look much better. Than the ordinary kind. We realize that boys' clothes Must be exceptionally sturdy. If they are to give long service. That must be why so many Thrifty parents shop here.

Our Boys' Department is ready To dress your lad... Suits with two pairs of trousers In the newest styles. Warm winter overcoats that are Sturdy enough for school wear And dandy enough for Sunday. We mustn't forget to tell you That the new trimmings are here: Caps, shirts, ties, stockings, Sweaters, underwear and so on. We'd really like to show you Some warm woolen windbreakers At two-seventy-five.

We always choose boys' clothing To please both boys and parents: The styles are snappy And the prices are right. May we serve you?

We thank you.

DEATHS REPORTED

MRS. WM. BELL, SHERBROOKE, QUE.
On November 23rd there entered into rest at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Taylor, Vancouver, B.C., Jane Coupland Bell, in her seventy-first year, an old and very highly respected citizen of Sherbrooke, after an illness of two months. The late Mrs. Wm. Bell was born at Dumfries, Scotland, on September 7th, 1859, being the eldest in a family of twelve.

The deceased came to this country in 1882 and was married to William Bell, who predeceased her some ten years ago.

A funeral service was conducted at the Nunn and Thomson chapel at Vancouver, by Rev. A. C. Bingham, of Grandview Baptist Church, prior to the removal of her remains to her home in Sherbrooke, Que.

Prayers were said at her residence.

MR. HERBERT E. GREEN, HATLEY, QUE.
HATLEY, Que., Dec. 4.—Although by no means unexpected, the announcement of the passing of Mr. Herbert E. Green, at St. Agathe des Monts, where he was removed from the Sherbrooke Hospital, brought sadness and sorrow to the hearts of those who for more than four years had been associated with him in both the home and in the several departments of church work. It was easily apparent that the young man was not possessed of a strong and rugged physique, but naturally of a bright and cheerful disposition, this to a certain extent was forgotten. Coming from England at the age of seventeen years, he soon found a home with Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Fowler, who soon became much attached to the lad, while he in turn regarded them as father and mother. In the autumn of 1928 the lure of the harvest fields of the great northwest proved most attractive and he joined the number leaving for the new Canada.

Upon his return, he again took up farm work but a cold, contracted while away, proved too great a strain for his delicate constitution to withstand and after months of failing health and strength, when a brave attempt was made by both himself and his friends to regain his former activity, he entered into rest at the early age of twenty-one.

But "he lives long who lives well," as counting by deeds and duties faithfully performed and not by years, he had attained to the full stature of life.

The young man's natural gifts enabled him to prove a valuable adjunct to the different social circles, with which he had become associated, while in Hatley. The assistance rendered by him in the Young People's Society of the United Church as well as upon other public occasions, will not soon be forgotten and especially upon the annual observance of Mother's Day, his rendering of Kipling's "Mother O'Mine" will long linger in memory. Doubtless the young reader's mind reverted to that denise Sunday afternoon by Rev. Jos. Cordner, B.D., of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. The service was very simple, in accordance with the wishes of the deceased. Mr. Cordner spoke with very deep feeling, saying in part: "She was the most saintly woman I have ever known."

The large gathering of friends at her home and the numerous floral tributes testified to the high esteem in which she was held in the community. Many messages of condolence were received by the family both by wire and mail.

The body was borne from the home she loved so well by her six sons, Robert J., J. George, A. Stanley, A. Russell, William J., and G. Ritchie Bell.

Besides these, she leaves to mourn her loss two daughters, Mrs. John Taylor, (Lizzie), and Christina; one sister in Scotland; four daughters-in-law, one son-in-law, three grandsons and one granddaughter.

The floral tributes were many, from relatives, friends and societies.

FARNHAM TOWN COUNCIL MET; GENERAL NEWS

New Chief of Police Appointed— Newsy Items and Personals of General Interest from Farnham and Vicinity.

FARNHAM, Que., Dec. 4.—A meeting of the town council was held on Monday evening in the town hall with the Mayor, Mr. E. Pollender, presiding. Among the various items brought before the members of the council was the election of a new chief of police to replace the late Mr. Alfred Foisy.

Mr. Elphege Daudelin was appointed to hold this office for the coming year. Mr. Ubald Desnoyers was re-elected as chief of fire brigade and Mr. Horace Lequin as superintendent of water works, roads and sewers.

General News
The Canadian Girls in Training met at the home of Miss Jean Bradlock instead of the United Church as was previously announced, for the re-organization of the branch of the C.G.T. There were sixteen members present and at the election of officers for the year 1930 the following were appointed: leader, Mrs. Herbert Kemp; president, Miss Ellen Smith; secretary, Miss Madeline Cook; treasurer, Miss Madeline Cook. The following Monday evening the members of the C.G.T. held their first regular meeting with their leader, Mrs. Herbert Kemp. The evening was spent in various games and a very interesting discussion took place upon their favorite authors. Refreshments were served during the evening by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kemp returned home from Manchester, N.H., last week. Mr. and Mrs. Kemp made the trip by auto. Upon their return they were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kemp, of Stanbridge, who had been spending the past three weeks visiting relatives and friends at Manchester.

The Misses Helen and Audrey Brown, who have been ill during the past two weeks, are now able to be out doors.

There are several cases of chicken-pox among the children at present but apparently ill cases are of a mild form.

Miss Maud Smith, of Montreal, spent a few days, last week, at the home of her grandfather, Mr. J. F. McLeod, and also visited other relatives and friends in town.

Mrs. Parmelee, of Montreal, has been a recent guest at the home of her brother, Mrs. Charles Cook.

Mr. Murray O'Regan, of Sutton, is spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Clark.

