St. John's Guild Sponsors Fashion Show Parade

Professional Flourish to Perfection Displayed—Frocks Styled Were From the Mademoiselle Dress Shop and Furs From Mr. L. Fredette's

By Beatrice Carr

The first Fashion Show to be held in Huntingdon, sponsored by the St. John's Guild and held in the Assembly Room on Friday evening was presented with professional flourish and to perfection. To soft music by recordings, loud speaker announcements with spotlights, nine models paraded on the carpeted runway, up and down the middle of the room.

The costumes were supplied by The Mademoiselle Dress Shop, Chateauguay St. Mr. Steve Blondin commented on each number, while Dr. J. E. Caza gallantly escorted the models to and from the platform.

Mde. Violet Blondin, proprietress of the Mademoiselle Dress Shop, looked charming in a Dorsa evening dress of grey crepe with gold nailheads outlining the round low neck. The skirt was mid-length with draped peplum and gold kid belt. While all the dresses had definite style appeal, there were no very extreme features and length of skirts appeared only slightly lower.

The costumes were shown in three divisions: Business, Sports and General wear; Semi-formal or meetings; Dresses for special occasions. The models all performed most gracefully and were a credit to the occasion. Mrs. William Rosenchein coached the models and deserves high praise for the successful showing.

Mr. Lionel Fredette, formerly of Ostiguy's, and now Manager of Marchand's Store in Huntingdon, who will shortly open his own fur store in the McDonald building, brought to the Fashion Show a number of fashionable coats which were effectively displayed on the models.

Mr. Blondin thanked all those who co-operated in this Exhibition, mentioning that the Costume Jewelry had been loaned by W. S. Brown; the microphone by Stanley Currie; carpets and record player from Marchand's; the platform by Tully Lumber Co. Special thanks were extended to the charming models, their coach, Mrs. Rosenschein, Mde. Lucille Mercier of Montreal, who was responsible for the Beauty Councillor facial make-ups, Mde. Yvette Toupin, hair stylist, and to the Guild for their hospitality.

Mrs. Adam Sellar made the drawing for the Door Prize, a blouse from the Mademoiselle Shop, to be selected by the winner, Miss Meriba Will. Mrs. William Rowat was the lucky winner of the prize for the models.

Mrs. Sidney Smith, President of the Guild, welcomed the guests and delicious refreshments were served by the Guild members to 175 guests.

Betty Dillingham appeared in an "Anne Louise" turquoise blue wool jersey coat dress with coral cuffs and collar, silver buttons, pleated back. Powder blue wool afternoon dress, skirt with machine embroidery. A new York original party frock, fitted waist of bronze and white metallic taffeta, box-pleated ballerina skirt of black taffeta. Cocoa brown silk crepe, fitted long waist, hips draped with darker brown folds. She wore a form-fitted, flared skirt, grey cloth coat, trimmed with grey lamb.

Helene Barrette: A Collegiate dress of brown corduroy with fawn jersey top, red tie and cuffs. She was lovely in an exclusive original Dorsae, St. Louis model in winter white jersey; gathered skirt with a lion's head chained to the black suede belt. Miss America won her crown in a Dorsae dress. A "Best-ever" Montreal, black crepe dinner dress, cut steel on belt and draped skirt. She was elegant in a blue velour coat, platinum fox trimmed in tuxedo style.

Anita Foisey: A red plaid business dress in wool with large pockets. A semi-formal black crepe, shirred and draped skirt. A turquoise blue fine wool crepe dinner dress with silver embroidery. In the coat parade she wore a full length grey seal.

Marjorie Anderson: Business dress of grey wool jersey, skirt front-pleated. Powder blue crepe evening dress, silver sequins on shoulder and wide side pocket of skirt. A dusty rose crepe dinner dress, trimmed with gold sequins. Topping this was a short coat of red cross fox. She also modeled a beige general purpose fish-tail coat and a sports ensemble—plaid skirt with pink sweater set.

Yvette Houde: Grey and maroon stripe sport dress, narrow grey skirt slit in front and back. A black crepe skirt had a grey wool top, with buttons from right shoulder to left hip. Good idea for remodeling two dresses. She was attractive in a signorina costume for evening, in black crepe, rhinestone studded waist. Rhinestones glittered on the coral-lined hood and flared cuffs. Teamed with this was a bright red fish-tail coat with platinum fox collar.

Jean Rowat: Wore a Minx Model afternoon two-piece in brown wool crepe, trimmed with pale blue. Turquoise blue dinner suit, side peplum pockets trimmed with sequins and braid. A stunning princess model in grey crepe, tuxedo waist outlined in pink felt and silver in formal design. Victorian full puffed upper sleeve, long tight cuff. She carried a pink and silver fan to accent the period design. Her coat was peacock blue with black velvet lined hood.

Olivette Caza: A practical dress for the office of grey flannel with scarlet pockets. A grey tweed suit trimmed with gold braid on reveres. Black crepe dinner costume, butterfly design embroidery.

Mrs. Cecil Stark: A Kerner, Montreal, model in grey and green wool, practical and smart. A chartreuse wool dress trimmed with nail heads. A black dinner dress was elaborately trimmed with sprays of vari-colored sequins, extending to the draped skirt. A handsome brown boucle fish-tail coat, the bell sleeves deeply trimmed with mink.

Mrs. R. Anderson: A Cossack suit in royal blue crepe with silver buttons. A powder blue wool crepe and a satin trimmed black crepe dress. A coat of black beaver cloth, trimmed with black Persian lamb.

BRITISH EMPIRE MEDAL

Above is a reproduction of the B.E.M. awarded to Mr. A. M. Thompson of Huntingdon, recently, and following is the citation on the award:

Award of
to
D-82618 Staff-Sergeant Alexander McCrindle Thompson
Canadian Provost Corps

This non-commissioned officer enlisted in the Canadian Army (Active) on 15 July 1940. He was appointed to the staff of No. 69 Military Detention Barracks on 11 April 1941 and has given outstanding service in the performance of his duties as a non-commissioned officer in his work at Military Detention Barracks. It is considered that Staff-Sergeant Thompson, by his demeanor and interpretation of the requirements of a non-commissioned officer engaged in military detention barracks work has greatly added to the efficiency of the entire staffs of Military Detention Barracks not only in this district but in Newfoundland where he was also engaged in the same duties. He is a perfect parade square soldier, his knowledge and methods of instruction are of the highest order, his cheerful manner and the leadership he has displayed have done much not only to relieve the solitude which often confronts even the members of the staff of Military Detention Barracks but also the soldiers under sentence have benefitted by his application of a complete understanding of people in a less fortunate position than himself. He has proved that rigid discipline does not mean ineffective bullying. It is felt that the result of the services that this non-commissioned officer has rendered are not only apparent now, but will be the means of making useful citizens of discharged soldiers who have served periods in military detention barracks who would have become what they were in many instances prior to their enlistment, a liability instead of an asset to society as a whole.

Howick Group Hears Gilbert McMillan

Addresses Community School on Trip to Scotland

On Oct. 22nd, the Community School heard an interesting address by Mr. Gilbert McMillan, of Huntingdon, who has recently returned from a trip to Scotland and England. While there he visited many farmers and his talk concerned things of an agricultural nature. As we all know, the speaker is a Scot, who came to Canada, while still a young man. He knows the ups and downs, the ins and outs of farming as only a practical and intelligent farmer can know them. Having these qualifications he saw, heard, and understood, more than the ordinary traveller would, about farming in Great Britain. There were few comparisons made between Canada and Great Britain, because one is an exporting country, the other an importing. Agriculture seemed to be the best business in the country. There is a standard eight-hour day with minimum wage around $22.50 per week, with overtime, and also special overtime for holidays. Prisoner-of-war labour is still being used, but every farmer has more help than the ordinary farmer here. The land is limed every four years. They believe in longer rotation and their pastures are wonderful, like a thick, green carpet. Much land is underdrained.

On a 200 acre farm from 40 to 60 cows would be milked and most of them appeared to be in what we call the 10,000 lb class. Their method of testing is simple; One test every month and an average taken 2 weeks back and 2 weeks ahead. All figures made in ink, and a special inspector uses red ink. Besides that number of cows, there would be sheep on every farm.

City men are not allowed to play around with farming. Any farmer who does not do a good job will find his land taken over by the government. Mr. McMillan regretted that the tithe-house, for hired help, is disappearing, and the men now live in villages. Children do not grow up doing farm chores, this eventually may do great harm. The government seems anxious to keep the farmers, probably for political reasons. Of course everyone is taxed to the limit but there is little talk of communism.

The group thoroughly enjoyed this informal talk. Mr. Gerald Roy moved a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. McMillan for giving such a worthwhile evening.

Control Milk Quebec Asked

LACHUTE, Que.,—A plea that the milk distribution-industry in Quebec be placed under the jurisdiction of the Department of Commerce and Industry was made here by J. P. Granger of St. Johns at the convention of the Quebec Milk Distributors' Association, in session.

Mr. Granger stressed the importance of the industry by citing statistics. The industry in Quebec, the speaker stated, represents 166 pasteurization and distributing plants, compared to 87 10 years ago, with a combined capital of $40,000,000, most of which comes from the savings and personal efforts of Quebecers.

Mr. Granger also pointed out that 83 per cent of the population of towns, cities, and villages now drink pasteurized milk. He said that this was a very significant development, since pasteurization is compulsory in only 22 municipalities and that most plants put it into effect without compulsion.

Huntingdon Mills Share in Display at Montreal

Woollen Blankets From Blanket Industry Gift to Princess Elizabeth

Two of the mills in Huntingdon had exhibits of their goods at the display under the auspices of The International Wool Secretariat in connection with the Canadian Woollen and Knit Goods Manufacturers Association convention, held at Montreal this week. They were Leach Textiles Ltd., who had two exhibits, and Fawcett & Grant Ltd., who had one exhibit. Sixteen firms had various numbers of exhibits each, and the whole made a wonderful showing of woollen fabrics in many beautiful colors and weights.

On Monday afternoon, the day of the opening of the 25th Annual Meeting, members of the press were given a preview of the exhibition and entertained by officials of the various firms attending the convention, held at the Mount Royal Hotel. A Gleaner representative was privileged to be one of the press party and came away much impressed by what will undoubtedly become the trend of fashion in so far as woollen goods are concerned.

