Common front walkout protests contract impasse

ADDRESSING MANAGEMENT — Father Emile Bouvier, president of the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce, points out some grim facts about the labor force of tomorrow during a Canadian Institute of Management seminar entitled "Outlook 80" at the Le Baron Motel yesterday.

Looks ahead to 1980 manpower

SHERBROOKE (GA) — Father Emile Bouvier painted a relatively grim picture on the prospective industrial manpower of 1980, giving such reasons as a declining birth rate, union-management problems and the inability of industrial and education leaders to communicate with each other in establishing practical educational programs.

Father Bouvier, a professor of Economics and Industrial Relations at the University of Sherbrooke and president of the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce, was the key speaker at a Canadian Institute of Management seminar entitled "Outlook 80" held at the Le Baron Motel yesterday.

Other speakers at yesterday's seminar were Roger Martin, Member of the Board of Directors of the Conseil de Patronat du Quebec and the University of Quebec in Montreal. He is also a member of the Labor and Manpower Consulting Council. Also speaking was Yvon Gasse, director of the MBA program, faculty of business administration at the University of Sherbrooke.

Father Bouvier predicts a decrease in the labor force between 1980 and 1985, citing the decrease in population as the cause. He pointed out that more and more women are entering the labor field, quoting increases of 37 to 40 per cent over the past year. He said presently women make up 60 per cent of the total employees in the clerical field, this party accounting for the decreasing population, he told the 60 members of the CIM.

Father Bouvier feels union and management should try to build a common level of understanding and work closer to attempt to solve mutual problems, thereby avoiding costly strikes.

"Most of the courses given in schools and universities today are for the most part impractical as to the needs of industry so that 30 per cent of today's graduates cannot get jobs. Industry has tried to communicate with educators to try and get some of the courses changed so that the courses will deal more with subjects that will be of use when the graduate leaves school and enters the labor field. Most of these graduates are totally unprepared and as a result industry has to try to fill this educational gap by offering courses on the job," he said.

Father Bouvier contends that Chambers of Commerce have been too silent in this matter in the past and should take a more active role in getting education together with management to make the most practical use of an already dwindling manpower situation.

At present the Canadian Institute of Management has taken an active role in educating people who have just entered the business field, sponsoring courses in business administration especially designed for the business man.

Legality of Hughes' will may be questioned

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Three scrawled pages of instructions that leave $125 million each to the Mormon Church and a 31-year-old Utah gasoline-station owner, who says he once loaned Howard Hughes a quarter, will be probated as the will of the late billionaire.

"It's just legal procedure from now on," said Noah Dietrich, 87, the former top Hughes aide named in the faded document as executor.

"I have no question that it's his handwriting and his signature," Dietrich said Thursday in Los Angeles. "It was brought to me this afternoon, using the copying method over the telephone, and I no longer have any question about it."

Dietrich earlier had expressed doubt about the validity of the document turned over to a court here because of numerous spelling errors, but he later changed his mind.

A tattered envelope containing the crudely

MONTREAL (CP) — Thousands of Quebec hospital workers and junior college professors started a 48-hour strike Thursday as 9,200 Hydro-Quebec workers and most of the province's 80,000 teachers announced they would join them today.

Yvon Charbonneau, president of the 80,000-member Quebec Teachers' Federation, told reporters French-Catholic teachers, members of the common front of public service workers, would walk out to show their frustration with the continued lack of new offers from the government in their contract talks.

"Certainly we're going on strike," he said. "The government refuses to negotiate."

The province's French-Catholic and English-Protestant teachers waited before deciding to participate in the latest strike in order to see if the government had any new offers to propose.

The teachers already face numerous charges as a result of walkouts April 12 and 23 in defiance of provincial anti-strike legislation which bars work disruptions in Quebec schools for an 80-day period from April 11.

In the Eastern Townships, Protestant schools remained open today. The schools are those covered by the District of Bedford Regional School Board and the Eastern Townships Regional School Board. Catholic schools in Sherbrooke were closed.

REINSTITUTE BENEFIT
 Oswald Parent, minister for the public service, announced Wednesday that the government had decided to reinstate a 17-per-cent cost-of-living increase to all its public service employees.

The cost-of-living payments have not been paid to teachers and hospital workers since common front contracts expired last June. They are retroactive to that date.

Officials of the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers were expected to announce late Thursday that their 3,400 members would join the walkout today.

However, 4,500 members of the Provincial Association of Catholic Teachers reserved until late Thursday their strike decision after members of their negotiating team were called to hastily-arranged negotiations in Quebec City.

The English-Catholic teachers, who are not members of the common front, walked out Wednesday afternoon but were back on the job Thursday.

WORKERS WARNED
 In Quebec City, Justice Minister Gerard Levesque said his department will take additional action against the junior college unions and against hospital workers who failed to provide essential services in their institutions.

There were also reports that the justice minister is using members of Quebec police forces to check on the activities of striking teachers. Many school commissions have refused to inform the justice department of teacher walkouts in order to improve the climate at the negotiating table.

A spokesman for hospital administrators in the province reported a total of 29,000 workers were off the job. Union officials said most workers who were on the job Thursday would be off today.

Notre Dame and Maisonneuve hospitals in the city's east end reported they were evacuating patients as professional staff were unable to cross picket lines. In Quebec City, St. Michel Archangel hospital suspended all clinics, including emergency services, directing general Leo-Paul Beausoleil said.

Maisonneuve hospital director Jean Boisvert said 700 unionized employees failed to report for work.

Brief riot put down in jail

MONTREAL (CP) — Quebec Provincial Police were called to surround the maximum-security St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary in nearby Laval Thursday night after a dozen prisoners went on a brief rampage.

Prison Warden Bernard Marcoux told reporters early today the incident began when the 12 prisoners made a break from the prison's main yard from the recreation area.

Mr. Marcoux said order was restored within 30 minutes and the prisoners were placed in segregation cells pending an investigation of the outbreak.

One guard was injured during the struggle when a prisoner struck him on the arm with an iron bar. The guard was treated at hospital and released.

The prisoners, described by the warden as being "either drunk or drugged," raised their hands and surrendered after guards fired warning shots into the air.

Mr. Marcoux said about 100 other prisoners returned quietly to their cells, but riot-equipped provincial police were called to the scene as a precautionary move.

POLICE ALERTED
 Off-duty guards were also called to the high-walled, greystone prison, and Montreal and Laval reported disruptions and 44 said they did not have enough staff to provide essential services as defined last January by a government arbitrator. Union leaders have said their workers will decide what services are essential in each institution.

