THE KING DOING WELL.

Latest News is of a Most Encouraging Nature.

PHYSICIANS SPENT PART OF THE DAY AWAY FROM HIS BEDSIDE.

London, June 26.—At 4.30 p.m. it was said at the Palace that the King continued to make remarkable progress.

At five o'clock this afternoon, a representative of the Associated Press was informed at Buckingham Palace that not one of the chief doctors was in attendance on the King, and that they were not expected back till six. From the foregoing it is evident that the King's condition continues most satisfactory. Large and happy crowds surround the palace.

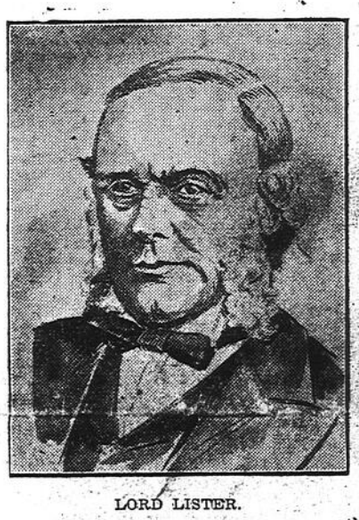

Sir Francis Henry Laking, physician-in-ordinary to the King, who has been unremitting in his attendance on His Majesty since the operation, also left the palace for a short time this afternoon. This was regarded as another favorable sign.

London, June 26.—The following bulletin was posted at Buckingham Palace at 6.15 p.m.:

His Majesty passed a good day and has taken nourishment well. He is less weak and his temperature is now normal

PRAYERS FOR THE KING

IMPRESSIVE SERVICE AT ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL.

London, June 26.—At the hour when the King should have been crowned a great and distinguished gathering, almost identical with that which would have sat in Westminster Abbey, gathered in St. Paul's Cathedral. The approaches to the cathedral were lined by silent throngs, through which drove peers and peeresses, colonial premiers, foreign envoys, ambassadors and members of the House of Commons, all in sombre clothes. In the chancel were several of the leading members of the nobility, and Messrs. Joseph Choate, United States Ambassador to London; Whitelaw Reid, the special ambassador of the United States to the coronation; J. Pierpont Morgan, jr. In the nave about a thousand of the Westminster Abbey ticket holders, mainly women, were seated.

Shortly before noon the big western doors were swung open, sunlight streamed in, and the Duke of Cambridge leaning heavily on the arm of an equerry, walked to the chancel.

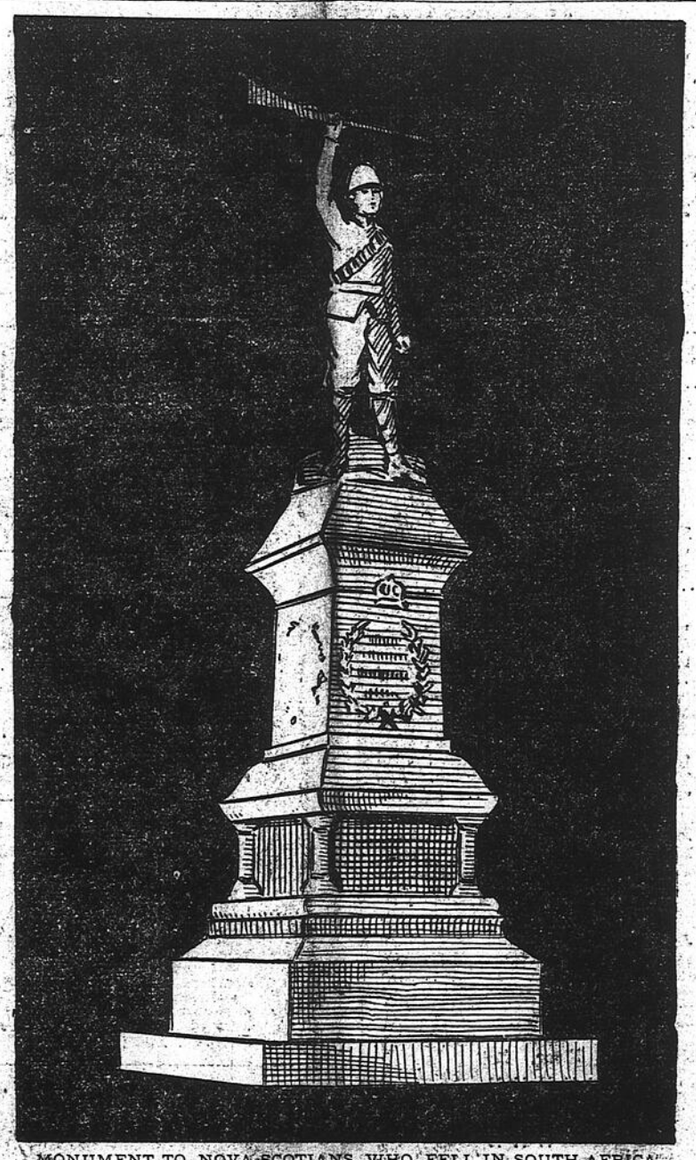

As twelve o'clock struck there arose from the far end of the nave the clear notes of the opening sentences of the litany, chanted by four of the cathedral clergy. Their tones were in such unison that they seemed to emanate from one powerful voice. The choir took up the responses. At each supplication the procession, headed by the cross, advanced a few steps and then stood still until the response was completed. Through the kneeling congregation the choir advanced to the chancel steps. A score of the clergy followed, and behind them were ten bishops in gorgeous robes. Then came the Archbishop of York, the Most Rev. William Dalrymple Maclagan, the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Most Rev. Frederick Temple, and the Lord Mayor, Sir Joseph C. Dimsdale, the corporation, in full state, bringing up the rear.

With evident feeling the choir sang the three psalms of intercession, after which the Bishop of Stepney, the Right Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang, read the lesson, Isaiah, chapter xxxviii., verse 10: 'I said in the cutting off of my days. I shall go to the gates of the grave, I am deprived of the residue of my years.' The Bishop of London, the Right Rev. Arthur F. W. Ingram, from the altar steps read the prayers: 'O Lord, save the King,' rang out to the furthest recess of the dome and brought a wholesouled response from the choir and the congregation.

The anthem and the singing of the hymn: 'Thine arm, O Lord, in days of old was strong to heal and save,' and Psalm 51 concluded the short service, whereupon the Bishop of London, surrounded by the archbishops and bishops, from the altar steps impressively pronounced the benediction.

For a few moments complete silence reigned and all heads were bowed in prayer, after which the almost blind Archbishop of Canterbury was carefully led down the steps, the procession reformed and the congregation went out into the sunlight, gladly discussing the wording of the latest bulletin from Buckingham Palace. Simultaneously a similar service was conducted at St. Margaret's Church, Westminster. It was largely attended by cabinet ministers, peers and members of the House of Commons, and concluded with singing 'God Save the King.'

From India, Australia and Africa, everywhere where Britons congregated, telegrams announce the holding of impressive, supplicatory services.

MONUMENT TO NOVA SCOTIANS WHO FELL IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Halifax, N.S., June 26.—The first monument in the British Empire in honor of the soldiers who fell in the South African war of 1899-1902 was unveiled at Halifax to-day by Governor Jones. It cost ten thousand dollars. The fund was started and the money collected by the Halifax 'Herald.' The monument was designed by Mr. Hamilton McCarthy, Ottawa, and the bronze statue cast in New York. It is a magnificent piece of work, representing a Canadian khaki-clad soldier signalling 'Enemy in sight.' The statue is twelve feet high, standing on a granite pedestal fourteen feet high. The names of the twenty Nova Scotia soldiers who died in the war, six officers and fourteen privates, are cut into the granite. The monument stands in the Province Building square and is the finest piece of workmanship in Canada. The Imperial troops, the militia and contingents from the warships, General Sir Charles Parsons, Admiral Sir Frederick Bedford, and a tremendous concourse of people witnessed the unveiling.

Among the callers at Buckingham Palace to-day, were the Prince and Princess of Wales, Prince Henry of Prussia, the Duke of Cambridge, most of the special ambassadors still in London and many of the diplomats.

The exodus of foreign representatives proceeds apace. Field Marshal Count von Waldersee left London this morning, as did the Prince of Monaco, the Prince of Montenegro and the Dutch mission.

THE COLONIAL TROOPS

THEY WILL BE REVIEWED BY THE PRINCE OF WALES BEFORE RETURNING.

London, June 26.—Field Marshal H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught, accompanied by Earl Roberts, field marshal, commander-in-chief, inspected the colonial contingents at the Alexandra Palace yesterday. Lord Roberts was specially interested in the Canadians and addressed them. All the officers were presented to the Duke of Connaught. All leave for colonial troops has been stopped, pending further orders.

It was practically decided this afternoon that the Prince of Wales will review the colonial troops, probably next week. They will then return to their respective countries.

A CHILDREN'S DINNER.

The arrangements for the Marlborough House entertainment of children were carried out to-day in spite of the postponement of the King's coronation.

About one thousand three hundred youngsters enjoyed the dinner provided for them by the Prince and Princess of Wales, who were present and remained in the gardens with their little guests for a couple of hours.

Replying this morning to a telegram of sympathy from a body of Aberdonians, General Sir Dighton Probyn, keeper of the Privy Purse, telegraphed as follows: —'The loyal and kind telegram of your association shall be submitted to the King on His Majesty's recovery, which, thank God, we may, I think, now look forward to.'

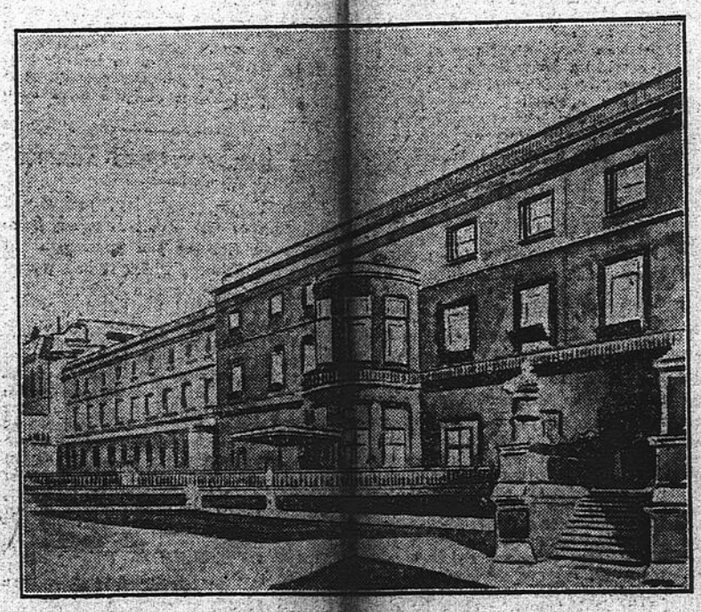

THE EMPEROR WILLIAM

HIS MAJESTY WAS MUCH MOVED WHEN HE HEARD THE NEWS.

London, June 26.—According to the Birmingham 'Post,' immediately after hearing of King Edward's illness, the Emperor William telegraphed to Prince Henry of Prussia, who was in London, setting forth how he was moved by the news, and offering to come immediately to London to see his uncle, if there was any immediate danger. Prince Henry is said to have replied with a reassuring message.

HIS HOLINESS THE POPE.

Rome, June 26.—The Pope was much distressed when he heard of King Edward's illness and immediately telegraphed to Mgr. Merry Del Val, the special Papal envoy, to convey his expression of sorrow to His Majesty, and to keep the Pontiff fully informed as to his condition.

THE WEST FRONT OF BUCKINGHAM PALACE, Where King Edward's Private Apartments Are.

A CHICAGO VIEW.

THE KING'S CHANCES OF RECOVERY ANALYZED.

New York, June 26.—Dr. John B. Murphy, of Chicago, dean of the faculty of Rush Medical College, has telegraphed to the New York 'Medical Journal' the following statement regarding King Edward:—

The official bulletins are very vague and indefinite, as the doctors do not state whether the perityphlitic abscess was due to appendicitis, carcinoma or perforating ulcer. They infer that it was appendicitis, but the clinical course for five days preceding the operation does not correspond with that inference. If it be an appendical perityphlitis opened and drained with no attempt at removal of the appendix, his chances of recovery, allowing for his age and mode of living, should be ninety-seven percent. Even if he has a gangrene of a small area of the caecum from a periapendical abscess, his chances of recovery should be good unless the infection be very virulent; one would infer from the mild symptoms the day previous to the operation that it was not violent. If the perityphlitic abscess be from a perforating ulcer of the caecum, the prognosis is more grave, for these perforating ulcers are grave in themselves, particularly the tubercular. If the perforation occurred through a malignant ulcer his chances of recovery would be very meagre, as a resection of the caput-coli would be demanded; this is such a long and grave operation that he could scarcely withstand it as it would involve an immediate risk of forty to forty-three percent. The assumption that the abscess is of appendical origin is the most logical from his symptoms of pain and syncope on the fifth and sixth day preceding the operation. There was every reason for his physicians withholding the knowledge of his condition from the public as long as possible. If the diagnosis of appendicitis had been made early it is probable that the operation would have been performed immediately, as the consensus of opinion of the American medical and surgical profession is that the immediate operation, i.e., the operation within the first twenty-four hours after the inset of symptoms, gives the best results, and subjects the patients to the least risk.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER

CANADIAN PREMIER SEES THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

New York, June 26.—The London correspondent of the 'Tribune' says Sir Wilfrid Laurier had a long conference with Mr. Chamberlain in the Colonial Secretary's private room at the House of Commons yesterday.

JUNE WEDDINGS

LAPOINTE—BOURGOIN.

This afternoon at two o'clock, in the chapel at Pointe aux Trembles, the marriage took place of the Rev. C. R. Lapointe, Presbyterian minister at St. Valier, Quebec, and Miss Perside Bourgoin, daughter of the late Rev. Principal Bourgoin. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. H. Brandt, principal of Pointe aux Trembles College, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Coussirat, the Rev. S. J. Taylor, and the Rev. S. Rondeau, of St. Hyacinthe, uncle of the bride. The chapel and class room were prettily decorated with marguerites, and other flowers. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Samuel Bourgoin, wore her travelling dress of pearl gray cloth, with silk blouse and white hat. Her bouquet was of white roses. Mr. and Mrs. Lapointe took the eight o'clock train for New York, and after their wedding trip will settle at St. Valier. A number of relatives and friends witnessed the ceremony. The Rev. Mr. Lapointe was a former student at Pointe aux Trembles, and graduated from the Presbyterian College last spring. Mrs. Lapointe was a teacher in McGill Normal School.

JOHNSON—TAYLOR.

On Wednesday, June 25, Miss Clara A. Taylor, daughter of Mr. Samuel Taylor, of Waterloo, was married to Mr. F. W. Johnson, of East Farnham. The ceremony was performed in St. Luke's Church by the Rev. Rural Dean Jeakins. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a white cashmere dress trimmed with white satin and lace, and carried a bouquet of marguerites. Miss Taylor acted as bridesmaid, and Mr. Clarence Taylor as best man. The wedding presents were numerous and useful. The guests were hospitably entertained at the residence of the bride's parents.

McMASTER—WALKER.

The marriage of Miss Florence B. Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Walker, to Mr. Andrew Ross McMaster, B.A., B.C.L., took place at half-past eight o'clock last evening at the home of the bride's parents, 26 Summerhill avenue. The Rev. G. F. Johnson officiated, assisted by the Rev. Dr. MacVicar. The bride, who was given away by her father, was charmingly gowned in white panne satin, with Chantilly lace and pearl ornaments. She wore tulle veil and orange blossoms, and carried white roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Florence Copeland and Miss Annie Birks, who wore dainty frocks of pale green voile, applique with cream lace, and carried cream roses. The groomsmen were Mr. Huntley Duff and Dr. Bligh Campbell. After the ceremony a reception was held, attended by a large number of relatives of the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. McMaster will spend their honeymoon at Kawarcha Lake, and on their return, will reside at 141 Clandeboye avenue. The bride's going-away gown was of blue cloth, with which were worn a white silk shirt-waist and a shirt-waist hat.

HASZARD—MACKEDIE.

The marriage of Miss Mabel Mackedie, daughter of Mr. J. W. Mackedie, to Dr. F. L. Haszard, of Cape Breton, was solemnized yesterday afternoon in the Church of the Advent, the Rev. F. J. Steen officiating. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of white crepe de chine, with chiffon and duchesse lace, veil and orange blossoms, and carried white flowers. Miss M. Haszard was maid of honor, and Miss Elaine Mackedie and Miss Gertrude Pelton acted as bridesmaids. Their gowns were of white mull, with pale green sashes. Dr. H. S. McKee was best man, and the ushers were Mr. C. Anderson and Mr. Douglas Mackedie. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 30 Fort street, at which only relatives and a few friends were present.

MARTIN—RHICARD.

A marriage which attracted a large number of interested spectators was solemnized at St. Luke's Church, Waterloo, Que., on Wednesday evening, the contracting parties being Miss Mildred May Rhicard, eldest daughter of Mr. Charles Ed. Rhicard, of Waterloo, and Mr. L. W. Martin, M.D., son of Mr. William Martin, of North Shefford. The interior of the church was tastefully decorated with plants and ferns, and attached to the lamp standards were miniature baskets of forget-me-nots. While the guests were assembling Miss Shepherd, the organist, accompanied by Miss Cora Martin, violinist, played a selection of suitable music, and as the bride entered the church they played a wedding march. The Rev. Rural Dean Jeakins, rector, officiated. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked very charming in a dress of ivory silk voile, with Brussels net veil, caught in a wreath of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white roses. She was attended by her little sister, Jennie, her cousin, Miss Hazel Fuller, and by her bridesmaid, Miss Clara Slack, who wore a pretty, white muslin dress, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Dr. McAulay, of the Royal Victoria Hospital, was best man. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Rhicard entertained a large number of guests, and at a late hour Dr. and Mrs. Martin left for Toronto, Niagara Falls, and other places. A large number of beautiful wedding presents were received.

MACLEAN—LIVINGSTONE.

A quiet wedding took place in Chalmers Church at half-past eight o'clock last evening, when Miss Marian Livingstone, daughter of the late Mr. John Livingstone, a former journalist of St. John, N.B., and of this city, was united in marriage to Mr. Wendell Maclean, of Calgary. The Rev. G. Colborne Heine performed the ceremony. The bride, who was given away by Mr. W. S. Marson, wore a handsome travelling costume of fawn cloth, with hat to correspond, and carried white roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended by Miss Rena Livingstone and Miss Stewart (Westmount), and Mr. Stewart acted as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Maclean took the ten o'clock train to Toronto, on the way to their home in Calgary.

MACKAY—FOULIS.

In St. Gabriel Church at half-past four o'clock yesterday afternoon Miss Margaret Foulis, daughter of Major and Mrs. Foulis, was united in marriage to Mr. J. Hector Mackay. The Rev. Dr. Campbell officiated. The bride was given away by her father, and was attended by her sister, Miss Jessie Foulis, and Mr. Douglas Mackay, the bridegroom's brother, acted as best man. The ushers were Mr. Archibald McAllister and Mr. Taylor. The bride was prettily attired in white organdie, tucked, and trimmed with lace and white satin ribbon, with a satin ribbon sash. She wore veil and orange blossoms, and a pearl crescent, the gift of the groom, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid also wore white organdie with lace, a black picture hat, and carried pink carnations. The room's gift to the bridesmaid was a clover-shaped pearl pin. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 170 Elgin street. Mr. and Mrs. Mackay left for Toronto, Niagara Falls and other western places. The bride travelled in a navy blue broadcloth gown, with white silk blouse, and hat of Tuscan straw trimmed with navy blue and white.

Among the many gifts received was a case of cutlery presented to the groom by the Sun Life Assurance Company.

COL. LESSARD BADLY INJURED.

Niagara Camp, Ont., June 26.—While out on parade yesterday morning, Col. Lessard, the officer commanding here, was hurt by his horse taking a sudden plunge. He was not thrown from the saddle, but had to be assisted to his quarters. The nature of the injuries is unknown, but it is very probable he will not be able to appear on the field again this camp and certainly he cannot go to Kingston to inspect the cavalry.

NO RESPONSIBILITY SHOWN.

Judge Fortin yesterday dismissed the action of P. Sarisfacon, who claimed $10,000 damages from the Sisters of Providence on account of the death of his son, who was killed by falling from some scaffolding while he was employed as painter at the Longue Pointe Asylum. The court held that the plaintiff had failed to prove the two essential points required, namely, that there was fault on the part of defendants, and that such fault was the cause of the accident.

The Daily Witness.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON, JUNE 26.

FEARFUL STREETS

DANGEROUS HOLES THAT COULD BE REPAIRED IN HALF A DAY.

There were at work last week on Craig and Bleury streets a number of road menders who seemed to have undertaken to mend these streets. They made a lively show, and some of the worst holes were filled up. Then they silently stole away, and left behind them as many ruts as they had repaired. These ruts are in the lining of the street railway tracks principally.

One result of the repairs made was to show the public that there is some chance of the rest of the repairs being made to permanent roadways during the present century, which is yet young. There was a hope that when the repairers of the asphalt had finished the upper side of Bleury street they might be sent down St. Peter street to the other terrible spots pointed out by the 'Witness.' They have not yet been there.

The Road Committee should take a look at St. Paul street, especially that part of the permanent pavement between St. Sulpice and McGill streets. The section between St. Nicholas and St. Francois Xavier streets takes first prize for the number and depth of the holes in the asphalt. The section from St. Nicholas to St. Peter comes next. In fact, at the corner of St. Peter and St. Paul streets there is a patch in which macadam and mud are so mixed with asphalt that it is difficult to say what the roadway is intended to be. The only permanent thing discernible about the roadway is mud.

The section from St. Peter street to McGill street is much better than any of the rest, and is good until McGill street corner is reached. There a pool of water conceals what the roadway really is. It is quite interesting to note from the City Surveyor's report that this rock asphalt was laid by the Sicily Asphaltum Company in 1891 and is guaranteed to last until 1906.

The Road Department should let their repairing parties have full sway at this part of St. Paul street without delay.

HOPE FOR ST. JAMES.