There is no doubt that window draperies will undergo a change in the very near future and that woollen materials will supplant those now in use. The colour that can be introduced into the woollen draperies is one very important reason why they will become popular. The many arrangements that can be had by use of the colours in combination is another reason why they will become a matter of public choice. The International Wool Secretariat which had arranged the display certainly did so with an art that brought forth many an exclamation from the ladies present. False windows were used to show the effect of the window draperies and some very startling effects were achieved. One which particularly caught our eye was that which had a plaid drape across the top of the window and two straight drapes, one at each side. It was the plaid that gave it its effect. It tended to add width to the window as well as height. Other types were straight full window width in colors of pastel shades of green, red, yellow and so forth. Another effect was obtained by looping two colors through rings over the window and with side drapes of another color—thus one had a three-colour effect that was most pleasing. To those persons who have modern type windows built into their homes, many pleasing effects can be had by this type of drapery. They have colour, charm and distinction and help to give any room that rich and pleasing effect that so many housewives desire in their homes. All materials shown were manufactured in Canada and designed by Canadian Mills. The exhibit itself was designed by Louis Reynal, New York; execution by Ridpath's Ltd., Toronto.

Not only were these new type drapes on display, but many kinds of suiting materials for both men and women. These were in various colors, designs and patterns and give a very good idea of what Canadian concerns can do in the way of producing fabrics that are pleasing and of good wearing qualities.

An outstanding exhibit was that of the blankets that are to form the wedding gift of the Canadian Blanket Industry to Princess Elizabeth. These were very beautifully wrapped in cellophane and tied on the inside with wide ribbons finished with rosette type bows. They were in white and blue. The blue blankets were put up in boxes that were covered in red woollen material of the appearance of velvet. These blankets were delightfully soft to the touch and edged in a satin material of the same shade as the blanket. The ribbons tying the blankets were of the same material as the edging. It was an eye-catching display and the importance of the event and the fact that Canadian manufacturers produced these blankets should prove to be something every Canadian can be proud of.

Another feature of the exhibition was a competition in which the sum of $50.00 is being offered to anyone attending the convention who can pick correctly from the swath book of sample materials those made in England and those made in Canada. Twenty-eight samples are in the book and the winner must name twenty-five of them correctly. Most of those there on Monday afternoon were of the opinion that the difference is so slight that only purely guess work and chance would enable anyone to make a correct choice. This opinion was voiced by many of those who can be classed as experts in the business. However, many were making selections and it would be interesting to know the result when the competition closes.

While the press held sway on Monday afternoon, it was reported that wholesale and retail merchants would be given an opportunity to view and examine the display on other days of the convention.

For the greatest results it would seem that the lady of the house is the one to actually see the display as it will be the consumer who will finally decide on the success or otherwise of this new trend in woollen materials. Once this has been accomplished, we believe many homes will use the new woollen draperies in place of those now in use.

Rural Day at Huntingdon Rotary

Gilbert McMillan Gives Informative Talk on Farming in Britain

Monday was rural-urban day at the Huntingdon Rotary meeting and a number of farmers were guests when Gilbert McMillan spoke. Mr. McMillan made further references to his impressions gained along agricultural lines, upon his recent visit to Britain.

Conditions in Britain are almost opposite to those in Canada. For example, in Britain the people have to depend to a very great extent upon imports, whilst we in Canada must do a great deal of export trade. Agriculture is a much favoured child in Britain. Subsidies are freely granted in one form or another on food stuffs, and such may become a permanent feature for the people of Britain. The reason for such is that the Government wishes to see the people get low cost food and be content with lower wages.

Lands were plowed up and converted into fields of production upon the guarantee of produce prices during the period of World War I, but after the war the guarantee of prices was withdrawn and much of this land went back to grass. World War II saw a drive again made toward making Britain more self-supporting as to food and the increase was such that in place of being so dependant they increased their production from 40% to 80% of their requirements. This land that had a rest became very productive, as the figures indicate. Today we find the people of Britain determined to maintain that 80% production level. Protection is being accorded and especially to such foods as milk, meat and poultry. Straight subsidies are being accorded for the raising of calves and lambs.

The standard hours of labour call for a 48-hour week, and the wage represents $22 a week. Overtime is paid for at the rate of 52c per hour and when double time is paid for week-ends the rate is 68c per hour. Farmers do not object to paying such wages providing they get commendable pay for their produce.

The prisoners of war worked on farms, but the wages they earned went to the Government. Less resentment was shown toward the German prisoners than those of Italy or Slav countries. Many of the Germans had no more use for the Nazis than ourselves. The lands were all well cultivated and very fertile. The farmers acquired much fertilizer and the only waste lands were the swamps or hills from which bush had been cut. The young plantations of wood set out are what we regard as soft woods.

The Farm Land

In regards to cropping, it is quite common to see a field that produced potatoes harvested in July and the same field seeded so as to produce a crop for sheep grazing.

100 acre farms are not popular. It is the family farm of 50 acres that is common. Such farms can care for 15 head of cattle and a garden crop. After that it is the farms of 150 to 300 acres that afford employment to six men that are operated. The farmer who has such a farm with six men will do little actual work but he is kept busy looking after the management detail, for the cash turnover must of necessity be a great deal more than is that of ours in Canada.

Farms are not always owned by the operator, as a matter of fact 62% of the people who run farms in England are tenants, whilst in Scotland this figure is about 50%. A tenant of a farm will have the same land for perhaps as much as 20 years. Such a tenant has a security of tenancy as he is given 2 years notice when leaving a farm. The rent of the land may be changed, but only in accordance with an arbitration agreement unless it be that the owner is going to go onto the farm himself and operate it. Even then, when the tenant leaves the farm he is accorded 60% of the crop value due to his having seen to it that the land was kept well fertilized and managed.

Another fact about land which may interest our farmers is this, where land is not nationalized a County Committee determines whether the owner is farming up to a set standard or otherwise. This committee may advise him what to do to improve his farming and if such advice is not heeded or farming improved the government may take his land away from him.

Farm Produce and Livestock Marketing

Marketing of livestock is done through consignment to a market. 15,000 sheep may be sold in a day and 200 head of cattle will be sold in a couple of hours time. The milk marketing is handled by four milk marketing boards. It does not matter where your milk goes you get paid for it from this Milk Marketing Board. (This system would not be so workable in Canada was the opinion of Mr. McMillan).

Milk is cared for and sanitation practised on the farms but I don't feel it is as well cared for by the distributors after it leaves the farm, as is so practised here in Canada.

Mr. McMillan concluded his informative and interesting talk by telling of the fertilizing and mill feed corporations, how they play such an important part in Britain toward increasing and improving agricultural methods in general.

Percy J. Philip Deplores Our Complacency

Thursday evening nine Rotary Clubs in Western Quebec were entertained by the Westward Rotary Club at the Town Hall, Montreal West. Valleyfield and Huntingdon Rotary Clubs were well represented. Those attending from Huntingdon included: E. C. Martin, President; Gilbert McMillan, Francois Cleyn, Ivan Heath, W. R. Wilson, Secretary; C. L. B. Wheeler, Alex. Fawcett and Adam L. Sellar.

Mr. Percy J. Philip, Ottawa representative of the New York Times, and who has addressed Huntingdon audiences on two occasions was the guest speaker. Mr. Philip spoke on "Democracy Held in Peril" and in the course of his talk warned of popular complacency.

A warning that so-called democratic peoples, with all their boasting about progress and accomplishments, may not be on the right track, and that while pretending they were masters of their fate they were slipping into a state of being governed and dependent on government—the beginning of the end of individual freedom.

Taking Russia as an illustration of present world problems, Mr. Philip said that Stalin, with his henchmen Molotov and Gromyko, and the others in the Kremlin court, all began as revolutionaries and the suspicion and fear of their early years still clung to them. Stalin was the only one that had somewhat outgrown that conspiratorial atmosphere and was sure of himself, but he was a sick man.

It is the fact they are so suspicious and afraid that makes them so difficult to deal with. If any one of them steps out of the party line he knows that he will be liquidated without mercy.

Turning to the Americans, Mr. Philip declared that "the United States is in the process of having to make up its mind as to whether they should accept responsibility and sacrifice or just continue giving advice and exercising what is called moral pressure, and it is on the outcome that all the future depend.

The man in the street in England and France was not happy, continued the speaker. In England they had their government to contend with, but they were not nationalized in spirit—they were not going to live by any government rule of thumb. In France the trouble always had been that everybody was just a little too independent minded, they could not agree completely on anything, and that tendency made parliamentary rule in France so difficult. "Every Frenchman senses that the time has come for authoritative government to pull the country out of the mess in which the war left it", declared Mr. Philip. "Sunday's elections showed very clearly that the majority of French men and women favor government by General de Gaulle as against a Communistic Government".

People Generous in Donating Equipment For Youth Center

Hallowe'en Party at New Club Building This Friday Evening

The H.Y.A. Drive for used articles for the Clubhouse was a complete success and many good and useful articles were received. The Youth Association would like to thank each and every person who contributed.

Many games, tables and best of all, chairs, were received. Some are in need of repairs, but this job will be one of the first projects for the members.

If at any time anyone in town has any articles whatever which will be of some use to the Club, it would be appreciated if they would please call S. P. Liversidge, dail 2162 and arrangements will be made to have the articles picked up.

Children's Hallowe'en Party

Once again the Rotary Club have arranged for a Children's Party, and the following should be remembered by all children 14 years of age and under.

First meet at Prince Arthur Square at 6.30 p.m. or as near that hour as possible where you will be met by the Boys' Band, as you were last year. There will be a parade, so remember to wear the best or funniest costumes you can think of.

The parade will finally wind up at the Youth Association Clubhouse on Fairview Road, where the party will be held. There will be apples and candy, and prizes for the best costumes, and last, but not least, a movie. The name of the movie hasn't been received as yet, but you can rest assured it will be a good one.

Remember boys and girls, the following details.

Date—Friday, Oct. 31st, meet at Prince Arthur Square, at 6.30 p.m. and everyone fourteen years and under is invited.

Activities will commence shortly with boxing as the first major activty. The heat, water and light should be completed this week and things will be rolling shortly.

A Boxing show with Golden Gloves contestants will be staged sometime at the end of November and Mr. Merrill Smith, boxing instructor, thinks he will have a couple of our own local boys ready to put on a bout on the same evening. The date will be announced shortly.

