DOMINION SEEKS FULL CONSTITUTIONAL POWER

World News In Brief

Montreal, Sept. 16.—(CP)—Five judges of the Court of King's Bench yesterday took under deliberation the appeal of Donald Perreault against his conviction for the murder last Sept. 23 of two policemen during a bank holdup in East-end Montreal.

Two others, Douglas Perreault, not related to Donald, and Noel Cloutier have been hanged for the murder of the policemen, Constables Nelson Paquin and Paul-Emile Durand.

Douglas Perreault's appeal was taken on the grounds of law, his counsel, G. P. La-ganier, pleaded that he was a victim of deception and took no part in the holdup or slaying.

The Crown contended he must have known his companions were armed and had conspired to commit a criminal offence.

Canberra, Australia, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Prime Minister Chifley said today the recent Washington dollar talks had not lessened Australia's need for a dollar loan.

He said the talks, among Canada, Britain and the United States "were merely to prevent a greater drain on gold and dollar reserves, although ultimately we hope they will provide some alleviation of the dollar position."

Belfast, Sept. 16.—(Reuters)—The unofficial strike of electricity workers in Northern Ireland began this morning when day-shift employees at Londonderry and Belfast power stations failed to report for work. The men claim an increase of 1½D (2½ cents) an hour to bring their rates of pay into line with those of Britain.

Ottawa, Sept. 16.—(CP)—Premier Leslie Frost of Ontario today said he would "study" federal government suggestions for a Dominion-provincial conference on the constitution and probably would make known his views "some time next week."

The Ontario Premier arrived in the capital for talks with Reconstruction Minister Winters on the province's housing problem.

Side-stepping questions on the constitution and his feelings on the conference, Mr. Frost said that on matters of housing he was getting "excellent co-operation" from the reconstruction minister.

Bonn, Germany, Sept. 16.—(AP)—President Theodor Heuss formally appointed Dr. Konrad Adenauer Chancellor (Prime Minister) of Germany's fledgling republic today.

Adenauer, chairman of the Conservative Christian Democratic Union, won the post by a margin of one vote in an election yesterday in the Bundestag (lower house).

Canada Will Ask For Right To Amend Own Constitution In Purely Federal Matters

Former Red Confesses To Plot Charges

Budapest, Sept. 16.—(AP)—László Rajk, former No. 2 Hungarian communist, pleaded guilty today of plotting to overthrow the Red-dominated Hungarian government.

The 42-year-old former minister of interior and former foreign minister pleaded guilty to all charges in the indictment against him.

These charges included plotting with representatives of Marshal Tito's Yugoslav government to assassinate leading Hungarian officials and to make Hungary "a colony of Yugoslavia."

Rajk was the first of eight defendants to enter a plea. His plea came within 90 minutes of the time the trial opened in the headquarters of the Hungarian metal workers union.

Rajk repeatedly answered "guilty" as the presiding judge of the five-member court read the charges against him.

Before the pleas were entered, all the defendants had stood rigidly for 55 minutes while the court read the long indictment.

Two uniformed soldiers stood between the individual defendants. When the indictment had been read, the seven other defendants were taken from the courtroom and Rajk was marched to the microphone in front of the bench of presiding Judge Peter Janko.

After admitting his guilt, Rajk began—in calm, clear and measured tones—to tell the story of his life.

He admitted the claim in the government's indictment that he had been a police informer since 1931, even while holding important posts in the communist party and the communist-controlled government.

Correspondents observed that Rajk seemed eager to admit all the charges against him and actually appeared anxious to remember every detail connected with the plot of which he was accused.

Rajk marched into the big courtroom in the headquarters of the ironworkers union at the head of the defendants.

Extensive security precautions were taken around the huge modern white stone building which served as a courtroom.

The narrow streets surrounding the building were blocked off. Admittance to the trial was only by tickets issued by the government. The tickets were checked and double-checked by security police before the holders were admitted.

At the conclusion of their meeting last night the foreign-policy chiefs authorized a joint statement. This listed subjects they had discussed and called on Russia to resume, in New York next Thursday, the negotiations with western powers for an Austrian independence treaty.

At the same time, the three declared they had "co-ordinated their plans for the conclusion of a satisfactory treaty at an early date"—which put the Russians on notice afresh that the west does not intend to give them an economic stranglehold on Austria.

Reg.-cing Germany, the big three foreign ministers acclaimed the establishment of a West German state and reported they had "examined some of the problems of working relationships which may be expected to arise from the new arrangements in western Germany."

Earlier in the day Acheson and Schuman had met with American and French economic officials for a discussion of the progress of the European Recovery Program.

Throne Speech Provides for Severing Last Bonds Tying Dominion's Control Over Sovereignty to U.K. Parliament.

By MEL SUFRIN, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Ottawa, Sept. 16.—Canada prepared today to take the last steps along the road to full constitutional autonomy.

Government intention of cutting the last bonds that tie Canada's control over her sovereignty to the United Kingdom Parliament was expressed in the speech from the throne, read by Viscount Alexander, Governor-General, at opening of the 21st Parliament yesterday.

The government will ask Parliament to petition the U. K. Parliament for the right for Canada to amend her own constitution in purely federal matters.

In respect of matters under provincial jurisdiction the government will consult with the ten provinces in hope of arriving at agreement on methods of amending the constitution.

The 1,500-word speech, formal report of government plans for the session, promised a general program of constitutional simplification and said measures to abolish appeals to the Privy Council in London will be placed before Parliament.

It forecast changes in the national housing act, presumably to provide government aid to reduce down payments and encourage individual purchase of homes.

The government announced legislation to open the way for federal aid in construction of a trans-Canada highway, expected to cost about $500,000,000.

The speech said the government aims to arm the services "with the most modern equipment suitable for present requirements."

"The defence needs of Canada as a separate nation and as a signatory to this North Atlantic treaty are being kept constantly under review. Good progress has been made in the co-ordination and unification of our armed forces and conditions of service are being improved."

The speech gave notice that a bill will be introduced to consolidate existing legislation respecting the forces and defence department.

It noted that since Parliament last met the international wheat agreement has come into operation.

"The agreement together with the other arrangements made to dispose of our surplus agricultural products will provide additional economic security for many of our farmers."

On welfare, it said that as a result of legislation passed at the last session, new agreements had been completed with nine of the provinces, and increased pensions had been made available to the aged and blind.

Conclusion of a similar agreement with Newfoundland awaited completion of required provincial legislation there.

On health, the speech said continued co-operation of the provinces in implementing the national health program had resulted in further progress towards the objective of improved health facilities and services for all Canada.

In its brief meeting after formal reading of the throne speech, the Commons considered a number of routine matters.

After selecting Ross Macdonald (L—Brantford City) Speaker at a morning meeting, it went ahead to choose J. A. Dion (L—Lake St. John-Roberval) as deputy Speaker.

Estimates for Canada, along with supplementary ones for Newfoundland, were reintroduced. They failed to pass before dissolution of Parliament last April 30.

Estimates call for the government to spend $2,217,678,181 this year—an increase of $27,114,699 over last year.

The House was adjourned until 3 p.m. today after Prime Minister St. Laurent suggested that procedure follow the plan of devoting Monday, Wednesday and Thursday to Throne Speech debate each week while leaving Tuesday and Friday for government business.

Among the first items of such government business, it was learned, will be abolition of appeals to the Privy Council.

Settlement Unlikely In Steel Issue

Pittsburgh, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The prospects of peace in the United States steel industry, with a strike deadline only nine days away, were getting dimmer and dimmer today.

An exchange of angry telegrams between Philip Murray, president of the C.I.O., and the United Steelworkers, and Benjamin Fairless, head of United States Steel Corporation—big steel—appeared to widen the breach to whatever U.S. Steel may have accepted the finding.

Murray said the company, by failing to accept the recommendation of President Truman's fact-finding board, was forcing the steelworkers toward a walkout. The fact-finders suggested no wage raise but a 10-cent hourly package for company-financed insurance and pensions. The union has accepted the finding.

Fairless said U.S. Steel is ready to meet with the union for negotiations but does not accept the non-contributory plan for insurance and pensions. If there is a strike, Fairless added, the union must take responsibility for it.

At Chicago, Inland Steel Company called on Murray to resume contract talks immediately "without reference to whatever U.S. Steel may or may not do."

At Washington, President Truman indicated he thought it was well understood his fact-finding board's plan for settling the dispute was intended as a guide for bargaining.

The President said he hoped negotiations would progress to a settlement.

Government labor experts privately gave this explanation of the union's industry statement exchange: Fairless wants to resume bargaining without any advance commitment on the board report; Murray wants an advance understanding to work out something along the lines recommended by the board.

Five Men, Including Priest Held After Drug Seizure

Montreal, Sept. 16.—(CP)—Five men are under arrest and $90,000 worth of illegal heroin has been seized as the climax of a month-long, undercover program by the R.C.M.P. to break up a big dope ring here.

Among those arrested are a Roman Catholic priest, Rev. Arthur Taillefer, and a night-club operator, Michael Sisco, 35.

The others: Rosario Delisle, 43, a department store salesman; William Lamy, 32, a painter; Frank Perreault, 21, brother of an executed murderer, Douglas Perreault.

Six months of work by a dozen undercover R.C.M.P. officers posing as dope peddlers, addicts and receivers in Montreal resulted Wednesday in the arrests and the seizure of the heroin cache. The heroin was found in a public locker in Windsor railway station. Shortly afterwards, Father Taillefer and Sisco were arrested quietly at a bank on St. James Street.

The story did not become public until yesterday, when Father Taillefer and Sisco were arraigned in court. The priest—a vicar of the parish of St. Madeleine d'Outremont in greater Montreal's north end—was charged specifically

Few Changes Are Made In Church Laws

By RAE CORRELLI, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Halifax, Sept. 16.—Three hundred Anglicans went home today from the 17th General Synod of the Church of England in Canada, its laws generally unchanged after surviving vigorous criticism during closing stages of the nine-day session.

Several pieces of contentious legislation were introduced and most of it was defeated. However, the Synod reaffirmed its old beliefs, made many recommendations—particularly on the furtherance of its aims—and took a cautious stand on some matters outside the church.

This is what they did in the 90-hour session: 1—Kept the issue of divorce and dissolution out of the church's laws on re-marriage.

2—Approved a minimum salary of $1,600 a year for married clergymen on missionary work; a minimum of $1,800 for married clergymen and a cost-of-living bonus to retired ministers and their widows.

3—Deferred action on a move to select a headquarters for the church and its primates.

4—Named a joint, Upper and Lower House, committee to review the issue of changing the church's name.

5—Protested "the proposal" to name a Canadian ambassador to the Vatican.

Mr. Gregg warned that there might be delays in receipt of the medals after the application was sent in. This, he said, was due to the fact that the medals are being sent out by registered mail. Each package will have to be individually registered and this would impose a very heavy burden on post office facilities. It might be necessary, he explained, to suspend mailings entirely during the period of the peak Christmas rush, even though the post office department is doing everything possible to facilitate distribution.

Application cards should be available at all post offices and Canadian Legion branches during the week of September 26, with the application being necessary to ensure that addresses are accurate.

A sheriff's deputy led police in a swift descent on the top-floor apartment where the squatters had piled iron beds and tables behind a locked doorway.

The families were jailed for contempt of court. They had barricaded themselves in a rest home operated by the London County Council and for three weeks defied efforts to eject them.

When arrested, Perreault was free on bail while charged with complicity in the attempted escape of Douglas Perreault and Noel Cloutier from Montreal jail, where both were waiting execution for the murder last fall during a bank robbery of two Montreal policemen. Cloutier and Douglas Perreault subsequently were hanged. Police said Frank Perreault had eight capsules of heroin in his possession when arrested.

Dominion, Provinces To Get Together

Ottawa, Sept. 16.—Canada's 10 provinces probably will meet with federal authorities late this year or early in 1950 to try and establish agreements on ways of attaining full constitutional autonomy.

Early reports from provincial Premiers indicated the provinces would agree wholeheartedly with a request from Prime Minister St. Laurent that a Dominion-Provincial conference be called to establish within Canada "full and final responsibility for all our national affairs."

Mr. St. Laurent made the suggestion in a letter sent to the Premiers. He tabled a copy of the letter in the Commons yesterday shortly after the government had given notice in the Speech from the Throne that it will ask the United Kingdom Parliament for the right to amend the constitution in relation to purely federal matters.

Although a definite date for convening the conference is not expected to be set for some time, the most probable date is sometime between mid-December and the end of January.

