Thursday evening the Governors of the Huntingdon County Hospital convened at the Hospital property. All members of the Board were present except Messdames Shanks, O'Connor, Messrs. P. H. M. Somerville and John S. Ross.

Following the reading of minutes Mr. E. C. Martin was asked by the Board to accept the office of acting Secretary-Treasurer, which office he duly accepted.

Correspondence received included the transfer of lease for property from the W.M.S. of the Presbyterian Church. The Chairman and Secretary were instructed to act in behalf of the Hospital and negotiate the lease with the option of buying property and contents for $6,000.

Building permits not having been received for the making of renovations, Mr. Martin was asked to give the matter immediate attention, pressing negotiations for same through Mr. D. E. Black, M.P.

The Quebec Department of Health report on the proposed Hospital building changes, was received and was acceptable. One request made in their letter is to be acknowledged and fully explained by Mr. J. R. Smith, architect, who was present at the meeting.

A letter was read from Dr. Robert M. Walker, Chicago, offering to donate a microscope. The medical fraternity were pleased to hear of such a contribution being forthcoming. Prospects of receiving a considerable amount of surgical equipment from another family located in the United States was reported.

R. Smith, architect, who is presently in Huntingdon on holidays.

A motion was passed extending a vote of thanks to the Huntingdon Board of Trade for its contribution of $25, which was used to obtain the necessary charter for The Huntingdon County Hospital.

Huntingdon Fair, Two Days Sept. 9 and 10

Entries Will be Received From Sept. 2nd at Office of Secretary

Huntingdon Fair will be held Thursday and Friday, September 9th and 10th. Mr. John Small, secretary for the fair will open his office to receive entries, on Thursday, September 2nd.

It is expected in addition to the regular entries and usual attractions at the fair that a midway of some forty different shows will be in attendance to provide a thrill or two for both young and old. The midway will compose various rides and other shows.

The fairgrounds are being made ready for the proper exhibition of the various exhibits, some changes will have to be made due to the fire which occurred soon after the fair was held last fall. The sheds on the far side are being made ready as sheep pens.

Arrangements for the usual dining hall have not yet been completed, but it is expected that it will be ready for former years. The usual dance is also being arranged to take place at the Fair Grounds as a windup to the proceedings.

The Chateauguay Barracks military band is expected to play on both days of the Fair, and this should prove to be a great attraction due to the fine reputation this band has earned for itself. Several baseball games are being arranged to add to the sporting side of the Fair and to provide some thrilling games for the baseball fans.

In addition it is expected that the exhibits will be more numerous than last year as many additional sections are in evidence in the Prize List.

Everything is being done to make this 110th exhibition one of the best yet and with the co-operation of the exhibitors of the district this will be accomplished. It is hoped that many new exhibitors will enter the fair and different sections, so that new ideas and new ways of doing things will be in evidence. Owing to the war and the great importance of farming to the war effort, it is hoped that farmers will visit with one another in showing their livestock and produce with an idea of showing what the Chateauguay Valley is doing to increase production.

An agricultural fair in this time of war takes on a greater importance and significance and despite the many restrictions, should show conclusive evidence of the effort that our community is making to keep the food production up. The larger the number and variety of exhibits the greater the success of the fair. The people of Chateauguay Valley have the exhibits and should be proud to show them, whether they are fortunate enough to win prizes or not. The fair should prove to be an education to all who attend, each one should be able to learn something that will be of benefit on future occasions and in the raising of all kinds of produce.

In a good many instances agricultural fairs have been abandoned, but the Huntingdon Fair Board has had the courage to continue the fair each year and with good success. In appreciation of their efforts, it is only right that the people of the district should show all they can and make the 110th exhibition a real good one.

Day of Prayer Set For September 3rd

The King has selected Sept. 3, fourth anniversary of the war, to be observed as a national day of prayer and dedication.

The Archbishop of Canterbury said that the occasion would be one of thanksgiving for successes already gained and for the nearer hopes of victory and peace.

At the same time the Home Office brought the attention of the public to a further occasion on which the King might wish to call the nation to prayer. No date was mentioned, and it was merely said that "notice for this might have to be short, and it is therefore hoped that all those who have responsibility of leading the worship of the people will prepare themselves in advance and make such plans as may be practicable in their own areas for the Sunday so appointed."

Jam, Honey Rations Fixed

Ottawa Announces Ration Amounts For Sweet Spreads, Canned Fruits; Sugar May be Taken in Lieu of Spreads, etc.

The Prices Board announced on Sunday night the ration allowance for jams, jellies, syrups, canned fruit and similar products. Sales of these goods are under suspension until September 2, when "D" coupons from the No. 3 ration books become valid for sweet spreads and other goods of this type.

Two "D" coupons will become good each month. For each coupon the purchaser will have the choice of:

1. Six fluid ounces of jam, jelly, marmalade, extracted honey, apple butter, maple butter or honey butter;
2. Ten fluid ounces of molasses or maple syrup or
3. Ten fluid ounces of canned fruit or
4. Twelve fluid ounces of corn syrup, cane syrup or any blended table syrup or
5. One-half pound of maple sugar or comb honey in squares.

As an alternative to any of these commodities the consumer may obtain for his "D" coupon one-half pound of sugar.

The ration plan is similar to that used for meals since the consumer may spend a coupon for any one of the commodities rations, depending on his choice and upon what is available," the Board's announcement said.

The "D" coupons will become good on the same dates as sugar coupons. The Board said the plan will make for a more equitable distribution of commercially packed preserves and homemade preserves, as well as providing the alternative of extra sugar for "D" coupons. There will be no restriction on the use of sugar obtained in this way.

