

Military Junta Would Put Menderes On Trial

ISTANBUL (AP) — Turkey's ruling military junta set up a board of educationists and jurists today to write a new democratic Turkish constitution, and threatened to put ousted dictator-premier Adnan Menderes on trial.

Acting swiftly in the wake of Friday's bloodless military coup, Gen. Cemal Gursel and his revolutionary Turkish National Union Committee:

1. Ordered Dean Sıddık Sami Omar of Istanbul University flown to Ankara, the capital, presumably to form a new provisional government.

2. Pledged that free elections would be held "soon" to set up a democratic state, but did not set an exact date.

3. Promised that Turkey's western military alliance would remain unaltered.

4. Told newspapers silenced by Menderes that they could resume publishing at once, and ordered the release of editors jailed for opposing the strong-arm policies of the ex-premier.

5. Ordered the military to disarm police throughout the country.

6. Guaranteed the safety of all foreigners.

The sudden end of Menderes autocratic rule touched off an outburst of joy and relief throughout Turkey. Citizens embraced members of the armed forces in the streets and loudly cheered the 64-year-old Gursel.

A spokesman for the ruling military junta told reporters Menderes would be put on trial "under existing laws if there is a well-founded complaint against him."

The spokesman did not specify whether such a trial would be conducted by a military or civilian court.

2 Injured In 3-Car Collision

Two men were injured and taken to hospital after a three-car collision at Portland and Jacques Cartier Streets early today.

Thomas Smith, of 145th Avenue, Lachine, and Norman Laberge of 522 Bouchette Street, drivers of two of the cars, were taken to Sherbrooke Hospital with facial lacerations. After receiving first aid, they were allowed to return home.

Driver of the third car, Kenneth Wood, of 512 Bouchette Street, was not injured.

Golf Too Noisy For Neighbour

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — A Norwalk resident, who lives 57 feet from the third tee of a golf club, says the noise of the game of golf has made him "a nervous wreck."

Roderick E. Franco has asked a common pleas court judge to order the tee moved or to have noise-deadening vegetation installed.

Franco said the noise is awful and there is danger from ricocheting golf balls. He said he hates the shouts of "Fore" and "Nice shot, Charlie."

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — Ecuador Friday broke diplomatic relations with the Dominican Republic. The severance follows a course taken by five other Latin American countries against the Trujillo regime. Previously Venezuela, Cuba, Colombia, Peru and Bolivia broke relations.

Fear Disease After Quake

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Shortages of food and water today touched off fears of epidemics in quake-shattered southern Chile.

Police fired warning shots over the heads of hungry disaster victims trying to raid emergency supplies of food set up for rationing in Valdivia.

Cmdr. Robert E. Merchant of the United States Navy, who flew supplies to the stricken city, said:

"Even U.S. military men there helping bring in the supplies haven't been eating anything and can't drink the water. We left them all the sandwiches we had."

The known death toll in the worst-hit areas stood at close to 3,000, but officials said an accurate count may not be possible for weeks.

ACUTE HARDSHIPS
At Valdivia, a city of 100,000 persons, about 40 per cent of the business and industrial areas are in ruins. Puerto Montt, with a population of about 45,000, also is suffering acute hardships.

Bad weather in southern Chile hampered operations by large planes flying in relief.

The U.S. air force set up a giant airlift of 34 globemasters, but so far they have been unable to reach some of the worst disaster areas.

Two more earthquakes shook the troubled land Friday in the sixth day of tremors.

In spite of the foul weather, smaller planes are flying in food, clothing, blankets, medicine and medical personnel to the stricken areas which could not be reached by the big cargo planes.

Just north of Rupanca, tons of searing lava poured into Lake Ranco, sweeping over people and houses.

Police said roads in the Mount Carran area were completely covered by lava.

New volcanoes and new mountains have sprung up, new islands have appeared off the Chilean coast and new lakes have been formed in the night-mare week which remade much of the topographical map of Chile.

Lift Race Laws
For Chief's Visit
To South Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Johannesburg's Mayor Alge Gonskel Friday assured Walking Buffalo, 88-year-old chief of the Sioux Indian tribe in Canada, that "South Africa's racial segregation laws will be lifted when the chief and seven followers come to call here Monday."

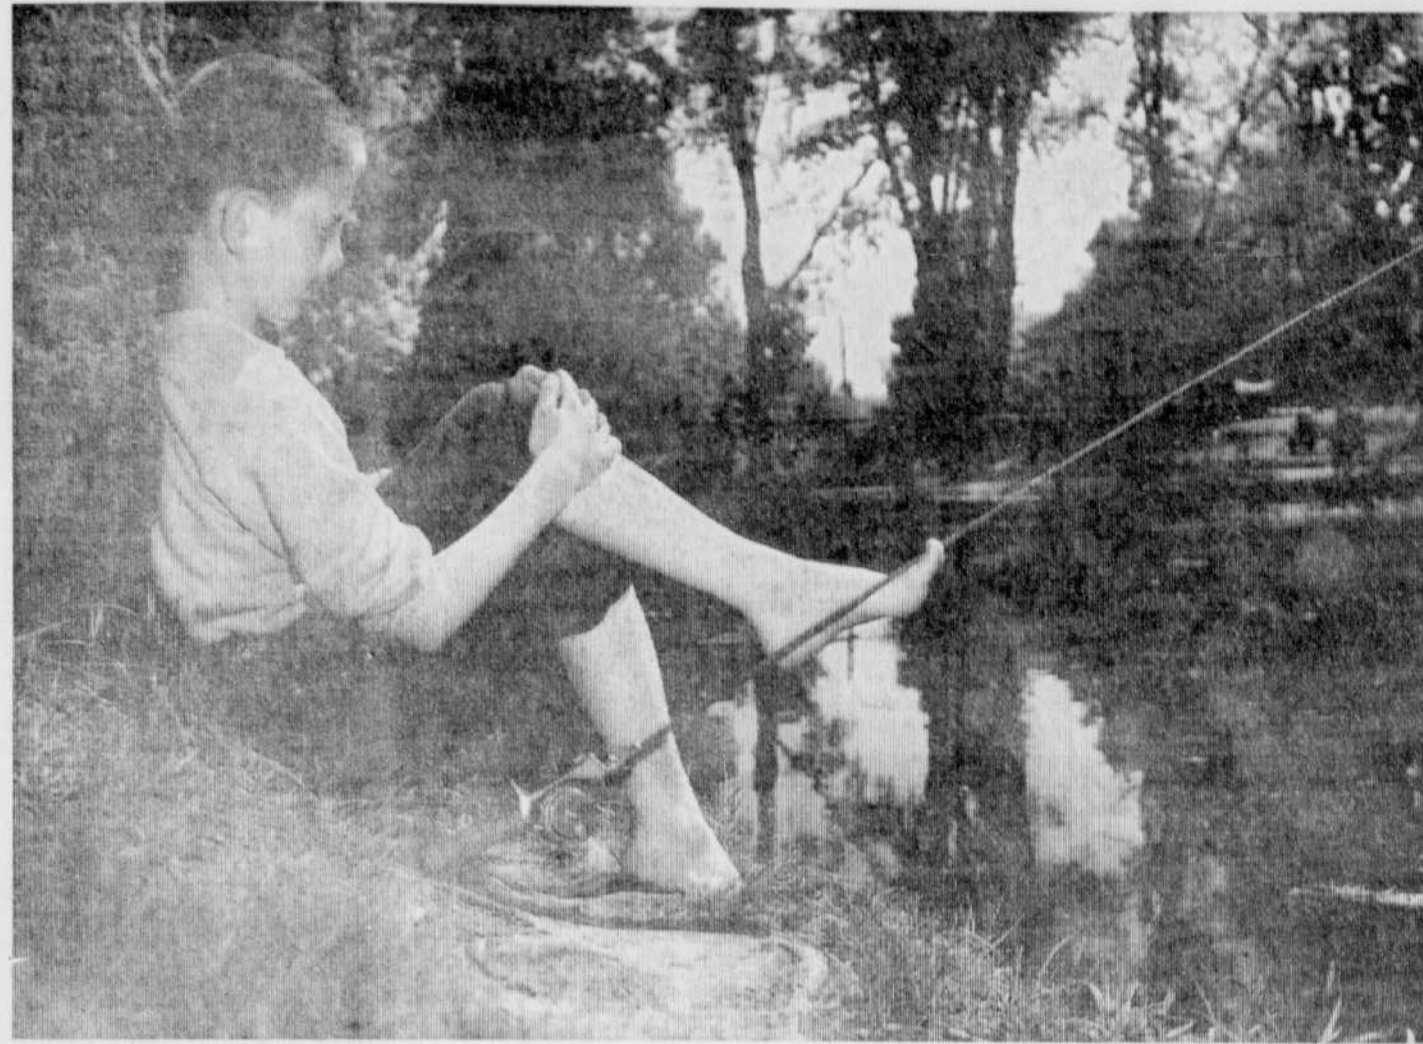

This is the first time North American Indians will be visiting the union and Mayor Gonskel plans to entertain them at a civic reception where they will wear full regalia.

The mayor told reporters "apartheid laws won't bother the red Indians as they all are prominent Canadian citizens."

The party is on a world tour and will stay at a Moral Re-Armament residence. Chief Walking Buffalo is in the MRA.

The Canadian Indians will arrive here from New Zealand and Australia.

To Publish Daily
SIMCOE, Ont. (CP) — The tri-weekly Simcoe Reformer Friday announced changes in three executive positions, preparatory to daily publication next fall. Bruce M. Pearce, editor of the Reformer for the last 38 years, assumes the role of publisher. His son, Dick, who has served as news editor for the last 10 years, becomes editor. William E. Gilling, a member of the news staff of the Toronto Star for the last nine years, becomes news editor. The Reformer will commence daily publications on Oct. 3, 1960.

