

Varied treatment to papers printing outlawed material

Uncertainty over interpretation of the War Measures Act has led to the suppression of two student newspapers publishing material favorable to the outlawed Front de Liberation du Quebec while other papers printing similar material have been undisturbed.

Students distributed copies of one of the banned papers Tuesday despite warnings of possible prosecution.

The act, proclaimed last Friday, is a federal measure but the provinces are responsible for enforcing it.

Provincial authorities were not directly involved in suppression of the two papers and most attorneys-general were hesitant to comment on the effect of the emergency legislation on newspapers.

Staff members of the Melior, student publication of the University of Lethbridge, Alta., handed out 1,100 copies of its Oct. 15 edition despite an order by Dr. Owen Holmes, dean of arts and science, barring its distribution. The issue contained an FLQ manifesto.

Earlier, the students had been told by Insp. R.D. Michelson of the Lethbridge police force that action would be taken against them under the act if the paper was distributed.

GUELPH PAPER SEIZED

A single-sheet special edition of The Ontario, University of Guelph student newspaper, was seized last Friday after the printer questioned local police as to its legality. The police turned the printing mats over to the RCMP at Kitchener.

Susan Reisler said distribution of the student paper at Dalhousie in Halifax was banned but a spokesman for the newspaper said later it would appear on schedule today although there had been some difficulty with the printers.

Miss Reisler also said the McGill Daily in Montreal was warned, after printing an editorial denouncing the emergency legislation, not to carry similar editorials in the future. She did not say who issued the warning.

Attorney-General Edgar Gerhart of Alberta and Newfoundland Justice Minister L.R. Curtis were the only provincial authorities who indicated in general terms that action might be taken against newspapers under the act.

Mr. Gerhart said any newspaper expressing support, issuing propaganda, "creating dissension" or causing a disturbance on behalf of the FLQ would be liable to prosecution.

Mr. Curtis said he knew of no prospect of such material being printed in Newfoundland, but if any publication had intended to print the FLQ manifesto it would have been seized under the act and its distribution prevented.

PRINTED MANIFESTO

The Carillon and The Sheaf, newspapers at the University of Saskatchewan's Saskatoon and Regina campuses, were two of several college papers which printed the manifesto a few hours after proclamation of the act. Attorney-General D.V. Heald said no action would be taken against them.

A spokesman for the Manitoba attorney-general's department said he did not consider that the act was intended to stifle dissent. He said publications are not being scrutinized for possible violations but that complaints would be considered on their merits.

Other provincial authorities declined comment. In Toronto, The Eye Opener at Ryerson Polytechnical Institute, and Excalibur at York University both went to the printers Tuesday night with issues scheduled for printing today.

Editors at both papers said they supported some of the FLQ aims but disagreed with the violent means. They expected to know today whether the printer would handle their papers. The same printer Tuesday refused to print Mass Line, an organ of the Maoist Internationalists, and Toronto New Paper, a new underground paper.

Mayoral candidates to appear on TV

SHERBROOKE — Mayor Marc Bureau said yesterday he will participate "with pleasure" in the live TV debate with Marcel Savard of the Sherbrooke Party scheduled for Oct. 30 at 10:00 p.m. on Channel 7.

Saying he favors modern methods of communication with the most possible members of the public, he said this debate should be more enlightening than having all 24 candidates for public office involved.

Under the direction of Channel 7 program director Marcel Rheault, the news and public affairs presentation will see Mayor Bureau and Mr. Savard quizzed by two representatives of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and members of the local news media. Richard Spalding will take part on behalf of The Record.

Test viruses for pesticide use

OTTAWA (CP) — Scientists are turning new attention to bacteria and viruses to fight insect and other pests as use of such chemical pesticides as DDT becomes more restricted.

But efforts to use these agents cannot be tested adequately with the methods now applied to chemical pesticides.

A new attempt soon will be made to break this barrier, it was learned Wednesday.

The problem of obtaining approval for use of viral and bacterial agents was described by Dr. J. Mc. Cameron, director of the insect pathology research institute of the federal forestry department at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

"The idea of widespread distribution of viruses is so relatively new that the regulatory authorities are understandably reluctant to put a stamp of approval on them until there is unequivocal evidence of their safety," he says in an article in the current issue of Science Affairs.

About the only evidence now available is negative—there are no recorded cases of any person or animal being infected by a virus whose primary target is insects.

CAN EXPERIMENT

Dr. Cameron predicts that approval soon will be given for specific viruses. Federal food and drug authorities confirmed Wednesday that approval has been given, at least for experimental use.

In hopes of providing one class of viruses as a pesticide, federal agriculture department scientists at Harrow, Ont., are to conduct experiments with a virus to kill the cabbage looper, a green worm about an inch long that gobbles up huge quantities of cabbage leaf.

Dr. J. Clegg, head of the food and drug directorate pesticide unit, said general use of the virus has not been sanctioned but controlled use is safe because there is no chance any possibly hazardous residue will contaminate the food supply.

Borlaug cops Nobel

OSLO, Norway (AP) — The Nobel Peace Prize was awarded Wednesday to Iowa-born Norman Ernest Borlaug, a quiet scientist who has made harvests more bountiful in hungry countries.

Borlaug is an agricultural expert who helped develop better-yielding grains through the so-called green revolution. The term refers to the use of improved wheat and rice strains, and more efficient use of fertilizer and irrigation, to produce larger crops.

He is the 15th American to win or share the peace prize since it was started in 1901 under the will of Alfred Nobel, the inventor of dynamite.

Borlaug, 56, is a director of the Rockefeller Foundation and heads a team of scientists from 17 nations who are experimenting with new types of grains at the Rockefeller Agricultural Institute in Mexico.

Car strikes lamppost

SHERBROOKE — Six persons escaped serious injury about 3:30 p.m. yesterday when the car in which they were travelling hit two lamp posts at the corner of King and Wellington streets.

Laurent Giguere, 26, of Rock Forest, told police his brakes failed as he headed east down the steep King street hill towards Wellington.

Giguere was taken to hospital by the Quebec

Police Force, and Hotel Dieu de Sherbrooke reported last night that he was not in serious condition but would remain in hospital overnight for observation.

No other occupants of the car required hospital treatment, police said.

The others included Mrs. Giguere, their children Patrick, 4, Josee, 1½, and Benoit, 3. Theodore Bousquet, 49, was the sixth passenger.

May never publicize reasons for measures

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister John Turner said Wednesday the evidence which persuaded the government to invoke the War Measures Act may never be made public.

He repeated to reporters his Commons statement Friday that he hopes full details of the secret intelligence upon which the government acted can be made public "some day."

But he declined to undertake that this evidence would be published before the next general election, expected in 1972, or ever.

Asked whether the RCMP knows the identity of the leader of the terrorist Front de Liberation du Quebec, Mr. Turner responded: "I don't know."

The justice minister said that for the government to make public now evidence it has about the FLQ "criminal conspiracy" might place lives in danger.

The public would have to have continued confidence that the administration had acted properly. "That's part of representative government," Mr. Turner added.

Unilateral ceasefire possible in Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu has summoned his military and political leaders to a weekend conference, touching off speculation about the possibility that the United States and South Vietnam would soon declare a unilateral ceasefire in South Vietnam. But the White House in Washington denied it.

