The Beach and Ground from Pointe à Piz au, down to the upper line of the foregoing, known by the name of St. Michael, will after the first of May next be open to receive lumber of every description under the customary regulations and ground and beach rent. 1st April, 1816.

THE public are most respectfully informed that the large and valuable Stock of Goods now on hand, belonging to Mr. Chas. Rivers, consisting of long cloths, superfine jaconets, cambric, musins, and an immense selection of other goods are selling uncommonly cheap for cash, to clear the whole stock before Mr. Rivers' arrival from England.

C. Rivers trusts the public will indulge him as usual by waiting his arrival from England with his Spring Goods, which he assures them shall exceed in quality, elegance of taste and lowness of price, any goods brought into this country, and being personally in the market, with ready cash, affords him an advantage which few purchasers have.

C. Rivers intends to bring out articles only of the most fashionable description, which he flatters himself will ensure him the decided preference he has hitherto so liberally and decidedly received.

C. RIVERS.

No. 4, Palace Street, 1st April, 1816.

DISSOLUTION OF COPARTNERSHIP.

THE Copartnership between WILLIAM GIBSON and LAWRENCE KAVANAUGH of the City of Quebec, Tailors, was this day dissolved by mutual consent.

All outstanding debts due to William Gibson, antecedent to the said Copartnership, if not immediately paid, will be put into the hands of an Attorney for collection.—Quebec, 23 March, 1816.

NOTICE.

TWO Letters under cover have recently been received by the subscribers addressed to "Col. John Dapron, Susan, Quebec, Canada"—From the instructions their friends give, it is presumed these letters are of consequence, and hitherto not having been able to trace Col. Susan's residence, they adopt this method to apprise him, if he be in Canada, of such letters being in their possession and ready to be delivered.

MONRO & BELL.

Quebec, 30 March, 1816.

Le public est informé très respectueusement, que le fond de marchandise étendu et de prêt, non-vendu, appartenant à Mr. Charles Rivers, consistant en coton mousseline jaconets superfine et autre mousseline, à l'usage, et une quantité immense d'autres marchandises, est à vendre à très grande composition, pour argent comptant, dans la vue de tout fondre avant l'arrivée de Mr. Rivers d'Angleterre.

C. Rivers se flatte que le public aura égard à lui à l'ordinaire, en attendant son arrivée d'Angleterre avec ses marchandises pour le printemps, lesquelles surpassent en quantité, élégance et le bon marché, toutes marchandises importées dans le pays. Sa présence à Londres, avec de l'argent comptant lui donne un avantage dont peu d'acheteurs peuvent se vanter.

C. Rivers propose de faire venir seulement des articles à la dernière mode, qu'il se flatte passeront la préférence décidée dont on l'a toujours si libéralement honoré.

C. RIVERS.

No. 4, Rue du Palais, 1 Avril, 1816.

COMMERCIAL ACADEMY.

MR. COLLIER presents his respects to the patrons of his Academy and to the public in general to acquaint them that he has just completed his arrangements in the desirable premises on the Cape, which were recently engaged for the sole purpose of carrying on the School, in a manner worthy of its distinguished patronage; able assistants are procured, and others expected in the first arrivals from Europe. Mr. Collier is desirous to receive a few additional young Gentlemen to Board and Educate after the first of May, as he can confidently offer them from that period, every domestic and professional attention.

Mr. Collier avails himself of this opportunity to address his connections in order to respectfully solicit the continuance of their confidence and support and to assure them that it is his determination to pay the closest attention to promote the improvement and best interests of the young Gentlemen entrusted to his care; and that notwithstanding the temporary disengagement of the system so successfully pursued in the School (excused by removal, &c.) Mr. Collier pledges himself that his future exertions shall compensate as much as possible for the recent interruption, and that it will be Mr. Collier's aim and pleasure to merit for the future the encouragement he has hitherto met with and which it is obviously his interest to retain.

Quebec, March 28, 1816.

THOMSON, SCOTT & Co.

