World News In Brief

London, Aug. 18.—(Reuters)—The first television pictures ever sent across the English channel were received in London last night from a portable transmitter in a public square in Calais, France. The pictures showed scurrying Calais pedestrians. The transmission was a warm-up for a public cross-channel television display Aug. 27, centenary of the first cross-channel cable.

Washington, Aug. 18.—(AP)—The population of the United States has risen more than 500,000 since the 1950 census was taken, and is now above 151,000,000.

Miami, Fla., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Floridians breathed easier today as a severe hurricane changed its course and lumbered northward in the Atlantic.

No part of Florida was on the alert. Danger to any portion of the United States mainland lessened hourly.

Rome, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, fascist commander-in-chief who stood by Mussolini to the last, will go free Aug. 29—four months after he was sentenced by an Italian military court to 19 years in prison for treason. The old Marshal's 19-year term was cut by government amnesties for valor in battle and allowance for time spent in prison at the end of the war.

Berlin, Aug. 18.—(Reuters)—West Berlin authorities drained a pond in a children's playground and found one 500-pound bomb, 50 incendiary bombs, five tank grenades, and 12-centimetre grenades and some small arms ammunition.

Rome, Aug. 18.—(Reuters)—Lightning killed 18 persons in violent thunderstorms that swept Italy this week. Seven others were taken to hospital with severe burns.

Wellington, Aug. 18.—(CP)—New Zealand's Upper House of Parliament, the Legislative Council, voted itself out of existence today.

After two weeks of hectic debate, it passed, 26 to 16, the Conservative government's bill providing for its abolition Jan. 1, 1951. The Legislative Council was set up 96 years ago.

Described by Prime Minister Holland as "useless," the Council is appointed by the Governor-General.

Government Holds Special Meeting In Last-Minute Attempt To Halt Walkout

First Embargoes Become Effective As Threat To Dominion's Economy Becomes More Serious.

By JOHN LEBLANC, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Ottawa, Aug. 18.—(AP)—The Cabinet went into its third session of the week at 10:30 A.M. EDT today, with the rail wage-hour deadlock high on its agenda.

The Ministers had been summoned to the special meeting after the unions rejected yesterday a government appeal for a 30-day extension of their August 22 strike deadline but agreed to resume negotiations with the companies.

Transport Minister Chevrier, in charge of the government-owned Canadian National Railways, and Labor Minister Gregg had nothing to say on the possible outcome of the meeting as they entered the East Block on Parliament Hill.

Asked if there might be a new government move today, Mr. Gregg just replied: "That remains to be seen."

The Cabinet was expected to study reports on the resumed negotiations. And there was some possibility it might appoint a "special commissioner" to mediate the dispute before the deadline.

Today, Mr. Gregg declined to comment on a report that the government had sounded out a number of men as possible mediators.

Originally, the government offered to appoint a mediator if the unions would postpone their strike action for a month. But unions involved rejected the 30-day postponement, saying they would welcome a mediator at once.

The Canadian unions, representing 34,000 employees, said they would welcome a mediator before the August 22 deadline. The 15 international unions, spokesman for whom was Frank Hall, contented themselves with turning down the government offer of a strike postponement. They made no mention of a mediator.

Spokesmen for both sides made radio addresses last night as the battle reached its climax. Frank Hall, who is chairman of the negotiating committee of the 15 international unions, made an address, immediately followed by one from W. A. Mather, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Mr. Hall said that since the unions' demands were made 14 months ago, the cost of living had increased to such a point that the demands now fall far below what is needed.

On the unions' demand for the 40-hour week, instead of the present 48, Mr. Hall said the five-day week now was in force in most Canadian centres for industrial and other workers. The railways had promised the 40-hour week at an "appropriate time" but this was too vague.

Both railways had given the 40-hour week to their subsidiaries in the United States and they had continued to show increasing profits. They did not lose money as the railways had claimed they would.

Mr. Mather said railway acceptance of government proposals "no places it squarely up to the dissenting unions" to decide whether or not the country's railways will come to a stop.

Railway management did not believe a strike "in any way is justified."

"A railway strike would bring economic dislocation affecting everyone in the country. The dispute between management and labor would then no longer be our problem alone, but one which would be shared by every citizen," the C.P.R. president said.

He added that the only way to meet demands of the unions "would be to ask for, and receive, not a normal increase in freight rates such as may be demanded by the changing Canadian economic scene but by an increase in freight rates of major proportions, as would be felt in every home in every part of the nation."

Mr. Mosher, in a letter delivered to the Prime Minister, said the workers he spoke for had indicated further postponement would not be acceptable to them. However, they were willing to negotiate immediately and work around the clock to get an agreement.

Mr. Mosher indicated that Monday afternoon was the latest time for rescinding the strike call. It would take some hours to get the word out to all employees in time to get them to report for work Tuesday morning.

A brief wire from Mr. Gordon and Mr. Mather to the unions read: "The railways have advised the Prime Minister of their willingness to comply with his request to resume negotiations. Accordingly we say to you that should you decide a conference, we are prepared to meet you on convenience."

US Not Safe From Attacks By Bombers

By ELTON C. FAY

Washington, Aug. 18.—(AP)—An enemy probably could make an aerial strike at almost any place in the United States today and get some bombs down on the target.

It is not considered within the realm of possibility that the present sparsely-spotted radar system—even though on a round-the-clock operating basis—would detect all approaching bombers or that existing fighter forces would destroy every one of them.

Competent military sources doubt if more than a quarter of an attacking bomber force coming over the Polar regions could be knocked down before it crossed the northern border of the United States.

U.S. air force strategists hold that the most effective way to halt air attacks on the United States mainland would be destruction of the bases from which the attacks are launched and of the industrial centres supporting the attacks. It is on this theory that the retaliatory strike by long range B-36s, B-29s and B-50s are planned.

Following this same reasoning, defence officials believe that the bases for those planes, in the continental U.S. and Alaska, would be priority enemy targets, the spots for which sneak raiders would head first. Making the bases useless for launching retaliatory strikes would be of prime importance to the enemy. Any bombers they got past the radar warning system and fighter defences could be expected to streak for air bases.

Next in importance probably would be the great industrial areas and the nerve-centres of government and military direction, Washington.

When asked about defences against a surprise air attack, the air force's frank answer sums up to this:

The country's air defences today are not satisfactory. The present radar stations comprising "the warning net" are composed of second world war equipment and are located on government sites—apparently places where the government has land on which to locate them, but not necessarily the most desirable locations.

The stations are too few to give more than a limited warning to certain industrial and military areas.

The number of fighter squadrons backing up the radar system, although growing, is still inadequate. At present, it is said by one expert, they could "afford only a token defence against even a moderate force operating against the United States."

Brussels, Aug. 18.—(Reuters)—Police yesterday found a stock of arms at the home of Count Arnold de Loos-Corwarem, arrested six days ago after a failed attempt to blow up the Belgian Senate. He is a leading member of the pro-Leopold Social Christian party.

8th Arrest Made In U.S. Spy Probe

Washington, Aug. 18.—(AP)—The United States justice department today announced the arrest of a former United States navy civilian engineer on charges of giving national defence secrets to Russia.

It said Federal Bureau of investigation agents took Morton Sobell, 33, New York electrical engineer, into custody at Laredo, Tex., this morning.

He is the eighth person arrested in a roundup of Americans accused of "exchanging atom bomb data and other secret information to a Soviet spy ring."

Lake Success, Aug. 18.—(AP)—The Security Council last night heard a United States demand that any Korean settlement provide for a unified, independent country. Later the council adjourned until Tuesday.

Warren Austin, chief U.S. delegate, made his country's major policy statement at yesterday's public session. The meeting was preceded by a private session at which Council members tried again in vain to break the procedural blockade imposed by their Russian president, Jakob A. Malik.

Austin said the primary U.S. objective in Korea must be cessation of hostilities. But the Korean people expect that when their Gethsemane has passed, they will all have the right to freedom and unity," he declared.

Austin's statement did not stipulate whether the U.S. thinks U.N. forces should go beyond the 38th parallel to conquer the North Korean invaders of South Korea. It refrained also from knuckle blows at the Russian role in North Korea and contented itself with an appeal to the Soviet Union to use its influence to end the conflict.

In a brief reply Malik made new assertions that the U.S. is trying to extend the scope of the war. He charged that proposals for a unified post-war Korea were only to hide civilian deaths from U.S. bombing.

The Soviet Union, he declared, "will not use its influence in the American way, the way Secretary of State Acheson uses it with (South Korean president) Syngman Rhee."

Austin's speech was the first official statement of full U.S. aims in Korea since fighting began June 25, an American delegation source said. Austin declared, in substance, that all of Korea must come under U.N. supervision as a step toward independence.

Austin did not say whether this would be accomplished by military conquest or by negotiation. But he made clear that hostilities must end in such a way "that no opportunity is provided for another attempt at invasion."

Allied Troops Mark Up Successes On All Korean Fronts; Pohang Retaken

Tokyo, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Allied forces today staged off a North Korean drive on Taegu, struck hard at a communist bridgehead farther south and recaptured the east coast port of Pohang.

American and South Korean troops trying to neutralize a communist threat from north of Taegu were reported by Reuters News Agency to have shoved back the communists 2½ miles. But Taegu's civilian population was being evacuated and the South Korean government moved on to a new provisional capital.

Objective of the allied counter-attack was an important road junction 17 miles north of Taegu. Air strikes and artillery paved the way for tanks and infantry.

Twenty-three miles southwest of Changnyong U.S. Marines and infantry made such progress against the North Korean 4th Division in a bridgehead west of the Nakdong river that a high U.S. officer declared that the Reds had taken "a hell of a licking."

Recapture of Pohang on the east coast strengthened the northern sector of the allied defence box and took the pressure off Pohang airfield from which aircraft had been withdrawn.

The allied counter-attack north of Taegu took them into north hill country on either side of the Kunwi-Taegu highway, down which four communist divisions opened an assault on the city yesterday. Civilian itself was being emptied of civilians in a mass evacuation ordered to clear the city for use solely as a military base.

The South Korean government went to a new, unspecified refugee capital.

The most threatening Red approach was in steep hills 12 miles north of Taegu.

Forty-five-ton Pershing tanks were used in the counter-attack led by the U.S. 27th Regiment and the South Korean 1st Division.

The South Korean 6th Division lost contact Friday night with Red forces. It had held before Taegu.

Allied troops tasted victory on all other fronts Friday. For the first time in 13 bitter days of fighting Americans rolled back some of the 12,000 Red infantrymen who had bugged across the Nakdong river south of Changnyong, 23 miles southwest of Taegu.

U.S. Marines and 24th Division troops gained up to three miles in the Changnyong sector and chased terror-stricken and weaponless Reds back across the Nakdong in droves. One battalion of about 1,000 communists broke for the western banks of the river first. They were followed by others.

Maj.-Gen. John H. Church, U.S. commander in the Changnyong sector, said the North Koreans there had taken "a hell of a licking."

Some communists voluntarily crossed over to American lines and surrendered.

Pohang and Kigye on the Korean east coast were recaptured by South Koreans.

In the deep south, at the other end of the line, the U.S. 25th Division turned back a dawn attack by the North Korean 6th Division driving eastward from ruined Chinju.

The Red threat to Taegu came from troops bombed by U.S. B-29s Wednesday in the Waegwan area.

Upside Down Man Will See Rightside Up

By ED CREAGH

New York, Aug. 18.—(AP)—For 30 days, Fred Snyder has been looking at the world upside down and backward.

Tonight Fred will take off his special, binocular-like glasses. The floor will shoot up to the ceiling. The ceiling will come down to the floor. Once again Fred will see the world as other people see it.

"I'm not sure I'll recognize it," Fred said with an uncertain laugh. "I've got pretty used to leading this upside-down existence. Things look right to me when they're upside down and backward to everybody else."

Fred is a friendly, 25-year-old graduate student at the University of Wichita. He undertook the upside-down experiment as part of his work in psychology. His teacher, Dr. N. H. Pronko, who came along to New York, thinks it's a pretty valuable piece of work.

"We're not trying to prove anything," Pronko said. "We're trying to learn something about how people see. Apparently it's something we have to learn. In some ways Fred already has learned to see as well, or better than, he did with 'normal' vision."

But it wasn't easy.

First Fred put on his strange, projecting glasses. A light, metal headgear supports them and sponge rubber prevents a chafing. He couldn't do anything right at first. The food on his dinner plate

Death Toll In Cruise Ship Fire May Rise To Seven

Tadoussac, Que., Aug. 18.—(AP)—The possibility that the death toll in the destruction of the river cruise ship Quebec by fire last Monday would go to seven was indicated today when police said two more persons are known to be missing.

Quebec provincial police said their information is that Gertrude and Eva Taub of Tarrytown, N.Y., have not been accounted for.

Five bodies have been recovered from the burned-out cruise vessel which was towed out of here early today for Lauzon, opposite Quebec city, where a thorough search of tons of debris in her blackened hull will be conducted by provincial police.

Department of Transport signals service said the Quebec would probably arrive in Lauzon late this morning. It was understood two tugs were on their way to meet the wrecked ship to assist in the 103-mile long haul.

In Quebec, Frank Findlay, manager of the C.S.L. breach there, said "about 90 per cent" of the passengers aboard the St. Lawrence river cruise ship have been accounted for "directly."

The others, he said, have only been traced "indirectly."

Pressed for definite figures, Mr.

Findlay said that a complete passenger list was not available and that the cabin plan—listing only passengers with cabins, not those without cabins—was destroyed in the fire.

His 450 figure was a round figure, not a precise one, and he could not say exactly how many passengers had been accounted for directly or indirectly. Most of the passengers were United States citizens, he said.

