HUNDREDS OF WESTMOUNT CHILDREN ATTEND ANNUAL EVENT HELD BY EXAMINER

Outing for Youngsters at Belmont Park Featured by Excellent Weather — Prizes Awarded to Holders Of Winning Tickets — Many Free Acts Presented — Prices of Attractions Reduced

Westmount children must have a special place in the heart of the weather man for once again this year hundreds of kiddies from the district enjoyed The Examiner's Kiddie Days at Belmont Park under a fair sky and beautiful sun. Tuesday and Wednesday were the big days for the kiddies and they made every advantage of the weather to enjoy themselves on the many attractions offered at the park for their amusement. The weather man has not yet disappointed the kiddies on the days set aside for them as red letter days at the park.

Hundreds of entries were received for the lucky contest which gave winners prizes of War Savings Certificates. The tickets were drawn by H. E. McCormick, president of The Examiner Publishing Company and the winners announced below, will receive their awards through the mails.

Jean Blandford, 21 Winchester Avenue.

Bob Presnail, 4890 King Edward Avenue.

Malcolm Grant, 4700 Earnscliffe Avenue.

Audrey Snow, 255 Demarchais Boulevard.

Leo Flynn, 311 First Avenue.

Kiddies' Days were enjoyed by hundreds of youngsters who took advantage of the reduced rate, which prevailed on nearly all of the attractions at the grounds. The charge to the children for most of the attractions was reduced to three cents for the two days.

The Six De Cardos, teeterboard acrobats and barrel jumpers, the outstanding free attraction at Belmont Park, were much enjoyed by the children both days.

ALTERATIONS ARE MADE TO ARGYLE SCHOOL

Changes Being Made in Building to Accommodate Senior High Pupils Next Term

Work of converting the Argyle Junior High building for use as next term's Senior High School is proceeding rapidly and laborers are now engaged in the installation of physics and chemistry laboratories on the ground floor of the structure, replacing the girls' handicraft room and lockers and the boy's woodwork room and lockers.

A lecture room and storage space for equipment is also being provided.

In order to accommodate the senior students who will occupy the building next term locker facilities are being greatly increased.

Main changes being made to the present high school, which next term will house intermediate pupils, is the installation of woodwork and metal work rooms. An "office" for the teaching of business subjects is also being installed. This will be equipped with modern business mechanical aides such as adding and bookkeeping machines, files, typewriters and others equipment used by up-to-date business firms.

The offices of the superintendent of schools and the school board are being transferred from the Argyle building to the old high school.

The plan to switch high school pupils to the former junior building and those of the latter to the high is a result of adoption by the city of the 6-3-3 educational system which is to come into effect with the opening of the new term in September.

The system, approved by the Hepburn report, provides for pupils to spend six years in primary schools, three in an intermediate school and the final three in the high. As there will be far more students attending grades seven to nine than in 10 to 12, the high building, which has by far the largest accommodation, will be used next term as the intermediate school.

Certain changes in the curriculum will also be made, the principal ones being continuence of the teaching of sewing, knitting and cooking to girls, regardless of wether they are taking academic or business training, to the final grade of the intermediate school, end classes for all boys in woodwork for the same period. Drawing and music is also to be taught all intermediate grades.

WVRC To Hold Drill At Queen's School

A drill for all companies will be held by the Women's Volunteer Reserve Corps at Queen's School this evening at 8 o'clock.

Physical training is also taking place tonight at 8 by the W.V.R.C. at the studios of Betty Speirs School of Dancing.

REGISTRATION OFFICE HERE IS NOW OPEN

Is Located in Royal Montreal Curling Club at 1850 St. Luke Street

Edward C. McCrory, registrar, has announced that the national registration office for the St. Antoine-Westmount district is now open at the clubhouse of the Royal Montreal Curling Club, 1850 St. Luke street.

The office will be open daily from 9 a.m. until after completion of the registration. The Royal Montreal Curling Club donated the use of its premises for the occasion.

The office opened in preparation for the national registration of every adult Canadian and his or her qualifications for serving the country. The St. Antoine-Westmount office was the third to open on the Island of Montreal.

Actual registration, whose date has been tentatively set as August 19, 20, 21 and 22, is to use as much as possible the machinery of electoral registration with which Canadians are familiar. There is, however, an important difference. Polling places are usually rented by the Government. In this instance every effort is being made by the authorities to obtain free accomodation for the registration and in consequence new "polls" have to be arranged for in many electoral districts.

As a result many of the "polls" will be set up in schools, convents or other semi-public premises which can be obtained free.

Similarly the registrars are seeking to obtain the free and voluntary services of as many reputable citizens as possible for the actual job of registration at the various points, and will willingly list the names of volunteers at their offices. Officers who are paid will receive only nominal amounts for their work.

Rotarians Will Take Care Of Children

At least eight members of the Westmount Rotary Club have offered to house children of Rotarians in England for the duration of the war, it was learned yesterday. The movement, sponsored by Rotary International, is being responded to throughout the country.

There is a possibility that members of the local club will be unable to accommodate a sufficient number of children desiring to come to Canada and if this occurs non-Rotarians will probably be invited to look after the youngsters. Persons wishing to help out in this way or to aid by financial assistance for support of the children should communicate with a member of the club.

MANY PLACED IN POSITIONS BY Y BRANCH

Jobs Found for Over 30 Boys and Young Men by Bureau This Summer

Positions have already been found this summer by the employment bureau conducted by the local Y.M.C.A. branch for over 30 boys and young men, it was announced this week.

The bureau, which was started as an experiment some years ago, has proved so successful that many of the largest firms on the Island seek its services when vacancies occur on their staffs and a high percentage of prospective employees whose names were placed on its lists have been given positions.

From July 1st to July 19 jobs were secured for 12 young men, three filling vacancies in aircraft factories and the others in large industrial concerns. Twelve were placed last month and 11 the month previous.

Eight firms asked the bureau to send them applicants during the current month as did three in June and eight in May.

The majority of those for whom positions are found range in age between 16 and 21. In many cases matriculation or high school leaving papers have been found to be a decided asset when vacancies are sought by the bureau, some firms refusing altogether to accept those without these qualifications.

The bureau serves a double purpose as besides finding jobs for young men out of work, it greatly aids firms in obtaining the type of employee most suited to various types of work.

The file maintained by the bureau lists the qualifications and personal preferences of all those for whom positions are sought and every effort is made to place applicants in work for which they are best trained.

Boys and young men of the district who are presently seeking work may place their name with the bureau without charge. They should arrange an interview with E. Taylor at the "Y" branch.

Rev. J. A. Johnston To Preach Sunday

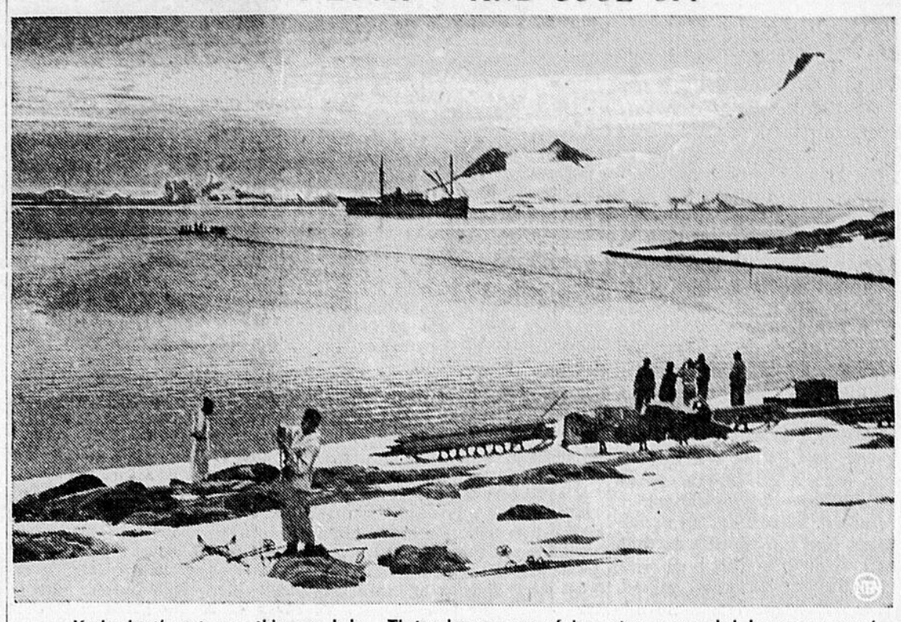

On Sunday morning at Westmount Baptist Church, under the title, "Dwelling with Devouring Fire," Rev. J. A. Johnston will speak of "Our Strongest Defence in the Bestial Dictator."

In the evening Mr. Johnston will have as his theme: "The Blown Trumpet! The Broken Pitcher! The Victorious Battle Cry! Is Churchill God's new Gideon and the British Empire which stands alone, God "Three Hundred?"

The Community Service of Intercession is held each Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. All who are minded to seek the help of God are invited to attend.

The services on Sunday, August 4th, will be conducted by Prof. R. J. McCracken.

17-Foot Cruiser Entirely Constructed In Lane Here

Entirely constructed in a lane at the rear of 342 Victoria avenue, a 17-foot cruiser-type launch was completed this week by Chris Sorensen, 28, a brother, John, 19, of the above address, and Norman Lawson, 19, of 388 Third avenue, Verdun.

The cruiser was given a trial run in the river by the Lachine pier Monday night and according to its builders, performed "beyond expectations." A second run was made in the boat the following evening.

Designed to be powered by a 10-horse-power outboard motor, the craft cruised with ease with a two and-a-half horse power unit on its initial trial and displayed considerably improved performance with a slightly more powerful motor Tuesday night. An engine of the required size will shortly be installed.