Mrs. E. Joyce, of Brome, was a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wright. Other week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wright were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wright, of Montreal, and Miss Beatrice Taylor, of West Shefford.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bradlock, of St. O. Sherbrooke, and Miss Freda Sherwood, with Mr. Gordon Kittell, of Montreal, motored to Waterloo, on Saturday, and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Adam.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Wright spent Tuesday at Sherbrooke.

Master Billy Pope was given a surprise party on Thursday last, in honor of his 9th birthday. Six of his boy chums were present from 5 to 7 o'clock p.m. and with Billy enjoyed themselves with games. Refreshments were served after which the little ones left wishing Billy many happy returns of the day.

The Young Ladies' Bridge Club met on Monday evening with Miss Madeline Comeau at her home on Main Street. The winner of the mother, who in the Old Land, had clasped her boy's hand while singing her favorite hymn, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross," and whose early death left him an orphan at the age of three years.

After the day's work was ended and in odd scraps of time, the hours were sometimes employed with pencil and brush, in which branch of art he might easily have excelled, as the several specimens of his skill can testify. A prominent and outstanding characteristic and trait was that of faithful devotion to duty and when opportunity has been offered for some laudable pleasure it was declined, as it would interfere with the duties expected from him during the absence of the home folk, and though absent in the body he yet speaketh this influence to those who remain. "Not gone from memory, not gone from love." But gone to our Father's home above.

Besides numerous friends, one brother, Mr. Charles Green, of the Sherbrooke Hospital staff, survives, who has the sympathy of many in his bereavement.

WEST SUTTON
Mrs. H. Page and two sons spent Sunday evening in Sutton, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Royce.

Mrs. Bernice Russell and four sons were Saturday night guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Nichols, at Stanbridge East. Also Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. Smith, from Stanbridge.

Mr. C. Perkins was at Abbott's Corner on business, recently.

Mr. D. L. Mudgett and son Douglas have been on a hunting trip for a few days during the past week.

Miss Olga Lee spent the week-end in Freilighsburg with her friends, the Misses Mary and Elsie Smith.

Master Robert Robinson, who has been suffering with a sprained wrist for a few days, is back at school again.

Mr. E. J. Lee and daughter, Olga, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Nichols, of Stanbridge East, on Saturday.

EAST ANGUS
Millinery sale until Christmas at Mrs. Dugdale's, St. Hilda Street. All felt hats and velvet hats will be sold at a very low price.

BROWN'S HILL.
Mrs. K. Rutter spent the past week-end a guest of Mrs. Helen C. Gillifflin, at Beebe.

Mr. Myron Hunting is able to be out after his illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rowell and Masters Billy and Robert Rowell, of Derby Line, Vt., were guests of

POWER COMPANY HAS ANNOUNCED ITS PROGRAMME

Details of a Five-Year Plan Involving Expenditure of $30,000,000 on Development of Half a Million Horsepower of Electrical Energy Announced by Beauharnois Power Company—Money Will Be Spent in Canada.

(Associated Press Despatch)
TORONTO, Dec. 4.—Details of a five year programme involving expenditure of $30,000,000 on the development of half a million horse power of electrical energy were revealed last night by the Beauharnois Power Corporation. The announcement said every dollar possible would be spent in Canada, and was coincident with the offering of a bond issue to finance the gigantic work.

The flotation is one of the largest ever made in Canada and is shared by a number of leading financial houses. Apart from reflecting confidence in the financial structure of the country, the announcement indicated Canadian plants might expect a great deal of business through the corporation's buy-in-Canada policy.

RADIOLOGICAL SOCIETY WILL STUDY PAPERS

First Meeting of X-Ray Experts in Canada Will Last Five Days in Toronto—New Skin Treatment Will Be Studied, as Well as Effect of Radium—Cancerous Growths More Easily Discerned.

TORONTO, Dec. 4.—The fifteenth annual convention of the Radiological Society of North America, the first to be held in Canada, opened its five-day session in the Royal York Hotel here Monday, at 1:30 p.m. Dr. G. E. Richards, of the Toronto General Hospital, who is chairman of the local executive committee in charge of the convention, extended the welcome of the local medical profession to the delegates. Leading experts in the use of radium, X-ray and other forms of radiation, from almost every state and province are in attendance.

After the open meeting at which the delegates were welcomed, the scientific sessions got under way. Several of the papers presented yesterday dealt with the effect of radium and x-ray on the skin. Drs. E. A. Powle and C. S. Wright, of Wisconsin University, Madison, Wis., presented a study of the effect of combined x-ray and violet ray treatments, a new departure in skin treatment. The results of the treatment were observed by means of a skin microscope. The amount of the x-ray treatment was administered to the patient as accurately as the grocer weighs his product. This process was perfected by European scientists and first made public at the International congress of Radiology in Stockholm last year.

Dr. Roswell T. Pettit, of Ottawa, Illinois, in his paper, dealt with a new method of the examination of pieces of tissue, at an operation making it possible to determine on the spot whether or not the growth was malignant, or cancerous. Formerly it was necessary to wait several days before this could be determined by the old method of examination. Much valuable time can be saved by the new method of examining the fresh tissue in the operating room, and radiation or other treatment can be started at once when the nature of the growth is thus quickly determined.

DR. J. M. CLARK, K.C., DEAD
(Canadian Press Despatch)
TORONTO, Dec. 4.—Dr. John Murray Clark, K.C., well known barrister, died in a hospital here last night aged seventy years. He was born in St. Mary's and received his early education in the Collegiate School of that city. He graduated from the University of Toronto in 1891.

BENEFITS FROM USE OF RADIUM WERE OUTLINED

Dr. Barbara Hunt, of Bangor, Me., Delivered Very Interesting Paper Before Convention of Radiological Society of North America.