In his letter, Mr. St. Laurent suggested the conference be held after September 15.

UN Assembly Will Discuss China, Tito

Lake Success, N. Y., Sept. 16.——The Chinese and Stalin-Tito situations loomed today as the international problems which might provoke the noisiest and longest debates at the United Nations fourth General Assembly.

There were reports that both questions would be brought before the 50-country meeting opening next Tuesday at Flushing Meadow, N. Y. But no delegation made a formal move to do so.

Both the problems could be brought up during debates on some of the 72 topics on the work sheet, among which there were no new major issues.

Observers saw these possibilities on the China front: 1. The Chinese nationalists might charge Russia with interfering in the internal affairs of China by aiding the Chinese communists.

2. The Chinese communists might seek representation at the United Nations.

U. N. officials said the question of Chinese representation would have to be faced some time. But they expressed hope the question could be postponed until east-west tensions ease.

The rift between Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia and the communist, was viewed as a part of the tender Balkan situation. The assembly would not be surprised if these events were brought to its attention; Massing of Russian troops on Yugoslavia's border and Greece's implied threat to invade Albania if Greek communists attacks are renewed.

These were the problems which officials feared might throw a monkey wrench into the assembly machinery which was scheduled to run for 10 or 11 weeks.

The Italian colonies question was at the top of the list of subjects about which optimism was expressed. Britain, France and the United States were reported agreed on early independence for all of Libya; Italian trusteeship for Italian Somaliland; and division of Eritrea between Ethiopia and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan. This was a revision of the scheme for splitting Mussolini's pre-war empire which failed to get the necessary support at the last Assembly.

China Capital Change Favored

By SPENCER MOOSA

Canton, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Kunming may become the Nationalist China capital instead of Chungking, informed sources said today. Chungking for months had been considered the choice when and if Canton falls to the Reds.

Kunming, capital of Yunnan province, has its advantages. It is located near the borders of two foreign countries—Burma and Indo-China.

Szechwan province warlords do not want the Nationalist capital moved to Chungking. That, they think, would be inviting the Reds to attack their domain.

Chungking, far inland on the Yangtze, would be hard to supply.

Despite Grumbles, British Approve Of Health Scheme

(Editor's note: This article concludes a series on Britain's national health service. It discusses the general aspects of the scheme.)

By ALAN HARVEY, Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, Sept. 16.—(CP)—Britain's "free" health service is like a nasty medicine—people grumble about it, but most of them feel it's for their own good.

In other words, though national health gets more kicks than kisses, only a minority would vote to scrap it.

The general conception of a state service is approved by all of Britain's major political parties. The Labor government introduced it—too quickly, some say—July 5, but Conservatives and Liberals claim credit for putting it on paper.

Now, out-of-power parties complain largely about abuses in administration. Tall tales are told of doctors summoned from surgeries to treat burn cases, ambulances called to deal with harmless limbs, and whole families cluttering up consulting rooms.

Supporters of state medicine argue that these are just growing pains. They say that while the service isn't perfect yet, it's the biggest boon ordinary people ever had.

"Clubbing together" to meet health costs is regarded by some independent moderns as inevitable because modern medicine is becoming more complicated and more expensive. Cortisone, a new remedy for rheumatoid arthritis, costs £50 ($200) an injection here. Removal of the economic factor from serious illness is considered to have brought psychological as well as financial benefits.

Yet many professional men oppose the service. Their attitudes range from contempt to mild indifference. Some sum up their views in the sentence: "You can't legislate for human suffering."

Perhaps the most general complaint is that the old doctor-patient relationship has been destroyed.

Let's take a quick look at what the service tries to do, and how it's paid for.

First of all, medical treatment is free in the sense that nobody has to meet doctors' or hospital bills. The state, instead of the individual, pays for everything from advice on infant feeding to specialist service for spinal disorders. But the state, of course, gets its money from the taxpayer.

Previously most workers obtained a measure of free treatment from panel doctors under insurance schemes, but their wives or children were not covered.

Now everyone is entitled to a range of services including mental care, blood transfusions, artificial limbs, iron lungs, massage, midwifery service, convalescent treatment,

SCOTSTOWN

Mr. Robert Smith has returned from spending a two weeks' vacation at "Cedar Lodge" camp, Lake Memphremagog.

Miss Mae Doherty, who was a visitor of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Doherty, has returned to her teaching duties in Ste. Agathe.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cohoon and daughters, Charlotte and Linda, and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Clement, of Sherbrooke, were holiday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Alex M. MacDonald and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Parsons.

Miss Lauren Doherty has accepted a position in the Sweetsburg Hospital.

Mr. William Taylor and his grandson, Mr. Alan Woodside, have returned from spending a vacation with the former's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Taylor, in Mattawa, Ont. They were accompanied to Montreal by Mr. W. R. Taylor and daughters, the Misses Dorothy and Eleanor Taylor, where they joined Mrs. William Taylor, Mrs. W. R. Taylor spent the holiday week-end with Mr. Woodside's mother, Mrs. Charles Woodside, at the Lincoln Manor Apartments.

The local High School re-opened on Tuesday, September 6, with the following members of the teaching staff: Mr. Gordon Buchanan, B. A., of Sherbrooke, principal; Miss Dorothy Cullen, B. A., of Ormstown; Mrs. Harvey MacRae, of Scotstown; Miss Frances Smith, B. A., of Sherbrooke; Mrs. Milton Goodwin, of Canterbury; and Miss Janet Rose, of Waterville.

Miss Madeline Henderson has entered the Jeffrey Hale Hospital, in Quebec, to take a nurse's training course. She was accompanied to Quebec by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Colin Henderson.

Mrs. T. D. Blane and sons, Donald and Bobby, the former's mother-in-law, Mrs. Robert Blane, and Miss Josephine MacLean, have returned to their homes in Sydney, and worried rumors started that the star, who expects a baby Oct. 15, was ill. Finally a friend broke through the iron curtain and learned, from a breathless Dottie, that she had been "tied up canning peaches."

No truth to the rumor that June Haver and Bill Spivey are expecting a baby... M-G-M is talking to Rita Hayworth about playing Nero's wife in "Quo Vadis" next year... There's a deal pending for Bob Hope and Doris Day to make records together at Capitol of the duets they sing on their airshow.

Roberto Rossellini is still insisting he'll marry Ingrid Bergman. Ingrid isn't saying anything. I'm still insisting they'll never wed.

Mickey Rooney has taken an option on a story with a tunnel drilling background... Cecil B. DeMille is thinking of doing the Lewis and Clark expedition as a forthcoming big epic... Jack Wrather is talking to Donald Crisp about the role of Cardinal Mindszenty.

Chance Of A Lifetime
Joe Cotton, in Italy for "September scenes, writes that a sidewalk merchant in Rome tried to sell him a plaster arm, claiming it was from the Venus statue. "No one," added Joe, "has showed up yet with the Brooklyn bridge."

When Bob Hope's oil gusher came in, Fred Astaire admitted he was a big oil plunger, too. "They just sunk my sixth well with my usual good luck," he noted.

John Brown, the veteran radio actor, predicts that television will employ at least 10,000 more actors than radio. No longer will radio actors be able to play three or four roles on the same TV show, as they do now on radio. On one recent radio program, Brown played a murderer, the murdered man, the arresting cop and the stenciling judge. He'll never get away with it on video.

Vincent Price will play the role of a miserly radio sponsor who dies whenever a contestant gets past the 81 question in "Clompagne for Caesar." Ronald Colman plays the man who runs the quiz program up to $23,000.00.

Noro Morales, the band leader, and his vocal wife, Nita del Campo, were finding it difficult to rent a home in Hollywood through real estate agent Max Reibstein. Finally Nore asked the agent: "When do you think the housing shortage in Hollywood will end?"

Reibstein replied: "When all the married couples in Hollywood start living together."

Collaboration Paying Off
Louis Randall Fenton, who wrote "Roughly Speaking" as a first book, and James Schermerhorn, Jr., Detroit and Los Angeles newspaperman, have collaborated on a police-bookie Greenwich Village story with the intriguing title of "God Doesn't Pay Saturdays." There's plenty of studio interest.

How respectable can a movie heroine get? In "Woman of Distinction," Rox Russell plays the dean of a college for women, who has an adopted child, Mary Jane Saunders. During unrelenting of the farcical plot, both Ray Milland and Francis Lederer strenuously claim to be the kid's father. Says Rox: "I know it's respectable for a child to have one father, but is it even more moral for a youngster to have two dads?"

Milton Hill says he went to one of those theaters that show foreign films and wasn't at all surprised to find a French chef preparing the popcorn.
NBC's $20,000 giveaway show, "Hollywood Calling," recently gave away its emcee, George Murphy, after eight weeks. He'll be replaced by a new boy... Warner Brothers will re-do "The Jazz Singer," the first sound film ever made. Johnson starred in 1927. This time it looks like Gordon MacRae.

SUTTON

H. J. McConnell, Optometrist, of Sherbrooke, will be in his office at the Mountain View Hotel, Sutton, on Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 21st next, for examination of eyes and fitting of glasses.

Raymond Van, and family, in Arvida. He was accompanied home by his son, Mr. Raymond Van and sons, Alan and George, who remained as week-end guests of their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Van.

Mr. John MacIver, of Sherbrooke, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Angus MacIver, Ditton Street.

Mrs. J. B. Scott entertained informally at a series of teas, at her home on Main Street, in honor of her sister, Miss Freda Start, of Colchester, England, and thus affording Miss Start, a former local resident, an opportunity of renewing former friendships. Mrs. Scott was assisted in her hospitable duties. Vari-colored gladioli provided an effective decoration.

During her stay in town, Miss Janet Rose, of Waterville, is in residence with Mr. and Mrs. Scott Parsons.

Mr. Ollie Olson, of Bury, and her daughter, Mrs. Jack MacLellan, of East Angus, were guests of their sister and aunt, Mrs. Albert MacLeod, and Mr. MacLeod.

Miss Ruth Whittingham, of Sherbrooke, was a week-end visitor of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Whittingham.

Mrs. A. S. MacDonald, R. N., of Springfield, Mass., is spending a holiday with her sister and brother, Mrs. A. J. MacDonald and Mr. John Smith, in Gould Station, was calling on friends in town. En route to Gould Station, Mrs. MacDonald was a guest of her sister and niece, Mrs. Neil Buchanan and Miss Margaret Buchanan, and other relatives, in Drummondville.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Taylor and children, Miss Carol Taylor, and Master Jimmie Taylor, of Drummondville, who were week-end guests of Mrs. Taylor's aunt, Mrs. A. J. MacLeod, in Gould Station, were callers of friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Forrester, of Fergus, Ont., were guests of Mr. Maurice Quint, at the home of his mother, Mrs. E. F. Quint.

Friends regret the continued illness of Mrs. A. D. Nicholson, at her home here.

Those who attended the McKeown-MacDonald wedding, which took place in Westmount, on September 6, were Mr. R. A. Scott, Mrs. Thomas G. Stokes, Mr. and Mrs. David Waters, Mrs. Richard Cook and Mr. F. C. Goodwin.

Miss Dorothy Wotta and Mr. E. Evans, who were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Murdoch MacAulay, have returned to Montreal. They were accompanied by Miss Annie MacAulay, who had spent a holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. MacAulay.

Miss Rachel MacAulay, of Springfield, Mass., is spending a vacation with Miss Margaret E. Smith.

Mr. Richard Cook, of Lennoxville, who has been relieving in the Canadian Bank of Commerce, in Beebe, spent the week-end with his family, at the home of Mrs. Cook's mother, Mrs. C. M. Smith. On his return, he was accompanied to Lennoxville by Mrs. Cook and son, Brian.

Mr. and Mrs. O. St. Laurent, accompanied by the latter's sister, Miss Annie MacAulay, of Montreal, were guests of their cousin, Mrs. E. Evans, their aunt, Miss Christie MacAulay, and their uncle, Mr. John MacAulay, in Port Dover, Ont., all former local residents.

Miss Mary Whittingham is spending a holiday with her brother and sister-in-law, Mrs. M. A. Whittingham, in Sherbrooke.

Friends regret to learn that Rev. C. J. Gustafson, of Beebe, a former pastor of St. Andrew's United Church, has met with a serious accident, falling from the roof of their cottage, resulting in a fractured ribs, as well as being badly bruised.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Grigby and daughter, Eleanor, of Ormstown, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. David Waters. On their return home they were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Waters.