The Rev. J. W. Graham, senior pastor of St. James Methodist Church, returned last evening from the Maritime Provinces where he has been visiting the Methodist conferences and making appeals on behalf of the St. James Church debt. Mr. Graham reports having met with a cordial reception and an enthusiastic response to his appeals. He received subscriptions amounting to $1,600 from the Nova Scotia Conference, $1,600 from the New Brunswick Conference, and over $1,500 from friends outside of the Conference gatherings. Altogether, he expects $5,000 for St. James an a result of his trip to the east. This, he considers very satisfactory indeed, for the the eastern conferences are neither as large nor as wealthy as some of the western ones.

Mr. Graham has before him the herculean task of raising $180,000 by May 1, 1903. The encouragement which he is meeting with leads him to believe that he will succeed. Already subscriptions amounting to about $135,000 have been secured.

HOW BAR FIXTURES ARE SECURED.

Judge Fortin, yesterday, maintained the action of the Pabst Brewing Company, revendicating the possession of certain bar fixtures which it had placed in a saloon kept by one Richard. The plaintiff alleged that the fixtures, worth about $500, had been placed in defendant's premises on the condition that he should sell no other lager but that of the Pabst Company, but Richard subsequently sold his business to another party, without imposing the same condition. The plea to the action was that the fixtures had been given defendant as his property, on the only condition that he would sell Pabst's beer in his establishment. The court, however, maintained the plaintiff's pretensions.

WRIT OF CERTIORI REFUSED.

Judge Mathieu dismissed the petition yesterday of Li Tong, asking a writ of certiorari against the decision of the Recorder, who sentenced him for having sold opium.

A HOSPITAL TENT

HOW WOUNDED ANIMALS ARE CARED FOR WHILE TRAVELLING.

Probably the latest departure of the modern three-ring circus is a 'hospital tent,' where all wounded animals are taken to be cared for by veterinary surgeons until their injuries heal. The Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' combination has such a department, and when the road season begins the hospital tent is quite frequently taxed to its capacity. As this institution carries over 500 head of horses, it is natural that many are injured in the course of a season. Mr. Lewis Sells, general manager of the show, is particular about the care of his horses. He gives personal attention to this matter, and will not tolerate shabby treatment to any of the animals. On a recent occasion Mr. Sells replied to the query of an attendant who wanted to know if he had better kill a certain horse which had a broken leg:—'Certainly not. Suppose your leg was broken, would you want somebody to take you out and put several bullets into your body? Of course you wouldn't. Neither does that horse. Take him to the veterinary surgeon and tell the surgeon I said he should dress his wound. He will come around all right in time.' The incident serves to illustrate Mr. Sells's views on such matters generally. He is very fond of horses and insists upon their proper keeping. In warm weather he causes each animal with the circus to be washed with soap and water from head to tip of the tail almost daily. To provide for the better care of the injured horses was the reason which prompted him to establish the hospital tent, which is amply supplied with surgical instruments and medical preparations.

CHINESE CATHOLICS

SEVERAL MONTREAL CHINAMEN EMBRACE CATHOLICISM.

According to the 'Journal' several Montreal Chinamen have recently been converted to the Roman Catholic faith, and a school has been established where they and others desirous of following their example may learn the Roman Catholic catechism. Fourteen Chinamen attended the school last Sunday, and, when sufficiently instructed, will, the paper says, be baptized in St. Patrick's Church. The teacher is the Rev. Brother Kevin.

BUSINESS GIRLS

A PRACTICAL TALK WITH THEM.

Emma Harris Jamison writes as follows in the Boston 'Woman's Journal':—

It is with you, my dear girls who are out in the world earning a livelihood, some in offices, some in stores, and some in factories, that I wish to have a talk.

Did you ever stop and earnestly ask the question: What am I working for? Perhaps you have not even thought of it, or if so have simply dismissed it with the comment that you found it necessary in order to purchase what you needed. Is the work then only for the purpose of buying clothes, and to procure the daintiness that a girl thinks essential? Is that your highest aim in the business world? Is that all that your business experience is going to amount to—simply a means of supplying the needs of the outer man, forgetting the thousands who are all around you with outstretched arms, crying for help!

But there is another class of girls who will quickly reply, 'I work because, if I do not, I cannot get along, as there is not a single person to whom I can look for a home, nor do I know of one who feels in duty bound to aid me, or who would help me if I did not earn my own living.' Now, girls, if this is a fact, what are you doing towards improving yourselves in the positions in which you find yourselves, and how high are you lifting those positions? Are you making your positions stepping stones to something higher, or simply doing as little work as you can for the money you get, and thus by your namby-pamby style of work, done well enough to hold the position, but not well enough to demand a better and higher place, becoming a stumbling-block to the progress of a woman who holds a position below you, and who could fill the one you have, and would fill it better than you, if you would step up and give her the chance? You come back with the remark, 'We do everything that is required of us in these positions; what else do you want us to do?' Why, I would advise you to take an interest in the work. Work done in love would soon put you in a position where you could demand a higher remuneration.

And then I would advise you to spend some time each day in study.

When, you ask?

At night, of course.

Then you might argue, 'I am too tired when I get home! no indeed, you don't catch me doing anything like that.'

Too tired! Why, you are never too tired to entertain a visitor in the evening, and sometimes until a late hour. But, you say, 'That is recreation. So is study, the finest kind of recreation, and you will find after two hours' work over study, you will close the book and look up at your teacher with a glow on your face and a brightness in your eyes, and you will really forget for the time being that you have been out working all day. You will find yourself wonderfully refreshed and strengthened by it; if you don't believe me, try it. Then you are developing your mind, keeping it fresh and active, and thus paving the way for advancement, and that is what we are working for. Progress, first in the position you now hold, and then out of that to something higher, and so on, until at last you shall occupy the highest seats in the land.

But says some one, 'Oh, pshaw! I am going to be married in a short while, and I am not going to bother myself.'

Ah, that is where the trouble is. And so, as Charlie's wife, you will not need this learning, for with your domestic and social work you think you will have your hands full, and no need for gaining knowledge?

Well, I am sorry, but I don't agree with you; because, as Charlie's wife, you will need great intelligence, and a high and exalted education; and why? Because there is the outlook of motherhood, and what the world is badly in need of to-day is intelligent, deep-thinking women (for this is the age of deep and earnest thought), and our supply must be found equal to the demand, and such women make mothers who study the mental condition of the child and give it the proper thought-food, and watch the mental growth, and keep the weeds torn up, and struggle to keep the dirty dust of carnal desires away from its thought. They plant, they water, and they watch with a loving eye the flower as it comes forth into full bloom, straightening, and propping it up whenever it needs care.

REGISTRATION WAS WRONG.

Judge Davidson yesterday maintained the action of Mrs. W. J. Bromley to radiate the registration of a judgment on a property situated in the Town of St. Louis. The judgment thus registered had been obtained against Mr. Bromley personally, and the wife having shown that she held the property referred to under a marriage contract, the Court ordered the radiation, and granted Mrs. Bromley $40 damages.

STILL ANXIOUS.

Montrealers are Deeply Interested in News From England.

PRAYERS FOR THE KING'S RECOVERY OFFERED IN THE CITY CHURCHES.

In Montreal the anxious interest manifested in the reports of the King's health did not show much, if any, abatement to-day. People went out of their way to read the bulletin boards, and every word from the royal sick room was anxiously scrutinized.

This morning Montrealers found some consolatian for their disappointments in the continued good news from London, and in the state of the local weather. It was a particularly wet and miserable morning, and if to-day had been Coronation Day, as arranged, the morning part of the local celebration must have been a complete and dreary failure.

Many of the church services arranged for Coronation Day took place this morning at the original hours, but the services instead of being of a festal character were turned into solemn services of intercession for the happy recovery of the King. Although the weather was miserable the services were well attended.

The civic reception committee met this morning and completed arrangements for the distribution of cake bought for the children's festival on St. Helen's Island, among the various charitable institutions of the city.

ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH

THE REV. DYSON HAGUE MAKES TOUCHING ALLUSION TO THE ILLNESS OF THE KING.

The service held in St. George's Church this morning was most impressive. There were the Litany, a short sermon, by the Rev. Dyson Hague, marked by much beauty of diction and depth of feeling, and the singing of the National Anthem while the people remained on their knees.

'It is the Lord; let him do what seemeth him good,' was the text from which the Rev. Mr. Hague preached. It might not be called a sermon proper, but rather a feeling address, in the course of which he presented two pictures in poignant contrast—the happiness of a people who had just heard tidings of peace, a people who were exultant over a peace which was at once righteous and dearly bought; the sorrow of a people who were suddenly brought to a realization of the instability of all things human, and who now, in all parts of the Empire, were bowed in grief at the sudden illness of the King. There had been a long and costly war; there had been at long last a peace concluded. The country had rest. God had given her peace in his own good time. The people rejoiced. They were looking forward to the coronation of their beloved King. Preparations had been made on a gigantic scale. Every heart bounded. The King was about to taste the cup of glory whose bubbles winked at the brim, and at the moment when it was near the lip all was changed; the joy was turned to mourning; and the King of the greatest nation on earth lay gravely ill. This contrast was worked out with much power. The speaker showed the Queen in her grief; the Prince and Princess of Wales, their children, whom everyone had learned to love; the whole Royal family bent in grief. And then the thought was presented, how closely this grief bound all hearts together. There was nothing remote about this. It seemed like a happy family brought together through this illness, by ties which though silken, were as strong as bands of steel. And God was in it. Let them remember that God was in it and in it for good. The purposes of God were larger than they could understand. They had the narrow view. And if God was in the visitation, let them take courage, for God had nothing but good for the British Empire in his dealings with its head. He was confident that they would see a beneficial outcome. Possibly they were too proud, too exultant. Possibly this pride was thus rebuked by Divine Providence. The speaker quoted with effect Rudyard Kipling's 'Recessional,' especially the lines:—

'Lord of hosts be with us yet,
Lest we forget, lest we forget.'

The frailty and dependence of man were referred to, and illustrated by the stanza from Gray:—

'The boast of heraldry, the pomp of power,
All that beauty all that earth e'er gave,
Await alike the inevitable hour,
The path of glory leads but to the grave.'

The speaker hoped that the people would see the picture which had appeared in the 'Graphic' or 'Illustrated News' recently, and which represented the King and Queen kneeling reverently at St. Paul's with the other worshippers who were their subjects—upon a level with all by whom they were surrounded, with bent knees and closed eyes and folded hands, rendering worship and homage to him who was the King of kings. He wished that all could see that picture, for it would give an idea of how the King and Queen of England regarded their duty to Almighty God, in whom they believed and trusted. And he did not doubt but that at this moment the King on his sick bed fully realized the power and love of God, and had faith to believe that however this visitation might appear to the outward seeming, that God had a purpose in it which would yet appear to be beneficial to the whole country and people. This was his own confident belief, and it ought to sustain them, as he had no doubt it would sustain the heart of the weeping Queen, of the Prince of Wales, who was so greatly beloved; of the Princess May, with her lofty and noble character, and of the whole people, who, while they could not see the plans of God, had the faith to believe that all things worked together for good to those who loved God.

At the close, while the people knelt, 'God Save the King' was sung with much feeling—indeed, with the aspiration and hopeful desire of a prayer.

ST. MARTIN'S CHURCH.

St. Martin's Church was well filled this morning, when special prayers were offered up for the recovery of King Edward VII. The service, which was conducted by the Rev. G. Osborne Troop, opened with the singing of hymn 164, which is headed, 'Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy and find grace to help in time of need.'

During the service the Rev. G. Osborne Troop feelingly referred to the calamity wihch has overtaken the empire, and in the course of his remarks he said he could not emphasize too much the solemnity of the present occasion when His Majesty had been stricken down, just when he had the fullest expectations of being crowned our King. We had been prone to think too much of the decorations made for the celebration. All eyes had been fixed on earthly magnificence and show, while few hearts had been fixed on the Lord Jesus Christ, the King of kings. What was to have been a day of festivities and rejoicing had been turned into a day of humiliation and a day of prayer. The nation had been brought to its knees and God's high and holy purpose was to make the people repent. Our hearts went out with the deepest sympathy to the King and Queen. We to-day saw and felt there was that great God who binds the rich and poor together in a common bond. He prayed that God in his mercy would spare the life of the King, and that when the day of coronation did arrive it would be a day of actual consecration for the service of the Lord.

ST. JAMES THE APOSTLE.

The service at the Church of St. James the Apostle was conducted by the rector, the Rev. Canon Ellegood, the ladies and boys of the choir being present to lead the singing. The service opened with the hymn: 'O God, or help in ages past, our hope for years to come.' The rector then ascended the pulpit, and with deep feeling referred to the sadness of the occasion which brought the congregation together. They had proposed to meet to pray God to bless the King's coronation, they had actually met to plead with all humility for his life. It was certainly a tragedy that King Edward VII. should be struck down at the most glorious moment, so to speak, of his life. It would be some consolation for His Majesty to know that he had the universal sympathy of the world, and with it there went out from every heart deep sorrow for the Queen. It was ground for serious reflection that the long-anticipated national festival of rejoicing should have been turned into a day of most profound anxiety. It was difficult to understand the mysterious and inscrutible designs of Providence in so smiting our nation. Of one thing there could be no doubt, in view of this manifestation of Divine power it was right that we should all humiliate ourselves and humbly supplicate Almighty God to spare the valuable life now hanging in the balance. From all parts of the world would supplications for the King's life ascend to the throne of God, and it was significant that the Pope of Rome had issued an appeal to the faithful of his Church to join in prayer for the restoration of the King's health. Throughout the length and breadth of the world from the hearts of people of all colors, all races and all creeds went up to-day with heartfelt fervor the prayer:—

'God save our Gracious King,
Long live our noble King,
God save the King.'

Nor in their prayers would be forgotten the good, noble and loving Queen, who is bearing her great sorrow so bravely.

The service included the special litany and such of the prayers as were suitable from the set coronation service, special prayers for the King's recovery, the ordinary collects for the King and the Royal Family and also those for the sick. The service terminated with the singing of the hymn, 'O God of Israel by whose hand thy people still are led,' and the benediction.

CRESCENT STREET CHURCH.

The impressive service at Crescent Street Church was conducted by Principal MacVicar, assisted by Prof. Scrimger, the Rev. Mr. Macpherson, Prof. Ross and the Rev. Mr. George. Appropriate music was given by the choir, the hymns selected being 'God Is Our Refuge,' 'Fierce Raged the Tempest,' and 'Jesus Lover of My Soul.'

The Rev. Mr. George read Ps. xxxiv., 'I will bless the Lord at all times,' and the Rev. Mr. Macpherson read from Heb. xii.

After an earnest prayer by Prof. Scrimger for the King's recovery, Prof. Ross gave an address, based on Ps. l., 15., 'Call upon me in the day of trouble; I will deliver thee, and thou shalt glorify me.'

In brief, the speaker said: The day of trouble is common in the life of man. The best answer to the question for its necessity is that trouble is disciplinary; it is the process by which the divine schoolmaster carries on the education of his people. Trouble reveals the weakness of the creature and his dependence on God. To-day we thought to be celebrating a triumph, but are, instead, mourning a defeat. Preparations have been going on over a year to add to the glory of the proposed pageant, but one touch from the Divine hand and our King is shown to be only common clay.

A great affliction often brings out our true strength and draws us into closer communion with God. There is no instrument so strong as affliction in showing a man how superficial are temporal things. He learns to lean on God, and is rescued from a certain cynicism, which grows on men who have long enjoyed success. The question is often asked in our day with its advancement of knowledge, 'Is it any use to pray?' God is farther away from us than from our fathers who saw Him directly in all the phenomena of nature. But we must recognize Him in the uniformity of nature as well as in its mysteries and assure ourselves that He feels as well as knows. The highest end of prayer is to bring our wills into subjection to God's and not merely as a method to get our present wants attended to. The feeling of peace that is experienced after true prayer is the help given to support us through the affliction that God may, notwithstanding our prayer for its removal, see best to send us.

The service concluded with the singing of two verses of the National Anthem.

ST. ANDREW'S.

The gathering in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church this morning was smaller than might have been expected, owing, probably, to the weather. The Rev. Edgar Hill, D.D., preached the sermon, from Ecclesiastes vii., 14: 'In the day of prosperity rejoice, but in the day of adversity consider.' To-day, he said, the Empire stands appalled at the tragedy of the contrast between the rejoicings that were to be and the widespread feeling of anxiety that comes in their stead. To-day we were to have stood on the eminence of a great historic occasion, and looked backward and forward over the past and the future of the mighty empire of which we form a part; but now both past and future were swallowed up in the present—all is forgotten except the multitudinous prayer rising from all over the world, that the King might be restored to health.

The news of the King's illness had come as a terrible shock to the Empire, and only the enlightened Christian sentiment could have saved the Empire from a panic such as the world never saw.

Dr. Hill traced the hand of God in the building up of the British Empire, and bade his hearers remember that 'all things work together for good.'

EMMANUEL CHURCH.

The regular Wednesday night service at Emmanuel Congregation Church last evening had for its centre of thought and prayer the sickness of the King. Prayers were offered by the pastor, Mr. J. M. M. Duff, Mr. George Lyman, and the Rev. H. H. Kelsey, pastor of the Fourth Congregational Church, Hartford, Conn., who was about to sail for England. Mr. Pedley read as the Scripture lesson that part of Isaiah, thirty-eighth chapter, in which King Hezekiah speaks of his feelings when he had recovered from sickness and the bitterness of death was passed, and then gave a short address on the present crisis. He said that there were at least two reasons why death would come as a bitter thing to Edward VII. The first was that he had so much to leave in the way of human love and friendship. He had a lovely and gracious wife, a devoted family of children, and a third generation of grandchildren who were growing up in love and reverence for him. Then there was a wide circle of friends whose attachment he had secured by his wonderful tact and kindness of disposition. It was hard for a man of an affectionate disposition to leave a world that had in it so much of the sweetness of human affection and esteem. Another reason why the King should look upon death as a bitter thing lay in the fact that after long years of preparation and discipline he had just come to a position of unsurpassed power and influence. Many had thought of the King as a man of gaiety and ease, a lover of pleasure, a stranger to toil. As a matter of fact, for many years he had been one of the most industrious and most burdened men in the Empire. We are all impressed by the great manifestation of Imperial unity and solidarity that has characterized the opening of this twentieth century. It is not too much to say that the King, in his position as Prince of Wales, and representative of his widowed mother, is to be counted as an important factor in this work of unification. By his own visits to India and the colonies, and by his promotion of great industrial expositions bringing together in friendly relationship the uttermost corners of the Empire he has played a distinguished part in strengthening old ties and establishing new ones between the far-sundered countries that make up the nation. It would be a great wrench for him to be taken away, just at the moment of full realization, from the heritage which he had helped to make the noblest in the history of mankind. Our hearts, therefore, beating in sympathy with him in his affectionate longings, and in his noblest aspirations, we pray that his life may be spared; and we believe that this petition is in harmony with the desire that God's Kingdom may come and his will be done on earth as it is in heaven.

The Rev. Mr. Kelsey said a few words pointing out that this event, like that of the death of President McKinley, served the two-fold purpose of revealing the growing oneness of mankind, and of showing the instinctive tendency of the human soul to turn towards God in time of trouble.

The meeting closed with a few moments of silent prayer and the benediction.

CALVARY CHURCH.

The Rev. Mr. Tippett led the prayer meeting in Calvary Church last evening. On account of the illness of the King, the meeting partook of an intercessory character, prayers being offered by about a dozen of the members.

ZION CHURCH.

In the absence of the pastor, the service in Zion Congregational Church last night was conducted by the Rev. E. C. Woodley, M.A. In place of the regular subject, Mr. Woodley gave an impressive address based on Ezek. xiv., 23, having especial reference to the King's illness. Special prayers of intercession were also offered up.

OLIVET CHURCH.

A feature of the regular weekly prayer meeting of Olivet Baptist Church, held last night, the Rev. Mr. Gilmour, pastor, presiding, was that special prayers were offered for the royal family, for the King, and for his recovery, for the physicians in charge of His Majesty, and for the empire. About half of the service was devoted to references to His Majesty's illness and supplications on his behalf.

METHODIST CHURCHES.

At the weekly prayer meeting held in all the Methodist churches of the city last evening special reference was made to the illness of the King, and prayers were offered in his behalf.

At St. James Church the Rev. Mr. Sykes made suitable reference to the unfortunate circumstance, and many fervent prayers were offered for His Majesty's recovery. The entire service was of a sympathetic and intercessory character. The National Anthem was sung with unusual feeling.

In Dominion Square Church special reference was made to the King's ill health, and many earnest prayers were offered in his behalf. The National Anthem was sung at the close. The Rev. C. E. Manning, pastor, led the service.

The Rev. Dr. Williams conducted a special service in Sherbrooke Street Church, and delivered an address on the King, in which his noble character, remarkable ability and tragic illness were touchingly referred to. The service was a most solemn and impressive one.

Reports from other Methodist churches show that all the mid-week services were of the same character, and that the greatest grief and solicitude is felt everywhere on account of the King's condition of health.

AT OTTAWA.

Ottawa, June 26.—There were two public services for prayer for the King today; one held by the Anglican and the other by the Protestant Ministerial Association. The Anglican service of intercession was held at Christ Church Cathedral, where the Bishop of Ottawa officiated, assisted by nearly all the local Anglican clergymen. The service was most impressive. The service under the auspices of the Ministerial Association was held in Knox Precbyterian Church. The Rev. D. M. Ramsay, pastor of the church, presided, and brief addresses were delivered by the Rev. S. G. Bland, Methodist, and the Rev. A. A. Cameron, Baptist. There was a large attendance.

AT QUEBEC.

Quebec, June 26.—There was a union intercessory service at the Methodist Church this morning for the King's speedy recovery. The service was very impressive.

HAMILTON STREET CAR EMPLOYEES.

Hamilton, June 26.—There is a possibility of trouble among the street car employees at Hamilton. Two of the men who came here to take the places of the strikers returned to Hamilton and were given their old positions on the railway. Now the rest of the employees say that if the two are not immediately discharged they will go out on strike. Mr. Dilworth, international president, and Mr. McDonald, business agent, arrived this morning, to try and adjust the difficulty.

AT TORONTO.