(Canadian Press Despatch)
TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 4.—Dr. Barbara Hunt, of Bangor, Maine, before the convention of the Radiological Society of North America, presented a graphic description of her work during the past seven years in her private clinic using X-rays and radium. "A clinic using radium and powerful X-ray soon finds the most important part of its work to be with cancer. All organs and regions of the body may have this disease, and unfortunate persons present themselves in all stages." This particular clinic, located in a sparsely settled state, draws lobstermen, fishermen and sailors, from the coast, farmers and their wives, woodsmen and river drivers, as well as from the occupations and trades of a city.

When the clinic first opened, Dr. Hunt declared, most of the sufferers presenting themselves for treatment were in advanced stages of the disease, but as the good news of the relief to be obtained from radiation treatments spread, more people were coming who were in the earlier stages of cancer and in many cases hope of recovery could be held out.

One of the most common forms of malignancy to be treated by radium and X-ray is cancer of the skin and lip. The treatment is painless Dr. Hunt said, and usually leaves no scar. "Among the causes which underlie the origin of these cancers are moles, rubbing of glasses on the nose, cheeks, temples and back of ears, blows from twigs while walking through the woods, eczematous areas which do not heal or break out over and over again, and irritated skin caused by long exposure to tanning by sun and wind and salt water as in repairing men and farmers."

"Cancer of the lip is serious because of its tendency to spread into the neck glands but in most cases cure can be promised by radiation," Dr. Hunt said. She declared the use of tobacco in its various forms to be the chief cause of lip cancer, while bad teeth may also start the growth.

Some cures of cancer of the breast by radiation alone were reported by Dr. Hunt. She stressed, however, the need for further education of women so that the disease may be discovered and brought to treatment in its early stages. "All cancers shrink remarkably under powerful radiation with immediate general improvement in the health of the patient, and after observing this phenomenon I cannot but believe in radiation treatment for all cancers before surgical excision is performed," she concluded.

Legislation Needed
Officers of the Radiological Societies are strong in their condemnation of persons who operate X-ray machines and administer other forms of radiation without the necessary qualifications and experiences. The need for legislation both in Canada and the United States to stem the flood of incompetent self-styled "specialists" in the radiological field was stressed at the convention. "Radiological practitioners should be licensed in the same way that medical practitioners are licensed," asserted Dr. Leon J. Menville, chairman of the Legislation Committee of the Society.

Two Other Papers

Two important papers were presented today by Drs. A. Fletcher and W. H. Dickson, of the Toronto General Hospital. They dealt with arthritis, a severe form of rheumatism, and its deformative effect upon the colon. A large group of cases had been studied in the hospital and in these the sole treatment was one of diet. Slides were shown to indicate the improvement in the condition of the colon as a result of proper nutrition as supplied by the diet.

Dr. M. I. Kaplan, of Chicago, stressed the fact that X-ray and radium treatment was valuable in other fields, as well as in the fight against cancer. Too often, he declared, not only the public but many medical men were inclined to overlook radiation as a form of treatment for non-malignant diseases. He pointed out that enlarged neck glands, including some types of goitre, could be beneficially treated in this manner and that the X-ray was now being used instead of the knife in many such cases.

Beauharnois Power Corporation Limited has been incorporated under the laws of the Dominion of Canada and is to own or control all the outstanding shares of Beauharnois Light, Heat and Power Company (which is carrying on the Beauharnois hydro-electric development) and of its associated companies, Beauharnois Land Company, Beauharnois Transmission Company and Beauharnois Construction Company.

BEAUHARNOIS LIGHT, HEAT AND POWER COMPANY
Beauharnois Light, Heat and Power Company has acquired under a lease from the Province of Quebec extending to the year 2003, and under authorizations from the Governments of the Dominion of Canada and the Province of Quebec, water power rights on the St. Lawrence River about twenty-five miles above the City of Montreal. Its power house, in which it is proposed to install equipment capable of producing 500,000 horse power, will be west of the Town of Beauharnois, on Lake St. Louis. This development involves the construction of a canal approximately fifteen miles in length to the south of the River St. Lawrence, running from Lake St. Francis to Lake St. Louis. Complying with the conditions imposed by the Dominion Government the canal has been designed so that if the St. Lawrence Deep Waterways project is proceeded with, the canal can be used jointly for navigation and power purposes. In addition to the above water power rights the Beauharnois Light, Heat and Power Company has entered into a contract with Montreal Cotton Company providing for the acquisition of the latter's rights to divert water for power purposes from the St. Lawrence River at Lake St. Francis. In the opinion of the Company's engineers, the water available from the above sources when diverted through the canal will generate 500,000 horse power, equivalent to 7,500,000 kilowatt hours per day. Between Lake St. Francis and Lake St. Louis the St. Lawrence River drops eighty-three feet in a series of rapids, making this section of the River one of the most important water power sites in Canada, being capable of developing about 2,000,000 horse power. The average low water flow of the River through this section is approximately 220,000 cubic feet per second. Of this flow approximately 120,000 cubic feet per second is presently allotted to power developments, which amount includes the quantity allocated to the Beauharnois Light, Heat and Power Company. It is estimated that the unallocated balance of about 100,000 cubic feet per second, if passed through the Company's canal would permit installation of approximately 1,000,000 additional horse power. The Company's proposed development, in the opinion of its engineers, is the most efficient method of utilizing the entire drop in this section of the River. In view of the above, provision is made in the plans and considerable work is now being done with a view to installing further units if additional water becomes available. After the completion of the present 500,000 horse power installation it is estimated that further units can be installed at an average cost of less than $65 per horse power. The present plans contemplate at that 200,000 horse power will be available by October 1, 1932, at which time the Company will commence delivering the first blocks of power under contracts already entered into, and that the total of 500,000 horse power will be available by October 1, 1935.

AN ATTACK IS LAUNCHED AT LABOR POLICY

Premier Scullin, of Australia, Severely Criticized for Not Having Rescued Mines.