Miss Emma Kinsey, who was a guest of her brother, Mr. George Kinsey, and of her niece, Mrs. Colin Henderson, and Mr. Henderson, has returned to her home in Ridgeway, Ont. En route, accompanied by Mr. Kinsey, she visited the latter's sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kinsey, in Farnham, and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Kinsey, in Newport, Vt.

GLEN LLOYD

Mr. and Mrs. Roland White were very pleasantly surprised on Saturday evening, August 27, when their daughter, Verna, invited them to go for a drive to Plessisville, to a circus, but instead took them into Campbell's Corner Hall, where upwards of 100 of their friends were assembled to wish them well on their thirtieth wedding anniversary. Although Mr. and Mrs. White were taken completely by surprise, they took it very well and enjoyed the evening, which was spent in dancing with music and wishing the bride and groom of thirty years many more years of happiness together. The brides cake was three tiered and decorated in white, pink and blue, and was made and decorated by Verna and Mildred White, and was served by Verna and Mildred, of Alger, Jean and Winnifred, who were all responsible for the very pleasant evening, which was enjoyed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. V. V. Ordway and Mrs. G. Crosby, of Newtonville, Mass., were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Roland White and family and other friends, in Glen Lloyd.

Reception Tendered Gilles Desroches On Eve Of Departure For New Post

A farewell reception was held last night at the Elks Club for Gilles Desroches, news editor of La Tribune who is leaving Sherbrooke this week-end to assume a new appointment on a Montreal newspaper.

The informal reception was attended by scores of Mr. Desroches' friends, among them representatives of the federal, provincial and municipal administrations, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, sports organizations, the press and the radio.

Gaston Gagnon was master of ceremonies and introduced the speakers and presided at the presentation of gifts of luggage and a purse to Mr. Desroches. Those who wished Mr. Desroches success in his new appointment were:

Alderman Henri Labonne, representing Mayor Alphonse Trudeau; Alderman Armand Fiset, leader of the council, representing Hon. J. S. Bourque; Louis Philippe Brousseau, representing Maurice

Local Kiwanians Will Attend Halifax Meet

President Newman Hunter, Fred Clark and Freeman Gill will represent the Kiwanis Club of Sherbrooke Inc. at the 1949 convention of the Ontario-Quebec-Maritime Kiwanis District to be held Sept. 18 to 21, at Halifax.

J. Hugh Jackson, president of Kiwanis International and dean of the graduate school of business at Stanford University, Stanford, Cal., will deliver the principal address during the four day meeting.

In his first tour of Eastern clubs since his election at Atlantic City last June, President Jackson is expected to direct his attention to national and international affairs and their relationship to the local Kiwanis Club. President Hunter said that he had been informed that the prominent California educator will also make a strong appeal for world peace, urging Kiwanis Clubs to guard against subversive activities.

President Jackson has been active in Kiwanis administration since 1927 and is a recognized authority on accounting and business procedure. He is a former president of the American Accounting Association, the National Association of Cost Accountants, and the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business. Author of several books, he is a frequent contributor to business publications.

More than 100 clubs, embracing a membership of 7,500 business and professional leaders, are expected to attend the various sessions. The presiding officer will be C. Douglas Taylor, M.B.E., Montreal, governor of the Ontario-Quebec-Maritime district.

George H. Ross, Toronto broker, and Fred G. McAllister, London, Ontario, barrister, both past presidents of Kiwanis International, and John R. Linklater, Noranda, insurance executive and trustee of the community service organization, will also participate in the program.

Quiet Of Country Farm Proves Ideal Setting For Industrial Designer

By MARGARET DOHERTY

Much has been said about the beauty of the Eastern Townships, but one particular spot appealed so much to an army man who glimpsed it during the last war that he decided to settle there.

The man is Fred William Bonar-Hall, industrial designer, and the place is Massawippi.

A native of Edinburgh, Mr. Bonar-Hall enlisted as a private with the Scots Guards in the first war and was commissioned in the field, receiving his discharge with the rank of Captain. He did likewise in the last war and worked up to the same commission. The only difference is that he chose the Royal Rifles the second time.

Following the cessation of hostilities in 1918 he spent three years in Paris, studying art and living at Place Pigalle, that famous French quarter immortalized in song by Chevalier and so many of his compatriots.

Romance entered his life in the person of Winifred Edmonstone of Shetland, niece of Sir Basil Niven-Spence, only member of Churchill's government to be knighted. He and Miss Edmonstone were married, came to Canada in 1924, and went into what promises to be a flourishing business—importing Shetland wool.

With the tragic events of 1939 and succeeding years, however, the wool business suffered a decided but not unexpected slump, so Mr. Hall turned to his drawing as a means of livelihood.

He has done industrial designing for several large firms, among them Orient Hosiery, Dominion Glove, Canard Lines, C.I.L., and lately Paton Manufacturing Company and the Del Monty Hotel in Rock Island. While in Montreal where he lived prior to coming to Massawippi, he also did life size murals for Robert Simpson's toy department. In Paris his work was mostly concerned with textiles.

A trip to North Hatley on army manoeuvres during World War II gave him such a favorable impression of this region that he determined to settle down here some day, and he has. He now owns a farm in Massawippi which he calls "All 'cept Me".

"This is really living," he told us when we visited him recently. "My wife, (who by the way is very clever at pastels) and I find that at last we have time to do so many things we have always yearned for and yet never could manage in a city."

At this point a childish treble from the other room piped up "Can't we see the people?" and two charming little girls, adopted children of the Bonar-Halls,

Veteran, C. J.-M. Employees Are Honored

Asbestos, Sept. 16.—Thirty veteran employees of Canadian Johns-Manville Company, Limited, were guests of honor at a complimentary dinner tendered here Wednesday night by the Company to mark their admission to membership in the J. M. Quarter Century Club. Each man was presented with a suitably engraved watch.

R. W. Lea, of New York, President of Johns-Manville Corporation, made the presentation. A. R. Fisher, Vice-President for Production, of Johns-Manville Corporation, New York, was also in attendance.

Mr. Lea paid tribute to the long service and loyalty of the employees who were being honored. It was only through such loyalty that strong and active associations, such as Johns-Manville, were built up to assume leadership in the industrial world. Johns-Manville, he said, could now boast 181 active and retired members of its Quarter Century Club at Asbestos, Quebec—representing well over 5,300 years of service.

Those who were inducted into Quarter Century Club membership on this occasion were: Ovide Belisle, Mrs. Lea Bergeron, Doris N. Bisson, Thomas Ross, James F. Bradford, Joseph Cowan, John L. Cowdrey, Robert A. Denovan, Ernest Dionne, Simeon Goudreau, Armand Jutra, Joseph O. Lambert, Edgar Lessard, George Mayrand, Albert Mercier, Emile Mercier, J. A. Leo Morin, John D. McKenna, Charles P. McKenna, Leonard Nicholls, Arthur Piche, Napoleon Poirier, Willey Pruneau, J. Etienne Raymond, Adelaud Rondeau, Sylvio St. Louis, Albert D. Tector, Sylvio Tellier, Arthur Turcotte, Barthuis Vachon.

E. T. Forestry Association Will Hold 7th Annual Convention Here Tomorrow

Several industrialists and mayors of various municipalities in this district, as well as other persons interested in forest conservation, are expected to attend the 7th annual convention of Eastern Townships Forestry Association to be held at the New Sherbrooke Hotel all day tomorrow. The motto of the congress is: "Beware of the enemies of the forest fire, insects and disease."

Among the speakers will be the Honorable J. S. Bourque, Minister of Lands and Forests, Mr. Rene Pinard, representing His Excellency Bishop P. S. Desranleau, Maurice Gingues, M.P., Mayor Alphonse Trudeau and Ernest Dupuis, president of the convention.

The program follows: 9 a.m. Inscription at the New Sherbrooke Hotel; 9:30: Welcome from Mayor

Two Injured When Cars Collide Here

Two persons were injured when a car in which they were riding collided with another auto at the intersection of Council street and 7th avenue yesterday afternoon.

Slightly injured were Edouard Bibeau, 75, and Mrs. Bibeau, 71, of East Angus. They were riding in a car driven by Elric Bibeau, 44, of New York.

A car driven by Maurice Proteau, 28, of Sherbrooke, collided with the car driven by Elric Bibeau. Both cars were slightly damaged.

Mr. and Mrs. Bibeau are patients in St. Vincent de Paul Hospital this morning but their condition is reported as good.

Municipal Police Constable Willie Emond investigated the accident.

Organization Of Air Force Group Now Underway

Provisional plans for the formation of a Sherbrooke Wing of the Royal Canadian Air Force Association were laid at a meeting of 16 local ex-R.C.A.F. members at the Sherbrooke Regiment officers' mess Wednesday night.

The group present decided to elect a temporary executive to arrange for a larger meeting slated for the middle of October. Eleven of those present were already members of the R.C.A.F.A. and the remaining five joined on the spot.

Unanimously named to the temporary executive were: Eric Webster, chairman; Bert Keeler, chairman of the dinner committee; Sid Hart, chairman of the nominating committee; Andre Duchesnay, chairman of the publicity committee; and R. Bergeron, chairman of the recruiting committee.

Under the provisional presidency of Air Chief Marshal L. S. Broadner, (retired), the R.C.A.F.A. with headquarters at Ottawa, is sponsoring the formation of provincial groups and local wings.

Now engaged in a recruiting campaign, the R.C.A.F.A. seeks to unite in the new organization as many of the 260,000 men and women who formed the wartime R.C.A.F. as possible.

Organizational work for Wednesday's meeting was carried out by E. McKee, D. Stevenson, and Andre Duchesnay. Mr. Stevenson chaired the meeting.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

NEW BRICK TAMES INTENSE HEAT!

Johns-Manville Research Laboratories have done it again! This latest and best equipped insulation laboratory in the world has recently developed JM-3000—the only insulating fire brick made to withstand continuously the intense heat of a full 3000 degrees F.

Back of this latest achievement is Johns-Manville's 50 years of leadership in the development and manufacture of insulations. Today, industry relies on J-M Insulations to solve every heat problem ranging from 400 degrees below zero to 3000 above. In every type of industrial service these J-M Insulations speed up manufacturing and save thousands in fuel costs every year.

If you have an insulation problem, contact Johns-Manville Sun Life Bldg., Montreal—or see your J-M distributor.

Mrs. Olivier Named Head Of Society

Mrs. Jacques Olivier was elected president of the Sherbrooke Ballet and Dramatic Art Society, at a meeting held Wednesday evening in the headquarters of the ballet school at Le Parthenon.

Other officers appointed were Miss Laurette Comtois, secretary, the Misses Madeleine Courchesne and Manon Morissette, second year pupils, joint treasurers. The Misses Yolande Champoux, Jeanne Desroches and Margaret Doherty were named in charge of publicity.

The list of directors is not complete as yet, but it bears the names of Alphonse Saunier, Mrs. Paul Cambron, Miss Yolande Boutin and Miss Jacqueline Cote.

Inscriptions will be accepted on Monday and Tuesday, September 19 and 20, from 7:30 to 9 o'clock at the school. At this time some of the directors of the newly formed Society will be present and will be pleased to answer any questions pertaining to the courses, which will in all probability commence on September 27.

Accidental Death Verdict Is Returned

A coroner's jury recommended that action be taken against the driver but returned a verdict of accidental death in connection with the death of 22-year-old Raoul Gagnon, of Compton, who will killed when a car in which he was a passenger overturned on the highway early Sunday morning near Compton.

Driver of the car, Adrien Gagnon, 24, the victim's brother, was uninjured while another brother, Robert, 25, who was also a passenger in the car suffered a fractured arm.

The driver of the car, Adrien Gagnon, did not have a driver's licence and had been drinking, witnesses at the inquest said.

The three brothers were on their way home and were travelling down a steep, narrow and rough hill about one mile from Compton when the accident occurred. The driver lost control of the vehicle and the car overturned.

Dr. Louis Gagnon, coroner for the District of St. Francis, presided at the inquest.

Paper Industry Safety Congress In Session Here

Seven accident prevention topics were under discussion this morning as the 1949 meeting of the Quebec Pulp and Paper Safety Association and the Quebec Lumbermen's Accident Prevention Association got under way. The meeting is being held in the New Sherbrooke Hotel.

Under the chairmanship of William Clifford, of the Brompton Pulp and Paper Company, of East Angus, members of the groups heard lectures on accident control in paper manufacture and its allied industries.

Among the topics discussed were "Accident Experience in the Pulp and Paper Mills," "Value of a Job Safety Training Course vs. Safety in Foremanship," and "Accident Experience in Mechanical Logging vs. Standard Logging."

