"Rottenrow Remarkable" Comes to Howick

Local Group Buys Imported Sire at Bois de la Roche Sale

ROTTENROW REMARKABLE
(Imp.)

A small group of Howick Ayrshire Breeders, organized on very short notice, purchased on Friday at the Bois de la Roche dispersal sale, the great Scottish-bred bull, Rottenrow Remarkable. The price paid was two thousand dollars. Acting on behalf of the group in making the purchase at the Oakville sale were Messrs Archie Roy and Robert Templeton of Howick, who were largely responsible for organizing the breeders. Accompanying these two was Mr. Gilbert MacMillan, of Huntingdon.

Rottenrow Remarkable, considered by many as one of the more outstanding bulls in service today on this continent, or, for that matter, throughout the world, was bred in Scotland by Jacob Templeton. He was used briefly in Scotland in two of the great Ayrshire herds of that county and sired several outstanding animals there, including the present herd sire at Carnel, Carnel Hiawatha, and an outstanding Carnel heifer, Carnel Mabel, who was undefeated in Scottish shows in 1950 as a two-year-old and who produced as a two-year-old 10,922 lbs. of milk with a test of 4.54.

He was purchased in 1949 for the Bois de la Roche herd of Mrs. M. Alice Skinner by R. R. Ness and Sons, and was exhibited that year at the Royal Winter Fair where he was first prize three-year-old and Reserve Grand Champion. Since 1949 he has been in service at Bois de la Roche.

His dam, Rottenrow Molly, has eight records which average over 10,500 lbs. of milk (actually), with an average test of over 5%. His sire was Auchenbrain Yours Truly, whose first fifteen daughters averaged 9,851 lbs. of milk (actual), with a test of 4.24%. The first twelve daughters of Remarkable on test in Scotland averaged 11,017 lbs. of milk, with a test of 4.29% (M.E. 2x). As yet none of his daughters in this country have completed records, as far as is known. On all sides this bull is backed by most impressive records of milk production, and equally impressive show-ring achievements.

Several of his daughters were sold in the Bois de la Roche dispersal sale, and they too showed consistent good type, proving further the excellent breeding ability of the bull.

At the present time, in spite of his age, nearly eight years, he shows an alertness and vigor, and a truly excellent type which has in no way diminished since his great achievements in the show ring in 1948 and 1949.

The group of breeders which purchased the bull at the Oakville Sale of Friday was organized very briefly, only a few days prior to the sale. As yet, none of the details have been completely settled, but the nucleus of the group has been formed, with a dozen or more interested Ayrshire Breeders already promising full support and more expected. The general plan, thus far, is that those desiring to join the group will purchase shares, the money thus gathered to be used to pay for the bull. The bull will be maintained at a conveniently central location, and used artificially. It is hoped that some arrangement may be worked out whereby other Ayrshire breeders who are not share members will be able to purchase semen, and thus the whole district may share in the benefits of a truly "Remarkable" individual.

At the present time the bull is stabled at Balquidder, R. J. Roy and Son, pending further arrangements.

Canada Prepares To Deal With Disaster

YOU CAN'T BE CERTAIN— YOU CAN BE READY

Contrary to widely-held opinion, total extinction is by no means inevitable in modern warfare, even under attack by the most powerful weapons yet used.

This is the keynote of instruction contained in a federal civil defence handbook, "Personal Protection under Atomic Attack", published by the Department of National Health and Welfare, whose minister, Hon. Paul Martin, is responsible for civil defence at the federal level.

Intended as a general guide to the population at a time when Canada is organizing and training services to cope with mass disaster, the civil defence manual is predicated upon the possibility that some of our cities could be targets for atomic bombs.

The book was printed before it was disclosed that some nations have carried experimentation with death-dealing weapons into the field of hydrogen explosives, which may be even more lethal than the much-publicized atom bombs. But, experts of the Defence Research Board, Canada, scientific advisers to the civil defence authorities, believe that the principles which it sets forth in layman's language hold good under any type of attack, including those with high explosives or incendiary bombs, and, indeed, are applicable in most types of peacetime catastrophe as well.

Playing Safe

"This business of getting ready for attack by an atomic or some other kind of bomb, does not mean that the place in which we live is going to be bombed", the book notes in its introduction. "It simply means that we are playing safe. It's the sort of thing we do all the time when we buy insurance, put lightning rods on the roof and pour anti-freeze into the car radiator. We just don't want to take a chance."

The parallel between civil defence and insurance is drawn throughout informational material issued by the Civil Defence Division of the Department of National Health and Welfare. It reiterates, in all its publications, that, since disaster is no respecter of persons or places, everyone must be prepared to meet any type of emergency, including enemy attack.

Civil Defence is described as organized preparedness, helping to minimize the effects of disaster, save lives and property, maintain production and sustain the country's will to pull through and to fight back out of adversity.

Preparedness Pays

If Canada became involved in a war and was subjected to hostile action, government officials feel that the enemy would be more interested in bombing unprepared communities than those where everybody was ready because, then, they could cause more casualties and do far greater damage. So, the better prepared, the better a community's chances of escaping with little or no injury.

"As a matter of fact," says the government book, "our chances, according to the law of averages, are pretty good in any case, but they are far better if we take appropriate precautions".

The book goes on to describe the types of atomic weapons which could be used against Canadian communities, explains what to do now to prepare for such emergency, what to do if attack comes and how to carry on afterwards.

Included in the manual are clear instructions on construction of basement shelters and outdoor shelters and special hints which may be invaluable to citizens in wartime.

Copies of the manual "Personal Protection under Atomic Attack" are available, free, to all civil defence workers, through Provincial Civil Defence offices, and arrangements have been made by the Queen's Printer, Ottawa, for its widespread sale throughout Canada, at nominal cost.

Subsequent articles in this series will bring you information contained in "Personal Protection under Atomic Attack", and other advice to Canadians, prepared for the federal Civil Defence Co-ordinator by Information Services Division, Department of National Health and Welfare, Ottawa.

Facts About British Guiana The Latest Trouble Spot

Many readers of The Gleaner will doubtless be surprised to learn that The Huntingdon Gleaner Inc., has quite an active interest in British Guiana, that presently acute "trouble spot" which is located on the northern end of the South American Continent. The Huntingdon Gleaner Inc. connection being through Canada-West Indies Magazine, one of the family of publications, as is "The Gleaner", of that firm. In that respect we may say that while it was only as on the first of January 1950 that the entire publication of Canada-West Indies Magazine was taken over by The Huntingdon Gleaner Inc., it had been printed and mailed for some six years before then by that firm. It may also be of interest to note here that Canada-West Indies Magazine was established in 1911 as the official organ of the Canadian West Indian League; that when the said League decided to go out of the publishing business, Adam L. Sellar, President of The Huntingdon Gleaner Inc., was urged and finally persuaded by the League's Executive Council to assume the role and responsibilities of Publisher of the Magazine.

The area covered by Canada-West Indies Magazine embraces Bermuda, all the British West Indies Colonies, British Guiana in South America and British Honduras in Central America. The slogan and mission of the Magazine is still the same today as when it was owner by the League; that is:

"For the promotion of mutual interest of Canada, Bermuda,, the British West Indies; British Guiana, British Honduras and other British countries in the Caribbean."

Most readers are now aware of the present political situation in British Guiana, through press reports, etc. Suffice it therefore to say that while the present political party holds the majority of the seats in the Legislative Assembly, there is quite a strong opposition party comprised to large etxent of native British Guianans.

British Guiana embraces an area of 83,000 square miles, and is bounded on the north by the Atlantic, on the east by Netherlands Guiana (Surinam), on the south by Brazil and on the west by Brazil and Venezuela.

As on December 31, 1950 it was estimated that the population was 425,184. The 1946 census disclosed that the racial composition of the population was then as follows: 163,434 East Indians (tracing to India); 143,385 blacks (or of Negro origin); 37,685 mixed or coloured; 16,322 Ameridians (original native race); 8,543 Portuguese; 3,567 Chinese; 2,480 Europeans other than Portuguese; 236 Asiatics not exactly stated and 49 unclassified.

The chief agricultural pursuits of British Guiana are the cultivation of sugar, rice, coconuts, cocoa and coffee and the raising of livestock. However, the Sugar industry is the most important in the Colony. Of the 61,125 people estimated to be engaged in agriculture, it is calculated that more than half are directly or indirectly connected with the sugar industry. Most of the sugar is grown in the Demerara district.

British Guiana is also noted for its forest and forest products. Its chief species in that respect being Greenheart, Mora, Wallaba and Crabwood, with Balata gums as a considerable by-product.

British Guiana is also rich in Minerals, including Diamonds, Gold and Bauxite.

Bauxite is, of course, the most important mining product and, while the 1952 figures are not yet available we understand that the volume of exports of Bauxite were on a par of those of 1951, that is 2,073,447 long tons.

Bauxite is, of course, the ore from which Aluminum is processed. The Aluminum Company of Canada is the largest operator in the Bauxite field in British Guiana, and the ore is brought from there to Arvida, Que., to be processed — at the company's Shipshaw Plant.

Second Annual School Fair At Huntingdon High School

Helen Joyce MacKay, Concert Pianist, to Play Special Programme of Piano Selections

Under the auspices of the Huntingdon Home and School Association, the second annual School Fair will be held at Huntingdon High School, on Friday, October 16th. The students of the school are busy this week preparing exhibits in a competitive spirit and these will be on display to the public. Exhibits will include vegetables, flowers, cakes, cookies, candies, dresses, blouses, skirts, etc. A junior scrap book division and art exhibit will give the younger pupils a splendid opportunity to display their artistic efforts and also a poster competition. A pet show will also be a feature when children may exhibit their cats, dogs and rabbits, but these will not be judged for awards. The first mentioned articles are all work of the students in their various studies at the school.

When the judging has been completed there will be a musical programme by Helen Joyce Mackay, veteran Concert Pianist, who has been heard on the concert stage since the tender age of five, and is well known for full length recitals.

She has been presented on many occasions over the C.B.C., and has toured extensively, appearing as guest soloist with orchestras.

Since her graduation from Moulton College in 1945, Joyce has widened her musical education considerably by appearing as "star" in fashionable dinner Lounges and is fast becoming a recognized ensemble artist. Her additional interest is the rôle of accompanist, which has been termed a capable and gracious one.

The musical numbers will be pieces suitable for children and adults and the program will last for about 50 minutes. This part of the programme is considered to be especially interesting to all and as many as possible should attend to hear this talented pianist.

Square dancing will round out the evening's programme and an orchestra will provide the music for the dancing. Popular prices of admission will be charged for adults and children and it is hoped that parents and friends of the school will give this event their best support. Those who attended the first school fair will remember it as an enjoyable event, this tends to be even better.

Reunion Macdonald College Old Boys And Girls

Close to 400 Macdonald College old boys and girls are expected to attend the annual meeting and get-together of the Alumni Association on the campus at St. Anne de Bellevue on Saturday, October 24. Included in the group will be members from the Maritimes, Ottawa district and Quebec's Eastern Townships and Chateauguay Valley.

