Skilfull Landing Saves Three

Returning to the seaplane base at Sand Bay early last evening on a flight from Laviolette Lake, a Seabee single engine amphibious aircraft owned and operated by Iverson Harris of Harris Air Service, ran out of gas seconds before turning onto the landing approach heading down Birches Creek. Iverson was letting down from a cruising altitude of 5,500 feet, preparatory to turning down Birches creek for a Sand Bay landing, and crossed the CNR tracks at an altitude of about 2400 feet when the engine stopped. Losing height rapidly he maintained his aircraft heading towards the creek, but was below tree top level at the edge of the creek. Guiding the aircraft between two tress, Iverson put on hard left rudder in an attempt to turn down the creek. As he banked, the port wing struck the water, and cartwheeled the aircraft. It came to rest in two feet of water, and the three men in it scrambled out and waded ashore.

The two passengers were Dr. Frank Cowley and Percy Belsher of Shawville. Dr. Cowley complained of a sore back, so the other two had him lie down while Percy walked to Sand Bay for a boat. Ken McCagg's motor boat was lying up on the shore being painted. Gwen Hayes and Marion Hayes happened to be in the vicinity and helped Percy launch the boat, a very difficult operation, since the boat was large and heavy. Ken got out the motor, installed it, started it on the second pull, even though it hadn't run since last fall, and went off up the creek. He returned with Iverson and Dr. Cowley. Hayes Ambulance had been called, and took Dr. Cowley to Pontiac Community Hospital. The extent of his injuries has not yet been ascertained.

Percy Belsher was uninjured, while Iverson Harris sustained a sprained wrist.

Under normal circumstances the plane had a much more than adequate supply of gas to make the trip from Laviollette Lake. Because of very rough flying conditions near the ground, Iverson had climbed to 5500 feet so as to avoid the turbulence. Added to this was a strong head wind which may have reached 50 miles per hour at that altitude. These two factors, both unusual, used up the gas supply before the party reached Sand Bay.

The Seabie airframe, which is a total loss, was not covered by insurance.

Hundreds Hear Diefenbaker At Shawville High School

The local issue in the current election was explained in no uncertainty last Monday night at Shawville. John Diefenbaker, leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, hinted at it when he said that Canada's farmers had a right to be heard and Paul Martineau, PC candidate in Pontiac Temiscamingue, came right out with it when he said that Pontiac needed a standing voice not a sitting yes-man in Parliament..

"Is there any good reason to send a member to Parliament who won't speak out?" asked Diefenbaker. Martineau described our recent sitting Member as the "sittingest Member we've ever had."

The High School Auditorium was packed beyond its seating capacity with about five hundred people and the proceedings at this, (largest yet), rally were also broadcast through the village by loudspeakers outside the hall.

The Agender

Mrs. Henry McCord, later referred to by Diefenbaker as "Charlotte the Second", led the singing of "The Queen"; tiny Susan Dods, dressed in brown to match Mrs. Diefenbaker's dress with yellow posies in her hair, presented the charming wife of the Conservative leader with a bouquet of long stemmed roses; Warden Earl Fulford, who last week nominated the Liberal candidate and earlier Monday had presented the Diefenbakers with a half gallon of top grade maple syrup, extended a welcome from Pontiac to the guests; PC Chairman Hector Belec also welcomed John Diefenbaker, urging him to revisit Pontiac "after he had become the Prime Minister of Canada"; Wallace Fraser, PC Candidate for Renfrew North, brought greetings from across the river; Phoebe (our Charlotte) McCord enlightened any Liberals present by declaring that "The Liberals didn't make Canada, God did"; Lucien Boucher brought news of a "swing to Martineau" in Temiscamingue; Paul introduced his chief, John Diefenbaker, and stated the issues at stake as he saw them; Diefenbaker tempered his serious political address with his farm-bred common sense, the training of a lawyer and sense of humour of an independent thinking, intelligent man; Ray Johnston, whose immediate recognition and tremendous popularity through the length and breadth of Pontiac had amazed newspapermen from afar, thanked John Diefenbaker for spending such a large portion of his campaign time in Pontiac. Shawville's Mayor Lee Hodgins was master of ceremonies for the entire event.

Equity Apologizes For "Ghost" Story

The publishers of The Equity here by apologize to whatever persons may have been concerned in the article published in the issue of The Equity of March 14 on the subject of the "Shawville Ghost", and to the Dagg family in particular. It has been held that this article vilified the memory and reputation of the late George and Susan Dagg. If this is so, we retract those sections of the article from which such offence stems.

In support of the character of the late George Dagg, the following is quoted from the Associated Press report of his death:

"A very approachable man, George Dagg was known throughout this district as a charitable individual who never turned down a legitimate request for assistance. He was identified with every community service organization in Portage and his death will cause widespread regret."

Shawville Property Damaged By Fires

Fire on Tuesday of this week caused much local damage during the hot, dry spell of weather that has prevailed. On the farm of Gerald Draper, just outside Shawville, flying sparks from an almost dormant blaze in the town dump ignited a machine shed.

The building, housing farm machinery and stored lumber, was completely razed in a matter of minutes.

However, the blaze was checked at this point and further damage prevented, in spite of the fact that a high wind was fanning the flames.

Creatures All Told Number 165,042

The 1956 census of Canada reveals many interesting statistics which will be used in various ways throughout the current election campaigns. Just so nobody will put anything over on you we hereby publish the facts, the true facts and nothing but the facts concerning populations in our county. Here goes:

Pontiac contains 143 ducks, 369 geese. 1,411 turkeys, 2,902 horses, 5,105 sheep, 9,644 pigs, 20,995 people, 35,388 cattle and 89.085 hens and chickens. There now, that should settle any argument on the subject.

Landmark Lost In Flames

Village Saved From Fire By Brand New Waterworks

The bush fire in the outskirts of Portage du Fort, Que., Tuesday afternoon that destroyed two homes in its mad rush across the dry grass and bushland east of the cemetery gave the Portage Fire brigade and water protection system recently completed its first baptism in fire.

