New Six-Car Quyon Ferry Due To Operate By May 1

To the soft hiss and flare of welders' torches, a new ferry is rapidly taking form on the banks of the Ottawa River at Quyon. The new six-car ferry, to be completed about May 1, is being built by Eddie McColgan of Quyon to replace the old two-car ferry owned by Angus McLean of Quyon. The old ferry, now leased from Mr. McLean by Mr. McColgan, is expected to go into operation on Saturday, and will continue in service until the new ferry is completed.

To cost an estimated $10,000, the new ferry will accommodate 6 cars at each crossing of the Ottawa to Fitzroy and back, it will be 50 feet long and 25 feet wide, and will be powered by an 87 HP Acadia gas marine engine. Equipped with navigational lights and a powerful search light, the ferry will be able to operate at night. Present plans call for an operating schedule starting at 8 am each day and ending at midnight. Eddie McColgan will be assisted in the operation of the ferry by Joe Kilbride.

The federal department of Public Works has already done some work on improving the docking facilities for the ferry, but has so far done nothing about installing adjustable landings at the docks. Pontiac's federal member, Hugh Proudfoot, is reported to be trying to have the matter attended to, but it is doubtful that the work on these landing can be done this year.

Typical of the progress now being made throughout the Pontiac in many lines of endeavour, the inauguration of the larger, faster ferry and the improved service it will offer, will be a milestone in the history of Quyon of which its residents may be justifiably proud.

The new ferry service will undoubtedly draw Lower Pontiac even closer to Eastern Ontario that it has been in the past, and will have the further advantage to both Provinces of attracting a heavier flow of tourists to the area.

Some will view the passing of Angus McLean's ferry, which has served the Quyon-Fitzroy run for fifty years, with nostalgic regret. There is however little room for sentiment when progress is concerned, and the vastly superior service available through Mr. McColgan's ferry will be a sure source of rejoicing amongst the many people who have occasion to use it.

Rotary Club Undertakes Easter Seal Campaign

The Rotary Club of Shawville has once more undertaken the sponsoring of the Easter Seals Campaign in this community. Last week folders were sent to individuals in the area asking that they support this campaign to raise funds for crippled and handicapped children.

The folder being used for mailing this year is novel in every way and represents the eyes of children looking at YOU. These eyes look at you with confidence, knowing you will care enough to help a crippled child. They look directly at you. You cannot get away from their appeal. These eyes invite you to make this a united gift to the helpless by listing contributions from each member of the family, a novel approach to the "but my husband takes care of these things" excuse.

These eyes remind you that once again Easter Seals provide the means to meet the challenge of the crippled and the handicapped. You cannot close your heart to this appeal.

This unusual approach to an age old problem includes an added little suggestion this year. It states that although return postage of the folder will be paid by the campaign organizers it would nevertheless mean many hundreds of extra dollars to our cripples if every donor paid his own return postage.

Although the Shawville Rotary Club and the Easter Seals Campaign try to keep their lists up to date there are literally hundreds of people every year who do not receive an invitation to contribute. These people can nevertheless donate money by sending it to the Shawville Rotary Club's Campaign secretary Mr. John Tolhurst who will see that they receive an official receipt for their money.

Kindergarten And Commerce Class For Shawville High School 57-58

Having ascertained the need of a Kindergarten Class at the Shawville High School, the school board had no trouble in finding a fully qualified teacher to take on the particular group. Miss Nancy Hodgins specialized in this work at Macdonald College and has been gaining experience in grade one since graduation. Today the Pontiac County Protestant Central School Board has issued a statement that "Kindergarten is to be added to the general course of study at the Shawville High School in the 1957-58 school year."

"The acquisition of these two courses has been under very active study by the Clarendon and Central School Boards for some considerable time, and will fulfill a need that has been receiving general support from the community at large", writes Mr. Ken Musgrove, Secretary Treasurer of the PCPSB.

The "two courses" referred to above are the new Kindergarten and a proposed Commerce class. Details of the operation of the Commerce class will be worked out during the summer months but it is announced that the class will probably be in the hands of Mrs. Bernice Crawford and Mr. Jack Grant.

Mrs. Crawford, who will move to Shawville with her ten year old son, is coming from Beebe, Quebec. Mr. Grant is from New

200 Visit Kenney's At 50th Anniversary

Fort Coulonge—The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. M. Kenney was the scene of splendour and a joyous and happy occasion allround when Mr. and Mrs. Kenney celebrated their 50th Wedding Anniversary, Thursday, March 28.

A host (approximately 200) of relatives and friends called to extend their congratulations to the couple on the occasion of their Golden Jubilee.

They were married March 28, 1907 in Fort Coulonge by the late Rev. J. A. Reddon, minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Their son, Norman received the guests and their two daughters, (Fay), Mrs. Wm. Donlan and (Phyllis) Mrs. Felix Spence assisted by Mrs. Michael Dempsey and Mrs. Jos. Jewell attended to serving the guests while Mrs. Ollie (Lill) Proulx of Aylmer, cousin and close family connection poured the tea.

Music supplied (on request) by son Billy and soloists were son Norman, daughter Phyllis and Mrs. Thos. Neville.

One very pleasant and touching moment was when son Arthur, called on phone from Oyama, BC, 2800 miles west and received congratulations from (very clearly) Mr. and Mrs. Art Kenney and two daughters Judy and Maureen and son Billy.

Prospecting for radioactive minerals in the map-area has been extensive and workings are numerous. There is also an old iron prospect in Litchfield township.

25 Ground Observers Invested Last Week

Strange aircraft over Pontiac and Gatineau have little chance of going unobserved or unnoted in these days of world tension. This was amply demonstrated on Thursday evening, March 28th when 135 sharp-eyed Ground Observer Corps members gathered in the Parish Hall of St. Paul's Anglican Church.

The members of groups extending from Campbell's Bay to Wakefield, heard Flying Officer O. Benedict of Brockville demonstrating the identification of aircraft. This was a further phase of the co-ordination of the ground observer Corps and the parent body of the Air Force since the observer corps is an integral part of our national civil defence.

A newly formed ground observer group from Wakefield was present, under the leadership of Mr. D. Dunn, Chief Ground Observer and of P. O. M. Evans, Scout Master.

25 members received their wings in a ceremony of investiture at the meeting which was MC'd by Capt. ACF Wraslow, Regional Supervisor of the newly enlarged district.

EQUALIZED SALARIES

The growing pressure of demand for larger and larger numbers of teachers to staff the larger and larger schools of this and all other provinces of Canada has forced school boards everywhere into the unenviable position of having to bid against each other for the available supply of teachers. This situation is a text book example of the application of the law of supply and demand, where there are many "buyers" and few "sellers" in the market. The feverish market activities forced on the "buyers" — the school boards of the country — by the growing scarcity of qualified teachers, and the quandary in which the teachers find themselves because of this activity, is, to say the least, unfortunate. The chief preoccupation of both boards and teachers for at least two months in the year tends to be that of who is going to teach where next year, and for how much.