The Association, which is a branch of the Graduates Society of McGill University, includes graduates in Agriculture, Household Science and the Diploma course. The day will be highlighted by a football game between St. Pats College and the Macdonald team in the afternoon. The annual meeting and election of officers will be held in the main building and it will be followed by a reception at Glenaladale, the staff Club House. A buffet supper will be held in the new Macdonald High School and it will be followed by an entertainment program in the evening.

A FINE SPECIMEN OF WILD GOOSE

Many remarks have been passed lately about hearing wild geese going over town and throughout the countryside. There are also reports of several being shot in this area. Above is a snap of one that was shot on the McMillan farm near Dundee, Que., by Game Warden Guy Stowell along with Gilbert McMillan of Dundee. Holding the bird are Carol and John Arthur, children of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Arthur of Rockburn, Que. It is quite a bird comparing its size with that of the children.

MR. AND MRS. L. D. WATSON OBSERVE GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Five score neighbours and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Watson on Saturday afternoon and evening bringing congratulations and good wishes on the occasion of their 50th anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Watson were married in Athelstan on Sept. 30th, 1903, by the late Rev. Andrew Rowat, and have spent their entire married life here. Their four children were all present, Grace (Mrs. Archie Rowat), Huntingdon, Ida (Mrs. Edgar Barras), Quebec City, David of Athelstan and Evan of Verdun. Of the fourteen grandchildren, two were unable to be present, nor four of the seven great grandchildren. The only break in the family was in the death of a son-inlaw, Major Edgar Barras, Quebec, last May. Ninety-eight friends signed the Guest book, coming from Verdun, St. Lambert, Franklin Centre, Quebec, Sawyerville, Gatineau, Ormstown, Massena, Burke, Chateaugay, Fort Covington and Alburg, Vt. A buffet luncheon was served by the children. Mrs. Rowat poured tea, assisted by an old family friend, Miss Young of Verdun.

The decorations were carried out in yellow and white, with yellow chrysanthemums. The beautiful three-tier wedding cake, was made by a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Evan Watson, Verdun. Another beautifully decorated cake was the gift of Mrs. Clarke McKinnon, Massena.

The happy couple received many cards of congratulation and and gifts of silver, china, also $50. Mr. Watson was especially pleased to receive a letter from an old schoolteacher, Mrs. E. C.Boyce, who despite her four score years and ten, still writes a beautiful handwriting. Of the guests of 50 years ago, three only were present, Mrs. Geo. P. Elder and Mrs. Wm. Irwin, Huntingdon and Mr. Wm. McKinnon, Massena.

The bride's corsage and groom's bouttoniere were gifts of a young grandson, Lindsay Watson, Jr.

A. L. Sellar to Address Ormstown Study Club Group

Chateauguay Day Will Be Observed Wednesday, October 21st

On Wednesday next, October 21st Chateauguay Day will be observed at Ormstown Study Club. The club is looking forward with anticipation to hear Mr. Adam Sellar when he will address the Club on "A Look Back".

Mr. Sellar is a member of a family who has been long noted as historians of the Chateauguay Valley and it is felt that the audience will gain a great deal of information on the early history of the district.

Grade IX at O.H.S. is making a Museum Collection of articles, (wearing apparel, deeds, books, newspapers, rifles, ammunition and any articles dating or prior to the time of the Battle of Chateauguay). It would be much appreciated if anyone having anything to contribute to the exhibition would phone the High School and arrangements will be made to call for it. It is hoped that there will be a liberal attendance for this special evening of Study Club.

Study courses as in previous years will be withdrawn for that evening.

Last week's study group included Music Appreciation in charge of Mrs. K. L. Farquharson of Howick.

The courses in Painting, Typing, Public Speaking, Woodworking and Dancing were well filled.

Dr. David McFarlane, Dept. of Economies, Macdonald College, dealt very ably with the subject "The Effect of American Trade Policies on the Canadian Economy" at the combined section.

This week a debate on the St. Lawrence Seaway by four members of the Montreal Junior Board of Trade should be both informative and enlightening.

As was previously announced all sessions are open to the public for a very small fee.

Golden Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John Smaill

Mr. and Mrs. John Smaill were entertained by their family at a dinner party held at the Huntingdon Chateau on Wednesday, Sept. 30th. The occasion was their 50th Wedding Anniversary. Many friends and relatives were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Smaill were married on Sept. 30th, 1903 at the Sutherland home in Dundee, by Rev. P. H. Hutchinson. They were attended by Miss Margaret Sutherland and the late George E. Smaill.

To this marriage was born one daughter, Aileen, (Mrs. Stanley W. Crawford of Burke, N.Y.) and one son N. Stanton S. Smaill, of Montreal, Que. Two children died in infancy.

Mr. and Mrs. Smaill have three grandchildren, one granddaughter Lois Craword of Burke, Stanton Jr. and Stephen Smaill of Montreal.

Peter McArthur Gets R.P.I. Scholarship

The following item is taken from The Shawinigan Standard, Shawinigan Falls, Que., and is self explanatory. It relates to the son of Peter McArthur, Howick, Que.

"An item of interest to our La Tuque readers should be the fact that Jordan Isaiou was instrumental in getting Peter McArthur of Shawinigan Falls in contact with Rensselaer Polytechnique Institute.

"Jordan, who is on active duty for Uncle Sam gave up many days of his leave home in order to find a boy with the necessary qualifications for applying for a scholarship, at R.P.I. The boy had to pass the State Board Entrance examination and also be an all round sport and be able to play hockey.

"We read a letter of thanks to Mr. Isaiou from Mr. McArthur in which he stated that his son Peter had been accepted and had won a four year scholarship at R.P.I.

"Our congratulations to Peter McArthur on his success and Jordon Isaiou for his efforts on his behalf."

Two Flee Jail At Valleyfield By Sawing Bar

For the third time in less than three weeks, Provincial Police have launched a province-wide search following a break from a district jail.

Object of the latest manhunt are two men who broke out of the county courthouse and jail at Valleyfield shortly after supper time Tuesday night.

Lieut. Gaston Vanier said the fugitives — Jean Marc Gravel, 27, and William Harper, 30 — sawed their way through a cell bar to make their successful bid for freedom. One of the men was reported to have been given a three-month jail term for jail-break a few weeks ago.

Last week, a 30-year-old Montreal man escaped from Joliette County jail but was captured two days later when spotted in Lachine. Another man who fled from the same jail in mid-September was also nabbed a few days later.

Head Lights To Distinguish Funeral Cars

The plan to distinguish funeral procession in Malone was established the past week at a special meeting of the police committee of the village board and Police Chief Sidney J. Brooks.

All cars in the funeral procession will be instructed by the funeral director to turn on headlights on the low beam from the starting point of the funeral to the cemetery.

Funeral directors will notify the chief of police as soon as possible of the date, hour, starting point and route of procession relative to the funeral.

The plan is to eliminate outside traffic from cutting into funeral processions and which can be recognized by the lighted auto lights. Motorists are urged to co-operate with this movement.

Churchill Still Hopes For Peace Through Talks

British Guiana Upset Under Control For Time Being — Troops and Warships on Guard

Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill says he has a "sure hope" that an east-west non-aggression pact supported by the United States would prevent a third world war. The 78-year-old British statesman addressing the Conservative party conference at Margate renewed his call for an informal meeting of the Big Four heads of state.

He declared: "Had the United States taken before the First World War or between the wars the same interest and made the same exertions to preserve peace and uphold freedom which — I thank God — she is doing now, there might never have been a first war and there certainly would never have been a second.

"With their mighty aid, I have sure hope there will not be a third."

Of his original proposal for a meeting with President Eisenhower, Soviet premier Georgi Malenkov and French premier Joseph Laniel, Churchill declared: "Five months ago on May 11 I made a speech in the house of commons. I have not spoken since. This is the first time in my political life that I have kept quiet so long.

"I asked for very little. I held out no glittering or exciting hopes about Russia. I thought that friendly, informal, personal talks between the leading figures in the countries mainly involved might do good and would not easily do much harm, and that good thing might lead to another."

Upset in Guiana

British Guiana, with British troops and warships maintaining order at strategic points, remained calm following London's ouster of six ministers on Communist charges and suspension of the colony's six-month-old constitution.

The United States backed up Britain, expressing grave concern over the threat to western hemispheric security from a possible coup in the South American colony by the "international Communist conspiracy." The U.S. state department expressed gratification that the "British government is taking firm action to meet the situation."

Despite the state of emergency declared by British governor Sir Alfred Savage, life among the 450-000 residents of diverse races appeared to be following the normal course, except on the political front.

Britain cracked down on the colony's government with a charge that Prime Minister Cheddi Jagan and his five ousted ministers were serving Moscow instead of Britain. The ousted cabinet ministers, all members of the leftist People's Progressive Party, were accused of supporting Communist fronts, fomenting strikes and threatening the public welfare. They had been in office for six months.

Jagan and his American-born wife both have denied they are Communists. Jagan, an Indian ex-dentist, prepared to leave the colony to wage a campaign in London for the restoration of his regime.

Fatal Kidnapping

Methodical investigation of all facets of the Greenlease kidnap-slaying in Missouri was being pushed by authorities trying to clear up discrepancies in stories told by the boy's admitted abductors.

Carl Austin Hall, 34, who planned the kidnapping, and Bonnie Brown Heady, 41-year-old divorcee who took six-year-old Bobby Greenlease from his private school, were taken to Kansas City from St. Louis where they had been arrested.

Still unaccounted for last weekend was $300,000, half the ransom paid by Bobby's wealthy father, 71-year-old Robert C Greenlease of Kansas City. Hall had some $290,-000 in his possession when arrested but said he did not know what happened to the remainder.

Also sought was Thomas Marsh, 37-year-old ex-convict, named by Hall as his accomplice in the kidnapping. Hall blamed Marsh for the actual slaying of the boy. Authorities however have raised doubts that Marsh was ever involved.

There were many other unexplained angles as Mrs. Heady and Hall were remanded on a charge of extortion. Both face murder charges in St. Joseph, and kidnap charges at Kansas City. The child's body had been found buried in the back yard of Mrs. Heady's home in St. Joseph.

Tributes to Weeklies

Prime Minister St. Laurent met members of the Association of Canadian French-language weekly newspapers on the second day of their three-day congress at Ottawa. He was accompanied by defence minister Claxton and resources minister Lesage. The latter, in a brief address, said the weekly newspapers provided a good supply of MPs — there are five in the association — and he praised the publishers and editors for the invaluable service they give the country.

Mayor Charlotte Whitton welcomed the congress to Ottawa and said the weeklies in Canada, as in the United States and England, exerted an influence out of proportion to their size. They have been vigorous, she said, in making clear the thought of the people.

In the small communities, she said, life is lived more closely and realistically than in the cities which tend to obscure individual character. "If you want to know how the country is thinking, the best thing is to take a good look through the pages of the weeklies."

