HEAVY RAINS—MANCHURIAN ROADS QUAGMIRES.

BELIEVED RAN BLOCKADE.
Niu chwang, June 30.—The Russian torpedo boat destroyer 'Lieut. Burukoff' arrived here from Port Arthur yesterday evening and berthed alongside the gunboat 'Sivouch'. The river bank was soon crowded with excited natives, who were told by the Russians that the Japanese fleet had been completely destroyed.

The officers of the 'Lieut. Burukoff' tell several stories. One is that Admiral Togo's report of the fighting was exaggerated, and that the Russians have made two cruises in the Gulf of Pe chih in five days.

Another story is that the Port Arthur fleet has joined the Vladivostok squadron. The correspondent of the Associated Press sent a messenger who speaks Russian to the side of the destroyer, but the Russian sailors would not talk, except to say that they left Port Arthur on Tuesday night. Every inch of the boat was crowded with men. She had the appearance of having been in a general engagement, her bow gun having been shot away, and it looked as if she had rescued many men. The general belief here is that she ran Admiral Togo's blockade and came here with dispatches for the army and for St. Petersburg. This is quite natural, as two Cossack officers were on board.

All the efforts made to obtain information regarding General Kuroki's movements have been futile. An unconfirmed report is circulated that he has reached Hai cheng and cut off communication with Liao yang.

The Russians have a large force at Ta che kiao.

A Russian officer informed the correspondent of the Associated Press that General Kuroki's plan is to place 15,000 men in that vicinity. This, however, is believed to be impossible.

Heavy rains continue. The roads throughout Manchuria are quagmires and it is almost impossible to move artillery.

NO DAMAGE MENTIONED.
St. Petersburg, June 30, 4.40 p.m.—An official dispatch received from Lieut. General Stoessel, the commander of the Russian military forces at Port Arthur, states that the squadron of Rear-Admiral Kuroki, in command of the naval forces, re-entered that port after repulsing the torpedo boat attacks. It contains no further details, so far as can be ascertained. It does not mention any damage to the Russian ships.

VICTORY DENIED.
St. Petersburg, June 30.—A Russian torpedo boat has arrived at Niu chwang from Port Arthur. Her commander reports that any Russian ships were sunk or damaged in the fight off Port Arthur, on June 23. He declares that after getting away the Japanese mines the Russian fleet returned safely to harbor.

CONFLICTING ACCOUNT.
Liao yang, June 29.—It is unofficially stated that the Russian fleet put out from Port Arthur several days ago and encountered the Japanese fleet. In the ensuing engagement, between the two fleets three ships were lost. No details of the engagement, however, are available here.

KELLER HOLDING ON.
Liao yang, June 29.—(Delayed in transmission.)—The Japanese column which forced the passage of Mo tien pass is advancing on Liao yang by the eastern road. A Russian force commanded by General Count Keller, is holding a fortified position commanding the road on this side of the pass. The object of the Japanese is to cut the Russian communications northward of Liao yang, while General Kuroki is operating in the vicinity of Hai cheng with practically the whole of the Russian forces.

NOT LIKELY.
Liao yang, June 29.—The Japanese are reported to have retired ten to twenty miles from the positions which they recently held. Owing to local rains it is thought that the operations north of Port Arthur have been indefinitely postponed.

COLONEL SHIBA AT KIN CHOU.
London, June 30.—The Japanese correspondent of the 'Times' says that the names of the military officers who have distinguished themselves in the war have not been divulged, but that many English men will be glad to learn that Colonel Shiba, who made his name famous in the defence of the legations at Peking, during the 'Boxer' troubles, was conspicuous in the artillery attack on the Russian fortifications at Kin chow.

Major G. S. Shibo (now colonel) was a military observer with the United States army during the war with Spain. During the China-Japan war he took part in several battles, including the capture of Port Arthur. He is a graduate of the Military College at Tokio.

REINFORCEMENTS ARRIVE.
St. Petersburg, June 30.—The whole tenth army reached Liao yang on June 27.

LULL BEFORE THE STORM.
St. Petersburg, June 30, 11.48 a.m.—No word has come from General Kuroki later than June 27, and not a single newspaper despatch had been received during the last twenty-four hours. This silence in the theatre of war is regarded as a sign of the coming storm.

The 'Bourse Gazette' this morning says: 'We are on the eve of a battle which may settle the fate of Manchuria and Corea. Both must become Russian or the former because Russian blood was shed there, the latter because it is essential to the safety of our communications between Vladivostok and Port Arthur.'

COALING FOR BALITIC FLEET.
London, June 30.—The Paris correspondent of the 'Times' says it is reported that the Russian government has applied to the French government for permission to have all the vessels of the Baltic fleet coal at French ports on their way to the Far East.

The Russian government, the correspondent says, is at present negotiating for a large supply of coal not only from France but from Germany.

DELAYED BATTLE EXPLAINED.
London, June 30.—The Tokyo correspondent of the 'Times' says that the report sent out from St. Petersburg of Gen. Oku's retirement is ridiculed in Japan, where the delay in forcing a great battle is understood to be due to the habit of Japanese generals of not striking before the deliberate completion of all their preliminaries.

The correspondent says that an imperial ordinance declares that all graduates of merchant marine schools which are officially recognized and also all marines who have served for a certain time on merchant steamers are eligible for the naval reserve.

DAMAGED TRANSPORT DOCKED.
Kobe, Japan, June 30.—The Japanese transport 'Sado,' which was severely damaged by the Russians, during the raid of the Vladivostok squadron, has been docked at Nagasaki.

REPORT UNTRUE.
St. Petersburg, June 30.—The 'Novoe Vremya' denies reports from Narva that two Japanese spies were arrested there Tuesday while masquerading as organ grinders.

'INVALID' SAYS NO BATTLE WILL BE FOUGHT.
St. Petersburg, June 30, 10.30 a.m.—The 'Rusky Invalid,' the army organ, is the notable, significant exception to the popular belief that a great battle is imminent. It gives no intimation that it is General Kuroki's purpose to fall back and not try conclusions, but sees in the developments of June 26 and 27 evidence that the Japanese themselves do not contemplate active engagement.

The paper also expresses the opinion that the massing of armies in the direction of Hai cheng and Siu yen is for the purpose of assuring the Japanese occupation of the whole of the Liao tung peninsula and control of the railway for an advance on Liao yang, at the end of the rainy season, which, together with the siege of Port Arthur, the organ regards as the first stage of the Japanese campaign. The 'Rusky Invalid' therefore considers that the movement from Keng lung cheng toward Liao yang is merely a demonstrative menace against the Russian line of communications north of Liao yang.

The army organ attempts to clear up the discrepancies in the topography of the theatre of operations, due to the apparent confusion of Chinese names and foreign maps, especially regarding the three passes mentioned in General Kuroki's last official despatch. Mo tien pass, it says, is fifty miles from Liao yang and directly on the Feng huang cheng road. The Fen shui pass, it adds, is north of Mo tien pass and fifty-four miles from Liao yang, on the Feng huang cheng to Liao yang road. De lin, which, the organ explains, the Japanese call Fen chui pass, is twenty-five miles from Hai cheng. All three passes, it is further pointed out, cross the Fen chui ling range. The first two are only ten miles apart. Mo tien and De lin passes are forty miles apart, through a very difficult country. De lin is twenty-five miles from Chipp lin pass, both leading to Siu yen, one leading to Hai cheng and the other to Ta che kiao and Kai chow.

INEVITABLE REFUGEE TALK.
Che foo, June 30, 6 p.m.—The European and Chinese refugees who have recently arrived here from Port Arthur tell widely different stories of the result of the naval battle of June 23.

The Europeans say that only the battleship 'Selvetopel' and the transport 'Amur' were damaged and that no Russian vessel was sunk. The Chinese say it was reported at Port Arthur that one large ship was sunk and that three were damaged. The Europeans assert that the impression prevails at Port Arthur that the Japanese will succeed on the land side. The Japanese are erecting a big gun fort, commanding the harbor entrance and Golden Hill.

VLADIVOSTOK FLEET.

EXHIBITS UNUSUAL ACTIVITY.

Seoul, June 30, 2.50 p.m.—It is announced from official sources that the Russian Vladivostok squadron, consisting of three cruisers and ten torpedo boats and destroyers, which appeared off Gen san to-day, threw a hundred and eighty shells into the Japanese settlement.

DR. POZZI'S WORK

A SUCCESSFUL OPERATION PERFORMED AT THE ROYAL VICTORIA HOSPITAL.

Dr. Pozzi, who has created quite a good impression amongst the medical profession during his visit to Montreal, has given another demonstration of his remarkable skill. At 10.30 o'clock this morning he visited the Royal Victoria Hospital and performed a successful operation upon a woman about forty years of age, who was suffering from an abdominal fibroid tumor. There was a large gathering of medical students and city doctors and amongst the latter were Sir William Hingston and Drs. Grant Stewart, F. R. England, W. W. Chumman, J. J. Ross, G. A. Brown, Calixte Ethier and Howard M. Church.

The great specialist has for chief assistants Dr. William Gardner and Dr. Monad, who has worked for many years in Paris with Dr. Pozzi. The various phases of the operation were followed with the keenest interest by all present and a profound impression was produced by the scientific manner in which the great surgeon dealt with the necessary intricate details.

KING EDWARD SAILS FOR HOME.

Kiel, June 30.—King Edward started on his homeward voyage this morning aboard the Royal yacht 'Victoria and Albert.' No farewell salutes were fired, salutes having been given last night when the King left the yacht 'Hohenzoelnern,' after having bid the Emperor William farewell.

FEDERATION OF PHOTOGRAPHERS.

New York, June 30.—The American Federation of Photographic Societies, which is intended to become the representative national organization of photography, was organized yesterday by representatives of a dozen of the leading photographic societies of the country. The new federation will hold an annual photographic salon in some of the cities in which it has a membership and afterward will exhibit in each of them a collection of pictures to be selected by a committee of artists as the best examples of photographic art displayed. Among the officers elected were: President, Mr. Curtis Bell, of New York; secretary, Mr. S. C. Bullenkamp, New York; treasurer, Mr. John H. Thurston, of Boston; chairman of the salon committee, Mr. F. C. Beach, of Toronto.

PRESBYTERIAN ALLIANCE.

(Canadian Associated Press.)
Liverpool, June 29.—Principal Caven delivered the inaugural address entitled 'Service of the Alliance to Christian doctrine,' at the Presbyterian Alliance meeting to-day. He said the Alliance did not claim to be an ecumenical council of reformed churches, but if it should in any measure strengthen the faith, love, zeal and unity of these churches in Christ's service it would do a practical work of great value and of urgent necessity at the present time.

A SCANDAL.
HOW SOME PHYSICIANS AID THE LIQUOR SELLERS.