As far as can be determined now, the Children's Movies will commence on Saturday afternoon, November 8th, at 2.30 p.m. and some excellent programs have been lined up.

First Dance in Series at Legion Hall

On Friday evening, October 24, the Huntingdon Branch of the Canadian Legion held the first of a series of dances in their new Hall, on Fairview Road, Huntingdon. This hall was newly purchased and decorated, and was formerly the Hospital of the Chateauguay Barracks. Dancing was enjoyed by a large crowd to the music of the Rufus Fisher orchestra, which played continuously until closing at 2 a.m. Indirect lighting by means of coloured flood lamps, was used for the dance hall, and a canteen operated by Legion members provided refreshments.

Besides the room which is used for dancing, the property also consists of a Lounge with chesterfields and easy chairs, cloak room, kitchen and apartment for the caretaker. The inlaid composition covering makes the floor ideal for dancing. Dances are to be held regularly by the Legion, and the next affair is to be a gala Hallowe'en Dance on Friday, October 31st. See the back page of the Gleaner for full details of this dance, and all future announcements.

Huntingdon, Wed., October 29th, 1947

October 31st

FRIDAY sees the last day of October, 1947, and as everyone knows this is known as All Hallows Eve or Hallowe'en. It is on this day that the witches and hob-gobblins prowl around and get up to all the deviltry. We are afraid that deviltry in these days, however, is not practised by the witches and hob-gobblins, but by those who are much more responsible and able to curb their ways. Of late years, however, the practice of tricks that can be termed dangerous to persons and property, have not been so prevalent. This is an improvement and it is hoped that these practices will be discontinued in favour of more entertaining features. There are plenty of chances of good entertainment without doing all the foolhardy tricks that have been practiced in past years.

Hallowe'en is the last event of the year before Christmas, November 11th is observed in memory of the signing of the armistice, and is a mixture of solemnity and celebration, but is not so generally observed as Hallowe'en. One might term Hallowe'en as the last celebration before winter weather closes in and outdoor activities are more or less banned. It is a religious celebration carried down through the years from medieval days, when superstitions of all kinds abounded and it was thought that by doing certain things the evil spirits could be driven off on All Hallows Eve. It is a Druid observance, a cult of sun worshippers.

The Huntingdon Rotary Club has arranged a party for the children which will be held at the Huntingdon Youth Center, on Fairview Road. Such parties tend to keep down acts of mischievousness and at the same time provide the youngsters with wholesome entertainment. More of this sort of thing is being done nowadays and the result is that there is far less damage and far less accidents on Hallowe'en. The curb is required on the older youth who think up the silliest things to do and which create the most damage and injury. These persons should know better and should be held fully responsible for their acts. Have fun by all means, but let that fun be of the harmless type and that which can be enjoyed without making some other persons life miserable or causing serious damage to his property.

Our Tourists Could Help Revive Foreign Trade

THE following is an American interpretation of the Tourist business, but it is one that has been aired many times in this country and in view of the close associations between the two peoples seems a logical way to obtain more dollars.

An incipient rebellion against an old Government custom has arisen and seems to be gaining momentum. The custom, more than a half century old, limits to $100 the value of goods which the tourist who travels abroad may bring back home without paying duty. Among those urging a revision are the National Foreign Trade Council and, more recently, the National Association of Manufacturers. Perhaps these organizations, like other, unorganized citizens, have grown tired of the contrast between speeches on the evils of "trade barriers" and the terrible fuss that occurs when trying to bring an antique coffee table through the United States Customs.

Recommendations have been made that the limit on free goods be raised to $500 or more. Tourist imports are for the most part non-competitive with domestic products. On the other hand, they help to balance our world trade. Furthermore, very few travelers spend at home the money they would like to spend abroad if the tariff exemption were more liberal. If they can't bring in that Swedish glassware, they are not going out to buy some native glassware instead. It is the difference that attracts.

These tourist purchases put dollars in the hands of foreign potential buyers from us, enabling them to pay for what they purchase. The more dollar exchange they have, the less of loans and other aids we shall have to continue making. Surely this is one small item in foreign trade which we can set in motion without waiting for some momentous conference to scare us to death.

To be sure, the fault is not all on our side. Many nations are delighted to accept dollars from both the tourist and the businessman, yet block access to their countries with all kinds of restrictions, inconveniences and irritations. We do not argue for free trade or for the elimination of all regulations. Nevertheless, much simplification is possible and desirable. Liberalization of the rules respecting imports by tourists would be a practical step to this end.

Milk Cost in Distribution

AN enquiry into the milk business and prices has been going on in Ontario and during the past week a full report has been released. This report may have a future bearing on the prices and distribution of milk in Quebec as well as in Ontario. The Quebec Dairy Commission has been contemplating a similar enquiry into conditions prevailing in this province. The result of the Ontario enquiry is that price fixing of milk sold to consumers should be ended. It is felt that if this practice were ended that the distributors would make better prices by competitive dealings. It was seen that much of the increased cost of milk was eaten up in the distribution of the product and by added services which do not tend to lower prices.

One suggestion made for large centres like Montreal, was that it should be divided into zones and that only one delivery concern make the deliveries in that zone. The milk for that zone would be brought into it from a central depot and delivered directly off the truck by two men taking one side of a street each. The party making the suggestion says that 3 cents a quart could be cut from the present price under this system. He claimed that there was too much duplication of services and the various dairies had to travel too far from their respective depots to make deliveries.

It was further found that the Board too often studied the question of prices as between the producer and the distributor and that the consumer's side of the case was ignored. It was recommended that greater study as it concerns all three should be made. It was decided that there be no further increase in the price of fluid milk at present. A new price boost would likely mean decreased consumption.

There is no doubt that an increase in the price of fluid milk at this time would mean decreased consumption. The last increase resulted in a certain amount of decreased consumption, so it is only natural to presume that any further increase in price would have the same result. Price boosts under such circumstances do not bring the same return as anticipated and may even result in actual loss. On the other hand a reduction in price may possibly bring an increase in consumption that would boost the return to the producer and the distributor. It is thus felt that prices should be open to the distributor to fix for himself and if he feels that he can deliver milk at a lower price it would be his privilege to do so. One thing certain, people would not buy from the high priced milkman for very long and if he wanted to maintain his trade he would soon have to lower his price to meet his competitor. It is just the case of supply and demand making the prices fit the situation. As prices now stand, they almost approach a monopoly, except that it is not a monopoly of control, but one of price. It has been hinted in this province that price of milk may drop one-half cent per quart.

Immigrants For Canada

CANADA has long been a country for people from all parts of the world to migrate to. This is because there was a time when Canada needed people to populate it, of later years emigration has been restricted to quotas and throughout the war years it was practically stopped altogether.

Again there seems to be a demand for immigrants and Canada has made the decision to admit persons from among the D.P.'s of Europe. Numbers of these persons have already entered this country and it is expected that thousands of them will be admitted to relieve the situation in the war-torn countries of the old world. The stamp D.P. has a rather ominous sound to those who are not thoroughly acquainted with its meaning. D.P. stands for Displaced Person, meaning a person who has become separated from his original place of abode through the rigours of war. People have become so accustomed by this time to hearing all kinds of abbreviations, that they are suspicious of D.P's. There is fear that allowing such people into the country will bring in those who will stir up trouble and that is the reason why they are displaced in the first place. They think that they caused trouble in their own countries and that is why they do not want to go back now. Such is not the case, however, many of these persons are young and have lost their families and all connections with them, they are not hunted, but haunted (with memories).

However, Canada needs to be careful and a good deal of screening is given those who make application for admission to this country, before they are allowed to come. There has been a hue and cry about the Polish girls who were brought to Beauce, Que. The government has had this investigated and only a few dissatisfied persons were found among the girls. None have left the country, but the few decided that they did not like the type of work. This is natural, it is not everyone that can adapt themselves to any kind of work, but in their eagerness to escape, they may be willing to accept anything that offers.

It is natural that these immigrants need a period of re-adjustment, before they can become settled and be good Canadian citizens. They also need to be educated in our way of life, so vastly different to anything they have been used to, especially in latter years. These people have been driven hither and yon in search of safety and a bite to eat; some have suffered at the hands of the Nazis in concentration camps. They are like the person who has had a very bad dream and who has awakened with the thing so vividly impressed on the mind, that he cannot quite adjust his senses to the fact that it was a dream. What these people have suffered was no dream however, but the after effect is there. Therefore they must be taught they have nothing to fear, that they will not be arrested for every little thing they say, but that they will be treated the same as other Canadians and have the same freedom. They must be educated against those persons who may wish to misguide them and perhaps enroll them in Communistic dealings. It must be remembered that these people have been through so much that they are suspicious of everything and may be misled by persons who are bent on doing such. This may be especially so if they are approached by people of their own nationality and who have been resident for some years in this country.

Some cases of this nature have already been noted and it will be well for the officials to see that all D.P's. are made quickly aware of what Canada offers them if they will decide to become good and loyal citizens. The first thing which should be overcome is the language barrier, they should be taught at least a conversational part of the English language. Such would enable them to talk with fellow Canadians and thus understand more of our way of life. It would save them from falling into the snare of Communists. Canadians must try to understand them and to realize that they have been through much in the past few years. These people may seem strange to us, but we are equally as strange to them and with their acquired necessity of being suspicious of everyone, it will be some time before they really trust all they meet. We can help them by being tolerant and kind.

Canadians Went From Barter To Banking 130 Years Ago

Bank of Montreal, Canada's First-established Bank, Gave Colonists Their First Real Money—Founded Canadian Branch Banking System in 1817

B OF M COMPLETES 30 YEARS ON SECOND CENTURY OF OPERATION

When Bank of Montreal offices in Canada and abroad open their doors next Monday morning, the occasion will have more than ordinary significance — for the day will mark the 130th anniversary of the B of M, the nation's first permanent bank which was founded on November 3, 1817.

In all the intervening years, Canada's oldest bank has never missed opening for business on a single banking day. This impressive fact demonstrates how continuously the Bank of Montreal has served Canadians, and how closely its work has been woven into the progress of the country since colonial times.

When nine Montreal merchants founded the bank in 1817 — half a century before Confederation — Canada was a scattering of lonely colonies on the dark fringe of the forests. England lay three supremely uncomfortable months away by sail. The settlements had great difficulty keeping in touch with one another. Even a trip between Montreal and Quebec meant three jolting days by stage-coach.