The ultimate remedy will be secured only when the supply of qualified teachers equals the relatively fixed demand for them. Until then, a partial remedy could be secured in the Province of Quebec by equalizing the scale of teachers salaries throughout the Province.

If this proposal were put into effect, the teacher would choose which town he preferred to teach in — on other than purely salary grounds. He might choose to live in a small town because he could save some of the salary for travel or study, or for the simple reason that a small town is a better place in which to bring up his family. Or he might choose to teach in the large city because his whole being thrives more satisfactorily in such surroundings. In either case, it would be factors other than salary which would govern the choice of schools by teachers and the selection of teachers by school boards.

Such a plan, if put into effect would reduce in part the chaotic bidding scramble, now a pre-spring concomitant of the Easter exams. It would have the further advantage of placing the teacher hiring program on a more dignified, and (we almost hesitate to use the word under the present circumstances) professional, level.

If the readers of this paper, the Teachers Local Association, the Home and School Clubs, the school boards, the municipal councils, and other responsible organizations were to take this proposal into serious consideration and let their feeling be known to the Protestant Committee on Education, Quebec City, they (the Committee) could not but realize that at least in this one community we are alarmed to the point of action about the existing school staffing procedures.

BETTER IT TO BEAT IT

In connection with some words we reprinted two weeks ago from an Equity about fifty years old, a few local farmers have a few things to say. It said in The Equity that one way to ruin a town was to send away for goods and not patronize the local businesses. Well, say these farmers, this is quite true but it goes deeper than that. If the farmers bring lambs into town to sell to the butcher they are not too happy to be told that lambs have been purchased from Australia and the local lambs are not wanted.

Potatoes from New Brunswick, dairy products from New Zealand, eggs from Ontario and vegetables from everywhere under the sun are also found to be more plentiful than the local product, they say.

The situation, as far as the stores are concerned is just one of supplying what their customers demand, of course, and if Australian lamb is one cent cheaper at the wholesale level AND IF THE QUALITY IS THE SAME it is more economical to buy the Australian lamb, unless other considerations are important. One of these other considerations might be that if the local farmer is supported, even at one cent more per pound, he will be a more stable consumer and more disposed to shop in the town which supports his own product.

Meanwhile, the local primary producer can insure his product an unquestioned place in his own home town by surpassing all competitors in the matters of quality, cleanliness and purity of his product. Packaging and marketing methods might also come under his consideration. By examining the "foreign" products which find favor in the local stores, the local producer can learn much and if his costs of production are so great that he can't compete with the imports he might resort to imitating their production methods or sharing costs with his neighbors by means of co-ops.

When fifty years ago, we were a relatively isolated community the picture was different but today our local stores know that they must compete for customers with Eaton's, Simpson's and Loblaws and the farmers likewise must compete with Maritimers, Australians and Texans. And the only way to beat competition is to better it.

NEW IDEAS FOR SHS

The unemployment insurance people have made a study of statistics to prove beyond argument the correlation between lack of education and unemployment. Other studies have proved that education is a factor in the earning power of an individual and it is also generally accepted knowledge that education increases an individual's understanding of his surroundings and his enjoyment of life.

Just about everybody, these days, whether he is educated himself or not, realizes the importance of educating our young people and yet this community abounds with young people who have not had the advantage of all the education their minds could assimilate. When a boy leaves school before he has actually reached his own particular saturation point, he is then curtailing his chances of future employment, his chances of earning what he might, and his chances of understanding and enjoying his life.

It is not too late to do something about the young men (and women) in Pontiac who are now engaged in earning their living and yet could benefit from further education — either in completing their public school course, completing their high school diploma courses or even taking courses at the university level. It is not too late, that is to say, if these young (and some not so young) people wish to do something about it.

Rural high schools in certain other small communities have been known to establish night courses for employed people as an extension of their day school. This could be done in Shawville. In the early days the Shawville Academy could grant the teacher's degree to successful candidates, so advanced education is not new even here. An extension department in Shawville's beautiful school would ensure a fuller use of the fine facilities there and fulfil a great need in this community where too many boys and girls leave school at an early age only to realize too late that they would benefit from finishing out their course. It would be interesting to discover, by means of a questionnaire sent to those who have left High School in the past ten or fifteen years, whether or not evening classes would be found useful.