Toronto, June 30.—The indiscriminate manner in which medical men in various parts of the province issue orders to liquor dealers authorizing them to sell liquor to persons who would otherwise be unable to obtain it has caused the provincial license department to send a letter to Dr. A. Pyne, registrar of the Ontario Medical Council, to the effect that the provincial license department has recently received a number of complaints from various parts of the province that medical practitioners in the districts in question are in the habit of giving prescriptions or orders to hotel-keepers and shop licensees to supply liquor to the holders of the orders, sometimes for indefinite periods, and often in absurdly large quantities, and it was thought probable that the Medical Council might see fit, if attention were called to the matter, to make an effort to minimize this evil.

PASSENGER TRAINS COLLIDE.

Dayton, Ohio, June 30.—It is reported that a north-bound passenger train crashed head-on into a south-bound passenger train standing on a side track, near Marietta, on the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railway to-day. Several persons are said to be injured, but no lives are reported lost.

DOMINION DAY.

With a view to conserving so far as possible the Canadian national holiday, the 'Witness' will not appear to-morrow. The job printing department will shut down from Thursday night to Monday morning.

LIBERAL UNIONIST SPLIT.

SIGNIFICANT POLITICAL DEVELOPMENT IN LONDON.

London, June 30.—A significant political development which calls out much comment from all the morning newspapers is the disruption of the Liberal-Unionist Club at yesterday's general meeting, when sixty-four members withdrew, after announcing their resignation from the club.

The trouble arose over a resolution to send representatives of the club to the Liberal-Unionist council. By a majority of 108, composed of the followers of Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, the club decided to be represented at the council, and when the result was announced the minority of sixty-four immediately withdrew and formed a new club under the name of the Unionist Free Trade Club. The affair is commented upon according to the party affiliations of the newspapers, but it is conceded on every hand that it marks a new phase of the political situation as the Liberal-Unionist Club has been recognized as a powerful organization, thoroughly representative of the Liberal-Unionist party.

ARMY ADMINISTRATION.

SIR FREDERICK BORDEN'S SCHEME FOR REFORMING THE CANADIAN MILITIA.

Ottawa, June 30.—One of the chief features of the reformed system of army administration in the Old Country which Sir Frederick Borden intends adopting in Canada is decentralization of authority. At present the militia, down almost to the smallest details, is managed from Ottawa, but when the proposed army council is established here the Minister of Militia will follow it up by copying one other item of the reformed plan now in vogue in the Old Country.

Acting upon competent advice, he will cut the country up into probably seven districts, with a major-general overcharged with the duties both of command and of administration as well. These officers will be picked from the Canadian militia, and it is hoped that their appointment will add materially to the effectiveness of the force at large. An effort will be made to enlist the services of the very best men for these district commands.

This move will not interfere, at least for the present, with the district officers commanding.

STORM IN RUSSIA.

FORTY-FIVE PERSONS KILLED BY A TORNADO IN MOSCOW.

Moscow, June 30.—A tornado swept the city this afternoon, causing enormous damage. Forty-five persons were killed and thirteen injured are being cared for in the hospitals. Two villages near here, in the track of the storm, were destroyed. A hundred and fifty deaths are reported there, while eighty-five persons were hurt. The telegraph system was prostrated, and railway communication interrupted. Hailstones weighing three-quarters of a pound fell during the storm. In one grove of 250 acres, only one tree was left standing.

EXPEDITION TO THIBET.

THIBETANS NOW WISH TO NEGOTIATE WITH COL. YOUNG-HUSBAND.

Gyangtse, Thibet, June 29.—After renewed fighting, in which a British officer was killed and two officers and five men wounded, and the Thibetans suffered severely, the latter sent to ask for an armistice pending the arrival of officials from Lhasa and Shigatse to negotiate with Col. Younghusband, the leader of the British expedition. The latter will probably consent, although the time limit fixed for negotiations has expired.

EVA BOOTH IN LONDON.

SHE RECEIVED AN OVATION AT THE SALVATION ARMY CONGRESS.

(Canadian Associated Press.)
London, June 30.—Eva Booth received an ovation at the Salvation Army Temple from the greatest audience yet assembled. They rose and shouted until the object of their enthusiasm pleaded with them to desist.

CUSTOMS COLLECTIONS.

INCREASE OF ABOUT FOUR MILLION DOLLARS OVER LAST YEAR.

Ottawa, June 30.—The customs collections of Canada in the fiscal year, which ends to-day, amounted to $40,508,912, an increase of $3,889,252 over last year. When the complete returns are in the showing will be even a little better than this, as it is said the revenue is the largest in the country's history.

He had just 'called around';
'Twas fearful the noise when he bit o.

SKIT SKETCHES.

While no conditions are made in regard to subject, and we will be glad to have any subject of wide interest used, we would be glad to see more purely Canadian or local skits come to the front with stronger drawing, which will make them tell better in the reproduction. Make all drawings with jet black ink in line drawing or silhouette. All the sketches accepted will be paid for at regular rates, and an additional prize of three dollars will be awarded for the best of the second series of twelve.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

To-day's war despatches show five simultaneous blows struck on Sunday and Monday last and all successful. It seems possible that the position lately captured near Port Arthur is the most powerful position outside of Port Arthur. General Oku has occupied Kai ping and General Kuroki is said to be withdrawing his force to Liao yang. The Japanese coast of Korea, report that the Vladivostok squadron attacked that place to-day. The firing was done by the destroyers.

After the last severe fight the Thibetans expressed a wish to negotiate with Col. Younghusband.

The victims of the recent Armenian massacre are now reported to number 6,000. The bodies dammed the river, which the Turks freed by firing artillery into the heaps of corpses.

Forty-five persons have been killed by a tornado in the vicinity of Moscow.

A significant split in the Liberal-Unionist Club in London is reported to-day. Sixty-five members have withdrawn on account of a resolution to send representatives to the Liberal-Unionist council.

The indiscriminate manner in which many of the Ontario doctors issue orders for liquor for patients causes the Provincial License Department to write a protest to the Medical Council.

The Roman Catholic church at Aymer, Que., was destroyed yesterday by fire.

Lord Dundonald replies to Sir Frederick Borden.

Mr. James J. Hill, the president of the Great Northern, secures a controlling interest in the Granby Mining Company, which owns the big properties at Phoenix and the smelter at Grand Forks.

The action of the Finance Committee is threatening the existence of the 'Municipal Gazette.'

FINE WEATHER.

The wind has a language I would I could learn;
Sometimes 'tis soothing, and sometimes 'tis stern;
Sometimes it comes like a low, swift song
And all things grow calm as the strain floats along.

KAI PING OCCUPIED.

Process of Flock Driving Goes on.

KAI PING CAPTURED.
London, June 29.—The Tokyo correspondent of the 'Daily Telegraph' says that severe fighting took place at Kai ping on June 25, which resulted in the capture of that place on the morning of June 26.

NEWS IN ST. PETERSBURG.
St. Petersburg, June 29.—A correspondent of the 'Vedomosti,' at Gen. Kuropatkin's headquarters, telegraphs his paper that the Japanese troops occupied Kai ping (sometimes called Kaichau) yesterday.

THREE DIVISIONS MOVING.
London, June 30.—A despatch to the 'Express' from Liao yang says that the Japanese army, in three divisions, is advancing rapidly in Liao yang from the east. On Tuesday it was at Landianshan, only thirteen miles away. Gen. Keller has withdrawn his forces to positions immediately in front of Liao yang, and is waiting to give battle. There have been many skirmishes between the advance guards of the Russians and Japanese.

COMBINED FRONT OF 120 MILES.
London, June 30.—The Tokyo correspondent of the 'Morning Post' says that the Japanese second army has effected a junction with the first army, and that the whole force now has a fighting front of 120 miles.

NO SERIOUS RESISTANCE.
Hai cheng, June 29.—The Japanese are continuing to advance from Siu yen and Feng huang cheng. Gen. Oku is also moving north from Sennu cheng. Gen. Sannosonoff is contesting his progress, but is not offering serious resistance. The Japanese force advancing from the Mo tien pass is composed of at least three regiments and ten batteries of artillery. A force of equal strength is advancing from Fen shui pass on the road to Liao yang. The flank move on the latter is supported by a column marching from Siamatze.

It would appear that confusion has arisen through the use of the words, 'Mo tien pass,' in Gen. Kuropatkin's despatch of June 27. The Mo tien pass, known as the 'Gate of Mukden,' is easily located, but troops would not be likely to advance from there on Hai cheng or Ta tche kiao, as they would have to move nearly one hundred miles south-west after getting through the pass. On the other hand, there is a Mo tien pass nearly east of Hai cheng, and about forty miles from that town. It is possible that Mo tien pass has been meant when Mo tien pass was mentioned.

It also seems probable that the reference to Ta pass in Gen. Kuropatkin's despatch meant, 'Da lin pass,' or 'Daling,' otherwise Ta pass, which is about 25 miles south-west of Ta tche kiao. It was announced from Hai cheng last night that a heavy engagement was expected to-day near the village of Siu mu cheng, fifteen miles south-east of Hai cheng, and an equal distance due east of the railway.

Siu mu cheng is about thirty miles from Mono tien pass.

HOW TA TIEN WAS TAKEN.
St. Petersburg, June 29.—A correspondent of the 'Russ' has telegraphed his paper a description of the capture of Ta tien (or Ta tien) pass by the Japanese on Monday. His report was sent from Hai cheng, and bears yesterday's date. The Russian force, which he accompanied, was stationed ten miles beyond the pass. Several Japanese columns advanced on Sunday upon this outlying position, which was held by three battalions. The Russians declined to withdraw until they were early surrounded, when they rejoined a regiment which was holding Ta tien pass.

The fighting throughout Sunday afternoon and evening was severe, the Russian gunners pouring a heavy fire into dense masses of Japanese cavalry. The firing ceased at dusk, but the Japanese did not stop working, says the 'Russ' correspondent. They kept bringing up guns and mounting them in readiness for a renewal of the fighting. One Japanese battery was established exactly where two Russian guns had been on Saturday. At dawn on Monday the battle was resumed. The Japanese, under cover of their artillery fire, again began flanking operations. The Russian left, yielding to pressure, fell back. As long as their supply of shells lasted the Russian artillery men, who occupied the centre, kept up their fire, and before they retired the gunners had to carry off the guns. The Japanese, say the correspondent, had siege artillery. He adds that the Russian losses were very heavy. From the foregoing report it is clear that the Ta tien pass captured on Monday, the identity of which was not made certain in the official accounts, is not the one at the extreme left of the Russian lines, but is near Hai cheng.

ANOTHER RETIREMENT.
Rome, June 29.—A press despatch from Tokyo says that Gen. Kuropatkin, whose main army is supposed to have been in the neighborhood of Hai cheng, is now retiring on Liao yang and seeking to avoid a general action. Kai ping is near the railway, south-west of Hai cheng, and hence is on the line of advance of the army under Gen. Oku, which moved from the Port Arthur region.

NO NEWS DEFINITE.
London, June 30.—Nothing further can be learned of the capture by the Japanese of Mo tien ling and Fen chou ling passes, and no light can be shed at present upon the present positions of the respective armies. None of yesterday's reports of the Japanese occupation of Kai ping and the Russian retirement north or renewed fighting in the neighborhood of Hai cheng can be confirmed. The report that Gen. Keller, who, by the way, was stated yesterday to have retired to Liao yang, cannot be verified. The Russian naval losses at Port Arthur on June 24 are still unknown definitely.