Portage du Fort's little lady Mayor, Mrs. Gordon Gibbons, is definitely the heroine of the week what with her water works and her presence of mind to direct its use in the worst fire scare Portage has had since the town was razed in 1914.

A blaze which started in the bush behind Elliott's Garage took little time in spreading itself first eastwards towards the woodlands then northwards away from the river and then, due to a shifting wind, westwards towards the village.

Two valuable summer homes belonging to Ottawans were completely burned down despite tremendous concerted efforts of hundreds of men, women and youngsters to prevent the loss. One was the Brabazon brick house which belonged to Mrs. Claude Brabizon. The other was Miss Tina White's home on the same stretch of road. Between these two houses, Pat Murdoch's house, occupied by his wife and large family of children, was saved. Some of the furniture was removed from Murdoch's in case the house should burn down but was replaced in the house for safety when sparks began to ignite the furniture.

Ironically, the Brabizon house, previously owned by the late member of Parliament Gerald Brabizon, was one of the few dwellings saved in the 1914 holocaust.

Harry Church, who bought the old town pump when the new water works went in, used this equipment to hold the fire down in the bush before it began to race up-hill towards Brabizon's. Church's activities in the early hours of the fire may be responsible for saving the lower end of the town from destruction.

The fire started about three-thirty or four as closely as anyone can estimate and took little time to develop into a furious flame with dense black smoke which could be seen and smelled as far away as Charteris.

Heroes of the day, and the night, were the volunteer firemen from every village of Pontiac who brought their equipment, trucks, reels, shovels, ladders, water tanks, buckets and willing men. As these contingents rolled into Portage they reported to Elsie (lady-Mayor) Gibbons who let them know very quickly where their particular equipment could best be used. All hydrants at the east end of the village were put into use and the pumps which brought an inexhaustible supply of water from the river stood up well in this first test of its usefulness.

Today on one can tell Mrs. Gibbons that "her waterworks" was just a whim!

Among other groups which converged upon Portage to help were the Bryson Fire Brigade under the direction of Fire Chief Amede Poisson, the Shawville Volunteer Firemen under Chief Watt Taylor, the Campbell's Bay, Calumet Island, Fort Coulonge, Otter Lake firemen, carloads and truckloads of men and boys from all areas and the fire rangers led by Frank Rouleau from Calumet Island. The rangers stayed up all night to keep the still smouldering fire from flaring up into another major blaze. Just about everyone else stayed up last night at Portage watching for flying sparks which might land and take root.

Palmers' fought a small blaze on their roof and Stevens' lost part of a stable during the night but no more serious losses have been reported.

Mutual Admiration Society

Paul Martineau, John Diefenbaker and Ray Johnston clasp hands in a three way expression of confidence during Diefenbaker's all day visit to Pontiac. The complete story of the visit appears on pages 3, 4, and 10. —Equity Photo

Acclamation For Elsie At Portage du Fort

Portage du Fort yesterday returned its Mayor to office by acclamation. Mrs. Gordon Gibbons, who has had a busy week what with meeting the Diefenbakers on Monday, fighting a fire on Tuesday and being renominated as Mayor of her town on Wednesday, went on with her busy life as usual last night to attend a bowling banquet in Renfrew with her husband and a number of other keen bowlers from the district.

Also elected by acclamation at yesterday's nomination were Howard Brinkworth to replace Alfred Farrell in seat 2, Ben Tanguay to serve another two year term in seat 1 and Germain Guidon to replace Mrs. Elizabeth Cameron in seat 3.

Elections have been held in May at Portage for over fifty years because in the old days all men would be out of town for January elections and as the women didn't have the vote there could be no election without the men. Changed days now, what with a lady mayor and all!

BICYCLE SAFETY

"Look, mom no hands" sounds saucy and cute, and any mother of a ten year old terror with a blonde crew cut and a fetching grin and incredibly dirty face, will smile fondly, hearing it, as the terror darts away on his shiny new red and white bicycle. But down the street, dappled with leaf-shadow and summer sun, death may be lying in wait for the youngster if he doesn't grasp his handlebars and get out of the way of that big truck zooming around the corner, for even for a laughing child on a bicycle, death takes no holiday.

Spring time brings the urge to be up and away, and out come the bicycles to carry the young adventurers to lake and stream, to school or play. Sometimes, out of pure joy unconfined the hopefuls, pedal madly up and down the streets or roads bells tinkling and pennants flying and darting in and out of traffic. It looks like fun and nobody except a sourpuss begrudges the kids the thrill of bike-riding, but there are certain safety rules that should be observed by the youngsters if they would rather go home, happy and hungry, to prop their bikes against the porch and go in to yell "Hi, mom, anything to eat?" than to end up as a tragic statistic.

Here briefly are a few important safety laws. They are for you, kids, and it may be tiresome, but the reason moms and dads and your friends keep reminding you of them is because they want to keep you around for a while, even though you do muddy the floors, empty the cookie rules may possibly save your life, s here goes:
rules may pssibly save your life, so here goes:

Do — Keep brakes and steering in good order.

Do — Obey all traffic laws, signals & signs.

Do — Signal your intention to stop or turn.

Do — Ride on the right hand side of the road close to the curb.

Do — Keep both hands on the handle bars except when signalling a stop.

Do — Ride with caution & courtesy.

Don't — Ride at night, except when necessary and be sure your bike is equipped with lights and you have on light coloured clothing.

Don't — Dart in and out of traffic, weave, or make sharp turns.

Don't — Hang on a truck or car or "hitch" a ride.

Don't — Ride two or more abreast

Don't — Carry any one else on the handle bars or rear hub.

Don't — Be a show-off by riding "no hands".

Just remembering these few simple rules at the right time can save you from possible death or injury, for IT CAN HAPPEN TO YOU. Play safe and enjoy the lovely spring days and the carefree summer to come.

RAIN

Down in Dallas, Texas, they fired the rainmaker a few months ago because he had produced pretty negligible results during the past years of drought. Within a week therains came with tornado and floods, and the desert blossomed and the rainmaker sat on a cactus bush to signify his penitence.