It is possible to make more sugar available because of the substantial reduction in the commercial price of jams, jellies and candied fruits occasioned by the short fruit crop and the consequent reduction in sugar used for these purposes," the Board said.

Announcement was also made of an increase in the quota of other industrial users of sugar, except wine manufacturers, from 70 to 80 per cent. 1941 usage. This increase becomes effective October 1.

Other details of the new rationing plan announced are:

- Hotels, institutions, restaurants, soda fountains and other similar users will be rationed by quota as in the case of other rationed foods.
- Industrial users of jams, preserves, such as bakers and confectioners will also be rationed by quotas, but the industrial user will be severely restricted or eliminated entirely in order to make more of these commodities available to householders.
- Infants who need more than the 24 fluid ounces of corn syrup per month provided under the ration will be issued extra "D" coupons against the surrender of sugar coupons to local branches of the ration administration or to local ration boards.

When purchasing goods in containers it will not always be possible for the consumer to get the exact value shown on the chart for his coupon. However, he may purchase two or more containers if the total contents do not add up to more than the total value of the coupons presented.

Jelly powders, soybean spreads and peanut butter are not included in the rationing plan.

Aquatic Display at Men's Swimming Pool at Barracks

Members of M.A.A.A., Montreal, Put on Pleasing and Colorful Show Monday Evening

The fine large swimming pool at Chateauguay Barracks which was being used this summer for the comfort and pleasure of the soldiers in camp, was the scene of a bevy of beauty floating about in it on Monday evening. Vaudeville shows have time and again been staged in the drill hall by Montreal talent for the entertainment of the troops but Monday evening saw the M.A.A.A. Aquaganza do the entertaining.

Monday afternoon soldiers were seen about the swimming pool erecting platforms on which they could sit or stand to see the evening show being presented by the proficient and smooth swimmers of the M.A.A.A. With colored spot lights playing on the water the Aquaganza got into full swing with "Gentlemen the Flag." Girls with perfect timing dove into the water that appeared all too cool for the expected red representing the circumference of the wheel. They propelled themselves with ease and grace.

"Military Parade" saw the swimmers do their swimming and P.T. along the same lines of formation as might be expected had they been on the training field. Throughout the entire show Sergeant Bandmaster Moulard and the military band provided appropriate accompaniment for all numbers.

"Shooting Stars" were numbers beautifully carried out. The "Fireman's Nightshirt Relay" race was the one big feature of hilarity and amusement. Boys and girls participated in the relay. Each side had a man wearing a large red nightshirt which he wore when swimming across the pool. As he returned the shirt was pulled off him onto another swimmer, who in turn made his or her swim across the pool. The shirt slipped off the men easier than the ladies and there some time was lost. The race ended as a draw.

"Diamond" swimming saw 15 swimmers take to the water swimming in the shape of a diamond. The swimming in all numbers called for a certain amount of floating, back swimming, breast stroke and the all familiar stroke of a powerful speed swimmer.

Swimming and diving exhibitions, principally of the comedy variety were given by Jean Marc Demers, Don Rose, Don Mitcham, Irwin Crosswater, Bob Tilden, Ned Mahow and Russ Miller.

The ladies who participated in the Aquaganza were: Marg. Sharpe, Dulcie Logan, Betty Moss, Hazel Connolly, Shirley Henry, Alice Cipriani, Carmen Depocas, E. Tolson, Barbara Grindley, Beverley Mace, Ruth Hubbell, Aileen Potter and the announcer Doris Boyd.

The Aquaganza the M.A.A.A. troupe were hospitably entertained at the Officers' Mess, where a vote of thanks was tendered to the M.A.A.A. entertainers.

Marchand, of Chateauguay, before being removed to Montreal for hospitalization. His brother was but slightly injured on the head and face.

For years the employees of the Company have competed yearly in making their premises attractive to the eye and much has been accomplished. ## W. L. Carr Inspecting Farms in Temiscaming Dist.

W. L. Carr, as a member of the Merit Agricole Commission, is inspecting farms in Temiscaming District. This is the first visit to that part of Quebec since 1907, when he went with the Dominion Geological Survey, mostly by canoe or on foot. This time Prof. Dufour, of St. Martine Agricultural College, drives the official car. Others serving on the Commission are Prof. Chas. Fontaine of Oka Agricultural College, Secretary, and Mr. Adelard Cartier. The district covered this year is No. 5 which takes in some of the remote sections, Upper Saguenay, Rimouski, Matane, Bonaventure, Abitibi.

In a letter from Hotel Ville-Marie, W. L. Carr states that the proprietor, Arthur Lohesse, came from St. Philippe, Quebec, and that he (Lohesse) is tonight) from Bagot—and a chap whose farm we inspected today over at Figerville said his Holstein-Friesian bull was bred by "Bill Carr."

Several amusing things happen. Our chauffeur got lost twice while we drove past the same place twice while we razed him. The last farm we visited had 18 people, Grandpa, Grandpa, husband and wife and 14 children, 18 years and under, all smart. Once in a while we find them in new productive country.

He called at the home of Louis Pelletier, District Agronomist, currently in Huntingdon. Found Pelletier away visiting among the colonists but expected back on Saturday. Mrs. Pelletier and the eight children were all looking well and seem to like their new surroundings.

The country he remarks: "We will be at Angliers near the head of the Quinze River and Notre Dame du Nord near the mouth. I think our last camp (1907) on Quinze Lake was at Angliers and we passed by N. D. du Nord in 1907. The country is well opened up now and seems to be lots of gravel for roads. The C.P.R. goes to Angliers and a chap from Muskoka is in here buying cattle. The land is new and rich and crops are good. They had a wonderful crop of hay and are cutting grain which is good. Potatoes are very good and the country is full of pigs and sheep." Mr. Carr is expected back in Huntingdon at the end of the week.