The lectures were delivered by members of the associations vested in the practical side of accident prevention in their respective industries.

Annual business meeting and luncheon for the delegates is scheduled for this afternoon following conclusion of the discussion.

BACKING TITO'S HAND

The twenty million dollar loan made by the United States to Yugoslavia is the most positive stroke that country has yet made to bolster Marshal Tito in his unequal struggle with Soviet Russia. The loan is admittedly designed to stiffen Tito's resistance to mounting Russian pressure, but it has its horse-trading features, too.

The credits are being extended to Tito to permit purchase of materials and equipment needed to restore Yugoslavia's deteriorated, war-damaged mining industry. In return, the United States will presumably be able to buy bauxite, the raw material for aluminum, mercury, copper, lead and zinc, all items high on the list of critical materials being stockpiled in the latter country.

This seems to answer with a big strong "yes" the question whether North America can "do business" with Tito. Particularly as it comes on top of a recent authorization that will allow Yugoslavia to purchase a $3,000,000 steel mill in the United States.

But it is the diplomatic aspect of the loan that commands greatest interest. Marshal Tito is being toughened up at the very moment when Russia and her loyal European satellites are tightening the economic vise on the errant Yugoslavs—trying to crush the life out of their industry and their commerce.

No one can say, of course, whether assistance of this limited nature will enable Tito to resist the squeeze successfully. If it becomes apparent that it will not, the question will arise as to what to do next. Would more and bigger loans to Yugoslavia be justified or should the Western Powers establish closer political ties?

The answers touch deep issues. Tito is, after all, devoted unashamedly to the same totalitarian principles of government that we consider so harmful as practised by the Soviet Union. It would be hard to justify drawing Tito into the West's political orbit when the Western Powers refuse to have anything to do with Franco Spain, a totalitarian regime which at least is opposed ideologically to communism. Particularly when there is probably more strategic value—from the military standpoint—in a link with Spain.

There seems to be little hope of fumigating either Franco or Tito to make them fit company for the democracies. But if we can believe certain careful United States Congressmen who toured Europe in 1947, Tito is the greater devil. For these observers said that his and other Communist regimes were definitely more repressive than the type found in Spain and Portugal.

Most likely the American people would not stomach any close relationship with Tito unless they found themselves on the edge of war with Russia and could see the Yugoslav dictator as a stubborn roadblock in the path of a Soviet sweep across Europe.

If that time ever came, Americans might decide Winston Churchill was right. Churchill said during World War II that he would "pact with the devil himself" to save his country. It may not be a very idealistic notion, but it is very practical.

UNDUE FREEDOM FOR FASCISTS

The decision of a London magistrate imposing fines on several people in the East-end of London who attacked a procession of Sir Oswald Mosely's Fascists was undoubtedly based on the traditional British right of free speech and the right to hold parades. It is also in keeping with the famous declaration of Voltaire: "I disagree violently with what you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it."

Freedom of speech is one of the cardinal principles laid down in the Atlantic Charter, and is one of the things the Second World War was fought for. But having regard to the consequences of Fascism prior to 1939, of which Nazism was another branch, and Communism is another, we are of opinion that the people in the East-end of London, who suffered so terribly from bombing, are entitled to break up Fascist parades because physical violence is one of the basic features of that and its fellow-movements.

Anybody can get up on a soap-box in London's Hyde Park and advocate anything he likes—even the abolition of monarchy—so long as he does not contravene the blasphemy laws or advocate physical violence, and a policeman will stand by to see that they are not prevented from doing so.

But violent action, culminating perhaps in war, is a component part of Fascism, and it should be nipped in the bud before it develops into a dangerous movement. That is what the London East-enders felt, and that is what the people feel who riot at Paul Robeson's demonstrations in the United States.

British law, and any other law, should be amended so as to crush subversive groups before real trouble starts.

HOUSING CHALLENGE

Vancouver Sun

Private enterprise has the power to solve Canada's housing problem in a year if it imitates the enterprise of an Ottawa baking firm.

Employees of the Morrison Lamothe Bakery Ltd. are building houses for themselves with low down payments and monthly payments that seldom exceed what they would pay in rent. They're able to do it because the company loans its services and facilities in supervising the building, placing sub-contracts, eliminating the need of a general contractor, and giving employees substantial savings through the mass purchase of materials.

There are apparently no strings attached to the houses, which are owned from the beginning by individual employees, who continue to own them and pay for them even if they leave the company. In a newspaper ad, the bakery reveals the philosophy behind the plan. "Men need houses that can afford and terms they can meet. And, if business exists for anything at all, it is to meet the needs of men." Building may not be a baker's business, but it is "certainly our responsibility to end the worry of workers who can't find a decent place to rent or afford to build an adequate home."

Building isn't government's business either. But if somebody closer to the need does not take responsibility, government will have to. And the result may be a large state housing monopoly and the disintegration that results from an occupant's disinterest in a home he doesn't own.

No less an authority than H. A. Young, vice-president of Central Housing and Mortgage Company, says that the Dominion's housing problem "could be solved in a year if private enterprise across the country introduced similar housing schemes."

We'd like to see more companies try the Morrison Lamothe plan.

"THE FUNNIEST LANGUAGE"

Kingston Whig-Standard

The difficulties encountered by most persons of foreign birth when attempting to learn the English language are traditional, and have provided a subject for many amusing stories. Present-day Germans, it seems, are finding the task just as difficult as the people of any tongue or age, and an amusing instance printed some time ago in The English Magazine, published in Western Berlin and edited by one Erika Kloppe. The verses follow:

We'll begin with a box and the plural is boxes, But the plural of ox is oxen, not oxes. Then one fowl is a goose, but two are called geese.

Yet the plural of mouse should never be meese. You may find a lone mouse or a whole set of mice.

Yet the plural of house is houses, not hiee. The plural of man is always called men. Why should't the plural of pan be called pen? If I speak of a foot and you show me your feet, And I gave you a boot, would a pair be called beet?

If one is a tooth and a whole set are teeth, Why should not the plural of tooth be teeth? Then one may be that and three would be those, Yet hat in the plural wouldn't be hose.

We speak of a brother and also of brethren, But though we say mother, we never say methren. Then the masculine pronouns are he, his and him, But imagine the feminine she, she, and him!

So English, I fancy, you all will agree, Is the funniest language you ever did see.

RUTHLESS AND SENSELESS RAMPAGE

New York Herald Tribune

The horrifying mass murders in East Camden would seem an incredible fantasy if it were not for the thirteen men, women and children who today lie dead in homes and mortuaries. Madmen we have had before, driven to murder by real or fancied grievances, but never has there been such a ruthless and senseless rampage as that of Howard Unruh, who simply went down his home block killing everybody he met. There seems to have been both method and madness in Unruh's troubled mind, for the calm deliberation with which he exacted life after life contrasted sharply with the haphazard way he selected his victims, ranging from a druggist with whom he had quarrelled to a little boy sitting on a hobby horse in a barber shop. This was no wild-eyed demon running amok through the streets; levelling its target on one helpless victim after another with deadly accuracy.

What disorder of the mind is it that drives a man to perpetrate a horror such as this? Already the professional experts are talking about schizophrenia and the amateur experts about the war. One can choose one's explanation from among the accusations that strewed Unruh's room and the failures that strewed his life—the arsenal of firearms, the Bible opened to the page of St. Matthew about wars and rumors of wars, the aimless drifting in and out of school, the failure to settle down to any kind of work. Any explanation probably is as good as the next one, and none is satisfactory. Unruh surrendered quietly enough once the police had him surrounded; he was rational enough to talk to a reporter on the telephone while he was being besieged, and today he has neither remorse nor regrets to offer. The mind that slips its moorings into blackness denies our logic and frustrates our understanding today almost as completely as the days when an evil spirit descended upon Saul, and the thirteen dead in Camden bear grim testimony to the fact that we have not yet finished paying the price of our ignorance.

WORLD DAY FOR ANIMALS

The Editor.

Dear Sir:—Every year a large number of ministers, churches and religious institutions in many lands observe the World Day for Animals, October 4, dedicated to St. Francis of Assisi—inaugurated in England in 1928, by the World League for the Protection of Animals.

This much-needed observance is fundamentally Christian, as it is the means of inculcating love for all creatures in the hearts of mankind, thereby permanently eliminating all kinds of cruelty and exploitation—domestic, legal, and commercial. The vast majority of people do not realize the extent of the cruelty being perpetrated in their midst and its serious human demoralization which constitutes a false peace and also a definite spiritual challenge to all churches and Christians who profess "to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with God." As long as we condemn and support that which is degrading or cruel we unmistakably deny the Christian Principles for which our gallant service women and men died.

So, as no one is exempt from the moral responsibility of being her or his brother's keeper in connection with cruelty, all Sunday School Superintendents, and especially the ministers, are asked earnestly to observe this vital institution in an appropriate manner in one of their services on October 2 or 9. Needless to say, they will be instilling sympathetic understanding for all creatures exploited in any way by mankind, and stressing our responsibility in answering the unavoidable question: "Am I my brother's keeper?" by the lives we live!

Yours truly,

E. CLIFFORD PRATT.

A—The drawing shows a Union soldier as he was in his youth and as he is in old age—a touching dramatization of a patriot's life and service. No specific individual posed for either conception. Both are idealistic. The symbol of the hour glass indicates the passage of time from 1861 to 1949.

McKENNY ON BRIDGE

WEIRD BID RESULTS IN A CRAZIER CONTRACT

I heard a discussion the other night between Herman Goldberg of New York City and his partner, Goldberg said, "My partner has the greatest memory in the world. The mistakes he made 20 years ago he still makes today. Do I discuss hands with him? Never! He will not listen or try to understand because with that great memory of his, he would bid or play a hand the way he did five years ago. But I like the fellow, so I play bridge with him."

Now I am going to let Goldberg describe today's hand, which he played with his friend. "Don't ask me why he bid a club instead of a spade. We were 60 on the score, so I simply bid two clubs. East's bid of two hearts was a defensive bid. I thought I would bid two no trump. If my partner did not like it he could bid three clubs, but lo and behold, I forgot that one of the things he has not done for 10 years is to look at the score. So small spade was led and the ten-spot finessed. This gave him three spades, two hearts and four clubs. West returned a heart, which Goldberg won with the ace. A small spade was led and the ten-spot finessed. This gave him three spades, two hearts and four clubs.

"When I made my contract doubled," Goldberg said, "I looked at my partner to see if he was smiling. He was glaring at me and said, 'Hey, you blew a trick on that hand.' That's why I like the guy."

Walter Legge.

An appreciation by Rev. B. S. Murray, M.A.

Granby, West Shefford, and the surrounding districts in this section of the Eastern Townships, could ill afford to lose the leadership, wisdom and sterling qualities bound up in the life and work of Walter Legge, the late Editor of the Granby Leader-Mail.

A man of sound principles, he stood four-square, unabashed. Whatever he did, he did thoroughly. Whatever he said or wrote, he meant. Simplicity, sincerity—these were keystones in the arch of life he built throughout the years.

From his knowledge and love of music (which he inherited from his honored and talented father, the late George Legge) Walter Legge caught the motif of harmony which he wrought into the fabric of all his relationships—social, political, religious. As an interpreter of "things English" he will be remembered. His love for the Old Land—the land of his fathers—intensified his appreciation and love of "other lands."

Walter Legge was a good neighbor, a wise friend, a loyal Canadian with broad international horizons. The many people he met will cherish the memory and worth of this remarkable man; the old familiar places to which his feet gravitated readily and happily will long bear the imprint of a practical, genuine, stalwart, explicable personality of whom it now can be written that he endeavored successfully to do his duty making Granby a city, and Canada a land, to love.

TO THOSE WHO MOURN

(Written after learning of DC-3 airplane crash, Sept. 9th.)

Our many daily papers bring

Distracting news today;

While readers are prone to fling

Fact items far away.

An airplane crash, with giant loss

We learn of with dismay;

A harsh, and an imposing cross

Is placed on hearts, we say.

Those luckless passengers and crew

Of twenty-three, came down

In a densely wooded area

Near Ste. Anne de Beaupre Town.

Their chain of life so rudely snapped

With scanty time of warning,

When that twin-engine plane was scrapped,

Leaves homes in deepest mourning.

Ah, highly talented young lives

Soon met a ghastly doom;

Sons, husbands, children, mothers, wives,

Each death casts tragic gloom.

The anguish of those stricken hearts,

Plunged deeply in despair,

Today we claim as counterparts

And in their losses share.