Now, we don't want anything so drastic up here, but we do need rain. A month ago, everyone looked for rain to "firm up the roads" and bring the leaves. The roads are firm and the forest "stand in such a time as goes before the leaf, when all the woods stand in a mist of green" but still there is no rain. Even the farmers, welcoming the dry weather to hasten their seeding, are beginning to scan the sky anxiously for the laden clouds, out-pouring to lay the dust and dampen the bushlands.

A rash of fires, seemingly starting up of their own volition, has plagued the district during the past week. Fanned by high, dry south west winds, the fires have done much damage, and a few more days of this weather could turn the woods into a potential tinderbox. Last year's grass in the pastures and waste land, is a wonderful conductor of fire, and a match r cigarette carelessly dropped could mean a holocaust sweeping prperty and life before it.

Well, there are all sorts of signs and countersigns concerning weather, and those versed in nature's lore say that there is a dry summer in prospect, because the sunsets are a dusky red each evening, nights are dew-laden and the ash trees have unfurled their glossy dark buds three weeks before their usual time. So put out your cigarette before you drop it in dry grass, don't set out rubbish or grass fire, and whistle for an east wind.

Anyone know a good rain-maker?

Tolhurst, Haines Delegates To Home & School Convention

Representatives from the Shawville and District Home and School Association attending the annual convention of the Quebec Federation of Home and School associations held in Montreal, on May 3 and 4, were Principal John Tolhurst and Mr. Whitmen Haines of the High School personnel.

The Federation elected its first woman president in the person of Mrs. C. E. Woolgar, who succeeded Mr. Douglas Walkington. Some 245 delegates representing 103 associations throughout Quebec were present at the two-day meeting. During conference workshops, delegates discussed citizenship, traffic safety, parent education, program planning, school education, parent education, audio-visual aids and children's art. Problems common to associations throughout the province were discussed at a forum for association executives.

The chairman of the Protestant Committee of the Council of Education, in his address to the gathering, reviewed the history of education in Quebec, and declared that "federal grants are in disagreement with our law, traditions and the religion of the majority of Quebec". He recommended a reduction in federal taxes and the return of some of taxation rights to the provinces, municipalities and school boards, as a solution to the financial problem faced by school boards.

St. Paul's Girls Go To Montreal

Not any villagers have heard young voices around St. Paul's Anglican Church on a recent Saturday morning, it wasn't an all night party. Members of the Girls' Auxiliary met there to go by CNR to take part in the Diocesan Festival in Montreal. Those making the trip with Mrs. R. G. Elliott in charge were: Gail Barr, Emily, Hazel and Lorraine Dagg, Florence Elliott, Lorraine Hobbs, Elizabeth Hodgins, Nancy Horner, Helen Horner, Rosemary Schwartz, Elaine Schwartz Sandra Turner, Mona Wilson, Mavis Wilson.

The Festival Began with a Celebration of Holy Communion in Christ Cathedral, with the Right Rev. John Dixon, Bishop of Montreal celebrating. At this service the highest honour conferred by the G.A. taking the form of honour rings, were presented by the Bishop to several girls for devoted service to the church in their respective parishes. Nancy Horner of Shawville was among those receiving rings, on recommendation of St. Paul's Women's Auxiliary.

Following the service and lunch the girls met in Anglican House where various activities of the Festival took place. One feature was a Public Speaking contest in which Elizabeth Hodgins took second place. Congratulations to Elizabeth and Nancy on receiving these honours. Elizabeth's prize was a Prayer and hymn book combined, beautifully bound in purple morocco leather. Knitting, sewing and embroidery work done by the various branches throughout the Diocese was on display, and that done by Shawville received creditable mention.

After the meeting the girls were given hospitality in several Montreal homes over Saturday evening and Sunday. Many of them were able to take in some of the many interesting sights to be seen in the big city. However the change from Eastern Standard to Daylight Saving Time during the weekend, either deprived them of one hours sleep or an hour in Montreal. Early on Monday morning the party arrived back at Bristol after a pleasant weekend, but not in very good shape to resume school in a few hours, after the Easter holidays.

Flowers For A Great Lady

Future voters of Pontiac came in for their fair share of the limelight during the Diefenbaker tour of our county on Monday. All the way from little Catherine Dolan in Quyon to Nancy Germain at Fort Coulonge and including the Martineau's two girls in Campbell's Bay, a group of teenagers who waylaid John Diefenbaker for autographs, the children at Pine Lodge, baby Douglas Patterson in Bryson, Susan Dods (above) in Shawville and a group of little girls on Calumet Island, each child who crossed their paths received a smile and a word from the Diefenbaker's.

If they don't like children they are very good actors but it is the guess of every parent who saw them Monday that both Mr. and Mrs. Diefenbaker are just the sort of people who enjoy bringing smiles to the faces of youngsters.

We are so ready to expect "big people" and their wives to be "different" that it comes as a surprise to many to discover that someone like Mrs. John Diefenbaker (above right) is not different. As one country woman who met her said, "you would expect her to turn around and bake up a batch of cookies", and likely she'd do a good job of that too, as she is doing a good job of making friends to influence people to vote Progressive Conservative on June 10.

AN OPEN LETTER TO HOUSEWIVES

Dear Madam,

We have just opened up a new shipment of chrome kitchen furniture. Now this is not so startling, as we handle many suites during a year. However in this case there is something special to talk about. In fact, we feel it is important enough to write you about it.

In order to bring you this fine selection of chrome suites, we have attended the two largest furniture conventions in Canada. We looked at a sample of practically every company's work in Canada. We chose (and we are sure you will agree we chose rightly) the best constructed and best styled sets on the market today.

We bought enough suites to be able to offer you a choice of 8 different styles and at least 75 different colour combinations. These suites are now going on our floor and the prices — well — more about that next week.

