Six hundred school-age children who crossed the border alone during last year's crisis will be cared for until they can cope for themselves — several years from now. The Canadian Save the Children Fund needs financial help to continue this work through the Austrian branches of this world-wide organization.

Christmas Tea At Cowansville Realizes $213

COWANSVILLE — Gaily lighted Christmas trees and soft music provided the perfect background for the delightful tea and sale which the ladies of the Friendly Society held in Trinity Memorial Hall. A lovely, tiny creche greeted the eyes of the many who entered the door. The booths were all attractive, and the surprise package table of particular appeal to the youngsters. Milk was available for the younger set, some of whom accompanied their mothers at the candlelit tea tables. Congratulations are due to all who worked for the success of this event which netted over $213 for the church. Mrs. Cecile Goyette is president of the Society. Conveners were: Food, Mr. M. Bowles; Christmas articles, Mrs. R. A. Hooper and Mrs. Percy Ogden; candy, Mrs. D. Watt and

Mrs. E. Dunwoody; tree and surprises, Mrs. George Barker and Mrs. P. C. Hillhouse. W.I. MEETING The Women's Institute held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Hilton Smith, with Mrs. Irwin Haines as cohostess. Following the business meeting there was a Christmas party, at which each member provided a gift for a needy infant or child at the B.M.P. Hospital. At the next meeting which will be held at the home of Mrs. John Robertson, "Galasjels", Main Street, demonstration of rugmaking will be given by an expert, Mrs. Lloyd Lewis. This will be on the afternoon of January 7, and anyone interested is cordially invited to be present. General Notes Little Miss Sandra Browning is convalescing after an append-ectomy at the B.M.P. Hospital. The gay, coloured lights again bedeck the main streets of Cowansville. The festoons make a cheerful background for shoppers in the late afternoons and Friday and Saturday evenings. Mr. and Mrs. Percy Ogden with their son, Johnny, spent the weekend in Montreal at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Vic Coveduck and Mr. Coveduck. The first three residents have moved into the recently dedicated Nesbitt Anglican Residence. They are Mrs. Margaret Morrison, recently of Waterloo; Mrs. Bertha Browning from St. Lambert; Mrs. L. Whitby from Montreal. These three ladies attended the Friendly Tea and were accompanied by Miss Franklin Harvey of the staff of the Home.

Disposal Of $600,000 Problem For Indians

CALAIS, Alta. (CP)—The once poverty-stricken Sturgeon Lake Indians have been saddled with the welcome problem of what to do with $600,000. The money was paid to the band of 400 crees for oil-drilling rights on their reservation in this Peace River area of northwestern Alberta. Four years ago, with only $25,000 in their federally-administered tribal reserve, they were among the poorest Indian bands in the north. Then came the oil crews. In spirited bidding after exploration indicated several oil pools in and around the reserve, major firms paid the band's council $600,000 for drilling rights. Ironically, two test holes drilled so far on the reserve have been failures. Both were dry. No matter to the Crees. They already have their money. And if future drilling should result in producing wells, the band will have the satisfaction of knowing that, under the royalty contract, they own eight per cent of all oil that flows. After many meetings of the band's elected council, the Indians decided to use part of the money in a house-building program which they reckon will provide homes for 50 families within five years. "They have been sensible about it," says Indian Agent A. H. Murray of nearby High Prairie. "There are few bands who have treated oil revenue like the Sturgeon Lake folks." Most of the houses will be five-room, $3,000 structures allotted on the basis of need. However, band Chief Dave Kappo and councillor Dan McLean, using their personal share of the oil money, have built modern $6,000 houses for themselves. "This is a starting point toward a progressively higher standard of living," says Mr. Murray.