Fifth Year of War Beginning

THIS week sees the end of the fourth year of the war and the beginning of the fifth. It is probably the brightest anniversary that has come to pass since the beginning of hostilities, as far as the United Nations are concerned. It would almost seem that it marks the beginning of the end.

For most of the past four years we have seen nothing but reverses for the United Nations forces, but today these reverses have changed to victories. The Russians are gradually forcing the Germans back out of their country, making new gains every day that the Germans seem helpless to stop.

The air power of the United Nations has been steadily growing stronger and stronger, until at this time it is a terrific fighting force that is the horror of the Axis powers. What a better picture we have as we stand upon the threshold of the fifth year of the war. We can even visualize victory on the horizon, something we have never before been able to do.

Three years ago, two years ago, even one year ago, such optimism would have called forth a storm of indignation at the utter nonsense of the words. But not so today, the handwriting is on the wall, the enemy knows it, so do we.

We would like to predict that the fifth year of the war would be the last one, but only events as they unfold can determine this. But we can hope, and perhaps that hope may be realized.

A Word of Appreciation

ON Wednesday last, the final concert in the summer series of Band Concerts by the Chateauguay Barracks Military Band, at Prince Arthur Square, was given. The summer of 1942 was the beginning of these concerts and by the end of the series, the public was just beginning to appreciate them.

During the earlier part of the summer the efforts of the band were able to give greater pleasure to the audience on account of the longer duration of the concerts. The marring feature this year has been due to the fact that there were no lights on the bandstand. This unfortunate feature has been due to wartime regulations prohibiting outdoor lighting, with a view to conserving electricity. No blame can be attached to the Council for this seeming neglect, as efforts were made at the beginning of the season to have a permit granted to light the bandstand on the evenings concerts were held there.

But in passing, and as the voice of the people of Huntingdon and district, The Gleaner would like to offer words of appreciation to Sgt. Norman Moulard and the members of the band for the very fine concerts they have arranged this summer. A word of thanks is also due the O.C. and Acting O.C. of Chateauguay Barracks for granting permission for the band to play at the concerts.

A Product of Quebec by a Quebec Company

QUEBEC Province is noted for its industrial and manufacturing concerns and the various products these concerns produce. Many valuable minerals have been discovered in this province and valuable sources of power for driving the machinery of the plants established here have also been discovered.

One of the most notable companies which is in a great measure responsible for a large part of the Quebec prosperity, is the Shawinigan Water and Power Company. This company supplies the electrical energy which drives the machinery in a large number of the plants in this part of the Province of Quebec and keeps the wheels of industry moving and a great many of the people employed.

But apart from this service to Quebec for the past fifty years, the company operates another subsidiary known as Shawinigan Chemicals Ltd., with offices and plant at Shawinigan Falls, Que. This company is interested in research work as it affects this part of Quebec and has discovered many valuable items which have helped in a number of ways.

Plastic plates are not "plastic" in the true sense of the word. "Plastic" refers to modern synthetic plastics. There are many synthetic plastics each with its own characteristics of durability, stability, flexibility and so on.

Equality—Canadian and U. S. Wage Rates?

RAILWAY Unions are openly demanding that they get the U.S. scale of wages. That is, if a railway engineer is earning $5,000 a year in U.S. currency in the U.S.—which is not uncommon—a man on a similar run in Canada should obtain $5,000.

Now, a great many people in the U.S.—a great many very serious people—believe that the U.S. dollar is bound to hit a boggy. Mr. Isley, explaining why the Canadian dollar still stands at a discount, was very careful to point out that this might happen.

If some sort of inflation took place in the U.S., and a locomotive engineer got $25,000 a year, and all other prices rose in accord with it, would the railway unions want their engineers to get $25,000 a year, and would they be willing to have all other prices rise in accordance with this? The farmers might think about this a bit.

The plain attitude of the farmer, in his own interest, is to go on record flatly that, if railway wages are fixed on the U.S. level, then we admit that we have thrown overboard all independent control of prices in Canada, and are going to follow the U.S. price pattern. The farmer should demand that, in such a case, the Government of Canada should see that he gets full U.S. prices for everything which he produces, and that this is kept up, as fast as prices rise in the U.S.—if that should happen.

Chronology

CHATEAUGUAY, BEAUHARNOIS and HUNTINGDON COUNTIES From Manuscripts of The Late ROBERT SELLAR

MRS. PETER CALDWELL: My father, Wm. Miller, was a farmer on island of Montreal; my brother, James, was tavern-keeper near Reeves, who could not accept them. We came from Scotland in 1816 and stayed at New Paisley 5 years, then 1 year at Montreal. Then we went to Chateauguay. There was a bridge across La Guerre in 1832 or 1833.

JAMES WAITTE came to Trout River in the fall of 1842.

WILLIAM EDWARDS: A number of the settlers on the upper (Covey Hill) road had been leaders in Scotland, who made an effort to form a congregation. A minister was got to organize and arrangements made for putting up a church.