Our bond of sympathy is strong

Though we as strangers be;

We trust it somehow helps along

In your great tragedy.

Gilding The Lily

By EDITH BROWN KIRKWOOD

The two men who found themselves wedged behind a chattering group at the ambassador's garden party had not met. Introductions were more or less passed anyway, the assumption being that guests assembled at such events had the right to acquaintance.

They had paused in their individual wanderings to admire a collection of exotic tube begonias and had found further ambling beyond the moment's possibilities.

"Beautiful, are they not?" said one.

"Almost too much so to be real," came the answer in slight foreign accent.

"A visitor to our land?" came back the friendly question.

"For a too brief period," responded the other, bowing.

"Well now, that's interesting," said the American, holding out his hand in greeting. "My name's Chapman. I live out in California, so I'm a visitor here, too—except," he added, smiling, "I come east often. Your first visit to the United States?"

"No," answered the visitor, "It is my second. I came across thirty years ago, it was a hurried visit and always I have wanted to return. The intervening wars have not encouraged travel, you know."

"Except in the wrong direction for too many," interposed the American. "So this is the realization of the dream to get back to us? I hope you are finding the visit pleasant."

"Quite so," the visitor answered. "This is a delightful occasion."

"Oh, yes, they do this kind of thing very well down here, but this is just gilding the lily of our life. I hope you will be able to see something of the real thing while you are here."

"I fear, at times, that you Americans fail to give the gilding of the lily, as you call it, its full value."

The visitor had glanced up with a quizzical, searching expression. "These events often influence as many vital decisions in lives as a board of directors meeting. When men of achievement in all fields and women of charm and beauty gather together even in play, it is not only the trivial that is concerned, directly or indirectly. And, my dear sir, beautiful and charming women play a big role at such times. You have so many in America that you take them too much for granted."

"Oh, now—take 'em too much for granted!" The American laughed heartily. "We spoil 'em—absolutely."

"I have been watching one of the women here." The stranger gave no heed to the jocularity. "Her refined beauty and charm are so exceptional that she fascinates even an experience-worn older man such as I am. For influence, if she chooses, could be awesome. I am curious to know her name—and background. By chance can you inform me? She is the center of that admiring company at the entrance to the rose garden."

The slender woman, with the graying hair? The American scanned the gathering. Oh, yes, that is Miss Pryde.

The visitor started. "Miss? No one has won her heart? Then she is a cold beauty."

"Not cold—loyal," said the American, shaking his head reverently. "Her heart has been wedded for many years—as surely as if the marriage vows had been exchanged. Hers is a real story in this day when love seems to have become a pretty casual affair. She is single because of a selfish old tyrant of a father and one of his hirelings. You ask of her background—and story. Yes, I know them. America, at its finest. Only child of parents of pitiful lineage, who put all of their best into the upbringing of their exquisite daughter, and her unassuming charm and beauty repaid their devotion."

"When she was brought out, she was the center of many events in a gay season, one of which was a masquerade ball given by some old family friends. A private party,

Text Of Throne Speech

Ottawa, Sept. 16.—Text of a Speech from the Throne, read at the opening of the 21st Parliament by Viscount Alexander, Governor-General.

Honorable members of the Senate:

Members of the House of Commons:

There has been deep satisfaction in all parts of the country that the steady improvement in the health of the King has enabled His Majesty to resume most of his customary activities.

The opening of the 21st Parliament is marked by the presence for the first time of the representatives of the new province of Newfoundland. It is a pleasure for me to welcome their participation in the national affairs of a greater Canada.

With the admission of the new province of Newfoundland, the Canadian nation has attained the geographical limits planned by the Fathers of Confederation. You will be asked at the present session to approve measures designed to facilitate the attainment of the constitutional limits of our nationhood. To this end, a bill will be introduced to amend the Supreme Court Act so that the Supreme Court of Canada will become the final court of appeal for Canada.

You will also be asked to approve addresses praying the Parliament of the United Kingdom to vest in the Parliament of Canada the right to amend the constitution of Canada in relation to matters not coming within the jurisdiction of the legislatures of the provinces, nor affecting the constitutional rights and privileges of the provinces or existing rights and privileges with respect to education or the use of the English and French languages.

My ministers will seek to arrange for early consultation with the provincial governments with a view to agreeing upon an appropriate procedure for making with effect such other amendments to the constitution as may from time to time be required.

The hopes held four years ago for world peace and security under the aegis of the United Nations have not yet been realized. The menace of communist totalitarianism continues to threaten the aspirations of men of good will. It is, however, gratifying that the North Atlantic treaty has been brought into effect and is already proving its worth in lessening the risks of armed aggression.

The defence needs of Canada both as a separate nation and as a signatory of this treaty are being kept constantly under review. Good progress has been made in the co-ordination and unification of our armed forces and conditions of service are being improved. Special attention is being given to research and development intended to provide the forces with the most modern equipment suitable for present requirements.

A measure will be introduced to consolidate the legislation respecting the defence forces and the department of national defence.

It is the view of my ministers that the economic health and stability of the nations of the North Atlantic community must be the real foundation of their ability to resist and, therefore, to deter aggression.

Although the nations of western Europe have made substantial progress towards recovery from the ravages of war, they have not yet been able to restore completely their economic strength. Their shortage of dollars continues, and

St. Pat's Club On Pilgrimage To Ste. Anne

Thirty-eight members of St. Patrick's Junior Sports Club, accompanied by Rev. Father J. R. Moisan, pastor of St. Patrick's Church, Mrs. R. Audet and Mrs. Samson, went on a pilgrimage to Ste. Anne de Beauce last week-end.

Leaving Sherbrooke Saturday morning, they arrived in Quebec in the afternoon and spent several hours visiting the historical points of interest, such as the Basilica, the Plains of Abraham and the Chateau Frontenac. In the evening they attended a service at Ste. Anne's Basilica.

On Sunday the travellers heard Mass, celebrated by Father Moisan in the Ste. Anne's Chapel of the Basilica. The rest of the morning was spent visiting the various chapels and shrines. Before departing for Sherbrooke they were also taken on a tour of Quebec's Zoological Gardens.

The pilgrimage was organized by Miss Patricia Giroux and Peter Cochrane, under the direction of Brother Joseph, club moderator.

the current session of Parliament. However, if provincial governments wanted it, a preparatory conference could be held immediately by federal-provincial constitutional experts.

Premier Angus L. Macdonald of Nova Scotia, said "we not only heartily welcome the conference but will be glad to attend it whenever it is held."

The Premier, long an advocate of the need for constitutional change, said "My government will be prepared not only to discuss the way in which amendments to the constitution should be made, but also the substance of the amendments themselves."

Premier J. B. McNair of New Brunswick said he had not yet received a copy of the letter and preferred to make no comment before studying it. Heads of other provincial administrations issued no immediate statement on the proposal. Government circles in Quebec city said they believed their government, headed by Premier Maurice Duplessis, would want to set in on such a conference. Premier Duplessis himself, was not available for comment.

Mr. St. Laurent stressed in his letter that the government only wants authority to amend the constitution on a federal or national level. It did not want to interfere with the rights and privileges of the provinces. Nor did it want to infringe on existing constitutional privileges which deal with education and the use of the English and French languages.

Newsman's Probe Urges Cost Cuts

Olympia, Wash., Sept. 16.—(AP)—A newspaper men's committee that spent three months investigating Washington state finances called today for "an aroused and informed public" to check mushrooming state costs.

Reporting that the State's outlays have skyrocketed out of proportion to individual incomes, the newspaper men recommended "a public awakening," economy measures, and better accounting.

Sponsors said they believe the study is the first of its kind ever undertaken by a committee of editors and publishers.

It was ordered by the Allied Daily Newspapers of Washington when several papers became concerned over what appeared to be an impending crisis in state finances.

home nursing, special foods, hearing aids, wigs, spectacles and false teeth. If a patient has to be taken to hospital, that's paid for, too.

There are no strings attached—except that sometimes special equipment may not be available, or the patient may have to wait.

The only direct individual contribution amounts to about 15 cents a week for men and 11 cents for women. This is paid only by Britain's 17,000,000 insured workers, but the free services are available to everybody, insured or not. Even foreigners becoming ill in Britain are covered.

General taxation provides the bulk of state funds. Obviously, the man who pays high taxes contributes more than the man whose taxes are low.

Costs are running about £336,000,000 a year, compared with an original estimate of £152,000,000. Health officials say they expect the total to decrease when the service really gets going.

Anybody can use the facilities provided, or use one complete part and not another. Doctors, dentists and hospital consultants have the same freedom. So far about 96 of every 100 persons have "signed up" with family doctors and 21,000 practitioners in England, Wales and Scotland, only 50 have decided to stay out. Private practice has been virtually eliminated.

Most of Britain's 9,000 dentists are participating. Their fees are under review following reports that some were making as much as £8,000 a year gross.

In the first six months of the service, now 14 months old, 75,000 prescriptions were issued for drugs and appliances, 3,500,000 patients received or were under dental treatment and more than 3,000,000 pairs of glasses were supplied or on order.

The British Medical Association, representing one of five British doctors' associations, has been denouncing criticism, is doing its best under the plan.

MARRIAGES

MASKELL—ROBINSON

Georgetown, Que., Sept. 16.—

Marriages of unusual interest were solemnized in St. George's Anglican Church, at Georgetown, Que., on Saturday afternoon, August 27, at three o'clock, when Alice June Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Robinson, of Georgetown, became the bride of Mr. Avery Randall Maskell, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. B. Crowley, of Montreal, and her twin sister, Elsie May Robinson, was united in marriage to Mr. Matthew Ramage, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Ramage, of Georgetown. The Rev. C. W. Dunn officiated at the double ring double wedding ceremony, the first of its kind to take place in the Georgetown Church. The wedding music was played by Mrs. William Redshaw, who accompanied the church choir in the singing of "Here Comes the Bride," "I Love You Truly," and "O Perfect Love." A profusion of garden flowers were used for decoration.

The brides, given in marriage by their father, wore identical floor-length gowns of white satin and lace, fingertip veils, silver spangled crowns, and they carried bouquets of American Beauty roses and baby's breath tied with white satin ribbon.

Mrs. John Grundy acted as matron of honor for her sisters, and Miss Catherine Hughes, cousin of the brides, was their bridesmaid. They were dressed alike in floor-length gowns of pale blue chiffon and wore spangled headpieces of blue veiling crowned with blue and pink pearls. Their bouquets were of baby's breath and baby's breath.

Mr. Allan Ramage, cousin of Mr. Matthew Ramage, was his best man.

Mr. Earl Maskell acted as groomsmen for his brother.

The ushers were Mr. Lewellyn Robinson and Mr. Clarence Robinson, brothers of the brides, and Mr. Bruce Crowley and Mr. Richard Hornby.

Mrs. Robinson, mother of the brides, was gowned in a navy polka dot street-length dress, with which she wore navy accessories.

Mrs. Ramage, mother of the bridegroom, was in grey crepe, wearing matching accessories.

Mrs. Crowley, aunt of Mr. Maskell, was in an afternoon dress of grey crepe and wore a maroon hat and accessories.

The reception was held in the community hall at Georgetown, which was decorated with pink and white streamers. The brides' table, carrying out the color scheme with an arrangement of pink and white flowers, was centered with the wedding cakes.

Later the bride couples left for their honeymoon trips to the Laurentians, the brides travelling in skipper blue wool gabardine suits with pink accessories.

The out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Crowley, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Crowley, Mrs. St. Pierre, Mrs. Kennett and daughters, Joan and Beverley, Miss Eva at Lake Lyster, last Thursday, at an all day outing. Multicolored zinnias and calendulas were used to decorate. Following the luncheon, bridge was played at three tables, the prize winners being Mrs. A. J. Gill and Mrs. Stanley Odell. One of the guests, Miss Barbara Sangster, a bride-to-be, was presented with a beautiful pair of sheets, by Mrs. Odell, who voiced the best wishes of the club, to the young friend. Tea was served by the hostesses, who were assisted by their sister, Mrs. Gill, their niece, Miss Gill, and Mrs. Scott's daughter, Miss Margaret Ann Forbes.