(Canadian Press Despatch)
CANNBERRA, Australia, Dec. 4.—(Via Reuters.)—The British Government is not the only Labor administration which is attacked by its own followers. In the House of Representatives yesterday Premier Scullin and his government were bitterly assailed by a Labor member representing a mining constituency on the agreement for a reduction in wages in the Newcastle coal fields.

On a motion for adjournment, brought in order to discuss the question, the member denounced the Government for not redeeming its pledge to reopen the mines. Two other Labor members joined in condemning the Government. Premier Scullin declared he had done everything possible to secure a settlement, and the motion was eventually talked out.

UTILITY ISSUES SHOW STRENGTH

MONTREAL, Dec. 4.—The Montreal Financial Service says today: With call money in New York quoted at 4 1/2 per cent and with an exceptionally bullish announcement given out by President Hoover before Congress, the New York market turned very strong around the noon hour yesterday, with the public utility issues there leading the way.

As was to be expected, the strength in Wall Street found reflection in the local market and the local power stocks came in for renewed attention under the leadership of Montreal Power, this security advancing to 134 1/4, which compares with the recent low of 98, a recovery of 37 1/4 points. Some profit-taking came in around the top figure, and the issue reacted somewhat.

As has been stated by Financial Service recently, the local market needs an outstanding leader to take it out of its lethargy and it is quite possible "power" might assume that role. It will not be the first time that Montreal Power has acted as the prime factor in restoring confidence to the market as a whole.

The buying in that security yesterday was of a general character and the advance was no doubt helped along by short covering. The story got about that the contemplated split up of the security is nearer at hand than is generally expected. Many of the local brokerage firms have recently sent out letters to their clients recommending "power" as investment of attractive merits and this advice has no doubt been followed, in many instances.

Shawinigan, Quebec Power, Power Corporation, Winnipeg Electric, and Brazilian Traction were the other public utility issues that recorded appreciable gains. Southern Canada Power, however, was neglected and closed unchanged at thirty-five. Due to the small float of this security, it is not a popular trading medium but it is understood that there has recently developed an excellent investment demand for Southern Canada. This issue appears to be one of the most attractive low price public utility stocks on the board.

Dominion Bridge was another strong spot and touched a high of 77 1/4 for a gain of 3 1/4 points. Conservative quarters in the street are of the opinion that the issue will be selling appreciably higher than at present by the time the annual statement makes its appearance. The report for the year which ended October 31st, last, should be made public about the end of this month and will show record earnings. The issue is down about forty points from its high of the year and as a result there is still a great deal of room for appreciation.

Consolidated Bakeries Limited, which is a consolidation of a number of Canadian bakeries under the control of Ogilvie Flour Mills, is understood to be experiencing good business and for the twelve months which end with December, the company is understood to have earned the two dollar a share dividend and to have carried a good margin to spare. The annual financial statement, which should make its appearance some time in February, will show earnings to have been sufficient to meet all charges and the payment of the dividend, and leave a margin to be added to surplus.

RAILS LOOK ATTRACTIVE

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—The Wall Street Mirror says today:—Further rally will be seen in the stock market today. The market as a whole is steadily broadening out and the advance is gathering momentum. The constructive nature of the president's message to Congress is playing a part in the rally and may carry it beyond the confines of a normal movement. It has been predicted right along that the recovery movement would run through this month and its start gives reason to believe that it will be well worth playing for. The fact that opinion is still divided in the financial district is going to aid in the recovery.

There will be plenty of short selling and covering movements also will be numerous. Get long of the good stocks and do not attempt to be too clever in your market operations.

The railroad market has undergone another change due to the president's suggestion regarding mergers. The speculative rails with merger possibilities have come back into favor and will be among the leaders.

In this group are Missouri Kansas and Texas, Wabash, Western Maryland, Kansas City Southern, Western Pacific etc., rails of the type of New Haven and Erie also are in demand and will show excellent profits this month.

Oil shares are also in consistent demand. It is known that excellent buying is making its appearance in Standard of New Jersey and Texas Corporation. Jersey is expected to show earnings of close to $6 a share without taking into consideration the new lines of business which have been developed.

Columbia Gas and Electric, is in for a good rally based on its possibilities and probably an increase in the dividend rate.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK MARKET QUOTATIONS

(Canadian Press Despatch)
MONTREAL, Dec. 4.—There were 75 cattle, 37 calves, 45 hogs and 43 sheep and lambs for sale on the two Montreal live stock markets. The cattle offered were common cows, canners and cutters. Canners were mostly $3.25 and common to just plain cows $5 to $5.50.

Calves ranged from $6 for grass-fed to $13.50 for good suckers.

Lambs were unchanged.

Hogs were about steady at $11.25 fed and watered, flat.

COUNTRY AND DAIRY PRODUCE PRICES

CHEESE—Exports of cheese from the port of Montreal to the United Kingdom are being wound up this week with the departure of the last boats. No changes were reported in the market yesterday, and prices nominally were 18 1/4c for easterns and 18 1/2c to 18 5/8c for westerns, current receipts; with summer make 1c higher.

BUTTER—The butter market was steady at 40c in a wholesale way for Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized, grass-milk or New Zealand first-grade butter; while current receipts fodder-milk were bringing 39 1/2c to 39 3/4c per lb. To the retail trade solids are 42c and prints are 43c per lb.

EGGS—Wholesale egg prices are steady at Monday's decline, being quoted to the retail trade as follows: Fresh specials . . . 68c per doz. Fresh extras . . . 62c per doz. Fresh firsts . . . 58c per doz. Fresh pullet extras . . . 56c per doz. Fresh seconds . . . 48c per doz. Storage extras . . . 45c per doz. Storage firsts . . . 41c per doz. Storage seconds . . . 39c per doz.

