But what exactly does "progress" mean? PIRATES OR PRIVATEERS?

PERMANENT EXHIBITION

PRESCHOOL • KINDERGARTEN

People often mix up pirates and privateers – they all sailed the seas in search of bounty, but one group was lawless and the other one had letters of marque from the king. Which of them were the true heroes of the St. Lawrence? Young people are sure to have a blast with this interactive, immersive experience, exploring the world of the privateers who marked the history of Montréal and Québec in the 17th century. They'll set sail from Montréal as crew members on Captain Pierre Lemoyne d'Iberville's ship. While aboard they'll learn how to navigate and have to prove that they're worthy privateers. They'll need to be sure to bring their brawn and their brains with them, along with their imaginations and their team spirit.

ELEMENTARY CYCLES 1 AND 2

Walking on the Pointe à Callière site, crossing a little river and going to the market is all much more fun when you get to wear a habitant's apron or a noblewoman's cloak or carry the parish priest's breviary. Students learn about how French and Native children lived back then and even try some old-time games. Bilboquet isn't as easy as it looks!

THE ST. LAWRENCE IROQUOIANS

ELEMENTARY

Long before Europeans arrived, the St. Lawrence Iroquoians built villages of longhouses on Montréal Island and all along the St. Lawrence River. See how they lived from day-to-day, how they used the furs and bones of the animals they hunted, how they prepared their daily meals, and more. Your students will be captivated by the ingenuity and know-how of the members of this aboriginal nation. Can they use the same skills?

NATIVES ON THE POINT

ELEMENTARY CYCLE 2 • SECONDARY CYCLES 1 AND 2

Lots has happened on the Pointe à Callière site over the centuries, for travellers were forced to stop here by the Lachine rapids. Native people spent time here, at first fishing and gathering food, and then later to attend the annual fur fair with the French, and to sign the Great Peace treaty in Montréal in 1701. Your students will explore the site's Indigenous history with the help of models, artifacts and remains.

WATER WAYS!

ELEMENTARY CYCLE 3 • SECONDARY CYCLE 1

We've come a long way since people used to draw their drinking water straight from the St. Lawrence and dump their wastewater in the street. Water has a whole history of its own. In this multidisciplinary workshop, your students will be joined by our friendly mascot, Romeo the sewer rat, as they learn how Montrealers found ingenious ways to manage this precious resource all the way back to the 17th century. They'll be immersed in some vital issues – access to drinking water and wastewater management through the years, right up until today.

Under the supervision of a chief archaeologist (interpreter-guide), your students will use the scientific approach to conduct an investigation. They'll dig in the ground, find traces from the days when First Nations people camped here right up until the British regime, analyze their finds in a laboratory and learn how people lived in days gone by.