The population — then only about half a million — carried on trade principally by barter and to a lesser extent by the use of American, British, French, Spanish and Portuguese money. Montreal, already the centre of commerce, numbered fewer than 20,000 citizens.

Shortly after the bank opened, the directors had to ask the British garrison for a sentinel to guard their modest office. It was not until the following year that Montreal's first police force began. Known as the "night watch", its members acted also as lamplighters.

CANADA'S FIRST MONEY

At the outset, the Montreal Bank, as it was then known, issued its own bills in small denominations and, later, copper tokens. This currency was, indeed, Canada's first real money. The innovation did much to stabilize and speed up trade, which had hitherto been subject to the varying rates of exchange of the several currencies in use.

This was but one aspect of the bank's major contribution to the Canadian economy of those days — a contribution which eventually ended the chaos in which business was transacted and served as a primary step in organizing the first native financial system of Canada.

So well did the bank succeed that this system has since evolved without ever losing stability, no matter how critical the times or how rapid the country's growth. Thus, through more than a century and a quarter, the Canadian economy has survived two major wars and several smaller ones, as well as periodic depressions and civil unrest. It has expanded many times since 1817 and won world recognition for its dynamic growth and steadiness.

SPREADING BRANCHES

Much of the strength of the nation's economy derives from another principle which the bank introduced in Canada. This was the branch-banking system. Within a fortnight of the opening of the first office in Montreal, an agency was started in Quebec City. The first bank in the ancient capital, this branch was the foundation-stone of Canada's banking system. As the years passed, the bank spread its branches all over Canada, facilitating the flow of capital into the young industries of the country.

GEORGE W. SPINNEY, C.M.G., president of the Bank of Montreal for the past five years of the bank's 130-year history. A member of the staff since 1906, he joined the bank as a junior at his native town of Yarmouth, N.S.

Mr. Spinney served at a number of posts in the bank before his appointment as assistant to the general manager in 1922. In 1928, he was appointed an assistant general manager and eight years later he became general manager. During the war, Mr. Spinney was chairman of the First Victory Loan Campaign and for two years he was chairman of the National War Finance Committee.

Despite popular misgivings, the bank's directors had the vision and courage to help finance the country's first continent-spanning railway, the Canadian Pacific. In the opening up of the West which followed, B of M branches became part and parcel of pioneer life and were soon established at key points from coast to coast.

In both world wars, the bank placed its resources at the service of the nation, contributing vitally to many phases of home-front activity. Members of the staff served with distinction in the armed forces during each conflict.

BANK GREW WITH CANADA

Since 1817, Canada has grown from colonial infancy to robust nationhood. The old bank which did so much to make possible the 9 Men of Vision...

PROVED THEIR FAITH IN CANADA ...130 Years Ago

1817 An exhausted Europe—torn by decades of war—was breathing more easily . . . two years before, the Napoleonic Wars had at last ended at Waterloo. In the New World, the three-year-old Treaty of Ghent had ended an attempted invasion from the south . . . and the peoples of North America began a friendship that is the admiration of the world today.

1817 . . . Sturdy colonists of British North America—half a million of them—were scattered over as many square miles. To the west and north lay another two million square miles, unsettled and untouched. Merchants and traders did their business by barter and with a hodge-podge of foreign currencies, whose changing values spelled chaos. Trade development languished.

INTO this scene came nine men of vision . . . nine English and Scottish merchants who realized that, without a solid financial foundation, the colonies could never reach nationhood. Together, they determined a course of action. With their own money and the backing of 209 other pioneering citizens, these nine men founded the Bank of Montreal, which opened its doors for business on November 3rd, 1817. Never once since then has the Bank failed to open on a business day.

AT the very outset, the Bank issued its own bills and coins. Here was Canada's first real money. The currency won immediate acceptance . . . goods moved more quickly . . . and the stability the nine men hoped for came rapidly. The people proudly welcomed this Canadian currency—and, as its circulation spread, so did the reputation of the new bank. Within a year of its founding it became the Government's banker, and its currency officially replaced the British money used by the Government up to that time.

JUST two weeks after the Bank started, Canada's first branch bank was founded . . . the B of M's Quebec agency opened—and, thus, the Canadian branch banking system began. The following year saw agencies opened at Kingston and York, now Toronto, and branches spread as the years went on. Hailed throughout the world for its strength and flexibility, this system of branch banking—begun 130 years ago—has proved ideal for a country vast in area and small in population.

QUEBEC and the B of M Have Grown Up Together

The Province of Quebec—cradle of the nation—was the birthplace of Canada's first-established bank.

Here, in Montreal, whose population was but 20,000 at the time, began the Bank of Montreal in 1817 . . . and with it the branch banking system of the nation.

Thus, the province that was the springboard for discovery and colonization of Canada's vast areas, also gave birth to the country's financial system which helped make Confederation possible and provided fertile soil for the seeds of nationhood.

Today, the B of M serves the people of the province through 104 branches and is constantly adding to this number.

"MY BANK" TO A MILLION CANADIANS
B of M

BUT all was not easy. There were hard, trying days ahead—each decade had its ups and downs. From 1836 to 1840, Canada experienced a succession of bad harvests, political convulsions, commercial changes and failures. Rebellion had depreciated the value of property and seriously hindered the improvement and further settlement of the country. The Bank of Montreal survived only by the most careful use of its resources and the confident loyalty of its depositors.

RECOVERY was rapid during the middle years of the century. Then came 1867 . . . and a nation was born. But a trans-continental railway was a condition of Confederation, and now the Canadian Pacific had to be pushed through. To speed the construction, the enterprise was placed in private hands. The work went fast, and the last spike was driven five years earlier than expected. With faith characteristic of its nine founders, the B of M had backed to the limit this great national project.

1900—the century opened with a new flood of prosperity which lasted for more than a decade. Two more trans-continental railway systems . . . a great influx of new settlers . . . abundant crops . . . thousands of new industries—and then . . . World War I! Through the trying times which followed . . . the inflated days of the 20's and the depressed days of the 30's—through a second World War in our time . . . Canadians worked and fought, and Canada became a world power.

1947—Peace . . . new plans . . . new hopes . . . rehabilitation. Life in Canada still takes work, courage and, above all, vision . . . the kind of vision which spurred nine men to pioneer the nation's economy 130 years ago. From a corporal's guard in 1817, the staff of the B of M has grown to an army eight thousand strong . . . working closely with Canadians and their industries in hundreds of communities from coast to coast . . . supplying the lifeblood of credit to an expanding nation . . . seeking always—through sound counsel and friendly service—to give practical help to the million and a half customers who put their trust in the Bank.

What of Tomorrow . . . ? Just as history foreshadows the future, so the record of Canada and of her first-established bank working together gives promise of bright tomorrows for the nation. "The twentieth century belongs to Canada" . . . and for that future we pledge ourselves anew to work constructively with Canadians in every walk of life.

AUTUMN SYMPHONY

During this October heat wave, a couple of days in Montreal was something of a novelty—even too hot to shop. Otherwise seasonal clothes just didn't register the usual appeal.

In company of Mrs. W. A. Allaston, driver, Mrs. Harold Mills, Hostess, Mrs. Dorothy Sproule and Margaret Scripture, rolled out to the Summerlea Golf Club. Impromptu Songs by Miss Scripture at lunch and a delightful gossip sitting on the lawn. The greens were will spotted with active figures and workmen were busy putting up the winter shutters.

Mildred Scripture-Shannon, Lyric-Soprano Concert Artist, of Brighton, Mich., is coming to Montreal next month and bringing a recording machine. The Scripture Sisters have concert engagements here and there. Some hopes of getting them to visit Huntingdon are at present entertained. Margaret is promoting a method of distributing records of good Folk and Sacred Songs to various institutions in Montreal. That night she was going to a North End entertainment to sing and the next day to a meeting at Iverley Settlement.

MONTREAL WOMEN'S PRESS CLUB ANNUAL

A wonderful roast beef dinner with all the trimmings before and after—i.e. two large trays of a fancy baked Alaska embroidered with the Club's initials in chocolate, served in the Vice-Regal Suite of the Ritz-Carlton, made everything so blissful that there was unanimous consent to the motion of Harriet Hill (Gazette Editor), that the entire executive be re-elected. The popular President, Helen Murphy (Herald Editor), resumed the Chair for a third term. Mrs. A. H. Barker was elected Hon.-Pres. to fill the vacancy since the death of Irene Archilbald (Margaret Currie). Mrs. Barker re-joined the staff of the Ottawa Citizen last winter to establish a Women's Department, and has returned to Montreal. Miss Gertrude Holland is Vice.-Pres., and Miss Lois Stephenson, Secretary, (Social Editors, Montreal Star). Miss Gertrude White is treasurer.

Program Committee: Miss Joan Dangelzer (Publicity Canadian Shoe Association) Mrs. Ethelwyn Hobbes, (C.B.C.) Miss Armande Marc (La Patrie). Hospital Committee: Miss Naomi Dunn (Montrealer), Mrs. Elizabeth Hammond. Membership Committee: Mrs. Maude Kerr (Family Herald Editor), Harriet Hill, (Gazette Editor).

Shop talk was the order all around the lounge. Seems that just to mention Fashion Shows gives the gals goose flesh and temperatures. Gossip flowed about the Princess and the Fur Coat; rivalries involved in the publicity racket and the more or less constant headaches encountered in this profession. Helen Murphy spent a week in New York attending fashion displays from Breakfast to Midnight only to face the agonizing ordeal of making the whole collection comprehensive in a column!

Nancy Rankin, (Mayfair), on the other hand reported some pleasant experiences while spending the summer at the Manoir Richelieu doing publicity for the Canada Steamship Lines.

Ethelwyn Hobbes, who gives out breezy items for housekeepers daily over C.B.C., finds ironing a pleasant chore. She improves the occasion by learning poetry. Her handy helpmate rigged up a bookrest enabling her to follow the text line by line. She finds this combines quite pleasantly with the iron-y!

A fan letter she received from Toronto announced the invention of a new type of ironing board. Made of metal stream-lined, insulated sunken iron rest, trough attached to catch the ends of tablecloths and sheets, special overhead light, removable elastic covers. He asked her to accept one as a gift. They will soon be on the market for about $15.00, installed.