The trio commenced construction of the boat in May, and working entirely in their spare time — in the evenings and on holidays — completed final details just prior to its launching on Monday night.

The craft was designed from plans contained in a popular mechanical magazine, its builders bringing them to full scale during free evenings last winter.

Every inch of the boat, including certain metal parts which had to be cast, was built by the trio. The entire cost of its construction, embodying nearly $30 for brass screws and bolts, came to approximately $175. Its builders estimate its retail value, if bought in the ordinary way, at over a $1,000. However, they figure they could show a substantial profit if they decided to sell the boat at far less than this figure.

The boat contains a cabin equipped to sleep two persons while it has ample accommodation for eight on day-time cruises.

On its initial trip the boat proved itself to be thoroughly seaworthy and although powered with a motor far too small for its size, was easily navigable.

Construction of the boat was the first effort of its kind ever attempted by the trio, who are well versed in carpentry.

Thus far it is a craft without a name as no christening ceremony was held at the time of its launching. This procedure, however, will "formally" take place in the near future.

ERNIE TAYLOR IS APPOINTED TO NEW Y POST

Named Acting Executive-Secretary, Replacing W. H. Spearman Now on War Work

Ernie I. Taylor, former boys' work secretary of the Westmount branch of the Y.M.C.A., has been appointed acting executive-secretary, replacing W. H. Spearman who was recently named district supervisor of "Y" War Work attached to the National Council Staff.

Mr. Taylor took over the duties of Mr. Spearman well over a month ago when the latter was placed in charge of Red Triangle Huts. His appointment became effective on Saturday.

Hugh A. Noble will continue to carry on as physical director.

Municipal Nurses Give Lectures At Hospital

The three nurses attached to the municipal health department have given lectures on the work of a modern city health department and the part played by public nurses in the community, to a class of 35 probationer nurses at the Montreal General Hospital.

Patriotic Air Band Concert Favorite

One of the currently popular tunes drew rounds of applause at the weekly band concert in Westmount Park on Monday night. The song "There'll Always Be An England," was so well received by the large number present that the band found it necessary to give an encore.

Even following the encore the applause was great. The song has become a favorite generally and is heard on many radio programs and at nearly all dances. The air is so catchy that even the children join in the great patriotic favorite of the day.

PASSING TRUCK WRECKS AWNING

Torn down by a truck as it pulled to a stop in front of the store, the awning over the window of Knott's Beauty Parlor, 1373 Greene avenue, was completely wrecked and a bulb and globe smashed on Friday afternoon.

The truck, driven by Zepherin Bertrant, of 309 St. Ferdinand street, apparently caught the edge of the awning as it proceeded north on Greene.

The awning was pulled from its staples and a lamp and globe in front of 1375 Greene was knocked to the ground.

TRUCK, MINUS DRIVER, GOES THROUGH FENCE

No One Injured When Vehicle Rolls Short Distance Down Mt. Pleasant

A wire fence 20 feet long, including three steel posts, was damaged when a driverless truck rolled down Mount Pleasant avenue, coming to a stop a few feet from its starting point on the lawn of the residence of Judge W. Bond, 484 Mt. Pleasant, at 2 p.m. last Thursday.

The driver of the truck, Zephuin Lecuyer, of 2480 Delisle street, told police that he left the vehicle, an ice truck, parked on the east side of the street opposite dwelling 493, with the hand brake set and the front wheels cramped against the curb.

The truck, heavily loaded, started to roll down the incline, crossed to the opposite side of the street, jumped the sidewalk and crashed through the fence. The driver could not explain the cause of the mishap.

No one was injured.

MAJ. DeLALANNE IS APPOINTED TO ARMY POST

Made Deputy Assistant Adjutant General on Staff Of Military District No. 4

Major J. A. de Lalanne, M.C., of 633 Lansdowne avenue, who rose from the ranks in the last war and was decorated for distinguished service in the field, has been appointed deputy assistant adjutant general on the staff of Military District No. 4.

Major de Lalanne, who was president of the Westmount Rotary Club during the recently completed term, enlisted in the ranks of the Princess Patricia's Light Infantry in the first World War after serving for a considerable period with the McGill Canadian Officers' Training Corps. He obtained his commission in the field in 1916 in the 60th battalion and also saw duty with the 5th Canadian Mounted Rifles, ending up as a captain.

After the war he joined the 8th Brigade, Canadian Machine Gun Corps, as a captain and later went on the reserve. When the present war broke out he accepted an invitation to join the McGill C.O.T.C. as an instructor, and was promoted to the rank of major. He has been with the corps since last September.

11 STUDENTS PASS SENIOR EXAMINATIONS

Grade Twelve Tests Conducted by Quebec Department of Education

Eleven students of Westmount High School succeeded in passing the Senior High School Leaving or Grade XII examinations conducted by the Quebec Department of Education last June in selected high schools of the Province of Quebec, according to results announced this week.

There was a total registration from these schools of 166, 16 less than last year. The decrease was brought about by the war, a number of students who enrolled last September having left school during the session to enlist. In all 96 passed and partial examinations were written by 25.

The numerals in the list indicate the class. Class I obtained an average of 80 per cent or more; Class II from 65 to 79 per cent and Class III from 50 to 64 per cent. The letter "S" indicates that the candidate passed by means of a supplementary examination.

Supplementary examinations in all subjects will be held early in September at Baron Byng High School, applications for which must be sent before September 1 to the Inspector General, Department of Education, Quebec City.

The following students from Westmount High gained passing marks:

Hector Munro Campbell, III, Owen Foster Carter, II; Douglas Cameron Coughtry, II; Anthony Guy Grimaldi, III; John Duke Hogg, II; John Gordon Leach, II; Ross Malcolm Mercer, III; William Orr Mulligan, III; Charles Lesly Parsons, II; Gordon Marshall Pitts, II; Lloyd James Wright, II.

PASTOR SAYS HITLER LIKE SENNACHERIB

Makes Biblical Parallel to Aftermath of Munich In Westmount Baptist Church

Taking as his topic "The Unpardonable Sin Among Nations," Rev. J. A. Johnston drew a Biblical parallel to the aftermath of Munich, comparing Hitler to the ruthless Assyrian, Sennacherib, in Westmount Baptist Church on Sunday.

The pastor referred to former Prime Minister Chamberlain as the counterpart of Hezekiah, King of Judah, who attempted to appease the Assyrian aggressor with tribute and treaty. "Hitler, like the Assyrian, was guilty of the unpardonable sin—he broke the covenant," Rev. Johnson declared.

The lesson to be drawn from this analogy, he explained, is that the British Empire must follow the example of Hezekith, who, when appeasement failed, resisted the Assyrian tyrant with all his strength.

"If Britain sued for peace now, as Hitler has suggested," declared Dr. Johnston, "it would not only rob us of our freedom but make us partners in all his crimes."

"But in risking everything, we must not forget to seek the help of God as never before. For splendid as are the armed forces of the Empire, our mightiest weapon will always be the weapon of prayer."

CITY STREET SURFACES ARE UNDER REPAIR

In Some Cases Thoroughfares Are Open Only to One-way Traffic

General repairs are presently being made to the sheet asphalt pavement on streets throughout the city, in some cases the resurfacing covering fairly large areas. The repairs are being made street by street with workmen now engaged on Western avenue between Melville and Victoria as well as in other sections of the city. In some cases, where repairs are extensive, the streets are open to one-way traffic only.

Sidewalk cracks are also being filled in as part of the regular summer improvement program and sewers are being cleaned out.

The city is enlarging the principal lateral sewers on Claremont avenue, between Cote St. Antoine road and Westmount avenue, and on Westmount avenue from Lansdowne to Victoria avenues.

The projects will relieve the flood danger.

WESTMOUNT, THURSDAY, JULY 25, 1940

RUBBING IT IN

The disappointment of motorists over the imposition of heavier tolls on bridges around the Island of Montreal was aggravated last week-end when many of them had to stand the annoyance of waiting in line—a long line—while bridge attendants took their money. Many who had to wait unnecessarily at the Ste. Rose bridge remarked that not even on the busiest days under the former ownership was there any congestion to compare with this. Whether it was slowness in making change on the part of the employees, or the new system of selling tickets at one end of the bridge and collecting them at the other that accounted for the hold up, it is difficult to say; but congestion there was, at one time the line of cars extending right across the bridge and back to the southern limits of the Town of Ste. Rose. When the government took these bridges over, the public approved, feeling that it was high time the obstruction and annoyance of tolls were removed. When it became apparent that instead of abolition of tolls, we were to have higher tolls, the motoring public was considerably annoyed but said little in view of the admittedly serious financial mess the government had to clean up. But if the administration of the bridges and the collection of the tolls are to be done obviously less efficiently than under the former owners the resentment of the public is going to be very great indeed.

WEALTH UNDERGROUND

As the cost of the war continues to soar, Canada is more and more becoming the envy of other nations who are either engaged in or are seriously affected by the conflict. Many of these countries find the going tough in trying to accumulate and retain enough foreign exchange to keep above water economically. Canada simply digs hers out of the ground.

It is when great world emergencies occur that the true value of Canada's gold mines comes to the fore. These mines are a permanent assurance that Canada will never be hampered in her commerce with other nations. No matter how exchange rates bob about, gold is still the one thing that is money anywhere in the world. Even in countries which have forsaken the gold standard—and Canada is one of them—the yellow metal still talks with a loud and commanding voice.

The estimate made by Hon. T. A. Crerar, Minister of Mines and Resources, that Canada's gold output this year will amount to $200,000,000, makes good reading. And, in case there are some who harbor the fear that the Dominion is rapidly using up her resources, it may be well to point out that the geologists are a unit in the verdict that we have not yet even begun seriously to dig into our potential wealth below the ground.