RUSSIA'S MEAGRE STRENGTH.
Tokyo, June 29.—The 'Asahi,' on the basis of what it asserts to be a careful estimate, concludes that the Russians have one and a half divisions of their army in Port Arthur, and two and a half at Vladivostok, leaving only eight divisions for a front more than 150 miles in length.

PORT ARTHUR.
Heights Captured.
TIGHTENING GRASP.
Tokyo, June 29.—Information has been received of the occupation, on Sunday, of important heights four miles west of Cape Bevan, near Port Arthur. The defence was stubborn. The Russians were routed and driven westward by the Japanese artillery, leaving forty dead, two rapid-fire guns, and a large quantity of ammunition behind them.

The Japanese casualties were about a hundred. The position captured includes the Chi wan shan battery, formerly active against the Japanese fleet.

PRELIMINARY BOMBARDMENT.
London, June 29.—There is no official confirmation of the reports of the capture by the Japanese of forts at Port Arthur. There are numerous unofficial versions which, while practically concurring in their statement regarding the losses on each side, locate and name the positions variously. The 'Morning Post's' Tokyo correspondent describes the forts as being on the heights in the vicinity of Taiertan Bay. The 'Chronicle' places the Chi wan shan fort in the centre of the Tiger Tail Peninsula, south-west of Port Arthur. Its Tokyo correspondent does not mention the other forts, but he says that the Japanese are advancing towards Port Arthur on both sides of the Kwang tung peninsula.

The 'Telegraph' Tokyo correspondent quotes the 'Asahi' as saying that the Japanese are advancing from the eastward of Lan tun bashi Hill, took the He han shan and Heitei shan forts. The Chefoo correspondent of the 'Express' reports that the Japanese advance began early on Sunday from the north-west. They first occupied Sungshoo hill, four miles from Kutun. They afterwards seized Kaiyang chiao and Lung tung chiao on the coast, using the Island of Saupingtao as a naval base. A body of cavalry and infantry advancing from Sungshoo hill, occupied Chi wan shan and Hautashan. All the heights were extensively fortified and mined. The Russians fiercely resisted, but the Japanese artillery fire was overwhelming, and by evening they had secured all the coveted points, and the Russians retired on the inner defences of Port Arthur.

SIMULTANEOUS ATTACKS.
Chicago, June 29.—A special to the 'Daily News' from Tokyo, says: 'In fierce fighting which took place at the rear of Port Arthur on Sunday, June 26, attack was simultaneous by the Japanese troops on the hills, which were strongly fortified. After an overwhelming bombardment the Mikado's men advanced and drove out the Russians.'

STOESSEL HEARD FROM.
St. Petersburg, June 29.—General Stoessel, the military commander at Port Arthur, sent a wireless despatch to Chefoo on June 24, saying that all at Port Arthur was well, and adding that the troops sent greetings to Russia.

IN THE BALTIC.

RAMMED.

Cronstadt, June 29.—The Russian battleship 'Navarin,' while returning to her anchorage to-day, was rammed by the Russian ironclad 'Netron Menia,' which struck her amidships. The damage to the 'Navarin' is not serious, though it may be necessary to drydock the vessel. It is believed that the period required for repairing the battleship will not be a long one.

The 'Navarin' is a battleship of 10,200 tons displacement. The warship has a belt of compound armor, sixteen inches thick, and twelve inches of the same armor above her belt, on her bulkheads and over her heavy gun positions. Her armament consists of four twelve-inch guns and eight six-inch guns, fourteen quick-firers and four smaller guns. The speed of the 'Navarin' is estimated at sixteen knots, and she carries a crew of 630 men.

The 'Netron Menia' is a coast defence ironclad of 3,340 tons displacement. She is an old vessel, having been completed in 1865. Her armament consists of fourteen six-inch guns and probably a few smaller quick-firing guns.

THE EARL OF DUNDONALD.

Former General Officer Commanding Replies to Sir Frederick Borden.

(Montreal 'Gazette'.)

Ottawa, June 29.—There has been much comment adverse to the Minister of Militia for his undignified and unwarrantable attack on the Earl of Dundonald last Thursday evening. Your correspondent called upon the General this evening and drew his attention to some of the minister's statements, and asked him if he would furnish a reply. Lord Dundonald was somewhat disinclined at first to say anything, but after your correspondent had pointed out the serious character of some of Sir Frederick Borden's observations, the General consented to be interviewed. The Lordship was first asked what about the report of his Montreal speech, which is reported in Hansard as follows:

Mr. Monk: "Does the hon. gentleman (Sir Frederick Borden) say that the General Officer Commanding had a newspaper reporter there paid to report his speech?"

To this the General replied: "I had nothing whatever to do with the presence of a reporter at the banquet."

The next question had reference to this statement of Sir Frederick Borden: "We have learned that Lord Dundonald went to Montreal for what purpose? To see Colonel Smart and to ask Colonel Smart to write a letter?"

The General remarked, "to open the Montreal Military Institute on that day, at which I met Colonel Smart, and at which I met Colonel Smart by accident, and learned fuller details of Mr. Fisher's interference. I asked Colonel Smart to embody some of the points he mentioned in a letter, which I received on the morning of June 4. I reviewed the Montreal garrison in the afternoon, and in the evening of that day I attended the officers' banquet."

"What about the minister's appeal to race prejudices, when he remarked: 'The district officer commanding in that district happens to be a worthy French Canadian, and I am not aware whether that fact had anything to do with the General's taking the course he did or not. I certainly hope it had not.'"

Lord Dundonald replied: "I had given instructions, not that Colonel Roy, the district officer, and the French Canadian referred to, should be ignored in organizing the 13th Scottish Light Dragoons, but that Colonel Smart, the officer organizing the regiment, should consult with his cavalry brigadier, Colonel Whitley, as to the officers to be appointed, the names then to go through Colonel Roy for his remarks in the ordinary course. As a proof that I had no desire to slight Colonel Roy, I may add that before the present trouble arose, namely, on May 25, Colonel Roy was gazetted in command of the camp at Laprairie. This camp consists of four regiments of cavalry brigade of four regiments of artillery and a bearer company. It will be seen that nine out of ten men in this camp are cavalry soldiers."

The General's attention was next directed to the statement in which Sir Frederick Borden says that one cannot help trying to understand the mental, not to say moral, make-up of the man who, while having this in his mind, goes every day to his office, meets his chief of staff, and etc.

The last interview or meeting, the General remarked, "between Sir F. Borden and myself took place at the beginning of March last, when we discussed my report for 1903. This was prior to his mutilation by Sir F. Borden."

Lord Dundonald would say nothing more on this point.

SUPPRESSING OF REPORT.
"What about the report marked 'pri-

NEVER RAINS, IT POURS.

St. Petersburg, June 29.—The submarine boat 'Delphin' sank at her moorings in the Neva, off the Baltic shipbuilding yard, at eleven o'clock this morning, with the loss of an officer, Lieut. Cherkoff, and twenty men. The accident was due partly to the excessive number of the crew, mostly inexperienced men, and chiefly to the unfortunate attempt of a man to escape while his comrades were screwing down the manhole cover. The officers and men detailed for submarine boat instruction had assembled at the Baltic yard and three officers decided to go down in the 'Delphin,' although her captain was not present, relying on the experience of her skilled crew. A score of novices were anxious to go with the three officers. The 'Delphin's' nominal capacity is ten men, instead of which thirty-two entered the boat, bringing her manhole in dangerous proximity to the river level. Just then a tug passed, sending a heavy wash against the boat. So soon as the water splashed into the submarine boat's interior it created a panic among the novices and one of them tried to get out of the manhole, which the older hands were screwing down preparatory to the descent, the submerging compartment having already been opened. The water rushed in and as the submerged vessel sank like a stone, the officers and some of the men were saved by being thrown up through the manhole by the rush of escaping air. The 'Delphin' shortly afterwards was raised.

The 'Delphin' is Russia's best submarine boat and underwent a successful trial in 1903.

qualified for the command of the Second Dragoons. In the order passed by Council No. 1, of January, 1904, the following paragraph appears:—"No person shall be appointed or promoted to any commissioned rank or appointment in the militia, unless such person has the qualification which, from time to time, may be prescribed for such rank or appointment." Militia order No. 60, of March 23, 1904, founded on the above order-in-council, clearly lays down that majors who desire promotion to regimental command have to pass a qualified examination.

"The Minister of Militia states that General Hutton altered the situation of a battery some three years after the site had been selected by the defence committee, and that you further altered the site."

"The proposed battery, so called," said Lord Dundonald, "was a small affair, and did not much matter whether the site was altered or not, as nothing had been done to construct the battery."

"The Minister of Militia says: 'Is it any wonder if the poor, perplexed Minister of Militia, having three different sets of advisers, is somewhat in doubt and inclined to hesitate before plunging the country into the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars?' What about that?"

"The cost of the battery," replied the General, "would be some $25,000 or $30,000, according to whether there were two or four guns."

PROMOTION OF OFFICERS.
"Then, again, the Minister of Militia says that chaos reigns in the Department of Militia in reference to matters of education. What about that?"

"By order-in-council No. 1, of January, 1904, paragraph 2," Lord Dundonald answered, "the following rule is laid down regarding the promotion of officers:—'No person shall be appointed or promoted to any commissioned rank or appointment in the militia unless such person has the qualification which, from time to time may be prescribed for such rank or appointment.'"

"Paragraph 7, of the same order-in-council, states:—'For the purposes of promotion and professional education of officers and non-commissioned officers of the militia other than those of the permanent corps, shall be divided into classes.'"

"Paragraph 8, of the same order-in-council states:—'The junior classes shall receive their instruction at the Royal School of Artillery, the Canadian School of Artillery, and such other schools as may from time to time be established; the senior classes shall receive their instruction at a central camp of instruction.'"

"It will be seen by the foregoing that all officers were compelled to undergo periods of preparation and examination and officers of higher rank were forced to go to the central camp of instruction where they were to qualify in tactical fitness for command. Owing to the central camp or other sufficient area of ground to show modern conditions of war not having been provided in accordance with the intention of the order-in-council, the militia orders of the early part of this year founded on this order have necessarily been dead letters; consequently, make-shift orders have had to be promulgated."

COURSES OF INSTRUCTION.
"How can you explain the Minister's observations regarding the proposed courses of instruction next September?"

"On May 23, I wrote to Sir Frederick Borden as follows: 'In the sequence of there being a proposal for a central camp has just been announced that it is in the interest of the militia that there should be a special course of instruction for field officers at the Royal Military College in September. I forward herewith a draft of a proposed militia order giving the details of the courses in question and recommend that you approve of the expenditure that will be involved.' I received my recommendation back with the following answer:—"

"The General Officer Commanding is unable to approve of the proposed courses in September next."

"(Signed), L. F. MINAULT, Colonel, Deputy Minister of Militia and Defence."