Just about the best story came from Gertrude White, the treasurer. Reporting on the Club's Overseas Parcel Fund for the year, she read a letter of thanks from a mother of ten children with an invalid husband who had been receiving regular parcels from the committee. The letter conveyed the news that her husband had died, the eldest boy was in the army, three working and six going to school. Her circumstances had altogether changed for the better. In fact, she was married again and furthermore, anticipating an addition to her family in November.

I understand that Kate Aitken draws $150.00 for a three-day week in Montreal as Standard's Editor of Woman's (Fiction) Department and supplying the Cooking Ritual in Technicolor, complete with Walt Disney characters.

Messages from Correspondents

From "A Reader" dated Sept. 30th.

"I noticed in Paula Dick's Column where Miss Viola Lallemand was the best Lady driver in the Province of Quebec and took first prize at Ormstown. It was Mrs. Guay who won first there. Miss Lallemand was first in the "Ladies Farmers' Class".

As this letter does not carry a personal signature, by Gleaner rules it does not deserve an answer. Just to be good-natured I would refer "A Reader", to the Column of September 24th, again. The opinions quoted were all taken from other newspapers or Radio news commentators. They may, of course, have been in error. This correspondent is also far from accurate. There is no "Ladies Farmers' Class" listed in the Ormstown Show Catalogue. Miss Lallemand has the engraved silver rose bowl and silver tray presented by Shawinigan Water & Power Company in 1946 and 1947 for "Best Lady Driver in District of Beauharnois", as stated in this column.

Chief Taho-wade-hento writes me from Hogansburg, N.Y. "I suppose you will think me most ungrateful in not replying. You had indeed made an interesting story out of it and well written like BIG TIME STUFF. If in need of any story come and see me as I may assist. I have lot of stuff stored in this old noodle. Thanks, goes without saying. Thos. W. Shaw.

P.S. Will not go to Florida this winter. Will be home all winter, if I live.

Mrs. George A. Thomas, Malone, writes: "I am sure you will pardon my delay in thanking you for the copies of the Huntingdon Gleaner. We appreciated them so much. Do come and see us sometime.

● MEMO TO ADVERTISERS

HOW TO MEASURE Advertising Values

WE ASK advertisers to think of the circulation of this newspaper in terms of the distribution of their advertising—the size, quality and interest of the audience to which their advertising is addressed. From that viewpoint our circulation becomes a more direct factor in business plans.

There are well-known standards for circulation values just as there are definite measures of weight and quality as used in the purchase and sale of merchandise.

The standards for evaluating circulation have been established by the Audit Bureau of Circulations, a national cooperative association of 2000 advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers in the United States and Canada. This newspaper is an A.B.C. member.

The Bureau has a large staff of experienced auditors and at regular intervals one of these men makes an audit of our circulation records. Based on the information thus secured, the Bureau issues official A.B.C. Audit Reports.

These reports tell how much circulation we have, where and how it is distributed, how much people paid (important because paid circulation proves reader interest) and many other facts that make it possible to invest in newspaper advertising on the basis of known values.

For complete and verified information about the distribution of your advertising when it appears in this newspaper ask us for A.B.C. reports.

Severely Injured Woman, 70, Drags Sister From Blazing Car

WINS DOW AWARD

MRS. MARY WESTWOOD
of Medicine Hat, Alta.,
heroic despite broken leg, cuts, bruises

The winding country road along which Mrs. Westwood was driving with her sister was loosely covered with gravel. They were just passing a point where the road is bordered by a near-vertical cliff. Suddenly, the car wheels struck an extra thick gravel patch.

Mrs. Westwood was powerless as the car swerved and then hurtled into space. When it finally struck the ground, it burst into flames — but, miraculously, the two women were still alive.

HEROIC RESCUE

In spite of severe bruises, a four-inch gash in her head, and a broken leg, Mrs. Westwood was able to move. But her sister, who also had a broken leg, was helpless in the burning car. It was then that 70-year-old Mrs. Westwood showed such amazing courage and fortitude. She fought her way out of the fire through a broken window, and then, after a desperate struggle, managed to pull her injured sister through to safety.

We believe everyone will share our admiration of Mrs. Westwood of Medicine Hat, Alta. We are proud to pay tribute to her bravery through the presentation of The Dow Award.

The car skidded in the loose gravel. Before Mrs. Westwood could regain control it had plunged over a precipice.

When help came both women were rushed to hospital, where they are now recovering.

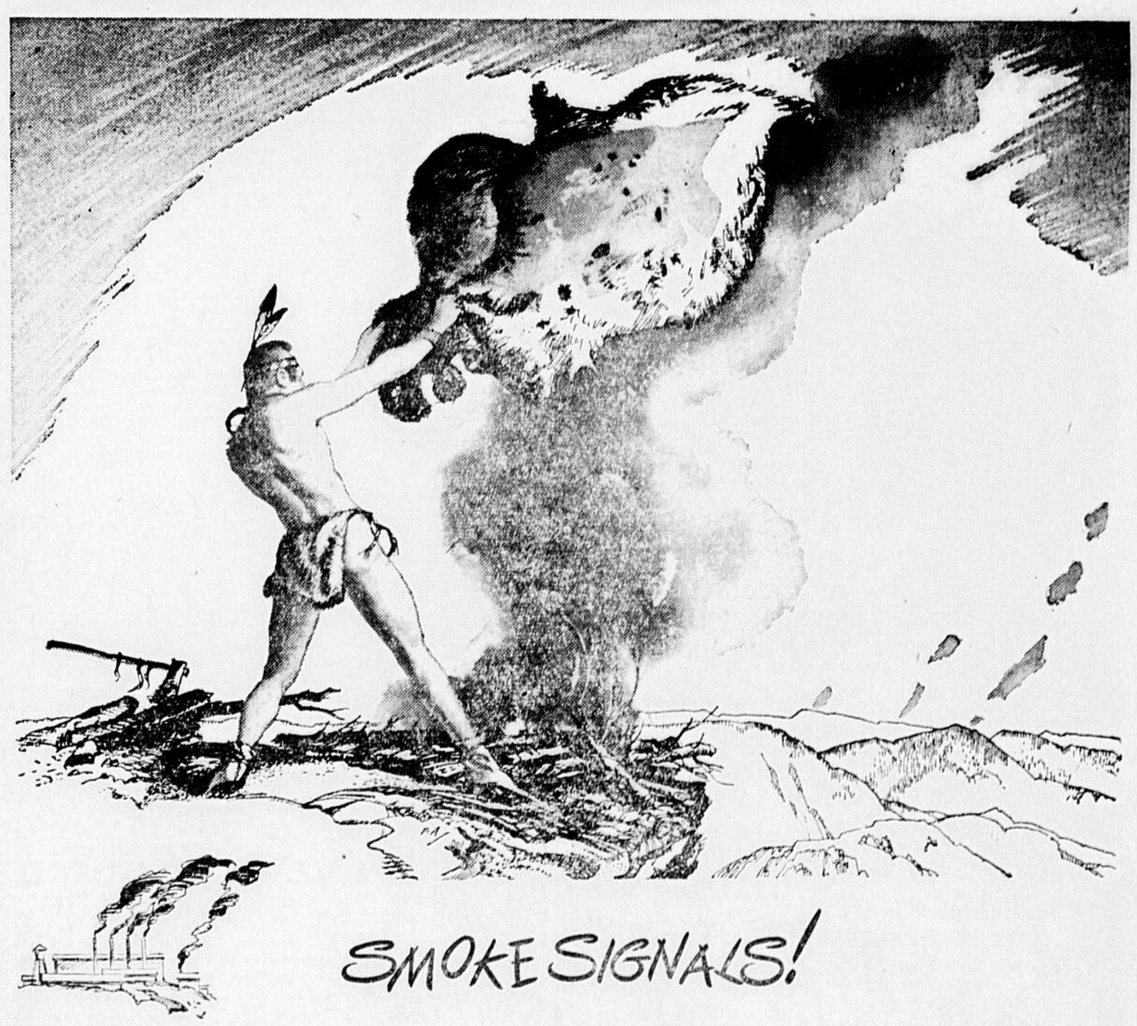

THE DOW AWARD is a citation for outstanding heroism and includes, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Canada Savings Bond. Winners are selected by the Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Canadian daily newspapers.

SMOKE SIGNALS!

In early pioneer days smoke signals meant only one thing—Indian communication. As the eye sweeps over the panorama of Quebec's rich "Production Valley," it is greeted by thousands of great chimneys pouring forth the smoke of industry. Today, these smoke signals speak plainly and clearly of the rapid industrial growth of the Province of Quebec, of the progressive nature of its people; of the wealth of raw material and electrical energy which has drawn to this Province industries of every size and nature; of the many new jobs opened to the workers of Quebec and of the increased prosperity gained by the citizens of this Province.

The Shawinigan Water and Power Company, by its development of "Production Valley" and by its distribution of low-cost hydro-electric power to Industry, is one of the important factors which go into making Quebec's smoke signals among the most eloquent in the world.

PRODUCTION VALLEY

Industry must eventually locate in a district where it can operate most profitably. In "Production Valley" the 25,000 square miles served by The Shawinigan Water and Power Company, manufacturers have found not only the average unit selling price of hydro-electric power the lowest on the continent, but governmental co-operation and encouragement, sound civic administration, low taxes and contented and dependable workers. These factors, and its ideal location, have made "Production Valley" one of the most prosperous and attractive industrial areas in all Canada.

This advertisement is designed to show the importance of Industry to the economic welfare of Quebec Province. It is one of a series dealing with industries located in Quebec's "Production Valley."

Obituary

The Late Harold R. Fraser

The sad news of the sudden death of Harold R. Fraser, of Ottawa, was received in Huntingdon on Monday. Mr. Fraser died early in the morning of the 27th instant at the age of 52 years.

Mr. Fraser was very well known and liked in Huntingdon and for many years was the local manager of the Baumert Cheese Company later acquired by the Borden Milk Company. When the transfer of this business took place from Huntingdon to Ottawa, Mr. Fraser moved also and since then has occupied a prominent position with the Ottawa Dairy, another subsidiary company of the Borden Milk Company Limited.

When Mr. Fraser lived in Huntingdon he took a keen interest in Masonic circles and in 1924 was the Worshipful Master of Chateauguay Lodge. Fraternal society work found a warm spot in the heart of Mr. Fraser for he was the Principal of the Chapter, in 1930 and a member of the I.O.O.F.