Delegates requested their board of directors to consider the possibility of co-operative buying of newsprint. The association agreed to hold its next annual congress at Winnipeg.

Canada's oldest French-language newspaper, the Courrier de St. Hyacinthe, established 100 years ago, won first prize for the best newspaper of regular format. The Courrier also won the prize for the paper maintaining the highest standard in French language.

The judges praised the literary standard, presentation and interest in cultural activity of the Courrier, founded by P. J. Guite and A. deGrandpre. Editor-in-chief for the last 30 years has been Harry Bernard, 55, a Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada and author of 13 books including studies of Quebec province.

Some Interesting Facts About Canada's Income Taxpayers

Over 90 percent of those Canadians who paid income tax in the year 1951, were in the income group of $5,000 and less.

This is one of the interesting bits of information gleaned from the pages of the most recent survey of income tax payments issued by the taxation division of the Department of National Revenue at Ottawa.

The survey is detailed for the year 1951, which is the latest year for which a survey is possible. However, the survey does give, in total, the amount of income tax paid by Canadians for the 1952 year, which was just over two and one-half billion dollars, the highest year on record since income tax was instituted by the federal government in 1917.

For the year 1951, the total amount paid in income tax was $1,513,135,510. Total number of taxpayers of all classes for that year was 2,777,950.

Classification of those taxpayers by income groups shows that 855,-400, or 30.8 percent, were in the income group of $3,000 to $5,000 a year. In the group of $2,500 to $3,000, there were 156,860 taxpayers, or 6.2 percent. In the group under $2,500 there were 1,537,750 or 55 percent. Above the $5,000 income mark, there were 228,000 or 8 percent.

In other words 92 percent of those paying income tax in 1951 were in the income group of $5,000 or below.

Of those taxpayers having an income of $3,000 or less, Newfoundland had 60 percent; P.E.I. 68 percent; Nova Scotia 70 percent; New Brunswick 66 percent; Quebec 40 percent; Ontario 60 percent; Manitoba 65 percent; Saskatchewan 62 percent; Alberta 60 percent, and B.C. 57 percent.

Newfoundland's total number of people paying income tax in 1951 was .9 percent of Canada's total. P.E.I.'s percentage was .2 percent of the national total; N.S. 2.9 percent; N.B. 2 percent; Quebec 22 percent; Ontario 44.1 percent; Manitoba 5.3 percent; Saskatchewan 3.9 percent; Alberta 6.3 percent; B.C. 10.9 percent.

Lawyers at Top of Income Heap

Lawyers paying income tax in 1951 were on top of the list so far as average income was concerned. Total numbers of lawyers paying the tax that year was 4,970, with an average income of $10,214. Doctors and surgeons were next, 8,790 of them paying tax with an average income of $9,975.

Farmer Taxpayers

A total of 189,000 farmers filed tax returns for the 1951 year, and of these 61,670 were found taxable. The average income of these 61,670 farmers was found to be $3,748.

Of the total farmers taxable in 1951 47,670 were shown to have incomes of $4,500 or less. Of this group, the largest, 11,590, were in the income group of $2,500 to $3,000.

Some 3,000 farmers showed incomes of between $4,500 and $5,000; 4,270 had incomes between $5,000 and $6,000; 2,310 were between $6,-000 and $7,000; 1,520 between $7,000 and $8,000, and 2,890 had incomes of over $8,000.

Corporation Profits Tax

Analysis of the corporation and company income tax on profits reveals that the highest average taxable profit for the 1951 year was in the mining group, which included gas and oil companies, as well as all types of mining. Some 425 of these companies reported profits in 1951, with an average taxable profit among the 425 of $480,000. Within this group, the gold and other metal mining companies were highest, 71 such companies reporting with an average taxable profit of $2,-488,000.

Companies engaged in agriculture, forestry and fishing, which reported taxable profits in 1951, totalled 613 with an average taxable profit of $33,500.

Of manufacturing concerns, 8,113 showed an average taxable profit of $194,000. In this group, the pulp and paper interests loomed large with 74 of them having an average taxable profit of $4,260,000. Automobile concerns were next, 89 of them having an average taxable profit of $987,000.

Meat packing plants reporting totalled 74, with an average taxable profit of $165,000.

In construction companies group, 1,652 reporting had an average taxable profit of $31,000.

Public utility companies — 1,581 had an average taxable profit of $141,000.

Dundee

DUNDEE — Messrs. Gordon Fraser, his brother, Lester, and Mr. Carl Stowell attended the International Plowing Match at Cobourg, Ont., last Wednesday and Thursday.

An estimated crowd of 35,000 was on hand to witness the event during its several days' duration.

This was the 40th International Plowing Competition and a Canadian, an Englishman and an American were contenders for the world's first plowing crown.

Representatives of 11 countries with 20 entries took part in the World Contest. Each entrant, who entered the contest by right of being a national winner at home, plowed one half-acre of stubble and one half-acre of sod.

In this class were entered Bob Timbers of Stouffville, Ont., Leslie Dixon of Yorkshire, England, and Graeme Stewart of Plainfield, Ill. Competitors were also present from Northern Ireland, Republic of Ireland, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Finland, West Germany and the Netherlands.

The judges were taken from each country represented in the match and the champion is thus chosen.

Contenders use two-furrow plows and tractors and plow from 5 to 1 inches in depth and the width is left to their own choice.

The rules governing the competition, which were set last year at Falkirk, Scotland, are much stricter in this world event than in regular plowing competitions. It is usual for Canadian plowmen to dismount if necessary and mold a furrow by hand. In world competitions this practice is banned.

A three-hour time limit is set to plow the one half-acre. Ordinarily a plowman with tractor would plow this amount in much less than three hours but in competition and at a speed of about 2 miles an hour, it takes all of it to complete his portion of ground. The European entries including Roman Doudorff, a 20-year-old German, made much faster time than that.

James Eccles of Brampton, Ont., who was second to Robert Timbers of Stouffville, Ont., in the Ontario and Canadian Championships, gave a very neat demonstration in the stubble. Striving for perfection on the last round, Eccles practically allowed the tractor to drive itself and rode facing backwards holding the plow levers all the while he was making the finish.

The 26-year-old Timbers has been entered in seven Internationals and has won several prizes which include three Ontario Championships which include several trips overseas to represent Canada in European plowing competitions.

Graeme Stewart is also a veteran competitor in International events and is holder of the American straight plowing championship. One other American R. C. (Bus Cummins) of Lewiston, Ohio, is contour champion of the U.S. He was also entered in the event.

Dixon, the British entry, is 47 years old and has won 16 first prizes and championships in competitions in the United Kingdom. His father, who was also a champion plowman, retired in 1932 and when he did he had 263 championships to his credit and his brother is an active prize winning plowman. His grandfather and two of his uncles won 158 prizes among them. Evidently his ability as a plowman must be inherited.

Reginald Hogg was another competitor from England; R. J. Carse, Northern Ireland; D. G. Share and Thomas McDonnell, Republic of Ireland; John Horst, Germany; Odd Braut and Olav Nedberg, Norway; A. Helin and Per-Gote Jonson, Sweden; Erik Bie anid Frede Eigil and Ersen, Denmark; Hudo Joonas Sintonen, Finland; F. T. L. Van Gaalen and William Adrian de Lint, The Netherlands.

Eldred King, a 27-year-old farmer from Markham, Ont., won the three-furrow tractor event and Colin Thomson, 37-year-old North Gower was second.

The Kidnapping Case

The kidnap murder of little 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease and its extortionate ransom demanded and paid to his kidnappers are bringing citizens of his home city, Kansas City, Miss., and many other cities as well, to the realization that children cannot be allowed to leave classes on any pretext whatsoever. Since Bobby's abduction from school by a woman purporting to be his Aunt Mary, schools in the States are making new rulings about students leaving their classrooms during school hours. Public School authorities in Boston have instituted a new set of rules aimed at preventing a re-occurrence of the Kansas City kidnapping. A new ruling issued by the Superintendent of Schools decreed that none of the city's elementary pupils be dismissed early except in the custody of a parent who is present at the time of the dismissal.

Protect Outboard Motor During Winter Months

Unless you happen to be one of the fortunate few who follow the sun around looking for warmer climates, you'll be packing away all the fishing gear and vacation equipment, to spend the next four or five months beside a warm fireside, dreaming of the big ones you caught and the bigger ones that got away.

Before you carefully pack your equipment in moth balls, it's a good idea to make sure your faithful outboard is properly prepared for storage. A few precautions taken at this time means you can start the spring season without a worry.

Like your automobile, proper care will lengthen the life of your outboard motor, and give you many miles of trouble-free fishing and boating.

First of all, take your outboard to your nearest dealer. He looks after the storage problem, and has the facilities to do the job properly, carefully, checking and servicing every part.

Some of the Things To Do

So that you'll know — here are some of the things he will do:

1—He drains all gasoline and oil from the gas tank and carburetor.

2—Flushes the cooling system thoroughly, draining all water from the cooling system.

3—Drains and refills the gear housing according to factory specifications.

4—Injects a small amount of registered lubricating oil into each cylinder, and by revolving the flywheel slowly, spreads the oil over the cylinder walls, pistons and piston rings for protection against possible rust.

5—Cleans the entire outside of the motor, wiping it with an oil rag to prevent damage from rust or corrosion during storage.

6—Stores the motor in a dry place, well protected from moisture, dust and freezing.

When Spring Comes

When spring rolls around, before you call for the motor, he gets it in tip-top running condition.

If he finds any broken or unserviceable parts, affecting the operation of the motor, he will contact you for permission to replace. He'll instruct you on the proper operating and care of the motor. In other words — next spring you'll have an outboard motor that starts like a charm, and sings along wherever your gypsy blood may steer your course. It's the power that gets you there, and brings you home!

You'll be the first to agree it's a smart sportsman who makes sure his outboard motor does not deteriorate while laid up during the winter months.

Russia, the Atom Bomb, and Possible Attack

DURING the past week many top ranking officials, including the President of the United States, have had a word to say about the possibility of Russia dropping atom bombs on the American continent. Such talk may be with a view to rousing up the populace to the danger potential of a sneak attack on some of the large cities on this side of the world. Whatever the idea there must be more to it than just talk, for it is quite a serious matter.

It has also been reported that Russian planes have been seen on many occasions flying into Canada from across the arctic circle. It has also been reported that several of these have flown well inland toward the centre which would bring them into Alberta, Saskatchewan or perhaps Manitoba. Air officials have refused comment on the reports. It is only natural that officials would be loth to confirm or deny such reports, as either would be useful to Russia if she is actually sending planes here on reconnaissance flights. It would tell that these flights were known of and that they could be intercepted at any time. In the case of a sneak attack in bombing formation, detection would be the last thing wanted until such attack had actually taken place.