MRS. JAMES PORTUNE: I was born at Crief and on my marriage at Paisley we came to Canada in the spring of 1842. The ship was the Renfrewshire and it was seven weeks before we got to Quebec. I came in a cart from Beauharnois, Mr. Somerville drawing us to James Symms' house, John Portune was then tailor at Huntingdon, living where Mrs. Gamble now is, and he planted the trees at her gate. It was nightfall when we neared Huntingdon and seeing big white things as we passed by I took them for cows, but they were white stumps. My husband wanted to leave and my husband bought his stock and became the apothecary of the village for many years.

is married to George Abbott, Barrett was a surveyor in England but the law required his qualifying here, which he did under Lalanne, who was a Liberal, and left during the troubles of '37 for fear of arrest. I began in 1845 and finished in 1848 to lay out the lands between the Gore and Howick, Tullochgorum, Fertile Creek, Australia and California. We had no idea in surveying Tullochgorum the land was so good. The fire had gone through it leaving not a single green tree, and we thought the soil was white clay. It was only when I ran the line. The land was sold at $4.15 and $6.00 an acre. Catherinestown was the last part of the seignory to be laid out.

Opinions of Others ...

IF THE BOMBS WERE FALLING HERE The line moves forward in Europe and we are proud that the boys with the "Canada" shoulder badges are marching with it. We are a part of the "second front" that has been in our thoughts and hopes for so long. But while we are proud, we have the solemn realization that there are many, many Canadian boys from our schools and streets and cities who will be sleeping forever in the unfamiliar fields of Sicily and the Continent.

There will be many more Canadian homes that will not have to be told we are at war; where it will not be necessary to urge an all-out effort. A white cross in an unfamiliar land can be more eloquent than any human words.

The other day the writer was speaking to a young sublieutenant in Canada's Navy. He was just back from months of convoy duty, days of cold and wet and sleeplessness and boredom. He had watched seamen from a torpedoed tanker strangling in oil and dying before his eyes, eyes that weren't yet twenty-one years old. He was speaking of Canada, of men striking in essential war industries, of politicians wrangling over misty differences, of people who were wondering whether Victory Bonds at 3-per-cent interest were a good investment, of people who were busy circumventing gasoline and other rationing. "But why," he was asking, "Why?"

It wasn't criticism so much as wonder. They were his people, but they didn't seem the same any longer. "If they understood," he asked, "would they act differently? But why don't they understand? The papers are full enough of it. If the bombs were falling here, would they understand?"

Japan did lob a few shells into Vancouver Island without greatly disturbing the equanimity of British Columbia or of Canada. Few people took that very seriously. But if a bomb had fallen on Vancouver or Victoria or Halifax, as might very well happen, then the story would be different. At least, we hope and believe it would.

We wouldn't be worrying about a Canadian flag if bombs were falling on our cities. All we would want would be to have a flag flying in our hearts, and it wouldn't matter whether it was Union Jack or Tri-color.

We wouldn't be so craftily wise, perhaps, if it were our house that was being laid low. If the refugee children were our children, we wouldn't be arguing with ourselves that it was no use working longer hours because most of the added pay would go to the government—our government for our war needs. Women who can fill war jobs wouldn't be figuring so closely as to just how many months in the year they could work without overstepping the nontaxable income limit. They wouldn't be saying, "Why take a job anyway? We're making as much as we need." We wouldn't be knocking off the job to go fishing. We wouldn't be striking for petty reasons of union policy or what not. We wouldn't be stirring up the embers of old political party hatreds.

If bombs were falling in Halifax or Vancouver, Montreal or Quebec or Windsor, we wouldn't need to talk about national unity. We would have it, if only for the moment, and we would prove to ourselves that we could have it, and we would be a happier people for the fact.

We can say to the young sublieutenant that we would be different if the bombs were falling here. Things would be real to us that are not real now. We wouldn't be trying to remember the war and

A WEEKLY EDITOR LOOKS AT Ottawa

Written specially for the weekly newspapers of Canada By JIM GREENBLAT

As this is written Ottawa is being clipped, manicured and waved and decorated for President Roosevelt's visit. There is intense interest on the part of usually blasé officials and certainly the multitude of civil servants, temporary war-jobbers and the thousands of others who make this capital, Churchill, Eden, Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, Giraud and now the very popular F.D.R. himself. It will be an historic occasion, one of the ever increasing evidences of U.S.—Canadian friendship and international co-ordination. The vast concourse of beautifully kept lawn in front of the Peace Tower, where Mr. Roosevelt will speak from, will be estimated accommodate 20,000 people. The S.R.O. sign will surely be out early. His talk, going over the air ways is at high noon which is always heralded here by the boom of a cannon.

We hear a lot about manpower, but what about Canadian manpower? Well, there are 4,240,000 women over 14 years of age in Canada. Here are some interesting figures about them. As of January 30, 1943, of this number, there were 1,152,000 in industry and 255,000 directly or indirectly in war industry. Farm women numbered 830,000; women students 309,000. There were more than 31,367 in the armed services (and that figure must be considerably increased by this time). 300,000 are considered unemployable.

Canada's vegetable oil industry is one of those revolutionized, in a sense, by the necessities of this global war. This industry is, of course, agricultural. Take flaxseed, of which 53% of that used was imported in 1939. In 1943, however, all of the 3,388,195 bushels used were of domestic origin. Our acreage objective for 1943 is 2,492,000 or an astounding increase over the previous year of 67%. All these changing phases having to do with our agricultural and industrial economy will be part of the post-war problem.

Is it all right to lend your ration book to your farm friend who uses a great deal of tea, while you use very little? The Prices Board says no, and Thelma Craig of the information branch answered me this way: "Rationing is for the equal sharing of certain commodities which are in short supply. It does not mean that Granny, just because she likes the extra pot of tea, should be able to have double the ration of the woman next door, nor does it provide for the swapping of tea and sugar by two neighbours who live across the road from each other." Fact of the matter is the whole rationing system is set up on the basis that the majority will conserve their use of rationed articles to actual and immediate needs.