POTATOES—The potato market rules steady with prices at $1.40 to $1.45 for Quebec and $1.60 to $1.65 for New Brunswick per 90 lbs. in bulk, while Prince Edward Islands are $1.65 to $1.75 per 90 lbs. in bags, in car lots, ex-track here.

POULTRY—Poultry offerings for the Christmas trade are constantly becoming heavier, but buyers here are still holding off. Prices to the retail trade on dressed lines follow:

	Price per lb.	Standard	A's
Selected chickens	30-35c	28-34c
Milk-fed chickens	34-38c	32-37c
Selected fowls	25-32c	23-30c
Squab broilers	40-48c	38-45c
Selected turkeys	37-43c	34-40c
Selected broilers	33-40c	29-36c
Selected ducks	30c	28c
Domestic ducklings	34c	32c
Green ducklings	37c	35c

num enough to attract public attention.

E. F. Hutton & Co.—We think opportunities for the active trader are at a minimum in this kind of a market. The direction changes very rapidly and there is little sustained progress. Until stocks have reasserted their trend one way or the other, we would continue to use these markets to straighten out accounts by switching from doubtful issues into better ones.

Trading Forecasts and Factors
Despite increased offerings it is expected that the rally will be further extended today.

Substantial Buying Seen

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—The New York Adversary Service says:—The observation was made here Monday that not only is the list no longer honeycombed by the maniacal stop orders, but that it has become bulwarked with an impressive accumulation of buying orders, entered just under the prevailing price levels. The action of the market yesterday confirmed this observation to a nicety. The president's message as we anticipated was sound and constructive, and the whole, makes an important contribution on the growing optimism that is being reflected in current market dealings. The substantial character of the buoyancy witnessed in yesterday's session is of a type that can readily gain momentum.

Virtually every one of the stocks listed here in the past week have scored attractive advance already, but we look for a sizable extension of the recovery moment for the next few days, at least, before any important check is encountered.

Air Reduction previously favored is mounting forward nicely now, and we favor following it for further advance.

Eastman Kodak is on its way to 200 or better, and can be followed accordingly.

A. M. Byers is still attractive in this group for further speculative advance.

Radio, Montgomery-Ward, United Aircraft, and American International, which were among the moderate priced stocks listed in our week-end letter, are starting to move up nicely now, and continue to be favored by us for further advance. Motor and accessory issues are turning up from an unduly over-sold condition. We like Marmon, Nash, Hudson, Mack Trucks, Bendix Mullins, at these levels.

POINT GAINS AT MONTREAL THIS MORNING

Dominion Glass Gains Two Points to 142, Leading List—Montreal Power Weaker.

(Canadian Press Despatch)
MONTREAL, Dec. 4.—Upward thrusts of over a point by Brazilian Traction, Dominion Bridge and Dominion Glass led the Montreal Stock Exchange to higher prices at the opening today. Montreal Power was an outstanding exception to the general trend, losing 2 1/2 to 130 1/4. Heavy trading in Brazilian sent that stock to 43 1/2, up 1 1/2. Dominion Bridge gained 1 1/2 to 78; Glass was up 2 to 142; Steel of Canada gained 1 to 46.

International Nickel, Gypsum, B. C. Power, Massey-Harris, Quebec Power were all fractionally stronger. Winnipeg Electric and St. Lawrence Paper lost fractionally.

RECOVERY CONTINUED AT NEW YORK THIS MORNING

(Associated Press Despatch)
NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—The recovery in stock prices, which started on the publication of President Hoover's message to Congress yesterday, was resumed at the opening of today's market. Initial gains of a point or so were registered by American Bosch Magneto, Mack Trucks, Westinghouse Electric and Johns-Manville. American Tobacco issues were heavy in profit-taking, the common dropping 3 points and the "B" 1 1/2.

NEW YORK PRESS MARKET COMMENT

Furnished by McManamy & Walsh.

New York World—Covering operations contributed a very large, if not major part of the support and doubtless were responsible for the comparative violence of the upturn.

Wall Street Journal—Trading increased substantially simultaneously with a vigorous recovery speculative sentiment was in a much more confident state as result of the impressive resistance to bear attacks.

TREATMENT MAY BE APPLIED TO YOUNG INFANTS

SENTENCES TO BE GIVEN ON DECEMBER 12

Criminal Court Session Brought to Close Yesterday—Fifteen Cases in All Heard—Three Pleas of Guilty—Seven Found Guilty and Five Accused Acquitted.

Fifteen cases were heard in the Criminal Court during the fall session, which was brought to a close here yesterday. Of the nineteen cases on the roll for hearing during the session, there were three pleas of guilty, seven accused found guilty, five acquitted, two cases of "no bills" and one case put on the roll for hearing at the next session. Only one sentence has been given as yet by Mr. Justice Archambault, the presiding judge, the remainder being left until December 12th.

Summary of Cases
The most important case heard during the past session was that of Yvonne Baron, twenty-two-year-old local girl, charged with murder in connection with the death of her month-old infant, who was found drowned in the Magog River on May 11th last. A verdict of manslaughter was returned by the jury.

Alphonse Morin, of Brimston, pleaded guilty to a manslaughter charge in connection with the death of Georges Arguin, Sherbrooke Railway and Power Company motorman, who was fatally injured on August 13th when he was struck by a car driven by Morin.
C. A. Tucker, former manager of the Bank of Commerce branch at Waterville, pleaded guilty to two counts in the Criminal Court. One of the charges was of having stolen over $1,200 from the bank and the other of having forged the name of H. W. Burton, a well known resident of Waterville, to a note of $1,588.

Evan Smith, of Island Brook, was found guilty of abducting the fourteen year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dougherty, also of that place. He was, however, freed of a charge of much more serious nature.

Oscar Carrier, of Plopplet, was found guilty of a serious charge in connection with an alleged attempted attack upon the person of a young girl.
A verdict of guilty was returned by the jury in the case of Alfred Guilmette, of this city, who was charged with stealing a diamond ring, the property of Mrs. J. A. Hudon, city.