President Eisenhower says that there is great possibility and Russia is not at all behind in the matter of the atom bomb. He will not talk of what the possibilities are of our defence against such attack, for here again an enemy would be very glad to have the information. But he has taken steps to see that officials take more care in what they say with regard to the possibilities of such attacks.

Nevertheless, we cannot but feel that the officials are perhaps a little uneasy as to the possibilities whether they come soon or in a few years. All of which brings to our mind that more attention should be paid to the organization of civilian defence units. In Huntingdon we have on hand a quantity of supplies for training of personnel and for use in the event that an attack should take place. But nothing so far has been done with regard to organizing. We would be in a sorry plight if an attack was made on Montreal for instance, not so much from the attack itself perhaps, as from the influx of people who would move out of the city to zones of possible greater safety. The civilian defence is to look after such emergencies as well as actual attack. But to do this requires much organization and each one knowing exactly what to do when the time comes.

The equipment is here and stored right in our Firehall, but it is waiting for an organization to be trained in the use and to plan how to cope with such an eventuality. It may not have occurred to people here what a mass evacuation of a city like Montreal might mean if that city actually came under attack. The fear would make people forsake all precaution in their endeavour to put distance between them and the attack. All this would have to be controlled and readiness of our hospitals and doctors would have to be planned to cope with all kinds of emergencies that would result. Even our fire brigade may be called upon to lend assistance to subdue fires, etc.

With a view to arousing the citizens to organizing a defence unit we are going to print a series of articles entitled "Canada Prepares to Deal With Disaster" and issued by the Department of National Health and Welfare, Ottawa. This is not intended to scare people, but only to arouse them to the need for preparedness. If it is never needed all will have learned much of use to them in any emergency. If on the other hand it is needed, it is better that we be prepared and ready than to stand around wringing our hands in despair. This series will tell each week what should be done and how to organize. It will be up to the people to decide if they want to organize and it will take someone at the head who has had military experience and preferably with officer training. As stated we have the material, what we lack is the organization.

Economic Rabbits

CONTROLS, like rabbits, tend to be very prolific. Introduce a couple of controls to deal with a particular situation, and before one knows it, several pairs of new controls spring into being. The more controls, the less freedom. That is why it is difficult to understand the reasoning of those who advocate a planned, by which, of course, is meant a controlled economy.

The Canadian-born Princeton economist, Jacob Viner, has had some interesting things to say of late regarding economic controls. "Direct controls," he says, "because by their nature they involve the total or partial substitution of government decisions for the different decisions which the market would make if the direct controls did not stand in the way, are inherently contagious; each new set of direct controls in a particular sector of the economy tends to make necessary the establishment of supporting or protective direct controls in the neighboring sectors if the first set of controls is not to be evaded."

Professor Viner has much more to say in the same vein, and concludes, as must any thoughtful Canadians who recall the effect of controls in this country, that "central economic planning has not only universally involved some measure of price inflation but has also involved relative inflation as compared to the free-market economies."

Why Tariffs Are Necessary

THE Geneva conference on trade and tariffs provided occasion for a lot of high-flown oratory on the merits of free trade. Unfortunately, advocates of free trade frequently fail to realize that any drastic reduction in tariffs would place in grave jeopardy the economic as well as the military security of a country such as Canada.

Abandonment of an intelligent tariff policy would, in the first place, leave Canadians unarmed against the 'dumping' at cut-rate prices of government-created foreign surpluses in the Canadian market. Since such surpluses are, in the main, agricultural, the consequences of such 'dumping' for Canadian agriculture could be disastrous. Farm incomes would suffer a disastrous decline, with unpleasant economic consequences for the entire country.

Tariff policy also forms an important part in Canada's defence programme. For were Canadian industries, the majority of which are necessary to defence in time of national emergency, to be put out of business by 'dumping' and other unfair competition from abroad, Canada would cease to be the arsenal of freedom which she was in World War II, and would become entirely dependent on other countries for her defence needs.

Tariff policy is too useful a weapon to be lightly tossed aside.

Frontiers Still Beckon

A high school lad said the other day he wished he had lived during the First Elizabethan Age, or even 50 or 100 years ago, when explorers and developers still were pushing back the frontiers.

To his way of thinking, this 20th century is pretty tame stuff. The seven seas have all been explored, the continents all mapped, men have even reached the north and south poles. All his life he had seen telephones and radios. Automobiles are too familiar to rate a comment.

Compared with the spacious days of Drake and Frobisher, of Cook and Vancouver, of Champlain and La Verendrye, the present has few blank areas left on the map. There are not many places on the surface of the earth where restless man has not yet travelled.

Look at it that way and the days of the globe-girdling explorer appear over. Yet, from other aspects, a wealth of exploration still challenges the adventurer.

All this summer, aerial photographic planes have been ranging Canada's subarctic so that Canadians can have accurate and detailed maps of their great northland. The remaining blank spots on the country's map are rapidly being filled in.

Farther afield, a British expedition made history two months ago by scaling hitherto-unconquerable Mount Everest.

Industrial uses of atomic energy offer scope for discoveries that may change the lives of all mankind.

Despite the breathtaking medical miracles of the last few years, the world still awaits the unfailing cure for cancer, and poliomyelitis and heart disease. Some day the researchers may win their battle with these diseases, as they have triumphed over so many other scourges in the past.

No new worlds to conquer? Why, almost every important finding raises fresh questions and points the way to unexplored fields of endeavor. Just as the vastness of Canada's natural resources is being developed at Kitimat, at Niagara and in Ungava, amazing discoveries may be just ahead for Canadian researchers in new frontiers of science and the human spirit.

Being situated at the apex of the triangle, the front of the building will have an imposing effect as it faces the main street leading to it from the Grand Trunk Station. About twenty-five years ago, there was a fine three-storey mansard roof residence on the property, owned and occupied by Mrs. Desautels. The present new and spacious Roman Catholic School is erected a few yards from the site of the Doctor's house.

Weekly Review

Robin Hood or Santa Claus?

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

Is the Welfare State Robin Hood or Santa Claus? This question was raised by a columnist who signs himself "Ilico" in the British Weekly. He says the question was prompted by a passage in a lecture he heard recently at Oxford delivered by Professor Jewkes, who was speaking of the "modern State which removes so much of our earnings in the form of taxation (our total bill is about two-fifths of our national income), and which hands out money so lavishly for education, for health, for social service in general."

In the passage referred to Prof. Jewkes said: "At the moment each one of us in his financial dealing with the State is waylaid by a fantastic creature combining in one body the proclivities of Robin Hood and Santa Claus, a creature which may be interested in transferring money from rich to poor but seems even more concerned that people shall carry their wealth in the right pockets and in approved forms." And the lecturer added that "after these incredible conjuring tricks have been performed," many people do not know whether they are better off or poorer in the end.

Prof. Jewkes is an eminent economist, and in his diagnosis of the economic situation in Britain was not entirely pessimistic. He did not expect any sudden or overwhelming disaster,; he thought that most of post-war economic troubles had been due to incompetence and inexperience on the part of her rulers. But he thought there was some danger of floundering gradually, "like a water-logged raft," and said, "We should very seriously consider whether we really have the means to fulfil all our good intentions towards one another in these islands and towards those who may rightly look to us for help."

Prof. Jewkes sums up his reflections in a balance sheet which deserves quotation in full for careful study by Canadians who admire the Welfare State experiment in Britain and would like to see it repeated in this country.

"We have in Britain," said Prof. Jewkes, "a numerous, mildly indolent, highly ingenious people living in a country with few natural resources but with an accumulated mass of relatively efficient capital equipment; a people whose sense of independence has been somewhat sapped in recent years, who have fallen into the improvident habit of not providing capital for the future and who, since the end of the war, have shown more enthusiasm for doing good to others than power to do good in fact. And the question is whether, looking at the balance sheet, it would be wise for us to drop our enthusiasm, lower our sights and parochially potter about with our own affairs, or whether we shall retain our enthusiasm by doing what is necessary to turn them into something more than pipe-dreams. As between the two possibilities, the economist, of course, is concerned only to point out that there must be a choice, conscious or unconscious - - - - If we are to choose the former, the lazy way, we must give up talking about the New Elizabethan Age."

Ilico the columnist, who in person is Nathaniel Micklem, for some years on the staff of Queens University at Kingston, does not entirely agree with Prof. Jewkes' claim that "the primary responsibility of government should be stability in the value of currency." Speaking as "a kind of theologian," Dr. Micklem points out that "man is a spiritual being, and the State is, or should be, concerned with providing the framework within which human nature can best flower." But he admits that without a stable currency the welfare state cannot be maintained. "Only in that sense," he says, "may we put economic issues first." But that sense is common sense so far as government is concerned. A Robin Hood and Santa Claus State can only lower both the material and spiritual welfare of its people.

The church was tastefully decorated with autumn leaves and flowers. The donation of vegetables, jellies and preserves for Huntingdon County Hospital filled the table and was sent in the afternoon to Huntingdon. Next Sunday service will be held at the usual hour, when Mr. McLeod's subject will be "For Parents Only."

The Week At Ottawa...

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has appointed its first ambassador to Franco's Spain.

He is Lt. Gen. Maurice Pope, who has been for three years Ambassador to Belgium and Minister to Luxembourg. He is 64, and comes from Riviere du Loup, Que.

Previously Canada had only a trade commissioner in Madrid.

An External Affairs Department spokesman said the new appointment does not imply Canadian approval of Franco's government, but "rounds out" Canadian representation overseas.

In 1946 the United Nations condemned the Franco regime as a dictatorship. Some countries withdrew their envoys. Then in 1950 the UN changed its mind. And the envoys went back again.

A few weeks ago the U.S. signed a pact exchanging financial help to Spain for the use of Spanish military bases.

But for Britain, Spain can have no real friendship until Gibraltar is handed over. Mariano de Yturralde y Orbegoso, recently appointed Spanish Ambassador to Canada, said so last week.

Eisenhower Here Soon

President Eisenhower, accompanied by his wife, will arrive at Ottawa Friday, Nov. 13, for a three-day visit.

It is hoped he will address both Houses of Parliament on Saturday, Nov. 14.

Mr. Eisenhower was last at Ottawa in January, 1951, when he came for a day as Supreme Commander of NATO forces.

It will be the third state visit to Ottawa by a U.S. president. President Roosevelt was here in August, 1943, and President Truman in July, 1947. Mr. Eisenhower will be the first Republican president to make an official visit.

Pay for ex-P.O.Ws?

Prime Minister St. Laurent indicated that the government is likely to make money awards as compensation to all the 8,000 Canadian military personnel and merchant seamen who were prisoners in Europe in the Second World War.

The 1,417 Canadians held in the Far East or by criminal organizations such as Hitler's SS have already been given $1 a day for the term of their imprisonment. Such awards are additional to regular service pay.

Chief Justice Thane A. Campbell, chief war claims commissioner, who has inquired into general P.O.W. conditions in Europe, now reports that all Canadian captives were maltreated to some degree. The recommended compensation ranges from 20 cents per day to a maximum of $1 per day of imprisonment, the latter for those who suffered special aggravation.