Yours truly
Dean & Merritt

Diefenbaker Meets The People - Praises Martineau

Veteran PC Voter Meets PC Chief

The first stop for the Diefenbaker motorcade was at Quyon where a crowd had gathered in front of Gavan's Hotel to greet the PC leader and his wife. Here Paul Martineau introduced everyone who showed up to the Diefenbakers. by name, which was the first surprise for the visiting party who had not yet discovered that everyone up this way seems to know everyone else and that Paul Martineau is no exception. On hand at Quyon, among others, were James Amm (above) veteran PC from away way back, Gatineau PC leader Morin, Allumette Mayor Michael Kennedy, Campbell's Bay Mayor Dave Lunam, South Onslow Mayor John McBane and of course Mayor Russel and Mrs Taber of Quyon.

Seven cars gathered at Pontiac House in Shawville at eight o'clock Monday morning for the trip to the Chateau in Ottawa where Hon John Diefenbaker, his wife and his secretary were waiting with a party of newsmen, photographers and a television crew. Practically at the back door of the Chateau, at the Hull end of the Interprovincial Bridge, this official escort was faced with "bridge closed" signs and had to circle around Hull to the Chaudiere Bridge and thence through the city of Ottawa and back to the Chateau. Despite this considerable waste of time at the outset, the heavy schedule planned for the Diefenbaker's tour through Pontiac proceeded in exceptionally good time. The seven original cars were joined at Hall 70 by an addition of about seven more cars and led throughout the county by Lindy Young and a contingent of Provincial Police with flashing red dome light and siren sounding where necessary. Driving his cadillac which carried the Diefenbakers and the Martineau's was Ed Pettapiece. Special cars were designated for the use of the various news agencies and one, driven by Goldwyn McDowell, was provided by the PC committee to be sure The Equity didn't miss anything (which it didn't).

Hilton Mine

At the Hilton Mine in Bristol, Mr. and Mrs. Diefenbaker seemed to be particularly impressed when Harry Gerber told them of the policy in effect which creates employment for Pontiac people. They had assumed that the labor force for the building of the project would be imported but were told at the mine site that this was not the case except where particular training was necessary. Mr. Gerber also told the Diefenbakers of the training program going on at the mine whereby local untrained workers were being prepared to take on more skilled jobs in the actual production process after the building program is over.

Bristol

At Pine Lodge, among a couple of hundred others on hand to see the Diefenbakers, was Willy Joe Ryan who wanted to know what kind of weather they were having out west and put the question to the PC leader.John Diefenbaker just returned from a tour of the Maritimes said, "Well. I really don't know. I haven't been out there." Then he went into the Lodge for luncheon. Lindy Quaile asked the blessing: Jack Russell and Vic Parsons provided their usual very good meal; floral arrangements were by Stonehaven Florists of Shawville; Hector Belec introduced the head table guests who were Earl Fulford, Dave Lunam, Lee Hodgins, Paul and Mrs. Martineau, John and Mrs. Diefenbaker, Mrs. Belec, Ray Johnston, Mayor and Mrs. Peter Moyle of Bristol; Lindy and Mrs. Quaile and Denzil Moodie.

It sounded terribly out of place in Bristol but for the benefit of one reporter from Le Droit and an odd couple or so from up-county Hector spoke and Denzil sang in French. Poor John Diefenbaker even felt obliged to start out in French but fortunately reverted to English to say he and his wife felt deeply grateful for the reception they had received in Pontiac. They were thrilled, he said, to have witnessed the early stages of the Hilton Iron Mine. "Ray Johnston", said Diefenbaker. "has made a magnificient contribution to this constituency and Paul Martineau is a wonderful candidate."

Mr. Diefenbaker made special mention of Paul's wife whom he termed a "helpmate who will give that kind of devotion which no public servant can do without". (Judging from Olive Diefenbaker's performance during the long strenuous day it would appear that the PC leader knew what he was talking about).

John Diefenbaker reiterated that as Ray Johnston had shown the way in Quebec, Paul Martineau, a young man distinguished by service to his country in war and in peace, would carry the voice of the Pontiac to Ottawa.

Crowning moment of the luncheon was when Earl Fulford presented the Diefenbakers with some of the finest syrup produced in Pontiac, straight from his own bush in Starks Corners. Diefenbaker later said he would be taking some of it straight to Saskatoon where his mother is in hospital. Far from her native "sugarbush" country, the elder Mrs. Diefenbaker would bless Earl Fulford and Pontiac for such a welcome gift. A short chat with old friends, the Corrigals, ended the Diefenbaker visit to Pine Lodge, and Bristol.

Shawville

A brief stop at Main and Center Streets in Shawville was arranged so John Diefenbaker could shake hands with Jack Argue and others gathered to greet him. Both Mr. and Mrs. Diefenbaker were rushed in to say hello to Mrs. Riley and Gertie. Both Mr. and Mrs. Diefenbaker were obviously awed by the tremendous age of Shawville's (and indeed Canada's) oldest lady. Gertie introduced them as "the next Prime Minister and his wife" to her mother and though Mrs. Riley didn't seem to be responding too much at the time we all know that she'll be talking about that visit for years to come.

Mr. Diefenbaker was introduced to, among others, Ed Cowan. It was then that Diefenbaker just couldn't keep quiet about the Pontiac accent any more and wanted to know if we folks could notice it as being distinctive, even among other Ottawa Valley accents. Somebody answered that it was more noticeable to Pontiac people when they were away from it, which just about sums it up, but the Diefenbakers had heard nothing yet and were in store for some real Pontiac talk as their party started on its way towards Coulonge.

Fort Coulonge

At Fort Coulonge about three hundred people had gathered from Waltham, Davidson and other parts surrounding but many had returned home by the time the Diefenbaker party arrived an hour late. There were still a good number of faithfuls on hand at the

"Foundations of democracy"

A change in the schedule which had somehow not been understood by the people of Calumet Island meant that the first tour of that particularly beautiful though very dusty part of Pontiac was merely a sight seeing one with nary a hand to shake. Everyone, seemingly, was home dressing up to be out at 6.30 for the Diefenbaker visit so at 5 o'clock the whole place looked uninhabited.

The motorcade returned to Saunders Motel where the Diefenbakers were given the only half hour by themselvs of the whole day. It was rumored that the politician was organizing his speech for the evening rally but it leaked out later that he actually slept soundly for that entire half hour while his wife warded off interruptions and answered all questions of committeemen and others. The reporters, meanwhile, were provided with refreshment at Forest Inn to revive them for another dusty ride to the island.

