SOCIAL PLANNING COURSE BY LOCAL CCF BODY STARTS

Regular Meeting on Wednesday to See Beginning of Study Courses in Modern Problems

A course of studies entitled "Social Planning For Canada" will be held Wednesday evening at 127 Abbott avenue. The well-known book of the same name will be discussed, and readings will be made from it. There will be a period of questions and general discussions following each of the study periods.

The spread of Fascist doctrines in Europe, and their more recent appearance here, as manifested by the disorders at the recent visit of the delegation from war-torn Spain, makes it highly advisable to direct and control this spirit of restlessness by a dissemination of democratic principles under which social reform and social justice may be accomplished without violence, the C.C.F. adherents believe.

It was stated by Prof. King Gordon at his recent address to CCF members at Victoria Hall that the trend towards Fascism is due to widespread dissatisfaction created by the failure of the present social system to provide an adequate living for the workers. Thousands of young people have been unable to secure employment since leaving High School and College, and are being driven in protest to the ranks of Communism and Fascism.

The local CCF group invites these young people, and any others who may be interested, to attend the meeting Wednesday night and observe, without obligation, the CCF program and what the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation has to offer.

MUNICIPAL ASS'N MEETS ON MONDAY

New Slate of Officers and Committeemen For Year To Be Elected

The annual meeting of the Westmount Municipal Association will be held in Victoria Hall on Monday at 8.30 p.m. A large attendance is expected.

The election of officers for the coming year will be the feature item to be transacted at this meeting, and new committeemen will be named.

The report of the activities of the association during the past year will be read by the retiring president, Mr. W. B. Scott, in his president's report.

The Association has voted the sum of $75.00 to the funds of the Westmount Juniors Football club, and has sent them a letter of congratulation on the fine showing they made throughout the term, and on Saturday against the Hamilton team in particular.

Editor Suffers Sad Rebuff Story Proves To Be A Bluff

Your editor must hunt and seek, heath roots, and rooks and whatnot, to find a story every week, to fill this corner hotspot. The trials, tribulations, disappointments that he meets, beset him on each corner as he prowls around the streets. But lo! behold, the other day, he thought he'd found a scoop, a gummum rebuffed a candy-shop, so off he went to snoop.

The leventh hour Saturday, a highwayman so bold, walked into Laura's candy shop, (perhaps he was just cold). At any rate he pulled his gun, and showed it to the maiden, and when he left the candy-shop, his pockets were well laden. The cash box drawer was open wide, its contents had been taken, the girl in charge was scared to death, her nerve was badly shaken.

The editor was tickled pink, he thought "Why here's a story, I'll feed to many Westmount folk, 'tis full of details gory!" His pencil scribbled fast and sure, no items did he miss, but when he reached his office, why, a sad rebuff was his.

He had been so dead positive the story was O.K., he'd failed to notice something that now filled him with dismay. A hurried glance he gave the map, a matter of routine, and found out something very sad, that made him turn quite green. The candy shop's location near the borders of the town, did cause his plans to strike a snag, his heart to sliip far down.

Instead of being set within the Westmount city bounds, the shop was placed outside, on old Concordia's fair grounds! The story then was useless, from a Westmount point of view, and without ceremony in the wastebasket it flew. And now ye "ed" has got to hunt an item for this spot, but well put the paper on the press, if he's found us one or not!

Auction of Magazines At Library Tomorrow

Tomorrow night at eight o'clock, the annual auction of magazines will be held in the Westmount Public Library, according to an announcement by Miss K. R. Jenkins, Librarian.

The "stock" consists of magazines to which the library subscribers that have accumulated throughout the year. Some will comprise a whole year's file, and others will be partly complete, terminating at the present date. There are many fine magazines to be disposed of to the highest bidder. No lover of good reading can afford to miss this auction.

DR. W. P. PERCIVAL TO SPEAK HERE MONDAY EVENING

Director Of Protestant Education For Province To Address Roslyn School Group

Dr. W. P. Percival, M.A., Ph.D., Director of Protestant Education of the Province of Quebec, will be the special guest speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Roslyn Avenue Home and School Association to be held in Roslyn Avenue School at 8.20 Monday evening. Dr. Percival's topic will be "Objectives For Home and School Associations."

An honour graduate of McGill, Principal of Cowansville High School, lecturer in mathematics at MacDonald College and Professor in State Teachers' College, Indiana, Pennsylvania. Dr. Percival had a wide range of practical teaching experience prior to his appointment to his present position in 1930. He is also an author of repute on educational subjects, and has been instrumental in having a number of obsolete text books replaced by others more modern in Quebec schools.

The value of any organization must, in the last analysis, be expressed in terms of what it performs of useful service; therefore, to a comparatively new Association, such as ours, an intelligent appraisal of objectives, nominal or possible, is a logical step. It is with this object in mind that Dr. Percival has chosen his topic.

A large attendance is expected.

COUNCIL MEETING

The Westmount City Council met yesterday at noon, and routine business matters were discussed.

The regular meeting, scheduled for Tuesday, had to be postponed, as a quorum was lacking.

TO ERECT TREE

The usual huge Christmas tree which appears annually at this season in front of the City Hall will be erected during Christmas week, it was learned yesterday.

It is understood that a movement is afoot to erect a similar tree in front of King's School.

PASTOR PRAISES SCOTS IN SERMON

Rev. Dr. W. D. Reid Gave St. Andrew's Day Address Sunday Evening at Stanley Church

Fine tribute to the courage, bility and character of the Scotch people was paid Sunday evening by Rev. W. D. Reid, D.D., in a St. Andrew's Day sermon at Stanley Presbyterian Church.

"Where can we find a sturdier, healthier race than the Scotch?" asked Dr. Reid. "In the building of the Suez canal they could do two and a half times as much work as the Egyptians, and in the Indian Mutiny it was found that the Scottish regiments could stand double the strain of native units."

"The Scots are a religious people as a rule," continued Dr. Reid. "Whenever I see an irreligious, non-churchgoing Scot I am disappointed."

In his comments on the intellectual achievements of the race he quoted the historian Froude who said: "The little land of Scotland has wielded in the last 400 years a greater intellectual influence on the world than has either Greece or Palestine." Added to this the Scot's business enterprise is a byword and, despite jokes on his care in watching the pennies the educational and philanthropic institutions in Montreal are a witness to his generosity, said the preacher. As to the Scottish love of freedom, physical, mental and spiritual, the last 400 years have illustrated this, he held.

AS LINDBERGH MAKES HEADLINES IN EUROPE

Charles A. Lindbergh makes aviation news wherever he goes. In this NEA radiophoto, the latest picture made of the famous aviator, Lindbergh (right) is shown in gay mood at Dublin as he prepared to take President Eamon de Valera of the Irish Free State on his first airplane flight. When Lindbergh landed at Chester airport and slipped away unobserved, his whereabouts made a 24-hour mystery and caused worry over his safety until the matter was cleared up.