Meanwhile, Dr. Augustin Roy, head of the Quebec College of Physicians and Surgeons, described the state of professional services in Quebec hospitals as desperate, and warned that the doctors may withdraw their services if the government does not act to settle the contract dispute.

The Hydro workers, who are to stage another 24-hour walkout today, have warned that further action could be expected later if the government does not present new salary offers.

Spokesmen for the utility's municipal police were alerted.

Mr. Marcoux said the prison had experienced problems with drugs and alcohol recently, "but if we had locked up everybody involved (with drugs or alcohol) we'd have had a whole cell block locked up."

He said prisoners often drink a home-made alcoholic beverage distilled from fruit or potato peelings.

He said drugs were also finding their way into the prison from outside. Last week, for example, authorities discovered a piece of paper soaked in the hallucinogenic LSD inside an envelope addressed to a prisoner.

April beef prices climb

Beef prices climbed in April in eight of 12 cities surveyed by The Canadian Press, ending a period of depression for cattle producers.

Charles Gracey, Toronto, manager of the Canadian Cattleman's Association which represents cattle producers across Canada, said in an interview that consumers can expect to see beef prices rise by another 10 per cent before they level off.

"We've had a serious erosion in prices caused by over-supply," he said. "For example, we reached rock bottom three or four weeks ago when the retail price was $1.24 for the average cut of beef."

He said that it has since risen to about $1.30.

"We set new lows for the past three years but we are now recovering."

Mr. Gracey added that his association expects the farm price, which has been hovering between $38 and $40 a hundredweight for top-grade steers, "will move back up into the $50-to-$55 range."

"This must come in order to create break-even prices and enough profit so farmers can stay in the cattle producing business."

Evidence that consumers are bearing the brunt of federal Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan's new dairy policy was noted by an increase in butter prices in seven cities in the monthly survey.

Resignation of premier expected

ROME (Reuter) — Premier Aldo Moro appeared certain to resign today unless a last-minute development saves his minority government and thus avoids a general election which might bring a Communist government to Italy.

The Socialists Thursday rejected Moro's pleas for a compromise agreement with his Christian Democrat government to hold off elections.

They also confirmed that they will oppose the government if a formal vote is called on a no-confidence debate which Moro will wind up today in parliament.

The smaller Social Democrat and Republican parties have said they will abstain, thus ensuring a majority against the government.

But rather than call a vote, Moro is expected to announce his resignation, leaving President Giovanni Leone with little choice but to call elections for June.

workers, members of the Canadian Union of Public Employees, promised that service to the public would be maintained during the walkout.

Land under control

OTTAWA (CP) — Private developers control enough residential land in some metropolitan areas to supply housing needs for up to 19 years, says a study prepared originally for Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. (CMHC).

In some cases, developers can expect speculative gains of up to 60 per cent on their land purchases, the study says.

The study was written for CMHC by author Peter Spurr in 1973, but was never published. Now Toronto publisher James Lorimer and Co. have issued the 435-page report in book form.

Mr. Lorimer said at a news conference here Thursday that CMHC had suppressed the report because it reflects poorly on the federal Crown corporation.

CMHC insures mortgage loans and provides direct aid for housing. That aid includes money for land assembly by provinces and municipalities.

Egg windfall profits

OTTAWA (CP) — Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan confirmed Thursday that the Canadian Egg Marketing Agency (CEMA) used a private broker to import eggs for itself while advising the trade department to block some import rights to domestic wholesalers.

He told the Commons such a practice is legal and that it was used by CEMA to prevent large processors from making a "fall profits."

Fellow Liberal Herb Gray (Windsor West) sharply criticized the action outside the House, saying it involved a "definite conflict of interest."

"If CEMA is going to import eggs itself, it should abstain from giving advice to the industry, trade and commerce department."

The three-year-old producers' union was "thumping its nose at the government" by attempting to take control over all egg imports before the cabinet decided whether it should be given that power, he said.

Some domestic wholesalers have expressed outrage over CEMA's move to circumvent regulations involving egg imports over the three-million dozen allowed into the country each year under federal border controls.

Fishermen quotas
 OTTAWA (CP) — East Coast fishermen may have a hard time late this year finding fish to catch because quotas for many species will be filled by then, a federal fisheries service official said Thursday.

Dr. Arthur May, acting director-general of resource services, said in an interview that "by the end of the year it will be difficult to keep the fleets busy. We are looking for ways to alleviate the problem."

The end result will likely be increased pressure for a 200-mile off-shore limit.

Literary awards presented

OTTAWA (CP) — Quebec novelist Anne Hebert and Toronto poet Milton Acorn were among winners of the annual Governor-General's literary awards at a presentation ceremony Thursday.

The ceremony at Government House by Governor-General and Mme Leger, was relatively quiet and subdued although Quebec poet Pierre Perreault said in accepting his award that he felt the sadness of an exile in a foreign land.

It contrasted to last year's ceremony, when two Quebec winners denounced the awards and the "Canadian domination of Quebec" in lengthy statements.

The six awards, sponsored by the Canada Council, were for the best works in poetry, fiction and non-fiction published in English and French in 1975. Each winner received $5,000, double last year's award and a specially-bound copy of the winning work.

Names of the winners were announced earlier this month.

Miss Hebert received the French-language fiction award for her novel, Les Enfants du Sabbat. She also wrote Kamouraska, a murder story set in 19th-century Quebec, which has been made into a film.

WROTE HISTORY
 Mr. Acorn received the English-language poetry award for a folk history of his native Prince Edward Island, The Island Means Minago.

After accepting the award, the goateed poet, wearing running shoes with his plaid suit, turned to the audience in the gilt-edged ballroom and quoted from one of his poems:

"Stick to your guns, You'll win or fall beside them."

Mr. Perreault, honored for his book of poetry, Louennes, said he felt like an exile in Canada, because "I am not from this country."

The 48-year-old poet will invest the prize money in a Quebec enterprise, such as a publishing house or the textile co-operative, Tricofil. Some of the money may go to the Parti Quebecois, which promotes Quebec independence.

Winner of the award for English-language fiction was Brian Moore, for his novel The Great Victorian Fantasy. The native of Belfast, Northern Ireland, won a Governor-General's award in 1960 for his novel, The Luck of Ginger Coffey.

Brigham drama may result in attempted murder charge

BRIGHAM (JM) — Quebec police are refusing to identify a juvenile who may face three charges of attempted murder following a domestic quarrel here Wednesday. They are also withholding names of the victims pending judicial proceedings which will be held at a yet undetermined date.