The manager's statement followed discovery of a fifth body aboard the destroyed vessel. A fourth was found Wednesday night. The two bodies were believed to be those of Dr. and Mrs. Pickens Smith McCollum of Clemson, S.C. Their daughter is on her way to Quebec to aid in establishing identification. Previously, three bodies had been identified as those of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Shapiro and their son, Leonard, of the Town of Mount Royal, near Montreal.

At Ottawa Transport Minister Chevrier announced that a formal investigation will be held. Mr. Justice Fernand Choquette of the Quebec Superior Court will preside over the inquiry as commissioner. Gerard Lacroix, K.C., of Quebec, will act as counsel.

Data and venue will be announced later.

Mass Exodus Has Started From Taegu

By HAL BOYLE

Taegu, Korea, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Fear that has shadowed 500,000 hearts here exploded in panic today as a mass exodus began from this besieged city.

For several hours chaos ruled the streets of this refugee-swollen provisional capital of South Korea. The civilian populace was swept by hysteria. The scene on the ground was utter confusion. From the air the exits leading south looked like clogged lanes of frightened white ants.

The story of this flight of an entire city can best be told by telling what happened to one household.

This family lives beneath the window of a mission school where foreign war correspondents have been billeted more than one month. Its home was in a jammed corridor.

As the Red army slashed closed down the Seoul-Taegu-Taegu road uncase increased in the city. Reports spread that the local communists had been secretly armed and would rise whenever the red troops reached the outskirts.

Two weeks ago the young father of the family beneath our window dug a deep pit in his backyard and buried all the household's precious belongings in it. Thousands of other fathers must have been doing the same thing; they had no better place to put their simple treasure than in a hole in the ground.

The young mother each twilight lit a fire and cooked rice and vegetables for her children and the grandparents and the uncles and the cousins that swarm in most small Korean homes. Each morning they took turns scrubbing each other with water hauled up by buckets from the backyard well.

Last night truckloads of grinning South Korean recruits rushed toward the front happily singing what Americans call their "no lose face" song. It is a kind of song-chant that tells how the recruits are going to drive back the invaders and free Korea.

Before dawn several enemy shells cracked into the city, killing at least four persons and hitting a locomotive tender in a railway yard.

In mid-morning the provisional government ordered all non-essential civilians to leave. It was not only to clear for defence, it was a safety measure to avoid a last-minute rush such as took place during the fall of Seoul, the abandoned republican capital.

The family below our window packed on their backs the few remaining belongings, struggled out of the walled front and disappeared in a line of refugees.

Taegu, normally a city of about 350,000 has swelled in six weeks to 700,000 or 800,000.

It appeared as though the whole city was emptying itself. Refugees swarmed out by the scores of thousands southward in military columns moving northward.

There were such sights as:

A weary mother squatting by a telephone pole to suckle her wailing infant... a middle-aged man harnessed between the shafts of a heavily-loaded wood-wheel oxcart and straining to pull it... old men and white-haired women lying exhausted by the roadside.

Fathers and mothers carrying all that was left of home in bundles upon their backs and heads and pulling weary children along by the hand... a small ragged girl hugging an empty kettle and

SERIOUS FIDDLING BRINGS BENNY KING'S RANSOM (CHEAP KING)

Hollywood — "Toro" is down in the Robert Stack movie log as a movie that may change his career luck and convince producers that he can do something more important than play aristocratic stinkers.

He's the hero—a bullfighter—and says:

"I'm through with the spoiled heel parts. I'll never do another one, thank you. No more stripped-to-the-waist poses, either. It's nice if you have a good build but it doesn't get you anywhere. You end up like the cheesecake girls."

It happened in a Paris cafe where 30 fiddlers roam around the room and play at tables for tips. They all converged at Jack Benny's table and played "Love in Bloom." Then Jack grabbed a fiddle and joined the wandering group. Some American tourists tossed him a 50-franc note—14 cents. Jack pocketed it greedily.

A couple of western stars, worried that Jack Carson's satirical impersonation of a world-famous movie cowboy in "Illegal Bride" is illegal fun, can relax. Jack plays cowboy star who gambles, drinks and hates kids. . . Marilyn Maxwell, I hear, is in as Doris Day's replacement for the warbling job on Bob Hope's airshow. . . Sir Laurence Olivier is due in these parts for "Sister Carrie" at Paramount.

Note from Harry Cimring: "Sally Rand, the fan dancer, is in trouble with the bureau of internal revenue. Obviously for taking off too much."

Audie Not Audible
When George Raft and Coleen Gray hit London to finish "I'll Get You for This"—they started the film at San Remo, Italy—the British press acted like Ava Gardner wasn't around and splashed Coleen all over the front pages. She's still gasping:

"It was glamour girl stuff. It never happened to me in Hollywood."

Coleen says she got palsy-walsy with Ava in England. She has two words to say about her: "Terribly misunderstood."

Letter from a movie fan to UI: "My small son adores Audie Murphy but I'm not going to take him to see any more of Audie's films. You keep putting him into movies where he moans and groans and never says a word. My son sulks and tries not to smile. He sits around gazing at me silently and when I ask him what's the matter, he says, 'I'm Audie Murphy. I haven't anything to be happy about.'"

Joan Fontaine says she's ready for television—when it's on film. . . That promised star buildup for Tony Curtis is taking form at UI. The studio gave him an elaborate test with Ann Blyth as his leading lady. . . Warner bosses are as jubilant as a radio jackpot winner over the preview of "Tea for Two"—the studio's brightest musical in years. . . Scott Beckett, recently divorced by his tennis champ wife Beverly Baker, is dating Sally Tibbs. . . Uncle Sam is speeding up his recruiting drives using radio and film talent. Universal Records is producing 200 programs.

Who's On The Menu?
Chill Wills helped stage a benefit at Moab, Utah, during filming of "Rio Bravo" there. The Ute Indians helped out. Says Chill: "It smelled like they were cooking their kinkfolk backstage."

Realart Pictures says all the commentary has been removed from the reissue of "All Quiet on the Western Front." The commentary appeared in the 1939 version. Says Realart: "We are releasing the original Academy Award version."

Phyllis Kirk, who is going places with MGM musical director Andre Previn, landed a big role with Jane Wyman and Van Johnson in "Three Guys Named Mike." "I'm bound to be good in this picture—and noticed too," she whispered. "I think I can persuade Andre to play loud music over Jane and Van's dialog."

"Arch of Triumph," a goody egg at the U.S. boxoffice, is still cleaning up in Europe, according to Director Lewis Milestone. He says:

"There are two reasons for the film's flop here. First, we set out to make a three-hour movie at a time when exhibitors wanted three-hour pictures. When it was completed, we sliced it in half, because the exhibitors said that the public no longer wanted three-hour pictures. So it became a series of dialogs between Charles Boyer and Ingrid Bergman."

"The second reason is that American audiences are not interested in pictures about passport problems. Americans can't understand the tragedy of people without passports."

Richmond Fair Gets Off To Good Start, Favored By Fine Weather

By LOUIS CASSAR
Richmond, Aug. 18.—Clear skies, and bustling activity in all departments, heralded the opening of the three day Richmond Fair yesterday.

An average first day crowd filtered through the grounds during the afternoon while large numbers passed through the main gates in the evening and filled the grandstand for the initial grand performance.

The official welcoming address to fair patrons will be given this afternoon by the president of the Richmond County Agricultural Society, A. E. Dyson, of Richmond, at the start of activities before the grandstand. Two patrons of the fair, A. Goudreau, of Asbestos, M.L.A., for Richmond, and E. O.

Dr. Richard Gaudet, of Sherbrooke, and Mayor Horace Boivin, of Granby, were recently made Knights of the Equestrian Order of the Holy Sepulchre of Jerusalem, along with three prominent Montreal citizens, Honore Dansereau, Severe Godin and Arthur Tremblay, president of the Societe St. Jean Baptiste de Montreal.

L. Emile Grothe, of Montreal, Regent of the Province of Quebec, will receive the Grand Cross of the Order. Date of the investiture is to be announced by Msgr. Paul Emile Leger, Archbishop of Montreal.

Promoted to Commanders of the Order are Msgr. Olivier Maurault, P.S.S., Rector of the University of Montreal; Msgr. Maxime Cataoui, Pastor of the St. Sauveur Syrian Church, and C. Donat Turcotte, vice-president of the Institute for epileptics at L'Isle-Aux-Cerfs.

Local Effects Of Railway Strike Will Be Widespread, Survey Shows

By CUTHBERT JONES
With the first impact of the threatened railway strike, called for Tuesday morning, being felt locally in the form of embargoes on shipments of perishable articles and livestock to distant points, local businessmen and citizens generally are beginning to study the effects of a full-scale tie-up on their daily lives.

The chief sufferers of course will be the industries, especially those engaged in heavier lines of production who depend largely upon the railway for their raw materials and for the delivery of their finished products. Most of these manufacturers are reported to have a moderate supply of raw materials and partially fabricated goods on hand which would permit them to continue operations for a few days. But inability to ship their output would provide a serious problem as in most cases they have relatively small storage facilities and may be forced to close down their production lines if the strike extends beyond a few days.

Local coal dealers, who receive practically all their supplies by rail are optimistic, stating that their stocks at the present time are high and should be able to meet all demands for some weeks to come. This would be especially true if the strike forces a curtailment in industrial operations which in turn would reduce the demand upon local coal reserves. Most industrial coal users state they have good supplies on hand.

One business to be vitally affected by any walkout is the fruit and vegetable distribution trade. But even here there are bright spots in the picture. Local fruits and vegetables, largely received by truck, are at present reaching the market in substantial scale and should serve the reasonable needs of local residents for such basic items as potatoes and other root vegetables, apples and similar fruits. The imported fruit outlook is not so bright. Oranges, bananas, pineapples, etc., are all brought in by rail and these supplies will be cut off entirely should the walkout become effective.

Discussing fruit from Ontario, Emile Blais, president of Thompson and Alix, Ltd., said that it is hoped to bring in limited supplies of these products by truck, but he warned that the demand on the trucking industry would be so heavy that such movements would be comparatively small.

He believed that in view of the supply of local products, truck imports and warehouse storage stocks, there would be little real suffering by the people of this district unless the strike lasted well into September.

Perhaps one of the greatest sufferers from any rail walkout is the Post Office Department, most of their interurban traffic moving by railway post offices and train baggage cars. As a first move to meet the crisis, orders have been issued that in the event of the strike, mail will be restricted to letters in ordinary form, mail prepaid at air mail rates, medicines, analyses and other similar items prepaid at ordinary rates.

An embargo has been declared on all second, third and fourth class mail, except for local delivery, that cannot reach the office of destination before the strike deadline. This was placed in effect locally today insofar as points in British Columbia and Newfoundland are concerned. It is applicable tomorrow noon for points in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. For other points in Canada, for foreign countries and for the United States, it will apply Monday noon. Efforts are being made to arrange for the transportation of locked bags to local post offices in

THE KEY to Better Fur Values!

The purchase of a fur coat is probably the biggest clothing purchase you'll ever make. You should certainly look before you leap; you should find the store that will give you the most for your dollar! We are in a position to do just that! We have some fur coats in stock, BUT IF YOU DON'T SEE THE COAT YOU WANT WE CAN GET IT FOR YOU IN NO TIME!

We Can Sell Furs For Less . . .

We know furs, but we are not furriers exclusively. We carry other lines: children's wear, ladies' wear, etc., that carry us through the seasons when people are not ordinarily buying furs. We are able to sell furs during the fall and winter, therefore, at much lower prices because we do not depend on the profits from a few months exclusively.

Work Starts On Base For Lighted Cross

Work on the foundations for the illuminated cross that will be constructed on Mount Bellevue in west Sherbrooke has been started, Paul Leclerc, chairman of the cross committee, announced today.

Mr. Leclerc said that the city has undertaken to provide the base and also will supply the power once the cross has been erected.

A roadway to the cross has been built.

Originally intended to be a 100-foot structure, the cross will instead be 110 feet so that full clearance can be made of the surrounding trees. It will have a 50-foot span, be 10 feet square and have a 40-foot base.

Mr. Leclerc said subscriptions to the cross fund are coming in well and have been received from other parts of Canada and the United States. More than $3,000 of the $10,000 objective has been raised so far.

It was learned from city sources today that when the cross is completed it will be sold to the city for the nominal sum of one dollar and that its further maintenance will then be the responsibility of the city.

The cross, to be lighted on the side facing Sherbrooke, is being built in commemoration of Holy Year.

Three consecutive Want Ads may be inserted for $1.25.

Death Claims Oliver Cromwell Of Cookshire

Death has removed a prominent Eastern Townships citizen in the person of Oliver T. H. Cromwell, of Cookshire, who died suddenly at his residence last night. He was in his 51st year.

The deceased, son of Fred R. Cromwell, of Bredendbury, Sask., and Cookshire, and the late Mrs. Cromwell, was at the time of his death manager of the Wallace Brothers Silversmiths, in Cookshire.

Well known in agricultural circles throughout the Eastern Townships, Mr. Cromwell was a director of the Compton County Agricultural Society and was a member of several committees for the annual Cookshire Fair which starts on Monday.

He is also survived by his wife, the former Jean Fenton; three brothers, Cyril C. and Francis F., of Bredendbury, Sask., and Rufus E., of Quebec City, and five sisters, Mrs. Colin C. Pope, Cookshire, Mrs. Ladue Whipple, Washington, D.C., Mrs. Norman Magnusson, Halifax, N.S., Mrs. Redington Moore, Easton, Pa., and Miss Charlotte Cromwell, Ottawa.

The funeral service will take place at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon in Trinity United Church, Cookshire.