"Enclosed with the above official request was a proposed militia order embodying the courses of instruction. These courses had been well considered and were to be carried out under the supervision of Colonel Reade, of the 1st Military College. On May 16, Colonel Reade sent up a complete detail of the requirements for carrying on the courses and asked that sanction be obtained for the details as soon as possible."

"The House of Commons on June 23, Sir Frederick Borden stated that the course refused me will take place when proper regulations are passed to carry them into effect. The proper regulations were placed before Sir Frederick Borden and made out in the usual way, but he did not interfere with his blunt refusal."

"It is true that the instruction cards turned out to be wrong, but Sir Frederick Borden stated in the House of Commons as an excuse for not printing them?"

"No, I wanted a further supply printed and a new plate or two inserted to bring them up to date. Nothing in military science is stationary, and must march with the times or be left behind. The minister postponed the printing of the new placards as an excuse of arbitrary power contrary to the interests of the cadet corps and the militia."

MAY MAKE ADDRESS.
Lord Dundonald remarked that he had nothing further to add at present, but before he leaves Canada he may deliver a public address, reviewing the situation. The date of his departure from Canada is not yet decided upon.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

John Haggart Reintroduces the Borden-Dundonald-Fisher Incident.

GOVERNMENT RAILWAY EARNINGS—IN THE SENATE.

Ottawa, June 30.—When the government moved the House into Committee on Supply, the Hon. John Haggart moved in amendment a resolution expressing regret that the government had seen fit to withhold documents of a public character to which parliament was entitled for the proper consideration of the matters to which they related. He could see no excuse or justification for the government's course in keeping parliament in ignorance for months of the Grand Trunk Pacific promoters' original proposal until it suited the Hon. Mr. Fielding to produce it, just as the debate on the transcontinental railway bill was concluded. The government should never have accepted this document at all under the seal of secrecy, because it dealt with a matter parliament was entitled to know all about. The receiver of a document like this was the judge as to whether the G. T. P.'s letter should be held as confidential or not. There was no warrant for withholding Lord Dundonald's special report from parliament, and the score of their pretended confidential character. The General Officer Commanding in Canada had much more extensive powers under our law than in the Old Country.

THE PREMIER.

The Premier expressed surprise at the line of Mr. Haggart's attack. That gentleman was an old parliamentarian and knew much better. The General Officer Commanding and the force he led were alike under civil control.

LEADER OF THE OPPOSITION.

The leader of the Opposition upheld Mr. Haggart's contention that the G. O. C. in this country has wider authority than he possesses in the Old Country. The general with us has certainly a right to a policy of his own, and to make recommendations to the Minister of Militia. There was no evidence that Lord Dundonald had attempted to set up military in this country. Neither had he been guilty of insubordination in the speech he had made at Montreal. Rather in exercising the right of free speech the general had upheld a constitutional privilege of the people at large. Mr. Borden spoke of the "foreigner-stranger" incident, and recalled in this connection the words of St. Paul: "Now, therefore, ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellow-citizens with the saints." Surely Lord Dundonald could claim the position of a fellow-citizen.

Mr. Borden spoke till a few minutes after six, and it was understood that the same theme was to be debated in the evening, but none of the Oppositionists who had intended speaking were on hand at eight o'clock, and the discussion came to a sudden and unexpected end. Mr. Haggart's amendment being thrown out without even a recorded division.

BORDEN-WHITLEY CORRESPONDENCE.

The Minister of Militia laid on the table of the House a letter which he addressed on March 26 to Lieut.-Col. Fred. Whitley, commanding the Eastern Townships Cavalry Brigade, relative to the organization of the 13th Dragoons. "My attention," he says, "has been called to the fact that considerable dissatisfaction exists in several quarters in the Townships owing to the fact that Montreal officers are being selected to recruit and to command country regiments. I have every confidence in your good will towards myself and the government generally, but I think it is desirable you should understand the real position in order that you may take the utmost care in this regard."

Sir Frederick alludes to an application from Watson P. Milmore, for a commission in D' squadron, and to a letter he had received from the Hon. Sydney Fisher in that connection.

The balance of the sitting was given up to the passage of votes for the Department of Marine and Fisheries.

GOVERNMENT RAILWAYS.

In answer to a question by Mr. Rufus Pope, the Minister of Railways stated that the receipts on the government railway system, that is, the Intercolonial and the Prince Edward Island lines, amounted in the eleven months of the current fiscal year up to May 31, to $6,000,766, and the working expenses to $6,665,071, a deficit of $665,000.

The Prime Minister in response to a question by Mr. Casgrain, stated that the reports in the press regarding the recent cancellation of the Treadgold concession are well founded.

The Minister of Railways stated that standard passenger tariffs have been filed with the Railway Commission by the Dominion Atlantic, Vancouver, Westminster and Yukon, British Yukon, Klondike Mines, Tilsonburg, Lake Erie and Pacific Railway Companies. The time has been extended till November 1, the time within which railway companies may submit their tariffs for review.

IN THE SENATE.

MOTION BY SENATOR McDONALD TO AMEND THE AUDIT ACT DEFEATED.

Ottawa, June 30.—In the Senate Sir Mackenzie Bowell called attention to the article in the "Mail and Empire" of June 8 representing Captain Bernier as complaining that the government provided him with a crew of "land lubbers" to man the steamer "Gauss," that has been bought from the German Government for service in the Arctic ocean. The premier condemned the government for using political patronage to give men a pleasure trip across the Atlantic.

Senator Scott answered that Captain Bernier had denied the accuracy of the report in question.

Senator McDonald (Cape Breton) moved that in the opinion of the Senate, the government should during the present session of parliament amend the Audit Act in accordance with the recommendation of the Auditor-General, and thereby retain the services of that official, whose mental vigor, courage and long experience well qualify him to discharge the duties of his office with advantage to the people of Canada. In doing so he drew attention to the fact that the resignation of Mr. McDougall had received much attention from the press. He read portions of Mr. McDougall's letter, and said that twenty-six years he had acted as administrator of the Audit Act, which now had become antiquated. From his long experience Mr. McDougall was the fittest person to suggest amendments to the act. Mr. McDougall had shown great courage in his position, but it was difficult for a civil servant to do anything when four or five ministers combined against him. He made his motion in order to test the feeling of the House on the question.

Senator Scott said whatever views the government might have in regard to the Audit Act, it was too late to make any amendments this session. He would regret if this caused the resignation of Mr. McDougall. He was quite prepared to agree with Mr. McDonald in many of the observations he had made. As a member of the government which appointed the Auditor-General, he felt that as years went on Mr. McDougall showed a disposition to extend the sphere of his office which had arisen under the Conservative Government with Mr. McDougall's position as an officer of parliament. He did not agree in the opinion that the press unanimously endorsed the Auditor-General, and questioned whether the country had grown as fast as had Mr. McDougall's reports. He quoted the Montreal "Gazette" of Friday last as questioning whether some of the friction existing that the report might be reduced in bulk. It was very creditable to the government that during the present session the Committee on Public Accounts had only met two or three times, and questions had not arisen criticising the government seriously. Mr. Scott reminded the Senate that it was not the chamber in which any suggestion regarding the Audit Act should arise. He in no way wished to minimize the services of the Auditor-General to the country. Even his errors had always been on the right side, because they were for the protection of the public revenue. The government hoped that his resignation, which had not been accepted, would not take effect.

Senator Ferguson felt that the conduct of Mr. McDougall since the Liberals came to power showed that he was fearless and impartial. The retirement of Mr. McDougall in the prime of life, at the present time, when enormous expenditure was about to be undertaken, would be a very great loss to the country. He recommended a perusal of the correspondence concerning the Davis lighting contract on the Cornwall canal, as showing that the Auditor-General had saved the country a sum equal to half a million dollars. It was worth going a long way to ensure that the people of Canada would have the vigilance of Mr. McDougall during the inception of the Transcontinental Railway. The amendments Mr. McDougall insisted upon were: First, that no contract with the government should be made after the work was completed; second, that in contracts given without tender or after tender, when the lowest contract had not been successful, the proper officer of the department should certify that the prices are fair and just. There was a third governing certificate for work. Mr. Ferguson held that the Auditor-General should have had these amendments conceded to him.

Senator McMullen thought it a great pity that at this juncture Mr. McDougall should be forced to leave the place he had filled so well and recommended that the government should exhaust every means to retain his services. He pointed out the appointment of a committee of the House to enquire into the whole matter and report. He was proud to think that the Opposition had been so unsuccessful in hunting up wrong doing that the Public Accounts Committee had not even met. That was due to the honesty of the government. He would like to see a searching investigation into the Davis contract. The amendments asked by Mr. McDougall appeared to him very important.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell denied that the Auditor-General had attempted to override the House, but presented himself as doing so, when they had tried. When the Auditor-General had appealed to the Treasury Board the opinions of eminent counsel had generally shown that he was correct and the Treasury Board wrong. Dealing with the growth of the Auditor-General's report, Sir Mackenzie attributed it to the growth of the business of the country. Sir Mackenzie Bowell defended the Auditor-General in the matter of his insisting on the observation of the Civil Service Act. That the Public Accounts Committee had not met was no proof that there was nothing to investigate, but rather that the chairman would not call the committee. He claimed that Mr. McDougall had assisted in the Curran bridge and McGreevey exposures. The Davis case was one in which Mr. McDougall's services had been given in a fearless manner to the country.

Senator McDonald (Cape Breton) argued that if Mr. McDougall did not suggest amendments to the Audit Act during the Conservative regime it was because he did not deem them necessary. He believed the Senate should discuss this matter. He accepted a suggestion from Mr. McMullen that he withdraw the words "in accordance with the recommendations of the Auditor-General."

Senator Dandurand felt that the resolution was not satisfactory. He affirmed two things, one of which no one could refuse, the other which he could not accept. As to the desire to retain Mr. McDougall's services, they were all agreed. He suggested the withdrawal of the resolution.

Senator Beique entirely agreed with Mr. Dandurand.

The motion was lost on the following division:—

Yeas—Baker, Bernier, De Boucherville, Bowell, Macdonald (P.E.I.), Macdonald (Victoria), McDonald, McMillan, McMullen, Owens, Perley, Vidal—12.

Nays—Beique, Church, Cloran, Coffey, Dandurand, David, Dumville, Ellis, Fiset, Gibson, Godbout, Kerr (Toronto), Legrie, Lovitt, McHugh, McInnes, Bower, Scott, Templeton, Tessier, Thibault, (Rigaud), Watson, Wilson, Yeo, Young—25.

The bill to amend the Canada Temperance Act was taken up in committee of the whole, read a third time and passed.

KNIGHTS OF MACCABEES.

Toronto, June 30.—Supreme Commander D. P. Markey addressed a well attended gathering of Toronto members of the Knights of the Maccabees at St. George's Hall last night, laying before them the alternative proposition for raising the rates of insurance. After lengthy discussion the following resolution was passed: "This mass meeting approves of the plan for readjusting the rates of this association to the effect that every member be given the right to take the new level rate for whole life protection, as of the age of entry instead of at the attained age, to be paid from date of option, and that a per capita tax of ten cents per month be levied on each member for management expenses instead of taking ten per cent from the mortuary rates for that purpose, and that any deficiency created be made up by levy of one cent per week upon all present members, and that any member who wants to continue at present rates may do so to a period estimated to be over sixty years of age, and thereafter pay the actual cost of maintaining his protection on the basis of past experience."