Cowansville QPF spokesman said one adult entered a house here after he forced the door with an axe when he was wounded by a shot from a 22 rifle. A second person went to his aid and was struck in the head by 22 calibre projectiles and a third person who was about to intervene took to his heels. However, he was struck once in the arm by a projectile.

The spokesman said two of the victims are still in the hospital and four persons were originally arrested as suspects. Three were subsequently released following interrogation by members of the QPF Crimes Against Persons (homicide) squad.

The last drama of a similar nature occurred in this tiny community four miles west of Cowansville December 28, 1974 when Christine Morin, then a minor, shot and killed her mother's lover. Miss Morin faces trial in District of Bedford criminal division superior court, next month on a charge of discharging a firearm with intent to cause bodily harm. The charge up conviction carries a maximum prison term of 14 years.

Swim course for handicapped offered by the Sherbrooke Y

SHERBROOKE (GA) — A tailor-made 11 week Red Cross Swimming Course for the mentally retarded as well as the mentally and physically handicapped is underway at the Sherbrooke YMCA-YWCA under the direction of Valerie Rawlings, Y Aquatic Director.

According to Miss Rawlings, all the guests work in teaching swimming to the handicapped has been removed under this tried and true swimming course. "Swimming is the only full exercise that will tone and condition all muscles in the body and now with this new swimming course the handicapped can take advantage of the fun and exercise of knowing how to swim."

Miss Rawlings is presently working towards the completion of a two year course to enable her to teach the handicapped. Presently she has taken 20 hours of theory in Montreal. Her next two steps will be to teach for 15 hours under supervision and then to write a thesis on some aspect of work with the handicapped. The swimming course is just one phase in her training.

Presently Miss Rawlings is working with some 28 patients from the Dixville Home, assisted by three Dixville workers. Some of the patients are mongoloids, mentally retarded, epileptics and some suffer from cerebral palsy, ranging in ages from six to 35.

"The most difficult aspect of teaching retarded children seems to lie in their inability to remember what they have been taught. Sometimes when we go in the pool we find that a child has forgotten what he has learned up to date and we have to start again from the basics. Some of them, however, are remembering and their muscular coordination is improving," Miss Rawlings said.

The Y pool is the only facility for swimming that is open to the public during the day. The administration plans to make the pool available for individual and group swimming lessons for other institutions that care for the handicapped. This swimming course, which is also available to amputees or anyone with physical disabilities, will start in the fall.

And Pianist Marie Fabi will play Sospiero by Liszt, 32 variations by Beethoven, impromptu in E sharp minor by Chopin sonata no 2 by Hindemith.

Robert Langevin is a member of the Sherbrooke Symphony Orchestra and a professor of the flute. Mr. Langevin studied under Jean-Paul Major at the Conservatory in Montreal and has performed in several recitals on Radio-Canada and has been a featured soloist in the Montreal Conservatory Orchestra as well as the Radio-Canada Orchestra.

Daniel Doyon has been a member of the Sherbrooke Symphony Orchestra since 1969 and was appointed trumpet soloist in the symphony in 1974. He is a member of the Quintette de Cuivres de Montreal and has appeared in a number of concerts in the "Sons et Brioche" series. Sherbrooke residents may be facing restrictions on their use of water this summer as the city fearing a water shortage plans to cut water consumption this summer by 15 per cent. City officials feel that the move would insure a secure reserve for the city.

Sherbrooke's Director General Serge Racine plans at the next council meeting to suggest the closing of the city's three wading pools for youngsters.

According to Mr. Racine, the move is a necessary one to conserve water. There is also a regulation being prepared by the city, requiring owners of swimming pools to use a filter device. Like the city's wading pools, small pools use a large quantity of water, as they necessitate emptying and refilling several times during the summer season.

There will in all likelihood be a regulation limiting the washing of cars, watering of lawns and the like, to specific times of the day, according to city officials.

As summer approaches, it is most certain Mr. Racine will have problems with the water situation as he will have to deal with the problem without the aid of the city's new reservoir near the university. It will not be in full operation for the summer months as originally planned.

CITY NOMINATES PRESIDENT FOR GAMES
At the special council meeting held here on Wednesday afternoon, Sherbrooke Mayor Jacques O'Bready announced the appointment of Clement Fortier, to the post of President of the Organizing Committee for the 1977 Quebec Games which will be hosted by Sherbrooke in July.

Mr. Fortier who is married and has two young children, is a well-known businessman in the Sherbrooke area. He is presently secretary for Festival des Cantons, Sherbrooke's cultural festival. He is also very active in numerous other organizations.

Mr. Fortier said his first task as president will be to elect an executive and co-ordinator. Then he will meet with the "Société du Jeux du Québec."

As president he will be responsible for presenting the file on Sherbrooke's plans for the games. Once approval has been granted, he will oversee finalization of the project.

Border moves ahead with plan for home for senior citizens

BOUNDARY (IH) — A group of people from the Boundary areas gathered at the Rediker School in Beebe Tuesday evening, April 27 to discuss the progress towards setting up a community senior citizens home here at the Border to serve the elderly of five municipalities.

The municipalities are Beebe, Stanstead, Stanstead East, Ogden and the Town of Rock Island. It was first thought to invite delegates from several local groups from these communities to attend a planning meeting on May 11.

It has now been decided to open this meeting to anyone who desires to attend, to bring suggestions and elect a slate of officers. This meeting will be held May 11 at Pierce Hall, Stanstead College, at 8 p.m. If one is not familiar with this campus building there will be students from the college in school there for directions.

At the meeting Tuesday evening there was much enthusiasm as has been shown by many of the area people through letters received by a committee protem.

There are some 7,000 people residing in these five communities, with a possible 600 of retirement age. Some of these people would appreciate a home here and many are determined there will be one. It is hoped to have some financial assistance from the government to make this home a reality as soon as possible.

At the meeting on Tuesday evening members were named to act on a committee. This slate will be presented to the public on May 11 to elect officers. Other nominations will be invited to add to this proposed list.

They are: President, Dr. Marcel Bonin; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. Della Goodsell and Paul Bouchard; Secretary, Miss Laurette Davignon; treasurer, Mel Van Sickle, with M. W. MacDonald assistant treasurer.

Directors: Dr. Gilles Bouchard, (medical advisor); Father Rock Lecours and Rev. Ralph Rogers, (spiritual advisors) Benoit Lapierre, Lloyd Bliss, Philip Wood, Stuart Edgar, Mrs. Ivy Hatch, Raymond Rodrigue, Sandy Hatfield declined to act as a director but agreed to assist as his time permits.