GUN-POINT "NEGOTIATIONS"

The attitude of the Canadian railway union leaders in the current wage dispute with the management of the major roads may be likened to that of a highwayman who asks his intended victim to discuss financial conditions with him at the point of a loaded pistol. Whatever may be the justice of their claims for a shorter working week and an increase in wages, they have not strengthened their position in the public mind by their refusal to accede to the request of Prime Minister St. Laurent to defer the strike scheduled for Tuesday morning for thirty days. During this period, the Prime Minister promised that a federal commissioner would seek to mediate the dispute and arrange a settlement satisfactory to both parties.

However, the present attitude of the union leaders is an indication that they do not want mediation in the accepted sense of the word—meaning that both parties talk matters over in a spirit of give and take, making mutual concessions of varying degrees. From the date the preliminary demands were made until now, on the eve of the strike, the union leaders have not budged one iota from their original position and have stated repeatedly that it is a case of all-or-nothing. At no time have they brought forward any counter-proposals similar to those advanced by the railways that might provide the ground for a workable compromise.

Frank Hall and A. R. Mosher, chiefs of the two union negotiating groups concerned in the present dispute have said much of the overwhelming majority favorable to a walk-out registered in the strike ballot. Leaving aside any doubtful practices which may have featured the holding of the original vote, it must be clearly appreciated that at no time have the workers been given an opportunity of registering their opinion on the compromise proposals advanced by the railway companies that would mean approximately $30,000,000 extra per year in their pay, nor have they been given an opportunity of stating their views on a possible compromise in the unions' position. On anything but a secret ballot, they were just offered a chance to say "Yes" or "No" on the original conciliation board report which has since been radically amended by the latest offer of the railway companies.

In the light of the present attitude of the union spokesmen it is difficult to see how even the most able negotiator will be able to bring about a settlement of the strike in the short time remaining, except at a tremendous cost to the Canadian public, who will be forced to pay the bill either through increased freight rates or government financial assistance to the railways. Perhaps the government is finding itself in a dilemma of its own making. For some time now it has been apparent that the solution of the dispute by direct negotiations between the two parties would be almost impossible, but the cabinet has temporized, hopeful that something would come up that would relieve it of the responsibility of taking any action. Now this hope has failed them and they are seeking, as apparent from the letter of the Prime Minister, to accomplish in four days what would have been difficult in four weeks.

PLAYING WITH DANGER

A rather homely lesson to Canadians, and the people of the Western democracies generally, has been given by the Fort William Times-Journal. The paper declares that none other than a lion was a passenger on a T.C.A. aircraft which landed at Fort William recently. He was travelling to Vancouver in the cargo hold and while in the Lakehead city was taken out for exercise.

Of course, the paper continues, he was just a young lion weighing about thirty pounds. As such he was quite playful. On seeing the crew pet him, two Fort William men joined the fun and fondled the animal as they would a dog.

Take-off time drew near and the cub trundled off towards the plane and the cargo hold. On the way, the lion came to a stout wire stretched around to keep the people off the grass. The jungle cub snapped playfully at the wire—and cut it as cleanly as would a pair of hot shot pliers.

Observing this, the two Fort William men developed a very thoughtful look. One of them raised his hand and inspected it—still wearing that thoughtful look.

Well-meaning, innocent Canadians play around with the communists behind the Peace Congress propaganda. There will be a time when they too will become very thoughtful—and thankful that they escaped so luckily.

MOSCOW JUST LOOKING

The Motion Picture Export Association has just announced that the Russians have allowed its trademark to be registered in the Soviet Union. The United States organization admits, however, that this does not mean the Kremlin is ready to let the Hollywood influence run loose in Russia.

In the last two years, Soviet officials have "screened" fifty-nine United States films without doing anything about it. Their new action, which includes a request for more films to look at, may simply mean the Politburo is lonesome for Betty Grable.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

It is all very well in the surge of emotion to promote reforms. But one must always look toward possible effects in an attitude of cold reason. Otherwise what is hoped to accomplish may be offset by ill-effects.

In New Zealand, some years ago, capital punishment was abolished. That country got applause from well-intentioned people all over the world. The experiment has not paid off however and a bill has been introduced to have the death sentence restored, except that youths under eighteen, expectant mothers and mothers convicted of infanticide still will be exempt.

If in the saving of the necks of a few who deserve punishment the result is to jeopardize the lives of innocent people by the encouragement of violent crime, abolition of capital punishment is not a merited reform.

NO STATUE FOR ROBIN

Ottawa Journal

Peter Pan, Lady Godiva and even Eros have been nailed down in stone and metal by the British, who seem to like statues more than most. Such memorials are popular, but perhaps only because they are pleasant relief from Queen Victoria and the innumerable generals and statesmen who complicate the movement of traffic and provide perches for pigeons.

Now we are faced with the delectable prospect of a Nottingham statue to Robin Hood, and the only comfort is that the argument over the plan is so bitter that nothing may come of it. They have fought over whether the statue should be placed in Sherwood Forest or Nottingham Castle; an uninspired group says any money collected should be used to provide a home for the aged, the sort of task we understood the Socialist government had taken over completely.

Robin Hood needs no statue because he has millions already. He is what every man and boy has made him in his own mind. We ride with him, sing with him, try with him to draw a stout bow for justice. He is not a woman's man but the girl, if they choose, may ride along pretending they are Maid Marian. He is our companion in hours of trial, our adviser when we wonder whether right will prevail, our courage when good fortune turns against us. We weep over his burial at the place where his last arrow fell, but we turn smiling to see him there again with Little John and Friar Tuck, ready for some new venture.

Always we must try to gild the lily, make better what is good enough. We should honor Robin by leaving him alone and if we do he will never leave us but be ever with us, brave and young and gay.

AGAINST BABY SHOWS

St. Thomas Times-Journal

At a conference of medical officers of health in London recently one physician speaking on the subject of baby clinics said "baby shows are barbarous and degrading," and he would rather go and see a cattle show. His objection was that these baby shows set wrong standards of babyhood.

Perhaps the doctor sees so many babies in the course of his duties that the prospect of being confronted with 50 or more babies at a show appals him. Baby shows are a great attraction, however, particularly to women, and notwithstanding that the medical man believes the shows set wrong standards—which statement we believe to be right—there is no likelihood that they will be abolished.

The most unfortunate feature of these shows is that if there are, say, 25 babies in one class, the 24 mothers whose baby did not get the cup, are annoyed and think the judges were stupid.

In fact one St. Thomas mother frankly told us that she would never take any of her children to a baby show because she would be mad at the judges if they did not award her baby the first prize.

There we have an illustration of the "wrong standard."

RECOGNITION

Toronto Telegram

The Canadian Bankers' Association and the Imperial Bank whose branch at Langdon, Ont., was robbed on June 21, are to be commended for their decision to make a substantial financial contribution to the widows of William Goddyn and Arthur Lierman, the two men who attempted to capture the desperado and were shot by him. Generously, Mrs. Lierman has requested that the total $18,500 be paid to Mrs. Goddyn but the Imperial Bank has decided that its contribution of $6,000 will be divided equally.

Nothing the banks do will compensate these women for the loss of their husbands, but the financial contribution is some tangible recognition of their sacrifice.

HOW TO COOL OFF

Toronto Globe and Mail

Over in New York they found a man, prostrate from the heat, with the unbelievable temperature of 109.8. Did they fill him with iced beer or even give him chunks of ice to drool over in the hospital? They fed him two quarts of tepid salty water and in less than an hour he was cured and discharged.

You tell the average man to string along with nature by drinking unchilled water with salt in it when he suffers from the heat and he wonders which lunatic asylum is looking for you. The shock may even induce him to reach for another long cold one.

AH, PEACE. WOULDN'T IT BE WONDERFUL?

Glimpses Into The Past

By BERTHA WESTON PRICE
FROM UNDER THE LEAVES OF YESTERYEAR

Among recent visitors from the United States to various parts of the Eastern Townships was an interesting and interested resident from New Hampshire in the person of Mrs. R. E. Gage, of Northwood Center, who came to Duds-well Township and nearby places in search of family history from under the leaves of yesteryear.

Mrs. Gage (nee Anne Goodspeed) was interested in the Rolfe and Lothrop families who were among the early pioneers in Duds-well and Ascot townships, of which she is in direct line of descent, also of the Winslow and Warner families. These are all well-remembered names, and there are many Rolfs still residing in Duds-well, Bishop-ton, Marlboro, East Angus, while the Lothrop families have mostly gone to other places, chiefly the United States. This ancestry is like many others because of the coming in to the Townships, settling and intermarrying. One who searches must find the lines that cross the border between the two great countries.

Mrs. Gage has traced the Lothrop back to Bridgewater, Mass., (1637) and knows that her great-grandfather, Joseph Rolfe, married Rowena Lothrop; and that their children were her grandfather, Joseph Rolfe married to Mary Ann Winslow; his sister, Rowena, married to Israel Rice; Gershom Rolfe married to Betsey Rice; and Noble Rolfe married to Sarah Amundson of an Inverness family. These records show plainly how closely the Rolfs and Lothrops are linked with the Rice families who are direct descendants of Deacon Edmund Rice, the Pilgrim Father who came to America from England in 1638 and gave the name to Sudbury, Mass., which was his home town in England.

The tracing of families in the New England States has been an ordinary piece of work, but not in the newly-settled parts of this province. It is claimed that our pioneers came into Canada with a Bible and an axe and an axe and in the other hand. Those Bibles were treasured possessions for their daily use and in newly-built homes in the forest they served again for records of births, marriages, deaths, and often incidents of importance were added. The tragedy has been in the destruction of many, many Bibles, also of records kept by ministers in cabins, schoolhouses, and early churches, through fire.

Mrs. Gage's grandfather and his wife settled in Ascot and he operated a large farm at what is now Ascot Corner. The farmlands were on both sides of the river in which there was a large island and where Mr. Rolfe built a barn and raised hay. This island is quite similar to the one near Lennoxville on the Beattie farm, "Willowdale."

Mrs. Gage remembers her mother telling her about this sturdy pioneer; he was a total abstainer and when he had the usual barn-raising bee there was no liquor, the result being disastrous to the new barn—the workers went home to their own work and Mr. Rolfe and his father finished the job. Records show that Joseph Rolfe owned the first sawmill, also the first dance hall in that locality. All through the years Ascot settlers were good farmers and made wise choice of the fertile lands in the St. Francis Valley, noted for its fertility, beauty and interesting history.

While here, Mrs. Gage and her two companions, who belonged to the Sunbury family, another E.T. name—motored to outlying places, Bishop-ton, Ascot Corner, Eaton Corner, Sawyerville, and returned to Sherbrooke via Moulton Hill and the East river road from Lennoxville. While in the last named place the visitors called on Miss Mary Vandrey, M.A., LL.D., having taken Mrs. Bertha Price with them for a delightful outing, and a glimpse into the old days when all these places were growing and making history.

In that delightful book, "By the Name of Rice," written by Charles Elmer Rice, an ancestor of the Rice family in Montreal, and of many well known families in E.T., are some lines that fitly apply to the coming of Calvin, Isaac and other Rices to Duds-well and Ascot; also to other early settlers who left us a noble heritage. The author writes: "They came in the early post-Mayflower period and the Deacon has always been known as Edmund Rice, the Pil-

THINKING CAN SAVE MANY A CONTRACT

"That was a nicely played hand, partner," said Hard Luck Joe. "It's too bad we didn't bid game. Should I have bid three diamonds? I really don't think that I could have bid three no-trump."

"You've got too many words in that sentence," said South musingly. "You just don't think—period. You still haven't thought of what you should have done."

While Joe is thinking that one over, let's see how the hand was played at two no-trump.

West opened the king of clubs, and South won with the ace. Declarer knocked out the ace of diamonds, and West, desperately in search of a suit, shifted to a heart. South won in his own hand and knocked out the ace of spades. West could take his queen of clubs for the third defensive trick, but declarer easily won 10 tricks.

Evidently South thought something had gone wrong with the bidding. Do you see what? Decide for yourself before you read on.

It was very foolish of Hard Luck Joe to bid two diamonds with that hand. He should have doubled two clubs for penalties.

His partner had opened the bidding with one no-trump, thus showing almost half the high-card strength of the deck. North had about a trick and a half and could therefore tell that West must have the rest of the high cards and that the East hand must be complete bust. Certainly the North-South hands contained far more high-card strength than in East-West hands.

When a player bids no-trump, moreover, he guarantees either three cards or a strong doubleton as a minimum in each suit. North

The Record Short Story

Double Or Nothing

By ROSS CAVANAGH

It hadn't been easy to get Lucy into the dancing class, because the last thing they needed was an extra girl. But Lucy's mother had managed it in spite of being a newcomer to town. She'd pulled wires and given parties to women she didn't care a straw for, and finally, the coveted invitation for next Winter's class had come, to her delight and Lucy's dismay.

"I'm not going without Mary Ellen," Lucy handed the card back to her mother, her chunky, 12-year old figure set in unaccustomed defiance. "She's my best friend and you've got to get her in, too, Mother."

"But you see, darling, they can't have an extra girl," Alicia Evans explained. "If Mary Ellen had a brother, now . . ."

"Well, she hasn't," Lucy's blue eyes darkened. "She hasn't a mother, either. Her fathers so sort of sad and absent-minded, he's never known how to get her in. I wish you'd ask him to dinner again."

Wistfulness took the place of defiance in Lucy's voice, but her mother steeled herself against it. "Now, pet, listen, once and for all. I'm not running after strange widowers. I've asked him twice to please you and really, his excuses for not coming were pretty feeble."

"Mary Ellen says he just hasn't gone anywhere since her mother died," Lucy defended. "And it's because he is so nice that his excuses are feeble. He doesn't know how to make up lies like . . ." she broke off at her mother's expression, but the next instant, rebellion flared up again. "I don't care! I hate that Mike Cross who's always hanging round! And I'm not going to the dancing class without Mary Ellen."