Novel Entertainment For Newfoundlanders

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The Voice of Wesley Radio here is believed the most unusual radio station in Canada. It is the only station owned and operated by a church; it is financed entirely by goodwill offerings, radio auctions and home delivery of turkey teas; and it is manned by a volunteer staff. VOWR was launched in 1924 by Rev. J. G. Joyce of Verdun, Que., who wanted to overcome ill-health and poor weather that prevented people from attending the Wesley United Church. Many people in those days listened to the 50-watt transmitter with ear phones. Their radio was a crystal, a cat's whisker and a coil of wire wrapped around a cardboard cylinder. Today an enthusiastic group of men manage the station which puts out 1,000 watts. Sunday is the most popular listening day when church services of all denominations are broadcast in turn. Following the services residents of Harbor Grace may learn that a certain patient is making good progress in hospital following an operation, or that uncle Tom of Burin is up and about again. Last year VOWR handled 11,000 hospital reports for outport residents, many of whom have no other means of communication with St. John's. Other special features include broadcasts of hospital graduating exercises; college speeches and debates; children's programs; hymns and music. VOWR made history five years after it was opened. A tidal wave ripped over the Burin Peninsula and the radio station then was the only means of communication from St. John's.

Just As Pretty, But Dumpier Says Prof.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Russian girl students are as pretty as those seen on their campus here, but are somewhat "dumpier," says Dr. Cyril Reid, chemistry professor at the University of British Columbia. Recently returned from a scientific conference in Russia, where he spent several weeks visiting Moscow Universities, Dr. Reid said that a Russian woman of the so-called intellectual elite who will not work is regarded as a parasite. If she belongs to a lower strata of society and does not work, the family does not have enough money. "Intelligent women serve as doctors and scientific technologists of all kinds, releasing men for physical sciences since most women seem to lack interest or aptitude in the mathematical side of science. "Among so-called intellectuals virtually every woman works. NOT DIET-CONSCIOUS "At the bottom of the scale, if a woman has a lot of children, it is socially acceptable to look after them. But a woman can't rest on her laurels. When she finishes rearing her children she is likely to be given a job by the government. "Russian women are not always six feet tall and driving tractors as some propaganda pictures suggest. The girls are not diet-conscious yet, but the word is filtering through."

SAWYERVILLE — At the regular meeting of Wilhelmina Lodge it was decided that the next meeting on December 17th will be the Christmas meeting when the Assembly President, Sister Ruth Stoddard, will pay her official visit. All members are invited to come and bring a gift which will be exchanged. Friends of Mr. William Faulkner regret to learn of his serious accident when he cut his hand. He is a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital.

BROOKBURY — Mr. Allan Martin and Miss Ethel Martin, of Montreal, were weekend guests of their mother, Mrs. John Martin. Mrs. Alice Card of Ottawa visited at the same home.

Toy Manufacturers Live For Christmas

NEW YORK (CP) — The big Christmas tree stands once more in Rockefeller Centre. Stores are ablaze with neon cheer. Street-corner Santas ring their bells. Christmas is hitting New York. Hymns are heard, sometimes in the strangled tones of teen-age idols who are crazy, man, just crazy. Cash registers ring out a merry tune. And a real Christmas twinkles in the eyes of toy sellers, who've been waiting all year for hits.

Toy Manufacturers of the U.S. Incorporated estimates that $50,000,000 a day is being spent on toys between the American Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 28, and Christmas.

New York buyers ranged over much of the world - including Japan, Turkey, India, Italy, Britain and Germany - in search of toy ideas. They didn't go to Moscow, but they were spurred into child-like enthusiasm by the Russian Sputniks.

They waited eagerly for the first U.S. artificial moon to be launched, bring another impetus in sales. But many toy manufacturers were left behind by the speedy scientific events of the adult world, having planned their outer-space production for next year.

"There is nothing new in 'toys really,'" said Ralph Shipman of the Toy Makers Association. "Toys are life in miniature. Show me what is new in life, and I'll show you a new toy."

Rocket launchers, supersonic jets, snacmen and horrendous-looking weapons of every kind are in display in the shops.

HEAD WARMERS
At the posh Fifth Avenue Schwartz Shop, however, you can find a refreshing array of huge giraffes, lions, tigers and just plain moo-cows contentedly chewing their cuds.