Toronto, June 26.—In view of the serious illness of His Majesty the King, the following intercessory services have been arranged for to-day: Anglican—St. James Cathedral, 12.30, conducted by the Rev. Canon Welch; St. Peter's Church, 8 o'clock, the Rev. Carey Ward; Grace Church, 11 a.m. Presbyterian—A joint service at Knox Church at 12.30 Baptist—Joint service at Jarvis Street Church at 12 o'clock. Services have also been arranged at Holy Blossom Synagogue for Saturday next, and at St. George's Church and All Saints Church at 11 a.m. to-day.

AT WATERLOO.

Waterloo, Que., June 26.—An intercessory service was held in St. Luke's Church at three o'clock on Tuesday afternoon.

SERVICES AT HALIFAX.

Halifax, June 26.—Intercessory services were held in St. Luke's Cathedral this morning. The preacher was Bishop Courtney, who referred feelingly to the King's illness.

This afternoon Lieutenant-Governor Jones unveiled the statue to the Nova Scotians who fell in South Africa, the first to be unveiled in the Empire. Imperial and local troops took part as well as sailors from H.M.S Crescent and Indefatigable.

AT HUNTINGDON.

Huntingdon, Que., June 26.—Intercessory prayers were held to-day in St. John's Episcopal Church in behalf of the King.

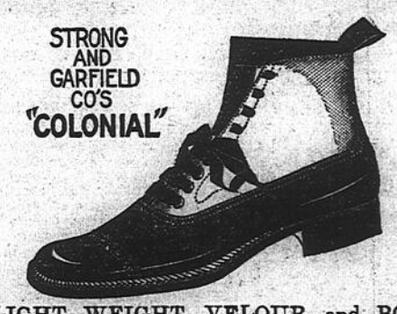

A POST-OFFICE ROBBED.

Brookfield, Mass., June 26.—Having stolen blacksmiths' tools to force an entrance into the building, and fifteen firemen's overcoats from the department headquarters with which to smother the noise of an explosion, burglars blew open the post-office safe here last night and stole statements, money orders and cash. The postmaster, Mr. Goodell, cannot tell the exact amount of the loss, but the supply of stamps and money was large.

NOTES.

June 26.

The SS. Campana, Captain Demers, is due to reach port to-morrow morning with passengers and cargo from the lower ports.

The Elder-Dempster line SS. Milwaukee, Captain Lander, will sail from Three Rivers this morning, and is expected to arrive in Montreal this afternoon. The Milwaukee is one of the boats released by the government at the close of the war.

The Head line SS. Malin Head, Captain McKee, with a cargo of sugar for the Canada Sugar Refining Company, arrived at Quebec this morning, and is due in Montreal to-morrow morning. Messrs. McLean, Kennedy & Co., are the agents.

The Dominion line SS. Californian sailed from Liverpool for Portland at 2 p.m. yesterday.

The SS. Empress of India sailed from Hongkong for Vancouver at noon yesterday.

The Allan line SS. Rosarian, Captain Henry is due to arrive in port from London to-morrow evening or early on Saturday morning.

The SS. Loughrigg Holme, Captain Johnson, has been chartered to carry a cargo of deals to Cardiff, July loading, for Messrs. McLean, Kennedy & Co.

CATHOLIC SAILORS' CLUB.

The concert last night, at the Catholic Sailors' Club, was a success. It was under the auspices of St. Patrick's Society. The special feature of the evening was a song rendered by Mr. Joseph Donnelly. The chair was occupied by the Hon. Judge Doherty.

WAGES ARE TOO HIGH.

Quebec, June 25.—A meeting of prominent shipping men and others was held last evening with Mayor Parent in connection with the ship laborers' wages. Those present were the Hon. J. Sharples, B. Lallbert, president Harbor Comissioners; C. Smith, representing Wolvin interests; W. McPherson and G. B. Ramsay, agent Dominion, Manchester lines; T. Harding, Leyland line; J. G. Scott, general manager, Great Northern Railway, and E. Dusseault. The question of wages charged by Quebec ship laborers for loading general cargoes was fully discussed.

Mr. Smith complained that the rate of wages was too high, and that the Wolvin Company could have their vessels loaded at Three Rivers or Batiscan cheaper than at Quebec.

Mayor Parent suggested that before further action was taken he would meet the officers of the Ship Laborers' Society and try to have the question settled amicably; in fact, he was prepared to meet the men in their hall and discuss matters. If no compromise was arrived at, all necessary protection would be afforded those willing to work.

LAKE ONTARIO DUE TO-MORROW.

The Beaver line SS. Lake Ontario, Captain Evans, with passengers and a general cargo, from Liverpool, passed Matane light at six o'clock this morning. She is due to reach Quebec to-night and Montreal to-morrow evening.

COAL FOR THE UNITED STATES.

Owing to the scarcity of coal in the United States the SS. Agar has been chartered to make four trips from Pictou to Portland. She will resume her St. Lawrence trips in August.

A LARGE CARGO.

The SS. American, Captain Howell, has sailed for London with a full general cargo comprising 91,493 bushels of wheat, 41,265 sacks of flour, 36,575 bales of compressed hay, 30,201 bales long hay, 2,630 doors, 199 bundles mouldings, 1,416 bundles of pulp wood, 113 rolls paper, 1,600 bags of asbestos fibre, 100 bags of crude asbestos, 860 bags asbestic sand, 4,734 sacks oilcake, 304 boxes cheese, 150 cases bottle tops, 350 cases match blocks, 32 standards shooks, and 397½ standard deals. This is reputed to be one of the largest general cargoes shipped by the St. Lawrence this season.

LUMBER FOR IMPERIAL DOCKYARDS.

The Head line SS. Inishowen Head, Captain Suffern, sails at daylight to-morrow with a full cargo of deals and lumber for the Imperial dockyards at Devonport and Plymouth. This is the first cargo of lumber that has left for these seaports from Montreal for many years.

A WESTERN GALE

WIND TRAVELLED AT AS HIGH AS NINETY MILES AN HOUR.

Sioux City, Iowa, June 26.—A storm which swept over eastern South Dakota and north-western Iowa yesterday was one of the most terrific in the history of this section. The path of the storm covered a space about fifty miles wide and extended from Pierre, S.D., to a point near Lemars, Iowa. Within its track there is not a community that has not suffered loss of property. At Hudson, S.D.; the loss will amount to about $50,000. The entire loss from the storm will be more than $500,000. The storm was like a fierce tropical gale, and swept across the country with unabated fury for more than an hour. Its velocity was from seventy to eighty and at times ninety miles an hour. Store fronts and plate glass windows were blown in, houses were unroofed, barns were overturned, and throughout the entire section there is not a windmill left standing.

Tippecanoe City, Ohio, June 26.—A destructive tornado struck the south edge of Miami County, four miles north of here, last night, and passed along a path east and west through the county. At Troy, several houses were demolished and one man was seriously injured. At Pleasant Hill houses were unroofed, including churches and school-houses.

NORTH RENFREW VACANCY.

Kingston, June 26.—A message from Pembroke reports the likelihood that Mr. Wellington Munro, son of the late Mr. J. W. Munro, will be the Liberal candidate in North Renfrew at the bye-election to represent the seat made vacant by the death of his father. In view of this the correspondent strongly advises that the convention be called and the election closely follow. The benefit of the organization which performed good work for his father can again be easily reunited to repeat the same good work for him.

SCHOOL CLOSING AT PAPINEAUVILLE.

Papineauville, Que., June 26.—Yesterday afternoon the Protestant school here closed for the holidays. The different classes were questioned by the teacher, Miss E. A. Law, and Mr. Took, and the answers given proved that the term has been a very profitable one. After the usual examination was over came the execution of the nicely prepared programme, which consisted of recitations and school songs. The Rev. J. B. Brown occupied the chair, and gave a few remarks on the work which has been done during the past term. After the programme came the distribution of prizes, among the successful pupils being Ferne Campbell, Myrtle Campbell, Auley Franklin, Frank Brown, Stanley Franklin, Maggie Campbell, Lillie Brown, Douglas Laflamme and Eunice Hews.

STRIKE WAS SHORT LIVED.

Toronto, June 26.—Through the intervention of Mr. Robert Glockling, secretary of the Ontario Labor Bureau, a settlement of the difficulty between the leather workers employed in the Adams Brothers' factory, and the firm has been reached and the men returned to work this morning. It was thought by the men that Mr. Thompson, president of the Leather Workers' Union, had been reduced to the position of stitcher because he was president of the union. Mr. Adams assured the men that he had no objection to the union and the reason for placing Mr. Thompson on this work was because the company was pressed for stitchers. Under the terms of settlement Mr. Thompson will help the company out by stitching for two weeks, after which he will be placed at his regular work.

TO STUDY MEDICINE.

The examinations for admission to the study of medicine, under the College of Physicians and Surgeons of the Province of Quebec, began this morning at Laval University. The credentials committee will meet on July 1, at nine a.m., when candidates for the license must be present with diplomas and certificates of admission to study. The examination committee will sit at the same time. The board meets next morning at ten o'clock.

THURSDAY, JUNE 26, 1902.

As the hours go by all signs are highly and increasingly favorable to the King's speedy recovery. The wave of anxiety and prayer which has swept around the world has been fraught with more blessing to the Empire and will do more to knit the hearts of all the British nations about the throne than the most prosperous pride of pageantry could have done. One strong revelation of King Edward's power for good in the world is his wonderful popularity. Senator Depew notes this as especially striking, 'not a single discordant note have I heard in the general chorus of sorrow for the King's illness,' he says, 'and I have talked with many distinguished men,' and, he concludes, 'I am sure this is shared in by every right-thinking person, no matter of what nationality. Indeed, among the best of every nation, sorrow, sympathy, and brotherly concern are being shown. The general respect and liking for King Edward is the best assurance if he lives of a world-wide peace. Rulers to-day are the peace-makers—it is the democracies that are its menace.

The street railway has at last got to work on its line through the 'Priests' Farm,' as it used to be colloquially called. There is one thing we should like to ask for in this connection, and that is that the unparalleled landscape which this break in that lordly but most exasperating wall reveals will not be unnecessarily hidden. It is singular with what success the majesty of nature is occulted from human view. One of the objects of the opening of Pine avenue was to afford a panoramic drive. The first study of those owning property on the city side of it was to obstruct all views. Even at that part of the avenue where the property on that side belongs to the public, and is necessarily bare of invidious trees and shrubbery, a paling has been so erected as to obstruct the view as much as an open paling can. To see the city the pedestrian has to adopt the undignified expedient of peering through bars, as if he was a little boy stealing a look at a lacrosse match. The same ingenuity in the art of how not to do it seldom fails to be exhibited. One of the most magnificent walks anywhere is that across Victoria bridge, or at least it would be if the height of the railing was not exactly that of the eye, so that, except looking shorewards, the foot-passenger can see nothing whatever. Dufferin Terrace, at Quebec, is perhaps as fine an outlook as is possessed by any city in the world. Numberless benches are placed upon it, where one can sit and muse upon a bird's-eye view of back yards, the rail of the parapet and the sky. It is not hard to imagine a method by which this tantalizing absurdity could have been obviated. It is really to be hoped that the grand landscape, which is alone sufficient to give paying traffic to this long asked for bit of street railway, will be preserved to the public.

The Senate of the United States has deliberately chosen Panama as the route for the canal, thus expressing the opinion of the country as well as that of expert engineers. This shows a very great change of sentiment, as until within the past two years the Nicaragua route was overwhelmingly in favor. The International Technical Commission made a report in favor of Panama in 1898, which had great effect, and this was followed by the United States Commission, and further change in technical opinion, which led up to a great change in popular opinion and the recent vote in the Senate. The case for Panama superiority was well expressed by Colonel Hains recently. There is shorter length of canal, fewer and less difficult obstacles to be overcome, a more thorough knowledge of the physical difficulties, the less total amount of curvature, the more moderate degree of curvature—that is, the greater proportionate length of canal that approaches a straight line; the lower summit level of twenty-two feet in favor of Panama, where the lift is only eighty-two feet compared with a hundred and four feet in Nicaragua; the greater ease with which the level of Lake Bohio can be regulated as compared with Lake Nicaragua; the largely diminished cost of maintenance, the belief that, if the United States builds a canal at Panama, a canal in competition would never be built anywhere else; because the actual time of transit will be less; because the dangers of temporary obstruction are less in proportion to the length of the canal; because a railway is already constructed and fully equipped. We quote these arguments at length because they set the superior merits of the Panama route forth very tersely. Possibly an argument which availed as much as any of them to turn the tide of battle was the fact that the enormously costly work already done on the Panama canal was to be purchased dirt cheap and at a price ruinous to those who did it. Many went into the Senate debate holding the Nicaragua route as a cult, and almost a religion, as referred to in the taunt of Senator Morgan, who holds that the American nation to-day stands guilty of apostacy in having 'abandoned the true Nicaraguan faith.' There is no doubt but that the Panama route is the best, and it is to be hoped that the 'Spooner bill' will pass safely through its other stages. Then what has been desired for a hundred years will come to pass, and another world's route be opened to the human race.

AN ALIEN PRESS.

All Canadians will congratulate the 'Presse' on its repudiation on the part of French-speaking Canadians of a Sunday publication of the baser sort, conducted, as the 'Presse' avers, by persons from France, whose mission here would seem to be to sow sedition among the less balanced of our French-speaking youth. There could be no stronger testimony to the liberty under which we live than the freedom enjoyed by alien newspapers whose attitude towards the existing government would, in almost no other country, be tolerated. Writers such as the 'Presse' repudiates, represent the worst element in French and continental republicanism. 'Liberty, fraternity, equality,' is their pretended motto, applicable to all the world. And they invite others to their standard by turning liberty into license; their fraternity is shown by an almost fiendish and insensate hatred of the 'Saxon'; they prove the beauty of equality by sinking below the level of the gutter. So far are they removed from truth that they would not know her if they saw her, and their chief weapons are lies and attributing to others a share of their own vileness. These creature come from Paris, much to the advantage of that city, and they abuse our hospitality by vilifying our honored rulers and the system of government under which they have come to live and which accords them a freedom and safety unknown elsewhere. Who are their readers, for they must find readers to support them? They are either at present a dangerous element of society or they are being taught rapidly to become dangerous. One stock argument against the monarchy is the expense that the throne is to the people, and how much better it would be to divide the pensions of the royal family among the people. As addressed to Canadians at least this argument is nonsense, as we do not contribute one cent towards the monarchy, neither do we pay one cent towards the navy which guards our commerce, nor to the flag which makes us respected all over the earth. Considering how heavily the British Islands are taxed to support the burdens of Empire, a stray grumble on that account would not sound strange from the lips of men there. But the British taxpayer does not, as a rule, grumble at the support of the King's establishment, because he holds that it must be supported with dignity, and knows that it is supported with dignity and also economy. Furthermore, the income that the Royal Family is getting at present by no means all comes out of the people's pockets, as when the Privy Purse was readjusted in Queen Victoria's time hereditary rights of much value were given up to the nation. Supposing the income of the Royal Family was distributed, it would only be fair to divide it equally, and if it were divided equally among the four hundred millions of people composing the British Empire, each person would get about half a cent. Per contra, if every British subject were taxed on this account, about half a cent a year would be the amount of it. And even of this expatriated Frenchmen might go scot free. One principal mischief likely to result from such a press is its circulation abroad where people do not know the difference between French Canadians and Old Country Frenchmen, as we do here. Indeed, we feel certain that after the manner of the Leyds propaganda much of this writing is sent to Europe of malice prepense to misrepresent the sentiments of the loyal French-Canadians, and in return we are, after the same manner, having disseminated in the villages around us such books as 'The Truth About the Boer War,' and other lying and anti-British literature.

DR. RAINSFORD.

One of the most interesting religious developments of the past twenty years has been a vigorous movement in the Church of England which is generally supposed to have got some of its inspiration from Ruskin. Its first manifestation was in college settlements, of which Toynbee Hall in the east end of London was the prototype, where college men went to live among the unwholesome, hopeless, beer and gin-soaked masses, bringing with them athletic vigor, virile, intellectual culture, breezy and contagious courage, and an absence of religious mannerism. The natural sequel to such a movement was the consecration by many young men of their superabundance of health and wealth to the service of the Church, and in one parish after another, where the most depressed of the people could be reached, appeared big burly curates, master hands at the oar or the bat, walking about in short jackets, often with big pipes in their mouths, indifferent to the pay the parish could afford them, but wholly devoted to the good of the people. Some of these may perhaps be most fitly described as philanthropists doing the Good Samaritan work of Christianity, some as ritualists who see in ceremonial the way to God, while with others salvation by faith is the one thing needful, but all are preaching to the people not so much by sermons as by lives overflowing with a divine love. In view of the fact that it had long been felt in church and chapel alike that the prevalent religion had come to be one which appealed more to women than to men this whole-hearted eruption of full-blooded manhood into Christian work has been a most wholesome thing and has by the confession of all put the communion which has most profited by it into a position of great advantage compared with previous days in which it was comparatively losing ground. As a rule these vigorous men, brought up in the broad culture of the universities, look with disdain on all the 'thou shalt nots' with which Puritanism and its successor Methodism accompanied their proclamation of a spiritual religion. The ban of the Methodist on card-playing, dancing and theatre-going, and the more recent denial of the use of alcohol and tobacco are, with them in their plain-spoken college jargon, 'infernal rot.'

We quote this last unpuritanic expression from the Rev. Dr. Rainsford, of New York, who some thirty years ago, as a revival preacher in Toronto, drew continuously about him hungry crowds, many of whom remember the services conducted by him as the time of the turning point in their lives. From there he was called to St. George's, New York, one of the enormously populous parishes of that great city, in succession to the saintly Stephen H. Tyng, who, with his two sons, Stephen and Dudley, became known throughout the land as earnest evangelists. There he has impressed his own personality upon the religious work done and has greatly shocked the convictions of the great majority of the religious world by methods tolerant of recognized evils and by actually setting up a parish beer shop. We have not attempted to discuss, only to account for the expressions of this eminent divine, which appear in an interview published in the present paper. The only thing we would remark with regard to that interview and its culmination in the phrase above quoted is that, according to Goëthe, one of the greatest and least illiberal of modern thinkers, the most infernal thing on earth is 'the spirit that denies.' And we commend this view to the whole modern race of preachers who seem to think they have done something when they have declared their disbelief in something—some of them, though certainly not Dr. Rainsford, so far as appears, in pretty much everything. The only good service a public teacher can render is in his 'yea,' as Carlyle called it. He can do nothing but mischief with his 'nay.'

REFORM IN NEW YORK

The Rev. Mr. Rainsford Gives a Glimpse of Conditions as They Exist To-day

DOES NOT BELIEVE IN LAWS WHICH CANNOT BE ENFORCED.

'If you pass a law higher than the general sentiment, you cannot enforce it, for one thing, and for another you degrade the concept of law. If you pass a law in a great city like New York against drinking on Sunday, for example, and a quarter of a million people want to drink, the law will be broken, and you will degrade the idea of law.'

This is the sentiment of the Rev. Dr. W. Rainsford, formerly of Toronto, the rector of St. George's Church, New York, a noted civic reformer.

Dr. Rainsford, with Mrs. Rainsford and servants was recently at the Windsor Hotel, on his way to Murray Bay, to enjoy a summer holiday.

New York is not on the eve of the millennium, but New York, during the last twenty years has greatly improved, in the estimation of Dr. Rainsford. It is now under a reform administration. Mr. Low is a fine citizen. He has given money, he has given time, he has given brains, to the work of civic reform, but all reformers are not wise, there is zeal without knowledge and in the ranks of the reformers there are generally some fools and cranks. And when the reform party gets into power, there is a notion prevalent that all necessary reforms will at once be accomplished. But it is not so. And all the time the opposition is very much alive, and is always drilling. For example, in New York, there were good men in the administration, but on the other hand, you had to deal with human nature as you found it, not as you would like it to be, and some reformers would not so regard the problem. For the problem was very complex, indeed, in New York city. You have there more Germans than in Berlin, more Jews than in any other city in the world. You had various nationalities which brought their ideas and customs with them. There was Tammany, which was a corrupt organization.

'Well, there was a certain body of sumptuary laws in New York which had been found to be unenforcible. There was a law against Sunday drinking for instance. Now, if you pass a law against drinking, and a quarter of a million people in the city say they want to drink the law will be broken, and the concept of the law will be degraded. The same thing applies to the social evil. There is a law against certain disorderly houses, but it can't be enforced, and the result is that the law is degraded. It is the old story. You can't make men good by act of parliament. The police will enforce your law in such a way as to make the people hate it, while they will favor their friends, and then you will establish a system of blackmailing. You say in one breath that a man may bet ten thousand dollars on a horse race and not suffer the loss of respectability; in the next you say that if a man named Smith or Jones bets one dollar in a policy shop he is to be punished. You say that people shall not drink on Sunday, for instance. Well, you have the saloon-keepers engaged in a trade which demands the greatest competition; there will be side doors spite of all you can do, and the police will enforce the law in such a way as to make it detestable, while they will favor a certain number of their friends. You cannot enforce a law which is far in advance of general conscience. For this reason I am opposed to prohibition, and the prohibition party in the United States as I would be opposed to the party in Canada, if I were here. Prohibition is infernal rot. Local option I cordially approve of. It has worked well to my certain knowledge under conditions that favor it. The prohibition party has helped to degrade politics. It will make a dicker, it will sell itself to a party which offers support and advantages—sell itself believing that it is doing right. It has done so before. It will do so again. It hangs together. It is not in the public interest. I do not know what the next generation will drink; I do know that the present generation drinks beer and whiskey and you cannot stop it by act of parliament. For, remember this, that when you can only show a small majority for prohibition, you have a large minority which will always make the law of none effect, and who will lower the idea of law in the public mind. I speak from experience.

'I believe every man should be in politics, but I believe at the same time, that every man should be honest, not trimming and, above all, not seeming to be what he is not. There are good men in Tammany Hall. There are men in Tammany who are members of my church. There is corruption with democratic institutions not only in New York, but elsewhere. There need not be; there will not always be, but there is at this moment.'

In regard to the Low administration, Dr. Rainsford said that reformers expected the world to be made over in the new the day after they were returned to power. That did not happen. The crux of the situation was the police force. There was no doubt that the police force was corrupt. Up to the present, certain captains had been transferred only. That did not go to the root of the evil. At the same time the police commissioners did not apparently feel able to adopt more drastic measures, which were, in his opinion, necessary. Tammany was disorganized, on the other hand, and it was possible that through that fact the Low regime might be continued in power.