Alicia watched her daughter's tempestuous exit, a troubled sigh accompanying her rising color. She tried to summon anger to meet the situation, but her conscience wouldn't let her. She had been following the line of least resistance with Mike. He was amusing and filled a void. Naturally, she hadn't the faintest intention of marrying him, but it was clear enough that he had every intention of marrying her.

A wave of loneliness that was almost more than she could bear washed over her. Why had John had to die and leave her to cope with adolescence all alone? It was three years now, and while the first wild despair was dulled, she still felt adrift and helpless.

Lucy was so much like John. Honest and forthright and loyal and uncompromising. She wouldn't go to the class without Mary Ellen. Alicia knew she might as well accept that fact, in spite of Mike's scorn when she talked over with him her fears of the stand Lucy would take.

"Are you going to let that kid dictate to you all your life?" he demanded, his green eyes glinting with the teasing admiration that was so flattering. "You need a good strong hand to keep you there."

Alicia had let that one slide by, but the uneasiness she'd felt at the time took possession of her again at the memory of Lucy's outburst. What was she doing, having a man like Mike Cross around so much? He'd sold her the house when she'd given up the New York apartment, and moved out to the suburbs, and as Lucy said, he'd been hanging around ever since. Oh dear, she did seem to be the kind of woman who needed a man around! But Mike, with two divorces already to his credit, was no more her kind, no more John's kind than—

"Oh well!" Alicia reached for the telephone with a helpless shrug. No point going into that now. She might as well do what she could about Lucy's rebellion. The patroness of the dancing class to whom she explained the situation was anything but encouraging. "We've made an unusual exception with Lucy—"

"Indeed you have, and I'm ever grateful," Lucy's mother said. "But you know how children are. Their loyalties at that stage are so inflexible. It just seems to boil down to 'double or nothing' with Lucy. Couldn't you possibly squeeze Mary Ellen in?"

But the most her pleading could bring was, "Well, I'll send you an application and you can get Mary Ellen's father to fill it in—only, I'm afraid it won't do any good."

Even though Alicia was sure it wouldn't do any good, she thanked Lucy for the city for practically the same reasons she had. She'd met him several times after church, and on Lucy's insistence, had twice invited him to dinner. Then, when he hadn't come, she'd been small enough to be piqued, instead of sympathetic and understanding.

"We'll go and see Mary Ellen and her father tonight, darling, and take this with us," she told Lucy, showing her own application blank when she came home from school. "Don't say anything about it, we'll just surprise them."

The memory of Lucy's impetuous hug was Alicia's mainstay against a juvenile impulse to run away after she'd rung David Fulton's doorbell that evening. Her nerves were still shattered by a stormy session with Mike over the telephone. He'd called her up to say that he'd managed to get two tickets for the premiere of a Broadway show, and was furious because she wouldn't put off her "errand of mercy," as he called it. His parting thrust about "getting in with the town's rich widower," made her squirm, but she forgot all about Mike and his remark as she looked into David Fulton's eyes.

Behind the surprise in them was such a lost, bewildered look. The thought flashed in Alicia's mind that that was the way John would have looked if he'd died and left him. He was tall, and his eyes had the same kind of look. Not glinting and gleaming like Mike's eyes; just straight and honest.

Automatically, Alicia's social case carried from over the first moments and landed them in the living room. Mary Ellen joyfully claimed Lucy, carrying her off to her room, while Alicia explained the object of her visit.

It seemed utterly incredible when the clock struck 10, as Lucy and Mary Ellen reappeared. "It can't be as late as that!" Alicia exclaimed.

"I can't believe it either," David Fulton's laugh brought a flash of delight to Mary Ellen's serious young eyes.

"Why, Daddy, you haven't laughed that way since—since—" "I know I haven't," Mary Ellen. He put his arm around her, and laughed again as his glance caught the application blank on the table. He picked it up. "We never got around to this," his eyes sought Alicia's with friendly eagerness. "Perhaps you'd have dinner with me tomorrow and help me fill it out?"

"I'd love to," Alicia nodded. Come on, Lucy. It's time you and Mary Ellen were both in bed."

"Funny you never got the application filled out," Lucy commented as they walked home. "That's what you went for?"

"We seemed to have a lot to talk about," Alicia's voice was dreamy but her mind was already skipping over the summer months to next Fall. Surely by that time an extra boy would turn up for the dancing class—anyway, her thought concluded, it's going to be "double or nothing." And her heart added with a prophetic happiness that it would be "double."

Lucy and Mary Ellen, David and— "Don't you think Mary Ellen's father's nice, Mother?" Lucy asked.

"Very nice," Alicia agreed, smiling down at her.

Freedom Bell Cast For Allied Berlin

London. — A bronze badge, worn for 10 years by United States ambassador Lewis Douglas, has gone into the making of the giant "freedom" bell which has just been cast in a Croydon foundry. The bell, to become the symbol of freedom in a new crusade against tyranny and slavery, will be installed in Berlin this fall by the National Committee for a Free Europe. It is eight feet high and weighs 10 tons.

While molten metal was being poured for the bell's casing, Mr. Douglas threw into it a badge he had carried on his coat lapel. It was a bronze torch emblem of the American Fight for Freedom Organization he helped organize in 1940.

Massey Harris, Ed. Trouquette, Danville-Ford Tractors, and A. T. Smith, International Farm Equipment.

Booths in the main building are occupied by the following: Dyson and Armstrong, General Motors cars and trucks; The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Richmond Branch of the Canadian Legion, who are selling tickets for their 10th annual Street Fair to be held on September 16 in Richmond; S. E. Desmarais and Co., Richmond, paints and roofing materials;

Southern Canada Power, washing machines, stoves, refrigerators; I.O. D.E. booth, raffling an electric tea kettle; R. A. Marcotte, Richmond, modern furniture, linoleum, radios, carpets; Canada Packers, live stock feed; J. A. Parenteau Furniture, Richmond, sewing machines; Raby and Frere, Sherbrooke, sewing machines; The Sherbrooke Daily Record.

An excellent display of garden vegetables is shown in the main building, with top honors going to Leslie Taylor, of Richmond, in the judging completed yesterday. Mr. Taylor, who annually displays his products at the Sherbrooke Fair, took two other firsts. Most valued was the one received for the best display and largest collection of table vegetables; the second prize was won for the finest collection of garden vegetables comprising three of a kind.

Livestock judging began yesterday and almost all classes received some attention. Judging of harness horses took place before the grandstand.

Principal sheep exhibitors were A. Provender, St. Felix de Kingsey; U. Provender, St. Felix de Kingsey; A. J. Lyster, South Durham; A. B. Lyster, South Durham; H. A. Fowler, Kingsbury, and F. Stalker, Kingsbury.

Guernsey breed winner was V. Ignatieff, while honors in Grade Beef Cattle were shared by F. I. Stalker, E. J. Tanner and C. A. Tanner. W. L. Gee, W. H. Coles, L. A. Skillen and R. Feller were prize winners in the Grade Dairy Cattle class.

The best pair of bacon hogs was shown by H. C. Pease, Cleveland, and the best pen of 4 bacon hogs by O. A. Fowler, Kingsbury.

Chief exhibitors in the Berkshire breed were L. L. Heal and M. C. Hodge, both of Richmond. O. A. Fowler, Kingsbury, and W. H. Comiskey, Richmond, led in the Yorkshire class with O. A. Fowler again in the Tamworth breed.

the district by truck from Sherbrooke and already a number of tentative deals have been completed. For points outside the immediate area, first class mail will be sent to Montreal by truck and moved from there by such means of transportation as are available.

Bus companies are prepared to step into the breach insofar as passenger traffic is concerned and already some of the leading motorcoach operators have announced their plans for a general increase in bus service should the strike become a reality.

Officials of the Quebec Central Railway Company stated today that their highway subsidiary would not be affected by the walkout of rail employees as the motorcoach companies operate under a separate labor agreement.

A statement was issued last night by H. J. Curtis, vice-president of Provincial Transport Company, on behalf of his own firm and the Colonial Coach Lines Limited and International Coach Lines. "Insofar as suburban services through heavily-travelled areas are concerned," Mr. Curtis said, "arrangements have been made to run shuttle services in addition to the existing regularly scheduled routes."

Commuters now using vehicles of the three companies would be sure to be accommodated, according to the statement. During such a period of emergency, new books of commuters tickets would be sold only to passengers surrendering signed front covers of their expired book of tickets, the statement continued.

To control transportation allotments between terminal city points such as Montreal, Sherbrooke, Three Rivers, Quebec, Victoriaville, Ottawa, Kingston, Toronto and Saint John, N.B., a space reservation system would be set up.

Extra sections would be operated to protect intermediate passengers, Mr. Curtis said, and, in addition, shuttle services would be run where necessary between divisional points to protect purely local traffic on main highways.

The plans drawn also include arrangements to supplement the fleet with a large number of buses which would be rented from operators serving areas not likely to be seriously affected by the railway strike.

"Although the employees of these companies," Mr. Curtis pointed out, "are members of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and other transport workers, the union officials have assured company officials that the members of the union locals serving bus companies will co-operate fully in any efforts made to provide whatever additional bus services may be possibly operated during the emergency."

Telephone company officials stated the plans have been made to meet the increased demand which is expected to result from the suspension of telegraph services.

The Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Express Companies yesterday advised their agents to place an immediate embargo on all carload and less-carload shipments of livestock, live poultry and other perishables.

Also embargoed were gold and silver bullion and currency which cannot with reasonable certainty reach destinations in Canada or be transferred to connecting United States carriers by Monday noon, the day before the date set for the strike of 124,000 non-operating employees.

The express companies also said that because of the possible work stoppage on the railways at 6 a.m., regional time, on Tuesday, other shipments are being and will be accepted "subject to delay."

The men involved in this dispute are not the men who run the trains, known as the operating trades, but include such varied classes as shopmen, express workers, commercial and railway telegraph operators, station employees, clerks, etc. As many of these classes are directly involved in the operation of the trains, the walkout will force a suspension of actual train services.

war years the most cartooned features of the Parisian theatrical world.

Cecile tore up her contract with the Comedie Francaise in 1901 when the Casino de Paris offered her a fabulous salary to walk down the newly constructed stage staircase in the role of "Eve in the Garden of Eden." She took Paris by storm.

Noted for her caustic and biting wit and her ribald sallies, Cecile delighted Paris in 1926 when, at the age of 53, she married young actor-peer Count Segur and became a Countess.

Cartoonist Andre Rouveyre decided to display his own view of 1907 when he exhibited at the humorists' salon an unflattering portrait of Cecile.

She sent for Rouveyre "to congratulate him." When he arrived, Cecile, without a bat of an eyelid, lifted the picture neatly off its hook and rapped it smartly over the artist's head.

Fire Victims' Death Ruled Accidental

Montreal, Aug. 18.—A verdict of accidental death was returned at a coroner's inquest here yesterday for a mother and four-month-old daughter who were burned to death Wednesday when trapped in their fire-levelled, two-story house one mile east of Granby, Que.

Granby police said the victims, Mrs. Norman Taylor, 28, and her baby, Julia, were the only occupants when the house went up in flames.

Allied Troops

They drove south on Taegu from Kunwi, 25 miles north of Taegu, and recaptured the town of Kumwha after a substantial advance.

Taegu was ordered evacuated of its 500,000 to 800,000 war-swelled population.

Hal Boyle, Associated Press correspondent, reported from Taegu that scores of thousands of Reds after six artillery shells from five miles away had killed four persons, streamed out of the city excitedly. An earlier mid-day panic had subsided.

The masses of refugees who had poured into Taegu ahead of the Reds from the north presented a grave problem for overworked local police.

There was a threat of an infiltrated communist outbreak inside the city among the refugees.

The capture of Pohang port on the Sea of Japan coast by the South Koreans permitted U.S. planes to resume using the airstrip six miles southeast of Pohang.

The American advances in the Changnyong bulge gave rise to optimism at U.S. Eighth Army headquarters in Korea. It had described the Red threat against Taegu as the most serious one in Korea.

The U.S. 1st Marine brigade and the 24th Division tackled 12,000 river-crossing Reds and drove well into their bridgehead on the eastern allied bank of the river.

AP correspondent Jack MacBeth on the Changnyong fighting front said some of the better North Korean 4th Division's troops, about a battalion in one place and a small group in another, were pulling back across the river.

AP correspondent Leif Erickson at U.S. Eighth Army headquarters quoted one American regimental commander as saying: "It looks like we have got them on the run. That 4th Red division has been pounding us for 45 days. It certainly is a pleasure to see them go back. I hope we can knock all of them out."

Correspondent Erickson said other senior officers agreed the Changnyong bulge outlook was favorable for the allies.

The Red rollback below Changnyong started Thursday when the Marines attacked a steep, rugged hill. The army attack followed. A swinging-door force, anchored on the north end of the bulge, was closing south on pocketed Red troops.

One Marine officer said Corsair fighter planes steadily strafed Reds trying to wade in retreat through the shallow Nakdong in the southwest sector of the bulge.

Correspondent Whitehead reported the Marines were hitting the North Koreans with everything they had.

Eight North Korean tanks were destroyed in the Changnyong sector, five of them by air strikes.

American and Australian armoured forces more than 500 sorties Friday, concentrating their fire on Red ground troops and armor.

The pilot claimed destruction of 13 North Korean tanks and large amounts of communist railroad traffic.

B-29s went out in force to strike at the North Korean communications system.

British navy fliers now are assisting Americans in blockading the east coast.

A Tokyo headquarters release also disclosed that a Canadian destroyer bombarded a battery in the Kunsan area on the west coast, 45 miles southwest of Red-held Taejon in South Korea.

By mid-afternoon the frenzy had died down. Many refugees who had wandered about aimlessly turned around and went tiredly back to their homes.