Redshaw, Miss Olga Sharp, Dr. and Mrs. Watson and daughter, Janey, and Miss Vera Booth, all of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. William Ramage, Allan and Heather Ramage, of Annapolis, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. W. Robinson, North Troy, Vt.; Mr. and Mrs. R. Robinson, Wilton, Vt.; Mr. and Mrs. M. Giroux, Burlington, Vt.; Mr. Gerald Bennett, Bigelow, Vt.; Mr. and Mrs. R. Owens, Ormstown; Miss Geneva Murray, Lennoxville; Rev. Mrs. Reader, Ottawa, Ont.; Miss Violet Robinson, Mr. Lewellyn Robinson, Mrs. J. Lessard, Mr. Jack Evans, Mr. J. Evans, Miss Stella Courtneil, Miss Joyce Collier, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Evans and Mr. Earl Maskell, all of Montreal.

There were also many other friends from Ayer's Cliff, Magog, Beebe and Sherbrooke.

Mr. and Mrs. Maskell will reside in Montreal, where the former is associated with the Northern Electric Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Ramage have taken up residence in Magog, where Mr. Ramage is employed with the Bell Telephone Company.

STORCER—BATLEY

Bury, Sept. 16.—The marriage of Phyllis Patricia Batley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Batley, of Bury, Que., to Mr. Anthony Storer, of Montreal, son of Mrs. E. Storer and the late Mr. Storer, of Fernie, B. C., took place Saturday afternoon, August 27, at five o'clock, in St. Paul's Church, Bury, the Rev. W. J. Rowe officiating. Mrs. O. L. Batley presided at the organ and accompanied Miss Gloria Coates, violinist, who played "Through the Years" and "Because," during the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white brocade satin, oak leaf design, fashioned on princess lines having a bertha collar with pylon net inset, long fitted sleeves with points, tapering over the hands. She wore her mother's coronet of orange blossoms and veil, and a solid gold pendant, a wedding gift of her great aunt. She carried a white Bible decorated with a corsage of red roses and baby's breath, caught with white satin streamers.

Miss Belya Batley, as maid of honor, and Miss Una Grey, as bridesmaid, wore gowns of ice blue taffeta, styled alike on lines similar to the bride's long fitting taffeta gloves and matching pleated halo hats. Both attendants carried cordonnals of sweet peas centered with pink roses.

Mr. R. H. Redpath, of Toronto, Ont., acted as best man for Mr. Batley. Mr. Clayton Grey and Mr. Austin Grey, were ushers.

Mrs. Batley, the bride's mother, was attired in grey wool suit and wore white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. Storer, mother of the groom, residing in British Columbia, was unable to attend.

A wedding supper was served at the home of the bride, where the dining-room was adorned with pink and white streamers and white wedding bells. The bride's table, covered with a white damask cloth, was centered with a four-tier wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, and white candles in silver holders. Toasts were proposed to the bride, the bridesmaids and the bride's parents. Small tables for the guests were decorated in pink and white. Following the tea, a raffle, dancing to the music of Arthur James' Orchestra, was enjoyed at the Brookbury Hall.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Storer left for a honeymoon trip to the White Mountains, N. H., and Portland, Me. For travelling the bride wore a cranberry red gabardine coat over a light blue flowered crepe frock, with matching accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Storer will reside in Montreal.

Out-of-town guests included: Mr. R. H. Redpath, Toronto, Ont.; Miss Hazel I. Tomkinson, Rochester, N. Y.; Miss Clarice Hinkley, Rochester, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. John Butler, Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. John Butler, Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Taylor, Mr. Roland La-Palme, Miss Una Grey, Miss Ethel Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Sives-

WOMEN'S CLUBS

KING GEORGE V CHAPTER
I.O.D.E.

King George Fifth Chapter, I.O.D.E., held its first meeting after the summer vacation on Monday, September 12, at the I.O.D.E. House on Moore Street. Mrs. R. Ford Stewart, first vice-president, presided in the absence of the Regent, Miss Mary Mitchell. The meeting was opened with the raising of the Standard and the Prayer of the Order. The minutes of the June meeting were approved as read by the assistant secretary, Mrs. R. Havard, who also read several letters of thanks from grateful recipients of food parcels sent to England during the summer Food parcels are so deeply appreciated that the members are eager to continue sending them as long as the need lasts.

The financial report was read by the treasurer, Mrs. George Hall. Educational secretary, Miss Ina Cobleigh, announced that the winners of the Elizabeth Thomson Bursary and the Myrtle B. Loomis Nursing Bursary were Mrs. Graydon Larabee and Miss Helen Boyle, of Magantic, respectively; both graduates of the Sherbrooke High School.

The Minnie Hallowell Bowen Memorial prize for history was awarded to Miss Kiki Vlahakis. Mrs. Samuel McLean, past war-work convener, reported that several articles of clothing, afghans, etc., had already been received for the next shipment overseas, and she appealed for more.

In the Empire Study period Miss Cobleigh gave a most interesting account of a recently released report of the United Nations' Special Committee's survey on "Women's Political Status in the World Today." This report shows that at the present time fifty countries enjoy full political rights, eight have partial rights and thirteen have none.

Ways and Means of raising funds to carry on the work were discussed, and Mrs. W. Cochrane was appointed convener of a food sale to be held in Milford's Store on September 20, at 9 o'clock.

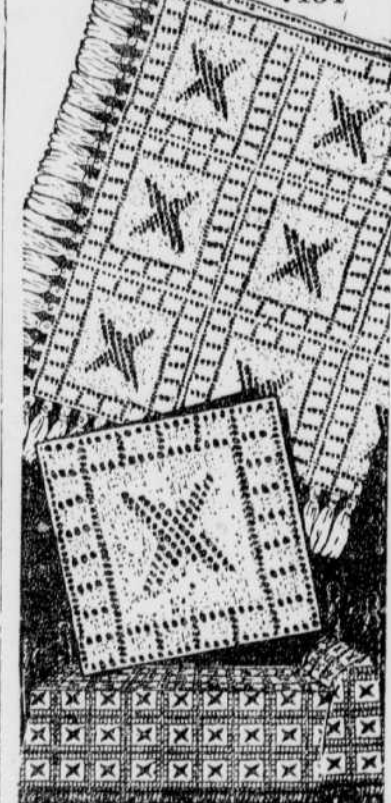

The singing of the National Anthem brought the meeting to a close, after which refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. S. McLean.

prevents Clothes
turning YELLOW!

Yes, your whitest clothes will turn yellow eventually, unless you put back the Blue that is always part of true white. So quick . . . so easy . . . just a swish or two of Keen's Blue in your final rinsing water . . . and your clothes will always be sparkling, snowy white!

7 colours combine to make White. One of these is Blue. Blue must be added to make true White.

KEEN'S BLUE PREVENTS CLOTHES TURNING YELLOW

The Women's Institute Of Melboro Held A Splendid Meeting And Reviewed The Many Fall Activities Discussed

Melboro, Sept. 15.—The Melborne Ridge Women's Institute held its regular September monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Maxwell Miller, with Miss Adelaide Walker, Mrs. Neil Fowler, Mrs. John Stalker and Mrs. John Hamilton, the joint hostesses. There were twenty-four members and three visitors present.

The president, Mrs. Henry Fowler, presided and the meeting was opened by repeating the "Mary Stewart Collect." Minutes were read and adopted. Roll call was answered by each one telling "My Opinion On June Exams." Correspondence was read. An invitation was received from the Cleveland Branch of the W.I. to attend a challenge card party at the home of Mr. W. Healy, on Thursday night, September 8. An invitation was also received from the I.O. D.E. to attend the handicraft exhibition to be held in the Assembly Hall, of St. Francis College High School on Friday afternoon, September 9.

A donation of books and magazines was received from Rev. Colin Kerr, before his departure to Dun-Can, B.C. It was decided to send these to the Veterans' Hospital, at St. Hyacinthe, Mrs. G. O. Malboeuf offered to look after the packing and forwarding them.

As this was the Education meeting, the convener, Mrs. W. D. Frank, read two very interesting articles on "Why Be Bilingual." Mrs. H. Fowler thanked her for this splendid reading.

Final plans and arrangements were made for the school fair being held on Saturday, September 17, at the Consolidated School. The prize list is to be much the same as last year. Mr. Donat Salvas the county agronomist will judge the vegetables, flowers and woodwork. The judging is to begin at 10:30 a.m. Mrs. W. McMorine, Mrs. Eric Johnston, Miss Adelaide Walker and Miss Carrie Ward will judge the cooking and sewing.

The large donation from the T. Eaton Company for the Moore family was on display and consisted of many and varied useful articles.

The October meeting will be held on October 14, in the Kingsbury School and is to be a social evening, with games for the children. There will be ladies and gentlemen's prizes. All the members together with their families and friends are invited to attend. All the members are to join in helping with the entertainment and refreshments. A new member, Miss Irene Armstrong, was welcomed to the society. A hearty welcome was extended the out of town visitors at this meeting by Mrs. H. Fowler.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses with the Misses Norma Fowler, Myrna ardson, of Bulwer, spent a day with Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Allison. Mr. D. Brown, of Ives Hill, was present and celebrated the natal day of Mrs. Richardson and Mr. Brown.

Mrs. V. Lloyd, Of Eastman, Entertained The Cherry River Women's Institute

Cherry River, Sept. 16.—The Women's Institute held its September meeting at the home of Mrs. Victor Lloyd, in Eastman. There was a good attendance from Cherry River, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Quilliams, of East Farnham, were present.

The president, Mrs. B. Katt, opened the meeting in the usual manner. The minutes of last meeting were read and treasurer's report was given. A report on the lawn social and tea held in August was given.

The roll call was answered by members giving their ideas on "how the W.I. could help in one's own community."

There was a discussion on whether the W.I. would use the extra room in the schoolhouse or not. It was decided not to do so at this time.

A delegate from the Cherry River branch at the county meeting in Brompton, Miss Guild, of Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, also letters from Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Thompson, officers of Macdonald W.I. A letter of thanks was read from one having received a card while sick.

Mrs. Ruby Whittier read an article on "Housework—You Can Have It."

Pickie receipts were handed in. At the close of the meeting, Mrs. Lloyd served a hot refreshment, which were enjoyed by everyone. The next meeting will be in October at the home of Mrs. Archy McKelvey.

Ice Box Technique Will Help Grow Difficult Seeds

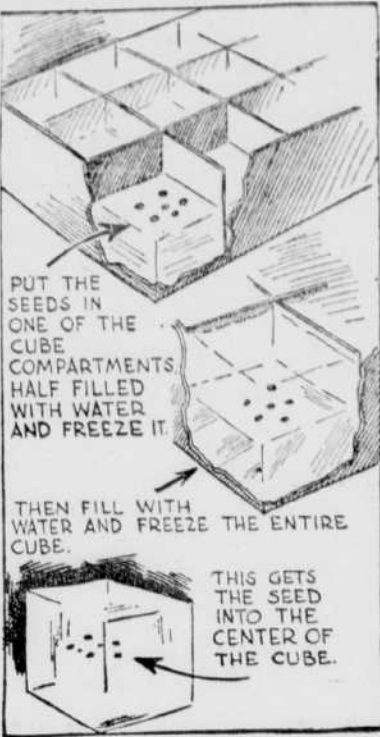

Ability to grow slow germinating subjects gets a gardener off as one of an advanced few; yet it is no more difficult than with quick germinating varieties.

It opens the way to acquire at a minimum cost plants of a large number of perennials not commonly grown, and of participating in the fascinating sport of growing seedling irises and peonies.

Horticultural varieties of irises, peonies, and perennial phlox are not reproduced from seed, but by dividing the roots of named varieties. When these plants are grown from seed they do not reproduce the parents but are, in effect, new varieties, with the chance that one may be better than any other known of its color; and thus bring fame and profit to its grower. With both peonies and irises it takes three years to grow a flowering plant from seed; but thousands of amateurs find it a fascinating pastime.

Many lilies may also be grown from seed, under treatment similar to that advised for slow germinating subjects. They may be sown at any time, and the period of germination will vary greatly. Gladiolus seeds also may be given the same treatment, but it is usually sufficient to sow them in the spring. Instead of a flat or pan a seed bed may be used for them, provided it can be watered.

Some perennials prefer to be frozen before they germinate. A method by which time may be saved is as follows: Take an ice tray from an electric refrigerator and fill it half full of water. Float the seeds on the water and freeze it in the refrigerator. When frozen fill up the rest of the tray and freeze. The seeds will then be encased in ice and may be kept there several days, and planted when thawed out. Good results with this method have been reported on seeds of all bearded iris, trollius, dictamnus, perennial phlox, all subjects which otherwise prefer to be sown in the fall and left out doors over winter before they will

Farm Woodlot Can Be Valuable

The farm woodlot has proved over and over again to be a good investment, and wherever possible every farmer should have his own reforestation or conservation plan.