RIGHT UNDER FIRE

One of the many reasons why British soldiers go into battle with such fine spirit is the fact that it is traditional for British leaders never to ask soldiers to go where they would not go themselves. This applies not only to military officers, but as well to political leaders, as has been demonstrated within the past few days.

The story of Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, who was a fine soldier in his day and is now Prime Minister, calmly chewing a cigar as he watched German air raiders in action directly overhead is one of the things that inspire fighting men. The fact that His Majesty and the Duke of Kent have likewise been under direct fire of Nazi planes within the past few days will also put spirit into the troops.

This trend is not new. It will be recalled that, during the last war, King George V insisted on visiting France on several occasions, going into places of extreme danger at times; the then Prince of Wales was an active service officer whose one complaint was that he was not allowed to go into the lines and stay there, while the present King saw gallant service in the Battle of Jutland. These are the things which make Britain great.

TO HOUSE 150,000 SOLDIERS

Basing his estimates on the rate of building to date, Hon. J. L. Ralston stated in the House of Commons recently that hutment accomodation could be ready for 150,000 men by next winter. By August 1, Canada will have accomodation for 51,500 men, besides other existing winter accomodation for 25,000 and coast garrisons for 8,000.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Truth" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist throughout the world on Sunday, July 28th.

The Golden Text is from Psalms 108: 1,4. "O God, my heart is fixed; I will sing and give praise, even with my glory . . . For thy mercy is great above the heavens: and thy truth reacheth unto the clouds."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And he shall judge among the nations, and shall rebuke many people: and they shall beat their swords into ploughshares, and their spears into pruninghooks: nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more." (Isaiah 2:4).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Eternal Truth is changing the universe. As mortals drop off their mental swaddling-clothes, thought expands into expression. "Let there be light," is the perpetual demand of Truth and Love, changing chaos into order and discord into the music of the spheres." (Page 255).

CANADIAN BABIES TAKE TO THE AIR

Moncton, N.B. — Within four days, the Trans-Canada Air Lines had among its passengers three infants none of who was more than half a year old. Geoffrey Finnis, aged five months, flew all the way from Vancouver to Moncton and went on to Halifax by connecting plane. His mother, Mrs. F. C. Finnis, was with him. On the same plane was Carroll Smith, six months old, who also went on to Halifax, en route to Yarmouth. He was accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Ernest Smith of Ottawa.

Younger than either was Joan Galloway, who flew in the other direction, from Halifax to Montreal. She is only four months old. Her daddy is Flight Lieutenant D. E. Galloway, of Toronto.

THE FORUM

Conducted by HOWARD S. ROSS, K.C., D.C.L.

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

The opinions expressed in this Forum are not necessarily those of this newspaper and it does not accept responsibility for them.

Much is heard about the British Navy and the French Army but there is also the formidable navy of France. It is fourth in the world. It and the Italian fleet seem about equal on paper; eight French battleships against six Italian; seven heavy cruisers against 7; twelve light cruisers against fifteen Italian; sixty-three French destroyers against sixty-two; eighty French submarines against eighty-seven. The French exceed in speed and gun power.

Two of the finest vessels afloat are the battleships Dunkerque and Strasbourg completed in 1937 and 1938 as an answer to the Nazi pocket battleships which they can outrun and outgun. They are 26,500 tons and mount eight 13-inch guns and 16 5.1-inch guns. Their engines of 100,000 horse-power give them a speed of 30 knots per hour.

The new battleship, the Richelieu, has just entered the service.

The French destroyers approach 3000 tons and carry eight 5.5-inch guns. One recently attained a speed of 45 knots per hour—the highest speed ever reached by a ship of this class.

The French have always been famous for their artillery. The 13-inch guns on the Dunkerque and Strasbourg have a range of 20 miles and can fire three 1200 pound shells every minute. The 5.1 inch guns on these ships have a range of 11,000 yards and can be used whether against ships or airplanes. The newer French destroyers armed with 5.5 inch guns have extraordinary power for such small ships. Their guns have a range of 25,000 yards and can fire 16 rounds per minute.

Like the British navy, the French navy has already done an enormous amount of war work. It has escorted the transport of many army divisions from the African Empire without the loss of a single French soldier. Also French soldiers have been sent from the Mother Country to various strategic points in the French Empire.

"Another great need, is for an economic order in America, so good and just and idealistic as to be immune to the infiltration of communism and facism."—Dr. Everett R. Clinchy of Minneapolis.

A leading colored minister of Detroit was asked to which church Joe Louis belongs. He replied: "Joe is a Baptist but he fights like a Methodist."

Dr. Henry C. Hawley, chairman of the department of business administration at Hobart College, Episcopal institution, recently stated that colleges should teach their students the merits of the profit system instead of starting them out in the world "to fit into something they have been led to believe is rotten and unworkable.'

The news service of the National Catholic Welfare Conference reports that a law recently went into effect in Russia assigning 38,000 commissars to the red army for the propagation of atheism. Each battalion will have a commissar in charge of "atheistic training."

BOOK REVIEW

BY HOWARD S. ROSS

THE JAPANESE CANADIANS, by Charles H. Young, B.A., M.A., (McGill), and Helen R. Y. Reid, D.L. (McGill). Authors of The Ukrainian Canadians (1931). With a Second Part on Oriental Standards of Living by Dr. W. A. Carrothers (University Br. Colombia). Edited by Professor Harold A. Innis, (Univ. of Toronto). Publishers, The University of Toronto Press, Toronto. (Second Edition) 285 Pages.

Mr. Young, who has had wide experience (theoretical and practical) as a social worker in Canada and the United States, is executive secretary of The Federated Charities of Montreal. This reviewer has pleasant recollections of Mr. Young's parents and grandparents, natives of North Sydney, Nova Scotia, the boyhood home of both Mr. Young and of the reviewer.

This useful volume was published under the auspices of the Canadian National Committee for Mental Hygiene and The Canadian Institute of International Affairs.

Some of the chapters are; Japanese Immigration, Settlement and Expansion, Social Problems, Japanese-Canadian Society and its Institutions, Relations between the Japanese and White Canadians, Oriental Population, The Chinese in British Columbia and Oriental Standards of Living.

As the authors point out in their introduction, the frontiers of the Occident and the Orient meet on our Pacific Coast, and the contact has given rise to one of Canada's most interesting and perplexing problems. While Orientals are to be found in provinces outside of British Columbia to the extent of 19,380 Chinese and 1,137 Japanese, they are diffused among millions of whites on the prairies and in the industrial centres of the East. In British Columbia, however, there are 27,139 Chinese and 22,205 Japanese—approximately 50,000 Orientals for the Province or one Oriental for every thirteen white. Though numerically unimportant from the standpoint of the Dominion, they are extremely significant to the people of British Columbia, constituting what White Canadians on the Pacific Coast formerly called "The Oriental Problem."

It is pointed out that there are only 3,468 females, including women and children, in a total of 46,519 Chinese in Canada, so that the Chinese are not feared by the Anti-Orientals. But the dual menace of a rapidly increasing Japanese population and fo their successful economic competition constitutes the present "Oriental Problem" of the North Pacific Coast.

This penetrating, scholarly and sympathetic study is made in the hope that better relations between the Japanese and other racial groups in Canada will follow as a result of a more adequate knowledge of all the factors contributing to the situation.

The last chapter summarizes the arguments centering around. "The Japanese Question" presents the measures advanced by different groups for the solution of the problem and gives the conclusions.

Gibraltar Lifts Ban and Permits Refugees to Land

British military authorities at Gibraltar yielded to a public demonstration and finally permitted 12,000 refugees from Morocco, largely British, to disembark under four-day permits, according to reports reaching the border town La Linea, Spain, recently.

The demonstration was reported to have been staged by civilians, soldiers, and policemen of Gibraltar. The authorities at first prohibited the disembarkment.

The refugees arrived aboard eight merchant ships from French Morrocco, mainly from Casablanca. It was reported that most of them refused to take a ship to Canada, planning to apply for permission to enter Spain instead.

Military leaders were concerned over the situation, which was aggravated by engagements between British warships and raiding war planes.

PRESENTS TROPHIES

Jean Cagney, who today has the feminine leading role in Paramount's "Golden Gloves," has presented trophies to best sportsmen selected from the country's best local Golden Gloves tourneys, which inspired the picture.

To Be Kept Under the Hat

The newest hats, they say, are built
To give the features under
A look of not exactly guilt,
But rather wide-eyed wonder,
And not alone the bonnet will

For poppa, when he sees the bill,
Will also look astounded!

British Attics Yield Aluminum

British housewives are rummaging through attics and raiding their kitchens for aluminum ware in response to a Government appeal for the metal for use in British planes.

A preliminary estimate placed the first day's returns at more than 100 tons in the larger cities, while heaps of pots and pans gathered in innumerable smaller towns remained unweighed.

Chauffeurs of wealthy families took carloads of utensils to central depots, where housewives of all classes tossed in their contributions.

A few weeks ago we sat not far from Jack Dempsey in his Broadway restaurant and watched the old Manassa Mauler chat pleasantly with a few friends while he tugged away at a stogie.

A few nights ago we saw a picture of the same ring terror of yesterday as he ploughed through a would-be wrestler. The shot was in a news film showing at a local theatre.

All of which reminds one that Dempsey at the present time is in the middle of what some are wont to describe as a "come-back." It seems rather opportune to recall at this time a part of the popular ring heroes career which made the tiger of the ring the idol of fight fans everywhere. Probably the recollection will make better reading than what some of the sport writers and editors are saying about Jack at present.

Let's recall that punch which was termed Dempsey's $5,000,000 punch, a sock he let fly in the direction of Jess Willard one day under a blazing Kansas sun.