Not always a robust individual, he dearly loved the out-of-doors and so it was he endeavored to devote as much time and thought as was possible toward furthering the Boy Scout movement in Huntingdon.

Like his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Fraser, he was keenly interested in work of his beloved Church of England. During his lifetime in Huntingdon, both Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Fraser, were ardent supporters and workers in the welfare of St. John's Anglican Church. Many business men are perhaps a bit lax in their reading of the Holy Scriptures, but not so the departed. Seldom did Mr. Fraser express desires for one thing or another, but when a resident of Huntingdon, he intimated he would like to own a large family Bible, and within a few days time he acquired one and we firmly believe that from that day onward its pages were read daily. He was indeed a man of high ideals and good morals.

Ever a friendly man and ready to lend co-operation toward any commendable project, it can be truthfully said Canada has lost another worthy citizen who worked away in a quiet manner never looking for, or expecting high praise other than to know what tasks he took onto himself to be performed, would be carried out to a state of perfection and with dispatch.

The deceased is survived by his widow, Beulah M. Cogland, and one brother, Mr. Basil Fraser, of St. Lambert, Que. To the bereaved widow and brother and kin folk, the sincere sympathy of the Gleaner readers is extended.

Brysonville

Presentation for Bride-elect

On Tuesday evening, Oct 21, a delightful evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Graham, Brysonville, when their daughter, Mrs. Roy Angell, was hostess at a presentation in honor of her friend, Miss Rita Smith. About 30 guests were assembled to welcome the bride-to-be. She was escorted to a decorated chair under a canopy of pink and white streamers. A mock wedding ceremony was performed and after this hilarious event the bride and groom returned with a large suitcase ready to depart on their honeymoon. Opening it, they presented the bride-to-be with a prettily wrapped parcel tied with pink ribbon. On unwrapping it she found a beautiful lace tablecloth. Although taken by surprise, Rita thanked all her friends for the gift and their good wishes. After a few games, delicious refreshments were served.

In Memoriam

GRAHAM: In loving memory of our dear son, Cpl. Melvin Graham, Can. Grenadier Guards, killed in action in Holland, October 29th, 1944.

Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just to the end of his days,
Sincere and kind in heart and mind,
What a beautiful memory he left behind.
What would we give to clasp his hand,
His happy face to see.
To hear his voice and see his smile
That meant so much to us.
Some day we hope to meet him,
Some day we know not when
To clasp his hand in the better land,
Never to part again.

Sadly missed by
Mother and Dad, Joyce, Mervyn and Christena.

Howick

The monthly meeting of the Georgetown W.M.S. was held Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 21st, at the home of Mrs. Arthur Kerr. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Bingham, Mrs. R. Anderson took charge of the meeting. Mrs. Geo. McArthur read the Scripture lesson, and Mrs. Mervyn Craig gave the Glad Tidings prayer. 17 ladies answered the roll call, with a verse containing the word "Harvest". Mrs. J. Stewart gave a report of the executive meeting held in Montreal. Mrs. A. Kerr read a letter of thanks for kind sympathy in their bereavement from the Misses Joanna and Jessie Elliot. Mrs. Allan Hooker, of Ormstown, and Mrs. K. Pearce, of Dewittville, were the guest speakers for the afternoon. Mrs. Hooker gave an interesting talk on the highlights of the Synodical meeting held in Ottawa, explaining the division of the separate Presbyterials. Mrs. K. Pearce, Vice-Pres. of the Montreal Presbyterial, addressed the meeting, taking the subject: "Towards a Christian India", explaining that India was a land of contrasts, the highest mountains, the lowest mud swamps, the most beautiful buildings, the most miserable hovels. Christianity reviewed from time of the Apostles up to present time and the influence of the Christian church has been great, but what of the future an Indian Christian says, that is our problem. We are a generation standing at the crossroads of time. The future depends on our thought, action, loyalty, and how best to direct our head, our heart, and our hands where the need is greatest in the service of the Master. Mrs. Geo. McArthur, in behalf of the ladies, thanked the speakers for their interesting talk. The meeting closed with prayer. Riverfield and Howick W.M.S. ladies were guests at this meeting. Refreshments were served by a committee.

Miss Isabel Ferns, of Dewittville, and Miss Frances Turner, of Huntingdon, were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. Mair, they also attended the funeral of the late Mr. Stanley Rorison.

Mr. W. D. Smith, Prof. Alex. Ness and Mrs. Ness and Roy Campbell Ness of Macdonald College, were callers on Sunday of Hon. R. R. Ness and Mrs. Ness.

Mrs. Ness entertained Miss Walker, demonstrator at Macdonald College, to dinner prior to the W.I. meeting and demonstration in the United Church.

The Georgetown Young People held their October meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kerr, on Saturday evening, October 25th. There were 22 members present. Mrs. Edwin Brown and Helen Kerr were in charge of the devotional period. The meeting followed with Jean Cullen presiding. A short social period followed and refreshments were served by the committee in charge.

Howick United Church W.M.S.

On Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 21st, the Howick United Church W.M.S. held their regular monthly meeting in the church with Mrs. Edwin Knox presiding. Following the call to worship, the opening hymn "We Thank Thee, All Our God", was sung. Mrs. Everett Orr conducted the worship period with a Thanksgiving theme. The Bible reading was taken from Psalms 147. Mrs. Orr read a few lines on "A Song in the Heart" and said we must cultivate the habit of looking on the bright side of life. Twenty ladies responded to the roll call with a verse containing the word "Thanks". The Treasurer, Mrs. Robt. Templeton, reported that the offerings for the third quarter amounted to $89.23. Reports from the Sectional Meeting held in Huntingdon and the Religious Education Convention held in Hemmingford were given. Mrs. Melville Brown read two short poems entitled "October" and "Autumn" by Edgar Guest. Current Events were given by Mrs. James Orr. Items of interest were given on Temperance by Mrs. Arnold McKell, and on Christian Stewardship by Mrs. Everett Orr. The opening program of the new Study Book "Great Is the Company" by Violet Wood was given by Mrs. Math McKell. Mrs. McKell related the story of the lives of three different men through whose efforts the Bible was first translated. In the fourth century St. Jerome made the first translation of the Bible into Latin. This is known as the Vulgate. In the 14th century John Wycliffe gave to the people of England the whole Bible in the English tongue. In the 16th century Willian Tyndale, influenced by Wycliffe and Luther, determined to translate the Bible into English to be printed as printing had then been invented. Failing in England he went to Germany where the Bible was printed and smuggled into England. The meeting closed by singing the hymn "O Word of God Incarnate" followed by the benediction.

The Mission Band quilt was on display at the close of the meeting. This beautiful quilt is made up of blue and white blocks on which were embroidered the names of members of the Mission Band and their friends.

SCENES AT THE FIRE AT CHATEAUGUAY, QUE.

Four scenes show the various stages of the damage in the fire at Chateauguay, which razed the residence and surgery of Dr. I. K. Williams, early Saturday morning. The story of the fire follows. As will be seen by the pictures, taken at different angles and at different times, the whole is a total loss.

Doctor's Home Razed by Fire

Wife and Two Children Rescued After Cries of Help

Early on Saturday morning, October 25th, a fire of undetermined origin completely gutted the residence, surgery and office of Dr. I. K. Williams, local physician and district coroner.

The fire was first noticed at 7.15 a.m. by Ernest Dupont who aroused the doctor's wife and two sons, John aged 10 and Guy aged 4. The entire building, by this time was a roaring inferno. Mrs. Williams and the two boys made a miraculous escape through an upper bedroom window. They were aided to safety by Lucien Duranceau and G. Barrette who had rushed to the scene on hearing Mrs. Williams' cries for help. Had it not been for the speedy action of the two rescuers, it is thought that mother and both sons would have been trapped as the building at this time was becoming enveloped in flames. John and Guy escaped unharmed but Mrs. Williams suffered severe lacerations to the right arm.

The doctor had been called to a patient at St. Joseph's Hospital, Lachine, at about 6 a.m. and was not at home at the time of the outbreak, he was contacted however, and arrived back at about 8.30 a.m.

The alarm was phoned in by the doctor's 10-year-old son John, and received by the Chateauguay Village Fire Chief, Henri Dorias, who together with nine other firemen arrived with their pump at the scene within ten minutes. The blaze was fought with two reels of hose and it was not until 2.30 in the afternoon that the fire was completely extinguished.

The beautifully furnished twelve-room residence, the modern surgery were completely destroyed.

The people of this district sincerely sympathize with Dr. and Mrs. Williams.

The doctor expects to open another office as soon as possible in the vicinity.

Staff Shortages, Lack of Space, Cause News Hold Over

During the past few weeks The Gleaner has been running into difficulties through some of the staff being on the sick list and due to pressure on space because of inability to increase the size of the newspaper. For this reason news items have been unavoidably held over each week. We print this notice to inform our readers that it is entirely due to circumstances beyond our control, but we are in hopes that with this issue we have caught up with the backlog and from now on will be able to carry all the news in current issues.

Worried Sick !

Many a farmer is worried sick these days because of a fire that has levelled his barn, consumed his implements, feed and some of his stock. The loss has gone into the tens of thousands of dollars and he has only had a coverage of five or six thousand. He knows he cannot rebuild his barn today for this sum, that alone replace the implements and other losses. It is too late to consider the matter after the fire, it has to be done before that happens.

We can advise you as to the right amount to give you a coverage you may desire. Rates are moderate and adequate protection will save you much worry if you should ever be unfortunate to suffer a loss by fire or wind. Give us a call on the phone or drop into our office and let us talk the matter over.

Nitro

Fire broke out in the home of Mr. Fergusson, on October 17th, which was started by a burning cigarette starting the chesterfield on fire. Several other pieces of furniture were set and damaged, the Arsenal Fire Brigade was called and assisted in putting out the fire. Luckily no one was injured.

Mr. and Mrs. Ascroft of Montreal, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Bone, of the Canadian Arsenals Village.

Mrs. Riddles, mother of Mrs. Amiot, Purvis Street, arrived on the 18th of October, on the Queen Elizabeth, from England. She will live with her daughter, at Nitro.