Contestants In Poster Contest Are Granted An Additional Week

An additional week has been granted contestants in the Westmount Y's Poster contest to get their entries in before the final judging. The closing date has been made Monday, December 14th.

The contest is run in connection with the forthcoming Westmount Boys' and Girls' Hobby Show, to be held at the local branch during the Christmas and New Year's holidays. The posters submitted are to be suitable for advertising the Hobby Show, and will be displayed in Westmount public buildings and store windows throughout the city.

First prize for girls will be artists supplies, which may be chosen by the winner. Boys' first prize will consist of a year's membership in the Westmount "Y".

Plans for the hobby show are being rushed as the time for displays approaches. A lengthy list of entry classes and hobbies that will be shown has been drawn up, and is now available at the local branch.

The management of the Hobby Show announces that it will be glad to rent space to adults who desire to place examples of their handicraft on display. These exhibits will be for display purposes only, and will not be judged for prizes, as will the other entries.

Boys and girls of Westmount who have not yet entered the poster contest are reminded that there is yet time, as the granting of the extra week will allow ample opportunity for those interested to get into this contest.

ALAN MACDOUGALL BURIED TUESDAY

Royal Trust Company Publicity and Advertising Manager Was in His 58th Year

Former business associates joined his many friends Tuesday afternoon at his late residence, 46 Aberdeen avenue, to pay final tribute to Alan Macdougall, who died at his home Saturday.

He was fifty-seven years of age, and was the son of the late Alan Macdougall, M.E.I.C. He attended Upper Canada College, and later the Royal Military College, from which he graduated in 1899.

He then joined the Northern Electric Company, and was engaged in construction work with that firm for a number of years. In 1924, he joined the Royal Trust Company, and was with them until the time of his death, when he occupied the position of publicity and advertising manager.

Mr. Macdougall was a member of St. Matthias' Church, and belonged to the Kanawaki Golf Club and the Montreal Badminton and Squash Club.

He is survived by his wife, the former Constance Sutherland.

MINOR MISHAPS IN PAST WEEK

Traffic Accidents Conspicuous by Absence During Past Few Days

A quiet week, insofar as traffic accidents are concerned, was observed during the past seven days by the Westmount Police Force. Beyond a few insignificant mishaps, resulting at the most in dented fenders, little of importance took place.

Alfred Moore, a milk salesman in the employ of a well known dairy concern, slipped on a toilet path leading from the sidewalk to an Elm avenue house early Sunday morning. He was carrying milk bottles at the time, and suffered painful cuts about his hand when he fell. He was taken to the Western Hospital by a passing dairy truck. He was detained at the hospital.

At 12.40 p.m. on Monday, a car ran over a bicycle on Claremont avenue. The boy in charge of the bicycle had left it by the curb in front of the parked car, and the driver of the car failed to notice the machine under his front wheels when he came out of a house a few minutes later and started his car. The bicycle suffered a broken front fork and front wheel.

ALBANIANS MARKED HOLIDAY SATURDAY

Consul General Gave Interesting Talk At Kensington Avenue

Members of the Montreal and district Albanian colony were received Saturday afternoon at the Albanian Consulate-General, 322 Kensington avenue, by the Royal Albanian Consul-General, Colonel Baron Marcellus D. A. R. von Redlich, and Baroness von Redlich.

In a brief and interesting talk, Baron von Redlich recalled points of interest in the history of Albania: the country's independence had been proclaimed at the Congress of Valona on November 28th, 1912, and had been officially recognized by the great powers on December 20th, 1912. Albania, he recalled, was one of the original members of the League of Nations; he noted that Albania and Great Britain had always been on the best of terms.

Toasts to the health of King Zog I of Albania and King Edward VIII were proposed. The two chief Albanian societies, the International Society of Friends of Albania and the Albanian National League, were represented.

Winter Schedule Now Under Way At Athletic Grounds

Three Rinks To Be Maintained At Former M.A.A.A. Grounds During Coming Season—Clubhouse and Grounds In Demand—Fencing Club, Yacht Club, Stamp Club and Others Make Use Of Facilities—Indoor Cricket Pitch

Winter activities are now getting under way at the Westmount Athletic Grounds, and several groups are taking advantage of the clubhouse and grounds facilities available there. The Westmount Juniors-Hamilton football game Saturday brought the fall program to a close, and all indications are that the winter schedule will be fully as keen and active as the one just completed.

JUSTICE MERCIER VOTED JURIST, TO BE BURIED TODAY

Grosvenor Avenue Resident Was in His 78th Year—Death Followed Brief Illness

The funeral is being held this morning from St. Leo's Church of Mr. Justice Wilfrid Mercier, whose death occurred at his Grosvenor Avenue residence on Monday. He was seventy seven years of age, and had been ill for only a short time. He suffered a seizure in his chamber in the Old Court House on November 9th, and had been confined to his home ever since.

He was born in Saint Esprit, Montcalm County, in 1860, and received his education at the seminary of Joliette and the college of Levis. He studied law at the then Laval University, in Montreal, and was admitted to the bar in January, 1885. Prior to his elevation to the Bench, he practised law with an office of his own, and without partnership.

In 1904, he was one of the members of a commission charged with the revision and codification of the laws of the province of Quebec.

He was named to the Bench of the Superior Court for the district of Beauharnois in March, 1909.

He has been director and councillor of the Council of Arts and Manufacturers, and member of the Council of Public Education from November, 1918, on, replacing Sir Horace Archambault.

In May, of last year just after passing his 75th birthday, he was decorated with the King's Jubilee Medal, the presentation being made by his son Paul through a graceful gesture by the then Mayor Houde, who effaced his part in the ceremony to have son decorate father.

In addition to Paul and Jean, another son, Louis, survives, and three daughters, Mrs. Rene Fougere, Mrs. Armand Brousseau, wife of the mayor of Ville LaSalle, and a third daughter, Adrienne. There are two brothers, Maximilien, an

A fencing club is carrying on activities in the clubhouse on Monday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons, while the Westmount Model Yacht Club meet there every Friday evening. The Westmount Stamp Club will move its headquarters from the Victoria hall to the Athletic Grounds' building in the near future. It is hoped that the indoor cricket pitch will be ready for play today and it is expected that a large number of local cricket players will take advantage of this opportunity to keep in form. The newly-formed Westmount Track and Field club are planning a winter programme so that its runners may be in the best physical condition possible when the track is opened for training early next spring.

During the coming winter two hockey rinks and one skating rink will be operated at the Westmount Athletic grounds. The hockey rinks are 120 feet by 96 feet and the skating rink is 200 feet by 120 feet. At a meeting held last week to organize the Westmount Municipal Hockey League twelve teams were represented and signified their intention of playing organized hockey this year. A group of fancy skaters is also being formed among residents of Westmount and provision is being made to maintain a good sheet of ice especially for those interested in this sport.

The Westmount Stamp Club will meet in Victoria Hall tonight at 7.30. All persons interested in stamp-collecting are cordially invited to attend.

There will be another contest for the Juniors and Seniors, prizes to be awarded. After which there will be the usual time devoted to exchanging.