MAINE REPUBLICANS.

PLATFORM IS OPPOSED TO RECIPROCITY WITH CANADA.

Bangor, Me., June 30.—The Republican State Convention last night nominated Mr. William T. Cobb for governor. The platform adopted declares, in part:

The Republican party stands for protection, which safeguards American well-paid labor against the competition of cheap foreign labor. The Democratic party stands for free trade, and the wholesale introduction of foreign products into our home market.

The Republican party stands for a sound currency, with gold as the basis.

The reciprocity of Blaine and Arthur and Harrison, and McKinley, and Dingley, covers the interchange with foreign countries of articles which we do not produce, and our own products needed in such countries. It opposes such reciprocity with Canada as would flood our market with Canadian lumber, fish, hay, potatoes and other farm products, as it would seriously embarrass many of Maine's important industries, and especially that of agriculture. Under present arrangements our trade with Canada is constantly increasing, with the balance largely in our favor. We believe in letting well enough alone.

STAIRWAY TO NEW MARKET SPACE.

At a meeting of the Markets Committee yesterday afternoon, it was decided to accept the tender of Mr. D. Pagnin of $400 for the construction of an iron stairway from Notre Dame street down to the square adjoining the Chateau de Ramezay. Into this place the farmers are supposed to go with their produce when the regular stand on Jacques Cartier square is crowded. But the farmers complain that their customers cannot reach them as easily as in the old place. The committee therefore ordered the stairway to be built.

A SUDDEN DEATH.

Alphonse Contant, 62 years of age, of St. Jacques L'Acadie, had been in the city yesterday and was hurrying in the afternoon to Place Viger station to take the train home, when he was suddenly seized with illness at the corner of Champlain and Craig streets and expired before medical aid could arrive. The body was removed to the morgue. Coroner McMahon disposed of the case without calling a jury, death being due to heart failure.

THE WAR.

On Sunday and Monday the Japanese struck five blows simultaneously, one in the Ta pass at Pönn si hu or Fen shui, one in the Motien pass on the great road from Feng huan cheng to Liao yang, one on the road from Siu yen to Si mu chen, one at Senu chen (Siung yue cheng) south of Kai ping, and one in the close neighborhood of Port Arthur itself. All of these blows were successful. With regard to the last the names telegraphed by different reports are profuse in the extreme, but almost none of them agree with those on any map; and the surmises of the despatch makers en route are, as usual, entirely wild. What seems clear is that the attacking force approached the fortress by the shore road from Talien bay, supported by ships hidden behind a bluff called Cape Bevan, about half-way between Talien bay and Port Arthur. If the captured position spoken of as Chik wan shan, or Chik wan hill, is the same as the Keekwan forts, it is the most powerful position outside of Port Arthur itself. By to-day's news each of the other armies, except General Nodzu's, before Si mu cheng, is reported as having moved forward. One or other of the two northernmost is actually spoken of as having been seen within thirteen miles of Liao yang, but not to remain. It was probably the force from the Ta pass in the Fen shui hills, as the Russian general, Count Keller, with his very mobile cavalry force, is said to be still holding a strong position between Motien pass and Liao yang. General Oku, from the south, has occupied the evacuated Kai ping and General Kuropatkin is said to be withdrawing his force to Liao yang. We accept with caution, however, the theory that Ta shi kiao and Niu chwang are not to be fought for. It is plain that a great conflict is impending, or else a great fight.

THE WONDERFUL WIRELESS.

The Marconi daily newspaper on an Atlantic ship, though it would not pay for what it costs, has proved the success of the Marconi system in a more signal way than ever before, and assuming that the system is regarded as a necessity for other reasons, may become a pleasant feature of ocean voyages. During the last trip westward of the Cunard liner "Campania," the daily news bulletin was issued to passengers at breakfast. The "Campania" had not long started from Queenstown, when news was received from the Seaforth station, and later in the evening from Poldhu. It is to be noted that touch was kept with the Poldhu station for a distance of 2,300 miles, until, in fact, bulletins had been received from the American stations, so that the ship never lost communication with land. News was received on board not only from the Nantucket station, but from the Cape Breton and Cape Cod stations as well. For three days, in mid-ocean, touch with both sides of the Atlantic was continuous, while, in addition to the shore stations, communication was established with the "Etruria" and the "Aurania," and the "Lucania" exchanged news with the "Campania." A number of private messages were also sent at intervals. This is all vouched for by Reuters. There was on board a correspondent of a London newspaper, who sent a message home. The message was transmitted through the post-office from Rosslare, on the coast of Wexford. It had apparently been "Marconigrammed" from the "Campania" to a homeward bound liner, and thus retransmitted to the nearest signal station. The message ran: "We are now 1,600 miles at sea. Mr. Marconi has just received a message from England reporting that the experiments have so far been a great success. The "Cunard Daily Bulletin" published to-day contained several Reuters' messages from Russia and Thibet and general news. The issue was sold out, and a second edition which was published was eagerly bought up. Even the Russian passengers in the steamer clubbed together to buy copies, and eagerly read the news of the war. The weather, which has been rough, is now moderating, and all on board are well."

Owing to this striking success, it is announced that long distance wireless apparatus is to be installed on all the Cunard liners as soon as possible, and other lines will doubtless follow. A start has been made already by the Allan line, which has fitted up the "Parisian" with the Marconi wireless system. On her recent outward bound voyage the "Parisian" exchanged over two hundred words with the newly-fitted-up land station at Fame Point, and the experiment was pronounced a great success. A message was sent to Sir Montagu Allan, bearing congratulations from the ship upon the honor bestowed upon him by the King, and many of the passengers sent communications to their friends. We are told that communication with Fame Point was first obtained when the "Parisian" was sixty miles above that point, and was maintained until she was sixty miles below, or for a distance of a hundred and twenty miles. This is a trifling distance, of course, when compared with the record of the "Campania," but the Fame Point station is a new one, having been erected during the previous fifteen days, and its first work may be regarded in the nature of a successful inauguration. Three other stations are to be built in the Gulf this season, one at Heath Point, one at Point Amour, and one at Belle Isle. The Heath Point station is expected to be ready in a week or two, and the other two stations in August. These are to be followed sooner or later by stations at Cape Race and Sable Island, and one on the mainland, probably at Canso. The day of doubt is past. The Allan line is so sure of this that it has already fitted up the "Bavarian" and "Tunisian," as well as the "Parisian," with the Marconi wireless system, and intends to fit up all its passenger ships with the system. All this is very wonderful and full of potential beneficence on dangerous coasts and in numerous other ways. But blessings are rarely unaccompanied, and there is a fly in the amber even in the case of the Marconi wireless, for we are told that it is the intention to send current stock quotations from New York and London to the Cunard liners every hour, and that it is possible that a stock exchange with travelling brokers will be started on some ships as an annex to the New York and London exchanges. In short the sea will no longer be a respite from the whirl of the world and the worry of business.

FINANCIAL REVIEW.

The dry goods merchants, the clothing manufacturers, and the many interests which depend upon woollens for their raw material, have succeeded in their representations to some extent, and the diminished preference on woollens imported from Great Britain is not to come into force until the last day of August. In the case of the German surtax, as long or even a longer time was given, to enable merchants to obtain delivery of goods already bought, before applying the surtax; but the days of grace now given in the case of woollens will doubtless be very much appreciated. The wholesale dry goods houses and the garment manufacturers make their sales ahead twice a year, and if the extra duty of six and two-thirds percent ad valorem had been imposed directly after Mr. Fielding's budget speech, it would have wiped out the profits of the season in many cases. Therefore, it appears that substantial justice has now been done, especially when the trade could only infer from speeches of ministers, delivered not so long before the budget speech, that increase of the woollen duties was not contemplated. So far as the special dumping duty is concerned, we see a lot of trouble and vexation ahead not only for the importer, but for the Department of Customs as well. In announcing a few alterations in the tariff resolutions in the House of Commons, Mr. Fielding said, among other things, that the Minister of Customs may by regulation exempt temporarily from the special duties goods of a class which the minister is satisfied are only made in Canada to a small extent, and are therefore not open to sale on equal terms to all purchasers—whatever that may mean. This is a fine-spun departure from pure protectionism. Indeed, it looks like a confession of surrender to force. It is no longer the struggling and infant industries that are to be protected, but the strong and established ones. How small, or how large, is the industry to be before this discrimination is to apply, and why should it be within the right and power of the Minister of Customs to make such discrimination without appeal? It is explained that "strikes, for instance, might limit the Canadian production of an article, and in that case it would be exempted from the special duty if imported." We are not so sure about that, however. Protection in general, and dumping duties in particular, are for the benefit of the producer at the expense of the consumer, and strikes are very often only an attempt on the part of labor to make the manufacturers "divvy up" a part of their abnormal, if not immoral, profits. Will the government, therefore, dare to take sides with protectionist manufacturers against protectionist strikers? We doubt it. Anyway, there is going to be trouble.

Last year the total number of immigrants from the United States coming into this country was 49,000; but this year five or six thousand less are expected by Mr. J. A. Smart, the deputy minister of the interior. Mr. Smart gave three reasons for this expected diminution. First, he said, the main artery for emigrants from the United States into this country was by the "Soo" branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and that the interruption of traffic on that branch by spring freshets had had an appreciable effect upon immigration; the second reason for the falling off in numbers has been the throwing open of further Indian reservations in the United States for settlement; and the third reason is the fact that this is the presidential election year, when there is always a quickening of interest in home affairs in the inhabitants of the United States. These three reasons are interesting, but may there not be a fourth? The United States newspapers have had much to say of late about our refusal to negotiate a reciprocity treaty with them unless they first sue for it (although they can hardly blame us considering how long they insisted that we should "dine on the cold shoulder"), and also they have had much to say about "Americans" not being wanted here. They have, perhaps, taken care not to discriminate as to what kind of "Americans" some of us do not want, so that we cannot wonder if some of their farmers think themselves included in that category.