Pamphlet Man Wins

The Witnesses of Jehovah won a decision in the Supreme Court of Canada, which ruled that Quebec City has no right to stop the Witnesses from distributing pamphlets on the street.

Quebec province had about 800 Witnesses lined up for prosecution. All these cases will have to be dropped.

The test appeal was brought by Witness evangelist Laurier Saumur, who was convicted in 1946 of violation of a Quebec City by-law by distributing tracts on the street without police permission.

three Roman Catholics and an Anglican — said the by-law is valid and the appeal should be thrown out.

Four others — all Protestants — said the by-law is invalid and the appeal should be allowed.

The ninth bencher, Mr. Justice Kerwin, said the by-law is valid, but not if it is used to prohibit the distribution of religious tracts. He thought the appeal should be allowed.

That made five to four. And evangelist Saumur walked out the winner.

Freight Rates Changed

The West has got the cut it has long been demanding in rail freight charges.

The Board of Transport Commissioners here ordered the railways to reduce class (ceiling) rates in western Canada by five per cent; to compensate they can charge up to 10 per cent more in Ontario and Quebec.

These changes, which come into effect Nov. 15, are a temporary measure for rate equalization. A permanent arrangement should go into effect at the beginning of 1955.

The CPR says it will lose $5,200,000 a year. Both CPR and CNR say the gain in central Canada will not compensate for the loss in the West.

Those Car Premiums

Combines investigator T. D. MacDonald has opened an inquiry into the effect of insurance company practices on the cost of automobile insurance.

He says the companies are not suspected of breaking anti-combine laws but that there is "public concern" about various commission and rating arrangements.

Auto insurance premiums totalled $137,700,000 last year, against $105,300,000 in 1951. Claims paid out by companies increased to $76,500,000 from $65,000,000.

Living Goes Up

The cost of living in August was the highest for 16 months. The Bureau of Statistics reports the consumer price index rose from 115.7 to 116.2. After the fourth consecutive monthly rise it was just two points below the all-time high reached in December, 1951. Higher food prices were the main cause of the latest rise.

Mrs. Beatrice Minchinton returned to Montreal for a short vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McCutcheon of Cornwall, Mrs. Gentle of Huntingdon and Mr. and Mrs. A. Moore of Ormstown called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilson Sunday afternoon.

Round Byre AND Ring

By Frank Napier

Noted Sire to Howick

High-light of the dispersal sale of the historic Bois de la Roche Ayrshire herd was the selling of the well-known herd sire Rottenrow Remarkable. Linked with that, also a high-light in itself, was the fact that that bull was purchased by, what our informant, Gilbert MacMillan, has described as a Syndicate of progressive young Ayrshire breeders of the Howick district. Insofar as we are aware this is the first time in the history of this district that a similar group of Ayrshire breeders have so combined together. In fact we are unaware of a similar Ayrshire set-up anywhere in Canada. That is, of course, excepting the odd instance where bulls have been purchased jointly by breeders with their own separate herds.

A Howick Syndicate

The Howick Syndicate (they apparently have not yet selected the official name of their organization) of some ten breeders delegated Archie F. Roy, together with Robert ("Bob") Templeton and Gilbert MacMillan (the latter as a sort of elder brother adviser) to make the trip to Hays Farms Ltd. Sales Arena, near Oakville, Ont., where the Bois de la Roche herd was sold, on Friday evening, October 9. The bidding was done by Archie Roy and we understand that he had quite a lot of opposition up to $1,300.00 or $1,400.00.- However, we understand that after the latter figure the bidding was between Archie and one or two others, up to his final successful bid of $2,000.00.

Outstanding Record

It's been a great many years since an Ayrshire bull of the age of Rottenrow Remarkable has fetched such a high figure at an auction sale. He was calved January 17, 1946. However, he is not only a remarkable individual in himself with an outstanding show career but he is also remarkably well-bred, well-backed; has also a remarkably good record as a sire.

Prior to his being imported from Scotland he was grand champion at Ayr Show in 1948 and 1949; grand champion at the 1949 Royal Highland and Agricultural Society's show. He was also in considerable service in Scotland before being imported to Canada and one of his progeny is the now famous Carnell herd sire Carnell Hiawatha. One of his daughters, Carnell Mabel 11th was the unbeaten 2 year old in Scotland in 1950. She also has a 2 year old record of 10,922 lbs. milk, 490 lbs. fat, 4.54%.

Remarkable has also been rated as an "Approved" sire by the Ayrshire Cattle Herd Book Society of Great Britain in virtue of that his first 12 daughters to come in milk, in Scotland, had records which averaged 11,017 lbs. milk, 474 lbs. fat, 4.24% (M.E. 2X).

Shortly after his importation to Canada he was first prize 3-year-old at the 1949 Royal Winter Fair, while he was also 2nd prize aged bull at the 1952 Royal.

Pedigree Aplenty!

What about his pedigree and backing? Well, he is a son of the "Approved" Scottish sire Auchenbrain Yours' Truly, likewise the sire of a number of other noted animals including several that are now in Canada, one of them being Burnside Carnell Tulip, "Excellent", 1st prize cow 1952 Royal Winter Fair. The others include Annbrae Yours Truly Hazel, Junior champion females 1949 Royal Winter Fair; Carnell Hazel 4th which after importation by R. R. Ness & Sons topped the United States National Ayrshire Sale in 1950; Carnell Sweepstake sold in 1951 for $4,500.00.

Yours Truly was sired by the noted "Approved" Scottish sire Lessnessock Milk Board and his dam was Auchenbrain Yellow Kate 52nd.

Rottenrow Remarkable's dam was Rottenrow Molly by Howie's Inspiration. She had a lifetime record of over 85,700 lbs. milk, three of her yearly records being over 10,000 lbs. milk, testing from 5% up to 5.31%. She also made a record of 12,380 lbs. milk, 662 lbs. fat, average test 5.35%.

Insofar as we are aware, none of Remarkable's daughters that have been born in Canada have reached the qualifying stage. Nor are we aware at present as to the winnings of his progeny which were born in Canada. That is excepting Burnside Request which has been a considerable winner for R. R. Ness & Sons. However, as will be noted by the Bois de la Roche sale report, the balance of his sons and daughters remaining in that herd at the time of its dispersal made a good showing indeed.

More About Bois de la Roche Sale

As already recorded this was the final and complete dispersal of the famous, albeit historic Bois de la Roche Ayrshire herd. It will be recalled that practically half of that herd was sold at auction some two years ago, the excuse being, then as now, lack of help.

The 45 head sold were shipped to Oakville, Ont., the sale having been managed by Hays Farm Ltd. The auctioneer was Lorne E. Franklin, with R. O. Biggs on Pedigrees and Announcements, and with Tom Hays in assistance in the selling.

Acording to Gilbert MacMillan, who kindly marked a catalogue for us, the sale was commenced at around 8 p.m. and was completed by around 10 p.m.

According to Gilbert MacMillan it must be considered as a very satisfactory sale, inasmuch as a considerable number of the mature females are getting along in years of age. "Moreover", he said, "we must realize that at present cattle are selling at around 60% of the prices that were being paid in 1951, the peak year, so to speak, of the present decade".

Collectively, the 45 head sold brought a total of $13,245.00 or a general average of $295.00.

Eight head went to H. H. Powers, Auburn, N.Y. for a total of $2,520.00. Three head went to the order of Gonzales de Castras, Caracas, Venezuela, South America, for a total of $1,310.00. The three animals purchased for Mr. de Castras were Bois de la Roche Tradition, junior herd sire, at $610; two daughters of Rottenrow Remarkable at $300.00 and $400.00 each.

Two head went to Lauro Ortego, Mexico, including a senior yearling daughter of Rottenrow Remarkable at $360.00.

As already recorded the only animal that came back to the Province of Quebec was Rottenrow Remarkable, at $2,000.00. The balance went to Central and Western Ontario herds. Incidentally, the top priced female went to Dalton Jermey, Coldwater, Ont., at $510.00. She is the ten year old "Very Good" cow Marcon Polly, by Bois de la Roche Henry.

Remarkable's Averages

Altogether there were 5 sons and 23 daughters of Rottenrow Remarkable in the Bois de la Roche sale. The five males by him — 1 yearling and 4 bull calves totalled $945.00, an average of $189.00.

His 23 daughters were sold as follows: 8 two year old heifers for a total of $2,580.00, or an average of $322.50; 11 yearling heifers for a total of $2,225.00, or an average of $202.00; 4 heifer calves for a total of $710.00 or an average of $177.00.

Bois de la Roche Cherry 17th

It may be of interest to note that the only catalogued animal that was not forward was Bois de la Roche Cherry 17th., born Aug. 18, 1935. Prior to the shipment of the other members of the herd to Oakville, Archie F. Roy, of R. J. Roy & Son, Howick, purchased that noted veteran of the herd, Bois de la Roche Cherry 17th. She is a famous daughter of the equally famous Bois de la Roche Cherry, founder of the famous Bois de la Roche Cherry family.

Actually the dam, Bois de la Roche Cherry, was bred by R. J. Roy. Her dam, Burnside Oldhall Cherry, was carrying her when she was purchased from R. J. Roy by Bois de la Roche. Cherry 17th is in calf to Rottenrow Remarkable.

End of an Era

And so has been dispersed one of Canada's oldest established herds of Ayrshires, albeit one of the most influential and outstanding.

It was founded by the late Senator Forget, and was then carried on by Waldo W. and Mrs. Skinner (the latter a daughter of Senator Forget) for a considerable number of years. After Mr. Skinner's death a few years ago, Mrs. Skinner carried on as the sole owner.

It was during Mr. and Mrs. Skinner's joint ownership that the herd reached the zenith of its fame. During that time the herd and farms were managed by Wm. Greenshields to whom has been freely accorded a great deal of the credit for the successes attained by the herd. After the end of World War II, John Greenshields came back from the Navy to succeed his father as manager.

Burnside at Chicago

It should also be of interest to Ayrshire breeders in this district to learn that R. R. Ness & Sons, Burnside Farms, Howick, are competing this week at the revived International Dairy Show at Chicago. That is they have 13 head at that show while along with them went an animal from the Terrace Bank herd of J. Earle Ness & Sons.

R. ("Bobby") Ness of Terrace Bank went to Chicago with the show herd, while Douglas A. Ness, left Friday last for Chicago, and we understand that A. Mitchell Ness was also leaving for Chicago on Monday of this week.

History Repeated

We understand there are 237 entries in the Ayrshire classes at the International Dairy Show, all except the 14 from Howick being from the United States. The Ayrshire judging dates are October 15 and 16.

This is not Burnside's first essay in competing at an International Dairy Show. In 1905 R. R. Ness showed a herd at the 1905 International Dairy Show at Chicago and for several years thereafter, up to and including 1915 (part of that time under the name of R. R. Ness & Sons).