FISHING WEATHER — In the late spring, when the days are hot as midsummer, a young man's thoughts naturally turn to fishing. Even in the city, there are places where a guy can go for a quiet fish and perhaps a little snooze. Serge Morin, above, found such a place in the city yesterday. While everyone else sweltered in the hot temperatures, he set up a line beside the pond in Howardene Park in the North Ward, and had himself a real lazy afternoon.

Mounties To Arrest 26 Toll Takers

MONTREAL (CP) — RCMP constables moved today to complete arrests of 26 former toll collectors on Montreal's Jacques Cartier bridge to be charged with "frauds in relation to fares."

Warrants for the arrests were issued Friday and Supt. R. J. Belec of the Montreal RCMP detachment said "we expect the arrests to be completed by early next week." Arraignments likely will be held today and Monday.

"Our men have gathered sufficient evidence to warrant charges against the 26 men," Supt. Belec said.

Six of the men for whom warrants were issued were arrested last month, after an RCMP investigation into a sudden increase in the amount of bridge toll receipts following installation of an automatic collecting system. They were charged with theft and breach of trust.

The case against one man was dismissed and charges against the others subsequently dropped.

The new charges have been laid under a different section of the criminal code. It deals with "everyone whose duty is to collect the fare, toll, ticket or admission" and who "wilfully fails to collect." It also covers collections of less than the proper amount.

Emergency Landing
GANDER, Nfld. (CP) — A four-engine Bristol Britannia, owned by Israel Airlines, made a safe emergency landing here Friday night after one of its four engines failed in mid-Atlantic. Passengers, en route to New York from several European points, were transferred to another aircraft.

Cloutier freed him three weeks ago on grounds that he had been charged under the wrong section of the criminal code.

Then charges against Joseph Michel Savoie, Andre Decary, Marcel Duceppe, Wilfrid Gagne and Alfred Paul Beauchamp were dropped. The newly laid charges against the six men provide a maximum penalty of two years in penitentiary. The maximum would have been five years under the original charges.

The new charges have been laid under summary conviction procedure rather than as indictable offences. This means trial by a judge alone with no option for a jury trial as provided for in indictable offences.

Reports On Failure At Summit

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev told the Soviet people today that he believes President Eisenhower wants peace.

He was reporting to the Russian people by radio and television about the failure of the Paris summit conference and his visit to Berlin.

Khrushchev spoke in the Kremlin at a meeting of labor brigades where he was unanimously acclaimed "foremost shock worker of Communist labor."

Despite the kind words for the American president, Khrushchev repeated his charges that United States aggression torpedoed the Paris summit conference. He again denounced the flight of the U-2 downed in Russia May 1 as "treachery committed by the U.S. government."

He said the U.S. "bears responsibility before the whole world."

This phrase referred not only to the flight of the U-2 but also to the summit failure.

Comparing Soviet actions with those of the Americans, Khrushchev said his original impression was that the U.S. president wanted peace.

He thought that even now Eisenhower wanted peace—"but the way to hell is paved with good intentions and that is where Eisenhower would land."

The Soviet leader declared it seems that a struggle has developed around the future direction of American policy, and this struggle was manifesting itself in many spheres.

Khrushchev charged State Secretary Christian Herter, Vice-President Richard Nixon and State Undersecretary Douglas Dillon with making "provocative speeches" just before the Paris summit conference.

Make Fewer Cars
TORONTO (CP) — Canadian motor production this week is estimated at 8,799 vehicles compared with 10,911 the previous week, says the Canadian Automobile Chamber of Commerce. Production consisted of 7,376 cars compared with 8,918, and 1,414 trucks compared with 1,993.

Spy-Plane, Tragedies Top News

By DAVID ROWNTREE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

THE WEEK: Security Council throws out Russian spy-plane charge. Earthquake, tidal waves kill thousands in Chile, Japan. RCMP moves against immigration racketeers. Turkish government falls.

At times this week, the Soviet and American delegates at the United Nations Security Council session were arguing much like Annie Oakley and Frank Butler in Annie Get Your Gun.

While the characters in the musical boasted that "Anything you can do I can do better," Andrei Gromyko and Henry Cabot Lodge tried to top each other in listing the number of foreign spies their countries had arrested and in detailing the extent of espionage activities. But unlike Annie and Frank, neither was boasting.

Lodge was declared the winner by some onlookers when he was able to draw a smile from the stony-faced Gromyko. The American produced a seal of the United States which a group of Russians had given to the embassy in Moscow after the war. The device contained a microphone, planted under the eagle's beak, for eavesdropping on American diplomats, Lodge charged.

"From what play were these props taken and when will it open?" Gromyko demanded tartly.

After the theatrics, the 11-member council voted 7 to 2, with two abstentions, to reject a Russian resolution seeking condemnation of the U.S. as an aggressor for its U-2 spy-plane flight over the Soviet Union May 1. Gromyko promised to renew his demand for a ban on intelligence flights in the UN general assembly.

PM'S COMMENTS
Prime Minister Diefenbaker expressed scepticism of Russia's submissions. He told the alumni association of Acadia University at Wolfville, N.S., last weekend:

"Admitting that espionage is not an attractive technique, the resolution... which purports to express the revulsion of the U.S.S.R. to espionage, is composed of words of synthetic horror and hypocritical condemnation when read in conjunction with the widespread extent of Soviet espionage."

MIGRANT RACKET
Desperate Chinese trying to join their families in Canada pay anything from $3,000 to $8,000 for forged immigration documents in Hong Kong and Portuguese Macao.

In the last 10 years, about 11,000 Chinese have entered Canada illegally, at a profit to ringleaders of the racket in the neighborhood of $44,000,000.

And once in Canada the unfortunate immigrants pay out more money in blackmail to prevent exposure.

Last Tuesday, in its biggest peacetime operation, the RCMP made 30 simultaneous raids from Vancouver to Montreal to obtain evidence against the racketeers.

Immigration Minister Fairclough said the government intends to adopt a humanitarian approach in dealing with the illegal entrants. Her department "does not intend to persecute them."

WEEK OF TERROR
Earthquakes, tidal waves and erupting volcanoes devastated whole towns in Chile during the week. Three thousand were dead.

"It will take us 50 years to rebuild Puerto Montt," said a weary Chilean doctor surveying the wreckage of his town.

Hundreds more lives were lost in Japan and Hawaii as tidal waves, set rolling by the earthquakes on the west coast of South America, raced across the Pacific. British Columbia, the western coasts of the U.S., Australia and New Zealand also experienced the surging tides but no lives were lost there.

The Canadian government has given $10,000 in preliminary aid to Chile and the RCAF will fly Red Cross clothing and drugs to the country.

Adnan Menderes was a man who belied his name. Menderes is the Turkish name for a lazy, winding river that gave rise to the English word "meander."

But Menderes was always in a hurry to get to the top in Turkish politics. Since 1950, when he became premier, he ran the country with an iron hand and took criticism as a personal insult. The political opposition was stifled, newspapers were suppressed and dissenters hustled off to jail.

Bourque Rally June 5 Will Hear Barrette

By CUTHBERT JONES
(Record Staff Writer)

Campaigning for the June 22 provincial general elections is slated to get underway in earnest in Sherbrooke County on Sunday, June 5, when Premier Antonio Barrette is scheduled to address a rally here in favor of Finance Minister J. S. Bourque who is seeking his eighth term.

Mr. Barrette will be accompanied by a number of his cabinet ministers as well as by Union Nationale candidates from the surrounding counties.

With his address to keynote the campaign, Government speakers are expected to appear at local rallies throughout the county almost every night until election eve.

The Liberals have indicated they will not be far behind the Union Nationale forces in this respect and their first local meeting may be held following the close of nominations on Wednesday, June 8.

Traditional nomination day contradictory meetings, abandoned in most constituencies in recent years, are unlikely to be revived. However, a few candidates have voiced their willingness to meet the other fellow anywhere at any time, but for the most part there have been no takers.

Contradictory meetings were discontinued at the request of municipal and religious authorities. See "Political Roundup" Page 5

SOVIET GIFT WAS WIRED FOR SOUND — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko (left) and his staff look amused as U. S. Ambassador to the U. N. Henry Cabot Lodge shows the Security Council a replica of the Great Seal of the United States presented to the American ambassador by Russia and hung behind his desk in Moscow. Lodge said that a "clandestine listening device" had been planted in the hollow wooden carving. The Council later voted down the Russian demand that the U. S. be condemned because of spy flights over Russia. Averell Harriman, former ambassador to Russia, said that a Soviet official had presented him with the seal. He said he was sure it was not bugged at the time he received it as memento in 1945. (NEA Telephoto)

Countryside In The Late Spring Offers Many Photo Opportunities

Touring around the countryside of the Eastern Townships lately, I have been struck by the appearance given it by the apple blossoms.

They make the country look like a setting for a stage production.

And it's a wonderful time for getting some good outdoor pictures.

We will have to watch out for composition. The most startling shots can be had on sunny days, with blue sky and a dash of cloud, if you're lucky. Now you may try your red filter, or the old stand-by, the yellow, but care must be taken in the use of the yellow.

With a few clouds, a filter would be useful, but if the sky is completely blue, and the sun fairly well behind you, none is required—always have the sun 45 degrees to the left or right for texture, etc. But in the case of subjects such as apple blossoms, for the best effect, we would have to have

By

them all showing in the sun, which gives this special effect. Under these conditions with the yellow filter flatness is likely to occur, due to tone value in black and white photographs. The sky and grass will appear to be of the same depth of grey, and though the apple blossoms will be nearly white, this in itself, is not enough to snap out the picture, so try for a house or barn, rail fence, to give contrast. Shadows in the foreground are necessary.

Now if you use color, the problem mentioned above, is taken care of automatically by the different hues, blue sky, green grass, white blossoms. The exposure is your greatest barrier to excellent transparencies. Follow the manufacturer's recommended exposure index, and you can hardly miss.