The only case in which sentence has been given to date is that of Leon Smith, of Rock Island, who was let out on suspended sentence after he had been found guilty by the jury of receiving stolen goods.
E. O. Seguin, of Rock Island, who was charged with stealing $300 worth of firearms from Charles E. Audinwood, Derby Line, Vt., was found guilty of the charge by the jury.

The last case in which a verdict of guilty was returned by the jury was that of the King vs. Dame Desire Houde, of this city, who was charged with assaulting Mrs. Oscar Pepin, also of Sherbrooke. In returning the verdict, the jury reduced the charge to simple assault.
Verdicts of "not guilty" were returned in the cases of Curtis Chute, of Cookshire, and C. Menard, of St. Edwidge, who were both charged with perjury in connection with a case in the Superior Court here. Grace Buck Marlin, of Island Brook, was also freed of a perjury charge by the jury's finding. The accusation of which arose when she accused Arthur Dougherty, also of Island Brook, of theft and then failed to appear against him.
A "not guilty" verdict was returned by the jury in connection with the case of Rosario Allard, of Rock Island, who was charged with stealing a radio, valued at $200, the property of Ben Ball, of Rock Island.

Joseph Pratte, of Melbourne, was freed of a serious charge in connection with an alleged attack upon the person of a woman from that place.

Two "No Bills" Returned
Two "no bills" were returned by the grand jury, these being the two cases of Raymond Allard, Ontario auto-jury's finding, who had been bound over for trial on two counts of manslaughter in connection with the deaths of Mrs. Frank E. Quimby and her two-year-old son, Raymond. The woman and her child were fatally injured when struck by a car driven by the accused in Stansfeld on the night of August 3rd last.

The two cases placed on the rolls for hearing at the next session of the Court of King vs. Alexandre Cloutier, of this city, and the King vs. Alfred Lemieux, of St. Adrien de Ham.

Cloutier, who is charged with stealing pig brass and sprues, valued at $200 from the E. & T. Fairbanks Company, failed to appear before the Criminal Court for his trial during the present session and a bench warrant for his arrest has been issued. His bail of $100 was declared forfeited.
Lemieux is facing a very serious charge. His hearing, however, had to be postponed owing to the absence of a very important witness.

CUMS TAX DISCUSSED BY HON. VINCENT MASSEY

Question of Canadians Living in Canada and Working in United States Again Being Discussed With Washington.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The Canadian Minister, Hon. Vincent Massey, has discussed at the State Department the proposal to force

—NEW SERIAL STORY— "The Seven Dials Mystery"

By AGATHA CHRISTIE.

"I've got them here, sir." Some papers were shoved across the table. Every one bent forward. Presently Mosgorovsky raised his head again.

"And the list of guests?" "Here."

The Russian read them. "Sir Stanley Digby, Mr. Terence O'Rourke, Sir Oswald and Lady Coote, Mr. Bateman, Countess Anna Rasky, Mrs. Macra, Mr. James Thesiger—" he paused and then asked sharply:

"Who is Mr. James Thesiger?" "The American lawyer."

"I guess you needn't worry any about him. The usual complete young ass."

The Russian continued reading. "Herr Eberhard and Mr. Everleigh. That completes the list."

"Does it?" said Bundle silently. "What about the sweet girl, Lady Ellen Brent?"

"Yes, there seems nothing to worry about there," said Mosgorovsky. He looked across the table. "I suppose there's no doubt whatever about the value of Eberhard's invention?"

Three o'clock made a laconic British reply.

"None whatever."

Worth Millions

"Commercially it should be worth millions," said the Russian. "And internationally—well, one knows only too well the greed of nations."

Bundle had an idea that behind his mask he was smiling unpleasantly.

"Well worth a few lives," said No. 5, cynically, and laughed.

"But you know what inventions are," said the American. "Sometimes these damned things won't work."

"A man like Sir Oswald Coote will have made no mistake," said Mosgorovsky.

"Speaking as an aviator myself," said No. 5, "the thing is perfectly feasible. It has been discussed for years—but it needed the genius of Eberhard to bring it to fruition."

"Well," said Mosgorovsky, "I don't think we need discuss matters any further. You have all seen the plans. I do not think our original scheme can be bettered. By the way, I hear something about a letter of Gerald Wade's that has been found—a letter that mentions this organization. Who found it?"

"Lord Caterham's daughter—Lady Ellen Brent."

"Bauer should have been on to that," said Mosgorovsky. "It was careless of him. Who was the letter written to?"

"His sister, I believe," said No. 3. "Unfortunately," said Mosgorovsky, "but it cannot be helped. The question on Ronald Devereux is tomorrow. I suppose that has been arranged for?"

"Reports as to local lads having been practising with rifles have been spread everywhere," said the American.

"That should be alright then. I think there is nothing further to be said. I think we must all congratulate our dear 1 o'clock and wish her luck in the part she has to play."

"Hurrah!" cried No. 5. "To Anna!"

All hands flew out in the same gesture which Bundle had noticed before.

"To Anna!"

One o'clock acknowledge the salutation with a typically foreign gesture. Then she rose to her feet and the others followed suit. For the first time, Bundle caught a glimpse of No. 3 as he came to put Anna's cloak round her—a tall, heavily built man.

Then the party filed out through the secret door. Mosgorovsky secured it after them. He waited a few moments and then Bundle heard him unbolt the other door and pass through, after extinguishing the electric light.

Bundle Released

It was not until two hours later that a white and anxious Alfred came to release Bundle. She almost fell into his arms and he had to hold her up.

"Nothing," said Bundle. "Just stiff, that's all. Here, let me sit down."

"Oh, Gord, my lady, it's been awful!"

