FRANCE URGES FOREIGNERS RETIRE

Believe Dissension Among Rebel Troops Peace Opportunity

Paris Quarters Hint that Italian Troops Now Fighting for General Franco Will Be Ready to Return Home After Another Grand Drive—French Volunteers Already Homeward Bound—Mussolini, Confident General Franco Will Succeed in Overthrowing Government, Declares No More Troops Will Be Sent to Spain.

Paris, April 1.—France struck when the iron was hot today to get all foreign influences out of the Spanish war. The Government, sensing a ripe moment in defeat and dissension involving Italian insurgent troops, urged again that non-Spanish fighters be withdrawn from the war.

A Foreign Office spokesman said the French Government "is more optimistic that the Spanish war will not entangle Europe than at any time since the war began."

Other informed sources thought the Italians in Spain, perhaps without further reinforcement, might try one more offensive before agreeing to go back home.

Several hundred Frenchmen who went to Spain on their own initiative to fight on the side of the Government have returned voluntarily already.

IL DUCE IS CONFIDENT OF INSURGENT VICTORY

Rome, April 1.—Premier Mussolini is confident, informed sources asserted today, that General Franco's insurgent forces will conquer the Spanish Government.

This confidence, they said, springs from two premises:

1.—A belief that Franco now has sufficient strength to overcome the opposition he faces at this moment.

2.—An assumption that the twenty-seven nation non-intervention agreement will prevent the Valencia-Madrid forces from receiving decisive reinforcements.

Accordingly, Italy does not plan to send Franco further assistance even though he may encounter some setback.

A formal statement by Dino Alfieri, Italian Press Minister, was explicit on this point. It pointed out that recent Italian losses in Spain totalled "several hundreds," but "since we are dealing with volunteers," precise figures could not be learned.

If the Spanish Government continues to receive foreign aid, it is said authoritatively, Italy "stands ready to reassume full liberty of action."

Both Italy and Germany would oppose firmly any deadlock that might result in establishment of two Spanish Governments, a reliable informant said.

INSURGENT OFFENSIVE BREAKS LOYALIST LINE

Vitoria, Spain, April 1.—The insurgent northern army smashed through Government lines on the Bilbao front today, capturing several hamlets in the initial thrust of the long-awaited offensive.

The insurgent drive broke through entrenchments northeast of Vitoria, ten miles north of Vitoria and only twenty-two miles south of Bilbao, sent of the Basque Government on the Bay of Biscay.

The Government first line of defence was taken by surprise, the Pleasure Turn to Page 2, Col. 5.

Complete Control Of Munitions And War Supplies Traffic Provided For

Amendment to Customs Act Places with Governor-in-Council Power to Control by Licence and Permit the Manufacture and Traffic in Every Type of Material or Goods Used in Warfare—Considerable Opposition to Proposal to Create R. C. M. P. Reserve.

Ottawa, April 1.—Control by Governor-in-Council of all manufacture and traffic in war munitions and supplies in Canada and creation of a reserve force for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police were provided in two measures which featured yesterday's varied menu in the House of Commons.

Members labored through morning, afternoon and evening sittings and in addition to introduction of the two important Government measures passed some $10,000,000 in public works estimates, spent several hours debating the relief bill without making any progress and had a brief debate on the trans-Canada airways legislation which was not advanced.

Justice Minister Lapointe met with some opposition from C.C.F. members when he moved the resolution preceding legislation authorizing a reserve force for the R.C.M.P. A. A. Heaps, Winnipeg North, T. C. Douglas, Weyburn, and C. C. MacNeil, Vancouver North, urged that if the force needed reinforcements new constables be appointed in the usual way.

The measure proposes a reserve force of three hundred men who will be available for training for a maximum of three months a year and may be called upon to act with the regular force in an emergency. They would also provide a source for recruits to the permanent force.

Revenue Minister Lloyd brought in an amendment to the Customs Act which would place with the Government power to control by license and permit the manufacture and traffic in every type of material or goods used in warfare.

Similar legislation was on the statutes previously, but its power was doubtful, and the amendment would place the Government's power beyond question. Both measures received first reading and promise to be subjects of major debate at future sessions.

Criticism of the Government came from all parts of the Opposition. Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 3.

STILL UNDECIDED IN HER CHOICE BETWEEN HER PARENTS AND $60,000

Troy, N.Y., April 1.—Vera Jean Howard, brown-haired girl of fifteen, heiress to $60,000 on condition that she remain away from her parents, hesitated today to accept the money.

"I'd rather have Uncle Fred," said the Hoosick Falls high school student.

"Uncle Fred" is her grand-uncle and foster-father, Fred D. Nichols, thrifty Petersburg stockbroker, whose will establishes a $60,000 trust fund for her providing she does not live with her relatives.

Miss Howard said "I know the reason but I don't want to discuss it. It was a purely personal matter and I haven't decided what I'm going to do."

BRITISH AND U. S. NAVIES ARE UNITED IN SAME PURPOSE

Annapolis, April 1.—Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, told Naval Academy midshipmen here today that the British and United States navies are united in the same purpose—"the preservation of liberty and peace."

In a brief address to the 2,200 middies, he added:

"Every addition to your navy is an extra addition to the security of the world."

Referring to what he termed the close friendship between the British and American seas services, His Excellency recalled that more than a century ago the two countries had "some very regrettable differences of opinion."

"But whether we were antagonists or allies," he continued, "I think we always respected each other."

"The close friendship developed between our two services during the World War is being strengthened all the time."

AUTOMOBILES BEING MOVED OUT OF OSHAWA

Oshawa, Ont., April 1.—Between 1,200 and 1,800 automobiles have been moved to Toronto from the General Motors of Canada plant here within the last twenty-four hours, it was estimated today. In the event of a strike it was believed strikers would not allow movement of new cars.

The Company arranged storage facilities in two buildings in Toronto. Hundreds of machines were driven over the thirty-mile stretch to Toronto, others were transported by tractor truck and freight train.

Two Democracies Embark On Huge Aerial Defence Expansion Policy Today

Great Britain and France Carrying Out Programme to Back Up Might of British Fleet and French Army with at Least Three Thousand Additional Fighting Planes Within Next Twelve Months—Fiscal Year Opening Today to Mark Greatest British Peacetime Armament Expenditure—Nationalization of French Plane Factories Now Effective.

London, April 1.—Great Britain and France today embarked on a programme to back up the might of the British fleet and the French army with at least three thousand additional fighting planes in the next twelve months.

France announced she would build 1,500 planes during 1937 to reinforce the three thousand to four thousand first line fighting craft she already possesses.

How many planes Great Britain will build was a closely held secret of the Air Ministry, but it is estimated that 1,750 were delivered in the last fiscal year—the start of the drive to have 2,600 first line planes in the air by the Spring of 1939.

April 1st is a significant date in the air history of the two democracies. To Britain, today is the start of a fiscal year which will break all peacetime records for military expenditure on aircraft.

The Air Ministry announced today that British air strength stood at 1,778 first line planes in actual service; 1,280 for home defence; 278 stationed overseas; and 220 assigned to the fleet.

Since midnight in France all factories making war materials have been the property of the state, taken over under a broad nationalization programme.

With twenty of the twenty-five major French airplane factories actually public property, and the Government making plans to take over the remainder as soon as technical details are worked out, new boards of directors, responsible to the Air Minister alone and composed of factory employees and air corps officers, assumed direction of the French programme.

Decentralization of the factories into six regions as a protection against enemy air raids has been started as the first move of the new administration. The objective is to remove as many factories as possible far away from Paris which the French high command assumes would be the first target of enemy air bombs.

ANTI-TANK DEFENCES BRIDGE MAGNOT LINE

Paris, April 1.—Special tank defences, comprising railroad "irons" or rails embedded in the earth, mine traps and special concealed anti-tank guns, now plug the gaps between the steel and concrete casemates of the Magnot line in answer to the threat of the German mechanized divisions. It was the theory some months ago that German tanks and armored cars, operating perhaps at night with great speed, might plunge through the gaps between the great forts of the famous defence line, take the forts in the rear and strike a devastating blow at France.

When the gaps between the casemates were closed the French tried them out by sending their own tanks against them. In all cases it was found that the line was impenetrable or that the tanks were forced to follow certain prepared routes that led them into cul-de-sacs or placed them over ground mines, or exposed them to the point-blank fire of anti-tank guns. As a consequence of these tests the French are plenty well satisfied with the strength of that

BRITAIN PLANS ANOTHER BOOST IN INCOME TAX

Surplus of £7,530,000 on Ordinary Account for Year Ending Yesterday Believed Insufficient to Meet Increased Expenditure on Armament Programme.

London, April 1.—The British taxpayer is resigning himself to another threepence on the income tax when Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, submits his sixth budget to the House of Commons on April 20th. But drastic increases in taxation are improbable.

(The standard rate of income at present is four shillings ninepence on the pound, or approximately $1.20 on every $5 of income. Incomes above $2,000 are subject to graduated surtaxes.)

On a whole the nation's balance sheet for the financial year which closed yesterday was greeted with something like a sigh of relief. Increased expenditure for armaments brought a budget deficit for the first time in four years. But this deficit of £5,597,000 was more than twice offset by £13,127,000 used for debt redemption. On balance, therefore, the Treasury is in the black.

MURDER PROBE TODAY CENTRES AROUND FATHER

Undergoes Cross-Fire of Questions as to What He Did with Almost Four Hours of His Time on Night His Daughter, Wife and Another Person Were Slain.

New York, April 1.—Around the eccentric, slightly built father of the murdered twenty-year-old artist's model, Veronica Geeson, the investigation of the triple murders on Beekman Hill centered today.

Picked up by police a second time yesterday for long hours of questioning even as the District Attorney announced, "We have a definite suspect," bespectacled Joseph Geeson underwent a cross-fire of questions as to what he did with three hours and forty-five minutes of his time last Saturday night and Sunday morning.

In an all-day and all-night quizzing, detectives asked him why he spent Tuesday night bowling and drinking beer while the bodies of his daughter, frequent user of night clubs, and his wife, Mary, lay in an undertaking establishment.

He wet his lips, stared, kept

Radical Opposition Fails To Halt India Self-Government Inauguration

Minority Parties Form Governments in Six Provinces Where Dominant Congress Party Representatives Refuse to Take Over Duties—Self-Government of Burma, One of Features of Autonomy Bill, Made Effective Today—London Believes Nationalists Realize Inability to Carry Out Pledges.

Bombay, April 1.—Autonomous government came to the provinces of British India quietly today.

The Left Wing Congress party, refusing to form ministries in the six provinces in which it holds legislative majorities, carried out anti-British demonstrations in Bombay and Calcutta and other large centres, but there were no serious disorders.

With the Congress party adamant in its refusal to co-operate so long as the provincial governments are vested with special safeguarding powers, minority administrations were formed in Bombay, Madras, Bihar, Orissa and the central provinces. In the united provinces, also dominated by the Congress party, a minority government was being formed.

