Fifty-Third Year

World News In Brief

Lincoln, R.I., July 14.—(AP)—Two trotting horses perished and several antiques were destroyed last night in a fire that gutted a private barn near the Lincoln Downs race track. George H. Comstock, owner of the barn, estimated damage at $25,000. Firemen played streams of water on the Lincoln Downs turf club to keep it from burning.

Red Bank, N.J., July 14.—(AP)—Fire destroyed a big airplane hangar at Red Bank airport last night, exploding gasoline tanks and destroying 35 planes. Preliminary damage estimates ran to more than $100,000.

Calgary, July 14.—(C.P.)—Attendance marks continued to topple as the Calgary Stampede entered its fourth day with cool-shouldered Canadian cowboys leading the dangerous steer decorating event. For the third straight day yesterday, huge crowds jamming their way into Calgary's Victoria Park set a new attendance mark. Official attendance yesterday was announced as 72,307, an increase of 8,732 over the same date last year.

Rome, July 14.—(AP)—Construction work in central and north Italy has halted as a result of a strike by 1,000,000 building workers. They want more pay.

Halifax, July 14.—(C)—Measures to encourage export and import traffic through Canadian ocean ports were urged upon the Royal Commission on Transportation today by the Maritime Board of Trade.

The board proposed: 1. That freight rates on export and import traffic to Maritime harbors be adjusted to restore pre-war relationships between these and other Canadian ports. The board said these relationships had been destroyed by rate increases since 1935.

2. That a foreign freight traffic officer be appointed for the Maritime section of the Canadian National Railways, to obtain traffic for Maritime ports.

Cairo, Egypt, July 14.—(AP)—An Egyptian source says Czechoslovakia has proposed an exchange of $5,000,000 ($20,000,000) worth of Egyptian cotton for Czech products consisting mostly of arms. He said Egyptian authorities seemed inclined to accept the offer.

Warsaw, July 14.—(AP)—The Roman Catholic hierarchy appealed today to Poles to stop pilgrimages to Lublin Cathedral where a woman was killed and 19 other persons were hurt in a stampede to see a portrait of the "weeping Virgin."

The official Polish press agency said yesterday the whole story about the Virgin picture was disturbing public order.

Most Rev. Piotr Kalwa, Bishop of Lublin, said an inquiry by a special commission failed to disclose any basis for reports that anything of a supernatural character had occurred in the cathedral.

Canada's Cattle Sales Last Year Were At Record High

Ottawa, July 14.—(C)—Canadian farmers sold more cattle last year than in any other year in the country's history. And they sold them for the highest average prices on record.

A total of 2,056,995 head of cattle and $40,921 calves were sold, the federal agriculture department said today in its 1948 market review. Only once before—in 1945—had cattle marketings bettered 2,000,000.

Hog sales were slightly higher than in 1947 but the production of sheep and lambs continued the decline that began in 1948.

Exports of cattle and beef—nearly all of them to the United States—also reached record levels. Cattle exports of 446,458 head were valued at $73,540,000. Beef exports of 126,362,000 pounds were valued at $37,400,000.

Exports of canned meat dropped from 108,324,890 pounds, valued at $19,800,000 in 1947, to 46,389,000 pounds valued at $10,800,000.

Cattle sold for an average of $15.19 per 100 pounds, compared with $10.92 in 1947. Calves sold at an average of $17.66, more than $5 higher than 1947 prices.

The value of all cattle sold was valued at $301,800,000, compared with $165,400,000 in 1947. The value of calves was $32,100,000 compared with $17,600,000.

In 1947 there were 1,564,413 cattle and 704,398 calves sold, with a combined total of $180,000,000. Hog marketings in 1948 were 4,774,445, compared with 4,764,873

Excommunication Faces All Militant Communists Who Also Are Roman Catholics

Congressmen Criticize Truman Talk

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

Washington, July 14.—(AP)—President Truman's sharp attack on "selfish interests" and "drastic cuts" in federal spending collided today with both Democratic and Republican criticism in Congress.

So did his statement that many people in the United States would like to have a depression "for political reasons."

On the other hand, Senator Claude Pepper (Dem. Fla.) called Truman's arguments "reasonable common sense and full of practical justification."

The President spoke out last night in telling the country about his new program designed to expand production and avert a more serious business slump. He went on both radio and television.

"We shall have to be sure," the President said, "that the selfish interests do not drive us into the ditch, as they have done before."

As he did in the economic report he sent to Congress last Monday, Truman said: "We are not in a depression. Many people who talk of a depression, he said, would like to have one 'for political reasons.'"

But he added that the increase in the number of people out of work "is something to worry about, and something that must be cured."

The President again lit into the Republican-ruled 80th Congress of 1947-48 for cutting income taxes. He criticized it, too, for refusing to enact the anti-inflation program he wanted then but now has abandoned because, he said, of changed conditions.

He called those policies blunders on the part of the 80th Congress, and he said "selfish interests" were to blame. Then he added:

"Now these same selfish interests are urging us to commit a third great blunder. They are now urging drastic cuts in government expenditures—cuts which would fall hardest on those expenditures which are most important to our domestic economy."

That was an obvious reference to the move in Congress to trim federal spending. In the Senate, for example, more than 60 Senators—Democrats and Republicans—have signed a petition urging action on a resolution directing the President to cut appropriations for the current fiscal year by from five to 10 per cent.

Truman explained that he is dropping his request for a $4,000,000,000 tax increase because he does not want to "injure the economic health of the country." Indicating the alternative is red-ink spending, he added:

"You cannot achieve a surplus in the government budget when you have a declining national economy. . . If we follow the wrong budget policy at this time and slash our expenditures, we will decrease employment, cut down investment, weaken our defenses, and injure our efforts for peace."

The official Polish press agency said yesterday the whole story about the Virgin picture was disturbing public order.

Most Rev. Piotr Kalwa, Bishop of Lublin, said an inquiry by a special commission failed to disclose any basis for reports that anything of a supernatural character had occurred in the cathedral.

Momentous Order Would Deny Sacraments and Comforts of Church to All Catholic Reds.

By PHILIP CLARKE

Vatican City, July 14.—(CP)—Pope Pius has ordered major excommunication of all militant communists who also are Catholics. The sweeping decree would deny them the sacraments and comforts of the church.

The momentous order applies to all members of the Roman Catholic faith "who make profession of the materialistic and anti-Christian doctrine of the communists."

It was announced in a historic decree of the Sacred Congregation of the Holy Office and approved by the Pontiff.

The decree marks the fourth time the Pope has used excommunication to fight back at the communists in recent years.

Previous decrees had been directed at those who tried and sentenced Archbishop Alojzije Stepinac in Yugoslavia in 1946, at those responsible for the imprisonment of Hungary's Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, and at the founders and willing members of a separatist government-controlled Catholic Action society in Czechoslovakia.

Informed Vatican sources interpreted the decree's wording to be in effect a last warning to Catholics who still defend or follow communism. It applies the church's major weapon of discipline to members who might be wavering under Red pressure.

A recent unofficial estimate listed some 350,000,000 Catholics in the world.

The decree announced the church's decision that "Christian faithful who make professions of the materialistic and anti-Christian doctrine of the communists, and in the first place, those who defend it (communist doctrine) propagate it, incur, ipso facto . . . the excommunication reserved especially to the Apostolic See."

This is major excommunication. It denies the sacraments and comforts of the church to offenders and ostracizes them from the faithful.

Countries where there are many Catholics and also many communists include Poland, Czechoslovakia, and Hungary in eastern Europe, and France and Italy in the west. Catholic Italy numbers 2,000,000 communists in its population.

Vatican informants said the excommunication decree might be applied in the following manner: 1. Catholics who militantly and persistently follow communist doctrines would be automatically excommunicated.