At the same time Dr. Rainsford insisted upon the many ameliorating features of civic and individual life in New York. The problem in that city was not insoluble. But it needed honesty. It needed an understanding of human nature. It would not do to have zeal and lack knowledge. Jesus had said that you can only build for stability upon a rock, i.e., the truth. You must accept certain facts, however distasteful they may be. You must deal with the situation as you find it. You must not expect too much all at once. And you must make allowance for customs which have been consecrated by ages. New York, the United States, Canada, were all advancing—were all coming forward on the side at once of greatness and righteousness. In fifty years from now New York would be the greatest city in the world. And it would not be the worst. The United States was big, but bigness was not greatness. Eighty millions might only spell size. Both the United States and Canada would yet be great in the best sense of the word. The people who came to these shores came with high hopes. They meant to better themselves. They meant, upon the whole, to live well. He had been recently addressing the students of ten colleges in the United States, and he found a quick response to all that was high and noble. God grant that both countries might be truly great. If they did not, with the superb opportunities which had been vouchsafed, they deserved to be dynamited. But the thing to avoid was misdirected zeal in the matter of reform. If you say to a man that you will not allow him to drink, he will find a way of drinking; your reform must be compatible with liberty.

Dr. Rainsford said he was glad to see the war over between England and the Boers. He hoped England would learn from it. For one thing, note that statement which was made in the House of Commons, to the effect that the volunteers could not be allowed the use of Richmond Park for purposes of drill because such drill would disturb the pheasants, of which the Duke of Cambridge was the guardian at a salary of five thousand pounds per annum.

'I thought it strange your papers did not notice this. Is it not a scandal? Here is a decrepit old gentleman, who will not allow the volunteers of England to drill lest some pheasants might be disturbed, and of course the pheasants are more important than the men who might have to defend the country at a moment's notice.'

SECOND MOUNTED RIFLES

SOME EXTRACTS FROM A BELATED DESCRIPTION OF THE REGIMENT'S WORK IN THE FIELD.

'Allan Ralston,' with the 2nd Canadian Mounted Rifles, writes from Klerksdorp, Transvaal, May 22, showing the regiment to have remained in the war-bitten district which was the scene of its first encounter with the enemy. The letter tells of Major Merritt, Major Cameron, Lieut. Mackay and Lieut. Galt as great favorites of the men. Every Sunday Major Merritt held service while on the voyage, assisted by two divinity students who had enlisted as privates. Writing of the scenery, 'Allan Ralston' says of the voyage from Capetown to Durban:

'At first the land scene was made up of green sea, a sand tract, with blue sky overhead, but as Natal, the garden of Africa, came into view, the dullness of land scenery gave place to visions of loveliness that require the pen of a Ruskin to write or the brush of a Turner to put on canvas. It seemed as if at some time a mighty green wave had rushed upon the shore line and, breaking into smaller ones, had continued into the interior and suddenly stayed its course under a burning sky, stamping the landscape as far as the eye can see as the emerald hills of God.'

To the fruit-hungry Canadians, after their long voyage, the groves and produce of Natal gave them an idea that it was a veritable Eden. Eight pineapples for a shilling was a revelation to the men, who in Canada had paid that figure for one; and other delicious fruits were abundant and as cheap.

Passing up after reaching Durban and taking the railway, Majuba Hill, Laing's Nek and other places not far from Colenso must have inspired the Canadians, for on their great ride of nearly twenty-four hours on March 23, or about that day in a reconnaissance from Klerksdorp, there were but few who did not keep up with the highly successful raid then made. The great event, however, was the fight at Boschboult (at first called Hart's River). There were some 800 Canadians in the fight, which 'Allan Ralston' thus describes:

British troops, with Maxim and pom-pom gun detachments, along with our force, made up a total of about 1,500 men all told. The British advance guard having come to the enemy, with whom they had a slight engagement, hurried on after the Boer transport, which was ahead of them. Their advance led into a valley, with sides gradually sloping up to crowning heights about fifty feet high. As our force advanced the Boer transport which was being pursued opened out to right and left, and as far as could be seen the British pursuers rode between. Parties of mounted Boers could be seen, but as they did not seem to be in any considerable force, the command to halt was given to our men and horselines to be laid down. In some cases the saddles were not off, when whizz, whizz, came the sudden rip of bullets and the shriek of shells, with the moaning dirge of the deadly pom-pom. A sudden rush was made for rifles and bandoliers. Some began to dig trenches, and on either side the Boers began to crown the heights and pour in their Mauser and shrapnel fire. For nearly three hours the hell of war continued. . . . . Some who had then their first experience of war had naturally a few moments of nervous temerity. Who could blame them, when it is considered that it was their baptism of fire? As the men lay there on the bare veldt, without any protection, there was an occasional moan as a shot went home, or an expression such as 'My God, I'm hit,' from some brave lad, but facing death like the oldest war-worn veterans, they fought it out. . . . The total of 13 killed and 34 wounded told the tale of their valor. Milligan, one of the killed, was a Bisley marksman. There were 128 horses killed.

'Allan Ralston' gives great praise to Lieut. Carruthers and others who have already been heralded in the list of Canadian heroes, and concludes with the hope that peace might come as the result of the conference that followed the sharp work of the troops in the field, and has resulted as he hoped.

THE CATARRH OF SUMMER.

Two Letters from Thankful Women Who Were Cured of Catarrh of the Stomach by Pe-ru-na.

MISS EMILY LYON, 218 Richmond street, London, Ont., writes:—

"I am pleased to inform you that I am entirely cured of catarrh of the stomach by the persistent use of Peruna. I suffered everything and took everything both from physicians and proprietary medicines, but got no relief until I tried Peruna, and it will always be with the loudest praise that I recommend this wonderful remedy Peruna."

—Miss Emily Lyon.

Catarrh of the stomach is usually called dyspepsia. Catarrhal dyspepsia cannot be cured by pepsin powders or any other temporary relief. The only cure for real dyspepsia is a removal of the catarrh from the mucous membrane of the stomach. This Peruna will do. This Peruna has done thousands and thousands of times.

Congressman Botkin, of Kansas, was cured of catarrh of the stomach of many years' standing. Hundreds of other cases have been reported to us through unsolicited testimonials. Peruna is the only internal systemic remedy for catarrh yet devised. Every one afflicted with catarrh in the slightest degree ought to take a course of Peruna.

Mrs. Nancy Ogden, Armel, Frederick county, Va., writes :—

'If any one had told me that Peruna would cure the heart-burn and sour stomach as long as I have had it I could not have believed it, but it has after so many years' standing.

"I have had it thirty-five years. Have doctored with everything that I have heard of, and have tried some of the best doctors—but all did no good.

'They would say I had stomach trouble and that they could not cure it. I will always praise Peruna. If anyone wishes to write to me I will be glad to answer them.—Mrs. Nancy Ogden.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

A free book entitled, 'Health and Beauty,' written especially for women sent free upon application.

SCHOOL CLOSINGS

LONGUEUIL SCHOOL

The closing exercises of the Longueuil School took place on Monday afternoon, June 23, 1902. There were present on the platform, the Rev. J. Douglas Borthwick, LL.D., the Rev. N. A. F. Bourne, rector of St. Mark's Church, and the entire board of school commissioners with one exception, Messrs. John Smillie, presiding; W. Simpson Walker, B.C.L., secretary-treasurer; John Seddon, Peter Ferris and Mr. Andrew Hardie, chairman of the board.

An interesting programme of songs, patriotic and vacation choruses, recitations, dialogues and instrumental music, was ably rendered by the pupils.

Never in the annals of the school has an afternoon closing been encouraged by a larger attendance of parents and friends of the pupils, or by a greater interest in school matters than on Monday afternoon.

Appropriate and witty speeches were made by the commissioners and other visitors.

Mr. W. S. Walker presented each family attending the school with a coronation souvenir portrait of our King and Queen.

Dr. Borthwick explained that he had offered for competition, copies of his own work, 'The Streets of Montreal,' and of his collection of 'Poems on the South African War,' as special prizes for proficiency in Canadian history and general geography. Those winning these really valuable books are, in order of merit:

1. H. Alleyne Bourne, III. Grade Model.
2. Ayshford P. Hamilton, III. Grade Model.
3. Lizzie M. Walker and Violet M. Barton, equal, III. Grade.
5. Marion Elliott, II. Grade.
6. Gerald West, I. Grade.

This year's work has been most satisfactory and successful, in spite of the fact that the serious illness throughout the month of June of the principal, Mr. D. M. Gilmour, left the entire charge of the examinations, etc., in the hands of his assistant, Miss Ethel M. Doull, B.A.

Mr. W. S. Walker distributed the commissioners' prizes to the successful candidates, accompanying each with a neat little speech of congratulation.

The following is a list of these prize-winners:

MODEL DEPARTMENT.

III. Grade—Lizzie M. Walker, first gen. prof. and conduct; Violet M. Barton, gen. prof. and conduct; Dorothy Barton, gen. prof.; H. Alleyne Bourne, gen. prof. and conduct; Ayshford P. Hamilton, general prof., cond. and punct.; Helen Walker, cond. and punct.; Frances Burgess, punct.

II. Grade—Willie Brown, first gen. prof.; Marion Elliott, gen. prof.; Amy Bourne, conduct.

I. Grade—Gerald West, first gen. prof.; Hazel McGee, punct.; Melbourne A. Dougherty, conduct and punct.

PRIMARY DEPARTMENT.

III. Grade—M. Irene Porteous, first gen. prof. and conduct. Special prize in scrip.; Frances C. Dougherty, gen. prof., conduct and punct., special prize in scripture; J. Harold Patterson, gen. prof. and conduct; Charles R. Hill, gen. prof.

II. Grade—Archie Baker, first gen. prof.; Gordon R. Kerr, gen. prof.

I. Grade—Jessie Bourne, first gen. prof. and conduct; York Wilks, gen. prof. and conduct; Frank W. Dougherty, gen. prof., conduct and punct.; Arthur Patterson, gen. prof.

The proceedings were concluded by the singing of the National Anthem, the audience being requested to join in the coronation stanza.

THE MILTON CLASSES

The closing of this private school took place on Tuesday evening, and a large number of parents and friends were in attendance.

The prizes were presented by the Rev. David Winter, pastor of Centenary Methodist Church, who gave pleasant words of greeting. The pupils numbered 30.

Additional prizes for Sunday school work were presented by the Rev. G. Osborne Troop, rector of St. Martin's Church. The school is conducted by Miss Tyndale, at 136 Milton street, and a delightful feature of the evening was the presentation by the children of a perfect shower of flowers to Mrs. Tyndale, the aged and venerated mother of their teacher. Mr. Troop closed with prayer, especially remembering the suffering King and sorrowing empire.

MR. TARTE'S PLANS

WILL VISIT WINNIPEG IN JULY OR AUGUST.

Winnipeg, June 26.—In reply to a request for improvements to boulevards on government property here, the Hon. Mr. Tarte, Minister of Public Works, informed the Winnipeg Parks Board that he intends to visit Winnipeg during July or August.

PORTRAIT OF THE REV. DR. AMARON.

The 'French-American Citizen' mentions that portraits of the Rev. C. E. Amaron, D.D., and the late Mrs. Amaron, have been donated to the French-American College at Springfield, and hung in the college chapel. They were donated largely through the agency of Mrs. George H. Howard.

THE LATE MR. GOODHUE

ACTION HAS BEEN TAKEN TO UPSET HIS WILL.

Action has been taken before the Superior Court, at Sherbrooke, to upset and set aside the will of the late Mr. George C. Goodhue, of Danville, Que., who left an estate valued at about $100,000, the principal bequests being made to 'The National Incorporated Association for the Reclamation of Destitute Waif Children,' known as Dr. Barnardo's Homes, of London, England, and the British and Foreign Bible Society of London, England. These institutions are made defendants in the suit together with Mr. Henry P. Stockwell, of Danville, Que., personally, and as executor of testator, and the natural heirs mis en cause, several of whom are resident in Montreal.

The late Mr. George C. Goodhue was a resident of Danville, and during his lifetime was a firm exponent of temperance principles, and was a leader of and supporter of prohibition. While in a state of mental aberration he committed suicide, and a coroner's jury rendered a verdict accordingly. His brother, Mr. Edward C. Goodhue, of Brighton, Vt., has now taken action, and wants the will set aside in favor of himself and brother, and two sisters.

The declaration reiterates the facts relating to the suicide. Deceased was not married and his two brothers and two sisters are named in plaintiff's declaration as heirs. It is claimed that deceased was not in sound mind prior to his death. The bequest to the 'Barnardo Homes is objected to by reason of its 'uncertainty, vagueness and obscurity as to the person intended to be benefited.'

As realty is included in the bequests the petitioner sets forth that the corporations mentioned have no power to receive, acquire or hold by will or otherwise any real estate. The petition concludes by praying that Mr. Henry B. Stockwell be enjoined against transferring the estate or any part of it, but ordered to deliver it to the four heirs, and that in any case the bequest to the Barnardo Homes be declared null and void.

Mr. P. S. G. Mackenzie, M.P.P., for Richmond, of the firm of Messrs. Mackenzie and Tessier, represents Mr. Edward C. Goodhue, in the contestation.

THE ANCIENT CAPITAL

FRENCH-AMERICAN DOCTORS.

Quebec, June 26.—The first congress of the Association of French-speaking physicians of North America opened here yesterday at Laval University in the presence of the different faculties and a large gathering of the public. About 350 French-speaking physicians and surgeons from all parts of Canada and the United States, chiefly graduates of Laval, were also present. The proceedings began with the presentation of addresses to the rector of Laval by the president of the association, Dr. Brodeur, of Quebec, and to the congress by the Hon. A. Turgeon, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Education, on behalf of the province, and Pro-Mayor Tanguay, on behalf of the city. The reading and discussing of papers on subjects of interest to the profession took up the remainder of the morning and the whole of the afternoon session. Last night a grand reception, to which ladies were admitted, was held at the University by the congress.

FOR THE KING'S RECOVERY.

A letter was published yesterday afternoon in all the French local papers, announcing the indefinite postponement of all the religious services ordered in this diocese on the occasion of the coronation and also inviting the faithful to join in prayer for the prompt restoration of His Majesty. The Lieutenant-Governor has also ordered the postponement of all garden parties and state dinners at Spencerwood, pending the King's illness.

NOTES.

Lieut.-Governor McIntyre has sufficiently recovered from his recent illness to leave for home last night.

The Rev. Mr. Mercier, the Roman Catholic priest whose body has been found in the Red River near Emerson, Manitoba, was a native of Levis, where his parents still reside.

The closing exercises of the Protestant schools of the city took place yesterday, the Hon. R. Turner presiding, and were very largely attended.

The services in the different Protestant churches here yesterday morning and last evening to intercede for the recovery of the King were attended by large and devout congregations.

ONTARIO LICENSE HOLDERS

MEMBERS PLEDGE THEMSELVES TO VOTE ON THE REFERENDUM.

Toronto, June 26.—The ninth annual convention of the Ontario License Holders' Protective Association, on Tuesday, adopted a resolution endorsing the recommendation of the legislation committee in favor of an active voting campaign on the referendum. The 250 members present pledged themselves to participate. Mr. J. F. Collins, of Dundas, presided, and the officers elected for the year were :—Messrs. F. X. St. Jacques, Ottawa, president; first vice-president, D. B. Birrell, York Mills; second vice-president, J. M. Brooks, Peterborough; secretary, E. Dickie, Toronto; treasurer, James McFarlane, Toronto; executive committee, H. Maxey, Hamilton; F. J. Collins, Dundas; John Coffey, Barrie; T. P. Phelan, Toronto; E. Hartnett, St. Catharines; N. J. Frawley, Orillia; T. K. Haffy, Toronto. The association will meet next year in Toronto. The delegates to-day will be entertained by a trip to Niagara Falls.

PROHIBITIONIST ACTIVITY.

The official announcement that Ontario liquor men have decided to fight prohibition by an attempt to outvote prohibitionists at the referendum poll on Dec. 4 has precipitated an early opening of the campaign. For months the liquor dealers have been divided, many advising it as the best policy of the 'trade' to leave prohibitionists to alone vote, against the total of 216,000 required to secure the operation of the prohibitory act.

Ald. Spence secretary of the Alliance says the decision of the liquor men is what he has expected. They fear to stay away from the polls lest the prohibition majority be more overwhelming than before. The liquor party will no doubt do their utmost to bring out a larger vote than they have ever yet polled. Many of our workers are confident of polling a vote large enough to put the prohibitory law in operation. There are certainly voters enough in favor of prohibition in Ontario to accomplish this.

The Hon. S. C. Biggs says :—'If our people will unite we can win on Dec. 4. We certainly have the votes in Ontario. I will do all I can to achieve a victory for prohibition.'

Mr. W. W. Buchanan says : 'The decision of the liquor men may provoke the most foolish move they could make.'

A STORY DENIED

The favorable bulletins of the forenoon were received during the early part of the day with great satisfaction, and expressions of hopefulness were general on the Board of Trade and Stock Exchange. People who recalled the Garfield tragedy, however, were not to be satisfied with the general tone, and pessimistically declared that the news was too good; but yet they were hungry for better news after all.

A report became current just before noon that the Bank of Montreal had received a message which was the direct opposite of every buoyant bulletin of the day. The bank authorities promptly denied the story, when asked as to its truth, and added that a similarly false report had been given yesterday. They had not had a word of any sort to-day.

MONTREAL'S FINANCIAL LOSSES.

Several Montrealers have had personal experience on a very limited scale of the sort of losses many of the tradespeople of London have been called upon to bear as a result of the postponement of the coronation. The contractors who erected the grand stand on Lafontaine Park in anticipation of the military review will lose some $2,000, and local caterers who contracted to feed the visiting troops while in the city, bought thousands of dollars' worth of fresh provisions, most of which will be a dead loss. Scores of vendors of coronation souvenirs find themselves with large stocks on their hands.

CANADIANS IN LONDON.

A Montrealer, who is in London, writing home, speaks of the many eminent Canadians in England just now. Of Dr. Ami, of the Geological Survey, Ottawa, he says: 'He is accepted by geologists as a very eminent man and the highest authority in his line.'

NO TE DEUM ON SUNDAY.

An official notice issued by the Chancellor of the Roman Catholic Archbishop's Palace says:—'On account of the sudden serious illness of His Majesty King Edward VII., which will prevent the coronation ceremonies from taking place, the hymn of rejoicing that had been ordered by His Grace the Archbishop of Montreal, will not be chanted in the churches of the diocese, on Sunday next, but the faithful will make it a duty to fervently pray God for the cure of their august sovereign.

CITY ITEMS.

The Protestant Hospital for the Insane at Verdun reports for the week ending June 24: Three patients admitted, one discharged on trial. The visiting governors for next week are Messrs. O. Gould, E. C. Gurney, R. Hamilton, and J. W. Hopkins.

Joseph Bolduc, aged nineteen years, was caught in the act of snatching a purse from Miss L. Genest, on Notre Dame street, last evening. He endeavored to escape, but was captured by two gentlemen who witnessed the act, and handed over to Constable Stuart, who took him to the Central Police Station. He will appear before the police magistrate to-morrow. He said his home was in Dover, N.H.

A man who said his name was Thomas Larkin, and his home, Charlestown, Mass., walked into the Lachine canal at the foot of Colborne street, late last night, and would probably have been drowned had not Constable McDonough, of No. 7 station, heard his cries for help and succeeded in rescuing him. Larkin said he was a veteran of the Cuban and Philippine wars.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. John Brady and child, of 843 City Hall avenue, are spending the summer at New Glasgow, Que.

Mr. J. Hamilton Ferns, chairman of the Board of Assessors, has taken up his summer residence at Dewittville, P. Q.

Lieut.-Col. Hanson and Mrs. Hanson are in town for a day or two. Colonel Hanson says the news of the King's position was received in Berthier with sorrow equal to that in which all Quebec heard the sad news.

Colonel McMullen, one of the directors of the Montreal Bridge Company, residing in New York, was taken seriously ill last week and suffered severely from pneumonia and heart failure. A letter to-day shows that he is convalescent, and expects to be about again in a few days.

SEPARATION REFUSED.

Judge Curran yesterday dismissed the action of Dame Pauze vs. Grothe. This was an action for separation from bed and board. The court found that the whole trouble had arisen from the plaintiff's refusal to go and live with her husband in their own house, and her persistency in living with her parents. Under these circumstances, and considering that a good home was offered the wife by her husband her action must be dismissed.

OBITUARY.

Utica, N.Y., June 26.—The Hon. Nicholas E. Kernan, a prominent attorney of this city, died this morning. Yesterday his left leg was amputated at the knee to stop the progress of gangrene due to thickening of the walls of the arteries.

M. S. R. EXTENSION

New Central Belt Line to be in Operation on Monday.

A MAGNIFICENT, PICTURESQUE ADDITION TO THE GUY STREET LINE BEGUN.

Montreal's street car system is growing apace just now. The new double-track line on Commissioners street, in many respects the most complete bit of track construction in the city, is practically completed, and the new central belt line, which promises to be in many respects the most important electric car line in Montreal, will be put in operation on Monday next. The new service starts from Commissioners street, opposite Bonsecours Market, runs west along Commissioners street to McGill, to Victoria Square, along Craig and Little Craig westward to St. James, to Windsor to St. Catherine, eastward to St. Denis to Craig to Berri to Commissioners. The cars along this line will, of course, run in both directions.

Work was yesterday begun on the long desired extension of the Seigneurs-Guy street line to Westmount avenue, on the very summit of the mountain. This is the extension which Mr. William Little has so long and so persistently worked for, and that gentleman should be delighted beyond measure to-day. Toward the very abrupt grade at the top of Cote des Neiges Hill, the Montreal Street Railway has purchased a right of way to the west of the big stone fence closing in the Cote des Neiges Road. The tracks will turn off the road to the new right of way just about the present terminus. The fence has been broken down at this spot to admit the tracks, revealing a scene over Westmount Heights, the west end of the city, Verdun, and the Lachine Rapids fairly bewitching in its beauty. In fact from this new bit of track, which is a quarter of a mile in length, there will be presented the most beautiful piece of scenery obtainable from any part of the Montreal Street Railway. The view rivals that obtained from the lookouts in Mount Royal park, and the trip to Westmount Heights will be a popular one for tourists in future.