Most farmers have an area of rough or strong land that would produce more revenue as a woodlot, if properly cared for, than as rough pasture. It is on record that one farmer who followed good woodlot practice, and who kept records of everything removed, found that the land in bush was producing sufficient revenue to pay the rent of the farm.

In the management of a woodlot, it is important to observe one or two things. Cattle should not be caused to destroy all the young growth which protects the roots of the trees from drying out. When cutting wood for fuel, it is advisable to remove all dead trees, and in order to find them when snow has fallen in winter, it is a good plan to mark their location during the summer. It is also good practice to remove undesirable species of trees, such as ironwood, which do not produce trunks satisfactory for making into lumber. The same applies to crooked and misshapen trees which occupy space that could be utilized for growing straight trees of good lumber varieties.

HENDERSON VALE

Mrs. Eva Wright has returned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Marshall, after visiting relatives in Lennoxville and Bury.

Mrs. Harry Marshall and daughter, Helena, of Thetford Mines, spent a few days with Mr. John Marshall and family. Mr. Harry Marshall and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smith were guests at the same home.

Masters Herbert and Sonny Smith have returned to their home in Thetford Mines, after spending the summer with Mr. John Marshall.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Wright and Mr. William Wright, spent a few days in Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Marshall, Miss Frances Marshall and Master Lynn Marshall spent a day in Quebec, and were accompanied home by Mr. Lewis Marshall, who was a patient in the Jeffrey Hale Hos-

Mr. Walter Cook and Mr. Alvin Wright attended the Sherbrooke Fair.

Miss Vera Wright was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Kelso.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Wright and family were evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Davidson.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Kelso and daughters, Lorraine and Janet, were calling on Mr. and Mrs. K. Kelso.

With other slow germinating subjects taking 30 days to a year to start, use the following method:

Fill a flat or the shallow pot which florists call a pan, with potting soil, firm the soil and broadcast the seed, covering them four or five times their diameter. Place the receptacle in a shaded location where there is free circulation of air. During spring, summer and fall water often enough to prevent drying out. A mulch of peat moss will help retain moisture. In winter place in a protected place outdoors and cover with leaves. A place under the eaves of the house on the side away from the prevailing wind is good; or a cold frame may be used. Eventually the seeds will sprout and the seedlings will appear. They should be transplanted when they make true leaves to large flower pots, nursery rows or permanent location.

Experienced gardeners seldom discard a pan or flat in which slow germinating subjects have been sown until at least a year has been given for the seedlings to appear.

When moss appears on the surface of the soil in pots and pans, sprinkle fresh earth over it.

Weekly News Letter From The Dominion Experimental Station

By L. A. GNAEDINGER

Possibly no other single factor of poultry management may have a more favorable effect on the winter egg production of the pullet flock than the intelligent use of artificial lighting to lengthen the day. This extra lighting has a stimulating effect on the bird's reproductive organs and there is an increased consumption of feed and a greater production of eggs.

Though lanterns of the "white-light" type have been used with fair results, the usual source of the extra lighting is electricity, due to its safety and convenience.

For the control of electric lights, there are inexpensive time-switches available that give lights either morning, evening or both. Evening lighting must end with a twenty-minute "dim-out" period to send the birds to roost. Quite good results have been obtained using morning lights only and these have the added advantage that they may be turned on by a common alarm-clock connected to an ordinary wall toggle-switch by some simple "cube-goldberg" arrangement of cords or levers. The switch is turned off by hand at full daylight. Whatever system of morning or evening lighting is adopted, it is advisable in most cases not to lengthen the day to more than 13 or 14 hours. Overstimulation may defeat its own ends, by forcing the rate of egg production to such a high level as to undermine the bird's physique.

Each lighting unit consists usually of a 40-watt bulb in a reflector about 4 inches deep and 12 to 16 inches wide. The number of units required, and their placing, will depend on the particular henhouse. However, roughly, it will require one for each 200 square feet of floor-space. They should be about 6 feet from the floor and so placed as to brightly illuminate not only the feeders and waterers but also, and especially, the entire roost area.

Important at any time, and particularly so during heavy egg production, is the maintenance of good physical condition, as indicated by body weight. It is easy to keep a check on the condition of the flock by leg-banding a few birds and weighing these regularly once or twice a month. Normally, most pullets continue to grow and increase in weight until about a year old. With the general purpose breeds there should be roughly speaking, a gain in weight during the fall and winter months of one to three ounces per month until about March or April. Any very marked and general deviation from this will usually indicate the need of some change in feeding or management.

BETHANY

Mr. and Mrs. William Norris celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage on August 27. A supper was served to a number of guests at the hall at L'Enfant Jesus. Mr. and Mrs. Norris was presented with a set of silver and a sum of money. Dancing was enjoyed and a very happy evening was spent.

Mr. Arlie Moffatt, of Granby, called on Mr. and Mrs. Donia Desmarais and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clark, Mr. Lawrence Clark and Miss Freda Clark, of South Durham, were guests at the dinner hour of Mr. and Mrs. George Osborne and Mrs. S. Haslett.

Mr. and Mrs. Jules Demerise entertained visitors from the United States.

During the recent high winds a number of trees and branches were blown down in this district. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Norris and family attended a very enjoyable birthday party at South Ruxton, given by Mrs. Albert Taylor in honor of her mother, Mrs. Surratt and sister, Mrs. Gordon Norris. Mr. Neal Norris, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Surratt and Mrs. Taylor's young son, Robert, all of whom had birthday days within a few days of each other. Problems Of Dairy Farming Will Be Discussed At Meeting Here On Monday

An all-day meeting of farmers interested in dairy farming and its problems will be held on September 19 in the Sherbrooke Arena.

Plans for this were arranged at a meeting on June 20 of the Ives Hill and Draper's Corner Improvement Club. A committee was named at that time to arrange this dairy farmers' meet.

Problems to be discussed are:

1. The question of price stabilization of dairy products, which will give farmers an income equal to the average urban worker.

2. The method of obtaining the above results with a minimum of regimentation and a maximum of freedom of enterprise.

3. A financial scheme, which can be developed for and by farmers needing financial aid, on the principal of Mutual Fire Insurance.

4. A national auction sales agency to dispose of surplus and undesirable cattle, to be sent out of the country as meat products or otherwise.

5. The action to take if some reasonable solution to the above questions is not found.

The meeting will open at nine o'clock, with J. A. Blais, M.P., for Compton, presiding. Short talks will be given by W. C. Cameron, director of marketing service, dairy products, provincial dairy commissioners, and others in a position to give useful information on these subjects.

This will be followed by group discussion under the direction of Floyd Griesbach, Farm Forum, Sec.

A committee will than be chosen to work out details and assist authorities to put them into effect.

It is the hope of this committee that the meeting will work not only on present problems but will also try to build the machinery necessary to meet and partly, at least, provide for such catastrophes as the ill-timed and ill-advised removal of price ceilings on feed grains, at a time when Eastern farmers had a crop failure, and the introduction of margarine, with practically no provision for dairy men, and other situations for which the governments are not to blame.

Receipts Were Heavier On Livestock Marts

Montreal, Sept. 16.—(P)—Receipts were much heavier this week on two Montreal livestock markets with a total of 2,885 cattle, 4,252 sheep and lambs, 3,385 hogs and 3,251 calves being offered for sale.

Prices in the cattle section were steady to firm. There were only a few good steers offered, most of the receipts consisting of light steers and cows of common to medium quality.

Good quality steers were quoted at 21-22, medium kinds 18-20 and common were as low as 12-17.50. Medium quality heifers brought 16-18, common ones ranged from 10-15.50. Good cows were selling at 14.50-15.50 with a few at 16. Medium were 12.50-14 and common 10-12. Canners and cutters were 8-10. A few good bulls made 15-16.50 with common kinds at 11-13.50.

Calves sold rapidly at firm prices. Veal calves ranged from 15-24 for common to good quality, with a few tops at 25. Grassers were 10-14.50.

Sheep and calves were cleaned up at steady to firm prices. Mixed lots medium and good quality lambs were selling at 21-22. In some cases culls were picked at 16-18, leaving the good ones at 23. Sheep ranged from 4-9 according to quality.

Hogs were $2 higher than last week selling at 32 for grade A with a small lot of 32.50 on Tuesday. Sows made 19-21 dressed.

COUNTRY AND DAIRY PRODUCTS PRICES

Montreal, Sept. 16.—Uncertainty prevailed in the egg market as demand received for A-large and A-medium grades. Receipts were light but were still in excess of demand. Government spot quotations on A-large dropped to 69-74 from 74-75 while A-mediums were quoted at 67-71 compared with 70-72 the preceding day. Other grades remained unchanged, with all prices nominal. The Board of Trade reports there were 3,450 cases of eggs packed for export.

SAL MAGLIE HURLS FOUR-HITTER TO ELIMINATE SAINTS

Cubs Amass Total Of Eleven Hits Against Four Hurlers To Win Deciding Game Of Semi-Finals

Drummondville, Que., Sept. 16. — Sal Maglie is the toast of Drummondville baseball fans today following the Cubs 7-1 victory over St. Hyacinthe Saints here last night.

The win enabled Drummondville to take the best-of-nine semi-final playoff series 5-4. They now meet the winner of the St. Johns-Farnham series for the league championship.

It was Maglie all the way last night as he coasted to his second playoff victory with a magnificent four-hit performance against the surprisingly strong Saints who lingered in the league cellar all year but seemed to catch fire in the post-season chase.

The Cubs totaled four St. Hyacinthe hits for a total of 11 hits. Bill Brown, who started for the victors, was tagged with the loss. He was followed on the mound by Washburn, Herr and Blumette. The Saints committed one error while the pennant-winning Cubs played flawless ball.

American Golf Pros Open Defense Of Ryder Cup; Are Rated Strong Favorites To Defeat British Squad

Ganton, England, Sept. 16.—(AP)—A road with automobiles racing both ways along it is the toughest hazard for the top professional golfers of Britain and the United States as they set out today to dispute possession of the Ryder Cup.

The road cuts the 17th fairway about 100 yards in front of the tee and lashes across the 18th about 150 yards in front of the green. Players have to dare traffic to follow the balls on both holes.

Ben Hogan, non-playing captain of the American squad, sought to have the road banned from the list of legal hazards, but failed.

If a drive stops on the pavement it will just have to be played straight from the hard surface to the green.

The Americans, however, won another decision last night. Hogan's complaint that the face of clubs used by Dick Burton, one of the top British players, were too tough was upheld by golfing officials.

Burton was ordered to file the faces down before he tees off this morning in the 36-hole foursome matches. Four teams meet in four some competition. The issue will be settled tomorrow with eight singles matches, also at 36 holes.

Betting still heavily favored the cup-defending United States. Most bookmakers quoted them at 1 to 4.

Today's pairings:

E. J. Harrison and Johnny Palmer, U.S., vs. Max Faulkner and Jimmy Adams, Britain.

Bob Hamilton and Skip Alexander, U.S., vs. Fred Daly and Ken Bousfield, Britain.

Jimmy Demaret and Clayton Heafner, U.S., vs. Charlie Ward and Sam King, Britain.

Sammy Sneed and Lloyd Mangrum, U.S., vs. Dick Burton and Arthur Lees, Britain.

Chris Spencer Tops Proximity In Stake

Westbury, N.Y., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Proximity may still be queen of modern-day trotters, but she is no longer rated invincible.

The seven-year-old mare, winner of 18 of her 10 previous starts this season, suffered her second setback of 1949 last night at Roosevelt Raceway when, in the role of a 1-4 favorite, she finished fourth in the $25,000 American Trotting Championship.

Chris Spencer, a gelding and also a seven-year-old veteran, sprang one of the harness racing upsets of the year in winning the one mile affair by 4½ lengths for a $33.90 payoff. His time was a mediocre 2:04 1/5.

Rodwney, harness horse of the year in 1948, took second by two lengths over Dutch Harbor, who nosed out Proximity.

The victory was worth $11,250 to the victor's owner, Dunbar Bostwick of Shelburne, Vt. Proximity, leading money-winning mare of modern times, picked up a $2,500 fourth share which raised her total earnings to $147,454.

Five Ski Instructors Named For World Event

Montreal, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Five Canadian ski instructors were named last night as possible choices to represent Canada in the 1950 World Ski Championships at Lake Placid, N.Y.

Paul Ramage, chairman of the Laurentian Zone Ski Committee named Ernie McCulloch, Harvey Clifford, Bud Richardson, Yvon Tache and Yves Latreille as the choices.