"BURN BUCKINGHAM PALACE"

Democracy is distinguished from Autocracy chiefly in the liberties enjoyed by the common people. Democracy derives its strength from the wisdom of the collective mind, rather than from the frequently erroneous decisions of one supreme mind. Our greatness is founded on the liberties we enjoy—the liberties won by Britons through long centuries of struggle against the oppression of autocrats. Our greatest liberties are these: freedom of speech, freedom of conscience, freedom of assembly, and freedom of the press. And these liberties are guaranteed to us without any qualification, without any 'ifs,' 'buts' or 'maybes'. There are those who claim that these liberties should be restricted; that, for instance, Section 98 should be put back in the criminal code—that assemblies to listen to speeches on Communism, for instance, should not be permitted. That attitude is all wrong. Freedom of assembly means freedom of assembly, nothing else. Freedom of assembly becomes rebellion only when incitation to immediate acts of violence is resorted to. Then, and then only, is it time for the police to step in. A story of a London bobby in Hyde Park illustrates the point. A soapbox orator had spent several Saturday afternoons haranguing his auditors on the virtues of Communism with a London policeman always standing by to maintain order and prevent him from being disturbed by anyone not in sympathy with his ideas. One Saturday, however, the orator began urging a march to Buckingham Palace with the object of burning it. The policeman decided it was time to step in. He took a place beside the orator and in a loud voice commanded: "Them wot goin' to burn Buckingham Palace step over here, them wot ain't step over there." Nobody stepped over "here" and the bobby advised the orator to save his breath. Freedom of speech and freedom of assembly means freedom to speak and listen to all the cock-eyed theories of all the crackpots in the country, under the protection of the law, but not freedom to commit acts of violence.

CONSERVATIVE MEMBERS HONOURED

The Young Men's Conservative Club was host last Friday night at a banquet in the Berkeley Hotel to the Conservative members from this constituency at Ottawa and Quebec—W. A. Walsh and W. R. Bulloch. R. S. White, member for Westmount at Ottawa, and Brig. Gen. C. A. Smart, former member for Westmount at Quebec, were also guests of honour along with several prominent civic officials. Detailed reports of the two principal speeches, those of Messrs. Bulloch and Walsh, will be found in another column. The banquet was a nice tribute to the guests of honour, and emphasized the solidarity of the Conservative party both at Ottawa and Quebec.

MENDELSSOHN WILL LIVE

Nazi officials have ordered that a statue of Mendelssohn before the famous music conservatory in Leipzig be removed and destroyed. Why? Because Mendelssohn happened to be a Jew. It does not matter, to the Nazi way of thinking, that Mendelssohn was founder of the Conservatory, nor does his world fame as a composer bear any weight. He was a Jew and, therefore, is "unworthy" of a place in the minds of the German people. Destruction of the statue is, of course, a typical Nazi act. One must expect these things over there. But it doesn't really matter. Mendelssohn will live in the minds of the people long after Hitler and his aides have departed this world. His music is one statue that cannot be destroyed—even by the mighty Hitler.

I EARNED THEIR LESSON

Judge Graber, of Chicago, is thoroughly convinced the only way to teach drunken or reckless motorists a lesson is to send them to jail for a few days. Having sentenced scores to prison terms in recent months, Judge Graber visited the jail to get first hand information as to how the offenders react to their punishment. He found the prisoners repentant and behind him almost to a man. Said one: "I've learned my lesson and I am with you. I don't like being here. Ten days is a long time and it is the first time I have been in jail. But I'm the father of two kids. And I don't want them run over just because some driver's drunk or reckless." Another told the Judge: "This makes a fellow think. When I get out of here I won't take any chances on being sent back." These men are not criminals. Being persons of average intelligence and having no queer quirks of mind, they can be taught a lesson. Give them stern, but just, punishment and they are not likely

EXAMINER FORUM

In Which Subjects of General Interest are Discussed

NOTE:—The opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily those of The Examiner, and this newspaper does not accept responsibility for them. They are published for their general interest, variety and originality of treatment.

By HOWARD S. ROSS, K.C., D.C.L.

"Yet for most people the road even to economic security has always been hard. And we should not be ashamed to confess that the rare and radiant conception of economic salvation, through the way of a scientific medium of exchange and measure of value, is also very difficult. For all excellent things are as difficult as they are rare."—W. Ross Fraser, M.A., B.Th.

If all trade (all buying and selling, all hiring and being hired) was equitable exchange the interests of seller and buyer would harmonize. The other fellow's control of industry, territory, resources, could not harm anyone; all prices being fixed by duration of work. So there would be no incentive to struggle for control.—Vaughan Backman Brokaw.

The Duplessis Cabinet consists of eleven French Canadians, two English-speaking Protestants, and one Irish Catholic. The last census credited Quebec with a population of 2,874,255 people, of whom 2,270,059, or 78 per cent are French-Canadians, 430,351 of British descent, 60,087 Jews, and practically all others of continental origin have become English-speaking Canadians. The eleven French-Canadians in the Cabinet constitute approximately 78 per cent of the total of 14 ministers, and thus represent French-speaking Quebec in the same ratio as in the division of its population.

There were 1,652,072 unemployed persons in G. B. on July 20. This is 320,869 fewer than in July 1935 and is the lowest figure for more than six years. It is estimated that there were 10,895,000 insured persons at work on July 20. This is 481,000 more than a year ago.

Meanwhile the present confusions, political parties that do not and cannot lead, the portentous issue of taxation now and in the immediate future, the growing interest in cooperation as a means of economic salvation—with its insistence on democracy and diffusion of wealth—the growing willingness of many socialists to recognize the land monopoly factor, and the willingness of the political left parties to unite with liberals against fascism; all these trends indicate an acceleration of the pace of the present revolution. But only the recognition of the capital importance of land monopoly will give that revolution sanity in its march and success in its aim.—Louis Wallis.

Music Review

BY CRITIC

An outstanding musical event in the west end of the city is a rare occurrence, and the Montreal Choral Society's production of "Judas Maccabaeus" is therefore a notable event. This Oratorio by Handel will be given on Wednesday at 8.15 in Temple Emmanuel-El, 4128 Sherbrooke street, Westmount; and it will be the first time that a non-Jewish group has graced any Montreal synagogue. The soloists include, Mrs. Lewis, Mr. J. C. Scott, and Mr. Harold Gillingham, whilst Walter Clapperton, Hon. A.R.C.M., will direct the performance.

The story of the Oratorio comes from the Old Testament, and tells how Judas Maccabaeus led his people against the Syrians who attempted to suppress their religion and liberties. But the Oratorio had a double meaning when Handel wrote it in 1746. It was dedicated to the Duke of Cumberland who put down the Jacobite rising in Scotland and finally dedicated to the Scottish Pretender to the Throne in April, 1746. The same month Handel began "Judas Maccabaeus" in honour of the Duke and as an expression of National rejoicing, (in which the defeat of the Scottish Jacobites is expressed by the defeat of the Syrians).