After the International Dairy Show was superseded by the National Dairy Show, R. R. Ness & Sons exhibited at the 1916-18-23-27-29-37-39-41 events of the latter organization.

Gov't to Prosecute "Several" Quebec Butter Dealers

The Federal Government has decided to launch prosecutions against "several" Quebec dealers alleged to have produced and sold adulterated butter, a Health Department official said Wednesday.

One Montreal company, Crescent Cheese, has already been charged, the official said, and the court has granted an adjournment in the case. The other cases likely will be pressed "this Fall", he added.

The decision to press prosecutions followed the discovery during the Summer months of thousands of pounds of butter mixed with vegetable oil on Canadian butter markets.

Held as Evidence

The official said he believed all of the adulterated butter has been removed from the markets and is being held by the government as evidence.

Meanwhile, the Agriculture Department is testing its own huge stockpile of butter to find out if it contains any of the adulterated product.

BEEF

Now is a good time to talk about beef, for there is plenty available and it is very reasonable in price. Last year there were 35,000,000 pounds of beef inspected for grade in Canada by officials of the Canada Department of Agriculture. About one-third of this amount was graded into the two top grades, Grade A or Red Brand and Grade B or Blue Brand. The remainder fell into the C and D Grades.

Canadians love good beef and last year each person in Canada ate about 45 pounds of beef alone. As compared to 7 pounds of veal and 2 pounds of lamb.

In most homes more roast beef is purchased than any other beef cut. That seems natural enough because after all a good slice of roast beef would appeal to anyone at any time. Generally, the cuts of meat which are most suitable for oven roasting, broiling or pan frying, in other words those most suited to dry heat cookery are the most expensive. This is because they are in the greatest demand and there are fewer of these cuts than those which have to be cooked by moist heat. However, less tender cuts which are usually less expensive are just as delicious and just as nutritious provided they are cooked slowly in moist heat. There is no material difference in the nutritive value of the different cuts of beef. The main difference is that less tender cuts take more cooking time, tender cuts take more money. It is up to you to decide which you have the most of.

Are you wondering what to have for dinner today? What could be better than a good hot stew with plenty of vegetables? When served with a bowl of crisp green salad it makes a delicious low cost meal. Beef continues to be a good buy and what is better for stew than beef. The beef usually sold as stew meat comes from the flank, the neck, the brisket or the shank of the animal. Always unwrap meat as soon as you get it home from the butcher and plan to use it quickly for cut meat deteriorates rapidly.

The secret of making a good stew is to cook the meat to fork tenderness with not overcooked vegetables with a rich gravy which is smooth and seasoned to perfection. This, of course, means long slow simmering of the meat with the vegetables put in just long enough before the meat is done to cook them. That point is most important. Put the vegetables in just long enough before the meat is done to cook them.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, suggest the use of different combinations of vegetables in stew — for instance — carrots with lima beans and small onions, or celery with peas and carrots or green beans with onions and potatoes. To enhance the flavour of stew add a bay leaf or perhaps a garlic clove or a little meat sauce.

Thickened stews are usually more popular than those which are not thickened and a special favourite with the home economists is a thickened stew topped with a fluffy mashed potato crust which has been slipped under the broiler to heat through and to delicately brown. For another variation why not serve dumplings or rice instead of potatoes with stew.

There are certain seasons for certain foods and right now lamb is in season and will be for several weeks. People usually talk about "spring lamb" thinking it is a product of the spring, but actually lamb does not appear on our markets until late summer or early winter. It takes several months after the lambs are born in the spring before they are actually big enough to make good eating. Speaking of good eating what has more distinctive flavour and sweetness than lamb. Some of our sister dominions are great lamb eaters, but in Canada we do not eat much lamb, as a matter of fact last year each person in Canada ate only about two pounds of lamb. That certainly was not much and the home economists wonder why, because lamb is so delicious, if it is of good quality and has been properly cooked.

If the family loves lamb, why not make a lamb stew? The meat commonly sold as lamb stew meat comes from the flank, the shank or the neck.

The original lamb stew which we know as "Irish stew" served with dumplings was always made with light meat, in other words the lamb was not browned in fat. Today we prefer to brown the meat for our stews.

HEMMINGFORD—Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lengfield, Montreal, were Thanksgiving week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Smith.

Mrs. C. H. Smith received a cheque last week from Mr. W. H. Brady, Inspector of Schools, given by the Department of Education, as a bonus for successful teaching.

Mr. and Mrs. D. MacDonald, Sorel and Miss Margaret Simpson, Champlain, N.Y., were Thanksgiving week-end guests of Mrs. J. P. Simpson.

Mrs. K. Johnson recently spent a few days with her mother at Saranac Lake, N.Y.

Last Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 6th, many radio listeners on the CJAD 2.05 program, were pleasantly surprised to hear Mrs. Howard Miller proclaimed "Woman of the Day," in recognition of her outstanding work with the children of the Foster Home. Mrs. Miller had been asked to speak on the said broadcast, but being unable to attend Miss Grace Bartholomew spoke in her behalf. Mrs. Miller deserves great credit for the success she has achieved with the children, and the love and kindness she gives them.

Mr. Kenneth Campbell and son Barry and Mr. Robert Clark attended the ploughing match at Cobourg, Ont. It being the Craig day they spoke to them. Little Barry asked Martha if she had her dishwasher yet and Janice asked him why he wasn't at school. Was he playing hookie like she was?

Recent guests of Mrs. Edward Cowan and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McKay were Mrs. C. Harrington, Burlington, Vt., and Mr. Herbert Palmer of Bridport, Vt.

Misses Bernice and Gladys Smirle spent the Thanksgiving holidays with their mother, Mrs. C. Smirle.

Wedding

HILLCOAT-ANDERSON

St. Paul's United Church, Ormstown, Que., was decorated with autumn flowers and white candles for the marriage on Saturday, September 26, at three o'clock of Joyce Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Arthur Anderson of Ormstown to Mr. James Leckie Hillcoat of Longueuil, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Stirling Hillcoat of Longueuil, Que. Rev. W. A. Edwards of Howick performed the ceremony, while Mrs. Osmond played the organ and Miss Doris Zinck sang The Lord's Prayer, O Perfect Love, and I Love Thee.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Dorothy Anderson, as maid of honor. Mr. Andrew Hillcoat, Jr., acted as best man; the ushers were Mr. Kenneth Brown and Mr. Norman Butcher, brother-in-law of the bride.

The bride wore a full length gown of white tulle over satin with a bolero jacket of lace having long sleeves ending in points over the hands. Her shoulder length veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty Roses and stephanotis. Her jewellery was a three-strand pearl necklace and pearl earrings, the gift of the bridegroom.

The maid of honor in a ballerina length tangerine net redingote over taffeta dress with a fitted bodice and fluted neckline, wore a cap of dark brown velvet and carried a cascade bouquet of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Anderson, mother of the bride, gowned in American Beauty faille wore a black velvet hat with matching accessories and a white gardenia. The bridegroom's mother wore a slate grey corded silk dress with a navy blue felt hat and matching accessories with a gardenia pinned on her shoulder.

After a reception at MacDougall Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Hillcoat left on their wedding trip by car for Daytona Beach, Fla., and the southern states, the bride travelling in a brown suit, with a red feathered hat and red accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The couple will reside in Longueuil on their return.

Of Many Things

By Ambrose Hills

No Fences Please!

I was at a meeting one time where one of those very clever birds held us spellbound with what seemed like the best idea of the century. Seemed, at the moment, if we did as the man said we'd soon have paradise on earth.

"Look," he said, "at the foolish way we do things, because we fail to organize right. Take the farmers around this town. One builds his house in the middle of his farm, the other on the South corner, another one gosh knows where. Now if they did it right, they would all build in the same corner, thus having a little community center, and cutting down on the number of roads needed."

He had a hundred other notions. At school, children would be watched. Those who had a tendency to science, would be trained in science and not waste a lot of time on other folderol; those with a leaning to literature would skip the mathematics; those who were muscular would be trained to love hard labor. He had it all down pat. Yes, sir, with all his cut-and-dried system put into force, we'd sure be efficient. Sounded good.

But I think somewhere in the back of everyone's mind there was a little bit of a hitch. What about the farmer who wanted to have his house on that nice grassy knoll by the creek? He doesn't give a hoot about efficiency and who is to blame him? What about a lad like Churchill who seemed dumb at school but turned out brilliant? What if the cut-and-dried system had been in effect and made a laborer out of him?

Suppose a man like Stuart M. Finlayson, the president of Canadian Marconi, had been isolated as a pure scientist because he showed a special aptitude for it at school. Suppose he had viewed electronics as a narrow field unrelated to medicine. Would his company have developed the fabulous oximeter with which Canadian medical men are making such dramatic advances in surgical operations? If scientists had been kept in one narrow field and medical men in another, would they have been able to work together the way they do today?

No, it seems to me we are better without too many fences. I have a notion that we are better to leave men free to seek their own destiny, to build their farm homes where they choose, to experiment, to wander a little. It may not sound as efficient as some of the blueprints for central planning — but it allows for some wonderful surprises and some great human advancement. Human beings and business enterprises function best when given as much freedom as possible to do their own planning.

Maple Leaf Grange

A special session of the New York State Grange was held in the Flanders School, Malone, on Friday evening, October 2, for the purpose of conferring the Sixth Degree for 163 members from St. Lawrence, Franklin, Clinton and Essex Counties, and including the following from Huntingdon: Mrs. Acton Braithwaite, Mrs. Chas. Gavin, Mrs. A. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. Edmour Trepanier, Mrs. Wilfred Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Russel Milne, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Crutchfield, Mrs. W. Merson, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Goodfellow, Mr. and Mrs. Howard McLean, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Booth, Messrs. E. Thornton, Calvin Wright, Arthur Rankin, Dave Rankin, Charles Mackenzie, Allan Mack, Robert Mack, W. L. Carr, Mr. and Mrs. R. Hawley, Mr. and Mrs. C. Minchinton, Mr. and Mrs. Royce Ruddock, Mr. and Mrs. F. Lindsay, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. E. Watterson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chambers, Messrs. Clarence Duncan, Chester Pease, Miss Mary Pease, Mrs. H. Dear.

Mrs. Mae Goodfellow and Mr. Basil Kelly from Maple Leaf Grange were in the selected group to represent all the candidates throughout the impressive ceremony conducted by the State Master, Mr. Leland Smith of Brasher Falls, N.Y., assisted by the State Grange officers. This degree was conferred under the patronage of "Flora" and her Court, "Pomona" and "Ceres", and their assistants. Each candidate was greeted by Flora and presented with the emblem, an American Beauty Rose.

The highlight was the beautiful Rose Drill performed by ladies in evening dress, carrying rosette bouquets. Mrs. Rosemary Cosgrove, Lecturer of Maple Leaf Grange, wore an ankle length gown of white nylon and lace in bouffant style and Mrs. Millie McGibbon wore pastel green nylon. The other ladies wore a variety of pastel shades, with an accent of brilliant hue on some.