But you would be surprised to know how many people take their film out of the box, carefully stow the box away for mailing or carrying the exposed film in, and leave the film information inside.

Like the autumn colors, this spectacle lasts for only a short time. So in either black and white or color, try for at least one crack at it.

Graduation Dance First, Perhaps Last At Waterville High

WATERVILLE — High school graduation is the long awaited moment of a lifetime in any student's life, but at the Compton-Waterville High School last night's graduation ceremony was a milestone in the school's history.

The graduation banquet and dance were the first and perhaps the last since Grade 11 students will travel to Sherbrooke High School to complete their education next year.

Up until the last time that Grade 11 was taught in Waterville in 1944, diplomas were simply distributed to graduates at the school opening held each fall after the school year was completed, former School Board members recalled.

Streamers in the school colors of white and green and spring flowers made a gay setting for the occasion last night.

Guest speaker, Rev. A. G. MacLeod, pastor of the Waterville United Church, addressed the graduates, posing life's basic questions to the eight students.

Among the questions which Rev. MacLeod asked were: Where did you come from? Where are you now? Where are you going and how will you get there? What will you be when you get there?

Sponsored by the Home and School Association, graduates and friends enjoyed a dance following the banquet given in honor of the graduates. Music was provided by Jerry Haseltine's Orchestra.

The graduating students were as follows: Ronald Crowley, Dianna Deacon, Joyce Williams, Barbara Rose, Barbara Bryant, William Brown, Murray Powell and Ray Fowler.

Vote Qualifications

Election Act Bars 'Borrowing' Of Votes

Any efforts by a political organization to "borrow" a few hundred voters from outside the province by providing them with temporary employment within the province during the election period are effectively barred by a provision of the Quebec Election Act which sets out, among others, that residence in the province for a period of two years prior to the starting of enumerations of a prerequisite to voting.

Other qualifications provided for in the act are that the person be 21 years of age before or on polling day itself; that he or she is a Canadian citizen and is not affected by any disqualification from voting as provided in the act.

Among the persons disqualified from voting are:

A—The judges of the Supreme Court of Canada, the Exchequer Court of Canada, the Court of Queen's Bench, the Superior Court, and the Circuit Court, the judges of the sessions, district judges, municipal judges, the chief returning officer, the acting chief, the deputy chief, the returning officer except when there is a tie vote and he has to give a casting vote, the election clerk and the revisors of urban polling subdivisions;

B—Any person who has taken an oath of allegiance to a foreign power, or has become naturalized elsewhere;

C—Indians domiciled on land reserved for Indians, or held in trust for them, whether or not such reserve be situated within a municipality;

D—Any person who has been declared disqualified from voting by the Legislative Assembly, or against whom a judgment or sentence entailing disqualification from voting has been rendered by a court of competent jurisdiction, so long as such disqualification lasts;

E—Any person whom a court of competent jurisdiction has declared guilty of an infraction or crime punishable by two years' imprisonment or more and who has not fully served the sentence pronounced against him;

F—Insane persons hospitalized in a nursing home, and interdicted persons.

The law provides that a person be inscribed on the electoral list for the poll in which he or she resided on the first day of the enumeration. A man who is working in a locality other than that in which he usually resides is listed at the place of employment. Students, apprentices, etc., studying away from home are considered as living with their parents. Members of the armed forces are considered as domiciled in the area in which they are enlisted. City residents, having summer homes in the country, must be enrolled at their city addresses.

Canadian citizenship conditions are governed by federal legislation.

Profitable Use Found For Mine Leftovers

BY GLADYS TAYLOR
(Record Correspondent)

THETFORD MINES — A profitable use is finally being found for the mine dumps in Thetford Mines. According to latest reports a savings of from $14,000 to $16,000 is expected this summer when the city will use sand from the mines instead of gravel to prepare streets for paving.

Studies by engineers and trials have shown that the old mine sand serves the purpose as well as gravel and lasts as long, municipal officials declare. The city will pay only $0.60 per ton for the sand while the price of gravel is $1.65 per ton. However, the cost of asphalt has risen this year from $8.30 per ton to $9.60 per ton.

Several streets are scheduled for paving this summer and it is promised that within three weeks all potholes in the streets will be plugged and levelled with asphalt.

City constables are to wear white gloves and white web belts while directing traffic in school zones throughout Thetford Mines, city officials have stated.

The city has recently bought more than 250 traffic signs which conform to the pattern set for the province.

Some 235 black-and-white signs for street directions were bought at $2.00 each and 36 red-and-white stop signs for $4.00 each.

Other recent city council meeting business concerned the sale of a piece of industrial property to Nadeau et Freres of Leeds for the sum of $4,317.60, payable in cash.

The Need Is Still Urgent

Campaign headquarters for Sherbrooke Hospital's fund drive has reported returns to date as "proceeding satisfactorily".

But this encouraging report should not breed false optimism.

It assumes continued activity on the part of canvassers and public if the campaign is to reach, or exceed, its goal of $65,000.

Officially, the campaign ends on May 31. But many returns are still outstanding according to campaign officials. So there is no room for a letup in effort.

In its 10 years on its present site, Sherbrooke Hospital has continued to grow and expand. And this growth has been made possible, in part, by the generosity of the people of Sherbrooke and the Eastern Townships — the communities which it serves so well.

This growth must be allowed to continue so that our hospital may meet the growing needs of our community.

And the way to assure this, for canvassers and for public alike, is to make sure that there are funds available when they are needed.

The $65,000 goal set by Campaign Chairman Eric Webster and his fellow workers is a figure based on the minimum requirements of the hospital. And it represents an amount that must be raised if the hospital is to continue its role of service to Sherbrooke and the Eastern Townships.

Death Of A Clown

Louisella Brown used to be a clown in a leading American circus.

He was billed as Lou "Happy Jack" Nelson, and when he retired to a small town in Indiana, he continued to use his gifts for making people laugh.

He often portrayed a clown at store openings, local fairs and civic events, and entertained children with his familiar antics.

This week, "Happy Jack" was shot and killed in a duel with the town marshal. It seems "Happy" got into an argument with a court-appointed survey crew which was checking property lines near his home.

The marshal was called to restore order.

But "Happy" took a shotgun to the marshal, and shot him in the arm. In self-defence, the marshal pulled his own gun and killed "Happy."

Neighbors said "Happy" — in his late eighties — had gone "mad at the world." He often feuded with other members of the community, and had barbed wire around his home.

The story is a sad and ironic one. "Happy" was a man who had made millions of adults and children laugh away their cares for a time. He had devoted himself to a profession dedicated to making the world a more pleasant place in which to live.

A clown's life is often portrayed as being a tragic one. But none was more tragic than that of "Happy Jack."

Sable's Famous Ponies

Don't look now but there's some talk that Sable Island's famous ponies may end up as dog food.

This speculation has been advanced in the wake of news that the herd is up for sale by War Assets Corporation.

Apparently the 25-mile sandbar, located 200 miles off the Nova Scotia coast just won't support the 250 scraggy, stunted odd-shaped ponies. The grass is sparse and the water brackish.

How they got there, no one is quite sure. But legend has had them running wild on the Island for upwards of 400 years.

One theory has it that they were brought to Sable by Portuguese settlers in the early 16th century. They were left behind when the settlement attempt failed.

Transport Minister George Hees, whose department maintains a weather station on the island, assured the Commons yesterday that whatever their fate, it will be a humane one.

The wind-blown animals are being removed "in their own interest" he said.

So far no firm bids have been received for the animals. One tentative one, from a Peterborough, Ontario horse breeder, could save them from the dog food cans and see them trained as riding ponies for children.

He visited the Island last year, examined the horses and offered to bid for them. The matter was dropped, however, after protests from the Halifax Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

The horse breeder is willing to bid again providing the Navy will assist in removing the animals from the harborless island.

Adventures With God

Peace Of Mind Is God's Reward

By JANE SCOTT

In the last column we wrote: Peace of mind is God's reward for good behavior. Peace is a matter of cause and effect. A sense of well-being stems from a sense of well-doing.

It boils down to the simple statement made by Paul: "Whoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

If we sow love, devotion and obedience to God and His law we reap love, peace of mind, happiness, contentment, tranquility and health.

But the same conscience that registers approval when we keep the divine laws, registers disapproval when we ignore them and disobey them, and instead of producing peace it produces conviction heaviness of heart, fear and sometime remorse, and in a relatively few mental illness.

The true meaning of the word disease is that physically, mentally or spiritually we are not at ease, are experiencing disease. We are not comfortable and contented with the reactions we are getting.

Instead of happiness, tranquility and peace, we experience depression, condemning and debilitating thoughts when our spiritual thermostat drops under the pressure of a cold war with God.

IN THE DUMPS

What shall we do when we get down in the dumps? In the first place we should try to discover the reasons for our depression. And to do so we may need the help of a physician and a clergyman.

Now the physician and the clergyman may diagnose our trouble and tell us what ails us, but it is up to ourselves to take the medicine and apply the treatment.

I have observed that in many instances the man or woman who is sick because of an allergic reaction to some sin in their lives, knows before they consult a doctor or minister, what their trouble is.

A few people who have not been taught the scriptures, do not realize that their disease of mind and weariness of body is caused by ignoring or disobeying one or more of God's laws.

These need to be taught the rules for a quiet mind. And the first step toward recovery must be a turning FROM the thoughts and acts which are contrary to God's revealed laws.

Secondly, they must turn TO the Great Physician, Jesus Christ, who has the power and the will to "forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness."

Having acknowledged our sins and by faith accepted God's forgiveness and cleansing, we must then walk in the ways of righteousness, avoiding all appearances of the things that displease God and upset our own equilibrium.

And lastly, but in no wise least in importance, try to forget the past that God has forgiven and get busy doing some constructive work.