Jacques Darsh, Miss M. Darsh, both of Katevale, were at this meeting, also Paul Bouchard, a native of Rock Island, who is now a lawyer in Sherbrooke. Mr. Darsh presided for the nominations of the committee. He spoke of other homes for the elderly in Windsor.

Ben Lapierre, President of the Boundary Rotary Club, and Mrs. Della Goodsell with the assistance of others have laid the ground work to date and Tuesday evening Mr. Lapierre was spokesman and welcomed the attendance as well as calling the meeting to order.

This Home will serve the needs of both French and English residents of the five centers.

Rotary role in the world detailed

SHERBROOKE (SB) — Kenneth Davis, the Chairman of the International Service Committee for District 707 and a native of Toronto, was the guest speaker at this week's regular Rotary Club meeting held at the St. George's Club.

Mr. Davis's topic was "Rotary in the World" and aimed at informing the local club of the International Service Committee's most recent project, a pairing up of Canadian Rotary Clubs with Caribbean Rotary Clubs. The purpose is to promote better communication and aid programs to the lesser developed countries in the Caribbean.

A Rotary Club built the first center for mentally ill children on Granada Island. Another started an agricultural scheme whereby the island produced new fruits and vegetables that were previously imported. The club first bought 10 acres beside a school and began growing tomatoes and carrots. More recently the Rotary Club donated a rototiller, plastic piping for irrigation and 1,000 feet of fencing to keep the scores of wandering cattle out of the agricultural area.

A fishing industry has been set up on St. Kitt's Island by another Rotary Club. The club purchased two special fishing vessels and the United Nations outfitted them with necessary equipment while the local government supplied buildings and mooring facilities. The project, when fully completed, will employ over 50 people.

Mr. Davis's island tour brought participants to the island of Haiti, which is poverty stricken and heavily populated. Mr. Davis related some of the conditions of daily living as well as the fact that roughly 22,000 people control the economy of a country containing over six million people. He told of the exceptional work being done by a Canadian girl and her Haitian husband, who she met here while studying.

Mr. Davis also stated that the Canadian government is interested in the Rotary projects as they have proven more successful than the conventional methods of government aid funds.

The local Rotarians were also informed that at this year's Rotary International meeting being held in New Orleans in June, an announcement will be made concerning the pairing of the over 16,000 Rotary Clubs throughout the world to aid lesser developed countries and clubs flourish.

All members of St. Andrew's Church Choir and the Sunday School staff are invited to be guests of the Deacons' Court at a luncheon following the morning service May 2 in the church hall. This is a mark of deep appreciation for consecrated and valued service to the church.

Southern initiative

Slowly and with infinite caution, the United States is attempting to repair the damage done to NATO's southern flank by the simmering Greek-Turkish conflict. The damage has been serious and if Italy goes Communist — the temptation is to say "when" rather than "if" — the total lack of support bases in the Mediterranean for the United States Sixth Fleet would indeed turn that sea into a Red lake.

A new arms agreement has thus been concluded by the Ford administration with Turkey in the hope the pact will overcome the obstacles placed in its path by the Greek lobby in the United States Congress. Once approved, the new agreement should lead to an early re-opening of the now inoperative United States bases in Turkey. The bases are considered vital to the NATO alliance, and are in fact irreplaceable. For instance, it would be impossible to obtain solid verification of any new United States-Soviet nuclear arms agreement without the American secret installations in Turkey monitoring Soviet developments.

Greece, too, has been given a substantial arms grant to maintain the balance of power in the region and an agreement about United States bases in Greece seems imminent. This was largely made possible by a United States pledge to oppose any aggression in the Aegean and on Cyprus. The culmination of these delicate diplomatic manoeuvres has been the suggestion by Greek Premier Karamanlis that Greece and Turkey sign a non-aggression treaty. The Greek initiative has been received with satisfaction by Ankara and the foreign ministers of the two nations are to meet to prepare a Greek-Turkish summit that would then discuss all the contentious issues, including Aegean oil and Cyprus.

Mr. Karamanlis was wise when he remarked it was ridiculous for the two nations to waste their slender substance on an arms race when mutual co-operation would be so much more fruitful. This seems to be also the conviction in Turkey, and it is not impossible that the two countries could reach a co-operative agreement on joint exploitation of the undersea oil deposits. The real bone of contention is Cyprus, a problem that is as insoluble today as it was when the British decolonized the island 17 years ago. Last week's ouster of Glafkos Clerides from his position as the chief Greek-Cypriot negotiator with the Turkish-Cypriot community — Mr. Clerides fell out with Archbishop Makarios who does not like sharing his power with anybody — has now left the limping negotiations high and dry. The Demirel government in Ankara can make concessions over oil, or over NATO, but it is too weak to take a decisive step over an issue as emotional as that of Cyprus. A Greek-Cypriot author recently wrote that the only way to solve the problem would be for both Archbishop Makarios and Rauf Denktaş, the Turkish-Cypriot leader, to leave the political arena and for a new set of politicians to start all over again.

What Cyprus needs is a new breed of non-nationalist leaders in a reconstituted Cyprus republic, a united federal state whose president is a Greek not associated in the Turkish minds with the old nationalist demands for union with Greece; and whose vice-president is a Turk not associated in the Greek eyes with threats of partition. This indeed would require the pensioning off of the holdovers from the decolonization struggle of 20 years ago, to be followed by an agreement between Greece and Turkey in the withdrawal of all foreign forces. The Cyprus issue is not as intractable as that of the Middle East. The Cyprus Greeks and Turks lives together in friendship throughout the half century of British administration and there still is an unexhausted fund of good will on which to rebuild the Cypriot state. But the incentive must come from outside the island, and this is what makes Mr. Karamanlis' new initiative so valuable.

Opinion from the French language press

This is a selection of editorials on current topics, translated from the French-language press of Canada.

Ottawa Le Droit—After five years of promises, Quebec has announced its consumer protection law. Unfortunately, the bill does not live up to the expectations of those who thought that, after so much fanfare, and being the last province to pass such a law, Quebec would innovate in this area and, in particular, would introduce class actions. The basic problems of the consumer cannot be settled by turn-of-the-century methods.

In view of the current consumer phenomenon, modern methods must be used. Lise Bacon, Quebec's consumer affairs minister, must be severely criticized for the omission of some form of class action, long legal in the United States and, in a different form, in Manitoba.

Class actions allow consumers to sue for damages and interest in the name of all consumers harmed by the same party. Thus, the consumer is individually reimbursed, and the judgment may be applied in favor of all other, even anonymous consumers.

Class actions have several advantages, of which three may be noted in particular.