Progress has also been made on the company's tracks in St. Louis du Mile End, where 150 men have been employed on the different streets. The double track in St. Lawrence Main, from Mount Royal avenue to the Canadian Pacific Railway Station at Mile End has been raised and completed, as have the two tracks on Park avenue, from the corner of Mount Royal up to Van Horne avenue.

The company has also laid a double track in Van Horne avenue, from Park avenue to St. Lawrence street, and it is understood that the line will be in running order in two weeks.

In connection with this improvement the town has been proceeding with the widening of St. Lawrence street, from Mount Royal avenue, north. This has resulted in the demolition of an old landmark, Wiseman's Hotel, at the corner of Mount Royal avenue. This building was originally a farm house on one of the farms of the Stanley Bagg Estate.

INCREASED WAGES

C. P. R. BRIDGE MEN AND OTHERS WILL BENEFIT.

Mr. J. T. Wilson, chairman of the American Brotherhood of Railway Trackmen, has left for his home. He has successfully concluded negotiations with the Canadian Pacific Railway Company and has secured an increase for bridgemen, and men of the water houses, who form part of the trackmen's brotherhood. Six hundred men will participate in the advance. Those who will benefit chiefly are the workmen, who previously received the minimum, $1.40 a day. Under the new agreement they will receive an increase of 25 cents, making $1.65 a day, which will be the minimum for the entire system. Foremen will receive from $2.50 to $3 a day. Other increases are in the neighborhood of fifteen percent.

The eastern division was the only one in which the demands of the trackmen were arbitrated, an amicable settlement having been arrived at on all the other sections. Mr. Wilkinson, of Toronto, chairman, of the Local Committee, will remain for a few days in the city settling up a few matters of detail.

THE MONTREAL TERMINAL

THE ROAD COMMITTEE VISITS THE SITE OF THE PROPOSED FORSYTH STREET EXTENSION.

The Road Committee and the city surveyor yesterday visited the ground in the east end over which it is proposed to construct the extension of Forsyth street which is to be a part of the route of the Montreal Terminal Railway's city line. It was found that all but one proprietor were willing to cede the necessary land to the city for the regulation expropriation price as tendered by the company, and the members practically decided yesterday to recommend to council that regular expropriation proceedings be taken in that case.

There was some difference of opinion expressed as to the advisability of taking any action whatever with regard to the necessary tunnel through the C. P. R. embankment.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

MONTREAL HAS A NUMBER OF UNIFORMED VISITORS FROM VERMONT.

The Knights of Pythias of the State of Vermont who arranged to come to Montreal for the coronation arrived here yesterday, and are quartered at various hotels, with headquarters at the Albion. A large uniformed contingent accompanies the excursion, and the smart uniforms are much in evidence everywhere. The knights arranged to come to Montreal as a mark of neighborly good will for the projected celebration, and when that event was postponed, found that they could not very well cancel their arrangements, and decided to come anyway. The Montreal knights are extending courtesies to the visitors.

MYSTERIOUS CRIME

MICHAEL ANGELO CLUBBED IN A FIGHT—WILL DIE.

Michael Angelo, an Italian railway laborer, arrived in Montreal from Pierrefield, N.Y., last night, unconscious from a compound fracture of the skull. He was brought by a friend, who accompanied him in an ambulance to the General Hospital, where he volunteered the information that Angelo had been struck on the head with a club in a fight. While Angelo was being put to bed, the friend disappeared, and has not been seen since. Angelo is still unconscious, and may die without regaining consciousness. Father Leonardo has administered the last rites of the Church.

NO RACE.

THE YALE-HARVARD CONTEST PUT OFF FOR SMOOTHER WATER.

New London, Conn., June 26.—The morning of the Yale-Harvard boat race day dawned cloudy and threatening, but by 9.30 it began to clear. In the harbor and at the mouth of the river the water was rough, but up-stream, near the quarters, it was more favorable.

2.30 p.m.—A steady north-west wind, which had freshened up at noon and which had made the surface of the river so rough that racing would be impossible, had not abated at half-past one. It has been officially announced from the committee boat that the race will not be held until the water is smoother.

MICHIGAN MINERS

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE OPERATORS DISCUSSING THE WAGE QUESTION WITH THE MEN.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 20.—The delegation of miners and operators, representatives from Michigan, who are conferring with Mr. Mitchell, president, in an attempt to arrange an entire new wage scale for the miners of that state, have made fair progress, but it may not be that a satisfactory conclusion would be reached.

The president, Mr. Haskins, the vice-president, Mr. Sullivan, and the secretary, Mr. Savage, of the Ohio miners, arrived last night for a conference with Mr. Mitchell. The nature of the conference has not been positively learned, but it is generally believed to be on matters connected with the special national convention. The call for the special convention has been received by local unions and they are beginning to elect delegates.

HUNTINGDON ACADEMY

PROVISIONAL PROGRAMME FOR THE JUBILEE CELEBRATION.

Huntingdon, Que., June 26.—An outline of the programme for the Huntingdon Academy Jubilee on Dominion Day is out, but it may be revised at a meeting of the committee which takes place to-morrow. It is as follows:—

Assembly at Academy of pupils and Independent Order of Foresters (who are joining in) in morning to march to Grand Trunk Railway station in procession, to meet 9.10 a.m. train and welcome incoming friends, thence to New York Central station to meet 9.25 train, and then proceed to march through the principal streets of the town, headed by Ormstown band and marshalled by seven outriders in uniform, children and Foresters in full regalia, winding up at the park adjoining the Academy. Speeches will come next in order, the following gentlemen having signified their intention of being present to address the assemblage: Dr. Shaw and Dr. J. T. Elder, of Montreal; Sir F. W. Broder, M.P., Mr. Branchaud, advocate, of Beauharnois; Messrs. MacLaren and Walker, our local members of parliament; the local clergy and others to be heard from. This will fill in the time up to noon when a dinner will be served in Moir Hall by the ladies of Huntingdon and vicinity, after which a fine programme of sports will take place on the park grounds. The sports committee, with Dr. R. N. Walsh, Mayor, as chairman, has spared no pains to make these sports a feature of the day. In the evening a grand display of fireworks and private illuminations will be seen, as a number of citizens have gone to some expense in decorations, and the whole will wind up with a soiree in Moir Hall.

MANITOBA SCHOOL LANDS

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT WILL PAY INTEREST ON DEFERRED PAYMENTS.

Ottawa, June 26.—The Federal Government has decided to pay to the Province of Manitoba, interest collected for years on deferred payments of school lands, and also rentals paid in connection with the school lands which have been leased at yearly rentals. This amounts to the sum of $224,114.

A NEW JUDGE.

Ottawa, June 26.—Mr. E. J. Reynolds, K.C., Brockville, has been appointed junior judge of the county of Leeds and Grenville. Provision was made for this appointment at the last session of parliament.

POSTAL NOTICE.

Tuesday next, July 1, Dominion Day, will be observed as a holiday by the Montreal post-office The outgoing afternoon mails will be closed at 10 a.m., and the night mails at the usual hours. Mails for the SS. 'Majestic' for Great Britani and Europe will be closed at 8.45 a.m., and (supplementary) at 6.45 p.m. The wickets of this office will be closed at ten a.m. The lobby will be open from seven a.m. to midnight.

WILL WRITE A BOOK

MR. NEVILLE EDWARDS IS HERE TO WRITE ABOUT CONDITIONS AND RESOURCES.

Mr. Neville Edwards lived several years in South Africa. He was in Johannesburg at the time of the Jameson raid. He lived altogether four years there at a stretch, and when he returned to England he wrote three books about it, not to speak of many articles on the subject for the newspapers and magazines. Mr. Edwards left England to be the head of the correspondence department of the Standard Bank at Johannesburg. He received a good salary, but in course of time he conceived the notion that he would prefer literature. So he began by writing for the local press. Then he went to England and wrote articles about the South African country. Afterwards he wrote a book called 'The Transvaal in Peace and War,' a book which had a good sale. He also wrote about China. He has travelled a good deal; he is now in Montreal on his way west. He stated to-day at the C. P. R. offices that he had been tempted to come out to write about the country, partly, of course, with a view to profit, but also from a patriotic motive. He believed that information about this magnificent country could not be too widely diffused. He would first write a series of articles for a syndicate of papers in England; then he would sit down and write a book on the country.

Mr. Edwards intends to interview all persons of influence and authority. He wants his book to be full of pictures. It is his thought that he will be able to do something for the empire by showing the millions at home, who are so crowded, what an inheritance there is in Canada.

Mr. Edwards says the Transvaal is very rich in minerals, but he would not advise emigration to it, as he could advise it to Canada. The Boers, he found, were rather decent, and he does not believe there will be trouble now that peace has been proclaimed. The Boers will sell to the English, and the Boer girls will marry the Englishmen. That has been the way in the past. He knew it for a fact that just before the war broke out Kruger asked in Germany for the amount of ammunition which the Germans used in the Franco-Prussian war, and then ordered eight times as much as the original order.

Mr. Edwards admires the little he has seen of the country, but he intends to go to the coast, and will take his time, getting the best possible impressions and the surest information.

A MADMAN'S ACT.

Marlboro, Mass., June 26.—Daniel Culna thrust his seven-year-old son into the oven of a hot stove to-day, and closed the door, before going into the yard to get more fuel. An older boy, hearing screams, ran into the kitchen and rescued the smaller child, who was terribly burned. The father then went to the Church of the Immaculate Conception and told the priest what he had done. He said that the devil had told him to do it. The man was taken into custody and will be given medical attention. It is thought that the child will recover.

MR. HERBERT'S PROSPECTS.

London, June 26.—Commenting on the Hon. Michael Henry Herbert, the British Ambassador to the United States, being made a Knight Commander of St. Michael and St. George, the 'St. James's Gazette' says this afternoon :—' A peerage is sure to follow this knighthood, if all goes well at the British embassy at Washington.'

THE GRAND TRUNK ELEVATOR.

The Harbor Commissioners had another lengthy private session this morning discussing the draft agreement submitted by the Grand Trunk Railway Company for the proposed new grain elevator at Windmill Point.

SHIPPING.

RETURNS FROM ST. JOHN, N.B.

Mr. Hector McLean, mechanical superintendent of the Elder-Dempster line, returned yesterday from St. John, N.B., after fitting up the company's SS. Monarch for 800 horses. Mr. McLean states that the horses are of a class that will do a great deal of good for the Dominion, as they will make excellent cavalry remounts.

SS. ANGOLA CHARTERED.

The SS. Angola, Captain Carruthers, which is under charter by the Imperial Government, is on her way from South Africa to Montreal, where she will load 800 horses for the United Kingdom cavalry depots. Captain Carruthers is no stranger to the St. Lawrence, he having at one time been in the service of the Elder-Dempster line.

A FOG SIGNAL WANTED.

Captain Rollo, of the Thomson lins SS. Bellona, makes the suggestion that Fame Point should be provided with a powerful fog horn, a siren being preferable with high and low blasts. Captain Rollo is of the opinion that unless Fame Point is equipped with suitable signal there will certainly be an accident.

THE SS. SAHARA.

The work of discharging the damaged rice of the SS. Sahara, which went ashore off Bic is being rushed forward. She has still a large amount of the water in her holds and the pumps are being kept continually at work. Her injuries are of such a nature that it will be necessary for her to go into dry dock at Quebec for repairs before proceeding to sea.

LAKE ONTARIO'S LIST.

The Beaver line SS. Lake Ontario, Captain Evans, in addition to 683 steerage and 30 second cabin passengers has also on board the following list of saloon passengers:—Miss E. Burnham, Rev. W. A. Butterworth, Mrs. Butterworth, Miss Butterworth, Miss Butterworth, Mr. E. S. Flint, Mr. A. M. avin, Mr. Gavin, Mr. W. C. Hall, Miss E. M. Keen, Mr. E. W. S. Peake, Miss E M. Peake, Rev. R. R. Pride, Mr. G. H. Russell, Rev. H. P? Skinner, Mr. O. H. Waring, Mr. C. W. St. J. Yeld.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

New York, June 26.—Wall Street — Very few stocks were traded in in the opening dealings and the price changes were insignificant except that St. Paul was run up a point. Ice preferred also gained a point A few stocks showed slight declines, but the prevailing tone was steady.

Western and Pacific stocks reached a higher level in sympathy with the heavy absorption of St. Paul which lifted it to 175¾. The other grangers gained over a point each, but the advances in standard stocks generally were confined to large fractions. Amalgamated worked up to near 65 but the specialties generally were neglected though firm. Manhattan came into demand later and advanced 1¼ and American Ice preferred extended its gain to 2¾ Prices receded slightly before noon. Bonds were steady.

TORONTO STOCK MARKET.

Toronto, June 26.—The local share market was quiet this morning but firm. the only movement of note being in C.P.R., which again followed New York. Insurance stocks more active than usual, easing under moderate selling. Tractions were neglected. C.P.R. opened ⅛ higher at 133, sold up to 133⅜ with 3,985 shares changing hands. Street Railway showed no life; a small lot of Twin City changing hands at 118 1-8, an advance of ½, and a few Rights at 1½. Toronto Railway was firmly held, offered at 120, with 119¾ bid. Navigation issues neglected with wide margin between prices of the buyers and sellers. The speculating public are beginning to realize that the present season has not been very favorable for traffic by boat, and that the earnings must show the result. Usually earnings are expected to be sufficient to pay running expenses for the season, the earnings of busy months, July and August, to be applied to dividends. Some of the boats sailed have so far this season not paid their expenses. Nova Scotia Steel sold ⅞ lower, and Dominion Coal, after opening ¾ higher at 135¾, closed at 135¾. Superior closed ¼ higher at 29¼ for 25 shares.

DEAR FURNITURE.

Furniture dealers claim that for some time past they have been manufacturing at a loss owing to increased cost of hiring labor, etc. A circular has therefore been issued to the effect that an advance of 10 percent would be made in order to allow a 'living profit.'

A SERIOUS ACCUSATION.

Buffalo, June 26.—The inquest into the death of Dr. Jacob F. Meyer, a well-known physician of this city, who was shot through the heart, while in his office, on Friday last, was held to-day. Mrs. Elizabeth Meyer, the wife of Dr. Meyer, has been under arrest since the night of the tragedy, but no charge had been preferred against her. Upon the conclusion of the testimony Judge Murphy, who presided, stated that a warrant charging Mrs. Meyer with murder in the first degree, would have to be issued.

DAMAGES AWARDED FOR FLOODING.

In an action of Burroughs vs. the city of St. Henri, the plaintiff claimed $500 damages on account of the flooding of her property. Judge Curran, in rendering judgment yesterday found that the trouble was caused by the bad state of a crossing under the control of the municipality, and awarded the plaintiff $120 damages.

WONDERS OF A BEEHIVE.

The most diligent of all the scientists who have devoted their lives to the bee—and this wonderful insect has been more written about and studied than any other member of the animal kingdom, with the single exception of the egoist, man—have not been able to fathom the mystery of the production of the wax, of which the symmetrical walls are composed, nor to understand the mental process by which the little workers are able to perform the mathematical wonder of the cells, every advantage that could possibly be desired with regard to the stability of the structure and the strength of each cell being procured by its own formation and its position with reference to the others.

Reamur, who was particularly interested in this aspect of the extraordinary intelligence of the bee, gave a problem to Koenig, the celebrated German mathematician: Of all possible the hexagonal cells with pyramidical base composed of three equal rhombs, to find the one whose construction would need the least material. Koenig calculated that the cell that had for its base three rhombs whose large angle was 109 degrees and 26 minutes, and the small 70 degrees and 34 minutes, met the requirements proposed.

Then at Reamur's request Maraldi, another eminent savant, who was unaware what were Koenig's figures, measured as exactly as possible the angle of the rhombs constructed by the bees, and found the larger to be 109 degrees and 28 minutes and the other 70 degrees and 32 minutes. Maeterlinck says that the error, if there is one, should be attributed to Maraldi rather than the bees, since it is impossible to measure the angles of the cells with absolute precision.—Pearson's Magazine.

MARKET INACTIVE BUT FIRM.

'Witness' Office.
June 26, 1902.

To-day might almost have been a holiday for all the business that was done on 'change this morning. Notwithstanding, however, that the amount of business transacted was very small, prices were firm. An interesting event was the listing of the Ogilvie common stock, of which 250 shares were sold at 109 to 110.

EXCHANGE AND MART

The local money market continues unchanged, with call loans at 4½ to 5 per cent.

Earnings of the Detroit United Railway on June 20, amounted to $8,206.38, an increase of $630.48 over the corresponding date of a year ago. Increased earnings, June 1 to June 20, inclusive, $20,077.44, or 15.25 percent.

London, June 25.—The annual report of the Hudson Bay Company shows a profit of £138,000 ($690,000) as compared with £68,000 ($340,000) in 1901. This good showing is due to the higher prices now obtained for furs and increased land sales. A dividend of fifteen shillings was declared.

Toronto, June 25.—It is announced that a controlling interest in the Monetary Times' Printing Company has been purchased from Mr. Edward Trout by Messrs. Hedley and Wills, and their associates. The new board of directors is composed of Robert J. Christie, of Christie, Brown & Co., Limited, biscuit manufacturers, president; John L. Spink, merchant miller, vice-president; Edward Trout, Thomas Robertson, of Robertson Brothers, wholesale confectioners; James Hedley and Edgar A. Wills, managing director. Mr. Law, for many years secretary, retains his position with the company.

The Grand Trunk Railway system has issued the following statement of earning:

Week ending June 21, 1902	$803,188
Corresponding week, 1901	551,183
Increase	$52,005

Montreal Exchange.—New York funds—Buyers, 5-64 d.; sellers, 3-64 d.; counter 1-8 Sterling, 60 days—Buyers, 9 1-8; sellers 9 3-32; counter, 9⅜. Sterling demand—Buyers, 9⅝; sellers, 9 11-16; counter, 9⅞ Sterling cable—Buyers, 9¾; Counter, 10. Paris cheques—Sellers, 5.16¼; counter, 5.15.

Messrs. J. B. Picken & Co. have received the following advices from New York today:—Efforts were made to infuse life into the general market by advancing St. Paul, but its marking up by the pool did not result in encouraging outside interest. The list is very dull but undertone is firm and with the exception of clique manipulation in sundry issues is lacking in movements. Western crowd was responsible for movement in Grangers and the Gould's continued to be brought by the representative brokers. A.C.P. was higher and buying looked well. Exchange market on account of London holiday on exchange is 487-85.

CHEESE BOARDS.

Woodstock, June 25.—There was a fair attendance at the meeting of the cheese market here to-day, and the bidding was brisker than usual, the prices going 1-8 of a cent higher than last week. The offerings were 980 white and 1,655 boxes of colored, out of which 120 boxes were sold at 9⅝c. This figure was freely bid, but the sellers were holding out for 9¾c, and a considerable quantity was sold on the curb at that price. The heavy make of the first week of June is completely disposed of, about 1,800 boxes being sold during the week at 9½c.

Vankleek Hill, June 25.—There were 1,281 boxes of cheese sold here to-day at 9⅜c. Buyers hoped to get cheese for 9½c, but the salesmen were determined to hold for 9¾c, or better. They got their price; Welsh got 560 for James Alexander, and Weegar, 310 for T. S. Williamson. The balance was not called on board, but sold on curb at the same price.

Kingston, Ont., June 25. — At cheese board to-day, 1,226 colored and 690 boxes of white boarded. Sales, 900 at 9⅜c.

Tweed, Ont., June 25.—Tweed cheese board met this morning; 700 cheese boarded; all sold at 9½c; Watkins and Magrath buyers.

Stirling, Ont., June 25.—Cheese board met at Stirling to-day, 1,160 cheese were boarded; sales, Magrath, 305 at 9 11-16c; Alexander, 335 at 9 11-16c; Sauve, 220 at 9 11-16c; Magrath, 125 at 9⅝c; Sauve, 150 at 9⅝c. Board adjourned for one week.

Russell, Ont., June 25.—At Russell regular cheese board held here to-night 550 cheese were boarded; price bid on board, 9⅝c. No sales.

Richmond, Que., June 26.—A meeting of the Richmond Dairymen's Board of Trade was held in Richmond on Tuesday afternoon at which 364 boxes of cheese were boarded. They sold as follows: 100 colored to A. E. Armstrong at 9 13-16c; 210 white to A. E. Armstrong at 9¾c; 54 white to P. Lefebvre at 9¾c. The board adjourned until July 8.

LIVE STOCK MARKET, June 26.

There were about 300 head of butchers' cattle, 400 calves and 300 sheep and lambs offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day. A good many cattle and large numbers of sheep and lambs were sold here yesterday. The heavy rain in the morning caused several carloads of the best cattle to be held over at the stockyards at Point St. Charles, and should the weather clear up these will be taken in the afternoon to the West End Abattoir for sale. There were no prime cattle offered here to-day, and only a few that could be styled pretty good, the others being common, and some of them rather lean beef critters. A few of the best cattle sold at from 4½c to 5c per lb., but there were not many sales at over 4c per lb., while much the larger numbers were sold at from 3c to 3¾c per lb. Canners paid from 2½c to 3c per lb. for the leaner beasts. Calves were plentiful and lower in price, selling at from $2.50 to $8 each; only a few brought over $5. Shippers paid 3½c per lb. for good, large sheep, and the butchers paid from 3c to near 4c per lb. for their supplies. Lambs sold at from $2.50 to $4 each. Fat hogs sold at from 6½c to 6¾c per lb. for good lots weighed off the cars.

LARGER MEMBERSHIP.

Winnipeg, June 26.—At a general meeting of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, the following notices of motion were given to amend the by-laws: To increase the present entrance fee of $250 to $500. To limit the membership in the exchange to 400 seats. To increase the associate membership fee from $10 to $100 for two months, and then to cease creating any further associate memberships. Twenty-one applications for active membership are now posted on the exchange boards.