2. Catholics who have adopted communist theories in principle rather than practice might be allowed a period of grace to return wholeheartedly to the faith.

3. Catholics who read communist writings or otherwise expose themselves to communist doctrine would be denied sacraments of the church but not be automatically excommunicated.

The seven sacraments under Catholic doctrine are baptism, confirmation, holy communion, penance, extreme unction, ordination and matrimony.

The Sacred Congregation of the Holy Office is composed of cardinals who are charged with defending the faith against false doctrines.

The excommunication was decided upon at a secret meeting of the Congregation last June 28. The Pope approved the decision and two days later ordered promulgation of the decree. There was no explanation of the two-week delay in publication.

The excommunication order appeared to have no precedent in the 1900-year history of the Catholic church. It could affect millions of persons.

Instances of church repression have been reported in Czechoslovakia, where Archbishop Joseph Beran has been in open conflict with the state, and in Poland, Hungary.

Nehru Is Unhurt By Bomb Blast

Calcutta, July 14.—(Reuters)—Prime Minister Nehru escaped unhurt today when a bomb was thrown while he was addressing a mammoth public meeting here.

When the prime minister Tuesday began his present tour of this troubled city, noisy demonstrators mingling with the enthusiastic crowds hurled stones and shoes but missed his automobile.

Two police constables were wounded when today's bomb exploded near a picket guarding the meeting. The audience seized a man and handed him over to police, Nehru continued his speech.

He said the debit balance of trade with the U.S.—$250,000,000 for the first five months of this year compared with $184,000,000 for the same period last year—was the only "disturbing" aspect of Canadian trade.

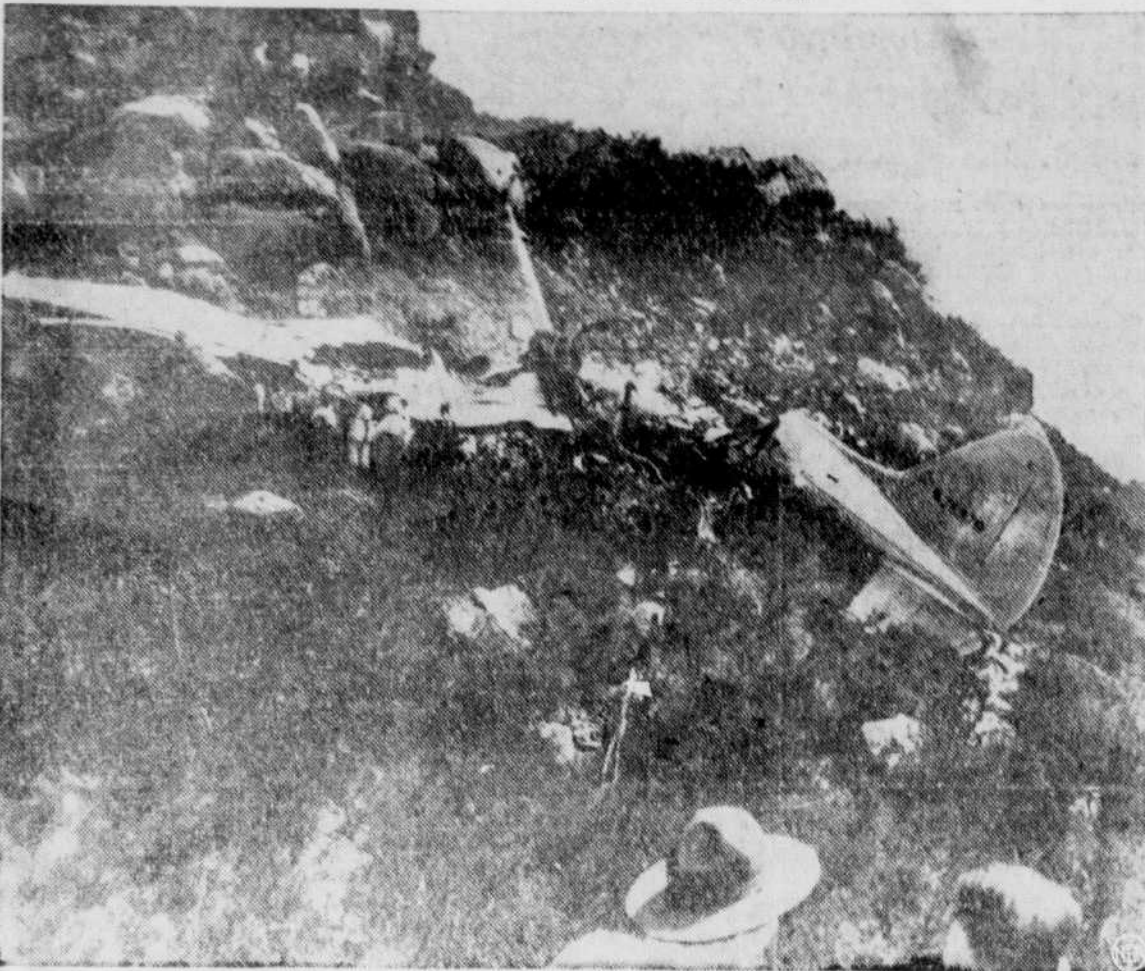

Steel imports probably would be regulated. Oil might come under import controls when Canadian supplies increased. Existing controls would be tightened.

Mr. Howe also: 1. Declined comment on the latest proposals offered by the Canadian government for ending the lengthy strike it has waged against eastern deep-sea shipping, and said Labor Minister Mitchell had not introduced the proposals at the cabinet meeting that preceded the press conference.

2. Said the Canadian Wheat Board is working on plans for taking over the marketing of oats and barley and an announcement may be made next week.

Where 35 Met Death

A non-scheduled passenger plane, carrying 42 persons, crashed in this remote spot in rugged Santa Sanna mountains, near Hobart, Calif., killing 35. The plane, bound from New York to Los Angeles, reported to be in progress aboard shortly before it crashed.

Matheson Asbestos Mine Expected To Be Major Project Employing 500 Men

Development Of Mine To Start Soon

Toronto, July 14.—(C)—The way is clear for an immediate start on development of northern Ontario asbestos deposits. It is expected that production near Matheson about 40 miles south of Timmins, will start by May 1.

Last night the Russian guards suddenly relaxed their slowdown and gave the green light to German trucks bound for Berlin, permitting the vehicles to pass this checkpoint at a normal rate for the first time since Saturday.

The barriers were reported still up, however, at nine other Soviet-zone entry points.

The Russian lieutenant at the Helmstedt checkpoint barely glanced at the travel orders for this morning's convoy, which was carrying supplies for the United States military post in Berlin.

There was a backlog of only 60 German trucks awaiting entry when the American convoy passed through. Five hundred had been stalled yesterday.

Cargoes of perishable foodstuffs from west Germany were given priority and admitted to the Soviet zone during the night.

The sudden Soviet decision to relax restrictions was not explained.

Yesterday British government leaders told the House of Commons the "little blockade" was a breach of east-west agreements at New York and Paris and might result in retaliation by the western powers.

The American convoy was the first large trucking operation by the western powers since the official blockade lifting May 12th.

United States officials said it was only a training exercise to be repeated once a week.

Today it had two obvious purposes: To test the "little blockade" and to provide some relief to the airlift.

Canadian Press Staff Writer

New York, July 14.—(C)—A senior officer of the Johns-Manville Corporation said today it is hoped a new asbestos development in northern Ontario may some day be comparable to the largest asbestos mine in the world in Quebec.

John P. Symes, a senior vice-president of the corporation and assistant to the chairman of the board, discussed the new mine near Matheson, Ont.