"Let him that stole steal no more; but rather let him labor, working with his hands the thing which is good, that he may have to give him that needeth."

In modern parlance get busy and don't waste today mulling and grieving over the errors of the past.

"All have sinned and come short of the glory of God," but some of us have had the good sense to throw ourselves on His mercy, and take the place of the prodigal son and go back to our heavenly Father breathing a prayer of confession and faith.

"I WILL ARISE"

We had to make the first move to get ourselves out of the pigpen and the slough of despond. Some of us used the last of will-power we possessed to say and mean it: "I WILL ARISE and go to my father and I will say, father, I have sinned against heaven and before thee. And am no more worthy to be called thy son: make me as one of thy hired servants."

And we acted on our resolve and got going on the road back to our heavenly Father and it took courage to make the penitent's speech.

But when we did our peace-meter registered divine approval and we felt a fresh resurgence of the peace of God in our hearts. Note well your "sins and iniquities" God will remember no more Hebrews 10:17.

STOP reviewing your past. You cannot undo your failures. But God will forgive them and give you a new start with a clean sheet upon which you may write a new and wonderful story.

LOOK to God in sincere prayer each day and read His word to give you direction in your new life.

LISTEN to the voice of conscience as it, awakened by the Holy Spirit in your heart, speaks, to you saying: "This is the way, walk ye in it."

FATAL TO REFUSE

Our sympathies go out to men and women who live in a state of continual remorse and regret but who seem unable to believe that God still loves them.

He is willing to forgive and forget their mistakes if they will come to Him in true repentance, and accept His forgiveness and dedicate what is left of their lives to His service and try to do His will and walk His way.

But there is nothing we can do for them if they will not ARISE and apply His divine remedy to their troubled hearts and minds.

It is bad enough to run counter to His laws but it is fatal to refuse His love and forgiveness and to waste today as well as the yesterdays in sin and remorse.

matter of FACT

Can men outrun horses? The surprising fact is that men in top condition can. They're not as speedy but have stamina. In 1924 George Hall, a marathon runner, pitted his endurance against that of a race horse in a six-day test. On the fifth day the horse had to be withdrawn from the race. Hall was already 15 miles ahead.

Report From Ottawa

by Clyde Blackburn

OTTAWA — A complication of our happy system of democracy is that every so often the ruling party has to submit itself to the people in a general election.

Next month four of our provincial governments will go before the people. It will be the widest ranging test of political opinion since the 1958 federal general election.

If anything were needed to further mess up proceedings in the House of Commons this will serve the purpose.

Much of what has been said in recent talking in the House has been obviously said with some hope of influencing the voters in the upcoming provincial contests.

This sort of thing will probably increase in volume until voting days are past. And it is not surprising Politicians will attack the highest importance to the results.

Particularly in Quebec and Saskatchewan.

In Quebec, where the late Maurice Duplessis and his Union Nationale party (built to his specifications on the old Conservative party) began an era of power that lasted from 1936 to 1940 and from 1940 to the present, the Liberals will be making their most hopeful bid in years.

Within a matter of recent months Mr. Duplessis died suddenly, was succeeded by Hon. Arthur Sauve who also died suddenly last Jan. 2 and was succeeded by Hon. Antonio Barrette.

Both Mr. Sauve and Mr. Barrette were ministers and both were loyal to Mr. Duplessis although Mr. Barrette held some views which left him something less than an ardent Duplessis man.

But both Mr. Sauve and Mr. Barrette set about to restore good relations with the federal government. Mr. Duplessis had no use for the Liberal government in Ottawa, which was normal, but had given little sign of liking the Conservatives either.

How the Quebec people will like this new idea of the government playing footsie with the federal government makes the outcome in that province of particular interest.

It will be the first real chance for Jean Lesage, a former federal cabinet minister who leads Quebec Liberals, to prove what he can do.

His former associates now in opposition in the House of Commons seem ready to go all out to help him—even to taking attitudes somewhat surprising on issues they once favored and which the Duplessis party scorned, but which are finding favor with the present government.

In Saskatchewan the first CCF government took office in 1944 and has held it ever since under Tommy Douglas, whose hold on the province has hardly been threatened since.

But time and change and the fact the CCF is apparently to be swallowed up in a merger with the Canadian Labor Congress to emerge as a new predominantly labor party, may have an effect.

The Liberals will be making a strong try under former CCF stalwart Ross Thatcher, who first left the CCF to become an independent and later joined the Liberals in time to go down in the 1957 and 1958 Liberal catastrophes.

The other elections are in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick where Premiers Stanfield and Flemming respectively seem generally expected to hold their province for the Conservatives.

Really none of our business here but the provincial election shadows will hang over the House till near the end of June.

JACOBY On Bridge

TRUMP SHORTAGE NO DISASTER

All bridge books stress the great value of finding a four-four fit in trumps. In order to find this fit someone has to start bidding four card suits and his partner has got to have four to support one of them.

On a New York duplicate all South players bid at least one four card suit and wound up at various two-level contracts. No matter what the suit, they still found only three trumps in dummy to support them.

Nancy Allen landed at two hearts and managed to make nine tricks for a top score. Her play is a fine example of how to handle this type of trump holding.

West opened the king of diamonds and continued the suit. Nancy ruffed the second diamond and now found herself with only three trumps in each hand. Obviously, she could not pull trumps so she went after as many tricks as she could get by ruffing. A spade to the queen allowed her to ruff a third diamond; and a club to the king let her ruff the last one. Now she was down to one trump in her own hand, but it did not matter too much. She was able to cash the ace of clubs and ace and king of spades for eight tricks.

Then she led her fourth spade and discarded dummy's last club. Now the opponents had no way to shut out dummy's ten of trumps.

CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been West North East South. 1 Heart 1 Spade Pass ? You, South, hold: Spades 3-2, Hearts K-7, Diamonds J-8-4, Clubs A-K-Q-J-10-9. What do you do?

A—Bid three no-trump. With a heart lead you can account for seven tricks. If you want to be conservative just bid two, but don't bother with the club suit in any event.

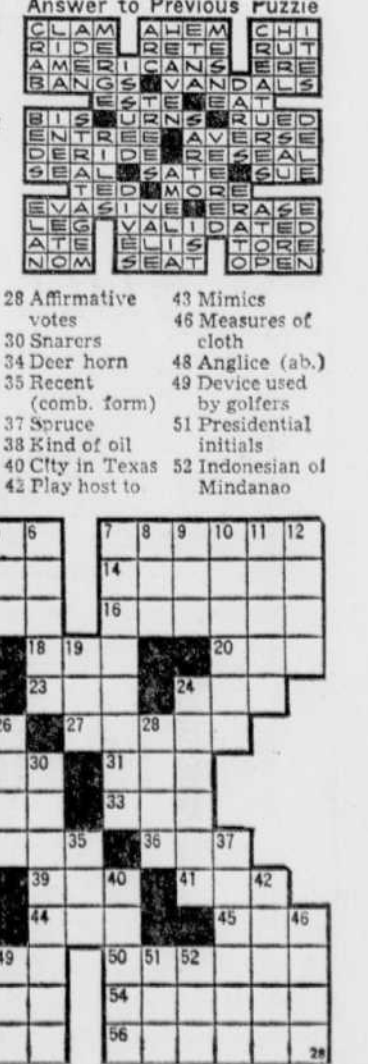

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding has been: North East South West. 1 Heart 1 Spade ? You, South, hold: Spades Q-10-8-7-6-5, Hearts 4-3, Diamonds 3-2, Clubs 8-6-5. What do you do?

ities as all too often they ended in general disorder and the type of addresses left much to be desired.

ENGLISH MEETINGS—Meetings for the English-speaking electorate, abandoned in the past few years for lack of patronage, are being revived during this campaign.

Liberal Leader Jean Lesage will address an all-English rally at Knowlton on Monday night and another such rally, with Hon. George C. Marler as the headliner, is scheduled for the Ayer's Cliff fair grounds on Thursday night, June 9.

Finance Minister Bourque has also indicated he plans such a meeting in Sherbrooke.

English-speaking citizens have shown little interest in political meetings in recent years and most candidates have felt the attendance was not sufficient to compensate for the trouble involved.

One classic was a North Ward meeting about eight years ago which drew a total of 13 persons—the candidate, eight members of the platform party, two newspapermen and two members of the public, one of whom was a visitor in town.

But in the voting a few days later, the candidate sponsoring the rally received overwhelming majorities in the adjacent polls.

REVISION ENDS MONDAY—Residents in urban polling divisions are reminded that any application for addition of their names to the electoral lists must be filed with the Revision Boards by Monday night.

In the rural sections, the revision of the lists gets underway next Tuesday and continues through Saturday, June 4.

Once the revision is completed, no further change may be made in the lists.

So, check the list posted somewhere in your polling division and if your name is left off, apply to the revising officers without delay. Otherwise you will lose your right to vote.

THE WEEK IN QUEBEC
Premier Antonio Barrette moved his campaign into the thinly-settled areas of Quebec during the week as the provincial election June 22 moved closer. Liberal leader Jean Lesage, meanwhile, took his campaign into Montreal and district.

Speaking in the Magdalen Islands and the Gaspé Peninsula, the Union Nationale party leader said Quebec was Mr. Lesage's second choice and he would never have become Quebec Liberal leader if he could have kept his cabinet post in Ottawa.

In l'Aboard a Plouffe near Montreal Mr. Lesage said the Union Nationale was strangling school boards financially by grabbing all sources of revenue and promised his party would assume responsibility for school debts.

Despite a $20,000 reward and an intensive manhunt, the killers of Montreal bank manager Royce Smith were still at large a week after Smith was shot down in front of his Bank of Montreal branch while tangling with three bandits.

The Doctor Says

By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN

M. D.

"Please help me," writes a mother. "My daughter is 35 and she has a rather large nose. She has used a lot of make-up on it and now she is starting to get red veins. She uses so much make-up she is closing the pores and making it worse."