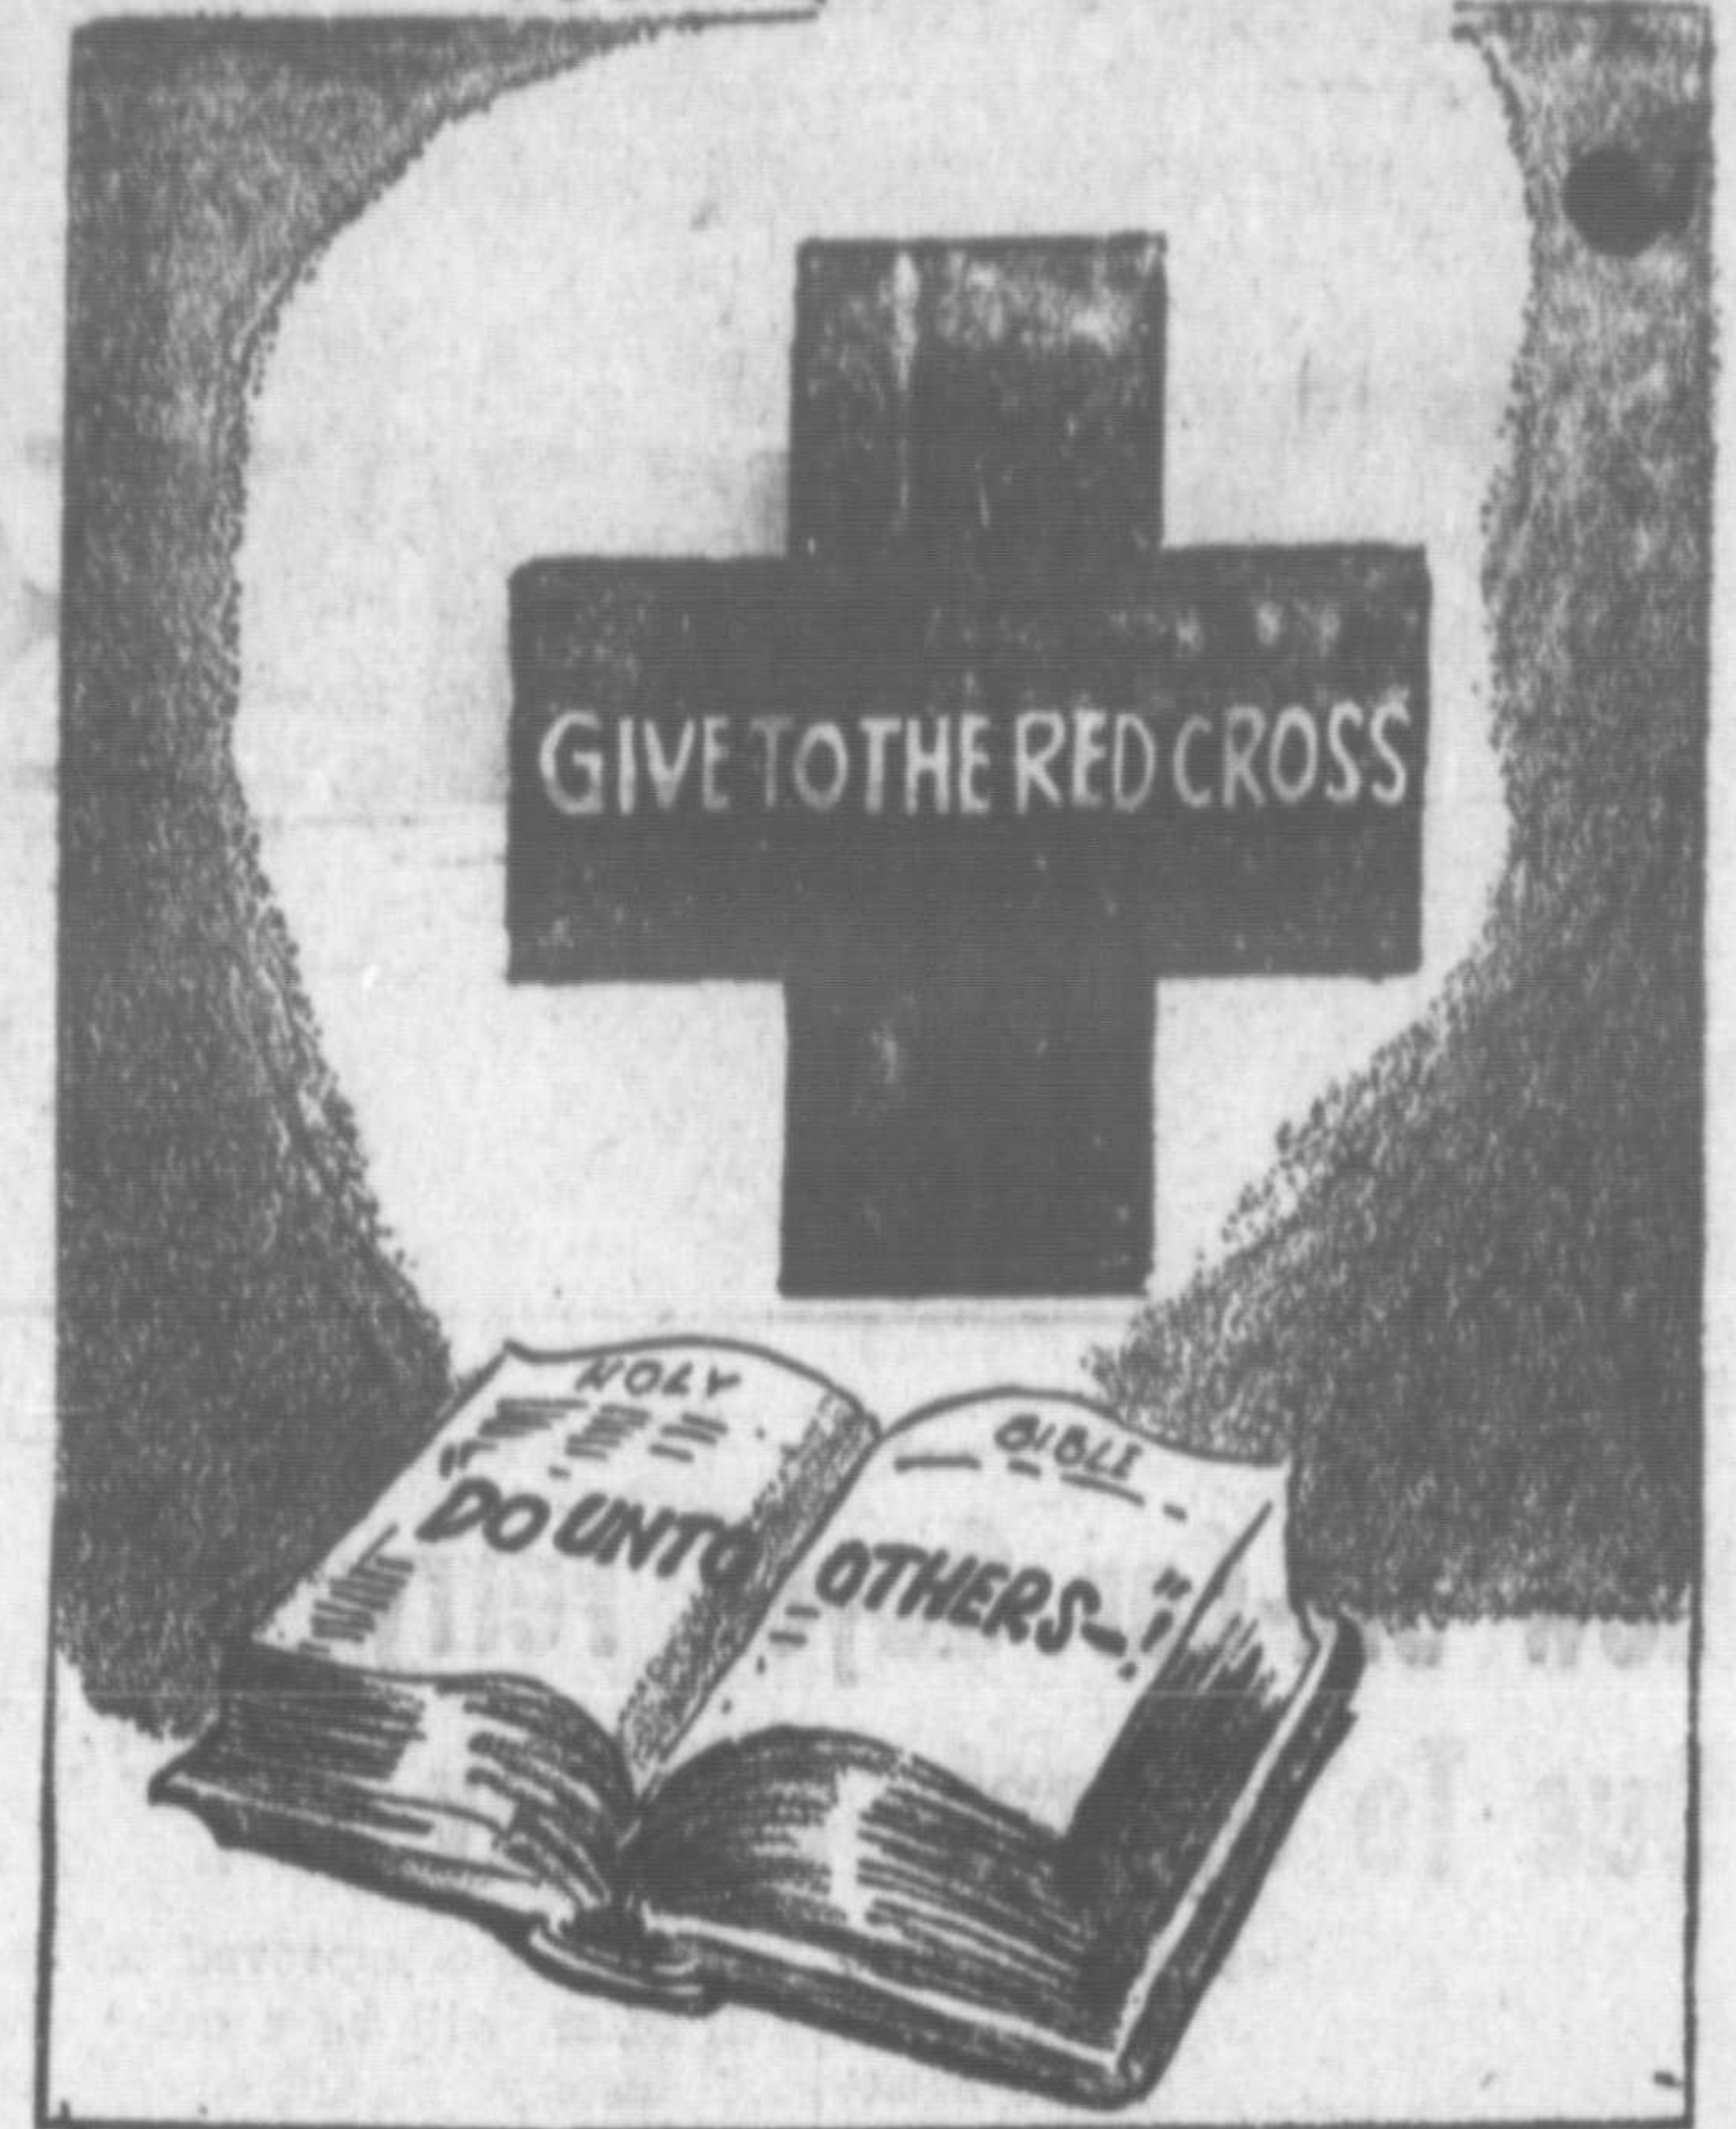

Another interesting avenue for exploration in the Shawville High School would be the possibility of establishing certain accredited summer courses here for teachers so that those local teachers who cannot spend their whole time at Macdonald in the summer might improve themselves at home. The problems which present themselves in this connection are not insurmountable and the benefit to this area would be inestimable.

VTA Council Meets

Delegates to the twenty-fourth regular meeting of the Canadian Vocational Training Advisory Council which headed a two-day meeting in Ottawa last week agreed that the development of nationwide standards in all phases of vocational and technical training was essential to progress. The conference also recognized that standardization of training methods in vocational and technical institutions, while highly desirable, was not the final answer. They felt that the ultimate objective must be the establishment of acceptable testing standards for certifying skilled tradesmen and technicians so that a skilled worker with a certificate of qualification in one part of Canada would be accorded equal recognition in any other part of Canada.

A Pat On The Back

Shawville Quebec
March 20, 1957.

Editor of The Equity

Dear Sir,

If I had been asked, as the Farm Forums were last week, what I considered contributed the most to a community, I would have answered "The weekly newspaper!" It lets us know the news of the district, the doings of the churches and the educational facilities; reports of progress at the mines and labour doings and all about political affairs.

Although The Equity started out originally as a supporter of the party which was their known as the Liberal-Conservative Party it has now assumed the responsibilities of reporting fairly the campaigns and accomplishments of both the major parties as well as opening its pages to letters from members of the smaller parties.

Through The Equity we are told of the special bargains offered in stores in different parts of the County. The Equity is more important to the advance of the community than any other medium in the district.

The half price offer during March should be very encouraging to those not now subscribing and those who are subscribers might consider giving a subscription to a friend or neighbor for a year to introduce this paper, for a year to introduce this

Very truly yours,
R. W. Hodgins

Trophies Awarded At Agricultural Course

Fears of overpopulation and world starvation were discounted by D. L. Dion, vice-principal of Macdonald College, in a speech in the Shawville High School auditorium.

The vice-principal addressed a group of farmers who attended a short course in agriculture sponsored by the Pontiac County Agricultural Society.

Mr. Dion said there were many parts of the world where crops could be doubled by modern cultivation methods. New techniques were already reclaiming vast areas for cultivation, and the fight against disease and insects was paying off in still greater production.

Trophies For Winners At Coulonge Banquet