In the remaining five of the eleven provinces of British India—Bengal, Sind, Assam, Punjab and the northwest frontier—moderate parties won majorities in the recent elections, and governments ready to co-operate with the British authorities are being set up.

BRITISH COLUMBIA WILL ABOLISH MATRICULATION EXAMS

Vancouver, April 1.—Present method of having all high school students write matriculation examinations for entry to University will be abandoned in British Columbia probably this year, Henry Charlesworth, secretary of the British Columbia Teachers' Federation, told delegates to the Federation's annual convention.

Students will be recommended for entry to University on their work during the year.

Two other steps in India's constitutional evolution became effective today. Burma, for many years part of India, was graduated to the status of an independent state within the

Renewed Outbreak Of Strikes Aggravates U.S. Labor Crisis

A GENERAL SOFT COAL WALK-OUT THREATENS U.S.

Largest Strike this Year, Involving About 400,000 Miners, Will Start Tomorrow Unless Deadlock in Wage Negotiations Is Broken Before Tonight.

New York, April 1.—An almost nation-wide soft coal strike will start in the United States tomorrow unless a deadlock in wage negotiations between the operators and United Mine Workers is broken before tonight.

The strike would be the largest this year, involving about 400,000 miners scattered from Central Pennsylvania to the state of Washington.

Mines would operate only in the Illinois territory controlled by the Progressive Miners of America, and in the few other scattered fields the United Mine Workers have not organized.

Operators estimate the country has about thirty days' coal supply above ground.

U.M.W. miners took today off to celebrate John L. Lewis Day, a holiday commemorating the institution of the eight-hour day in 1893.

Lewis said they would stay away from work tomorrow, too, unless they were notified a new wage and hour contract had been signed.

The old contract expired at midnight last night. It was signed in September, 1935, after President Roosevelt had stepped into the negotiations five times to prevent a strike. He was not altogether successful. After the expiration of the fifth extension of the 1934 contract, the miners struck for six days. The strike was peaceful and orderly and negotiations continued throughout the walkout.

When Lewis offered yesterday what he termed his final concessions from his original demands, the operators agreed to place them before operator representatives of every district in the Appalachian area, reaching from Central Pennsylvania to Northern Tennessee.

Most of these operators rejected Lewis' proposals. The full joint conference, called to meet last night, then recessed until this afternoon.

Usually well-informed quarters said the miners' final proposals call

Steadily Mounting Commodity Costs Threaten Rising Prosperity Curve

Economists Fear that Available Resources of Capacity and Labor May Not Permit a Further Substantial Measure of Expansion and that Competition for Available Resources May Cause a Pernicious Rise in Prices Followed by a Sudden Slump.

London, April 1.—A heavy, upward swing in prices threatens the rising curve of world prosperity.

The economic blizzard of five years ago was accompanied by a small collapse in prices of raw materials. Accumulated stocks and lowered demand combined to spread the story of hardship until it circled the world. Countries, fearing collapse of their national economy, protected themselves behind barriers of high tariffs, quotas and exchange controls. They devalued their currencies in terms of gold.

Now, the blizzard has blown its force. Trade is climbing the international graph. Growing industrial activity, coupled with the race for huge armaments, has brought a world shortage in scrap metal. Countries which only a few years ago were loaded down with stocks of foodstuffs today can scarcely cope with the growing demand.

"The question," observes the Financial News, "is no longer whether the forces of recovery may soon exhaust themselves, but how much longer it will be before recovery is arrested by physical limitations to expansion."

"Indeed, the view is now widely held that the available resources of capacity and labor may not permit a further substantial measure of expansion and that competition for the available resources may cause a pernicious rise in prices which will be followed by a sudden slump."

"In the case of many primary products the stocks have now been reduced to a normal level. But as consumption is still increasing fairly rapidly and as production, as a rule, cannot be expanded rapidly at short notice, the world is at present passing through a phase when consumers, fearing a shortage of supplies, are trying to cover their requirements for longer periods ahead, thus accentuating the pressure on supplies and on prices."

In a great number of countries the cost of living is already showing the effect of rising world prices. Please turn to page 5, col. 5.

CLAIMS HUMAN LIFE SPAN CAN BE INCREASED

U.S. Medical Authority Believes Average Length of Human Life Could Be Stretched Another Ten Years if Advantage Taken of Available Medical Knowledge.

Washington, April 1.—The average length of human life could be stretched another ten years, Dr. Thomas Parran said today, if advantage were taken of available medical knowledge.

Dr. Parran, surgeon general of the United States Public Health Service, said in the last eighty years the average length of life of men has increased from thirty-eight to sixty-one years and of women from forty to sixty-four years.

"I feel confident another ten years could be added to the life expectancy," he said, "entirely aside from the possibilities of discovering an effective preventative for cancer or major heart diseases."

Diseases of the heart cause more deaths than any other affliction of mankind, he explained, the death rate being more than double that of cancer.

While no effective general treatment is available, he said, many cases are being successfully treated and the length of life prolonged.

"Great progress in reducing the incidence of heart disease will be made in the present drive to control and eradicate syphilis, since syphilis is the cause of a large percentage of heart ailments," Dr. Parran added.

Considerable progress in lengthening the lives of cancer sufferers, he said, may be expected in the next few years through the present campaign to educate the public to the fact that early cancer is curable.

A campaign also is underway under the sponsorship of the General Federation of Women's Clubs to reduce the infant mortality rate. This forecasts a further increase in the average length of life, he declared.

Other activities include continuation of the anti-tuberculosis campaign, improvement in the general health and nutrition of school children, extending the use of vaccines and other protective preparations and the prevention of automobile accidents.

JUDICIAL RECOUNT IN BEAUCO COUNTY

Result Shows Little Difference from Official Figures of First Count in Provincial Bye-Election.

St. Joseph de Beauce, Que., April 1.—Judicial recount of ballots cast March 17 in a provincial bye-election in Beauce County showed little difference from the official figures of the first count.

Recount gave Emile Perron, Union Nationale government candidate, 3,739; Vital Cliche, A.L.N., 3,391; and Wilfrid Dion, Independent, 1,002. Eighty-eight ballots were thrown out as improperly marked in the official counting.

During the recount, sought by Cliche, thirty-one of these were allowed. When the result of the judicial count was made known, Cliche announced he would contest the election.

part of their frontier line of defences extending from near Basle on the Swiss border to the Belgian border.

However, the French efforts to block German mechanized divisions have not been left to fixed defences alone. One light and highly mobile mechanized division has been formed in the French Army; another is in the process of formation and still a third is planned, and there is also a tentative plan to create more heavy mechanized divisions, equipped with heavy tanks.

Two of the modern French tanks now in service that have replaced and are replacing the old wartime Renault models are the 1935 Renault and what is known as "Char D." The former is a light tank, the latter a medium one.

The new Renault is about a ton-ton tanks, mounts one 37-millimeter and two machine guns, and has a maximum speed variously estimated at from twelve to twenty-five miles an hour. This tank is said to be well protected when the French tried their own 25-millimeter anti-tank gun against it at 200 meters its armor was not penetrated in any vital spot, though its treads, like those of other tanks, could be put to a serious commission with a well-directed shot.

The D tank weighs between thirteen and fourteen tons, mounts a 47-millimeter gun and two machine guns, and is said to have a battle speed of about five miles an hour.

British Commonwealth and Sir Arthur Chelmsford was re-appointed governor. The tiny coal and oil base at Aden, at the southern tip of the Arabian Peninsula, also was separated from India, becoming a Crown colony.

The changes were carried out under the terms of the Government of India Act of 1935 which also envisaged the creation of a new all-India federation, with a two-chamber national parliament. Instruments of accession with the native states, which are governed by the Italian princes, are in the course of negotiation, and when these are completed intra-India elections will be held.

Messengers from the King-Emperor were received by the Viceroy, the Marquis of Liffinglow, and by the Governor of Burma. To his Indian subjects His Majesty sent his " fervent hope and prayer that the opportunities now available to them will be used wisely and generously for the lasting benefit of all. In a message to the people of Burma, he said: "It has become clear that the welfare of the country will be better served if, henceforth, she follows a course independent of India."

The Congress party's excuse for refusing to form governments was that the special powers reserved to the governors render ineffective the autonomy the new constitution professes to give.

(In London the Times said that the Congress party leaders "no doubt realize the impossibility of fulfilling more than a small fraction of their Utopian election pledges to the simple country folk at whom their programme was chiefly directed; the most charitable construction that can be placed upon their action is that they feel themselves unequal to the occasion.")

These special powers permit the governor of a province in certain circumstances to act independently of his ministers. He may override the Legislature on appropriation bills and may issue ordinances to meet certain contingencies, such as that already created by the Congress party.

Oslo, Norway, April 1.—The name of Mohandas K. Gandhi, the Indian Nationalist, was advanced today as a candidate for the Nobel Peace Prize.

their committees as provided in the General Motors agreement."

General Motors officials here said the strike in the Cleveland plant, caused by a wage dispute, was of brief duration.

Approximately 17,400 men still were idle; 6,000 in the Fisher plant at Pontiac, 1,800 in the Pontiac Motor Co. plant which could not operate its final assembly line without bodies from the Fisher plant; 900 at the Chevrolet plant No. 2 at Flint; 1,100 at the Fisher plant No. 2, closed for lack of storage space for bodies with the Chevrolet assembly line idle, and approximately 7,000 at the Yellow Truck and Coach plant at Pontiac.

A Corporation spokesman said the strike at the Pontiac Fisher plant, which began last night, was precipitated by the discharge of a company policeman, although there was a background of union charges of discrimination.

The new disputes brought to six the number of strikes in General Motors plants since an agreement was signed with the United Automobile Workers three weeks ago. General Motors said the Yellow Truck plant was not affected by that agreement.

Today's strike developments increased the number of automobile workers idle in Michigan to more than 100,000.

tion when Labor Minister Rogers was piloting his 1937 relief measure in committee of the whole and no progress was made. Members advanced numerous suggestions for works and other forms of employment programmes.

Opposition cropped up during the otherwise peaceful passage of public works estimates when a vote of $200,000 was called for construction of a harbor at Wood Islands, P.E.I. It was explained this was to provide facilities for a ferry connecting the eastern end of the island with Pictou, N.S.

Conservative Leader Bennett warned the Government it was starting something that would probably run into a great deal of public expenditure. The proposal was that a private company would operate the ferry and receive the subsidy now going to a similar service between Pictou and Charlottetown.

Central Canada members could not understand why such a great expenditure should be made for such a small and isolated community since the island is now served by a train ferry.

Today the House will take up the amendments to the Supreme Court Act which received some consideration yesterday, the Relief Act and amendments to the Combines Investigation Act.

CLAIMS CANADIAN COAST DEFENCES NOT ADEQUATE

Ottawa, April 1.—The Senate today was expected to continue debate on a naval defence resolution that yesterday brought from William Duff, Liberal, Antigonish, Guysboro, a seven-point programme for a fisherman reserve to bolster the nation's coastal defences.