The sentence imposed is adapted to the circumstances. Such is not the case where certain fines have become virtual licensing fees, since it is more advantageous to pay the fines than to forgo the opportunity of making profits.

Class actions mean that consumers themselves act as police, rather than expensive public servants who should be concentrating on market structure studies, sales methods evolution, and other more complex problems.

The third advantage, not the least, is the publicity which accompanies test cases. This publicity has a double effect: It educates consumers and labels companies too often in the news.

Class action has proven its efficiency. There have been abuses, but experience has shown what kind of pitfalls are inherent, and surely the legislators now possess enough information to find the solutions to those. Fay La Riviere (April 19)

Quebec Le Soleil—The 19th convention of the Liberal party of Quebec province during the weekend accomplished three things:

—Premier Bourassa, contrary to his usual calculated image of the average, or "ordinary" Quebecer, tried to present to his troops the image of a determined and aggressive leader.

—The delegates, visibly worried when they arrived Friday, worked efficiently in workshops and general meetings, despite too many resolutions and an awkward procedure.

—The party took a more aggressive electoral stance because of an election consciousness strongly felt throughout the convention. The party also paid closer heed to delegates' opinions, which remain divided on the problems currently faced in Quebec.

In both his opening and closing addresses, Mr. Bourassa surpassed himself in firmness of tone and vehemence of language, although little new material was delivered.

Mr. Bourassa, a clever strategist and a firm believer in the image, clearly felt that he had to act as a true chief and not as an adolescent who has grown up too fast.

The delegates were able to express themselves freely on such controversial questions as the constitution, Olympic financing, no-fault automobile insurance and free university tuition.

Unfortunately, the procedure, which reduced some 1,000 resolutions to 600 in synopsis, made it impossible to study all issues in depth. Cultural Affairs Minister Jean-Paul L'Allier expressed his disapproval of this, and rightly so.

Both Liberals and members of the Parti Quebecois fall down in this procedure in annual conventions. We even ask ourselves whether this is not deliberately done to duck fundamental issues which would be discussed for hours.

Many party members, were antagonized by the steamroller intervention of ministers at opportune moments.

All in all, the convention was less euphoric and more serious than its recent predecessors. Mr. Bourassa's social democracy took a serious beating, however, with the defeat of resolutions proposing no-fault automobile insurance and free university tuition.

Happily, the family policy adopted includes a minimum guaranteed income for families.

What will happen now? Will Mr. Bourassa act in his role of partisan leader to maintain electoral fever among his troops, or in his role as head of a government—or is there, for him, a difference: (Claude Masson (April 26))

Montreal La Presse—It is difficult to judge whether the exchange proposed by the minister of natural resources—a piece of Labrador for electricity—is evidence of stupidity or of genius.

Newfoundland, in any case, was quick to react: "Crazy" was the word used in St. John's to describe the proposal of Jean Cournoyer, Quebec minister of natural resources.

Here in a nutshell is how things stand: The Atlantic provinces, panicked by skyrocketing fuel costs, have suddenly discovered the benefits of electrical energy.

In 1969 Newfoundland, which lacks the means to develop its considerable hydroelectric potential, signed an agreement with Quebec which ensured the latter province most of the production of Churchill Falls in Labrador. Now, in search of energy, Newfoundland wants 900,000 kilowatts back.

Mr. Cournoyer has expanded the problem by saying: "We're ready to talk, but we want a part of Labrador back, a part which happens to have several good rivers waiting to be harnessed."

It is obvious that the minister questions the judgment of Privy Council in London, which in 1927 gave Labrador to Newfoundland.

Crazy or not, the Cournoyer proposal might have an unexpected impact if Quebec exacted the revision of the 1927 Labrador decision as the price of reopening constitutional talks. Has the British government not just declared that it will not encourage Ottawa to bring the constitution to Canada without the consent of the provinces?

Flamboyant Flood faces charges

WASHINGTON — In a rare Senate move against a House member, the Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee has referred charges against Rep. Daniel Flood, D-Pa., to the House Ethics Committee.

The flamboyant Flood, with his waxed mustache and Adolph Menjou manner, resembles an aging vaudeville performer. But his foppish appearance is deceiving. He is an able legislator, a power in the House, a 28-year veteran, with a stranglehold on the $46 billion Health, Education and Welfare budget.

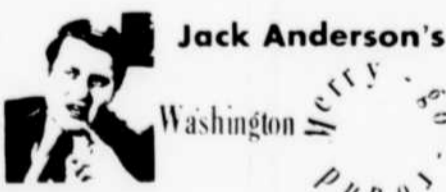

The HEW hierarchy, therefore, cannot easily ignore calls from Flood. Back in 1972, the congressman and his top aide, Steve Elko, pressured HEW not to cut off student loans to a group of unaccredited West Coast schools.

Not long afterward, the president of the West Coast schools made a secret flight under an alias to Flood's district. He quietly delivered $15,000 to a company once run by Elko. Most of the money was withdrawn by a company official the same day it was deposited.

These curious developments were uncovered by Senate sleuths in the course of an investigation into the unaccredited schools. The subcommittee is checking into charges that the schools bilked the taxpayers out of millions in federally insured student loans.

Upon discovering Flood's strange involvement with the schools, the subcommittee secretly polled its members who agreed to send the still-confidential investigative report to the House Ethics Committee.

The detailed report was accompanied by an unusual letter, signed by acting Chairman Sam Nunn, D-Ga., and ranking Republican Charles Percy, R-Ill. The confidential details were offered, stated the letter, "for any action deemed appropriate."

In the past, the House Ethics Committee has never found it appropriate to investigate the unethical conduct of House members. Although the committee was created to police congressional conduct, it has refused even to investigate congressmen convicted of crimes.

It hardly surprised us, therefore, that Elko told us he hadn't been contacted by any of the ex-FBI agents who now are part of the Ethics Committee staff. If he had been contacted, Elko said, he would have denied any wrongdoing by himself or Flood.

Watch on Waste: The railroad bosses at Amtrak have offered huge cash bonuses to rail companies that bring the trains in on time. The incentive payments are supposed to improve the service, but railroads have qualified for the money by altering their standards instead of their services.

Millions have been paid to railroads, which didn't increase their efficiency at all but merely adopted new methods for determining when a train is on time.

Investigators for the Interstate Commerce Commission concluded that Burlington Northern, for example, could actually reduce its on-time performance by 10 per cent and still qualify for cash bonuses.

The big bonuses are made possible, of course, through the generosity of the taxpayers. Congress has shelled out close to $1.7 billion since 1970 to bail out the bankrupt railroads.