The Fort Coulonge Curling Club celebrated their very successful past season's activities with a banquet held at "The Chute Inn", recently.

In his remarks he covered the pre-season aspects as well as the past current years activities, and the very favourable outlook for the future.

One of the highlights of the evenings entertainment was the presentation of championship trophies to the different branches of the local curling club.

The Hugh Proudfoot Trophy for Men's Senior Class championship was won by a rink skipped by Mr. Mervin Pearson.

The J. E. Boyle Ltd Trophy for Men's Junior was won by a rink skipped by "Jimmy" Ward.

Mr. Irvin Cahill of Campbell's Bay was the winner of the blankets raffled by the Women's League.

A tasty supper was served by the hostesses and at this time some very pretty pieces of china were presented to Mrs. Taylor, who although taken by surprise, extended her thanks most graciously.

Pontiac Ramblers Entertain Short Course

A group of folk singers and musicians who entertained at the last evening of the Agricultural Short Course on Friday night last are making a name for themselves in Pontiac.

Calling themselves the Pontiac Ramblers, the group consists of Maynard Bennett, who sings, plays guitar and MC's with equal ease, Benny Curley, singer and electric guitar player par excellence, Dominic Curley, fiddle player and bass harmonica player, simultaneously and Lorne McCrae piano and accordion player.

They sang and played their original compositions, brought down the house with the "Pontiac Line" and the "Neil Drummond Hornpipe", and the rousing "Good Time was had by all", with Benny and Maynard as vocalists. A unique musical duet by the brothers Curley, and some improvised musical instruments vowed the audience, and the foot-tapping listeners agreed that "those boys should be on TV".

Mel Kehoe had a group of pint-size square dancers for the edification of the audience. The young ladies, in white frilly party frocks, and the young gentlemen, in bow ties and serious expressions, swung and swayed to Mel's calling in a manner that brought enthusiastic response from the watchers. Two Shawville Queen Scouts Going To England In August

Two young Scouts from our area will be among those present when a Canadian Scouting contingent attends a Scout Jamboree in England in early August of this year.

The lucky lads are John Carmichael, son of Mrs. Gilbert Carmichael of Bristol and David Yach son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Yach of Shawville. The quota for Pontiac called for one Scout, and John was "it", while David is going as part of a service group who carry a certain amount of responsibility for the smooth running of Operation Jamboree.

This particular gathering will be held in celebration of the founding of Scouting 50 years ago, and of the 100th anniversary of the birth of the Father of Scouting, Lord Baden-Powell. Representatives will be present from many parts of the world to help make the occasion a memorable one, and it is fitting that it should be held in England, birth-place of Scouting.