Senator Duff, called the "Admiral on the Hill" during his long service as a House member before his elevation to the Red Chamber, submitted Canada's Atlantic and Pacific coast defences were "absolutely inadequate" and held "we should go as far as we possibly can in bolstering up the coastline defences."

He said the immediate step should be the establishment of a Canadian naval reserve composed of fishermen who could follow their vocation six months of the year and train for naval service the remaining six months.

The Senator, speaking on the motion of his Conservative colleague, C. E. Bennett, of Montreal, declared Canada should build up a model, her mother and a roomer, Frank Byrnes, Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine and his aides were reluctant to predict a "break" soon.

fore, there is a surplus of $7,530,000 ($37,650,000) in ordinary revenue over ordinary expenditure.

It is estimated that to balance the public accounts for the coming year, Chamberlain will have to raise an additional $30,000,000 in revenue. At the present rate he must meet from increasing taxation revenues.

But there may still be supplementary arms estimates to be brought down. It is assumed, therefore, that Chamberlain will not be willing to take the risk of attempting to balance the budget on the present basis of taxation.

The Times editorially describes the $7,530,000 surplus as "a magnificent achievement in a year when revenue had to bear the full cost of the first full year of intensive rearmament and continued expansion of the social services without the aid of borrowing."

"But it must not be thought that because the immediate prospect is reassuring," The Times adds, "that later any indefinite prospect of absorbing one quarter of the national income in taxation should be regarded with complacency."

"This country may have far less financial need than others to strain every nerve in putting an end to the devastating competition in armaments. Its resources and its credit have been shown once again to be equal to all accounts upon them in this regard without any abatement of simultaneous efforts to improve social conditions still further."

"Nevertheless, both morally and materially the British public would have a right to feel if this mad dash to the world, and though the national accounts reflect unequivocal determination to be strong in the cause of peace they also show the measure of relief which stable condition would bring."

insurgent commanders reported, and the enemy troops were routed throughout the sector.

General Franco's troops occupied a small fortress in the centre of the salient and a whole system of connecting trenches.

Using trenches as a base they spread their advance through several small villages nearby.

MARKED SUCCESSES ARE CLAIMED BY LOYALISTS

Madrid, April 1.—Government troops moved victoriously against General Francisco Franco's insurgent legions on three widely separated fronts today and held their ground, it was reported, in other corners of Spain's bloody checkerboard.

Marked successes were claimed in a continuation of the Guadalupe Province counter-offensive. In the Cordoba Province struggle for valuable coal fields and in a push on Franco's erstwhile general headquarters, Burgos, 135 miles due north of Madrid.

The push against the insurgent Guadalupe army, about fifty-five miles northeast of the capital, sprang into a direct threat against Franco's headquarters at Saragossa from which he has been menacing the Madrid-Valencia Government's link with Catalonia on the northeast Mediterranean coast.

The drive from the north on Burgos carried jubilant "Milicianos" over fourteen miles of territory and brought reports of occupation of several towns, including Sargentes about forty miles north of the former insurgent capital.

On the Guadalupe front Government artillery and planes played a smashing role on both sides of the Aragon highway to Saragossa, 130 miles further northeast.

While the general advance toward Saragossa still is many miles from the Aragon capital, Government aviation swoops almost daily over territory thereabouts.

PARIS HEARS REPORTS OF FURTHER REBELLION

Paris, April 1.—Paris newspapers today reported revolts against the regime of General Franco from new sections of insurgent-held Spain.

Demonstrations against the insurgent generalissimo in the key centres of Valladolid and Algeiras and even in Salamanca, the seat of his government, were said in information reaching here to have been suppressed only after many persons were wounded by troops firing on rioting crowds.

In Spanish Morocco, where it was indicated the movement is gravest, and on the mainland of Spain itself, So, Xasteros, 98, 123, 133-337, the outbursts were said to have been caused by deep discontent growing out of a feeling the country was being handed over to Italian and German volunteers.

Despite denials from the insurgent High Commissioner of Spanish Morocco at Tetuan, reports from Tangier, Moroccan international zone, and Casablanca, French Morocco, insisted Franco considered the situation in North Africa so grave he had rushed there by plane to take personal charge of crushing the revolt.

At Valladolid, crowds of civilian spectators rioted at a review of Italian troops in the main square of the city, according to dispatches received by the newspaper Le Populaire.

At Salamanca, general headquarters of insurgent Spain, Le Populaire also reported troops fired on the civilian populace to quell disturbances.

The newspaper L'Ouvre said that at Algeiras, on the southern tip of the city, disaffected elements raised the flag of the Republican Government, kept it floating for an hour and then paraded through the town behind it.

Insurgent leaders flatly denied any counter-revolutionary plot either in Spain itself or in Spanish Morocco.

In the face of the denials by the insurgent High Commissioner, the Casablanca newspaper Maroc Matin gave details of the landing of more than one thousand Italian colonial troops at Ceuta, Spanish Morocco, on March 15th and said they were drafted subsequently to deal with the disturbances.

The paper said the troops spoke a language "absolutely incomprehensible to native Moroccans," were dressed in black uniforms with red leather boots and had bronzed black faces. They were reported by Maroc Matin to include both infantry and cavalry.

In Paris it was said that maintenance of Italian influence even after the insurgent defeat at Guadalupe, northeast of Madrid, was the root of the trouble.

A TRIED AND TRUE TONIC BEVERAGE

For more years than most people can remember, there has been brewed, in Canada's oldest brewery, a delightful tonic beverage called Porter that is famous for sharpening appetite and building strength.

Boswell Cream Porter is brewed in the old, traditional manner, from the finest plump hops and roasted barley. Its creamy richness is inviting; its flavor most agreeable.

Most people agree that Boswell Cream Porter is the finest obtainable.

ONTARIO WORKLESS RELIEF COSTS CUT

Great Show of Ontario Cities Show Sharp Reduction in Costs and Number on Relief During Past Two Years.

Toronto, April 1.—A new fiscal year opened today for Treasury departments of Ontario Government with rising hopes of the red-ink menace of depression days—unemployment relief—would cause administrative financiers less annoyance than in many years. There were undeniable signs of improved times.

Most Ontario cities are two years or more away from the peak of the depression, figured on the twin basis of relief cost and the number on relief rolls, a Canadian Press survey shows. All down the line, the burden will be lighter in the new fiscal year.

Perhaps showing the way to every city in the run back to jobs-for-everyone days, Sault Ste. Marie has 1,400 persons receiving relief, compared with 7,630 in May 1933. Cost has dropped to an estimated $140,000. It has as high as $339,532 in 1933 when the average number on relief was 6,573.

At St. Paul's Presbyterian Church the services were conducted by Rev. Duncan McColl. In the morning the text was taken from Philippians 3:10, "That I may know Him, and the power of His resurrection." An anthem was rendered by the ladies in the choir entitled, "Magdalene." At the evening service Mr. McColl took his text from II Corinthians 5:15, "And that He died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto Him which died for them and rose again." McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

FIGURES ON SETTING PLAY

Defense Sees Only Chance of Defeating Contract in Partner's Trump Trick and Proper Return.

By Wm. E. McKenney,
Secretary, American Bridge League.

Bridge authorities lay down the rule that when a player is confronted with a situation in which he must find a specific card in a certain hand, in order to make his contract, he must play for that distribution, however improbable it may be.

The rule is a good one, of course, with the exception that, when the chance is too remote and the resultant loss would be entirely too great, another play might safeguard the hand.

The rule, however, works two ways, both offensively and defensively. Mrs. Cecile Guthrie of the Crookfield Club of Columbus, O., sitting East, saw in today's hand

Today's Contract Problem

The contract is four spades by South. West's opening lead is won in dummy with the king. The trick of trumps is finessed successfully to win the second trick. Does this assure the safety of the game contract?

that, to defeat the adverse contract, she had to find her partner with either a first or a second round trump trick.

South certainly was marked with the ace of diamonds on his rebid of spades, and if two rounds of hearts were taken, the queen of hearts would permit the discard of a losing diamond in dummy. If declarer held both high diamonds, the diamond return appeared hopeless.

Mrs. Guthrie cashed her two high hearts, then played the singleton 10 of clubs. South won the trick in dummy, led the jack of spades, and finessed.

West won and returned a club. East ruffed and beat the contract. The defense proved perfect. Even if South had made the safety play of the ace of spades, the contract still could not have been made.

Master Norman Coward, student at the Coaticook High School, has been ill at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Mary E. Plowman, during the past week.

Mr. W. W. Norris, of Coaticook, was a guest of his brother, Mr. H. Albert Norris, and family on Sunday.

Mr. Ivor Whitehouse, Jr., is spending some time in Coaticook, where he has secured employment. Master Ozie Thomas, who is a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital, is gaining rapidly, and expects to return to his home shortly.

Railway Crossing Accidents.

When an automobile driver comes to a level railroad crossing, the responsibility for guiding his vehicle across the tracks safely is entirely his. The railroad can erect warning signals and instruct its engineers to exercise all possible caution, but, in the very nature of things, it is up to the motorist to see that the way is clear before he proceeds.

Somehow, this obvious fact does not seem to be registering on the minds of quite a number of motorists as well as it should. For the statistics issued this week by Quebec Revenue Department reveal that in this province last year no less than sixty-eight automobiles collided with trains.

Possibly some of these accidents were due to motorists coming suddenly onto none too well marked crossings, but the great majority were due to plain, unadorned carelessness.

Ironie Note.

A news item from Geneva, Switzerland, reveals that an emergency light system, with a master switch that can douse all lights in one second, is to be installed in the League of Nations Palace.

The move is part of general Swiss preparations against sudden air attacks. Although the League enjoys extra territoriality, it was thought wise to take steps to guard its home from harm during invasions by air.

It is undoubtedly a wise precaution and, by the same token, a saddening one. For here is a beautiful palace, erected and dedicated to the cause of international peace by men who hoped to weld strong bonds of friendship between nations, now being guarded from the ravages of warfare that may be imminent.

Of all the ironies that have appeared in news from abroad, this seems one of the most tragic.

Quebec Mining Makes a Record.

The ever-growing importance of the mining industry to the economic development of the Province of Quebec is graphically illustrated by the statement of the Provincial Bureau of Mines which records that during 1936 the value of the mineral production in this Province amounted to $49,333,483, an all-time record which was nearly seven per cent. above the previous peak of $46,434,820 established in 1929.

While the gold-mining fields of the north country led in the addition to the wealth of the Province with an output of gold valued at $23,334,849 as compared with $16,558,487 in 1935, that essentially Eastern Townships product, asbestos, held second place, with production valued at $9,958,183 as compared with $7,034,614 in the previous year.

Commenting upon the improvement in the asbestos industry, the report states that this branch of activity recovered practically all the ground that it lost during the economic depression, the production for the past year being 301,287 tons, only slightly below the peak year tonnage of 306,033 in 1929.

Every mine in the district which had been operating during 1935 was maintained in operation in 1936, while certain pits which had been on the retired list as far back as 1923 were brought back into production.