RESPECTFULLY inform their friends and the public, that on the first of May next they will remove from their present Store on Mr. Goudie's wharf to the lower part of Mr. BARRASCO's House, Lower Town Market place, where they will always have on hand a handsome assortment of London, Glasgow and Manchester Goods, and hope from the superior quality and variety of the articles they import, to merit a continuance of the preference they have experienced. They are now selling off at reduced prices for cash, their present handsome assortment of goods, consisting of silk and cotton Velvets, Satinets, Satins, Poplins, Merinos, Ribbons, thread Lace, Veils, elegant sewed Joannet and Mull Muslins, silk and cotton Shawls, Dimities, Granddells, Ladies' Shoes and Bonnets, Brassels Carpeting, and a great variety of goods, suitable for the spring trade, too numerous to mention. Also a few pipes of very superior Port and Malaga Wine, received by the Rebecca from London.

Quebec, 15th February, 1816.

No. 30, St. Peter street: PLUG Tobacco, Leaf Tobacco, Loaf Sugar, Mess Pork, Prime Beef, American Butter, Crackers & Biscuit, Salted Beef & Ham, Harness & Sole Leather, Quebec, 4 January, 1816.

Aux Electeurs du Comté de Québec.

Messieurs, Il paraît peu-être étrange à quelques-uns de vous, qu'un homme que l'on a généralement et erronément qualifié de "Candidat" pour une Election à laquelle il a constamment refusé de se présenter, ose entrer en lice avec les bienheureux élus dont les noms fameux et les compliments pompeux ornent la Gazette de leur ami; cependant voyant qu'ils n'ont point résisté à ajouter à la masse de leur dépense, celle d'un Compteur, dont les pièces élégantes peuvent servir de modèles, et craignant qu'un silence de ma part, ne soit interprété défavorablement, par d'autres, je prends la liberté de vous offrir mes remerciements. C'est surtout, à certains Electeurs de la Ville de Québec, de St. Foy, de l'Ancienne Lorette, et de St. Ambroise, que je m'adresse; aux Haranguiers des Halles, des Faubourgs et des Marchés, aux Châretiers et autres spéculateurs; aux gens en place et sans place dont les plumes et les efforts burlesques et impossibles m'ont procuré cette distinction honorable de n'être point jugé "digne d'être mis en compétition avec leurs Candidats privilégiés," dont les principes connus ont ainsi publiquement obtenu leur approbation marquée, n'ayant point été présent à l'Élection, ce serait manquer à mon devoir, si, sur le témoignage d'un individu intéressé, je remerciais Monsieur Têtu, POLICIER Rapporteur, de sa conduite haute et impartiale, n'ignorant point que les Electeurs ont protesté pour des raisons entièrement contraires; c'est pourquoi j'espère que Mr. Têtu excusera le silence que je dois, quant à présent, observer à son égard.

Pour vous, mes freres, libres et incorruptibles Electeurs de Beauport et de Charlesbourg, je manque d'expression pour reconnaître aussi vivement que j'en suis pénétré cette confiance généreuse, constante et non sollicitée que vous avez bien voulu placer en mes faibles talents ne subsistant mes refus réitérés de me présenter, vous avez persisté dans votre résolution de m'avoir pour votre représentant; vous avez vous-même fait le choix d'un Electeur pour tenir ma place au Poll; vous l'avez obtenu par une conduite honorable pour vous et digne de la Constitution que vous voulez préserver. L'oblivion de vos noms dans le compliment de Mr. Gauvain à ses Electeurs, est une preuve non équivoque de la rectitude de vos principes qui vous ont fait mépriser les moyens de corruptions employés si honteusement et avec tant de succès, auprès de vos Comptables adués. Les principaux, les plus respectables Electeurs de la Ville, n'ont pu voir sans admiration les exertions constitutionnelles que vous laissez pour parvenir au but de vos desirs; ils ont dédaigné de vous opposer, et ils l'ont fait de la manière la plus noble et la plus généreuse; je leur offrirais pour vous et pour moi mes remerciements, si je ne craignois de diminuer le mérite d'une œuvre qui, chez des hommes bien nés et d'éducation, n'est que l'effet naturel des convenances, qu'ils ont acquies d'une Constitution qu'ils ont appréciée, et que tout sujet loyal, est par devoir, intéressé à défendre.