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the Community Hall, on October 23rd, when the programme was under the auspices of the Recreation Club. Many people took part in Bowling, Badminton, and Win Peasy and a friend played for the dancing. Refreshments were served during the evening. Residents of Nitro once more turn to Community Hall of Canadian Arsenals Ltd. for part of their winter entertainment. Mr. Bert Furlong will again be in charge of the facilities with Mr. Mib McCuaig as Programme Director. The Bowling League will open on Monday, November 3rd, and it is anticipated that there will be about 20 teams in the league; 12 in the Men's Section and 8 in the Ladies' Section. At a recent meeting Mr. Ernie Brason was elected as Chairman and Miss Pat Campbell as Secretary. Badminton apparently will have a great number of participants; present indications point to about 80 members. Already club dates have been exchanged with Huntingdon, January 20th and 27th., other at home and away dates are being considered. Mr. Carlos Velasquez will guide the club this season with Miss Marg Darragh as Recording Secretary, Match and Entertainment committees have yet to be appointed. Preparations for the Hallowe'en Masquerade on Saturday are complete. Considerable interest is being taken in this dance since the Hallowe'en affair always has been considered the unofficial opening date of the Fall and Winter activities. Plans are under way for a varied programme to embrace the tastes and time of every age group.

A GOOD TIME is had by all when you serve Maxwell House Coffee. It's blended by experts and Radiant Roasted for extra flavor—"Good to the Last Drop!"

Woodlands

Driver of Auto Wins Acquittal

Napoleon Brunet, 30, of no given address, charged with taking an auto without the owner's permission, who was later involved with the same vehicle in an accident which resulted in the injuring of 10 persons at Woodlands, was today acquitted by Judge Edouard Tellier.

His Honor upheld the contentions of Alban Ouellette, defence counsel that the Crown failed to prove that the accused actually took the car in question without the permission of its owner, who was Brunet's employer. The judge also pointed out that the evidence submitted to the court was contradictory.

The police reported that Brunet was driver of the car in which there were 10 other occupants at the time it crashed into a tree at Woodlands. All victims have recovered from their injuries.

Mrs. Edith Madden, (White), wife of Charles James Madden, and mother of Fred, died suddenly at her home in Montreal, on Thursday, Oct. 23rd. She was 66 years of age. The funeral service was held in Saturday, Oct. 25th, at the Church of the Redeemer, in Montreal, and interment was at Lakeview Cemetery. A daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred White of Montreal, Mrs. Madden is survived by her husband and son, Fred, one grandchild and a sister, Mrs. A. Wylie of Montreal. The family were summer residents of Upper Woodlands for the past thirty years.

Howick

A meeting of the Howick Siloki C.G.I.T. took place on Monday, Oct. 20th at the home of Miss Jean Younie. Three representatives of the W.M.S. were also present to help with the planning of activities for the following year: Mrs. R. Younie, Mrs. B. Chisholm and Mrs. B. Ness.

After the Pledge, the Roll Call was taken and was responded to by thirteen members. The minutes of the previous meeting were read.

The Christmas Cards were distributed to all girls who wished to sell them.

The devotional period was taken by Margaret Templeton, assisted by Marjorie and Evelyn Ness.

Officers for the next year were then elected: President, Thyra McKell; Vice-President, Margaret Ness; Secretary, Jean Templeton; Treasurer, Marion McKell; Press Correspondent, Evelyn Ness.

It was decided that a different girl should act as pianist at each meeting. A programme committee was put on to make out a programme for the following year. Meetings are to be held every two weeks until Christmas. The next meeting is to be held at Margaret Templeton's on November 3rd. Evelyn Ness moved a vote of thanks to the W.M.S. for their helpful advice. Delicions refreshments were served by the Food Committee. The president moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Younie and Jean for the use of their home. The meeting was closed by the singing of taps.

A chevron was won by this group last year for their work in C.G.I.T.

The meeting closed with the hymn "Take My Life and let it be Consecrated, Lord, to Thee", and the Mizpah Benediction.

The latest phase in the diplomatic and economic struggle between the United States and Russia over the future of Europe's war-impoverished countries is the summoning of Congress for Nov. 17 to consider relief measures for overseas.

President Truman pointed up the problem in a broadcast last week in which he called upon Congress for "forthright action" to "relieve hunger and cold abroad." He did not name Russia in his speech but said the United States' policy is "to assist free men and free nations to recover from the devastation of war, to help one another and to contribute their full share to a stable and lasting peace."

"We follow that policy for the purpose of securing the peace and well-being of the world. It is nonsense to say that we seek dominance over any other nation."

Russian propaganda has been to the effect that the United States seeks to gain control of Western Europe through the Marshall aid and self-help plan.

Truman said France and Italy were in the most imminent danger of economic collapse and warned that if that happened and "the people succumb to totalitarian pressures, there will be no opportunity for them or for us to look forward to their recovery so essential to world peace."

In another aspect of the broadcast, Truman called for measures to halt inflation in the United States and to counter high prices and the high cost of living. He did not indicate what steps he proposed beyond contending that the responsibility of government extends beyond aiding "voluntary price reductions."

Meanwhile, France's Premier Paul Ramadier moved to eliminate pro-de Gaulle men from his cabinet in a shake-up taken following strong gains by de Gaulle adherents in the French municipal elections. Ramadier purged Communists from the cabinet last May and the latest shuffle left him with a mainly centrist administration. Ramadier has sharply assailed both de Gaullists and Communists, apparently seeking to put himself at the head of moderate, middle-of-the-road opinion.

Britain took drastic new measures in her fight to regain economic equilibrium. Sir Stafford Cripps, economic affairs minister, announced last week a ban on imports of tobacco from the United States, shorter food rations and fewer new homes. Capital construction outlays will be cut by £200,000,000 ($800,000,000) and bacon, egg and sugar rations will be trimmed.

Some 130 Hollywood actors and writers, angered by Washington's un-American activities committee's search for subversive characters in the film capital, last week met to plan a retaliatory campaign.

Calling themselves the Committee for the First Amendment .. that's the part of the United States constitution guaranteeing freedom of speech .. they took to the air for a half hour program in which some of the nation's top-flight entertainment names lambasted the congressional probe.

The program, entitled "Hollywood Fights Back," included speeches by Katherine Hepburn, Ethel Barrymore, Spencer Tracy, Eddie Cantor and Gregory Peck. Others who announced opposition to charges made before the un-American committee were Jimmy Stewart, Frederick March, Rita Hayworth and Frank Sinatra.

Even in Moscow there was keen interest in the Washington hearing. Radio Moscow said the purpose of the probe was to compromise numerous progressive producers and cinema actors in the United States.

Earlier, the committee announced it would hear testimony of so-called "defence witnesses" this week. One committee member said: "Anything can happen."

In Hollywood, the Committee for the First Amendment further reported it was raising funds to send Actress Karen Morley to Washington. She will try to refute evidence given earlier by Actor Robert Taylor. He described Miss Morley as a "disrupting influence" at meetings of the Screen Actors Guild.

At the week's end, some 6,000 members of the Canadian Seamen's Union were prepared to tie-up Canada's Atlantic and Pacific ports. Union officials said a strike vote was scheduled "within a matter of days." Whether the walk-off is called will depend on current negotiations between the men and shipping lines for wage increases and shorter hours.

The tumultuous French political scene was tossed a teaser last week. L'Humanite, Communist newspaper, called for legislation to curb use of United States comic strips in French newspapers. Such legislation was needed, the paper said, because of "the corrupting influence of the American trust of mental intoxication."

—o—

Russia's foreign ministry office has angrily told Brazil it will not grant exit visas to that country's diplomatic staff in Moscow until Soviet representatives are safely out of Brazil.

Such action came as the result of the diplomatic break between the two countries last week. Moscow stated further that the Brazilian embassy staff in Moscow was under "protective surveillance" because of indignation aroused by reports of alleged attacks on Soviet embassy personnel in Brazil.

—o—

Madrid last week entered a spirited protest to Britain against what it termed "a political plot and machinations in London." Spain accused Foreign Secretary Bevin of taking part in the plot.

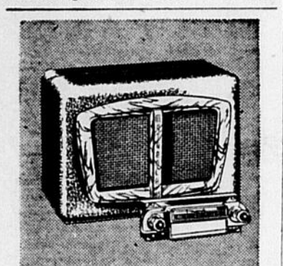

According to Spaniards, the protest was against reported meetings between Bevin and Spanish monarchist Jose Maria Gil Robles and Socialist leader Indalecio Prieto in London.

Madrid claimed the two men were close to sealing an agreement to form a coalition government in Spain to succeed Franco.

United States police are reported searching for one or more firebugs thought responsible for last week's devastating forest fires in Maine.

Suspicion of arson followed investigation which unearthed evidence suggesting some of the fires have been deliberately set. Just outside Portland, Fire Chief S. O'Brien said two girl guides found a candle burning within one inch of dry pine needles. The chief thought the lay-out was a clear-cut case of attempted arson.

A very amusing and interesting paper was read by Mrs. Janet Reddick entitled: "Swim suits from 1880 to 1947". A Quiz Contest was conducted by Mrs. Jas. Angell, and this was followed by an old-fashioned hat parade, which produced many and varied styles. Another interesting feature was prizes presented to the youngest and the oldest grandmothers present, which proved to be Mrs. Hiram Reddick, and Mrs. Janet Reddick. An 89 year-old former member, Mrs. Jas. McKell, was present, and gave some reminisences of the early days of the W.I. nearly 25 years ago. She was presented with a small gift, as being the only great-grandmother present. The meeting was closed with the National Anthem. A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. H. Reddick, Mrs. Finlay Milne and Mrs. Chester Orr.

On Friday evening, October 17th, a very pleasant time was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Craig, when relatives and friends gathered as a surprise, to celebrate with them their fifth wedding anniversary. The evening was spent in playing cards, music and a social time, followed by delicious refreshments. The gathering was then called to order, and Mr. Mervyn Craig, on behalf of those present, presented to Mr. and Mrs. Craig a lovely coffee table. Although quite taken by surprise, they both fittingly responded, and thanked everyone for their thoughtfulness. Words of congratulations and good wishes were spoken by several of the guests, and then everyone departed wishing the happy couple many more years of happy married life.

A Vision of Free Enterprise

by LEWIS MILLIGAN

In conversation the other evening with a friend in the retail shoe business I had a vision of the workings of free enterprise under our Capitalist system. Usually when most people speak of Capitalism, they are thinking in terms of "Big Business," such as financial institutions, industrial corporations, department and chain stores.