Informed sources said Thieu's instructions were to eliminate Viet Cong or their sympathizers who might try to claim land was under their control following the ceasefire.

Wednesday that Thieu already had instructed all provincial governors and mayors to provide maximum protection in their areas in preparation for a ceasefire.

A one-sided truce would appear to be an extension of President Nixon's peace proposal made Oct. 7. Among other things, Nixon proposed a ceasefire proclaimed by both sides. North Vietnam and the Viet Cong rejected the proposal.

In Washington, the presidential press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, said: "We plan no announcement beyond the ones we already have made on Vietnam."

Take over portfolios

QUEBEC (CP) — Health Minister Claude Castonguay and Cultural Affairs Minister Francois Cloutier will temporarily take over responsibility for the labor and immigration portfolios, respectively, Premier Robert Bourassa announced Wednesday.

The cabinet jobs were left vacant following the death of Pierre Laporte, the assassinated cabinet minister who was buried Tuesday.

Premier Bourassa announced the appointments as a temporary measure for 15 days while a permanent successor to Mr. Laporte is chosen.

Strong support for Act

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Robert Bourassa said Wednesday telegrams he has received since the invocation of the War Measures Act have been more than 99 per cent in favor of the part the Quebec government played in the federal government's move.

Mr. Bourassa told a news conference that he has received numerous telegrams from individual citizens and various labor and public groups since the act went into effect last Friday. For every one opposed to the action there have been 100 in favor, he said.

The Quebec government and the City of Montreal informed Ottawa that an emergency situation existed in the province before the act was invoked to give police extraordinary powers to fight FLQ terrorists.

Announce explosives seizures

MONTREAL (CP) — Police say they have seized 473 sticks of dynamite and 584 detonators in raids since the War Measures Act was invoked last Friday.

Although they did not specify the locations of the seizures, police sources said Wednesday the raids took place in Montreal, Joliette, St. Hubert, St. Bruno, St. Basile and in the Laurentian Mountains, about 50 miles north of here.

Police said that on one Laurentian farm, they seized a large quantity of sulphuric and nitric acid which they said could have been used to make explosives.

Police also reported the detention during the day of Nick au der Maur, a CBC story editor working with the Hourglass public affairs program.

More than 240 persons currently are being held by police after a province-wide crackdown on sympathizers of the Front de Liberation du Quebec, responsible for the kidnappings of James Cross and the late Pierre Laporte.

May publish detainee list

QUEBEC (CP) — Justice Minister Jerome Choquette said Wednesday he was thinking about publishing a list of the persons picked up in police raids under the War Measures Act invoked last Friday.

The told reporters just before entering a cabinet meeting he had not yet made up his mind and was going to discuss the matter with his colleagues.

Various federal MPs including Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield have suggested publication of such a list as a possible safeguard against abuse of wide police powers to arrest and hold persons without charge for up to 21 days under the act.

But it has also been argued that it would not be in the interests of those arrested to have their names published. In a statement issued in Montreal earlier Wednesday, Mr. Choquette said police have notified relatives or friends of all persons arrested in Quebec province under the act.

More than 300 persons have been picked up under the measures which specified they can be held without bail or charges for as long as 21 days.

IF YOU CAN'T BUY IT — PAVE IT! — This honored election time adage comes to mind again when one views the paving activity in the West Ward. This was the scene Tuesday on the stretch of Belvedere South between Short and King George Streets. In the Nov. 1 municipal election, incumbent Civic Action Alderman Tony Pinard is opposed for Seat No. 1 by Jean-Paul Lemieux of the Sherbrooke Party, Roger Gingues of Civic Action and independent Guy Boutin battling it out.

Old man Z, who used to play all the dummies in auction bridge columns, has started playing duplicate every Thursday. His one requirement is that he sit South, since he always played in that position in the old days.

North wanted to play JACOBY MODERN. Z complained that in his day conventions were something for political parties and large organizations, but he had looked over JACOBY MODERN and it seemed to be the simplest system currently available, so he would try it.

His two-heart response showed 4-6 high-card points. His partner bid three hearts. Z didn't want to raise with three trumps until he realized that he was going to play the heart contract. He was delighted to hear his partner's six bid but wasn't at all pleased with the opening lead.

Without a trump lead, it would have been a simple matter to ruff three of dummy's spades with his three trumps. Now he had a choice of ways to go after his contract.

The simple way would be to let the lead come around to his 10 and take a spade finesse.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Chadwick have returned home to Point Pleasant, New Jersey, after spending two weeks with relatives and friends in Waterville and Sherbrooke. They also visited her father, Jim Hand, now residing in the Wales Home where he celebrated his 91st birthday on Sept. 17.

Z never tried simple plays. His experience as the star of the auction bridge columns had taught him that simple plays didn't work for him.

Therefore, Z won the trick in dummy and led dummy's singleton club. East ducked without a quiver and Z, who never misguessed in his youth, wasn't going to start misguessing in his old age.

He went up with the king of clubs, tried the spade finesse in an effort to make seven and settled for ruffing out the 10 and six of spades.

He made his contract after the finesse lost.

Nominations should revive moribund election campaign

By CUTHBERT JONES

SHERBROOKE — Sherbrooke's municipal election campaign, which has been drifting along for the past weeks, should resume in full blast following the official nomination of candidates to be held at St. Michel School Sunday noon.

Under provincial law nominations are held one week ahead of the elections, which will be held Sunday, Nov. 1. In a statement issued Wednesday, Marcel Savard, chief of the Sherbrooke Party and its candidate for mayor, said he believes that today, more than ever, each ratepayer should familiarize himself with public affairs, especially during a period of confusion such as that through which we are now passing.

With the objective of rendering real service to everybody, Mr. Savard and his team are organizing a series of information meetings to be held in every ward during the week between nomination and election days.

"The purpose is to give exact information on our principal municipal problems," he said, "to analyze their possible repercussions and to suggest appropriate solutions. The Sherbrooke Party, as we know, has prepared a program after serious study and in a civic spirit, it invites its adversaries to come to debate these problems to better inform the ratepayers at this series of meetings which will be held Sunday in the South Ward, Monday in the South, Tuesday in the East, Wednesday in the West, Thursday in the Centre and Friday in the North."

To give these information meetings the character of civism which they deserve, a moderator, representing the information media and a stranger to the parties opposing each other in the present campaign, will preside at each gathering.

These public debates are sought by the Sherbrooke Party between the candidates in all wards to present the candidates in the fight and their programs.

Municipal election

The candidates:

Businessmen Bergeron, Fournier matched in Centre Ward seat 1

SHERBROOKE (CJ) — Two businessmen — a furniture store proprietor and an operator of a dry-cleaning establishment — are seeking election for Centre Ward Seat 1 in the Nov. 1 municipal elections.

One, Raymond Bergeron, has been on the council for about two years as a Civic Action representative, while the second, Sherbrooke Party candidate Andre Fournier, is a newcomer to the municipal arena.