Je dois à Monsieur Brunette Peleceur zélé et courageux qui a bien voulu accepter et prendre sur lui le trouble de me représenter au poll, le témoignage de ma reconnaissance et de la peine que j'ai ressentie en apprenant la suite continuelle et indécente à laquelle il s'est exposé avec des personnes aussi sages et à ses raisons, qu'incapables de les comprendre. S'il a succombé, ce doit être pour moi et pour ceux qui l'ont supporté, une source de consolation bien douce que de pouvoir faire une comparaison si avantageuse de la pureté de leurs motifs, avec ceux de leurs opposants; comparaison que je regarde si honorable pour eux et pour moi qui en ai été l'objet passif, que le souvenir ne s'en effacera jamais de mon cœur.

J'ai l'honneur d'être, avec respect,
Messieurs,
Votre très humble et très obéissant Serviteur,
P. A. DE BONNE.
Comté de Québec, la Canadienne, le 8 Avril, 1816.

NOTICE
ALL Persons having claims on the Estate of the late Captain Richard Landy, are requested to present the same regularly aforesaid for liquidation, and all persons indebted thereunto are requested to pay their respective dues without delay, either to Messrs. THO. LEE, jun.
Québec, 4th Sept. 1815.

MR. EDITOR.

The people of Three Rivers appear to be divided, respecting the site proper to be chosen for the erection of the new Gaol.

It is alleged that the old Gaol lot, is too circumvented, some wish it to be erected, at an unfrequented back part of the Town where it would be almost hidden from view, with a narrow alley leading to it.

That this building should be raised, on a commanding, salubrious eminence, if any such is to be obtained, must be obvious to every person.

Sufficient ground on such an eminence, at the end of the Forge Street, has been offered by a person of the town, gratis, the situation is open, intersected by the roads leading to the Forges, and St. Marguerite, about the same distance from the Market place, and the summit of the building, would command a view of Lake St. Peter, and the adjacent country.

The only objection offered to this situation, is the distance from the old Court House, but judging it will not belong, before provision is made for a new Court House, which is as necessary an appendage, to this District, as a new Gaol; it could be erected adjoining, or near to the Gaol.

An INHABITANT of Three Rivers.

Mr. Editor,

Being a Member of the Fire Society, I attended the annual meeting which took place a few days ago; when the President was about to lay the accounts of the last year before the Committee, to my very great surprise, he was interrupted by several gentlemen of the long robe, with very long harangues on the wording of the notification of the meeting and other frivolous matters. Now, Mr. Editor, I have frequently heard it lamented that these gentlemen, from their propensity to cavil and quibbling, have interrupted the progress of public business and produced confusion and uproar, where harmony and good fellowship should have prevailed; but I little expected to meet with it in a meeting of a Fire Society. The examination of accounts and naming the future Committee afford little subject for the exercise of oratorical powers. But, the meeting being numerous, the opportunity of display was not to be lost.

The object of the institution, if I am not mistaken, is to extinguish, not to kindle, it being a fire not a fiery society. These gentlemen, however, totally lost sight of the subject before them, and thundered away for two hours, in such a strain as lighted up a flame, which had like to have tried the skill, and exhausted the reservoirs of the Society to extinguish. Fortunately, some of the Members, skilled in the business, plied the Engine of Reason, aided by that of Contempt, upon them, with that dexterity, as arrested the progress of the conflagration.

The business of the Fire Society is already too much neglected, from the reluctance of most of us to bear any burthen gratuitously; it was therefore painful to me, to see it rendered disgusting and tedious by the class of citizens alluded to.

It cannot be denied that the community at large are concerned in it, which is the reason of my venturing to lay this before the public. By the Rules of the Society, the payment of ten shillings annually constitutes a Member; but after what I have witnessed, ten pounds should be required of these gentlemen; at least that a Resolve should be passed, to that effect is the sincere wish of

A LOVER OF HARMONY.

P. S. In England are ducking stools for the punishing of troublesome scolds. Would not such a machine be very usefully applied to those long robed gentry, who extend their brawling and chicanery beyond the law-courts; where, perhaps, their clients would think that they did not do them justice if they did not employ many words, whether to the purpose or not?

In the mean time, a dose of your Mercury, Mr. Editor, may perhaps allay that caecorthis loquendi, with which these children of Themis are so violently infected, to the great hindrance of business and loss of time of those who have matters of importance of their own to attend to.