CHICAGO CATTLE

Hogs—Receipts, 32,000; left over, 10,429; ten cents lower. Mixed and butchers, $7.30 to $7.70; good to choice heavy, $7.70 to $7.85; rough heavy, $7.20 to $7.55; light, $7.20 to $7.40; bulk of sales, $7.40 to $7.65.

Sheep—Receipts, 7,000. Sheep and lambs steady. Good to choice wethers, $3.75 to $4.25; fair to choice mixed, $3 to $4.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION.

Mr. T. C. Search, of Philadelphia, ex-president of the National Association of United States Manufacturers, and directors of the Consolidated Lake Superior Company, was in the city yesterday and addressed a committee of the Montreal branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association on 'Technical Education.' Mr Search is deeply interested in the subject, and at Philadelphia he is best known as the founder and president of the School of Industrial Art in the Pennsylvania museum.

A committee of the branch is investigating the question of technical education, and will make a report at the annual meeting to be held July 10.

AUER LIGHT CASE

PATENT HAVING EXPIRED THE NAME IS PUBLIC PROPERTY.

A few days ago an action was taken by the Auer Incandescent Light Manufacturing Company, of Montreal, against the Gloria Gas Light Company, the latter's manager, being summoned to appear before the Police Court on the complaint of William R. Granger, manager of the former company, who charged that Brady, with intent to defraud did 'falsely apply to mantles the trade mark of the last named company, "Auer Light."'

The defendant was also charged with intent to defraud by applying a false trade description to mantles sold by him.

Judge Desnoyers dismissed the action against Brady, holding that the latter was at liberty to make use of the words 'Auer Light.' In giving decision the court detailed that a patent was issued at Ottawa in 1886 in favor of F. de L. Williams, assignee of Carl Auer Von Welsbach for an improvement on illuminant gas appliances for gas and other burners, consisting of a mantle made of fabric impregated with certain incombustible and chemical substances. This patent was re-issued and expired in November, 1900.

In summing up, Judge Desnoyers said: 'In the present case the defendant used the words, 'Auer light,' without reference in any way to the complainant's firm, and it appears that the lights sold by the defendant were made according to the principle of Mr. Auer's invention, for which the patent was obtained and is now expired.

Mr. C. A. Duclos represented the complainant and the defendant was defended by Mr. Charles Iles, with Mr. D. W. Sicotte, jr., as counsel.

TIMBER LIMITS

ADJOURNED SALE TOOK PLACE YESTERDAY.

Quebec, June 26.—The adjourned sale of Crown timber limits was resumed at 11.30 a.m. here yesterday. The attendance of buyers, however, was small, and the bidding slow and unspirited. Among the ministers present were the premier, the Hon. S. N. Parent, and the Hon. Messrs. Gouin and Guerin. Four lots on the upper St. Maurice were purchased by the St. Maurice Lumber Company, two for $170 per square mile and two for $101. Two others in the Saguenay agency were sold to Mr. L. Evans for $113 per mile, and two more in the same district to the Saguenay Lumber Company for $31 per mile. Eleven lots, chiefly on the Magdalene river at Gaspé, were knocked down to Mr. Charles Mullins, of Portland, at $165 per mile, the whole forming a block of 481 miles. Three lots on the Lake St. John agency, northwest, were purchased by Mr. B. A. Scott for $51 per mile. The E. T. Borrowes Company, Portland, bought 51 square miles on the Manicouagan river at $101 per mile, and Mr. Power, M.P., 191 miles at the St. Charles agency at $51 per mile. The total area sold was 1,106 square miles and the total sum realized about $133,000, being an average of about $117 per square mile.

THE WAR HAY ORDERS

CANCELLATION OF THEM CAUSED NO DISTRESS AFTER ALL.

Reports were current some days ago that distress had come to many hay dealers because of losses made by those who had ordered hay in much larger quantities than was warranted by the demand for it by the War Office for South Africa. One of the chief exporters who had much to do with the earlier shipments remarked to-day, when asked concerning the matter, that on the return of Prof. Robertson from his conference with the War Office authorities in London, orders had been given for ten thousand tons of hay, and it was sent forward and accepted. The orders for all other such required produce were given subject to conditions, and it was understood that they would be largely from Canada instead of from Chicago, as had previously been the case. The cessation of the war has changed all that, 'and so far as is known,' said the dealer, 'if there is any hardship it must be in cases where local purchase orders were given on the speculative idea that the war would last longer. For such orders only the speculative dealer would be responsible.'

CANADIANS COMING BACK.

TENTH FIELD HOSPITAL CORPS ABOUT TO RETURN HOME.

Ottawa, June 26.—The first hint that has been received by the Canadian military authorities that any portion of the Canadian troops were coming back from South Africa at an early date was received yesterday afternoon. It came in the form of a despatch from Colonel Worthington, who is with the 10th Field Hospital Corps, attached to the 2nd Canadian Mounted Rifles, and it asks the department to withhold forty days of the pay of the hospital corps. This is construed at the department to mean that the men attached to the hospital corps are coming back shortly. When the men went away they left orders to have their pay, or a certain portion of their pay, handed over to their relatives here, and in this agreement a certain amount towards the end of their term was to be withheld for themselves. The message which Colonel Worthington sent to-day, asking that forty days' pay be withheld, is taken as a sign that the hospital corps is soon to return.

It is not expected by this that the soldiers of the 2nd Canadian Rifles are coming back in a short time, as their term of enlistment is not up yet, and they will be required in Africa to do police duty.

The 10th Field Hospital Corps has seen good services during its stay, and was doing its works of mercy and relief in the thickest of the fight at Hart's River on March 31. In fact, a couple of its men were dangerously wounded in that engagement. The corps is now somewhere in the neighborhood of Vryburg.

Cures People who Suffer Hay Fever.

Hay fever sufferers tell us that Powley's Liquified Ozone has opened up an avenue of escape for them from their annual affliction. Those who have had experience do this: From six weeks to two months before they expect an attack, some of them can tell the time almost to a day, they start the Powley's Liquified Ozone treatment. Now note, they don't make a medicine of it; they don't say, "Well, I must take my Powley's Liquified Ozone at eleven o'clock;" they add a dessertspoonful to each glass of water they drink. Those who like pleasant tasting beverages, add sugar. It doesn't render the Powley's Liquified Ozone ineffective to make it taste nicely. The oxygen is added to the blood, the tissues disinfected and made healthy just the same.

We have any number of endorsements from former hay fever victims. If you care to read their histories, we'll send them to you.

At your druggist's, two sizes, 50c and $1.00. The Ozone Co. of Toronto, Limited, Toronto and Chicago.

THE HARBOR BOARD

The Mayor and the Macadamizing of Commissioners Street

DISAPPROVES OF THE FOUNDATION AND SAYS CITY SHOULD NOT THROW AWAY $41,000.

Common and Commissioners streets have caused more trouble to the Harbor Commissioners than all the other harbor improvements. This time they have a disagreement with the city over the work done by the Harbor Board in connection with the widening of these streets. The present trouble has reference to the macadamizing, and a formal legal demand will be made upon the city for the payment of the cost.

At a meeting of the board yesterday afternoon Mr. John Kennedy, the chief engineer, submitted the following report on the subject:—

'On June 18, I sent to the City Surveyor an estimate of the value of the work done for the city on the flood protection and street widening works from the date of the last estimate, at the end of 1901, to the end of May this year, amounting to $72,731.10. The City Surveyor informs me by telephone that he cannot sign the estimate, having been ordered by the Mayor not to do so, because the macadamizing of the widened parts of Common and Commissioners streets already done by the commissioners has not been laid on a foundation of large stone.

'It seems to me that the stand thus taken by the city is wholly unjustifiable. The contract requires that the widened portions of the streets be macadamized, without any more precise specification. Macadamizing means the use of macadamizing stone, and nothing else. A road with a foundation of large stone, covered with macadamizing stone is not what is technically known as a macadamized road, but as a Telford road; and no such road is specified in the contract, nor can it be demanded by the city under the terms of the contract.

'The city has recognized this interpretation of the contract by the fact that the work of macadamizing has been going on from the beginning of the contract up to the present without a word of complaint on the part of the city as to the character of the macadamizing, and the City Surveyor, by his signing of previous estimates, has practically certified, on behalf of the city, that the work done has been carried out according to contract.

'It will also be remembered that, at the beginning of the work, the question was raised as to whether the macadamizing, as called for in the contract, was really the best thing for Common and Commissioners streets, and whether the money to be paid under the contract for the macadamizing should not be put into permanent paving. On taking up the matter with the city, it was decided that, in view of all the conditions of the case, simple macadamizing should be proceeded with, and that has been done.'

The Mayor remarked that the Harbor Commissioners held that the city had no right on Commissioners street at present, and so it would not pay anything until the matter was settled. At any rate the city did not want the present macadamizing, which represented $41,000, put on the street. It was not on a proper foundation and was useless.

The president—'You are not representing the city of Montreal now but the Harbor Commissioners.'

The Mayor—'Excuse me, I am representing the city of Montreal on the board, and as far as I am concerned I will protect it as long as I am here. When I leave here someone else will take my place and he can do as he pleases.'

In reply to the Mayor, the chief engineer said that the latter part of his report, referring to simple macadamizing appeared in correspondence that had passed between the Harbor Board and the city on the subject.

The Mayor remarked that if between the Harbor Commissioners office and the Bonsecours Market he could be shown any kind of macadamizing the city could be willing to pay for it. One simply went through mud, he said; water might just as well be thrown on the street. There was no foundation. Why should the city throw away $41,000? The commissioners said that the streets did not belong to the city; so why should the city pay for it. Until the question of ownership was settled the commissioners would not be paid any more money.

Mr. Kennedy, chief engineer, said that the commissioners were doing what the contract with the city called for. There had never beeen a word of complaint about the macadamizing, and it had been certified to by the City Surveyor.

Major Seath, the secretary, remarked that the city had paid $16,450 for macadamizing previously done. Of the present estimate of $72,731 for work done on the flood protection and street widening represented only $4,000.

Mr. Lemay considered that the only way to decide the matter was to put it into the hands of the board's attorney and let him make a formal demand on the city. This was carried, the Mayor dissenting.

The chief engineer reported that the cost of raising to the height of the other piers with concrete wall above water the 1,000 lineal feet at the lower end southeast side, of Windmill Point, asked for by the Grand Trunk Railway, would be about $450,000.

THE CIVIC LOAN

THERE HAVE BEEN SEVERAL ENQUIRIES ABOUT THE NEW ISSUE OF DEBENTURES.

There is every expectation in municipal circles that a good price and a substantial premium will be obtained for the new issue of four percent debentures. There have been several enquiries made at the City Hall with regard to this loan, and competition may be keener than was originally expected under present conditions of the money market.

The city's credit is apparently very good at present, the price obtained for the last $2,000,000 of three and a half percent debentures comparing remarkably well with the recent sales of bonds of any city in America.

Alderman Laporte, chairman of the Finance Committee, stated yesterday that the reports which have been circulated as to the high price obtained for the three and a halfs of Portland, Maine, have been very much exaggerated. He produced the reports of recognized financial journals to show that the price obtained for the Portland bonds, instead of being 106, as stated, was only 100½, which is really not such a satisfactory sale as that made by Montreal, especially in view of the fact that under the peculiar constitution of the municipal system in the United States, the cities are much more frequent and regular borrowers than the Canadian ones. Alderman Leporte says that in view of the greatly improved financial position of Montreal, he has no hesitation in saying that Montreal will not only obtain a handsome premium for its four percents but will never again obtain less than par for its three-and-a-halfs.

METHODIST CALL

GENERAL CONFERENCE TO MEET IN GRACE CHURCH, WINNIPEG, ON SEPT. 4.

Toronto, June 26.—The call for the Sixth General Conference of the Methodist Church is being issued from the Wesley Buildings here. It reads: 'Pursuant to the action of the General Conference Special Committee, to which was referred by the General Conference of 1898, the question of the time and place of the Geneal Conference of 1902, notice is hereby given that the Sixth General Conference of the Methodist Church will meet in the city of Winnipeg in Grace Methodist Church, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, on Thursday, the 4th day of Sept., 1902. Signed, Messrs. A. Carman, general superintendent; J. S. Ross, secretary of General Conference; E. B. Ryckman, secretary of General Conference Special Committee.

The pastor of Grace Church, Winnipeg, in which the General Conference will meet, is the Rev. R. P. Bowles, who was pastor of the Metropolitan Church, Toronto, in which the last General Conference was held.

Two topics of especial interest which will be before the General Conference, will be action upon the memorial from the Toronto Conference, and other conferences in favor of the amendment of the discipline to legalize the election of woman delegates to conferences, and the development of home mission work.

No changes of General Conference officers or additions are expected in well-informed Methodist circles here.

ONTARIO ELECTIONS

CONSERVATIVES STILL HOPEFUL.

Toronto, June 26.—A Conservative Association official, in attendance for the convention, yesterday afternoon informed the 'Witness' correspondent that the executive yesterday received detailed reports of alleged 'plugging' of more votes in West Huron and Centre Simcoe, than the majorities obtained in those constituencies by the Liberals who carried the ridings named. In consequence of the reports presented from those ridings and the expectation that Lennox and North Grey will be transferred to the Conservative column by the scrutiny now on before the courts, Conservative hopes run high of a turnover in this province in their favor within the next three months. So confident are the delegates that various slates are being made up. In the event of the Conservatives attaining power these are slated as certainties in a Whitney Cabinet: Premier and treasurer, Mr. Whitney; attorney-general, Mr. J. J. Foy, South Toronto; provincial secretary, Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, North Toronto. In Liberal circles the outlook is spoken of as 'very uncertain.'

The association yesterday passed a resolution of sympathy with the King, on motion of Mr. Whitney and Dr. Reaume, M.P.P., and sang 'God Save the King.'

Officers were elected to fill vacancies until the annual meeting in September Mr. Richard Blain, M.P., nominated Mr Edmund Bristol, of Toronto, for vice-president of the association in succession to Mr. Marter, who, he said, had thought fit to differ with leaders of his party on a question of policy, and there was no room for men of that kind in the party. Mr. Bristol was elected. Dr. E. B Ryckman, Toronto, was elected treasurer in succession to Mr. Claude MacDonnell, resigned. The later was elected secretary.

EAST TORONTO.

Toronto, June 26.—The Liberals entered a protest against the election of Dr. Pyne, in East Toronto, at Osgoode Hall yesterday. The petitioners are Joseph Thornton, M. F. Hogan and J. Delaney, and the charges are the usual ones of bribery and corrupt practices.

PRINCE EDWARD.

Toronto, Ont., June 26.—The ballots in the Prince Edward election are missing. They were mailed to Toronto on June 16 for use at Osgoode Hall in connection with the apneal from the recount, but so far as the officials can discover, they have never been received here. Mr. G. O. Alcorn came up from Picton yesterday to trace them up. It is supposed the case is one of misdirection, and that the package will be found in one of the offices at the Parliament Buildings or Osgoode Hall.

A MYSTERIOUS DEATH

YOUNG MAN DIES IN OTTAWA UNDER PECULIAR CIRCUMSTANCES.

Ottawa, June 26.—Alex. Sinclair, a locomotive engineer, died under rather peculiar circumstances at St. Luke's Hospital yesterday. The apparently lifeless body of the deceased was found lying on the sidewalk inside the steps of a boarding house on Kent street by Constable Cassidy. There was an abrasion of the skin over the left cheek, his ear was cut, and there was a gash near the base of the skull, besides the left ear. The constable summoned Dr. Potter, who had the injured man removed to St. Luke's Hospital, where he was attended by Dr. J. W. Shillington, but never regained consciousness. Death was probably due to concussion of the brain. When he was found his clothing was not disarranged, and gave no evidence of a struggle. His rings were still on his fingers, and in his pocket were a gold watch, $11.61 in money, a bunch of keys, and a letter recently received by him.

Last evening the city police arrested a local bartender, named James MacGaw, as being accessory to the death of Alexander Sinclair. The police had been working on the case all day, and discovered that Sinclair was in the company of MacGaw and others in a hotel until an early hour yesterday morning. The party left the hotel between two and three o'clock, and subsequent events are somewhat doubtful, but it is stated that there is sufficient evidence in the possession of the police to show that MacGaw knows about the manner in which Sinclair received his death wound. A post-mortem on the body was held at St. Luke's Hospital last night.

THURSDAY, JUNE 26.

THE COMFORTER.

The word Paraclete means literally 'One called to the side of another,' a helper, defender, advocate, strengthener. It is in John xiv., 16, translated 'comforter,' and properly so, for is not support in weakness, sympathy in sorrow, and deliverance in trouble, a comfort? Such God promises to be to His people. (Isa. li., 12; lxvi., 13.) The Father of mercies is the God of all consolation (II. Cor. i., 3), the great Paraclete of His people of old, sent His Son to be our helper and His representative, and the Son still represents us, acts for us with the Father, and through Him and from Him comes the 'other Comforter,' or helper. The Divine Three are thus a unity in sympathy with human weakness, and sorrow, and sinfulness. Christ revealed the Father in His relation to humanity and the Holy Spirit's comfortings and helpings are in the revealings of all that Christ is to His people. Revelation to man is the revelation of the Trinity of the Godhead.

O Jesus, King most wonderful,
Thou Conqueror renowned,
Thou sweetness most ineffable,
In whom all joys are found:

When once thou visitest the heart,
Then truth begins to shine,
Then earthly vanities depart,
Then kindles love divine.

Thee may our tongues forever bless;
Thee may we love alone;
And ever in our lives express
The image of thine own.

A COLOR PROBLEM NEARLY SOLVED.

Whether as an orator or a churchman, or an after-dinner speaker, or a raconteur, or a humorist, the Right Rev. Henry C. Potter, Bishop of New York, is easily the star of an occasion. This is shown by a story which he lately told at a gathering of delegates and friends of the Southern Educational Society, of which that great philanthropist—and incidentally that great advertiser—Robert C. Ogden, John Wanamaker's partner, is the president. Dr. Potter, to illustrate the use of tact whether under chromatic or polychromatic circumstances, narrated an incident which reflects credit upon the accuracy of his sympathy, or upon the sympathetic quality of his imagination—it matters not which. He said that the rector of a fashionable church in New Orleans desired a prelate of the Church of England to preach to his people. The prelate in question was an African, black as the ace of spades. He was a man of learning, distinction and culture. When the rector followed him into the chancel he noticed a look of surprise, if not of dissent, on the faces of the congregation. but he went through the service until the time for the sermon, and then he arose, and with a few words of welcome announced the rank and magnified the merits of the visiting prelate, concluding as follows:

'My friends, we all know that white is the union of all colors, and black the negative or absence of all color. It therefore gives me special pleasure this morning to present to you, as our preacher to-day, a colorless clergyman, whom I now introduce to a colored congregation.'

Bishop Potter added, in effect, that by this union of humor with scientific accuracy the situation was not only bridged, but the whole occasion was made one of pleasure as well as one of instruction to all who took part in it.

A PEEP INTO THE FUTURE.

'Well,' remarked Gabriel, as he finished polishing his trumpet, 'the time is very near at hand.

'For what?' asked St. Peter.

'For us to take possession of the earth,' replied Gabriel.

'Yes, that's a fact,' said St. Peter, as he jangled his keys. 'Suppose you take a flier down that way and see what that fellow Morgan wants for it.'—Exchange.

A REAL TRIAL OF THE EPISCOPATE.

The late Sir Arthur Arnold, who died a few weeks ago, used to tell a story of Bishop Samuel Wilberforce, the famous head of the Oxford diocese, which well illustrated that prelate's dislike of people who persisted in regarding a bishop of the Established Church as a personage of extraordinary importance. A dowager who met Dr. Wilberforce at a dinner said to him: 'My Lord, you must have many great questions to deal with. What is the thing you have found most difficult in life?'

'To keep a dinner napkin on this silk apron of mine,' replied the bishop, as he grabbed the corner of a vanishing piece of napery.

The special correspondent of the 'Isis' reports this affair from the law courts:—Stout carman giving evidence: 'Well, my Lord, I was drivin' down Old Streets, when I see this yer feller a-pullin' of 'is dray across the road. "Get out o' the road, yer silly ass," I calls out to 'im, easy like, same as I might to yer Lordship there.' (Sensation.)

MINTO CUP MATCHES.

Team Practicing Hard for First Match on Saturday.

THE SHAMROCK COMMITTEE HELD A MEETING LAST EVENING.

Montreal Baseball Team Won Both Games From Worcester.

ROYAL ST. LAWRENCE YACHT CLUB MEMBERS PREPARING FOR COMING RACES—C.W.A. ANNOUNCEMENTS—CORNELL FOR HENLEY.

An authority on the game who has been reviewing the performances of the New Westminster and Shamrock clubs ventured the opinion last night that these teams are about equally matched, and the contests for the Minto cup ought to prove the most interesting and exciting lacrosse seen in Montreal. 'It is generally conceded that the Shamrock team is about 25 percent weaker this season than it was last summer. Certainly the loss of such players as Leddy, Hayes, Dade and Hendry, was quite a blow, but the recruits have shown themselves to be worthy men, and the team has recovered to some extent. But just compare the present Shamrock team to that which played New Westminster in 1900, and figure out on this basis, and it does not appear that the Shamrocks are in a poor position. Of the present Shamrock team the following players were out against New Westminster on that occasion: Quinn, Finlayson, Smith, Robinson, J. Brennan and Hoobin, and Howard; O'Rielly also played, and if he is placed on Saturday's team, he must be included in the list. Now, that weak Shamrock team, for it was a weak one, had the British Columbia team well in hand for the first half, and were only demoralized when Finlayson made his bad throw from behind the goal, and gave the visitors a much-needed opportunity to score. Another error following immediately gave New Westminster lacrosse team another goal, and the Shamrocks failed to recover from these misplays. But it is generally admitted that the Shamrocks made a better showing against New Westminster than any other team. Coming back to the present Shamrock team, there is but little comparison. Currie, in the field, adds a tower of strength both to the attack and defence, and the additions at various spots, have strengthened the team from goal to goal. Howard is now a finished defence player, equal to any in Canada; he was then a poor home player. Kavanagh, with his long reach and experience, ought to fit in nicely, while O'Rielly has power and determination, and may prove the right man in the right place. On the home end, P. Brennan and McKeown, will wear the green against New Westminster. The strength of one, and the shooting ability of the other, are factors which the Shamrocks did not have in 1900. They have them now. They had Hoobin in 1901, but he was not backed up by such able men in the attack. As for Johnny Brennan, well if he finds the net on Saturday as he has been doing in practice lately, Mr. Cheney will have to keep on the hop all the time. Brennan is quick and lively, ready and sure in passing, and he will be in his element with such men as his big namesake, Jimmy McKeown and Henry Hoobin. The New Westminster aggregation is a splendid one, all hardy, well-trained athletes, and possessed of a good knowledge of the game, but we have been at this game ourselves for a few seasons, and have hopes of letting loose a kink or two. At any rate, it looks as if we are to be treated to some rattling good lacrosse, and a good, clean contest is always worth witnessing.'