The family below our window struggled back through their gateway.

It is getting on toward dusk now. The mother is preparing the evening meal. The panic is over. The city is still safe and there is peace again in the home below — at least for another night.

Four Baptists Are Convicted At Val d'Or

Val d'Or, Aug. 18.—Four Baptists, charged with a breach of municipal traffic laws, yesterday were convicted in recorder's court in this northwestern Quebec mining town. Sentence may be imposed today.

The four, who pleaded innocent, are: Rev. Murray Heron, pastor of Noranda Baptist Church; Ernest Williams, Eileen Veals and Howard Killock, all of Noranda. Each had been tried separately, judgment being reserved for yesterday.

Police testimony was that all four, following arrest, had been taken to the police station, shown a by-law prohibiting street gatherings, had it explained to them and then were released. Police said they continued to hold street meetings and then were taken into custody.

Meanwhile, as Mayor Oza Tetreault returned to his hospital care in Montreal, a number of "Judgment of God" telegrams were received at his home. Friends of the mayor said the telegrams threatened both the mayor and the city with the fate of biblical cities.

In connection with the situation, Mayor Tetreault issued the following statement:

"Val d'Or is a town of 8,000 people with some 20 nationalities represented. The entire population here lives in harmony and there is no question of prejudice on account of race or religion."

"As civilized people, we have traffic regulations. Local and imported evangelizers have broken our traffic by-law and defied police under pretence of evangelizing persons who have every right to regard themselves as Christians."

"We have asked the Baptists to abide by the law and hold meetings in their own church, the same as other denominations do . . ."

flour in order to get the feed. "This condition was widespread during the Second World War," the spokesman said, "and led to heavy buying of flour by feed buyers who had no other use for the flour than to feed it to the pigs."

Turning to the problem of fixing of resale prices, the C.F.A. said that agriculture as an industry has more freedom from restrictive practices than any other industry.

But the same could not be said of non-agricultural goods, produced and sold in Canada. Most of these, the C.F.A. charged, were produced and sold under conditions of imperfect competition and semi-monopoly."

OBITUARIES

MRS. ALBERT WALDRON,
OF COATICOOK

Coaticook, Aug. 18. — Mrs.
Emma Waldron, nee Emma Mc-Crae, passed away at the home of her son, Irwin Waldron, after a lengthy illness, on July 22, 1950.

Mrs. Waldron was born on March 20th, 1870, at High Forest, and was the widow of the late Albert Waldron, who predeceased her in April, 1930.

Of this union three sons were born—Hartley, of Richmond, Irvin, of Coaticook, with whom she made her home the last twenty years, and Burton, of Detroit, Mich.

The deceased who was happiest when surrounded by her family and of a loving and cheerful disposition was always ready to give a helping hand, when health permitted, and will be sadly missed by her family and friends.

Prayers were said at the home of her son, Irwin Waldron, Morgan street, on Tuesday, July 25, after which the funeral cortege proceeded to the East Clifton United Church, where services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Perry, of Coaticook, and Rev. Mr. Cameron, of Sawyer'sville.

The choir sang two favorite hymns of the deceased, "Rock of Ages" and "The Old Rugged Cross."

Interment was made in the family lot in the East Clifton Cemtery.

The bearers were Messrs. Albert Merrill, of Richmond;
Ray Demers, of Lennoxville;
John Brennan and Vere Andrews,
of Coaticook.

The beautiful floral tributes and messages of sympathy received by the family all testified to the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

Besides her three sons, Mrs.
Waldron leaves to mourn her passing one sister, Ida, Mrs. John Damon of East Angus; three daughters-in-law, Mrs. Hartley Waldron,
Mrs. Irvin Waldron and Mrs. Burton Waldron; and one granddaughter, Marguerite, of Coati-cook; three grandsons, Wallace, of British Columbia, Norman, of Richmond, and Burton, Jr., of Detroit, Mich.; besides many nieces and nephews.

A sister, Mary, Mrs. John Andrews, predeceased her years ago.

GEORGE B. CAMPBELL, OF ROSENBERG

Rosenberg, Aug. 18. — Relatives and friends gathered on Friday afternoon August 11, to pay final tribute to Mr. George B.
Campbell, of Rosenberg, who passed away suddenly on Aug. 9, following a heart attack.

Prayers were said at his late residence, after which the funeral corège proceeded to St. James'

Church, Pigeon Hill, where services were conducted by Rev. Mr.
White, of Bedford.

The hymns used were "Rock of Ages," "Unto the Hills Around" and "Abide With Me."

The bearers were Messrs. Clifford and Richard Dean, of Philipsburg; V. J. Ingalls, of Cowans-ville; Clayton Campbell, of Bedford; Neil Lagrange, of Stanbridge Ridge; Ellis Jones, of Bedford.

The many beautiful flowers bore silent testimony of the esteem in which the deceased was held. Interment was made in the family lot in the Pigeon Hill Cemetery.

The deepest sympathy is extended to his widow and children.

The Doctor Says

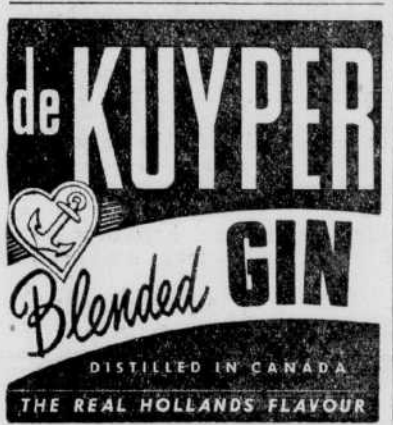

ASTHMA MAY BE CLEARED UP IF SINUS INFECTION IS THE CAUSE

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

Shortness of breath and wheezing in the chest are the most common signs of asthma. The diagnosis, however, cannot be made until the physician has listened carefully over the chest and X-ray films have been taken. The results of these examinations show better than symptoms do how much of the lung is involved and the seriousness of the condition.

Dr. Jordan The location of the difficulty is in the bronchial tubes which lead from the chest breathing tube or trachea into the lung tissue. The walls of these small passages become thickened. The passages are narrowed and filled up with mucus which the lung constantly tries to get rid of. Spasms or contractions of the bronchial tubes frequently occur, and when they do, still further decrease the space through which air can pass to the lung. The shortness of breath, therefore, of which most victims of asthma complain, is caused simply by the fact that the lungs are not getting enough air and are trying to get more. Likewise the coughing which accompanies asthma is nature's attempt to clear out the mucus and enlarge the breathing tubes.

Asthma usually comes on rather gradually after a person has shown signs of sensitiveness to some foreign protein substance for a long time. For this reason it is usually already well established before diagnosis is made. Treatment is consequently difficult. Even when the substance which has caused the asthma has been identified and re-

THE TRUTH ABOUT PREVENTING TOOTH DECAY

SCIENCE has proved that much of the decay that makes cavities is caused by acid-producing bacteria... formed by tiny food particles.

TO PREVENT acid-producing bacteria from attacking the teeth, keep your teeth clean by brushing them immediately after meals.

PEPSODENT with Irium gives you the greatest cleansing action you can get. Fight tooth decay by using Pepsodent immediately after eating. Pepsodent gives you the cleanest teeth—teeth are safest from decay.

Rev. Dr. Johnson, of Coaticook, was a dinner guest of Mr. Irvin Lane and Mrs. Gladys Wade, and called on several other families in the community. Other guests at the same home were Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Sayer and son, of Sherbrooke.

Mrs. Forest Fowler and son, Richard, spent a few days in Lennoxville with Mrs. Charles Parsons and Mrs. Rose Gibson.

Miss Ethel Hughes has returned to Stanstead after spending her holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hughes, of Stanstead.

Many victims of asthma have had to consider moving to a location where the climate is drier. Such change of climate has been helpful to many. It has also failed to help many. For this reason the victim of asthma who seeks relief by change of residence is advised to try the new location for several months or so before making a permanent decision. The best results with asthma come when the exact cause can be discovered and remedied.

BROME-MISSISQUOI NEWS REVIEW

KNOWLTON

A most impressive service took place at Knowlton United Church on Sunday morning, when members of Brome Branch Canadian Legion B.E.S.L. held their annual church parade, which was followed by the decoration of the graves of deceased comrades. The church was filled to capacity. Ian L. Bockus was the organist and the service was conducted by Dr. E. H. Gray, who delivered an inspiring sermon. During the service, a painting of the church was dedicated by Dr. Gray. This painting had been done by the late Mr. Joll J. Boissell, who recently passed away. The deceased was also a member of the local legion branch. The picture was presented to the church by Mrs. Boissell.

Coffax Rebekah Lodge, No. 29, met in regular session on Thursday evening with the noble grand Sister Ida Tuxen in the chair and conducting the meeting. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Sister Pearl Y. Windle, and were approved. A report was brought in on the food sale held in the Southern Canada Power office, which showed ed over $25 realized from that effort. Lodge closed in ritual form, after which, refreshments were served by the committee in charge.

Brome Lake Lodge, No. 35 A.F. and A.M., held its regular communion in the Lodge Hall with a very good attendance.

Knowlton Lodge, No. 28, I.O.O.F. met in regular session on Thursday evening, August 10. The meeting was well attended and general business was transacted, after which, refreshments were served in the dining hall.

On Sunday morning, August 13, in the Knowlton United Church, the christening of the infant daughter, of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Badger took place, with the minister, Dr. E. H. Gray officiating. The child received the names, Blanche May.

The roses on the communion table at the United Church on Sunday morning were in memory of George Robb and were given by Mrs. Robb.

The funeral service was held from Robb's Funeral Home, on Tuesday, August 8, at 2 p.m., for

OUT OUR WAY

By J. R. WILLIAMS

Mr. Nelson J. Johnston, husband of Daisy Hebert, who passed away at his home in Brome, on August 5. The deceased was in his 64 year. Dr. I. H. Gray conducted the service and interment took place in West Brome.

The Guild of St. John's Anglican Church, Brome, held a food sale, on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. J. Kenneth Patterson's home, on Saturday, August 12, with a fine supply of home cooking for sale. Afternoon tea was served and the proceeds for the afternoon were very gratifying.

Stirling Is Looking For More Tourists

Stirling, Scotland — Natural gateway to the western Highlands, radiation point for the beauties of the Trossachs, Loch Lomond and Rob Roy's country, Stirling is looking to her tourist trade.

Shopkeepers and hotel owners are renovating their premises. One large department store, for instance, has added a restaurant to seat more than 100. Everything possible is being done to encourage tourists to visit Scotland's west coast to stay longer in Stirling itself.

An old historical town, clustering at the foot of the Castle Rock and guarded by the sentinel of Stirling Castle, it has many beauties worthy of a sightseeing tour. Visitors can climb to the battlements of the castle and look over a sheer drop of hundreds of feet to the agricultural plains stretching outwards to the Clyde.

From the opposite side of the battlements one looks over the roofs of the town to the heavily wooded sides of Abbey Craig. This is topped by the Wallace monument—tribute to William Wallace and his fight for Scottish independence against the English.

The castle and the monument attract 40,000 tourists a year.

One of Stirling's youngest councillors, Baillie Henry Burt, is fighting to interest organizations in a big advertising campaign that will really put Stirling on the tourist map.

Color Can Be Soothing

Doctors attending a Health Congress in Southern England recently were recommended to use light green operating theatres. It was stated that surgeons working in theatres painted with his restful contrasting color would be made more easily able to distinguish clearly the color of blood, thus relieving eye-strain and resulting in greater efficiency. The suggestion came from R. F. Wilson, Art Director of the British Color Council. He also recommended that patients with low blood pressure should be treated in vermilion rooms and those with high blood pressure in blue ones. Purple, said to be a "soothing tint," was recommended for waiting rooms.

The British Color Council was first formed in 1930. The Council concerns itself chiefly with color and lighting in factories and offices. Its work has been associated with interior color decoration of walls and machines having the most favorable effect on workers. The Council has shown that well-chosen color and efficient lighting improve health, stimulate morale and increase output in industry.

Fair Frolics Of 1950 Will Feature Grandstand Revue At Cookshire Fair

Cookshire, Aug. 18—The grandstand performance at the Cookshire Fair this year which is being produced by Garden Bros. of Toronto, promises to outdo anything ever presented before to the Fair patrons.

The show has such features as the Four-Metro-Maid, a young beautifully costumed girl in a series of intricate dance numbers. "Flash" the prize winning dancing stallion ridden by its 17-year-old master and trainer, is a horse that has won many ribbons at Exhibitions and Horse Shows throughout the country, trained to present a high school act with intricate dancing steps which makes it almost unbelievable for a horse to perform.

Erno the Musical Clown is a continental novelty which as well as presenting some clever musical instrument playing, has some comedy antics to go with it which causes riotous laughter. The Rutleys, those hand balancers and equilibrists, featured in "Ripley's Believe it or Not" column present

At Cookshire Fair

"Flash," a prize-winning dancing stallion, has won many ribbons at horse shows throughout the country. He will be one of the attractions in the Garden Brothers grandstand show at the Cookshire Fair next week. This picture shows him being ridden by his 17-year-old master, and trainer, Ian Garden.

B.C. Prepares Civil Defence

Victoria, B.C.—British Columbia is getting down to brass tacks on civil defence problems.

An organizational blueprint — for use in case of an attack on the province — is being prepared by a special committee of civil servants, set up by the provincial government.

The committee, headed by H. A. Pennington, deputy provincial secretary, is assembling data gathered at civil defence meetings recently in Seattle. At those talks, officials from both the United States and Canada discussed defence problems — mainly with a view toward atomic attack.

Informed sources here say the report the committee will submit to the provincial cabinet will probably contain a proposal to set up an advisory council of experts on utilities, fire fighting, law enforcement and other services that would be called into play in the event of an emergency.