Johns-Manville now operates a mine at Asbestos, Que., which last year produced about one-third of the world's asbestos fibre. Canada supplies about 80 per cent of the world's asbestos.

Symes said "much more" than $1,000,000 already has been invested in the Ontario property. It is expected the mine will eventually be a multi-million-dollar project and will employ between 300 to 500 persons within two years.

It is scheduled to go into operation before next May with initial employment of 100 to 125 persons. Construction work is under way.

Announcement of the new project June 22 preceded by one week the settlement of the strike of 2,000 workers at Asbestos, Que., which halted production for 137 days. Officials indicated then that some $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 which was to be used for development of the Quebec property would be put into the new Ontario project.

Symes said the corporation discovered the asbestos deposit near Matheson last winter.

The corporation, he said, is always on the lookout for commercially useful asbestos ore but this is difficult to come by. South Africa and Russia are other large asbestos producers.

Corporation officials viewed the new development as potentially a major factor in western hemisphere defence. They said that asbestos is necessary in the manufacture of jet aircraft and other war materials.

They also expressed belief the new mine might provide a stabilizing factor in Canada's economy since the United States has bought 95 per cent of Canada's asbestos and presumably would continue to buy all surplus asbestos thus bolstering the Dominion's dollar position.

The new mine is located in the Larder Lake gold mining district about 50 miles southeast of Coburn, Ont., and about 15 miles from the Quebec border. It is nine miles east of Matheson. Surveyors are working on the gravel road between Matheson and the mine and are preparing estimates for hard surfacing.

Diamond drilling on the property began last February. The ore body has been defined as 4,200 feet long—2,000 feet longer than the ore body at the Quebec property. Officials have estimated that the Ontario property would yield about twice the value of that mined at Asbestos, Que.

The first mill at the new mine will have a capacity of 50 tons of mill rock each hour. The mill at the Quebec property before the strike had a total capacity of 500 tons each hour. Some of the machinery is being moved from Quebec to Ontario. A second mill unit is expected to be in operation in Ontario by the end of 1950.

Quebec, July 14.—(C)—Quebec Labor Minister Barrette said last night Judge Thomas Tembley of Quebec has been named chairman

Board May Study Steel Wage Dispute

By HAROLD W. WARD

Washington, July 14.—(AP)—President Truman put pressure on the United States steel industry's big three producers today to go along with his plan of averting a strike Saturday.

Asking United States Steel, Republic and Bethlehem to reconsider their rejection of his plan to submit the wage-pension dispute to a special inquiry board for a recommended solution, Truman told the three:

"Surely you are not afraid to have your side of the dispute examined in the public interest."

While some smaller steel firms and the United Steel Workers (C.I.O.) union accepted Truman's plan, the big three had contended it by-passed Taft-Hartley law procedures for strikes imperilling the country's health or safety.

Philip Murray, president of the C.I.O. and its steel union, said he will issue a strike order today to apply to all steel firms rejecting Truman's plan for a 60-day strike truce.

Truman, in asking the three to reconsider yesterday, said it was his opinion the present situation "does not constitute such an immediate peril to the national health or safety" as to invoke Taft-Hartley emergency strike clauses.

An inquiry board named under Taft-Hartley lacks power to recommend a dispute solution, as the president said his three-man board will have.

Servicemen Increased Along Docks

London, July 14.—(C)—The government, with almost unanimous approval from Parliament for its broad emergency powers, sent a doubled force of servicemen to work today on the strike-bound London docks.

A force of 4,500 soldiers and sailors was set to begin unloading food ships tied up in the spreading 18-day stoppage. Only 2,300 were used yesterday.

By last night, 13,964 of London's 25,000 registered dock workers were idle. There were 3,224 more than when the emergency was proclaimed by the King at the request of the cabinet Monday.

Work on 132 ships was held up. Eight others were being unloaded or loaded by undermanned crews. Almost 40 ships were still being worked by full dock crews.

The House of Commons last night approved the emergency powers assumed by the government, which had seized control of the dock area along the Thames river under regulations which virtually mean martial law. Commons approved the regulations by a vote of 412 to 4. One Communist and three members expelled from the Labor party cast the only dissenting vote.

The emergency proclamation, first since the general strike of 1936, is valid for a week. Parliament can extend it to a month.

Prime Minister Attlee told Commons the government would not tolerate dictation by "Communists and fellow travellers." He called for a finish fight with the strike leaders.

The executive committees of the stevedores' and tugmen's unions, whose members are idle, waited for a report today from union leaders who looked into the basic dispute yesterday.

There were indications they might ask the men to go back to work but the workers have ignored similar pleas before from both union and government officials.

The strikers have remained defiant in the face of government charges their walkout is Communist-inspired.

The British union leaders met yesterday with Dana Wilgress, Canadian high commissioner, who had a hand in negotiations to settle the jurisdictional dispute between two Canadian unions which has provoked the London trouble.

The longshoremen have refused to unload the Canadian ships tied up by the leftist Canadian Seamen's Union. The dock board then refused to allow these men to work other vessels. Other dock workers struck in sympathy.

The strikers say they are following trade union principles in refusing to work "scab" ships.

In a radio speech last night, Labor Minister George Isaacs said the ships were not scab because the Canadian Trades and Labor Council had held the C.S.U. strike political.

Rangoon, July 14.—(AP)—Dangers of the Burmese Civil war forced the British-owned Burma oil company yesterday to denounce withdrawal of British nationals from its central Burma properties. A company statement said military operations had forced the closing of the Yangon oil fields, 260 miles north of Rangoon. Withdrawal orders were issued on the advice of the Burma government.

Broadening Of World Trade Channels May Be Proposed

Annecy, France, July 14.—(Reuters)—Leading delegates at the Annecy tariff negotiations, grouping the main trading countries of the world, are canvassing the possibility of new international action to meet the threat of an increasing world economic crisis.

They are expected to propose later this month that the tariff cuts on which 32 countries have agreed be backed by an international effort to stimulate multilateral trade.

They also are expected to propose immediate international action on the problem of stabilizing some of the major world commodities.

Many of the 500 officials here believe the considerable reductions in tariffs which have been obtained will represent little advantage if world trade continues in its present limited channels.

They urge that, with great progress having been made with the cutting down of tariff barriers, international action should now concentrate on eliminating quotas, controls and other restrictions which they think are strangling world trade.

Some of these officials fear that if quick action is not taken there may be a dangerous move away from the 1947 Geneva agreement on tariffs and trade.

This treaty, the greatest multilateral trade agreement ever signed, culminated the tariff-lowering negotiations carried out in

BROADWAY BALL OF FERRER PASSED BY HOLLYWOOD IN 1939

Hollywood — Jose Ferrer's Broadway Shakespearean revivals brought him critical acclaim as America's greatest young actor, the role of the Dauphin in the movie "Joan of Arc" and a film career.

Critics and movie producers have been piling so many superlatives on him that I was curious if he had ever been called a bad actor.

Jose grinned and said: "I've had some real good bad notices."

When he was trying out "Cyrano" before his New York debut, a Broadway critic complained that his performance was so bad "I expected his nose to light up and spell out 'Actors Equity'."

While playing a series of character parts at New York's City Center he was chided by another distinguished critic for having just a good time and not taking his acting "seriously."

Then there was the high school boy who heckled him at a matinee of "Cyrano." It was a special performance for high school students at 15 cents a seat. No one in the cast was getting paid. The boy heckled him from the opening to the final curtain.

Ferrer may have lost the acting duel but he had the last word when he took a bow after the final curtain.

"I think the boy in the third row who has been heckling me should take a bow," he announced. "He gave a much better performance than I did."

Jose is in Hollywood now for his second film, the role of a hypnotist with Gene Tierney and Richard Conte in "Whirlpool."