Willard was defending his world title against Jack Dempsey, who in less than four years had battered his way to the front rank of the champion's challengers. Four years previously Dempsey had been a ragged hobo, bumming his way along the highways, riding the rods from city to city in search of fortune.

Dempsey had known what it was to go hungry and now in striking distance of his long-cherished ambition he was ablaze with determination.

Unperturbed by the overwhelming physical advantages of Willard, Dempsey kept both fists swinging as Willard came in. He crouched, half-doubled over his studding gloves and with incredible swiftness, shot a paralysing blow under Willard's heart. As it landed with a smack the champion reeled against the ropes. Never has a more valuable blow been struck. Not even Dempsey realized the vast fortune it was to bring him.

For that short, hammer-like right to Willards heart was pugilism's only $5,000,000 punch. That was the size of the fortune Dempsey, greatest money spinner in boxing history, amassed during his eight year as a champion.

A $5,000,000 fortune founded on one punch!

Even though it did not finish the fight the blow left Willard nothing more than a chopping block. As he staggered back, his mouth gaping with pain and his big fists hanging helplessly at his sides, Dempsey smashed a left to the chin. Never before had the gigantic Willard been knocked off his feet; now he spun like a top and keeled over with a crash that shook the ring.

As soon as he climbed to his feet Dempsey was on him, his eyes narrowed to murderous slits, and as his terrible right fist landed again, Willard dropped for a second time.

The rest of that dramatic opening round was the nearest thing to licensed murder that had ever been seen since the old knuckle-fighting days, when men slugged each other until they were blind or their limbs were crushed and broken.

Seven times Willard went down. As the gong sounded he was sprawled across the canvass bleeding from the cuts and gashes that Dempsey had opened on his battered countenance.

So great was the excitement that the referee, failing to hear the sound of the going ending the round, counted the champion out and raised Dempsey's glove.

His stern fighting face now relaxed into a joyous smile; Dempsey was executing a joyous little victory dance in his corner when the mistake became known. When told he must fight on he nodded grimly.

Willard, half blind, reeled out for the second round. In a short time Dempsey's savage attack had closed the other eye, but he managed to hang on through that round and one more before the towel was thrown into the ring.

Such was the fight that started Dempsey on a career of world-fame—a fight in which he landed a $5,000,000 punch.

Jack's present comeback to the ring, and he has two victories to his credit, was necessitated according to those in the know, by need for cash.

Imagine that; a man plants a $5,000,000 punch on Willard not too many years ago and today that man takes on men not fit to step in the ring in order that he may raise money to swell depleted coffers.

Such, apparently, is the course of the great.

Art of Camera From 18 Lands In Ottawa Show

The sixth Canadian International Salon of Photographic Art opened some time ago at the National Gallery of Canada with an appealing exhibition of 178 selected pictures sent by 120 contributors from 18 countries.

Last year's show drew 10,580 persons to the Gallery and its subsequent tour across Canada proved so popular that it is being shown for the second time in Montreal while the current exhibition is in progress here.

"There is great improvement in the Canadian work," said H. O. McCurry, Acting Director of the National Gallery and one of the judges in selecting the pictures. "Good photography appeals to everyone and is a valuable link in interesting people in painting and drawing."

Canada is represented by 27 pictures from all parts of the Dominion and ranging from landscapes to seascapes and including may good urban snapshots and portrait studies.

Among other countries represented are England, Australia, the United States, France, Denmark, South Africa, New Zealand, China, Japan, Poland, Belgium, Italy, Germany, and India.

Canadian Women Organize To Send Food To Europe

A Canadian Overseas Food Association, under the patronage of Mrs. Albert Matthews, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, was organized here recently to gather and send food supplies overseas to hospitals, trenches and evacuated British women and children. A central office has been opened in Toronto, under the presidency of Mrs. Healy Willan.

The organization, formed by a group of volunteers, hopes to win co-operation of service clubs, women's organizations, manufacturers and individuals willing to help.

Food for British women and children will be sent directly to the mayors of towns and cities to which they have been evacuated. Other supplies will be made available to Mrs. Vincent Massey's Canada House Fund in London and still others to hospitals in England, France and to the Canadian Red Cross.

F. O. BALL DIES IN GERMANY AS WAR PRISONER

Word of Death of Westmount Pilot Received by His Mother From Red Cross

Word of the death of her son, Flying Officer Albert Ransom (Dickie) Ball of injuries, as a german prisoner of war, has been received by Mrs. S. H. Ball, of 627 Carlton avenue, from the Red Cross. Although she had not received word from the Air Ministry, the Red Cross reported that her son died in a hospital in Neuss, near Cologne.

Flying Officer Ball, 25-year-old member of the Royal Air Force, was reported as missing following a violent air engagement on May 13, but later information stated that he was a German prisoner of war. A brother, Dr. Sydney Ball, stationed in London, received word from the pilot that he was held captive in Germany and was suffering from a broken thigh. He said he was progressing favorably in a German hospital not far from the Belgium border.

When last seen by his squadron leader Flying Officer Ball was being attacked by five Messerschmitts behind the German lines. Recent messages regarding his progress in the German hospital had been reassuring.

Flying Officer Ball, who had lived in Westmount all his life and was educated at Roslyn and Westmount High schools, was reported in May to have brought down two enemy planes before being forced down.

Flying Officer Ball, who was known as "Dickie" to countless friends here, developed an early interest in aviation and took up flying when still in his 'teens. He completed a pilot's course at Cartierville airport some years ago and in 1937 enlisted with the Royal Air Force.

He took a keen interest in outboard motorboat racing and participated in numerous regattas. An all-round sportsman, he was particularly fond of skiing.

Norway's Fall Denied as Due To Disloyalty

The story of the debacle of Norway is not one of "fifth column" treachery save as this charge was inspired by Nazi propaganda, according to C. J. Hambro, President of the Norwegian Parliament, the Storting, for 15 years. In his first interview after arrival in the United States from Montreal by air recently, Mr. Hambro absolved his countrymen of disloyalty in the fateful weeks of April and May that brought the collapse of the Government of King Haakon.

"The truth is that Hitler works the fifth column idea for all it's worth," he said. "He wants to establish the impression that there are thousands, even millions of Nazi sympathizers everywhere.

"It should be remembered that we never expected to be attacked. We lacked military equipment, had no fighting planes, no anti-aircraft guns. We had neither asked Allied help nor received any promise of assistance."

Mr. Hambro accompanied the Norwegian Monarch to London on June 9, two months after the start of the German invasion, and left him there to board a Norwegian freighter at Glasgow Scotland, for Canada.

"As far as Norway is concerned," he declared here, "I can prove that the occupation was not made easy by Norwegian connivance."

A film showing air travel on the routes of American Airlines was shown to members of the Westmount Rotary Club by Fred J. Robinson jr., at their regular weekly luncheon meeting in Victoria Hall yesterday.

Prior to the showing of the film, Mr. Robinson told the club that 3,000,000 persons have been carried on airlines in Canada and the United States without a single fatality.

He stated that 7,500 passengers are carried daily in the two countries, the planes covering a distance equal to 65 times around the world.

AN IDEA BLOSSOMS; STOKOWSKI'S YOUTH ORCHESTRA

Many people have ideas, many voice them, but how many make these ideas turn into realities Leopold Stokowski, that dramatic and dynamic giant of musical knowledge, that magnetic personality of orchestral fame who, through appearing in several motion pictures is known to the world in general, not only to the musical people, had a small idea develop into a vital realism of importance to America.

As he travelled as leader of the Philadelphia Orchestra, he found young instrumentalists anxious for an audition in every city they played in, but being such a busy man it was not always convenient to hear all of them, and as no more players were needed in his important personnel, it was rather a useless venture for the young aspiring musicians. He was surprised at the great talent many of these boys and girls possessed and the fine music chosen.

The birth of the idea formed in Mr. Stokowski's mind through these music seekers and he made up his thoughts immediately to build an orchestra of 100 players, a youth orchestra, made up of American talent, so auditions were arranged by the National Youth Administration of each State. Fifteen thousand applied and of these, five hundred and sixty were selected by the judges for an audition with Stokowski, who personally travelled over the country to hear these talented young people. He selected one hundred whom he thought the most gifted and they have been rehearsing diligently at a camp formed in Atlantic City. This novel orchestra is to give its first concert this week in that city and others in Baltimore, New York, and Washington before sailing on the steamship "Uruguay" on July 26 for South America on a musical mission of good-will. Next week we will tell you how these young musicians have been training.

HE'LL GET BURNED YET

CASE RECORD: DOROTHY LAMOUR

Hollywood, July 24—Ask any college lad his idea of an evening in Paradise, and back will fly the answer:

"A date with Dotty Lamour!"

"Lamour is the 20th Century Venus—somewhat of a demi-god. No master of hokus-pokus can take two handkerchiefs and achieve the effect attained by Dotty with her sarong. No psychologist can look into your eyes, as she does, and free you of all worldy cares. No professor will convince you of civilization's benefits once you've seen the damsel's shapely limbs scrambling through primeval tropical forests.

Nothing matters any more. You just want to give it all up—except Lamour.

I sat with her under a banyan tree on the Burma Road last night. The tree had sprung from a mixture of plaster and paint. The Road was a strip of canvas, covered with pebbles and dust, unrolled on Paramount's back lot in Hollywood. But Lamour was there—in the flesh.

She is 65 inches tall, weighing 117. Her deep brown hair photographs black and entrancingly caresses her shoulders. Her eyes are blue grey. Her skin is soft and tanned and flawless. She is just 26.

Five years ago she launched her blizkreig on Chicago, doubling as model at Marshall Field's and vocalist on a local radio post. Film executives spied her comely face in a fan magazine and brought her to Hollywood. in 18 months she was a star.