Radar speed trap sets for junior are going for $8.98. Adults have a choice of playthings, of a kind, too. A mere $5.95 will get you a tranquilizer kit, including eye pads, ear stops and miniature hot bath. "Head warmers for sleeping skin heads" are finding buyers.

Mink bedspreads are going for about $1,000. Then there are mink-trimmed dusters for factious housewives and back-scrubbers with mink and rhinestones.

In toys alone, the manufacturers say U. S. retail sales will reach $1,000,000,000 in the Thanksgiving-Christmas period.

As a matter of interest, that is nearly 10 times as much as the cost of the moon-launching Vanguard project.

The Queen Goes Shopping For Gifts

LONDON (Reuters) — The Queen went on a Christmas shopping spree Friday to buy presents for her children and other members of the Royal Family.

Accompanied by only one lady-in-waiting, she toured a large department store and ordered gifts in several departments.

Many of the shoppers did not recognize the Queen.

LONG ORDEAL
ST. THOMAS, Ont. (CP)—A tomcat must have used up most of its nine lives when it became stranded atop a power pole here. The cat paced the crossbar, with its 2,300-volt power lines, until rescued by a lineman two days later.

Boyhood Dream Reality For Calgary Resident

CALGARY (CP) — A boyhood dream soon will become a reality for a Norwegian-born Calgarian who has organized a 42,000-mile boat cruise around the world.

Svein Madsen is captain and owner of the ship Nordsaga. His crew has been hand picked in Calgary and he intends his vessel to serve as a goodwill ambassador to the Alberta city.

Every crew member is an Alberta resident. All but one live in Calgary.

They will leave Bergen, Norway, sometime in the new year, and expect to arrive at Vancouver two years later.

VISIT MANY LANDS
Stopping points will include Oslo, the Danish coast, Belgium,

Holland, England, Gibraltar, Spain, the Riviera, Italy, Malta, Canary Islands, Ghana, St. Helena, Madagascar, India, Ceylon, Malaya, Sumatra, Australia, New Zealand, Fiji and Hawaii.

Mr. Madsen has been in Calgary for six years and he says he now looks on Calgary as his home. He has not forgotten the sea, however.

"I've been sailing since I was a boy," he said. "This cruise is something I've always wanted to do."

Jill Madson, Svein's English-born wife, is just as excited as her husband.

"I'll be one of the crew," she said, "and I think it's just wonderful."

Only native Calgarian on the crew is Irene Bell who will be making her first ocean cruise.

John Courtney, a young Englishman who recently studied agriculture at McGill University, is another member. His job: "swabbing decks, I suppose," he said. "I really don't mind, though, because this trip will be a wonderful experience."

REPORTER JOINS
Bill Sinclair, a recent arrival from the United Kingdom, is leaving a newspaper reporting job here to join the crew.

Rounding off the six-member crew is Patrick Turner, a much travelled Englishman who says he likes Canada and Alberta but still has a wanderlust.

Mr. Madsen personally selected his crew from more than 100 applicants. Crew members will work regular shipboard shifts.

During the next two years, home for these six persons will be a 47-foot deep-sea cruiser used for several years as a rescue ship by the Norwegian government.

Its name originally was "R.S. Christiansund," but it has been renamed "Nordsaga," meaning "Saga of the North Country."

The crew will leave Calgary in mid-December and will sail from Saint John, N.B. to Bergen to start the voyage.

New Faces For Criminals Help To Rehabilitation

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Vancouver surgeon is testing his theory that new faces will in many cases aid a criminal's rehabilitation.

Every Thursday, the doctor, who prefers to remain anonymous, visits Oakalla prison and goes about his work of removing as far as possible long-standing disfigurement and deformity. His work is a voluntary contribution in a new field.

He says he believes that in certain cases criminal behavior can be traced to such disabilities as a broken, twisted nose or ugly scar.

"If the prisoner can be made to appear normal, there is an added chance of his behaving normally when he returns to society."