"She has stopped work and won't go out of the house. I am afraid she will commit suicide. She was to have been married three years ago but she broke off her engagement."

"Please, doctor, could she go to a plastic surgeon and have skin grafted over her nose? Please help."

This is indeed tragic. Under these circumstances it is difficult to know whether the young lady's basic problem is physical or mental.

If the mother's version is correct then it is possible that something could be done for the daughter's condition through plastic surgery.

(The corresponding secretary of the American Board of Plastic Surgery is Estelle E. Hilberich, 4647 Pershing Ave., St. Louis 8, Mo. She could give the names of members near to the writer of this letter.)

If, on the other hand, the young lady's problem is basically mental, then surgery without mental treatment could be harmful.

If the nose condition were corrected without a corresponding improvement of the life attitude, her depression might become still more profound, with disastrous consequences.

A Canadian reader, whose leg was amputated just above the knee when it became gangrenous after having been frost-bitten, inquires about Russian reports of operations in which parts of the body were successfully grafted from one to another animal.

He states that he gets around well with his artificial limb and without the aid of crutches or canes but is hopeful that the way has been cleared for successful grafting of "human limbs from one person to another."

I am sorry to have to shatter our correspondent's hopes. But modern surgery is a long way from any such achievement.

It is possible to graft human skin and to transfuse human blood under very special conditions.

And, on a very few occasions, a kidney has been removed from one identical twin and transplanted in the other. Indeed the French have recently reported a single transplant from one non-identical twin to the other.

With these very few exceptions, however, it has not been possible to graft human organs or limbs and to have these grafts survive and function in the human donor.

It's one thing to graft an organ and quite another to have the graft survive and function.

I'd suggest that our friend "count his blessings" and forget the Russian claims.

Dear Reader: Dr. Hyman appreciates your comments and questions but regrets that the heavy volume of his mail doesn't permit him to answer each individual letter or post card. However, he will comment in columns like the above upon matters of general or unusual interest.

Two Brides-Elect Feted At Shower In Waterloo

WATERLOO — Members of the High School teaching staff gave a shower for two of the staff who are being married in the early summer. The joint party was held at the home of Mrs. Wm. Hackwell, when Miss Elly Mogensson and Miss Florence Bowker, both of Scotstown, were guests of honor.

On their arrival, they were presented with corsages of carnations. Two brides' chairs were arranged under a huge antique buggy umbrella, decorated in green and yellow. As the girls took their places, confetti showered down on them. Large baskets of gifts were brought in and placed in front of the chairs. After the gifts were opened and admired, a Shower Book was presented to each bride and autographed by all, as a souvenir of the occasion.

Miss Mogensson, whose marriage to Gregor Lambourne, of Waterloo, takes place in July and Miss Bowker, whose marriage to James McVety, of Eaton Corner, also takes place in July both made short thank-you speeches.

Buffet style refreshments were served in the dining-room. The table was covered with a lace cloth, and centered with a bowl of daffodils and narcissi. White tapers were lit on each side and white streamers ran to the corners of the table. Shower cakes graced the two ends of the table. These special cakes were made by Mrs. Roger McKergow and decorated by Mrs. John Chapman, with the names Elly and Florence inscribed on the tops.

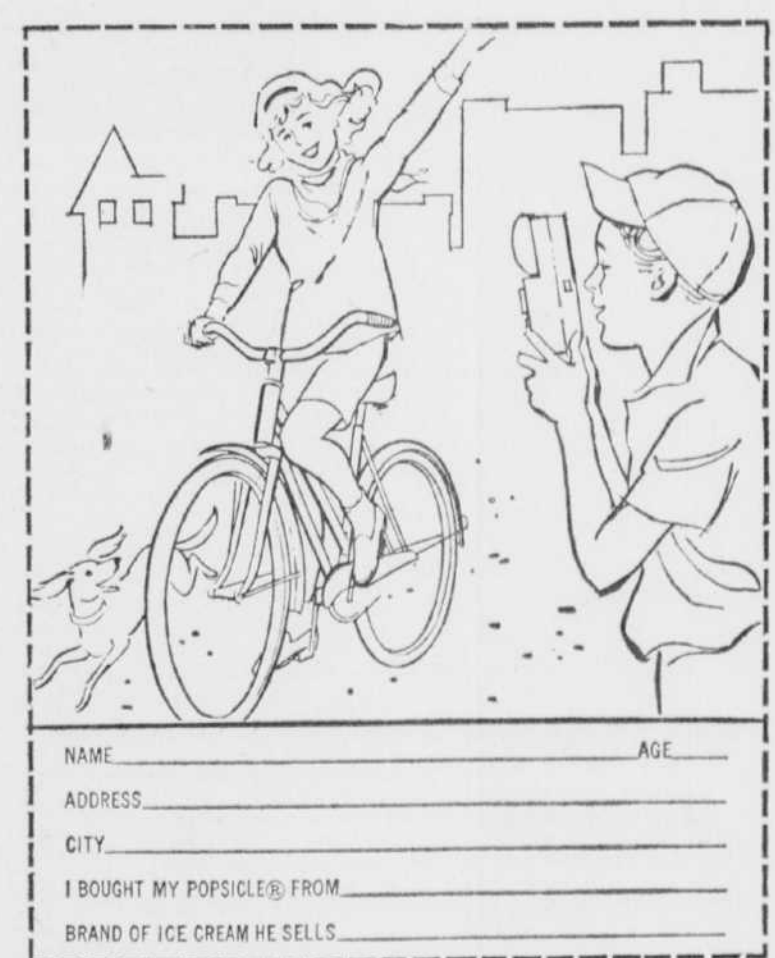

Those assisting Mrs. Hackwell to serve were Mrs. Burt Hanson, Mrs. Roger McKergow and Mrs. John Porter.

Group Honors Valued Member

Mrs. F. Shelley Given CWL Life Membership

A Life Membership in the Catholic Women's League of Canada was presented Thursday afternoon to Mrs. Fred E. S.
Shelley, a long-time and devoted member of Our Lady of Good Counsel Council of the C.W.L.
The happy event was a highlight of the annual Membership
Tea of the Council, held in St.
Patrick's Church Hall, and presided over by Council President,
Miss Arlene Hand.

The citation was given by Miss Gladys Mullins, general convener of the event, who outlined the qualifications which had won this honor for Mrs. Shelley. Speaking with sincerity, sparked by touches of humor, Miss Mullins mentioned the consistent hard work of the recipient whether in or out of office over the many years she has been associated with the group. Active in recruiting new members, in fund-raising functions, in parish council work and above all in hospital visiting, Mrs. Shelley was described as one who always put the success of the organization first.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Rosario Molsan, D.P., stated that the testimonial was well deserved.
"I don't know of any finer parishioner," he said. "I'm proud of you."

Miss Hand presented the Life
Membership pin to Mrs. Shelley who responded briefly and sincerely.

Musical selections presented during the afternoon were much enjoyed by the members. Mrs. J.
F. White sang the League song,
"Carry On," composed by the late Mrs. L. E. Codere and took the solo portions with the St. Patrick's Ladies' Choir in the singing of "Our Lady of Good Counsel."

Mrs. L. P. Leveque and Mrs.
Octavien Leveque played a duet and the latter also acted as accompanied for the songs.

Numerous bouquets of spring flowers decorated the hall and tea tables and a delightful arrangement of yellow gladioli centred the head table where guests included: Msgr. Molisan,
Rev. Father Julien Clark, Miss
Hand, Mr. and Mrs. Shelley, Mrs.
Ross Alexander, of Melbourne, national secretary of the C.W.L.,
Miss Gladys Mullins, Miss Geraldine Hebert, president of the St.
Patrick Mission Circle, Mrs. B.
W. Murray, president of the Legion of Mary and Mr. Murray.

Tongue-in-cheek, ultra-British

MEMOIRS OF A PROFESSIONAL CAD — autobiography of George Sanders — Longmans, Green & Co., Publishers — $4.00 — 192 pp. — In this autobiography of a well-known actor there is one rather unsettling contradiction. The very fact that George Sanders decided to write his autobiography — that he considered such a book justified — is proof that he takes himself fairly seriously.

But the book is written light-heartedly and often facetiously; and when the tone of a book is at odds with its subject, most readers will rebel.

The book starts with the day the author was born of Russian parents in St. Petersburg; it recounts his early boyhood in Russia, his school-days in England, his adventures and travels in South America as a vagabond job-seeker, and his return to England where his career as an actor was launched more by chance than by choice.

From then on acting became neither a profession nor a vocation, but a business, and as such it has been a dependable source of income to him for thirty years.

Straight autobiography gives way to personal observations, views, opinions and philosophies which are offered in humorous vein for the reader's earnest attention.

There are also some wonderfully funny anecdotes and reminiscences, most notably the account of a Britisher's first visit to Japan, which is so successful that it will make even a stony-hearted stay-at-home chuckle delightedly. This sort of humor is like that of P. G. Wodehouse at his ultra-British, tongue-in-cheek best.

The book is undeniably diverting, and especially in the first section its easy conversational tone makes one feel more like an eavesdropper

As the book progresses, Mr. Sanders' sense of perspective diminishes and he allows himself to deal with pressing temporal events as though they were of earth-shaking consequence. As a result, toward the end of the book, the quality of writing deteriorates and its import lessens. But in spite of this, there is much to enjoy in the book — much to be agreed with, much to be objected to.

If you are looking for some stimulating non-fiction for your summer reading, this book of memoirs will suit you very well.

Ancient rivalries

OLYMPIC HERO by Henry Roxborough, 236 pages . . . $3.75 — This is the story of an Athenian youth who lived in the age of Pericles, and of the rivalries between the city-states of Athens and Sparta.

The plot is centred around the eighty-seventh Olympiad, and the main theme of the novel is youth with all its hopes, frustrations, yearnings, successes and failures.