The importance of this advance in the mining industry is not confined to the mining districts themselves, but is reflected in every section of the Province and the rest of the Dominion in the form of continued orders for mining machinery and supplies, foodstuffs, expanded railway tonnage, etc.

The report also contains the gratifying announcement that indications point to an even greater year in 1937, which should do much to accelerate the prevailing recovery movement.

European Dictatorships.

It is authoritatively stated that two-thirds of the people of the world are today living under rigid censorship. Eight-ninths of the world's population is under serious restriction on free speech (spoken or printed) of a governmental character. Only one-ninth, or roughly some 228,000,000 people, live in countries where newspapers are without formal censorship and enjoy the degree of freedom known in the British Commonwealth and the United States.

In ten European countries, including Soviet Russia, more than 300,000,000 people today are not told so much what they cannot read or print, but what they must read and publish and believe.

The nations where the black, brown or red blight of dictatorship has eaten away the very soul of freedom of the press and conscience and public utterances, are: Germany, Russia, Italy, Portugal, Austria, Bulgaria, Jugo-Slavia, Hungary, Albania and Lithuania. There is a lesser degree of censorship and regimentation in Poland, Rumania, Spain, Greece, Estonia and Latvia, but the majority of these countries are gradually slipping across the danger line.

Add the sixty million people of these half-censored countries to the 306 million of the ten super-censored nations and you find that seventy-four per cent. of the people of Europe and Russia are today absolutely at the mercy of the infinitesimal minority who have the reins of power. In other words, less than twenty-six per cent. of the people of Europe today enjoy anything that even remotely resembles personal liberty and freedom of expression and conscience. European nations which still cling to humanity's most sacred birthright are Great Britain, France, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Norway and Sweden. Their combined population is estimated at one hundred and thirty-six millions, of which two-thirds live in Britain and France. Even in France, nominally free from government censorship, and where the press is supposedly free, powerful interests or political groups control the policies of the various newspapers.

Under these regimented conditions Europe moves on. Reaction is still growing, but with each succeeding country that falls under dictatorship the resistance of the people is hardening.

Thirty Years Ago Today

From the Files of the Sherbrooke Record.

April 1st, 1907.

The Attleboro, Mass., firm of McRae & Keeler decided to locate their Canadian branch plant in Sherbrooke.

Towns along the St. Francis were threatened with floods following the sudden break-up of the ice.

Mr. Gay Libby, of Ayer's Cliff, had his hand badly injured in a sawmill accident.

Miss Flossie Mooney and Murray Sutherland proved that Canada was a better country than the United States over the arguments of Samuel Cromie and Grover Duff at the Inverness Academy.

The contract was let for the construction of a new St. George's Church at Granby at a price of $27,000.

Mr. Herman Thiry left Windsor Mills to take up residence in Montreal.

The committee named to take charge of the Miranda Creamery comprised: Messrs. Charles Vosburg, J. Abery, H. Derick, Frank Vosburg, M. MacCallum and S. B. Derick.

Mrs. A. Mayhew, of Portland, Me., was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cleveland in Coaticook.

What Editors Say

GOVERNOR OR VICEROY?

Toronto Globe and Mail.

Foreigners, who find it sufficiently difficult to understand the make-up of the British Empire, often are further mystified by the fact that each of the Dominions apparently is headed by a Governor-General. They cannot see how such an official can exist without taking a large part in the governing of the country to which he is accredited.

The London Times, declaring that the title of Governor-General no longer is applicable, suggests that it be changed to Viceroy, a much more appropriate one, in its opinion.

The latter word is self-explanatory: "vice," in the place of, and "roi," a king. It defines, then, exactly the position held today by a Governor-General of one of the British Dominions, that of the King's personal representative.

India, of course, long has had its Viceroy, and the title is an honored and dignified one. Moreover, its adoption throughout the Empire would, while in no way derogating from the high office of Governor-General, lend added dignity to the Dominions and make their independence within the Empire more obvious to other nations.

Tradition dies hard among British peoples, and there is a general disinclination on their part to abandon even a name when it is honored by time; but there is much to be said in favor of discarding a title which now has become misleading to those who are not familiar with its history.

ADD TO OUR DEBTS.

Brandon Sun.

For every Canadian who is earning money there is a mortgage on his assets, wages, profits or property of $1,300. When we vote at election times we give our representatives power to mortgage our ownings and prospects to pay the interest upon public debts. Only those who are on relief escape direct taxation and the workers pay their share of the taxes for them. The average debt we have incurred of this $1,300 through our Dominion, provincial and municipal governments is not all. Almost $300 more is added debt of other organizations, mainly railroads, guaranteed by the governments. Nearly all of the interest on this $1,600 for every working Canadian must be raised in taxes. Of course, there is a difference between our government debts and our personal debts, in that we expect to pay the principal of the latter in a few years (certainly within our own lifetime), whereas our children, or children's children, are expected to take partial responsibility for government debts which have been made for purposes from which they will benefit. But there is no difference about the interest; it must be paid regularly in both cases. Most of our public debt is owing through the Dominion Government—roughly $1,600 per worker. Of the remaining $300, more is owed through the municipality than through the province.

SMALL TOWN HAS ADVANTAGES.

Simon Reformer.

In the past the big cities have monopolized most of the new industries, but the thoughtful industrialist today realizes that the smaller community, with low taxation and ample railway and highway facilities, offers the most attractive location. It is time that the smaller places made known more generally their many advantages for industrial plants.

LITTLE MAPLE SUGAR MADE TO DATE THIS YEAR

However, Farmers Throughout the Eastern Townships Are Still Hopeful that They Will Experience a Successful Maple Season.

Although weather conditions to date have been unfavorable for the maple sugar industry, farmers throughout the Eastern Townships are still hopeful that they will have a successful maple season.

No production of any consequence has been made to date this season. The few farmers who have tapped their sugar trees have been able to produce a meagre quantity of syrup and sugar, but nowhere near enough to meet the demand. This was apparent last week-end on the local market when only a comparatively few gallons of syrup were on sale and were snapped up in record time by the eager consumer.

The cold weather and the lack of bright sunshine have been responsible for this state of affairs and the fate of this spring's sugar industry depends entirely upon the weatherman. It was pointed out to the Record by a prominent maple sugar distributor today.

"The season," he said, "is about one week behind last year, but this is not a serious matter and there is no reason in the world why a good crop should not be realized provided, of course, that the weather is favorable." Weather in Beauce has been about ten degrees colder than in this section and no sugar has been made. The cold temperature experienced in the Eastern Townships has also been general, and the industry in Vermont and New York has also been more or less inactive.

An attempt to develop the $4,000,000 maple sugar industry into an all-year-round business has been made during the past few years by producers and government officials. Of the four producing provinces—Quebec, Ontario, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick—Quebec harvests about ninety-one per cent of the Canadian yield, estimated at some 20,000,000 pounds a year. In Eastern Canada last year, 70,000,000 pounds were available, but only 24,000,000 were secured by the 55,000 producers involved. Less than 200,000 trees were estimated to be tapped in New Brunswick. The value of the Canadian crop in 1936 was placed at $3,713,000.

During the past few years an increased trend has taken place towards the manufacture of maple extracts and flavorings from genuine maple sap, and one of the largest firms in the world which specializes in this is located at Granby.

KEEN INTEREST SHOWN IN CORONATION STAMPS

London, April 1.—The first Coronation stamps to appear drew a crowd in spite of the rain when they were displayed in the window of a shop on Fleet street.

One in bright vermilion is the two pence stamp for Papua and shows the King's head in profile, uncrowned. The design is simple but not as modern in treatment as the stamp designed and now in use for Edward VIII.

The word Papua appears at the top in white letters, that of postage at the left side of the King's head and 2d at the right side. Below are the words: "Coronation King George VI."

THE FRENCH PRESS

THE POPE AND LABOR

L'Action Catholique.

What a scandal! While hundreds of thousands of workers in several countries are on sit-down strikes, the Pope commits the sovereign impudence of demanding better wages for labor! Here is the Pope backing up revolutionary demands! Heaven and earth where are we headed? At another time it would have been less dangerous to talk of raising salaries; why did not the Pope wait a little while?

This is the language which will be used following the new encyclical by minds which are empty of social doctrines.

It is very simple: if the Pope finds himself compelled during these strikes to demand a more just treatment for labor, it is because no one would listen to him before.

LEARNING FIRST AID

La Presse, Montreal.

It was recently announced, following a meeting of the St. John Ambulance Society, that the organization had decided to study plans to organize a sort of "emergency hospital on wheels," which would be used on the roads of Quebec in the same manner as similar organizations are now operated on the highways of the United States.

Accidents of all description are unfortunately all too prevalent in this modern age, and first aid, doctors, nurses and ambulances, naturally enough, cannot be at all places where and when these accidents take place,—these new "emergency hospitals on wheels" could patrol all main roads and are certain other spots extensively frequented by travellers, visitors and vacationists, etc.

While the new organizations will undoubtedly render considerable service, and we congratulate the Society on its latest initiative, we still believe that its most valuable function is to continue to teach first aid to all people who want to learn it and who can afterwards place their knowledge to most practical use in accidents in the home, in the street, or at a far distance, etc.

As far as we are concerned, it will be our first aim to teach first aid to too many people; let us keep this up and inaugurate new schemes later on.

FORESEES CURE FOR DREADED DISEASE

Far-Reaching Effects of Artificial Fever Treatments Visioned at the Closing Sessions of First International Conference of Fever Therapy.

New York, April 1. — A short-cut to ridding the country of syphilis with the aid of artificial fever treatments was visioned at the closing sessions today of the first international conference on fever therapy.

The fever, it was declared, speeds the cure of drugs where drugs can be used. It has proved itself as the only known cure in some of the after-effects which destroy the brain. It is not ready to be used immediately on the millions of victims.

The future picture was drawn by Dr. Walter M. Simpson, of Dayton, who with his fellow-townsmen, Dr. Charles F. Kettering, was given membership in the French Legion of Honor last night for discoveries in artificial fever.

In the "first stage" of syphilis, which has taken about two years to cure, Dr. Simpson said "there is evidence that the time is required for adequate treatment of most cases can be greatly reduced" by artificial fever.

Other physicians at the conference said the fever cuts the time to about six months.

"There no longer exists," Dr. Simpson said, "any valid reason to doubt the efficacy of artificial fever therapy in the treatment of neurosyphilis."

Neurosyphilis is the last stage, when brain and other parts of the central nervous system are attacked. Its results are insanity, locomotor ataxia, blindness and various forms of paralysis.

The new fever treatments, by radio, short wave electricity, hot fogs, and hot air have apparently cured the latent brain-destroying stages.

The new fever treatments should be regarded, Dr. Simpson said, as a strictly experimental undertaking for the next several years.

FEW ARRESTS IN THIS CITY DURING MARCH

Number of Arrests Made in Past Month, However, Fails to Indicate Activities of Bluecoats—Firemen Called Out to Combat Eighty-Two Outbreaks.

Judging police activity solely upon the number of arrests made during the past month—there were only twenty-seven—would leave with one the distinct impression that the municipal bluecoats have been having an easy time.