Actually, Hollywood first discovered Jose 10 years ago but did nothing about it. RKO signed him in 1939 after a Broadway appearance and brought him to Hollywood for a series of film tests. But as 37-year-old Jose says: "I don't have the kind of a face that you sit across the table from and say, 'We gotta have this guy in pictures.'"

He took film tests and remembers: "They piled make-up on me to change my appearance. Then they started taking it off. The more they took off the better it got."

One of the tests had Jose playing the John Garfield part from "Four Daughters." But the studio didn't show any more interest and Jose went back to Broadway without making a picture.

Now that he has his choice of film scripts, he refuses to tie himself up with a long-term studio contract.

It's that face again.

He says: "I don't have the kind of a face for any kind of a picture. If I signed a term contract, I'd soon be playing roles not suited for me."

Jose was born in Puerto Rico, but moved to New York with his family when he was 21. It was a role in the annual Princeton college musical, when he was 21, that switched him from law to acting. Until then, he was interested in the theater only as a spectator.

Grave Of Former Sherbrooke Airman Found

Relatives of the late Pilot Officer Gordon Neil Bennett, of this city, who lost his life in air operations against the enemy, February 20, 1944, have received word that his aircraft crashed near Puchau, Germany, which is twelve miles east northeast of Leipzig, the target which he and his crew were to attack, and that the young airman was buried in the Puchau cemetery.

A United States Graves Service Unit visited the cemetery and found that Pilot Officer Bennett and the members of his crew had been buried there, but that the American Graves Unit, unaware of the British policy that all British aircrew buried in Germany would be moved to British Military Cemeteries located in Germany, moved the graves to France, to the custody of a British Graves Unit there, so that the young men were interred in the British Sector of the French Military Cemetery at Choloy, France. This cemetery is situated about three miles west of Toul and sixteen miles west of Nancy, France.

Prof. O. E. Baker Says Reproduction Rate Must Be Adjusted To Resources

By JOHN SCOTT
Rock Island, July 14.—"The world has a century of grace in which to adjust its reproduction rate to the limits of the soil and other natural resources. It is a God-giving opportunity which both science and religion must seize."

This charge was leveled here last night by Professor Oliver E. Baker, as he delivered the second in a series of public lectures currently being given by staff members of the McGill Geography Summer School now in session at Stanstead College.

Dr. Baker, a United States agricultural economist and professor of geography at the University of Maryland, reached the above conclusion after giving his audience a detailed statistical analysis of population growth in modern times.

"During the past two centuries the population of the world has increased probably four fold, and it continues to increase about 20,000,000 a year. During the past ten years, despite world distresses, the population of the world has increased more than the total population of North America today," Dr. Baker declared.

"Medical science and sanitation, and we should add agricultural science, have, apparently, overcome the power of war to decrease population."

"This four-fold increase in the world's population is not owing to a rising birth rate," Dr. Baker said, "but to a death rate declining more rapidly than the birth rate."

"Today in Northwest Europe, Canada and the United States, the death rate is only one-fourth to one-third as large as it was two hundred years ago. The birth rate has declined in the European sphere of civilization only about one half."

Dr. Baker attributed the fall in the death rate largely to the decline in recent years of the effect of communicable diseases, although he also noted reduction in deaths due to childbirth and accidents.

The birth rate decline, the speaker said, is predominately associated with urbanization and the growth of cities.

"If the population of the world continues to increase 20 millions a year, it would double in a century, which is not a long time in the span of human history. It has more than doubled in the past century, and it increased nearly 70 per cent in the century preceding."

Although he said the food supply of the United States and Canada could possibly be doubled in a few decades, Dr. Baker pointed out food supply would hardly be able to keep pace with the expected population increases.

"Shall we, then, advocate so-called birth control techniques? I

First Scouts Reach Ottawa For Jamboree

Ottawa, July 14.—(C)—More than 100 Boy Scouts, members of La Federation des Scouts Catholiques, arrived yesterday for the first Canadian Boy Scout jamboree next week at Connaught Rifle Ranges, 12 miles west of here.

They were accompanied by three chaplains—Rev. Telephore Lacroix, of Montreal, and Rev. Giles Berthez and Rev. Jean Guy Hamelin, both of Three Rivers, Que.

Scoutmaster Rene Lamontagne of Montreal, leader of the group, said the jamboree will give English and French-speaking Scouts a chance to get acquainted and to cement friendships.

Quebec centres represented by the contingent are Quebec, Montreal, Amos, St. Hyacinthe, Ste. Etienne, Sherbrooke, Three Rivers and Lennoxville.

Sawyerille Woman Is Hurt

Sawyerille, July 14.—Mrs. Olivia Lepitre, suffered head and other injuries last Tuesday while operating a horse drawn rake. She had taken over the duties of her husband during his lunch hour.

When men, working in the fields, noticed the hay rake operating without its driver, they rushed to the scene to find Mrs. Lepitre lying on the ground. Apparently she had fainted and had fallen beneath the wheels of the rake.

An East Angus doctor, who attended Mrs. Lepitre, says she is in no danger.

Jules Verlaekt Outlines Work Of D. V. A. To Members Of Kiwanis Club

"In order to help veterans from both world wars get re-established in civil life, the Department of Veterans Affairs has opened offices all over the country," Jules Verlaekt, of the local D.V.A. office told members of the Kiwanis Club at their regular weekly dinner meeting held in the New Sherbrooke Hotel yesterday.

Mr. Verlaekt told of the pensions and allowances granted to the veterans of both world wars.

"Gratuities have been paid out at the rate of $7.50 per month for service in Canada and $15 per month for service overseas. Re-establishment credits have also been given in a very liberal way in order to help the veterans."

"Our office is at the disposal of all veterans and everything possible is done in order to help them solve their various problems," concluded the speaker.

Introduced by Fred Simpson, the speaker was thanked by Art Wright.

The Ontario, Quebec and Maritime convention will be held at Halifax on September 18-20 and at least ten delegates from the local club will attend.

It was also reported that the club had received an invitation to attend the Scout camp at Lovering Lake tomorrow evening. Several of the Kiwanians stated that they would attend.

President Newman Hunter presided at the meeting.

Rally Held By French Protestants

Richmond, July 14.—More than 200 persons attended the third French Protestant Rally which took place at Richmond on Dominion Day, coming from Asbestos, Danville, Kingsbury, Melbourne, Montreal, Racine, Roxton Pond, South Ely, St. Marys, Drummondville and Sherbrooke.

Frank Perkins was president of the day and Mrs. Perkins was on the reception committee. The entire group of L'Eglise des Cantons de l'Est centered at Richmond acting as hosts to the visitors.

The children's races were under the direction of Mrs. Paul Brouillette. The winners of an original blueberry pie-eating contest were: adults, Theodore Roy; children, Percy Gelin with Edward Brouillette, Piton Menard and Louise Larochelle tied as close seconds. The prizes awarded compensated for the "blue" faces. The day turned out to be good for fishing—in the fish-pond barrel.

The ladies of L'Eglise des Cantons de l'Est had a sales table of sewing, knitting, toys and various articles graciously donated by local stores.

In the evening a short but inspiring worship service was conducted by Rev. J. A. Smith in the Assembly Hall of St. Francis High School. A moving-picture program followed, featuring a technical cartoon and The Life of Frans Schubert, composer.

Among English visitors were Dr. C. E. Manning, Mrs. P. C. Du Boyce, Mrs. Fred Pease and Mrs. Fred Lemoine, also Mr. and Mrs. William Boas.