A native of Bromptonville where he received his education, Raymond Bergeron moved to Sherbrooke in 1945 but continued his furniture business in the adjoining municipality for many years under the name of club, an alderman of the Town of

Civic Action's Bergeron

Bromptonville, a director of the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce, president of the Belvedere Golf Club and Raymond Bergeron, Ltee. In 1957 he became president of the T.V. Communautaire de Brompton, Inc., holding this post until 1963 when he assumed the presidency of Brompton Construction Inc. In 1964 he acquired the Galerie du Meuble Lanctot Inc., a furniture store operated by the Lanctot family on Marquette street. He still operates this business.

During his career he was active in community affairs, both in Sherbrooke, Bromptonville and throughout the district.

At various times he served as president of Amis de St. Benoit du Lac, president of Social Service, president of the Sherbrooke Beavers hockey

Spiro suggests govt. turn tables on media

CHICAGO (AP) — Vice-President Spiro T. Agnew suggests that a panel of United States government officials "examine" news commentators so that any prejudices the journalists may have could be brought before the public.

"The people who are watching that tube have a right to know what your opinions are if you happen to be a man who is telling the news every night," Agnew said in a television interview here Tuesday.

The vice-president said journalists can select parts of the news they wish to emphasize and by their language "can convey a point of view—that is not an editorial yet is colored by your own viewpoint."

"It would be very interesting," Agnew said, "to have a show—a panel type show where senators from either party, representatives, I suppose maybe a couple of governors—could sit down with someone who has a national reputation as a commentator and just examine him in depth on where he stands personally on the issues he talks about every day."

Agnew particularly mentioned Frank Reynolds and Howard K. Smith, anchormen on ABC evening news, and Eric Sevareid of CBS and did not directly include journalists in printed media. But a spokesman said later "you can safely assume" Agnew meant the print media too.

In New York, Sevareid said Wednesday night his general outlook, and that of other broadcasters like him, is well known by now. But he suggested that "the glare of public scrutiny" might better be turned on Agnew's ghost writers—"that stable of anonymity."

Sevareid spoke on the CBS evening news with Walter Cronkite. He said:

"If, after some 30 years and thousands of broadcasts, hundreds of articles and lectures and a few books, one's general cast of mind, warts and all, remain a mystery, then we're licked, and we fail to see how a few more minutes of examination by government types would solve the supposed riddle."

"Mr. Agnew wants to know where we stand. We stand—or rather sit—right here, in the full glare."

Sevareid said most reporters "look a bit frazzled, while Mr. Agnew looks so serene," and suggested it might be because reporters "have to think our own thoughts and write our own phrases."

"Unlike the vice-president, we don't possess a stable of ghost writers," he said. "Come to think of it, if there are mysteries around, unseen spirits motivating the public dialogue, maybe that's the place that could use the glare of public scrutiny—that stable of anonymity."

No speeches at meeting

SHERBROOKE — No speeches of 10 minutes duration or otherwise will be permitted at the filing of nominations this Sunday, city hall announced yesterday.

Some controversy had developed recently when it appeared that, with 24 persons seeking public office in the Nov. 1 municipal election, at least four hours of speechmaking would have to be endured.

There was talk of limiting remarks to the leaders of Sherbrooke's two political parties, but it was felt that this would be unfair to independent candidates.

And if independents were permitted to speak along with the two mayoralty candidates, it would be unfair to the aldermanic opponents of the independents.

So there will be no verbal confrontations at this time, and voters will have to await the Oct. 30 Channel 7 debate between Mayor Marc Bureau of Civic Action and Marcel Savard of the Sherbrooke Party.

INEQUITIES IN ABORTION LAW — Earlier this year, hundreds of women massed on Parliament Hill demonstrating in favor of abortions on demand. Under Canada's abortion law, a decision for abortion must be based on the threat of mental or physical damage to the woman from continued pregnancy and each application for an abortion must be approved by a committee of three physicians. The Canadian Medical Association Journal says inequities abound under the law. (CP Photo)

UN listens as Soviets take hard line on Middle East

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko took a hard line on the Middle East Wednesday, demanding immediate resumption of the Jarring peace talks without pre-conditions and denying "trumped up" charges that Egypt is violating the standstill ceasefire.

In a speech to the 25th anniversary session of the General Assembly, Gromyko charged Israel is blocking peace talks with Gunnar Jarring, UN Middle East peace envoy, because it desires to hold on to captured Arab lands.

He linked the United States with this desire and said Israeli troops must withdraw from the captured lands. Israel has boycotted the Jarring talks on the grounds that Egypt has violated the ceasefire by putting Soviet anti-aircraft missiles into the Suez canal ceasefire zone. It is supported by the U.S. and says it will not return to the talks until rectification of the violations is made.

Gromyko spoke on the same day as Israeli Premier Golda Meir who said that Israel is prepared to continue the present 90-day ceasefire "without a time limit." Egypt has said it is willing to extend the ceasefire for another 90 days past the Nov. 5 deadline.

Mrs. Meir also reiterated Israel's position on the Jarring mission, adding that Israel seeks to resume the talks and wants them to be fruitful.

WILL MEET JARRING
Later Mrs. Meir was to meet Jarring, the first formal meeting of an Israeli official with the Swedish diplomat since the boycott started this summer.

The standstill, under which Israel and Egypt agreed not to bring any new weapons into a 31-mile zone on both sides of the Suez, is part of the package initiated by State Secretary William Rogers of the U.S. to get the Jarring talks going again.

Gromyko indicated no spirit of conciliation on the Middle East. But in Europe he was somewhat softer, making it clear that the U.S. and Canada should be involved in a European security conference long sought by the East Europeans.

Gromyko said when there is agreement on all questions concerning the Middle East it must be "formalized in an appropriate document which would be valid in terms of international law."

Mrs. Meir also came to the 127-country assembly with Israel's call for direct negotiations with the Arab states. She called on all Arab nations to "recognize once and for all that the future of the Middle East lies in peace and this must be achieved by the Israelis and Arabs themselves."

A local specialist talks about medicare

By BILL TREXLER

SHERBROOKE — In this period of national crisis the heated controversy over Quebec's new medical services plan has been displaced from the forefront of the news media by the terrorist activity of the past two weeks.

But the conflict between the medical specialists and the provincial government is, however, far from resolution.

The Quebec National Assembly last Friday enacted Bill 41, which orders to specialists to resume practice or face fines and imprisonment of up to one year.

In a Canadian Medical Association press release last Sunday, the specialists said their return to practice was in no way forced by the threat of fines and imprisonment which Bill 41 applies to protesting physicians.

The press release read: "With the continued escalation of the national crisis that Canada is now suffering, it is the duty of every responsible citizen to support a return to normalcy as soon as possible. It is on this basis that the specialists are returning."

Some observers feel that the present crisis was a convenient way out for the doctors; the Canadian Medical Association emphatically denies that it was such.

Thus, none can be sure why normal medical services have been resumed. Only one prediction may be made with absolute certainty: unless the provincial government enacts major changes in the medicare plan, the confrontation will be resumed as soon as the national emergency is ended.

Dr. James Ross, a widely respected Sherbrooke surgeon, yesterday commented on the crux of the problem—the structure and administration of the medicare program.

A member of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons and the Quebec Federation of medical specialists, Dr. Ross views Quebec's new medicare program as unworkable, an opinion shared by many of his colleagues.

In yesterday's interview at Sherbrooke Hospital, he explained the history of Bill 8 which introduced the medicare scheme last July.