But this is far from being the case. An arrest, unless it be for some sensational or spectacular crime, is very much of an incidental occurrence in the life of a patrolman.
He has many other duties to perform, routine and unexciting duties—such as patrolling his beat,
being on the alert for any unusual or suspicious incident; checking lights, doors and dangerous places;
in short, protecting the public in general—and these are performed with conscientious attention to detail and efficiency.

During the month of March the firemen were called out on eighty-two occasions. The most serious blaze occurred at the New Sherbrooke House when between $25,000 and $30,000 damage was caused.
The property loss would have been much higher, however, had it not been for the efficiency of Chief H. O. Camirand's men.

Of the twenty-seven arrests made during the past month, twelve were
for drunkenness, eleven for vagrancy,
two for violation of traffic
by-laws, one for theft with infraction and one for common assault.

Eight accused paid the fines imposed by Recorder Lionel Forest and thirteen were sent to jail for non-payment of fines. Five suspended sentences were given and one case was referred to the Magistrate's Court.

Fourteen doors of business establishments were discovered unlocked
after closing hours, seventy lights reported defective and twelve dan-

CANADIAN PREMIER WILL OPEN BRIDGE

New $2,400,000 Chelsea Bridge Will Be Opened on May 6 by Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King While in London for Coronation.

London, April 1.—W. L. Mackenzie King, Canada's Prime Minister who will be here for the Coronation, has accepted an invitation to open the new $2,400,000 Chelsea Bridge on May 6.

The bridge is of steel construction,
seven hundred feet long, sixty-five feet wide and has four traffic lanes and two pedestrian paths. It is of suspension type.

One approach of the bridge is near the grounds of the historical Royal Chelsea Hospital and the structure extends to Battersea on the other side of the Thames.
The bridge replaces the old Chelsea Bridge, the last toll structure in London. Built in 1858 the toll bridge was made a free passage in 1879.

The Montreal-United Kingdom route.
During the four years this line has offered low-priced passenger accommodation, many teachers, professors and business people have taken advantage of the service and have signified their intention of again using these ships, being attracted by the good food, comfortable quarters and leisurely atmosphere.

SNOWSHOES TO ASSIST WITH PAGEANT

Members of the various snowshoe clubs of Sherbrooke have promised their support and co-operation to Leon Trepanier, organizer of the city's centenary celebration, in the staging of the Parade of the Fairies pageant.

Last night Mr. Trepanier was guest of the Tuque Rouge Snowshoe Club on Belvidere street, when he spoke about the centenary celebration and outlined proposals for the pageant, which he asked the snowshoers to support.

All snowshoe clubs, with the exception of the Sherbrooke Club, were represented. This morning
Mr. Trepanier was in communication with T. C. Hurn, president of the English club. Mr. Hurn assured
Mr. Trepanier that the Sherbrooke Snowshoe Club could be depended upon to render all possible assistance.

The Parade of the Fairies will be one of the outstanding pageants of the centenary celebration. It will be the first time such a display has been staged in the Province of Quebec and will bring to life all the beloved characters of Fairyland.
A meeting of representatives of all the snowshoe clubs will be held at the City Hall on Wednesday of next week, when details in connection with the pageant will be more fully discussed.

MANY PERSONS CAUGHT UNAWARES TODAY

This is a day of intrigue and discomfiture. It is April Fool's Day,
a day of pranks.

Just when the first April Fool's Day was launched is not known to historians, but all agree it was a long time ago. Robert Louis Stevenson writes "from time immemorial,
the first day of April has been set apart as a time when it is permissible to play harmless tricks
upon one's friends and neighbors."

So deeply-rooted is the fear of what may happen on April Fool's Day in some countries that sober-minded citizens will not marry or attempt to start a new business venture on that date.

Among the Scots the day is called "hunting the gowk," the gowk
being a cuckoo. In France April 1st is known as "poisson d'avril."

So far the day has been quite an unsuccessful one in Sherbrooke. The customary practical jokes, of course, have gone the rounds. Again unsuspecting citizens have been caught napping and have provided a good laugh for their friends about them.

In every office, store and factory of the city the day has been observed in one way or another. People on the street have also come across more alert fellow-citizens and before they knew what was happening
had been "caught."

Practical jokes on April Fool's Day are taken in the same spirit in which they are given, or, at least, they should be. There is no harm intended on the part of anyone, and it all boils down to the fact that a weary old world is giving way to the lighter side of life and seeking relaxation in a hearty laugh.

Sales records show that one-half of the entire American crop of artichokes is sold from pushcarts on New York's lower East Side.

AMENDMENTS TO CITY CHARTER BEING STUDIED

Clause Which Would Allow
City Privileged Claim in Connection with Electric, Gas and Water Accounts Still to Be Considered by Quebec
Private Bills Committee.

Quebec, April 1.—Although the most contentious clause in the proposed amendments to the Sherbrooke City Charter—that clause which would allow the city a privileged claim in the collection of electric, gas and water accounts,—has not yet come before the Private Bills Committee for consideration,
the committee yesterday did study
several of the proposed changes which Sherbrooke is requesting.

The clause providing for a change in the preparation and revising of the electoral lists encountered strong opposition.

In answer to a question by Philippe Monette, National Union member for Laprairie-Napierville, Mayor Emile Rioux, who is part of the Sherbrooke civic delegation at present in Quebec, said that no complaints had been registered against the system of preparing and revising
the lists as laid down in the Cities and Towns Act.

Mayor Rioux explained to the committee that a group of Sherbrooke lawyers had been engaged by the city to study the City Charter and determine how its various clauses could be grouped and the whole charter made more concise and understandable. It was the contention of this legal committee, Mayor Rioux said, that certain clauses
of the Cities and Towns Act might be replaced and the handling of elections simplified.

The Government representatives did not favor this suggestion. They held the opinion that if the general laws of the Province of Quebec are worth while they should be respected.
The laws which do not function properly should be amended by the Government.

Objection was raised by Mayor Anatole Carignan, of Lachine, and member for Jacques Cartier, to a provision giving Sherbrooke the authority to prohibit the sale of ice within the city.

Mayor Carignan considered such a power was too wide, but Mayor Rioux explained that the City of Sherbrooke merely wished to control ice-cutting from the health point of view. Some ice, Mayor Rioux claimed, was being cut at dangerous spots.

This clause was not killed, but was held over to give the city authorities time to redraft it, should they feel satisfied that a departure from the general law is required. Premier Duplessis, however, held that the hygiene laws of the province should prove adequate in such a case.

The committee raised no objection
as regards provision to permit Sherbrooke to expropriate a quarry of twenty-five acres, it owns in Ascot.
The City of Sherbrooke has not been paying taxes to the Ascot Municipality on this piece of land for the past several years, because, Mayor Rioux explained, everyone believed this land belonged to Sherbrooke.

Premier Duplessis objected to a clause permitting the Lieutenant-Governor to change the date of elections in Sherbrooke because of a juridical day, saying the Government had sufficient work. He even favored deleting that provision from the general law. The clause was dropped. The Premier referred to the switch in election day in Montreal last December because of the abdication of King Edward VIII and the accession of King George VI, whose birthday had been on the date fixed for election day, which then had become a legal holiday,
and the election held over one day,
causing grave inconvenience and extra cost. The Government would probably bring in a bill to deal with matters of that nature, he said.

When it came to the clause to enable the city to prohibit the erection of any building unless it be placed in such a manner as to be capable of being connected with the city's sewerage system, the Premier pointed out it was going rather far to say that a man had to pay taxes
but could not use his property.
Mayor Carignan said the general law was ample protection, and the clause was killed.

The Private Bills Committee is today continuing study of the Sherbrooke bill, the financial clauses being the chief topic of discussion for today's session.

Steadily Mounting Commodity Costs Threaten Rising Prosperity Curve

France, the index for foodstuffs rose from 395 in June, 1936, to 516 in March, 1937. Rise in the cost of living has already to a large extent offset workers' increases in pay.

Immediately after devaluation,
the Swiss Government issued a series of decrees to curb the rise in the cost of living. The cost of living is on the upgrade notwithstanding. At the same time, rise in world prices has had a price-raising effect on imported goods. The result is depression in the building industry; with left-wing demands for a Government building programme financed by devaluation profits of the National Bank.

Building permits in the United Kingdom show a gradual decline in the construction of dwelling-houses but a sharp increase in plans for factories, business premises and public buildings. The speculative building boom so far as London small houses are concerned is passed. Rising costs threaten to handicap both public and private builders of small dwellings and working-class flats.

Governments, short of foreign exchange, have stimulated exports sometimes with embarrassing results. The Greek Government needed foreign exchange. To secure foreign exchange, it permitted the export of olive oil in large quantities.
Greece now finds itself with not enough olive oil to go around. The Government has had to authorize the importation of substitutes. And, in a land of olives, the angry Athenian housewife has to make shift with cotton-seed oil.

RUMORED SMITH MAY GOAL FOR WINGS TONIGHT

Montreal Canadiens, Who Would Make Stanley Cup History by Winning Third Straight Game, Remained Favorites Today, Provided Smith Did Not Play.

Montreal, April 1.—There was talk in this town today of Norm Smith making a surprise appearance in the Detroit Red Wings' net tonight for the all-important Stanley Cup clash against Montreal Canadiens. But there was no confirmation.

Rumor of the return of Smith, injured in the third game of the National Hockey League title series, buzzed through hockey circles. But all attempts to reach Manager Jack Adams for confirmation or denial failed.

"Mr. Adams has left word he must not be disturbed," hotel attendants said.

Otherwise there was nothing new on the Montreal hockey front as the Canadiens and Red Wings awaited the start of the fifth game with the series tied at two games apiece. The Frenchmen, who would make Stanley Cup history by winning a third straight, remained favorites—providing Smith did not play.

If the pudgy Norm, Vezina Trophy winner and goalie for the Canadian Press all-star team, gets back in the game, Detroit were rated no worse than even choice even if the goalie's left arm is not 100 per cent. O.K.

For the courageous Canadiens, a victory tonight would climax a comeback in a season of comebacks. Never before has a team dropped the first two games of the league championship series and gone on to take three straight.

It is three seasons, in the playoffs of 1933-34, since Adams, who hasn't been very jolly the last few days, and his Red Wings were in such a spot. Then the Wings were in the first two games of the N.H.L. finals against Toronto and dropped two straight away from home.

They went back to Detroit for the fifth game and won it by one to nothing on the goaltending brilliance of Wilf Cude, the slim Welshman who will be opposing them tonight.

Standing room only signs went out at the Forum early and a capacity crowd of close to 15,000 will watch the game.

Canadiens went through a brief skating practice yesterday but "Babe" Siebert, their ace defenseman, did not get on skates. The "Babe" was limping around on a cane because of a bruised foot, but he'll be out there for another fifty-minute session when the whistle sounds. Otherwise there wasn't an injury in the Frenchmen's camp.

MAROONS AND RANGERS WILL PLAY BEFORE FULL HOUSE
New York, April 1.—Tommy Gorman brought his Montreal Maroons to Manhattan today, completing the east for tonight's semi-final Stanley Cup series with the New York Rangers for which some 16,000 fans have long since placed their money on the line.