My friend was telling me of an out-of-town trip he had made to a golf tournament and social get-together of retail shoe dealers, and how much he had enjoyed the jovial company of his fellow shoemen from various parts of the country. From this I led him on to tell me something about the shoe business in general and the manufacture of shoes in particular.

He told me there were about 2,000 individual shoe stores in Canada, apart from department and chain stores. In addition there are thousands of general stores that carry shoes. Including these, it is estimated that there are as many as 10,000 stores selling shoes. In the aggregate these retailers must do an enormous business, and they thus constitute the greater proportion of capitalism in the shoe trade. Most of the goods they sell are made in Canadian shoe factories, of which there are 289, large and small. Some special lines of footwear are imported, chiefly from Britain, and there is quite a large export trade in Canadian-made shoes.

But what struck me in conversing with my shoeman friend was the wide distribution of responsibility and initiative in private enterprise, and the surprisingly smooth and efficient way in which it operates, and this not only in the shoe industry. From the tanners down to the small retailers there is complete coordination and co-operation. Yet manufacturers compete with one another in the quality and saleability of their products, and also in soliciting the patronage of the retailers by means of travelling salesmen. The retailers in their turn enter into competition for local trade by advertising, making their stores attractive, studying local needs, and rendering good service to their customers. They also compete in prices and bargain sales.

After talking to my friend I made some inquiries regarding the shoe industry in general. I learned that there are more than 25,000 people in Canada making a living directly from the shoe industry ... including the manufacture and the selling of shoes. In the last few years wages and salaries of these people have increased in about the same proportion as in other industries. The cost of leather has increased considerably. Leather for uppers has increased more than 40 per cent, and leather for soles over 28 per cent. Cotton fabric, used in the making of shoes, has increased more than 100 per cent; gabardine over 75 per cent; sheepskin over 50 per cent, and steel and iron for nails, flax for thread, fibre for box toes, wood for high heels, boxes for cartons ... all these have increased substantially in price.

Notwithstanding these increased costs of shoe manufacture and distribution, the retail price of shoes has gone up less than 20 per cent prior to the lifting of price control. This was due in part to government subsidies, which have been paid by the people through the tax collector, and which will now have to be paid directly in an increase in the retail price of shoes. I could obtain no definite estimate as to what this increase might be, but it is variously quoted at from 15 to 35 per cent.

Leather is the all important article in the making of shoes, and Canadian tanners claim to have made strenuous efforts to hold the price line. Canada imports vast quantities of hides, and tanners must buy these on an international competitive basis. They must pay the market price, and that price has increased. Kid, for example, is made from goat skins, and these are imported from India, China and South America. In former times, the natives of India and China would collect and sell goat skins very cheaply. Today they demand higher pay, so up goes the price of kid leather.

At one time, calf skins were available in unlimited quantities. Today, with the price of meat away up, stock raisers are not slaughtering their calves but are letting them grow because as full grown animals they weigh more and can be sold for more money.

These are just a few examples which show how the price of shoes is determined by factors over which the tanners and manufacturers have no control. They also illustrate how one industry is dependent upon many others, both at home and abroad, and how retail prices have to be adjusted to meet the general rise in costs if an industry is to carry on.

Wedding

DUPUIS-ALLEN

On Saturday morning, Oct. 4th, Marie Reine, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roma Allen, Ste. Agnes, Que., became the bride of René Dupuis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Laurent Dupuis. The Rev. Father Paul Deguire conducted the double ring ceremony and officiated at the 9.30 nuptial Mass.

Music for the ceremony was under the direction of Mrs. Quenneville, organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of pink sheer over taffeta with finger-tip veil and carried an arm bouquet of American Beauty roses. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, a gift of the groom.

After the ceremony, the wedding party returned to the bride's home where lunch was served to 90 guests. Mrs. Allen, mother of the bride, assisted by Mrs. Dupuis, mother of the groom, received the guests, the former attired in a two-piece turquoise dress and the latter in blue.

Pink and pale yellow streamers and flowers formed the decorations. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Among the out-of-town guests were Father Deguire; the bride's aunts and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. G. Primeau, Ormstown; Mr. and Mrs. E. Bourdeau, St. Chrysostome; Mr. and Mrs. W. Allen, Valleyfield; Mr. and Mrs. W. Parent, Montreal; Mrs. J. L. Fleice, Brantford, Ont.; Mrs. Brais, Hemmingford; Mrs. Lefebvre, St. Antoine; the groom's uncle, Dr. and Mrs. Caza, Huntingdon; the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Zenon D'Amour, Franklin Centre, and Mrs. A. Allen, Ste-Agnes, and others from Cazaville, St. Anicet and Fort Covington.

Leaving on their wedding trip to Niagara Falls, Toronto and Buffalo, N.Y., the bride wore a turquoise ensemble with brown coat and accessories. On their return on Friday, they were ushered to Hotel Dupuis where about 200 guests awaited them.

The bridal couple will reside on the groom's farm in Dundee.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

by Don Graham

The other day I had an interesting conversation with a piano tuner who was working in my home.

Although I had always thought his profession a rather monotonous one, I was soon to change my mind. For he talked so engagingly about his work, the construction of the instrument and other related matters, that I found myself becoming genuinely interested.

But what fascinated me most was his great enthusiasm for his work.

This attitude towards one's job is greatly to be desired. Enthusiasm has a magic, warming effect on all of us. And in a worker—be he salesman or carpenter, butcher or book-keeper—it wins admiration and co-operation from employers, customers and all others with whom he comes in contact.

So, especially to younger men, I would say: Regardless of whatever headaches and disappointments your work may bring, keep on being enthusiastic!

Despite her condition, she celebrated her 85th birthday on July 6, and was about as usual until the end of August, when she became confined to her bed.

Born in St. Louis, Que., she was a daughter of the late Hugh McEwen and his wife, Christy Campbell, her maiden name being Catherine McEwen.

resources are close to the two-billion level. Just as spectacular has been the increase in staff — from seven persons in 1817 to more than 8,000 in 1947! The bank has over 500 offices, including branches in Newfoundland, London, New York, Chicago and San Francisco. Its depositors number more than 1,500,000 — about one out of every five depositors in Canada.

If all these people and their dependents, plus all the others whom the bank serves in other capacities, were counted together, their number would form a surprisingly high proportion of the Canadian population. And so the bank that nine men started in such a modest way, 130 years ago, has become, indeed, an integral part of the life of the nation.

CANADA'S PRIMARY TEXTILES INDUSTRY

What is Canada's Primary Textiles Industry? What does it do? Where is it located? How important is it in our national economy?

Because this industry is composed of so many relatively small units located in so many small towns and manufactures such a great variety of essential textile products for both domestic and industrial use it is not always realized that this is one of Canada's largest industries. Yet, according to the Canada Year Book, the Primary Textiles Industry is Canada's second largest industry from the standpoint of number of employees.

A LEADING INDUSTRY:

Under "Principal Statistics of the Forty Leading Industries of Canada", The Canada Year Book for 1946 states: "The primary textile industry, which includes the production of cottons, woollens, silk, hosiery and knitted goods, and the dyeing and finishing of textiles, ranks second in number of employees, third in salaries and wages paid and fifth in gross value of production".

WHAT THIS INDUSTRY DOES:

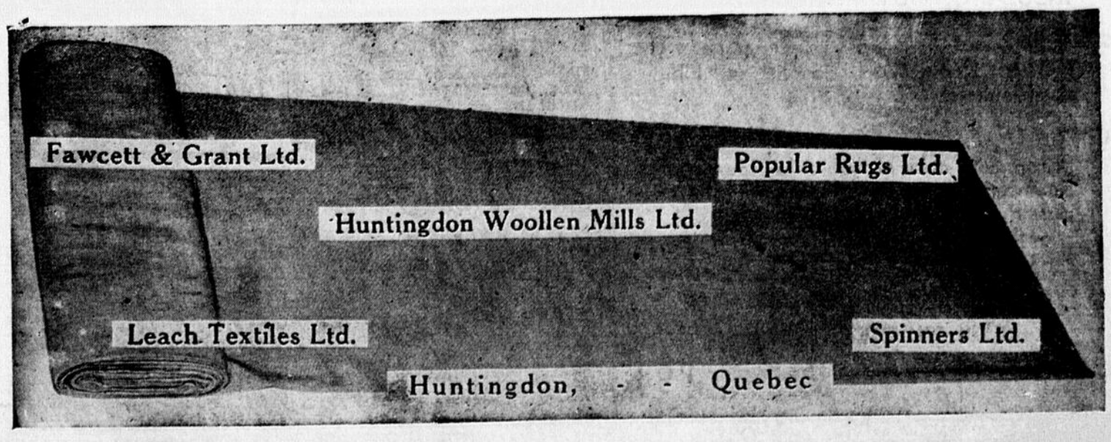

Canada's Primary Textiles Industry processes the natural textile fibres such as wool, cotton, silk, flax and jute and produces man-made fibres such as rayon and nylon. These fibres are made into yarns which are woven into cloth, or knitted into hosiery or other articles of clothing. Some products of the Primary Textiles Industry may be finished ready for distribution to the final consumer while some are further manufactured by the Secondary Textiles Industry, or "needle trades", into clothing and other articles. Many products of The Primary Textiles Industry also serve as raw materials for other industries.

The Primary Textiles Industry is divided into several branches which include:

1. The Cotton Industry.
2. The Woollen and Knitgoods Industry.
3. The Synthetic Fibre Industry.
4. Dyeing, Bleaching and Finishing.
5. The Narrow Fabric Industry.
6. The Carpet and Rug Industry.
7. Plush, Velvet and Upholstery.
8. Cordage and Rope Manufacture.
9. Felt Manufacture.

Some of these groups carry on certain manufacturing operations that are similar to those in use by other groups; some may use the product of the other. Thus, the hosiery and knitgoods manufacturers use cotton, wool, rayon and nylon while the cotton industry is a user of rayon yarn.

Canada's Primary Textiles Industry was originally established and still exists mainly to supply Canada's needs for textiles. Canada has not been a large exporter of textiles but imports large amounts of textile fibres such as cotton, wool, flax, jute, etc., in raw or semi-processed state for manufacture in this country.