It was lovely to look at, delightful to see! The master congratulated Mrs. Stewart Childs, director, and Mrs. Grace Thomas, pianist, for the wonderful result of the numerous practices involved, in such a flawless performance.

Sixth Degree members from Maple Leaf Grange who witnessed the ceremonies from the gallery included Mr. and Mrs. Bert Rankin, Miss Margaret Wilson, Mrs. Charlotte Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Goodfellow, Mr. and Mrs. Russel McDonald, Miss Hattie Coffey, Mr. William Graham, Miss Bessie Graham and Mrs. W. L. Carr.

The officers of the State Grange travelled by bus and this was the fifth and last of special meetings held during the week that encircled the state in order to prepare members to take part in the National Grange Meeting which is to be held in November at Burlington, Vermont. The National Grange meets in a different state each year and it is said to be some twenty years since a meeting was held in the New England States. Judging from the interest taken in the Malone meeting of State Grange a large number of Grange members from this district are making plans to go to Burinlgton next month, where they will be instructed in the mysteries of the Seventh Degree by the High Priest of Demeter, and his Court of National officials.

Ten Commandments For Safety With Guns

1—Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun. This is the cardinal rule of gun safety.

2—Carry only empty guns, taken down or with the action open, into your automobile, camp and home.

3—Always be sure that the barrel and action are clear of obstructions.

4—Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle even if you stumble.

5 — Be sure what your target is before you pull the trigger.

5—Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot.

7—Never leave your gun unattended unless you unload it first.

8—Never climb a tree or a fence with a loaded gun.

9—Never shoot at a flat, hard surface or the surface of water.

10—Respect farmers' property.

A NUMBER of ancient English churches are replacing their equally ancient roofs with aluminum. One of these is the Chapel of St. James in the village of Nether Warton, Oxfordshire. Its lead roof, originally laid in 1665, brought £478 as scrap — enough to pay the whole cost of installing the new roof.

It is a neat example of how, while most metals have been getting more expensive through the centuries, the cost of aluminum has been going down. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan)

St. Andrew's Notes Y.P.U.

CHATEAUGUAY — The Y.P.U. met in the Church Hall on Monday evening, with the president, Miss Elizabeth McKell, presiding.

During the business period several items of business were discussed. The young people are undertaking the sale of the United Church Calendars for 1954, and will assist the local Legion in selling Poppies in November in aid of the Poppy Fund.

Miss Frances Watt conducted the recreational period in the absence of Miss Selena Lang.

The guest speaker, Miss Jean Smith gave a very interesting talk on her trip abroad this past summer. It was a thrilling experience to visit Venice, Paris, London, Edinburgh and Dublin and various historical places. Miss Smith told of humourous incidents and noted personalities she had met on this wonderful trip.

Miss Frances Watt and Mr. Gordon Fernandez were refreshment conveners.

The Women's Missionary Auxiliary met last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Gordon Boyd, with an attendance of twenty-three ladies.

The president, Miss R. McFarlane, presided and conducted the Worship Service which stressed the Thanksgiving theme.

The Roll Call was responded to by a favourite verse of Scripture, the minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Herbert Davies.

Mrs. R. H. McColl was welcomed and received as a member of the society.

The corresponding secretary, Mrs. David Lang, reported having sent out cards to shut-in members and had received acknowledgments of same. She also read a letter announcing that the Fall Rally of the Montreal Presbyterial Woman's Missionary Society would be held in Verdun United Church, Woodland Ave., Verdun, on Oct. 29th. Afternoon and evening sessions will be held, when the guest speaker would be Mrs. A. A. Outram, first Vice-President of Dominion Board and in the evening an illustrated address by Rev. R. H. McColl, formerly missionary captain of the Thomas Crosby IV on the Pacific Coast.

Plans were made for a Social evening to be held in the Church Hall, on the 26th of Oct. to observe the 47th anniversary of the Auxiliary.

The second chapter in the Study Book, "Where'er the Sun" was read by Mrs. Douglas Gilmour.

At Chiengrai in Thailand (Siam) an experiment was carried out in a rural Christian co-operative community, students from Japan, the Philippines, Malava, Burma and the United States were sent to learn from and help the sturdy Christian farmers of Chiengrai.

Their first job was to build the foundation for a rice granary, when this was finished, work was rushed on the foundation of a church — the symbol and goal and purpose of all mission work.

These young people working, worshiping studying the Bible and playing together were able to overcome barriers of race and creed, achieve reconciliation and so made their witness to Jesus Christ.

Mrs. Gilmour was introduced by Mrs. Lang and thanked by Mrs. Ernest Smith. Following the Benediction a social half-hour was enjoyed, refreshments being served by the hostess.

Thanksgiving Day Services were conducted in St. Andrew's United Church by Rev. R. H. McColl, who preached a forceful sermon in the morning.

The choir rendered the Anthem, "O Lord How Manifold Are Thy Works", with Miss Elinor Watt, organist and Mr. Ronald Schurman choir director.

At the evening service Mr. McColl continued his series of sermons on the Apostles' Creed.

Fruits and vegetables, symbols of an abundant harvest and a basket of beautiful bronze Chrysanthemums adding a note of beauty, decorated the Church for this day of Thanksgiving.

THE BUY OF THE YEAR -- AND A YEAR TO BUY IT

Ken Pope, manager of the Bank of Montreal in Huntingdon, is doing some tall hustling these days. The reason, he tells us, is this: the new Canada Savings Bonds go on sale next Monday and already the orders are flowing in. "This year," he says, "they're the best ever. In fact, they're the buy of the year, and — if you wish it, as many people do — you have a full year in which to pay for them.

"The increased interest rate may be considered the chief attraction this year," said Mr. Pope, "and at 3 3/4 per cent per annum, the bonds give a splendid return.

"But the features that appeal to most people are the ease with which the bonds can be bought — just 5 per cent down, $2.50 on a $50-bond, $5 on a $100-bond, and the balance in easy monthly instalments over a year — and the fact that they may be redeemed by the holder at their full face value at any time without loss, plus interest to the end of the previous calendar month.

"This", said Mr. Pope, "provides a golden opportunity to carry on a personal savings programme with the full backing of the Government."

Bonds in the $50 and $100 denominations carry 12 yearly coupons at the rate of 3 3/4 per cent, while those of larger denominations can be obtained either in the same form, or in "fully registered" form with interest being paid to the bond-holder annually by cheque.

Whether you buy for cash or on the instalment plan, the purchase of Canada Savings Bonds is a simple matter at the B of M. Mr. Pope invites everyone interested to drop in and discuss "the buy of the year" with him. (Advt.)

Lacolle

LACOLLE — Mrs. Sarah Lathe received news on Tuesday of the death in Cortland, N.Y., of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Dollie Smith. Mrs. Smith is fairly well known in Lacolle, having spent a few summers recently visiting Mrs. Lathe, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas VanVliet.

The October meetings of the W.M.S. and W.A. of the United Church were held at the home of Mrs. David VanVliet on Wednesday afternoon. Ten members were present and an interesting program was carried through. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by the hostess.

Several young people accompanied by their parents attended the dance in Clarenceville on Thursday evening. All report a pleasant evening.

Mrs. J. H. Borrowdale and Mrs. W. F. Orr spent Tuesday in Montreal. While there they attended the Rose Show in Eaton's store. They are most enthusiastic in their praise of the show.

On Thursday an unusual spectacle arrived in Lacolle. Two men from Quebec City, one in a cage and the other pulling the cage and man on their way to New York City, to win a $500.00 bet. The man in the cage is not permitted to shave or get out of the cage, which is welded strap iron. They said that they travelled at the rate of ten miles per day.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Kerr and Mr. William Peddie of Howick spent Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. McClenaghan.

Capt. and Mrs. Rodney Davenport, Jeanne and Lynn of Ottawa were week-end guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David VanVliet. They also had what might be called a flying visit on Friday night from their son, F/Lt Lachlan VanVliet who is at present stationed in Halifax. He flew from Halifax to Montreal on Friday, spent the night at his home in Lacolle, then flew back on Saturday morning.

Mr. Leslie Dawson and son Bruce of Greenfield Park spent Thanksgiving with Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Dawson.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Boyse, Norma, Winona and Brian spent the week-end with relatives in Lachute.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. VanVliet and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas VanVliet motored to New York on Thursday and are planning to return on Monday.

Mr. Thomas Brooks has recently purchased the property of the late Gertie Robinson. He is doing some remodelling before he moves into the house.

On Saturday evening about 50 relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robinson for their wedding reception. Games and cards were played after which the couple were presented with a bag of silver and coppers followed by refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Fergus Moore and family and Mr. George Moore of Franklin spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Boyse.

Miss Barbara Bramley of Montreal spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Rankin and baby VanVliet and Mrs. John Goodfellow of Huntingdon spent Sunday with Mrs. M. A. VanVliet. Mrs. Rankin and Van are remaining for a few days.

Mr. Paul VanVliet Betts, B.C.L. of Montreal, was a week-end visitor of his sister, Mrs. John Morin. Miss Lorraine Morin spent Thanksgiving with her grandmother, Mrs. Betts, in Montreal.

On Tuesday morning last about 6 a.m. the fire siren sounded in this almost waterless town. It proved to be a barn and stable that were in danger of the flames. It was on the property of Miss Sally Wilson on the banks of the Richelieu not far from Rouses Point. The cows, a fine herd of purebred Ayrshires, were just being milked and were induced to go out with difficulty, but all were rescued. The barn and all its contents including valuable machinery and two recently-filled silos were destroyed. When it was over, the herdsman was in a state of collapse and needed medical attention.

Rev. M. J. MacLeod conducted a special Thanksgiving service in the United Church on Sunday morning. Offerings of fruit, vegetables, preserves, pickles, jellies, jams and canned goods decorated the church and are to be sent to the Sheltering Home, one of the Red Feather agencies in Montreal.

Miss Margaret C. Masten, Dean of Women at Stanstead College, and Miss Louise Masten, Music teacher in Trafalgar School in Montreal, were week-end guests of their father, Mr. J. E. Masten.

The many friends of Mrs. G. J. VanVliet are pleased to know that she is home from the hospital and is much improved in health.

Messrs. Allan Anthet and Harry Stuart motored from Whitinsville, Mass., about a week ago and brought with them Mrs. Kathleen Elvidge and daughter Beverley, of St. Johns. Mrs. Elvidge visited her brother, Mr. T. J. Lyons, in Lacolle, while her uncles went to Hemmingford to visit Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collins.

W.M.S. Meeting

Members of the W.M.S. were entertained in the Church Hall by Mrs. A. F. Armstrong, on Thursday afternoon, Oct. 8th.

Mrs. W. D. Fraser led the worship service and the business period which followed. Mrs. L. D. Fraser assisted Mrs. Fraser by reading several different passages of Scripture relating to the Church as a unique fellowship.

A letter was read from Miss Gwen Suttie, a missionary presently on furlough in Montreal. She has accepted the invitation to speak to the Society at a Sunday morning service on Nov. 22nd.