Fan interest was so keen that twenty-four hours before game time Madison Square Garden announced a sell-out while the betting fraternity made Maroons seven to five favorites on the series and an even choice to take the first game.

The Rangers must win in two straight to bring another hockey playoff game—a match against either the Montreal Canadiens or the Detroit Red Wings—to New York. Tuesday is the last open date before a circus takes over the Garden.

But even if Rangers only win the opener, it will be a sweet victory

QUEBEC'S ACES LOST DECIDING GAME TO HULL

Hull Volants Downed Ancient Capital Squad by Three to Two in Final Game of Series—Winners Advance Against Sudbury Tigers in Eastern Final.

Montreal, April 1.—The speed and hockey finesse of the Hull Volants a free-skating gang of speedsters from the Ottawa City League, was pitted today for the eastern final of the Allan Cup playdowns against the Sudbury Tigers.

Conquerors of Maritime Canada's finest, the Volants threw back the challenge of Quebec Aces last night, defeating the Quebec champions by three to two in the deciding game of the best-of-three play-off that took four games to decide a winner.

A brother act to score the goals and a defensive combination of Stan Pratt and Goaler Louis St. Denis that held off the Aces were the main reasons for Volants' success. Gene Reinhardt fired two of the victors' goals, the winner late in the third period, after his brother, Phil, had opened the scoring in less than three minutes.

In the first two periods, the Volants had taken the lead twice. But first Pete Martin tied the score, then Jack O'Connell got the equalizer for Gene's first goal. A penalty to Martin, however, led to the winning tally from Gene, only a mite of a tally for a defenceman's position.

There were a half-dozen times in the second period when the Aces might have run up enough goals to stow away the game. But the brilliant St. Denis put on a great exhibition to hold them off. O'Connell had him cold several times but could only beat him once. Stangle and Wing also shot from close up and St. Denis got an arm or a leg on the drives.

In front of him, the burly Pratt played powerful hockey, seldom resting and bodychecking the heavier Quebecers lustily. There were no weak links in the Volant machine that relied mainly on their speed to cope with Quebec's heavier offensive.

Johnny Wing, although held scoreless, was one of the leading Aces rushers. O'Connell, Stangle and Martin all were dangerous.

The Volants won the first game of the series by two to one, then the second game which Aces won by three to two was thrown out after a dispute on whether the winning goal actually had gone in. The Aces came back again to take the third by one to nothing and force a fourth on neutral ice.

for little Dave Kerr, guarding the Blue Shirt nets. Once Kerr was a Maroon netman under Gorman but he was only a second-stringer, something that hurt the twenty-seven year old Scot's pride. The Rangers paid good money for Kerr and since then he has delivered the goods and looks forward to turning back the Maroons.

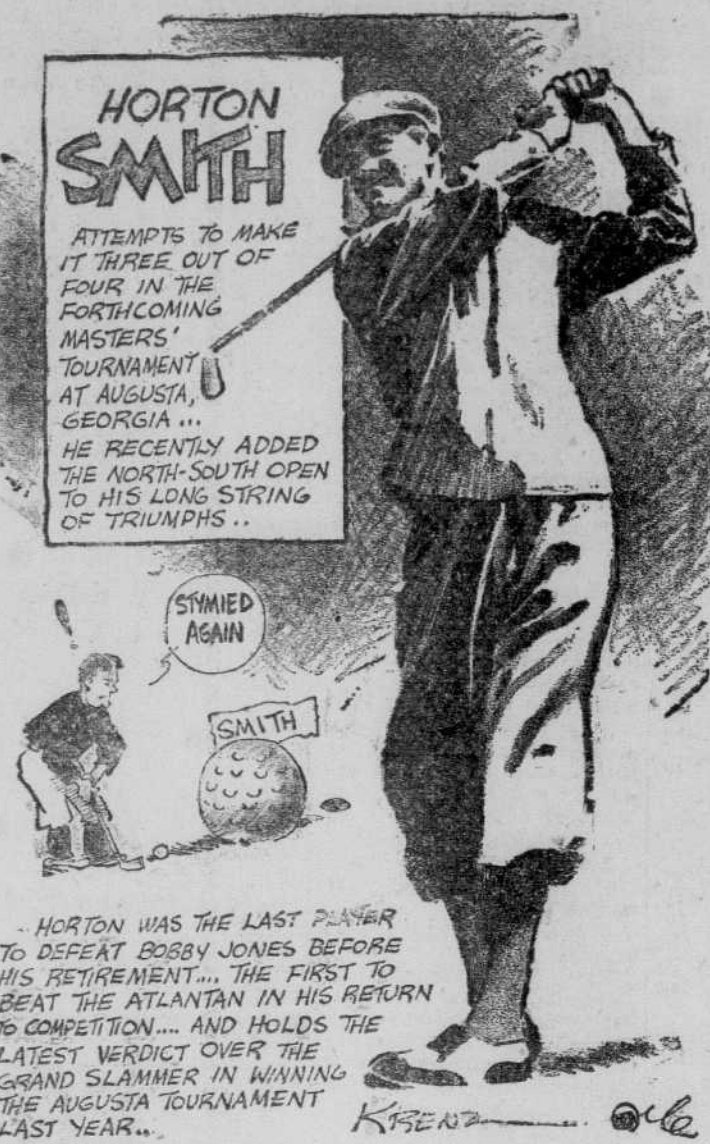

"Beating Maroons would make me the happiest man in town," Kerr said today. "Maybe Gorman would admit he made a mistake."

The week's payoff since the Rangers turned back the Toronto Maple Leafs has given his men a beneficial rest, Patrick said.

"The boys are in fine shape, physically and mentally, and it does not seem to me there is much to choose between the teams," Patrick declared. "It should be a good series."

THE SMITH—A MIGHTY MAN

SPORTS FLASHES

New York, April 1.—Get ready for the big foot race. Clark Griffith has bet Tom Yawkey $50 that Shanty Hogan will beat Rick Ferrell in a fifty-yard dash when the Senators pay their second visit to Beantown in June. The "Old Fox" who doesn't make many baseball mistakes is completely sold on Hogan's comeback.

Pedro Montanez is a seven to five favorite to whip featherweight champion Lou Ambers in the Garden on Monday night.

Burgess Whitehead, of the Giants, swears he never saw the ball when Bob Feller fanned him on three high hard ones at Vicksburg.

Same old Dodgers: Van Mungo swung so hard at a pitch the other day he knocked the mask and can right off catcher "Babe" Phelps.

Bill Brandt, National League publicity director, says Elbert Fletcher, the Bees' first sacker, was the hottest rookie he saw on his swing around the Florida camps.

Max Schmeling has been transatlantic telephoning Joe Jacobs again.

The job Charlie Dresen dreads most of all is cutting his big Cincinnati squad to twenty-three men.

Fred Perry says he's going back to England this summer, sit in a front row box in Wimbledon Stadium, light a big black cigar, and say to the boys: "Now play, damn you, play!"

Five of the eight American League first sackers will bat in the clean-up spot this season.

One of the detectives who helped solve a big murder mystery in Buffalo recently was Edwin "Algy" McGuire, United States rowing champion in 1923.

Bob Harlow, who quit ballyhooing the United States Professional Golf Association after a feud with some of the officials, is dallying with the idea of a golf league in Florida next winter with eight cities, each represented by a two-man team.

BOXING

BRADDOCK WILL KEEP DATE WITH POLEY THIS TIME

Chicago, April 1.—No fooling! At long last heavyweight champion James J. Braddock and his manager are going to keep their date to talk plans with Promoter Joe Foley for the titleholder's proposed fifteen round battle with Joe Louis at Comiskey Park on June 22.

At least, Foley didn't think there was any fooling going on this time. Joe Gould announced last night in New York that he and Braddock would leave for Chicago today to "see what the situation is." Foley had a nice, airy hotel suite—the same one reserved last week but untenanted as Braddock failed to show up, day after day—ready for the pair.

Foley was prepared to inform Gould that Chicago wants the fight, a point the champion's pilot was reluctant to go for last week. The Illinois House of Representatives smothered the "big-dollar top" bill, removing Gould's biggest objection to Chicago, and Mayor Edward J. Kelly has formally stated that he and his charter centennial jubilee committee are eager to have Braddock and Louis slug each other here.

Further indication that something tangible was brewing was provided by the arrival last night of Julian Black, one of the "Brown Bomber's" co-managers.

Foley said Gould's plans to keep the long overdue appointment "definitely put the Chicago proposition on its feet."

The world's largest imitation moon is at the Griffith Observatory, in Los Angeles. It has a diameter of thirty-eight feet.

GOLF

JONES CONCEDED VERY SLIM CHANCE

Augusta, Ga., April 1.—On this April Fool's Day the great Bobby Jones had a chance to play the slickest prank in golf.

Now a Sunday golfer, a bit rusty and thirty-five years old, the erstwhile wizard from Atlanta went postward in the fourth annual Augusta National championship. Sentimentalists backed him but cold judgment ranked him as one of the longest long shots of a field studded with forty-six of the United States greatest sharpshooters.

"He hasn't a chance to land even among the leading fifteen," was the consensus of keen golf observers. "If he should win, it would be the greatest upset of years." And Jones agreed with them.

Paired with Jones in the first of the four daily eighteen-hole rounds was the man who was the hottest favorite of the field—Horton Smith, of Chicago.

The winner of two out of three Augustas (the other was copped by Gene Sarazen) the lanky blond was on top of a game well suited to the 6,700-yard, par seventy-two layout, which is strictly a happy hunting ground for a man who can chip and putt.

BADMINTON

BADMINTON MAKES DEBUT AS NATIONAL TOURNAMENT IN U.S.

Chicago, April 1.—Badminton stepped out today to make its debut in the United States as a national tournament sport.

Stars who have acquired fame in their own neighborhoods—152 of them—were entered from all parts of the country to battle for national championship recognition.

The titles will be decided in five divisions, men's and women's singles, men's and women's doubles and mixed doubles, during the three-day churning of the "bird."

BASKETBALL

OLD BOYS DOWNED S.H.S.

The Sherbrooke High School Old Boys proved themselves superior at basketball to the present students when they chalked up a forty-three to thirty-two victory in an encounter at the Y.M.C.A. last evening.

The Old Boys went to the front in the first half and at the interval were leading by eighteen to fourteen. During this stanza Bill Jowett and Harry Gray were the principal point-getters for the student team, while Bill Hammond and Don Johnson divided twelve points for the Old Boys and Mac Turner, Bob Dunsmore and Norm Welsh each chalked up two points.

In the final frame, Bill Jowett was the highest scorer with ten points to his credit, while Gray, Hall, Nutbrown and Whitley kept the students in the running by contributing two points each. Mac Turner and Norm Welsh led the Old Boys' attack, dividing sixteen points between them.