I would venture my life that the substance of an hour's speechifying by such haranguers, might be comprised in half a page, as to express one idea to the purpose, if any thing be said by them to the purpose, they employ verbiage enough to fill half a quire. It is more nox, anz, et preterea nihil; a noisy drum full of emptiness.

AT a Meeting of the MERCHANTS, SHIPPERS, and other INTERESTED, of the City of ST. JOHN, convened by Public Notice, at the EXCHANGE ROOM, on Monday the 10th February, 1816—

THOMAS MILLIDGE, Junr, Esq. being called to the Chair—it was resolved unanimously, as the sense of this meeting.

That the trade in Plaster of Paris, is all important to the general prosperity, as well as to the commerce of the Province at large.

That the advantage to the immediate carriers of this article is but one, of many, great interests which it involves.

That by the best estimates, this trade, duly regulated, will employ 15,000 tons of additional British shipping, being more than is used in all the rest of the trade of the Province.—The general benefits that would arise from such a vast extension of her ship-building and navigation of the country is sufficiently evident.

That the contraband trade between the ports of the Bay of Fundy and the United States of America, has been baneful to the prosperity of the country, not only by the introduction of illegal merchandise, but by the ruinous drain of its specie from it.

That the traffic in this important commodity at the American line, has been a very principal support of such illicit trade.

That exclusive of other articles brought in to a great extent, the supply of Cordage, Sail-cloth, Iron, Anchors, and every other article for the equipment of vessels, has been so very great, through the medium of this trade, at Passamaquoddy, as to be an object of no trifling attention, not only as it affects the business of the fair merchant trading to the mother country for household articles, who surely is entitled to protection, but as it is prejudicial to the manufactures of the United Kingdom.

That another prominent evil arising out of this Trade, is that a great portion of the numerous vessels belonging to the out ports of the Bay of Fundy are only nominally British, but virtually American bottoms.—The great amount of supplies given on credit by the American traders on the bordering seasons desirous of undertaking the building and equipment of such vessels forming, in many cases, the chief means of carrying those undertakings into effect—has confined the nominal owners and conductors of such vessels to the slavish condition of drudging for these foreigners and established a species of extensive illicit traffic that can never be cured, except by a prevention of the delivery of all Plaster of Paris in the neighbourhood.

That great injury will be immediately sustained by the Shipping interest of this Province, should the expected regulation of this trade fail, as not less than fifty vessels are now building of the burthen of from 500 to 1000 tons, which cannot otherwise be so quietly employed.

That the present Meeting is not actuated merely by the selfish motives of individual interest, the impression uppermost on the minds of its members being, that the object now before them cannot be separated from those means which are the most important in producing the general prosperity of every class of their fellow subjects in the Province.

That the object of this Meeting involves also the interests and expectations of the Inhabitants of our Sister Province of Nova Scotia, who look to the proceedings of our Legislature with anxiety, as at the hopes of efficient regulation of the Plaster Trade in this Province will be destroyed, unless corresponding measures be taken in this.

The meeting therefore further resolved,

That a Petition to the Legislature of this Province now in Session, be immediately forwarded, expressive of the substance of the foregoing Resolutions, and humbly praying that efficient regulations be enacted, so that no Plaster of Paris may be delivered in the neighbourhood of the American Lines, or any where to the eastward of Boston, in such way as to enable the American Coasting vessels to carry it from the said Lines to the places of consumption.

That the thanks of this meeting be respectfully offered to the Members of the House of Assembly from this City and County for the zealous endeavours they have already made in promoting this important business, as well as to all others who have joined in the laudable undertaking, and it is hoped they will not relax their exertions to effect an object so universally beneficial.

That these Proceedings be published in all the News-papers of this City.

T. MILLIDGE Junr,
Chairman.

HAYTIAN COURT DRESSES!