LABOR'S ROLE IN BRITISH RECOVERY

Few men have had the opportunity to learn first hand the basic economic problems facing the world today as Paul Hoffman, E.C.A. Administrator, and special interest is given to his statement that Britain's salvation lies in its own hands. However, while Mr. Hoffman is aware of this and Sir Stafford Cripps is aware of this, events of the past few weeks raise grave doubts as to whether the British Labor Party and British labor leaders are aware of it.

The number of strikes in key British industries would seem to indicate that "production" and "efficiency" are still words without any very precise meaning in labor's lexicon. Although total wages in Britain rose in 1948 by a greater percentage than the national income as a whole, the trade unions, in the words of the London Economist, are proceeding on the assumption that "they have a prescriptive right, under a Labor Government, to some benefit for their members every year, come hell or high water."

A few weeks ago, reflecting the same attitude, the General Council of the Trades Union Congress was restrained only with difficulty from launching an all-out attack against the budget policies of the Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Isaac J. Pitman, independent member of the British Parliament, speaking recently in New York, described the situation as he saw it, in homely but expressive language, when he said:

"What the British economy needs is a real kick in the pants. This is prevented, however, by a labor union policy which indoctrinates the worker that the harder he works, the less work there is for his fellow union members. As a result we are getting absolutely nowhere toward increasing production."

Under conditions such as these it is obvious self-deception to talk as if Britain's dollar shortage can be remedied by tinkering with the currency, by a more intensified policy of restrictionism in foreign trade, or by increased dollar aid. Only the British can save themselves, as Mr. Hoffman says, and this means above all British labor, in its dual role as the ranking political group in the Government and as the most important economic element involved in the Government's effort to maintain the country's solvency through greater and more efficient industrial production.

ADING THE DAIRY MAN

If the Dominion Government is sincere in its expressed desire to do everything possible to place the dairy industry of Canada on a strong and stable basis, it might consider removing the eight per cent sales tax on ice cream. Few buyers are aware of this impost but it is one of those hidden levies which pick up revenues almost by stealth, but very effectively for all that.

The National Dairy Council has appealed to the Government for the removal of the sales tax from this product and their demands appear based on substantial grounds. Admittedly the tax may be barely three cents a quart, but as there is no particular need for the revenue derived the levy is just three cents too much.

There is every reason why the sales tax should be removed from ice cream. The impost has been removed from virtually all other processed foods and there can be no argument that ice cream is a food of considerable energy value. Furthermore, it is produced from one of the basic agricultural products of the Dominion.

The still-swollen federal treasury surpluses make it obvious that the Dominion does not really need the money being collected from this tax source. On the other hand the dairy industry—pinched by the inroads margarine has made into its cash income—can make good use of the stimulus a reduced ice cream price would give butter fat sales, or would benefit by any increase to the producer the removal of the tax would permit.

The current petition of the National Dairy

Council is particularly timely as the 1949-50 budget has not yet been adopted by Parliament and the changes could be put into effect without much delay.

DEATH TRAP MUST BE REMOVED

The tragic incident of this week which claimed the life of one man and brought serious injury to three others only serves to emphasize the necessity of a concerted action to remove the McDermott level crossing on the Sherbrooke-Montreal highway one mile west of Magog. Over the past few years, this crossing has been the scene of several fatal accidents and has also been the cause of several less-tragic but still serious crashes.

Admittedly certain safety devices have been installed at this crossing but the events of recent months indicate that they are not sufficient to halt the toll of death and injury caused by railway-highway smashes.

One of the prime causes of these collisions is the unusual nature of the road gradient at this point, especially when the motorist is approaching Magog from Montreal. At night the reflection of the lights of Magog tends to blind the driver coming down the hill while too often his lights are deflected over the top of a train which might be on the crossing. This glare serves to offset to a considerable degree the efficacy of the warning signals, especially for anyone not familiar with the highway.

This is a case where Dominion, provincial and railway officials should make a joint study of the problem and determine whether the danger can be satisfactorily eliminated by a change in the road gradient or whether some form of subway or overpass is required.

SIR AHMAD IS DOING NICELY

Kingsford Whig-Standard
Sir Ahmad El Jabir Es Sudah, Sheikh of Kuwait, is doing nicely. Something better than a pot of gold at the foot of a rainbow was found for him when prospectors discovered a huge vat of oil sitting under his tiny domain at the head of the Persian Gulf, and his income from this buried treasure is expected to reach five million pounds this year. A few more years at that rate and Sir Ahmad will become one of the world's richest men. And no grasping tax-collector will discourage him from amassing this fortune for the Sheikh himself sets the tax rate. We imagine he will deal gently with Sir Ahmad.

Although there are few things in Kuwait on which to spend a large income, Sheikh Sir Ahmad is living a more comfortable life since he began to draw his huge income. His people are also living more comfortable lives. The Kuwait Oil Company has raised the Kuwait standard of living immeasurably. The Sheikh's palace is now fully equipped with refrigerators and air conditioning; he has a yacht and an automobile, in which he may drive interminably over the country's scant 25 miles of highways. For the workers, the company has installed all the improvements found in such industrial communities on this continent. Hospitals, schools, clubs and other facilities are provided to help keep the workers contented.

It is probable, however, that the Sheikh's head lies as uneasily as any that ever wore a crown. Kuwait is a mere handful of earth and people, in a world containing greater and covetous nations. It isn't likely these nations will refrain from looking greedily at Kuwait; indeed, the Shah of Persia has already indicated that Kuwait should rightly be a part of his domain. But Kuwait has two strong defences, which may help it to survive—great harvests, which separate it from adjacent states, and British protection.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE

The Telegram, Toronto
The appointment of two or three Conservatives to the Senate, as has been rumored in Ottawa, would be a pleasant surprise and a change from the practice in recent years in which the former Prime Minister and the present occupant of the office have chosen Senate material from the ranks of Liberal organization office holders and retired Liberal M.P.'s. Ottawa dispatches mention three Conservatives defeated in the general election who might get a call, providing the Prime Minister decides to look outside his own party for Senators. They are John Bracken, John R. MacNeil of Toronto and John T. Hackett, a Montreal lawyer who represented a Quebec constituency in the preceding House of Commons. In any event, Mr. Hackett could not be appointed at present as there are no vacancies in Quebec's panel in the Upper Chamber.

Appointment of Conservatives by a Liberal Prime Minister would not create a new precedent. R. B. Bennett brought the late Pat Burns, who was a Liberal, into the Senate. There are at present in the Senate 75 Liberals, 15 Conservatives, with 14 vacancies—entry of Newfoundland having raised the membership to 102. If there is to be any official Opposition remaining in the Senate within four or five years the Prime Minister will have to change the existing practice and choose representative men from other than the Liberal party or appoint people who have had no political connections at all. The Senate's prestige in the country has been falling and it will fall even more if the time ever comes when it becomes a one-party chamber. The trend has been in that direction in recent years.

Prime Minister St. Laurent can do something to raise the Senate's prestige by widening the source from which Senators are selected. With respect to Mr. Bracken, Mr. MacNeil and Mr. Hackett it can be said that they never were violent Conservative partisans. Mr. Bracken has had close associations with agriculture. For many years Mr. MacNeil has directed public attention to the importance of irrigation, reclamation and conservation of the country's resources. Mr. Hackett is a learned lawyer with a broad knowledge of domestic and foreign affairs. Although these men have been defeated in the general election, on one in the last Parliament would deny that they were conscientious or assert that they are not qualified to still render service to the country as members of the Senate.

"Bags Of Money" Is Literally True At Royal Mint In London

(Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of five stories from England written by Larry Smith, of the Standard of St. Catharines, Ont. Mr. Smith is a Canadian holder of the Kemsley scholarship in journalism.)