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association, Mr. Fielding will be glad to hear, commends the general tendency of the recent tariff changes announced by the Minister of Finance, inasmuch as they "provide increased protection for certain Canadian industries." Here the association recognizes the right sort of protectionist glitter; but, alas, all the recent tariff changes are not protectionist gold. For, note, "The association, while pleased that the government has favorably considered the necessities of the woolen and twine industries, does not consider that the amount of the protection granted is sufficient, and does not approve of the departure made by the government in increasing the protection by decreasing the preference." Now, there's logic, if you please! The association does not consider the increased protection granted sufficient, yet it does not want the protection increased by decreasing the preference. The association is afraid that "such action" will be misinterpreted in Great Britain, whereas, an increase in the regular duties on these lines would still "have maintained the principle of a uniform preference for British goods." What a Machiavellian argument. The object of the association would seem to be, besides getting higher duties all round, to make the Briton think we are serving him when we are doing exactly the reverse. The simple Briton is supposed to tax his food for us with a smile, saying, "we can't sell our Canadian brothers and sisters any more of our manufactures or anything else, but see how nobly they have maintained "the principle of a prefer-

"enel!" It reminds one of the Sussex story of a foreman brickmaker, who one Saturday got a Dutchman's rise. That is, for some reason or another his weekly wages were reduced from a pound to eighteen shillings. When his wife heard about it, and was turning over the shrunken silver, she was furious, and counselled him to "throw up his job," at once. But he said "No," and pointed out to her that there was still a silver lining to the cloud. "You see, my dear," he urged, "I'm "foreman" still!" So when the "hard-headed Englishmen" retorted upon Mr. Chamberlain that the Canadian Manufacturers' Association is working night and day to have the duties made sufficiently high to exclude British imports, that gentleman will be able triumphantly to exclaim, "But the Canadian Manufacturers' Association supports the preferential principle still!"

The stock of the Canadian Pacific Railway continues to appreciate in the local share market, owing to favorable earnings and support in Wall street, and yesterday closed at 124 1/2, as compared with 123 a week ago. Canadian Pacific is about the only stock, however, to show any price appreciation, most of the other securities making quite a reverse showing, especially the coal and iron and steel groups and Richelieu. What with the passing of dividends and strikes and other adverse influences, partly, no doubt, beyond the control of the directors, there is little wonder that iron and coal stocks respond to nearly every bearish influence, imaginary or other; and with such influences prevalent, the accident to the "Canada" has naturally been made the occasion to hammer the Richelieu and Ontario stock. A week ago Richelieu closed at 75 1/2, and yesterday at 70 1/2, a loss of nearly five points on the week; Coal Common closed at 40 1/2 yesterday, and 47 1/2 a week ago, a loss of six and a half points on the week; and Nova Scotia Steel closed yesterday at 68 1/2, as compared with 73 a week ago, or a loss of four and a quarter points on the week. The other active stocks only show fractional changes. As we have often advised during recent months, at such times as these, wise men keep and buy stocks, and, well, unwise men, to put it gently, sell them. The local money market is steady, with call loans quoted at five percent.

WILL HAVE A NEW CHURCH

EDIFICE FOR ANGLICAN PARISH OF THE ASCENSION TO BE ON PARK AVENUE.

The Anglican parish of the Ascension, which comprises Outremont and Montreal Annex, is to have a new church on Park Avenue, near Fairmount avenue. The present edifice, erected on Outremont avenue, as a mission church before the parish boundaries were set, has been found unsuited to the needs and location of the Church of England population. In the early part of the year it was decided to sell this property and build upon a site near the centre of the parish. The growth and development of this congregation under its first rector, the Rev. J. L. Flanagan, who is still in charge, has been remarkable. The church under course of erection will meet the needs of this rapidly growing district and is being built from plans which will allow of extension in the future. The building will be of pressed brick with stone trimmings, and will have a large school room. It is expected to have the church ready for services in the early fall and during the erection of the building the services will be conducted in the Fairmount school, Fairmount avenue.

THANKS OF EMPLOYEES.

The employees of the S. Carsley Co., Limited, have addressed the following letter of thanks to the president and directors of the company: "Gentlemen,—We approach you with the greatest pleasure and ask you to accept the respectful and hearty thanks of your many hundred employees for the kind thoughtfulness of the company in again extending the Dominion Day holidays as you were kind enough to do once before under similar circumstances. Not only so, but you have added to this kindness the further one of closing the store half an hour earlier for the heated summer sun. We can assure you, gentlemen, that the benefits will be appreciated to the full by all the members of your staff who will make it their utmost endeavor to signalize the consideration by thorough devotion to the company's interest during all the business hours of the day."

ACCUSED OF THEFT.

Ella Bagley, forty-two years of age, employed as a domestic by Dr. Chevalier, Dorchester street, was before Mr. Lafontaine this morning, on the charge of stealing a quantity of clothing, the property of Mrs. Chevalier. Detectives Lohan and Lehuquet were assigned to the case yesterday, and when they searched the room of the accused they were surprised to find a quantity of quality and variety of wearing apparel there displayed. When asked to plead, the prisoner swayed from side to side, and just as High Constable Bissonnette went to get a chair for her, she fell heavily as if in a faint. The detectives said she is a consummate actor. In May, 1900, she was sentenced to two years and six months in the Vermont State Penitentiary for impersonating her daughter while endeavoring to cash a cheque. She was remanded until she is in a fit condition to plead.

NORWICH UNION WINS.

COURT FINDS NO LIABILITY IN KAVANAGH CASE.

Mr. Justice Davidson yesterday afternoon rendered formal judgment of the court in the jury trial case of Walter Kavanagh vs. the Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society.

This, it will be remembered, was an action for $25,000 damages on the ground of dismissal from the company's service as agent, and on account of the publication of notices of such dismissal. At the trial the jury found that, though under its contract, the company had a right to terminate Mr. Kavanagh's agency without notice, and that the publication complained of was necessary and did not constitute defamation or malice, still the plaintiff had suffered thereby to the extent of $10,000. In rendering judgment the court held that the occasion being privileged, and the publication not being defamatory or malicious, the company defendant could not be held liable for the damages found by the jury to have been suffered by plaintiff. The action was, therefore, dismissed.

L. C. M. EXAMINATIONS.

The examinations of the London College of Music were held in the Montreal centre yesterday. Dr. Gerrit Smith, New York city, presided, and expressed himself as very well pleased with the work of the candidates. These are the eighth annual examinations of the kind held, and the appreciation of pupils and teachers alike is shown by the largely increased entries each year. A musician of high reputation is selected each year by the college to conduct these tests. The theory examinations will take place next week, the papers, however, being examined by the council in England. The following are the results of the practical work done yesterday: A. L. C. M. Associate—Mary Butler, pupil of Miss Cousins, L. C. THE MINTO GAME.

The Brantford Team Arrived in the City This Morning.

BOTH TEAMS ARE IN FINE CONDITION AND A FAST GAME IS EXPECTED TO-MORROW.

The great lacrosse match to be played to-morrow afternoon (Dominion Day) between the champion Shamrock lacrosse team and the Brantford twelve is the sole topic of conversation in lacrosse circles. It will be remembered the exhibition of the Shamrock team that was put up by these two teams last year, and any one who was fortunate enough to secure a seat at that occasion will certainly realize what a store for him if he attends the coming series. These matches are for possession of the Minto cup, now held by the Shamrocks, and if reports prove true the Western Ontario champions have come to Montreal determined to return to the Telemont City in possession of the trophy. It is their own ambition to achieve success on this trip, and if they succeed in lifting the cup they will then be entitled to style themselves as champions of the world. This point, undoubtedly, would be much to the pride of the present holders, and every effort is to be made by the boys to green to retain their title. Brantford has had considerable hard luck in the early part of the season, but latterly their work on the lacrosse field has been bright, fast and snappy, and they are just about ready enough individually, and as a team, to make the Shamrock boys go their place in order to stave off defeat. The C.L.A. champions are apparently confident in their ability to defeat the locals, and his seems to be the general opinion up West. However, these statements have been heard before, and in every case the Shamrock team has never disappointed its friends and supporters, and those who understand the game know that the Shamrocks in this respect will certainly tend to place that organization in an exalted position before the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union, which is being freely talked about and universally commended, and it is safe to say that the conduct of the Shamrock boys in this respect will certainly tend to place that organization in an exalted position before the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union. Now that the C.A.A.U., after hearing the Brantford delegate has decided to permit the match to be played, the public should certainly show its appreciation of the manly stand taken by the Shamrocks in the recent difficulty and turn out en masse to cheer on to final triumph the men who were ready and willing to sacrifice their interests to uphold general principles.

From present appearances the attendance at the game to-morrow will be a record-breaker, and as both Brantford and Shamrock, as well as the Shamrocks, are in the city in the lacrosse world both at home and abroad, and latterly their action with every indication of their losing several thousand dollars, in absolute inability to play the Brantford Club in opposition to the wishes of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union, is being freely talked about and universally commended, and it is safe to say that the conduct of the Shamrock boys in this respect will certainly tend to place that organization in an exalted position before the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union. Now that the C.A.A.U., after hearing the Brantford delegate has decided to permit the match to be played, the public should certainly show its appreciation of the manly stand taken by the Shamrocks in the recent difficulty and turn out en masse to cheer on to final triumph the men who were ready and willing to sacrifice their interests to uphold general principles.

The Brantford Lacrosse team arrived in the city this morning, over the Grand Trunk Railway and they were met at the adventure station by a delegation from the Shamrock A. A. Association, headed by the president, W. P. Kearney, who gave the challengers a hearty welcome. The players, upon arrival, went immediately to the Queen's Hotel, where they had breakfast, but somewhat tired after the long journey. However, the members of the team are feeling the best of condition, and they are indeed a likely lot of athletes. They expressed determination to take back to Brantford with them the Minto cup as that is apparently the one ambition of their lacrosse career.

Mr. Harley Davidson, who is looking after the players, in speaking of the team this morning, said: "Every man in the very best of shape, and certainly the players will put up a game of their lives when they meet the Shamrocks to-morrow afternoon. Monday morning the team will have a light practice, while last Saturday's easy victory over Fergus was nothing more than a warm-up. Every member of the team has been on hand at every practice, with the exception of John Smith, the new addition to the team from Fergus, who has not yet settled into his position and has not yet made himself a great player. The team is in no doubt, nor is it likely to be known till the team lines up on the Shamrock grounds. From goal to centre have been definitely arranged, but the team is still in doubt. Hutton will be in the line, Dowling at point, Grimes at defence, while the defence line will be Finlayson and Neely, and Degan. The home field may possibly be won by Doyle and Dade, with Wilson and Powers inside. Cain has not been making hard enough to give satisfaction. Neither has Taylor shown up as well as he should have done, as his passing has been very poor. Brantford people are showing interest in Wilson. The shooting of the home has been a weak spot and may considerably strengthened that point."

Understanding the half poor showing of the local aggregation so far this season, it is confident that we will see the Shamrocks' team in certainly better than that of last year, though their record so far is easily exceeded in many ways. It is not likely the team will remain in the city between the games as the management are profiting from last year's experience. There is a proposal to take the team to some suburb between the matches, but the chances are they will be brought back to Brantford. The Shamrock executive have kindly offered the Brantford team the use of the S.A.A.A. ground for practice, and at 2 o'clock this afternoon the challengers put in a hard and fast practice.

LACROSSE DOINGS.

Cars of the St. Denis street line will run direct to the Shamrock grounds to-morrow for the Minto cup match, using the subway and avoid transferring.

A good match will be played on the M. A. A. A. grounds on Saturday afternoon in the intermediate series, between Montreal and Quebec, and as this is the only lacrosse game billed for that day, all lovers of lacrosse will have an opportunity of seeing the intermediates at play.