Last year, Amtrak awarded $18,636,104 in incentive bonuses to 10 private rail companies to improve their on-time services. Many other private businesses would be delighted to improve their services, too, if the taxpayers would put up that kind of bonus money.

But in the case of the railroads, they felt they could collect bigger bonuses by allowing their trains more leeway. Before the incentive program, trains were considered late if they arrived more than five minutes past schedule. Now trains can arrive as much as 30 minutes late and still be considered on time.

Some railroads also lengthened their timetables, giving trains more time to reach their destination, in order to qualify for the incentive payments.

As an example of how the incentive system works, ICC investigators concluded that in only seven months Amtrak had paid Burlington Northern a whopping $1,615,000 in bonuses not for improving efficiency but for using the new performance yardstick.

The money has stimulated some rail companies, however, to move their trains faster. The ICC investigators learned that Seaboard Coastline Railroad planned "extreme action," including violation of the speed laws, to make sure their passenger trains operated on time.

Footnote: Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., told us he will investigate the incentive program. The facts can be found in the confidential reports of the ICC investigators. Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., is also looking into charges we made in an earlier column that the Amtrak bosses are using taxpayers' money to subsidize their lavish living habits.

Trans-Alaska oil pipeline

Aims for pipeline integrity and low environmental impact

EDMONTON (CP) — The Arctic environment and its delicate tundra pose technological challenges for a huge project such as the trans-Alaska oil pipeline, under construction by Alyeska Pipeline Service Co. of Anchorage.

Among other things, the 800-mile pipeline, to transport crude oil from Prudhoe Bay on the North Slope of Alaska to the ice-free port of Valdez on the south coast, has to make some 75 major river crossings.

To ensure pipeline integrity and to keep the impact on the environment to a minimum, Alyeska has hired Northwest Hydraulic Consultants Ltd. of Edmonton as its river engineering consultants.

Northwest was formed in 1972 by a group of young, mostly University of Alberta-trained civil engineers with expertise in the highly specialized field of river engineering.

The application of river engineering has become popular in North America only recently, largely due to pressure from environmental groups and the native rights movement.

SECOND FIRM HIRED
As if by coincidence—but more properly attributed to the international recognition of Canadian experience in the field of Arctic river engineering—another Canadian firm has been retained for similar work by the United States government.

The Edmonton office of FENCO Consultants Ltd. is evaluating Alyeska's pipeline design at river crossings for the department of the interior.

Until recently when FENCO moved its offices to another part of Edmonton, "we were within one block of each other," said Gary Rose, Edmonton manager of FENCO.

Mr. Rose said the design of buried river and floodplain pipeline crossings in Alaska requires thorough consideration of numerous factors.

"The fundamental criterion on which the design is based is that to ensure pipeline integrity, the pipe shall not become seriously exposed to the various forces related to the streamflow," he said.

Dick Cooper, a principal of Northwest, said in developing design methods for solving some of the river engineering programs faced by the pipeline, "several hydraulic model studies on river erosion were carried out in Northwest's model testing laboratory in Edmonton."

Northwest also has engineers working with Alyeska to "assist in design finalization, design changes, and obtaining design approval from government and review agencies."

Northwest is also acting as river engineering consultants to Canadian Arctic Gas Pipeline Ltd. of Toronto, one of the two groups proposing a Mackenzie Valley natural gas pipeline.

Lennoxville plans beautification program

LENNOXVILLE (GA) — Mayor Cecil Dougherty announced a town-wide beautification program to start in conjunction with Clean-Up Week and Ecology Week scheduled to start Monday. The town will be selling six feet hard maple trees to residents for only $1.50 along with tips on how and where to plant the trees.

Those wishing to buy a tree can do so by filling out a reservation form at town hall. The Lennoxville Optimists Club will be giving out small evergreen trees as part of their Arbor Week project.

The Optimists Club trees will be available in front of town hall Friday, May 7 from 1 to 9 p.m. and Saturday, May 8 from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. There will be a choice of white cedar, pine, blue spruce and others. With the trees a pamphlet will be given on how to plant and care for the young trees. A donation will be accepted by the club to go towards the future town projects. The trees were donated, free-of-charge to the club by various area tree farms and green houses.

The town plans to install window boxes on town buildings and plant flowers, bushes and trees in town parks as part of their beautification program. Allegro Unit meets STANSTEAD — When Centenary United Church Allegro Unit met at the home of Mrs. Howard Majury for the April meeting the main item on the agenda was to plan for the May 8 tea and sale in the church hall.

The Unit Leader, Mrs. Warren Soutiere conducted the meeting. Her opening devotional theme was Easter, choosing to read the Story of the Dogwood Tree, followed by all repeating the Lord's Prayer.

The secretary and treasurer's reports were heard. A note of thanks was read from Mrs. Avery Davis, remembered by the Unit with flowers when she was hospitalized in Sherbrooke. A communication was also read concerning the Community Senior Citizens Home here at the Border that was discussed.

Tickets are being sold on a hand made quilt which will be drawn for at the May 8 tea and sale. It was decided to have three sale tables, homemade foods, treasure and Mystery parcels, greeting cards and coffee mugs with the picture of the church on them, will also be sold.

Some of the foods were solicited for the tea and helps to arrange for decorations, in the kitchen and the dining room. It was noted that the Stanstead Historical Society meeting that afternoon will probably be represented by several at

Trees available free from club

This year, the Town of Lennoxville will be holding its Arbor Week from May 2 to May 8. The Optimist Club of Lennoxville will participate in this week by handing out free nursery grown evergreen trees at the Town Hall grounds on May 7th from 1 to 9 p.m. and May 8 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The species of trees available, will be Red Pine, Scotch Pine, Norway Spruce, White Spruce, White Cedar and Balsam Fir.

The purpose of this week is to encourage the people in the area to plant trees. Trees are a sure value for your property and your environment. They are a very important link in the chain of nature.

The Optimist Club of Lennoxville, being a service club, is proud to make it possible for everyone to plant trees on their property. Any donation persons wish to contribute for their evergreens will be appreciated. As you know, the funds collected from such an activity are used to help out the youth in the area.

This is a great opportunity for everyone to take part in Arbor Week: PLANT TREES — BEAUTIFY THE EASTERN TOWNSHIPS. Come one, come all, get your trees on May 7th and 8th at the Lennoxville Town Hall. Instruction brochures on how and where to plant young trees will also be given out.

The secretary, Mrs. Coates read the minutes of the February meeting which were accepted as read. The March Minutes will be read with this evening's minutes at the May meeting. Mrs. Coates reported she hadn't heard anything more about the W.I. workshop which was scheduled to be held in Sherbrooke this spring.