However it is not advisable to follow allusions too closely—in deed at the Handel Centenary at Halle, Germany in 1935, the Propaganda minister used the same oratorio to prove that Handel was a Nazi! (fortunately Professor Dent of Cambridge unwittingly contradicted this interpretation). The music really has permanent qualities, and "Judas Maccabaeus" remains one of the most popular oratorios.

Performances of operas and Oratorios in Montreal are in any case such rare events, that they are specially worthy of support; and this is one of Handel's best.

Another Montreal choir of unusual interest—the Ukrainian Orthodox Church choir—will be heard on Saturday December 5th in the tenth of Ogilvy's Saturday afternoon concerts. The program will include Russian folk-songs and folk-dances, a group of sacred items, and some lighter classical numbers. The choir has a splendid reputation, and some worthwhile things not frequently heard will be given.

Calvary Church Notes

This Friday afternoon, December 4th, the Women's Association will hold a Jubilee Sale in the church parlors. This will open at 3 o'clock and will feature plain and fancy articles made by the members. Afternoon tea will be served from 4 o'clock, while supper will be served at 6.30 p.m.

The pastor will preach at the 11 o'clock service on the theme, "As Jesus Passed By," and will conduct the Communion Service of the Lord's Supper following the sermon.

The Sunday School and Men's Own Brotherhood will meet at 3 o'clock.

At the evening service on request of a group of the Young People of the congregation, Mr. Jones will preach on the theme, "My Religion is a Challenge! What is yours?" A sermon was preached by Mr. Jones in Calvary on this theme, and the young people are invited to bring their friends to this service.

On Monday night at 8.15 under the auspices of the young people of the Union a programme of Christmas Carols will be rendered and illustrated with descriptions given by Mr. George Dufresne.

On Wednesday at 8.15 the regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society will be held in the church parlors.

One of the most interesting functions of the year will be Operetta to be rendered by some 80 members of the Sunday School under the direction of Mrs. Blodwen Walker, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Dec. 10th, 11th and 12th in the church hall at 8 p.m., on Thursday and Friday, and 2 p.m. on Saturday.

Sure Thing

"Edison in March, 1927 said: 'No, I don't think the talking films will ever be successful—Americans prefer the silent films; their novelty will soon wear off.' Adolphe Zukor a year and a half later said the silent film had not diminished in interest. John Maxwell, of British International Pictures characterized them as 'a passing fad.'"

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH NOTES

In response to recent queries, Dr. Kerr will deal on Sunday evening with the difficult question, "Is the World Getting Better?" In his sermon he will compare the young folks of today with those of the past generation, as well as the recent progress made in social and political ideals. At the morning service the quarterly communion will be celebrated.

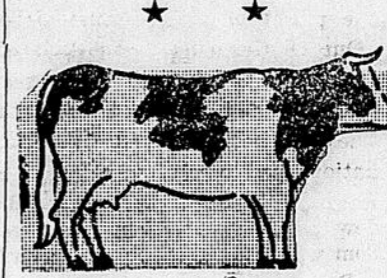

On Monday evening of this week a final supper meeting will be held in the lecture hall to receive reports of the "Every-person" financial canvass. Practically every captain reported increases in contribution over those of the past year. Mr. C. E. Frosst, Jr., was given a very hearty round of applause for his efficient organizing of the campaign, and the President of St. Andrew's Board, C. E. McLaugh, suggested that Mr. Frosst be nominated for the same position next year.

The Alpha-Omega Society has met every Sunday evening with increasing attendance and interest. Last Sunday a Seth Parker night was held, followed by refreshments. The executive reports that on account of the large attendance, action is being delayed on applications for new memberships until after the new year.

MAINLY ABOUT COWS

We're writing about cows this week, principally because we feel in a very "bossy" mood. (ouch!) Anyway with the usual risk to our lives, we secured these pictures in the famous Laurentine mountains near Cam Okkingawegani-zooch-wil-zing, where the sun is always shining and beer is only five cents a glass. We had quite a few, by the way.

Well, and here is bossy. See the intelligent glimmer in her eyes; see the spirited swish of the tail as she knocks flies from her back; see the horns pointing north-east; see her hooves; they heave her to walk from place to place. Anyway, here she is, so look at whatever you please. And just in case you didn't know it, the plural of cow is kine.

Cows were known in Egypt about 3500 B.C., according to historians who seem to know all about everything. The number of heads (and bodies) of cattle a man had denoted his wealth in ancient days. And here's something for the vegetarians to crow about: cattle were originally prized for their products, i.e., milk, butter, cheese, cream, fertilizer, eggs—oh no, that's last week isn't it? Their use as food and leather products came second, until modern times.

There are as many kinds of cows as there are hairs on your head, providing you aren't bald. (We are.) There is the Aberdeen Angus, Blue Albion, Ayrshire, Belled Galway, Jersey, Hereford, Shorthorns and Longhorns, and goodness knows what. Selective breeding was tried in the sixties by Charles and Robert Colling, of Durham, England, and the result was the Shorthorn. This brand of cow has the advantage of not being able to hoist people over the fence—but this is a disadvantage for the cow.

Quand on presse une orange, le jus s'appelle "jus d'orange." Et quand on trait une vache, le jus s'appelle "jus de vache." Maybe. There has been a great deal of discussion as to just how the manipulation of the cow causes the jus de vache to gush forth. Anyway, the old apologists, would say, it is so because it is so. They have tried mechanical milking devices, which have proved more or less successful. Below we have a picture of a lone cow hand from the Rio Grand endeavouring to try a mechanical milking device on a cow. The device was kicked away just as the picture was taken, and the cow hand had just time to grab the cow as she began to protest. (This picture is copyrighted.)

The cow that jumped over the moon is a famous beast, as her feat has never been duplicated. (Nor her feet, either.) Anyway, they tell a story of a little girl who was well. Let's not get ahead of our story. "Mama, how many kinds of milk are there?" "Why dear?" asked Mama. "Well, I'm drawing a cow and I want to know how many taps to put on!" "Hm! Now that we've had our little joke, we guess we can sign off till next week.

Next week we'll tell about monkeys, and all their most mischievous tricks, they're wild and they're woolly, and we believe fully, that we belong with them out in the sticks. (Or maybe the Styx.) And now it is time to say goodbye. Goodbye.

Fine Exhibition At Victoria Hall Closes Tomorrow

Health and Household Display Sponsored By Local Council Of Women—Opened Monday By Lady Drummond—Mayor Jenkins Attended—Lectures Throughout Week Proving Popular—Special Feature For Children

The Health and Household Exhibition being staged at Victoria Hall under the auspices of the Local Council of Women, will draw to a close tomorrow night after a highly successful week. The event has featured many items of great interest, and Westmount residents, with many from nearby districts, have attended in large numbers.

The Exhibition was opened Monday evening by Lady Drummond, first president of the Local Council, who congratulated the members on carrying on its "old and early task" of promoting health and hygiene. Later in the evening there were greetings from Mayor Jenkins of Westmount, and congratulations from Acting-Mayor Leo McKenna of Montreal.