A major complaint of the specialists, he said, is that the program was drafted by the government without prior consultation with the medical profession. He pointed out that in all provinces offering medicare programs, their development was accomplished in close consultation with professional associations.

He cited a history of provincial disregard for medical opinion, and described the 1960 Quebec Hospital Insurance Act and the later Quebec Social Assistance Act as having been prepared "without any significant consultation with the medical profession."

The provincial government's attitude remained the same in the preparation of Quebec medicare Bill 8, he said.

"The government refused any significant consultation for a period of three years," he said, "again, a bill was developed completely by the Ministry of Health. In every other province there has been close and respected consultation as the program was formed."

Dr. Ross explained that the government has offered to discuss the fees regulated by the bill, but only after it became law. The structure of the bill, according to health minister Castonguay, has never been negotiable.

But far more than fees are involved in the doctors' prior refusal to cooperate with the new program.

Dr. Ross believes the medical profession finds two basic and unsolvable problems in the

First, he said, is the fact that Bill 8 "gave no guarantee to the medical profession that it would have control over its own activities." For example, he said, a doctor might feel that a patient he was treating for pneumonia required five house-visits per week. If the government plan considered only three visits per week justified in pneumonia cases, the physician would be faced with a choice of making two visits without payment or reducing the frequency of medical care.

Dr. Ross feels the result might well be a decline in the quality of medical care received by Quebec residents. Even if the patient wanted to pay the doctor for the extra care he required, it would not be permitted under the new law.

Where extra treatment and visits are required, the plan provides a review board to investigate. This commission will, in Dr. Ross' words, "be dominated by non-medical personnel."

If a doctor decided that the way he should practice medicine in the best interests of his patient was different from the government standard, Dr. Ross said the physician would "be talking primarily to economists."

The professional feeling against medical standards being regulated by non-medical personnel is strong. "We would certainly accept any type of medical control if it came through the College of Physicians and Surgeons," he said, but pointed out that under the present system this group "is only in a capacity of consultation."

If the non-medical review commission feels a type of treatment is economically impractical, it is perfectly free to reject the opinion of the medical authorities, Dr. Ross explained.

The second problem seen by Dr. Ross and his colleagues is that no provision has been made for a physician who wishes to remain outside the program in private practice.

Dr. Ross feels that due to teaching responsibilities, type of practice, and financial considerations, many physicians would wish to opt out of the medicare scheme. They are not presently permitted to do so, and under proposed amendments even if they could they would be financially penalized for doing so.

Dr. Ross described an additional benefit which he believes would result from placing an option clause in the legislation.

"If an individual or as a profession as a whole you felt the medicare program was not functioning properly, you would have a way of protesting without stopping practice," he said. He described permitting physicians to quit the program as "a safety valve against future strikes."

Experiences have shown that in other provinces where a medicare program has been developed with close consultation with the medical profession, few doctors refuse to participate. Dr. Ross said, "In British Columbia no doctor has chosen to opt-out of the medicare program for over three years," he said.

From a public point of view, he feels permitting physicians to remain outside the program would allow patients better access to the doctors of their choice, who might not be available under the present plan.

Financially, he sees the new medicare program as a disaster to Quebec physicians. According to Dr. Ross, the fees paid by Quebec will be 30-40 per cent less than those paid in other provinces for exactly the same services. "It's just not reasonable to believe that doctors will choose to practice in this framework," he said.

When asked to comment on Quebec Bill 41, which orders physicians to resume practice, Dr. Ross explained that if he offered any criticism of the bill he would be liable to a fine of from five to 50 thousand dollars and imprisonment for up to one year under the terms of the new legislation.

Thus, the public will be provided with only the government's opinion of its own legislation.

Dr. Ross did, however, feel that he could comment on what he feels the results of the bill will be.

"I think that a lot of doctors will leave the province within the next year," he said. He further predicted a "progressive deterioration in the availability of health care in Quebec."

"My personal opinion is that the public would become aware of this only after it has happened," he commented. "It will inevitably result in a serious deterioration in the quality of medical care for the people of the Province of Quebec."

Industry in brief

Apply Asbestos surface, bridge nears completion

EAST BROUGHTON — For vehicle operators who will shortly cross the newly completed $57-million, six-lane Laporte Bridge linking the Quebec City area with the Trans-Canada Highway and with communities on the south shore of the St. Lawrence, asbestos helps pave the way.

The bridge was originally to be called the Frontenac bridge, but was changed by order-in-council Wednesday, in honor of the late Pierre Laporte, kidnapped and murdered by the FLQ.

Carey-Canadian Mines, of East Broughton, supplied 116,000 pounds of its "Pavebest" brand Grade 7M fibre for mixing with the asphalt, cement, crushed stone and other materials used in the big paving job.

Four and a half years in the building, the Laporte Bridge's 2,190-foot suspended span is the longest in Canada. Anchored by two 127,000-ton concrete blocks, the wires used in the main suspension cables would stretch 17,000 miles if laid out.

The suspension bridge provides two divided highways, each split into three lanes, for traffic heading into and out of Quebec City, five miles east. Paving its 3,715-foot-long deck took 3,400 tons of asphalt-asbestos-cement mixture, laid two inches deep.

Consisting of two per cent asbestos fibre, two per cent Portland cement, 7 1/2 per cent liquid asphalt, 35 per cent crushed stone and the balance in sand, the mixture was poured onto a sand-asphalt bed that, in turn, was laid on a thin, fibrous glass membrane.

Domtar mill employees approve wage agreement

WINDSOR — The management of Domtar Fine Papers Ltd., the representatives of the "Syndicat canadien des travailleurs des papiers de Windsor Inc." and the Canadian Federation of Pulp and Paper and Forest Workers (CNTU) are pleased to announce that they have reached agreement on the terms of a new 2 1/2 year collective agreement for the 660 mill employees. Union members have ratified the agreement.

The new collective agreement, expiring April 30, 1973, calls for a general increase of 65 cents an hour, consisting of 25 cents from November 1, 1970; 25 cents from November 1, 1971; and 15 cents an hour for the final six months of the agreement.

The agreement also provides wage adjustments of 13 cents an hour for class "A" tradesmen and stationary engineers as well as adjustments ranging from 3 to 15 cents per hour for other jobs. These adjustments affect more than 40 per cent of the employees.

Premiums for employees working on the evening shift and on the night shift will increase by 2 cents per hour during the period.

The increases will bring the basic hourly rate to $3.42 and the rate of class "A" tradesmen to $4.37. The added premium of 15 cents an hour paid for continuous operation is maintained in accordance with the agreement already concluded between the parties.

Among the increased employee benefits are two additional paid holidays, and four weeks vacation after 17 years of service starting January 1st, 1971, and after 15 years of service starting January 1st, 1972.

The insurance plan has been improved by an accrued contribution from the Company. The pension plan has also been improved to provide for an accrued pension from January 1st, 1971, in addition to voluntary early retirement at age 62 without actuarial reduction from January 1st, 1973.

The agreement also provides for the elimination of time clocks in the mill.

$1,000 collected at Stanstead IODE bazaar

STANSTEAD — The proceeds of the Stanstead Chapter IODE bazaar held on Oct. 3 will exceed $1,000 it was noted at the regular meeting of the chapter held on Oct. 5, in Stanstead College Le Baron Hall reception room.