Tiny Bonham, Former Pirate Hurler, Dies

Pittsburgh, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Ernie (Tiny) Bonham, 36, veteran Pittsburgh Pirates pitcher, died yesterday in Presbyterian Hospital where he had been operated on for appendicitis.

Doctors said his death was caused by complications following the operation Sept. 9.

Club physician Norman Oschenhrt said the operation was a difficult one, requiring three hours.

Bonham was a resident of Sacramento, Calif.

Former Stampeders On Way To McGill College

Montreal, Sept. 16.—(AP)—A telegram from Calgary saying "all three are on the way" was good news for Coach Vic Obeck of McGill University's Redmen because it meant that three stars of Calgary Stampeders, last year's Grey Cup football champions, are on their way to Montreal.

The three are Harry Irving, Fred Wilmut and Dave Tomlinson, coming to McGill under a student loan fund established by a group of Montreal business men.

Only one, requiring three hours.

Bonham was a resident of Sacramento, Calif.

ATHLETICS OPEN SEASON IN MONTREAL TOMORROW

Sherbrooke Athletics underwent their last heavy drill last night before their initial game in the Q.R.F.U. intermediate league against Navy tomorrow.

The game is scheduled for 2 p.m. at the Lower Canada College grounds.

Starting line up will not be known till shortly before the game but the team will carry some thirty men into Montreal.

Coach Glen Brown refuses to commit himself as to his team's chances against Navy tomorrow, but if the team has absorbed Brown's knowledge of football they should do fairly well.

Three Squads Closely Bunched As International Tuna Tournament Enters Third Day At Wedgeport

Wedgeport, N.S., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Three squads were bunched close together today as the third and final day's fishing in the sixth International Tuna Championship match began on nearby Soldiers' Ridge.

Following yesterday's battle with the blueskins the United States, defending champions, held a 1,131-point lead over Brazil. Trailing Brazil by 97 points was the British Commonwealth team. Argentina was in fourth spot 455 point ahead of the last place Cuban squad.

In points and fish caught, the score was: United States 5,249 and 13; Brazil 4,118 and 10; British Commonwealth 4,201 and 8; Argentina 1,900 and 4; Cuba 1,445 and 6. Teams get a point per pound and there are bonuses of 200 points each for largest and most fish taken daily with similar bonuses for match catches.

The most talked of fisherman in yesterday's competition was Brazilian Mario Oswald who never saw a tuna before he arrived in Nova Scotia. He leads all anglers in fish caught with four totaling 2,212 pounds. He boated three yesterday totaling 1,481 pounds.

Fickle Lady Luck failed to smile on the Argentina team which lost all four fish hooked. Other anglers, some of them veterans like Cuba's captain, Julio Sanchez, and the Commonwealth's skipper, Thomas Wheeler of Toronto, didn't get a bite.

But Toronto's Harry Sedgewick, who has yet to score, was really in the dumps. He lost two fish, one after a grueling battle of four hours and 50 minutes when his rod broke.

The Brazilians surge carried them from last place past the British and dropped Cuba to the rear behind Argentina. It was quite a bid by Brazil, competing in the tournament for the first time.

Two hundred points for the most fish went to Brazil and the British team which landed four fish along with the United States. Tall, greying Maj. Cyril Frisby of Guilford, England, a three-time member of the Commonwealth entry, landed a 649-pounder in an hour and 10 minutes. He also had a 515-pounder.

Smallest fish yesterday was the 110-pounder taken by Cuban Jose Maica. There were other minnows like the 177-pounder boated by John Rawbison Viljoen of South Africa and a 134-pounder by Amurose Gosling of Bermuda, both members of the British team.

H. C. Clark Wins Initial Meet Of Masonville Rifle Association; Sherbrooke Wins Inter-Club Shoot

Masonville, Sept. 16.—The Masonville Rifle Association held their first annual meet of the season on their home range Sunday.

H. C. Clark, of the home club, won the Lady Peterson Challenge Trophy when he posted a score of 55 to win the Grand Aggregate prize. The Sherbrooke club were invited to participate, and they sent over a four-man team. In the inter-club match the Sherbrooke team managed to edge out the home team in a close match by scoring 335 to Masonville's 362.

The Sherbrooke team consisted of E. Warner, M. H. Bishop, Garth Bishop and Percy Gray while the home team was made up of H. C. Clark, L. Lamont, F. Wilson and H. E. Gillander.

The meet was shot at 200, 500 and 600 yard range and the winners at the different ranges follow: 200 yards—H. C. Clark 33; P. Gray 32; Garth Bishop 31; Roland Clark 31, 500 yards—H. E. Bishop 34; H. C. Clark 33; M. H. Bishop 33; E. Warner 33; 600 yards—R. Kinghorn 32; F. Wilson 30; E. Warner 30; H. E. Gillander 29; Ralph Kinghorn, L. A. George and Frank Klopfer shot only at two ranges for their scores.

The Grand Aggregate scores follow: H. C. Clark 95; E. Warner 94; P. Gray 91; L. Lamont, M. H. Bishop and Garth Bishop 90; F. Wilson 88; H. E. Gillander 88; A. Woodard 85; R. Clark 82; H. Martin and G. Eldridge 75; E. Foster 72; C. A. Bailey 68; J. Bailey 63 and F. J. A. Ducharme 45.

Ten Outstanding Motorcycle Riders To Compete In Meet Here Sunday At Sherbrooke Fair Grounds Race Track

Ten of the outstanding motorcycle riders on the North American continent will take part in the meet to be held Sunday afternoon at Sherbrooke Fair Grounds race track.

Among those are Jimmy Chann, champion of the State of New Jersey, Babe Rancredi, holder of the New England title, and Sam Hoppe, Canadian amateur champion.

These three riders will not have things all their own way, and will have some tough opposition to overcome in Maurice McDermott, of Bolton, N.Y., the Fisher brothers, Bob and Dick, of Grand Falls, New York, Bill Heogener and Paul Klukay, of Plattsburg, Odis Brighton, of New Hampshire, and George Day, champion of the Province of Quebec.

George Day, the provincial champ, is a rider of considerable experience and should give the outside boys plenty trouble when it comes to the qualifying rounds for the main event.

If the weather holds up Promotor Albert Cloutier expects a crowd of around five thousand to be on hand to witness the top riders in the game in action Sunday afternoon.

CATS SIGN OUELLETTE

Shawinigan Falls, Que., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Manager Theo Racette of the Shawinigan Cataracts of the Quebec Senior Hockey League yesterday announced signing of George Ouellette, 20, who starred with Windsor Spitfires of the Ontario Junior Hockey Association last season. Ouellette is a 175-pound defenceman.

NEW ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

WILLIAM R. LEMMON, newly appointed athletic director and physical training instructor for Sherbrooke Protestant School System.

Mr. Lemmon received his High School education in Kingston, Ont., and later attended Queen's University. From 1912-45 he was Intramural Director of Athletics at Queen's where he organized and directed the entire athletic program for 2,000 male students in 15 sports including football, hockey, basketball, softball and track.

For two years he was the coach of the Queen's intermediate basketball team which captured the Eastern Ontario championship. He has had wide experience in coaching and directing High School athletic teams in Kingston, and was for some time in charge of recreation at Canadian Industries Limited.

He is a qualified and experienced official in football, basketball, track and hockey. His football refereeing experience includes games in the Ontario Rugby Football Union, and in the Intercollegiate Union.

Mr. Lemmon will be in charge of health education for boys, physical training and athletics at Sherbrooke High School, and will conduct the physical training and athletic program in the Elementary schools.

Royals Blank Red Wings To Lead In Playoffs

Apparently the International League's final playoff is going to be a battle of champions.

Montreal Royals, the defending playoff titlists, slid past Rochester again last night to take a 2-0 edge in their semi-final series.

At the same time, Buffalo's league-champion Bisons were slapping Jersey City, 12-10, to also assume a cozy 2-0 margin.

The Montreal-Rochester tilt was a tight pitching duel between Johnny Van Cuyk, Royal left-hander, and Johnny Kuhns until the 10th inning. Then, two Montreal runs, via three singles and a walk, put the quietus on the struggling Red Wings.

Loa Stringer unfurled a home run in the first to give Rochester a 1-0 lead. However, Sam Jethroe cracked his second four-master of the series in the fifth, and it was tied 1-1.

George Byam sparked the Bisons' 14-hit assault. The first baseman crashed three doubles, a home run scored twice and batted in four tallies.

The Second Guessers Society, Kept Quiet So Far By Casey Stengel's Sound Strategy, Has Come To Life

The Second Guessers Society, kept conspicuously silent this year by the sound baseball tactics of Casey Stengel, has finally come to life.

The members of the S.G.S. are pointing fingers at the veteran manager of New York Yankees, accusing him of pulling a couple of "rocks" yesterday that cost the Bronx Bombers an important game.

How much more those "lapses" will cost the Yankees will not be determined until the season's close, but yesterday they helped Cleveland Indians defeat the Yankees 10-6, trimming the New Yorkers' first-place margin in the American League over Boston to 2½ games.

Stengel's belated critics admit that he's done a remarkable job this year. They don't deny that his brilliant maneuvering of an injury-riddled club, plus his sound strategy in numerous tight spots has been one of the reasons for the Yankees' surprising success.

However, they also point out that Stengel was as much at fault in yesterday's loss to the Indians as pitcher Allie Reynolds or the four players who committed the five errors which gave Cleveland five unearned runs.

The S.G.S. is asking just why Stengel ordered Reynolds to issue an intentional pass to Larry Doby in the eighth inning thus forcing Allie to face the ever-dangerous Joe Gordon with a runner in scoring position?

And why didn't Casey yank Reynolds during that hectic eighth when the Tribe slammed him for four straight hits and five runs after two were out?

Here is what happened in the eighth: The score was 2-2 in Cleveland's favor. Reynolds walked Dale Mitchell to open the inning.

Trailing 8-2 the Yankees pounced on Bob Lemon for four runs in their half of the eighth to get back into the ball game. A walk, single and home runs by Cliff Mages and Yogi Berra made it 8-6. Al Benton relieved Lemon at this point and stemmed the Yankees' rest of the way. The Indians added two insurance runs in the ninth to make Lemon the third 20-game winner in the major leagues. The others are Mel Parnell and Ellis Kinder of the Red Sox.

The Yankees' defeat probably raised the spirits of Joe McCarthy's Red Sox, who now trail by four games in the important "lost" column. The Yankees have sixteen games left to play, and the Red Sox only 13. The league leaders will be at home in 12 of them, while Boston has only seven home engagements.

The Indians, practically out of it, trail by 6½ games.

Bouchard, Campeau, Leger Sign Contracts

Montreal, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League signed Emile (Butch) Bouchard to his ninth National Hockey League contract yesterday along with three other members of last year's team.

Forwards Jean (To) Campeau and Joe Carveth and rearguard Roger Leger, signed their contracts for the 1949-50 seasons shortly before the team left to begin training at the Canadiens' camp at St. Hyacinthe, Que.

To date, only two members of last season's team, Bobby Hillion and Normie Dussault, both forwards, have not signed their contracts.

Alex Carreseque, middle man of three hurlers, received the victory. Red Harley, hit soundly in three innings, suffering the defeat.

Lucky Jack Lohrke was the 'Lil Giants' big hammer, driving a double and home run while knocking in four runs.

MINER GIVES LIFE TO SAVE COMRADES FROM BLAST

Watsik Koltan, of Val D'Or, Que., carries away lighted dynamite charge

Koltan and his co-worker had gone down into the gold mine to explode a piece of rock which was obstructing the second level. They had just lighted the fuse when a sudden rockslide crushed Koltan's mate. The gallant miner, a former D.P., grabbed the dynamite sticks in his hand and began to run away from his crew-mates... the fuse fizzling grimly as he put distance between his friends and himself.

Seconds later the explosion came. The others, although thrown down, were not hurt. Koltan had given his life to save his friends. We hope that The Dore Award, presented posthumously, will help express our country's appreciation of the supreme sacrifice made by this new Canadian.

THE DOW AWARD is a citation presented for acts of outstanding heroism and includes a $100 Canada Savings Bond. The Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Canadian daily newspapers, selects winners from recommendations made by a nationally known news organization.

Sherbrooke Industrial Softball League Champions

The above photo shows the Unitcast Steel Company softball squad, champions of the Sherbrooke Industrial Softball League for the past season.

The team won the finals in three straight games from the Superheater club and is the third consecutive year that Ernie Galvin's team have topped the title. In the semi-finals they eliminated the Railroaders and then took Jimmy O'Connor's squad in the finals.