Very superb Dresses for the Queen and Princesses of Hayti, have just been finished by one of our Fashionable Dress Makers. They are as follows:—

Queen of Hayti's dress—Consists of a petticoat of white satin, richly embroidered in gold sun-flowers, terminating at the bottom with broad gold fringe, the train of white satin, embroidered like the petticoat, looped up on each side (to form a drapery) with gold tassels and buttons; a beautiful gold net falls from the left shoulder, and fastened under the right arm, held up by large cords of bullion over the shoulder, the corners and edges finished with tassels fringe; a rich plume of white feathers, ornamented by combs of variegated value, completes the dress. This dress may be considered as a Chef d'Oeuvre in the Court-dress style, being by far the richest and most elegant ever made in this or any other country.

The Princesses' Dresses.—The First—a petticoat of lilac satin, richly trimmed with three rows of gold and silver fringe, so arranged to form drapery; the body ornamented in like manner finished at the bottom with gold and silver cactus, with a finely executed rose, from which is suspended an elegant wash of gold and silver net; the train is of silver tissue, richly embroidered round the bottom with large leaves in green chenille, (the veins of the leaves in gold), and large red roses; the sleeves are of silver tissue, each with a flower, the same is round the train; a very beautiful frog and tassels finishes the back; the whole trimmed all round with gold and silver fringe to correspond with the petticoat.

The Second—a pink corded satin petticoat and train, the petticoat covered with beautiful blond lace, richly worked in silver, the bottom embroidered with scallops in silver lama, looped up on each side with large bunches of French flowers, roses and lilies at the valley; the train ornamented at the bottom with elegant wreathing of silver hops and French roses, terminated by a broad blond lace worked in silver lama, like the petticoat; the sleeves richly embroidered in silver, is also the body, which is finished at the bottom with a silver cactus—From the left shoulder depends rich drapery of blond and silver finished on the right side by a very beautiful wreath of roses and other flowers.

A state Carriage for the King of Hayti has been constructed as follows:—The body is formed peculiarly for the country, the front projecting for the purpose of shade, the lining of the richest velvet, embroidered with the Star of the Order of St. Henry; the trimmings of pure gold. In the centre of the roof is a beautiful embroidered Star of the Order; the drapery fringed with gold of immense richness. The painting of the body is most exquisitely executed the lower part being painted the Royal colour, celestial blue; the arms beautifully painted, surrounded with ornaments and encircled with an elegant border of flowers. The upper panels are covered with a mosaic net work, enriched with military and naval trophies; the cornice to the roof is extremely rich, terminating with phoenixes at each corner, and besides supported with emblematical figures of Liberty, Justice, and Fortitude, and surmounted with the Royal Crown; rich gilt mouldings surround the framed work of the Body; the Lamps are peculiarly constructed and of grand appearance. The Carriage part, which is a crane, or swan-necked, appears one mass of exquisite figures and ornaments, particularly the hind standards, where horse supporting the arms are so mounted with trophies and crowns, and elevated on blocks of excellent workmanship. The seat and forepart, resembling the lion's standards are solidly gilt. The base and every ornament correspond with equal grandeur. There is, besides harness for eight horses, which, for grandeur and elegance, exceeds description; it appears a mass of silver, in which is displayed the nicest art of embossing. The bridle surmounted with rich plumes of feathers, corresponds in taste and elegance with the carriage. There are also twenty-two other carriages and harness for 114 horses, for the Royal Family and Nobility, particularly three for the Prince and Princesses.

To the Editor of the Albany Register

Sir,

The importance of the Grand Canal is now so universally admitted, that further argument in its favour would be superfluous. There are, however, some considerations, not to my knowledge hitherto noticed, which point out and urge the policy of beginning that great work with as little delay as possible.

1st. By the Grand Canal, the fur-trade carried on through the Canadas and the great lakes, would, as long as it exists, be drawn through the state of New York. For the European goods employed in that trade, could be landed at the city of New York and sent by the Hudson and the grand canal to Buffalo, there to be re-shipped for Michilimackinac, and other places of distribution, on much lower terms than they could be landed at Montreal and sent by the St. Lawrence, Lake Ontario and the Portage, at the Falls of Niagara to Fort Erie, opposite to Buffalo, there to be re-shipped to Michilimackinac, &c.

The advantages of this trade could, of course, be transferred to American citizens, and the revenues arising from it would go into the treasury of the United States, instead of aiding the resources of Great Britain.