The W.M.S. Fall Rally is to be held this year at the Verdun United Church on Oct. 29th, to which the group has a cordial invitation.

Mrs. Armstrong gave a resumé of the W.M.S. Sectional Meeting held in Huntingdon United Church the end of September. She spoke with enthusiasm of the several ladies who addressed the gathering and was especially high in her praise of Mrs. Shonkwiler, W.M.S. President. Miss Bessie French, worker at St. Columba House in Montreal also received high commendation from both Mrs. Armstrong and Mrs. Fraser, for her never-tiring efforts to bring help and comfort to those in need.

Prior to the meeting, two quilts were tied to be packed in the fall bale. The bale, is to be packed at the November meeting which will be held at the home of Mrs. George Sheard.

Mrs. Stevens gave the second chapter of the Study Book, entitled "One in Purpose." This chapter dealt with the Community International Work Camp in Thailand — a christian work centre which is striving to lay foundations for a rice granary in that land.

Here, race discrimination is greatly in evidence, and it is found that, through religion, people are made to feel on the same level-racially. This Christian work camp is a miniature of the Church in Asia. Here rulers are converted, old hatreds die, students learn to work and farmers become willing and able to support their Church. Christians must be willing to teach the young and heal the sick, plow the fields and study the Bible. They must live and work and pray together to build a Church, until the light that shines from the Master shall bring all Asia out of darkness.

Mrs. W. D. Fraser pronounced the benediction at the supper table and a social period followed.

School News

It was back to school on Tuesday morning, Oct. 13th, after having enjoyed the 5 day week-end. Mrs. Fraser and Mrs. Sutton attended the Teacher's Convention in Montreal on Thursday. This year the convention took place in a new locale, West Hill High School, which is a new school building and very modern in every aspect.

Both the teachers, Mrs. Fraser and Mrs. Sutton, were very pleased to learn early last week that through the recommendation of Inspector Brady they had each been awarded a $35. bonus from the Department of Education for successful teaching during the past year. Congratulations!

The duck hunting season got under way with a bang last Saturday morning and judging by the amount of noise hunters must have had plenty of ammo on hand for the occasion.

The ducks being crafty as usual kept out of range for the most part and only a few sports report having taken anywhere near their limit of birds. Competition for positions for duck blinds was so keen that two parties were reported to be ready to do battle to retain their rights. Members of the Police Force had to be called in to settle matters.

Game Warden Guy Stowell had as his assistant on the opening day Mr. Allan Sutton of Covey Hill. Together they patrolled Lake St. Francis and tried to keep everything going on an even keel.

Mr. Stewart Ferguson of Blackpool is home for 5 days vacation at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Ferguson. While at home he is taking the opportunity to get in a bit of duck shooting.

For You Madam

Franklin Centre W.I.

The September meeting of the Franklin Centre W.I. was entertained by Mrs. Rod Arthur on Friday afternoon with the usual number of members present.

The President opened the meeting with the Ode and Creed, followed by the roll call, which was a proverb.

As the convener for Agriculture was unable to be present, a short report on the School Fair was given by the president. As a very small percent of the pupils had taken part this year, it was decided to try the fair again next year hoping that a larger number of pupils as well as the teachers would be more interested.

The report from the booth at Havelock Fair showed an amount of $22.26 having been realized. Plans were made for articles to be made during the coming year and the magazine, "The Work Basket", with a number of transfer patterns will be available for the members.

The November meeting will take the form of a card party and will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Barr. This will also be Husbands' Night as well as the 30th anniversary of this branch.

An article on "Learning to Live With Hornets" was read, also one on "Canada, the Land of Promise". In Health and Welfare the new discovery of a third artery for the heart was read, also an item on "The Best is Yet To Come".

A number of practical hints were given by members.

At the close of the meeting, the hostess served delicious refreshments.

DUNDEE W.I.

The regular monthly meeting of the Dundee W.I. was held on Oct. 7 at the home of Mrs. N. D. McPhee. After a short business meeting, a paper on Detergents and Soaps was given by Mrs. A. H. Fraser. Very little information has been published concerning the modern soapless detergents that is easily understood by the average person. They are highly effective in cleansing soil from fine fabrics and work equally well in hard or soft water. The consumer should read all labels and follow directions carefully in order to make the best use of these new and efficient products.

In soaps good suds are necessary, not for cleansing but to show that sufficient soap is being used for efficient washing. The housewife should always measure the amount of soap she uses as different soaps vary in the amounts needed. For dishwashing start with 1 teaspoonful of a certain product. If it does not produce sufficient suds add a second spoonful. Similarly in the washing machine begin with a cupful for testing.

Some manufacturers still make a pure olive oil-soda castile soap but generally the term "castile" on a soap has little meaning and it may be found on almost any mild white soap. So called "carbolic" soaps may contain about 3 per cent of cresylic acid rather than carbolic acid itself, as the latter is spoiled by any excess of soap. The effect of any antiseptic in soap is psychological rather than actual, since it is not long lasting and by the time it is divided among myriads of tiny air bubbles the alleged benefits are well reduced to a minimum.

Drain cleaners consist almost entirely of caustic soda and "soda lye," the same compound that is used in making soap. It is recommended that the lye be dissolved in water before being used or that it be used with running water to carry it through the pipes. Immediately after using it, the pipes should be washed out with plenty of hot water in order to avoid further stoppage due to soap deposits.

Silver and nickel polishes are mildest and brass polishes harshest. Do not use "metal polish" on "silver polish."

The household hint prize went to Mrs. Roy McNicol for telling that if children's socks are knitted with elastic thread in the top that no ribbing is necessary.

The W.I. has been asked to conduct a survey of cerebral palsy cases in the Province. The Dundee W.I. will be glad to hear from anyone who has a child suffering from cerebral palsy. It is hoped eventually help will be given by the Government, for by special training, many of these children grow up to become useful citizens. Anyone wishing help, please contact Mrs. Lyle Currie, President, within the next ten days.

A delicious supper was served to the members and guests by the hostesses, Mrs. N. D. McPhee and her mother, Mrs. D. S. Smellie, and a social hour enjoyed.

HEMMINGFORD BRANCH, WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

At the regular monthly meeting of the Hemmingford Women's Institute on Oct. 7, members watched with amazement as Professor Maw of Macdonald College demonstrated the correct method of drawing a chicken. The speed and ease with which this was accomplished brought gasps of admiration from those present.

Professor Maw's topic for the afternoon was "Poultry and Poultry Products." He emphasized the importance of growing poultry of good quality, if this product is to compete with meat dishes on the family dinner table. He also stressed the importance of marketing the product at the weight which will bring the highest return over feed costs.

As part of his demonstration, Professor Maw showed the members how to cut a broiler for different methods of cooking, and made suggestions for variety and attractiveness in serving poultry. The members were particularly interested in the turkey broiler, a comparatively new way of marketing turkeys and one which is rapidly gaining popularity.

Professor Maw was introduced by Mrs. Fred Greer, Convener of Agriculture. At the close of his most interesting talk and demonstration the speaker was thanked by Mrs. C. E. Petch.

Mrs. Fred Greer reported to the meeting on the School Fair held in September. She expressed her appreciation for the cooperation and assistance given her in the organization and the running of the Fair, including the judges. The judges were Mrs. George Brown, Mrs. Walter Keddy, Mrs. A. Lukas, Mrs. C. B. Edwards, Mrs. Cleland, Mrs. E. Moore, Mr. R. J. M. Reid and Mr. George Simpson.

Mrs. E. Cleland, Convenor of Health and Welfare brought to the attention of the meeting that the Quebec Women's Institute is at present conducting a fact-finding survey on Cerebral Palsy. At the present time little information is available on the incidence of cerebral palsy in rural areas. The purpose of the survey is to find out how many persons in rural areas suffer from cerebral palsy, and thus discover if there is a need for special help and treatment for this group. A committee was formed to contact various people in the community who might know of cerebral palsy cases. Any member of the Women's Institute would be pleased to have any cases reported to them in order that the survey can be as accurate as possible.

Mrs. Harold Palmer reported that she had attended the School Opening Exercises, and had presented the Women's Institute Shield to Miss Dorothy Fisher. The Shield is awarded annually to the student in Grades 8, 9, 10 or 11 with the highest standing. The engraving on the shield was done this year by Mr. A. Rutherford and the Branch appreciates his assistance.

Mrs. J. P. Simpson reported that in the past few months, members of the branch have sent 12 pairs of pillow slips to the Barrie Memorial Hospital, and the branch agreed to continue with this project.

Refreshments served at the close of the meeting were arranged for by Mrs. E. Moore, Mrs. W. Clark, Mrs. C. E. Petch and Mrs. F. Greer.

Boil Frozen Fish Prior to Cooking

Frozen fish should not be allowed to thaw before cooking, because some of the bacteria found in fish can live at very low temperatures and consequently the fish will not remain fresh long after it is thawed, points out Margaret E. Smith, Ph.B., M.Sc., director of nutrition for the Health League of Canada.

Fish is purposely frozen in small packages to eliminate leftovers.

Miss Smith suggests that pieces of frozen fish should be placed in boiling water for a minute or two prior to cooking—"just long enough for the outside protein cells to become coagulated." After this they should be wiped dry, then dipped in egg and rolled in crumbs for immediate frying, or placed in the oven for baking. Fish should be served immediately after cooking.

When a frozen fillet of fish is to be boiled, the nutritionist makes this suggestion: remove the wrapping, pour boiling water over the fillet, then wrap it tightly in thoroughly washed cheesecloth, and cook in boiling water for about 10 minutes.

"The main point to remember is to submit frozen fish to boiling water and cook immediately," Miss Smith emphasizes.

Fred forgot one thing...

HE FORGOT that a bit of wood preservative*, applied at little cost when the fence was put in, would have saved him the cost of new posts now.

In the telephone business, as around your own home, we find it's better to do the job right in the first place and then look after it. It's the best way we know to avoid heavy repair and replacement costs, to save expense and give you most service for your money.

That's why we treat telephone poles against rot; why we keep our trucks clean and in good repair; why we put up exchanges and offices to last.

It's common sense if we are to keep our costs down—and the price of your telephone service low.

*If you would like to get useful information on the preservative treatment of wood we suggest you write Forest Products Laboratories, Department of Resources and Development, Ottawa.

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE
CHEVROLET
first in demand in value in sales

When you stop to think about it, the best proof of outstanding value in any product is continued public preference. For when folks discover a "good thing" the word travels fast, and sales go up and stay up. That's the way it is with Chevrolet trucks. Year after year Chevrolet trucks outsell all other makes. And they're the top selling trucks in Canada today.

This is a mighty important fact to consider before you buy your next truck. You'll also want to consider that, while Chevrolet trucks give you more features you want, their price is unmatched for value.

Whatever your hauling or delivery need, think it over, when you're thinking of a new truck. Then come in and talk it over with us.