Mr. Meunier, president of the N.A.L.U., has been notified by the C.A.A.U., that Fred. Pringle, now playing with the Capitals, was professionalized three years ago at Oat, Ont., and he has advised all the clubs in the N.A.L.U. that any one playing with or against him for the future will thereby professionalize themselves.

An effort is to be made to have the National Amateur Lacrosse Union repudiate their rule, which provides that all decisions of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union shall be accepted by the lacrosse body. At the request of the Capital Lacrosse Club, a special meeting of the N.A.L.U. has been called by Mr. Meunier, and will be held in Montreal at the St. Lawrence Hall on July 9. A motion will be offered at the meeting to withdraw the rule from the by-laws of the N.A.L.U.

Meanwhile the Capitals have decided not to play Pringle in to-morrow's match against Cornwall.

AQUATICS.

Arrangements have been completed for the Canadian Canoe Association's eastern division regatta, which is to take place at St. Johns, Que., Dominion Day. Considerable interest is being taken in this event, and it is expected that a very large crowd will travel to St. Johns on Friday in spite of the many counter attractions in the sporting line. A large stand with seating capacity for hundreds has been erected for the accommodation of the spectators and many more will be provided with places on the boat-house. The contests are likely to be keen as those who are entered for the races have been hard at work preparing for some time past, and all are in the best possible condition. After the races the officials of the regatta will be entertained at luncheon by the St. Johns Boat Club. The prizes will be distributed at the boat house in the evening. Mrs. Treasurer of the commodore of the St. Johns Boat Club, is to present the prizes to the successful competitors. After the distribution of prizes a hop will be held. Black orchestra has been engaged for the occasion and a very enjoyable evening is anticipated. A special train will be run to the city after the dance.

Fire broke out in the boat-house of the St. Johns Boat Club last evening and, but for the prompt action of the caretaker, the building would probably now be in ruins. The man, on returning from his supper, noticed smoke issuing from the lower part of the boat-shed, and on entering discovered that the burlap with which the sculls are covered was on fire. He summoned several of the members who were on the premises, and after about twenty minutes' hard work the fire was extinguished. Very little damage was done to the building, and the boats were all uninjured. It is thought the fire started from a carelessly dropped cigar end.

(Canadian Associated Press.)
London, June 30.—Kelly, the oarsman, is taking the keenest interest in Scholes' doings. Whenever the latter is on the river the former is a most interested spectator on the bank following along on a bicycle, carefully noting Scholes' movements, and whenever Scholes makes a trial, Kelly, watch in hand, can be seen.

HONOR THEIR PASTOR.

The Rev. F. A. Read, the popular pastor for the past four years of the Clarenceville Methodist Church, left that place on Thursday last for his new field of labor at Merrickville, Ont. The departure of Mr. and Mrs. Read is sincerely regretted by the whole community of the district. During the four years all has been peace and harmony, everything connected with the church's affairs moving on quietly and prosperously, the result of the pastor's faithfulness and devotion to the cause for which he has consecrated his life. The two last Sabbaths of his pastorate at Clarenceville the church was packed to the doors, representing all parts of the circuit, the neighboring churches as well manifesting the respect and affection felt for both Mr. and Mrs. Read. The morning they left a goodly number of friends accompanied them to the six a.m. train for Montreal, wishing them success and happiness in their new home, and hoping that they may find there as many warm friends as they leave behind them in Clarenceville.

SIR IAN HAMILTON'S DANGER.

The marvellous escape of Sir Ian Hamilton from drowning at Chemulpo while on his way to the front with the foreign attaches is told in detail by Mr. Bennett Burleigh. The general had just left the transport "Sunioya Maru" to visit the British consul. The tide at Chemulpo rises thirty feet, and consequently there are very powerful currents. That day, as General Hamilton was stepping on to the launch the little vessel lurched and he fell between it and the ship. The general would have been swept under the big transport had not Colonel Satow, of the Imperial Artillery, who was in charge of the attaches, sprung and gripped Sir Ian Hamilton's hand in some marvellous way as he was disappearing. To avoid being dragged under the ship with the general, Colonel Satow flung himself into the narrow space alongside the gangway. The strain upon his arm must have been terrible, but he clung to the hand until help came and rescue was effected.

VERDUN SCHOOL CLOSING.

The closing exercises of Verdun Model School took place yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. After the fine weather enjoyed by so many other schools for their annual gathering, it was somewhat disappointing for the children to have a dull day, but the rain seemed to have no dampening effect on the ardor of the boys and girls whose bright, happy faces made sunshine and beauty inside at all events.

Few suburban schools have a finer situation than Verdun Model, standing just inside the dikes, and commanding a magnificent view of the lake and the great disaster of April last, when the water stood in the basement, high over the top of the furnaces, and within an inch or two of the first floor, causing much damage to woodwork, windows, and the like.

Besides the principal, Miss A. V. Palmer, B.A., there were on the platform the chairman, Mr. Ed. May, one of the commissioners; Mr. Ward, the secretary-treasurer; Mrs. May, Mrs. Moffatt and the staff.

The principal gave an excellent report of the progress of the school. This is the second year in the new building, and the increased number of pupils has fully justified the hopes of the commissioners when they drew up such a large, commodious school house. The enrollment this year has been 160, a gain of fully 25 percent on last year, so that a fourth teacher had this year been added to the regular staff. The senior classes have taken the examinations for superior schools in their respective grades. Next year, it is hoped that the school may obtain regular standing in the government examination at Quebec, and become really what the front of the building declares it to be, a "Model School." A very successful course in callisthenics was given on this year again, by Miss R. Baker-Edwards, for which the medals and badges were to have been awarded at an earlier date, but owing to Miss Baker-Edwards' serious illness, the usual exhibitions had been dropped, and the prizes given with the rest. Several concerts and one lecture had been given under school auspices during the year, and such lectures, it was hoped, would form a feature of the work next year. In regard to the prizes, the trustees had provided a generous number, and the City and District Savings Bank had also very kindly presented two of their steel banks. The latter were given for the best attendance and punctuality in the school.

The prizes were then distributed, and a varied programme of music and recitations was read out by the children in a way that reflected great credit alike on pupils and teachers.

Altogether the community may congratulate itself on a successful year in the school, and may expect even better things in the future. The school will reopen on Sept. 1.

London, June 29.—It is stated from an anti-Turkish source that the victims of the recent Armenian massacres numbered nearly 6,000, instead of 3,000. At the village of Akkibi, the number of persons killed was so many that their bodies, which were thrown from a bridge, dammed the river, which the Turks freed by firing artillery into the heaps of corpses.

ONTARIO COURT OF APPEALS.

Toronto, June 29.—This was judgment day in the Court of Appeal, judgments being delivered in twenty-nine cases. The appeals of Mr. E. A. Dunlop, M. P. P., North Renfrew, from the decision of Chief Justice Moss, were dismissed. Moss had refused to dismiss the petition on the ground that two of the petitioners wanted to withdraw and claimed to be disqualified. He also allowed the substitution of another petitioner, one technically disqualified. The court agrees with him and the petition will proceed. Other judgment delivered was Ahearn vs. Booth, an action between the two prominent Ottawa men regarding rights to develop electric power on the Ottawa river, and to divert water. The appeal is dismissed.

MISTOOK HIM FOR A DEER.

Malone, N.Y., June 29.—The body of Hank Prentiss was found near the Osgood river yesterday with a bullet hole through the neck, and Jerry Parsons has confessed that he shot Prentiss accidentally, having mistaken him for a deer. Prentiss was a machinist employed at Paul Smith's and Parsons was a carpenter employed about the hotel.

Last Sunday Prentiss and a friend started for a stroll in the woods, taking their guns with them. They became separated and the friend returned at night, but Prentiss did not. As Prentiss did not come in on Monday a party of guides and friends of the man started out late

Recommended An Operation

Doctors Said There Was No Other Way to Cure Me of Piles—in One Week Was Cured by

Dr. Chase's Ointment

Besides the pain and expense there is an enormous risk to life itself accompanying every operation for piles and you are not by any means sure of a cure then.

Dr. Chase's Ointment brings almost instant relief and is the most certain cure for piles you can possibly obtain. Take this case for instance:—

Mr. J. Mower, Roden, Man., writes:—

"Dr. Chase's Ointment is a wonderful preparation. I had itching piles for five or six years and though I tried two doctors' prescriptions and used many other preparations, could not obtain much benefit. The doctor told me there was no cure for me, and that I would have to undergo an operation. I bought a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment and was completely cured in one week. As this was six months ago and there has been no return of the old trouble, I believe that the cure is a permanent one."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are the best medicine we have ever used for constipation, stomach troubles and kidney disease.

Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto. To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

Suspicion seemed to point toward Jerry Parsons, and under close questioning he confessed. Why he waited two days before telling of the accident he has not explained satisfactorily. TENTH NATIONAL CONVENTION.

Indianapolis, June 29.—The tenth national prohibition convention opened to-day in Tomlinson Hall, with four thousand delegates, alternates and visitors present. The hall was decorated with the national colors, and over the platform hung pictures of Abraham Lincoln, Clinton B. Fisk and Frances Willard.

The convention was called to order by the national chairman, Mr. Oliver W. Stewart, of Chicago.

DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS LOADED.

Quebec, June 29.—A very sad and fatal accident occurred yesterday afternoon about two o'clock at the residence of Mr. T. A. Fortin, on the St. Foye road, a leading dry goods merchant. One of his children, Eudore, a young and promising boy about ten years old, was playing on the grounds of the residence of his parents with other young companions. One of them had in his hands a compressed air gun which he thought empty. As a matter of joke he aimed at young Fortin and fired. A ball which had been placed in the compressed air gun without his knowledge went through the head of the unfortunate boy and he was instantly killed.

Whitby, Ont., June 30.—The Conservative convention for South Ontario here yesterday afternoon nominated Mr. Peter Christie, of Beach township, for the forthcoming general election to the House of Commons. A hundred and seventy delegates were present. The first ballot was withdrawn owing to some informality when Mr. William Smith, ex-M.P., wished his name withdrawn. The second ballot gave Mr. Christie a hundred and thirty votes, with straggling votes for half a dozen others. His nomination was then made unanimous. Mr. Christie not being present, the convention adjourned for a month.

THE PRAIRIE.Harry Badloss, in 'Chambers' out with the mittens, and I leapt out of the opposite person, wondering what lucky means Miss Ormesby was induced to accept them. I looked at them as it was possible to do at the wooden hotel, but from a sense of contrast, failed to see the meal, and then started on a forward drive across the snow-covered prairie. A league had been covered and it was almost dusk when the horses down the slope of a hill, the shape of another sleigh appeared on the opposite grade. My wagon was used no longer. I was in my runners sliding; and, unaided, I made out a girlish figure, appearing powerless to resist the ascent, and presently the girl came down on the bank beside them, a little despairing cry. It was a fast, cruel cry, and she was twenty miles from home. She came up with a shiver when I stood near her with lifted cap. 'Get right into my wagon and wrap yourself up in my robes before you freeze,' I said. Miss Ormesby appeared doubtful, but I added with a faint sigh of physical effort when I placed her among the robes by main force, while after I hooked a lariot to the other vehicle, my stout beasts hauled the worn-out team up the declivity. I sprang out near the summit, for a number of heavy stones lay scattered about.