Both David Yach and John are outsoken craftsman. "Everybody recognises," said the elder man, "that there is something inspiring about you. And the things you are doing, why they are nothing short of miraculous. You must have a supernatural stimulus." There was an unspoken question in his tones.

"It is quite simply a question of a new life."

"But that's nonsense if you will pardon me. Life begins with birth. There can therefore be no new life for adults. You can't repeat physical processes."

"All the same," and the voice was saturated with a quiet finality, "a new life is the only way out and you are absolutely correct to bring it in here. A man's life comes into existence physically when certain life cells unite. It's just the same spiritually."

The night grew cold as they talked and the wind rose in funereal tones about them.

"Just listen to that wind. You don't know from where it comes and to where it goes. We can't even see it but it's a fact nevertheless. It's just like that with this new life. Your might not understand it; indeed you don't have to but it's a fact nevertheless."

Jesus looked at him steadily.

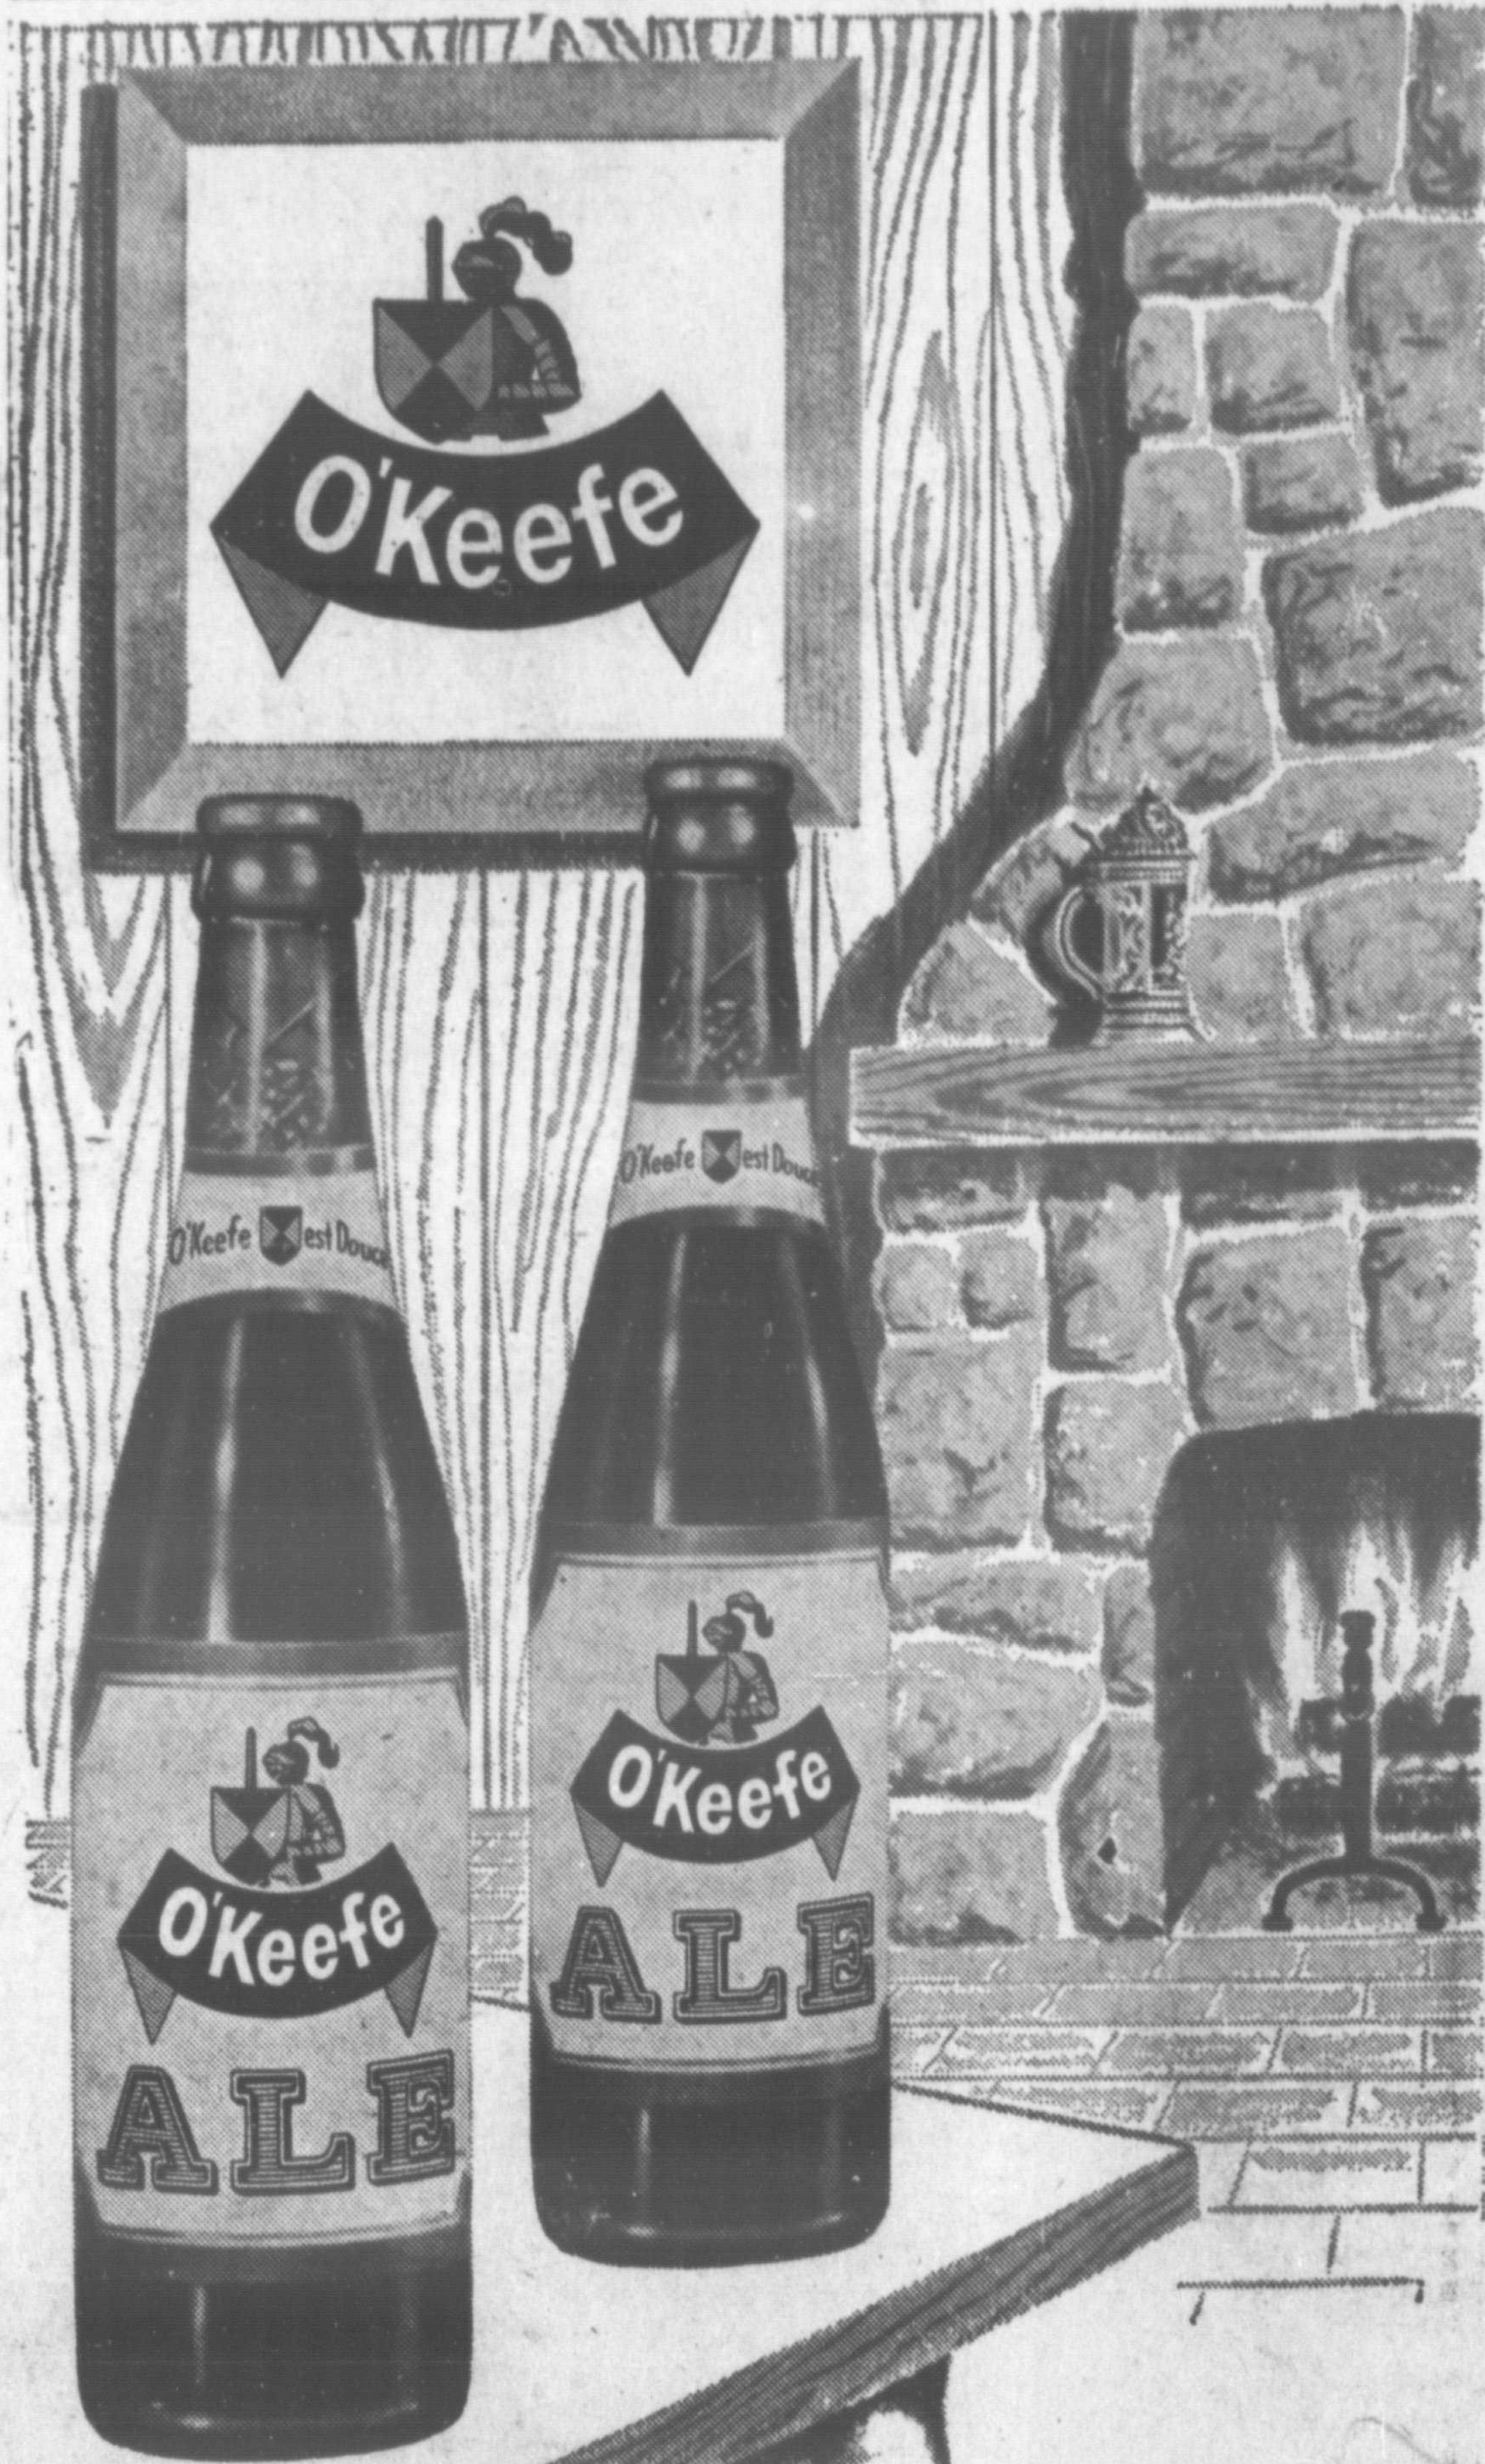

"You've had a good education yet you are making a big mistake. You must have a plausible theory all the time. You prevent yourself from recognising all the facts. The wind is a fact and I only deal in facts. It sounds foolish to you because I talk in terms of the everyday facts of common life. But men have got to start just here. The facts of human experience are the starting point. God's love for this world has brought Him right down into it so that out of and through this human experience any man at all may break through into living a new life of eternal quality and significance. What's God after in all this? Not to make a list of its faults and read it guilty but to offer it this new indestructible life and to go to any lengths to persuade men to accept it. If they do accept they will find themselves free from all sense of guilt. When they reject it their guilt deepens in the very act of refusal."

The old man rose with the period of his spiritual gestation almost completed. The promise of a new day's miraculous birth was already blazing the sky.

"I stand for this strange new dawn," said Jesus, "and anyone who wants it can have it, you too. Welcome it as honest men welcome all the possibilities of a new day. It is THE dawn. To turn back from it and retreat into darkness is the great refusal. Go forward into God's new day living the way God designed you to live."

Swirling his cloak around him the visitor went out into the rapidly dispersing showers of the street.

Thermometer Contest

Mark Twain's complaint was that everybody talked about the weather, but nobody did anything about it. Mr. Twain was obviously pulling someone's leg.