The summary is as follows: S.H.S.: Jowett 6-10, Gray 5-2, Davidson, Hall 2-2, Nutbrown 0-2, and Whitley 1-2. Old Boys: Turner 2-8, Hammond 6-6, Dunsmore 2-0, Wiggitt, Johnson 6-3, Welsh 2-8.

Rideaus Hopes for Junior Championship Shattered by Copper Cliff—Q.A.H.A. to Request Examination of Winners' Birth Certificates.

Three branches of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association had two teams among the seven in the running for the two Dominion titles today. Only three times have both championships gone to any one division since the junior series was started and Saskatchewan, Northern Ontario and the Ottawa district are hoping hard for the coveted double triumph.

There seems little chance that the Ottawa district will win both the Allen and Memorial cups, for Ottawa Rideaus face defeat in the junior playdowns. But Saskatchewan is banking on North Battleford seniors and the Saskatoon juniors.

Northern Ontario on the Sudbury Seniors and the Copper Cliff juniors.

Hull Volants, Ottawa district champions, can block North Battleford and Sudbury. In the way of the junior aspirants stand the Winnipeg Monarchs, Manitoba winners.

Northern Ontario's chances soared last night when Copper Cliff's dynamic Redmen wallowed Ottawa by twelve to three to open the eastern junior finals. Gloom in the Ottawa district over that result was offset by Hull's three to two victory over the Quebec Aces, earning Volants a place in the eastern senior final with the Sudbury Tigers. Copper Cliff can end its best-of-three round with the Rideaus at Toronto on Saturday, while Hull and Sudbury will start a best-of-three set on dates yet to be set.

Saskatoon Wesleys and Winnipeg Monarchs will begin play on a best-of-three basis for the western junior title and the Abbott Cup tonight in Winnipeg, the winner journeying east to play Copper Cliff or Ottawa for the Memorial Cup. North Battleford Beavers wait in Calgary for the east's Allan Cup finalist, Hull or Sudbury.

While the north country was a jump ahead of the Ottawa district, outsiders today disputed Copper Cliff's right to its present spot. The Quebec Amateur Hockey Association will seek examination of birth certificates of all the Redmen, officials have announced. Ages of players Dick Perry, John Frenette, "Red" Hamill and Jack Shewchuck are questioned.

The flying Red team's first forward line put on one of its greatest displays of the winter for Ottawa fans. "Red" Hamill got five of the

PAUL THERRIEN IS SUSPENDED FOR ONE YEAR

East Angus Player Given Severe Punishment for His Attack on Dannie Towne in Eastern Townships Play-Off Fixture.

Montreal, April 1.—Paul Therrien was suspended for a period of one year for his attack on Referee Dannie Towne during the final play-off between East Angus and Windsor Mills.

This decision was reached at a special meeting of the Q.A.H.A. held last evening shortly before the Hull-Quebec game.

Albert W. Reid, Sherbrooke district vice-president, who had not been invited to the meeting, protested vigorously against any action being taken when he was not present.

Officials claimed that the meeting was only decided upon at a late hour last evening and was held early on account of the Hull-Quebec game. Mr. Reid held that the punishment given Therrien was too severe.

The meeting refused to authorize a game between the East Angus juveniles and Trenholme Park, the executive claiming that to allow expenses for East Angus would be a precedent which would also apply to Quebec, Chicoutimi and other points.

A claim placed by the Sherbrooke Arena for compensation resulting from the cancellation of the play-down fixture between St. Jerome and Windsor Mills was postponed for further consideration.

dozen goals and assisted in four. Centre "Pat" McReavy tallied three times and got three assists and Roy Heximer accounted for two goals and two assists. Never in the running, Rideaus managed to nab a single tally in each period.

Hull scored its narrow decision over Quebec on Montreal ice, after the Aces had campaigned hotly to have the game staged at Quebec. "Phil" Reinhardt scored Volants' first goal and his brother Gene got the second and third. Gene's last came with less than five minutes to play on a pass from F. Jansen. P. Martin and Jack O'Connell tallied in the losing cause, tying the battle up at two stages.

The 1,500 Hull fans who attended demonstrated long after the game. To them it was a joyous culmination to a bitter war. Originally scheduled for three games, the round went to four when the Volants successfully protested the Aces' win in the second. The Volants won the opener by two to one; Quebec took the disputed game by three to two and the third by one to nothing.

Holtham, Mrs. Matthew Graham, Miss J. Brumwell and Miss Viola Mullins, the latter of Bromontville. Tea and coffee were served by Mrs. P. M. Robins and Mrs. J. H. Bell, and Mrs. F. A. Briggs served the ices, the beautifully appointed table being attractively done with mauve and yellow spring flowers. Mrs. Newton and her daughter were assisted at the tea hour by Miss Mont Bigg.

Mrs. F. J. Southwood, president of St. Peter's Guild, received the numerous guests who attended the first after-Easter tea in the parish hall yesterday afternoon, and Mrs. Fred Pearson acted as treasurer. The hostesses, Mrs. Albert Byham and Miss Elizabeth Wilson, chose stately Easter lilies with roses in a silver basket and white candles in silver candlesticks as the seasonal and lovely decorations for their beautifully appointed tea table. Tea was poured by Mrs. Walter Kinkead, and assisting were Mrs. Frank Eastman, Mrs. Walter Byham, Miss Carol Jameson and Miss Marion Husbands. In addition to the tea there were two sales, the home cooked food being in charge of Mrs. G. S. Thomson and Mrs. James Johnston, while Mrs. James Strickland and Mrs. William Ward acted as sales-ladies for the fancy and useful articles. The total receipts from the pleasant social reopening of the Guild's activities were very gratifying.

Members of the Get-Together Club were pleasantly entertained last evening by Mrs. J. Barnes at her home on Queen street. Cards were played at three tables, the prizes being won by Mrs. Chrichtley and Mrs. Hopkinson. At the conclusion of the game the hostess served delicious refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Shepherd.

Mrs. J. Halliday, Mrs. H. Hutley and Mrs. H. Sanders were hostesses yesterday afternoon in St. Paul's Church hall for the Easter sale and tea which so successfully inaugurated that congregation's post-Lenten social activities. The first named hostess received, and Mrs. F. Staniford acted as treasurer, while Mrs. P. Dunagate and Mrs. Saunders presided at the pretty tea table, which was beautifully arranged with Easter lilies and pink carnations.

The many guests who attended the pleasant tea party were very generous in extending their patronage to the sales-tables, which were important and attractive features and most substantially augmented the gratifying proceeds from the Guild's opening event. Candy was sold by Mrs. W. Flynn, whose "sweet" store was soon depleted, as was the table of home cooked dainties in charge of Mrs. H. Stewart and Mrs. J. Drew. The fancy and useful articles sold by Mrs. M. Slater, Mrs. A. Hargraves and Mrs. C. Bowyer also attracted the guests, who embraced this excellent opportunity to replenish aprons, towels and other household necessities.

EASTER SUNDAY WAS OBSERVED AT EAST ANGUS

Large Congregations Attended Easter Day Services at East Angus United Church Which Proved Fitting Conclusion to Series of Preparatory Services.

East Angus, April 1.—The largely attended services in Emmanuel United Church on Easter Day were conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. O. Baron, while the music was under the direction of Miss Glenna Sutton, organist and choir director.

At the morning service, the anthem, "Welcome Happy Morning," was rendered by the Senior Choir and the Junior choir presented, "Low in the Grave He Lay," by Rev. R. Lowry. The solo, "Consider the Lilies," was beautifully sung by Miss Marion Stevenson. At the close of the morning service, the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered.

The music at the evening service was marked by two anthems by the choir, "Hail to the King of Glory" and "The Victor's Song" and the solo, "I Know that My Redeemer Liveth," by Miss L. Reynolds. The pastor, during his sermon, touched upon the inspiration which had been received from the preparatory services that had been held during the two weeks prior to Easter on conjunction with Rev. C. E. S. Bown of the Anglican Church.

General Notes. Miss Gladys Crump returned to Macdonald College on Monday after spending the Easter holidays as a guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Crump.

GUILD SUPPER PROVED MOST SUCCESSFUL

Approximately two hundred persons assembled in St. George's Parish Hall last evening for the salad and cold meat supper given under the auspices of the Parish Guild.

The guests were received by Mrs. Albert Jones, who was assisted by Mrs. W. A. Bown, president of the Guild. The tables were decorated with tall vases of spring flowers and looked most inviting with the variety of appetizing food.

Mrs. T. D. Bower and Mrs. E. L. Atto, who were joint conveners of the supper, are deserving of much credit for the success achieved, while the individual members of the Guild also rendered valuable assistance. Mr. R. Baker acted as cashier.

TENDERED FAREWELL PARTY. Mrs. E. J. Tapp was hostess to fourteen children at a farewell party given in honor of Teddy Holman, who leaves shortly with his parents, Sgt. and Mrs. Holman, for their new home in Sudbury, Ont.

A pleasant time was spent in games and during the evening the young guest-of-honor was presented with many farewell gifts.

Later delicious refreshments were served in the dining room, where the table was artistically decorated for the occasion.

General Notes. Rev. Albert Jones is spending a few days in Montreal, where he is visiting several members of St. George's Parish who are ill in the hospital there.

Mrs. William Worster, her daughter, Nellie, and her son, Harold, left by train early this morning for Saint John, N.B., whence they are sailing tomorrow aboard the S.S. "Montcalm" for a visit in England.

DEATHS REPORTED

FUNERAL OF MRS. V. I. ADAMS, AYER'S CLIFF.

Ayer's Cliff, April 1.—The funeral service of Mrs. Velma Izzett Adams, who passed away at her home on March 19th, was held in the Beulah United Church on March 21st.

The pastor, Rev. H. A. Gillingham, and Rev. H. G. Rice, of Fitch Bay United Church, officiated at the service. Mr. Rice delivered the address and also read a letter from Rev. R. W. Carr, of Cookshire, a former pastor of the church in Fitch Bay for eight years. Mr. Rice expressed an affectionate tribute to the sterling qualities of the deceased. As the church was being born from the church, the hymn, "Rock of Ages," was rendered by Mrs. Minnie Rider.

Interment took place in the Brown's Hill Cemetery. The bearers were Messrs. W. P. Adams, R. A. Temple, F. J. Brown and G. L. Brown.

The many beautiful floral offerings bore silent testimony to the love and esteem in which the deceased was held.

Mrs. Adams had been in failing health for two years, but was able to be up every day until a week before her death.

Mrs. Adams was born at Brown's Hill on April 5, 1851, the daughter of Sherburn Brown and his wife, Hannah Dustin. She was the last surviving member of a family of three brothers and three sisters.

On September 8, 1877, she was married to Levi Preston Adams, son of Rev. L. P. Adams, of Fitch Bay. Of this union were born twin children, Wray Preston and May Lestina.

Mrs. Roy A. Temple, who tenderly cared for their mother during her illness and all through her declining years made her comfort a first consideration. Mrs. Wray Adams and Mrs. Temple were also in constant attendance at her bedside.