The second time round the Diefenbakers were met at the Calumet Parish Hall by Mayor Omer Dufault and a gathering of people. They stood on the steps of the hall under the clear blue sky and told the people that the foundations of democracy depended upon such meetings as these. Then Paul (speaking above) brought out his French, where it was really needed and told the Calumet Islanders what he thought of John Diefenbaker and the PC party and that he was willing to do everything in his power for them if they chose to send him to Ottawa on their behalf. (Left to right are Martineau, Dufault, Diefenbaker, with Mrs. Martineau and Mrs. Diefenbaker in front).

Among those shaking hands with Diefenbaker on the Island were noticed Mrs. Roy Last and 21 year old Gilles Lemair who will cast his first vote on June 10.

Mrs .Hurst Hodgins stayed a few days last week in town with her sister, Mrs. J. E. Horner who has been suffering from a heart attack.

Easter holiday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B.. Kilgour were Mr. and Mrs. Terry Brady and family, Bath, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Newcomme, of Wakefield, Que.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Tracy motored to Perth, Ont., last Sunday to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Dean. Mr. Dean, we are very sorry to hear, is on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell True accompanied by Rev. I. Currie-Mills, Russell Currie-Mills and son Paul spent the Easter week at the Gaspe coast with Mrs. Russell Currie-Mills who is on the teaching staff there. Mr. Currie-Mills tells us they had very cold weather and still plenty of snow and snow drifts down there.

Mr. Luneburg (minister Yarm) has been able to come home from Ottawa Hospital, after suffering from a brain concussion, received when he fell on the ice some time ago. Mr. Luneburg left last Friday, accompanied by his son Rodney, for Niagara to recuperate at the home of his daughter. We are hoping a few weeks absolute quiet and where he can't see anything to do, will do him good and that he will come home again much improved in health.

Mr .and Mrs. Heman Woolsey and family, Ottawa, visited at the home of Mrs. Almond Hodgins on Sunday.

The sympathy of the Yarm community goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Delbourne Palmer and family. Mr. Palmer's mother was laid to rest on Saturday. Only a Yarm resident for the last few months Mrs. Palmer has been a well known and highly respected resident of the surrounding Community all her life.

Advice to motorists—If you come to the cross roads at Yarm and have occasion to turn to Bristol Ridge don't stop and consider going back. You're not lost. It is Yarm although it sure doesn't look much like Yarm since they have cut down the pines in front of the church and old school now the WA Hall, in order to let the power lines go through on that line.

Summer is coming, the campers are coming to Green Lake:- Mr. and Mrs. P. O'Donnell are now occupying Ebert Richardson's cottage and Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Edmunds have returned to their cottage for the summer months.

Three Main Speakers

Mrs. McCord was up to her usual form, causing much amusement with her oratory which has spiced every election since Lee Hodgins "discovered" her in 1948. Paul, no newcomer either to political platforms, though speaking for the first time on his own behalf gave a sample of what could be expected of him once elected to Parliament.

But it was John Diefenbaker's message which had attracted the unusually large audience on this particular occasion. His main points, leaving out the frills and extras, were as follows:

First he thanked the committee in charge for having provided him with a very wonderful day during which he was able to see as much of Pontiac and its people as was humanly possible. Second he paid tribute to the opening speaker and her splendid grasp of the total situation in Ottawa today and what should be done about it. His third important allusion to the local scene was when he said "You know what you achieved when you sent Ray to Quebec. Now see what you will achieve when you send Paul to Ottawa."

Diefenbaker exposed the three points of the agricultural platform upon which the Progressive Conservative party stands as floor prices, restoration of markets and an investigation into the spread between what the farmer gets and what the consumer pays for produce.

The floor prices for agricultural prices would be based on the cost of production in terms of the value of the dollar today. Mr. Diefenbaker referred to a copy of Hansard, the official record of parliament, to show that every Liberal member had voted against this suggestion in the dying days of the last session. Exorcising all ghost stories about the early thirties Diefenbaker said that except for a period of one year and two months when they were 5% lower, farm prices in terms of purchasing power are lower today than they ever were in the 1930's.

To restore markets for Canadian agricultural products, Diefenbaker said the Progressive Conservatives urge the necessity of a British Commonwealth Trade Conference and the arrangement of Canadian border duties to suit Canadian producers, not for the convenience of the United States exporters.

Regarding the investigation of the price spread between that received by the primary producer and that paid by the consumer, Mr. Diefenbaker said it was not merely a matter of cutting out the middlemen because neither the wholesaler's commission nor the th retailer's mark up acco[illegible] for the spread.

Hon John Diefenbaker also explained the Progressive Conservative planks concerning national development. He said what Canadians required was first a vision of greatness and then a share in the results. The vision encompassed full development of Canada's natural resources and the sharing included a wider participation for Canadians in the financial gains.

"Today I see in the faces across Canada a new spirit which places country above party" said Diefenbaker. Other quotable quotes from his Shawville speech were "If farmers of this constituency want to be protected against conditions beyond their control they will vote for Paul Martineau on June 10" and "You don't bring about the public good by electing a party for so many years that you almost prove the meaning of eternity."

Diefenbaker's main theme throughout was the right of the people to be heard in their government and the fact that if Pontiac sends Paul Martineau to Parliament he will speak there "as you would speak for yourself."

John Wesley Movie Coming To High School

The new motion picture "JOHN WESLEY" is coming to Shawville. It will be shown in the High School Auditorium on Friday, May 17th, at 8:30 p.m.

The feature — length film is in the new Eastman colour and was produced by the Radio and Film Commission of the Methodist Church (United States) in co-operation with J. Arthur Rank.

It brings to the screen for the first time the dynamic and colorful 18th century evangelist and educator.

John Wesley's miraculous rescue from a burning house at the age of five, at the beginning of the film, forecasts the dramatic and eventful life which unfolds in this story of a man of slight stature yet of lasting influence upon his contemporaries and upon history.