SARONGS AND SUCH

Dotty is very thankful for success.

"Its wonderful, really. I've things now that I never dreamed I'd have. A real home. A car. Security." She smilled broadly. ". . . and sarongs! A whole collection of sarongs!"

I smiled, too. Sarongs interest me deeply. Very deeply. For public enlightenment, let it be recorded that Dotty's consist of one and one half yards of cotton print, moulded to her figure by Edith Head, wardrobe attache at Paramount. Complete, a sarong is valued at $1.75. But you can't buy them. They just ain't for sale. During production Dotty wears one out each week.

Comfortably curled up 'neath the banyan tree, Dotty spoke of herself. Of her early days in New Orleans. Of her marriage to Bandsman Herbie Kaye, and their subsequent divorce. Of her father, killed three years ago while piloting a TWA skyliner across the nation. Of her mother. She speaks softly, intelligently, sincerely, confidently.

VITAL STATISTICS

The gal's real name is Mary Neta Dorothy Lamour. She lives in a 10-room Colonial home of her own design in Beverly Hills, a far cry from the hardship she knew as a child. The Lamours separated when she was three, leaving Dotty an orphan of divorce. Fourteen years later she was crowned Queen of New Orleans—her first taste of fame. Death split her epic friendship with Dorothy Dell when the latter's rising star was darkened in a 1934 auto crash, but not before Dell had helped her win a job as vocalist with Maestro Kay's crew.

Today Dotty owns two annuities, a sizeable trust fund and a lovely head placed squarely on two shoulders. She still can't read music — doesn't know doh from rey or me! She spends $20,000 annually answering fan mail; fakes a good rhumba; possesses Hollywood's smallest wardrobe; wears expensive shoes; likes Flagstadt, Crosby and Faye—and believes herself "the most self-conscious person in the world!"

Be that as it may, Dotty is tops in this cinema city. She's a big-town girl who made good.

CHEVALIER'S COMING BACK

Together with almost everyone else of theatrical prominence in war-torn Paris, Maurice Chevalier is flying to New York to recoup his lost fortunes. There's a sad note to this story. After pinching pennies for years to assure himself a comfortable old age, Chevalier had to flee while the Nazis snapped up his savings . . . Best gag going the rounds these days is a new slogan for France's traitor, Petain: "Veni, Veni, Vichy!" . . . . Shirley Temple and Deanna Durbin were introduced at Universal over the week-end — their first meeting though both have been stars for five years . . .

"North West Mounted Police" will probably receive a gala world premiere in Montreal in September, though the ceremonies may be moved to Ottawa or Toronto . . . . 20th Century-Fox is readying "Hudson's Bay Company" for immediate production, with Henry Fonda set to play the lead. . . .I like the catchy line currently used by the American Red Cross:— "You don't have to go across; you're only asked to come across!"

ANOTHER DICTATOR SOON

Charlie Chaplin's "The Dictator" will be unveiled September 15, according to present plans. It should be Chaplin's best to date . . . . Previews of the week have included Errol Flynn's "Sea Hawk," Paramount's "The Great McGinty" and Shirley Temple's "Young People." Though space prevents further discussion, each provide unusually fine entertainment . . . Mae West has signed with Columbia Pictures, and may star first in a celluloid portrait of Madame Du Barry.

"Grapes of Wrath" has already made its producers twice their investment, with the dollars still pouring in . . Warners and Paul Muni have parted company, ending for the moment all possibility of his playing in "Beethoven" . . NBC's Betty Winkler and Claudette Colbert's mother are en route to Montreal for brief vacations . . . One wit declares the Italian army is like a movie set — all front and no back! . . . That's all from here for now. Adios . . .

Officers Are Local Men

We don't know if they are prejudiced or not, but if fellows from the western section of Montreal don't have a little edge on the ball when they go to enlist with the Canadian Grenadier Guards, it's a funny thing.

Nearly all the senior officers of the Guards are from Notre Dame de Grace, Montreal West and Westmount. Lt.-Col. H. D. Rolland, is a resident of Montreal West; Major G. W. Cavey, M.C., M.M., lives in Notre Dame de Grace; Major C. P. Reaper and Major W. W. Gear are also local residents while Major C. H. Hanson lives in Westmount.

The Guards have been carrying on a highly successful recruiting campaign and can still take more men. With leaders in the battalion living in their locality, local residents who have enlisted have found the Canadian Grenadier Guards an excellent "home."

LOCAL SCOUT LEADER HAS LEFT WITH RMR

P.R.L. John Coupland, Rover Leader of the Scott Crew has left on Active Service with the Royal Montreal Regiment.

Ian McAuley, Rover Mate and Scoutmaster of the 1st Westmount troop assisted by S.R.M. D. Beresford Munn held camp at Lost River with some of the crew and troop in attendance. John Brunt, George Kirk and Melvin Burge attended Camp Tamaracouta as Officers of their respectful troops.

Meanwhile it is reported that the 1st Westmount Group have collected 900 pounds of newspapers, money derived from this source is being used to buy much needed equipment and smokes for the Rovers, who may go overseas.

Robert E. Burge of Trinidad, B.W.I. has been accepted as honourary member of the Crew.

Band Concert Program

Following is the program of the concert to be played at Westmount Park Monday evening by the band of the Royal Montreal Regiment, under the direction of Lieut. T. E. Jackson:

March, "Noble Men," Fillmore; overture, "The Veteran," Thiell; waltz, "Nights of Gladness," Ancliffe; trombone solo, "The Switchback" — soloist, Corp. L. Barnes; intermission.

Selection "Maytime," Romberg; discriptive, "In a Monastery Garden," Ketelby; selection, "Carmen," Biset; march, Military Life," King; Regimental March; God Save the King.

Fur Dealers To Adhere To Code Of Standards

Encouraged by the improvements which resulted from their adherence to a code of Fur Standards last year, many Montreal retail furriers have again requested the Better Business Bureau to enforce standards on their behalf during the coming fur season, it was announced by the Bureau today.

It is important to realize, say Bureau officials, that the Standards are a voluntary effort on the part of the furriers themselves to eliminate unfair trade and selling practices. To this end the Standards were designed to curb the use of any advertising or selling practices which might have the capacity or tendency to mislead or deceive consumers.

High-lights of the Standards are provisions which restrict advertising of August sales to the period between July 22nd and August 31st; ban the use of comparative prices (Ex. "Originally" $300.00 — "Sale Price" $215.00) or percentage savings claims (Ex: "Savings of 20% to 33⅓%"); require that true names of pelts should always be shown when fanciful trade names are used (Ex: "Hudson Seal—dyed Muskrat"). Other provisions are designed to prevent misleading or exaggerated statements or illustrations in order to give consumers fullest possible protection.

The Better Business Bureau further reports that during the twelve month period ended July 15th, 1940, it had checked 2,166 fur advertisements. Some indication of the increased accuracy resulting from enforcements of the Standards is shown by the fact that advertising errors declined from 52% during the first week of the year under review to an average of 8% during the last two months.

The Better Business Bureau and the furriers urge the buying public to become familiar with the provisions of the Standards. Copies will be supplied by the Bureau, or by members of "The Fur Standards Association," upon request.

Furriers who have agreed to support the Standards have become members of "The Fur Standards Association." A preliminary list of members of this Association follows:—

Laurentian Ranges Among World's Finest Playlands

The Laurentian country, one of the most beautiful and unspoiled holiday fields in the North American continent, lies at the back door of Montreal. But a few short hours' drive takes one to the heart of this land of green, rolling hills, pleasant valleys, winding rivers and tree fringed lakes, where the soft breezes are heavy with odours of balsam and spruce and pine, and where the cool, dark forests and rippling streams abound with game and fish.

According to geologists the mysterious fascination of great age hangs over these mountains, but mighty ice caps have harrowed their sides, humbled the pride of their peaks, and have polished a chronicle of themselves on the scattered rocks which abound in this great region.

Indian Camps

The camps of the Indians, wise with centuries of nature lore in their blood, were scattered throughout the million acres of this natural park which stretches for a thousand miles north to Hudson's Bay.

The highest point of the range is Mount Tremblant, rising 3,400 feet above the sea known to the Indians as "Manitou Ewitchi-Saga."

Many of the Indian camps have now been replaced by modern hotels, where excellent bathing, dancing, bridge, golf, tennis, riding, and motoring may be thoroughly enjoyed.

Hunting and Fishing

Others have been taken over to provide complete facilities for those who prefer to spend their vacations hunting and fishing in some of the 35,000 lakes, and virgin forests, of the Laurentians.

For the angler, trout and bass are abundant.

Star-maker Bewails Our "Standardized Beauty"

* * * * * * * * *

AND IT'S ALL HOLLYWOOD'S FAULT DECLARES SELZNICK, SCREENDOM'S TOPNOTCH PRODUCER

She does not wear heavy layers of eye makeup on the street or even on the screen. She uses lipstick to color her lips—not to make her mouth huge and thick-lipped. Her hair-do is simple, and her face has a glowing, freshly-scrubbed look.

She is the new type of top-notch Hollywood star—a girl who is naturally glamorous, not artificially so.

You have the word of David O. Selznick who directed natural-looking Vivien Leigh in "Gone With the Wind," unmade-up Ingrid Bergman in "Intermezzo," and fresh-faced Joan Fontaine in "Rebecca."

"I wouldn't let the makeup department touch a hair in Ingrid Bergman's eyelashes," said Mr. Selznick. "I didn't let them paint on a new mouth over Joan Fontaine's own. And anyone who sees "Gone With the Wind" won't argue that Vivien Leigh wore more makeup than was absolutely necessary."

The famous director simply does not think any too highly of the way most of us apply rouge and lipstick.