Perhaps with satire on the United States Russia struggle for world leadership, the author exemplifies the rivalries, loyalties, and struggles of the two states.

The hero, Myron, is from Athens. His rival is Aristio, an athlete from Sparta.

The young Athenian, contrary to his father's and grandfather's wishes (both of whom were great Olympic champions, chooses to remain a pupil of the great sculptor Phidias rather than become an athlete.

The events in the story, as in life, drive him from his chosen work to compete in the Games.

The author skilfully places Myron in such a position that he must win a certain event or lose to Sparta and his rival, not only the honour of having his city-state win the Olympics, but also his wife-to-be. Everything goes well up to this point, and just when he is on the threshold of success, serious complications set in, which hold the reader in suspense until the final outcome at the end of the story. —RONALD McCANN.

Paper asks who cares about us

NEW YORK (CP)—The New York Herald Tribune posed the question "Who cares about Canada?" in the headline of an editorial Friday, and announced it intends to explore Canadian-American relationships in a six-part forum on its editorial page.

The newspaper said Prime Minister Diefenbaker would be one of the contributors to the forum. The discussion was being started today, it said, in the light of Diefenbaker's scheduled visit to Washington June 3 to meet with President Eisenhower.

The editorial declared the U.S. and Canada have "an abysmal" ignorance about each other despite their geographical proximity, their intertwined economies and their cultural relationship.

To learn why the two are "worlds apart in their appreciation of each other's problems," said The Herald Tribune, it had invited "six statesmen and reporters wise in the troubled and baffling ways of Canadian-American relations" to take part in the forum.

"Canada is not, as so many inhabitants of this hemisphere south of the 49th parallel believe, a forest primeval overrun with Eskimos and Mounted Police," the editorial added.

NOT A SUBURB

"It is not a satellite suburb to be taken for granted."

The editorial continued in a laudatory vein and described Canadians as a "people of courage and character who have done more than most of us recognize to defend and strengthen the free world . . ."

To begin its discussion the newspaper picked Representative Frank M. Coffin, Republican of Maine, who has been a steadfast friend of Canada. Coffin and former representative Brooks Hays of Arkansas made what Coffin described as a "study mission" in Canada in 1958.

The Herald Tribune said Hays, Opposition Leader Pearson of Canada and several newspaper men would also contribute to the discussion.

Coffin says there was an erosion in Canadian-American relations after the Second World War. As the reasons, he lists various economic difficulties, conflicts over defence, and Canadian fears of "absorption."

His study mission showed that a lack of communication between the two countries was probably more to blame than a "failure of policy."

Milton Berle, whom we met in New York last week, has a brand new career planned in TV. Starting this fall, Uncle Miltie will be the master of ceremonies, of all things, of a bowling show, sponsored by a well-known cigar company. He won't do any bowling, but a lot of smoking and story-telling.

Berle hasn't changed. He's still the fastest man in the world with a quip. Here's one of the dozen he threw out at us. Two youngsters were visiting the New York Metropolitan Museum and wandered into the Egyptian section.

They were fascinated by a huge mummy that stood in one corner, completely covered in linen wrappings and bearing a sign that read 3500 B.C.

"I wonder what that means?" said the first little boy. The other one shrugged. "Oh, that's probably the license number of the car that hit him."

Socrates Schwartz, our friendly neighborhood philosopher, says . . . "Marriage is a wonderful thing. Without it, husbands and wives would have to fight with strangers!"

Overheard at the Royal Alexandra Theatre the other week during a performance of Flamenco dancing by the great Jose Greco.

As he danced furiously, stamping all over the stage a little old lady turned to her companion and said . . . "That reminds me, I must call the exterminators tomorrow!"

Definition of a juvenile delinquent . . . A kid who does the same things you used to do, only he gets his name in the papers.

Helen Corley, our Scarborough correspondent, sends us this item for a Collection of Crazy Signs. She found this in a town near Lindsay, Ont., in beautiful Old English lettering: YE OLDE ENGLISH TEA SHOPPE HAMBURGERS AND HOT DOGS

The poor politician always comes off second best in political jokes. It was therefore delightful to come across a story in which he wins.

This is about the candidate for MP who was approached by an irate citizen, who snarled . . . "I wouldn't vote for you if you were St. Peter himself!"

"Really," said the politician. "If I were St. Peter, you wouldn't be in my riding!"

PROFESSOR WAYNEGARTNER, the eminent mad scientist, who can usually be found down at the poolroom racking his brains, has just worked out an agricultural feat. He's combined a cotton plantation with a rubber plantation and is raising girdles.

We just saw a brand new western on TV. The Indians got mad at Gene Autry and cut the cord on his electric guitar.

A friend of ours, just back from Moscow, told us he tried to drive a Russian-made car. He says it's very sound mechanically except for the steering. It keeps veering to the left.

A famous sister boosts a career but also causes a few headaches

By GERRY LA FONTAINE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP)—Georges La Fleche admits that having a talented elder sister gave his singing career a boost, but the ultimate result is that people expect him to be as good as she.

"As Gisele MacKenzie's brother I was able to get a lot of introductions that otherwise might have been very difficult," Georges said in an interview.

"But directors and producers also expect me to have Gisele's talent."

"She is a wonderful performer, in my humble opinion, but she also has been in show business for 15 years. Really I'm just starting."

At 24 Georges has behind him a string of successes—and one notable flop—in radio, drama, night club work and television.

FIRST TV SHOW

Three years ago, Georges said, he was invited to be a guest singer on Billy O'Connor's CBC television network show. The invitation came partly, at least, because he is Gisele's brother.

"I'm not too happy about that performance," he said. "I think I was too inexperienced. It was the first time I had ever seen a television camera."

"Frankly, I flopped."

"One good thing came from that show, though. When I came back to Winnipeg I was able to get an audition here on the strength of the guest shot in Toronto."

Georges is the first son and fourth of five children of a physician in adjacent St. Boniface. Largely at the insistence of their mother, all the children received musical training on the piano and one other instrument.

TALENTED NEPHEWS

The three young sons of his eldest sister, Huguette, have appeared as guests on Georges' half-hour CBC television network show, Stage Door.

Janine, Gisele's younger sister, sang and accompanied herself on the piano during the dinner hour at a Winnipeg night club where Georges performed for several weeks this spring.

The youngest of the family, 17-year-old Jacques, is an arts student at University of Manitoba, but Georges said he has exceptional talent as a singer and a flutist.

Georges attended St. Boniface College and enrolled at University of Manitoba in an arts course but quit to become a staff announcer at St. Boniface French-language radio station CKSB.

WORKED IN QUEBEC

After three years he moved to Montreal where he worked for six months at another French-language station, CKVL. From there he moved on to Quebec City where he worked at the French and English-language television stations—CFM-TV and CKMI-TV.

In 1957 he returned to Winnipeg.

His talent as a relaxed master of ceremonies and as a singer became apparent to a wider audience last fall when the CBC scheduled five Stage Door programs on its national network. Eleven more were seen this spring.

Georges returned to Toronto for guest appearances on two network shows early in May. Toronto has an appeal, he said, but he hopes to stay in Winnipeg at least a few more years.

He also has a regular radio show in which he acts as master of ceremonies and sings.

NO VOICE TRAINING

Completely bilingual, Georges has a wide repertoire of songs in both English and French.

He has had no formal voice training but said he has been helped by instruction he received for piano and cello.

A year and a half ago he married an attractive widow. She has a five-year-old daughter, Leslie, and is expecting another baby in September.

We read—and approve of the fact—that Guy Sylvester, acting librarian of Parliament, has suggested Canada's centennial might be marked by a "centenary collection" of works of the country's outstanding authors.

Well-known Montreal novelist, Constance Beresford-Howe is leaving in May to spend the next three months in London working on a new book.

Three versions of a 17th century mystery

THE CAMPDEN WONDER — edited by Sir George Clark 168 pages . . . OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS

. . . $3.75. There are some books to which, if the book is to achieve its greatest impact, a reviewer should come with a burning desire to learn more about its subject.

Such is the case with THE CAMPDEN WONDER — and I regret that due to my lack of prior knowledge of the case, I did not come to this book in any such state of mind.

But, if due to my former ignorance, I did not come to this book with the required curiosity, there is little doubt that once having read it, I will come to the next book — if there is another such book on the same subject — with all, and more, of the above mentioned curiosity.

This book contains at least three versions of the seventeenth-century mystery traditionally known as the Campden Wonder. What brings this book up to date and makes its theme worth this latest and most comprehensive version of the subject is the inclusion of new evidence on the case — plus a discussion of its psychological aspects as done by Dr. D. Russell Davis and finally the notes, from his personal study of the case, as left by the late Viscount Maugham.

The story itself is simple. A man is believed killed. His servant is accused of the crime. The servant confesses and then in turn implicates his mother and brother. They are all hanged for the crime.

Two years after their execution the victim returns, alive and well, with a wild tale of being kidnapped and sold in slavery in Turkey. The questions that arise are these. Why did the servant John Perry confess to a crime that was never committed? Why did he accuse his mother and brother? Where was the supposed victim all the time that they were being tried and executed?

The editor, Sir George Clark, ends on a hopeful note. He says that "England's wealth of private historical records is like its mineral wealth before the industrial revolution, incompletely explored, apparently inexhaustible, rich beyond calculation."

Therefore the reader can assume that the answers to all his questions about John Perry and his master Edward Harrison will in due course be discovered.

THE CAMPDEN WONDER is recommended — if you are the kind of mystery story reader who is content to wait and wonder about the outcome of the case.

Vibrant Health

Good health cannot be purchased, it must be earned, says physical culture and nutrition expert Jack LaLanne in his new book, "The Jack LaLanne Way to Vibrant Good Health," which Prentice-Hall published May 23.