The English clergyman whose work he ventured to record as a missionary to the Indians in the Georgia colony was a failure, but it was the kind of failure which opened the door to the discovery of a religious certainty he had been seeking.

Subsequently, this discovery, in which John Wesley felt his heart strangely warmed, led him to face mobs unafraid and to ride 250,000 miles on horseback, changing the masses of English people from a low state of moral degradation to sturdy and happy uprightness.

His "enthusiasm" was frowned upon by leaders of the Church of that day, but it was this new-found enthusiasm which enabled him to influence so many phases of the life of English speaking peoples.

His appeal to the common man, his establishment of schools, clinics, lay preaching and societies, finally his sending of supervisors for the movement in the new world, after the American Revolution, all these make the film one which will be long remembered.

The film is sponsored in Shawville by the Home and School Association to raise money to buy equipment fr the new kindergarten due to open in September.

Why in the name of common sense donesn't Hull put a sign at the Chaudiere Bridge entrance to announce whether or not the Interprovincial Bridge is usable? As it is you don't know until you turn down towards the old Inter and are in for a wasted half hour, at least if it happens to be closed.

Radford Native Dies Aged Ninety Four

A resident of Massey and district for almost 60 years, Mrs. Ella Knox died at the home of her daughter Winnie (Mrs. Roy Monahan) on April 6th after a lingering illness, due to old age.

Born on August 3rd, 1863 at Radford, near Shawville, Mrs. Knox was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Horner. About 70 years ago she was married to John Knox of Shawville who predeceased her in 1941.

Just before the turn of the century the couple came to Massey and settled on a farm south of the Spanish River, but later moved to Massey, the better to provide schooling for a growing family. The couple were blessed with five children, two sons and three daughters. One son William was killed in the First World War and Herman, who died several months ago.

Surviving are (Keitha) Mrs. John Campbell of Espanola (Winnie) Mrs. Roy Monahan and (Inda) Mrs. Hugh Cummings of Massey; 12 grand children and 20 great-grand children.

Mrs. Knox was a staunch adherent of the United Church and was for many years an active member of the Women's Association.

The largely attended funeral was held on April 9th from McNally's Funeral Home to the United Church in Massey, Rev. Allen Scott officiated.

Pall-bearers were grand sons of the deceased, John Monahan, Pat Campbell, Boyd Campbell, Paul Cologne, Hal Cummings, and Frank Campbell.

The hundreds of friends who called to pay their respects and the scores of beautiful floral tributes were silent but eloquent testimony to the memory of a loving mother and a kind and helpful friend and neighbor, who will long be remembered by young and old alike.

My Window on The World

by The Rev. E. Rex Taylor

You feel a failure, do you? You've started to compromise with life and yourself because the ambitions you had a few years ago are so much dead ash now? You feel you'll never be anything more than what you are now? Too bad. Because you're wrong.

Your possibilities are as big as the tasks that confront you and in fact are even bigger than the tasks. The only negative sign in God's arithmetic is when He takes away sin. Everything else is a glorious plus. He says that it is possible for us to be more than conquerors. What does that mean if He does not intend us to have lots of strength left over after the struggle to go on to tackle something else and win that too and so go on through this life and [illegible] higher higher. Each triumph but a stepping stone to an even greater one. My, who wouldn't be a christian with that glorious prospect!

The size of any task or problem is no justification for retreating. To hesitate is to tell God He doesn't know what He is doing in ordering your life the way He has. He has imposed a burden but hasn't supplied the strength He's set us an assignment but witheld the tools.

Now the simplest person who reads the Bible knows that that is emphatically not the size of things a all. "My strength is made perfect in weakness." "I can do all things through Christ who strengtheneth me." "All things are possible to him that believeth." If you want any more texts just let me know. The Good Book is full of them.

The committed christian sticks at nothing. The impossible becomes incandescent with a light of blessed assurance. Roads through difficult places? Yes. Highways in the desert? Of course! Mighty to the pulling down of strongholds? Why not? If God's power is geared to the project. The church is not there to do what any other institution can do. Remember that when you are mapping out your church programmes in the Fall. The Church is there to do what nobody else and nothing else can do. She stands there to do the imposible.

But that can only be through a vital faith in Christ. A living faith is patently drawing on the life of Christ and making Him walk the waters, not of Gennesaret but Norway Bay. We draw on this termendous power in daily prayer; nourish it with frequent Bible reading fellowship with all God's children and endeavering to live as Christ would live if He were placed in our circumstances; in doing good to those we like-and more important to those we don't like and who don't like us. You see a Christian is a doer of the word and not merely a hearer. That's why for him the valleys of this life are exalted and the mountains and hills are made low.

More than conquerors? Aye through Him who loved us.

All things possible? Yes indeed to him that believeth.

Cartier

copper and Canada

As Jacques Cartier sailed into the welcome, quiet waters of Baie des Chaleurs in 1534, he and his men caught their first sight of Indians on the shore . . . and their hands involuntarily clasped the copper-gilted weapons at their sides.

The gesture was symbolic, though they knew it not. For some 420 years later, amid the vast virgin forest, was to rise the Gaspe copper smelter . . . a new source of work and wealth for Canadians.

A merry moment at Bryson was meeting young Mrs. Jack Patterson and her one year old son, (above). Bryson brought other good things to the party including a beautiful hot turkey dinner by candlelight at Saunders'. Father Thomas Tate said the grace and also spoke brief words of encouragement to the Diefenbakers. Mrs. Diefenbaker then popped up to thank her hosts and her charming hostess, Mrs. Martineau. Mrs. Diefenbaker also commended the "girls in white who served the meal" and the beautiful Pontiac weather which had given "John a sun tan—just what he needs". After dinner, the group lost no time in driving down to Shawville where over five hundred people were waiting for them in the High School Auditorium. This was supposed to be the high point of the whole day but may well have been anti-climactic after a day outdoors in beautiful Pontiac. They may long remember the magnificent High School Auditorium with its hundreds of well-wishers thronging the halls after the meeting and the smooth-running meeting which included Diefenbaker's important speech of the day, but neither will they ever forget the green hills around Vinton, Pontiac's fine highway (as far as it goes), nor the playground village of Norway Bay.