BE ARTFUL—NOT ARTIFICIAL

"Makeup has been carried to a ridiculous point," the famous producer goes on. "It has just about lost entirely its original purpose—that of artifice. Artifice achieves its purpose only if it is artful—not artificial.

"Women by the millions put on makeup without any regard as to whether it honestly makes them more attractive. Why, you can see their lips three blocks away!"

Mr. Selznick goes on to say that he thinks Hollywood is responsible — which, somehow, seems to take the sting out of his criticisms.

"We standardized beauty," he explains. "As a result all motion picture stars got so they looked alike. And women all over the country have been trying to look like the stars. They have succeeded. They all look alike, too."

Lovely Joan Fontaine, one of the most popular of Hollywood's new crop of stars, wore almost no makeup for the star role in "Rebecca." And, according to her director, she wears even less on the street.

However, now that Hollywood has realized the importance of individuality and does not want its stars to try to resemble one another, David O. Selznick sees some hope for the rest of us. He thinks that very soon no woman will want to be a carbon copy of a movie star or, for that matter, of anyone else.

"I predict a great change in the makeup of American women —due to the new trend toward naturalness on the screen," he continues. "We have found that audiences are enthusiastic about the fresh, makeupless look of Ingrid Bergman and some of the other recently-discovered, natural girls. I think women will soon realize that their faces need a good scrubbing.

"They won't give up makeup, of course — and they shouldn't, but I think more women will strive for natural effects.

"And it's time they did."

Huns In Force Will Not Land, Says Commissioner

Over 3,000 Montreal men and women, whom the speaker described as "inspired with a desire to play a part in the conditions of the world," heard Rev. E. J. Springett at the Forum enunciate the principles of the British Israel World Federation and climax his reasoning by declaring that the "last movement into Britain was made in 1066 by the Normans. There was never an invasion since. There will never be another."

Building his address about the first premise of the British Israelites that modern Britain is both descendant of the ancient lost tribes of Israel and heir to the prophecies attributed to that race in the Bible, Mr. Springett followed the history of that people to prove that the modern Celto-Saxon race, when the present conflict is over, will lead the world into the formation of that Kingdom of God promised to the Israelites.

In these times, said the speaker, it is possible to turn back through the pages of history to the time of the mighty Assyrian Empire to see that nation attempting to gain control of all the known world. The king of the beseiged people of Palestine gathered his people and told them "to be strong and courageous. Be not dismayed or afraid . . . for with us is the Lord, our God, to fight our battles."

"These words are just as true today," said Mr. Springett. "Today Britain faces the greatest crisis in her history and in the history of man. Today Britain stands alone without any allies; not alone, but alone on her own soil. Today she is a sea-girt fortress and the fighting men of British stock and the best of those of her erstwhile allies stand ready to defend her.

People Are Ready

"The people of Britain are now vastly different, he went on. There has been a great awakening to the fact that the dictators would over run the whole of Europe, and "the mad beast, Hitler," say the one bar to such domination by him is the British Empire. Thus, his hearers were told, "people who view the situation today ask if it is possible for Britain to withstand the attacks to be made against her, and from the human viewpoint it does not look very hopeful. But, there was never a time when they were more united and determined on victory, and Churchill continues optimistic, showing the typical 'bulldog tenacity.'

"But the same assurance came before the French debacle," Mr. Springett cautioned. "It will therefore take all the material resources and faith we have to win."

He declared that his message for the evening was not a human one, but came from an infallible source—the Bible. He said the British people had taken on a responsibility that has been theirs throughout the centuries, and with this realization are searching for guidance in a manner in which they never have before. "The number will continue to grow until we all realize that in that one Book there is the answer to the whole struggle.

"The reason for this claim is that we of the Celto-Saxon race are the Israel of God. We are Israel."

The Bible, the speaker held, is the story of the history of a nation. "In a certain time in human history, God came into contact with humanity and brought into being a race of people charged with a special responsibility. The Creator intended the world to be the happiest place—with the best it could have.

"There is much that does not make for human well-being, for history is filled with wars and the fears of wars, plagues, famines. Why, some people ask, does God allow it? God does not will that humanity should suffer so. These things are the natural result of man's rebellion against the will of God," Mr. Springett asserted.

Perfect Plan Evolved

There is, however, he continued, a perfect plan for a social system, economic order and system of administration for the leaders of the human race. These leaders, it was explained, began as those whom God declared should go into exile—be lost to the contaminating influence of the world as it was to be for the next few thousands of years—to come to a specially appointed place in the world and be free.

Thus, the 10 tribes seemingly vanished, even from their own knowledge of their identity, it was averred. Now, he contended, archaeological explorations are beginning to trace their wanderings, over the Caucasus mountains, along the Mediterranean and the Baltic to the coastlands of Europe. They became known by various names, such as Angles, Saxons, Jutes, Normans, Bretons, and one by one each tribe penetrated the "isles of the sea at the uttermost part of the world," and the last of these were the Normans, who crossed the sea in 1066. Since then, other hordes, such as those of Philip of Spain and Napoleon Bonaparte, had tried unsuccessfully to invade the land.

"By virtue of their appointment the British people are destined to lead," said Mr. Springett. To ringing applause, he declared "the German army will never land in Britain in force."

"Pickpocket Set" Smart and Useful

Now you'll have a pickpocket in your purse — and like it! For the Pickpocket is a smart little polishing-up outfit, designed by Peggy Sage in a size to fit your handbag.

True to its name, it leads a double life. Inside there's everything you need for a polish-up. A quick turn, and the case becomes your miniature beach-kit, ready to carry all your oddments to the beach, safe from sand and surf. For it's waterproofed pique.

Done in the season's two smartest fabric themes, polka dot or stripe, you can match your Pickpocket to your newest beach accessories. Brigance has done a bathing suit in the blue-and-white stripe. The polka dot design you'll see in the latest beach bonnets, bags and playsuits. Even beach jewelry this year is going polka-dotted!

Besides your favourite polish, the Pickpocket Set is outfitted with polish remover — the lubricant type your nails deserve — a roll of cotton, emery board and orange sticks. Slip out the cotton roll, and there's a band to hold your lipstick. The tiny colour chart inside will tell you which lipstick shade to get — in one of seven leading lines — to harmonize with your polish.

For the last word in practicability, the Pickpocket is finished with a new hair-line slide fastener, and lined with rubberized faille.

Here are a few "polishing-up" tips: To do an efficient repair job, be sure to remove old polish first and re-do the "nail from scratch." A patch-polish job doesn't stand by you, either for looks or for wear.

Polish wears longer, too, over a coat of satinbase. If you're an inveterate polish-chipper, carry your Pickpocket along with you, so you won't have to apologize for "runs" at the end of the week.

TESTED RECIPES

Stuffed or Planked Fish

Use a whole fish, or any desired fillets. Clean the fish or wipe the fillets with a damp cloth, wrung out in cold, salted water. Salt lightly and stuff.

2 cups of soft bread crumbs
Dressing:
½ con of tomato soup or ½ cup of cooked strained tomatoes.
1½ tablespoons of melted butter or fat.
½ teaspoon salt, if soup is used, or 1 teaspoons salt if cooked tomatoes are used.
½ tablespoon of onion juice
¼ teaspoon poultry dressing

Mix together and stuff whole fish, or place the stuffing between two pieces of fillets. If a plank is used preheat it for five minutes at 400 degrees F. Grease the plank or pan, place the stuffed fish on it, sprinkle with oil or melted fat, and bake in a 400 degree F. oven until the fish is cooked. Usually from 8 to 10 minutes per inch thickness of fish is sufficient. Serves 6.

Tomatoes stuffed with oysters, or creamed peas, and stuffed parboiled onions may be placed around the planked fish and baked with it. Or potato croquettes may be alternated with the stuffed tomatoes or stuffed onions. Buttered bread crumbs and grated cheese may be used to stuff the tomatoes or onions, too.

Cheese Cake — Ingredients for crust; one-half package (12 ounces) Zweiback, rolled very fine; two tablespoons sugar, one-fourth cup butter, browned. Mix Zweiback and sugar, add browned butter and blend well. Press over nine-inch round layer cake tin. Filling — one-half cup cream, one-half cup sugar, one-fourth teaspoon salt, two eggs, one-half pound cream cheese, one and one-half tablespoons flour, one-half teaspoon baking powder, one-half teaspoon vanilla. Beat egg yolks, add cream, sugar and salt. Sift flour with baking powder and add to first mixture. Break up cream cheese and add, beating until smooth. Fold in egg whites beaten stiff and add vanilla. Pour into crumb crust. Bake in 325 degrees F. oven for 40 to 60 minutes or until firm to touch.

Buttered Broiled Rice—Ingredients: one cup uncooked rice, two quarts boiling water, three teaspoons salt. Wash rice through several waters until water is clear; drain. Place in flat pan under broiler; broil until golden brown, shaking pan occasionally to turn rice. Remove from broiler, add gradually to rapidly boiling salted water, never allowing water to stop boiling during the addition. Boil rapidly, uncovered, until rice is tender, about 15 to 20 minutes. Drain. Makes three cups. Put leftover in pudding.

MANY TRIPS IN SPREADING MRA

A great lady and a great pioneer has passed from the highest rank of British life. The Dowager Countess of Minto died on July 16 at the age of 82 in London, England. She was the widow of the Earl of Minto, former Governor-General of Canada, and Viceroy of India.

After three-quarters of a century of life in the royal and viceregal households of the British Empire, in her 80th year the widowed Countess undertook a new and courageous enterprise. She felt so keenly the need of a new spirit in international affairs that she abandoned her quiet retirement and travelled through Southeastern Europe and the Eastern Mediterranean to foster in those countries the spirit which would lay the foundation for the new world. On that voyage she made three airpl e flights, the first she ever made. The visits, which brought her to the palaces and the people, the governments and the press of six countries, were made in company with her elder sister, the Dowager Countess of Antrim; Bill Rowell, a London labor leader, formerly radical; Dr. Frank Buchman, American-born initiator of Moral Re-Armament; Mr. Frank Woolley-Hart, prominent British coal owner; and other friends.