Mrs. Adams leaves to mourn her loss Mr. and Mrs. Wray Adams, of West Lebanon, N.H.; Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Temple, of Wilder, Vt.; five nephews, granddaughters, Miss Barbara Temple, of Wilder, Vt.; five nephews, several cousins and a host of friends.

FUNERAL OF MRS. FRED EWING, OF MONTREAL.

Bedford, April 1.—The funeral of a highly-respected former resident of this place, Mrs. Fred E. Ewing, of Montreal, was held in St. James Anglican Church here on Tuesday afternoon, March 16, with Rev. H. V. Fricker officiating.

Prayers were said previous to the church service at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Williamson, where the remains were brought from Montreal. Mrs. Ewing passed away at her home in Montreal, where she had been residing since September, on March 14 after a long and lingering illness.

The funeral service was arranged by Mrs. Ewing, and the vested choir sang the hymns "Jesus, Lover of My Soul" and "What a Friend We Have in Jesus." Instead of the usual sermon, Rev. Mr. Fricker read a selection of poetry that had been chosen by Mrs. Ewing.

The bearers were all young men whom the deceased had watched grow from infancy to manhood. They were Messrs. Allan Palmer, Elliott Cokerline, Francis and Elmer Percy, Alfred Nicholson and Malcolm McCaw.

The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful and testified to the admiration and respect in which the deceased had been held by all who knew her.

Mrs. Ewing, who had been a valued and respected member of this community, was in her seventy-second year and was the only daughter of Francis Percy and his wife, Jane Perault. She was born at Pike River, about four miles from Bedford. Her whole life was spent in this vicinity, with the exception of her brief stay in Montreal. Before her marriage in 1896 she taught school.

Interment was in the Union Cemetery in the family lot beside her daughter, Nellie, who died in infancy.

She leaves her husband, Mr. F. E. Ewing; two daughters, the Misses Eileen and Dorothy Ewing, of Montreal, and two brothers, Mr. Elmer Percy, of this city, and Mr. Ernest Percy, of St. Albans, Vt.

JAMES ANDREW WATT, SOUTH DURHAM

South Durham, April 1.—The funeral of James Andrew Watt, whose death occurred at the home of his son, Raymond, in Montreal, took place at St. James' Church here on Friday, March 12.

The service was conducted by Rev. A. V. McLaren, and the choir sang the same hymns which had been sung at the funeral of Miss Marion Watt, namely, "We Love the Place, O God, 'thy Will Be Done" and "Peace, Perfect Peace."

The bearers were Messrs. Marcus Proulx, Roland Montgomery, Harry V. Hughes and Candis Coote.

Interment took place in the family lot beside the remains of his wife, who predeceased him in July, 1905, and his daughter, Miss Marion Watt, who died on December 27, 1928, the committal prayers being said by Rev. Mr. McLaren.

The beautiful flowers testified to the esteem in which Mr. Watt was held and the sorrow which is felt at his passing.

The deceased, who was in his eighty-third year, was the last surviving member of a highly esteemed family of eight children. He was the youngest son of the late Andrew Watt and his wife, Ellen Jackson, who were pioneers in this district, coming from Scotland in the days when it required six weeks and six days to make the sea voyage.

Mr. Watt was united in marriage to Melissa Mills and of this union there were two children, Raymond, with whom the deceased made his home, and the late Miss Marion Watt, formerly of Sherbrooke.

Mr. Watt had been a carpenter practically all his life and many of the homes in this community were built by him and bear testimony to his ability.

Those from out of town who attended the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Watt, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Griffith, Mr. William Pearl, Miss Cecilia Pearl and Mr. Linsey Bogie, all of Montreal, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gill, of Richmond.

MRS. MURDO MacKENZIE BURIED AT SCOTSTOWN

Scotstown, April 1.—Rev. H. E. Parsons, B.A., B.D., pastor of St. Andrew's United Church, Scotstown, officiated at the funeral of Mrs. Murdo MacKenzie, of Buffalo, N.Y., which took place in the church on Sunday afternoon, March 14. Preceding the service, prayers were said at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Angus MacLennan, where the remains had been brought from the train.

Mr. Parsons took as his text the words, "Or ever the silver cord be loosed or the golden bowl be broken, or the pitcher be broken at the fountain, or the wheel be broken at the cistern." The theme of the service was "The silver cord that will never be loosed." The hymns sung were, "Unto the Hills Around," "God Is Our Refuge and Our Strength" and "The Shepherd's Psalm."

Many beautiful floral tributes banked the pulpit and front of the church, silent tokens of affection and esteem.

The bearers were Messrs. Angus MacLennan, A. M. MacKenzie, William MacLennan, Malcolm Nicholson, George Armstrong, Murdo Murray and J. Henderson.

Interment was in Riverview Cemetery, beside her husband, who predeceased her sixteen years ago in Montreal.

Mrs. MacKenzie was born Scotstown, Isle of Lewis, Scotland, on October 10, 1873. She came to Canada with her husband in 1906, and settled in Scotstown, where she lived for fourteen years, before moving to Montreal. Mrs. MacKenzie and family went to Buffalo, N.Y., following the death of Mr. MacKenzie.

Mrs. MacKenzie passed away on March 10, after an illness of two hours at her home in Buffalo.

The immediate surviving members of her family are six daughters and one son. Another son died many years ago. All the children were present at the funeral, namely, Katie, Mrs. William Hutchinson, of Kenmore, N.Y.; Jessie, Mrs. Pond, of Cape St. Vincent, Thousand Islands; Marion, Mrs. Howlett, of Buffalo; Beatrice, Mrs. Lloyd MacRae, of Kenmore; Helen, Mrs. Robert Coote, of Cape St. Vincent; Miss Evelyn MacKenzie, of Buffalo, and Mr. David MacKenzie, of Alabama. WEST SHEFFORD CHURCH MARKED EASTER SUNDAY

Special Services Held at West Shefford Anglican Church on Easter Day—Special Music Was Presented by Choir.

West Shefford, April 1.—The Easter Eucharist was celebrated at eight a.m. on Easter morning by the Rev. E. F. Macdonald, M.A. The altar was particularly lovely with an added touch of beautiful Easter lilies given by Mr. Macdonald in memory of his mother.

At the evening service, taking as his text St. Paul's exhortation to the Corinthians: "Be steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the works of the Lord," Rev. Macdonald preached a very inspiring sermon. Using history to illustrate his remarks, Rev. Macdonald declared that "the Easter faith has always stood. Men and institutions may totter, but Christianity can never fail." Urging the congregation to be afraid of the findings of modern science, Rev. Macdonald said that there is really no conflict between science and religion. He also remarked on the fact that too much attention is being paid to things quantitative and not enough to things qualitative, qualities of mind and spirit, which are stressed by Easter.

The service was concluded with the benediction and the strains of "I Know that My Redeemer Liveth." During his week-end in the village, Mr. Macdonald was the guest of Mr. Mrs. Woodward.

CHURCHES MARK EASTER SUNDAY AT WATERLOO

Impressive Services with Special Music Held in Anglican and United Churches at Waterloo—Other Items of Interest from District.

Waterloo, April 1.—Impressive Easter Sunday services were held both in the United Church and in St. Luke's Church, with a large attendance at all services despite the bad weather conditions.

Services in St. Luke's Church were conducted by Rev. Norman Egerton and several Easter anthems and hymns were rendered by the choir. At the morning service Mr. Claude Fisher rendered, "The Lord is King and Hath Put on Glorious Apparel," and Miss Mildred Joyce contributed a solo entitled "The Old Rugged Cross." Both soloists were accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Kerr Stewart.

Mr. Egerton spoke very inspiring words in connection with the Resurrection, which for the past hundred years has provided the joyful knowledge that death is swallowed up in victory.

Beautiful flowers were placed in the church by Miss Joyce Shanks and Mrs. Stanley Shanks in loving memory of their uncle, Mr. Alex. Russell.

In the United Church, Rev. E. Wilson conducted the services and the Easter anthems and hymns were very appropriate to the occasion. Mr. Wilson also based his remarks on the Resurrection.

During the evening service, a male quartette consisting of Messrs. Roger McGregow, George Young, Donald Wilson and Arthur Midgley, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Graves, rendered a beautiful number.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion and the large number of flowers conveyed a silent but impressive lesson of Easter tide.

EASTER SERVICES

On Good Friday evening, inspiring services were conducted in the United Church by Rev. J. G. Fulcher, who took as his theme the fact that centuries after Christ's death the message of the cross still beckons. Interspersed throughout the service were several beautiful hymns.

Easter morning Rev. Fulcher preached most impressively, taking as his text, "Why Seek Ye the Living Among the Dead?" Two anthems, "Alleluia, the Strife Is Over" and "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross" were beautifully given by an unusually large choir. Following the service, the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Corbett was christened, receiving the names, Victor Leo.

At the evening service, special Easter music was given by the junior choir, under the direction of the organist, Miss G. Swanson.

AYER'S CLIFF TRADE BOARD HELD SESSION

Many Interesting Matters Discussed at Regular Monthly Meeting of Board of Trade—E. S. Beerworth Gave Address on Immigration.

Ayer's Cliff, April 1.—With many interesting reports heard from the various committees, the regular monthly meeting of the Ayer's Cliff Board of Trade was held recently with a good attendance.

Mr. William Brown reported that he had been able to sell quite a few membership tickets. The price has been reduced to fifty cents this year and it is felt that all citizens interested in their home town should join the organization.

In discussing the road between here and Magog, Mayor Rexford said he felt certain that work would be done on the road this year, and that it would be completed by another year.

A letter was read from the Massawippi Valley Boat Club, of North Hatley, asking if they could depend on Ayer's Cliff to help in the accommodation of visitors this fall, when they intend to have an Eastern Townships centennial celebration in the form of a speed boat regatta. This club has been formed under the sponsorship of the Municipality of North Hatley, with two objects in view, to provide attractions that will draw tourists to the district and to provide accommodations for them. The regatta, planned for August 21 and 22, will be the largest ever attempted south of the St. Lawrence, and in order to make it successful, the co-operation of surrounding towns and villages is essential. If a success this year, the regatta will become an annual event.

It will be run under the sanction of the American Power Boat Association and the National Outboard Association and will be under the direction of their officials. Race schedules, circulars and programmes will be distributed to all boat owners in Eastern United States and Canada.

R. G. McHarg, J. E. Bayley and K. D. Cooper were appointed a committee of three to canvass the town with a view of finding out how many of these expected visitors can be accommodated here.

A committee was also named to arrange for some kind of a celebration in view of the Coronation in May.

The speaker of the evening was Mr. E. S. Beerworth, who gave an interesting address on immigration, stating that the matter of increased immigration of permanent settlers into Canada was of national importance, although many are opposed to such a scheme. Mr. Beerworth stated further that there is a strong effort being made to bring a larger number of selected immigrants from Great Britain.

In the discussion which followed, short talks were given by Mr. N. W. Lobb, Mr. H. I. McFadden and Mr. A. G. Clough. In closing, Mr. McFadden thanked Mr. Beerworth for the time and thought that he had put in his excellent paper on such an interesting topic.