2nd. The only substantial motive Great Britain can have for retaining the Canadas, being thus in effect abolished, the lumber trade singly would not be a motive that alone would remain which arises from national pride and jealousy, and that would soon yield to interest; for the British nation would not be long contented to be saddled with the heavy expenses which the government of the Canadas will hereafter require, merely to possess a fruitless controul over the savages on our frontiers. — The necessary consequence would be the abandonment of the Canadas by the British.

Thus, by means of the Grand Canal, we should gain the possession of the Canadas, without bloodshed, and at less than the expense of a single campaign.

Can a measure be well imagined more important, than that which while it extends to its utmost limits, and promotes to the best advantage the agricultural, commercial and manufacturing interests of the nation, is also the means of giving to it peaceful possession of a valuable territory, existing at the same time a future cause of war? In the view of the subject, the following facts are embraced—The country between Lake Erie and the Ohio, and south of that river is filling up with great rapidity.—The country on the upper as well as the lower Mississippi and their waters must fill up in turn.—The trade of these regions will take the channels which nature offers to it, or such as may be provided for its greater facilitation, by the wisdom, the enterprise and industry of man. All the above consideration being fairly weighed, it is impossible to avoid seeing, that no object is so immediately worthy of all the attention that can be paid to it, as the Grand Canal: It is not merely the interests of individuals of a commercial corporation or of a state, that is to be promoted by it, but also the best interest of the union itself—not the interest of those now on the stage only, but the interests of future generations—perhaps to the latest posterity.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

HOUSE OF LORDS, TUESDAY, Feb. 1.

The House met at two when the Royal Commissioners, the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Lord Chancellor, the Duke of Montrose, Lord Harrowby, and Lord Shaftsbury, sent for the House of Commons.—The speaker having come into the House of Lords, attended by the Members of the Commons in the usual manner, the Lord Chancellor read the Prince Regent's Speech as follows:—

"My Lords and Gentlemen,

"We are commanded by his Royal Highness the Prince Regent to express to you his deep regret at the continuance of his Majesty's lamented indisposition.

"The Prince Regent directs us to acquaint you, that he has had the greatest satisfaction in calling you together under circumstances which enable him to announce to you the restoration of peace throughout Europe.

"The splendid and decisive success obtained by his Majesty's arms, and those of his allies, had led, at an early period of the campaign, to the re-establishment of the authority of his Most Christian Majesty in the capital of his dominions; and it has been since that time his Royal Highness's most earnest endeavour to promote such arrangements as appeared to him best calculated to provide for the lasting repose and security of Europe.

"In the adjustment of these arrangements it was natural to expect that many difficulties would occur; but his Prince Regent trusts it will be found that, by moderation and firmness, they have been effectually surmounted.

"To the intimate union that has happily subsisted between the Allied Powers, the nations of the Continent have twice owed their deliverance. His Royal Highness has no doubt that you will be sensible of the great importance of maintaining in its full force that alliance, from which so many advantages have already been derived, and which affords the best prospect of the continuance of peace.

"The Prince Regent has directed Copies of the several Treaties and Conventions which have been concluded to be laid before you.

"The extraordinary situation in which the powers of Europe have been placed, from the circumstances which have attended the French revolution, and more especially in consequence of the last year, has induced the Allies to adopt precautionary measures which they consider as indispensably necessary for the general security.

"As his Royal Highness has concurred in these measures, from a full conviction of their justice and sound policy, he relies confidently on your co-operation in such proceedings as may be necessary for carrying them into effect."

"Gentlemen of the House of Commons.

"The Prince Regent has directed the climates for the present year to be laid before you.

"His Royal Highness is happy to inform you, that the manufactures, commerce, and revenue of the United Kingdom are in a flourishing condition.

"The great exertions which you enabled him to make in the course of the last year, afforded the means of bringing the contest in which we were engaged, to so glorious and speedy a termination.

"The Prince Regent laments the heavy pressure upon the country which such exertions could not fail to produce; and His Royal Highness has commanded us to assure you, that you may rely on every disposition on his part, to concur in such measures of economy as may be found consistent with the security of the country; and with that station which we occupy in Europe."