Mrs. Clout reported that she had obtained members of a family in town to play at the Compton County W.I. musical evening to be held May 1st in Sawyerville School. Miss Ord also reported that she had found a group of three to play another item.

Mrs. T. Rowland kindly offered to pack the candy bags for the musical evening, with the help of Mrs. R. Hayes. She asked members to bring the candy to her Thursday evening, April 29, or by noon April 30 at the latest. Miss Marion Ord will pick up the candy and deliver it.

MR. AND MRS. JACK BARRY ROZE.

Roze-Taylor

St. Peter's Anglican Church was the scene of a pretty candlelight Christmas wedding on December 27 at 5 p.m. when Penny Elizabeth, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Taylor and the late Ernest G. W. Taylor, was united in marriage to Mr. Jack Barry Roze, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Roze of Demorestville, Ont.

Canon John Franklin officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mr. Irving Richards, cousin of the bride, was the organist and the soloist was Miss Merrilee MacAulay, cousin of the bride, who sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "The Wedding Song" during the ceremony. The church was beautifully adorned with red and white poinsettias and the guest seats were marked with white satin bows.

The bride, given in marriage by her mother, wore a gown of white velvet trimmed with lace with an empire waist flared to a chapel length train. Her elbow length veil of tulle illusion, trimmed with lace daisies, was held in place by a Juliet cap and was made by the bride's mother. She carried a bouquet of red roses, baby's breath and holly with red satin streamers.

Miss Susan Perron of Fredericton, N.B., as maid of honor, wore a floor length gown of red velvet. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Robert Cageorge and Miss Gail McClintock of Sherbrooke, wore similar gowns of green velvet and all carried white marabou muffs trimmed with holly made by the bride's mother.

Mr. Blair Roze of Fredericton was best man for his brother. The ushers were Mr. Brian Roze, of Belleville, Ont. and Mr. Malcolm Taylor, brother of the bride of Saint John, N.B. The gentlemen were dressed in black tuxedos and wore white boutonnières.

Mrs. Taylor, the bride's mother, wore a floor length gown of blue velvet with black accessories. Her corsage was a white gardenia. Mrs. Roze, the groom's mother, chose an olive green gown of jersey. She also wore a white gardenia.

The reception was held at St. George's Club where a delicious hot and cold buffet was served.

Mr. Malcolm Taylor acted as master-of-ceremonies. Monsignor Donald Duffie past-president of St. Thomas University, Fredericton said grace. Mr. Leo Dery of Vancouver, B.C. god-father of the bride, proposed the toast to the bride to which the groom replied. In the front of the bride's table stood a triple-layered wedding cake, made by the bride's mother and beautifully decorated by Mrs. Harold Robertson in Christmas decor with mistletoe and holly topped with white bells and doves. Miss Dianne Brien was in charge of the guest book.

The bride and groom left on their honeymoon to Miami Beach, Florida, the bride travelling in a mint green dress with black patent accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Guests attended from Vancouver, B.C.: New Brunswick, Ontario, Quebec City; Montreal and surrounding areas.

Prior to the wedding, the bride was entertained at a linen shower by Mrs. Robert Cageorge and Mrs. Richard Lapine; a miscellaneous postal shower by Mr. and Mrs. Al Bell; a bathroom shower by Miss Gail McClintock and Mrs. Olga McClintock; a kitchen china shower by Mrs. J. Waldron and Mrs. Earl Lavallee; and a luncheon by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Myrna MacAulay and Miss Merrilee MacAulay when they presented her with a beautiful lamp.

Mr. and Mrs. Roze are residing in Truro, Nova Scotia.

Wedding anniversary

An enjoyable afternoon was spent recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cairns in Ives Hill, when friends and relatives joined together to honour Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Heath of Lennoxville, on the occasion of their 40th wedding anniversary.

The couple received many cards and well wishes along with a gift of money.

Refreshments were served, while Ronald Cairns, grandson of the couple, entertained at the organ.

Immediately following, the cutting of the cake took place. The cake had been beautifully decorated by Marjorie Sutor, a friend of the couple.

Guests present were from Ives Hill, Lennoxville, Huntingville, Sherbrooke, Richmond, Waterville, Vale Perkins and Rock Forest.

Dryer not needed for smaller items

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY - I use a couple of ideas that save a little bit on the electric bill. To dry small items I have laundered such as socks, cleaning rags, etc. I lay my oven rack across the backs of two kitchen chairs and hang the things on the cross wires in the rack. I only use my dryer for larger things.

To reheat food or to keep it warm, I set the pan it is in on top of the pan in which another vegetable is cooking. When my husband is slow getting down to breakfast I keep his plate of food warm this way. -LOETTA.

DEAR POLLY - I always save the pieces of foil that come over the top of TV dinners. They are just the right size to use for wrapping potatoes to be baked, and are strong enough to be so used several times. Certainly saves on buying foil.

ANNA - DEAR POLLY - Most of us do not iron as much as we used to, but an iron is still a necessity. To save the money spent for buying distilled water for my electric steam iron, we put out buckets and pans to collect rain water to use for this. The water is strained through a clean cloth and put in plastic containers. The bottles are labeled and are kept just for this use.

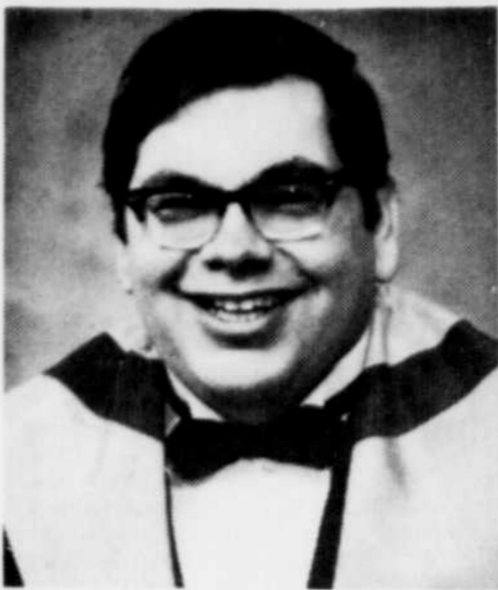

CAROLYN - DEAR POLLY - My grandson came up with quite an original idea for his contribution to the Cub Scout bazaar. He grew plants from orange seeds, grapefruit seeds and avocado seeds and sold them. They made quite a showing and the customers seemed intrigued with his ingenuity.