The surgeon has conducted about 225 such operations over the last five years. There are no statistics by which to measure success, but both he and warden Hugh Christie say "a significant number" of prisoners have successfully re-established themselves after treatment.

Simple plastic surgery is used in most cases mostly under local anaesthetic in the prison hospital.

DELINQUENTS HELPED
"The most obvious truth in the whole experiment has been the fact that a significant number of confirmed delinquents who up until time of treatment have been unreformable have subsequently re-established themselves successfully," said warden Christie.

The surgeon does not conclude that physical deformities help to make criminals, but the fact re-

Divorce Bill Hits Snag In Commons
OTTAWA (CP)—A divorce bill hit a snag in a Commons committee Friday when it was disclosed that the respondent has written Governor-General Massey asking that he deny royal assent.

Charles E. Rea (PC—Toronto-Spadina), chairman of the Commons committee on miscellaneous private bills, told the committee Mrs. Marie Antoinette Florida Campeau Cross of Montreal wrote the governor-general asking that the bill not be assented to. Royal assent is the final stage making a bill law.

The petitioner for divorce is Ernest Frank Cross of Montreal. Mr. Rea did not read the respondent's letter but said it makes "certain accusations against witnesses and they are not here to defend themselves."

The committee delayed action on the bill to write the respondent's solicitors and ask whether the petition will be formally contested in the Commons committee.

Actresses Profit By Working In Other Countries

MONTREAL (CP) — Hermione Baddeley, British comedienne and movie star, says aspiring young actresses can profit by working in a foreign country.

"I never did because I was too conceited," she said. "But I've heard of some who came to America—not to do well here—but to be better received when they returned home."

Miss Baddeley, a veteran of more than 25 years in the theatre was here to make her Canadian debut in a stage presentation.