That old phrase "bags of money" is literally true at the Royal Mint, situated just across the street from the Tower of London. Sacks of newly-minted coins are piled up all over the place, while back in the workshops machines are running 24 hours a day to produce that stuff with the lovely tinkle. But they don't give samples to visitors!

Visitors, however, do get one break once their pass has been examined and they are allowed inside. They are not searched on leaving, as are the employees. Each day spot searchers are made of several employees as they file out at the end of the shift. Rarely is any pilfering discovered, officials say.

Actually it would have done a visitor little good to help himself on the day I visited the Mint. Main items in production that day were shillings for British West Africa and five-cent pieces for Hong Kong, along with some defence medals for the veterans of Southern Rhodesia. One section was turning out shiny English shillings, but it would take a heavy load to make the pilfering profitable. (It was all I could do to lift a sack containing $400 worth of shillings.)

The Royal Mint used to turn out coins for all the Dominions, but now it produces only for New Zealand and Southern Rhodesia. It does have orders, however, for a number of the British colonies and for a number of foreign countries, including Iraq.

It was interesting to note that coins for the colonies show the King wearing a crown, while those for the self-governing Dominions depict him uncrowned. Just another sign of the change in Commonwealth relationship through the years.

I was shown samples of 200,000 bright New Zealand crown (five shillings) pieces, struck specially for the proposed Royal Visit. The trip was called off because of the King's illness, production was halted.

Lesson Hand

ALWAYS REMEMBER THE RULE OF ELEVEN

One of the first lessons for the beginner to learn is the rule of 11. I have written about this rule many times in my column, and you will find it in every bridge book. It is one of the basic principles in the play of the cards.

It is true that it is not applied on every hand, because your partner may not always lead his fourth best. But certainly against a no trump contract, you have a right to assume that he is.

In today's hand West opened the five of hearts against the six no trump contract. Declarer played the eight-spot from dummy, and without any hesitation East played the king. South won the trick with the ace, and now played West for the queen—and the jack of hearts was the needed 12th trick.

One of the players at the table said to East, "Why did you put up your king?" "I have been taught never to finesse your partner's lead," East replied. His partner asked him if he had never heard of the rule of 11. "If you had applied this rule," he continued, and Mint officials are now awaiting further instructions from the New Zealand government.

Since 1810, the Mint has had its own quarters, heavily bombed during the war. Before that date minting operations were carried on in the Tower of London, and in some subsidiary mints though the country. For that reason the Royal Mint still bears a picture of the Tower as its official crest.

Actual production methods are probably similar to those in any other mint. The metal to be used for a particular coin is poured into several feet long, about two inches wide and an inch thick. These bars are put through a lengthy series of "cold-rolling" machines, until they are reduced to the desired thickness.

Next step is to pass the now-thin strips through a machine which punches out discs slightly larger than the final diameter of the coin. These discs are then acid bath for cleaning and finally passed through a machine which, by squeezing, puts a slight rim on them. Now they are ready for final stamping.

A worker feeds the plain discs into the stamping machine. Both sides are simultaneously stamped by a die bearing the correct design and, if desired, a milled edge is put on the coin, all at the rate of 110 a minute. Pennies and half-pennies are not milled; all others are. A special design is imprinted on the edge of the West African coins because, as one official put it, "The desire to counterfeit seems much more prevalent out there."

As in other parts of the world, cupra-nickel is being used as the base for what we still call "silver" coins. The "silver" pieces produced in England, for example, now contain three parts copper and one part nickel. The nickel coming from Canada.

Britain is gradually calling in all her old silver coins from circulation. These had a high silver content. They are being refined, and the silver is sold on the market for commercial and industrial uses. In this way, she is avoiding payment of precious dollars to buy silver, but in so doing she is virtually "living off capital." Officials say it will take 10 years and

The Record Short Story

Mountain Girl

By ADALINE SCOTT

Marion's mother opened the door, shook hands with him, smiling politely. In the old days she'd have merely said: "Hello," with a twinkle in her face. And calling up the stairs, "Honey—it's Bill!"

He thought unhappily the formality now was because he hadn't stopped by, since Marion went away. But maybe it was more than that. The woman waved him toward the familiar parlor, saying, "Marion will be right with you," and excused herself, disappearing down the hall.

Bill stood uneasily, looking out of a window. Why did things have to change? Why couldn't they always be the same?

He was thinking of the girl as she looked the day before she left for her aunt's. Blue jeans and sweater with her light hair blowing and a scarf across her chest, where a bumble had caught her up on Old Mountain. He smiled, remembering, and there was a gentleness in it that made his rugged face seem momentarily boyish.

All that linked them with that day and this one was a few brief notes. Well, she'd warned him. She said: "I'm terrible at writing letters. If you don't get many it won't mean I'm not thinking of you. And I'll be back in almost no time, anyway."

It was okay, he assured her. But he'd miss her. "Do you really want to go?" he asked.

"I've never been away from the mountains," she replied. "I'll be sort of excited." Then, "But I wish you could come too."

Well, he couldn't. Not now. Maybe later, on the honeymoon, if she wanted to go again. But this was the busy season, managing the Summer camp near Old Mountain.

So Marion left for her aunt's in the city, who had been ill and needed her companionship and help while she was recuperating. And judging from the little messages Bill received later, she returned to good health rapidly and the girl and woman were having a wonderful time.

It was the beginning of Autumn when she returned. Bill stood at the edge of a small welcoming group of family and friends, his heart hammering with anticipation, as she descended the train steps. But suddenly he saw it wasn't the same Marion!

Her clothes were trim and dainty. And her hair was close to her head under a funny, little hat. She seemed to flow forward smoothly, smiling quietly and saying all the correct words.

When she reached him she said, "Bill! How very nice," as though they were mere acquaintances. As if she hadn't been his girl for ages almost.

But he could gather his wits, he'd turned to some one else. It was unreal. It couldn't be happening. Yet it was.

Unnoticed and miserable, Bill moved away. He went back to his work, repairing up at the camp and cleaning before the winter snows overtook him. Sometimes, he frowned and shook his head as if he were trying to clear it.

All the elation he'd felt over home-coming was gone, and in its place there was a feeling of dissatisfaction with himself. It seemed silly now that he once thought he'd be glad to hear how well he'd made out with the camp this Summer. That she'd even consider the cottage for sale at the foot of Old Mountain.

He was just a hick. And she was different, since she'd been away. She was like the city girls who spent vacations at the mountain resorts. Not that he had anything against them. Only, they seemed worlds apart from him.

And later, when James Kading, as his model the Villa Rotunda near Vicenza, which had been imitated by many of the famous houses of England.

of an arbitration board to settle a labor dispute between three Thetford Mines asbestos - producing companies and the Thetford Mines, Que., asbestos workers syndicate.

The labor minister said he notified Judge Tremblay by letter yesterday of his appointment.

The chairman of the arbitration board is expected to convene shortly with the other two members of the board. The Lesperance of Montreal represents the workers and Robert Caron of Montreal will act for the three companies.

Mr. Barrette said he believed Mr. Caron will act for the three companies involved in the dispute because demands by workers are similar in all three cases. The companies are the Flintkote Company, the Johnson Mines and the Asbestos Corporation employing more than 2,000 workers in all.

The syndicate, affiliated to the Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor, staged a 4½-month strike recently over a 15 cents an hour wage increase and other benefits.

The violence-punctuated strike in Thetford Mines ended July 14.

Quebec, July 14.—The Quebec Labor Relations Board has rescinded its decision to revoke recognition of the asbestos workers syndicates at Asbestos and Thetford Mines, Que., as bargaining agents, Jean Marchand, secretary of the Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor, said last night.

The C.C.C.L. official said he received the announcement in a telegram from the board which met in Montreal yesterday.