The regent, Mrs. W. B. Dustin, thanked everyone who had any part to make this such a success. Mrs. Dustin also announced that she, Mrs. Ellen Wallbridge and Mrs. W. T. Greer would be attending the provincial chapter semi-annual meeting at Shawinigan in mid-October.

Two letters of appreciation were read for a scholarship and a nursing bursary granted by the chapter to two local students.

Mrs. K. E. Baldwin, educational secretary, recommended "readers award crests" be given to students of Sunnyside Grade 6 who meet the requirements.

Mrs. Howard Aikman, secretary of services at home and abroad, asked the members to bring in suitable gifts at the November meeting to be sent (unwrapped) to Douglas Hospital in Verdun. A sum of $25 was also voted from the funds for Christmas gifts to be purchased and sent by a committee of Mrs. Howard Majury and Mrs. W. B.

Dustin, to Quebec far North for Indian and Eskimo children.

A vote of appreciation was given to Mrs. W. Hoffman, Mrs. Enid Cooke and Mrs. Helen Edgar, not IODE members but who assisted a great deal for the Oct. 3 tea. Appreciation will also be sent the 18 teenage girls who acted as waitresses and did an excellent job.

Further donations to the Bazaar were received from Mrs. Margo Skelton and Mrs. A. H. Scarth, both members unable to be at the bazaar.

Delmar White was the guest speaker of the afternoon and he spoke about the hot lunch program at Sunnyside School of which he is volunteer chairman.

His talk was informative, mentioning there are two cooks who prepare the lunch and do the work. He spends about five hours a week doing purchasing, banking, and keeping the books. They are also assisted by the school secretary, Mrs. Patrick Deslandes.

Mr. White mentioned that the cafeteria serves from eight to 14 and sometimes more children from needy homes and it is to this fund that donations such as the IODE make possible this service.

Mr. While said the menu is changed each day and is of a good balanced lunch quality. The costs to operate amount to approximately $240. Last year there were 396 cheques issued.

A question period followed Mr. White was introduced by Mrs. George Hatch and thanked by Mrs. I. Lennox.

Afternoon tea was served by Mrs. W. T. Greer and Mrs. H. Skelton.

SKIING
and Snowmobiling
in the Townships

by Charles Catchpugh

Snow, please!
Both skiers and snowmobilers are anxious for winter, and most of our winter sportsmen are hoping they'll be out playing soon.

The Massawippi Valley Snowmobile Club Inc., formed last season to create better understanding between members and outifters, has the following officers for this year: George Cheal, president; Roberta Little, secretary-treasurer; Lea Swallow, vice-president; and Clarence Kendall, Norman Hatch, Robert Woollerton and Donald Little, directors.

The group held its first meeting of the season Oct. 15.

The Canadian Ski Patrol is organizing a party at Glen Mountain Ski Resort for Oct. 31 at 8:00 p.m.

Music will be provided, and a fully licenced bar will be open. All are welcome.

Eddie Creed, alpine chairman of the Canadian Ski Association, announces a reshuffling of the coaching staff so that more attention can be paid to the details of the development of alpine skiing and of racers for the National Ski Team.

Al Raine, who has held the post of head coach for the past two years, now will assume the position of alpine program director, and the job of head coach will be assigned to men's and women's coaches Gilbert Mollard and Peter Franzen.

As head coaches of the men's and women's teams, Mollard and Franzen will direct these programs separately within the alpine program.

Claude Dumontier, who was Mollard's assistant trainer last season, becomes men's trainer and will work directly with Mollard.

Larry Nelles and Don Lyon will coach the men's and women's Can-Am teams.

When the Canadian Ski Association changed its constitution at the annual meeting last June, Creed, who was the former international competitions committee chairman, was given the newly created post of alpine chairman and he, together with an alpine committee, is now responsible for all duties dealing with alpine skiing in Canada.

This covers races at all levels, official suppliers' programs, technical work, special such as the World Cup, Can-Am series and Pontiac Cup, and international liaison with the Federation Internationale du Ski.

The alpine committee has the responsibility of developing, through junior programs throughout the country, racers for the National Team. All this work is organizational, and Raine becomes director of that department.

The head coaches' responsibilities now are only with the teams they coach, and Raine will be giving Mollard and Franzen full authority with respect to those teams.

Richmond soccer team takes division title

By ANNE McCOURT

Richmond Regional High School senior boys' soccer team returned from tournament competition in Granby Saturday, Oct. 17, with top honors in their division.

The title was won on the basis of a 3-0 shutout victory over Victoriaville and a 5-1 whopping of l'Estrée of Sherbrooke.

Both Dave Horan, who scored two goals, and Peter George, who netted one, put in an extremely good day.

The junior team lost a close 2-1 decision to l'Estrée as Ron Melsbach scored for Richmond.

The bantams registered a 1-0 win over Granby. Ross Brotzman scoring the game's only goal, and played to a scoreless tie with l'Estrée. Despite their undefeated record, they missed the division crown on goals.

In girls' soccer action, late goals ruled the day at King's Hall, Compton.

The junior team squeezed out a 1-0 victory on Johann Beliveau's final period tally, while the seniors lost by the same 1-0 count on another late goal.

RUNNING

The cross country running team travelled to Stanstead College for a meet yesterday and will compete in another at Bishop's College School, Lennoxville, Saturday, Oct. 24.

The school has had fantastic staff and student support for the Cross Canada Marathon event. The total for only three days is 1,776.65 miles — an average of 1 1/2 miles per student.

VOLLEYBALL

Interhouse volleyball starts this week with one third of the students having already signed up. This response is indicative of the high level of school spirit at Richmond, pointing to a great year for the school sports program.

North Stars dump Canucks on Gilbert's goaling

By AL McNEIL
MONTREAL (CP) — Third period goals by wingers Bill Goldworthy and Danny Grant, plus an outstanding goaltending performance by rookie Gilles Gilbert Wednesday night, gave Minnesota North Stars a 3-1 win over Montreal Canadiens in a National Hockey League game.

Centre Jude Drouin, last season's rookie of the year with the American Hockey League Montreal Voyageurs, scored the other Minnesota goal in the second period, while Montreal defenceman Guy Lapointe contributed the losers' only goal on a first period power play.

Gilbert, a 21-year-old native of St. Esprit, Que., a hamlet 25 miles north of here, was playing only his second NHL game. He had appeared in one game with the North Stars last season, losing a 6-2 decision to Pittsburgh Penguins.

The usually partisan crowd of 15,425 home-town fans gave young Gilbert a fine reception in the one-sided second period when he stopped 23 of Montreal's 47 shots, while his teammates earned one goal on the nine they managed at Montreal's Phil Myre.

The North Stars wound up with 29 shots for their night's work, after Canadiens outshot them 13-9 in the opening period and 23-9 in the second 20 minutes. Each club had 11 shots in the final period.

ROBS MONTREAL
With Canadiens holding a 1-0 lead at the four-minute mark of the second period, Gilbert made a tremendous skate save off Canadiens' Jacques Laperriere. He then proceeded to take almost certain goals away from Jacques Lemaire and Peter Mahovich as the Stars' Barry Gibbs was off for slashing one minute later.

