Money Rules THE WORLD.

Without committing ourselves to an opinion on this point, it will be safe to affirm that money is a very good thing; that it procures many advantages and pleasures, and that the want of it is usually regretted.

NO MORE DELAY.
McKinley Will Intervene on Hamaire Grounds.
Washington, March 24.—The feeling was universal throughout official circles yesterday that the culmination of the Spanish crisis was near at hand. With the report of the Maine court of enquiry only a little while off, with the White House the centre of long and earnest conferences between the President and the party leaders of Congress and with exceptional activity towards emergency preparations in the War and Navy Department, there was abundance of evidence that definite results regarding the Maine disaster and the Cuban question in general were about to be reached.

Secretary Long said that the Maine report probably would reach Washington tomorrow night. If, however, it did not come before 8 o'clock Thursday evening, Mr. Long said he probably would not receive it until Friday morning, when it would be laid before the President immediately.

There had been no change in the plan of sending the report to Congress early next week, probably Monday, accompanied by a message from the President. It is definitely settled, however, that the message and the papers accompanying it will relate exclusively to the Maine disaster. It will not take up the fearful condition of affairs in Cuba as shown by the reports of United States consuls, these being reserved for subsequent action and a later message to Congress.

The prevailing impression among Republican leaders of the House is that the President will intervene in Cuba on Hamaire grounds, but it is positively stated by one of them who is close to the President that the intervention will not come until after the report of the board of enquiry on the Maine disaster goes to Congress.

CHINESE SITUATION.
Russia May Seize Port Arthur.
London, March 24.—The Nagasaki correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "China, it is reported, refuses to accept Russia's pledge that the occupation of Port Arthur will not be permanent unless the document is countersigned by France and Germany, but it is believed that if she does not accede to the Russian demands before Saturday next Russia intends to seize Port Arthur and Talien Wan, and to hoist the Russian flag there."

London, March 24.—According to a special despatch from Shanghai, M. Kuril Alexieff, the Russian representative in the Korean customs office, and his entourage, disgusted over their failure in Korea, have been transferred to Port Arthur.

Pekin, March 23.—During the last few days the constant consultations between the Emperor and the high officials of state have shown that China is finally alive to her serious situation. One night the emperor actually decided to resist Russia by force of arms; but lack of money and the counsels of Li Hung Chang prevailed upon him to stop.

Nevertheless the eyes of the Tsung Li Yamen (Chinese Foreign Office) have been opened to the full extent as to the value of Russia's promises of friendship, and during the recent discussion the Emperor exclaimed: "Why did I accede to the opening of the Ta Lien Wan when England proposed it?" Germany is beginning to experience some difficulty in the province of Shan Tung, where the natives declare that in spite of the Emperor's proclamation, they will oppose with violence the construction of the projected railway.

A PRINCESS ELOPES.
A Sensation Which is the Talk of European Capitals.
London, March 24.—The Vienna correspondent of the Daily News says: "The sudden departure from the Riviera of Princess Louise of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, eldest daughter of King Leopold of Belgium and wife of Prince Philip of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, with the simultaneous disappearance of Lieut. Matuchich-Keglevitch (with whom Prince Philip recently fought a duel) is now developing in such a manner that it is impossible to maintain the original resolution to preserve secrecy."

At Coburg Palace, the whereabouts of the Princess are absolutely unknown. She had money addressed to her butler at Monte Carlo for her, and it is assumed that she is now in Paris. Steps have been taken at Gotha, by order of the reigning Duke, whose consent was necessary to obtain a judicial separation. By the Emperor's express wish the proceedings will not occur in Vienna. At the same time it will be sought to place the Princess under guardianship as a spendthrift. Prince Philip's advertisement in Paris that he would not be responsible for his wife's debts was just in time to prevent her raising a loan on the security of her jewels.

Another curious feature of the case was an attempt made to suppress the advertisement, through the telephone, by the unwarranted use of the name of the secretary of the Austrian embassy, Count Berchtold."

A Convent Burned.
Radnor Forges, Que., March 4.—A fire at St. Maurice village, Champlain county, this morning, is reported to have completely consumed two houses and the St. Maurice convent. The house, where the fire broke out, was occupied by Mr. Gailloux, tailor. It spread to the other buildings, occupied by Mr. Carrigan, butcher, and then spread rapidly to the convent. The amount of damage done is unknown at present.