The board had revoked recognition of the syndicates Feb. 21, eight days after the asbestos workers staged a 4½-month walkout in Asbestos and Thetford Mines in the Eastern Townships.

Final Tribute Is Paid To Waterloo Mayor

Waterloo, July 14.—Wilfred Roy, Mayor of Waterloo, was laid to rest on Saturday morning, July 9th. A very impressive tribute was paid the late Mayor of Waterloo when relatives, friends and acquaintances assembled at the Town Hall to file past his bier, and later enter the cortege that reached right from the Church down Main Street almost to the Post Office.

Led by the Waterloo Concert Band playing "Abide With Me," representatives from most of the societies and organizations in Waterloo paraded to St. Bernard's Church where Father Hermann Hebert sang the mass.

Police from Waterloo and Granby formed the honorary guard during the lying in state and later acted as pall bearers. Honorary pall bearers consisted of the present aldermen. Immediately following the hearse and mourners were former aldermen and former mayors of the town, members of the Knights of Columbus and St. Jean Baptiste societies.

Police of other towns, firemen and mayors of nearby towns, cities and municipalities made up part of the cortege as well as members of the Kiwanis Club and other societies.

Distinguished out of town guests included Mayor Horace Boivin of Granby; Marcel Boivin, member at Ottawa for Shefford; Hector Chouquette, member at Quebec for Shefford; Wilson Irwin, recent candidate for the Progressive Conservative Party in Shefford; Luc Marchessault, mayor of Shefford, and several others.

It was a most fitting tribute for one who had done so much for his town as long as he was able to do so. Mayor Roy will long be remembered by his fellow townsmen as one who worked hard, long and tediously for the benefit of the citizens, and the hosts of his friends who had assembled to pay final tribute to his memory marked this esteem in no uncertain manner. The body was laid to rest in his family lot.

Victoria, B. C., July 14.—(CP)—Logging operations on Vancouver island reached a standstill Wednesday as forest conditions forced nearly all companies to cease operations.

The "hazard stick" used to measure moisture content of the forest floor read a low six at numerous points— which means a tinder-dry "almost explosive condition."

Confident Australians May Find Their Canadian Cousins No Pushovers In Davis Cup Matches

Montreal, July 14.—Australia's Davis Cup tennis team, due to arrive here today confident of an easy victory over Canada, may find their Commonwealth cousins are no pushovers in next week's North American zone cup tie matches.

Gordon MacNeil, non-playing captain of the Canadian squad, said today his charges are impressed—but not over-awed—with Australia's past record of whitewash victories over Canada. They are ready to put up a battle," he said.

Cliff Sproule, manager of the three-member Australian team, said in an interview on arrival in New York yesterday:

"We could lose some sets but we would be unafraid if we lost matches. I think we will beat the Canadians easily."

"He may be right," said MacNeil. "But I'll stick my neck out and predict that the Canadians are going to put up a very good showing. They might surprise the Aussies."

MacNeil, a former Davis Cupper, recalled he had played against the Australians two years ago.

"I found them very nice fellows then, and they weren't inclined to make such statements." Obviously, this was a reference to Sproule's prediction on his team's chances in the forthcoming series.

Officials of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association here declined comment on Sproule's remarks.

They made it clear that, win or lose, the handling of Canada's team now is solely MacNeil's chore.

The Australians enter the cup tie matches fresh from competition in the British Lawn Tennis Association championships at Wimbledon, England. Their team is comprised of the ambidextrous Bromwich, 30-year-old captain, Billy Sidwell, 29, and Frank Sedgman, 27.

Canada's representatives are Henri Rochon, 25, and Brendan Macken, 26, both of Montreal, and Walter Stohlgren, 26, and Lorne Main, 19, both of Vancouver. Rochon and Macken have played on the last three squads. Stohlgren was a member of last year's team.

Main, in his first year in senior company, is the youngest player ever named to a Canadian Davis Cup squad.

"Rochon and Macken have had their baptism of fire against international stars and now have got beyond the stage-fright period," said MacNeil. "Both are still young, and what's more encouraging is that they've developed confidence and are determined to really make a show."

MacNeil recalled that in exhibition matches after the pressure of Davis Cup play had passed last year, Rochon defeated Geoff Brown, of Australia, in straight sets while Macken just missed beating Colin Long, Australian doubles player.

Canada last year was eliminated by Mexico 4-1 while the Australians, who lost the Davis Cup to the U.S. in 1946, were beaten by the Americans 5-0 in the final.

Since 1914, the Australians have played Canada four times—and each time the score was the same—5-0. They were last here in 1947.

The winner of the July 21-23 series will meet Mexico at Wilmington, Del., July 29-31 in the North American zone final. The next encounter will be with either France or Italy for the right to challenge the United States for the cup.

Winnipeg, July 14.—Two youngsters drowned in the Red River yesterday. Witnesses said Otto Hummel, 12, and Wilfred Hoppe, 11, were swimming near the river bank when Hoppe started to sink. Hummel jumped in and tried to save him but both were carried under by the current.

Shopkeepers Are Warned To Keep Streets Clean

Police Chief Edouard Moreau today warned all shopkeepers that there is a municipal by-law which forbids the throwing of garbage and waste on the streets.

Chief Moreau pointed out that dirty streets are poor publicity for tourists. He asks the co-operation of the store owners.

Those caught throwing waste on the street will be apprehended.

London, July 14.—(Reuters)—Commonwealth economic leaders met here today for a second day of secret talks on the sterling-dollar deadlock with the possibility of large-scale United States investments in their countries looming large.

The terms were "not onerous," he added.

Services were conducted by representatives of the Roman Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths.

A search for three bodies still missing continued about the foot of Ghakopar hill where the big K.L.M. plane crashed and burned.

Tokyo, July 14.—(Reuters)—British warships and United States and Australian planes today began a three-day combined exercise. The cruiser Jamaica and the frigate Hart were being protected by fighter aircraft against low level "attacks" by medium bombers and fighters in the Tokyo bay area.

A Vatican informant estimated last week that nearly 3,000 Catholic priests and members of religious orders are imprisoned in Soviet-occupied countries.

The Vatican radio began sending the order out to the world in a dozen languages last night.

Under usual Vatican custom a decree also is transmitted to many hundreds of Bishops throughout the world. They in turn spread it through their diocese to the faithful.

The Doctor Says

EARLY TREATMENT IS IMPORTANT IN CONTROL OF SOCIAL DISEASE

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

One of the two most important venereal diseases, syphilis, seems to be becoming a less serious problem as time goes on. It is still, however, the cause of much suffering. Perhaps beyond all other diseases syphilis can produce a wide variety of symptoms. Because it is now less common and because it is more often treated early and more vigorously, there is reason to hope that eventually it will be conquered.

The first symptom is as a rule a local sore. This is usually followed in a few weeks by a mild skin rash. Later syphilis may attack almost any portion of the body. It is responsible for some cases of heart disease and blood vessel disorders. It frequently affects the nervous system and is the cause of a condition, the common name of which is locomotor ataxia. It may attack the brain and cause mental symptoms.

Blood Test
Except in the earliest stage, diagnosis is best made by an examination of the blood which is called the Wassermann test or one of the newer methods of a somewhat similar nature. This test turns up many cases of the disease which have been entirely unsuspected.

The most important method of controlling syphilis is to start treatment early. Modern methods of treatment can usually prevent its spread to others very rapidly.

IF BABY IS CROSS FIND OUT WHY

HEALTHY BABIES are not cross. Your baby should not be cross. If he is, then something in his little system is "out of order." Probably Baby's Own Tablets can promptly "put it right." Mrs. H., of Fenton Falls, had the experience. She writes: "My little girl was irritable, feverish and sometimes sick at her stomach—what a relief it was, after giving her Baby's Own Tablets, to see how much better she was."