"My Lords and Gentlemen,

"The negotiations which the Prince Regent announced to you, at the end of the session of Parliament, as being in progress, with a view to a commercial arrangement between this country and the United States of America, have been brought to a satisfactory issue. His Royal Highness has given orders, that a copy of a treaty which has been concluded shall be laid before you; and he confidently trusts that the stipulations of it will prove advantageous to the interests of both countries, and cement the good understanding which so happily subsists between them.

"The Prince Regent has commanded us to inform you that the hostilities in which we have been involved in the island of Ceylon and on the continent of India, have been attended with decisive success.

"Those in Ceylon, have terminated in an arrangement highly honourable to the British character, and which cannot fail to augment the security and internal prosperity of that valuable possession.

"The operations in India have led to an armistice which gives reason to hope that a peace may have been concluded on terms advantageous to our interest in that part of the world.

"At the close of a contest so extensive and momentous as that in which we have been so long engaged in Europe, and which has exalted the character and military renown of the British nation beyond all former example, the Prince Regent cannot but feel, that under Providence he is indebted for the success which has attended his exertions, to the wisdom and firmness of Parliament, and to the perseverance and public spirit of his Majesty's people.

"It will be the Prince Regent's constant endeavour to maintain, by the justice and moderation of his conduct, the high character which the country has acquired amongst the nations of the world; and His Royal Highness has directed us to express his sincere and earnest hope, that the same union amongst ourselves, which has brought this eventful struggle to so auspicious an issue, may now animate us in peace, and induce us cordially to co-operate in all those measures which may best manifest our gratitude for the Divine protection, and most effectually promote the prosperity and happiness of our country."

From the Boston Daily Advertiser.

In passing through Boston streets, I have frequently met a young man, who was so unfortunate, in one of the battles on the Lakes, as to lose both his hands. In turning over La Belle Assemblée for December, 1833, I met the following account of Artificial Hands.

"A Scotchman who had the misfortune to lose both his hands, while in the act of loading his cannon, directed his attention to the constructing of such instruments as might supply the unfortunate deficiency under which he laboured. Having laid before the Society of Arts several drawings, with a written description, in a very legible hand, of the instruments he had so ingeniously contrived— he Society have voted to this ingenious man their silver medal, and a gratuity of forty guineas for his invention. He produced to the committee drawings of a great variety of instruments of his invention; and being informed the committee, that the said drawings, and the written explanations, were wholly executed by him self. He explained the nature and use of the several instruments which he brought with him: he unbuttoned and took off his coat and waistcoat in the presence of the committee, and put them on again, and buttoned them without assistance, and said he could entirely dress and undress himself, except the tying on of his neck cloth. He showed one method of writing by his fixing a pen below his elbow, and a superior method of writing with a pen which he placed above his elbow; in both cases the writing was very fair and clear, and executed with considerable facility. He took up a glass and drank out of it; and used a knife and fork for carving and eating, shewed his method of receiving and paying money, and how to put his money into and take it out of a purse he had contrived for the purpose, and how to take up a small piece of money from the floor."

London, Feb. 3.

The Prince Regent's Speech has made a very favorable impression on the funds, which have experienced this morning a rise of one per cent—in private bargains, Consols, and Omnium for the next payments. Although it was a holiday at the Bank, the Stock Exchange remained open.

The Morning Chronicle of today has the following letter from Sir Robert Wilson to M. Puzzo di Borgho:—

[COPY]

"Prison of La Force, Jan. 23 1816.

"MY DEAR SIR—I have been informed that a paper, intercepted on its return to me, has been considered as the original manuscript of a Report attributed to yourself and further, that I have been accused as being the author, or concerned in the fabrication of that paper.

"I disclaim the imputation; but from motives of respect to the Emperor, and of regard to yourself, I do declare upon my honor, that the paper so intercepted was a copy that I had never read, although borrowed by me to lend; and further, that I never did hear even of this report attributed to you, until it had been read by various friends of mine, and extracts had been given to take to England by those who will, I am sure, declare to the fact in Parliament, if necessary.

"May I beg you to repel the calumny by this statement. Very truly yours

"ROBERT WILSON, M. Gen.

To His Excellency Count Puzzo, di Borgho, &c."

It appears from the last accounts that the Prince Regent is almost entirely recovered from his indisposition, and no fears are entertained of a relapse.