The champion Shamrocks will be up against the real article when they face the New Westminster team, the vanquishers of the West, on Saturday afternoon next, on the S.A.A.A. grounds. Those who have seen the western men at practice on the M.A.A.A. grounds claim that, if anything, they are in fine fettle, and are possessed of more combination science than when they toured the Eastern provinces a couple of years ago under the management of 'Archie' McNaughton, the ex-home player of the M.A.A.A. team, when the latter organization won the championship about fifteen years ago. The Montreals was the first team to play the New Westminsters during their former trip, and the home team was beaten by a score of five goals to two. The report of the game contains the following criticism: 'The Westerners are certainly a husky bunch of athletes, and go into the game with all the vigor they can possibly command,' and it might here be said it was that identical 'vigor' which carried them to victory.

The Shamrocks were the next to fall victims to the maroon-clad giants from British Columbia. They lost by a score of six goals to two. The following composed the Shamroc kteam on that occasion: Quinn, Leddy, O'Rielly, Finlayson, Hayes, Smith, Nolan, Ward, Dade, Hoobin, Howard and Galley. The Nationals was the next team to play the Westminsters, and the Frenchmen were beaten by nine goals to three. It was during this latter match that the visitors made a record of scoring three successive goals inside a minute's actual playing time, the summary for the three final goals reading: 30 seconds, 15 seconds, and 15 seconds respectively.

Of course, the Shamrocks have improved vastly during the past couple of years, but they will have to play lacrosse of gilt-edge quality on Saturday afternoon in order to hold down the Minto cup, and incidentally the championship of the world.

SHAMROCK EXECUTIVE

A special meeting of the Shamrock lacrosse club executive was held last evening at the Association rooms, Mile End. The president of the club, Mr. Thomas O'Connell, presided, and there was a full attendance of members. The principal business of the evening was the final selection of a team to represent the local champions in their match with the New Westminsters on the S.A.A.A. grounds on Saturday afternoon next, the first of a series for possession of the Minto cup.

After due consideration the team to play on Saturday was finally selected, and are the same as reported in the 'Witness' yesterday.

The question of umpires was also talked over, and Mr. Thomas Carlind, captain of the Montreal lacrosse team, was agreed upon as one. It is understood that Mr. Charles Porteous may officiate as the second choice in this respect.

The form of entertainment to be extended the Western champions is to be left to a committee of Shamrock gentlemen, who will talk banquets, outings, and like amusements, the moment the coming matches are concluded.

ROYALS WON BOTH GAMES.

Two well-earned games are to be credited to the Royals as the result of yesterday's play on the home grounds. In every part of the game they were superior to their opponents, the Worcesters. With this kind of work continued they should lift themselves out of the slough they have been in all the season and take and hold a place somewhat nearer the top.

The attendance was very good for a mid-week game. There was room for improvement in the manners of the bleachers, however. When the umpire is struck severely by a foul tip it can in no way be called decent, nor can it in any way assist the home team for the crowd to laugh and applaud.

FIRST GAME

Magee pitched the first game, and although he was a little wild at times he managed to keep the visitors' hits scattered. Hastings, for Worcester, was in good form and, with the exception of Raub, who hit safely, the four times he came to bat, the home team did not find his curves easy to solve.

Crisham started the batting for Worcester with a two-bagger and Clancy sacrificed. Sebring took his base on balls, but the next two men were easy outs. For the home team Raub started with a three-bagger which Shearon followed up with a single on which Raub scored. Kelly, after forcing Shearon out at second was getting there himself, went out on a neat double play as the result of Odwell's fly to Delahanty.

No more scoring was done until the fifth when Quinlan scored on a bad throw to third which allowed Johnson to make second. Raub's fine single brought Johnson home, and Shearon's fly retired the side.

In the eighth innings the visitors, with two men out and one run, and the bases full, two men having been passed by Magee, merely wanted a nice single to tie the score, but Madison, the next man up, sent a hot grounder to the pitcher, which he did not fail to handle.

In the ninth the visitors could bat nothing but flies which were promptly captured by Kelly and Quinlan, which ended the game. The score follows:

Summary.

Stolen base, Kelly. Sacrifice hits, Clancy (2) Two-base hits, Crisham, Clancy, Raub. Three-base hits, Raub, Clancy. Bases on balls, off Magee, 5; off Hastings, 1. Struck out, by Magee, 1; by Hastings, 1. Double plays, Delahanty to Wrigley; Wrigley to Madison to Clancy. Left on bases, Montreal, 3; Worcester, 9. Time, 1.30. Umpire, Rinn.

SECOND GAME

Mills pitched the second game and did it well. Merritt, the first visitor up, made a two-bagger, but the succeeding batsmen were disposed of in easy fashion until the eighth. Two men were out, Clancy bunted and beat the ball to first. Then Sebring lined out the ball over Odwell's head on which Clancy scored the visitors' lonely run.

Pappalau pitched for Worcester and his reputation rather suffered. His own errors and those of the team were rather costly. Raub started as usual with a fine double, which Shearon followed by a bunt which allowed him to make second as Pappalau and Crisham both went after the ball, but neither attempted to throw to first. Shearon stole second, Kelly was put out on a fly, and Raub scored on Odwell's grounder to Wrigley.

In the second, Stafford made a single, Quinlan followed with a sacrifice hit which Pappalau threw wide to first, on which Stafford scored. Quinlan scored on Mills's hit. Raub hit safely, but was caught napping at first. Mills failed to reach home before the ball reached Crisham and Shearon sent a fly to Delahanty.

Montreal scored again in the sixth when Fuller walked home from third on a wild throw over the third baseman's head. A close decision in the eighth deprived Odwel of a run which he thought he should have had. He beat a grounder to first by sliding, stole second, and reached third on a bad throw by Crisham which Merritt fumbled, kept on running for home but the umpire thought the ball was there before him. The score:—

RAIN AT TORONTO.

Toronto, June 26. — Providence-Toronto game postponed; rain.

JERSEY CITY LOST TO THE BUFFALO TEAM.

Buffalo, N.Y. June 26.—Jersey City had a lead of a run in their half of the eighth, and had retired two of their opponents, when a three-base hit by Connaughton, followed by two singles, brought in the winning run for Buffalo. Jersey City failed to score in the ninth. It rained in the last three innings, and the second game was postponed.

ROCHESTER WON BOTH GAMES FROM NEWARK.

Rochester, June 26.—Rochester took both games from Newark yesterday afternoon, the second being called at the end of the fifth inning on account of rain. In the first game the home team pounded Thielman hard and together with the visitors' costly errors, the game was never in doubt. In the second game, while Becker was wild, forcing in two runs in the third innings, his support was better than that of the visitors. The home team bunched hits on Ames when the counted most. NEWARK TEAM HERE TO-DAY.

The Newark team, under the management of Walter Burnham, makes its first appearance here to-day. The team contains more faces new to the Eastern League than any other team in the League. Newark plays here Thursday, Friday and Saturday. To-day's game will be called at 4 p.m. Souders will pitch for Montreal.

CANADIAN RUGBY TEAM

The gentlemen interested in the selection of the All-Canadian Rugby football team which will visit the British Isles next autumn for the purpose of playing a series of exhibition matches with some of the best teams on the other side are quietly working in the direction of definte organization. During the past week a circular has been sent out to all clubs in Canada setting for the purpose of the proposed trip across the Atlantic and requesting the co-operation of the different clubs in making up a representative Canadian team. A number of names, among them some of the prominent football players throughout the Dominion, have been received, and from present appearances, it is confidently expected that the strongest possible team will represent this country against the British teams in the coming matches.

At first, it was thought that much difficulty would be entailed in selecting a team, but circumstances have been so arranged that all difficulties have been surmounted.

AQUATICS

CORNELL CREW MAY GO TO HENLEY NEXT SEASON.

Poughkeepsie, N.Y., June 26.—The Cornell crew may go to Henley next year. Nothing definite has been decided in the matter.

If those who govern Cornell rowing interests decide that the time is ripe for another effort to row at the Henley regatta there is little doubt that more than enough money can be raised by popular subscription.

YOUNG ATHLETE DEAD

Toronto, June 26.—A telegram was received yesterday from Spokane, Wash., announcing the death of Mr. Alan Douglas Strathy, youngest son of Mr. H. S. Strathy, general manager of the Traders' Bank, Toronto. Mr. Strathy was but 23 years of age, and was very popular, taking a prominent part in athletic sports. He was injured in a rugby football match a few years ago, and an operation was necessary, from which he never fully recovered.

LAKE ST. LOUIS TRIAL RACES

The Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club members are looking forward to next Saturday, when the first of the boats built this year will appear in the maiden race. There is much speculation as to what she will do, as it looks somewhat difficult at present to improve upon the boats which appeared in the season of 1900 and 1901. The 'Black Beauty,' which was somewhat of a disappointment in 1900 has at times since then shown such extraordinary speed that she now comes as a candidate with a chance of being chosen to defend the cup. Of last year's boats it appears that only the 'Senneville' and the 'Thorella' will compete again. The 'Senneville' will be raced in practically the same shape as she sailed in the cup races last season. Mr. Angus has placed her under control of the sailing committee. The 'Thorella,' which in some of last year's trials, showed such speed, has been entirely re-rigged, discarding the high, narrow sail plan for one similar to that of the 'Redcoat.' This will reduce the height of the centre of effort of sail area, and consequently of increasing her stability. She has also been thoroughly overhauled.

As to the new boats, Mr. E. S. Clouston's 'Osma' will be racing for the first time. As a specimen of building she is undoubtedly the best boat ever turned out at Dorval.

The second boat will unfortunately be late in starting to race. Her lines are said to be similar to those of the 'Senneville,' except that more beam has been taken. This should make her a good performer in hard weather.

DORVAL YACHTSMEN.

PROGRAMME FOR DOMINION DAY FINALLY ARRANGED — SAILING COMMITTEE FOR TRIAL RACES NAMED.

Owing to uncertainty of the weather the cruising race scheduled for Saturday next has been postponed, and in its place races for all classes will be sailed over the club course at Dorval. To facilitate the attendance of the members further up the lake, the club launch will meet the 1.30 train at Lakeside, leaving there for Dorval at 2.30 sharp, by which time all those who wish to tow down are requested to have their boats in readiness, as the races will be started promptly at 3.30. The Defenders will cross the line first, followed by the 22 footers, the 4, 3 and 2 raters, with the usual interval of three minutes between each class. The sailing regulations will be strictly enforced, and the attention of the skippers is called to the fact that every competing boat must have her racing number conspicuously placed on the sail. Written entries should be sent to the officer of th day not later than Friday evening, at the club house, or to the secretary, 1724 Notre Dame street. Prizes will be given for the winners in all the knockabout classes.

The programme for Dominion Day, under the direction of Mr. A. L. Drummond as officer of th day, assisted by Mr. Arthur Hersey, will comprise the races for the Sir Donald A. Smith cup, to be sailed for by the Seawanhaka cup class at 10.30 a.m. over a windward and return course at Pointe Claire. In the afternoon at two o'clock, the Hamilton trophy race will be held for all the other classes, and will be twice around a triangular course of four miles.

The time allowance decided on by sail-committee is as follows:—The 22 footers and 20 footers, scratch; 4 raters, 4 minutes; 3 raters, 6 minutes and a half; 2 raters, or hobos, 9 minutes. In all these races the attention of the members is particularly called to the regulations with regard to number of crew, the carrying of life-preservers and racing numbers on their sails. On Dominion Day the club launch will start from the pier at Dorval on the arrival of the 8.30 train from Montreal, calling at Lakeside on the way to Pointe Claire. Lunch will be served on the steamer for the convenience of those who wish to witness the boat races.

At the meeting of the sailing committee held last night the sub-commitee for the preliminary trail races was named to consist of the following gentlemen:—Mr. Arthur L. Drummond, chairman; Commodore Davidson, James Paton, T. L. Paton, J. J. Riley, jr., and T. S. Gillespie.

PRANKS OF LIGHTNING

AN EMPLOYEE OF MOUNT ROYAL PARK HAD A NARROW ESCAPE.

Mr. Henderson, superintendent of Mount Royal Park, reports that the electric storm which passed over the city early in the afternoon of Tuesday was very severely felt on the top of the mountain. Lightning struck one of the posts of the barbed wire fence behind the superintendent's house, shattered the post to splinters and spread along the wires to the other pickets, forcing the staples holding the wires to the post out of the wood. Where there was a patent fastener a round hole was bored or burned clean through one post just as if it had been made by an augur.

One of the workmen employed in the park was standing near one end of the fence under the shelter of a tree. He was knocked down with great force, and besides being half frightened to death, received a severe physical shock. When he picked himself up perspiration stood out all over his body like beads, and there succeeded a severe chill which created alarm as to his safety. The man has not yet been able to return to work.

A MISSIONARY ADDRESS.

At St. Martin's Church last night the Rev. C. A. Sadlier, a missionary from South America, gave a very interesting sketch of the work done by the mission in Southern Chili, illustrated by limelight views. The mission was founded in 1894, and has been seriously hampered by the inadequacy of its staff and support, yet in less than seven years, by God's blessing, leading chiefs had been brought to the knowledge of Christ, the Spanish and Araucanian languages have been mastered, a considerable portion of the Word of God translated and published for the first time in the latter tongue, and schools had been opened which were the means of the conversion of a number of Mapuche Lads. The Rev. J. D. McEwen also gave a sketch of the missionary work done in Brazil.

LONDON CROOKS

SEVERAL OF THEM IN COURT OVER AN ATTEMPT TO BLACKMAIL A FOREIGN PRINCE, ONE OF THE ROYAL GUESTS.

London, June 26.—An extraordinary case was heard in camera at the Southwark Police Court yesterday, involving the charge against several men of attempting to blackmail a foreign prince, one of the royal guests who came here to attend the coronation. It has been learned that the young Prince left the residence allotted to him on Tuesday night, and dined at a fashionable hotel. After dinner he met several strangers, in whose company he went to a saloon in the Southwark district in the southeastern part of London. The next thing known is that the whole party were handed over to the police. When the case was called the magistrate ordered the court cleared. The reporters refused to go, whereupon the magistrate adjourned the hearing, which took place privately later in the day in another room. The strictest precautions were taken to prevent any leakage. The magistrate declared that he was acting on the ground of public policy, as the case affected foreign relations, one of the royal guests being concerned. The case was further adjourned to an unnamed date.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

MAKES AND KEEPS THE CHILDREN WELL AND STRONG.

Mothers Make It The Home Medicine For The Little Ones.

The children, God bless them, are the buds and flowers of our homes. Without their prattle and hearty laughter, our homes would be desolate. They should ever be carefully tended in childhood and youth, if we expect them to ripen into perfect men and women.

In the home and at school, the children have their times of ill-health and suffering. We often note the pallid and bloodless cheeks, heavy eyes, nervous movements and twitchings of limbs and muscles. They complain of headache, drowsiness, weariness, dyspepsia and indigestion. All such symptoms and ailments, mean that the seeds of disease will have a fast and firm hold, unless proper measures are taken to restore a perfect condition of health.

Thousands of wise and prudent parents have made their children happy, healthy and vigorous by giving them nature's medicine, Paine's Celery Compound. In many severe and complicated cases, Paine's Celery Compound has restored health when the little ones were given up by physicians.

If your dear ones are not so hearty, strong and rugged as they should be in June, try the health-giving virtues of Paine's Celery Compound. It makes and keeps the children well.

HONORED BY CAMBRIDGE

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT NOW AN LL.D.

Cambridge, Mass., June 26—Commencement at Harvard University was of unusual interest yesterday because of the presence of President Roosevelt, who graduated therefrom in 1880, and because he was to receive the honorary degree of LL.D. from the university. President Roosevelt arrived at the university, accompanied by Governor Crane and a bodyguard of cavalry. The commencement exercises were followed by the conferring of honorary degrees and the commencement dinner of Harvard Alumni and invited guests in Memorial Hall. The honorary degrees were conferred by President Eliot.

HUNTINGDON'S DAY

A FEAST OF REASON FOR THE LOYAL CITIZENS ON JULY 1.

Among all the pleasant functions of Dominion Day, for which arrangements have been made probably none has a finer sense of fitness than that which the good people of Huntingdon, Que., have in their mind at present. One by one, pupils have come from Huntingdon Academy and gone into the universities and marts of the outer world, more or less equipped for the struggle before them. How many have done credit to Huntingdon Academy it would not be easy to say. There is to be a reunion on July 1 of the old pupils and graduates of the Academy. The reception prepared for those who may attend is hearty, and the village will enjoy a feast of reason in reality. Boys and girls of the past are to meet in social talk and enjoyment.

As might have been expected, there is a practical end in view of the reunion. It is that the sum of ten thousand dollars shall be raised in order to better the opportunities of Huntingdon Academy and of the pupils who may attend it. Lord Strathcona has kindly contributed one hundred dollars to the fund, and there is every prospect of it coming to fruition. Meantime, the gathering on July 1 is Huntingdon's hope.

A DESTRUCTIVE HAIL STORM.

Brampton, Ont., June 26.—Severe hail storms on Tuesday in and around Brampton for several miles caused much damage to fruit and grain. Goosebery and currant bushes were stripped, and plum trees were also badly stripped of leaves and fruit. Potatoes and garden vegetables suffered considerably. The hail storms were large enough to kill chickens, ducks and small turkeys. In some places the hail stones lay more than an inch in depth.

THE PALMA TROPHY

TEAM OF ENGLISH RIFLEMEN WILL SHOOT FOR IT.

London, June 26.—The National Rifle Association will send a team to Canada to compete for the Palma Centennial prize at the Rockliffe ranges, Ottawa, during the meeting of the Dominion Rifle Association next August.

GIFTS FOR THE REV. F. M. DEWEY.

The Rev. F. M. Dewey, pastor of Stanley Street Church, and Mrs. Dewey, left on the SS. 'Lakonia' this morning for Glasgow. When they went on board last evening, the members of the Junior and Senior Christian Endeavor Societies called on them, and presented them with flowers, fruit and travelling rugs.

AN AGED WOMAN.

After Passing Three Score and Ten Years Mrs. Plowman is Cured of Dyspepsia—A Very Serious Case.

Nothing can render old age more miserable than Dyspepsia.

Mrs. Emma Plowman, wife of Mr. Alfred Plowman, of New Lowell, Ont., is over seventy years of age, and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have completely cured her of a very bad case of Dyspepsia.

For a few years past Mrs. Plowman has been bothered more or less with Stomach Trouble which finally culminated in Dyspepsia of a very aggravated form.

She tried many dyspepsia cures, but got no relief till she began to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

From the beginning she found some relief, but the improvement in her case was slow.

However, she was not discouraged, but determined to keep on till every trace of her old trouble was gone.

She used in all twenty-one boxes before she felt quite sure that her digestive organs were completely restored to a healthy condition.

Now she is enjoying perfect freedom from every symptom of Indigestion or Dyspepsia, and is loud in her praise of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

It seems quite a long treatment, but as Mr. Plowman himself says:—'Who would not spend ten dollars and a half to see his wife cured of such a distressing and painful disease?'

While it took twenty-one boxes to effect a cure in the case of this old lady it must be remembered that many cases are cured by a much shorter treatment.

Everything depends on the severity of the case and the general physical condition of the patient.

Some systems respond more quickly and positively to medical treatment than others do. Age has often something to do with this.

Some do not continue the treatment without interruption till cured, but stop the moment relief begins and thus do not give the remedy a fair chance.

But this is true:—There is no case of Stomach Trouble, no matter how acute or of how long standing, that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will not cure if persisted in according to directions.

Fell Exhausted and Unconscious

A Frightful Case of Exhausted Nerves and Debilitated System—From a Mere Skeleton, Pale, Weak, Trembling and Almost Wild With Pain, Mrs. Edwards Was Made Strong and Well by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mr. R. W. Edwards, 33 McMurray street, Brantford, Ont., describes her case as follows:

"For five years I have suffered more than words can tell from nervous headache, nervous dyspepsia, and exhaustion. The pains in my head would at times almost drive me crazy. I could not sleep nights, but would walk the floor in agony until I fell exhausted and unconscious, and my husband would have to carry me back to bed.

"Sometimes I could take no food for four days at a time, and experienced terrible gnawing sensations in the stomach, had bad taste in the mouth and coated tongue. I was pale, nervous, irritable, easily exhausted, was reduced to a mere skeleton of skin and bone, and my heart would palpitate as though it was about to stop beating. My greatest suffering was caused by the dreadful pains in my head, neck and back, and all this was in spite of the best efforts of three leading doctors of this city.

"For the past nine months I have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and for a considerable time I have not experienced a headache, or any of the symptoms mentioned above. From a mere skeleton this medicine has built me up in flesh and weight, until now I am strong and well, do my own housework, walk out for two hours without feeling tired, and am thoroughly restored to health. Is it any wonder that words fail to express my gratitude for this remarkable cure? You can use this testimonial for the benefit of other sufferers."

It would be impossible, we believe, to produce stronger evidence to prove the wonderful power of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a system-builder. It contains the very essence of the most potent restoratives of nature, and is certain to be of benefit to you. 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

FAVORABLE NEWS

The King's Pulse and Temperature Normal This Morning.

CONDITION AS A WHOLE IS MOST SATISFACTORY.

London, June 26. — Sir Frederick Treves, Sir Francis H. Laking and Sir Thomas Barlow again spent the night within Buckingham Palace, and they have arranged for Lord Lister to join them in consultation in the morning.

When a representative of the Associated Press applied at the palace after midnight last night, just as the building was being closed up for the night, it was learned that there was nothing to be added to the last bulletin that King Edward's condition continued to be satisfactory.