Harking back to the Order-in-Council which made it an offence to waste coal or heat, owing to the serious fuel situation facing Canada, it is interesting to know that our normal peacetime coal needs are about 30 million tons. This year, geared to such a high war tempo, provision must be made our own interests at the same time. But must we pray for bombs before we can honestly pray for victory?—Liberty Magazine.

for about 47 million tons. Canadians can be selfish as individuals and sneak excessive heat, more than necessary, or they can play ball for the good of all in Canada. It's really operation for national conservation instead of coercion that is wanted.

Talking with a newspaperman back from Washington the other day, he told of trying out a meat-soup right close to the main drag which advertises horse meat—choice stuff from "young wild western horses". He bought a roast and thought it quite tasty. Cost less than half the price of beef. He was afraid, however, that in time they would be ringing in "18-year old farm horses", or something.

The Quebec conference enhances Canada's status in the eyes of the world. In this connection I find that in 1937 our capital city could boast only two legations, four consulates and one High Commissioner's office. Today there are representatives of 22 nations always in close touch with the Canadian government. The housing shortage in Ottawa creates problems, too, for numerous commercial and military attaches and their staffs. A very international flavor is exuded when one comes across the flags of United Nations in front of various homes and buildings scattered around the city.

Children in the country, here's a war job for you. The National Research Council needs 100,000 lbs. or more of the common milkweed, for experiments in blending with certain types of synthetic rubber. It will be paid for. Farmers who have goodly stands of the weed can cut with a binder, leaving a long stubble of at least 8 inches and making small sheaves. Dried sheaves shipped collect to Ottawa will be worth $30 a ton. For further information write Dr. Harold A. Sear, Division of Botany, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Farm Women Further Taxed By Extra Mouths to Feed

The already overburdened farm woman is further taxed by having extra hungry mouths to feed during harvest time.

Of course additional supplies of rationed foods may be obtained for these temporary additions to the farm family through application to the local ration board, but even so it takes considerable planning and ingenuity to satisfy these healthy he-man appetites within the ration. Sugar, meat and butter have to be stretched to the limit. Every busy woman knows that planning ahead makes any job easier, and is more necessary than ever now, when both time and supplies are at a premium.

Menus can and should be simple, but the food must taste good and there must be plenty of it. Plan to serve some dishes that can be prepared ahead of time. If you haven't been serving salads, it's time to turn over a new leaf. No fussy feminine salads of course, but a big bowl of salad greens with sliced tomatoes, cucumbers, radishes, green onions and other vegetables, raw or cooked will disappear in the wink of an eye. The Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture has some practical ration-stretching ideas that are worth trying.

1. Meat will go further in a stew or "baked in a pie" than served as a roast. Use plenty of vegetables in stews, and don't forget dumplings. 2. A meat loaf will go twice as far if a good bread dressing is made to go with it. Pack alternate layers of meat loaf mixture and dressing into the loaf tin and bake as an ordinary meat loaf. 3. Sausages are favourites. You might try them as a "strudel." Roll biscuit dough 1/2" thick. Press sausages, boiled for 5 minutes, into the dough with thin wedges of apple dipped in brown sugar between the sausages. Bake in a hot oven 400 deg. F. about 25 minutes and serve with scalloped tomatoes. 4. A meat pie that goes over well with the men, is made from well seasoned, ground, cooked meat moistened with gravy. Line pie plates with pastry, fill with the meat mixture, put on the top crust and bake in a hot oven 400 deg. F. about 30 minutes. 5. Baked beans, casseroles, macaroni, noodle and spaghetti dishes are always popular favourites. 6. Biscuits and muffins are well liked and take less sugar and shortening than cakes and cookies. 7. Apple pie and cheese is probably the best-loved of all desserts. But plain cottage pudding with fruit sauce, fruit or jam roy-poly, bread puddings and cobblers are filling, good, and not too hard on the sugar. This blueberry Ice-Box Pudding can be prepared ahead of time, and makes an excellent supper dessert. Saskatoons can be used instead of blueberries.

Blueberry Ice-Box Pudding
3 cups blueberries
1/4 cup water
1/3 cup sugar
2 tsp. butter or milk-flavoured fat
2 tsp. lemon or rhubarb juice
8-10 slices of day-old bread

Simmer blueberries, water and sugar for 10 minutes. Butter the bread from which the crusts have been removed. Fill a deep mold with alternate layers of bread and berries, packing each layer down solidly so that the bread will absorb the berry syrup. Chill for several hours. Serves 8.

Blueberry and rhubarb sauce is good with cookies as dessert or may be served hot with plain cottage pudding or cold with blanc mange. This sauce, too, can be made using saskatoons instead of blueberries.

Blueberry Rhubarb Sauce
1 1/2 cups rhubarb, cut in 1 inch pieces
1 1/2 cups blueberries
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup sugar

Pour boiling water over rhubarb, let stand 5 minutes, drain. Mix rhubarb and blueberries, add water, bring to boiling point and simmer gently until rhubarb is tender, about 8 minutes. Remove from heat and add sugar.

These family recipes serving six can be doubled for ten hungry harvesters.

YOU CAN'T FOOL AN ELEPHANT

At Saigon, in French Indo-China, there used to be a one-hundred-year-old elephant who entertained all the zoo visitors with his reckless spending of money.

As fast as he was tossed a coin by anybody in the crowd, he would grab it with his long trunk and then reach out with it to buy peanuts and bananas from the native who had a cart handy for selling such things.