Conservative Leader And Wife On One Day Tour Of Pontiac

Poupore schoolhouse. Meeting John Romain, John Diefenbaker made his very astute remark that "if all we John's could just stick together, now, wouldn't we go places!"

Campbell's Bay

Campbell's Bay, though decorated with Liberal banners and despite the dominance of the Liberal Party Headquarters, was Diefbaker's town on Monday. The teenagers pulled "a Presley" on the Honorable John and demanded autographs. Some of the other members of the party dodged into the hotel for a cool drink and Diefenbaker stood outside sipping orange crush with the youngsters. Paul Martineau's two girls were introduced to the Diefenbakers. Dominic Sloan was persuaded to pose for a picture of "our Sheriff welcoming the VIP" and the cars were reloaded for the first trek to Calumet Island.

Goldfish Thrive

Lately, there has been some speculation about a school of goldfish which can be seen swimming gaily around in a quarry on the property of Harry Church near Portage du Fort.

On a sunny day, the water sparkles like gold dust from the effect of the tiny fish swimming below the surface.

About five years ago John L. Forgie of Renfrew put a few goldfish into the water at the quarry and oddly enough, they were able to find plenty of food and they spent their winters deep in the water below the ice surface. Since then, too, they have multiplied to such an extent that there is a whole school of them, now swimming through the quarry, causing curious and amazed looks from any passer-by, who catches a glimpse of them.

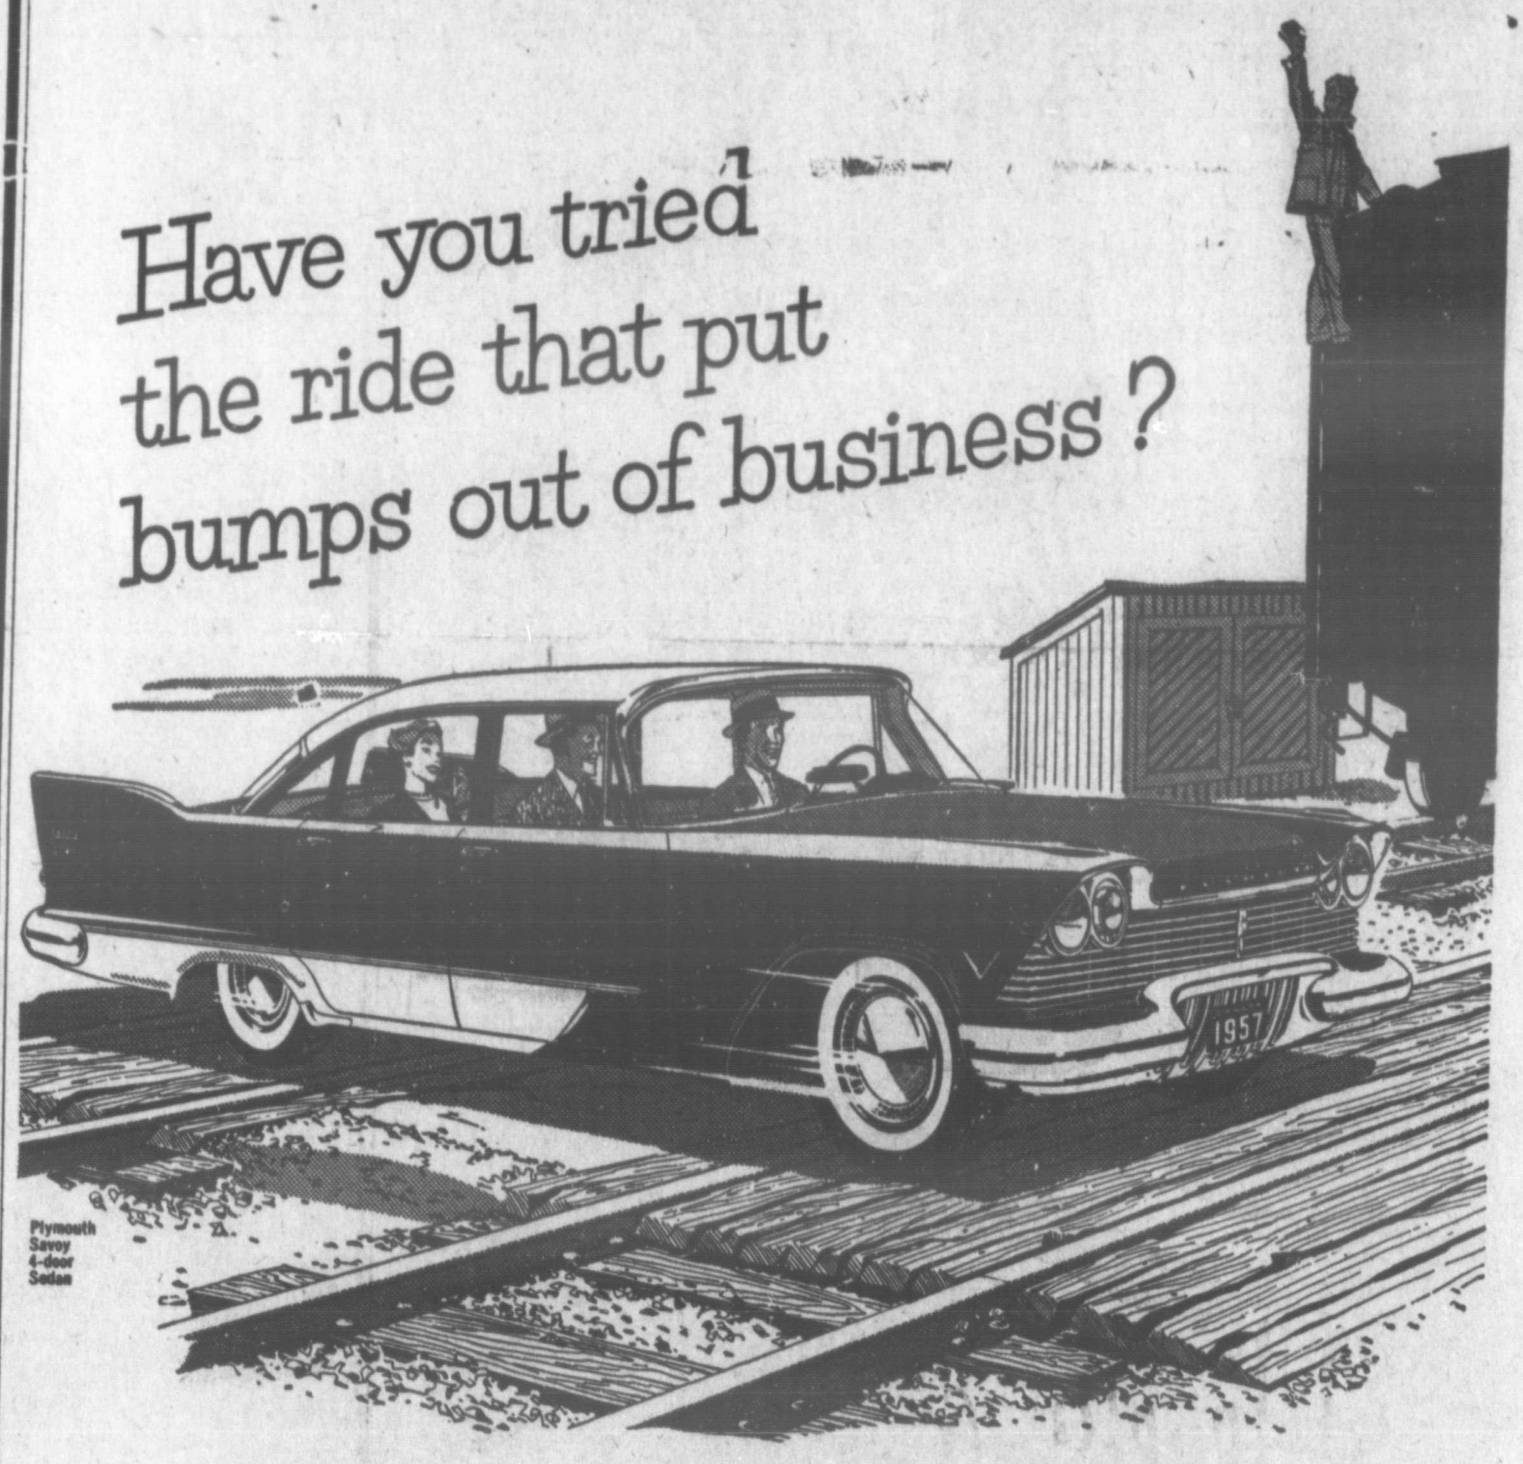
Have you tried the ride that put bumps out of business?