LAST NIGHT'S BULLETINS.

The following amended bulletin was issued after eleven o'clock last night :—

'The King continues to make satisfactory progress. He slept some hours during the day. He complains very little of discomfort and is more cheerful. The wound is doing well.

'(Signed),
'TREVES,
'LAKING,
'BARLOW.'

The following bulletin was posted at Buckingham Palace at 10.52 p.m.:—

'The King continues to make satisfactory progress.

'(Signed),
'TREVES,
'LAKING,
'BARLOW.'

10.04 a.m.—The Duke of Connaught called at Buckingham Palace this morning at 9.30 o'clock. Later he said :—'The news concerning the King this morning is most encouraging. The King's pulse and temperature are normal, and his condition, on the whole, is most satisfactory.'

The official bulletin on the condition of King Edward, issued at 10.15 o'clock this morning, is as follows :—

'His Majesty has had a better night and has had some refreshing sleep. He has improved in all respects. His constitutional condition is quite favorable, and the state of his wound is also satisfactory.

'(Signed),
'LISTER,
'TREVES,
'SMITH,
'LAKING,
'BARLOW.'

London, June 26.—(1.30 p.m.)—The King's satisfactory condition was fully maintained at 1.00 p.m., to-day. His Majesty looks well and has a cheerful appearance, quite bearing out the good tenor of the medical bulletin.

London, July 26.—(2.12 p.m.)—The following bulletin was issued from Buckingham Palace at 2.00 o'clock in the afternoon: 'The King's condition still remains satisfactory.

(Signed)
'TREVES,
'LAKING,
'BARLOW.'

King Edward's progress in convalescence occasions the greatest satisfaction in all official circles. His Majesty already is displaying the greatest interest in all public questions and is expressing his gratitude over the evidences of the world's solicitude by opening a number of telegrams with his own hands. This action excited him slightly, caused some restlessness during the night and aroused some trifling solicitude on the part of the attendant doctors. All this really was unimportant, as His Majesty soon quieted down, and, on the whole, rested satisfactorily.

Improvement in the King's condition this morning was most marked. Everybody in Buckingham Palace is delighted and high hopes are entertained that his convalescence will be much more speedy even than was expected last night.

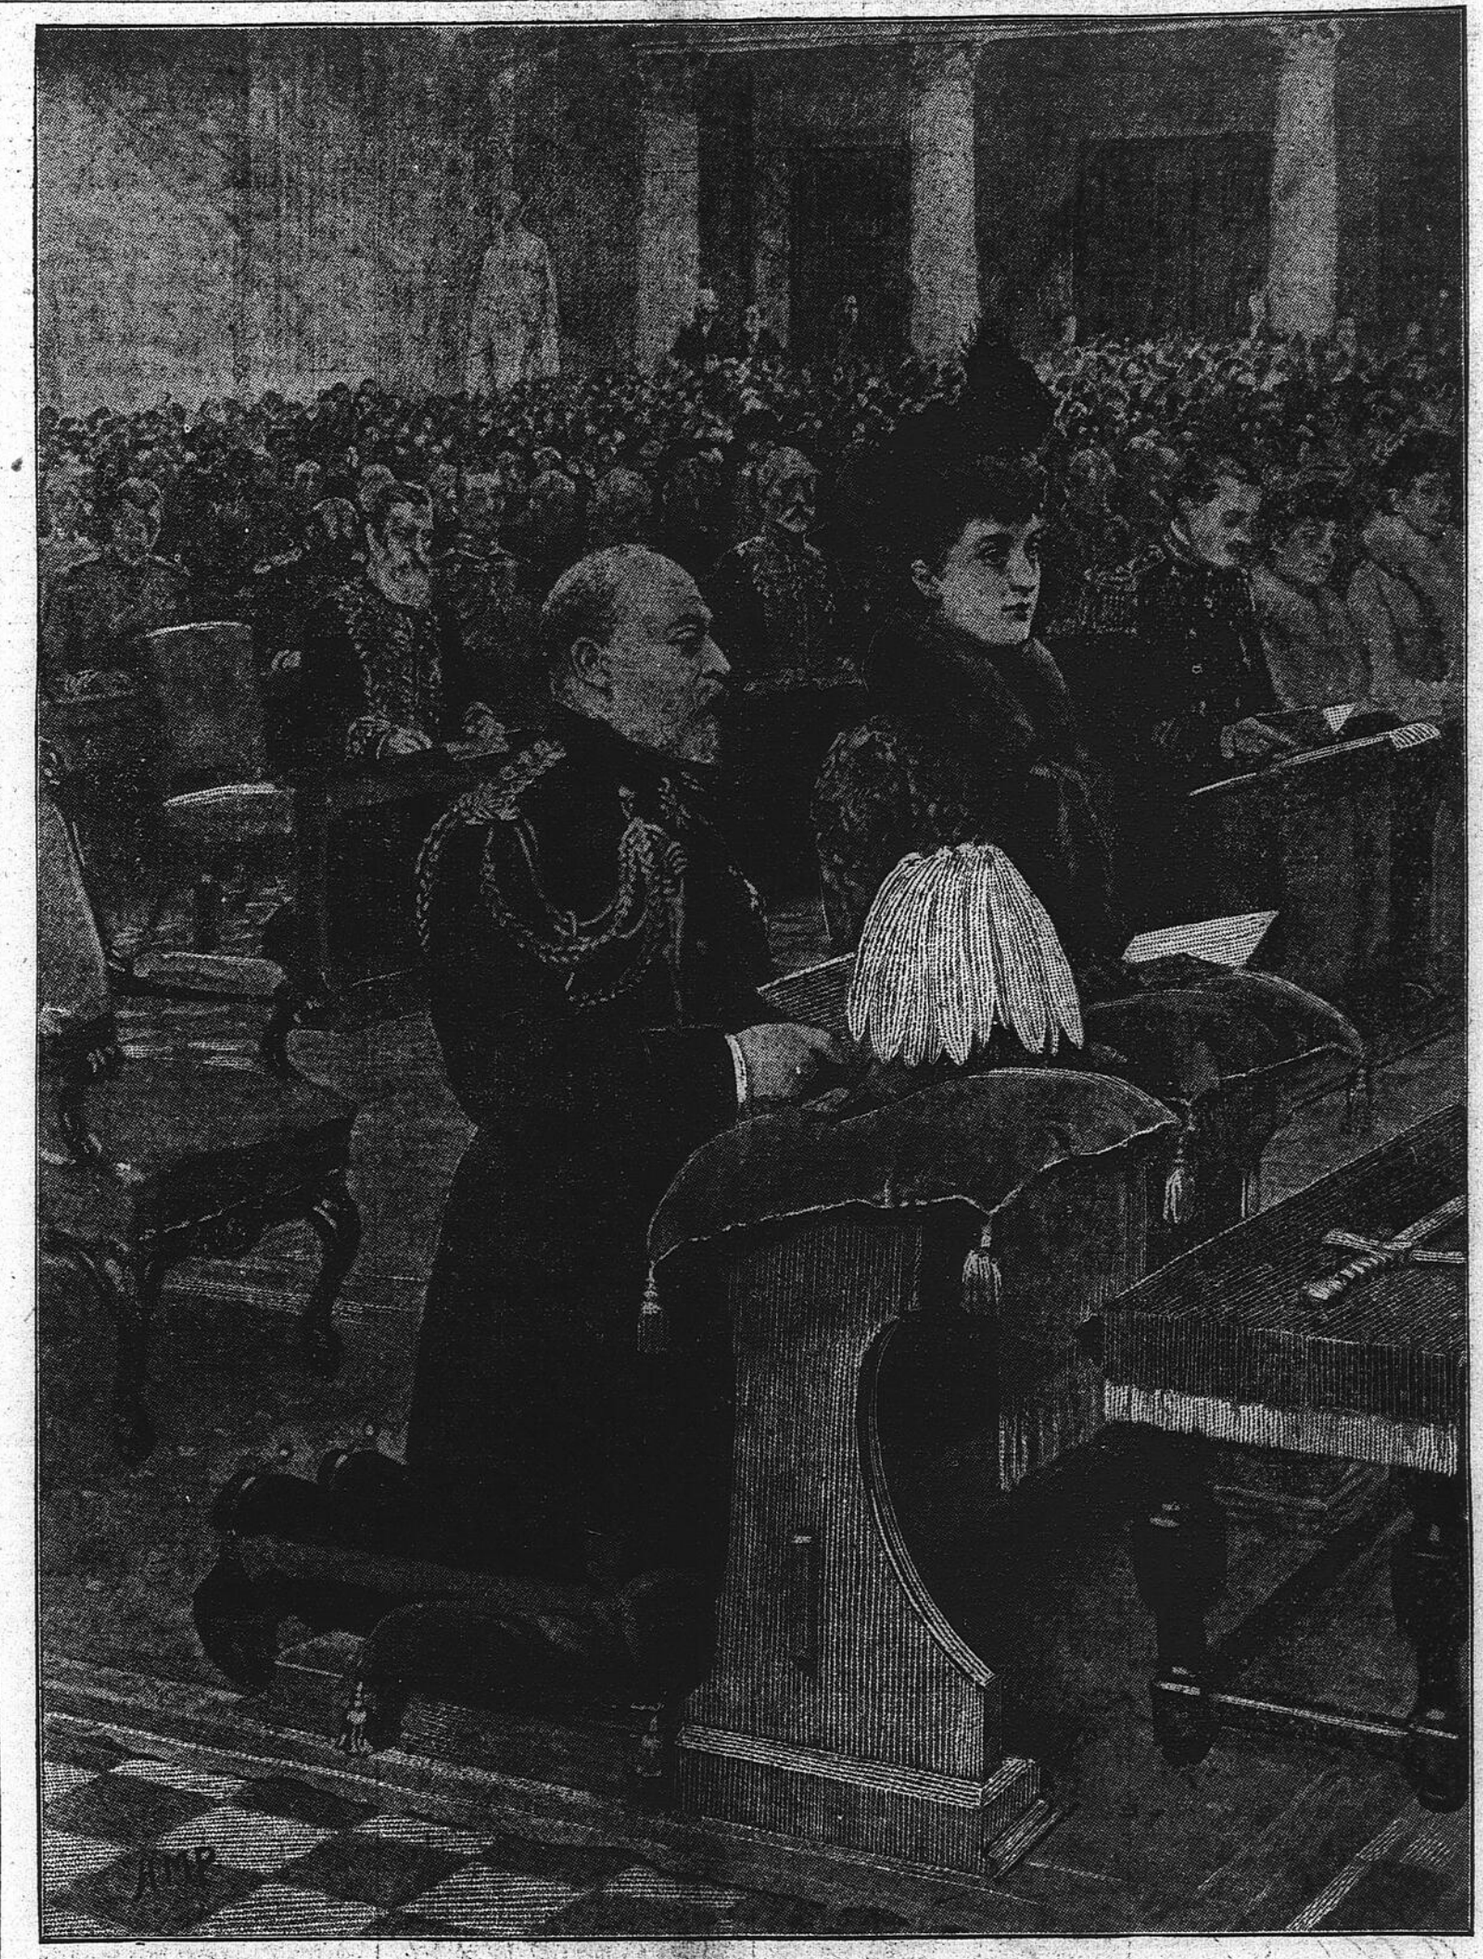

At no time has there been any serious suggestion of the establishment of a regency. The most that was done was in the way of pure speculation—a suggestion that the Prince of Wales might act for his father, as King Edward (then Prince of Wales) frequently did for Queen Victoria in former days, and, particularly during her last illness, but without his having formally been appointed regent.

The good news given out by the Duke of Connaught at Buckingham Palace before the doctors' morning consultation, and which the subsequent official bulletin completely confirmed, occasioned the liveliest satisfaction to all persons collected at the Palace, the Mansion House and elsewhere awaiting tidings from the sick chamber.

The absence of ambiguity in the language of the medical bulletin, which, unlike previous statements, has no qualifying phrases, has done much to restore confidence in the public mind in regard to the outcome of the King's illness.

The King saw several members of his family in the course of the morning. The Queen remained at the Palace, but the Princess Victoria drove out this morning.

In most of the churches throughout the land to-day the services which were to commemorate the coronation of King Edward, are taking place in the changed form of intercessory services.

THE KING'S CONDITION

SINISTER RUMORS CONTRADICTED—EXPERTS OPTIMISTIC.

London, June 26.—The 'Lancet' in a second edition says :—'While it is impossible to disguise the serious nature of the King's condition it is also a joyful privilege to be able to contradict flatly some of the sinister rumors. The prevalent idea that some dreadful news is kept back ought to be dispelled. We would like to draw attention to the absolute sincerity of every bulletin issued. This sincerity should prevent the public from giving heed to the wild rumors that are rife. It is an unfortunate fact that the symptoms of perityphlitis may be entirely masked. Thus the necessity of an operation being apparent was absolutely prevented until the Tuesday before the coronation. There was no symptom of malignancy present.'

The 'British Medical Journal' says :—'Since the operation the progress of the King has been as satisfactory as could be hoped for. His Majesty is by no means out of danger, but should the symptoms pursue the course hitherto followed, there is good reason to hope for his restoration to health. Owing to the nature of the affection, and the character of the surgical dressing used, it is inevitable the convalescence will be somewhat prolonged, but we are glad to believe that if no complications arise there is no reason to fear that recovery will not be complete. The condition of the parts, made clear at the operation, is such as to assure the surgeons that the abscess was due to one of those unexplained inflammations which are known to occur with remarkable frequency in the neighborhood of the vermiform appendix. It was not due to any organic disease of more serious nature, or to a malignant growth. Having regard for the fact that the abscess was situated within the abdomen it is impossible to say that some complication will not yet arise, but we feel justified in saying at the present that there are no indications of the occurrence of any such, and should no complications arise His Majesty may be restored to health and live many years to occupy the throne.'

DR. TREVES'S REPORT.

Dr. Treves says that the King, on June 18, found his temperature elevated and there were swellings and tenderness in the right iliac fossa. These are symptoms of perityphlitis, but during the two following days all the ominous symptoms disappeared. When Dr. Treves saw the King on Saturday his temperature was normal, and the swellings were gone. He believed there would be a rapid recovery. It was only on Monday when Dr. Treves saw him again that the doctors began to be suspicious that there might be pus in the right iliac region. The temperature on Monday was 102 degrees. The swellings rapidly increased. The operation showed that an abscess of very large size lay at a considerable depth. The matter evacuated had undergone decomposition. 'It was clear that the King had borne severe suffering in the hope of avoiding a postponement of the celebrations. The abscess was thoroughly evacuated and thoroughly washed. Two large drainage tubes were introduced and the wound packed with antiseptic gauze.'

A FLAT CONTRADICTION

London, June 26.—Frequent rumors of the gravest description have obtained circulation in London. One of the most persistent revived the story that the King was suffering from cancer. When questioned on the subject yesterday afternoon, Lord Knollys, the King's private secretary, said: 'I give you my word of honor that the King has no cancer; he never had a symptom of cancer, and there is no malignant growth whatever in connection with his malady.'

THE KING'S PHYSICIANS.

The physicians in attendance on King Edward are among the foremost men in the realm of surgery and medicine, not only in England, but of the world.

Lord Lister, whose name is the first of the five signed to the bulletins anent the King's health, has received many degrees from medical and surgical societies not only in England, but in the different countries of Europe. Lord Lister is surgeon extraordinary to the King, as he was to the King's mother, Queen Victoria. He has written many widespread treatises, and has been professor of surgery at Glasgow University, and also professor of clinical surgery at the University of Edinburgh. He is professor emeritus of clinical surgery of King's College, London. He has won a great name for himself by his discovery of the antiseptic treatment in surgery. He is a member, among other societies, of the American Academy of Arts and Science, being an honorary elect. He is also a member of medical societies at Munich, Dresden, Leipsig, Paris and other European cities.

Sir Thomas Smith, the second physician in attendance, is surgeon at St. Bartholomew's Hospital, in London. In fact, all the men are London practitioners. Sir Thomas is the consulting surgeon for the Children's Hospital at Norwood, and the Infant Orphan Asylum. Sir Thomas has written many books treating on children's diseases. Besides being sergeant surgeon to the King, he is examiner in surgery for the Royal College of Surgeons, in London, and honorary secretary of the Royal Medical Society.

Sir Francis Laking has achieved great eminence in his profession. He was one of the physicians most constantly in attendance on the late Queen. His offices have brought him into close relationship with the present King, because before Edward's accession Sir Francis was surgical apothecary to the Prince of Wales, as well as holding that office with Her Majesty the Queen, the Queen's household, the Duke of Edinburgh's household, and that of the Duke of Connaught. Sir Francis is also visiting apothecary in St. George's Hospital and consulting physician at Gordon Hospital.

At one time he was house physician at the St. George's Hospital. Membership in the Royal Institute of Great Britain is one of the licenses that he possesses. He has received honorary degrees in Europe, notably from Heidelberg in 1869.

Sir Thomas Barlow, physician to His Majesty's household, is professor of chemical medicine and physician to the University College Hospital. Fellowship in the Royal Medical and Chirurgical Society is one of his honors. The hospital for children on Great Ormond street, London, has Sir Thomas for visiting physician. He did hold the same position with the London Fever Hospital. His connection with the British Museum as medical adviser is one well known honor held by him. Many treatises from his pen have won wide recognition.

Sir Frederick Treves, sergeant surgeon to the King, occupied the post of surgeon extraordinary to Queen Victoria. Among the offices that he has been honored with are the post of surgeon lecturer on surgery at London Hospital, examiner in surgery at the University of Cambridge and examiner at the universities of Aberdeen and Durham, where he was late Hunter professor of anatomy and Watson professor of pathology. At present he is a member of the court of examiners of the Royal College of Surgeons of England.

WESTMINSTER ABBEY CLOSED.

New York, June 26.—The 'Tribune's' London correspondent says that inside of Westminster Abbey everything remains for the present in the condition in which it was prepared. The Abbey has been locked up, and it will be kept closed and in its present condition. No one beyond those immediately concerned will be admitted until after the coronation.

SYMPATHY IS GENERAL

IRISH PRESS BREATHES A PRAYER FOR THE PROLONGATION OF HIS LIFE.

Dublin, June 26.—The Irish papers comment sympathetically on the King's illness.

The Dublin 'News' says it has caused a cessation of political turmoil, and all classes are united for once.

The 'Freeman's Journal' pays a tribute to the King's bravery as a man and says that perhaps, for the first time in history Ireland breathes the prayer of 'God Save the King.'

The 'Daily Independent' is equally sympathetic. It expresses the hope that the King's present serious condition is only a passing obstacle to a successful reign.

London, June 26.—Of the feeling in parliament, Mr. T. P. O'Connor, an Irish Nationalist member, writes the following for the Associated Press: 'There is a great deal of sympathy; there are certain circles in which the King has not kept his hold, but by the great public, which knows little of the tattle of courts, the King is liked, and he is regarded as a good fellow, with a sensible head. The sympathy for His Majesty is perhaps stronger in Liberal and even Irish circles than among the Conservatives. The Irish have a secret feeling that His Majesty is not unfriendly to Ireland, and for this, I believe, there is some foundation. In any case, the man has been struck down at the most glorious moment of his life, and the pity and the tragedy of this appeals to every one.

'In regard to the future the death of the King would involve the immediate prorogation of parliament and the dropping of all legislative measures now before parliament. The members would again have to take the oath to a new sovereign. The Prince of Wales is young and inexperienced, and he is, of course, without the authority which years of experience and sound judgment gave his father. The prince is said to have strong views in favor of self-government drawn from his recent experiences on his colonial tour. But on all hands there is apprehension as to the future, and England is passing through one of her worst hours.'

FRENCH SYMPATHY.

Paris, June 26.—Admiral Gervais, chief of the French mission to the coronation of King Edward returned to Paris this evening. He says that the French envoys are profoundly moved by the sad news of His Majesty's illness. The flattering manner in which they had been received in London added to their chagrin at the abrupt termination of the festival. The mission shares in the grief of the British people.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

Washington, D.C., June 26.—The chaplain, in his prayer at the opening of the Senate to-day, invoked 'blessings upon our sister nation, England, which holds with us the sacred trust of Christian progress. We remember her tears and prayers for us when our great ruler fell. And now we have Christian sympathy and brotherly concern in this, her hour of sorrow. Bless her King, and give him a happy issue out of his present sickness.'

The chaplain of the House in his invocation to-day also prayed for the restoration to health of King Edward.

Cambridge, Mass., June 26.—President Roosevelt said in the course of an address at the Harvard Alumni banquet last night: 'Let me speak for all Americans to-day when I say that we watch with the deepest concern and sympathy the sick bed of the English King, and that all Americans in tendering their hearty sympathy to the people of Great Britain now remember how keen was the outburst of genuine grief with which all England last fall greeted the calamity that befell us in the death of President McKinley.'

VISITORS DEPARTING

London, June 26.—The exodus of the coronation embassies already has commenced. The next two or three days, doubtless, will see the departure of all but one or two, and these will close up their official establishments and remain in London, merely as private persons.

The exodus of Royal guests from London continues. Prince Leopold of Bavaria, the Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria; Prince Albert of Belgium, and others left to-day.

CELEBRATIONS CANCELLED.

Telegrams from all quarters of the Empire tell of the cancelling of proposed coronation celebrations. Hongkong, Simla, and Australia all announce the substitution of religious services for the contemplated festivities.

Ottawa, June 26.—The following cable was received yesterday afternoon through the GovernorGeneral from Mr. Chamberlain :

'Referring to my telegram of June 21, operation on His Majesty the King successfully performed, and this morning physicians state that, considering all circumstances, he is progressing favorably. Coronation festivities in London have been abandoned, except the King's dinner to the poor and other charitable entertainments. You should adopt a similar course.—Chamberlain.'

From this and the following telegram it will be seen that the people of Canada acted as the Mother Country desired in cancelling the holiday and military arrangements.

The second cable, which was transmitted to the Militia Department here, and was received by Colonel Parsons, commanding His Majesty's forces in Halifax, states : 'All military ceremonials in connection with King's coronation are abandoned.'

The Canadian Cabinet met yesterday afternoon, but there were no messages received from England beyond the usual despatches relating to His Majesty's condition.