Ordinarily, people were pretty careful to give the big beast a sound money-piece. They had heard plenty about this venerable pachyderm and how, if he didn't get full value from the man with the cart, he would make a terrible time, trumpeting and carrying on in his own jungle way of protest.

One day, however, four French sailors decided to have some fun. They were all dressed in white uniforms, so they looked exactly alike. But when they started to toss coins to the elephant, one of them threw a circular leaden slug.

The big animal seemed to know right away that something was wrong. When the counterfeiter coin struck the floor, it gave out a dull unmelodious note. First, the elephant smelled it with his trunk, then he picked it up somewhat doubtfully and offered it to the tricked dealer.

The native, noticing it was nothing but lead, tossed it back to the elephant. Thereupon, the beast fixed his tiny pig-eyes on the French sailor, looking him over closely as if he were making a note of everything about him. The sailor thought nothing of it at all. He and his companions went away, and all supposed the trick was forgotten. But an hour later they all returned to the zoo.

For some reason, the elephant seemed overjoyed when he saw the boys with the white uniforms in the very front of the crowd.

To everybody the pachyderm extended his trunk, just as if he were counting the group of on-lookers. When the elephant came to the sailor who had tricked him, he paid him special attention. Never had a zoo creature appeared more friendly. The Frenchman was quite taken in by the gesture, and offered a handful of peanuts. The elephant reached out his trunk as if to accept them. Then, as if he had carefully planned what he was going to do, he let fly two gallons of water straight in the sailor's face.

Coming so unexpectedly, it knocked the counterfeiter-coin passer flat upon his back. It took all the efforts of the other sailors to bring their friend back to consciousness and carry him to a safer place.

Corn on the Cob Favourite With Families Everywhere

"The corn is ripe on the ear" and the succulent golden kernels of corn on the cob make one of the most popular meals it is possible to serve the family at this time of year.

This favourite dish certainly runs along with butter and a few seeds of corn on the cob play havoc with the family's weekly ration. The way of making sure that the butter supply situation does not get out of hand is to butter the cobs before they are brought to the table, using a pastry brush dipped in melted butter to do the job.

Corn served off the cob makes for butter economy and there are many delicious dishes that can be made with either fresh or canned corn. The kernels may be cut from the cob before cooking or the ears may be cooked in boiling water for 6 to 10 minutes, depending on maturity. One medium ear of corn will make 1/2 cup after cutting from the cob.

Recent tests made in the kitchens of the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture have shown that the kernels are toughened when corn is cooked in salted water. Among many recipes for corn dishes tested lately, these were found to be especially good.

Mexican Corn Sauté

3 cups uncooked corn, cut from the cob
1-2 cup diced green pepper
1-4 cup diced sweet red pepper
2 tsp. fat
1-2 tsp. sugar
Salt and pepper
Combine everything but the salt and pepper. Cover and simmer over slow heat for 10 minutes. Uncover, add salt and pepper and cook 2 minutes longer. Serves 6.

Corn and Tomato Chowder

3 tsp. chopped onion
1-3 cup chopped celery
3 tsp. fat
1-2 cups corn—3 medium ears
2 tsp. salt
1-8 tsp. pepper
1-1-2 tsp. sugar
3 cups milk, scalded
1-3 cup cracker crumbs

Saute onion and celery in fat until light brown. Add tomatoes, peeled and cut in pieces and the corn. Cook 15 minutes. Add salt, pepper and sugar and stir well. Add to the hot milk, stir in cracker crumbs and serve at once. Serves 6.

Principals in Approaching Wedding

Webber, Huntingdon, Que., whose marriage to Mr. C. W. Pace, son of Mrs. C. V. Pace and the late Mr. Pace, Montreal, Que. is to take place this month. Miss Webber is well known to the people of this district as a watchmaker and jeweller and probably the only woman, who is a mechanic and skilled tradeswoman in this business in this Province, if not in Canada. Miss Webber and her family are well known in Chateauguay Valley and her wedding will be one of great interest.

DAHLIA'S WHATNOTS

CAROLINE CHISHOLM

Only lately I heard two men on two different occasions criticise the lengths which—so they claimed—government patronage had reached. One said that if no positions were vacant they hung the aspirants up on hooks in the ceiling. The second critic especially and less facetiously exclaimed how it took a million employees to run the government for eleven million people.

There always have been, and always will be, people who want the plums in the political pudding without doing anything to deserve them, and sometimes their only qualification is "cheekiness" enough to ask for them.

The demands made on Mrs. Chisholm's attention by some of the male emigrants landing in Sydney were amazingly absurd. She reports their applications as follows:

"What situation do you want?" "Oh, ma'am, I'm in no particular hurry; I'm on the look-out for a Government situation. I have some very good letters; I have one to the Attorney-General, and I expect he will offer me the clerkship of the bench; I am told it is a very fair thing to begin with."

"Another expected that Mr. Thomson would make him an out-county magistrate. "Why, I am certain Mr. Thomson never promised you that." "No, ma'am; but all I want is a note from you, just to say that I'd

Canning Corner

By Laura C. Pepper, Chief, Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture

Tomatoes will probably be the major canning crop this year and more women will be canning more tomatoes than ever before.

It is fortunate that tomatoes, so high in food value and so versatile in their various uses, are the easiest of all vegetables to can.

Two alternative methods are recommended by the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Method 1

Select fresh, firm, fully ripened tomatoes that are free from blemish. Sort and grade the tomatoes, setting aside those that are to be used for the juice. Wash these, cut them in pieces and cook over a slow fire for 5 minutes. Strain and keep hot.