After all, what can anyone do when it gets so cold that even the icicles start shivering, or so hot that even blast furnaces try to get in the shade? There's nothing anybody can do about weather like that except be ready for it.

The Purity Flour Mills people have decided that, like the Boy Scouts, everyone should be prepared weather-wise. So, a large thermometer will be placed outside Canadian Tire Corp. Store right out in the street in full view of all Shawville residents. Everyone is welcome to have a look at the thermometer and then take part in a little "elemental" estimating game.

All you have to do is estimate what the thermometer reading will be at 12 noon on Wednesday, April 24th. Those who hit the right reading on the nose will receive for their skill a beautiful Taylor indoor-outdoor thermometer.

All entries for the contest have to be in before 9 pm on Saturday, April 20th and they will be judged by Lee Hodgins, Mayor of Shawville.

Now, here is how you can try your hand as a weather prophet (and incidentally have a crack at winning a fine Taylor thermometer): first you get an official entry blank to record your estimate on. You get these official entry forms when you buy Purity All-Purpose Flour at your local grocery store. If you buy a 25-lb. bag you receive one entry form; a 50-lb. bag gets you two forms; and with the 100-lb. bag you receive a grand total of four entry forms. You can enter the contest as often as you like to increase your chances of winning, providing each entry is made on an official entry form. Place your entries in the official ballot boxes at Canadian Tire Corp. Store.

You can use all the scientific gadgets at your disposal or fall back on that old twitch in your knee to figure out the weather on the bid day. But don't forget the official entry forms only come with Purity All-Purpose Flour.

Born in the township of Wright, he was the son of the late Thomas Howard, and his wife Jane Derby. He continued his residence in Wright, until he moved to Clarendon, where he had bought a farm in 1949. He was married to Matilda Spears on June 17, 1925.

The body was at the William J. Hayes funeral Home, Centre street, Shawville. The funeral service was held on Monday afternoon in St. Paul's Anglican Church. The service was conducted by Rev. R. G. Elliott assisted by Canon C. W. Earle, and lay reader L. E. A. Lawrence. Interment was in the parish cemetery.

Handicraft Exhibit Feature At Convention

A Handicraft Exhibit will again be a feature of this year's Convention of the Quebec Women's Institutes. This will be held the last week of June, at Macdonald College. Flyers, giving details of the exhibit, are going to the members this week.

Institutes that have had a course from the QWI Handicraft Technicians during the past year, may enter four articles, demonstrating the craft taught. In addition, all branches, whether they have had a course or not, may enter the same number of articles (four) of any other form of handwork; quilting, knitting, sewing, etc. Painting, pottery and wood carving are especially welcome. All articles must have been made since the last convention.

This is not a contest but a "show window" to display the work of W. I. members. It always attracts many visitors and it is hoped this year's display may be enlarged without sacrificing the high standards of previous years. All entries must be in the QWI office by the middle of June.

APPOINTED TO ATLANTIC POST

Effective in midsummer, Rear-Admiral Hugh F. Pullen will take over the posts of flag officer, Atlantic coast and commander of the Canadian Atlantic sub-area of NATO. He succeeds Rear-Admiral R. E. S. Pidwell 57, who is retiring after 42 years' naval service. Admiral Pullen, above, of Oakville Ont., has been flag officer, Pacific coast. He will be succeeded in that post by Rear-Admiral H. S. Rayner, 46, of St. Catharines.

April 9 Date Set For Forums Annual Meeting

A council meeting of the Pontiac Farm Forums was held on the evening of March 23 at the Co-op Medical Services office with representatives present from Austria 1, North Clarendon, Seventh Line, Shawville West, and Radford forums. Also present were Mr. Kenneth Smiley, Mrs. Cecil Sly and David Dickson.

The meeting was called to order by the president, H. H. Richardson at 8.45 pm.

Minutes of the December 8, 1956 and January 8, 1957 meetings were read and approved.

Harold Richardson and Benson Moffatt reported on progress made sponsoring a Hungarian family and establishing them in the community.

The secretary pointed out that the funds collected for this project were exhausted and that money is still needed for groceries and rent.

Mr. Smiley said he would rent a house to the farm forum council for $15.00 per month.

Motion Walter Kilgour and Ivan Lewis that this council would be responsible for the rent until May 4th and continue to supply groceries until April 4th. Carried.

Mrs. Sly reported that there would be help coming from her district, Mr. William Hodgins gave $4.00 and a promise of more money from his district. Clarendon 5 forum gave $5.00.

Harold Richardson reported on the recent Quebec forum council meeting which he and four other members of the district attended, in which was voted (a) A Youth Program Committee meeting may be held at Pine Lodge, Bristol, June 23-28, (b) Forum membership half in the last couple of years, (c) Balance of $2.00 owing the provincial office for fees (d) 300 members enrolled in the Quebec Farmers Association.

Lawson Corrigan raised the question of how we would go about soliciting membership in the Quebec Farmers Association.

Christian Youth Caravan For Young People This Summer

Caravanning by bus, train, car, truck, tractor aeroplane and boat will be the experience of some 200 young people of The United Church of Canada this summer.

A Christian Youth Caravan team is a group of four or five young people witnessing in the name of the Church in a community where there is a special need for a vital witness.

In the past summers across Canada teams served on Indian Reserves or student mission fields, on pointing out that there should be a committee appointed to introduce the organization. No action taken.

The treasurer's report showed a balance at March 12, 1957 of in the province is down almost $67.78. Ways and means of increasing the forum income was discussed with the secretary instructed to write and see if a play would come to Shawville in aid of the Farm Forum.

Harold Richardson, Benson Moffatt, Walter Kilgour and Ivan Lewis were named a committee to look after place, posters, tickets, etc., and Mrs. Louis Judd and Mrs. Bill Hanna responsible for securing refreshments to entertain the cast.

1956-57 Leadership Awards:

Agreed that this council recommend Mr. Fred Green Coaticook Quebec, member of Sherbrooke County forums, for one on this years awards for his continuity of service to farm forums.

Agreed that the annual meeting of the county forums be held in Shawville High School, April 9 at nine o'clock in the evening to: receive reports, elect officers, consider forum recommendations and to transact business proper to a general meeting.

The meeting adjourned on motion of Walter Kilgour and carried. Norma Telford, Secretary large rural charges, in a children's hospital, in military camps, in lumbering communities, in new housing areas and in the frontier areas of our country. This summer it is expected that there will be an emphasis on Indian work and work in down town churches.

In British Columbia teams have been flown to Northern Coastal out-posts. In Newfoundland teams have been taken in the Church's mission boat to isolated areas and in all provinces between, Caravanners travelled by bus, train, car truck and tractor to reach their areas of service. The significant thing about members of Christian Youth Caravan Teams is that they are all volunteers; they are not paid. Among the volunteers of last summer were teachers, farmers, nurses, students, factory and office workers. Some served for seven weeks while others served for varying periods. The minimum length of service was two weeks.