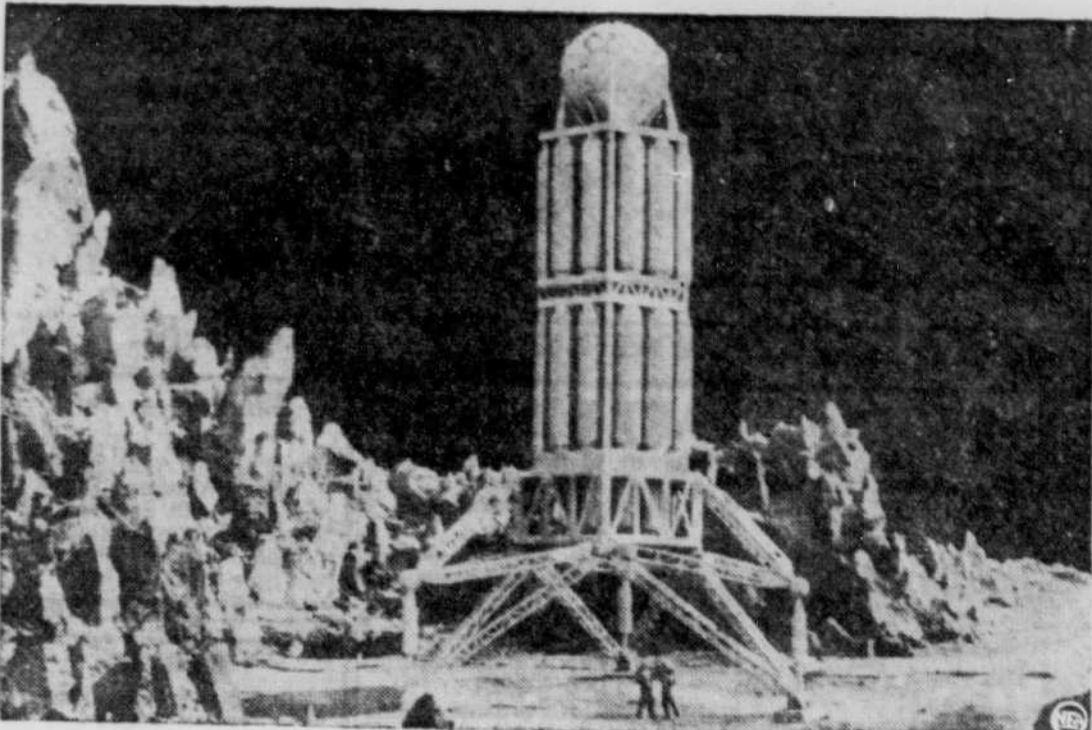

"The theatre as an occupation has an unusual lure," she said. "One doesn't really adore it. But if you stay away you miss it. I gave it up for four years when I married and it was hard."

Miss Baddeley is separated from her husband, David Tennant, a Vancouver businessman. The couple have two children—a daughter now married and a son.

Engineering Gains Also Bring Problems

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT (AP) — Design and engineering advances in the newest model automobiles have brought new servicing problems as well as convenience and comfort to the motorist.

Some of the servicing operations have to be handled by experts trained at the factories.

They would present more than the usual problems to the self-employed mechanic or the do-it-yourself enthusiast.

Wholly new to automobile repair shop workers is the servicing of fuel injectors, air suspension systems and air levelers. And for some filling station shops the new "X" frames present lift problems for grease and oil jobs and under-the-car repairs.

REQUIRES TRAINING

Servicing fuel injectors is a technical problem. It requires training and knowledge of their design. To that extent the problem is complex only where there is a lack of such knowledge.

Somewhat different is the handling of the air suspension and air leveling units. They operate automatically. Any shifting of weight brings the levelizer into action.

The auto makers introducing air suspension generally are issuing directions for safe handling of the units in the repair shop. They caution against turning on ignition or opening any doors when the car is on a hoist or when any wheel is off the ground. Either of these actions will put the levelizer into action.

They also recommend that the battery ground strap be disconnected to prevent leveling action when the car is being towed with front or rear wheels off the ground.

DIFFERENT SYSTEMS

The service workers also are cautioned against raising the rear end of a car with rear shock absorbers disconnected. This, they are told, could result in a separation of the rear air-spring assemblies and other possible damage to the system.

The systems are not all alike. In some instances a switch may be tripped to lock out the automatic leveling feature. But in many instances even the car owner is not entirely familiar with its operation.

The hazards involved in servicing newly-developed equipment are thoroughly explained in the owners' manuals that go with new cars. The car makers are urging new car buyers to read these manuals immediately upon getting delivery.

Many car buyers never open the guide books until trouble develops.

Inco Research helps Canada grow

This scale model of an orebody at Inco's Creighton Mine is made of layers of coloured sand and gravel. The dark layer near the bottom represents the higher grade ore; above are layers of lower grade ore and waste rock containing little or no ore. By shifting the flow of these sands, Inco was able to study and adapt an unusual method of low cost mining to this ore, making its recovery economical.

Through Inco Research lower grade ores are mined economically

At Creighton Mine near Sudbury a large body of lower grade ore was known to exist. It promised to be an important source of nickel and copper—if it could be mined economically. But how to get this ore out at a cost low enough to be commercially practical?

Intensive study went into the problem. Underground tests were made. Observing that the earth above the mined-out orebodies had begun to settle, Inco mining engineers suggested the possibility of mining the lower grade ore by induced settling. Ore would be cut away from the underside of the orebody. As the support for the ore and rock above was removed, the mass would begin to settle causing the ore to break up so that it could be drawn off and recovered. The idea sounded good.

Scale models were built to determine how the ore could be drawn off from below without getting the waste rock above the ore. Then the method was tried in the mine. The results were so promising that regular mining operations were begun. Today, Creighton Mine is producing 12,000 tons of this lower grade ore daily. And Inco Research did it!

SURGERY IS ONLY COURSE FOR RELIEF OF PAINFUL SPINAL CYST

The condition under discussion by today's first correspondent is extremely troublesome.