Women are more hygienically-minded than men, Lady Drummond suggested. If men were willing to take women into their councils, "we should promise to temper the drafts," she said, adding that women are grateful to men for the many inventions by which their labors are lightened. Above all, gratitude was felt for the cumulative efforts of men and women owing to which the length of human life and chances of happiness had increased the child life saved.

Lectures by Dr. G. T. Labelle, Miss D. H. Baxter, B.H.S., and by many of the representatives of the various agencies connected with the local council are being well attended and thoroughly enjoyed.

The programme of the "Syrup Symphony" broadcast was combined with the ceremonies attending the opening of the exhibition, and Peter Miller, well known local baritone, and Jack Hunter, scotch comedian, were popular guest artists.

The various exhibits, the game room, the lecture rooms, the Westinghouse talking picture "The Home of Tomorrow," and other features continued to attract attention all week.

The programme for tomorrow is especially interesting. It includes the opening at ten o'clock in the morning when educational films will be shown for children. The exhibit proper will open at two o'clock in the afternoon and there will be an exhibition of folk dancing by girl guides, a fashion show, an exhibition of dancing by the Mary Beutler School, afternoon tea and demonstrations by the affiliated societies.

AYPA GROUPS MEET TODAY, SATURDAY

At the regular monthly meeting of the Montreal and district Local Council of the Anglican Young People's Association to be held in the Synod Hall, Montreal today, plans will be presented in connection with the Quiet Afternoon to be sponsored by the Council in the Church of St. John the Evangelist, Ontario and St. Urbain Streets tomorrow at 3 p.m.

Led by Rev. Canon W. H. Davison, the devotional period will be attended by representatives of all branches of the Association in the Montreal district, and it is anticipated that similar services will be held in various parishes under the auspices of individual branches, during Lent.

The Council points out that this form of activity under the A.Y.P.A.'s Worship programme was originated last May in St. Columba's Parish, Montreal, and has since received approval by the Anglican Young People's Association throughout the Dominion.

The Progress of Tram Vehicles in Seventy Five Years

These photographs show how public transportation vehicles have changed in the last 75 years. Photographs listed on the top, from left to right: 1. The old open horse car used in the summer time prior to 1892; 2. Type of "winter" car in service prior to 1892; 3. Type of "spring" car used before the entry of electric cars; Lower line, left to right: 1. Latest type of bus; 2. One of the oldest employees, Honore Guay, who is now over 72 and who drove one of the original horse cars; 3. One of the standard type of electrically driven street cars in use today.

When the gay Romeo of the early sixties went to call on his Juliet he travelled by horse car in the summer months, and, in winter, by sleigh in which the owners thoughtfully provided a foot of pea straw to keep his feet warm. If he "missed the bus" he had a long wait because the public transportation system only owned eight horse cars, a few horses, five sleighs, and one stable, and the territory was bounded on the north side by the old creek at Craig Street and Victoria Square in the west.

But how times have changed. The "old grey mare" pulling a crude looking car or sleigh has been relegated to the limbo of forgotten things. Only those who have passed the three score and ten mark can remember them, and as far as transportation methods are concerned they do not provide for "the good old days" of public transportation then was wild.

In 75 years, the spirit of progress, coupled with the handmaiden of science, has transformed the picture. The one stable "power house" and the horse drawn cars have been supplanted. Today, instead of eight horse drawn cars and five sleighs operating over six miles of single track, serving a population of nearly 100,000 cars and busses carry a daily average of approximately 800,000 passengers on inter-connecting and co-related routes covering 319 track miles for street cars, almost the equivalent of the rail distance from Montreal to Toronto, and 53 miles of bus routes.

Behind this development is a story of particular interest to the younger generation, a story of pioneering which helped to build Montreal into the metropolis of Canada.

Seventy-five years ago—on November 27, 1861—Alex Easton, who had built the first car line from St. Mary street near the Quebec toll gate to Place d'Armes started to operate under lease from the Montreal City Passenger Rail Company which was incorporated by provincial statute on May 18, 1861 "for the purpose of constructing and operating street railways in the city and parish of Montreal."

Junior C.W.L. To Present Comedy

With a final dress rehearsal scheduled for Saturday all will be in readiness for "Snap Judgment," the three act comedy by Clara Rose Averell, which the dramatic group of the Junior Sub-division of the Catholic Women's League is presenting on Monday evening, December 7 in Victoria Hall, Westmount. Included in the cast is Marjorie Stepan as Gladys Martin, young and attractive sister of Enid, who is bright and efficient, while Ethel Browne as Myrtle Martin portrays a lively, impulsive type, and completes the family trio. Their Aunt Agatha, an amusing old lady is played by Brenda Reynolds. Aggie, middle aged and motherly maid to the Martins will be acted by Kay Mullen. Margaret Milette is cast as Mrs. Sempkins, excitable and nervous and the part of a woman peddler is taken by Alma Granda. Miss Blanche A. Relecom is directing the production.

During the evening selections will be rendered on the organ by Mrs. Laurent Bastien. Tickets may be obtained from Miss Marguerite Beaudin, Western Ave.

The following members of the sub-division will usher: Miss Katherine Wickham, Miss Beverley Bambrick, Miss Dulcie Letourneau, Miss Patricia Drohan, Miss Margaret King, Miss Dorothy Taylor, Miss Frances O'Brien, Miss Marion Shaughnessy, Miss Mary Gallagher, Miss Doris Kendall senger" cars, one stable and one car shed.

The innovation appealed to the public. The directors of that date, T. Morland, president, E. M. Hopkins, G. W. Weaver, E. S. Freen, and John Ostell, began to envision expansion and when the line was completed in June, 1862, from Place d'Armes on Notre Dame Street West, connecting with St. Joseph Street, three more horse cars were "equipped."

Easton's lease terminated on July 4, 1862. The company opened headquarters at the corner of Place d'Armes Hill and Craig Street and invested $300 in a bus to convey passengers from the terminus at Hochelaga to connect with the convent.

Those were the days! The company only operated in the day time but they obligingly had cars stop anywhere to enable their patrons to shop, talk to friends, or pay social calls, so an early history records. But as business began to grow, the efficiency expert of those days decided it was poor policy and, supported by passengers' complaints, this amenity disappeared.

By 1863, growing pains compelled the company to apply to the city for permission to build lines commencing at Papineau and continuing along St. Catherine to Mountain, with a line on St. Lawrence to the toll gate which connected with that constructed at St. Joseph, with another line along McGill to Wellington.

That was a red letter year. The company proudly announced it had exceeded the million mark in passenger carrying, with 1,066,845 passengers transported in one year, and they increased their prestige the following year with the purchase of eleven additional cars when the St. Catherine line was opened, by which time 5% more miles of line were added to the public system, and passenger carrying rose to the impressive total of 1,485,725 in that year.

Night service was inaugurated in the same year, and business must have improved beyond the boundaries of early dreams because eight sleighs were put into operation for the winter and another five were ordered. The records quaintly add that each was "equipped with a foot of pea straw in which people buried their feet."