Mid-way through the period he robbed Lemaire twice, Laperriere, and Mahovich again, to keep the North Stars within a goal-goal range.

Drouin contributed his second season goal at 17:47 of the middle frame when he combined with another pair of ex-Canadians Bobby Rousseau and Danny Grant to beat Myre on Rousseau's rebound.

Less than one minute after Drouin's goal, Lemaire thought he had finally solved the puzzle of Gilbert as the goal judge flashed the light.

However, referee Lloyd Gilmour was right on the scene and indicated the young netminder had indeed flashed his hand upwards in time to catch the Montreal player's hard drive.

At 14:15 of the final period Goldworthy scored his first season goal after taking a drop pass from Murray Oliver. Grant sewed up the game 41 seconds later as he beat Myre after taking a rink-wide pass from Drouin.

The loss was the second in six starts this season for the Canadiens and left them tied for first place in the NHL's East Division with Boston Bruins and New York Rangers. The three clubs have eight points each, but the Bruins have two games in hand on Montreal and one on New York.

AGRHS won with 21 points, eight fewer than runner-up Lyndon Institute of Lyndon, Vt.

The host team placed third with 33 points, followed by Lyndon's "B" team, Alexander Galt's "B" group

AGRHS football

LENNOXVILLE (SA)
— Alexander Galt Regional High School's bantam football squad blanked Bishop's College School 27-0 yesterday at BCS.

Danny Speck, who spent part of the game at a new position — quarterback — led the scoring parade with three touchdowns.

Dave Nichol added a major, and Wally Hartwell registered another milestone in this year of firsts in Alexander Galt football, booting a field goal for the other three points.

Today all three AGRHS boys' soccer teams, senior, intermediate and bantam, see action at BCS against that school's respective representatives.

Clash with Remparts crucial to success

SHERBROOKE (SA)
— Quebec Junior "A" Hockey League followers, wherever they may be around the circuit, will be looking toward this city tonight to see how the surprising Sherbrooke Beavers fare against the undefeated Quebec City Remparts.

Having five victories to their credit in five outings, coach Maurice Filion's charges are a point behind the Beavers, who have 11 points on five wins, a loss and a tie.

With the opposition holding two games in hand, tonight's game is crucial for the Sherbrooke side and should tell a lot about just how good the local team is.

Since the opening of the season Lou Poliquin has had his skaters playing very fine hockey.

The defence, led by newcomer Denis Gingras and veterans Jean Lemieux and Gerald Lecompte, has been doing a creditable job in protecting goaltenders Yves Belanger and Yvon Pouliot.

These two have a combined goals against average of 3.56 and have blocked 85 per cent of the enemy shots they have faced.

Offensively, coach Poliquin was worried about the team's output. Only Claude St-Sauveur, Gaston Boulanger and Normand Dube were producing with any degree of regularity. Gilbert Smith, the big gun who won the league scoring title in 1969-70, waited until the season's fifth game to record his first marker.

Last Sunday night's contest in St. Jerome heartened coach

LOU POLIQUIN

Poliquin somewhat, however, as other members of the club took up the slack when Dube, St-Sauveur and Boulanger were held in check. Smith, for one, broke loose with a hat-trick.

The Remparts' Filion can boast stars of the mold of Guy Lafleur and Jacques Richard, but the Beavers' Poliquin wouldn't want anyone to underestimate St-Sauveur or Dube, who is now probably the most proficient utility man in the QJHL as well as a dangerous scorer.

A record crowd is expected to be in attendance for the 8:00 game when the Beavers seek to knock the Remparts from the ranks of the unbeaten.

With an average count of 3,287 for the first three home games of the year, the evidence is in that Sherbrooke fans will turn out in numbers to view a winner. Hopefully, the best is yet to come.

ECONOMICAL — Fast Delivery —

Water pollution-a complex problem for the ET

SHERBROOKE — It is indeed strange that even in a setting rich with natural beauty man cannot find sufficient reason to prevent inundating himself in his own filth.

The rolling hill country of the Eastern Townships would seem, at first glance, to provide a pleasant alternative to the thoroughly polluted environment of the urban center.

It could be such an alternative, but instead its inhabitants choose to choke its lakes with their excrement, its rivers with their industrial waste, and its air with the smoke from their burning garbage.

Most of those who do so do not view it as a matter of choice, but rather one of economic necessity. Ayer's Cliff, a community of 450 taxpayers, sought to treat its sewage before flushing it into the watershed. The projected cost — $1.3 million or nearly $3,000 each.

In the booming economy of southern Ontario, that figure would present certain difficulties; in southern Quebec, it becomes out of the question.

At the present time, the major damage from pollution can be found in the water. The City of Sherbrooke operates 27 pumping stations along the St. Francis River, according to a city official. Not one of these is equipped with any means to treat or purify the sewage of nearly 100,000 people whose waste materials flow raw into the river.

The pulp and paper industry, once the backbone of the Quebec economy, was the pioneer in developing a multitude of methods for destroying rivers. Conversely, it is now one of the few industries genuinely concerned with correcting its damage.

At the Domtar mill operation in East Angus, engineering director Robert Dubeau described the company's efforts to combat pollution. In the past, he said, all the production wastes were removed directly to the river.

In 1967, joint testing by Domtar and the Provincial government confirmed suspicions of an unusually high degree of pollution. As a result, the company has installed a filtration system to remove the bark, fibres, and chips that once clogged the St. Francis river.

Regular daily tests are conducted by metering devices which cannot be manipulated, and a quarterly report is submitted to the provincial government.

The Quebec Water Board permits the dumping of three per cent of production, but Mr. Dubeau considers the company to be well below that level.

Odors from paper mills are not regulated by authorities. These odors originate in the recovery systems of the plant and are, according to Mr. Dubeau, difficult to remove. The problem at East Angus, he said, is a 44-year-old recovery system not adaptable to new anti-pollution devices.

A large investment is required for a new system, but he said one will definitely be installed within the next two years.

Mr. Dubeau said special sections of the company and the Canadian Pulp and Paper Assoc. provide plant managers with assistance in combatting pollution. But despite these efforts and an estimated expense of several hundred thousand dollars in the campaign to clean up the St. Francis, the Domtar chimneys now pour out the smoke from the burning material which used to deteriorate in the water.

The Domtar experience shows the difficulty of the situation — should they contaminate the river or the air, install costly anti-pollution devices in an unsuitable old plant or build a new one elsewhere and ruin the town's economy? There are answers, but none is a solution.

The industrial town of Valcourt has received permission from the Quebec Water Board to remove 1.5 million gallons of water daily from Lake Bowker in Orford Township. A control dam will be built which experts believe will cause the lake to become low and stagnant, according to their testimony at a formal hearing in Sherbrooke last month.

Referring to the project, deputy mayor of Orford Jean-Guy Depot said, "It will ruin the ecology of the area by lowering the water level."

The town of Valcourt cannot utilize the water from its own nearby source, the Riviere Noire, because of its high pollution. Large quantities of water are needed for the manufacturing processes at the new Bombardier Ski-Doo plant.

Ironically, a Bombardier spokesman admitted that the company pours its waste materials into a feeder stream of Riviere Noire, the river which it considers too polluted for its use.