Q.—Recently my daughter developed a bump at the base of her spine. After examination the physician described this as a pilonidal cyst. Would you please explain what this condition is?

—Mrs. L. non-cancerous tumor known as a cyst lying near the outlet of the digestive tract at the base of the spine. It sometimes becomes particularly painful after continued injury and has been called "jeep disease."

Q.—Please discuss ichthyosis. This has plagued my side of the family for many years. Three of my four children have this condition. Over the years I have been to several specialists but come away feeling I know as much as they do about the condition.

—Mr. H. A—This unusual condition is also known as fish skin disease because the skin appears very much like the scales of a fish.

Q.—I do not know of any convincing statistical studies which show that those who sleep with their windows closed are a strong, healthy lot, and those who sleep with their windows open are weak and sickly, nor the other way around. I have a strong personal preference for sufficient air at night with open windows.

Q.—Is it true that some hormone shots can cause growth of hair on the face? —V.E.

The secretary read several letters, among them one from George McCammon of the Men's Club containing a cheque for $170. This sum was in connection with the sale of advertising on the programs for the recent Women's Club play "Deadlier Than The Male".

Another piece of correspondence and its subsequent discussion concerned the request for clothing from a family in the Bras d'Or district, this subject to be gone into further.

Other business of the meeting concerned the sale of church calendars, thank offering boxes being brought in and a letter from Mrs. Jobin in regard to the proposed fashion show in the spring.

It was suggested that St. John's Church have its own Christmas party this year, separate from the High School, and the Men's Club in co-operation with the Women's Club were asked to take charge of arrangements.

Kiwanis Welfare Work Described By Governor At Thetford Meeting

THETFORD MINES — The Kiwanis Club recently had the honor of entertaining John Baker, of Montreal, the Governor of Kiwanis for Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes. Mr. Baker was accompanied to Thetford Mines by his wife, and while he spoke to the Kiwanians at their regular Monday evening meeting, Mrs. Baker was entertained at dinner and a cocktail party by the Kiwanians wives.

It was a particularly high moment in the life of the local Kiwanians in that a group of them had just returned from Seven Islands where they had taken a leading part in the formation of a new Kiwanis Club there. Following the chartering of the new club in Seven Islands, Mr. Baker returned to Thetford Mines with the group.

In his speech, Mr. Baker dwelt chiefly on the welfare work of the club and their work with the young, the presumable Kiwanians of tomorrow. In connection with the work, Mr. Baker cited a few instances of the clubs efforts, such as helping underprivileged children, transporting of cerebral palsy victims, support of the church and things of this nature.

In connection with youth work, Mr. Baker reported on the Key Clubs and the Circle K Clubs and local Kiwanians were interested to know how quickly these clubs, once sponsored by an adult group, become self-sustaining and even able to help others.

Mr. Baker, whose term of office as Governor of the Eastern Kiwanis Division is drawing to a close, looks back on the year as a most satisfying one. This has, he states, been one of the biggest years in the history of Ontario-Quebec, Maritimes District, with not only large sums of money raised, but the formation of 15 new clubs.

The final November meeting of Kiwanians saw the election of their new slate of officers. Succeeding Gaetan Therberge as president will be George Smith. Other officers elected were first vice-president, Lucien Therrien; second vice-president, Louis Fleisch; secretary, Richard Labelle; treasurer, H. Griffiths; directors, Harold McNaughton, George Jenkins, Tom Johnston, Frank Cunningham, Lionel Puzze, Gaby Roberge and George Dupont.

Attending the second week were Capt. R. Dodds-Hebron, Sgt. Alfred Leclerc, Sgt. Albert Ducloux and S/Sgt. L. Bourret. The instruction includes such things as first aid, rescue work and traffic control in case of bombing.

Chief of Police Albert Lamonde is the local head of the Civil Defence and in time of emergency the Army would be under his direction in this work. It is understood that chief Lamonde, without too much response as yet unfortunately, has been endeavouring to promote interest in Civil Defence among Thetford Mines citizens.