All companies have "momen-tous" episodes in their history.

Wednesday evening at eight fifteen.

The Montreal Choral Society, with fifty voices, under the direction of Walter S. Clapperton, A.R.C.M., will render the music.

'Twas Just A Sprig O' Heather

BY JAS. C. STEEL

A Song-Poem Composed On St. Andrew's Day, Nov. 30, 1936

One day, as I sat at the window, alone
My thoughts turned to Scotland, and loved ones at home,
When—who should I see, tramping down on our street?
The trusty old postman, with tired weary feet.

I watched him and waited, as I'd oft done before Making his daily rounds—from door to door,
Then—a knock I soon heard, for the postman was there,
With a neat little box, marked "Fragile—with care."

I opened it quick—and in less than a minute,
I was eager to know what on earth could be in it,
Unwrapping the paper, what was the surprise?
"A Sprig o' White Heather" met my wide open eyes.

Westmount Baptist Church Notes

Large numbers of young people are manifesting a keen interest in the evening group of addresses entitled—"The Christian Homes of Canada." The first set of addresses dealt with—"Choosing a Life Partner," "The Wedding Day," and "A Home of Your Own." The second set of three begins on Sunday evening when the subject will concern "In-Laws; Relations and Friends." This sermon will give a lead in solving the problems that arise in Every Man's Family. On subsequent Sundays Mr. Johnston will speak of—"The Third Member of the

The company experienced its first real trouble in 1892 when electrification was mooted. Some directors stormed. They were joined by irate shareholders who predicted the ruin of the system. Patrons joined the fight which boiled merrily and reached its climax with the resignation of some of the directors. But progress could not be stopped and electric cars were introduced in 1892 when the company had 12 1/2 miles of track including the first double track on St. Denis which was completed in 1891, and 82 sleighs were in regular operation during the winter time.

With the introduction of the electric street car, described in glowing terms as "20 feet long," the meta-morphosis of public transportation was complete, but the company headed into plenty of trouble because of conversion difficulties, heavy winter snowfalls and grades. The average snowfall in the years 1875 to 1891 was 118 inches while in the winter of '86-'87, there was a fall of 173 inches. The grade question also presented difficulties. On Amherst there was a rise of 60 feet in 800 feet; on St. Denis, 41 feet in 700 feet; on St. Lawrence, 68 feet in 1,500; on Beaver Hill, 60 feet in 900; on Windsor street, 70 feet in 1,500 and on Guy and Cote des Neiges, 350 feet in 5,150 feet with a maximum of eleven per cent for about 100 feet.

The electric cars made it possible to overcome these handicaps and from that time there was uninterrupted progress with the company's early records showing 32,000,000 passengers carried in 1897, five years after the start of electric cars.

Forefathers of prominent Montreal families today, who were provisional directors when the idea of a street car system was first mooted, and who included such men as William Molson, William Dow, John Ostell, Johnston, Thompson, John Carter, Hon. Thomas Payne and William E. Phillips, would, if alive today, see a system which has far outgrown anything they visualized.

Today it comprises 1,000 street cars, 160 busses, 319 miles of track, 1 power house, 13 sub-stations, 77.9 square miles of territory served, approximately 5,000 employees, with annual passenger carrying for the year 1935 amounting to 280,041,015.

BOOKS FOR CHILDREN WAS LECTURE TOPIC

Miss Jenkins Presided At Gathering Monday Addressed By New York Authority

Miss Kathleen Jenkins, librarian at the Westmount Public Library and President of the Quebec Library Association, presided at a gathering of that name held in the Montreal High School Auditorium Monday evening, when Miss Mary Gould Davis, supervisory of story telling in the New York Public Library and lecturer in the library schools of Columbia University and at the Pratt Institute of Brooklyn spoke on "Children's Books."

The young reader is a sharp critic, said Miss Davis, and children are highly appreciative of good characterization. Their first response comes through their senses and they are well impressed by colour and action. They seldom say they want such and such a book, but, rather, ask for a book with such and such a character in it.

A number of high class writers of children's books have made their appearance in recent years, stated Miss Davis. They had become prominent through hard work, because this department of literature requires ability of a high order.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUNDAY SERVICES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, December 6th, is "God the only Cause and Creator."

The Golden Text is: "I am the Lord that maketh all things; that stretcheth forth the heavens alone; that spreadeth abroad the earth by myself." (Isaiah 44: 24)

The following correlative passages are selected from among those comprised in the Lesson-Sermon to be read from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:

"Thine, O Lord, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty; for all that is in the heaven and in the earth is thine; thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and thou art exalted as head above all. Both riches and honour come of thee, and thou reignest over all; and in thine hand it is to make great, and to give strength unto all." (1 Chronicles 29: 11, 12)

"To grasp the reality and order of being in its Science, you must begin by reckoning God as the divine Principle of all that really is. Spirit, Life, Truth, Love, combine as one, and are the Scriptural names for God. All substance, intelligence, wisdom, immortality, cause, and effect belong to God." (Science and Health, page 275.)

New family of the Little Stranger in the Mist" and "Breaking in the Spirited Young Colts or the Way through the Tempestuous Teens and the Romantic Twenties." Final addresses in the Group will be announced later.

The Monthly Communion Service will be held on Sunday at twelve o'clock noon. With the Book of Acts in hand and with H. V. Morton's new book as a supplementary guide the congregation is participating in a Spiritual Travelogue "in the Steps of St. Paul."

The Young People have their weekly meeting on Monday at eight o'clock and the Congregational Midweek Assembly for Fellowship, study and prayer takes place on Wednesday at eight.

His keen interest in his subject is a result of his close association with many prominent musicians across the border as well as those in Montreal. He is a former pupil of Frank Trumbauer, one of the greatest living alto saxophonists.

TO SPEAK TUESDAY

The regular monthly meeting of St. Matthias Women's Association will be held in the Parish Hall at 3 p.m. on Tuesday when the speaker will be V. C. Wansbrough M.A., principal of Lower Canada College.

Mr. Wansbrough will speak on "Education and Citizenship."

Arthur Williams Gives Talk On Modern Music

Modern American music and "swing", its development and significance as a new musical trend will be graphically outlined by Arthur Murray Williams in a lecture to be given in Channing Hall, Church of the Messiah, corner of Simpson avenue and Sherbrooke street, Sunday evening at 8.15 o'clock.

Mr. Williams has given over the past seven years to a comprehensive study of his subject and it convinced that modern music as played by Benny Goodman, Duke Ellington and other noted American musicians, has much more to it than is generally realized. He feels that it is a high type of musical composition and one that will live forever.

During his lecture the speaker will trace back the history of "swing" music since its inception some 10 years ago, and will demonstrate his topic by the playing of gramophone records made by outstanding exponents of modern rhythm. Mr. Williams, incidentally has one of the finest collections of records portraying this music, in Canada.