COMPTON COUNTY NEWS
MURDER MYSTERY HAS BEEN CLEARED UP.
Annie Martin Was Not Done to Death Near Eganville.
Pembroke, March 23.—Eganville, Ontario, and the surrounding country, have been in a state of excitement over the disappearance of Miss Annie Martin, daughter of Mr. Christopher Martin of the township of Wilberforce, residing three miles from Eganville. She disappeared a few days ago, and the conclusion was at once arrived at that the young lady had been with foul play. Mr. J. H. Metcalfe, County Crown Attorney of Pembroke, was telephoned to put the machinery of the law in motion. On Saturday Constable Mitchell of Pembroke, visited Martin's house. He investigated thoroughly into the mysterious disappearance of the girl, and on Sunday with a large number of young men hunted the woods, creeks, lakes, and wells, but could find no trace of her. It was reported that the constable found a house belonging to the girl covered with blood.

The girl went to Pembroke on Wednesday, where she bought a ticket for North Bay, visiting her uncle, John Martin.

ANGELS' POCKETS.
An Amusing Story About Spurgeon and One of His Critics.
"There was an amusing incident in my early Waterbury ministry which I have never forgotten. One day a gentleman, who was then mayor of Cambridge, and who had more than once tried to correct my youthful mistakes, asked me if I really had told my congregation that if a thief got into heaven he would begin picking the angels' pockets. "Yes, sir," I replied, "I told them that if it were possible for an ungodly man to go to heaven without having his nature changed he would be none the better for being there, and then, by way of illustration, I said that were a thief to get in among the glorified, he would remain a thief, still, and he would go round the place picking the angels' pockets." "But, my dear young friend," asked Mr. Brimley, very seriously, "don't you know that the angels haven't any pockets?" "No, sir," I replied, "with equal gravity, I did not know that, but I am glad to be assured of the fact from a gentleman who does know. I will take care to put it all right the first opportunity I get."

The following Monday morning I walked into Mr. Brimley's shop and said to him, "I set that matter right yesterday, sir." "What matter?" he inquired. "Why, about the angels' pockets. What do you say?" he asked in a tone almost of despair, at which he might have pined. "Oh, sir, I just told the people I was sorry to say that I had made a mistake the last time I preached to them, but that I had met a gentleman, the mayor of Cambridge, who had assured me that the angels had no pockets, so I had corrected what I had said." "I did not want anybody to go away with a false notion about heaven. I would therefore say that if a thief got among the angels without having his nature changed, he would try to steal the feathers out of their wings." "Surely you did not say that," said Mr. Brimley. "I did, though," I replied. "Then," he exclaimed, "I'll never try to set you right again, which was just exactly what I wanted him to say."—Spurgeon's "Autobiography."

Rev. George Stafford is away on a lecturing tour in the interests of the R. T. of T. He is now in Huntingdon district.

METHODIST CHURCH.
The General Conference to be Asked to Approve of Permanent Pastors.
Toronto, March 24.—Rev. Dr. Carman, general superintendent of the Methodist Church, and Rev. Dr. Potts, left today for Ottawa to interview the Government regarding the plebiscite. They are delegates from the General Conference Committee, and are instructed to advocate the submission of the straight single question. A prominent official of the Methodist General Conference is authority for the statement that the coming meeting of that body will be asked to legalize permanent pastors.

DR. LEFFELD TAKEN AWAY TO INVERNESS.
Quebec, March 14.—Dr. Leffeld, dentist of Inverness, who recently fell down stairs at the Victoria Hotel, and was removed in the ambulance to the Hotel Dieu, where he was since stricken with paralysis, is not expected to live till the end of the week. On Tuesday evening his sister and his niece arrived in town. Seeing that there was no hope for the unfortunate man's recovery, it was decided to take him home. Last evening he was taken over to Lewis and put aboard the train.

SUNDAY NEWSPAPER BILL.
It Is Killed in Committee.
Ottawa, March 24.—Mr. Charlton's bill to prohibit the publication and sale of Sunday newspapers is tonight numbered among the slain. Advantage was taken of the rules of the House to terminate the existence of the measure in committee. The author of the bill is at liberty to move its reinstatement on the order paper, but at this period of the session it is hardly likely that the measure would pass beyond the initial stages even were it reintroduced.

Those answering advertisements in this paper, will serve the interests of all concerned by mentioning that they saw the same in the SHERBROOKE DAILY RECORD.

AN OLD FIDDLE.
Most every person knows that an old fiddle, even of two hundred years, having good care, is worth more than one green from the factory. It is not so, however, with leather goods, although it is true that some leather gains strength in time by proper keeping.

This seems to be understood by Morency Bros., for they have certain lines which they have on hand seasoning for twelve months before a single pair is sold. These lines are in the heavier grades of working shoes, such as Doys' Ironclads, Workingman's Friend, C.P.R. for boys and the well-liked Allen Line for machinists, also Children's strong every day boots. When shoes leave the factory they are moist, the cutters wet and soft, the inside damp, in fact the whole shoe is, so to say, in a raw or green state, and when so cannot wear long. Englishmen at home have from 3 to 5 pairs of shoes on hand, some are 20 years old. The leather is seasoned and preserved and they wear them alternately.