ZERO OXYGEN

At the B.F. Goodrich plant in Waterville, manager Harry Krichew described the neighboring Coaticook River as incapable of supporting life. "The oxygen content is zero," he said.

Want to clean up

At every company and municipal authority interview by The Record the attitude was the same; they want to clean up, the difficulty is finding the large sums necessary to do so in a time of economic difficulty.

One answer suggested by several plant managers was provincial tax benefits for the purchase of anti-pollution devices, similar to those long offered by Ontario. Each of the companies interviewed said it would consider such a tax benefit a strong incentive to spend more money fighting pollution.

But until such benefits are offered or strong provincial legislations passed, the pollution picture in the area is unlikely to improve — it can only become worse.

He told The Record that the president of B.F. Goodrich has assured him that whenever any coordinated effort is made to save the river, the company will immediately receive the funds to participate.

But to date, little effort and certainly no unified effort has been made to reclaim the river. The town of Compton received permission from the Quebec Water Board to pump raw sewage into the Coaticook only two miles above the Waterville B.F. Goodrich plant.

"We're very discouraged about this," Mr. Krichew said, and pointed out that under such conditions it would be ridiculous for the company to install the costly anti-pollution systems it contemplates.

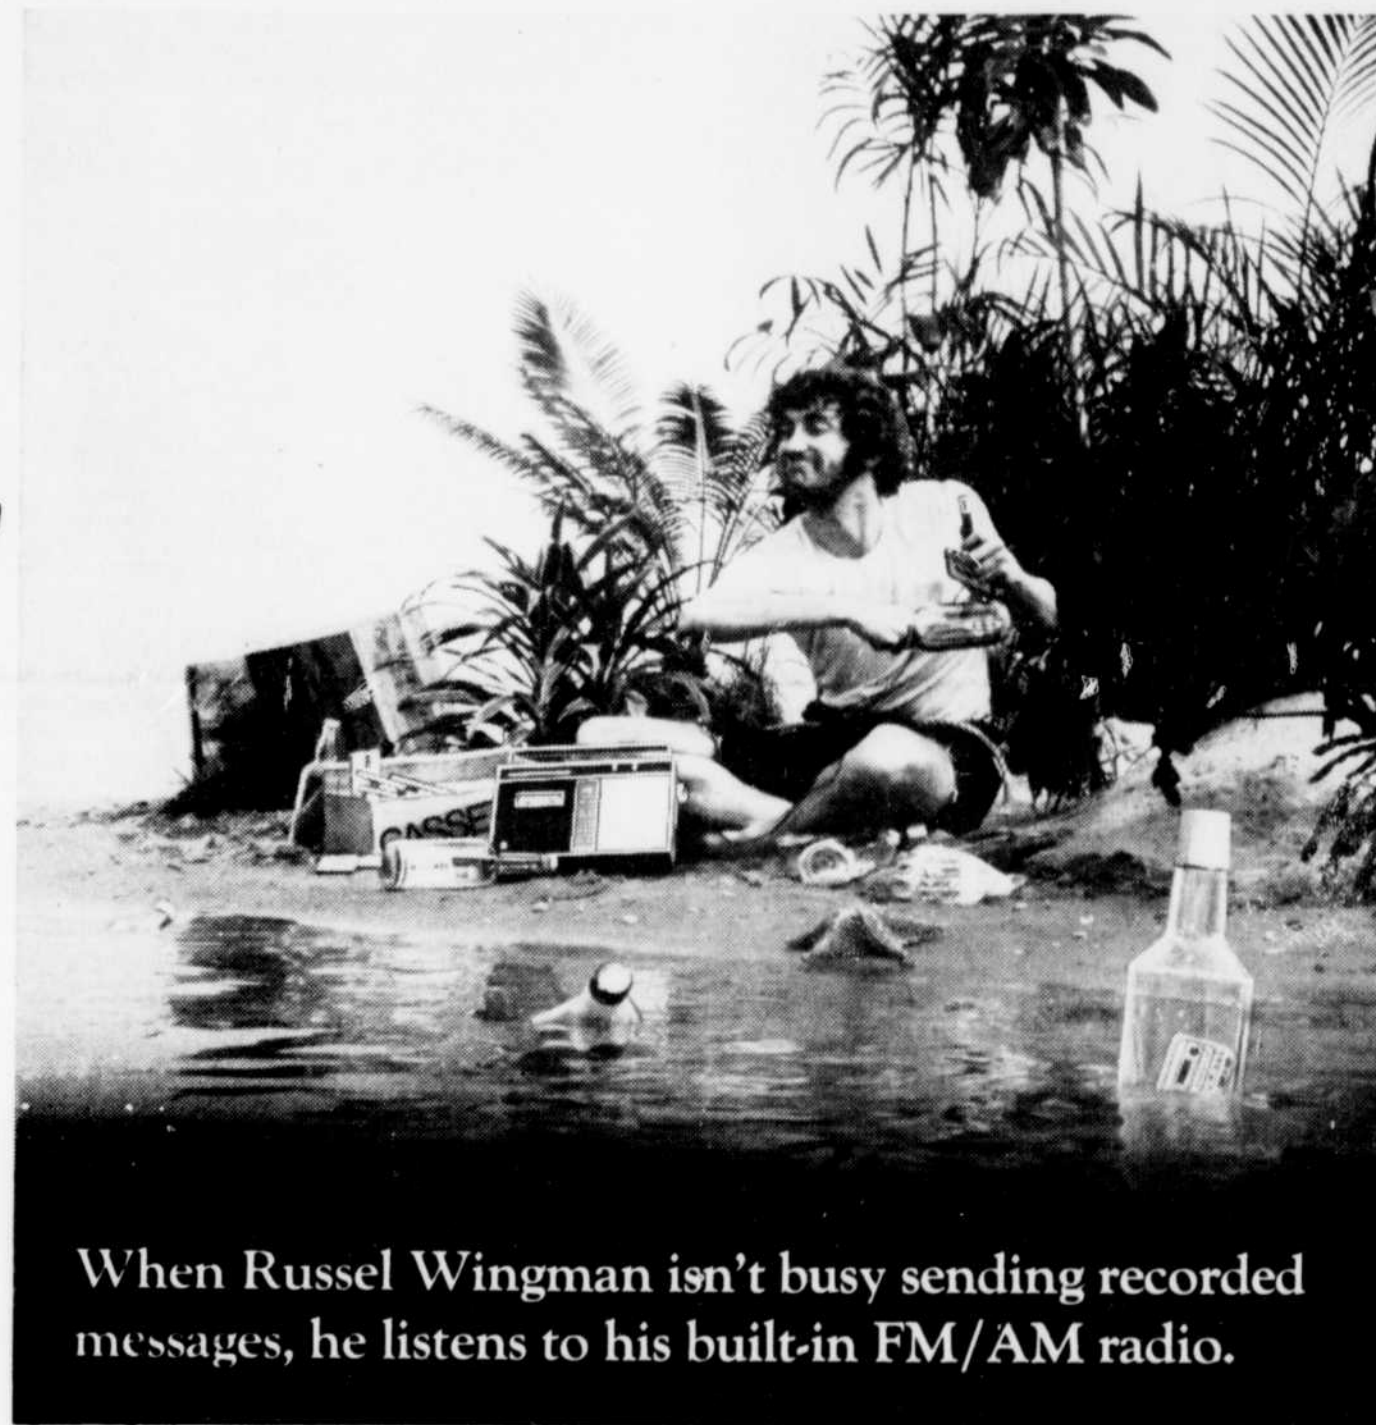

Mr. Krichew believes that only government policy and enforced legislation can tackle the pollution problem. "There's only one place leadership can come from — that's the provincial government," he said.