"Nonsense," said Bundle. "It all went off splendidly. Don't get the wind up now it's all over. It might have gone wrong, but thank goodness it didn't."

"Thank goodness, as you say, my lady, I've been in a twitter all the evening. They're a funny crowd, you know."

"A damned funny crowd," said Bundle, vigorously massaging her arms and legs. "As a matter of fact, they're the sort of crowd I always imagined until tonight only existed in books. In this life, Alfred, one never stops learning."

CHAPTER XIII THE INQUEST

Bundle reached home about 6

those who work in the United States to live in this country.

If the plan emanating from the Labor Department, to levy a visa fee of ten dollars and a head tax of eight dollars on both native and non-native Canadians who cross the border daily to their work in the United States, every time they crossed were put into effect, it would force more than ten thousand residents of the Dominion to remove their homes to the United States or seek other employment.

When general order 86 from the Immigration Department was promulgated in 1927, and Canadians who formerly crossed the border at will as visitors were given six months to take out their immigration papers, there were extended diplomatic conversations and correspondence between the Governments of the two countries.

a.m. She was up and dressed by half-past 9, and rang up Jimmy Thesiger on the telephone.

The promptitude of his reply somewhat surprised her, till he explained that he was going to attend the inquest.

"So am I," said Bundle. "And I've got a lot to tell you."

"Well, suppose you let me drive you down, and we can talk on the way. How about that?"

"All right. But allow a bit extra, because you'll have to take me to Chimneys. The Chief Constable's picking me up there."

"Why?"

"Because he's a kind man," said Bundle.

"So am I," said Jimmy. "Very kind."

"Oh! you're an ass," said Bundle. "I heard somebody say so last night."

"Who?"

"To be strictly accurate—a Russian Jew. No, it wasn't. It was—"

But an indignant protest drowned her words.

"I may be an ass," said Jimmy. "I dare say I am—but I won't have Russian Jews saying so. What were you doing last night, Bundle?"

"That's what I'm going to talk about," said Bundle. "Good-by for the moment."

In Books Only

She rang off in a tantalizing manner which left Jimmy pleasantly puzzled. He had the highest respect for Bundle's capabilities, though there was not the slightest trace of sentiment in his feeling toward her.

"She's been up to something," he opined, as he took a last hasty drink of coffee. "Depend upon it, she's been up to something."

Twenty minutes later, his little two-seater drew up before the Brook street house and Bundle, who had been waiting, came tripping down the steps. Jimmy was not ordinarily an observant young man, but he noticed that there were black rings round Bundle's eyes and that she had a late night the night before.

"Now then," he said, as the car began to nose her way through the suburbs, "what dark deeds have you been up to?"

"I'll tell you," said Bundle. "But don't interrupt until I've finished."

It was a somewhat long story, and Jimmy had all he could do to keep sufficient attention on the car to avoid an accident. When Bundle had finished he sighed—then looked at her searchingly.

"Bundle?"

"Yes?"

"Look here, you're not pulling my leg?"

"What do you mean?"

"I'm sorry," apologized Jimmy. "But it seems to me as though I'd heard it all before—in a dream, you know."

"I know," said Bundle sympathetically.

"It's impossible," said Jimmy, following out his own train of thought. "The beautiful foreign adventures, the international gang, the mysterious No. 7, whose identity nobody knows—I've read it all a hundred times in books."

"Of course you have. So have I. But it's no reason why it shouldn't really happen."

"I suppose not," admitted Jimmy. "After all—I suppose fiction is founded on truth. I mean unless things did happen, people couldn't think of them."

"There is something in what you say," agreed Jimmy. "But all the same I can't help pinching myself to see if I'm awake."

"That's how I felt," Jimmy gave a deep sigh.

A Missing Member

"Well, I suppose we are awake. Let me see a Russian, an American, an Englishman—a possible Austrian or Hungarian—and the lady who may be any nationality—for choice Russian or Polish—that's a pretty representative gathering."

"And a German," said Bundle. "You've forgotten the German."

"Oh!" said Jimmy slowly. "You think—"

"The absent No. 2. No. 2 is Bauer—our footman. That seems to me quite clear from what they said about expecting a report which had come in—though what there can be to report about Chimneys, I can't think."

"It must be something to do with Gerry Wade's death," said Jimmy. "There's something there we haven't fathomed yet. You say they actually mentioned Bauer by name."

Bundle added:

"They blamed him for not having found that letter."

"Well, I don't see what you could have clearer than that. There's no going against it. You'll have to forgive my first incredulity, Bundle—but you know, it was rather a tall story. You say they knew about my going down to Wyvern Abbey next week?"

"Yes, that's when the American—it was him, not the Russian—said they needn't worry—you were only the usual kind of ass."

"Ah!" said Jimmy. He pressed his foot down on the accelerator violently and the car shot forward. "I'm very glad you told me that. It gives me what you might call a personal interest in the case."

He was silent for a minute or two and then he said:

"Did you say that German inventor's name was Eberhard?"

"Yes. Why?"

"Wait a minute. Something's coming back to me. Eberhard, Eberhard—yes, I'm sure that was the name."

"To whom?"

"Eberhard was a Johnny who'd got some patent process he applied to steel. I can't put the thing properly because I haven't got the scientific knowledge—but I know the result was that it became so toughened that a wire was as strong as a steel bar had previously been. Eberhard had to do with airplanes, and his idea was that the weight would be so enormously reduced that flying would be practically revolutionized—the cost of it, I mean. I believe he offered his invention to the German Government, and they turned it down pointed out some undeniable flaw in it—but they did it rather nastily. He set to work and circumvented the difficulty, whatever it was, but he'd been offended by their attitude and swore they shouldn't have his eye lamb. I always thought the whole thing was probably bunkum, but now—it looks differently."