The effect of these visits was noteworthy, especially in Egypt and Palestine, where leaders and editors representing conflicting nationalities and political interests proclaimed that the hope of unity had been brought to them. In Great Britain, Canada and India where her husband initiated some notable reforms as Viceroy, the influence of this crowning service has been widely felt and appreciated in the last years of her life.

In a message to Canada a year ago, she pointed to Canada's future in these prophetic words: "I rejoice to know the response to Moral Re-Armament in Canada, land of so many happy memories. I believe that Canada, united under the dominion of God, has an historic opportunity to lead the Empire and nations into the spacious freedom of world at peace within itself."

THEATRICAL ATTRACTIONS

DECARDO FAMILY AT THE BELMONT PARK

Today, Thursday, is the 39th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. DeCardo, who head their famous family of acrobats and barrel jumpers now appearing at Belmont Park. In honour of the occasion the DeCardos promise a show that will take patrons of the Park by surprise.

Mr. and Mrs. DeCardo, who began their professional career... she in musical comedy and he as an acrobat, were married when they were very young. Because Mrs. DeCardo was very delicate in health, she deserted the musical stage for acrobatics to improve her health and figure. Today Mrs. DeCardo not only appears with her famous husband and children as "catcher" in the show now at Belmont Park, but is responsible for the training of her children. This world famous family of acrobats and barrel jumpers has appeared in every key city in Europe, Australia, Africa and America. Their perfect timing and co-ordination between mind and body is due principally to the fact that Mr. and Mrs. DeCardo have devoted their lives to the training of their children. They taught them the fundamentals from infancy and when they attained the age of twelve years were given "the works", so to speak. Many hours a day were spent in practice for the children to gain confidence and after that to build up their muscles and bodies. After about four years or more, depending upon the ability of the individual child, they were ready for their debut.

The DeCardos, six of them, offer an amazing exhibition of teeterboard routines and barrel jumping climaxed by a sensational blindfold stunt wherein all members of the troupe are seen in action. In addition to the DeCardos who are being retained for another week, Belmont Park are offering "Fun Bargains" every afternoon and evening of next week... starting Monday.. applicable to both adults and children. Present the coupon, appearing in the paid advertisements, at the gate entrance and with 25c obtain the privilege of riding on "The Whip", "The Thriller", "Lindy-Loop" and "Merry-Go-Round". Furthermore the second coupon to be found in the "ads" will entitle patrons of the Park to dance all evening for the nominal fee of 10c.

On Wednesday, July 31, the Notre Dame De Grace Y.M.C.A. will hold a Bonfire Night at Belmont Park. Under the supervision of Mr. E. M. Orlick, the Y.M.C.A. will moreover present a professional trapeze act which, of course, will be in addition to the current show featuring the Six DeCardos. On Sunday, August 4 the "Pain Supreme" will hold its annual picnic at Belmont Park.

ROTARY CLUB HEARS TALK ON ENGLISH USAGE

F. C. Whittaker Addresses Westward Group—Simplicity Stressed

"High Sounding" words were not always as effective as words used in every day language and tended to detract from the desired effect, F. C. Whittaker, member of the Westmount Rotary Club, said in addressing the Westward Rotary Club at their weekly meeting. Mr. Whittaker took as his subject "A Smattering of English."

Simplicity of language was the feature which gave it force, the speaker said. He discussed the effect of the press and radio on the English spoken by the ordinary person. The radio, Mr. Whittaker said, was not always an instrument which tended to improve the speech. He referred to several types of program in illustrating his point. The effect of the press was not always helpful, he contended.

Pride of race should go hand in hand with pride of language, Mr. Whittaker said. He remarked that everybody should respect and love good English.

The speaker was introduced by Dr. Johnston Abraham, club president, and thanked by Randolph Betts.

WAKES 'EM UP

Edward Dmytryk, director of Paramount's "Golden Gloves," today claimed the best way to get his youthful fighters into the mood before each scene of the amateur boxing film is to box with them. The director, who fought while in high school and college, actually dons the gloves for sparring between scenes.

MORNING EXERCISE

"Fred Allen may be lurking in there," Jack Benny explains to Rochester, as he vigorously sprays the germicide. All of which indicates that the rivalry between the two comedians is as bitter as ever in Benny's newest picture, "Buck Benny Rides Again," opening at the Westmount United Theatre Sunday playing until Tuesday.

DRAMATIC ROMANCE

Ian Hunter, Joan Crawford and Clark Gable in a scene from the dramatic romance "Strange Cargo," which is now playing at the Monkland United Theatre until Saturday night.

Naughty Nonsense In Film Now At Snowdon

"School for Husbands," which was adapted from Frederick Jackson's play of that name and billed as "a comedy for wives," will have restricted appeal. It is unsuitable for children because of its subject matter and its daring in dialogue and situation will shock those adults who are shocked when the cinema plays around with bedroom entrances and exits, and who see only crudity in conversational sparring over possible or suspected matrimonial dereliction. It is now at the Snowdon United Theatre.

Let such avoid "School for Husbands" — but let all others put it on their early "must see" list, for it will certainly make them forget the cares of the day.

There are two married couples and one home-and-heart-breaker bachelor in "School For Husbands." One wife falls for the glamorous unattached male. The other wife pretends to do so to save her friend from eloping with him and to make her own husband jealous. Both husbands get into a whirl of suspicions, plots are laid and mislaid, and the suave philanderer is a very busy young man indeed.

The second feature on this program, The Gleason Family in "Money To Burn."

Famous Play And Brilliant Star Are Impressive

Notable in the annals of film production, Robert E. Sherwood's Pulitzer Prize Play, "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," is now playing at the York United Theatre with the distinguished actor, Raymond Massey, in the title role.

Some three-dozen outstanding players head the supporting cast, which numbers thousands in what accredited authorities have been pleased to term one of the greatest motion pictures ever made. Massey plays the role, the creation of which, in the Broadway stage version, brought him nationwide acclaim and elevation to the top rank of the theatre's character delineators.

Faithfully following the stage play that took the nation by storm, "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," deals in absorbing fashion with Lincoln's amazing career between the ages of twenty-one, when he was a gangling young backswoodsman, and of fifty-two, when he was elected to the Presidency in the face of the impending Civil War.

For the first time in screen annals Lincoln is revealed as he really was — a moody, often gloomy and, for most of his life, an undecided, hesitant figure, bitterly aware of his lack of polish and of formal education — yet fired with a burning sense of justice and humanity! It is this realism that makes the film such a notable offering.

In 1830, when Illinois was still a frontier country, undeveloped and largely uninhabited save for the little settlements along the rivers, Lincoln was but a green frontiersman. The picture discloses his youthful development, his battles with the boys of Clary's Grove, his establishment as an unsuccessful storekeeper and later as the postmaster in the ill-fated town of New Salem, where he met and loved and lost Ann Rutledge, and where he made his first venture into politics, when he ran for and won election to the state legislature.

Later comes his law practice in Springfield, his meeting with the aristocratic Mary Todd, the much-debated broken engagement, and eventually their marriage — after the lonely hegira in which Lincoln finds himself and crystallizes his ambitions.

Then comes the period of his growing political campaign against Stephen A. Douglas for the Senate, and finally the stress and excitement of his nomination and election to the Presidency, ending with his fateful departure from Springfield for Washington.

PADDLE OWN CANOES

Ray Milland and Patricia Morison both are proving adept canoeists during the shooting of "Untamed," Paramount's Technicolor drama of the north woods, at Big Bear Lake, today. Oddly, both learned the tricky art in England, Milland at a Boy Scout camp and Patricia in a girls' camp.

D. Fairbanks Jr., And Joan Bennett In Monkland Film

Such ingredients as excitement, love and adventure are said to be combined in the production of "Green Hell," initial Famous Productions film for Universal release, which comes to the Monkland United Theatre on Sunday playing until Tuesday.

With Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Joan Bennett heading an outstanding cast of 11 principals, "Green Hell" is declared to capture a realism seldom brought to the screen in films of this type.

Big Undertaking

According to advance reports, a part of this realism is due to the authenticity of the enormous upper Amazon jungle sets, constructed after months of research. But the major reason probably lies in the players themselves — Fairbanks, Bennett, John Howard, Alan Hale, George Bancroft, George Sanders, Vincent Price, Gene Garrick, Francis MacDonald, Ray Mala and Peter Bronte.

Each a distinct type, these players invariably make their screen characterizations ring true. They're natural human beings who do things in a convincing manner.

Distinguished Writer

Frances Marion, for years one of Hollywood's ace scenarists, wrote a story about a beautiful woman marooned in the heart of an Amazon jungle with six men.

REAL HILLBILLIES

For Paramount's "Comin' Round the Mountain," Bob Burns starring film, real hillbillies were brought from the mountains of Tennessee and Kentucky to play bit parts and provide atmosphere.

BAZOOKA BACK

Bob Burn's bazooka returns to the screen in his new Paramount picture, "Comin' Round the Mountain," in which Una Merkel appears opposite the Van Buren, Ark., comedian.

NOT RECOGNIZABLE

The old gag about the studio gate man not recognizing the star in makeup could have worked in reverse while Paramount was filming "The Great McGinty," for Akim Tamiroff plays a principal role in the picture without his customary beard.

'The Doctor Takes A Wife' Comedy Hit At Wesmount

Torrid temperature . . . embarrassing pulse . . . terrific blood-pressure . . . it's a plain case of heart trouble! And it isn't until "The Doctor Takes a Wife" that he really knows what's wrong with himself!