Blanch the other tomatoes a few at a time, by dipping into boiling water or steam for 1/2 minute. Immediately dip in cold water. Slip off the skin, remove core and pack whole into sterilized sealers. Fill the sealers with boiling hot tomato juice. Add 1/2 tsp. salt to each pint and 1 tsp. salt to each quart sealer. Adjust rubber ring and partially seal. Process:—

Boiling water bath
Pints ..... 30 minutes
Quarts ..... 35 minutes
Oven, 275 deg. F.
Pints ..... 35 minutes
Quarts ..... 45 minutes
Pressure cooker, (5 lbs.)
Pints and quarts ..... 15 minutes

Remove from processor as soon as processing time is up and immediately complete the seal.

Method 2

Tomatoes that are soft but not over-ripe or are extra large or poorly shaped may be canned by this method. Wash, blanch, cold dip, peel and remove core as above. Cut whole tomatoes and pack into sterilized sealers, squashing the tomatoes down so that enough juice is extracted to fill the sealer. Add salt and finish as in Method 1.

Engagements ...

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Robinson of St. Chrysostome, Que., announce the engagement of their only daughter, Muriel Euphemia, to Mr. Calvin Henry Edgerton, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Edgerton, of Lacolle, Que. The marriage to take place early in September.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bennett, Hemmingford, announce the engagement of their daughter Miss Lillian Bennett to Mr. Roswell Jersey of Bolton, Que. The wedding is to take place in the Presbyterian Church, Hemmingford, on Saturday, September 11, 1943, at 3 o'clock.

Praise For Canada's Navy By Saturday Evening Post

Editor's Note....

The following article from "The Saturday Evening Post" is great in its praise of Canada's effort in the war, especially with regard to the strides the Canadian Navy has made since the attack on Pearl Harbour. With so much said that Canada's war effort is not known to the people of the United States, this article would seem to give the lie. It is quite evident that it is known and that it will be more widely known after this article has been read by the many readers of "The Saturday Evening Post."

CANADA SAVED THE DAY

As this is written we seem to be well on the way toward victory in the Battle of the Atlantic. The menace of the U-boat recedes as Allied naval power grows and new

MORE SHIPS, MORE TEA AND RATIONS UP 1/3

Just a year and a month after rationing commenced the government is able to raise our allowance of tea a full third. SALADA Tea-lovers will rejoice at this happy turn of events for now they can get 1/3 lb. of their favourite tea every six weeks instead of every eight.

techniques are developed for anti-submarine warfare. Land-based patrol planes and the rapidly growing use of converted carriers on the Atlantic have helped enormously. Britain, Canada and the United States are all sharing in this triumph over Hitler's strongest weapon.

What most Americans don't realize, however, is that there were many desperate months when Canada stood between us and disaster. Sea traffic, like that on the rails, divides neatly into two categories—passengers and freight. Our passengers in the Battle of the Atlantic are troops bound for England, the Mediterranean theater and other war fronts. They travel heavily escorted, in fast ships, and they are comparatively little trouble. They get through with but little loss.

But the freight traffic is another matter. It is composed of trade convoys, the rusty and battered merchantmen that deliver the goods. They carry fuel oil, gasoline, iron ore, grain, frozen meats, tanks, planes, guns, explosives and hundreds of other products vital to the conduct of war. The size of these convoys and the frequency of their sailings are, of course, information the Germans would like to have, but it can be said here that both are much greater than you probably imagine. If the trade convoys had not been kept running, the Allies doubtless would have lost the European war by this time.

There was a time before Pearl Harbor when the United States contributed substantial help in the way of escort ships for the freight convoys. But after Japan struck, much of our naval strength was needed in the Pacific, and we also had to use our fighting ships to guard the troop convoys crossing the Atlantic. The burden of protecting the freighters fell chiefly upon England and Canada. Britain, with a very limited amount of help from the Norwegian, Polish and Fighting French navies, supplied 51 per cent of the escort vessels for the trade convoys; the United States contributed 2 per cent, and little Canada, amazingly, provided 47 per cent.

This does not mean, of course, that the United States was drowning during those long and critical months. We supplied aircraft for freight convoy patrol and extensive ship and plane repair bases on both sides of the Atlantic. We guarded the growing stream of troops on their way to a global war. And after the fall of Singapore and Java we held the line almost alone in the Pacific. Also, it should not be forgotten that long before Pearl Harbor we had handed over to the British fifty of our over-age destroyers.

Yet the fact remains that we probably would have lost the war if the Canadian navy hadn't come through in a spectacular and heroic way. It is not surprising that Britain, with her great sea power and resources, should have been able to shoulder 51 per cent of the job. But is one of the marvels of this war that Canada, an agricultural nation of less than 12,000,000 people, could have contributed 47 per cent of the vast fleet of fighting ships necessary to get the freighters across.

How Canada accomplished such a feat is an epic which is being written in large letters. When the war began in September, 1939, the Canadian navy was composed of a handful of destroyers manned by a personnel of less than 2000 men. Today that personnel has expanded twenty-five fold. As for ships of war, Hitler would like to know the exact figures; Canada's performance in the North Atlantic tells the story.

Of the fifty American destroyers which were traded to the British, Canada got seven, but while these were a real help they were only a beginning—a stop-gap. During the early months of the war, the need became apparent for a new type of war vessel: a ship designed to combat the U-boat, to be launched in large numbers, in a hurry. There was no time to be lost. The answer was an improvisation—a happy improvisation called the corvette.