Even if you can only spare a few minutes out of a busy day, take a demonstration ride in a new Plymouth with Torsion-Aire suspension

It's downright wonderful . . . what a difference it makes when you get out of the ordinary and into a new Thrill-Power Plymouth with Torsion-Aire suspension.

Just take a beautiful Plymouth a few miles down one of those old bumpety-bump side roads and you'll see what we mean. It is an entirely new ride experience, because of Plymouth's remarkable Torsion-Aire suspension. It's like coasting along on a thick, velvety carpet.

And your turning and braking feel entirely different, too. For Plymouth's Torsion-Aire suspension keeps it from "heeling over" when you round a corner . . . and keeps the nose of the car from "diving" when you stop.

But why not get the rest of the story while you're flashing along in the lowest, sleekest Plymouth ever built? You'll love it—every bit of it.

Just dial for a demonstration in a new Thrill-Power Plymouth!

Neil Drummond Conducting Pontiac Seed Drill Survey

What kind of seed is the farmer in Pontiac sowing this year? The Quebec Department of Agriculture aims to find out. and is completing a seed drill survey in the counties of Gatineau, Hull, Papineau, Labelle and Pontiac.

Our local agronomist, Mr. Neil Drummond has been scouring the country collecting samples of seed grain to be sent to the laboratory of the Plant Products Division for analysis. Mr. Drummond's office reports a large and representative number of farmers visited throughout the district. The seed sent away will be analyzed for quality of seed and number of weed seeds.

The farmers co-operating with the agronomist in this venture will receive a report. with a compilation of results showing the quality of seeds generally used in this region. The result will be used for statistical purposes by the Department of Agriculture in the province.

St. Andrews WMS

The May meeting of St. Andrew's WMS was held at the home of Mrs. Wilmer Graham, with the president, Miss Sarah Campbell conducting the opening hymn, "Jesus stand among us". Roll call was answered by 10. There were 18 sick visits. Last minutes read and adopted. A discussion on same and to make preparations for sectional meeting. Mrs. M. Stewart, Mrs. C. Russell and Mrs. S. S. McNeil were the committee appointed to make out lists for each one as to what food was to be served that day. Treasurer's report was given an daccepted. The quilt had been sold and money turned into treasurer. The offering was received. The balance of the meeting was a memorial service for the late Mrs. W. J. Murray and Mrs .Arthur. Hymn, "I am thine O Lord" was sung and the first part of the 10th chapter of John read, with all repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison.

Mrs. C. Russell and Mrs. K. Hale sang very effectively "In the Garden". Two minutes silence was observed at this time.

Miss Campbell gave a very touching address on the lives that had been lived and what it means to live a Christian life and die in the full assurance of trusting in our God. Another hymn was sung. Mrs. (Rev.) Rex Taylor closed the meeting with prayer.

Tea was served by the hostess and a pleasant hour spent.

AFTER THE START KEEP 'EM GROWING with SHUR-GAIN SUPER GROWING MASH

During the first six weeks, a fast start for your pullet flock using a top-quality feed like SHUR-GAIN Super Chick Starter is most important. But it's just as important to maintain that early growth and development so your birds will reach the laying stage well developed and ready to stand up under months of heavy production.

SHUR-GAIN SUPER GROWING MASH designed to be fed with scratch grains is a "high efficiency" ration that promotes sound growth and development. And because it's extra fortified with vital feed nutrients, you can produce maximum growth on less total feed compared to ordinary growing feeds.