LaLanne believes the first steps to vibrant, healthy living are easy if the average person will throw over his "don't care" attitude. Based on 23 years' experience, his program spells out simple exercises and proper diets upon which physical well-being depends.

In a section exclusively for women, emphasis is placed on figure control and exercises ranging from post-natal conditioning to the quick pep-up recommended for after shopping or the office.

Jack LaLanne's television program on physical culture has gained popularity in San Francisco, New York, Los Angeles, Chicago, Houston and other major cities in the United States.

PRESENTATION of the Calvert Trophy and $1,000 for the best full-length play in the Dominion Drama Festival was made last week by Governor General George P. Vanier to Peter Dearing of the London (Ontario) Little Theatre, who directed the prize-winning play "Six Characters in Search of an Author." More than 10,000 people swarmed to Vancouver's Queen Elizabeth Theatre to applaud the week-long festival. The London group won out over entries from Vancouver, Halifax, Montreal, Toronto, Chicoutimi, Sudbury and Medicine Hat.

Gottings

It is nice to know that so many readers seem to be finding SATURDAY'S BOOK SHELF not only interesting but inspiring. I was quite surprised at the number of people who write asking for further information on the Alberta Poetry Contest—and to all those who wrote—further details on the contest will, as promised, be in the mail as soon as I can manage it. And good luck with your entries!

Apropos the poetry contest, I was interested to learn that Neil Tracy, blind poet of Sherbrooke, was a winner in this same Alberta poetry contest some twenty years ago.

Miss D. E. Wallace, Compton, wrote to me as follows last week — "The advance notice of literary contests in various forms is a spur to would-be writers—a means of learning what openings exist for their work and an inspiration to produce work to compete." Thank you, Miss Wallace for expressing so well what is in fact one of the chief aims of this column.

Thanks to Mr. Ed. Struthers of Stanstead for some encouraging comments. Mr. Struthers, as most readers know, is an avid collector of Canadiana, particularly as it pertains to the Eastern Townships.

My most unusual letter came from Mrs. H. Burrill, Melbourne, Que., because its subject matter was a pencil—without which "tool-of-his-trade" no writer could manage. Incidentally I call this letter unusual because it came—typed on the wrapping paper in which the pencil was won.

My correspondence has been so heavy this week I can't seem to get away from it. Among my letters was one from the Curtis Distribution Co., with advance notice about an article by Robertson Davies—well-known Canadian newspaper editor (PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER), novelist, playwright, drama and literary critic—which will appear in the SATURDAY EVENING POST as 53rd in the Post's series on "Adventures Of The Mind." Mr. Davies' article is called BATTLE CRY FOR BOOK LOVERS and, having read it, I can honestly say that it is well worth reading. He has some interesting things to say about the "clerisy"—are you one of this group or do you know who they are—and repeats what so many thoughtful people know "that we live in a world where 'bulk' is equated with quality—and though we realize that the best-seller is not necessarily the best book, we can be awed by impressive sales."

James L. Minifie's PEACEMAKER OR POWDER-MONKEY has gone into its second printing, according to his publishers McCLELLAND & STEWART. It has also been selected as June Book of the Month by the Readers Club of Canada.

A second novel by Montreal neurosurgeon Wilder Penfield has been announced for early fall by LITTLE, BROWN (Canada). Called THE TORCH it is a story based on the life of the Greek physician Hippocrates. Penfield's first novel NO OTHER GODS was published in 1954.

Ken Liddell's new book ALBERTA REVISITED has just been published by RYERSON PRESS. In it Mr. Liddell, well-known Western writer, treats his readers to a score of amusing anecdotes and historical items about the stetson-conscious province.

In March, 1961, the New Testament, the first part to be completed of what OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS heralds as the NEW ENGLISH BIBLE, is to be published.

DANVILLE —

The Evening Association of Trinity United Church met in the Church Hall with Mrs. Peter Young, president, in the chair. The minutes, correspondence and financial report were given by Mrs. R. McMorine, and the devotional was taken by Mrs. Young. After some discussion it was decided not to hold an auction this year. Mrs. W. Boomhour gave a talk on the amalgamation of various women's groups in the church. A question and answer period followed. Several ladies from other church groups joined the E. A. for this part of the meeting. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. George Horan, Mrs. Roy LeDrew, and Mrs. Malcolm MacDonald.

Mr. Murray Evans, of Kitimat, B.C., was the week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Rusty Carr.

18TH Y'S MEN'S TRACK AND FIELD MEET GREAT SUCCESS

The 18th annual Y's Men's Track and Field Meet was certainly an outstanding success judging from all reports and the club definitely deserves plenty of credit for the manner in which they operated the event. A record number of schools and entries were registered which goes to prove just how popular this has become.

Seven new records were established and the competition was keen all through the day. A good crowd was on hand and for once the number of parents was a big improvement over past years. You could follow the kids around and from the way they spoke you could tell how glad they were that their parents were there.

Jim McKinnon and the Sherbrooke High squad deserve a lot of credit for their showing. They finished second with BCS taking the event. This was expected but the showing of the other schools was a big improvement of past years. St. Francis High of Richmond was third with 45½. Knowlton High with 40½, Asbestos-Danville-Shipton collected 36 while Lennoxville High had 33 and Stanstead College with 29½ for the surprise of the day.

Stanstead has always been a powerhouse in past meets but this year they didn't come up to pre-meet expectations although Mr. Fisher did state he didn't expect his squad to do too much as graduation had hit them hard. Maybe next year will be better.

We think the most popular win of the day was Colin Tibbitts, a youngster who competed in the Pee Wee section. He won the high aggregate of the day and the Sports Commission Trophy. When President Hally Evans made the presentation he had trouble finding the boy, who just barely stood above the table with the trophies. He got a big hand from all for his great efforts.

Anyway no matter how you look at it the meet was certainly a great success and Walter Mutchler, Judge-in-Chief, and his staff did a great job in keeping the event moving. There are a few changes which will be made next year regarding the listing of the races but all in all everyone seemed to agree it was a good meet. Congratulations gentlemen.

The Massawippi Valley Intermediate Baseball League opens tomorrow at Ayer's Cliff when Magog will be visiting. President Albert Noel will be on hand for the special ceremonies prior to the game which is slated to start at 2:00.

The league has been fortunate in getting several new trophies from Ernie Pouliot, O'Keefe's representative in Magog. In fact we understand that Ernie presented new uniforms to the Ayer's Cliff team for winning the league championship last season. Nice gesture on Ernie's part and we are sure that the boys from the Cliff appreciate it.

See where the CAHA is going to insist that all junior "A" clubs must play in an organized league if they wish to compete in Memorial Cup playdowns. The only exceptions will be Alberta, British Columbia and the Maritimes owing to the lack of good junior "A" players in these Provinces.

A good rule which was passed was to do away with tie-games in the playoffs. All games must be played to a finish. This should have been out years ago and do away with all this foolishness in prolonging the games right into the middle of the summer months.

The discussion on international competition no doubt was a lengthy one. The team now picked can add as many players as it wishes from one team. The old rule stated only one. In this manner they can take a complete line.

The Ottawa and District Branch wants to do away with sending teams to international competition. This may be alright if we can't send our best players but on the other hand let's not forget we are supposed to be country where the game was developed.

In our mind we have the best players in the world and if we are to compete in world tournaments then we should send our best or stay out of it. Why spend money, and lose prestige, just in order that a few can get a trip abroad. We can't see that. Let us show the world where the good hockey players are and to accomplish this everyone connected with the game, pro or amateur, must give a helping hand.

It is very well to sit back and criticize when the team loses but just how many raised a hand to help them get organized when they needed it in the worse way. A lot of sport writers did just that so gentlemen let's get behind the movement and help organize the best team in Canada to represent us in all international competition.

The Stanstead County Interscholastic Track and Field Meet will take place Monday at Ayer's Cliff. This was postponed from last week owing to inclement weather and L. H. Peake is praying for a good day in order to run off the event without getting too wet. It commences at 9:30 and runs all day.

The 101st Caledonian Highland Games will be held in Montreal on Saturday June 11 at the C. N. Recreation Grounds in Lachine. A good program is lined up which commences at 12:00 and the pipers will be out in full force for the event.

We understand that the City Parks committee is going to build a diamond within a diamond at the Park Avenue Stadium in order that the P.O.N.Y. can play their games there. To us this is the most foolish thing we have ever heard of and we say this owing to several reasons.

If we remember well Sangster Park was built several years ago with the sole purpose of giving the P.O.N.Y. a diamond of their own but all of a sudden there is a change made. The City has spent thousands of dollars building one of the best stadiums in the country and now they intend to change things around by cutting up the infield in order to suit the P.O.N.Y. circuit. This we can't see.

At present the junior league and the OTJ play there, on the regular field, and it is very well to say that the new one won't interfere in any way but we can't see how you can put bases inside and not change the grass and the field. It is bound to change something and after all the money spent by the City getting the field in top shape why waste more changing it around to suit a certain league.

We wonder what the City Parks Committee would do if the Little League and all the others decide they want to play at the Park Avenue Stadium. Will they build new diamonds to suit them also? Let's be reasonable gentlemen we have sufficient parks in the City and once a place is built then it should be used as such.

We think that the Park Avenue Stadium should be used for the older boys and the top leagues in the City with the field such as it is and not a cut-up, reduced playground. We aren't saying this because it is the P.O.N.Y. but because we figure it is not a place to play minor sport and why throw away more money on it.

The wrestling card scheduled for this evening at the local Arena has been cancelled due to an injury incurred on Johnny Vallentine. The program, which was to consist of four bouts, was to start at 8:30. Featured on the draw were Johnny Rougeau, Don Len Wein, and P. W. Chong.

Bowling Records Broken

Lionel Rheame, a member of the Dow team in the City Bowling League, established a new record in Sherbrooke Thursday afternoon when he bowled a 725 in three strings. His scores for the three separate strings were 213, 260 and 252.