And why not? Lovely Loretta Young, in her first all comedy role, is obviously just what the doctor ordered, even though the doctor in the case most emphatically disagrees! So, for that matter, does Miss Young and that's why the hectic new comedy which is now playing at the Westmount United Theatre until Saturday has been hailed as one of Columbia's brightest in a season which has given us such outstanding hits as "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," "His Girl Friday" and "Too Many Husbands."

"The Doctor Takes a Wife," with Loretta Young and Ray Milland starred, is the hilarious, happy account of a girl who writes books in praise of spinsterhood and a doctor who believes all women are . . . well, not poison perhaps, but fairly close to it. In order to continue their careers, this perfectly matched pair of haters are forced by circumstances beyond their control into pretending domestic felicity. They bill and coo in public and clash in private.

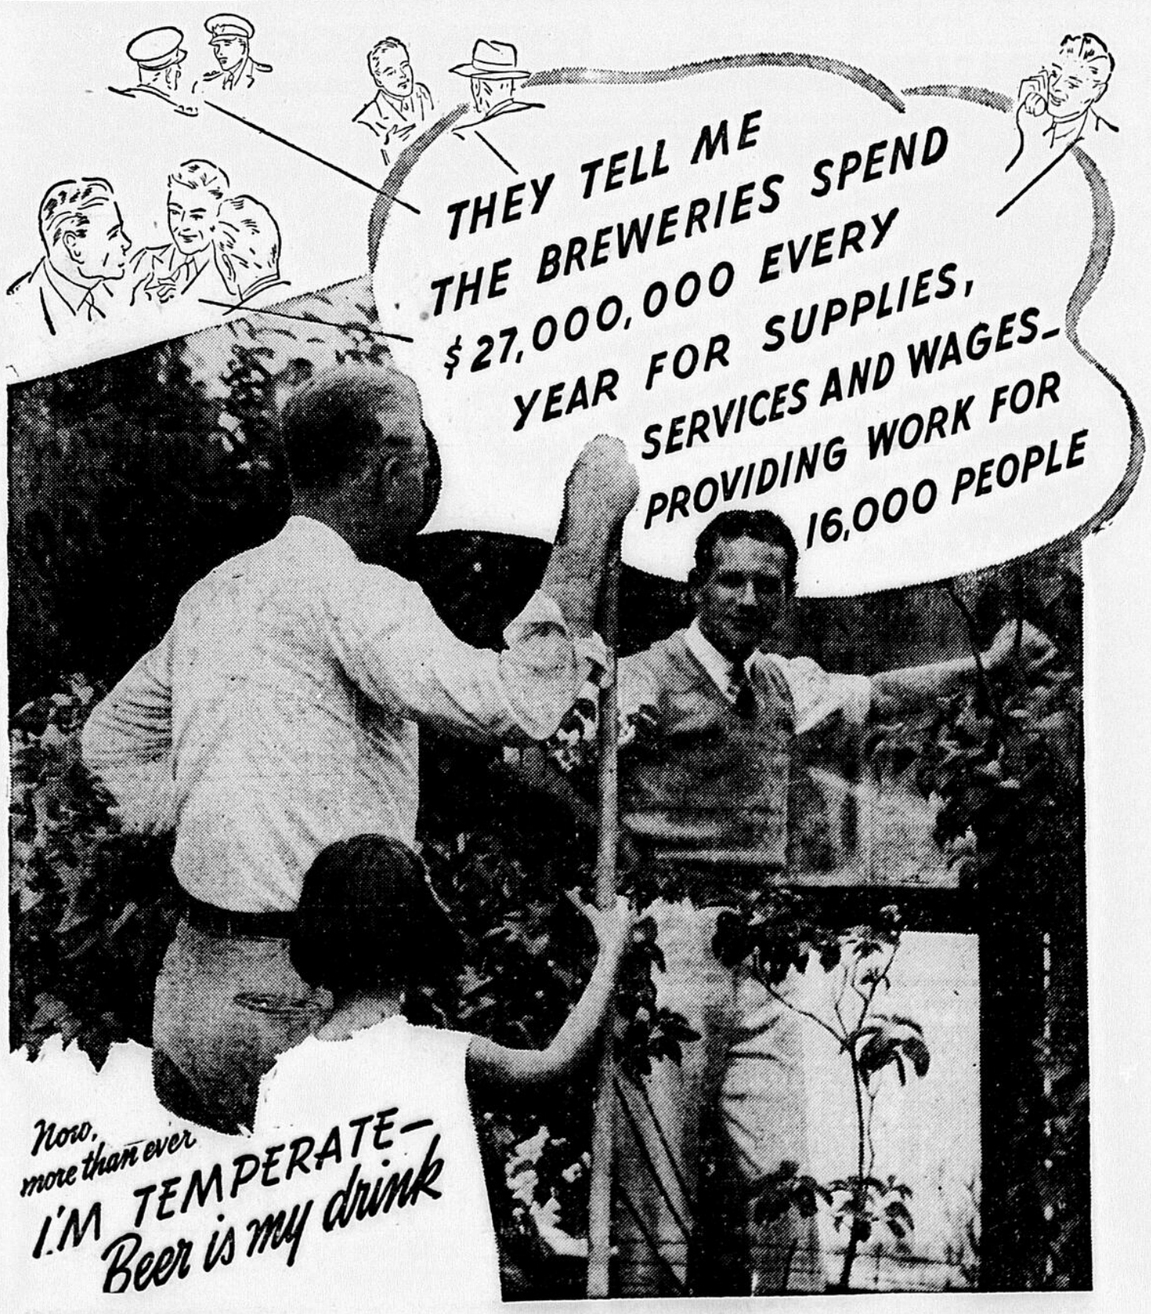

Complicating the lives of this embattled twain are Reginald Gardiner, as Miss Young's somewhat eccentric publisher, who doesn't want to lose his favorite author even if he has to marry her himself, something he would very much like to do, in fact; Gail Patrick, as Ray Milland's fiancee, who is willing to accept the strange situation in which the doctor finds himself, just so long as the doctor doesn't mind if she goes out with Georges Metaxa, a playboy. The doctor does mind. Edmund Gwenn, as Milland's father, adds further excitement to the scene, and further comedy. Also in the cast are Frank Sully and Gordon Jones, as dim-witted football heroes who regard the doctor as the greatest guy in the world because he pronounced them eligible for the big game of the season.

Alexander Hall, who was responsible for the swift-paced direction of "The Amazing Mr. Williams" and other fine comedies, wielded the megaphone on "The Doctor Takes a Wife." George Seaton and Ken Englund penned the screen play from Aleen Leslie's original story.

ONE-ARMED LEADER

Wingy Mannone, famous one-armed cornetist, whose swing band is known to all of the hotter New York night clubs, today is doing his stuff in Paramount's "Rhythm on the River," co-starring Bing Crosby and Mary Martin. Mannone's five-piece "hotter than hot" band has a featured spot in the film and has the entire cast swaying and swinging on the set.

Ste. Agathe Yacht Club Holds Annual Regatta

The "Ark" Sails Fine Race To Win International Dinghy Event

The annual regatta of the Ste. Agathe Yacht Club was topped off by the international dinghy race in which the "Ark, "Shamrock", "G. G." and the "Lilac" participated. The Ark sailed by Skipper Noch Timmins III and his crew Damarus Owens, won the International event, when, on Sunday afternoon, after three weeks of consistent practice the crews of this class jockeyed their dancing dinghys into position — Creating a delightful effect as accompanied by four dinghy moths, they sailed down the mountain bordered waters of picturesque Lac des Sables.

The other attractions which consisted of canoe and flat boat races, canoe tipping and swimming events were all met with enthusiastic response by the spectators, among whom were many American and Montreal tourists, who had stayed purposely at The Laurentide Inn to witness the regatta.

In spite of the unsettle weather w[illegible]tated postponing several events until next Sunday, the regatta was one of the most successful ever held by this famous Laurentian Yacht Club.

Commodore N. A. Timmins and Director K. W. Harrison officiated and were assisted by many of the junior members. It was announced that the presentation of trophies would take place at a special dance to be held in the Yacht Club this coming Saturday.

GLADYS MORGAN WINNER OF 100-YARD DASH FOR SECOND WEEK IN ROW AT FIELD DAY

The weather being too warm for much straight running the contestants competed in a series of special races with speed but a minor factor in the bid for honors. Peanut and egg and spoon races in which the participants attempted to carry a peanut or spoon on a stick half an inch wide created considerable interest both for the competitors and spectators.

CROSSWORD SOLUTION

BEATS LAST YEAR'S WINNER, R. STIRLING, BY 6-3, 6-1, 6-3 ON WESTERN AVENUE COURTS

Brendan Macken won the municipal open tennis tournament by defeating Ramsay Stirling 6-3; 6-1; 6-3 on the Western avenue courts this week.

Stirling, a former municipal champion, was not up to the standard of tennis he displayed in previous years and Macken's exceedingly steady playing from the backcourt contributed largely to his opponent's errors.

Macken, who is but 16 years of age, is the youngest player ever to win the hotly contested municipal tournament. His win over the former champion indicates that he has a bright tennis future before him, particularly if he continues to improve as he has during the past two seasons.

The entry list in the singles consisted of 79 players.

The men's open doubles is drawing to a close with the semi-finals scheduled to take place this evening. The matches for tonight are R. Caron and R. Grannary versus L. Craig and R. Stirling; and J. Paqunelo and Y. Levesque versus E. Lowler and P. Weldman.

The ladies' open singles tennis tournament is completed with the exception of the finals which are to be played this week between N. Lowe and S. Bradley. Twenty-eight players originally entered the tournament.