An Unofficial Conference

"That's it," said Bundle eagerly. "You must be right, Jimmy. Eberhard must have offered his invention to our Government. They've steel bars had to go to take Sir Oswald Coote's expert opinion on it. There's going to be an unofficial conference at the Abbey. Sir Oswald, George, the Air Minister and Eberhard. Eberhard will have the plans or the process or whatever you call it."

"Formula," suggested Jimmy. "I think 'formula' is a good word myself."

"He'll have the formula with him, and the Seven Dials are to steal the formula. I remember the Russian saying it was worth millions."

"I suppose it would be," said Jimmy.

"And well worth a few lives—that's what the other man said."

"Well, it seems to have been," said Jimmy, his face clouding over. "Look at this damned inquest to-day. Bundle, are you sure Ronny said nothing else?"

"No," said Bundle. "Just that. Seven Dials. Tell Jimmy Thesiger. That's all he could get out, poor lad."

"I wish we knew what he knew," said Jimmy. "But we've found out one thing. I take it that the footman, Bauer, must almost certainly have been responsible for Gerry's death. You know, Bundle—"

"Well, I'm a bit worried sometimes. Who's going to be the next one! It really isn't the sort of business for a girl to be mixed up in."

Bundle smiled in spite of herself. It occurred to her that it had taken

PREHISTORY OF AMERICA IS IN ASIA

Dr. Ales Hrdlicka of Opinion that Mongoloid Migration Across Bering Strait So Easy It Was Inevitable—Has Just Returned from Exploration Trip in North.

(Canadian Press.)

WASHINGTON, D.C., Dec. 4.—The key to American prehistory lies not in Alaska but in Asia, in the same category as Lorraine Wade. "It's far more likely to be you than me," she remarked cheerfully.

"Hear, hear!" said Jimmy. "But what about a few casualties on the other side for a chance? I'm feeling rather bloodthirsty this morning. Tell me, Bundle, would you recognize any of these people if you saw them?"

Bundle hesitated.

"I think I should recognize No. 5," she said at last. "He's got a queer way of speaking—a kind of venomous, hissing way—that I think I'd know again."

"What about the Englishman?" Bundle shook her head.

"I saw him least—only a glimpse—and he's got a very ordinary voice. Except that he's a big man, there's nothing much to go by."

Speculation

"There's the woman, of course," continued Jimmy. "She ought to be easier. But then you're not likely to run across her. She's probably putting in the dirty work being taken out to dinner by amorous Cabinet Ministers and getting state secrets out of them when they've had a couple. At least, that's how it's done in books. As a matter of fact, the only Cabinet Minister I know drinks hot water with a dash of lemon in it."

belief of Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, Smithsonian anthropologist. His contention supports a previous view that Mongoloid migration across Bering Strait was so easy it was inevitable, contrasting with a prevailing opinion that the Eskimo had a purely American origin.

Scant hope of uncovering even dim records of the far past in central Alaska is seen by the noted scientist, who traversed the Yukon river from source to mouth during the summer in search of archaic lore.

"Unless some most unfortunate accident occurs," he said, "we shall never be able to find real ancient remains in the Yukon valley or delta, because the country has been remade by sea and river. Remains have been swept away by the water, or lie covered up in deep jungles or tundras."

"Indirectly, however, through archaeological and other evidence, substantial steps have been made this year towards the solution of the problem of the origin of the Eskimo and his relation to the Indian."

The anthropologist returned with more than sixty boxes of material, one of the most striking parts of the collection being nearly six hundred tools and objects in fossil ivory, belonging to a wonderfully and artistically old culture, discovered but a few years ago. Light also may be thrown on the past by a double burial in a stone-lined grave, the oldest uncovered so far along the Yukon, and similar in type to some in northeastern Asia.

"Our material," Dr. Hrdlicka said, "is rich, but only careful study will show how important. The main achievement was to save for science much that would soon have been lost for all time."

Smithsonian expeditions, while saving precious material and data from the American side of Bering sea, make more urgent an extension of the work in northeastern Asia. It is there, it is felt even more strongly, that the material and information that will clinch indications obtained on the American side."

More than 3,000 miles were travelled on the great river, famous from the days of the gold rush. The scientist, assisted by Dr. J. Malý, of the University of Prague, crisscrossed from bank to bank in search

MUMMY'S HAND CAUSES MISERY TO ITS OWNERS

(Canadian Press.)

LUXOR, Egypt, Dec. 4.—A spell of disaster that fell upon all who had in their possession a mummified hand of an ancient Egyptian queen, has been broken by the return of the hand to its tomb. Some months ago, as the story in Luxor has it, of ancient sites, more than 1,500 miles being covered in an open eighteen-foot canoe. A large majority of the surviving full-blood Indians and Eskimos, melting before civilization even as the relics of their ancestors are being destroyed by nature, were measured, observed and photographed.

"Essential records of this vanishing population," Dr. Hrdlicka said, "thus are safe."

an antique dealer came into possession of the hand. An Austrian tourist bought it as a souvenir of his visit to Egypt. Then recently the dealer received the hand by post, with a note from the purchaser pleading with him to return it to its tomb.

The hand was wrapped in a fine white silk scarf and bore rings on two fingers. The dealer entrusted the relic to an Arab, asking him to return it to the Mortuary Temple at Hatshepsut, whence it had been taken. The peasant stole the rings and buried the hand in the outskirts of the village. His brother agreed to sell the rings in Cairo. But the next day the peasant's horse died and the day following his camel died. To avoid further trouble the brothers dug up the hand and put it on the roof. But the roof fell in.

Despite these omens the brother started for Cairo to sell the rings. He sat down on the roadside to wait for his train and was found dead several hours later. The peasant then became thoroughly alarmed. He restored the rings to a dealer, swathed it again in its silken covering and returned it to its tomb. Since then his life has been pleasantly uneventful.