Sweet-tasting—easily crushed to a powder, if desired. No "dulling effect." Promptly effective in simple fevers, constipation, teething troubles, upset stomach and other minor ills.

Never be without a full box of Baby's Own Tablets. Sickness so often strikes in the night. 25 cents. Money back if you are not satisfied.

even though this does not mean that the patient is cured.

The problem of exactly how to treat the disease is complicated.

Penicillin will certainly free someone with the early contagious form from the danger of infecting others quite rapidly. It is not, however, absolutely certain as yet whether this will cure the disease or not. For these reasons the complete treatment for syphilis may take years.

In 1898 he was united in marriage to Bessie MacRae, in St. Johnsbury, Vt., where they resided for several years.

Mr. Wood was a well respected merchant of this village, where he had operated a general store for over twenty-seven years, after coming here from St. Ferdinand de Halifax, where he had owned and operated a large tannery business. He was a life-long member of the Anglican Church and a regular attendant, having served as the people's warden for many years.

In the passing on of Mr. Wood the church has lost a devoted member.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. C. Ward, his pastor, of St. Peter's Anglican Church, assisted by Rev. F. R. Matthews, minister of Chalmers' United Church.

Miss Menzies announced the dates of the provincial convention to be held in Montreal in October, and invited Sherbrooke members to attend. She stated that B. and P. W. Clubs were to be organized in Farnham and Three Rivers.

Miss Ina Cobleigh, of the local club, was then called upon to describe the investiture which took place at Ottawa on June 18, when she was admitted into the Order of the Hospital of Saint John of Jerusalem.

Miss Cobleigh's address was most interesting and informative. She traced the history of the Order from its origin, minutely outlining the important ceremony, and gave the highlights of the social events in connection therewith.

In her talk, the speaker referred to the tablet placed in the House of Parliament, eleven years ago, by the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, bearing the names of five Alberta women, whose initial efforts were responsible for the recognition of women as persons to be eligible for appointment to the Senate of Canada. Miss Cobleigh, with several other members from the Sherbrooke Club, were present at the unveiling of this tablet. Miss Cobleigh showed different souvenirs she had brought from the recent event in Ottawa, including the emblem with which she was invested, as well as pictures of the historical setting.

Miss Marjorie Ivor voiced the thanks of the club to the speaker. The president announced the next meeting would be held in September.

DOROTHY DIX

Parental Matchmakers

Education Good Preparation For Successful Marriage

Dear Miss Dix: I am a girl 19 years old. Have finished high school and want to go to college and after that to build up a business career. But my family object very much. They wish me to get married and have even picked out my husband, but I don't want to get married yet. I haven't seen enough of life. Also, I want to earn my own living for a while at least. Would you advise me to follow my own desires, or take the advice of my family?

UNDECIDED.

DOROTHY DIX

Answer: If you marry a man you don't love just to please your family and because they have the old-fashioned idea that marriage is the only career a girl should follow, you will be a miserable, discontented woman as long as you live.

Because you will have been kept from doing the thing you wanted to do and your heart will be always full of frustrated desires. You will always be dwelling on the thought of what you might have done, and what might have been, and the happiness you might have had, and that will make even the good that you have turned to dust and ashes in your teeth.

Marriage is hard on a woman and full of sacrifices that she must make even when she marries a man she loves and when it is the thing on earth she most desires, but it is almost undurable when she marries a man she does not care for, and when she goes into it against her will. The parents who think that they can find security for their daughter in a forced marriage have not reckoned with the modern woman. Nine times out of ten she endures its misery and discontent for a few years and then gets a divorce.

Whether your parents send you to college or not, they, at least, owe it to you to give you a training for some occupation by which you will be made self-sustaining. That is your duty whether they marry you off or not. For marriage does not solve the problem of a girl's future. Sometimes husbands die. Sometimes they become invalids. Sometimes they lose their jobs. And often a woman after marriage has far more need of some way of making money than she had before.

Also, there is no better preparation for marriage than for a girl to have a thorough business training. It disciplines her. It teaches her self-control, promptness, efficiency and the value of a dollar, all of which fit her to be a better wife, housekeeper and mother.

Dear Miss Dix: How can I cure myself of being suspicious of my wife? The reason I feel this way is because one night she and a woman friend, under the pretense of going to a show, motored with two young men to a hotel out of the city for a glass of beer. I found out through the lie she told me when she came back, and since then I always think the worst of everything she does. The worry over this is not increasing my earning capacity as a father and sometimes I feel like sending the whole affair to the devil and buying myself a one-way ticket to Mexico.

FRANK.

Answer: When once your faith has been shaken in a person it is very hard to restore it, and the best you can do for yourself is to keep your thoughts firmly fixed upon your wife's good qualities, and say, like Dr. Coue, that every day in every way you believe her truer and truer.

But it doesn't seem to me that motoring with three friends to another town for a glass of beer was such a heinous offense. Probably ninety-nine married women out of a hundred have gone on an innocent little lark like that, for women are human after all and like a little harmless fling every now and then, and there is nothing for their husbands to get green-eyed about it. The little slipping of the yoke made them better and more contented wives.

When husbands and wives have to lie to each other and sneak off for an evening out, the blame should be laid on the wife or husband whose tyranny has enslaved them and deprived them of all freedom. If you had not denied your wife all liberty and most pleasures, she would have been glad to have told you frankly about what she did.

I think you are making a mountain out of a molehill and the wise thing for you to do is to forget it. I wonder if you have never stepped out of an evening with a girl.

The Record will be pleased to receive any letters to this Dorothy Dix column. These will be forwarded to Miss Dix who will answer them as quickly as possible.

What gives Scott's Gold that extra-good flavour? Well... it's Sauce made from specially selected varieties of the Annapolis Valley's famous flavour-filled apples.

Mix 1 lb. hamburger with 1/2 cup Libby's Evaporated Milk. 2 tsp. salt, pepper to taste and 1/2 cup crumbled "blue" cheese. Shape into patties. Broil.
You'll find that any recipe that calls for milk is richer, better-tasting when you use Libby's! You see, Libby's is so rich it whips. All the original cream is left in this fine, country-fresh milk as it goes to the evaporator, where half the water is removed. It's so economical, too! One cup mixed with an equal amount of water gives 2 cups (1 pint) of creamy-rich milk!

Customers' Corner

A good food store must be a clean store.

We believe our customers are entitled to top quality food at low prices, served in clean, healthful surroundings.

That's why we train and instruct our employees to keep all trays and cases and scales scrubbed and sanitary; to keep refuse and packing cases out of the aisles and off the sidewalks; and to keep floors and grocery racks clean and orderly.

Sometimes during rush periods it's hard to keep a store as neat as it should be. But that's our job, and you will be doing us a favor if you will let us know if your A & P store ever falls in any way to measure up to our high standards of cleanliness. Please write:

The remains were brought to the home of her son, Douglas, of East Angus, her former home.

Mrs. Bell was born at Navan, County Meath, Ireland, in 1868, and came to this country, when she was very young. Mrs. Bell was a home loving woman, her chief interest centered about her home and family.

Prayers were held at her late residence on Monday, June 6th, thence to the Anglican Church, where services were conducted by Rev. G. Robins. The hymns sung by the choir were "Abide With Me" and "Unto The Hills Around."

There were quantities of beautiful flowers, silent tokens of respect and esteem from friends and relatives.

The bearers were Messrs. J. Westgate, G. Planché, Clifford and Hilton Cameron, John Riddoch and A. Hall.

Burial was made in the family lot at Westbury beside her late husband, Mr. James Bell, who died on December 15, 1933.