However, Lionel Rheame was not content with just this record but went on Thursday evening at the Bowlorium to knock down a total of 1317 pins in six strings for a new record of 248, 220, 215, 227, 259 and 148.

This high record puts Rheame in first spot in the individual handicap tourney which is now being contested at the Bowlorium. Rheame has broken the record of a 213 average, set by Roger Delafontaine, with his average of 234. According to Gerry Mathieu of the Bowlorium, this is the highest record set by a bowler in a series of six strings.

Two Tilts On Tap In Local Junior League

Kist Visits Coaticook For Fixture Sunday Afternoon While Indians Host Brompton Royals Sunday Night

Two games are on tap this weekend in the Sherbrooke Junior Baseball League with both slated for Sunday. In the afternoon at 2:00 p.m., Coaticook and Kist square off at the Canuck home grounds while, in the evening at 7:30, Brompton visits the Indians for a tilt at the Municipal Stadium.

In the Coaticook-Kist game, action and close plays should be the highlight as both these clubs are capable of putting on some excellent exhibitions. Both are about equal in all departments and the result should be a fast and furious tilt for spectators.

Coaticook has much the same squad that it did last year with the result that the Canucks should be a definite threat for the loop championship. With such players as Simard, the two Michaud brothers, Provencher and Coupal, the Canadians have a strong and well-organized squad that will put up a good fight against Kist.

Kist remains much the same as last season with a few player changes which will add to the overall sharpness of the club. With Jean-Guy Poulin and Claude Ruel at the helm again this season for Kist, ball fans are assured of a good steady team.

Kist retains many of its old stars from last year such as Perreault, Tanguay, Pelardy, and Fortier all of whom are steady and dependable ball players.

The Indian-Brompton fixture should be another thriller lined up for Sunday and one in which the outcome is a definite mystery. As Brompton is the new squad in the circuit this year, fans in the Sherbrooke region have only to wait until Sunday evening for a look at the Royals.

The Indians are under the guidance of Ray Dorey this year and, from their showing Thursday against Fuller, Dorey's club look to be another contender for the League pennant.

Many old faces remain with the Indian team such as Gordy and Bill Robinson, Guy Desrochers, Lemire, and Desbrien and these boys, coupled with several new additions to the lineup, present a strong, well-balanced Indian squad.

Brompton Royals have taken several members of the old Windsor squad and added them to their already strong club, forming what should be a formidable foe to the remaining four teams in the loop.

All in all this weekend should provide plenty of thrills ball-wise to spectators in the region and all are invited to attend these games.

City Mixed Bowling League Holds Annual Banquet At New Sherbrooke; Ken Patrick Is Made New President

The City Mixed 5-Pin Bowling League held its annual banquet and dance recently in the 'New Room' of the New Sherbrooke Hotel. After the banquet, a distribution of prizes and a short business meeting were held. The slate of officers for the 1960-61 season are: president Ken Patrick, vice-president Karl Burczyk, treasurer William Taylor, and scorekeeper Audrey Mulcahy.

At the head table were: President Gordon Dougall and Mrs. Dougall, vice-president, Ken Patrick, treasurer, William Taylor, scorekeepers Karl and Mrs. Burczyk, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sangster, and Mr. and Mrs. Syd Hart. Grace was said by George Jobel while Mrs. Dougall proposed a toast to the Queen.

Following are the prize winners for the season 1959-60:

The Sinclair Trophy presented by Fred Sinclair to the team winning the Play-offs, won by Hurricanes, captained by Karl Burczyk.

The Maurice Echenberg Memorial Trophy presented by Ken Patrick to the team winning the league, won by Hurricanes.

The Sherbrooke Record Trophy presented by George Jobel to the team with highest pinfall during the regular season, also won by Hurricanes.

Baltimore Downs Yankees 3-2 While Chicago Defeats Kansas City 7-4; Boston Red Sox Edge Senators 4-3

Ever catch butterflies with a glove? Clint Courtney did, and now the Baltimore Orioles are back in the American League lead.

Courtney surrounded Hoyt Wilhelm's knuckleball pitches—which flutter around like butterflies—with a new, out-sized mitt Friday and the Orioles defeated the New York Yankees 3-2.

The victory, giving the Orioles their best road-trip (10-4) ever, pushed them a half-game ahead of Cleveland. The Indians, rained out at Detroit, match Baltimore's 600 percentage, but have played five fewer games and are a half-game back.

Third place Chicago, also a half-game behind, defeated Kansas City 7-4. And Boston beat Washington 4-3 in a game interrupted by a brawl.

YANKEES NOW FIFTH

The Orioles now have won 11 of their last 15, five by one run. They plunked the Yankees to fifth place with a three-run fifth against Art Ditmar, who lost his first in three decisions. A two-out single by Gene Woodling capped the rally after rookie Marv Breeding's two-run double. Wilhelm (2-2) gave up six hits, two each by Roger Maris and Yogi Berra—and each drove in a run.

Yankee Manager Casey Stengel admitted he was giving further thought to benching Mickey Mantle (0-4-18) and Bill Skowron (2-0-25).

Russ Kemmerer, (1-2), a right-hander purchased from Washington, pitched 5-2-3 innings of fourth, shutout relief for the White Sox after starter Billy Pierce lost a 3-2 lead. Luis Aparicio led four of the Sox' nine hits and scored four runs. He broke a 4-4 tie in the seventh against loser Ray Herbert (2-3), scoring on Al Smith's infield out after hitting his second triple.

A walk and consecutive singles by Vic Wertz, Gene Stephens and Frank Malzone gave Boston two runs in the eighth that broke a 2-2 tie. It was only the second victory in 13 games for the Red Sox, but their third of the season against Camilo Pascual (5-4), who had won four in a row. Tom Brewer (3-4) won it with an eight-hitter, one a pinch home run by Lennie Green in the ninth.

The brawl came in the fifth. It started when Pete Runnels, the AL's top hitter (.360), said something to Pascual after ducking a high, inside pitch and then watching a third strike. Pascual was knocked down and suffered an ankle injury in the melee that followed, but stayed on the mound and finished with 13 strikeouts. That gave him the major league lead by an 81-79 margin over Don Drysdale of Los Angeles.

Jerry Barber Sets Hot Pace At Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — You don't have to hit the ball a mile to do well on the pro golf circuit, little Jerry Barber is demonstrating again in the $50,000 Invitational 500 Festival open golf tournament.

The 135-lb. pounder played the first round Thursday with Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pa., and Stan Leonard of Vancouver, two of the longest hitters in the game, and beat both by seven strokes.

LITTLE LEAGUE LOOP

—By TED ANDERSON—

New faces in team players and team management along with new personnel in the league executive feature the opening of Little League Baseball in Sherbrooke for the 1960 season.

Francis P. Kenalty takes over the league Presidency replacing Cecil "Moon" Mullin who had been President for the past three seasons. Moon has moved up to the P.O.N.Y. league for the coming season. Alf Savage and Bill Smith are at the helm along with President Kenalty and Art Lockley is back again as Sec-Treas.

Team management also shows a few changes from last season. Ed Burrows, assisted by his son Alan, are looking after the White Sox interest, while Rotary Indians have P. Carriere as Manager, Bob Morin back again as Coach and Bob Gingras, Red Sox, Sherbrooke Optimist Club sponsored team will again have Claude Pitre as manager and Al Stewart as Coach. The Senators have J. Loignon as manager and Bruce Smith again taking over the coaching chore. The Yanks have come up with a new manager in the person of M. Juby, while Al Hunting will again be looking after the players.

Tigers as the Lions Club entry, will show a clean slate as the team will consist of entirely new players. R. E. Bacon will lead the team and he will have as his coach H. Fiset.

Chief Umpire Bill Webb will also have new men in his line up. Bill lost a valuable umpire Milt Lardy who has been in the league for quite a few years.

How the teams will go is hard to say. White Sox have the nucleus of a strong team again this season as they have retained Gravel, Fabi, Pelletier, Gilbert Lachance, Farrell, Brooks, Allard and Mongeau. Senators are building around Cabana, Goulet, Palmer, Bergemin, Bilodeau, and Hamel. Red Sox will have Bonderland, Begbie, Thibault, Stewart, Connors, Doherty, and Cabana.

The Yanks will make their presence felt as they are retaining Saunders, McLeod, Garard, the Kingsley brothers, Plante, and Coates.

Opening games Monday night see the Tigers travelling to Lennoxville to take on the Yanks while, at the Parade Grounds, the White Sox meet the Senators.

Emery To Fight Mercer And Kerwin Faces Martinez Here June 9

Sherbrooke, fast becoming the outstanding boxing city in Canada, will take another giant step forward, Thursday, June 9. On this evening, less than two weeks away, two Canadian champions, Burke Emery of Sherbrooke and Gale Kerwin of Ottawa will take on highly regarded opponents from south of the border.

Emery recently won the Canadian light-heavyweight championship with a sensational seventh round knockout over Gordy Baldwin of Toronto. District boxing fans were amazed at the tremendous improvement that the Sherbrooke fighter showed in this outing and should be eager to see the local boxer in action again.

Emery will meet tough Hank Mercer of Georgia in one ten-round and Kerwin faces rugged Pete Juan Martinez of Mexico in another ten-round.

Emery fought Mercer eighteen months ago at the local Arena and managed to gain a close decision over him after eight gruelling rounds. Both fighters have gained considerable experience since then and this should be a hard-hitting affair from start to finish.

Kerwin has appeared several times on TV boxing shows and in his last outing drew with Jay Fulmer. He is the Canadian welterweight titleholder and will be one of the classiest boxers ever to appear in a Sherbrooke ring.

Boxing promoter Warren "Pee Wee" Berwick is lining up two six-round bouts to supplement the double ten-round feature and also intends to add a four round bout for a total of 36 rounds of boxing.