Up to the present the stress in British Columbia has been laid on planning rather than the actual setting up of a civil defence organization. Sources say such a step may come later, after the return from England of Gen. F. F. Worthington, chief of the national civil defence organization.

Inventory Resources
Meanwhile the committee here is making an inventory of the actual resources of the civilian population which could be used to combat a disaster.
Another plan being studied by the committee is a program of general public education on what steps civilians can take to help themselves in an emergency.

PATRON

SENATOR JACOB NICOL, who is a patron of the Compton County Agricultural Society whose annual Fair starts at Cookshire on Monday.

Said one official: "It's good insurance for the public to know what could be done to lessen the loss if an atomic attack or similar disaster occurred."

Also under study is the matter of zones for civilian defence and the legal problems involved in setting them up, when several municipal authorities would likely have to be co-ordinated under an overall authority.

Government Sets Bread Standards For U. S. Bakers

Washington—A proposed national standard for bread-setting forth what the family loaf should contain and in what quantities—has been announced in the United States Federal Register.

This official government publication presented the proposed standard as drawn up by the food and drug administration after hearings held over the last nine years. It is due to be adopted after 30 days, unless exceptions are filed in the meantime.

If adopted, it would apply only to bread shipped or sold in interstate commerce. It would, however, also provide a future working basis for uniform state standards, food and drug officials said.

The proposed new standards would permit bread containing soy flour up to 3 per cent of the weight of the flour used to be sold as white bread.

They would require that the weight of raising in raisin bread be not less than half the weight of the flour used.

They would allow whole wheat bread also to be sold as graham bread or "entire wheat."

Identification
Breads made from white flour mixed with whole wheat flour or with cracked wheat would have to be properly identified in their names as to the wheat ingredients used, and could not be sold simply as "wheat bread."

Milk bread would have to contain milk, or non-fat dry milk solids and milk fat in prescribed amounts, as the wetting ingredient instead of water.

Maximum and minimum limits on thiamine, riboflavin, niacin and iron for enriched white bread also were set forth in the proposed standards. Many states require that white bread be so enriched.

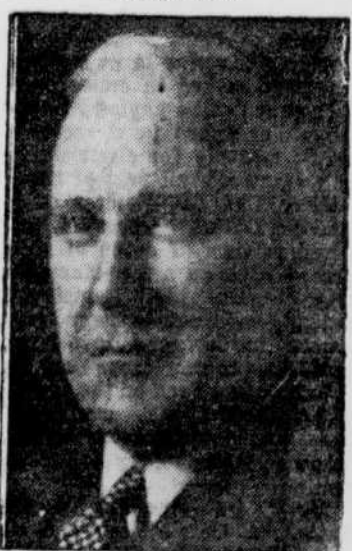

The proposed standards would not allow the use of so-called a really beautiful as well as sensational acrobatic act.

Then from the better Nite-Clubs comes the latest novelty craze, Buddy Arden and his "Stars on Strings" puppets. The clever young man presents a novelty that created a sensation at the larger Exhibitions last year. Clifford, King of the Slackwire, has a fine sense of balance and does some startling feats on the slender wire. Gallante is a comedy juggler who juggles everything from soup to nuts with a few comedy capers thrown in. Last but not least is Johnny Desro that young daredevil who risks his life at each performance in walking up a rope at an angle of 45 degrees to a height of sixty feet then sliding downwards at breath-taking speed, to keep the audience on the edge of their seats through his performance.

Fair Frolics of 1950 offers a variety Show with stars from the stage, nite-clubs and circus in a fast paced program that you can't afford to miss on your visit to the Fair.

Johnston's Self-Service Is Top In East Angus

East Angus, Aug. 18.—One of East Angus' most modern stores is Johnston's Self Service.

This modern establishment carries a complete line of fruits, vegetables, biscuits, Bird's eye frozen goods, ice cream, soft drinks, cigarettes as well as practically everything a family needs in the food line.

George Johnston, proprietor of the store, started up business for himself on August 1, 1945, after fifteen years experience. Prior to setting up business he served as clerk and manager in several of the top stores in the district.

Today Johnston's Self Service is noted for its quality products, courteous service, moderate prices and above all—cleanliness.

The store operates a five-day delivery service and phone orders are delivered in town every day.

The well-known establishment has increased business yearly since its opening.

Blind English Woman Visits Kin In B.C.

Vancouver—As she saw her family off to Canada from England 28 years ago, Florence Hutton promised she would save her money and come to see them some day.

She has arrived at her family's home here but she hasn't seen them. She never will.

For Miss Hutton — now 60 — who flew here from her home at Coventry, England, for a visit, is totally blind.

Despite her handicap, she moves around her 90-year-old mother's small suburban home with confidence. She knits, sews and crochets. The plucky Briton is unhappy about one thing only. She is allowed but three months in Canada. Immigration regulations concerning handicapped persons allow her no more time.

"That was the immigration department's stipulation, and I shall abide by it," said Miss Hutton. "But I did so want to make my home here with my mother and sister. I thought we could end our days here together."

Besides her widowed mother and sister with whom she is staying, Miss Hutton has a brother living here. Another brother lives at Summerland, B.C., and a sister at Calgary. Two brothers and sisters remain in England.

After trying for three years to make the trip to Canada, permission was finally granted by immigration authorities on the understanding she would ask no extension of the three-month limit.

Miss Hutton said her sight was poor throughout her life, but she worked 25 years as an expert masseuse with the British ministry of pensions. Five years ago she became completely sightless and had to give up her work.

New Suburb Rises In Cologne Ruins

Cologne. — An entire new suburb is rising near the ashes of Cologne, still a mass of ruins from the thousand bomber raids.

Newly-laid concrete roads and underground water systems wind among scaffolding, piles and bricks and bulldozers in the "peoples park" (Volkspark). They are ready to serve 487 houses being built and reconstructed for the British control commission at an estimated cost of $9,884,000.

The aim, a British spokesman said, is to concentrate in the new suburb the greater part of the Control Commission which is now spread over Cologne and towns up to 100 miles away.

It is hoped British families in Germany will be able to move in by the end of the year. By agreement with the British and with the German ministry of reconstruction, the builders have looked to the future, when the occupation ends and the buildings can be occupied by Germans.

The economy of Newfoundland rests primarily upon three industries — fishing, mining, pulp and paper and other forest products.

The manufacture of textiles provides more employment than any other Canadian industry per dollar capital investment.

Pipeline Brings Temporary Boom To Prairie Towns

By NORMAN MICHIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Saskatoon, Man.—A 1,190-mile-long magic wand is waving over the southern Prairies, creating a temporary boom wherever it rests.

It is the pipeline, which will bring the oil riches of the west to buyers in the east.

Just now the head of one "leg" of the pipeline is at Somerset, normally a town of 500 persons whose chief concern is the crops and the weather. There are two other "legs" in the Regina, Man.-Regina stretch.

But three miles south gigantic machines burrow, scrape, test, lay and bury their part of the $90,000,000 duct.

The little town is crammed with new faces, strange accents, and the whirring, restless hubbub of a major engineering depot. Thirty-eight American families fill every available room and parking lot. Dozens of Canadians also move with the pipe.

Rents have gone up, food is higher, dry-goods stores have doubled their sales in work clothes, the beer parlor is booming, and everything centres around the pipeline.

For the Americans — most of them veterans of similar jobs in Louisiana, Panama and Venezuela — it is much the same old story. They say they are overworked, but consider themselves lucky to find any accommodation.

Monthly Move
This month it is Somerset, last month it was Morden, Man., and next month it will be somewhere farther along the line from Regina, to Regina.

They bring their children — most are under school age — and many live in trailers luxurious as a tiny bungalow. The wives hope to be "somewhere near home" when the kids are old enough to go to school.

They like Canada, on the whole. Meat is better and cheaper — the butcher can't keep up with the demand for pork chops — and the nights get cool.

The men are pleased, too. Southern Manitoba's soil is soft and easy on the equipment. Their chief obstacle is rain, which prevents wrapping the pipe in its coating of fibreglass soaked in creosote.

They don't like paying $5 a week for trailer space in a vacant lot, and $4 monthly for electricity, but they figure it's all part of the life.

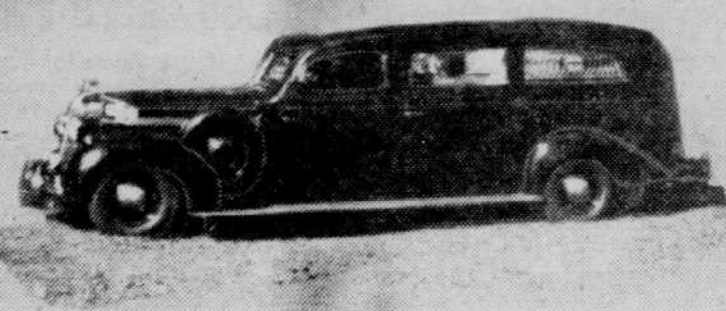

Many, like Bill Embree of Holmdelville, Okla. — a bronzed, white-haired veteran of dozen of similar jobs — work on a free-lance basis. They choose their construction company with new scenery and experience in view, and leave it when something better crops up.

Embree has been on the job since 1923. Three years married, he plans someday to settle down in his own south country and raise a family.

"But," he drawled ruefully, "that's what they all say, and some have been at it for 40 years."

It is estimated that there are more than 3,400,000 households in Canada.

Preview Show And Races To Be Staged At Cookshire Sunday Afternoon, Night

Cookshire, Aug. 18. — Horse races Sunday afternoon and a full grandstand show on Sunday night, to be followed by fireworks, will get the annual Cookshire Fair, sponsored by the Compton County Agricultural Society, off to a preview start.

Officially, the Fair does not begin until Monday, running for three days, but Fair authorities have arranged the special Sunday attractions for the benefit of those who may be tied up on the week days.

Many improvements have been made to the Fair grounds since last year's exhibition and with a good list of entries and outstanding entertainment attractions this year's Fair promises to be one of the best in the history of the County.

Judging will start on Monday in a number of classes, among them horses, sheep and swine, and will continue through the three days of the Fair. Cattle judging begins on Tuesday.

Garden Brothers will provide the grandstand entertainment and have lined up a variety of outstanding acts that are being brought to this Fair for the first time.

The Midway is in the capable hands of the T. Green Amusement Company from Toronto and there are many thrilling rides as well as the other fine Midway attractions. There will be harness races every day. W. A. Bishop is secretary of races and Alden Rousseau will be the starter.

The ladies department again has attracted a large number of entries. Mrs. Comeau, of Birchton, was the first entry in this department, while Mrs. S. Waldron, of East Clifton, filed the first entry in the house-keeping division.

As in past years there will be a fine display of farm equipment and other industrial products. Among the exhibits of farm equipment will be John Deere machinery, shown by the Sherbrooke Co-Operative, Massey Harris machinery, by the Bury Feed and Supply, and Case machinery by Maurais.

International and Beatty equipment will be shown by Standish Brothers and the Cookshire Milling and Farm Supply will exhibit Cockshutt and Ford equipment.

In addition to the regular prizes, a large number of special prizes will be available for exhibitors. One of these is a special competition open to bona fide farmers in the district surrounding Cookshire.

It is sponsored by Canada Packers Limited, of Montreal, in conjunction with C. W. Chute, of Birchton. Prizes of $12, $9, $6 and $3 will be given for the best pen of three bacon hogs 180/220 to be owned by an exhibitor at least three months before the Fair.

Canada Packers also agree to purchase all hogs shown in this class as follows: Prize winners Montreal market price, f.o.b. Cookshire, plus 50 cents per hundred pounds. All others, Montreal market price, f.o.b., Cookshire.

"Caisse Populaire"

Jubilee Celebrated

Levis, Que.—A dime deposited in Levis in 1900 in the first "Caisse Populaire" — the name by which credit unions are known in Quebec — has snowballed into more than $225,000 deposited in 1,100 units in the province in half a century.

These figures do not take into account the deposits in 1,600 other credit unions, operating similarly in North America and stemming from the original Levis Caisse Populaire founded by Alphonse Desjardins, a government clerk.

The Caisse Populaires will celebrate their golden jubilee here Aug. 24-27 with the theme "saving and credit." It is expected that more than 8,000 delegates will attend the meeting — the international conference of Caisse Populaires Desjardins and credit unions. A feature of the convention will be the inauguration of the Desjardins building here, erected as a memorial to the founder.

Erno The Musical Clown

Erno's amusing antics will bring happy moments to those persons who take in the grandstand show at the Cookshire Fair next week. He plays a variety of instruments and his comedy will keep the audience in stitches.

Whirlwind Romance Of Septuagenarians

Port Elizabeth, South Africa.—A "whirlwind" romance of two months culminated here recently in the marriage of 79-year-old Willem Hendrik Stoltz and Mrs. Susanna Jacoba le Roux, 73.

Both have been married before and they have a total of 17 children.

They were married in the dining-room of Mr. Stoltz's house here by a minister of the Dutch reformed church. Present at the ceremony were four of Mr. Stoltz's sons and their children, and one of Mrs. Roux's children.

For their honeymoon, the couple visited Uitenhage and Humansdorp. The couple met for the first time in December, when Mrs. le Roux visited one of her daughters, who happened to be married to Mr. Stoltz's brother-in-law.

Two months ago Mr. Stoltz proposed. Said Mrs. le Roux: "I thought it was a joke at first—until I saw he really meant it."

Vivid New Colors For Phone Booths In Ontario, Quebec

Toronto.—Telephone booths are blossoming in new and gayer colors in Ontario and Quebec.

Time was when the telephone caller away from home had to seek a drug or cigar store. Now, at many locations, he finds his telephone in an outdoor booth.