I never throw away anything that can be used in the future. I always save zippers out of worn clothing, so I usually have one on hand when a replacement is needed. Old purses are also saved. The soft leather makes good patches for the elbows on men's sweaters, children's snow suits and other clothing. Good for knee patches, too. -MRS.M.K.

ENGAGED - The engagement is announced of Miss Dianne Marie Brien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brien, of Saint John, N.B. to Mr. Malcolm Ernest Taylor, son of Mrs. Dorothy Taylor and the late Ernest G.W. Taylor, of Sherbrooke, Que. Miss Brien is a graduate in Arts from University of St. Thomas and in Education from University of New Brunswick. Mr. Taylor is a Graduate from Macdonald College of McGill University with his teaching diploma. Ann Landers says:

Put a match to it journal in which I expressed my deep devotion for my woman friend.

That was three years ago. Miraculously, our marriage did survive. We moved to another city and I broke off with my lover completely. Soon after, I became pregnant. We now have a beautiful little daughter and my husband and I couldn't be happier.

My problem: Should I destroy the journal? It is well hidden, but I have this terrible fear that if I should die suddenly or if it is discovered by the wrong person it could be very damaging. (My husband knows of the affair.)

I am torn because I spent an enormous amount of time writing that journal and one day I might want to use it as the basis for a novel. What do you advise? - Nom de Plume

DEAR Plume: Put a match to it. That journal represents a chapter of your life that is over - and one that might have resulted in total disaster. You will feel greatly relieved once you've destroyed it.

DEAR Ann Landers: You're not going to believe this but I beg of you to take me seriously. I'm a 16-year-old girl. The problem is my 12-year-old sister. She is making a nervous wreck out of me.

Pat has the idea that the way to have fun is to scare the living daylights out of a person. No matter where I go in the house, she is lurking behind a door, ready to jump out and scream, "I gotcha!" Or she'll hide under my bed at night and after I've turned out the light she'll suddenly pounce on me like an animal. Last night she hid under the dinner table and bit my leg. I nearly fainted.

Is this girl a little nuts?

Lodge opened in regular form with Sis. Abbie French R.S.N.G. presiding, owing to the absence of the N.G. and V.G.

Minutes were read and accepted and correspondence read.

It was reported that Sis. Walter, N.G. was in the hospital. The fruit and flower committee have sent her flowers and all signed a card to cheer her.

Final plans were made for our part in the card party to be held in Bury.

Sis. Gertrude Montgomery thanked the lodge for a box of fruit and juices received while she was on the sick list, and Sis. Mayotta Taylor thanked the lodge for the Birthday card sent to her mother, Sis. Gertrude Winslow, on her 80th birthday.
Lodge closed in Ritual form.

CWL holds annual meeting

MAGOG — The annual meeting of the Catholic Women's League of Magog was held on Tuesday evening, April 13, in St. Anne's Hall. President, Mrs. A. Buzzell presided. The meeting opened with prayer, and a reading of the scripture of St. Mark pertaining to the Last Supper.

Correspondence was read, and an account of the previous meeting. Members were reminded of the Diocesan Convention which will be held in Richmond on May 15, when the guest speaker will be Archbishop Fortier. This occasion will also mark the 50th anniversary of the establishment of the Catholic Women's League in the Sherbrooke diocese.

A special High Mass in honour of our Lady of Good Council, Patroness of the League, was sung on April 25 in the Chapel.

Final plans were made for the White Elephant Sale held in St. Marguerite's Church Hall at 7:00 p.m., on Monday, April 26.

It was announced that the recent Canadian Cancer Society Sale of daffodils realized the sum of $1,440.00. Several League members took part in this effort.

Flowers were provided for the Chapel at Christmas, Easter and Mother's Day. Shamrocks were placed on the altar for St. Patrick's Day. Coffee and doughnuts were served after mass on March 14th, 1976, in honour of St. Patrick's Day.

Thirty-three League members were enrolled as Mother Theresa's Co-workers. A Sympathy Card was sent to a bereaved League friend. Bernice Bede Osol

For Saturday, May 1, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Your spontaneous decisions are wise, but self-doubts could set in if you don't act on them promptly. This would be foolish.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Share only with those who are deserving today. If you're not careful, you could be talked into helping one who could hurt you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Before becoming involved socially today, be sure others are the type you want to know and that they'll not become a liability.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
You should be open and frank with those you love, but be cautious and reserved with others with whom you have no strong bonds of affection.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Don't try to be cute and manipulate others to serve your ends today. You could wind up behind the eight-ball.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
It is smart to protect your own interests if you don't do it with methods of which you're not proud. Never swap deals for profit.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
It's folly today to try to mediate issues beyond your control. You can make a fine contribution if you stay within your sphere of influence.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
While your motives are pure today, others may not have the same innocence. If the waitress brings the check, don't expect others to grab it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
If you follow your inclinations to expect more than you're prepared to give, forget it. It will play like a broken record.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Don't be surprised if someone attempts to steal the limelight you deserve today. He'll try to take a solo bow for something you did together.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Save yourself a heap of trouble. Don't invite one who doesn't fit into social activities you have planned with friends today.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
You're inclined to oversell today. Make sure you don't give away what you have already gained.

Your Birthday
May 1, 1976

Your financial prospects look very encouraging this coming year. With the optimism comes a warning not to try to spend as fast as you accumulate.

For Sunday, May 2, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
You need a variety of activities to keep you happy today. Plan to have several things on the back burner to be at your very best.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
The possibility for gain looks promising in two areas today. However, it'll take some cleverness on your part to realize it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Your presence generates excitement today. Your dynamic personality is showing. Wherever you are, that is where the action is certain to be.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
You should be able to reason or talk your way into or out of any type of situation today, especially if you use your flashes of insight.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Avoid old fogies today. Spend time with people who are on the go. You need those around you today who don't take life too seriously.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Today you won't be numbered among the losers. Should fate close one avenue for accomplishments, you'll come up with another.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
Be a good listener today. Something may be said that will be worth remembering. It will be useful to you in the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Business situations should be your forte today. It will take an exceptionally sharp horsetrader to get the better of you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
You're back to being your old cooperative self today. Others will find your company most enjoyable. Partnership situations will be fortunate.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
You're best suited for activities today that require both mental and physical exertion. Do something to keep your head and hands busy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Generally this should be a rather fun day for you. You may even have a surprise in store through someone new you'll meet.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
Your place is likely to be a popular gathering spot today. Relatives, as well as friends, may unexpectedly pop in.

Your Birthday
May 2, 1976

Be enterprising this coming year and you may find an additional source of income. It will be something in conjunction with your present method of earning.