It is reported that the settlements at Sierra Leone, on the Coast of Africa, established by the British as an asylum for the free civilized blacks, has been destroyed by them, assisted by natives, and that nearly all the whites including many British Officers, have been murdered.

MONTREAL, April 6th, 1816.

The Officers of the 100th Regt. gave an elegant Ball and Supper on Monday the 4th inst. at Chambly, to which the Officers of the Garrison, deaux Noix, St. Johns and also the principal inhabitants of Montreal were invited. Upon the occasion, the rooms were brilliantly illuminated and fitted up in a superior style of taste and elegance, the walls were ornamented with branches of evergreens, fancifully arranged, the windows were decorated with transparencies which had a very pleasing effect. A temporary Orchestra was erected, over which was displayed a brilliant star of bayonets between the new Regimental Colors, different parts of the rooms were also tastefully ornamented. Dancing commenced at 8 o'clock and was kept up with great spirit until one, when the company about 140 in number, sat down to an excellent Supper, consisting of every delicacy that taste and liberality could procure; dancing was resumed after supper, and continued until the dawn of morning peeped forth, when the company began to depart, not more gratified with their entertainment than pleased with the attention they experienced.

QUEBEC, APRIL 9, 1816.

ADVICES were received by yesterday's mail four or five days later from Europe than previous accounts.

The Session of the Imperial Parliament had been opened by Commissioners, the Prince Regent being confined in consequence of a gouty affection.

There will be abundant matter to employ the attention of Parliament, now that the continental troubles have subsided; for as to the various rumours of plots for their renewal, we consider them as the visions of paragraph-mongers, who must now be hard put to it to complete their daily tasks. "It is said", "we learn" and "we conjecture", are the commonplace spinnings of the brain of hired garteteers, who are condemned to furnish something to amuse the numerous Quidnuncs with which the world is stocked.

The stoppage of the circulation of English newspapers in France, which appears to be a late act of the French police, will be a severe drawback on the profits of the British press. The inhibition is particularly pointed against the Edinburgh Review, a work that breathes too freely to suit the atmosphere of France, it seems. It is truly lamentable that a people so near and so intimately connected with the British as the French are, cannot imbibe from the English sufficient phlegm to enable them to settle into a soberly free people. It is their misfortune, with much information and polished manners, to be all passion, all susceptibility, all animation, all vivacity. With such qualities the still small voice of sedate Reason cannot make itself to be heard. Hence chartered rights, representation, an independant judiciary, all are to little purpose; their necks are at all times, encircled by the galling yoke of an high-handed police. With all their struggles, with all their revolutions, they have not deliberate judgment enough to form themselves into any thing like a nation of freemen. Ever running into extremes it requires an extraordinary strong hand to pull them back; when they are to be drawn with a strength correspondent to the impulse they have taken; which necessarily forces them to the opposite extreme; hence they always pass the line of rational liberty; in the first place by running into licentiousness and, in the last, by sinking into bondage; for here their fiery spirit must rest, until they in some measure change their temperament.

It is said that Lavalette has sought an asylum in England. If this be true, he being the only proscribed Frenchman admitted to take shelter in that country, connecting this circumstance with the assistance afforded him by three English gentlemen to effect his escape from France, there appears to be something of mystery in it we are unable to develop. May he not have been of some use to the British in a manner that honor will not allow to be made known? It is useless to carry conjecture any further.

The papers have asserted that the three English-men were at large upon bail; the latest dates, however, contradict this.—We are anxious to learn what will be the result of the charges against them. Had the assistance given Lavolette been by three young men only, it might have been accounted for in a spirit of adventure incident to youth; but the puzzling part of the business is Sir Robert Wilson's being implicated in it.

Among our electioneering Caricatures we have seen one which is not generally known, its subject is one solid man of business weighed in the balance against forty-nine slung-whangers. It scarcely need be said which preponderates. Another is about to make its appearance, it is a fire-engine playing upon a Lawyer's tongue, which proves, however, unquenchable, it being aliment for eternal flame.

At the celebration of the Anniversary of St Patrick, in Albany, on the 8th of last month, the following was a part of one of the Toasts.

"CONGRESS—Gloried with the confidence of the people—the people expects from a liberal policy and short speeches."