The first of these booths were installed in wartime housing developments, where it was impossible to provide telephones for all who wanted them. By the war's end they were so popular that it was decided to put them to wider use, and today there are nearly 3,000 in Ontario and Quebec.

Much of the popularity of outdoor booths rests on the fact that they are available 24 hours a day. They are also easier to find. In many cases, merely moving a booth from inside to outside has doubled its use.

Various color schemes have been tried recently, and booths in gray and Chinese red, blue, bright red and yellow have appeared.

Increased Popularity. At the entrance to the Windsor-Detroit tunnel, for instance, booths were painted bright red, causing a noticeable increase in their popularity. In the Canadian National Railways station at London, Ont., there are two similar rows of booths, one painted in the grey-Chinese red combination. The gaily-painted row proved much more popular than its plainer competitor.

Outdoor booths have appeared in public parks, amusement parks, fair grounds, at dock-sides, along highways, in parking lots and in front of stores, restaurants and stations.

In Toronto, there now are approximately 600 booths, one-quarter of which are painted in other than standard colors. Booths on the properties of an oil company and a grocery chain store have been specially painted to blend with the decor of the service stations and stores where they are located.

Typical of the new installations is a row of six booths at the busy transfer point of St. Denis and St. Catherine streets in downtown Montreal. The booths are yellow, with black roofs. There were only two booths on the location when it was opened in the fall of 1948, but it proved so popular that two more were added in January, 1949, and two more last November.

Sister Emma Wields Plane

Winnipeg. — Sawdust speckled the black gown of Sister Emma St. Gabriel of the Sisters of the Cross. A sharp planing tool in her grasp, Sister Emma was busy fashioning a coffee table in the workshop of Manitoba teachers' summer school.

Sister Emma, one of 35 students in the school's wood-working section, teaches that subject to junior high school students at Willow Bunch, Sask. This year she is brushing up by attending summer school.

At the next table Charles Roy of Fort Frances, Ont., was finishing a hinge-topped stool for his wife to use with her sewing machine.

The woodworking section was one of many activities at this year's summer school. In another room, Miss Ruth Crowe of Aberdeen, Man., who teaches mathematics all winter, was given instruction in weaving technique to 18 beginners.

Another group of 46 teachers collaborated on a series of murals, one depicting the journey of the Selkirk settlers from Portage la Prairie to York factory.

Give Viking Ship To British Towns

Cliffsend—Built by the Danes to celebrate the 1,500th anniversary of the Thanet landings, a Viking ship with its dragon figurehead and many-colored shields, has been presented to the east coast towns of Ramsgate and Broadstairs.

The ship, christened the "Hugin," has been berthed in a concrete cradle on a cliff-top prominence near here. It will serve as a permanent monument to the close historical associations between Denmark and Britain.

Replica of the rugged craft that carried the early Norsemen on their voyages of conquest and discovery, the "Hugin" was rowed across the North Atlantic a year ago by a crew of 50 modern Vikings.

After visiting several British ports it was bought by the London Daily Mail and presented as a joint gift to the two towns.

Thousands watched the colorful ceremony as bearded Danes in picturesque dress, horned helmets and carrying battle-axes, turned the ship over to its new owners.

Viscount Rothermere, chairman of Associated Newspapers, Ltd., in asking Prince George of Denmark to present the ship, declared: "Since 1066 nobody has repeated the experiment of invading these shores. If this country keeps up its spirit as it has during the past 900 years, I think no one ever will trust the 'Hugin' may serve as one of the many reminders of the kinship and love between the peoples of Denmark and this country."

Said Prince George: "Nowadays it is not necessary to stress the friendship between Danes and Britons. All the same I think it is good that from time to time this friendship, which is often taken for granted, should be reaffirmed as it was by the visit of the 'Hugin'."

CANOE EXPERT PERFORMS UNIQUE AND DARING RESCUE

Paul Gilbert, of Shawinigan Falls, Que., Revives unconscious youth after pulling him into canoe.

1. It was about 8.30 one evening a few weeks ago. Three young men were out in the St. Maurice River in their canoe when suddenly it overturned—hurling the three of them into the water. Two managed to start swimming for shore, but 16-year-old Jean-Marc Thibodeau sank beneath the surface. Within seconds, Paul Gilbert had jumped into his canoe and headed out.

3. Then, right in that frail craft, Gilbert applied artificial respiration until, ten or fifteen minutes later, the young man regained consciousness. Thibodeau is the tenth person Paul Gilbert has saved from drowning! His gallant feats of bravery are in keeping with the highest traditions of good citizenship. We are proud to pay him tribute through the presentation of THE DOW AWARD.

2. Paddling furiously, Gilbert crossed a floating boom and reached the scene of the accident just as Thibodeau was going down — probably for the last time! With great skill he managed to drag the unconscious victim's body over the gunwale and into the canoe. Quickly, and with amazing coolness, he stretched the body out on the bottom.

THE DOW AWARD is a citation presented for acts of outstanding heroism and includes, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Canada Savings Bond. The Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Canadian daily newspapers, selects Award winners from recommendations made by a nationally known news organization.

Pre-Season Favorites, Red Sox And Dodgers, Show New Spark Of Life After Faltering Along Line

Boston and Brooklyn, the pre-season pennant favorites, are down but not out today — 6½ games back with about six weeks to go.

A Red Sox-Dodgers World Series is a slim possibility, but still possible.

Surging at Fenway Park, fourth place Boston has a five-game winning streak going in the American League. All were scored at the expense of the tattered Philadelphia A's, 10-6 victims last night.

Brooklyn, cooling off New York Giants yesterday in both ends of a doubleheader, 8-6 and 5-1, regained second place in the National League from Boston. But those Phillies, idle yesterday, are showing no signs of slacking their pace, threaten to romp home. The Phils open a series in New York tonight while Brooklyn entertains Boston.

Home runs by Gene Hermanski, Gil Hodges and Billy Cox helped Don Newcombe struggle to his 12th victory in the opener. Helped the Dodgers needed a fine relief job by Preacher Roe to hold their lead against a Giant rally in the eighth inning.

Shoot Off Necessary In Qualifying Round

Connaught Rifle Ranges, South March, Ont., Aug. 18.—Five crack riflemen will shoot off here today to decide the first five positions in the qualifying stage of the Governor General's Match at the 82nd annual Dominion of Canada Rifle Association shoot.

Yesterday they tied for top honors with scores of 103 of a possible 105 from 200, 500 and 600 yards under fog shrouded skies in the morning and a hot sun in the afternoon.

Two top marksmen from Winnipeg, two from the British Rifle Team and one from Vancouver will be competing for the D.C.R.A. silver medal that is awarded to the highest scorer in the qualifying stage.

Tied with 103's are: Capt. M. M. Morgan and Major A. J. F. Roberts of Winnipeg; Maj. W. H. Magnay of Surrey, Eng., and J. Hall of Warwickshire, Eng. — both of the British Rifle Team — and Sgt. Maj. A. G. Green of Vancouver.

Fifty-six other riflemen, tied with scores of 97 out of the possible 105, held a shoot-off to decide their standings but the official placings were not released by the statistical office late last night.

The leading 150 sharpshooters in the qualifying stage enter the final stage of the Governor-General's Match Saturday.

Top aggregate standings during the six-day meet are added to the scores in the final stage of the Governor-General's Match. Out of this comes Canada's 18-man Bisley Team.

A Montreal corporal won the gold watch in the City of Ottawa match. Cpl. George H. Emperingham, smiling beamingly as he walked from the ranges, posted a score of 85 of a possible 100 from 200 and 900 yards to win top honors in the 220 entries.

Semi-Finals Reached At Quebec In Canadian Tennis Championships

Quebec, Aug. 18.—The 1930 Canadian Tennis Championships, down to the semi-finals in all divisions today, packed a full measure of tried talent plus a lot of frenzied speculation among the pop-eyed spectators.

There were all sort of possibilities. In the men's singles the 1948 and 1949 champions—Bill Tully of Bronxville, N.Y., and Henri Rochon of Montreal—collided in one half of the draw.

In the other it was Brendan Macken of Montreal, shooting the works for his first Canadian title, against France's No. 2 ranked player, Robert Abdesselam.

Pat Macken, former champion, is the lone Canadian left in the men's semi-finals along with Barbara Knapp of England and Doris People and Gladys Heldman of the United States.

In all the doubles semi-finals it appeared to be a case of write your own ticket.

Rochon's consistent tennis carried him through quarter finals yesterday over Jean Marois of Quebec whose best previous showing was a semi-final spot in the 1946 championships.

Tully appeared at the peak of his game in eliminating Jean-Paul Turgeon of Quebec. His net game was excellent. Near the end of the match a heckling spectator in the bleachers was singled out by the umpire and rejected by police but not before he had put up a battle against two cops and was walloped in return.

Of the four survivors, only Tully has been forced beyond the minimum number of sets in any round. That was Wednesday when he dropped the first set to Lorne Main of Vancouver, who ousted Tully in the 1949 semi-finals at Halifax and lost in the final to Rochon. Macken had to dig deep into his bag of trick to eliminate Jean Ducois de la Halle of France in straight sets.

Abdesselam, who never appears to hurry or become flustered, methodically piled up points against Dick Mouldous of New Orleans and lost only two games. It was Mouldous' poorest game of the tournament.

The only other action yesterday was in the mixed doubles, in which two rounds were played.

De la Halle and Pat Macken eliminated Don Platt and Louise Brown of Toronto and later lost little time disposing of Pau Willey of Vancouver and Carolyn Liguori of Brooklyn.

In the same half of the draw Lorne Main and Barbara Knapp first ousted J. Brennan and Monique Langlais of Quebec without loss of a game but dropped seven before getting by Tom Lewis of Scarsdale, N.Y., and Cal Holmgren of Edmonton.

Eddie Kullman Returns To New York Rangers

New York, Aug. 18.—Eddie Kullman, hustling right winger, today was obtained by New York Rangers of the National Hockey League in a two-for-one trade with Providence Reds of the American Hockey League.

Orval Lavell, and Sheldon Bloomer, defencemen from the disbanded New Haven farm team of the Rangers, are being sent to Providence.

It will be Kullman's second turn in a Ranger uniform. The 28-year-old player was with the Rangers for 1½ seasons until he was shipped to Providence in December, 1948, in a deal that brought defenceman Allan Stanley, to Rangers.

While on the Rangers Kullman manned the right-wing berth now held down by Duke Fisher. An outstanding backchecker, he scored 32 goals and 34 assists at Providence last season. His hometown is Winnipeg.

Top Golfers From Canada And U. S. Arrive Today For Opening Matches In Canadian Women's Golf Title

Winnipeg, Aug. 18.—The cream of Canada's women amateur golfers go into action today at St. Charles Golf and Country Club course as play gets under way in the Interprovincial and Close Championships. Women's par on the well-trapped course is 76.

American golfers, headed by Grace Demoss of Seattle and Grace Lenzyk of Newington, Conn., swing into play Monday when the Canadian Open starts.

Two Winnipeggers — Mrs. H. Fleming of the host club and Mrs. W. G. McLelland of Pine Ridge Club — are scheduled to be the first away in the close event at 8:30 a.m. CDT.

The 36-hole Interprovincial Team matches get under way at 1:30 p.m. with Marjorie Todd of the British Columbia squad and Catherine Beer of Quebec first to tee off.

The 36-hole scores of those competing in the Interprovincial matches also count in the 54-hole close championships, which continue through till Monday. The final 18 holes of the Close also serve as the qualifying round of the Canadian Open.

The top 32 to qualify compete in match play for the Open title. Play in the Interprovincial matches on the Close is medal competition.

Ontario is favored to retain its title won last year at Vancouver. The team is led by the popular veteran Ada MacKenzie of Toronto, who won her first Canadian Open Championship at Montreal Beaconsfield in 1919. Since that time she has won the title four times — the last in 1925. She has captured the Close crown on six occasions and has been Ontario's Champion nine times.

The youngest competitor in the close tourney is 16-year-old Marlene Stewart of the Lookout Point Club at Fonthill, Ont., the young miss has a handicap of 11.

Back to defend her Close title is Vancouver's Babs Davies of the Marine Drive Golf Club. Her toughest opposition is expected from Mrs. N. J. Carlson of Toronto Rosedale, who sports a one-handicap.

Mrs. Carlson is considered one of Canada's main threats in the Dominion's challenge for the Open crown, won last year by Miss Demoss. Miss Lenzyk, Canadian Open Champion in 1947-48, is favored by many as the golfer who will "take all the marbles" when the tourney winds up Aug. 26.

Manitoba's leading contender probably will be Mrs. W. S. Edey, Provincial champion, while Mrs. A. G. Robbins of Regina is Saskatchewan's top threat.

Mrs. Graeme Pyke of Whitlock Golf Club, Quebec, and Mrs. J. H. Todd of Victoria, B.C., also are expected to be well up in the running.

The four members of the Alberta team announced they would return home directly after the Inter-Provincial Matches are over to compete in another tournament in their own province.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT
 (For Hugh Fullerton, Jr.)

New York, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Now that the furious Phillies are starting to run off and hide from the rest of the National League, what club are they going to meet in the World Series?

The hunch here still is Cleveland, as it was 'way back last spring when Lou Boudreau, relaxing in the clubhouse at Tucson, Ariz., said his athletes had their feet back on the ground and the swelling removed from their heads and were ready to play baseball again.

He explained that his Indians still were the "solid" club in the American League, and that was before he knew that Luke Easter was going to be his first baseman and that Flip Rosen was going to bid for rookie-of-the-year laurels at third.

So there is no reason to weaken on the Tribe now, even if they are finding it difficult to carve those last few games off Detroit's lead. Mostly they are veteran stars, especially their pitchers, while the Tigers' line-up is sprinkled with youngsters who have not gone through the crucible of a hot pennant drive.