In North Hatley and other communities surrounding Lake Massawippi, the struggle for the lake's survival continues.

North Hatley has hired a full-time inspector to investigate sources of pollution and take action, but the town still pumps its raw sewage into the Massawippi River because it cannot afford the quarter-million dollar treatment plant it requires.

Raw sewage drains into lakes

When Russel Wingman isn't busy sending recorded messages, he listens to his built-in FM/AM radio.

Rumor has it that someone somewhere is giving us a lot of free publicity. You see, when we built our portable cassette tape recorders, we made sure they'd come in handy. So, in addition to the simple-to-work cassette tape recorder, we included an FM/AM radio. In one model, we even put a true FM/stereophonic radio with separate speakers. In all of them, we put fast forward and fast rewind.

And automatic recording level indicators. Capstan Drive for constant speed and better sound. And almost all of them we built to work on batteries or house current. So walk into any Panasonic dealer and ask to see one of our many many cassette tape recorders. Tell our dealer Russel Wingman sent you.

STAGNANT WATERS SHOW CONTAMINATION

UNFILTERED SMOKE STACKS

... air contamination too

To most people, it seemed unlikely that the air of the Eastern Township's would one day be as completely contaminated as the region's water. But the prospect is now a distinct possibility.

Open burning of town dumps in Waterville, Ascot, Cookshire, and many other towns often creates an umbrella of acid smoke.

Bishop's University, which conducts numerous pollution studies, burns its refuse in an open dump on the campus.

Industry has made no effort to control the filth belched daily from its smokestacks. Investigation by The Record could not find a single plant in which an emission control device had been installed.

In Sherbrooke, foundry operations pour out a continual cloud which hangs over the city when wind conditions are calm.

NON-PRODUCTIVE EXPENSE

At Canadian Unicast Steel on Belvedere Street, an official explained that dust particles from burning steel scrap are blown out of the building (and into the surrounding area) by evacuator fans. The only way to remove this source of pollution is through dust collectors which the company describes as a "high non-productive expense."

"We know what we need," the official said, "it's a matter of economics, nothing more." He said that the emission-control devices are already designed, but would not be installed until some provincial law was passed compelling the company to purchase them.

The same attitude was described as the policy of Canadian Ingersoll-Rand by an employee who asked to remain anonymous. Again, the company is ready to install anti-pollution devices in its foundry, but only when required by legislation to do so, according to the employee.

An official news release said "Canadian Ingersoll-Rand is constantly reviewing its manufacturing techniques and methods to ensure everything that is economically possible is being done to maintain control over any emissions brought about by the CIRCO manufacturing processes in Sherbrooke."

The smoke from the company's stack would indicate that an adequate anti-pollution system is not considered an economic possibility.

Meal Plan Handbook Guides to Right Eating

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

Let's discuss an "optimal" diet for you. The American Heart Association has a fat-controlled, low-cholesterol meal plan, entitled "The Way to a Man's Heart" that will help you. Write or call your nearest heart association and ask them to send you one. If you want a good book of tables listing the calorie, fat content and cholesterol value of foods, write to the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C., and request the book, "Composition of Foods, Raw, Processed, Prepared," U.S. Department of Agriculture, Agriculture Handbook No. 8, Washington, D.C. It costs $1.50.

The diet I recommend for adults should contain less than 70 grams of fat and more than 70 grams of protein daily. That is equal to about 3 1/2 ounces of beef fat and protein equivalent to about 11 ounces of lean beef.

Over half of the daily fat allowance should be unsaturated fat. The limitation of fat helps to keep the calorie intake at acceptable levels.

To stay at such a low fat level and still eat over 70 grams of protein a day, you can't eat too much margarine of any type or lots of avocados, even though most of their fat content is of the "saturated" type. Your protein intake on a balanced diet will entail eating some fat.

I also recommend avoiding excess cholesterol (technically less than 450 milligrams daily). You can do this by avoiding egg yolks, butter fat and organ meats (liver, kidneys, heart, etc.), and also limiting shellfish to once a week. Remember, even lean beef and other protein sources will contain some cholesterol.

The rest of the diet should be made up of carbohydrates. The amount of carbohydrate depends on how many calories you need. If you need to lose weight, don't add too many. Remember, for an adequate amount of food with essential vitamins and minerals, spend your carbohydrate calories on vegetables, cereals and fruits. If you use too much sugar you will eat a lot of calories without getting enough essential nutrients. Be sure to get enough vitamin C, found in fresh fruits and tomatoes.

Control your calorie intake to a level to avoid dangerous fat deposits. If you can achieve these goals in your diet you will have done a great deal for your health.

Dear Doctor—Can you tell who is the father of a baby from a blood test?

Dear Reader—No. Sometimes you can tell who is NOT the father. If the child has a different blood type than either the mother or the questionable father, it is clear that some other man must indeed be the real father. However, even if the questionable father and the baby have the same blood type, that does not prove that another man with the same blood type wasn't the actual father.

Ploughmen's night is a booming success

By IVY HATCH

HATLEY — All roads seemed to lead to Hatley village on Saturday night for the annual banquet and program of the Stanstead County Ploughmen's Association.

The women of the United church served an excellent family style turkey dinner with close to 300 persons present.

The program took place in the village hall which was filled to capacity with men, women and children.

George Hatch, Rock Island, showed some of his slides taken in the County including a few of the 1970 plowing matches, including one at the farm of Leslie and Ethel Bliss on the Fairfax Road on October 10. Dale Miller also supplied some slides of past matches.

Howard Ayer, the Association secretary, in the absence of President Wayland Pope, was emcee. Mr. Ayer welcomed the large number attending and he introduced Narcisse Dery, the County agronomist. Mr. Dery spoke in French and English, congratulating the people who ploughed and said so far it's the best. He spoke pertinent information about soil and that there is now a laboratory at Sherbrooke where soil would be tested for no charge. He referred to a formula used for better soil and harvest results. "So far about 80 per cent of the soil tested has shown too much lime use and too much is worse than none." He suggested soil analysis before using more lime.

Richie Harrison, a vice-president of the Association, spoke briefly. Mrs. Harrison, on behalf of the assembly, voiced appreciation to the women who served the supper, which is always an excellent way to end a successful match.

Mr. Ayer also mentioned the good work of the judges, Lem Clark and Mel Page, and that Mr. Page has now retired as a judge. His last judging was at this Association Match on October 10. Mr. Ayer also thanked the Sam Hopper family for the loan of their P.A. system.

There was a total prize value of $827.50 of this amount $355.00 was in merchandise and $472.50 in cash. A $100.00 grant is received from each of the Government and the County Council, others come from Municipalities, individuals and merchants and businesses of the County, "without whose help we could not have a Match" said Mr. Ayer as he thanked the donors.