"I will attempt to give the public a better understanding of modern American music. Due to stupid and prejudiced criticism on the part of many professing to have a knowledge of their subject a wholly false impression of popular music has been created in the mass mind, and it is about time proper recognition was given the composers of the popular song," Mr. Williams stated yesterday.

His keen interest in his subject is a result of his close association with many prominent musicians across the border as well as those in Montreal. He is a former pupil of Frank Trumbauer, one of the greatest living alto saxophonists.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

To keep a boiled fowl a good color, rub the fowl over with a piece of cut lemon and wrap in grease-proof paper for boiling.

A teaspoonful of vinegar added to the water in which eggs are poached keeps the whites from spreading and makes the whites cook over the yolk.

Salt beef is improved in flavor if a few small onions and a des-ertspoonful of brown sugar are added while cooking.

To make meat tender, put it in a strong vinegar water for a few minutes.

A fork should never be stuck into a steak or chop that is being fried or grilled, because it lets the juice out.

Milk can be prevented from boiling over by the use of an out-er saucepan containing water. Place the smaller saucepan con-taining the milk in the larger saucepan of water, and boil both together. There is then no danger of the milk boiling over.

To prevent milk or cream from curdling when used in combination with tomato, add a bit of bicar-bonate of soda to each before they are mixed.

To keep milk or cream from souring in hot weather, stir in a small quantity of bicarbonate of soda.

When making jam, rub the bot-tom of the pan with butter. This prevents burning and keeps the jam clear.

Jelly is improved if, in place of water, it is made with juice left over from either dried or fresh fruit.

Add one-quarter teaspoon soda to cranberries while cooking them and they will not require much sugar.

When making soup, remember the maxim: Soup boiled is soup spoiled. The soup should be cook-ed gently and evenly.

Bones required for making soup will keep in good condition for a considerable time during warm weather if they have been allowed to remain in a hot oven for a few minutes.

Root vegetables, such as car-rots, turnips, etc., should be freed from all dirt and grit; those of the green variety should be allowed to soak for a few minutes in cold water to which a generous pinch of salt has been added. Keep all vegetables in cold water until they are required. If soup has been over-salted, add a teaspoonful of sugar, or a few small pieces of raw turnip, and simmer a little longer. This will neutralize the salt flavor.

Grate a raw potato and add it to your soup when you put too much salt in it. The potato ab-sorbs the salt.

To avoid lumps try this method for mixing your thickening. In place of the old long-drawn-out way of adding a little liquid slow-ly to a bowl of flour, and working free from lumps, do it in half the time. Get a small can with a good-fitting lid, an empty cocoa or one-pound baking powder can; put in about half a cupful of cold water or milk (be sure to put the liquid in first), then add your flour or cornstarch. Place the lid on the can firmly, and shake the can up and down briskly several times. You'll be surprised how smooth and free from lumps your thickening is. Add to the other ingredients in the usual way.

When grease collects on top of broth float a piece of tissue paper lightly on top of the soup, and it will absorb the grease; or skim the soup with a piece of ice. The grease will harden and can be scraped off the ice.

Lemon juice or vinegar in the water cauliflower is cooked in makes it keep its snowy-white color.

ALEXANDER BROTT LOCAL VIOLINIST PLAYS ON SUNDAY

Feuermann in Candid Observation—Concert for Young People Planned December 19

With Montreal's own Alexander Brott as guest violinist, the Montreal Orchestra is scheduled to hold its third concert of the season at His Majesty's Theatre this Sunday afternoon.

"People attending the present season of the Montreal Orchestra and being treated to a new experience in sound," declared Emanuel Feuermann, noted Australian cellist, after his appearance with the Orchestra two weeks ago.

Young Alexander Brott, guest violinist at this Sunday afternoon's concert, is just past his twenty-first birthday and is not entirely strange to the Orchestra, having played as one of the violinists in 1930—first year of the Orchestra's existence.

Studying for a while under Maurice Onderet, he entered the McGill Conservatorium in 1929, and captured the Peterson Memorial Scholarship for four consecutive years.

Trinity Sunday Music Programme Announced

German music will be featured at Trinity Church Sunday morning English music in the evening, by John Reymes-King, B.A., Mus. Bac., Cantab., A.R.C.M., F.R.C.O., organist and choirmaster.

Politics, it is announced, has been ousted from the Armistice Day ritual in Paris. It's just like talking politics out of any question however. We'll believe it when we see the headlines the following day.

TOM LEWIS IS REELECTED HEAD OF HI-JACKERS

John Peacock Named Vice-President—Dance Planned for New Year's Eve

Popular acclaim of the entire membership sent Thomas Lewis back into the presidency of the Hi-Jacker's Club, Tuesday, when that organization gathered at a luncheon meeting for their annual elections.

John O. Peacock, previously secretary-treasurer of the group was also by acclaim, named vice-president, a newly-created post. No other alterations in executive were made.

President Lewis who has but recently been discharged from the hospital after a major operation, thanked members for their show of confidence.

"Lucky my trip to bed occurred during the summer months," he said pointing out that the club's activities were suspended then. "I am rapidly regaining strength however, and am honored and happy to take the presidency again."

His illness it was noted prevented him from taking charge of the social side of the club's activities as had originally been planned due to the resignation of the entertainment committee chairman who was also ill.

The new vice-president volunteered to take over in his stead. Foremost in the minds of club members, plans for the approaching New Year's Eve Dance were brought under discussion and it was unanimously decided to stage the affair in Victoria Hall.

Jack Bain, Montreal's leading young maestro has been contacted and if all goes well will provide the rhythm at the event. As suggested by the president in his opening address at the previous meeting a turkey dinner will be served and possibly a floor-show staged.

AT THE WESTMOUNT THEATRE . . . !

Clark Gable and Marion Davies in a scene from the musical romance "Cain and Mabel," playing the Westmount today until Saturday. This feature opens at the Seville Sunday for three days, following at the Monkland.

Mummies Give Skipper Clue To Making Of Tabloid Food

London.—The "tabloid age" for food, frequently described in predictions about the future, has arrived at least in a small way.

On display in an office in London are three small bottles, each containing two ounces of some powdered substance. One represents a pound of steak, and the others 40 lettuce and 40 heads of spinach, respectively.

As for the powdered foods, all the essential nutrient remains and these can be used in many ways, say scientists. One method is to add water to make a paste or spreading between bread or biscuits.

The novel process was discovered by P. C. Lavender, a master mariner, according to N. A. Adams, managing director of Dehydration Limited.

"While Lavender was at sea he noticed the immense amount of damage done by moisture, and while trying to solve the problem of some tin plates ruined by dampness he first hit on this idea, said Adams.

"Then Lavender saw the mummies at the British Museum, and realized that if they could be preserved for thousands of years, so could other things. But there were many problems to face. One experiment might get rid of the moisture, but it would also lose the flavor; another might keep both flavor and dryness, but would destroy the nutrient.

"There is no reason why the product should be in powder form. It is merely prepared in that manner for convenience. A steak or a head of greenstuff or a fruit is still in a whole state when the process is normally completed. For economy of space it is powdered. The food is actually more nutritious because the waste matter is eliminated. And the space saved in storage would be invaluable in time of war.