The corvette is a small ship—under 1000 tons, less than 200 feet long, but broad of beam—yet she is definitely an ocean-going craft. Her steaming radius enables her to make the transatlantic run with a reserve of fuel which destroys may envy. Her ability to survive the most frightful weather the North Atlantic can dish up is an eternal joy to those who sail her. The corvette is slow, but the old-fashioned reciprocating steam engines which were available when the need came—are highly reliable, and reliability means much on the Atlantic convoy route. Moreover, she is amazingly maneuverable. Her armament is adequate for the job she has to do.

Once the Canadians had the design for the corvette and knew it was the answer, they set about building it in numbers that would shock the Nazi high command if it knew. Large shipyards and small ones, even tiny boatyards whose experience had been limited to fishing boats and pleasure craft, responded in a way that made history. And husky young lads from the prairie provinces went down to the sea to man them. Canada made do.

Now the vast resources of the United States are being brought to bear on the U-boat problem in a larger way, and the ration of escort craft provided by Britain, Canada and America may be changing. But Canada is still doing her part and will continue to do so, we may be sure, until the day of peace. It is any wonder, then, that the Canadian sailor may be just a trifle offended when his cousin from south of the border inquires with polite condescension: "Tell me, does Canada have a navy?"

Funeral of Victims of Drowning Tragedy, Held at Valleyfield

On the left will be seen the photo of Sally Dent, age 8 years, who with her companion Maureen Neary, 10 years, at the right, lost their lives by drowning at Lac St. Francis, Valleyfield, Que., Monday, August 23rd. The funeral for the young victims was held on Wednesday, Aug. 25th, at Belleville.

A large and sympathetic crowd was present at the Belleville cemetery on Wednesday afternoon, to pay their last respects to two small companions who were laid to rest side by side.

This was a result of the sad drowning fatality which occurred Monday morning last, when the two girls lost their lives whilst bathing in Lac St. Francis.

The victims were Miss Sally Dent, 8 years of age, the youngest daughter of Gnr. James Dent, who has been overseas with the First Canadian Division for the past 2 1/2 years, and Mrs. Dent, of Belleville. The other was her companion Miss Maureen Neary, 10 years of age, daughter of Sgt. Laurence Neary of the R.C.A.F. who is at present stationed at Valparaiso, and of Mrs. Neary, who also resides in Belleville.

London—The United Nations radio at Algiers broadcast a German despatch quoting Hitler's newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, as saying that "the whole German Government has left Berlin."

CHART SUBMITTED TO KNOCK OUT AXIS

Quebec.—The Anglo-American High Command submitted to Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt a detailed plan of the next big military operation, which was believed by many to be the chart of a body blow against Axis occupied Europe.

It is any wonder, then, that the Canadian sailor may be just a trifle offended when his cousin from south of the border inquires with polite condescension: "Tell me, does Canada have a navy?"

responded in a way that made history. And husky young lads from the prairie provinces went down to the sea to man them. Canada made do.

Now the vast resources of the United States are being brought to bear on the U-boat problem in a larger way, and the ration of escort craft provided by Britain, Canada and America may be changing. But Canada is still doing her part and will continue to do so, we may be sure, until the day of peace. It is any wonder, then, that the Canadian sailor may be just a trifle offended when his cousin from south of the border inquires with polite condescension: "Tell me, does Canada have a navy?"

At the Movies

Technicolor Music Film, "Happy Go Lucky"

For the benefit of film fans who might want to take a pleasure cruise without leaving Huntingdon, the O'Connor Theatre will next Sept. 3 and 6, present Paramount's funfilm in Technicolor, "Happy Go Lucky," starring Mary Martin, Dick Powell, Betty Hutton, Eddie Bracken and Rudy Vallee.

The movie, according to advance reports, will move you right out of this humdrum world to a resort island in the Caribbean where laughs, glamour and song combine to banish blues. The five principals are admirably suited to provide the gaiety called for by the story of "Happy Go Lucky" which tells of a millionaire-hunting beauty, Mary Martin, and her laugh-provoking trials and tribulations trying to land one. Rudy Vallee plays the millionaire—a character similar to the one he played so hilariously in "The Palm Beach Story," pince-nez and all.

On the island Mary finds not only millionaires, but beach boys too, in the persons of Dick Powell and Eddie Bracken. Powell, for reasons of his own, helps her land Vallee although his interest in the lady is anything but platonic. Bracken is once again devoured by the incendiary blonde, Betty Hutton. Fresh on the heels of their triumph in "Star Spangled Rhythm" the two are said to hit even hotter spots in "Happy Go Lucky."

Frank Loesser and Jimmy McHugh have written five terrific tunes especially for the film—"Happy Go Lucky," "Let's Get Lost," "Murder, He Says," "The Fuddy Duddy Watchmaker" and "Sing a Tropical Song" the latter sung by Calypso singer, Sir Lancelotti, who also comes through with a little Calypso number called, "Ugly Woman."

The picture, from all accounts, is a vacation in itself with its colorful island atmosphere and happy go lucky spirit. With singers like Mary Martin, Dick Powell and Betty Hutton to do justice to the catchy songs and funny men Eddie Bracken and Rudy Vallee to dish out laughs, "Happy Go Lucky" sounds like a swell bet for movie-goers of all ages, so include it on your film list.

LET'S ALL DO MORE TO WIN THE WAR

BEFORE THE WAR: Mrs. Houghton spent two or three nights a week playing bridge.

TODAY: Mrs. Houghton has no spare time. She is helping the Red Cross, happy in the knowledge that she is doing important war work.

THE MORE WE'RE IN IT THE QUICKER WE'LL WIN IT!

There's a job for every woman in this war—tasks that only women can do. Even a few hours of your help every week is valuable to the Red Cross. Time is precious—don't waste it. Gather up those spare moments and use them to do war work of vital importance.