Teams this summer will hold Church Vacation Schools, assist with services of worship, give leadership at Youth Rallies, conduct Religious surveys, make home visits and perform many other services in the name of The United Church of Canada. Their work in a community varies with the needs of the particular locality. Last summer in a large military camp a Vacation School was held for 500 children while on a small Indian Reserve home visitation was a major project.

Of special importance last summer was an experiment conducted by a team in a children's sanitarium. Caravanners brought the joy of a Church Vacation School to children confined to their beds.

Two summers ago 14 Ontario young people offered their lives for full-time service in the Church as a result of Christian Youth Caravan work, and across Canada a significant additional number of young people have entered United Church Theological Colleges and the United Church Training School in order to prepare for full-time work in the Church. Many of the young people who pioneered in the Caravan movement in Canada are now serving the Church as ministers, directors of Christian Education missionaries and deaconesses.

The Christian Youth Caravan movement began in The United Church of Canada in the summer of 1949 and from that time it has grown steadily in every province. The Rev. Beverly Oaten, Paris, Ontario is Chairman of the National Committee which is a part of the Youth Department of the Board of Christian Education. Miss Dancy McCalla, Youth Secretary, of The United Church of Canada is Secretary of the Committee and Miss Betty Bone, Director of the summer's work.

Proficiency in any sport requires a good deal of practice. In addition, coaching is another important requisite.

What these statements lead up to is the availability of both coaching and practice facilities by any number of Fish and Game Clubs throughout Ontario.

Let's take shooting for instance. There are countless hunters throughout the Province who could well do with a course in trap shooting or heavy rifle shooting, to say nothing of the small bore rifle addicts who could benefit. Many a case of injury could be avoided if the courses available in gun safety were more thoroughly attended.

It is a well established fact that greater proficiency in the field is a vital necessity if we are to maintain a suitable population of waterfowl and upland game birds.

Far too many birds are crippled and left to die mainly for the reason that the hunter is not proficient enough with his weapon to be able to make a clean kill. Nor is he expert enough in his knowledge of distance or the effectiveness of the shot pattern to be able to instinctively withhold or loose his fire when the quarry is in or out of range.

Here is where trap and skeet shooting, through practice, overcomes that deficiency. Besides all that, it is good sport. It is held outdoors where natural conditions are similar to those encountered in a day afield. It quickens the eye and co-ordinates the reflexes, necessary items if the game bag is to be full at the end of the day. Both small bore and big game rifle shooters also gain by the course provided. Knowledge of trajectories, impact, range, velocities are indispensable if satisfactory results are to be obtained.

Likewise in fishing, a thorough knowledge and proficient handling of equipment can add many pleasant hours to your summer time sport.

How often has a nasty backlash defeated you or your chum while out fishing. Well; the remedy lies in having a proper coaching job done along with some practice; I'll say about 75% of the men and women who fish for pleasure are totally unfamiliar with the knowledge of just how to hold a rod and reel.

Experts (sometimes they mess it up too) can fish and cast all day without a backlash. Why? For the simple reason they know what a reel is capable of doing within its mechanical limitations.

Spinning, Fly fishing, the equipment for these variations of tackle have their limitations too, and many a friendly argument is created by the opinions of their various devotees.

But the main fact to be observed is the fact that it is not necessary for a novice to be unacquainted with the proper handling of his equipment. In nearly every major city in Ontario are one or more Fish & Game Clubs, whose members are willing and qualified to give instruction, usually free, none the less valuable on the proper handling of equipment.

They are a grand bunch of fellows to know, both socially or sportwise. Join a nearby Club and get the maximum of pleasure from your sport.

Shawville Auxiliary Holds Annual Meeting

The twentieth annual report of the Shawville Hospital Auxiliary of the Pontiac Community Hospital was held on Tuesday, March 12, at 2 pm in the Pent House.

Mrs. H. Sturgeon presided with 18 members present. The meeting opened with prayer and the minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. There were 66 articles mended. Donations recorded were 10 yards white flannel from Mrs. C. F. Woodley, two pairs booties and a needlebook from Mrs. R. G. Hodgins and two hospital bags from Mrs. Fokes.

The Annual Report was read by Mrs. McMullen, the secretary. There had been eleven regular meetings held during the year with a membership of 22 and an average attendance of 14. Activities for the year were centered mainly on sewing, mending for the hospital and operating the Superfluity Shop.

There were 417 articles mended. Blinds for the hospital lobby, an oxygen croupette for the children's ward and a resuscitator were purchased. Donations were 92 aprons, 8 pillows, 6 mats, 106 pot holders, 1 pair pillow cases, 6 shopping bags, 9 pairs pants, 6 urinal bags, 10 toy animals, 6 baby jackets, 2 dozen dish cloths, 12 wash cloths and 10 yards of flannel.

At Christmas time the Hospital Auxiliary made 20 stockings and filled them with candies, fruit and nuts for patients in the hospital. Patients' trays were made attractive with Christmas baskets and favours.

A baby layette was made to be kept on hand for needy babies. The initial layette consists of blankets, gowns, diapers, shirts, booties, sweater etc. This layette was given to a needy mother and replaced by another one.

The Auxiliary also assisted in catering to the Hospital Benefit Dance. The Superfluity Shop was opened May 29 last year and was a successful venture under the

Fire Menace Is Listed Among Signs Of Spring In Coulonge

Fort Coulonge—Over and above our usual and regular robins and grass fires etc., the signs of spring are many in this district. An earlier than usual burst of activity is noticed around and about the Upper Ottawa Improvement Co. dock and workshop, where the I.C.O. scows, tugs, motor boats, etc plus the open live water in the "Chenais"—the spring atmosphere and conditions are very promising.

Mr. Staci Nadeau, master mechanic and in charge of this district's operations is the busy man checking, overhauling, repairing and assembling the different models and types of motors for the Cos. fleet.

Mr. Lionel Sauriol in charge of Government Forest Fire Dept. in this zone has been checking the department's fire fighting equipment, by giving pumps and hose a "try out" down by the river, getting prepared and ready for the earlier than usual fire menace. The light fall of snow during the winter and lack of rain during the past two months of very fine dry weather is cause for low level of water supply as well as promoting the forest fire hazard, which condition is present now with us—and not too early, to bring to the attention of bush traveller and farmer.

SHUR-GAIN SUPER LAYING MASH

Every poultryman knows the necessity of complete records on each phase of his laying hen operation. And it's these records that can prove there's extra profits when flocks are fed the SHUR-GAIN way.

Production — SHUR-GAIN Super Laying Mash is a high efficiency mash providing the exact proportions of essential ingredients to promote steady, high egg production over a long period. The result — more eggs per bird.

Feed Consumption — A decline in feed consumption is often the first indication of disease or other setbacks that can affect production — that's why it's so important to keep feed consumption records. And equally important, these records allow you to determine feed conversion or the amount of feed required to produce a dozen eggs — the real test of value in a laying ration.

Give Super Laying Mash a trial with your flock and keep records using our handy egg production charts. See for yourself how SHUR-GAIN Super Laying Mash produces a dozen eggs on less feed and makes you money.