"We can definitely preserve cattle fodder, and have proved that cattle fed on our food produce better results than those fed normally," Adams added.

"It is generally known that almost every industry is faced with the problem of moisture. Hats, furs, golf balls, tobacco and artificial silks are just a few that benefit from dehydration."

Boy Bids For Bicycles, Gets Mirrors Instead

Detroit, Mich. — Aaron Kerbis, 12, wanted a bicycle—but he got mirrors.

Aaron heard that the Detroit Police Department was going to auction off some bicycles recovered from robberies. Aaron had a quarter. He went to the auction and bid.

All through the morning Aaron bid "twenty-five" cents for bicycles which always went to higher bidders. Finally the auctioneer held up a neatly wrapped box. Aaron bid "twenty-five" cents. Before anyone could top his bid the auctioneer cried "sold."

Aaron opened the package and found he had bought several brand new mirrors. Then he started a little auctioneering on his own hook.

HARCOURT FULLER ADDRESSED GROUP

Public Speaking Club Of Board Of Trade Heard Noted Speaker Thursday

At Thursday's meeting of the Public Speaking Club of the Montreal Junior Board of Trade, the guest speaker was R. Harcourt Fuller, of the Fuller School and McGill Conservatorium of Music.

The subject of the lecture was "Voice Production as applied to Public Speaking."

Commencing with an explanation of the workings of the vocal organs, the speaker went on to give his audience some useful hints on the production of vocal tone, illustrating the manner in which clear articulation assists in the projection of the voice.

In his introductory speech, the Chairman, Philip Long, referred to Mr. Fuller's work as a teacher of Singing, Elocution and Dramatic Art.

GETS MALE LEAD Chester Morris, Columbia's prominent leading man, who has just completed one of the principal roles in "The Depths Below," with Richard Dix and Dolores Del Rio, has been selected for the male lead of "I Promise to Pay" which will be placed in production within the next few days.

The story is by Lionel Houser and is an exposé of the usurious loan-shark racket.

When taking apples prick the skin of the apples and they will cook without bursting.

Movie Notes

Ruby Keeler was the first tap dancer to appear in a sound picture.

Ruby Keeler and Ross Alexander appeared in New York theatres side by side; lived on adjoining ranches at Encino and had adjoining dressing-rooms at the studio, but did not meet until they were co-featured in "Ready Willing and Able," which Warner Bros. are now filming.

Fernand Gravet, French actor now in Hollywood under personal contract to Mervyn LeRoy, is the highest salaried screen star in French studios.

In his ten years as a motion picture director, Mervyn LeRoy, now a producer-director, has established an all time record for financial screen play earnings. Not one of his many pictures has failed to return a good profit to its sponsors.

The promise of good hunting in California caused Fernand Gravet to prefer an American film contract to that of a competing British producer.

CHILDREN'S THEATRE PRODUCE CINDERELLA

The Montreal Children's Theatre, directed by Dorothy Davis and Violet Walters, have made emphatic strides since its inception three years ago, and has proved popular beyond all expectations.

The new venture which started this season, the special radio course, has proven very popular, and next Thursday afternoon at four o'clock, the Children's Theatre will be heard in "Cinderella" over station CFCF.

A special series of radio plays have been written by Miss Miriam Stein, adapted from favorite stories, and all the old time characters will be brought to life, including Cinderella, the ugly sisters, the fairy godmother and Prince Charming.

Miss Davis, who has made a careful study of children's plays and productions, felt that the fairy stories were ever popular, and this series has been specially adapted for the radio, and have been dealt with in a novel manner.

"Little Women" has been in rehearsal for some time with an excellent cast, and this promises to be a high light in the career of the Children's Theatre. It takes place the beginning of January.

Davies And Gable Score In Riotous Comedy With Music

Lilting music, magnificent spectacles, rollicking comedy, romance and thrills combine to form the rare entertainment found in the Cosmopolitan production released by Warner Bros., "Cain and Mabel," which is playing the Westmount today, opening Sunday at the Seville and following at the Monkland.

These ingredients, added to the fine performances of its two famous stars, Marion Davies and Clark Gable, and that of an exceptionally talented supporting cast, make this picture one of the outstanding screen productions of the year.

One of the big features of the musical comedy is a sensational number called "Thousand Love Songs" which for sheer beauty, novelty and magnitude of its scope, is truly remarkable. Staged by the famous dance director, Bobby Connelly, it is really six numbers combined in one, there being that many different settings and backgrounds.

Based on the story of H. C. Witwer, who wrote so familiarly of Broadway and the fight arena, the plot carries more substance than that of the usual musical comedy. The romance is woven about Miss Davies as a beautiful waitress who rises to stardom on the musical comedy stage and Gable as an heroic youth who battled his way to fame in the prize ring.

Never was the golden haired actress more charming than in this role. Her portrayal was marked with beauty, artistry and rollicking humor.

Gable is responsible for most of the thrilling action. No former film battles have ever been fought than those in which he is matched with professional boxers.

Among those who add greatly to the hilarious laughter of the production are Allen Jenkins, Roscoe Karns, Walter Catlett, David C. Lyle, Hobart Cavanaugh, Ruth Donnelly, and William Collier, Sr.

Lloyd Bacon directed.

DISTINGUISHED CAST "Counterfeit Lady" has been decided upon as the permanent title of the new Columbia picture, which during the early stages of production was known as "Lady of New York."

Ralph Bellamy, Joan Perry and Douglass Dumbrille have the leading roles, with the cast to date including George McKay, Henry Morrison, Kernan Cripps and Don Brodie. The story is by Harold Shumate and was prepared for the screen by Thomas Van Dyke. D. Ross Lederman is directing.

Westmount Juniors Hold Inter-Provincial Crown After 13-3 Win Saturday

Snow On Field Made Good Football Impossible—Melee Threatened In Third Quarter With Several Spectators Taking Part—Riddell's Kicking Outstanding—Will Howard Taken To Hospital—Teams

A snow covered field and near-zero temperature failed to stop the Westmount Juniors Saturday afternoon in closing successfully their spectacular campaign for the interprovincial grid crown by downing Hamilton 13-3 at Westmount Athletic Grounds. Jimmy Riddell's powerful kicking kept the visitors on the defensive most of the game, except during the third quarter when the Italo-Canadians put on an offensive drive that gained three single points and threatened to push over a major score.

A driving snow storm and an inch blanket of snow over the field made good football impossible. A firm footing was impossible to obtain. Feeling ran high during the game, and several players were banished for slugging and arguing with the officials. Several spectators joined in at a point during the third quarter, and the game threatened to end in a free for all.

Major casualty during the game was Will Howard, who was carried from the field in the third quarter. Rushed to Western hospital, he was found to have suffered severe bruises to his chest.

Young Faggetter then vowed that on the anniversary of his wedding he would walk to Chobham and back, and during the last 50 years he has kept his vow.