How did these get here? I asked. My companion hesitated before she answered. 'It was the only way to help the team, and I carried them. But I fear they can't make the journey, and whatever shall I do?' 'Try to keep warm,' I said, severely. 'We'll leave the beasts at Jasper's, and you get them to-morrow. You'll be at supper snug in your house inside two hours from now, unless my team fails me.'

Jasper snorted contemptuously as he saw the horses. 'Guess the old traces won't be worth nothing even to a cannery. They'd have lain down and died before they'd have fetched Ormesby to-night.'

I did not, of course, tell Miss Ormesby that, though I quite agreed, and wrapped her closer in the furs, and pulled my own baggage together for the bitter drive. The freeze was in our faces, and it is such circumstances the prairie-dwellers learn the meaning of utter cold. The girl must have started long before daylight, and it was not strange that presently her head sank until it rested on my shoulder, and she lapsed into what was either sleep or the stupor of exhaustion. I heaped more wrappings about her, and then, though it seemed an unwarrantable liberty, drew the thick mittens over her little, stiffened hands. After this I remember little save the monotony of hissing and hum of polished runners and constant sprinkling of icy dust. A light blinked ahead, and I shook my companion gently as I reined in the team. She looked at me with some confusion when I helped her down, stammered drowsy thanks, and then held out her hands for the smaller packages with an appealing gesture.

It seems most ungrateful, but I fear I cannot ask you to-night, she said. I had hardly bowed in answer when she vanished, leaving me, partly pitiful, partly chagrined, to re-start the team, reaching Brantholm half frozen, I started work to keep awake while in the village as much as it seemed good to me to know.

The effect was startling, for he rose, and with slow solemnity, 'You were a man. I would have given half my possessions to have changed places with you.'

I stared at him blankly, having never expected this.

He might have had my place for much less, and would probably have been as Ormesby freeze while you talk to me. Thank goodness, I'm comfortable in appearance and sentiment, but I don't stand your cheap-witted tip.

For heaven's sake tell me what you have done. What right have you to own lands and cattle while your soul with the patience and face of an angel has not enough to eat? I resembles a somewhat ancient question. At least we worked tolerably well, I answered dryly. There is no one can do but wait and pray for opportunity. You have no reason for supposing the Ormesbys have not a certain young lady's eyes for you. A comparative stranger, I said that kind of person proceeds with his compliments.

I began in a manner which had proved the truth of this, and I left him, feeling slightly better myself as to what would follow. The story of the gloves. I was also mentioned that the tracks of Miss Ormesby's sledge resembled a path in the bluff.

Some weeks had passed, and the wind had thinned the snow. There was still enough for the horse to pick one's way, when I asked Harry and I drove home. The bluff, as we cleared away the dusky shape suggesting a horse, loomed up upon the horizon. Harry jerked his reins, and we were going to see who it is that objects so strongly to taking a favor from me, and I hope to relieve my mind a bit,' said he.

Wondering what he would say when he made the discovery, I kept silence until a smothered exclamation rose to his lips as he checked the team. A pile of heavy logs had fallen from the sledge beside us, and Miss Miriam Ormesby was seated upon one of them with the moccasins protecting one foot unlaced. She turned crimson as she saw us; but the color faded suddenly, leaving her face marble-white again.

'I think it is a broken ankle,' she answered my question with a bent head. 'Some of the logs fell upon me.'

'Not worse than a sprain, I hope, but bad enough either way,' I said, while Colville drew in his breath as he stared first at the fragile, huddled figure, and then at the pile of wood. A hired man would have considered it a fair day's work.

'You must get into our sledge and drive with us to Brantholm before the frost nips the joint,' I said in the most paternal tone I could assume. 'Free those horses, Harry; they'll go home themselves; but first lift Miss Ormesby in, while I hold the injured foot rigid.'

He stooped with infinite compassion in his handsome, snow-bronzed face; and, though the girl seemed to shrink for a moment, she held out her hands to him. Perhaps she was a judge of character; and the master of Brantholm had very honest and kindly eyes. He lifted her into the sledge as carefully as though she were made of glass, and drove furiously until, when the silence grew oppressive, he asked, 'Is the pain very bad?'

'No. You placed me so comfortably,' said our patient, with a half-ashamed, half-grateful glance at him which he did not merit, for I had placed the foot. 'But I do not deserve your kindness after—after taking your wood. Still, the other bluff was too far away, and my father has been ill. I hoped you would not mind very much.'

'You loaded and hauled home fuel all winter from the bluff yourself?' said Colville, aghast, as the full truth dawned upon him; and, when the girl blushed, proceeded to deny himself manfully. 'Anybody can cut timber there; I have absolutely no right to it,' he said. 'But surely, Miss Ormesby, you never did that brutal work entirely by yourself?'

I drove my elbow into his ribs, for Harry was blundering, and the girl smiled wanly as she answered, 'My father was stricken by the cold when chopping two months ago, and there was nobody else.'

I was relieved when we reached Brantholm, and Mrs. Thorkelsen, our Scandinavian housekeeper, stripped off the little moccasins, and finding no sign of broken bones, I fixed the foot in an angular splint. Miss Ormesby, however, refused to wait a moment longer than was necessary; but Harry, who had been mysteriously busy, quietly insisted upon the whole of us accompanying her home. He was seldom much of an orator, and I do not remember what he said, though he used the old man's illness as an argument; but I think few women would have refused to trust him, and our patient yielded with a swift, grateful glance which set his brown hands quivering, though I hardly fancy he saw, or she meant him to see, all that shone for a second in her long-lashed eyes. Nevertheless, being older than either, I was warned.

It was a long journey to Ormesby's sod-house, for the snow had partly gone and the sledge was heavy. Harry had packed it with many incongruous comforts besides provisions. When we reached the house the stove was almost out, and the room I blundered into dark and very cold. A person who lay almost unseen in a corner, breathing unevenly, called out in a strained voice at the sound of our approach, 'Have you come back quite safe, Miriam? I have been growing anxious. It is a very bitter night.'

BIBLE TRUTH.

THURSDAY, JUNE 30.

A LITTLE CHILD SHALL LEAD THEM.

God can accomplish His purposes by very small messengers. (See II. Ki. 19, 2, 8, 10-12; Isa. xi., 6.) The truth of God is to be received with the simplicity and faith of a little child who believes all it is told. A child can ask questions an intelligent man cannot answer. A skeptical man whose mother had taught him Bible truth in his child days had among other children a little son who one night, after being in bed, was crying. When questioned, he replied: 'I don't want the angels to write in God's book all the bad we've done to-day.' The father, using the knowledge taught him in childhood, said: 'You can have it blotted out in a minute.' 'How, father, how?' 'Ask God, for Christ's sake, to blot it out.' The child jumped out of bed and asked his father to help him. The boy, after praying, said: 'Father, are you sure it is all wiped out?' The man answered the best he could, but with a smitten conscience. The child then said: 'What did the angels blot it out with?' Now comes the truth sown by a mother in early years, for the man had not a Bible. He answered: 'With the precious blood of Christ.' This incident brought both parents as guilty sinners to the cross of Christ. The man said to his wife: 'My dear wife, we must first find God, if we want to show Him to our children.' Both parents sought and found Jesus. The grandmother's sowing yielded fruit at last. God will always honor faithful teaching and believing prayer. Work done in faith for God is never lost. If parents are faithful their children are sure to be saved.

Fuel economy is an important feature in a range. Almost as important as good cooking facilities. Every housewife wants to do good cooking but she doesn't want it to cost her too much in fuel. The good cooking qualities of the are enhanced by its great fuel economy. The big scuttle of coal of other style ranges is replaced in Imperial Oxford homes by a smaller scuttle less often used. The fire-box is evenly proportioned to the size of the oven, so there is no more fire needed than the size of range demands—no waste heat. The arrangement of flues and drafts concentrate the heat in the stove—it doesn't lose itself up the chimney.

DAILY TEXT.
June 30.

And above all these things put on charity (love) which is the bond of perfectness.—Col. iii., 14.

'It is a great matter to take a trout early in your trial. It gives one more heart. It seems to keep one about his business. Otherwise you are apt to fall into unproductive reverie.' I know no word more closely applicable to the work of the ministry. If we do not catch men we are in great danger of losing even the desire to catch them. Our purposed activity is in peril of becoming a dream. Let me counsel my fellow-preachers in the lay ministry to make up their minds to catch one soul, to go about it day and night until the soul is won. And when they have gained one man for the Master, have then no fear as to what will be their resultant mood. The joy of catching a soul is unspeakable! When we have got one soul we become possessed by the passion for souls. Get one and you will want a crowd!—Rev. J. H. Jowett.

A moral, sensible, and well-bred man will not affront me, and none other can.—Cowper.

TIP WILLIE.
(An Echo from Gilbert.)
A waiter he stood at my goodly right hand,
Singing 'Willie! tip Willie! tip Willie!'
And I said, 'Honest Richard, now why do you stand
Singing 'Willie! tip Willie! tip Willie!'?
'Is it weakness of intellect, waiter,' I cried,
'Or a clockwork device in your little inside?'
With a shake of his barber-shop curls, he replied.
'Tip Willie! tip Willie! tip Willie!'
My plate he removed, and he held out his hand,
Sighing 'Willie! tip Willie! tip Willie!'
Till I said, 'Simple waiter, I can't understand
All this 'Willie! tip Willie! tip Willie!'!
Your accents denote indigestive remorse—
Do you wish me to pay for my meal by the course?'
But the waiter replied in a monotone hoarse:
'Tip Willie! tip Willie! tip Willie!'
When I paid for my dinner he acted so strange,
With his 'Willie! tip Willie! tip Willie!'!
As I quietly pocketed all of the change.
To his 'Willie! tip Willie! tip Willie!'!
Then a sob, and a sigh, and a gurgle he gave.
And I said to the steward: 'How your waiters behave!'
But the latter just winked as he murmured—the knave!—
'You're silly!—tip Willie! tip Willie!'
—Wallace Irwin, in Chicago 'Journal.'

Clocks of all descriptions carefully repaired. Clocks called for and taken home, by experienced men. R. Hensley, 255 St. James street.

It was an Irish farmer who said to his sweetheart: 'I met you last night, but you didn't turn up. Now, I'll meet you to-morrow whether ye turn up or not. If you're there first stick a stone on the railin', an' if I'm there first I'll knock it off.'

One of the American officers following the movements of the Japanese army in Korea is Colonel McCrowder, who has travelled much in Europe, and tells a good story at his own expense, illustrating the wit of the London station reporter. On one occasion he boarded the Newhaven train at Victoria, and just as it was gliding off he saw the porter trundling his luggage in an opposite direction. 'Hi, porter!' he shouted. 'Why didn't you put my luggage in here as I told you?' 'Your luggage,' said the porter, coolly, 'is better informed than yourself. You're in the wrong train!'