INDEPENDENT TESTS PROVE THAT

B-A 98 GASOLINE

GIVES MORE POWER

Mr. Fred Ainsworth, Vice-Pres. of Ainsworth Motors in Toronto, Chevrolet-Oldsmobile Dealer, tested his own car before and after it was tuned to use B-A 98. Here is what Mr. Ainsworth discovered:

"The road horsepower (power output) of my automobile was 53 (at 2,000 R.P.M.) before being 'set up' to take full advantage of B-A 98 Gasoline.

At the completion of the tune-up, I was able to obtain 66 road horsepower (at 2,000 R.P.M.)—an increase of 24½% in power output!"

Six different cars were tested before and after. Each one showed an increase in power output of at least 15%. New B-A 98 Gasoline does give you greater power, proven by actual tests. It enables you to tune your car to greater power output than ever before. You get faster, smoother acceleration and no power-robbing knock. Drive into your neighborhood B-A dealer and fill up with new B-A 98. You can feel the difference in power and performance. On sale at the sign of the big B-A.

Two Saints Are Tossed Out Of Game By Umps; Locals Get Twelve Hits

Who is playing where? Now who is not playing at all? Sherbrooke's one-sided victory over St. Hyacinthe at the Park Avenue stadium last evening had a little spice added with the antics of the Saints' team.

Thomas started on the mound for the Saints but lasted only 1-3 innings. His successor Alvarado, saw a little action on the mound and a little in left field. He pitched a little, didn't have much on the ball, so in came left fielder Pecou. He pitched to two men in the fifth. Lou Shapiro singled and Normie Dussault was walked. Pecou then went back to the pasture and Alvarado, who had replaced Pecou in left field, came back to pitch.

For a while it appeared that Alvarado was going places. He did not but the way he thought, in the seventh inning he struck out for the third consecutive time and in disgust heaved his bat towards the dugout. Umpire Zigler, who was having quite a night of it, told Alvarado to get out of the game. Alvarado walked to the bench and after the usual little arguments between players and umps he sat down and thought he would watch the proceedings from the dugout.

Mr. Alvarado left and the ball game continued. Or should we say the Athletics continued to trounce the visitors.

In the fifth inning, the Saints second-baseman Handy apparently did not like some of the comments going on in the stands and in voicing his opinion on the matter he threw a baseball into the stands. Unfortunately some young individual, who had not opened his mouth, received the ball in his mummy. He was given the heave-ho and Morales took over at second base and Dececco played right field. Now let's get back to the ball game.

Sherbrooke tallied three runs in the opening inning on four successive singles by Dussault, Malfara, Garcia, and Gladu. They scored two more in the second on Pascual's single and Malfara's long triple.

NANCE HOMERS
Third-baseman Gene Nance homered in the third inning with none abroad. He blasted one of Alvarado's pitches over the left field fence.

The A's completed their scoring in the fifth inning when they tallied three runs. Martin singled, stole second and reached third on Canizares single. Pascual reached first on an error by the second baseman and Martin scored. Canizares was in a hurry to get back to the dugout to watch the game so he politely stole home. Shapiro singled and Pascual came home. Malfara and Garcia grounded out to end the inning as Nance, the first man up, filed out.

The visitors connected eight hits off Lou Shapiro but four of them came in the 7th inning. Runge, Quinn, and Pecou hit successive doubles and Morales singled.

When the inning was over the visitors had three runs.

The Saints were not given much time around. He hasn't had a real fight since that second Walcott bout June 25, 1948.

In line with their drawing power, Joe Louis will get 35 per cent and Charles 20 per cent. Their managers agreed to that yesterday in phone conversations with International Boxing Club officials.

Eddie Egan, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, said the winner would be recognized as world champ in New York. Charles, champion in 47 states, never has been crowned in New York.

Charles, resting in Cincinnati, will start training in a week. His camp will be in the vicinity of New York. Louis, bringing himself along slowly at West Baden, Ind., is due to move into his old Pompton Lakes, N.J., camp Aug. 30.

Irene Strong And Jerry McNamee Pace Classy Field To Victory In Canadian Open Swimming Tournament

Montreal, Aug. 18.—(P)—Irene Strong and Jerry McNamee, both Vancouver swimming stars, set the pace in Canadian Open swimming competition concluded last night.

The Canadian Olympic Team athlete and her fellow-townsmen topped several individual championships and helped their Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club to win two others.

A versatile swimmer, Miss Strong won for the second consecutive year three individual senior women's events—the 100-yard free style, the 200-yard breast stroke and the 150-yard backstroke.

She also helped her club mates retain their senior women's 440-yard free style relay crown.

Young McNamee captured two junior men's titles—the 100-yard free style and the 200-yard free style. He also featured in the 300-yard medley relay when his club bucked out three other squads.

Only one Canadian record was broken. A Camp Chilropi, Mich., foursome bettered the Canadian mark in the senior men's 440-yard free style relay with a time of 3:40.1. Former record was not available.

Montreal's Kenny Mather came within 1/10 of a second from a Dominion record to win the junior men's 100-yard breast stroke in 1:05.1. Present Canadian record is 1:05. Doren Howatt of Fergus, Ont., got two junior women's titles.

Bumpy Jones of Detroit finished first in the 440-yard free style and the 150-yard backstroke. Bob Eason of Stratford, Ont., placed fourth in the first event.

Miss Howatt topped the 20-yard and the 100-yard free-style events. Other titlists were:

Senior Men
Bill Ross, Los Angeles, 200 yards breast stroke.
Alan Mazarik, Los Angeles, 100-yard free style.

Senior Women

BY IZAAK HUNTER
DO MUSKIES PREFER LADIES?

It begins to look that way and also it would appear that the muskies of the Montreal district are coming to life once more although this is not supposed to be an extra good month for them. Little Nora Wilson, Ireland's gift to Dorval and the Bell Telephone Company would seem to have started something when she took a 27-pounder from Lake St. Louis on August 8. Now two other anglers of the gentler sex have brought in muskies and what fish, both potential prize-winners. Further than that Lake of Two Mountains has proved that it is not altogether an early-season proposition, one angler having caught seven muskies in 10 days and a member of the Lake of Two Mountains Anglers Association having taken one out near Choisy.

Highlight of the 1950 muskie fishing in these parts to date was the accomplishment last Sunday of Mrs. Diana Johnson, of Bellevue, who hooked and played to her boat a muskie which, after being gaffed and boated by her son, Danny, of National Breweries, weighed 40 pounds. The fish was 52 inches long and a thick one.

Life, Maybe, Begins at 70. The weight and length figures are vouched for by Mr. J. D. Halbert, manager of the Royal Bank. Bleury-St. Catherine branch. Mrs. Johnson and her husband are among the best-known figures on that section of the South Shore of Lake St. Louis. They came out from Sweden about 45 years ago and have lived at Bellevue for the past 25 years. Mrs. Johnson long has been an ardent angler and this is far from being the first muskie to her credit. Her accomplishment of last Sunday was made at the age of 71 years.

Mrs. Johnson hooked her fish along the weed beds of the islands just off Bellevue. He hit on a double bladed spoon lure, silver inside and gold outside and a feathered set of treble hooks. She has been receiving the congratulations of her many friends. Indeed she merits them. With a fish like that she might write a book entitled "Life Begins at 70." Montreal treble anglers will have to go some this year to beat the fish she boated.

New Muskie King in Making
There is a new pretender to the crown of Muskie King of Montreal waters. He is Paul Sauve, well known automobile mechanic, of Dorion. From August 6 to the 15th he has caught seven muskies around the islands at the mouth of Yaudreuil Bay in Lake of Two Mountains. He is a modest fellow, too, for I learned of his wholesale success only through a phone call from Joe Hamelin.

Joe sounded pretty wistful and he opened the conversation by asking me if I knew anyone who would give him $100 for a new Johnson motor and Peterborough boat, $200 worth of fishing tackle and a commodious summer cottage on the Dorion waterfront. It seems Joe and Mrs. Hamelin, Joe's brother-in-law, Charlie Lariviere and many friends have been persistently fishing the same waters all this time without a strike. Even the redoubtable "Ti-Gus" Poirier, of Dorion has been having no luck.

But Sauve goes out every evening at 6 o'clock. If he doesn't get a strike at 7:30 he quits for the evening. And in 10 days he took seven fish, one of 17 pounds, two of 20, one of 22, two of 25 and one of 27. As a lure he used a home-made deer tail lure, of which he makes no secret. The rest was the gang, using similar lures and fishing the identical spots as his fishing interests. However, he and Mrs. Hamelin are heading for O'Connell Lodge for the Labor Day week-end. There they know they will not be skunked.

Miss Strong Again a Winner
Miss D. Strong, of Lachine, who has figured consistently in Lake St. Louis Anglers Fish Derbies, fishing in Lake St. Louis on Monday with Art Bowers hooked a muskie which weighed 37 pounds, 12 ounces. The fish was 53 inches long and had a girth of 24 inches.

Norman Golding, also of Lachine, was returning last Saturday from spending a week of his holiday on Ile Perrot. Throughout the week he had gone without a muskie, but nevertheless he was trolling home. In "The Cut," one of the favorite fishing spots of Emile Pilon, veteran angler, he hooked a muskie which weighed 37 pounds, 12 ounces. The fish was 53 inches long and had a girth of 24 inches.

Indians Pin Hopes On Easter In Pennant Drive

Cleveland, Aug. 18.—(P)—Before the baseball season opened, the Cleveland Indians pinned their pennant hopes on "Luscious" Luke Easter. And those hopes still are pinned on Luke Easter today.

Both manager Lou Boudreau and general manager Hank Greenberg agree that the Tribe's failure to overhaul front-running Detroit is because "our hitting is off."

"We need one more long-ball hitter," says Greenberg. "One player getting hot for four or five weeks could do it—that is, one player other than Doby or Rosen, who have been carrying the load."

Larry Doby has hit 10 of his 19 home runs in the last month, and Al Rosen has rapped out seven round-trippers to bring his total to 32.

Veterans Joe Gordon, Dale Mitchell and Boudreau have been off their hitting. So the finger points to Easter's slugging potential as the key. Currently Luke is in a slump, although he showed signs last night of snapping out of it. He had three hits and drove in three runs.

Royals Move Back In Second Spot In I.L.

St. Louis Cardinals have a fine-looking pitching prospect in 23-year-old Ken Wild, now toiling for Rochester in the International League.

The young right-hander, a hometown product signed by the Cards following his graduation from St. Louis University, is the ranking pitcher in the loop.

Beaten only once in 11 decisions, Wild racked up his 10th triumph last night as his league-leading Red Wings mates clubbed three Syracuse hurlers for an easy 14-3 victory. He gave up only seven hits.

Outfielder Russ Derry, former Yankee and Cardinal player, clouted his 27th homer and a single to bat in five runs. His homer came with the bases loaded, his third this season.

Montreal Royals moved into second place by whipping Jersey City 8-3. Joe Landrum spaced eight hits for his third in a row since he was sent down by Brooklyn. Don Thompson paced the Royals' 16-hit attack with five hits in as many innings.

Bill Voiselle pitched Springfield Cubs to a 7-3 triumph over Buffalo Bisons.

Bobby Rhawn's 10th inning single drove in the two runs that gave Toronto an 8-6 victory over Baltimore. Paul Stuffer was credited with the victory.

Large Field Expected To Enter In Five-Mile Harness Race At Local Track Over Labor Day Week-End

For the first time in the history of harness racing at Sherbrooke a five-mile race will be held at the Fair Grounds on Sunday, September 3, and will be for a $1,000 purse.

As a great number of race horses will already be at the Fair for the week and the organizing committee expects a large entry for the five-mile contest. Ten times around the local oval should provide plenty of excitement of the fans as generally speaking the lead changes hands several times during the race.

In case of rain on Sunday the program will be postponed to Monday Labor Day. On the agenda, beside the five-mile feature, will be three other classes all depending upon the number of horses eligible for the different events.

During heats the audience will be entertained by Jacques Normand and his Montreal Music Hall artists. In the evening the group will give a special show in front of the grandstand. Tickets are now on sale at Oliver's Drug store on Wellington Street North.

Three Special Contests Slated At Park Avenue Stadium Tuesday When Farnham Pays Visit To Athletics

Three special contests are on the agenda next Tuesday when the Pirates, of Farnham, pay a scheduled visit to the Park Avenue Stadium to tangle with the Sherbrooke Athletics in a regular fixture of the Provincial Baseball League.

Amedee Roy, business manager of the A's, and Harold Finnegan, of the same position with Farnham, reached an agreement and players of both teams will compete in a long-distance and precision throwing battle and a fungo hitting contest.

The long distance throwing affair is open to all players and members of the Pirates are given the edge on their showing during the season. The local outfield has failed to show anything out of the ordinary in this department.

The precision contest is for catchers and pitchers only and will afford an opportunity for the unsung heroes of the game to demonstrate their hidden abilities.

The final test on the program will be the fungo hitting affair. This consists of hitting the ball without the aid of a pitcher and should prove very interesting to the fans.

The majority of the clubs in the league have refused to allow their players to compete in the running races, which the local team ran

Accident Averted To Bluebird By Mechanic

Coniston, England, Aug. 18.—(Reuters)—Donald Campbell, who hopes to regain the world water-speed record for Britain, said that trials last night on Lake Coniston might have cost him his life.

The alertness of his mechanic prevented disaster, but the engine was ruined.

During two runs his boat, Bluebird, had averaged 141.135 miles an hour. This was 0.6 miles an hour less than world record set by his father, the late Sir Malcolm Campbell and smashed last month by Stanley S. Sayers, of Seattle, Wash., in his boat Sko-Mo-Shun at 160.3 miles an hour.

Campbell said the cooling system of his boat broke down
